Vol. 4 No. 170. OLD SERIES.

MANISTIQUE, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28 1893.

NEW SERIES No. 38. $1.00 PER YEAR.

The postoffice was open one-half hour after each mail Christmas day.
The closing-out sale at the New York Millinery Store still continues.
It seems that the good points of some people have all been broken off.

Messrs. Fernis, Callahan and Hughton celebrated Christmas in the city.

Miss McCorquorale entertained a number of her friends Christmas evening.

Will Buchanan of the Bank spent Christmas day with his parents in Gladstone.

H. M. Mason of Houghton, visited relatives at Thompson during the holiday season.

Interesting local and miscellaneous reading on every page of THE TRIBUNE this week.

Manager Thoenen of the C. L. Hardware store, presented each of his employees with a fat turkey for their Christmas dinner.

A Green Bay party endeavored to jump a flag bar-bill at the Commercial Hotel, but was foiled. He "put up" the amount.

Wm. Saunders, one of Manistique's printers spent the holiday at Bay Mills. He is a good printer and deserves a remunerative position.

Rev. McMurray, lectured at All Saints Tuesday. The Republican says "the small attendance was a disgrace to any intelligent community."

Jno. Deet of Fayette was a pleasant caller Friday last. He took advantage of our liberal call offer and will read THE TRIBUNE and Free Press another year.

The Week of Prayer which will be held the second week in January will be observed by the several churches by holding union services. Program will be given next week.

Gus. Nelson of Hedges camp, cut his foot quite badly. He was fortunate in having one of Dr. Kane's hospital tickets, and is now receiving the best of care at the Doctor's hospital.

Mr. Wilson the horseman sold a carload of fat horses at the Sox. The results are now quite evident. The Democrat wants an ordinance passed prohibiting fast driving and racing on the streets.

Three papers every week or 156 copies a year for $2.00, or four papers.—The N. Y. Tribune, The Semi-Weekly Free Press, and The Tribune one year for $7.25. Call on us before placing your order for yearly reading matter.

The school children did nobly for charity's sake Friday. When the goods were all sorted and packed it was ascertained that there were five barrels of provisions, several sacks of flour, seven boxes of wearing apparel and $18.25 in cash.

The members of the Scandinavian Baptist church held a meeting Tuesday evening, the objects of which were the raising of funds for the relief of the woodwork poor. The program presented was of a literary and musical nature. More than $50 was raised.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. M. Blumrosen Christmas morning. No one in the city received a handsomer Christmas gift than did "Mose." That the heir may grow up to be handsome and energetic and public spirited as the "old man," is the wish of hundreds of well wishing friends.

A Happy New Year to all our patrons.
Roller skating at the opera house Monday afternoon.
Capt. Winegar spent Christmas with his family at Escanaba.
Mrs. Barney Blumrosen and son Solly, of Ashland, Wis. are in the city.

Ed. Jones, of this office has been visiting friends in neighboring cities this week.

A letter from the Keeley institute reports the Manistique patients as progressing finely.

It has cost the department of the interior $200,000 to squeeze $31,000 out of the pensioners.

The opera house will be open for roller skating next Monday afternoon. Admission 25 cents.

Have not heard of any one receiving the postoffice at present in their stocking Christmas morning.

Rose Bros. move into their new building next Tuesday. Their building would be a credit to a city of 50,000 inhabitants.

The bill collector is the only person that has thus far signified his intention of making New Year's calls next Monday.

Manistique has three representatives in the Keeley institute at Houghton Harbor. Several others are contemplating going.

Dr. Hafford presented each of his patients a very acceptable Christmas gift. He made all calls Monday free of charge.

Make good resolutions next Monday, or now for that matter, and see to it that you do not break them during the coming year.

This year will go down in history. There were no weddings prior to, during, or for one week after Christmas, in Manistique.

A good many Democrats are hoping that an earthquake will before they have a chance to juggle the tariff question.

The secret of Garfield's success in life was the fact that he made the following vow in early life: if I succeed in that, I shall succeed in everything else."

