NORTHCHINA'S RED ARMY IS ON THE LOOSE

JAPANESE LOSSES AT TSINING ARE NEAR 4,000

Peiping, North China (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The Chinese red army is on the loose in North China.

Beyond the Japanese control of the railway zones, which seldom extends more than a few miles, the communist forces and allied bands of armed Chinese are said to control everything.

They fade into the rugged hinterlands upon the approach of Japanese warplanes and tanks, but when these have returned to their bases, the irregulars resume control.

Keep Out of Reach Persistent reports state these forces are penetrating all districts just beyond reach of the Japanese.

They are all well armed with machine-guns and rifles, and have been known as the Eighth Route army since the reorganization of last summer.

The red army has found almost unlimited material. Armed and unpaid remnants of the 26th, the 29th and 53rd armies were scattered among the inland towns of Hopeh.

While not necessarily communistic, these soldiers readily fall in with anti-Japanese plans.

Working with typical communist technique, they inculcate each community with a "cell" composed of one or more organizers who proceed to build up an "anti-Japanese defense corps."

Peasants Organized They held up the Japanese advance in North Shansi for a month last fall, which Japan admitted was the stiffest resistance encountered in North China.

Red army forces have spread southward over the plain lying between Peiping and Tientsin.

Irregulars occupy the mountainous regions west of Peiping to within 20 miles of the city. They captured a Japanese airfield and destroyed several bombing planes at Hantan, southern Hopeh, according to the report of a Japanese aviator who returned here by rail.

Can Last for Years Japanese abandoned the Paoting-Tientsin highway and the Tatung-Taiyuan highway in north Shansi because of the danger.

Every railway station in North China has a guard of Japanese soldiers. Trains do not run at night.

Both armies levy heavily on the peasant's produce. Peasants who remain face famine. "We can harass the Japanese for years to come," an irregular said to a foreigner.

Meanwhile, Japanese planes and tanks dart out to attack any reported concentrations. The red army continues to reorganize, recruit peasants and lay in supplies for an extended fight.

Shanghai, Jan. 14 (Friday) (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies fighting on China's "last line of defense" were reported.

Spanish Insurgents Deserting To Fight With The Loyalists

Gibraltar, Jan. 13 (AP)—Increasing desertions and uneasiness in insurgent territory, following the Spanish government's capture of strategic Teruel, were reported tonight by impartial foreign sources.

The insurgents have installed an armed cavalry patrol in the no-man's-land separating British Gibraltar from insurgent-held La Linea in an effort to check the desertions from Generalissimo Francisco Franco's army.

At the same time coast guard detachments were reinforced by machine-gun equipped units to prevent further escapes by sea from Algeciras.

Persistent reports of a mutiny among the insurgent forces in southern Spain have been denied by reliable authorities. Scores of insurgent deserters, however, have been crossing into British territory day and night to fight for the government.

The majority of deserters have escaped by going in small fishing boats from neighboring insurgent towns direct to the internationalized city of Tangier, North Africa. From there the Spanish consuls sent them to Valencia.

The deserters who enter Gibraltar are arrested and fined in police court for being in the British fortified zone without permission. The Spanish consul, however, pays their fines and sends the deserters to Tangier on their way to Valencia.

WIFE SWAPPING TRIAL DELAYED

Salem, Mass., Jan. 13 (AP)—Fatal collapse of a testifying witness tonight recessed the "wife-swapping" divorce trial for five days.

Lyman G. Smith, 59, stepfather of Mrs. Raymond S. Lee, one of the four principals, fainted while on the witness stand and died shortly afterward in an ante-room.

Dr. Ignatius Zielenki, medical examiner, said heart disease caused death.

Lee, a Salem chauffeur, testified to the "wife-swapping" angle in the two divorce suits brought by his wife and Calvin M. Watson, Topsfield tree surgeon.

One set of witnesses tended to corroborate his account, and another contradicted it, while the two young, attractive brunettes wives denied or belittled the "switching."

A Salem housewife, Mrs. Esther A. Adams, who corroborated Lee, said it "seemed sort of an agreement" that the Watsons and Lees should "swap" partners after parties. It happened at least four times, she added.

Skater Sonja Henie Gets St. Olav Medal

Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—Sonja Henie stood beneath the picture of Norway's king on the only piece of Norwegian territory in the United States to receive a decoration from her sovereign today.

Wilhelm Morgensterne, Norwegian minister, pinned the Cross of St. Olav to her suit in the drawing room of the Norwegian legation.

The minister said that Miss Henie, 23, was the youngest person ever to receive the decoration.

Aged Pair Robbed Of $1,500 Savings

Detroit, Jan. 13 (AP)—Two gunmen forced John Jakubowski, 70, and his 66-year-old sister-in-law, Thursday to expose the hiding place of $1,500 and then robbed them. The sum represented Jakubowski's life savings.

Capt. Edwin C. Musick, above, veteran of a million miles of flying and the trail blazer of the Pan American route from Honolulu to New Zealand, was in command of the Samoan Clipper, which plunged into the South Pacific and carried all seven of the crew to death.

Sons Are Against Father In Murder Trial At Bad Axe

Bad Axe, Mich., Jan. 13 (AP)—Robert Manlich, 54, was on the witness stand more than two hours today at his trial in Huron county court on a charge of killing Sam Popovich, 47, his friend and business partner for 20 years, on Aug. 24.

Before the defense called the defendant his three sons—Michael, 27; Stephen, 21, and Peter, 16—testified against him for the state. Manlich was undergoing cross-examination when court recessed until tomorrow and will be recalled then.

LARGER PACIFIC PLANE IS BUILT

San Francisco, Jan. 13 (AP)—One of the largest and most powerful ocean spanning planes probably will replace the ill-starred Samoan Clipper on the Honolulu-New Zealand air route a few months hence.

Pan American Airways officials declined today to make definite statements of plans for continuing operation of the newly established 4,450-mile line but said a 40-ton, 22-passenger plane being built expressly for that route would be ready for test flights in March.

Investigation of the fiery crash of the Clipper near Pago Pago, Samoa, Tuesday and the loss of its seven crew members including Captain Edwin C. Musick, ace international air mailer, are presumably awaited the movement of examiners to the scene or transportation of the wreckage to Honolulu.

Legislators First Pay-Day Is Feb. 1

Lansing, Jan. 13 (AP)—Approximately half of the members of the house of representatives looked forward today to February 1, their first state pay-day since adjournment of the legislature in June.

T. Thomas Thatcher, clerk of the house, said about 50 legislators had drawn $50 a week advances on their salaries while the legislature was in session. Under a resolution permitting the advances, they drew no further checks until they had actually earned the amounts they drew.

Thatcher said the group would "catch up" with the advances on January 23, and receive pay checks for $24-8 days' pay—the first of February. Legislators draw $3 a day state pay.

Police Dog Wagon Stolen, Two Held

Detroit, Jan. 13 (AP)—William Kincaid, 20, and Bruce Quale, 19, both of Berkley, were held here Thursday on charges they stole the Royal Oak police department's dog wagon, used for collecting stray dogs, and headed for Toledo to find a job.

MEAL PROJECT APPROVED

Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—The Works Progress Administration notified Senator Brown (D-Mich.) today the president had approved allocation of $2,970 to prepare meals for undernourished children in Menominee county, Mich., schools.

BALDWIN APPOINTED

Lansing, Jan. 13 (AP)—Governor Murphy appointed George S. Baldwin as circuit court commissioner of Alger county today.

Dummy CCC Camp Fraud Nets $84,000 For Clerk

Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—Amazed senators heard today that a clever interior department clerk who set up a "dummy" CCC camp defrauded the government out of about $84,000 through voucher forgeries and escaped detection almost four years.

Three department investigators told the committee how Reno Stittley, 29, former $2,300 a year voucher room chief in the national park service, executed a three-year series of forgeries and used the money he obtained to pay off a $6,000 note on his residence, purchase an expensive automobile, gamble on sports events, speculate in the stock market and spend lavishly to entertain friends. One of the investigators said Stittley, who pleaded guilty recently in district court here to nine counts of a forgery indictment, "might still be getting away with it" if he hadn't shifted the scene of his operations from one department to another.

Details of the case were unfolded to the committee while it was considering the president's nomination of E. K. Burlew to succeed the late T. A. Walters as first assistant interior department secretary.

Chairman Adams (D-Colo.) called D. H. Rozier, Jr., Robert C. McCarthy and Cecil G. Miles, the investigators, to testify after Senator Pittman (D-New) interrupted his questioning of Burlew with a demand that the department's files on the Stittley case be submitted to the committee. Burlew previously had told the committee he had no connection with disbursement of funds and, in reply to Pittman's questions, had explained he did not know full details of the Stittley case.

Rozier, McCarthy and Miles said Stittley began in August, 1933, to forge vouchers on a "dummy" CCC camp he "established" in the Shenandoah National park in Virginia, collecting them through the war department disbursement office, cashing them or depositing them to his account at banks and then destroying copies that, in regular procedure, would have been filed with park service records.

The investigators explained Stittley escaped detection because: He had easy access to voucher forms; he knew the departments were "months behind" in posting their voucher records; he destroyed the copies that might have led to exposure.

Miles said the departments are "more careful now."

BEET GROWERS' BENEFITS ASKED

Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt recommended today a $39,750,000 supplemental appropriation to the agriculture department to administer the sugar control act during the current fiscal year.

Representative Cummings (D-Colo.) requested congress would vote the funds and that sugar beet growers would receive benefit payments on their 1937 crop "about March 1."

The president recommended, previously, a $48,000,000 appropriation to cover the benefit payments of the 1938 crop.

Cummings explained the payments on crops of both years would be made under terms of the 1937 sugar act on a basis of 60 cents a hundred pounds of sugar to growers who complied with soil conservation, beet field wages, child labor and other regulations prescribed by the agriculture department.

State Bar Sponsors Move On Selection Of Court Justices

Pansing, Jan. 13 (AP)—George E. Brand, of Detroit, president, said tonight the state bar of Michigan will sponsor petitions for a popular vote next November on a proposed constitutional amendment providing for the appointment of supreme court justices.

Initiatory petitions would require the signatures of at least 175,000 voters, Brand said. Other organizations will be enlisted in the campaign to obtain them.

"Widespread non-partisan interest in the plan assures that the measure will have state-wide support," Brand said.

The bar's proposal provides that vacancies on the supreme court bench shall be filled by appointment by the governor upon nomination or nominations by a judicial commission. This commission would consist of three judges, three electors who are not members of the bar and three members of the bar.

Dealer Is Indicted For Evading Social Security Taxation

Detroit, Jan. 13 (AP)—Vivian Shumway, Quincy (Mich.) farm implement and coal dealer, was indicted by the federal grand jury today on a charge of willful evasion of social security taxes.

Louis M. Hopping, assistant district attorney, said it was the first such case in Michigan. Shumway was accused of refusing to pay $42.31 in old age benefits.

Chinese In Detroit To Forsake Usual New Year's Feast

Detroit, Jan. 13 (AP)—Detroit's Chinese will forsake their traditional feasting when they observe their New Year's January 31.

According to Harry Chong, secretary of the Chinese Merchants association, the money ordinarily spent for the holiday celebration will be sent to China for food, clothing and medicine.

Dispatches and maps showing the progress of the Japanese invasion of China are displayed in shop windows in the Detroit Chinese center daily.

Chong said only one custom will be observed as usual on New Year's day. That will be the paying up of all debts.

CRUISERS SAIL FOR SINGAPORE

Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—Three United States cruisers received orders today to proceed to Singapore to attend the inauguration of new naval docks at Great Britain's powerful far eastern naval base.

Naval observers said in the visit a sign of increasing friendliness between the fleets of the two nations.

Officials said the visit was not in reference to the troubled far eastern situation, but other informed persons felt it was a symbolic gesture for the benefit of Japan.

The cruisers are the Memphis, Milwaukee and Trenton, each 7,500 tons, commanded by Rear-Admiral Julius C. Townsend. They must be in Singapore by February 14.

They left Honolulu day before yesterday, in company with the 10,000-ton cruiser Louisville, en route to Sydney, Australia, to attend the celebration of the founding of Australia. They departed from San Pedro, Calif., January 3.

State May File Friendly Suit In Agate-Bond Falls Diversion

Lansing, Jan. 13 (AP)—Informed quarters said today the state conservation commission would file a friendly suit against the Copper District Power company in an attempt to restrict diversion of water from the upper peninsula's famous scenic attractions, Agate and Bond falls.

The commission will meet here tomorrow to determine a course of action. The informant said some commission members desired court determination of the rights of the state and the company.

Controversy flared several months ago when the power company started construction of a diversion dam in the middle branch

Anti-Lynching Bill Arouses Bitterness Bad For Roosevelt

Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—Senator Norris (Ind.-Neb.) expressed concern today lest bitterness produced by the anti-lynching bill fight dim chances of enacting President Roosevelt's legislative program.

The veteran Nebraska Independent said both sides in the fight "feel very deeply" about the issue, and that a continuance of the debate may open wounds difficult to heal.

He said "psychological differences" which may result from the battle would have a more serious effect on Mr. Roosevelt's program than the loss of the time consumed in the filibuster itself.

On the senate floor, Arkansas' woman senator, Mrs. Hattie Caraway, carried on the fight against the proposal, which would provide for federal prosecution and fining of sheriffs who fail to protect prisoners, and would make counties liable for payments to the families of lynching victims.

Mrs. Caraway won a rest for her southern colleagues by sending to reading clerks a lengthy report made by a minority of the judiciary sub-committee in 1937. The report, she said, bolstered her argument that the anti-lynching measure is unconstitutional.

The reading continued more than two hours. Most senators left the floor and Mrs. Caraway passed the time reading a newspaper and visiting the gallery.

