2nd Judge Retires

Supreme Court Justice Sutherland thought the constitution should be strictly interpreted when it pinched as well as when it comforted, and his interpretations of it often pinched the New Deal.

But now, approaching his 76th birthday, and having served 15 years, gray-bearded, bespectacled Justice Sutherland has given President Roosevelt a chance to name someone else to the high court.

He will retire Jan. 18 and thereafter be ready to lend an ear when needed in the lower federal courts, like Justice Van Devanter, who was in New York this week sitting as a trial judge.

Senator Hugo Black got Van Devanter's place (remember the subsequent storm about his Ku Klux Klan connections?) and this week speculation on a successor to Sutherland became rife in Washington.

Some of the men mentioned for the earlier vacancy, including Solicitor General Stanley Reed and ex-Senator Sam G. Bratton, were suggested again this time.

Sutherland's Story

George Sutherland was born in England but was brought to America when only a year and a half old. He grew up in Utah, studied law in Michigan, then returned west to help get Utah ready for statehood and sit in its first state legislature.

Later he went to congress, became a friend of Warren G. Harding, helped elect him President, and in 1922 was made a Supreme Court judge.

There he was a bulwark of the conservative bloc. But by his retirement he has enabled President Roosevelt to give the other side a clear majority—because Stone, Brandeis, Cardozo and Black constitute a liberal bloc.

Sutherland's decision struck Montana's Senator Wheeler, leader in the fight against a 'bigger court,' as 'further evidence that it wasn't necessary to pack the Supreme Court.'

And Indiana's Senator Minton, ardent proponent of the Roosevelt proposal last spring and one of those mentioned promptly for the new vacancy, opined that Sutherland's retirement helped the court situation.

Sutherland has not been seriously ill, and only last Monday read the court's unanimous decision in a busy case.

Power Questions

The supreme court was heard from on Monday, in regard to three New Deal vs. private utility questions:

1. May the federal government finance construction of publicly owned plants? Yes, the court said, unanimously, in a case in which the Alabama Power and Duke Power Companies had challenged PWA loans and grants.

The ruling, Secretary Ickes reported, affected proposed projects involving $146,917,898.

2. Should 'prudent investment' be the basis for rate-making valuations and the cost of reproduction not necessarily be considered? That's President Roosevelt's contention. A final ruling on it was postponed by the court's 6-to-2 decision to send California rate litigation back to a federal district court.

3. Is the 1933 public utility holding company act constitutional? The court agreed to take up an Electric Bond & Share Company case involving this question.

TV's Status

The Tennessee Valley Authority now has power generators going at three of 12 proposed dams, and expects—if money enough flows its way—to flash its vast construction.

PRESIDENT FIGHTS 'MINORITY'

Life Imprisonment Given To Kidnapers At Centerville, Ind.

Richmond, Ind., Jan. 8 (AP)—An admission that he was guilty of participating in the Christmas Eve kidnaping of four centerville, Ind., persons brought a sentence of life imprisonment today to William Chester Marcum, thirty-year-old unemployed Newcastle carpenter.

He will go to prison alone as his companion in the crime, Harry C. Walter, 52, of Muncie, committed suicide Wednesday by leaping from a catwalk in the Wayne county jail.

DETROIT YARDS LAUNCH CARRIER

Ore Boat, First of 1938, Is Constructed for Pittsburgh Line

Detroit, Jan. 8 (AP)—First boat to be launched in Detroit shipyards in 1938, the John Hulst, slid down the ways at the Great Lakes Engineering Co. works today.

The vessel, a 610-foot ore carrier, was constructed for the Pittsburgh Steamship Co. and was named for a vice-president of the United States Steel corporation, of which the steamship concern is a subsidiary.

It was christened with the conventional bottle of champagne by Miss Helen A. McDonough.

The boat, last of four to be constructed for the Pittsburgh concern for the 1938 shipping season, joins the largest fleet on the Great Lakes. Its owners operate 74 vessels.

A single screw propeller is furnished with electric power by double-gear, cross-compound turbines, a feature entirely new on the lakes with the Hulst and its three sister ships.

END OF SPANISH WAR PREDICTED

Insurgents Driven Out of Teruel; Loyalist Army Victorious

BY CHARLES P. NUTTER Madrid, Jan. 8 (AP)—Dozens of ambulances and trucks today rolled down the snow-packed highway from Teruel to Valencia, carrying 2,000 gaudy insurgent soldiers and civilians who were driven by cold, hunger, thirst and steeple from refuge in the government-held city.

With the main body of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's lower Aragon army blocked from recapture of Teruel, the beleaguered insurgent garrison and their weakened women and children surrendered yesterday.

Observers were convinced that the insurgent counter-offensive was slowing up markedly. The uncertainty in Madrid last week when Franco's troops were advancing behind a terrific pressure of planes, tanks and artillery had given place to full confidence in ultimate government success at Teruel.

Many observers considered the battle might decide the outcome of the war.

President May Fish For Mackinaw Trout

Detroit, Jan. 8 (AP)—There is a possibility that President Roosevelt will spend at least part of his 1938 vacation in Michigan fishing for the fighting Mackinaw trout, Senator Prentiss M. Brown (D-Mich.), said today.

Brown also hopes the president will take part in dedication ceremonies of the international bridge now being constructed between Port Huron and Sarnia, Ont.

The president, an ardent fisherman, is much interested in the fighting qualities of Mackinaw trout, the senator asserted.

Beer Garden Girl's Murder Cleared Up

Detroit, Jan. 8 (AP)—Clarence Norton, thirty-five-year-old steel worker, has confessed the slaying of Emma Mahn, pretty twenty-two-year-old beer garden waitress, police inspector Paul Wencel said tonight.

The girl's body was found near the outskirts of Detroit Friday morning and remained unidentified until early today.

Navy Bomber Lost at Sea

Lost over the Pacific 200 miles off San Diego during secret maneuvers, the 7-P-4, above, one of the navy's newest and most powerful flying warships, was sought by the full force of the Pacific fleet in a dramatic search.

French May Protest Attacks In Shanghai

Shanghai, Jan. 9 (Sunday) (AP)—Arrival of a Japanese fleet off Tsingtao, rich North China coast, created fear among foreigners and Chinese today of an impending Japanese attack.

In Shanghai, meanwhile, French officials indicated they probably would protest to Japan against an assault by Japanese troops on police of the French concession yesterday.

WALLACE TALKS FOR 'NEW DEAL'

Small Town Folks Are Urged to Abandon Republicanism

Des Moines, Jan. 8 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace tonight beckoned to the main streets of the midwest to quit the Republican party for the new deal.

In a speech prepared for delivery before a Jackson Day dinner here, for which 1,100 persons purchased tickets, the cabinet member invited small town business and professional men to follow his footsteps out of the GOP into Democratic ranks.

He changed his party affiliation in April, 1935.

He recalled the 1936 election returns when he said many of the small town merchants "have continued to be opposed to us." Much of the Republican party's mid-western strength in the last campaign was centered in the county seat towns.

"During the past three years the farm program and the relief program together have saved literally thousands of business men from destruction," he said. "xxx The business men of the small towns of Iowa will be with us when they recognize their own true interest x x x farmers ought to see that the business men in their towns have a true understanding of the farm program."

"Republican opposition to Secretary Hull's trade agreement program has been one of the most notable examples of shortsighted opposition which this country has ever seen," he asserted.

Dynamiting Crime Involves 9 Persons

Elizabethton, Tenn., Jan. 8 (AP)—Murder charges were brought against three men today in connection with a dynamite blast which killed three children and injured their mother in their home near here yesterday.

Seven men and a woman were under arrest and an eighth man was sought.

District Attorney General Luke Grayson termed the dynamiting "the worst crime on record in east Tennessee."

Jenks, Marquette, New Federal Clerk

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 8 (AP)—The appointment of Frank G. Jenks, former clerk of Marquette county, as deputy clerk of the federal court for the western district of Michigan, was confirmed today by United States Judge Fred M. Raymond. Jenks succeeds the late Fred F. Schultze of Marquette.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Detroit (AP)—Ray Baker, of Detroit, was killed Saturday when a Grand Trunk passenger train struck his automobile at the crossing of Ten Mile road in Macomb county.

SLOAN DRAWS $561,311; TOPS INCOME LISTS

THIRTEEN MEN GET IN EXCESS OF $300,000

Washington, Jan. 8 (AP)—A congressional committee, giving the public a peek into the 1936 pay envelopes of the nation's highest paid industrialists, movie stars and financiers, disclosed today that Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., of General Motors, topped the list with $561,311.

The house ways and means committee divulged the information, which had been given to the treasury, by corporations which paid employees salaries, bonuses, commissions and other compensation of $15,000 or more during the 1936 tax year.

Knudsen Second Thirteen men received in excess of $300,000 each for the year, the report showed, and nine of them were officials of the General Motors Corporation. William S. Knudsen, president, ranked second to Sloan with $459,878.

In the entertainment world, Gary Cooper was tops with $370,214. Ten movie and radio stars received more than $200,000. In addition to Cooper, this group included Ronald Colman, $362,500; Claudette Colbert, $350,833; Mae West, who led the list for the preceding year, $323,333; Madeline Carroll $287,913; Warner Baxter, $284,384; Marlene Dietrich, $269,333; Ruth Chatterton, $249,500; Charles Boyer, $249,145, and Rudy Vallee, $238,744.

In Top Flight The report showed that 336 General Motors Corporation officials received $15,000 or more and 56 of them got at least $50,000.

Some of the other top-flight industrialists and their compensation included: Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corp., $180,000; Charles M. Schwab, Bethlehem board chairman, $150,000; James H. Rand, Jr., president of Remington-Rand, Inc., Buffalo, N. Y., $118,371; Ernest T. Weir, board chairman, Weirton Steel Co., Weirton, W. Va., $71,785. Weir also was listed as receiving an identical amount from the Great Lakes Steel Corporation.

GIANT SEAPLANE NOT FOUND YET

Toll in Pacific Search Includes Burning of Bomber

San Pedro, Calif., Jan. 8 (AP)—Injury to two men and the loss of a bombing plane by fire added to the search for the twin-motor bomber that disappeared during maneuvers on the Pacific late yesterday.

Hope for the safety of the giant seaplane and its complement of seven diminished by the hour but the 35 fighting ships and 283 planes continued unabated their activities over 60,000 square miles.

Admiral Arthur J. Hephurn, commander-in-chief of the fleet, sent a radio message to the Associated Press telling of a landing crash aboard the airplane carrier Saratoga yesterday in which Pilot Lieut. J. M. Elliott suffered second degree burns and M. A. Belgun, a seaman, was cut and bruised.

The bomber caught fire and sank after the accident, said the message.

Previously Cadet Scott P. Hawkins of Jefferson City, Mo., fell from a searching plane and plunged into the sea.

Delaware Uses Whipping Post For Three Convicted Robbers

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 8 (AP)—Three convicted robbers were stripped to the waist, tied to a post and lashed with a cat-o-nine tails today in a renewal of Delaware's centuries-old method of punishing criminals.

The punishment brought sob and half cries from Raymond Shewbrook, 21, who flinched as the first of 20 lashes swished down on his back. He squirmed and hugged the ancient whipping post in the New Castle prison yard.

David Attaviani, 21, who pleaded guilty with Shewbrook to robbery and larceny of an automobile, showed no sign of pain as he received 10 lashes. Arthur Spain, 45, convicted of stealing watches and a steel safe from a department store, received five lashes with the same stoicism showed by Attaviani.

A gallery of 150 men, shivering from the cold and bundled in mufflers and heavy coats, crowded into the courtyard of the county workhouse at nearby Greenbank to witness the lashings. Each was carefully searched for cameras or weapons before guards admitted them inside the wall.

Back on Bench

For the first time in U. S. judicial history, a retired Supreme Court Justice presided over a lower court trial when Justice Willis Van Devanter, above, mounted the bench in U. S. District Court at New York. Although it was his first criminal trial in 27 years, the 78-year-old justice handled the stolen securities case against Gabriel Marosi and Earl F. Palmer firmly and expeditiously.

MURPHY SPURNS HIGH COURT JOB

My Place Is in Michigan, Governor Informs Senator Brown

Detroit, Jan. 8 (AP)—Efforts by Senator Prentiss M. Brown (D-Mich.) to boom Governor Frank Murphy for the United States supreme court vacancy created by the resignation of Justice George Sutherland were nipped in the bud today by the governor.

Brown announced recently that he intended to sound out Murphy on the subject and would back him for the berth if the latter indicated a willingness to leave the governorship.

"I appreciate the interest of so fine a person as Senator Brown," Murphy stated, "but I am opposed to the slightest effort, directly or indirectly, on my behalf.

"My work is here in Michigan and I far prefer to continue, step by step, the administrative job of building a model government. I would rather have the task I have than any other political commission that could possibly be given to me. I am where I belong and am not interested in anything else."

Sluggish Of Detroit Watchman Is Sought

Detroit, Jan. 8 (AP)—Police Saturday were seeking three robbers who allegedly slugged and robbed William Kilek, watchman in a concrete block factory. Kilek told police the men attacked him about 2:30 a. m. Saturday and left him bound so tightly with neckties that he narrowly avoided strangulation. He was found by fellow employees at 8:15 a. m., bleeding from a scalp wound. He said the robbers obtained $71 and a shotgun.

Trusties Caught; Get Longer Terms

Ionia, Mich., Jan. 8 (AP)—Two trustees who fled from the state reformatory December 8 and were recaptured two days later in Detroit were sentenced today to serve additional terms of 1 1/2 to 4 1/2 years each.

Ralph Sandbank, 18, serving one to four years from Detroit for larceny, was recommitted to the reformatory and Ray Miller, 23, sentenced to 2 to 10 years on a statutory charge from Clare county, was committed to the state prison of southern Michigan.

Letter Will Ruled Legal For $50,000

Grand Rapids, Jan. 8 (AP)—A will written in the form of a letter to a judge here in May, 1936, was valid, Probate Judge Leonard D. Verrier ruled here Saturday as he awarded the $50,000 estate of Mrs. Olive Merritt, former Grand Rapids resident, to her brother, John A. Boone, of New York City. Other relatives of Mrs. Merritt claimed the letter was not a legal will.

Former Editor Dies

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 8 (AP)—James H. Brown, 78, Battle Creek historian and former editor of the Michigan Farmer, died today.

All Highways Open After 12-Inch Snow

(By The Associated Press) Roads in the northern half of Lower Michigan and the Upper Peninsula were open to traffic Saturday after snowfalls had worked a half day in removing a seven to 12 inch blanket of snow. In the southern half of the Lower Peninsula, all roads were open but were reported icy in spots.