When Christmas comes on Monday its effects are experienced for a week. Two holidays at rest days almost until the average citizen doing his usual quota of labor the remainder of the week.

The K. of P. Ball at the opera house Monday evening promises to be a grand success. The Ideal orchestra will furnish the music and no pains will be spared to make it the social event of the season.

It is rumored that Emmett Rose has purchased Mr. Garner's interest in the firm of Garner & Middlebrook, hardware dealers. Continued ill health is the cause of Mr. Garner's retirement. Messrs. Middlebrook and Rose are two of our best and most energetic young men, and we bespeak for them a very successful business career.

Attorney Foster has sold his lucrative practice to Messrs. Pardee and Walsh. He is undecided as to his future movements, but will undoubtedly engage in some business venture here. At least he won't go so. Mr. Foster came here a stranger, two years ago, fresh from the law school. The "starving period" through which young lawyers must generally pass, was unknown to him. By guarding the interests of his clients, employing him, he soon acquired a large clientele.

J. G. Barnhart was a pleasant caller Saturday.

Merchants all too busy to talk this week. They are inventing.

Capt. McWilliams is out on a four week's cruise and before he returns he will beach a troublesome craft.

Christmas tide had led several plain drunks in the jail. They repented nine inmates Monday morning.

The daily papers give an account of a lady that committed suicide because she failed to receive a Christmas gift.

The Grand Army Post held a meeting at Good Templars hall tomorrow evening. It is desired that all members attend.

The live Santa Claus at the Boston Store, Saturday, was the center of an adoring group of youngsters at all hours of the day.

W. S. Ramsey, the contractor, has been a very busy man this season. The McKinney and Orr blocks attest to his competency as a builder.

The plate glass front of Orr Bros. & Co's new building was placed in position Saturday morning. This firm has reason to feel proud of their building.

Mr. Robinson will erect an $1,800 residence on Division street south of the Swedish Lutheran parsonage in the early spring. W. S. Ramsey has the contract.

Fred Smith and F. C. Brown of Hunt's Spur, were pleasant callers yesterday afternoon. Mr. Brown rode the third degree Odd Fellows' goat last evening.

If all the nationalities of earth would provide for their poor as liberally as do the Hebrews, there would be no need of almshouses. At a ball recently given for these people in Chicago, the magnificent sum of $18,000 was realized.

The outside of Orr Bros. & Co's meat market was literally covered with choice poultry, Saturday, and the interior of the building was completely filled with everything known to the epicurean. Too bad the boys did not get into their new building prior to that day.

Geo. E. Pardee and N. Walsh, of the lower peninsula, have decided to engage in the practice law here. They have secured rooms in the McKinney block. These gentlemen are intelligent and enterprising gentlemen and will, no doubt, succeed in their chosen field.

The handsome gold watch advertised to be given to the person guessing nearest to the amount of the sales of the C. L. Store for Saturday last, was the means of bringing out a large number of guesses. The actual sales were $215,74. John Quick and Frank Anderson each guessed $1,233.92 or within $1.82 of the exact amount. These gentlemen will devise some plan to settle the matter between themselves.

The Masquerade ball at the opera house Monday night was well attended. The Ideal Orchestra furnished its best music and the costumes were both fanciful and elegant. Harry Boynton received the prize as being the best dressed "lady" in the hall and Chris. Fehernitz captured the prize as being the best dressed gentleman. The "sally" received a handsome work box, and the gentleman received a box of cigars. The evening was highly enjoyed by all, and the best of order was preserved. The managers deserve much praise for giving the public frequent opportunities of enjoyment and recreation at a nominal price.

The Old and the New.
There is something sad about the dying hours of an old year. The north wind seems a melancholy requiem and Mother Earth, draped in a mantle of purity, seems to mourn the end of another cycle of time.