FOUNDRY PICKET LINE IS RUSHED

New Haven, Mich., Jan. 13 (AP)—Several pickets and two deputy sheriffs were injured tonight in the second outbreak within a few hours at the strike-bound New Haven foundry.

Deputy Sheriff H. Driskel, of East Detroit, in charge of a force of about 50 deputies on duty at the plant, said pickets massed at the entrance threw scrap iron and stones at the officers, who retaliated with tear gas.

Five hours earlier 25 uniformed deputies, firing shots into the air, drove five trucks through a line of several hundred pickets to enter the foundry grounds. Several union men were reported to have been knocked down but none injured.

The pickets are members of the United Automobile Workers of America. They took up their positions outside the foundry when it reopened Tuesday after a holiday shutdown, charging the management violated seniority rules in recalling approximately half of the 700 employees.

Tieup Of Seattle Seaport Is Ended

Seattle, Jan. 13 (AP)—An eight-day tieup of Seattle's port ended today as longshoremen and shipowners consigned their differences to arbitration.

The International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union (CIO) hiring hall sent 18 gangs of longshoremen, accompanied by truckers, 400 men in all, to the waterfront at the call of the operators. Seven vessels were being worked and another was due in tonight.

The resumption of work will benefit directly 1,500 longshoremen here.

DECLINE NEAR END, FEDERAL BUREAU SAYS

Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—There are signs of a possible "turn for the better," both for industry and agriculture, the bureau of agricultural economics said today in its monthly analysis of economic conditions.

The bureau said the "precipitous" decline in industrial activity the past few months "seems to have been checked." It listed the following as indications of improvements in business conditions:

1. Evidence of renewed interest by prospective buyers of industrial goods.

2. A slight improvement in the demand for wheat and cotton.

3. A slower and less severe decline in consumer purchasing power, and in the demand for farm products, than in industrial activity.

4. Reduced inventories, which when depleted, will require new production to replenish stocks.

5. Outlook for continued large foreign demand for American agricultural products, supported by good foreign business activity.

In the house of representatives, meantime, Representative Cox (D-Ga.) proposed creation of a "general council" of government, political, financial, industrial, agricultural, labor, religious and educational leaders to combat the recession, fascism and communism.

He urged an end to "sectional and factional bickering," declaring the nation could not stand another major depression.

New economic dislocations would permit fascist or communist minorities to "bring about their rule by stirring up false prejudices and chanting hymns of hate," Cox said.

Meanwhile, some senators said President Roosevelt intends to confer further during the next week or so with officials of large automobile and automobile finance companies.

This was taken as a new indication that Mr. Roosevelt is paying much attention to the automotive industry in connection with his efforts to end the economic depression.

Whether the conference would go into the subject of government-business cooperation to forecast demand and stabilize production was not indicated, though Mr. Roosevelt has spoken of such a step recently.

Some informants declared that the idea of limiting the amount of credit which an automobile purchaser might obtain has been discussed in administration circles.

Mr. Roosevelt has talked of checking "high pressure" salesmanship as a means of stabilizing business over the years.

MURPHY "CERTAIN" Lansing, Jan. 13 (AP)—Governor Murphy predicted tonight that "there will be a stronger upturn in business than was anticipated two or three weeks ago."

The governor, who gained some recognition as a prophet in his own country by forecasting improved conditions in the automobile industry several days before the factories published orders for thousands return to work, was discussing the increased relief burden created by the current recession.

He disclosed no facts to justify his prediction then, nor did he tonight, beyond the quiet comment that "we are quite certain of it."

Murphy said he received assurances during a Washington visit from which he returned today that "any showing of need for the month of February will be met through the WPA."

He said federal consultants had convinced him it would be inadvisable to attempt to advance the payment of benefits from unemployment insurance, now set for July 1. Other resources, he said, should prove adequate.

The governor will return to

Southern Coeds Turn Time Back For Just A Day

By The AP Feature Service
Atlanta, Ga.—Grown-up girls are behaving like "kids" for a day at more than one school in Dixie. It is in observance of Little Girl Day, school custom that flowers among the pretty girls of southern colleges.

Dignified upper-class members—or sometimes it is a freshman ritual—forget all solemnity and romp over the campus with dolls and lollypops in keeping with the song writer's words:

"How dear to this heart are the scenes of my childhood . . ."

Often the observance is that of the senior class just before an investiture ceremony at which the candidates for degrees formally don the caps and gowns of their class rank.

For this "final fling" at being children again, the girls array themselves in short-cut dresses. Soon will come formal dinners, balls and teas and then commencement, but for a day all are "little girls again."

Nadeau Heads Bank
Menominee.—Directors of the Commercial Bank in annual meeting yesterday recognized Cashier Howard E. Nadeau's 20 years of executive service by electing him president of the bank. He will also continue as cashier. F. X. St. Peter, retiring president, will serve as chairman of the board.

The directors elected Louis Kreuz vice-president, Guy M. Bergen assistant cashier, Axel Christophersen, assistant cashier and manager of the bank's Broadway branch. Bank directors were all re-elected. They are Mr. St. Peter, Mr. Nadeau, Mr. Kreuz, John H. Riley, F. J. DuBrucq and Charles G. Janson.

Logic Honored
Iron Mountain.—Dr. F. O. Logic, of Iron Mountain, yesterday was notified of his appointment to the executive board of directors of the National Chiropractic association. He succeeds Dr. Charles M. Guseyman, of Jackson, who died recently.

The executive board consists of five members selected from different districts. The association headquarters are at Webster City, Ia., and a branch office is maintained in Washington, D. C.

Bank Makes Changes
Iron Mountain.—Changes in the official personnel of the Commercial bank of Iron Mountain were effected at the annual meetings of the stockholders and the newly elected board of directors.

The board was reduced from nine to seven members, and now constitutes the following: M. J. Bacco, W. D. Cochran, F. C. Cole, O. C. Davidson, E. G. Kingford, W. W. Thompson and Raymond Turner, all re-elected.

M. J. Fox, who has been a member for the past year, declined to accept re-election, stating that he expects to be away from home a considerable part of the time during 1938. He added that he wished to be relieved of the responsibility.

The vacancy on the board caused by the recent death of William Kelly was not filled.

Washington Wednesday. He will be a guest next Thursday at the president's dinner for the supreme court.

Washington, Jan. 13. (AP)—This is no time to impose additional taxes, Secretary Morgenthau advised congress in testimony made public today.

Testifying recently at a closed session of the house sub-committee which considered the treasury's appropriation for the next fiscal year, he said:

"With the business situation as it is now, we do not feel like recommending additional taxes over and above the present tax structure."

"I think it is most important that we keep the revenue that we have on the present tax basis."

"It is very difficult at this time to forecast what the situation will be 18 months hence, but if we are going to have a balanced budget, speaking both for myself and the administration, I think the policy should be to accomplish it through economies rather than through increased taxes."

Budget Balance Seen
Asked by Representative Ludlow (D-Ind.) for his opinion as to how much longer the government could operate with a deficit and still maintain its credit, the secretary of the treasury replied:

"I do not know. x x x Of course, we think we should balance the budget just as fast as we can, always keeping in mind that we have an unemployment situation, x x x The administration will not let anybody starve. Barring that situation, the chances of balancing the budget are excellent."

Chairman Vinson (D-Ky.), of a house tax sub-committee, announced that the sub-committee's tax revision recommendations would be made public tomorrow.

Major recommendations of the sub-committee are that the capital gains tax be eased and that the undistributed profits tax be lifted from corporations having incomes of less than $25,000 annually. Business spokesmen contend that both of these taxes were responsible largely for the recession.

NEW DEAL BLAMED
Washington, Jan. 13. (AP)—William J. Kelly, president of the Machinery and Allied Products Institute, arraigned a whole series of new deal enactments today as the principal obstacles to the restoration of prosperity.

Their total effect, combined with policies which now seem to be in mind, has been to destroy the confidence of business, retard investment, and prevent the operation of "an open and free-flowing capital market," he said. He was a witness before the senate unemployment committee.

As an essential measure to end the recession, he testified, it must be made "clear to the country that national economic planning is not and will not become an accepted policy of the federal government."

Confidence Comes First
Kelly was one of four witnesses to tell the committee today of the extent of the recession or make suggestions for meeting its emergencies.

For the retail goods industry, Louis E. Kirstein, Boston merchant, called for "a cessation of witch-burning on the part of business groups as well as on the part of government officials."

Here's A Tale Of The House That Jill Built

Oberlin, Ohio (AP)—Woman builds house.

The woman is muscled but feminine Mrs. Marion Freed, 25. With no carpentry experience and no plans drawn, Mrs. Freed started excavation work last April. Today, the house is nearly completed.

Her husband Harry helped a little at night after work as a garage mechanic, and daughter Lois Jeanne, 3, handed her bricks one at a time.

"We were living with relatives and wanted a home of our own," she explains. "We didn't have the money but started saving."

Total cost, including lot, was $37,750—and the Freed's have been offered $2,500 for the dwelling as it stands.

"There isn't enough money to buy it," Mrs. Freed replied. "The foundation is brick, with tiling above it and wood siding above that. There are four rooms on the first floor, three on the second."

How did she learn how to mix the cement and other things?

"I just asked when I bought the material."

ed today to have killed 2,000 Japanese in desperate but futile resistance at Tsining, southwestern Shantung province.

At the same time the generalissimo was said by Chinese sources to have strengthened his military hand by arrest of one of his generals and the execution of a former government leader accused of trying to undermine his authority.

Trap Threatened
Chiang, Chinese said, had flown to Suichow to direct a major counter-offensive along the Tientsin-Pukow railroad, the route of the Japanese columns gradually closing in from north and south.

Suichow is the junction of China's east-west "lifeline," the Lunghai railroad, and the Tientsin-Pukow line.

Besides the 2,000 slain more than 2,000 other Japanese were reported by Chinese to have been wounded in the battle of Tsining, about 100 miles northwest of Suichow. The massed forces clashed there Wednesday and the Chinese finally left the city to the victorious but battered Japanese.

Chinese forces were said, however, to be threatening to trap Tsining's captors by an attack on Yenchow, about 15 miles to the northeast.

General Failed
Japanese authorities at Shanghai insisted their forces were continuing the southward push through Shantung province and routing their foe as they neared the vital railway junction.

While official confirmation was lacking, Gen. Han Fu-Chu, the Shantung governor, was said to have been arrested for failure to halt the sweep of Japanese troops over China's "sacred" province.

The failure of Han's troops to halt Japan's southward thrust was said to have made difficult the defense job now being directed by Chiang.

Advice from Hankow, one of China's provisional capitals, said the Chiang regime had executed Chu Min-Yu, former general secretary of the executive Yuan (council) for activities subversive to the generalissimo.

Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, American educated chief of the Chinese air force, flew to Honkong from Hankow, but her associates declined to state the purpose of the visit.

Panay Papers Saved
(A dispatch from Hongkong said Japanese land planes, based on aircraft carriers in south China waters, had appeared for the first time in many weeks although large scale Japanese troop landings still were not considered imminent.)

The aerial activity was considered the result of a Japanese desire to sever the railway link between Canton, coastal metropolis and Hongkong, British crown colony, before a land drive on Canton.

United States naval authorities here announced that efforts to salvage the American gunboat Panay, sunk by Japanese bombs in the Yangtze river Dec. 12, had been abandoned after the ship's safe, official papers and some personal property of the crew had been removed by divers.

The investigators found a 14-inch hole in the main deck where a large bomb had plunged through to explode below decks and blow a seven-foot hole in the Panay's hull. The engine-room and superstructure were shattered.

The Statue of Liberty, in New York harbor, is 160 feet high.

Munising Tackles Negaunee Tonight

Munising, Jan. 13.—Munising high school's quintet will seek their third victory of the basketball season tomorrow evening when they invade the Negaunee high school squad's court.

The Matherites stand a good chance of adding another victory to their string if they can turn in a performance equal to the style they showed in their encounter with Ishpeming when the Matherites gave the Hematites a hard battle. Munising has lost to Newberry and Ishpeming and won from Gwin and Manistiquie. Negaunee has bowed to Ishpeming, Newberry and the Soo and won from Gwin. They dropped their game with Ishpeming on their home court, 34-17, last week.

On Saturday night the Matherites will meet the Sault Ste. Marie Blue Devils on the Munising court and the game is expected to draw a large crowd.

Marquette Normal Gets Authorization For Summer School

Lansing, Jan. 13 (AP)—The state board of education authorized the Northern State Teachers college, at Marquette, to conduct a summer school today.

The University of Michigan will co-operate in conduct of the school. Credits awarded for the summer course will be accepted by the university.

The board also approved proposed construction of a combined women's dormitory and Union building at Western State Teachers college, Kalamazoo. The dormitory will house 124 students. It will be financed by a $425,000 bond issue. Bids will be opened Tuesday.

Kalamazoo Track Stars Ineligible

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 13 (AP)—Hopes of Western State Teachers college for a winning indoor track season were dealt a blow today when two of the outstanding stars of the teams were declared ineligible.

They were Roscoe Washington, of Detroit, a high jumper who has been credited with leaps of six feet five inches, and Walter Farmer, a pole vaulter who has attained the 13-foot mark.

St. Francis Hospital

Mrs. Walter Zoellner, 1017 Fifth avenue south, is a medical patient. Mrs. Isaac Isaacson of Shingleton was admitted as a surgical patient.

Gerald Shirk, Lathrop, was admitted. Ewald Nelson, 532 North 20th street, was admitted suffering from an eye injury.

Mrs. Emma Maurus was dismissed Thursday. Thanks to better water supplies, hygiene, and increased skill in surgery, Englishmen are living longer than they did 25 years ago.

The words "union" and "unio" are both derived from the Latin "unio" meaning strength.

Diversion Held Illegal

The attorney general has declared in a written opinion that the Copper District Power company of Houghton has no right to divert water in great quantities from the scenic Agate and Bond falls in the western part of the Upper Peninsula.