Temperatures throughout both peninsulas ranged between an unofficial low of 20 below at Mio to 18 above at Detroit. Official low readings at Sault Ste. Marie and Cheboygan recorded 13 and 15 below respectively, the temperature at Cheboygan being the lowest reading in two years.

The weather bureau forecast partly cloudy and continued cold weather.

TORCH SLAYING TRIALS BOOKED

Mother and Son Face Detroit Court in Pontiac Murder

Detroit, Jan. 8 (AP)—Trials of Thomas Ferreri, 26, and his mother, Mrs. Rose Ferreri, 54, charged with the torch slaying of Sam Macciochi will take place in Detroit, the state attorney general's department decided today.

Warrants charging mother and son with having killed Macciochi and set fire to a rug in which his body was encased were issued in Macomb county. The body was found in a ditch along Fourteen mile road near the Macomb-Oakland county line Dec. 30.

In designating Detroit as the place for the trials, the attorney general's office utilized a state law which provides that it may designate the county to have jurisdiction when the actual location of a crime is a border line case.

Capt. Donald Leonard of state police said evidence on which the warrants were based had been uncovered in a raid at the Ferreri residence. He added that the slain man and Thomas Ferreri met while both were serving prison sentences and that a recent quarrel implicated Ferreri in the case.

TWO METAMORA GUNMEN SOUGHT

Lapeer, Mich., Jan. 8 (AP)—County, state and federal investigators sought clues tonight to identify of two gunmen reported by Fred Donner, cashier, to have fled with nearly $3,000 after forcing him to open a safe in the Metamora State Savings Bank.

A state police fingerprint expert from East Lansing went to Metamora to aid in the inquiry. Sheriff George Carrigan said several prints found in the bank were being checked.

Donner, who is 48 years old and has been cashier for eleven years, reported late last night that two gunmen held him up as he left the bank after working on an annual report. He said the time lock prevented their raid on the big vault but they forced him to open a smaller safe that had a 15-minute lock on it. The gunmen carried him with them on their flight southward from Metamora, he reported, leaving him at the eastern limits of Pontiac.

Bank officials said Federal Deposit-insurance corporation examiners this week found affairs of the institution in good condition.

Donner described the gunmen as speaking with an accent.

Evils Unchecked

"That evil of utility holding company control will not grow in the days to come because this government has now passed laws to prevent similar occurrences in the future," he declared.

"But we have not yet corrected the existing evils that flow from mistakes of the past. We cannot condone their continuance."

Mr. Roosevelt said it had been estimated that $13,000,000,000 of electric utility securities were outstanding and that the substantial control of this total was vested in the hands of owners of less than $500,000,000.

"That means that the ownership of about 4 per cent of the securities controls the other 96 per cent," the president declared.

UNFAIR TRADE PRACTICES TO BE ABOLISHED

DEMOCRATS RALLIED AT JACKSON DAY BANQUETS

Washington, Jan. 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt gave notice tonight that he would wage a no-compromise fight against a minority of "business men, bankers and industrialists."

That minority intends to make a struggle "to the last ditch to retain autocratic control" over the country's economy, the president charged in a Jackson day address to the nation.

Door Always Open At the same time, the chief executive pledged cooperation "with all who were willing to help eradicate the evils that flow from undue concentration of economic power or unfair business practices."

The president spoke at the annual dinner here of Democrats celebrating Andrew Jackson's victory in the battle of New Orleans. His words went by radio to similar Democratic dinners throughout the land.

"The White House door is always open to all our citizens who come offering to help eradicate the evils that flow from undue concentration of economic power or unfair business practices—who offer to do all that is possible by cooperative endeavor and to aid in corrective and helpful legislation where necessary," he said.

No Compromise "We know that there will be a few—a mere handful of the total of business men and bankers and industrialists—who will fight to the last ditch to retain such autocratic control over the industry and the finances of the country as they now possess."

"With this handful, it is going to be a fight—a cheerful fight on my part, but a fight in which there will be no compromise with evil—no let up until the inevitable day of victory."

Mr. Roosevelt reviewed the struggles of Jefferson, Jackson, Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson for what he called the "basic morals of democracy."

"In our nation today," he continued, "we still have the continuing menace of a comparatively small number of people who honestly believe in their superior right to influence and direct government, and who are unable to see or unwilling to admit that the practices by which they maintain their privileges are harmful to the body politic. x x x

Utilities Mentioned "In my message to the congress on Monday, I made it abundantly clear that this administration seeks to serve the needs, and to make effective the will, of the overwhelming majority of our citizens and seeks to curb only abuses of power and privilege by small minorities."

"Thus, we in turn are striving to uphold the integrity of the morals of our democracy."

The president mentioned the administration's differences with utilities interests. Asserting that a "great majority of local or regional operating utility companies came to me to an understanding" with the government, he declared:

"But most of these operating companies are owned by holding companies—pyramided holding companies—which are finance companies, not operating utility companies. Very few investors in the operating companies have lost money. But thousands of investors have lost money in buying holding company securities which had blue sky above them instead of tangible assets behind them."

Evils Unchecked "That evil of utility holding company control will not grow in the days to come because this government has now passed laws to prevent similar occurrences in the future," he declared.

"But we have not yet corrected the existing evils that flow from mistakes of the past. We cannot condone their continuance."

Mr. Roosevelt said it had been estimated that $13,000,000,000 of electric utility securities were outstanding and that the substantial control of this total was vested in the hands of owners of less than $500,000,000.

"That means that the ownership of about 4 per cent of the securities controls the other 96 per cent," the president declared.

QUIMET HEADING CUP GOLF TEAM

Nine Players and Two Alternates Selected by U. S. G. A.

BY BILL BONI
New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—The United States Golf association today named a 1938 Walker Cup golf team of nine players and two alternates, to be captained by Francis Ouimet, and adopted a one-year modification of the stymie rule.

The make-up of the team which will meet the British at St. Andrews, Scotland, June 3-4 occasioned little surprise. In addition to Ouimet, Boston veteran who has been a member of each squad since the matches were inaugurated in 1922, the men invited to be on the team were:

Johnny Goodman of Omaha, Neb., national amateur champion; Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., runner-up to Goodman at Portland, Ore., last August; Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, 1936 title-holder and 1937 semifinalist; Marvin (Bud) Ward of Olympia, Wash.; Reynolds Smith, Dallas, Tex.; Fred Haas, Jr. of New Orleans, intercollegiate champion; Charles (Chuck) Kocis of Detroit, and Charles R. Yates of Atlanta, Ga.

Named as alternates in case any of the above men decline the invitation or cannot compete were T. Suffer Tailor of New York and Don Moe of Portland, Ore.

The U. S. G. A. executive committee, which reported the team selections to the annual meeting, also drafted the substitute stymie rule, which is to be in effect for one year "as a trial only."

The present rule states that, when the balls are lying on the green within six inches of each other, the one nearer the hole may be lifted. The modification adds that the ball lying nearer the hole also may be lifted if it is within six inches of the hole, regardless of the position of the ball.

Retiring President John G. Jackson explained that the executive committee felt the modification would "eliminate a good many causes of complaint."

While pointing to the fact that the original stymie rule was drafted before the days of the lively ball and fast greens, the executive committee also expressed the opinion that "it would not be desirable to eliminate a feature which has been part of the game for over a hundred years without giving a thorough trial to modifications which may remove the principal objections to the stymie and at the same time preserve it in match play."

The Walker Cup selections contained only one minor surprise, that of Tailor for alternate. Beaten by Medalist Roger Kelly of Los Angeles in the first round at Portland, he nevertheless has a good match-play record and went to the fifth round at Garden City in 1936.

Of the nine tentative "regulars" four, in addition to Ouimet, who was non-playing captain, were on the team two years ago. They are Goodman, Fischer, Smith and Yates.

He Now Eats and Sleeps Well; In Good Health Again

KruGon Conquers Distressing Gas Pains, Gaining in Weight and Strength; All Else Had Failed to Help Him

"It is a real pleasure to feel so well again after many miserable years of suffering," said Mr. Anton Komula, Toivala, Michigan (near Hancock). "For years I had been troubled with a disordered stomach and constipation. My entire system had become clogged with poisons, I could not without distress of indigestion, gas and bloating. I lost weight and did not have my usual strength or energy. I tried first one medicine and then another but always with the same results—NONE—until I learned of KruGon and gave it the opportunity of helping me."

"Never in all my experience have I seen a medicine do its work so well," continued Mr. Komula. "By the time I had finished my first box of KruGon I was feeling so much better I could hardly believe it myself, but after taking the second box the results were astonishing. My stomach and bowels are now regular, gas pains and all distress has left me. I eat and sleep good, enjoy the foods I want, my work is a pleasure I feel so well and cannot say half enough in praising this remarkable remedy. KruGon is one medicine suffering people of today can depend upon."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.

Levies On Incomes Fairest Tax, Says Michigan Governor

BY T. H. PECK
Detroit, Jan. 8 (AP)—Governor Frank Murphy placed himself on record tonight at a Jackson Day dinner of Michigan Democrats as considering a levy upon incomes "the soundest, most just, state or federal, our country knows today."

The governor's statement gave rise to speculation, among the 1,000 party members who heard it, concerning administration plans for a special session of the legislature. One of the subjects widely discussed for consideration of the law-makers is new forms of taxation that would help along the executive's budget-balancing program.

Stanley F. Reed, United States solicitor-general, who was the other speaker, asserted that "with confidence in the leadership of the president, the way is open for a renewed prosperity for all groups of our people."

"Spoils System Gone"
Murphy, harking back over his administration, appealed to pulp and press to accept accomplishments of state government as the reforms they had been demanding.

"We've made the fight for civil service," he declared, "against intense opposition. Now it has been effectuated."

"Discerning and fair observers in Lansing know we're rooted out of the spoils system. We have done it. We have also tried to bring a hospitalization program to forgotten people, and to establish an intelligent penal system."

The governor said he regarded it as "inconceivable" that the Democratic program should be popularly rejected. He declared the future would constitute a test of whether demands for reform in government had been "in good faith."

An indisposition prevented U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown, of St. Ignace, from attending. Brown, who was to have shared speaking honors with Reed, returned in conference during the day with Gov. Frank Murphy.

The governor attended the banquet. The Michigan congressional delegation was represented by representatives George D. O'Brien and John Dingell, both of Detroit; Andrew Trause, of Flint, and Frank E. Hook, of Ironwood.

Steel Output Up
Despite Business
Year-End Decline
New York (AP)—Despite a sharp falling off in steel production in the final months of the year the 1937 output was substantially above that for 1936 and not far under the 1929 figure.

The Lure of Winter Sports

BY CAL JOHNSON
Now comes the season for outdoor recreation which contributes so much toward robust health, fun and happiness. Snow and ice are the nucleus around which are built many forms of winter sports and thousands of new devotees of skiing, snowshoeing, skating, coasting and tobogganing are born every year in communities where cold weather sports are taking a firm hold on both young and old inhabitants.

Skating and skiing perhaps rank one and two in winter sports, due somewhat to the competitive possibilities surrounding the sports. Amateur contests sponsored in individual communities always draw huge crowds and the publicity received naturally tends to create interest among those who have not as yet tried gliding over the slippery ice on a pair of stream-lined silver blades or skimed down hill on a pair of skis.

Skating is indeed an exhilarating form of outdoor recreation and a sport which requires skill and poise. While ski-jumping is a recreation confined mostly to the younger element—although many old timers excel at the sport—cross country skiing and sliding down smooth hills at a medium speed can be safely enjoyed by all ages.

It is much a matter of the individual's ability to control his balance, coupled with a certain amount of nerve. When skiing in deep, soft snow there is no chance of getting hurt—and the tumble that may occur is always enjoyed, especially by on-lookers.

Snow covered woodlands are always beautiful and a snow-shoos hike into the country usually leads to locations that are rarely seen by individuals during the winter. The hills and valleys take on a different aspect after Jack Frost has arrived and old man Winter places a blanket of fluffy white snow over nature's playground.

A snow-shoos trek into the deep forest and marshlands seems with surprises and thrills. One will see the tracks of wild animals, each series of foot prints telling a vivid story. One may see the tracks of a rabbit, with the stalking foot prints of a weasel in pursuit—or the ruffled and blood stained snow where an owl captured its prey. The quietness and solitude of nature during mid-winter holds a peculiar fascination to all outdoor lovers and the snowshoos enthusiast can enjoy it to the fullest extent as he, or she, can penetrate the shadowed thickets, the hills and vales upon the surface of the wintery snows and view a wonderland of beauty and grace unknown to those who prefer to hug the fireside when the old blasts come down from the north.

Tobogganing Offers Fun
Tobogganing is a form of winter sport that offers plenty of real excitement for everyone. Many sections of the country have established community slides and toboggan parties are nightly occurrences throughout the winter months. The huge slides established in Montreal, Quebec, in the state of New York and in other parts of the United States are examples of what can be done in any community where hills exist. The swift ride down the longest hill is ample reward for the walk back up again—and who can deny the invigorating exercise this great outdoor sport offers the individual.

All followers of winter sports contribute color and fascination to the cold weather fun these days with the vivid patterned garments, now worn. Dressing properly has much to do toward making the sport comfortable and enjoyable. Warm clothing naturally contributes to the success of all winter outdoor recreation and the colorful uniforms of red, yellow, green and what-not makes the outdoors look like a fairyland of pixies, all bent on enjoying themselves amidst a world of snowy splendor.

Dynamiting Kills
3 Children; Three Men Are Blamed
Elizabethtown, Tenn., Jan. 7 (AP)—Sheriff J. M. Moreland said tonight murder charges had been placed against three men held in connection with a dynamite explosion which killed three children and seriously injured their mother at their home near here early today.

The sheriff listed the men as White and Crave Tollett, brothers, and Lee Walker, all of Pikeville, Tenn.

Five men and a woman were being held for investigation, the sheriff said, adding he believed the blast may have been the outgrowth of the slaying of Arnold Tollett in 1936, in connection with which Harmon Gouge, 35-year-old husband and father of the victims, is scheduled to face trial next month.

White and Crave Tollett, Moreland declared, are brothers of Arnold Tollett. He said Gouge was under $10,000 bond as the admitted slayer of Arnold Tollett. Moreland added Gouge claimed self defense.

Mrs. Harmon Gouge, 34, and her three daughters, Sonia, 9, Luena, 7, and Roma Jean, 55, apparently were asleep when an explosion from the cellar beneath their bedroom shattered parts of the house and caved in the foundation.

New York (AP)—Despite a sharp falling off in steel production in the final months of the year the 1937 output was substantially above that for 1936 and not far under the 1929 figure.

Ingot production for the 12 months, with December figures partly estimated, jumped to about 50,000,000 tons, compared with 47,513,000 last year, 13,464,000 in 1932 and 54,850,000 in 1929.