There is a field for much and varied thought as we stand about this death bed. There is a something that distinguishes it from the expiring moments of an aged person. True it is that we can review the past career of that man now aged and brought low in death, and profit thereby, but his life is impersonal. There cannot be that familiarity with the incidents of, and lessons that his life teach, that a review of our life teaches as we stand with unnumbered heads in the presence of Time's death. For at that ungodly action, our works for good or evil, pass before the mind's eye as a panorama.

We would be better men and women, if we were to pass at these moments of life and reflect. Within a few days we pass another milestone on your journey and ask yourself the question: "Have I anything to regret?" The outbreak of passion, the unkind word, neglect of duty, depraved tastes, and inclinations are stumbling blocks in the paths of us all. Have we not stumbled on some of these during the past year?

While standing in the presence of death all men resolve to be better, nobler and holier men. All the more so we resolve these things while standing near the "tier of expiring time."

Before another week has rolled by, ruddy-faced 1894 will have greeted us, and another year laden with its responsibilities, cares, joys and sorrows will be entered upon.

Let us profit by the past. Let us banish forever any evil tendencies that we have fostered during the year just closing. Let us endeavor to make the world better for our having lived in it, so that when it shall be said of us:

"That man has lived so that he has done good for his race."
On the tomb.

"We will still continue to live in the minds and hearts of those coming after."

We know not what the coming year has in store for us. For some it may bring sickness and death; to others anguish and misfortune.

As you open the volume 1894, vow that you will not let it deface its white pages, but that in our every day life, brotherly love and a realizing sense of right shall be ever present as we pen the epitaph of another year's life.

Mrs. D. K. Smith is visiting friends at Minneapolis.

The Marinette Iron Works company has ceased to exist.

Mrs. C. M. Ruggles and daughter Maud are visiting friends at Ashkol, Wis.

Cleveland as a Santa Claus is no success. He tried hard to place a crown in Queen Lil's stocking, but failed.

This is a genuine summer resort. The weather is so salubrious that the ice rink is a failure on account of scarcity of ice.

The January term of the circuit court convenes January 9th. The docket is a light one. The Sprague case, Niles vs. The Soo Railroad Co., and Andrew McDonald vs. The Soo Railroad Co., and Miller vs. Silverman, are the important cases.

The admission of Utah into the sisterhood of states means a Mormon victory. It cannot be denied but that polygamy is still generally practiced in that state. The fact that Utah is Democratic was sufficient to entreat for its admission by a Democratic congress.

Mr. Goham's condition is still very critical.
Sheriff Carr was in Seney this week on official business.
Frank Warfield is numbered among those seriously ill.

By the way, what has become of our Thompson correspondent.

Murdock McNeil, the efficient foreman, was a holiday visitor.

The S. of V's hold a meeting on Wednesday every of next week.

Miss Edith Orr visited parents and friends in this city this week.

Our hotel keepers all treated their guests with the best attainable on Christmas day.

We know of 31 persons that have signified their intention of "swearing off" next Monday.

The Detroit Free Press scores Governor Rich for appointing a Republican to office.

Putnam & Co's store room looks quite neat since the new fixtures are placed in position.

We hope the boys will shortly recover from their holiday vacation and that they will resume sending us notes from their various camps.

The dancing school meets tomorrow evening. Those attending are making rapid progress under the efficient tutelage of M. A. Youmans.

G. L. Lyman contemplates going to Bay City next week. The firm of Hitchcock & Bailey wish to open a new camp a few miles east of this town.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kingham, Wednesday, a 11 pound son, Joe! It can hardly be classed as a Christmas gift, but cigars are in order any way.

Knowing full well that another will claim the distinction of having first mentioned the matter, again we refer to remark that a Snow-shoe club should be organized here.

For fear of being scooped we will mention it. The only new store in the Booth Co's office, and two new chimneys on the net room.

The jury system is indeed time-honored. There was a time when it was indeed the bulwark of our liberties; but in that time there was no such rigid insistence on ignorance as a qualification for the performance of jury duty. The things complained of now are very largely abuses engrafted on the original system; but it is very much to be feared that they are so thoroughly incorporated with the system that they can only be reformed by abolishing the system itself.—Detroit Free Press.

