"And the angel said unto them,
Hear not:

For behold, I bring you tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people."

St. Luke 2:10

ALL YEAR LONG, year in and year out, this, your newspaper, brings you the tidings of the world. Not all of them are joyful, certainly none so glorious as the Christmas story which St. Luke announced 2,000 years ago in the glowing words of promise above. But most of them are important to you, and all of them are as honestly reported and fearlessly, fairly presented as your newspaper's conviction of its obligation to serve all the people can make them.

☆ Fear not, in this world of ominous change and strife, when your newspaper, because it is an American newspaper, can dedicate itself unhampered to a life of truthfulness, education, moral and civic leadership. Fear not for the world when its people can and do still forget their petty selfishness in the Christmas spirit of fellowship and giving.

☆ There is no other news we bring you that fills our own hearts with gladness as the tidings of another Christmas fill them. And so, a Merry Christmas to you all, and may the love and peace and hope of the Great Birthday mellow your cares throughout the year.

Camp Steuben Is Abandoned

Completion of abandonment of Camp Steuben last week leaves the forest service with but eight Civilian Conservation Corps camps, forest service officials have announced.

Camp Steuben was abandoned on December 16, the ninth to be abandoned since the beginning of the retraining program. Approximately 180 enrollees, who constituted the camp man power were transferred to other camps in this district to bring them up to the minimum requirements, and the forest service personnel was also disbanded by other camps. The camp buildings will be salvaged by the war department.

Abandonment of Camp Steuben is another step in the retraining program which has seen the original 18 camps in the Hiwatha and Marquette national forests reduced to eight.

Camps still remaining in the Hiwatha forest are Camp Au Train, Evelyn, Cooks, and Mormon Creek, while those in the Marquette forest are Race, Strong, and Marquette. The latter is composed entirely of Indian enrollees.

With all of the fall planting program just getting under way, activity in the camps is slowed down somewhat, forest service officials said this week.

TRICOCHETS and BACKLASHES

With inland lakes already ice locked and ice forming rapidly over many of the bays and inlets of the Great Lakes, anglers are turning their attention to the interesting sport of fishing through the ice.

Fish are taken through the ice by several methods, each of which has its devotees. Some use a baited hook while others employ the decoy minnow and spear. Hook and line fishing through the ice is practiced in several ways depending on water and kind of fish sought.

To employ the spear successfully one must have a light-tight shanty or dark house built usually of tar or canvas. Many ice fishermen use a "take-down" house which is easy to transport. Others haul the materials to the lake, build the house and leave it there rather than lug it back and forth. Some handy individuals simply carry a blanket or piece of canvas to cover their heads and lie on the ice. It is much more comfortable, however, to sit in a dark house or shanty with a small heating stove or lamp to furnish sufficient warmth on extremely cold days.

The spearman uses a decoy minnow weighted and fished so it moves in a spiral when retrieved. The spear also is weighted with lead and can be thrown very accurately after a little practice. A rope is attached.

In many localities fishermen use the dark house to fish through the ice with hook and line. Fishing through the ice for lake trout is one form of ice fishing that requires fortitude. The fisherman uses a house but parks behind a canvas windbreak. This form of fishing also is called "bobbing" for trout. The tail of a lure, called the "slipper," is used as the bait and this must be kept continually in motion to attract the fish. This fishing is done at much greater depth than other types of hook and line ice fishing and a rather heavy sinker is used to carry the bait down to the necessary level.

This type of lake trout fishing requires special lines which do not stretch. Many fishermen treat the lines with tar to prevent stretching of the line when the fisherman runs away from the hole in the ice as rapidly as possible.

As he can as the fish will tear loose if given a lead hit stroke. It would not be possible to haul the line in hand over his head enough to keep it taut.

This type of fishing is practiced usually on the Great Lakes particularly on the ice of large lakes where the ice does not move out during the winter. When fishing on the open lake the fisherman must choose days when the wind blows off the lake. Should it veer and blow offshore the ice may start to move out, being drift on a moving ice field is not a pleasant situation.