Scotland's Show Can Have Scotch

London (AP)—It took an act of parliament to legalize "perpetual" drinking at the Glasgow exhibition, which opens next year.

The grounds are in an area voted dry by local option, and for a time it looked as if the exhibition might have to get along without Scotland's most famous product.

But parliament overcame technicalities in Scottish and English law, and cleared the way for bars.

Would Bare TVA

ONE of the most refreshing signs of the political horizon is the recent action of veteran Senator George W. Norris, Nebraska Independent, in proposing a Senate investigation of his own beloved Tennessee Valley Authority.

In a political era marked all too often by stubborn, unreasoning refusal to air the facts and cope with them, Norris' willingness, even eagerness, to have the inner workings of TVA exposed to public view is a healthy symptom.

If any one man can be given credit for saving Muscle Shoals for the government, for establishment of TVA with its tremendous power-making facilities, its promise of cheaper and more easily available electric current, its usefulness in controlling floods, that man is George Norris.

He fought for his ideal through thick and thin. Never a political discussion did he hold in Senate corridors but what he turned over in his mind the possible advantages which could be accrued to his cherished plan.

Norris was probably the happiest man in Washington on that day back in 1933 when the TVA measure became law. Since then he has defended it against attacks which he felt might ruin its usefulness.

Now, however, is crisis has arisen in the affairs of TVA. There are charges that the administering board is torn by friction and bickering; that efficiency of the entire project is suffering from that dissension.

Norris, the man who had the courage to fight for TVA and the wit to put it over, now has the intelligence to recognize the fact that TVA needs an airing and he has the courage to propose it himself.

To be sure, his investigation resolution proposes an inquiry into other phases of TVA operation, notably whether municipalities and rural residents have suffered any loss by reason of the court attack on the authority by private utilities, and whether there have been any violations of the TVA act.

But over and above all that, Norris wants to know whether TVA is working, and if not, why not. He wants the country to know, too, although he must realize the possibility that an investigation may bring out some facts unfavorable to the project he fathered.

More of that kind of frankness and honesty could be used in American politics these days.

Conflict Avoided

THE long-awaited appointment of a successor to Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, who resigned to direct personnel relations with a large corporation, has been made.

There had been much speculation as to how President Roosevelt would dispose of this ticklish matter. The American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization were competing to have one of their members selected, believing that the appointment would lend prestige in the fight between the two rival labor organizations.

The administration saw the possibilities for incurring the wrath of one by favoring the other. However, a way out of the predicament was found by appointing a representative of neither organization.

The appointment was given to Charles C. McLaughlin, vice president of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, affiliated with the "big four" railroad group of labor organizations, and independent of the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O.

Whether the best man for the job was secured is a debatable question, no doubt, but nevertheless probably it was the best appointment that could be made under the circumstances from the political standpoint.

A Five-Year Plan

WITH the close of the old year, the American people ended their experience of the nation's first Five Year Plan. The period may be described as such, for almost five years have elapsed since the beginning of the New Deal—four years under the first Roosevelt Administration and one year under the second.

The expression is regarded by economists as especially apt because, during those five years, the country experienced a steady climb back toward the plateau of prosperity, with the first marked recession coming at the close of the period.

Reference to a Five Year Plan quite naturally conjures up visions of the Russian economic experiment, but there is only an indirect relation between the economic programs of recovery followed by the two nations. In the first place, the Soviet Union found it necessary to build from utter chaos, with almost no materials and with an illiterate people. In contrast, the United States had as almost immediate background a period of the greatest material prosperity the nation ever had known.

Two opposing political schools of thought were involved, the Russian one revolutionary in the last degree; the American one but slightly altered from what it had been for generations. While Russia now is well advanced upon her Second Five Year Plan, politically she has reached a point where blood purge after purge has caused something akin to a reign of terror. Again, in contrast, the close of the American Five Year Plan sees no such political violence and, in the field of general crime, probably the cleanest sheet in many years, with kidnapers, gangsters, and racketeers being suppressed all over the country. Even the heated disputes between organized labor and employers have been like kindergarten classes compared with the political reprisals in Russia.

Nearly at the close of the first Five Years, came the recession. There has been something almost mysterious about it. Many explanations have been made. It has been pointed out that business men were unwilling to expand their enterprises in a period of uncertainty. It has been pointed out that banks, in spite of the fact that their excess reserves were heaviest in all history, were chary of lending. It has been pointed out that owners of money were fearful of making investments because of the Federal and other taxes faced and the precarious state of the national finances.

Each one of these statements is unquestionably true from the point of view of large groups of the people, especially when the spectre of monetary inflation has never been absent since the New Deal began and, at times, has crept close indeed. Moreover, there has been some unrest because of the threat of warlike disturbances abroad.

There remains something mysterious about a recession so marked that $25,000,000,000 in market values of securities disappeared in two months, factories closed down, and huge numbers were added to a new army of unemployed—more than half a million in a single month. Mysterious, because the resources remain present, not only in material in the raw and finished products but in skilled men and almost unlimited financial strength. Nothing real which existed at the beginning of this recession has vanished; indeed the country never was stronger partly because, as a result of the public works initiated by the New Deal and by private enterprise, there is more developed power, better transportation facilities, and a more integrated industrial organization.

What the Second Five Year Plan will be is the question now facing the country. That there will be some sort of a plan is as certain as the round of the seasons. A new Congress has convened and a new year of effort begun. Because of the fact that there is such latent might in the Nation, it seems a fair assumption that no plan can result in wreckage. People of opposing minds will criticize each other's action, it is certain, but it is inconceivable that the recovery, so well begun, can long remain at a pause.

accepting a steady stride of debt and more debt, with taxes the highest they ever have reached.

The best thing about this budget message is this greater approach to reality. But the reality is alarming.

One more thing ought to be emphasized. Many people have the idea that the payroll tax on employers and the 1% wage or salary tax on employees are going to build up a fund to provide old-age security. This is not true. The money is being spent just like any other taxes, with the exception that it is then counted part of the public debt. The president even makes it a matter of congratulation that we do not have to do all our borrowing in the open market, but instead will be able to borrow more than a billion from government trust funds, leaving in place of these funds government paper which can be paid only by future taxation.

WHERE IT STRIKES FIRST (Grand Rapids Press)

In announcing that his organization had ceased buying Japanese products in order to follow a policy of providing only merchandise "acceptable to the public," the vice president of one of the large five-and-ten chains declared the other day:

"Boycotts called suddenly against Japanese merchandise are boycotts against American merchants and not against Japanese exporters or manufacturers who already have their money."

He then revealed that Japanese merchandise now in stores had been purchased months in advance and was paid for almost a year ago before the present movement against Japan was even hinted at.

The brunt of the boycott therefore falls first and most heavily against these merchants who have purchased abroad. And that, in final analysis, is the principal effect. For while Japan may seek other markets and thus escape some of the damage done, the merchants have nowhere to turn. The Japanese also may retaliate by refusing to buy American goods and thus inflict double penalty on American business.

Here then is a first hand example of how the boycott works. It is a vicious tool that should be resorted to only as a last resort. The least that might be expected from the buying public is that it should be charitable enough to allow its own merchants to dispose of stocks on hand before initiating a sudden and possibly ruinous movement.

AFRAID OF WHAT? (Cleveland Plain Dealer)

The President scarcely does his part in sealing the recent "marriage" between the government and private business enterprise when he becomes irritable in a press conference and declares business is afraid of itself and not of the government and its policies. It will be hard to convince investors whose savings are at stake that government policy is not primarily responsible for their caution.

Think what a lot of fun Joe Kennedy's nine children will have next Christmas hanging up those knee-stocking he will wear as Ambassador to Britain.

After looking at pictures of beautiful June O'Dea, many will think Vernon (Goofy) Gomez lived up to his nickname when he sought to divorce her.

World Affairs Reviewed

Teruel, recently captured by Spanish Government forces after a six-day siege, is described as of little importance in peace times, in a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Teruel's chief significance is its location on one of Spain's more important railroads, says the bulletin. This railway connects the Madrid-Barcelona line to the northwest of Teruel with the east coast line extending from Barcelona to Valencia.

In peace times, Teruel is a rather unimportant town of about 13,000 population. One hundred and fifty miles due east of Madrid, it lies in a wooded plain on the left bank of the Guadalquivir River which, by the time it reaches the Gulf of Valencia to the southeast, becomes the Turia.

—CAPITAL OF TERUEL—

In the old part of the city are crumbling brick buildings ranged along narrow streets and encircled by medieval crenelated walls. Outside of the walls spread new, modern suburbs.

In the past, Teruel has been more closely associated with Venus than with the war god, Mars. Preserved in the cloisters of the Gothic church of San Pedro are the mummified bodies of Juan de Marcella and Isabella de Segura, the celebrated 'Lovers of Teruel' who died of grief in the 13th century when they were separated and are here preserved together. They have been commemorated by a number of Spanish poets, and by bas reliefs in the town.

A 16th century cathedral dominates Teruel's buildings, and the chief engineering feature of the town is an aqueduct built in the same century by a French engineer.

The city is capital of the mountainous province of Teruel, which is about half the size of Maryland and has a population of more than a quarter of a million. It is one of the three provinces into which the ancient kingdom of Aragon was divided. The other two were Saragossa and Huesca.

The province produces materials for almost any type of clothing for which Spaniards might ask except those made of cotton. Sheep grazing on hills provide wool, and in the valleys flax, hemp, and silk are also produced, as well as saffron for dyeing. Cattle furnish hides which find their way to tanneries in the capital.

Canals carry water from the Guadalquivir River to irrigate gardens in the valleys where grain and fruits are grown. Wine, cheese, and oil are manufactured. Among the province's other resources are sulphur, lead, coal, and iron.

A reader can get the answer to question of fact by writing The Escanaba Daily Press Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. Is there any award in the Civilian Conservation Corps camps for bravery? W. H.

A. Outstanding acts of heroism among the CCC boys are recognized by an Award of Valor, a special certificate for the Corps.

Q. When did colleges begin to have intercollegiate athletic contests? J. B. H.

A. Before the middle of the last century there was practically no such thing as organized athletics in the United States, and even in England the first intercollegiate contest between Oxford and Cambridge did not take place till 1864.

Q. When were water colors first done? N. P. L.

A. Water color has been known and used for centuries by the Chinese and Japanese. The monks of Europe also used this medium several centuries ago.

Q. How are sponges nourished? F. R.

A. In the connecting tubes of the sponge are chambers lined with ciliated cells. The water enters through the inlet tubes, passes through the connecting tubes, in passing through the cell-lined chambers, the cells capture and digest minute vegetable and animal organisms in the water, and by movement of the cilia create currents which keep the water moving through the sponge.

Q. When will the meeting of the National Association of Broadcasters be held? F. M.

A. The 1938 convention of the association will be held on February 14, 15, and 16 at the Willard Hotel, Washington, D. C.

Q. Are the bridges at San Francisco insured? W. R.

A. The bridges in the San Francisco area carry a total of nearly $90,000,000 in insurance. The San Francisco-Oakland Bridge accounts for about $50,000,000 of this amount, and the Golden Gate Bridge approximately $20,000,000.

Q. Was the late George Gershwin an artist? C. H.

A. The composer began painting in 1929 and completed many pictures, most of which were recently exhibited in New York City at the Marie Harriman Gallery.

Q. Why does the fly become entangled in a spider's web while the spider itself does not? C. D.

A. The spider has claws which are especially adapted for walking on silk. It has no wings to become entangled in the web, and it knows which lines are not sticky. The fly lacks the adaptations. Its wings are easily entangled in the web and it does not know the difference between the various lines of the web. Some spiders have as many as four or five different kinds of glands for spinning silk for different purposes.

Q. What does Mesa Verde mean? W. R.

A. Mesa Verde is Spanish for green table-land.

Q. How long did the John L. Sullivan-Jake Kilrain fight last? H. M.

A. The fight lasted two hours fifteen minutes and five seconds.

Q. Is the mace brought into the House of Representatives each day? H. E. C.

A. Without the mace, or an authorized substitute, the House does not officially convene. When the House is called to order each day the sergeant-at-arms marches up the aisle with the mace and places it in an upright position on a cylindrical pedestal of polished green marble. Each day when the House adjourns the sergeant takes the mace back to his office, where it is kept behind locked doors until the House meets again.

Q. How many rosebushes come from the Tyler, Texas, area? W. K.

A. Six million to seven million rosebushes are shipped each year from the Tyler area. The industry has been important only since about 1930.

Q. When did beaver hats become popular in England? W. J. H.

A. In Queen Elizabeth's reign in the 16th century, large beaver hats were the favorite among the nobility and remained the style for more than 200 years.

Q. Were any of the prehistoric animals larger than whales? O. R.

A. Whales are the largest animals that have ever inhabited the earth.

A. At the close of the Civil War, the standard freight car had a capacity of about 20 tons.

Q. Are malt sugar and milk sugar as sweet as cane sugar? H. F.

A. Malt sugar, or maltose, is about one-third as sweet as cane sugar. Milk sugar, or lactose, is about one-sixth as sweet as cane sugar.

New York Column

BY GEORGE ROSS

New York—Billy Rose is back. After dropping Davy Crockett as the running Father Neptune off hero of Texas, Alamo, and after running Father Neptune off Lake Erie at Cleveland, the Mighty Midget or Mad Mahout, as he is variously known, has come back to town. With a bang!

For a month, secret but beehive preparations have been made within the French Casino, redubbed the Casa Manana, and every now and then, his moan penetrates the walls and leaks out to a sympathetic world.

"There's not enough room," is his lament about the largest cabaret in town. "Why can't we raze the roof off this building?"

As usual, Billy sent forth his heralds with noisy clarions and Roge's Thesaurus to announce that the Casa Manana will be the Most Tremendous, Stupendous, Gargantuan show in the world, that it will be a "Veritable Juggernaut of Amusement, a Theatrical Colossus" and a "Pageant of Loveliness Unparalleled Since the Dawn of Time."

For a month he has harbored five tigers, whose ferocity is questionable, near the furnace in the basement and has scared the whiskers off his visitors by stroking their manes when an audience is present. If he doesn't use them in the Casa Manana spectacle, he threatens to make house pets out of them.

Four Walls Too Many

A mighty midget, indeed, our Mr. Rose, who stands five feet three in his stocking feet and five feet five in his especially constructed shoes. If he moans about the ceiling that hems in his Casa Manana, he easily can be forgiven. He is suffering from an acute attack of claustrophobia, after having held several hundreds of acres at his disposal for his antics in Fort Worth, Texas; not to speak of the billions of gallons of water they bequeathed to him at the Great Lakes Exposition. A roof imprisons him. Four walls, no matter how distantly separated, pain him as if he were in a solitary cell.