COMMUNIST HUNTER.
Anthony Wortman took a large dose of strychnine, at Quinlan's boarding house about 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon and died four hours later. He gave no reasons for committing the rash act, and refused to give any clue to his former life, friends or relatives. He intimated that a brother of his formerly lived at Detroit. There is a deep mystery connected with the affair. He was sober, intelligent and industrious and had in his possession nearly $1000 in cash at the time of his death. Perhaps remorse for some former crime committed drove him to death. Coroner Hafford held an inquest Friday evening and the verdict sustained the theory of suicide.

Deceased was about 40 years old. The Detroit authorities were telegraphed to spare no pains in discovering his brother, supposedly living in that city.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Our Personal Interest.
Manistique has made an enviable record during the year now drawing to a close. While the financial stringency affected all to some extent yet not one failure among our business men has been chronicled. There is an almost entire absence of poverty in the city and this fact alone tells more eloquently than words the story of our progress.

The first brick building ever built in the city was erected this year. Blumrosen Bros. took the initial step and did not cease work until a handsome building containing five store rooms was completed. Rose Bros. feeling the need of better quarters, also purchased a lot and erected thereon a handsome building. Messrs. McKinney, Hefron and Orr Bros & Co., soon had brick on the ground and began and completed the erection of three handsome buildings. So during the year five brick buildings have been erected and are occupied or will shortly be occupied by thirteen business enterprises. Aside from the erection of business blocks, many substantial residences were also built. Perhaps no city in the upper peninsula made a better record during the year, than did Manistique in this respect.

The manufacture and shipping of lumber was carried on with great activity during the year and the mills were not shut down until Jack Frost converted the river into an ice cake thereby shutting off the motive power.

The Booth Packing Co. did a very extensive business in these waters and gave employment to many men.

The prospects for the coming year are the brightest.

Several more brick blocks are in contemplation; the C. L. and W. L. Companies have an army of men in their camps getting out timber for next season's cut. The Furnace, we understand will go in blast in the spring, and in all channels of business there are favorable symptoms of a healthy increase.

Our business men are enterprising and wide-awake, and are generally more moral, upright and industrious. Loafers are upon us as useless appendages and are not popular.

There is however much room for improvement. We need an efficient system of fire protection; a city hall and a ca'osse, and should be incorporated as a city. Manistique has outgrown its swaddling clothes; it is no longer an infant.

We Return Thanks
To our many friends and customers for the privilege of selling them more shoes this year than the year previous; by actual count the leather goods sold this year were pleased to inform you that in round numbers the figures are 4,110 pairs, an advance over last year of 15 pairs. It is a record we are proud of; it is what we have been working for. "Honest goods at reasonable profits is our motto."

Our gent's furnishings sales has not suffered from the hard times, the quantity have been larger, the quality has been better and the prices lower. To our customers again we return our sincere thanks for the many favors shown us the past year, and we hope that the coming year we will be able to care for your wants better than in the past year by selecting such goods that will be better; that we will be able to sell for less money to you than in former years. For precious New Year to all. CLARIBRO BROS.

Mrs. Rod Lyman of Corinne, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lyman.

VICEROY OF INDIA.

His Position Surpassed in Grandeur by Few Rulers.

How the Indian Empire is Governed—Task Requiring Great tact and Cool Judgment—Lord Roberts and Lord Curzon.

It was no easy matter for Mr. Gladstone to find an acceptable successor to the marquis of Lansdowne as viceroy of India. Curzon requires that the governor general shall be a member of the house of lords of high rank; and it is the province of English gentlemen to appoint one of their own party.

It happens that the question of Irish home rule has driven from Mr. Gladstone's support almost every Englishman who remains except those who were created peers by him, and those who hold office in his government.

The position was first offered to Sir Henry Norman, a soldier of great experience, and accepted by him. But the appointment was not well received.