The state conservation department had asked the attorney general for an opinion and it is now quite certain that a suit will be instituted against the power company to restrain it from going ahead with its water diversion program.

Attorney General Starr pointed out in his opinion that the diversion of water could be considered as an infringement upon the rights of downstream owners. The state owns a mile and a half of river frontage below the falls, and it is claimed that the diversion would ruin the scenic value of the falls and would injure the fish life in the Ontonagon river.

The Bond and Agate falls case promises to be another Ne-Bo-Shone suit, which involved the public's fishing rights on the Pine river in the Lower Peninsula. The falls case will involve the determination by the courts as to whether one owner of river frontage can legally build dams and embark upon other projects that will change conditions elsewhere on the stream.

Those who are interested in the preservation of the scenic beauties of the Upper Peninsula are watching the Bond and Agate falls case with much interest. The conservation department, in its suit, will have to combat the argument that the diversion of water is necessary to furnish power for the operation of copper mines, which furnish much needed employment to the people of that region. It is expected that it will be a long drawn out legal battle. The suit, however, should be instituted so that the public's rights in such a matter can be determined.

Telling the People

VIEWING, not with alarm but in the light of experience and on the basis of sound business principles, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has set itself to the task of helping to inform state and local governments of the upward trend in tax burdens and offering to cooperate constructively with them, through its local chamber members, in finding a remedy for the situation.

Although the fiscal situation with nearly all state and local governments continued to improve during 1937, as evidenced by the number of governments, reporting surpluses, and by the appearance of relatively few new default situations, tax burdens have reached record proportions. Since it is believed that the increase will likely continue through 1938, with a possibility of the total tax bill being approximately 35 per cent higher than in 1935, this national body is concerned with checking the advance by elimination of useless and unnecessary taxation.

Will Restore Fort

WORD has been received from Washington that President Roosevelt has given final approval to the WPA project for the reconstruction of the old French fort at St. Ignace.

that is given to them serves to attract many sightseers from all parts of the country.

The Upper Peninsula has a pioneer history that is equally interesting. As far back as three centuries ago, Jesuit missionaries and French fur traders had established missions and trading posts at St. Ignace and Sault Ste. Marie. Many volumes have been written about the early history of this northwest territory.

The efforts being made by the people of St. Ignace and the eastern part of the peninsula to perpetuate the memory of these early events are of value from the standpoint of historical record and making the region more interesting to visitors.

More Air Tragedies

THE airplane accidents that have occurred during the past week are to be viewed as particularly tragic because of the fact that two pilots, whose records were outstanding from the standpoint of safe flying, lost their lives in the crashes.

Capt. Edwin C. Musick, who was one of the victims of the Samoan Clipper disaster, had more than a million miles of sea flying without a serious accident to his credit. Pilot Nick Mamer, who went down in the Northwest Airlines transport plane that crashed near Bozeman, Mont., had been engaged in commercial aviation for 20 years without ever injuring a passenger.

Both pilots were more interested in safe flying than in speed, but factors beyond their control apparently brought an end to their fine records. Their deaths are a blow to aviation, but will not deter the courageous leaders of the industry. Efforts will be redoubled to provide pilots with more safety aids in the way of improvements to the ship mechanism and the communications system.

Air transportation is here to stay, and although there have been many discouragements they will only serve to stimulate greater progress.

Plan Safety Drives

EVIDENCE of the growing seriousness of the highway traffic hazard is revealed in the decision of the Kiwanis International to urge its members clubs to launch safety campaigns during the current year.

Kiwanis clubs in various parts of the country individually have been joining in community campaigns to promote traffic safety in past years. This year, however, special emphasis is being placed on this phase of the public service program of the district organization.

Traffic hazards appear to be continually increasing. Increased safety education appears to be one of the best remedies that can be offered. If more organizations and individuals join in the movement, it is quite natural to expect that more effective ways of combating the problem will be found.

Wars are causing the slaughter of many human beings in foreign lands, but right here at home we have an equally grave problem. Thousands of innocents are killed and maimed annually in automobile accidents in America. It is a matter that deserves as much consideration as the tragic happenings abroad.

Other Editors' Comments

CONFIDENCE (Christian Science Monitor) Before a special Senate committee on unemployment and relief, William S. Knudsen, president of General Motors, declares that confidence is needed to revive business. The same word is the keynote of half the present discussion of means for restarting business and employment.

Confidence—and the Ickes-Jackson attacks frighten and anger thousands whose feeling determines whether money will be invested and employment furnished.

Confidence—and the General Motors lay-off advertises hard times for thousands of workers and the businesses which sell to them.

Confidence—and Congress revolts against economies which might keep the budget from running beyond a billion-dollar deficit.

Confidence—and plans are reported for two more $60,000,000 battleships.

Confidence—and business men go to extremes in preaching distrust of a President and Congress popularity supported.

Confidence! Is this the way to produce it? Do the hate and suspicion engendered by talk of a "sixty-families" conspiracy start the wheels of industry turning? Do the hate and suspicion engendered by talk of "third New Deal Communism" open the way to new jobs?

How, then, is confidence to be created? Where does it start? Mr. Knudsen was asked if the General Motors lay-off helped and he said it was necessarily caused by a sharp decline in buying. What were the reasons of those who stopped buying? They may have decided to wait because the price of cars had just been boosted. They may have lost their own jobs because someone else had overstocked and temporarily stopped buying. Or because men with money to invest had found that the prospects for profits were very uncertain under present governmental policies and attitudes.

Impartial students of the situation agree that all of these factors entered into the business recession. Economists find dozens of good reasons and differ widely as to the relative importance of political and economic mistakes. Possibly the first requisite for confidence is to stop assuming that either business or government produced the recession out of a cut-off-its-nose-to-spite-its-face malice. Capital doesn't go on strike if it sees profits ahead. And government doesn't purposely kill the capitalist goose which lays the golden egg of taxes. But both business and government have miscalculated.

In so far as wrong motives are governing, the step toward confidence is to expose and remove them. In so far as mistaken economic or political theories are to blame, calm examination and correction of them are necessary to sound confidence. But is not the first step to confidence a cessation of generalized charges of suspicion and hate? Some measure of trust is essential if men are to live together at all. And fundamentally the need is for truth and trust among them.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY EDWIN SHANKE Berlin (AP)—Ten minutes' drive from Wilhelm-strasse, where Dictator Adolf Hitler rules Nazidom with an iron hand, another Hitler has set himself up as boss. But in an entirely different sphere.

The other Hitler's entire interests are centered, not in affairs of state but in a "going" restaurant and tea room business on one of Berlin's busiest squares, Wittenberg Platz.

—OUT OF POLITICS—

The other Hitler is Alois, a half-brother of Germany's Fuehrer who apparently is content to stay out of the limelight. Der Fuehrer, in turn, never mentions his half-brother in public life.

"Why don't I take part in politics, you ask me?" queried the brusque 55-year-old Alois who is seven years Adolf's senior.

"Of course, I've had opportunities to get into politics. For instance, I was asked to become a party board member in Hamburg. But back in 1927, Der Fuehrer called all the relatives together and asked that we stay in the background, out of public political activity.

—CALLS ALOIS 'DER FUEHRER'

"That name Hitler, you know. To have two men with that name in public political life, would be like waving two flags."

And Alois, judging from his attitude, seems to think Der Fuehrer—he always refers to him that way—is right. His family responsibilities and his restaurant interests, he explained in addition, hampered any prominent "party" activity.

There's ample evidence Alois Hitler has no intention of turning to profit either his name or the fact he's Der Fuehrer's half brother, although, as Alois put it, that tie is "quite well-known."

In neon lights, outside his establishment, shines the one word "Alois" flanked on each side by "restaurant" and "conditore" (tea room). On closer inspection, however, one will notice a tiny porcelain plate over the separate entrances to the two sections of the building reading "Inhaber, (proprietor) Alois Hitler."

Alois is a dyed-in-the-wool National Socialist—a party man, he said. One visit to the restaurant is convincing enough.

—HELLS WITH THE MENU—

As each customer enters the doorway, a hearty "Hell Hitler" rings in his ears from the first waiter to spot him. He's due for another "Hell Hitler" when the menu is presented and again when he leaves. Each greeting is accompanied by the Nazi salute.

Near the entrances of both the tea room and the restaurant, where they can't be missed, hang photographic studies of Der Fuehrer. Upstairs, a full length painting of Germany's dictator catches the eye.

On entering the place, one of the first thoughts which come to mind, of course, is the question "Are Adolf and Alois Hitler look-a-likes?"

Frequent glances at the pictures and at Alois as he hurries about his work convince one the only similarity in appearance between the two is the "toothbrush" mustache. Alois, besides, wears glasses.

—NO 'ADOLF' LOCK—

Noticeably missing in Alois, as far as facial characteristics are concerned, is the lock of hair which hangs over Der Fuehrer's left temple and which bears the brunt of the caricaturists' art in picturing Hitler.

Alois, who says he's been in restaurant work for years, takes a very active hand in his business.

He's proud of his establishment, among the most modern in Berlin, and that pride shows in his expression when he inquires how the guests like his food.

Before opening his newest stand, where few uniformed men are seen. Alois operated a cafe frequented by the black guards, Hitler's crack personal troops.

Like the typical restaurant proprietor he is. Alois is on hand to see that the window display of attractive wines is just so; that the barmaid puts the firm's glassware in the proper place after shining it; that everything, in short, is functioning smoothly.

—GOOD BUSINESSMAN—

A crash of dishes in the kitchen brings him on the run to see what has happened. When there's a little tinkering to do, Alois, like a jack of all trades, does the fixing. When he has special instructions for his waiters, he gathers them around him and speaks animatedly.

Alois has two sons, the elder of whom is being trained to become an officer.

Almost daily Alois sits at a corner table with others within the family circle for lunch.

"Mahlzelt" (mealtime) for Alois, punctually held each day, is his respite from the cares of "bossing" his business.

tion of them are necessary to sound confidence. But is not the first step to confidence a cessation of generalized charges of suspicion and hate? Some measure of trust is essential if men are to live together at all. And fundamentally the need is for truth and trust among them.

Q. Where is Amelia Earhart's husband going on an expedition? C. W. L.

A. George Palmer Putnam is planning an expedition to Central America and the Galapagos Islands under the auspices of the California Zoological Society.

Q. Have Japanese students attended West Point and Annapolis? J. M.

A. No Japanese students have ever been admitted to the United States Military Academy at West Point. There have been Japanese graduates from the United States Naval Academy, the last one graduating in 1900. Foreigners can only be admitted to these academies by special acts of Congress.

Q. How many fingerprints are on file at the Department of Justice? F. H. F.

A. Almost eight million.

Q. Why do people sometimes have the feeling of having been in the same situation before? E. A. D.

A. This is known as paramnesia. It is a common experience, and, briefly explained, the reaction depends upon a little trick of the mind manifested by a momentary loss of a sense of time and space. The individual enters into an experience or a situation, then the attention is momentarily attracted to something else. The period of time may be almost infinitesimal. Then upon the return of the attention to the original situation this lapse of time is lost to the individual and the period between the two experiences seems occasionally to expand into a long period; even into the remote past.

Q. How large would Chicago be if it included all of its suburbs? G. B.

A. The Chicago Metropolitan District has a population of about 4,500,000.

Q. How many automobile licenses are issued in the District of Columbia? L. G.

A. In 1937 tags were issued for 320,000 vehicles.

Q. Why did Emperor Nero commit suicide? G. T.

A. He died by committing suicide on the approach of horsemen sent to drag him to execution.

Q. What does Ma-con-a-quah mean? J. W.

A. It means White Rose of the Miami. The name was given to Frances Slocum, a white child kidnapped and adopted by the tribe. She married the chief, and refused to return to civilization when opportunity offered. Some of her descendants may still be found in and near Peru, Indiana.

Q. How old is the Governor of Vermont? R. W.

A. Governor George D. Aiken is forty-five years old.

Q. Who wrote the first musical dictionary? W. M. R.

A. The first known musical dictionary was that written by the Belgian, Johannes de Tinctoris about 1475.

Q. Please explain the blood rains which fall over Europe, particularly Italy. P. G.

A. The rain which falls has a pinkish tinge, as though it actually were diluted blood. When allowed to stand in a container it deposits a reddish mud. Every year or two there is such a blood rain in Italy. Occasionally it happens in southern France and in the Balkans. The cause is reddish dust from the Sahara, as the German biologist, Christian Ehrenberg, first proved in 1847. Storms lift the reddish dust and blow it northward across the Mediterranean to be washed down by European rains.

New York Column

BY GEORGE ROSS

New York—It was not so long ago that famous jewel collections went into safety deposit vaults, because of a "Top Hat" gang that trailed gem-laden ladies from night clubs and robbed them.

Some of the thieves are now in jail and almost as though to celebrate their incarceration, priceless jewels again are beheld by the night club crowd. Mrs. George Washington Kavanaugh turned up with a display the other night that dazzled a crowd which isn't easily dazzled; and now the blue bloods are waiting for Mrs. Vincent Astor to don her sapphire and diamond ensemble as final evidence that it is safe to scintillate once again—barring any uncaught yeggs, of course.

Gigantic Woo

Billy Rose seems to be happy in his romantic attachment to Eleanor Holm Jarrett. But there are incidents relevant to this heart flutter he sincerely regrets.

For example, he sincerely regrets having told reporters when he announced his matrimonial severance from Fannie Brice that he was tired of being wed "to an electric light on a theater marquee." He even sent pent telegrams to the columnists, after the line had left his lips, begging absolution for his indiscreet remark.

But those who profess an insight into Billy's character say that though he retracted his faux pas, he meant it at the bottom of his heart. He always has been self-conscious about preserving his own identity in the most conspicuous fashion. He was fearful of being known as "Mr. Brice." That is why he is happiest when he sees his name aglitter on skyscrapers; and why he once caused to be erected an electric sign that towered 100 feet in the air with only this blazing legend: BILLY ROSE.