It all began with "Jumbo." That was the hippodrome, as you may recall, which gave equal billing to Jimmy Durante and an elephant and made as much of the premier danseuse. "Jumbo" was the extravagance upon which Billy cut his wisdom tooth. All his enterprises that went before it were pygmy by comparison. That theater-cabaret he once instituted, that revue named "Crazy Quilt" he shipped around the country, were showstrings that Billy recalls self- contemptuously.

On to Bigger Things

But life really began when the city fathers of Fort Worth sent for the Mighty Midget and proffered $1000 a day for his services if he would condescend to stage a commemorative circus for the town with a budget of three million dollars. Not an awesome sum, but one that Billy, at least, could work with.

It was during these Texas days of glory that Billy acquired his obsessions about the open skies and his hatred of any barrier that blotted it out from him. When San Francisco beckoned him to help the town out with a World's Fair of its own, he started to think in terms of a berry of showgirls, soaring a mile high in a skyrocket, and in Cleveland he gave the world the Aquabelle for the "first time anywhere," the Aquabelle being a chorus girl who floats rather than swims.

Q. What was the capacity of a freight car about the time of the Civil War? K. H.

A. At the close of the Civil War, the standard freight car had a capacity of about 20 tons.

Q. Are malt sugar and milk sugar as sweet as cane sugar? H. F.

A. Malt sugar, or maltose, is about one-third as sweet as cane sugar. Milk sugar, or lactose, is about one-sixth as sweet as cane sugar.

The Capital Parade

BY ALSOP AND KINTNER

Washington—Some time ago, David K. Niles, Assistant to Works Progress Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, paid an important call on Senator Burton K. Wheeler. Mr. Niles used to run the WPA's information division, turning out motion pictures, radio speeches and he handles WPA labor relations.

But as a caller, he has a larger significance than you might gather from his official position. A protégé of Felix Frankfurter and a friend of James Roosevelt, he is a leading backstairs figure of the New Deal. Particularly, he is the useful messenger boy of the Left-Wing White House advisers. It was Mr. Niles, in his messenger boy capacity, who solicited John L. Lewis for his huge contribution to the Democratic campaign fund in 1936.

This time, Mr. Niles had another message to deliver. The railroad situation was already desperate, with several of the major roads jittering and teetering on the verge of financial collapse. Already a violent controversy had developed between Mr. Niles' Left-Wing friends, who wanted to "put the roads through the wringer," and Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the RFC, who desired to save the roads at all costs.

WHEELER AT THE WHITE HOUSE

An early settlement on the matter was desirable, and no settlement was possible without the participation of Senator Wheeler, Chairman of the powerful Interstate Commerce Committee, with all the nation's railroads for its province. Therefore, Mr. Niles urged Senator Wheeler to get together with the administration on the railroad problem, specifically suggesting that he go to see the President.

At first, the Montanan, whose admiration for the President is distinctly limited, demurred violently. After some argument, however, he agreed to do what he could. His next step was to telephone Joseph P. Kennedy, the President's favorite conservative and a Jones ally in the railroad row. Senator Wheeler pointed out to Mr. Kennedy the need for a settlement of the railroad problem, and intimated that he would be willing to go to the White House if the White House would let him in.

At the first mention of a call from Wheeler, the White House rocked with astonishment and remembered fury, since the White House regards the Senator as the chief murderer of the court bill and political No. 1. After some careful soothing by Mr. Kennedy, however, an appointment was offered, and now the Senator and the President are scheduled to have a jolly little reunion some time during the next ten days.

THE WRINGER FOR THE R. R. S.'s

Senator Wheeler will present to the President the same views held by the Left-Wing White House advisers. He too wants to let weak roads, however important and conspicuous, "go through the wringer." He believes that it is useless trying to prop the roads up under the debt burdens they are now carrying. He would prefer to see them default and then be reorganized under the most stringent federal regulation.

With the White House Left-Wingers, the Wheeler notions are reinforced by the conviction that the great mistake of 1932-1933 was to save most of the companies which the federal government bailed out. The Left Wingers feel that this had the effect of perpetuating the "Old Gang" of big business executives, whom they consider studied and unsympathetic, in control of companies which might otherwise now be run by friends of the New Deal.

They are determined that, if things grow worse, this mistake will not be repeated. And they regard the Jones theories on railroads as likely to cause the mistake's repetition.

THE JONES PANACEA

Mr. Jones by no means wants only to bail out the railroads. He is quite positive that two radical steps must be taken before the railroad problem can be solved. First, the rate of interest on railroad bonds must be scaled down drastically, and, second, consolidations of competing roads, such as the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio, must be firmly enforced.

But he is determined that meanwhile no major roads shall be allowed to go to the wall. Thus the struggle between Mr. Jones and the Left-Wingers centers around the interpretation of a 1935 amendment to the railroad statutes, by which the Interstate Commerce Commission in effect must certify the solvency of roads before Mr. Jones can ladle money out to them from his RFC coffers.

Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City seems to think he's Huey Long.

Lyrics of Life

PASSING GUESTS

The ancient landlord of the inn, Whatever guest his guest has been, Perhaps some king's ambassador, Or but a minstrel, nothing more, Perhaps a rich man, or a poor, From distant lands, or yonder moor, Thinks not of those who travel from His door, but turns to those who come.

These must be sheltered, these be fed, Be given best of food and bed, For these the hands must light the fire, Their wants attended, youth or sire, And so his hospice grew in fame, Because he turned to those who came, For inns are not for those who leave But those who come, to there receive.

And so, Old Year, I may recall My guest, but that shall not be all, Another guest, a newer year, Approaches now, already here, And I must turn, and give my best Of heart and hand to my new guest, For you, Old Year, a sigh or two; And now, New Year, what can I do?

CIRCUIT JURY IS DISMISSED

Charles Bray Changes Plea to Guilty; Is Given 90 Days

Members of the circuit court jury were notified yesterday that they will not be required to report for duty on Monday as originally instructed, all jury cases having been disposed of yesterday. Judge Frank A. Bell will return Monday, however, to clean up on non-jury cases left on the docket.

In the only criminal case left on the docket, Charles Bray withdrew an original plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to a charge of simple larceny. He was sentenced to serve 90 days in the county jail.

Richard Davis and Olaf R. Hanson, who had pleaded guilty on the opening day of court to unlawfully driving away an automobile, were placed on parole for a period of two years when brought before Judge Bell yesterday.

UNIONS APPROVE RELIEF LABOR

Object, However, to Displacement by Unskilled Laborers

Members of Escanaba Local No. 34, Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers Union, are willing and glad that WPA workers receive as much remuneration as possible, but they do not believe it is fair for unskilled laborers to displace union members at their trade.

Gunnar Nelson, 1023 Stephenson avenue, made this explanation of the union's viewpoint to correct misunderstandings, which he said were created concerning the protest made by the Escanaba Local No. 34 at the recent meeting of the Escanaba city council.

Nelson said that the union scale on private construction projects for bricklayers and masons is $1.25 per hour, and that unskilled, non-union workers are being paid $1.50 per hour to do bricklaying on the airport hangar project.

Nelson's view in the matter is that unskilled laborers are being classified as skilled tradesmen under the WPA program and are being given employment at higher wages than the union scale while union members cannot obtain any work due to the fact that they are not on the relief roll, Nelson said.

Chess Players Will Play Monday Night

The chess players of the city continue to match wits at the city recreation office on Monday nights. Almost every week a new face appears and another chess enthusiast has been discovered.

Three players from Hermansville are expected tomorrow night. One of them will be Julius Hanson who is well known in the Upper Peninsula for his ability. He will be accompanied by Mr. Jensen and one other.

Rev. Ward and Earl Kosbab set out to establish an endurance record last Monday, playing one game for over ninety moves, only to have it end in a draw.

Roller Skate Race To Be Held Today

A roller skate racing program, featured by a contest between Wallace Cobb, former racing star, who is with the World of Mirh Shows, and who is at home for a short visit, and Richard Flath, the race, the outcome of a challenge issued by Cobb, will be held at the Coliseum tonight.

Other races will be on the program.

The regular skating program will be held this afternoon, and the races will follow the regular skating hours tonight, from 7 to 10 o'clock.

Cobb is remaining in Escanaba until Tuesday when he leaves for Richmond, Va., to rejoin his show.

CORP. LESTER F. SCHRAM

Corp. Lester F. Schram, the son of Mrs. Herman Grosnick, 1112 Third avenue south, returned to Escanaba yesterday for a visit with friends and relatives. He is on leave from his duties at Honolulu, where he has been stationed for three years with Co. K 35th Infantry, Corp. Schram was born in Escanaba and attended the Escanaba public schools. After his visit in the city he is expected to return to Honolulu, where he has made an outstanding record during his term of Army service.

OBITUARY

LAUNDRE INFANT

Funeral services for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Laundre, 717 Second avenue south, who died Friday night, were held Saturday at four o'clock with burial in St. Anne's cemetery.

AUGUST BOLDY

Final rites for August Boldy were held at St. Joseph's church 8 o'clock yesterday morning, with Rev. Fr. Pascal Kerner officiating. Burial was in the L'Anse cemetery.

The pallbearers were Elmer Eagle, Clyde Benson, Eldredge Pfister and William Robinson.

Chinese War Halts Gold Mine Payments

San Francisco (AP)—After 20 years' prospecting, Roy Folks and Jim Frazier located a rich gold mine in Korea and sold it to a Japanese syndicate for a substantial fortune. But they haven't yet cashed in.

Embarking for Yokohama, Folks explained that they received only a small down payment and then the Chinese war started. This resulted in an embargo against export of any Japanese funds.

Folks sailed to see what could be done about it.

Coughlin Broadcast — Rev. Fr. Charles Coughlin, Royal Oak radio priest, will broadcast over WJR and a network of about sixty stations 4 o'clock this afternoon, Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Zerbel and son will leave today for Marquette to attend the funeral services for Mr. Zerbel's uncle, Charles Goethe. Mr. Goethe died Thursday.

Forty and Eight—Delta County Vulture No. 653, Society of the Forty and Eight, will conduct a "wreck" Tuesday night at eight o'clock in the Legion hall at Gladstone. A large attendance from various parts of the county is anticipated.

Former Resident Named Custodian Of Auditorium

Residents of Escanaba and neighboring communities will be interested in the announcement of the appointment of Kenneth B. Forbes of 1508 Birney street, Saginaw, Mich., as custodian of the Saginaw auditorium.

The appointment which becomes effective Monday, January 10, was announced by Duane W. Draper, chairman of the auditorium board of trustees.

"The position of auditorium custodian is an unusual one, the only one of its type in this section of Michigan," Mr. Draper said in his announcement.

"Realizing this, the trustees gave the matter serious consideration and have taken considerable time in coming to a decision. Mr. Forbes received top rating in the merit system examination to select an eligibility list for the position and has the necessary qualifications."

Forbes, a former resident of Nahma, Gladstone and Escanaba, is 30 years old and has lived in Saginaw four years. He is a graduate of Alma college and previously was employed in a federal emergency relief work, and as a bond salesman.

AGED RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Catherine Lang, 71, Dies at Family Home Yesterday

Mrs. Catherine Lang, 71, widow of Joseph Lang, passed away at 5 o'clock Saturday morning at her home, 620 South Twentieth street. Coronary thrombosis was the cause of death.

Mrs. Lang was born in Germany, August 10, 1866, and came to this country at the beginning of the century. She was a member of St. Joseph's church and of the Altar society of the church.

There are no immediate relatives surviving in this country. Mr. Lang died on December 9, 1937.

The body was taken to the All-federal home and will rest there in state beginning at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Services will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church, Rev. Fr. Edward Leary, O. F. M., officiating, and burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Richest Girl in the World

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CONSTANCE CORBY—heroine; richest girl in the world.
BRET HARDESTY—hero; bridge builder.
RODNEY BRANDON—Connie's fiance.
KATIE BLYN—Connie's "double."

Yesterday: Connie decides to take other side of life and offers a working girl a chance to trade places for an adventure.

CHAPTER IV

The girl sat down on the nearest chair, as though her knees would have given way beneath her if she had not.

"What do you mean?" she asked. "Like... like The Prince and The Pauper?"

"Yes and no," Connie returned. Again she nodded with satisfaction. "We look almost enough alike, at that. Blue eyes, hair the same shade, weight and height. At least enough for any one who did not know us. Reporters and photographers for instance." The light in her eyes glowed even more brightly than before. "Did you really mean it when you said you'd like to be me?" she demanded.

"Did I mean it?"

"Then get out of your clothes," Connie commanded. She crossed the room; bolted the door. "Hurry!" she said impatiently, when she saw that the girl had not moved. "We can work out the details while we change. I'll leave a note for Uncle Tippy, he's my guardian, a perfect dear; he'll understand, do as I tell him. I can slip out, carrying that box, in your things, and no one will stop me. Here!" She yanked off her negligee, tossed it toward her visitor, who still sat as if in a trance.

"Why don't you get started?" Connie scolded. "Someone will be sure to come. You don't know this place, no privacy... never let you alone. There isn't anyone who'll care if you send word you had a chance to go away, is there? No one who would interfere?"

"No, there's no one," the girl said. Mechanically, as though moved by the inward fire that drove Connie, she had begun to unlace her shoes, peel down her hose.

"Good!" Connie said. "We can tell the papers I've had a nervous breakdown—Lord knows I would have had if I'd had to spend another hour in this prison—and Uncle Tippy can hustle you out, in my clothes... Would you like a trip on a yacht?" By this time Connie was hooking the girl's plain worn skirt about her own slim waist.

"Like it?" the girl said. She still moved as a somnambulist might, half awake, half dreaming. "I never was on a yacht in all my life. I never dared even hope I might ever be."

"It's a very nice yacht," Connie murmured. Why, even the shoes fit perfectly! This was the craziest, the most daring, the most exciting idea she had ever had. And Connie had had plenty of ideas. "It's 264 feet long, has a crew of 42 men, and cost $1,350,000."

The girl sat down again. "Don't do that!" Connie reprimanded. "Pull on my negligee, climb into my bed—and stay in it as long as you like—and dash off that letter for me to drop in a box to your family."

"My family won't worry about me," the girl said briefly. "Besides I told them just last night I was moving out on my own. There's only one person... But no," she drew her finely arched dark brows together in a little frown; not unlike the one that often marred Connie's smooth brow, "I won't send him word, either." Her blue eyes blazed with a hidden fire not unlike the one that often smoldered behind Connie's.