Little interest is felt in this country in the government of India. Yet, says the Youth's Companion, the viceroy is subject to a certain control by the home government, and occupies a position surpassed in grandeur by no other ruler, the queen of England, the emperors of Germany and Russia and the president of the United States.

The task of governing India is one of great delicacy, owing to the vast extent of territory, the number of independent and mutually hostile states which make up the empire, and the difference of race and religion of the people.

How are these three hundred millions governed? Roughly speaking, the type usually seen examining garbage cans.

This is a strange occupation for one evidently of good birth and education. The man who is learned by inquiry of the woman's purpose, it is apparent that in a large city like New York the waste in certain channels affords more than sustenance for many who display industry and intelligence in relinquishing such waste and making it marketable.

A PECULIAR INDUSTRY.

Why a New York Woman Searches Millinery Garbage Cans.

On that portion of Fifth avenue, between Madison square, in New York, which is almost entirely given over to trade, the unusual spectacle has been frequently presented, during recent years, of a woman, as well dressed as the average woman who walks on Fifth avenue, with glittering stones on her ears and her breast, looking over and carefully examining the contents of garbage cans which stand on the outer edge of the pavement.

She is not looking for what the rag woman seeks; however. She gives her attention only to those cans that have been set by milliners and dress makers, the carefully sorted scraps of lace, feathers, silk and the like that she discards. The woman, looking for by do not concern her, as trawlers find handful of curled ropes strewn away in her search.

She is middle-aged and so neatly attired that she is in striking contrast to the type usually seen examining garbage cans.

CHINA FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.

The Most Wonderful White and Gold in the Far East.

The young bride who begins house-keeping for the first time finds it quite as hard to exercise good judgment in selecting her household articles as it is to do so in buying carpets or hangings. There has recently been a great change, decidedly for the better, in the selection of washbasin appointments.

The water jug with a square mouth, from which the water flowed straight into the basin, has been replaced by those set in a stand and requiring merely to be tilted like a tea can. There is no great variety in the patterns, but the dull shades of the London seem most attractive.

The Russian fiasco for colored glass washbasins, decorated with flower sprays, is shown in some of the most exclusive china stores, but these look too full for daily use. The newest and most popular for tooth and nail brushes are upright jars.

There is a decided tendency for plain mill table ware, or white with a gold edge, of the Derby and Coplett varieties. Its merit lies in its durability and the fact that it can be easily matched. It is a mistake to buy too heavy ware, which leads to as much breakage as the opposite extreme.

The Shropshire variety of this pure white ware has already been seen in the daily covered cups, saucers, and butter plates, always for some time past for invalid and bedroom use. There is something very dainty in an elaborate breakfast or tea table laid with this ware.

Such service may be used for every meal. In buying china, says the Worcester and Crown Derby trade, is a well-earned credit that is deemed most desirable, and in the case of the latter the reach of the well-to-do. Crossed lines under a crown or a single crown is a well-known mark.

White and gold continues to be a favorite for elegant dinner sets. All sorts of edges are now in vogue, some of them narrow band or wide, irregular edges. Often there is a decorative border of cut glass, or a piece of the set that resembles a small circular oval bit of thick glass.

WIT AND WISDOM.

All our prayers are but sighs till charity is shown to be added.

—That man may safely venture on his wit, who is so guided that he can outwit himself.—Walter Scott.

—Kind Party—Why are you crying like that, my little boy? Little Boy—'Cause it's the only way I know how to get you to stop.—Chas. Matthews.

—The man who declares that he will forgive but can never forget has never tried to mail his wife's letters.—Chas. Matthews.

—To be of noble parentage and not to be so is a great, noble affliction. It is a defamation that is glory.—Rabelais.

—No school is more necessary to children these days, because either the child must be broken in childhood or the parent in old age.—Jean Paul Richter.

—First Stranger—You seem very much taken with the lecturer's assertion that the best generally go to the top. Second Stranger (angrily)—I'm a peach grower, sir.—Balfour.

—When one inquired of the editor of the Worcester and Crown Derby trade, he was sufficiently surprised, he received an answer: "When I can see my own image perfectly reflected in it!"—Chas. Matthews.