Wrong Cue

Those of us who sat near them—they are, perhaps, Hollywood's most celebrated couple—at a Broadway premier, noticed how his head had been drooping in a soporific stupor. Every five minutes, as if by the clock, his wife would poke her elbow in his rib and his famous profile would shoot upward with a start. But drowsiness overcame him after each punishing poke and he went back to sleep, blissfully impervious to the dull didoes, on-stage. The calamity came toward the end, when he may have been dreaming that the curtain had fallen and he could at last go home. When his wife roused him, his palms automatically collided to applaud. At the wrong moment, of course. The actors were nowhere near the finish and a little off-key after the solitary hand clapping.

The Capital Parade

BY ALSOP AND KINTNER

Washington—After two years' investigation of investment trusts, the securities and exchange commission will soon present recommendations to Congress. If Congress heeds the recommendations, the management of the $5,000,000,000 investment trust business will be brought as completely under federal control as the brokers and investment bankers.

Congress faced the problem of the huge and unregulated aggregations of capital in the trusts in 1935. At a complete loss for a way of dealing with the problem, the legislators surrendered it to the SEC for study. There the investigation, which has turned up pretty startling shenanigans in some trusts' management of their investors' money, was conducted by commissioner Robert Healy, a determined liberal, and David Schenker, the hard-driving former associate counsel in Ferdinand Pecora's stock market investigations.

Throughout the whole investigation there ran the Old New Deal theme, that large financial transactions are so imbued with the public interest that they cannot be left uncontrolled. The detailed recommendations will express precisely that theme. There can be no doubt that the recommendations will be roughly as follows:

1. All investment trusts, their officers and directors will be forced to register at the SEC. Broad standards will be set up which the officers will have to meet before qualifying to manage their trusts. Standards of managerial conduct will also be established, by which such practices as the making of loans to directors or leading stockholders will be outlawed. And thus the last important area of free financial management will be closed.

2. The elaborate pyramiding of investment trusts in inter-company systems, by which a man owning a few hundred thousand dollars of stock has absolute control of millions of dollars' worth of securities, will be flatly forbidden. Existing investment trust pyramids will be subjected to a gradual simplification, and the creation of new complicated set-ups will be made illegal.

3. All trusts will be required to adopt uniform accounting practices, and they will be commanded to submit detailed and frequent reports to their stockholders and the SEC. This phase of trust activities will be watched over, very probably, by a SEC division of audit and supervision.

4. The habit to which many trusts succumbed in the last depression—of completely changing their types and methods of business without consulting their stockholders—will be broken for good. Moreover, the SEC will take charge of trust reorganizations, by assuming the power to pass on the wisdom of reorganization plans.

5. The SEC will on the wisdom or reorganization plans, of all trusts, even those not involved in complicated systems, especially, it will attempt to regulate the proportion of bonds to stocks in the trusts' financial set-ups.

To be sure, commissioner Healy and Mr. Schenker are not admitting or denying anything in regard to their recommendations. Neither are William Spratt and Dr. Paul Gourrich, the other experts working on the study.

But the tenor of the two years of public hearings has been so clear, and the men conducting them have put themselves so completely on record in the matter, that the betting is something like 999 to 1 that the recommendations will follow the outline above. A difference of opinion between the other commissioners of the SEC and the SEC's investment trust experts is the only possible hitch.

Two important problems connected with the trusts remain unsettled. The first is relationship between the trusts and the investment bankers, securities dealers and brokers who have so often been responsible for their establishment.

The Left-Wingers at the SEC would very much like to see the trusts completely divorced from banker-broker control, on the ground that there is always bound to be a conflict of interest between investing other people's money and running a securities business.

Actually, complete divorce is unlikely. Instead, the SEC will probably ask for restrictions on the relationship. For example, a rule prohibiting such self-dealing as the sale by an investment banker of securities which he is floating to a trust he manages is generally thought desirable at the SEC.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Mallo

WHATEVER'S RIGHT

He has a quiet little man
Who neither rose nor fell,
And might have lived his little span
With nothing more to tell,
But one day something must be done—
It made our senses swim.
The boss consulted everyone,
Consulted even him.

Smith said that this would cut the loss
And likely save the day,
And Johnson tried to tell the boss
A very clever way,
And Wilson thought we maybe could,
And Green we maybe might;
The little fellow said, "I would Just do whatever's right."

The boss had never thought of that,
And neither had the rest,
But that was what we started at,
And that turned out the best.
And afterward, when there was grief,
When trouble would begin,
We always noticed that the chief
Would call that fellow in.

In fact the little man became
His confidential man,
Perhaps you may have heard his name?
That's how it all began.
And that's the reason people say,
Competitors declare,
"Well, there's one outfit, anyway,
That's always on the square."

SNOW SHIPPED FOR SKI MEET

Escanaba Again Assists Norge Ski Club at Fox River Grove

Three carloads of snow were shipped from Escanaba yesterday via the Chicago and North Western railway to Fox River Grove, Ill., where the Norge Ski club will hold an international ski meet next Sunday.

The original order called for seven carloads of snow, but was reduced to three when snow fell at Fox River Grove early in the week. This is the fifth year that Escanaba snow has been shipped for the staging of ski contests near Chicago.

The famous Ruid brothers, Sigurd and Birger, who recently arrived from Norway, will compete on the Escanaba snow. Other skiers entered include: Alf Engen and all members of the United States Olympic skiing team; Roy Mikkelsen and Sverre Fredheim of St. Paul.

The Fox River Grove meet is the first international ski contest sanctioned by the International Ski Federation.

Wilderness Dispute To Be Aired Friday

Lansing, Jan. 12.—Delegations supporting and opposing a proposal to construct a scenic drive through Wilderness state park are expected to appear before the state conservation commission at its meeting on Friday.

Petitions for and against the proposal have been circulated by interested persons. One group wants the park opened to motor traffic to permit visitors to view the stand of virgin timber with comfort; the other is protesting the road as an invasion of a remaining wilderness.

The park is located north of Petoskey in Emmet county. A hippopotamus's hide is 1 1/2 inches thick.

SWITCH TO FORD COKE AND SAVE WORK!

Ford Coke contains less than 1/25 the smoke-and-soot-making elements of un-coked coal.

Don't let your home get grimy and sooty again this winter. Keep your white woodwork, your curtains, your lovely tile walls and floors free from dust and dirt.

Burn Ford Coke—the most economical clean fuel. It's double screened at the plant, and rescreened before delivery. Won't crumble in the bin.

Ford Coke is economical because wasteful elements have been removed in the coking process. It requires little tending. Just load up the fire-pot, and Ford Coke will give you comfortable, steady heat.

Ask our representative to help you plan a clean, pleasant, Ford Coke winter. No change is necessary in your present furnace.

Seattle's War of Soap and Fire

Ready to match any of his eccentric opponent's tactics, Mayor John P. Dore, left above, incumbent prepared for a vigorous campaign against Lieut. Gov. Victor A. Meyers, right, in Seattle's mayoralty election. Meyers, "100 per cent for the New Deal," said he would use "soft soap" to meet Dore's oratory. The election was expected to bring a showdown in labor rivalry between Committee for Industrial Organization and American Federation of Labor leaders with Harry Bridges' C.I.O. backing Meyers and Dave Beck's A. F. of L. power behind Dore.

TRIBUTES PAID TO ABENDROTHS

Flooring Mill Opening Is Occasion for Newberry Community Dinner

Newberry, Jan. 13.—With the opening of the new flooring plant in Newberry, rebuilt after the fire a year ago, the local citizens tendered a dinner and program to the members of the Abendroth family and the company officials in the dining room of the Community building on Tuesday night. This proved to be a very happy event, a spirit of friendliness and optimism prevailing.

A. L. Sayles presided as toastmaster and the invocation was given by the Rev. I. Drogemuehler of the English Lutheran church. The song, "Michigan, My Michigan," opened the program. Jack Mahar and his "Little German Band" then appeared, the organization which grew into a full band directed by Jack Baetz. The address, "My Boys and I," which was to have been given by Albert H. Abendroth was not given, the elder member of the firm being unable to attend. "Our Good Old Dad" was the subject of the talk given by Paul Abendroth, in which he paid a fine tribute to his father with whom he went into business upon graduating from school. Mr. Abendroth called upon a number of guests present, some business associates, who gave brief talks.

Walter Abendroth gave an excellent talk on "The Flooring Industry." Following this Paul Abendroth gathered about him a group of local singers, many of them of Swedish extraction, and gave a fine rendition of "Schnitzel Bank," which made a hit with the audience. Herman Kuner, talked on "A Community's Appreciation" and paid a high tribute to the courage and enterprise of the Abendroth family. A talk given by C. E. Urbahn of Marquette, general manager of the D. S. S. & A. railroad, voiced the same ideas as expressed by Mr. Kuner. Several telegrams from all over the world were read by Mr. Sayles, each sending felicitations to the company. The song, "Auf Wiedersehen," closed the program.

Out-of-town guests present were: Joseph Gauthier, foreman of the Rhinelander plant; W. L. Rath, Rhinelander; C. E. Urbahn, Marquette; A. Arntzen, Escanaba; Herman Schmidt, Marquette; Peter Rains, C. E. Bice, Jr., both of Marquette; C. A. Saunders, Sault Ste. Marie; W. L. Saunders, Grand Rapids; C. R. Meyer, Oshkosh, Wis.; E. F. Nelson, Chicago; Herbert Koltz, Chicago; Herbert Redetske, Wausau, Wis.; W. E. Cotanch, Milwaukee; Fred Fultz, representing the Canadian Pacific railroad; W. H. Matthews, Memphis, Tenn.

The dinner was given by the business men of the community and served by the ladies of the Presbyterian church.

IMPROVING THE P. O.

Postmaster Joseph Villeneuve is announcing that the local postoffice is to receive fine new equipment, in keeping with the increased business which the local branch is enjoying. A whole new screen line, including new boxes and a four-foot screen topping. It will be of metal finished to match the quarter sawed oak of the desks and distributing cases. All of the boxes will be of the lock type, the call boxes being done away with. A new safe will be installed, the old one being sent on to a smaller office. The new one comes from a West Virginia office where a new federal building has been recently erected. The new equipment will be installed under contract, two bids being submitted and the postmaster believed one of these will prove satisfactory to the department.

ALPENA BOOSTS WINTER SPORTS

Extensive Program Now Offered at City's Special Park

Alpena, Mich.—This town today boasts one of the most complete Winter Sports Parks in Michigan.

It all started three years ago when a handful of local ice enthusiasts brought in a band of outside figure skaters to put on an exhibition "over on the river behind the tannery."

The idea caught like fall forest fire in a patch of tumbleweed. Today on a smooth base of pulverized limestone rock, a product of the earth native to this section and directly responsible for the livelihoods of much of the town's population, there is located at the southern extreme end of the city, the largest artificial ice rink in Michigan. There is nearly 100,000 feet of skating surface, illuminated to near daytime brightness by flood lights totaling 10,000 watts.

Here, to music, as many as 5000 local skaters will gather on an evening to skate. Some are equipped with expensive figure skates which have brought local hardware and sporting goods houses as much as $35 a pair. Others boast long bladed speed skates while still others have only the regulation or rocker skates.

Everybody Skates. Every skater in Alpena, 500 youngsters will compete in the city Speed Skating Championships during the Winter Carnival, January 15-23. About 150 youngsters and grownups alike will show their wares on figure skates as members of the Alpena Figure Skating club.

Throughout the entire winter, on a rink enclosed by a waist high board fence and flood lighted with lamps totaling 12,000 watts, a city hockey league will perform and draw into competition 100 puck enthusiasts.

During the carnival there will be eight hockey games. A bit farther to the north of the main rink towers a toboggan slide. There are no hills in Alpena, so when it became apparent that a slide was necessary to complete the winter sports picture, they constructed one. Down the steep, iced troughs, toboggans were clocked at between sixty and seventy miles an hour last year. The three troughs carry toboggans 1500 feet down the ice, around a bend and out onto the ice of Thunder Bay.

Many Toboggans Available. Fifty toboggans are available. There is neither a rental nor charges for rides. Each toboggan is equipped with steel runners and though riders must pull the curled sleds back to the tower, an escalator simplifies matters when the slide is reached.

At night the park resembles a small city. It can be seen from a hill fifteen miles south of the city, so strong is the illumination. The park opens each year around Christmas and remains in operation throughout the entire winter.

Alpena, like many other northern Michigan cities, didn't know what to do with their kiddies (and grownups) for recreation during the winter five years ago. Today, the Chamber of Commerce needs an extra girl to answer telephone calls afternoons when school is out to notify the callers whether the rink is open.

Alpena merchants realize, too, the commercial value of the Winter Sports Park. Each year several thousands of out of town visitors come to the city during the carnival. Three of the major towns in Alpena's trading area visit the city for a day given over to their school children in winter sports fun.

They didn't know what to do with themselves during the cold months five years ago. Today those who do trek to warmer

Dodges Guard, Snaps Weird Plane

Closely guarded secrets of a new tallness plane under construction at New Philadelphia, O., were revealed by the picture above, taken by an amateur photographer who was attacked by guards as his camera clicked. Of pusher type, the motor and propeller are installed in the short fuselage directly behind the pilot. The ship will carry two passengers.

OVER 6 MILLION FISH PLANTED

Streams in District Are Well Stocked With Young Fish

If fishermen in this district are unable to catch any fish within the next few years, they will have little reason to blame the state department of conservation.

During the year just passed, the department planted more than six million fish in Delta and Menominee counties. Included among the fish were brook trout, brown trout, large and small mouth bass, bluegills and pike perch.