"We quarreled last night," she confided. "My steady and I. Everyone thought we'd get married some day. But I told him I was sick of being courted with my whole family looking on—there are eight of us you know, besides Grandma Wertz, who's supposed to live with us now. That was the trouble, as I told Tom we never had any freedom, any privacy. Why, would you believe it, when Tom stole a kiss last night, a cop came along and ordered us to move out of his old park bench, said he'd have to lock us up if we didn't, as it was after 11. That was when I broke it all off." She finished, some of the fire dying down in her now. "I told Tom it wasn't any use. Romance should be secret. I told him I never wanted to see him again. And I meant it."

Romance should be secret. The phrase vibrated within Connie, seemed to strike some responsive chord. Why, of course! That was what was wrong with her romance. That was what was missing. Romance should be secret, or it was not romance, at all. That was why it had all been spoiled—that awful picture of her, clasped in Rodney's arms—flaunted across the front page of that paper, every quarrel, every time they patched it up, turned into public property.

"It'll do him good—to worry about me," the other girl was saying.

It would do Rodney good, too. Connie thought, without the slightest pang of regret. "But you'd better get busy and write that letter," the girl suggested. She had climbed into the big bed and settled herself among the heaps of pillows, so that now it might have belonged to her, as well as to Connie and Marie Antoinette. Its present mistress looked very tiny and lovely—and very much as though she were mistress of all she surveyed.

Even Gibbs would be fooled for a minute, Connie thought, and she wished she might stay just to see that grim creature's startled expression. She got paper and pen from the Louis XVI desk, sat down to write her letter. When she had finished it, she folded it carefully, sealed the envelope, propped it against a mirror on her dressing table.

From a drawer she took some bills, thrust them into a purse. She hesitated a moment, then added an emerald brooch, a diamond ring, and a small string of perfectly matched pearls. She dumped out the new frocks from the box marked Lucille's, ropack-ing it with a few hastily gathered belongings.

"What is your name?" she asked the girl in the bed, who looked so much like her now that it made a funny little quiver down Connie's spine. Surveying herself in the mirror, she saw that she might easily pass for that other girl. She had combed her hair back rather severely into a low smooth roll under the chic little hat; she had not put on any rouge, so that her face was pale. She looked neat and brave and poor. She carried her head with defiance and pride.

"Why, you look like me!" the girl in the bed gasped, as though once more she could not believe her eyes. "My name! It's Katie Blyn."

"I am you," Connie said. "For a little while, at least. Katie Blyn I like that. I think I'm going to like being you." She bent suddenly, on an impulse, put her arm around that other girl, who now was she, pressed her lips against her forehead. "Goodbye. And thank you. You can't know what this means to me."

"I can't know!" The girl who had been Katie Blyn and who now was Constance Corby, the richest girl in the world—if only for a little while—appeared bewildered. She caught one of Connie's hands in hers, carried it to her lips, fiercely. "You can't know what it means to me! If only I don't wake up and find I'm dreaming. You're sure it will be all right? You explained it all to your Uncle? He'll take me with him on that wonderful yacht? I'm really to have all this, he you?"

Connie gave her hand a reassuring squeeze. "For as long as we can keep it secret," she promised. She wished it could last for a long, long while. But she knew that that would not be possible. She must hurry, even now. Make the most of this wonderful adventure. Enjoy to the utmost that freedom and privacy that would be hers for this brief time. Seek that precious something that all the money in the world could not buy. That the richest girl in the world had never had.

And who knew?—she might even find that romance that could be secret—this new Katie Blyn, in her neat, worn suit with its perky white blouse, hugging the big box marked Lucille's tightly against her breast as she slipped down the long winding stairway shrouded in its thick velvet pile, along the wide reception hall with its art treasures the values of which were priceless, out the side-entrance for tradespeople, into the warm sunshine and fresh air that were priceless, too, since they belonged—as Connie Corby no longer did—to the whole world.

tion program by 1945 or '46.

In Chattanooga this week, a three-judge federal court pondered the constitutionality of the TVA power program in a case brought by 13 private utilities; and in Washington, TVA's "father," Senator Norris of Nebraska, and others urged investigation of his huge "baby."

Dissension among TVA directors and efforts by private utilities to hamper it have been allied. "If there is anything bad about it," Norris said, "that should be brought out now."

He also hopes this session of congress will provide America with more such regional planning agencies.

Sports

The "foot-bowl" games of New Year's Day showed what fans had suspected: Defensive methods in modern football are so far ahead of offensive technique that high scoring is almost impossible.

Scores were: Rose Bowl—California 13, Alabama 0; Cotton Bowl—Rice, 28, Colorado 14; Sugar Bowl—Santa Clara 6, Louisiana State 0; Orange Bowl—Auburn 6, Michigan State 0; Sun Bowl—West Virginia 7, Texas Tech 6; Charity Bowl—East 0, West 0.

At Home

Work Wanted

Last November, 7,882,912 persons voluntarily reported themselves out of work and wanting work. (Of these, 2,001,377 had emergency relief work.)

House to house canvassers uncovered still more unemployment, making the total possibly 10,870,000. And, says John D. Biggers, administrator of the census, unemployment has increased since then.

Why? And what can be done about it? A special senate committee took up those two questions this week, and turned for help to Federal Reserve Board Chairman Eccles, Social Security Chairman Aitken, General Motors President Knudsen, AFL President Green, CIO Chairman Lewis and many others.

On Her Feet Again

A gas stove ignited the bathrobe of Betty Jean Boggs of Charleston, W. Va., in January, 1935, and her back was burned so badly that she had to lie on her stomach for two years and four months. The story got into the papers, of course, and sympathizers she had never seen wrote to her from 23 states.

Betty Jean now is 15, walking again, and so nearly well that she will return to school this month.

First Helium Export

After explosive hydrogen ended the Hindenburg trips at Lakehurst last May, Congress approved export regulations for helium, American-mined non-inflammable gas. This week 17,900,000 cubic feet of it, from Amarillo, Tex., was ready for shipment, when approved by the President, to Germany to inflate the new LZ-130, the Hindenburg's sister ship.

The Redfern Mystery

Aviator Paul Redfern vanished on an attempted non-stop flight from Georgia to Rio in 1927. This week his wife or widow succeeded in having him declared legally dead in Detroit. And the Walden expedition of three men and a woman (13th to hunt Redfern) was reported marooned, deserted by its porters and almost out of food, on a river island deep in British Guiana's jungles.

Gone With The Drummer

"Trudie" Bennett, 17, is the daughter of Harry H. Bennett, famed chief of Henry Ford's private police. When she disappeared this week, folks shook their heads and thought, "Kidnaped!"

But before long Michigan state police found out that "Trudie" had just been married in Auburn, Ind., to Russell Hughes, 21, a trap drummer.

Honor Among Convicts

During the 10 years that Alabama's "most worthy" convicts had been getting two weeks' freedom at Christmas, not more than 20 had broken their word by failing to return. This Yuletide 554 were let go; 16 weren't back 48 hours after the deadline, and became liable to immediate arrest.

Labor

Ford's Retort

The Ford Motor Company did not reinstate 29 former employes on Monday as ordered by NLRB. Instead, Ford's lawyers petitioned for a rehearing. They contended: That Michigan law enforcement agencies had not functioned against sit-downs, so Ford "rightly and properly" had opposed CIO "invasion."

That the small number of men (29) allegedly fired for belonging to the union, in a plant employing 80,000, showed the company did not "in fact" follow a policy of discrimination.

But the board refused to grant a rehearing and prepared to seek a court order to enforce its decision against Ford.

Cargo-Moving Fight

Longshoremen and employers were deadlocked in a dispute over their contract, and cargo activity stopped Wednesday on seven large ships in Seattle's harbor.

Employers insisted cargo may be transferred from ship to ship in one slingload handling, when "necessary and convenient." Longshoremen demanded ships transfer a cargo to a wharf before it be put on another ship, which would provide more work.

Crime

Slayings At Sea

A short voyage off California turned into a nightmare for three women, a little boy, and two young amateur crewmen. After the food had given out and the coast guard had towed them in, they said:

"That the yacht's owner, Dwight Faulding, had been shot to death by Jack Morgan, who then had taken command and brutally mistreated all aboard for four days.

That the two sailors smashed Morgan's head with a marlin spike and threw him overboard.

The sailors, in jail this week, expected to be exonerated.

Public Enemies Nabbed

J. Edgar Hoover scarcely had finished a new public-enemy list when his G-men, without firing a shot, caught two of the eight top-ranking outlaws on a North Carolina main street. They were Wash Turner, 35, and Bill Payne, 41, both wanted on charges of murder, kidnaping and bank and highway robbery.

In Short...

Governor White suggested all taxes be lifted from homes in Mississippi.

Virginia's Senator Carter Glass was congratulated formally by the senate on his 80th birthday.

Two Newark, N. J., girls were held on murder charges after the $2,100 holdup slaying of a bus driver.

When fire disrupted a Pawtucket, R. I., boat party, 37 were injured and 200 saved unharmed.

Stan Laurel, film comedian, and Vera Shuvalova, Russian singer, were married.

One of two jobless carpenters arrested for kidnaping four persons at Centerville, Ind., died after a suicidal dive in a county jail.

Magda de Fontanges, who shot a French diplomat, gave up her fight to evade deportation and sailed back to France.

President Roosevelt cut the fixed price for domestically mined silver from 77.57 cents an ounce to 64.64 cents.

Coming Up

Sunday
National Aeronautical Planning Conference opens, Cleveland.

Prince Paul, Greece's heir-presumptive, and Princess Frederika Luise of Brunswick to wed, Athens.

Tuesday
White House reception for Supreme Court.

Wednesday
Russia's new parliament meets.

Saturday
Herbert Hoover addresses Republican women, New York.

Wars

The Tiger In China

According to the Japanese zodiac, this is the year of the tiger. And Japan's forces, advancing south from Peiping and north from Shanghai this week, were biting into China's "holy land" like the jaws of a tiger.

The "holy land" is in Shantung province, where Confucius sleeps while China still ponders his teachings.

"As the hardest steel is the most brittle, so that which is most solidly established is the easiest to destroy. Pride puffs up, and the ambition of the arrogant is boundless; but the proud man falls and the claim of the arrogant is empty."

"The too complaisant man yields everything to gain his ends and finds himself the dupe of his own felicity."

"Now all this may seem trivial, yet the man who practices it will advance in the road of wisdom."

But what Japan wanted was a railroad, linking the two previously conquered chunks of China.

Arms replenishments were reaching the Chinese over a new bridge on the Hongkong-Canton auto road. Uncomplaisant General Chiang Kai-shek was reorganizing his government in such a way as to increase his power—and raising a new army of 800,000 to bolster the 900,000 already pitted against Japan.

His wife's bombers, meanwhile, reported they had sunk two Japanese gunboats; but Japan's air force was active, too.

Chinese, fearful of losing Canton before long, prepared to scorch more earth and break more tile if forced to retreat still further. And the Japanese, to halt "outrages" in conquered territory, tightened their grip on government affairs and threatened to censor news.

Miss Virginia Newhouse, 16 year old Soo girl, and her partner, Herbert DePlanty, also of the Soo, will give a skating exhibition at the municipal rink here this afternoon. Miss Newhouse, who recently returned from seeing Sonja Henle perform at Detroit, made a big hit at the Canadian Sault winter carnival last year.

Snow In Spain

Icy roads and fighting hard this week on Spain's 12-mile eastern front. A reinforced insurgent army pushed a counter-offensive, hoping to recapture strategic Teruel.

And remnants of the besieged insurgent garrison within Teruel clung to precarious defenses in close-quarter fighting.

Meanwhile, loyalists ordered evacuation from Madrid within 30 days of all who can't prove their residence vital to the war cause.

Chosen
Sir Robert Vansittart, 56, British undersecretary of state and secret service head for seven years, has been given a new post: Chief adviser to Foreign Secretary Eden.

Rep. Lister Hill, 43, lawyer, war veteran, Phi Beta Kappa member, and New Deal supporter, was nominated as U. S. senator by Alabama Democrats after serving 14 years in the lower house.

Dr. Philip R. White, 36, of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, at Princeton, N. J., received the American Association for the Advancement of Science's $1,000 prize for the most outstanding discovery by a young scientist in 1937. He found a pumping action in tomato roots capable of forcing sap up 200 feet, explaining how water reaches the tops of tall trees.

War Correspondent
War is old stuff now... Six months in there, working the Franco side... Far more dangerous than Ethiopia, for these babies shoot straight... No one has time to listen to a bleat.

Thus Edward J. Nell, Associated Press man in Spain, recently wrote to a friend. Last Sunday, Nell died of wounds received New Year's Eve when a shell struck the auto in which he and other newspapermen were traveling near Teruel. Killed, too, were Bradish Johnson, magazine writer, and E. R. Sheepsheads, British news agency man.

Rumania Alarms
Trouble, Trouble... The world has about 16,000,000 Jews. Of these more than 900,000 live in Rumania, a fertile country about as big as New England plus New York and New Jersey.

Last week an anti-semitic leader, Octavian Goga, became Rumania's premier. This week several Jewish newspapers were reported suspended, and the government forbade any Christian woman under 40 to work in a Jewish household.

So Jewish anxieties about central Europe increased. Already, a Jewish Telegraphic Agency survey shows:

In Germany: The Jewish population has dropped from 500,000 to 382,000 since 1933.

In Austria: A strong pro-Nazi party exists and Jews are boycotted in business and the professions and barred unofficially from government jobs.

In Hungary: Anti-semitic propaganda is unhindered by the government, although there is no official discrimination.

In Poland: Here the Jews' plight is considered "the worst in the world." Boycotting of Jews is encouraged officially and there is often violence.

The Palestine Problem
This situation, of course, increases the importance of Palestine, where Jews have migrated to establish a homeland. Governed by Great Britain under a League of Nations mandate, Palestine now has 400,000 Jews and 875,000 Moslems. Inability of Jews and Arabs to get along peacefully there led to a proposal, last summer, to divide up Palestine.

This week Britain took another "exploratory" step: A new commission will go to Palestine to study the practicality of the partition proposal. Jewish leaders called this fiddling while Zion burned; Arabs dubbed the British announcement "inconclusive." And slayings in the Holy Land continued.

France Frightened
Madagascar and Ecuador have been suggested as possible refuges, too, but Jewish organizations have objected to both.

The Rumanian rumblings disturbed France, too. Both Rumania and Yugoslavia, another good-sized chunk of farm land, long have been regarded as France's allies, but recently both have leaned toward the Rome-Berlin axis.

When Hitler's friend, Goga, became Rumanian King Carol's premier and promptly sent a goodwill message to Mussolini, Paris let it be known that Rumania and Yugoslavia might not be allowed to get any more arms from France.