—Money ain't 'erything in this country, 'it says Uncle Tom. "It's the only thing that's worth anything in this country, 'it says Uncle Tom. "It's the only thing that's worth anything in this country, 'it says Uncle Tom.

IF you wish the lightest, sweetest, finest cake, biscuit, bread and rolls, Royal Baking Powder is indispensable in their making.

THE ARTIST'S CORNER.

Great sculptors often used eyes of glass or crystal in the faces of their statues.

The oldest existing statue is one of wood, admirably modeled, colored and with eyes of crystal. It is of a man named Hasem, an Egyptian, and dating from about B. C. 4000.

The early representations of Christ in painting were purposely devoid of the features of His face. In the eighth century Adrian I. decreed that Christ should be represented as beautiful as possible.

POWER OF THE PRESS

ITS INFLUENCE IN POLITICS FOR GOOD OR ILL.

A Washington News Story Its Effect on the Inland of Italy—20th Century From Its Editor.

The press is a power which the people should have cause to dread if it is not properly controlled, not only in the last campaign, but also the termination of that important contest. That an intelligent class, such as American journalists, should be, with their eyes wide open, would be hoodwinked into a coalition of party servility which made them the agency of their own degradation is not only squandered but surpassed by the still further manufacture of its power over the minds of workmen in closing their eyes to the real cause of the existing industrial depression.

That the decline of industrial enterprise, which transformed the independent, self-sustaining workman of yesterday into a help-superior of today, was caused by the political purposes of a few men, and that the Democratic party to abolish the tariff no industrial workman will deny. Yet to planify the abolition of facts and to planify the voice of complicity to hand out to the countries over to the hands of the few men who are most to be feared.

Daily quashing their thirst for knowledge from the front line of a called Democracy, the politicians are made for them in the United States, transmitted from The World Publishing and other agencies of an acknowledged foreign character.

Like a field in preparation for a certain crop, the public mind is being now by Democratic journals of the result of depression in the industrial mind that seems to follow on the mind of the workman, who are to be their end and a hand to be made with the doctrine of the industrial falsehood that while the factory is closed against the workman, the wages are not being paid, and the workman who is not being paid, the wages are not being paid, and the workman who is not being paid, the wages are not being paid.

Owing to a large measure to the public mind, the politicians were prepared for the hand. But at this critical point in the program, the points of view manifest in the personality of one of the men, Joseph Pulitzer, now of the World—next of The New York World. In one hand, to rally popular sentiment, to gain time to write the story of the industrial war with the world. This Mr. Pulitzer is one of the chief architects of the free trade policy which has brought the lumber and now glassifies him, relieving some of the lumber to help to create.

This he calls charity, while it is one of the most insidious of the paper finishing machines that he is really constructing. Until it shall please him, the President to pay attention to the laws of nature, on the part of an individual, the President should be able to do it, as an individual, and should be regarded as such by all worthy of the name.—James J. Dolan.

The Market For Farm Products. During the past 10 years the home market for the products of agriculture has increased 30 per cent from the amount of production. In the next four decades the wants of 65,000,000 more will double the present demand upon agriculture and make a demand for products ample to supply the needs of 100,000,000 European people, Great Britain, in her 1914 condition, largely occupied by household pleasure goods, produce a half supply. The sea animals of the Netherlands partially for food and population. Eastern Europe is an excellent example, and the western nations usually supply their food requirements. The case there is little prospect in the immediate future that the market for farm products will be worthy of comparison with the present overwhining and constantly augmenting importance of the domestic market, which is the hope of the farmer of the future.—Professor J. R. Dolan.

Dull Times Are Ahead. The big Ansonia cotton mill at Manchester, N. H., the largest cotton mill in the country, which for some months without intermission, employed 8,000 hands, are still idle, notwithstanding reports that they have resumed. The Governor of New Hampshire reports: "Nearly all of the mills have their storehouses packed with goods, not because of an overproduction, but because orders have been completely stopped. The effect of dull times in our mill industry is that it is seen and felt in every kind of business in Manchester. The financial and trade uncertainty in the country. The repeal of the silver law may help, but manufacturers must know what the future has in store before confidence will be restored."—Albany Journal.