Most of the fish were raised at the state hatcheries at Marquette and Thompson and planted by hatchery helpers, conservation officers and members of conservation clubs.

The distribution of fish was as follows:

Delta County:
Brook Trout	128,000
Brown Trout	103,000
Small Mouth Bass	3,150
Large Mouth Bass	4,350
Bluegills	73,200
Pike Perch	1,170,000
Total	1,481,700
Menominee County:
Brook Trout	62,000
Small Mouth Bass	5,000
Blue Gills	63,000
Pike Perch	4,800,000
Total	4,930,600

Vandanaker Child Claimed By Death

Therese Maylin Vandanaker, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vandanaker of Flat Rock, passed away at the family home at 10 o'clock yesterday morning after an illness of one week due to bronchial pneumonia.

The child was born in this city April 21, 1933. Besides her parents, she is survived by three sisters, Jeanne, Dolores and Joan.

The body was taken to the Alto Funeral Home to be prepared for burial and will lie in state there this afternoon. Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at one o'clock at the Holy Family church at Flat Rock. Rev. Fr. George Laforest officiating. Burial will be in the family lot in the Flat Rock cemetery.

High School Debate Will Be Tonight

The final debate of the preliminary series will be held between Escanaba and Manistique this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium.

Professor Forest A. Roberts of N. S. T. C. will be the sole critic-judge while Denis McGinn of this city will act as debate chairman. Music will be furnished by a double sextet under the direction of Beatrice Morton, the group consisting of Mildred Hirm, Mildred Peterson, Betty Kelly, Lucille Nelson, Mary Jane Ehnerd, Irene LeDuc, Marcella LeDuc, Marian Magnuson, Vivian Anderson, Ileen Anderson, Betty Voght and Beatrice Morton.

FARWELL GIVES ANNUAL REPORT

186 Convictions Secured in Conservation Cases in 1937

One hundred and eighty-six persons were convicted of violation of conservation laws in this district within the past year, according to the annual report issued by District Supervisor Clavo Farwell.

Fines for the year totaled $2,172.50; costs, $1,037.75; and taxes and damage to state lands, $1,206.85. In addition to the fines paid, violators served 364 days in county jails.

Of the total in the district, Delta county had the following: 107 convictions; $1,097.50 in fines, $737.45 in costs, 288 days in jail sentences; and $79.71 in taxes and damages. Menominee had: 79 convictions; $1,075 in fines; $469.40 in costs; 75 days jail sentences; and $924.04 in taxes and damages collected.

Confiscated property during the year included the following items: 1,592 pounds whitefish; 150 pounds herring; 14 rifles; six shotguns, 19 traps, six headlights, five spears, six trap nets, three gill nets and four muskrat hides. All confiscated fish were turned over to charitable institutions.

PENALTY TIME IS EXTENDED

Extra Fee on County and School Taxes Not On Until Feb. 15

Because of recent action by the city council, the regular four per cent penalty for failure to pay county and school taxes due December 10 will not be applied until February 15. This move was made to give taxpayers an opportunity to recuperate from Christmas expenses without penalty.

The tax collections were originally due on December 10 but the time limit on application of penalties was extended until January 10. Recently, however, this time was extended again.

The penalty has been applied on delinquent city taxes for the past several months. The city tax roll was due on July 1 but was extended until September 15, since which time the penalty has been applied.

City Treasurer A. J. Manley said yesterday that tax collections were above that of past years. Starting on January 25, the public window of the treasurer's office will not open until 9 o'clock in the morning in order to enable the staff to keep their current records up to schedule before the day begins.

Still Coughing?

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

Corn Fritters
 2 cups corn
 1-2 cups flour
 1 teaspoon baking powder
 1-2 teaspoon salt
 1-4 teaspoon pepper
 1-4 teaspoon celery salt
 1 egg
 2-3 cup milk
 2 tablespoons butter, melted
 Mix ingredients and beat well. Drop portions from a tablespoon into six tablespoons of fat heated in a frying pan. Brown fritters well underneath. Turn and brown other side. (About eight minutes will be required to cook the fritters.) Serve immediately.
 These fritters may also be fried in deep hot fat.

Creamed Turkey
 (Other Poultry May Be Used)
 4 tablespoons butter or gravy
 5 tablespoons flour
 2 cups milk
 2-3 cup diced cooked turkey
 1-3 cup stuffing
 1-2 cup cooked carrots
 1-4 teaspoon chopped parsley
 1 teaspoon minced onions
 Mix butter and flour. Add milk and cook until a creamy sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add rest of the ingredients and let simmer for five minutes. Serve poured over the fritters.

Doughnuts
 (Makes Three Dozen)
 3 eggs, beaten
 1 cup granulated sugar
 1-4 cups milk
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 cup chopped dates
 1-2 cup nuts
 5 cups flour
 5 teaspoons baking powder
 Beat eggs. Add sugar and mix well. Add rest of the ingredients and mix lightly. If dough is sticky add a little more flour. Roll out dough until it is one-fourth of an inch thick. Cut out doughnuts and fry in deep hot fat.

Chocoate Frosting
 2 squares chocolate, melted
 1/4 cup hot coffee
 3 tablespoons butter
 1 tablespoon cream
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1-8 teaspoon salt
 2 cups confectioner's sugar
 Mix the ingredients and beat. Let stand five minutes. Beat until creamy and frost the cake.

1-4 cup chopped pimientos
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 1-2 cup salad dressing
 2 tablespoons chopped green peppers
 Soak gelatin for five minutes in cold water. Dissolve in boiling water. Add vinegar and sugar. Chill until a little thick. Add rest of the ingredients and pour into ring mold rinsed out in cold water. Chill until firm. Unmold. Surround with a salad green. Pass additional dressing.

Jellied Fruit Salad
 1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
 1 2-3 cups boiling fruit juices
 2 tablespoons vinegar
 1-2 cup cranberry sauce
 1-2 cup seeded grapes
 1-2 cup diced pineapple (canned)
 1-4 cup nuts
 1-4 cup chopped candied fruits
 Dissolve gelatin in fruit juices. Cool. Add rest of the ingredients and pour into a shallow mold. Chill until firm. Cut out squares. Serve on lettuce and top with salad dressing.

Tuna Salad Rolls
 24 slices white bread, buttered
 1-2 cup tuna
 1 hard-cooked egg, diced
 1-3 cup minced celery
 1 teaspoon minced pimientos
 2 tablespoons pickle relish
 4 tablespoons salad dressing
 1 teaspoon lemon juice
 Select very fresh bread. Cut in to thin slices and discard the crusts. Spread with soft parsley and the rest of the ingredients, combined. Roll up each slice quickly and wrap tightly in waxed paper. Chill until serving time.

Codfish Souffle
 2-3 cup salt codfish
 2 cups boiling water
 2 tablespoons butter
 3 tablespoons flour
 1 cup milk
 1-2 cup soft bread
 1 tablespoon-chopped parsley
 1 tablespoon-chopped celery
 2 egg yolks
 2 egg whites, beaten
 1-4 teaspoon salt
 1-4 teaspoon paprika
 Soak fish for 30 minutes in boiling water. Cook for five minutes. Mix butter and flour. Add milk and cook until thick sauce forms. Drain and add codfish. Add rest of the ingredients and bake for 20 minutes in moderate oven in a buttered baking dish.

News of FOOD Specials

That Good Old Egg
Eggs like to play around with fresh vegetables. Combine them attractively with carrots, cauliflower, potato and green beans and you have a low cost, high value vegetable-egg dinner which is just what the doctor ordered, and just what the family will like.

Egg and Vegetable Dinner
4 to 6 servings
Six eggs, 1 small head cauliflower, 1 lb. long green beans, 4 young carrots, 2 cups fluffy mashed potatoes, light cheese sauce.
Cook eggs slowly, never allowing water to more than simmer, for 12 minutes. Remove from water and peel carefully, keeping eggs very hot. Cook carrots, cauliflower and beans in separate salted waters. Make dry, light and well seasoned mashed potatoes. For cheese sauce, use light cream sauce with Parmesan cheese in moderate amount dusted into it.

Eggs and Chipped Beef
(4 to 6 servings)
One jar chipped beef (3 1-2 ounces), 3 eggs, 1 No. 1 can tomatoes, 1 teaspoon brown sugar, pepper, 1 small white onion, 1-3 cup grated American cheese.
Cut fat and sinews from chipped beef. If very salty, rinse in hot water. Tear meat into small pieces. Combine tomatoes, sugar,

Gypsy Ham
(4 to 6 servings)
One and one-half pounds ham steak, 3-4 inch thick, 1 No. 3 can tomatoes, 1 teaspoon broken bay leaves finely crushed, 1 teaspoon salt, little black pepper, 1-4 teaspoon paprika, 1 tablespoon butter, 1-2 cup brown sugar, 2 small white onions.
In a saucepan, combine tomato, bay leaves, seasoning and butter. Break up the tomato pulp with a fork. Place the ham in hot, heavy skillet and brown on both sides. Cover with brown sugar and onion finely sliced. Pour a little of the tomato juice over the ham, but just enough to moisten the sugar. Pour the remaining tomato around the ham, but not over it. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 1 hour. Baste only once. Remove ham to platter, boil the sauce quickly for 5 minutes to cook down a bit, and pour over the meat.

Honey Cream Dressing
Two egg yolks, 1-4 cup strained honey, 2 tablespoons olive oil, 2 tablespoons lime juice, shake paprika, pinch salt, 1-2 cup slightly sour cream.
Beat yolks. Heat honey over hot water. Combine honey and yolks in top of double boiler. Beat until thickened, then slowly fold in oil, juices and seasoning. Beat sour cream stiff, then fold into other mixture. Chill, then serve.

Buy and Sell the Crossfied Way grated onion and pepper. Cook in double boiler. Smooth out to even consistency with fork. Then place over direct heat and boil for 10 minutes. Add chipped beef and cheese. Return to double boiler and cook over boiling water until cheese is entirely melted. Beat eggs slightly, then add to mixture. Cook until eggs are scrambled in the hot tomato mixture. Serve on toasted and buttered English muffins.

Tuna au Gratin
(4 to 6 servings)
One small can tuna fish, 1-2 green pepper, 1-4 teaspoon dry mustard, salt, pepper, paprika to taste, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, 1-2 cup buttered bread crumbs, 1-4 cup grated cheese.
Drain oil from tuna and free from any skin or bones. Shred pepper into paper-thin strips. In saucepan, heat butter (don't forget the little trick of the one-minute garlic for superb and secret flavor). Add mustard and seasoning. Add shredded green pepper. Cook 2 minutes, then slowly stir in the milk. Cook until it thickens, stirring constantly. Add lemon juice. Then turn in tuna, broken into fairly large pieces. Cook until heated through. Then turn into individual well-buttered ramekins. Combine grated cheese and buttered bread crumbs. Cover top of fish with the bread crumbs. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 10 minutes.

Nourishing Food Good For Mind

A sturdy luncheon is the beginning of wisdom for school children. If you are looking for well-balanced menus for your committee to prepare for the local school noonday lunch, study this partial list from Miscellaneous Publication No. 246, U. S. Department of Agriculture:
1. Peanut butter and tomato soup, toast or bread-and-butter sandwich, fruit and cookie, milk.
2. Cracked - wheat chowder, bread-and-butter sandwich, fruit and raisin cookie, milk.
3. Creamed mixed vegetables with egg, whole-wheat bread-and-butter sandwich, fruit, milk.
4. Creamed salmon with noodles, chopped cabbage sandwich, fruit, milk.
Any one of these menus would be good for the adult home luncheon, too. Note the regular appearance of milk. In a community where market milk is too expensive or where its quality is questioned, canned evaporated milk or dried skim milk may be used for part or all of the milk needed. Each growing child must have at least a pint and preferably a quart each day.
Cracked Wheat Chowder
(50 servings, each 1 cup)
Two and one-half pounds cracked wheat, 5 quarts water, 4 pounds scraped carrots, diced, 1-2 pounds trimmed celery, cut, 2-2 quarts boiling water, 1 pound salt pork, diced, 1 pound peeled onions, chopped, 2 ounces flour (1-2 cup), 4 quarts milk, and, if desired, 9 ounces dried skim milk, 5 tablespoons salt.
Boil the cracked wheat in the 5 quarts of water for 30 minutes. Cook the carrots and celery in the 2-2 quarts boiling-water until tender. Fry the salt pork until crisp, remove it, and cook the onions in the fat for a few minutes. Stir in the flour and when blended add 1 quart of the milk and cook until the mixture thickens. Add the carrots and celery, including liquid, and combine with the other ingredients. Stir constantly until thoroughly heated. (To increase the milk solids in this recipe, add the 9 ounces of dried skim milk mixed with the fluid milk.)
Creamed Mixed Vegetables With Egg
(50 servings, each 2-3 cup plus 1 egg)
Two and one-half pounds pared turnips, diced, 4 pounds scraped carrots, cut in strings, 4 pounds pared potatoes, diced, 2 quarts water, 6 ounces butter or other fat, 3 ounces flour (3-4 cup), 2-2 quarts milk, and, if desired, 6 ounces dried skim milk, 5 tablespoons salt, 3-1-2 pounds trimmed cabbage, chopped, 50 hard-cooked eggs, cut in halves.
Boil the turnips, carrots and potatoes in the water, covered. Prepare a sauce of the fat, flour and milk. Add the cooked vegetables, salt and cabbage, and simmer about 10 minutes, or until the cabbage is tender. Serve over the hot, hard-cooked eggs. (To increase the milk solids in this recipe add the 6 ounces of dried skim milk mixed with the fluid.)
Hermits
(50 three-inch cookies)
One-half pound (1cup) butter or other fat, 8 ounces (11-2 cups) light brown sugar, 3 eggs, 11 ounces (2-3-4 cups) flour and, if desired, 1-2 cup dried skim milk, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon pounds (3 cups) seedless raisins, chopped.
Cream the fat and sugar, and add the well-beaten eggs. Reserve 1 cup of the flour to mix with the raisins; sift together the remaining flour and the cinnamon, soda and salt. Combine all ingredients. Drop by spoonfuls onto a greased baking sheet and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) until lightly browned. (To increase the milk solids in this recipe, add the one-half cup of dried skim milk, sifted with the dry ingredients.)
Creole Sweet Potato Pie
(8 inch pie)
One and one-half cups cooked or canned sweet potatoes, 1-3 cup brown sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 3 tablespoons New Orleans molasses, 3 egg yolks, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1-2 cup chopped walnuts, 3 egg whites.
Mash sweetpotatoes until free of lumps. Add sugar, salt, cinnamon and molasses. Beat yolks and add. Then add milk and melted butter. Add walnuts and mix well. Beat egg whites until stiff and dry and fold into mixture. Pour into pastry lined pie pan. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees F.) and bake another 30 minutes.
Chocolate Cake
½ cup butter
1½ cups granulated sugar
3 eggs
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-8 teaspoon salt
2½ cups flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
Cream butter and sugar. Add rest of ingredients and beat two minutes. Bake in two-layer-cake pans for 20 minutes in moderate oven.