Rumania's Ex-Premier Titulescu, in Switzerland, then wired the folks back home to count him in on any moves to combat the fascist trend. And Rumania's foreign minister assured reporters: "Rumania will continue its alliances with France."

Meantime, Mme. Magda Lupescu, the king's friend, was reported to have left for France, after a friendly hint from Goga that he could handle things better without her around.

Abroad

Pharaoh & Parliament
Mustapha Nahas Pasha, until last week, was Egypt's premier by virtue of the fact that his nationalist party had a parliamentary majority. But all fall he and young King Farouk quarreled, about the king's rights and the king's demand that a nationalist youth organization be disbanded.

So the king finally forced Nahas out, and had Mohamed Mahmoud form a new cabinet—several members of which were said to be pro-Italian.

This week the king tried to suspend parliament. And the senate (83 to 4) quietly refused Mahmoud a vote of confidence. So did the deputies (180 to 17), in a cloture session in a darkened chamber, after shouting down the suspension order.

Mahmoud, however, ignored parliament and remained premier.

Robinson & Rubens
After "Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Robinson" of New York vanished in Moscow early last month, American officials found their passports had been obtained fraudulently and the Soviet press hinted that red G-men had arrested the couple.

This week an American in Moscow identified a picture of Ruth Marie Rubens of New York as "Mrs. Robinson." Assured that Mrs. Rubens was a U. S. citizen (her mother lives in Miami), Secretary Hull prepared to demand information about her.

Oil Turmoil
After a strike and months of argument, a Mexican labor board ordered wages of 18,000 oil workers hiked, effective Jan. 1, 1938. The 16 American and British companies concerned appealed to the country's high court. Pending a decision, the labor board suspended its order at the last minute but demanded that the companies post a bond of several million pesos to guarantee workers' rights. Executives of the companies said they would do no such thing.

So the squabble went on this week.

Two Russian Dreams
Having flown over and squatted on the North Pole in 1937, Russians have begun 1938 by talking of (1) swimming under Arctic fogs in a submarine, and (2) flying down to pitch camp on the South Pole. "In our country," one Arctic pioneer asserts, "no dream is unrealizable."

F.D.R.'s Program
If Congressmen kept notes like students in a classroom, their scribbles about President Roosevelt's initial lecture to them this week might read:

Foreign Affairs: America must be able to defend herself. America will keep treaties, but can't be sure others will. Democracies jeopardize peace the least. Americans believe democracy will win out even in countries which now "know it not."

Agriculture: Either (1) production costs must be cut drastically which would mean slavery or its equivalent, or (2) Uncle Sam must

WHY UDGA TABLETS CURB EXCESS ACID DISTRESS OF STOMACH ULCERS
If your stomach pain is accompanied by GAS, heartburn, belching, bloating, burning, IN-DIGESTION, nausea, etc., don't take baking soda, dangerous drugs or half-way measures, but follow the advice of the thousands of former acid-stomach sufferers who recommend UDGA Tablets to help neutralize excess stomach acids. UDGA Tablets, based on a physician's successful prescription, work fast to bring relief from excess acid stomach distress. hold prices up unaided, which would bankrupt him, of (3) planting must be planned. To call the latter a policy of "scarcity" is "shameless misrepresentation."

Wages and Hours: "The people of an overwhelming vote, are in favor of having the congress—this congress—put a floor below which industrial wages shall not fall, and a ceiling beyond which the hours of labor shall not rise."

Finances: A national income of $100,000,000,000 is the goal. The total tax load must not be lightened. A dole must not be substituted for useful work. But no needless government spending should continue. And tax laws too tough on small business men should be fixed.

Business: "Misuse" of capital's powers must end. Abuses include tax avoidance, excessive capitalizations, collusive bidding, high-pressure salesmanship, use of patent laws to retard progress, intimidation of local governments, and pursuit of cheap labor.

Cooperation: "Government can be expected to cooperate in every way with the business of the nation provided the component parts of business abandon practices which do not belong to this day and age. . . . No government can conscript cooperation. . . . We hold our objectives and our principles to be sound. We will never go back on them."

Unbalanced Budget
This outline of the New Deal program was followed, two days later, by a budget for the fiscal year beginning next June 30.

Here's how the estimates for the fiscal year ending then and the actual figures for the fiscal year which ended last June 30 (in millions of dollars):

|                | 1939  | 1938  | 1937  |
|----------------|-------|-------|-------|
| Total receipts | 5,919 | 6,320 | 5,294 |
| Total outgo    | 6,869 | 7,408 | 8,001 |

The President emphasized that he proposed a continued approach to a balance. The budget provides far less for relief, and cuts down on roads, TVA, reclamation, river and harbor work, flood control, new buildings and other public works.

The President warned, however, that international and industrial uncertainties might necessitate more spending for arms and relief than he has anticipated.

Even so, the budget indicates the public debt will soar to $38,628,000,000 by June 30, 1939. The treasury's additional borrowing will be largely from social security funds.

Congress Goes to Work
Defense expenditures included in the budget total $991,300, 000 a peace-time record, and the President this week called in officials to discuss a still bigger navy.

He also talked to the press, revealing that conferences between industrial leaders and government officials, to gauge future purchasing power and consumers' needs, were being studied as one way of preventing business slumps. He mentioned, too, the need of ending jurisdictional rows between unions, like the AFL-CIO lumber controversy in the northwest.

In congress, many Democrats and some Republicans considered his pledge of cooperation with business "conciliatory." Charges of "monopoly" were hurled against the nation's big banks; senate and house conferees buckled down to work on the farm question: a new drive for wage-and-hour legislation was promised.

And a Presidential request, in the budget announcement, for authority to veto individual items in appropriation bills caused Chairman Ashurst of the senate judiciary committee to get after a subcommittee about a constitutional amendment to that effect.

Press Comment
Newspaper comment on President Roosevelt's lecture to congressmen was watched closely by politicians.

The Atlanta Constitution thought the President "struck a note of reasonableness," and The Philadelphia Record found his message "charged with courage, determination and understanding."

But The Springfield (Mass.) Union commented: "If Mr. Roosevelt had not . . . harassed and bedeviled all business, he would come with clean hands and unsuspected motives to his attack upon unfair and unjust practices."

And The Kansas City Star asserted: "The fundamental and disastrous mistake in New Deal economics is the assumption that the nation can have generally higher wages and a generally improved standard of living without producing more."

William Needham Overcome By Gas
William Needham, electrician of the Needham Electric company, was overcome by gas yesterday afternoon while doing some electrical wiring in the basement of the new addition of the Escanaba Daily Press building. He was forced to quit work, but suffered no serious effects.

A gas main in the alley back of the Press building developed a leak Friday, and within four hours about 43,000 cubic feet of gas was lost. The leak was repaired by city workmen Friday afternoon. Apparently the gas had seeped under the frost-covered ground into the basement of the building.

MENOMINEE BOCK (Billy to you) BEER, you know, is not only made with a choice expensive, hard to obtain, Caramel malt, but is aged according to the old school, and tucked away for four long months deep down in our cellars.

"Turkey," you know there's nothing like an all winter nap to put strength and vigor in your veins . . . and folks in Escanaba and vicinity know that the long winter sleep builds real full flavor into BILLY BOCK, that heavy-bodied dark, thick, creamy MENOMINEE BEER.

We believe in giving credit where credit is due, "Turkey," and if you plan on taking a longer nap than BILLY BOCK, drop us a line, and "just in case" you want something to chase away that tired feeling when it comes time to roll out of bed, say the word and we'll send BILLY BOCK down to see you.

Final Troutout At Legion Cottage

The final troutout for the Lions Club amateur contest will be held Tuesday evening at the Legion Cottage at eight o'clock and all candidates are requested to be present. Candidates who passed preliminary troutouts held several weeks ago are also asked to be present, as Tuesday's meeting will be in the nature of a rehearsal, as well as a troutout for entrants.
Members of the Lions Club, which is sponsoring the contest, will meet at the Legion Cottage after the dinner meeting at the Ossa Hotel.

Monday Is Deadline For Tax Payments

Winter tax payments are expected to pour into the office of City Treasurer L. B. Chittenden tomorrow, the deadline for payment without penalty. A four percent penalty will be assessed after Monday.
Only a comparatively small portion of $68,425.20 assessment has been paid to date but large industrial concerns, which bear heavy share of the tax load, invariably make their payments on the final date before the deadline.
The New Year's resolution impresses me as a device which many people use to "kid" themselves that they are stopping some form of behavior which their consciences tell them is not too desirable.

KALTENBORN

"Views the News"

By H. V. Kaltenborn

A New Wind in Washington President Roosevelt is not giving the country much rest this week. He propounds his message on the state of the nation to Congress and the world on Monday; he launches a revolutionary proposal for the cooperation of government and business on Tuesday; he faces the nation with a billion dollar deficit budget message on Wednesday.

Here is vigor—here is veracity. And, on the whole, business has much less quarrel with these presidential pronouncements than it had with those made by presidential assistants last week. For the moment the President has assumed a position on business and budget-balancing far to the right of the New Deal's radical fringe.

A sigh of relief goes up. The publican leaders of the House and Senate combine with the President of the Manufacturers Association in praising the conciliatory note of executive pronouncements. Business leaders express the hope that a real basis of understanding has been created. Wall Street celebrates with a vigorous advance. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace completes the happy harmony by announcing that "capitalists with vision should not be blamed for abuses practiced by others."

There is unanimous agreement also on what the President said about foreign affairs. There was nothing in his praise of democracy and constitutional government with which the most rugged isolationists could not agree. And his single phrase concerning America's integration with the rest of the world was not sufficiently specific to stir dissent. There was no repetition of the suggestion made in Chicago for a "quarantine" of aggressor nations. President Roosevelt with his shrewd appraisal of popular reaction, feels that American public sentiment is not yet ripe for American participation in a concrete plan of collective security. He recognized that need as does the State Department. But it will take time to convince the American people that their best way of avoiding war is to join with others to prevent it.

We ought not to expect that the President in his annual message to Congress, will outline details of the legislation he desires. But the fundamental defect to be found both in his message and the interesting press conference which followed it on Tuesday, is the failure to be concrete. On both occasions he stated general principles with which progressives agree, but failed to analyze the difficulty of translating those principles into legislation or administration.

Everyone wants the farmer to get a fair price for his products. We would all like to curtail over-production without complete regimentation, but the Farm Bills passed by the House and Senate are not going to accomplish these excellent purposes. Moreover the most competent leaders in Congress estimate the cost of the new Farm Bill at close to $1,000,000,000 and the President said again on Monday, that the cost must not go beyond the $500,000,000 allowed last year. What is to be done? Certainly the President provided no answer.

On Tuesday the President presented to his press conferees a most interesting statement of current difficulties in business. He was eternally right in his criticism of super-salesmanship and excessive installment selling. Both have long been a curse of American business. Nor did he fail to mention labor union difficulties, such as jurisdictional disputes which injure everyone. His final suggestion was that business and government should sit down together to plan for production control. He emphasizes that this did not mean a return to the N. R. A.

But what does it mean? Production control and price control go hand in hand. Otherwise there is no sense in it. You can sell twice as many motor cars for $300 as you can sell for $600. Price determines demand. Yet the moment you establish price control you violate existing laws against monopoly. What to do?

Almost everyone can agree with what the President said in his message about minimum wages and maximum hours. The difficulty lies in working out a Federal plan of control that will be practical and efficient without violating the rights of the states which are guaranteed by the Constitution and without creating a rigid bureaucracy which will make a mess of the whole thing. The Wages and Hours Bill, twice rejected by Congress, goes not provide the answer.

But transcending all details is the new spirit of reasonableness manifest in Washington. It does not mean a change of heart. The President has made it clear that he continues to be devoted to his chief objectives. But there is indication that 1938 will witness the development of a new method. Business will be asked to help-and-business is ready to respond. It is this that carries something of a new hope for prompt recovery. Let us cheer it along while it lasts.

THEATRES

"Back In Circulation" picturization of the Cosmopolitan magazine story "Angie Shooter" by Adela Rogers O'Brien and starring Pat O'Brien and Joan Blondell, is an engrossing newspaper drama, presenting a behind-the-scenes view of the ethics of news gathering and the power of the press over lives and reputations.

"Back In Circulation" is scheduled to have its first local showing today at the Rialto Theatre.

The heckling of a young millionaire by a street orator into expressing a desire to give away his fortune, starts the ball rolling in the new comedy "Life Begins With Love," showing as the second feature. The cast is headed by Jean Parker, Douglas Montgomery and Little Edith Fellows.

They finished in the following order, Jaeger, Hebert and Ruehmer.

The intermediate boys final is shown in the center picture, left to right, Rentmeester, Wainer, Kane, Jones, John Hebert (placed second), Herb Pfaffenbach, (the winner), and Willison. All finalists with the exception of John Hebert of Escanaba, were from Oconomowoc. In this picture Ollie Thatcher can be seen on the extreme right taking motions of the finish.

In the lower left, Laura Johnson of Escanaba crosses the line ahead of Delvine Hebert, also Escanaba, to set a new record for the senior women's 220.

Lower right shows Doris Tetzlaff, Oconomowoc, as she crossed the line ahead of Frances Jerow, Escanaba, to set a new record in the intermediate girls' 220. Frances Jerow is seen falling just before reaching the finish line.

SPARTANS TAKE KENTUCKY, 43-38

Southern Team Puzzled by State Defense; Falkowski High

East Lansing, Mich., Jan. 8 (AP)—The Michigan State college basketball team broke into the win column tonight with a sparkling 43-38 victory over the hitherto undefeated University of Kentucky, five southeastern conference champions.

The southern team, which came here with a record of four victories in as many games found the state-defense a puzzle and trailed after the first few minutes of play.

The state forward wall clicked with precision, the forwards taking short passes and scoring from scrimmage under the basket. George Falkowski was high man for State, getting 11 points. His forward mate, Marty Hunt, had 10 and Frank Shidler, Spartan center, made 9.

The sharp eye of Joe Hagan, flashy Kentucky forward, kept the Wildcats in the running. The husky Kentucky star whipped the net for seven field goals to lead the scoring.

State led at the end of the half, 22-18.

A crowd of 4,000 saw the contest.

Giants And Indians To Play 18 Games

New York, Jan. 8. (AP)—Thirty-one games are on the spring training schedule announced today by the Giants, including 18 with their favorite sparring partners, the Cleveland Indians.

The club's pitchers and catchers are due to report at Hot Springs, Ark., in mid-February for preliminary conditioning, with the main squad pitching camp at Baton Rouge, La., the first of March.

Last Period Rally Edges Out Garden; Powers Wins 21-15

Garden, Jan. 8.—Leading until the final period, Garden was nosed out by Powers tonight by a 21 to 15 score in a basketball game played on the local court. Ralph led the scoring for Garden, looping the only two baskets for the home team, while Nelson was the high scorer for the visitors.