Prospects for the Silk Industry. Mrs. Carrie Williams of San Diego, Cal., has received a letter from a Syrian merchant in the Midway place west of the World's fair, where she had the cocoons on exhibition in the California building and asking for eggs to test. If they prove to be without disease, Syria will hereafter import from California rather than from France, who has been a now common among silk raisers. It is possible that this is the first of American silkworms from this source to arrive at an industry that at various times in our history has produced a few results, but has always failed to be able to achieve them.—Manufacturers Gazette, Boston, Sept. 16, 1913.

SHORT TALK TO WORKINGMEN

The Two Trade Features of the Strike Bill.

There is only one country in Europe in which the vote of labor are within 10 per cent of the total vote. It is Italy. In that country, the vote of labor is 45 per cent of the total vote. In the United States, the vote of labor is 10 per cent of the total vote. This is the reason why the vote of labor is so small in the United States. It is because the vote of labor is so small in the United States.

AMOR VINCI.

She was a western belle, young and fair; Her hair, her eyes, her smile beyond compare. Her was a young, bright, handsome and bold. She was a beauty, and she was a girl.

They loved each other. Yet, no word of plans had passed that they would ever part. They were a pair, and they were true. They were a pair, and they were true.

"I could not, could I not, meet this eye?" "I could not, could I not, meet this eye?" "I could not, could I not, meet this eye?"

DISTINY.

BY ROBERT ALEX. DOUGLASS-LINGGON,

A Lovely Evening.

Aunt Samantha is visiting at a home in Buffalo. She is an old maid and very droll, always consulting her prayers with the Gloria.

"Why do she say such funny things in her prayers?" asked the little daughter of the house.

"Why, what do she say?" replied the fond mamma.

"I don't remember all she says, but she always ends with 'World without end, amen.'"—Buffalo Express.

THE YAKIMA COUNTRY.

JUST ACROSS THE COLUMBIA RIVER, ALONG THE LINE OF THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD IN EAST WASHINGTON, IS A REMARKABLE VALLEY. ONLY A FEW YEARS SINCE IT WAS GIVEN OVER TO SAGE BRUSH AND JACK RABBIT. NOW IT IS ONE OF THE MOST FERTILE AND PRODUCTIVE VALLEYS IN THE WORLD. IRRIGATION HAS DONE IT. VAST SUMS HAVE BEEN SPENT UPON LONG LINES OF IRRIGATION CANALS, AND LARGE AREAS ARE NOW PLANTED IN SMALL FRUITS AND ORCHARD PATHERS, IN GRAIN FIELDS, AND ALFALFA PASTURES. THE YIELDS OBTAINED ARE SO GREAT THAT LITTLE FARMS OF 10 AND 20 ACRES ARE ABOUT AS MUCH AS ONE MAN CARES FOR OR NEEDS TO OWN. IF YOU THINK OF FINDING A NEW HOME, LOOK INTO THIS REGION, WHERE THE CLIMATE IS AS PLEASANT AS THE CROPS ARE GOOD.

Send to Chas. S. Fox, Pass & Ticket Agent, Northern Pacific Railroad, St. Paul, Minn., for maps and information.

OFFICIAL PAPER.

How They Observed It.

The Methodists and Danish-Norwegian churches observed the season by holding their exercises Saturday evening. Both churches were handsomely decorated, and the exercises consisted of responsive readings, recitations and singing. The trees were loaded with gifts for the children.

Mass was held at the Catholic church at 12 o'clock Sunday night. And the services during the day were well attended by the membership.

Habit Mass was held at the Swedish Lutheran church at 5:30. A block Monday morning. Exercises were held in the evening. The church was artistically decorated with thousands of candles shed a flood of light over the entire edifice.