State Park Heads To Attend School

District supervisors of state parks return to "school" at Pigeon River, Jan. 1 to 14, inclusive. Conferences, field trips and roundtable discussions, with talks by heads of other conservation department divisions, make up the annual program.

District superintendents and hatchery men of the fish division also will gather at the Pigeon River school Jan. 16 to 21, inclusive, and regional and district supervisors of the field administration division meet there Jan. 23-28.

For the first time, two-day schools, are to be held during January for assistant district supervisors and clerks in the field administration division. Upper peninsula employees will attend the school at Marquette while Roscommon will be the location of the lower peninsula session. Dates have not been fixed.

In recognition of good work done or even better it may be interest in the task, as pride in accomplishment may be sufficient reward for the completion of a job.

So it seems that in Miss Wagner's opinion it's just plain bribery when you offer candy if that young boy or girl will go to sleep within 15 minutes. But to explain that if the boy or girl goes to sleep right away then he or she can get up in time to go to the store with you is to indicate that by conduct there is earned the right to an added pleasure.

Bribes and rewards, then, are two different animals. The nickel and the candy perpetuate poor behavior. The reward system, even if the reward is just an expression of pride in the child's ability, is the ruler, character and behavior builder.

Polar Bear Camps Planned For Scouts

A new experience in winter camping will be in store for Scouts of the area during the Christmas school vacation.

Polar Bear camps will be conducted for Escanaba-Gladstone Scouts on December 27-28 and for Manistique Scouts on December 29-30.

Polar Bear Camping has been a favorite activity in the east for a number of years. Older Scouts, fifteen and over, and their leaders, pack in several miles or more, to the selected campsites. A shelter made of boughs and canvas in a spot protected from the wind. A day and night must be spent to qualify as a member of the Polar Bear Club. To the unexpected, this may seem like a great hardship, but a shelter properly constructed with a reflector type of heating fire keeps the campers snug and warm in their sleeping bags.

Tracking and other Scoutcraft events will make up the program. Albert and Ivan Gillingham, of Detroit, are spending the holidays with relatives and friends here.

Plays To Feature Christmas Program

The senior and junior departments of the Presbyterian Sunday School will present their annual Christmas program at the church Sunday evening, Dec. 26, at 8 o'clock, under the direction of Miss Rose Groves.

"Why the Chinese Ring," the older group's presentation, is a Christmas play, and the cast of characters is as follows: Holger, George Erikson. Steen, Jimmy Tyrell. Bertel, Harry Erikson.

The Old Woman, Dottie Lou Lundstrom. The Angel, Florence Lahn. Characters in the cathedral scene are Elmer (Eichey, Walter Osterhout, Evelyn Wood, Prizic Jordan and Dorothy Eggertson.

The junior department will present "The Dearest Christmas," and parts will be played by the following: Dearest Christmas, Roy Pinter.

Eily-Anna, Pat Lundstrom. Pansy, Geraldine Wood. Margie, Dawn Van Fyck. Jane, Barbara Byse.

Peter, Charles Wiernig. Thony, Charles Benaviss.

THE INDEPENDENT FOR LIFE! Financial security—a lustrous yearly income for life—is within your grasp. It may sound like a fairy tale, but it's true. For details see the December 26 issue of "The Detroit Sunday Times"—Ad.

Robert Southard has arrived from East Lansing, where he attends Michigan State college, to spend Christmas at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. T. R. Southard, Lake street.

Nickel Bribes Are Not Good Method Of Child Training

Candy and nickels are more child bribes when used as bribes for milk drinking or going to bed for naps, or for the night.

Suggestions of better methods of training children are offered by Miss Ruth Wagner, assistant in the nursery school at Michigan State College.

"Do we fail to realize what we are doing when we make a deal with our Jimmy or Jerry?" Miss Wagner asks. "If we offer him a nickel to drink his milk, we are not teaching him to drink but to hold out for nickels—or more.