oven (400 degrees F.). These may be kept for a month or more, the flavor improving with age, when kept in a covered container.
Tangerine Salad
(Serves 4 to 6)
One pear, fresh or canned, 1 cup seeded grapes, 1-2 grapefruit, 2 tangerines, 4 tablespoons olive oil, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon lime juice, 1-2 teaspoon salt, pinch of cayenne, shake of paprika, and honey cream dressing.
Dice pear, seed grapes, peel tangerines and tear into sections, remove sections from grapefruit. Combine oil, lemon juice, lime juice, salt and spices. Pour over mixed fruit and stand in refrigerator until chilled. Arrange a bed of pale green chicory and dark green watercress. Place the marinated fruit on this garden. Serve with the honey cream dressing and listen to the ladies "Ah!"
Soup Medley
(Using Canned Soups)
1 cup asparagus soup
½ cup celery soup
½ cup mushroom soup
½ teaspoon salt
Cook ingredients together for three minutes. Serve in cups.
Other canned soup combinations include: mushroom and celery, vegetable and beef broth, chicken and mushroom, tomato and celery.

Nut Wafers
Two eggs, 1 cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon baking powder, pinch salt, ½ pound walnuts.
Beat eggs until light. Add sugar and salt together. Beat well. Add broken nut meats. Drop by spoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 10 minutes.
Butter Cream Candy
Two cups sugar, 6 cup heavy cream, 1 tablespoon corn syrup, 2½ tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 squares bitter chocolate, 1 5-cent bar milk chocolate.
Mix sugar, cream and syrup in saucepan. Place over heat and stir until boiling point is reached. Continue to boil to soft ball stage. Remove saucepan from heat. Add butter and vanilla. When thoroughly cooled, heat until thick. Melt bitter chocolate and milk chocolate over hot water. Make balls of first mixture and lay to dry on wax paper. Set in refrigerator until firm. Then dip in the chocolate mixture.
Nut Banana Cream Pie
One and one-half cups ground mixed nuts, 3 tablespoons sugar, pinch salt, 1 cup cream, 4 bananas, whole nuts.
Mix nuts and sugar together in 8-inch pie plate. Press this mixture with fingers against the pie plate. Add salt to cream, then whip. Slice 3 bananas and mix with 3-4 of the whipped cream.

Fill shell with this mixture. Chill in refrigerator for three hours. Garnish with remaining cream and the other bananas, sliced. Dot with whole nuts just before serving.
Tangerine Jam
Two cups tangerine pulp and juice, 1 teaspoon grated tangerine rind, 1 lemon, pulp and juice, 1-2 cups sugar.
Peel tangerines, separate into sections and remove seeds. Cut sections into halves, working over a bowl in order to catch all juice. Measure two cups (pulp and juice) and combine with other ingredients. Boil rapidly in enamel or glass saucepan for about 10 minutes until clear and syrupy. Pour hot into sterilized jars and seal with paraffin.
Egg Punch
Eight egg yolks, 4 tablespoons sugar, 3 tablespoons sherry wine. Beat yolks until lemony. Slowly beat in sugar. Turn into double boiler over hot water. Do not let water boil. Whip in sherry wine and continue to whip until mixture thickens. Serve warm or chill in glasses.

Meeting Postponed
The meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Ancient Order of Hibernians, scheduled for this evening, has been postponed. The date will be announced later.

Pantry Sale Saturday
The Ladies' Aid of the Central Methodist Episcopal church will conduct a pantry sale at the Wickert Floral shop Saturday morning beginning at 9:30 o'clock.

Install Officers
Installation of officers will be the principal feature of the evening at the regular meeting of Delta Lodge No. 904, Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, which will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Unity hall.

Rebekah Meeting
Phoebe Rebekah Lodge will hold a regular meeting tonight at the I. O. O. F. hall, North Tenth street. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock. Following the business session the officers of the lodge will entertain members of the Past Noble Grand club. Cards will be played and a lunch will be served. A large attendance is desired.

Missionary Meeting
The Woman's Home Missionary society of the First M. E. church will meet this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Charles Hammar, 1108 Eighth avenue south. Mrs. Martin Petersen is assisting hostess.

Isabella Card Party
The first of a series of card parties, sponsored by Trinity Circle, Daughters of Isabella, will be held this afternoon, beginning promptly at 2:30 o'clock at the Knights of Columbus club rooms. Bridge and five hundred will be played and awards will be presented the holders of high scores. Mrs. Med Beaudoin is general hostess.

Second Appeal For Heater Is Issued
A second appeal was issued yesterday for a wood or coal heater, badly needed by a mother who has small children. If you have a stove of this type you have discarded, will you call Mrs. T. C. Curran, chairman of the philanthropic committee of the Escanaba Woman's club?

Chairman of the series, and the committee for the opening party is Miss Lillian Grenier, Mrs. John Peltier, Mrs. Alfred Mallette and Mrs. Joseph Lequa.

Card Party a Success
The card party at which members of St. Patrick's Guild entertained Wednesday evening at the parish hall, was a social and financial success, patrons of the party forming forty tables for the various games on the program.

High score awards were as follows: bridge, Mrs. N. Menard, first, Miss Lillian Grenier, second; five hundred, Mrs. Napoleon Morin, first, and Mrs. W. Dufour, second; pinochle, Mrs. Victor Nelson, first, and Mrs. P. Oulmette, second.

In the pinochle game, Mrs. Albert Peplin held "one thousand aces," one of the most unusual combinations in the game, and one which many players who have followed the game for years, have never held.

Mrs. E. C. Villeneuve and Miss Lillian Grenier were co-chairmen of the party, assisted by a special committee of Guild members.

Columbia is the first studio to weave a story around the sensational annual crew racing competition among colleges and universities throughout the country for a place in the Poughkeepsie Regatta finals.

It's a story of a champion prep school athlete who went to college to study, instead of compete in athletic sports, and is later induced by a girl to join the team and becomes the chief cog in the school crew.

"Alcatraz Island," a Warner Bros. melodrama, is not merely a story of life behind the stone walls of the Pacific-washed prison. There's plenty of action on the mainland, both before and after the protagonist—one Gat Brady, played by John Litel—is confined for income tax evasion.

The story itself deals with a powerful racketeer (John Litel), who is forced to remove his daughter (Mary Maguire), from an exclusive boarding school, and take her to live with him.

Annabella, the sensational star discovery of two continents whose activities have been important news to movie-goers everywhere since she arrived in Hollywood to make her starring debut in the film capital, is acclaimed as the loveliest thing on the screen in "Dinner at the Ritz." New World picture released by Twentieth Century-Fox, coming today to the Michigan theatre.

In a story as tensely exciting as its star is excitingly lovely, the most dangerous intrigue that ever involved a beautiful woman in love whirls Annabella from the brilliant salons of Paris through the fabulous gaming rooms of Monte Carlo to a luxurious private yacht on the Mediterranean. Paul Lukas, David Niven and Romney Brent are featured in the cast.

Shortly after the apparent suicide of a Parisian banker, an event which precipitates a financial panic, a gay adventuress turns up at a famous Monte Carlo resort, playing the dangerous game of tracking down the banker's enemies.

Perkins, Mich.—Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at nine o'clock at St. Joseph's Church for Louis Miron, age 82, who passed away Sunday morning at the Delta County infirmary. Rev. Fr. A. C. Colquhoun officiated. Those who served as pallbearers were: Messrs. Fred LaBreshe, David Gerou, Louis Demouese, John B. Gerou, Clifford Le Claire and H. D. Gibbs. Interment was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Perkins.

BRIEFS
Miss Joyce Gibbs who is a student at St. Joseph's school in Escanaba spent the week-end at her home here.

Emil Castmijr is ill at his home here with an attack of the flu. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Maranger left Wednesday morning for Rochester, Minn., where Mrs. Maranger will undergo an operation at the Mayo Clinic.

ELIMINATING A "LOSER"

Trump Leads Should Be Delayed Long Enough to Stop Opponents from Running Adverse Suits

Solution to Previous Contract Problem

The prospect of making his game contract did not appear too bright to East on today's hand. There were three heart losers if trumps were drawn and a club as well, and hence the problem was to reduce this number of losers to three.

This is the type of hand on which beginners are almost sure to go wrong. Told again and again that they should draw the adversely held trumps, they are apt to forget that one of the great purposes of trump play is to use these trumps to stop the run of adverse suits.

North overtook the opening lead of the heart queen with the king and laid down a trump to prevent a heart ruff in dummy. The trick was won in dummy to keep the trump strength in the long hand intact in case there was an unfavorable distribution in that suit. As there was no chance to ruff

Stripes Lead In Beach Wear

Stripes are the news in the gay cottons which appear in this season's beach and resort clothes—harbingers of the summer play-time mode.

The spotlight has focused more brightly than ever on resort fashions this year, since women have come to regard winter clothes for the south as important indicators of summer styles for the north. Many women will buy July's play tags well in advance.

Bayadere Effects Used
This year's stripes are new and different. Those featured in short, full-skirted beach coats at the recent New York fashion show of the Cotton Textile Institute were multi-colored rainbow designs or bayadere effects (patterned bands running horizontally). Another gay new group of cottons were splashed with Mexican pottery motifs or bright patterns of starfish and seashells.

In general, this year's sports cottons are less rustic in effect and finer in texture than last year's. Ribbs, cords and modified slub weaves in the new muted colors (soft greens, blues and desert hues) are all important.

Upholstery Satin
Novel fabrics for nonchalant evening clothes feature striped dotted swiss and dull-surfaced cotton upholstery satin.

Wools reflect a trend for smoother, more casual weaves and softer muted colors. Homespuns, cashmere weaves and sheer porous dress wools are exceedingly smart. Silks appear in new "swing and swager" printed designs (floral sprays such as lilies of the valley swooping across a colored background). Small, gaily-colored floral prints on dark grounds are also chic.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

BY RUTH MILLETT
Brides are forever being given advice. Now you've got him you have to hold him is the general theme song.

But new husbands, for the most part, escape the pointed finger and the hard truth. For the most part, we say, because this is going to be an exception.

If you're a man getting married this month you might as well know that one marriage out of every five ends in a divorce. And that one of New York's practicing psychologists says that it is more often than not the woman who gets "fed up" with marriage first.

Why aren't today's men keeping their wives in love with them? Well, some of them aren't giving anything but financial support to their marriage. They are sure that their wives—being women—can't understand their work or the headlines of the day, so they never discuss such things with them. Their only idea of a pleasant evening is one spent among men, and they become grouchy martyrs when they have to take their wives to a party.

Another type of husband is a deadly bore. He used to be an amusing enough companion back in the days of courtship. But that took effort. Now that he has the girl he just sits through an evening, not even bothering to look up from his magazine when he says "What's that?" to her attempts at conversation. He treats her like a habit instead of a human, and is surprised and hurt when she falls in love with a man who pays some attention to her. Then there is the husband who isn't thoughtful of his wife. Who treats other women with a great show of gallantry, but who will add to his wife's work without a thought and who "belletrises" her and all that she does in front of their friends.

There is also—worse luck for women—the man who does out money to his wife and wants to know exactly how she spends it. He is often the very same man who splurges when there is anyone around that he considers worth impressing.

And there is always, of course, the husband who drinks so much that there comes a day when a wife is through putting up with him. He never has any conception of how impossible his wife found him before she decided that enough is a divorce.

Marriage can't be exactly a fifty-fifty business. But the divorce rate might hit a new low if husbands tried as hard as most wives to make themselves a "for better" proposition.

Father Laforest Denounces Birth Control, Divorce

Birth control and divorce as agents which violate the sacrament of marriage were denounced by Rev. Fr. George Laforest, pastor of Holy Family church, Flat Rock, in the third of his lecture series, delivered before the Loretto Study club of Sault Ste. Marie, on Tuesday.

Commenting on the lecture by the Flat Rock clergyman, the Soo News says:

"Practices which defy the sanctity of marriage were denounced last night by Rev. Fr. George Laforest, who presented the third of his series of lectures on 'Vital Problems' before members of the Loretto Study club and other guests at the Loretto Academy.

"Referring constantly to the encyclical of Pope Plus XI on 'Christian Marriage,' Father Laforest vigorously condemned divorce and birth control.

"Matrimony was not instituted by man, but by God," he reminded his audience.

"Religious dogmas are just as much truths as scientific dogmas. To deny a religious truth is to put oneself down as ignorant of it. The reason men have opposed the dogmas of marriage is because of the restraint which they impose. Marriage of its very nature imposes self-control.

"Society's saddest experiment has been with divorce. It has resulted in breaking up homes, scattering children to the four winds and making just a social virtue."