DELAWARE PRO LEADS GOLFERS

Thomson Has Undisputed Margin in Tourney at Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Jan. 8 (AP)—Jimmy Thomson continued spectacular golf today, shooting a sub par 66 for a 36-hole total of 131 to grab undisputed lead in the $5,000 Los Angeles open golf tournament.

The Shawnee-on-the-Delaware professional put together nine hole scores of 31-35 for a score six shots under par 72 for the Harding course. His 65 yesterday also was six under-par-for-the-Wilson course, companion layout of the Griffith Park golf links.

With a number of ranking contenders still out, but none liable to catch Thomson, Lloyd Mangrum of Dayton, Ohio, with a 68-70-138, was closest to the front.

One stroke back was Harold (Jug) McSpaden, Winchester, Mass. Jimmy Hines, New York pro, and Bill Williamson, Glendale, Calif., caddy swatter, were next with 140.

Scores today included:
At Watrous, Detroit, 74-72-146.
R. H. Reinsma, Detroit, 73-74-147.
Mortie Dutra, Detroit, 76-72-148.

Boilermakers Whip Chicago, 50 and 34

Chicago, Jan. 8 (AP)—Purdue's basketball machine sputtered for a few minutes tonight and then went into high gear to bowl over the Chicago Maroons 50 to 34.

After several long baskets by Lounsbury and Eggemeyer had kept Chicago on fairly even terms with the Boilermakers during the opening 10 minutes, Jewell Young suddenly found the hoop range, and from that point on the Maroons never had a chance.

At the half the Boilermakers led 26 to 15 and as Young, high scorer of last season's Big Ten title chase, continued to sink shots from all angles, his team built up

MARQUETTE TO HAVE REGIONAL

Local School To Be Host to Class B-D Schools March 10, 11, 12

Escanaba high school will play host to Class B and D schools of this region at the district basketball tournament to be held March 11, 12 and 13, according to word received by the Daily Press yesterday from Marquette.

Members of the Upper Peninsula committee of the Michigan High School Athletic association met yesterday at Hotel Northland in Marquette to determine tournament dates and sites. Charles C. Forsythe, state director of athletics, was present at the meeting.

The regional tournament will be held at Northern State Teachers college on March 17, 18 and 19.

Class C teams of this district will go to Stephenson for the district meet, that village playing host, also, to Class D schools of that vicinity.

Two Byses Will Be Drawn

Iron River was awarded the district tourney in all three classes in the range district. Nezaunee will play host to Classes B and D as will Lake Linden in that area. L'Anse will stage the Class C meet.

Graverath high school of Marquette will entertain Class C teams of that district while St. Ignace will have Class D teams.

In view of the fact that there will be six Class D districts, two byes will be drawn in the first round of the regional at Marquette in order to form a perfect bracket.

Referees and umpires were selected for the various tournaments but no announcement of names was made, pending acceptance by the various officials.

Although no announcement was made as to the teams to play in each district, it is quite likely that Class B schools to play here will include Iron Mountain, Kingsford, Manistique, Menominee, Gladstone and Escanaba. Among the Class D teams likely to compete here are Rapid River, Nahma, Rock, Cooks, Garden and Bark River.

Gophers Knocked Off By Badgers; Score: 35 to 28

Madison, Wis., Jan. 8 (AP)—Wisconsin defeated Minnesota tonight, 35 to 28, in a tenely fought basketball game before a crowd of 10,000.

The defeat put Minnesota's fast team off to a bad start in the Big Ten campaign. The Gophers were co-champions with Illinois last year. It was Wisconsin's first victory in two conference starts.

High scorer of the game was Charles Jones, center, who made Wisconsin's first eight points to take lead the eighth never relinquished. His game total was 11 points. Three Minnesota players, Manly, Spear and Dick, set their pace at 5 points each.

Wisconsin led 15 to 7 at half-time and held the Gophers to five field goals and nine free throws in the second period. The play became fast and rough as the closing minutes and fouls were numerous.

Ohio State Shaded By Wildcats, 35-34

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 8 (AP)—Northwestern registered its second Big Ten victory in as many starts when it eked out a 35-34 win over Ohio State tonight. A free throw by Ad Vance with less than two minutes to play won for the Wildcats after they had been trailing 34-30 with five minutes remaining.

Jake Nagode, with six baskets and a free throw, led the Northwestern scoring, however, backed by Currie and Davis in rapid succession in the last minutes set the stage for Vance's winning charity toss.

Northwestern jumped out to a 6-1 lead at the start, but shots by Sattler, Hull and Boughner put the Buckeyes in front. The Wildcats took the lead once again before half time, but a short shot by Shattler gave Ohio State the lead as the half ended.

The lead changed hands five times in the second half and after Nagode had tied the score at 30-all Hull counted with a one hand shot and Baker with a long one from the side to put the Bucks four points in front. However this did not withstand Northwestern's late rush.

a margin of 44 to 22. Purdue then used numerous reserves who permitted Chicago to pull up slightly. Young sank six field goals and two freethrows.

Kiwanians Dumped From Top Position

Lacking a full team, and lacking some of their outstanding players who were still recovering from the holiday season, the Kiwanians were dumped from the undefeated class by Double O's second team in the feature battle in last week's volley ball league. In other games in the Independent league, the Double O one's defeated the Lions in three straight and the Spartans defeated the Double X by a forfeit.

The Industrial league has been having trouble due to the fact that work has kept so many teams away. Any teams that do not appear this week will be dropped from the league.

Schedule for this week:

Monday, 7:15—Gambles vs. Escanaba Paper.

Tuesday, 7:15—Delta Hardware vs. Laermans.

Tuesday, 7:15—Double O Two vs. Spartans.

Tuesday, 8:30—Lions vs. Double X.

Senior High

Wednesday, 8:00—Fair Store vs. Ford Motors.

FAST PACE SET BY SAN ROMAN

New Record Hung Up for 3,000 Meters at New York

BY ORLO ROBERTSON
New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—Archie San Roman, one of the country's greatest milers, led loose with a terrific stretch drive tonight to nip Indiana's great Don Lash and hang up a new American citizen's record for 3,000 meters in the Knights of Columbus track and field meet at the 13th Regiment armory.

Running over flat boards and competing at the distance for the first time, the former Emporia (Kans.) Teachers ace stepped the distance in the remarkable time of 8:27.4 to clip three and four-fifths seconds off the mark established by Joe Ray in 1923. The time was only a second slower than Paavo Nurmi's world record made on Madison Square Garden's banked oval in 1925.

San Roman, now studying music at New York university, went to the front for the first time at the start of the final lap of 200 meters. He quickly opened up a ten-yard lead but Lash struck back and as they swung into the next to last bend forged to the front again.

The dark-haired Kansan, jumping forward as if propelled from one of the cannons at the end of the huge drill shed, caught the world's two-mile record holder in the final strides to win by inches. Lash's time of 8:27.5 also was well below the old citizen's mark.

Joe McLuskey, veteran New York A. C. runner, trailed far back in third place.

DETROIT WILL MEET PURDUE

Titans Play First Big Ten Opponent in 21 Years Next Fall

Detroit, Jan. 8 (AP)—University of Detroit will meet its first Western conference football foe in 21 years next fall, the schedule announced today by Charles E. (Gus) Dorais, athletic director and football coach, discloses.

The Big Ten foe is Purdue and the game will be played September 24 as the opener of a 10-game schedule for the Titans. The site of the game has not been definitely determined, according to Dorais. It has been tentatively scheduled for Lafayette, Ind., but there is a possibility that it may be shifted to Detroit.

University of Michigan was Detroit's last conference football foe, the Titans dropping a 14 to 3 decision in the 1917 campaign. Detroit lost to Iowa in 1930 but the Hawkeyes were out of the conference fold at that time.

Schedule is Tough
Called by Dorais the toughest schedule ever arranged for a Detroit team, the slate lists games with five eleven that Detroit met last fall and four new foes. One date, November 5, remains to be filled. North Dakota university, a team Detroit routed last fall, is being considered for this date.

Teams on the slate that Detroit met last fall are Western State Teachers, Duquesne, Catholic university, Boston college and Villanova. New rivals are North Carolina State, Oklahoma U. and Tulsa. Detroit has met Tulsa in past football history but has never before scheduled a North Carolina State or Oklahoma.

Open With Purdue
In announcing the schedule, Dorais revealed that an even tougher schedule was in prospect for 1939.

"Detroit has been promised some outstanding games for next season," he said.

The schedule:
Sept. 24—Purdue (site undetermined).
Sept. 30—Western State Teachers at Detroit.
Oct. 7—Catholic university at Detroit.
Oct. 12—Boston college at Boston.
Oct. 23—Villanova at Philadelphia.
Oct. 29—Duquesne at Pittsburgh.
Nov. 5—To be arranged.
Nov. 12—North Carolina State at Raleigh.
Nov. 19—Tulsa at Detroit.
Nov. 26—Oklahoma at Detroit.

TRENARY BEATS NAHMA BY 38-21

Tobin's Boys Fold Up in Final Period of Close Game

Nahma, Mich., Jan. 7.—After battling on equal terms for three quarters of the game, Nahma high school cagers folded up in the final frame here Friday night and succumbed to the classy Trenary five by a score of 38-21. In a preliminary, the local seconds were nosed out by the visitors, 19-16.

The feature game was closely fought most of the way and Nahma was within four points of Trenary late in the third quarter but the loss of D. LaBrasseur, star guard, in the final frame was a big blow to the Tobin crew. Until the time he left the game on four fouls, LaBrasseur had scored eight points.

L. Latvala led the visitors with 13 points.

Riggs And Grant Play Net Finals

Coral Gables, Fla., Jan. 8 (AP)—Bobby Riggs, the nation's No. 2 tennis player, smashed into the Miami Biltmore tournament finals today with a straight set victory over young Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Cal., 6-3, 10-8, 6-0.

Tomorrow Riggs plays Bitzy Grant, Atlanta's giant-killer, who is seeking permanent possession of the Col. Henry L. Doherty trophy. Grant, who eliminated Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., yesterday to reach the finals, topped Don Budge in last year's tournament after winning the 1935 renewal from Berkeley Bell.

Grant also reached the doubles finale with Wilmer Hines of Hollywood, Cal., but Riggs and his partner, Wayne Sabin of Hollywood, Cal., the top seeded team, went spinning out of that division before the University of Miami Pair, Gardner Mulloy and George Toley, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5.

Irish Score Easy Victory Over Penn

Philadelphia, Jan. 8 (AP)—The "luck of the Irish" returned to the Notre Dame basketball team tonight as it scored an easy 45 to 25 victory over the University of Pennsylvania before a crowd of 8,500 at the Palestra.

Coming east on the heels of a shakeup by Coach George Keogan because of "indifferent play" Notre Dame passed Penn dizzy and had little trouble after the opening minutes of play.

Led by Ed Sadowski, who got three baskets in the first half, the Irish pulled away in the second half. Although Sadowski got seven baskets and two fouls to be high point man for both teams with 16 points, Bob Dougherty rimmed four of Penn's seven field goals.

STOCKS HIGHER, 1 TO 3 POINTS

BY FREDERICK GARDNER (Associated Press Financial Writer) New York, Jan. 8.—The stock market chalked off the initial week of 1938 with the first general advance in more than a month.

The list finished the starting lap of the new year today with industrial favorites pushing up 1 to more than 3 points.

In dealings that were not exceptionally lively, motors, steels, coppers and specialties pushed forward from the start and, despite late profit realizing, most ended around best levels of the day.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 1 point at 46.6 in the two-hour proceedings. On the week this composite showed a net gain of 3.6 points. It was the largest upturn for any week since October 30.

Transfers totaled 779,010 shares. Announcements that Chrysler was recalling 55,000 employees to resume work on new car assemblies January 11, and that Ford was putting 25,000 more men to work January 17, bolstered sentiment.

At the same time General Motors shipments for December disclosed an exceptionally sharp drop. But this was offset by the fact distribution for 1937 was 3.7 percent ahead of the year before.

Another rise in export copper aided red metal shares. Steels were in front despite predictions next week's mill operations would show a slight decline. Helpful to both steels and coppers, as well as others, were thoughts of a huge rearmament program coming up before congress in the near future.

Outstanding share gainers on the day were U. S. Steel at 59 5/8, Bethlehem 63 3/4, Chrysler 55 1/2, General Motors 35, Anaconda 35 3/8, Kennecott 42, Westinghouse 10 1/2, U. S. Rubber 27 3/4, Sears Roebuck 62, Santa Fe 33 1/2, N. Y. Central 18 3/8, American Telephone 149 1/2 and Paramount 12 1/4.

Domestic copper and lead prices were lifted again Thursday and Friday in sympathy with growing demand in this country and abroad. In addition steel output for the week registered the first upward reversal in more than 3 months. Retail sales also took a jump. Major commodities pointed higher and bonds, on the whole, did better.

Wheat at Chicago ended the week with advances of 1 3/8 to 1 1/2 cents a bushel. Corn was 1/4 lower to 70 3/8. Cotton was unchanged to 15 cents a bale higher.

AT THE DELFT After a run of several years in New York, London, Paris and various other world capitals as a stage play, "Tovarich," a comedy dealing with a Grand Duchess and a Prince who were exiled from their native Russia by the revolution, now comes to the screen. It will have its first local showing today at the Delft theatre.

Warner Bros. made the picture and endowed it with a splendid cast and many magnificent settings. Claudette Colbert plays the Grand Duchess and Charles Boyer the Prince. Other notable performers in the cast include Basil Rathbone, Anita Louise, Melville Cooper, Isabel Jeans (imported from England for the picture), Morris Carnovsky, Montague Love, Renee Rains and Heather Thatcher.

Anatole Litvak, famous Russian-born director—remembered for his sensational picture of a few years ago, "Be Mine Tonight"—guided the making of "Tovarich."

Although the main characters are Russian, all the action of the picture takes place in Paris, to which city the erstwhile nobles have fled. They have brought with them, in trust, 40 billion francs in gold. They become servants in the home of a rich Frenchman in order to live, and the story revolves around the efforts of various elements to get hold of the fortune, which the Grand Duchess and the Prince will not touch themselves.

AT THE MICHIGAN Acclaimed by naval officers the most authentic story ever written about the historic United States Naval Academy, "Navy Blue and Gold" opens today at the Michigan theatre.

The novel, steeped in colorful traditions of the institution, was written by George Bruce who also adapted it to the screen.

The picture is headed by a strong cast, including Robert Young, James Stewart, Lionel Barrymore, Florence Rice, Billie Burke, Tom Brown, Samuel S. Hinds, Paul Kelly and Barnett Parker.