"There is a real distinction between bribery and reward. A bribe is an attractive prize offered as an inducement to behave in a given way or to produce certain results. Reward comes as a result of action. It may be a favor or prize granted

A Merry, Merry Christmas and a Happy and Cheery New Year

May the Holiday Season of 1937 hold for you and those near and dear to you the choicest blessings of Health, Happiness and Prosperity—and may the New Year bring again the economic security you are seeking!

TO ALL THE CITIZENS OF . . .

MANISTIQUE AND SCHOOLCRAFT COUNTY—

We Send The Heartiest Good Wishes of the Christmas Season

There are many ways of saying "Merry Christmas." Some send greeting cards. Others express their good wishes through the columns of their newspaper. Many send gifts to those closest to them.

In extending the good wishes of the holiday season to all of you, we are sincerely adhering to the best tradition of Christmas. We sincerely wish that the Christmas season of 1937 will find you happy—that some extra pleasure will come to every home and fire-side in Manistique and Schoolcraft county.

We also want to make our "Merry Christmas" to you even more realistic than a friendly greeting. We believe we can do this by assuring you of our deepest interest in the welfare of this city and county and by keeping a promise to you—the promise that through 1938 our mill will operate to as near full capacity as we possibly can make it. This will mean a substantial payroll for Schoolcraft county, both directly to our mill employees and indirectly to the farmers and jobbers of the county through pulpwood purchases.

These—our sincere greeting and our hope that through 1938 our mill will continue with a full payroll—are our Christmas wishes to you!

JUST PLAIN IDIOTS?

E. R. Eaton takes the state to task for its plans to destroy several hundred thousand bushels of potatoes. Eaton is the fiery editor of the Plymouth Mail, published at Plymouth, Michigan, and his editorial follows:

An Associated Press news dispatch from Lansing a few days ago declared that 709,854 bushels of the best grade of potatoes raised in Michigan during the past summer will be destroyed or fed to livestock. This, it is reported, is in keeping with the "government crop control" program. State Agriculture Commissioner John B. Strange said his department had requested federal assistance, and as the result the government will pay to potato growers $107,000 and take away from hungry men, women and children of Michigan nearly three-fourths million bushels of potatoes. This price is about 17 cents per bushel, not enough to pay the farmer for his seed and planting.

Wouldn't it be a million times better for the farmers of Michigan if the public officials paid the growers some where near the prevailing market price for their crops and then turned the potatoes over to the professional social welfare workers to deliver to those in distress? By peddling potatoes to the needy as they rumble about the state in their automobiles at five cents per mile of tax pennies, these "degreed" social workers would be doing something at least to earn the thousands of tax dollars they collect in salaries every month.

Crop destruction in times of widespread unemployment, and when there are large numbers reported to be actually hungry just does not seem to be common sense. Is there any one except just the plain idiotic who would approve of such a thing?

Such news at a time when all Michigan should be rejoicing in the happiness of the Christmas season is almost beyond belief. Hungry little children look pleadingly into the faces of their parents, begging for food, while food public officials dump hundreds of thousands of Michigan's best potatoes into the gutters to ROT!

What is our self-advertised "great humanitarian Governor" thinking of to permit such a thing to happen in times like these? He dares NOT say that he is without authority to prevent such a wretched destruction of food when actual hunger faces so many of our good people.

Oh yes, it was perfectly alright for Lansing officials to plan to dip their hands into state funds a while back and take out a hundred thousand dollars or thereabouts to buy a "man-

...ion for the governor." Now in times of real emergency not one of the whole mess apparently has a thought as to a most beneficial way to spend state funds to relieve actual suffering and at the same time help the farmers.
STOP this food hoarding into the pockets of needless public job holders and welfare workers, and buy potatoes from the farmers at a price they are ENTITLED to get for their crop! Then see to it that the hungry receive the food that our officials plan now to let ROT in the fields or feed to hogs.