An interesting program and distribution of gifts occupied the evening to the pleasure and profit of all present.

The Baptist church was not behind these in appropriateness during the days of days. The church was crowded Monday evening, and those attending were amply repaid for attending. An appropriate program was presented and the tree was laden with a fruit that pleased the children.

Those attending the Presbyterian church the same evening were treated to an innovation. When the hour of beginning the services had arrived, and after the offering of a prayer, the church was darkened.

The choir which was in the vestibule of the church, sang in almost heavenly strains, "The Old, Old Story."

Then a series of pictures descriptive of the life of the Christ, were exhibited by means of a stereopticon under the manipulation of Rev. Rogers. As each picture was exposed to view an appropriate verse of Scripture was read, or song rendered. These illustrations were followed by an illustrated history of Santa Claus.

After the conclusion of the exercises the children were marched into the church parlors where two large trees were laden with presents for all. Pictures for themselves firmly in the minds of children, while an address, no matter how eloquent it is, is forgotten.

Masses Elect Officers.

A Brave Soldier.

A hundred years ago the unfortunate people who live in the hands of an surgeon, generally soldiers or sailors who had been hurt in action, were forced to undergo the operation necessary to the preservation of life without feeling either chloroform, as is now administered to make the patient unconscious, and so free from pain attendant upon the operation. To secure quiet, often the subject had to be bound by ropes, so that such a he might desire to wince he was utterly unable to do so.

Occasionally patients would show remarkable fortitude at the crisis of their troubles, but none ever showed more than a soldier who, on the morning after the battle of Yorktown, Oct. 19, 1781, was brought into the hospital, having been shot in the knee. It was found necessary to amputate the limb, and the surgeon ordered the man to bind the man fast preparatory to the operation. "Never!" protested the soldier. "You may tear my heart from my breast, but you shall not bind me. Can you get me a fiddle?"

His request was complied with, and he proceeded to tune the instrument, after which he said, "So, doctor, now you can begin." And he played during the whole of the operation, which lasted 40 minutes, but without uttering a single false note or disturbing his features in the slightest.—Harper's Young People.

They All Saw It Now.

Mrs. Burton, with her husband—Sir Richard Burton, the famous traveler—and two ladies, had driven out of Toledo to a village where and were sitting in the carriage listening to the band. In telling of it she said:

Suddenly, at the top of a road, I caught sight of a rat, which appeared to me to be spellbound by the music.

"Look!" I said. "Don't move, but watch that rat, fascinated by two musicians."

So we all sat and watched it, and thought it most interesting that rats should be susceptible to music like humans and animals.

We all saw it move. We all saw it come and turn and its tail wag, and we kept still, not to frighten it away. The next day, feeling so much interested in the affair, we went to inquire about it. The rat, it turned out, was made of painted tin and fixed to the top of the house. So much for imagination.—Yonks's Comedian.

Diplomacy.

Henry Higgins—I didn't get nothing to eat from the woman next door.

Mrs. Wickwire—And you will get nothing here.

"I want you to ask you for nothing, but I want to tell you that there woman next door I just spoke of did say she would hand out the grub if I find out how you keep your complexion so beautiful. Would you mind helping a starvin' man by tellin' me?"

"Er—oh—do you like sugar and cream in your coffee?"—Indianapolis Journal.

Waterproof Bricks.

It is stated that ordinary bricks boiled in tar for about 12 hours, or until they are saturated with it, are increased about 20 per cent in weight, are much harder than common ones, and unaffected by frosts and acids as well as perfectly waterproof. They form an excellent flooring for worksheds or storerooms, particularly in chemical establishments.—Chicago Herald.

Too Busy to Talk.

"Too busy to write an advertisement this week" was Manager Hill's answer to our reporter yesterday.

While the manager has nothing starting to offer the public this week, buyers should remember that a dollar purchases a large amount of goods at the C. L. Store, and that the extremely low prices, quoted heretofore are still in vogue.

Extremely low prices to suit the hard times, are quoted in all departments.