It portrays the poignant devotion of cadets pledged to their country's service, the heartaches of stern, character-building discipline, the thrilling sportsmanship of the Navy's titanic football games, and the love of two players for the sister of their quarterback pal.

"Navy Blue and Gold" teams Young, fresh from his triumphs in "I Met Him in Paris" and "The Bride Wore Red," Stewart who scored in "Seventh Heaven," and Tom Brown as buddies coming from different walks of life to rise to fame on the Navy gridiron.

At least 3,360,000 flowers will be visited in the course of a day by 80,000 bees to produce a pound of honey to store in the hive.

RAILS ADVANCE ON BOND LIST

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—The bonds were scored all along the line in the bond market today. Best performances were turned in by some of the low priced rails and other issues recently under pressure.

U. S. governments, while steady, did little either way and there was little trading. Advances ranged up to 3-3/2 of a point and losses as much.

Progress in the corporate section was accompanied by light dealings. Transfers of all bonds totalled $3,982,250, compared with $3,872,800 on Saturday, December 18, the last short session before the holidays.

The Associated Press averages were uniformly higher except for the low-yield group, which, like governments, was steady but quiet, with the averages holding at Friday's close.

Several issues of Lehigh Valley Coal took the day's honors insofar as actual advances counted, one bounding up as much as 9 points.

Other firm spots included several bonds of International Great Northern railroad, Bush Terminal Missouri Pacific, and Erie Railroad.

Oils, Specialties Score Advances New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—Selected oils, mining and specialty shares scored impressive advances in the curb market today, and the majority of active shares found enough support to end comfortably higher.

Gains of 1 to 2 points were registered by Creole Petroleum at 27, United Light & Power at 24, Aluminum Co. 8 1/2 and Newmont Mining 65. Lesser advances were posted for American Cyanamid and Electric Bond & Share.

A few laggards dotted the list. Gulf Oil ended 1/4 lower at 39 3/4 and Niagara Hudson Power lost 1-1/2 at 8 1/4. Pioneer Gold and Humble Oil were unchanged.

Transfers of 110,000 shares compared with 112,000 on Saturday, December 18, the last Saturday before the holidays.

DAY'S MARKETS IN BRIEF

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—Stocks: Firm; motors lead recovery. Bonds: Higher; low-priced rails in better demand. Curb: Improved; specialties and utilities advance. Foreign Exchange: Steady; sterling and franc higher. Cotton: Higher; local and trade buying. Sugar: Even; steady spot market. Coffee: Improved; trade buying. Chicago: Wheat: Strong. Corn: Unsettled. Cattle: Nominally steady. Hogs: Steady.

NAHMA NEWS

P. T. A. Meeting Nahma, Mich.—The Parent-Teacher association of the Nahma schools will hold their regular meeting January 11, at the F. W. Good school.

A short program will be featured by the first, second and third grade children. Dr. R. C. Layowski of Escanaba will be the guest at the meeting and will speak on the subject of "The Care of Children's Teeth."

Everyone is invited to attend. Guild Meeting Mrs. William Acker entertained the Ladies' Guild of the St. Paul's Episcopal church on Thursday afternoon, at her home.

Prizes in the games of bridge and five hundred which followed the business meeting went to Mrs. Jack Schwartz, Jr., and Mrs. Melvin Druing.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. E. H. Bedard, Mrs. Dave Cloutier, Mrs. Herman Brammer and Mrs. Amos Kleindienst.

A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess following the card games. The next regular meeting will be held January 20. Mrs. Martin Kousbaugh will be the hostess.

Drill Test May Disturb The Dead

Evangeline, La. (AP)—If United Brethren in Christ No. 1 comes in a gusher, there may be a busy time in a corner of the church cemetery.

It is a test all well the United Brethren in Christ congregation here is drilling in its burying ground, located on the west bank of the Evangeline boom field.

MUCH ACTIVITY DURING YEAR

Local Airport Business Heavy; Improvements Are Being Made

The year 1937 will go down as one of the most successful aviation years in Escanaba, according to the annual report issued yesterday by Lieut. Walter Arntzen, local airport manager.

Sixteen local aviators flew 34,650 miles, or almost 10,000 more than the distance around the world. A total of 385 flying hours was recorded on the local books during the year, eleven local fliers making their first solo flights.

Five locally owned ships were in operation during the year, three having been sold since. Several new ships are expected next spring.

Three deer were flown out of the local airport by visiting hunters who came to Escanaba by plane this year.

Arntzen said yesterday that service for flying tourists at present here is the best in this part of the country. This includes licensed mechanical services, gas, oil, hangar space, motor heating in cold weather, and daily weather reports. The airport attendant, who is employed by the city, is at the field eight months of the year and revenues are used to maintain the field.

Several new individual hangars have been started at the airport this fall, to be used to house the planes and alleviate a congested condition during the summer months. The hangars are expected to be completed by spring and used for the next flying season.

During the past year, a change was made in local supervision, department of commerce inspector Forest Longeway being transferred to Chicago and being replaced by "Pop" Hanscom, formerly of the west coast area.

Block chocolate is the favorite in the southern parts of England, while mixed chocolate is popular in Scotland and the northern parts of England.

Severe Weather Brings Rare Bird Visitors To City

The severe winter weather in Canada during the past few weeks has brought a rather rare treat to a number of Escanabans who are interested in birds as several flocks of pine grosbeaks have been seen on numerous occasions feeding in trees on the south side of the city and along the lake shore.

The grosbeaks traveling in flocks of a dozen or more have been observed feeding on the seeds of maple and other trees and since the first of the year have been frequent visitors at one feeding station out on the shore road south of the city.

They are somewhat striking birds, about the size of a robin, but with shorter and much heavier bills. Most of them are dark gray with not very prominent wing bars of white and in each flock are several males, which even in their winter dress are brightly colored with red heads and breasts. The red is decidedly pinkish in contrast to the familiar red of the red-headed woodpecker seen in the summer, and the orange red of the robin's breast.

The sight of these birds is of some significance, because the normal range of these birds is to the north of this region. It may be that the spruces in the northern forests of Canada are not bearing their normal crop of cones so the birds have been driven south to seek food; or it may be that severe storms have caused the birds to drop into the United States for a spell.

Lipstick Assists Glass Inspectors

San Diego, Calif. (AP)—All in favor of women using lipstick is Ed Beale, chief city sanitary inspector.

"Lipstick leaves prints on the rim of a glass or cup nine times out of 10," he says. "As we visit restaurants and bars to check up on whether they're washing their dishes thoroughly the lipstick is a dead giveaway. It makes an inspector's job lots easier."

"AG" TEACHERS HOLD MEETING

Vocational Education Should Meet Needs of Community

Vocational education should meet the needs of the local community, according to the conclusions reached by Smith-Hughes instructors of the Upper Peninsula in discussing their mutual problems in a conference held at the junior high school yesterday.

It was pointed out that the needs of the community are the fundamental basis for the selection of subject matter to be taught in the Smith-Hughes classes. In the Upper Peninsula, the teaching of conservation has been added, and schools offering this subject are eligible for state and federal financial aid.

The meeting here was called by George Gilbert, assistant state supervisor of the department of public instruction.

Among those in attendance were: J. G. Wells, Chatham; Boyd Churchill, Chatham; George Butler, Northern State Teachers college; E. A. Wenner, Escanaba; G. E. Bowers, Stephenson; Keith Cheney, Grand Marais; V. S. Davis, Trenary; Guy Williams, Hermansville; R. G. Wallis, Rudyard; Lyle Abel, Sault Ste. Marie; Henry Wylie, Escanaba; John A. Lemmer, Escanaba; Harry Nesman, Lansing, state supervisor of agricultural education; and Dr. H. M. Byram, professor of agricultural education, Michigan State college.

Several possible new developments in the Upper Peninsula were discussed. These topics included hybrid corn, weed control, need for more cleared land per farm, need for more cows per farm and pasture improvement.

ROAD BUILDERS TO HOLD MEET

To Draft Amendments to Snow Removal Aid Law Jan. 11

Members of a special committee of the Upper Peninsula Road Builders association will meet at the Dickinson hotel in Iron Mountain Tuesday, Jan. 11, to draft amendments to the snow removal aid law.

The members of the committee are: E. J. Pearce, Menominee; chairman; J. T. Sharpsteen, Escanaba; L. F. Pearce, Munising; C. F. Winkler, Houghton; and Geo. W. Koronski, Bessemer.

The snow removal aid legislation was passed at the last session of the legislature. The original appropriation was $200,000 but was cut to $150,000 on the order of Governor Murphy along with the budget slashes. The law provides that the money shall be prorated to counties, having more than 60 inches of snowfall.

Thirty-four counties participated in the first allocation. All counties in the Upper Peninsula, excepting Mackinac received money out of the recent allotment. Delta county's share was $4500. Difficulties have been experienced in the computations of the amount of financial aid each county should receive for snow removal. Lack of weather observing stations in some of the counties is one of the main handicaps.

At the committee meeting in Iron Mountain Tuesday, recommendations for improving the computation method will be drafted.

Sales Tax Repeal Move Is Unknown To Draper Allen

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty Washington Correspondent

Washington—If Governor Murphy seeks a repeal of the sales tax which Speaker George A. Schroeder suggested as one reason for the special session, it is news to Draper Allen, managing director of the State Board of Tax Administration, said in Washington today.

"The governor has never intimated that he favored a change from the sales tax to an income tax and I question the veracity of the rumor," said Allen, of Birmingham and Lansing, unsuccessful candidate in the last election to represent the 17th district in Congress.

The 55 million dollars collected last year in sales tax collections defrayed approximately 67 per cent of the expense of running the state government and it is doubtful if an income tax, which would touch a smaller number already burdened with federal taxes, would give as large a yield.

Allen referred to a recent letter from the governor of Texas, seeking information from Murphy as to the advisability of adopting the sales tax in this state. Nothing but praise of the raising of revenue by this method was mentioned in the answering letter.

Twenty-two states have a sales tax, characterized as "good because you don't feel it" and praised because it falls on everyone in proportion to the amount they can afford to pay.

With pride, Allen points to the steady increase in the amount of tax collected—it jumped from $21,497,169.69 in 1936 to $24,191,018.97 in 1937—as indicative that the recession pains to business are not as serious as depicted.

Ford River All Agog Over Tavern Dispute And Zoning Petition

Referred to oftentimes in the advance publicity for pioneers' reunion celebrations as "a ghost lumbering town," Ford River is now very much alive.

The peaceful community, always dear to the hearts of old-time residents, is agitated over the question of whether there should be a "tavern in the town."

It started about a month ago. When Orville Wieland, former owner of the Pastime Gardens of Trenary, leased the Peterson Tea Room and obtained a license to sell beverages of alcoholic content, some owners of summer cottages along the Ford River Road became indignant and filed a protest with the Michigan Liquor Control Commission. As a result, Wieland lost his license.

Counter Move Starts

The cottage owners pay taxes in Ford River township, but most of them live and vote in Escanaba.

"Those city folks don't vote in Ford River township, and they try to dictate to us how they should run our affairs," the Ford River resident voters declared.

Then, there were hot meetings of the township board, at which Ford River people demanded that Wieland's license be restored. The circulation of petitions in support of the tavern keeper also was started.

Land Zoning Petition

About the same time, the Ford River cottage owners started the circulation of another petition, asking that the Delta County Board of Supervisors establish a rural residential district under the provisions of the Luecke-Odell land zoning act.

The petition reads in part: "That the establishment of this Class B residential district is advantageous for the purpose of reducing the cost of local government, protecting and enhancing property values, and preserving and protecting public peace, safety, morals and the general welfare, and conservation of natural resources; and that your honorable body is requested to adopt a zoning ordinance covering said residential district, limiting, regulating and restricting the location of buildings designed for specified uses and the uses of buildings, lands and premises for trade, residence, forestry, agriculture, recreation and other purposes excepting and reserving from the establishment and operation of said proposed Class B residential district in Ford River township any and all property now being used for business purposes. Such business property is known and described as Farrell's Tavern, Peterson's Tea Room, Peterson's Store and Joe Rademacher's Store."

Zoning Law Provision

The Luecke-Odell zoning law states that: "Whenever the owners of the fee in property and the contract purchasers of property aggregating at least two thirds of the total front property in both sides of any established public highway with the district, thus represented shall petition the county board of supervisors to establish such area as a residential district, stating in such petition the name of the desired zone or area, the frontage owned by each petitioner, describing the buildings then erected in such zone or area and the use such buildings are then put to, such county board of supervisors shall give notice of hearing of such petitions as provided in Section Four of this act and if it is determined that the petitioners represent at least two thirds of the total frontage along such public highway it shall designate such zone or area as a residential district; provided, that no such zone or area shall include any property used for business purposes at the time such petition is filed, unless the owner of the fee of such business property and contract purchaser if any shall sign such petition."

Much Misunderstanding

Circulation of the zoning petition has resulted in much wild gossip and speculation. Some Ford River residents have expressed fears that existing commercial establishments in the area would have to be discontinued. It might be pointed out that the law is not retroactive, however.

There are many other wild rumors. Some of the Ford River residents have expressed the belief that the zoning ordinance would prohibit agriculture in the township.

The petition mentions, however, that the petitioners own property on Highway No. 35 extending from the city limits on the south side of the city of Escanaba to the banks of the Ford River in Ford River township.

With so much misunderstanding developing, it is quite likely that some kind of a mass meeting will be called in the near future to learn what the argument is all about.

One thing the rumormongers have done, it has stimulated much interest in land zoning, which heretofore has been considered by many folks as a "pretty dry subject."

HEARING WILL NOT BE HELD

Bus Line Investigation Has Been Cancelled, Secretary Says

The Interstate Commerce Commission's hearing on the application of Northland Greyhound Lines Inc., to purchase three bus companies in the Upper Peninsula has been cancelled. A notice to this effect was sent from Washington this week by Secretary W. P. Bartel of the commission. The hearing was originally scheduled for Escanaba, January 12th.

The Greyhound company proposed to buy Hiawatha Trails Inc., Northwestern Motor Bus Co., and the Grey Transportation Co. Many protests against the purchase of these lines by Northland Greyhound were registered with the commission, it is said.

The Interstate Commerce Commission's hearing on the application of Northland Greyhound Lines Inc., to purchase three bus companies in the Upper Peninsula has been cancelled. A notice to this effect was sent from Washington this week by Secretary W. P. Bartel of the commission. The hearing was originally scheduled for Escanaba, January 12th.

The Greyhound company proposed to buy Hiawatha Trails Inc., Northwestern Motor Bus Co., and the Grey Transportation Co. Many protests against the purchase of these lines by Northland Greyhound were registered with the commission, it is said.