A LIBERAL

In order for us not to lose sight of those principles upon which true Democracy rests its case, we are taking the liberty of quoting you some of the statements made by Mr. Norman Thomas in an article written for the December issue of "The Commentator":

"Few words mean more different things to more different people than that good but showrun word 'liberal'. 'Probably the most popular definition of a liberal in politics would identify him as a middle-of-the-roader; a man who is neither conservative nor radical, but who believes that political wisdom is to be found in balance.

"The true liberal is, or ought to be, the man whose mind is free, who respects himself and his neighbor, who believes that government has something to do with reason, fair play and the free discussion of issues. The true liberal neither fears ideas because they are new, nor rejects them because they are old. He is vitally concerned with the integrity of the Bill of Rights, with the preservation and increase of what we call civil liberties, 'the right to know, to utter, and to argue freely according to conscience' in Milton's noble phrase. More specifically, with the right to immunity from arbitrary arrests, with the right of association with one's fellows in science; the right of freedom of speech, the press, and of concert, to fair trial, to freedom of speech, the press, and of science; the right of association with one's fellows in churches, unions, co-operative societies, and social organizations. These understood, liberalism is descriptive of an attitude toward life rather than a set of political beliefs."

It is strange, we will admit, that a man of the calibre of Mr. Thomas can question these liberties named above, in a manner which denies they exist for us here in America, but that is exactly what he is doing. He cites specific incidences wherein these liberties were violated in our country, and finishes his article in this manner:

"Here, then, is my challenge: Let us show our faith by our works, and each of us justify our respective claims to liberalism by our zeal in protecting and increasing those liberties which have been the inspiration of the most glorious chapters of the political history of our own country and of mankind."

WHAT TO BELIEVE

A young Czech doctor, after spending two years studying reasons for the long lives of peasants in a Balkan state, concludes it is due to the fact that these people live upon a diet of bread, beans, cheese, and a very few raw vegetables, avoiding fats, sugar, fruit, and meat to any extent.

Well! We modern Americans are taught to count our vitamins, eat plenty of fresh fruit daily, travel with a lettuce sandwich, eat meat, if we like it. We are enticed by colorful advertisements to make fancy desserts, urged to consume cod liver oil, warned against too much starch . . . and so on.

For every "do" there is a "don't" until we sometimes wonder if anyone really knows what is good for the human race. Just what assures a long life?

Theatre Review

"Alcatraz Island," a powerful story with a background of racketeering and a tender love story, is Saturday's screen feature at the Gero theatre. The Christmas Day presentation has John Litel, Ann Sheridan and Mary Maguire in an excellent cast. The story isn't merely one of life behind the stone walls of the Pacific-washed prison, there is also plenty of action on the mainland.

Co-starring Greta Garbo for the first time with the noted French star, Charles Boyer, the latest Garbo triumph, "Conquest," comes to the Gero theatre Sunday, and Monday as one of the outstanding productions of the new movie season.

The picture unfolds the love story of Napoleon and the glamorous Countess Marie Walewska. Also in the cast are Reginald Owen, Alan Marshal, Henry Stephenson and Lief Erickson.

A release of "Hell Divers," starring Clark Gable and Wallace Beery is the screen attraction for Tuesday.

Bing Crosby and Martha Raye are stars in Wednesday's feature.

B. W. Phillips Reviews Progress Of Movement In Southern District

B. W. Phillips, scout executive, reviewed the progress of scouting in the southern district of the Manistiquia Area Council at the Manistique Rotary club's regular luncheon meeting Monday.

Phillips declared that in April, 1937, there were 41 net paid registrations of boys and leaders in the districts, and that by Nov. 30, this membership had increased to 270. The Cub program for younger boys has advanced rapidly, with Cub packs working under organized leadership.

The speaker also summarized boys' movements in other countries, pointing out that youth in Germany, France, Italy and Russia are being militarized. Youth movements in America and England are aimed at character development, he said.