Church Events

Services Sunday
Services will be conducted for the Lutheran church at Ford River Mills Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Dr. C. Albert Lund announced yesterday. Members and friends are cordially invited to attend.

Annual Meeting
Priscilla sewing circle of the Norwegian - Danish Lutheran church will hold an annual meet at the home of Ben Looden, 605 North 16th Street, this evening at 8 o'clock.

Cornell Sunday School
Sunday school will be held at the Cornell Methodist Episcopal church Sunday afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Alfred Dahl will be in charge.

Christian Science Churches
"Life" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, January 16.

The Golden Text, from John 1: 1, 4, is "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. . . In him was life; and the life was the light of men."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Matthew 6:31, 33) "Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following

(p. 228): "If we follow the command of our Master, 'Take no thought for your life,' we shall never depend on bodily conditions, structures, or economy, but we shall be masters of the body, dictate its terms, and form and control it with Truth."

Dr. Lazowski Is Speaker At Wells P-T Unit Meeting

An interesting talk on the function of the Couzens Fund program in the schools, given by Dr. Robert Lazowski, Children's Fund dentist, featured the January meeting of the Wells Parent-Teacher association, held Wednesday evening at the school.

It was announced at the meeting that hot lunches will be served in the school, beginning Monday.

An enjoyable social during which corn games were played, followed the regular meeting.

IRON MOUNTAIN IS DEBATE FOE

Local Negative Trio in Final Argument of Series

Gladstone high school's negative debate trio will meet the Iron Mountain affirmatives Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Iron Mountain in the fourth and last argument of the preliminary series. Members of the local team named by Coach Raymond Nadeau to participate in Friday's debate are Richard Johnston, Agnes Dahlbeck and Dean Slye. The trio participated in a practice argument at Trenary last evening. Gladstone already has three victories and regardless of the outcome of the final argument will undoubtedly qualify for the elimination series of debates to follow. The state title is decided in the elimination series.

SOCIAL

Entertainers Mrs. E. G. Fisher entertained members of her bridge club recently at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clayton Reese. High honors during the evening were received by Mrs. Orville Hoover, second by Mrs. William Marquette and the 80-honor award by Mrs. John Brockeaert. A tasty luncheon was served at the close of play by the hostess.

Norway Five Will Bowl Here Sunday

A five-man team from Norway will come here Sunday evening to compete against a local team in a return inter-city bowling match. Gladstone bowled at Norway a week ago. The Norway five will also compete at Escanaba, rolling there in the afternoon.

Masonville News

Masonville, Mich.—Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Ranguette of Nahma are the parents of a seven pound daughter, born Sunday morning, Jan. 9. Mrs. Ranguette was formerly Mildred Ebbeson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Ebbeson.

Elwin Morin visited over the week end with relatives at Osler. Misses Margaret and Hildur Lindberg of Dagget spent Sunday at the home of their mother, Mrs. Marie Lindberg.

Martin Schraeder is confined to his home by illness. Mr. and Mrs. William Sundling and son Billy, of Isabella, visited Saturday at the home of Mrs. Sundling's parents Mr. and Mrs. William Ebbeson.

Mrs. M. M. Bonz left Monday morning by motor for Texas. She expects to be gone the remainder of the winter.

Royal Neighbors The Royal Neighbors society of Rapid River held their first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Marie Lindberg on Tuesday afternoon. The usual business meeting was held, followed by a delicious lunch served by the hostess.

The next meeting of the Royal Neighbors will be held at the home of Mrs. Nels Ebbeson in Masonville Tuesday evening, Jan. 25. There will be a dinner at 7 o'clock, which will be followed by the installation of officers. Those on the dinner committee are: Mrs. Charles Hamilton, Mrs. Jeanie Duranseau, Mrs. Marie Lindberg and Mrs. John Morin.

Soaring out into space with an exhibition of perfect form, Nils Eile of Norway, world's intercollegiate ski champion, is shown as he thrilled the crowd at the Interstate ski meet at Bear Mountain, N. Y.

Mrs. Mary Marlin, Aged Resident of Gladstone, Dies

Mrs. Mary C. Martin, 92, widow of John Martin and a longtime resident of Gladstone, passed away at her home, 1514 Michigan avenue here shortly before six o'clock on Thursday evening. Death was attributed to complications attendant upon her advanced age.

The body was taken to the Swenson Brothers funeral parlors to be prepared for burial and definite funeral arrangements will probably be made today.

Mrs. Martin is survived by two sons and two daughters. The daughters are Miss Mary Martin of this city and Mrs. Dona J. Duranseau of Escanaba. Both the sons live in Minneapolis and one, Carl, was at his mother's home here at the time of her death.

TRENARY, RAPID CLASH TONIGHT

Game To Be Played Here; May Decide Loop Title

Rapid River will clash with Trenary here in the Gladstone high school gymnasium tonight in a battle which may decide the Little Five conference basketball title.

There will be a preliminary at 7:15 and the main game will start at 8 o'clock.

Neither Rapid River nor Trenary has been defeated this season in conference battles, it is reported, and a spirited, hard-fought tilt is anticipated.

Rapid River players lost all of their basketball equipment in a fire which destroyed the high school gymnasium Monday night. Trunks have been furnished the players by Northern State Teachers college, Marquette, while Gladstone and Escanaba high schools are providing jerseys.

The high school band from Rapid River is accompanying the team here.

George Ruwitch, Escanaba, will be the official.

THEATRES

Robert Livingston, clean-cut, stalwart, manly youngster, with a quick hand at a lariat and a knee made to curve around a fast horse, provides the romantic interest in "Hit the Saddle," fifth in the series of highly popular "Three Mesquites" series, which comes to the Rialto Theater today.

"Bob" as his co-workers in the studios affectionately call him was not always an accomplished cowboy. Once he was an ambitious embryo actor in the Pasadena Community Playhouse.

Second Feature Tin Pan Alley, night clubs and radio stations figure prominently in the background of "Melody For Two," new musical production with James Melton, famed air-singer and Patricia Ellis playing the principal roles, which opens today as the second feature.

The story, much stronger than most musicals, concerns the love affair between a singing orchestra leader and his young woman soloist, their separation through a misunderstanding which all but ruins the man, his comeback by adapting the seductive swing rhythm to the ballroom, and a spirited competition staged between his orchestra of gorgeous blondes and the girl friend's band of young men musicians over the radio.

Expect Many to Welcome Legion Party Here Saturday

The banquet here Saturday evening at which Legion department officers are to be welcomed is open to the general public as well as Legionnaires, ex-servicemen and members of the Auxiliaries of Gladstone, Escanaba, Rapid River and Manistique. It was announced yesterday by H. J. Skoquist, chairman of arrangements.

Veterans having claims may discuss them with Horace Parish, department field service officer, following the banquet if they will contact Mr. Skoquist, post welfare officer, before the evening.

An interesting program has been arranged for the evening. Carl B. Smith, Bay City, commander of the Michigan Department, American Legion, is to deliver the principal address.

A word of welcome will be given by Mayor Julius A. Breck, and the invocation will be offered by Rev. I. W. Cargo. Group singing will be led by Wallace Cameron, superintendent of schools at Rapid River, with Freeman Empton serving as accompanist. There will also be a musical selection by Wallace Cameron and Al Bouchard. Music during the dinner will be played by a string ensemble directed by LeRoy Christian, supervisor of music in the public schools.

How to Keep Out of War

Many Americans believed until recently that the way to keep this country out of war was to pass the right kind of a neutrality law. Now they know better.

The first war that came along was not even covered by the act. It was a civil war. For some reason no one had expected the United States to face important neutrality problems in connection with such a war.

Yet the civil war in Spain at once enlisted the active support of Germany's and Italy's army and navy on the side of the rebels. A little later Russian merchant ships brought military technicians and supplies to help the loyalists. A European war was in sight, yet no war had been declared.

When ships loaded with airplanes and other war material began leaving American ports for the war zone there was alarm in Washington. Ships en route to Spain were being sunk in the Mediterranean. We refused to amend the neutrality act to make it include civil war. Then a Presidential proclamation prevented the sale of any more military material to either side in Spain. Once more we thought we were safe.

It is not important to recall that our embargo against the legitimate Government of Spain is a complete reversal of our previous "non-recognition" policy not only with respect to internal revolutions in Latin America but also in Manchuria. For a time we refused to recognize any regime that came into power through the use of bullets instead of ballots. But Latin American governments continued to be overthrown, by force. They could not be dealt with in any other way because they were dictatorial governments. We decided reluctantly that in Latin America non-recognition of the successful aggressor would not work.

Our Previous Intervention

In the case of Manchuria we tried to extend the non-recognition doctrine to the international field. A strong nation took something away from a weak one. Fifty odd countries met at Geneva and unanimously declared Japan guilty of aggression against China. We are not members of the League, but Japan had violated the Nine Power Treaty and the Anti-War Pact which she had signed with us. So we were involved as we usually are in any important event overseas.

Secretary of State Stimson launched what became known as the Stimson doctrine and the League of Nations accepted it. This doctrine provides that the conquest of territory by an aggressor nation will not be recognized by any other nation.

This Stimson doctrine is still effective so far as the United States and members of the League of Nations are concerned. Only Germany and Italy, who are also treaty breakers, have recognized Japan's puppet government of Manchukuo. Japan naturally returned the compliment by joining with Germany in recognizing Italy's conquest of Ethiopia. Most other powers still refuse to admit that Italy is master of Ethiopia. They are joining in Britain's lead and Britain is waiting for Mussolini to pay her price.

Is Declaration Necessary?

This brings us to the current war between China and Japan. Or, isn't it a war? Must a war be declared to be a war? Those who framed our famous neutrality statute had not provided for undeclared wars any more than for civil wars. It is up to the president to recognize a state of war. If he says there is a war, he must stop the flow of munitions to both belligerents. He may not distinguish between an aggressor and his victim. It happens that China needs munitions much more than Japan. She has no merchant fleet, no important arms factories. The "cash and carry" policy provided in our neutrality act would help Japan and hurt China. This is why the President, in accord with Congress and public opinion, ignores the neutrality act.

Reluctantly our well meaning "peace-by-legislation" advocates have concluded that the neutrality act is not the effective peace instrument they had supposed. With unflinching eagerness they now advance another proposal. This time peace by law gives way to peace by constitutional amendment. We are to avoid war by letting the people vote against war.

Panay Incident Altered Our Course

To anyone with some sense of how past wars have come this proposal seems fantastic. Yet the Ludlow resolution which "Imperialism" might have passed the House had it not been for the sinking of the American gunboat Panay. This incident demonstrated that we must trust the President and the State Department in time of crisis. The President is commander in chief of the Army and Navy. Until this authority is taken away from him he will always be in a position to direct naval movements which may lead to war. The President and his subordinate Secretary of State conduct foreign affairs. They can at any time create a crisis by sending a strong protest to a foreign government. Yet no one would suggest a referendum on "fleet movements or on the text of

Richest Girl in the World

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CONSTANCE CORBY—heroine; richest girl in the world.
BRET HARDESTY—hero; bridge builder.
RODNEY BRANDON—Connie's father.
KATIE BLYN—Connie's "double."

Yesterday, relieved of her cash when the bus is robbed, Katie or Connie is forced to fall on Bret Hardesty for help. And, she reflects, fate was not so bad at that.

CHAPTER VIII

They were to change buses at Asheville. Over a delicious breakfast of ham and eggs and coffee, they discussed "ways and means," as Bret expressed it.

"Are you good at figures?" he asked. "I could use a girl at the camp. Old Pop Walters is the only one in the office now and has more work than he can handle since the job's in full swing. You'd be doing me a real favor, Miss Blyn, if you'd like to try it."

Connie thought how fine it was of him to put it that way. She said she would like to, very much. Thanks to Uncle Tippy, she was prepared for an opening like this. He had seen to it that his niece had acquired sufficient business training that would enable her to understand and handle her large inheritance.

"Of course it's rather a rough place for a girl," Bret spoke a shade dubiously. "Though I promise I'll look after you. You can room at Mrs. Parson's in the village. Everyone calls her Aunt Bertha," he added, his eyes twinkling. "You will, too, after you've sampled her biscuits and corn bread."

Connie did not think there was any doubt but that she would be protected. Besides, she would be ideal. Who would ever think of looking for the richest girl in the world in a crude construction camp deep in the heart of the Blue Ridge?

"I don't know how I can ever thank you," she said, her blue eyes shining; she had discarded the inevitable dark glasses now that there was less fear of recognition. This was going to be an adventure such as she had never dreamed would come to her. "I don't know why you should do this for me."

If she had hoped he would say it was because he had liked her, or found her different from any girl he had known, she was to be disappointed. "I'd do as much for anyone who was up against it," he assured her. "As for thanking me, please don't try. Didn't I tell you, you'd be helping me out too?"

When they arrived at Charleston the following day Bret hired an automobile for the 100 mile trip to the little town near which he was building his bridge. He explained he had driven his own car down south to leave with his folks for the winter. "They're getting old," he said. "I'm glad I can make their last years the best."

"I don't remember my father or our next note to Japan. The proponents of the Ludlow resolution over-stress the importance of the actual declaration of war. Modern wars are not declared. They just begin. There is a preliminary period of incidents which arouse public opinion. After that anything can bring on the breaking of relations, more incidents, and finally armed clash.

What Constitutes a 'War'?

When does armed clash become a war? We regarded the shelling of Vera Cruz and Pershing's pursuit of Villa as punitive expeditions. Mexico regarded them as acts of war. Had Mexico been a strong power, they would have meant war. Japan launched a punitive expedition against China which has developed into a major war. Assuming that Japan were a democratic power with a Ludlow amendment just when would the referendum have been held?

Most formal declarations of war do little more than say that thanks to the death wish of the enemy, a state of war exists. Head those that mark the beginning of our wars. They were not begun by militant Presidents or State Departments or Congress. In almost every instance they were the result of a long train of incidents which enraged the American people to the point of demanding war.

President Madison was told he could not be re-nominated unless he gave the people the war they wanted. He yielded reluctantly and the War of 1812 was on. President Lincoln struggled desperately to maintain peace between the North and the South until the war declared itself at Fort Sumter. The peace-minded McKinley would never have asked for war against Spain if the jingoism had not swept the country into a war fever. For almost three years President Wilson fought the war moments only to be finally overwhelmed.

Referendum a Ratification

It is the American people, not their Government, who ask war. This was true in the past. It will be true tomorrow. Their will to war or peace will guide their government in the crucial months that precede war. A referendum would be nothing more than a ratification.

Its only effect would be to make wars more likely. It would deceive aggressor nations into thinking that we want peace at any price and might thus persuade them to tempt our patience too far. It takes two to make a war but it also takes two to keep the peace.

mother," Connie told him, thinking that his must be proud of him. Then she remembered that she was Katie Blyn! "But there are eight of us," she added quickly. "Too many in one small house. That was one reason I started out on my own."

Bret's attention was focused on the road, which was becoming steep and narrow now that they were in the hills. But he managed a side glance at her. "I expect there was more than one perhaps you had a quarrel with your sweetheart!"

It was her turn to glance sharply at him. "What makes you ask that?"

"Oh, a girl as young and as attractive as you are is bound to have a sweetheart," he said lightly. "She would hardly start out, not knowing where she was going, unless she had quarreled with him. Though eight of you well, that would be a few too many! Still, you're not miss them? This town is only a little over a thousand. I hope you won't find it lonely."

Connie assured him that she would not. Almost she had added, "Not if you are there." The thought stayed with her, kept her silent.

She wondered what it was about this man that made her feel she could put her trust in him and not be mistaken, ever. She only had known him a few days; yet time did not seem to matter. It was as though the comradeship of the open road, their mutual experiences, had bridged that gulf.

"Now we're getting into real country," Bret said, later on. "See those big boys looming up in the distance? They're the Shenandoahs; 6000 feet, some of them. Feel the difference in the air? Take a breath and fill your lungs. It will wash away all your troubles, make you new once more."

"You love your country, don't you?" Connie's voice was soft with understanding. She who had five homes, a villa on the Riviera, a 6000-acre country estate, a town house, a winter palace and a summer one, had never called any one of them "home." She knew that, too, was something she had missed.

"Every tree, every blade of grass," Bret said. "I always come back to it no matter how far I roam." His words were ones Connie was to recall many times.

He said, "I hope you'll learn to love it, too. One thing I can guarantee," he flashed her a grin. "you'll have plenty of elbow room! You'll be as free as the birds that have the whole heaven for their own."

"How did you know," she asked, "that freedom is what I want more than anything, a chance to try my own wings for awhile?"

"Isn't that what everyone wants? Though after you've tried them you'll be glad to fly back to your nest—and your sweetheart—again."

"No," Connie shook her head, took a deep breath of the air that, as he had told her, seemed to wash all the past away, making her reborn again. "I don't believe I'll want to go back. Certainly not because of any one person! When I do, perhaps I'll always wish I could return—as you have." She did not know then, either, how true her words would prove.

Bret said he thought they had better stop at the McAlley's cabin, which they would reach soon, to get warm and have dinner. It would be dark by the time they reached their destination. Already it was growing dusk.

The cabin, like most of those they had passed, was built of logs, cemented with mud, but inside it was neat and clean. The old couple welcomed Bret as though he were a relation, though like the people in the hills, they did not make a show of emotion.

"Tis well you're getting back," the old man said with that easy drawl that fell so sweetly on Connie's unaccustomed ears. "Things ain't been going too likely without you, Mr. Hardesty. I hear tell some of your men walked out on old Pop Walters. The lazy loafers. Though I reckon it won't take long for you to whip 'em back to harness."

"I reckon not," Bret laughed; but his dark eyes were troubled. As soon as they had eaten he said he thought they had better "push on."

The old man told them there had been a heavy snow higher in the hills. "Wouldn't surprise me," he added, "by the looks of them clouds but what we was due for more. Maybe you'd better let us put you up for the night, Mr. Hardesty."

Bret thanked him for his hospitality, but refused. "That is," he looked at Connie, "unless you'd rather not risk it."

"I'd much rather go on," she hastened to assure him; she knew that was what he wanted.

The old people shook hands with each of them, wished them a safe journey. Then the woman said, her small eyes in her face, as wrinkled and weather-beaten as the man's, lighting up with interest. "Would you mind my asking? You ain't bringing home a bride, be you, Mr. Hardesty?"

It is now for the Japanese government to show that it is not unmindful of the rights and interests of foreigners and that its assurances and apologies mean something more than words.

HAZEN HEARING COMES TO END

Jury Gets Involuntary Manslaughter Case at 5:30 Thursday

Manistique, Jan. 13.—A Schoolcraft county circuit court jury retired at 5:30 p. m. today to start their deliberations in the case of Mrs. Ada Hazen, charged with involuntary manslaughter. Indications were that a verdict would not be reached until a late hour, as the jury was still locked up at 10:30 p. m.

Mrs. Ada Hazen, charged with involuntary manslaughter, took the witness stand in her own defense yesterday morning to deny that she was intoxicated the evening of May 3, 1937, that she drove her automobile in a reckless, wanton and wilful manner to cause the death of Lawrence Baker, also of Garden, in an automobile accident a mile west of Manistique.

From noon the day preceding the accident until the crash itself at approximately 2 a. m. Monday morning, Mrs. Hazen carefully and in detail outlined her actions. She told of meeting Rita Maynard at Garden about noon Sunday and of spending most of that afternoon at the home of Mrs. Maynard's father, where they picked flowers.

Towards evening, they went to Marilyn Beach tavern, at Garden Junction, and had a bottle of beer, the defendant testified. From there they drove to Parker's Resort, stayed about an hour and drank another bottle of beer, she said.

Then they drove to Manistique, stopping at the Hub Tavern, where they met an old acquaintance, Joseph Mercier, who was working in the tavern.

"We had small beers with Mr. Mercier," Mrs. Hazen testified. "Then Rita said she didn't feel well and we took a ride around town. Later we came back to the tavern and Mrs. Maynard remained in the car. I reentered the Hub and later Mrs. Maynard came in. We met Mr. Herro, whom I had previously known, and he offered to buy a drink. I ordered a short beer."

Mrs. Hazen declared, upon questioning of her attorney, that she had no more drinks in the tavern that night, although other members of the party did have one or two more drinks.

The defendant testified she did not have enough gasoline to return to Garden, and Herro offered to get some gas for her at Thompson.

"When we left the tavern, I found Mr. Mercier sitting in my car. I did not know where he lived, and he said he was going to ride with me, so I started out to Garden. I do not recall anyone passing me, after we left the Hub Tavern. As we were leaving town, one of my bright lights burned out, and I turned on my dimms so I could have two lights burning.

"I was driving about 30 miles per hour and about a mile passed the city limits, I saw a car parked on the pavement without either headlights or tail light burning. As I had my dimms on, I must have been within 25 or 30 feet of the car before it came within the vision of my lights. I tried to avoid hitting the car and applied my brakes. Then I swerved out to attempt to get around the car. Just then we collided and I was knocked unconscious."

Admits Signing Statement. The defendant admitting signing a statement in the office of Prosecuting Attorney W. J. Sheahan the day following the crash, but declared at that time she was mentally and physically injured by the accident and did not know nor care what was contained in the statement. She asserted she was not asked if she desired an attorney.

She told of her first arraignment in court, that she had waived examination and was released on $5,000 bail. Later that same night, she was rearrested in Garden, returned to Manistique and forced to supply new bondsmen.

In connection with this angle of the case, Defense Attorney C. L. Peters had previously disclosed from Justice of the Peace W. G. Stephens that the rearrest of Mrs. Hazen had been ordered by the prosecutor, who told the justice he had acted beyond his authority in accepting a bond not acceptable in this county because the bondsmen were property owners in Delta county. It was also brought out that the prosecutor had threatened the justice of the peace with arrest unless Mrs. Hazen was returned to the custody of the sheriff until an acceptable bond was filed.

Mrs. Rita Maynard, of Garden, companion of Mrs. Hazen for 12 hours preceding the fatal accident, gave a detailed account of the actions of herself and the defendant prior to the crash.

She testified she met Mrs. Hazen at 12:30 noon Saturday, May 2 and that the couple remained at Mrs. Maynard's home for about three quarters of an hour. Then they left Garden and stopped at the home of Mrs. Tatrow a mile out of Garden, remained there half an hour, and then returned to Garden.

"Then we returned to my home briefly, and went from there to Vern's Tavern (tavern in Garden operated by Vernon Hazen, Mrs. Hazen's husband). After fixing a lunch there, we went to my father's homestead, seven miles out of Garden to pick flowers and we remained there until about 4:30 that evening. From there we went to Garden Junction and visited at the McCormick home for about two hours. Then we went to Marilyn Beach cafe at Garden Junction and we had two bottles of beer each there. It was about 6:30 or 6:45 when we arrived there and we remained for approximately three quarters of an hour.

Had Small Beers. "From there we came to Manistique, stopping at Parker's Hotel first, where we had one bottle of beer each. We drove around Manistique for awhile and finally went into the Hub Tavern, about nine o'clock, we had a few small beers. Joe Mercier, who formerly lived in Garden and knew Mrs. Hazen well, sat down with us and we talked for a long time. It was stuffy in there and I didn't feel well, so we left the tavern and went for a ride around town. Later we returned to the Hub Tavern and Mrs. Hazen went in, but I remained in the car because I did not feel well. Later Mr. Mercier came out to the car with a glass of Alka Seltzer for me, and then I went into the tavern again.

"I was introduced to Jim Herro, who was in the tavern, and we had one or two drinks of liquor. It was after midnight. We did not have enough gasoline to return to Garden and Mr. Herro said that he would open his gas pumps at Thompson and give us some gas.

"We left the tavern, Mrs. Hazen and Mr. Mercier were in the Ford pickup and so I got into Mr. Herro's car to ride with him as far as Thompson. Mrs. Hazen was to follow immediately, so we drove out to Lookout Park (roadside) turnoff and bathing beach between Manistique and Thompson, and when we did not see the lights of Mrs. Hazen's car behind us we stopped and waited for a few minutes. Then we turned around and started back toward Manistique. We then came upon the scene of the accident. We took Mrs. Hazen to the hospital in Manistique, and we tried to phone to Garden to tell Mr. Hazen his wife was injured. We were unable to call Garden, so I asked Mr. Herro to drive me to Garden. He did drive me to Garden and we notified Mr. Hazen of the accident."

Herro Testifies. James Herro testified that he came to Manistique a few minutes before midnight Saturday, May 2, and stopped in the Hub to get a drink. He met Mrs. Hazen in the tavern and was introduced to Mrs. Maynard, he said.

"We had a couple of drinks together there. Mrs. Hazen said she did not have enough gasoline in her car to return to Garden, and I offered to give them gasoline at Thompson. We left the Hub and stopped at the Liberty Cafe for sandwiches, which I had previously ordered. Mrs. Maynard was in the car with me, and Mrs. Hazen and Mr. Mercier were in the Ford pickup."

Mr. Herro's testimony concerning actions from there to the time of the accident, and immediately following the accident, was substantially the same as Mrs. Maynard's.

He testified that when returning to the scene of the accident, he tried to pick up Lawrence Baker, with the help of Alex Mellon and one of the other fellows at the accident scene.

"Baker was groaning and I was afraid to move him, so I decided to take Mrs. Hazen to the hospital and send an ambulance back for Baker. I did take Mrs. Hazen to the hospital, notified the sheriff and told him to send an ambulance to the accident scene. Then I drove Mrs. Maynard to Garden, and gave my car to Mr. Hazen, so that he could come to Manistique to see his wife."

In cross examination by defense attorney Peters, Herro testified that in driving towards Thompson prior to the accident, he passed a parked car, and that a man was standing in the road and tried to wave Herro down. The witness said he did not stop because he had Mrs. Maynard in his car.

Joseph Mercier, who suffered fracture of two neck vertebrae and other injuries in the crash, told of his actions up to an hour or so before the crash, but said he could not remember leaving the tavern with Mrs. Hazen, did not recall driving out toward Thompson, and had no recollection of the crash itself, or events immediately following the crash.

Mercier said he was on duty as a bartender at the Hub Tavern when Mrs. Hazen and Mrs. Maynard came into the tavern the evening of May 2.

"We had a few short beers together. Then they left to take a ride. Later Mrs. Hazen returned to the tavern alone. She said Mrs. Maynard was sitting in the car because she didn't feel well. I remember giving Mrs. Maynard a drink of Alka Seltzer, but I cannot recall anything that happened from that time until several days later when I regained consciousness in the hospital."

Parade of Witnesses. The witness said he was confined to the hospital for five weeks from injuries he received in the accident. He testified he knew Mrs. Hazen for 30 years or more. He further testified that

BUSINESS RISES AT POSTOFFICE

All Time Records Set for 1937, Annual Report Shows

Business at the Manistique post office reached an all time high in the calendar year 1937, records of the postmaster, Frank M. Gierke, Sr., have disclosed.

Gross postal receipts for the period of 1929 to 1937, inclusive, follow:

1929 $20,512.92
1930 $19,908.25
1931 $18,565.99
1932 $16,846.19
1933 $17,291.32
1934 $19,994.72
1935 $23,181.40
1936 $23,369.45
1937 $26,332.26

1937 cost of operating expenses for 1937, including salary payments totalled $21,298.84, leaving a surplus postal fund of $5,033.42 for the year.

The sale of U. S. Savings Bonds for the year 1937 totalled $38,606.25; for the year 1936, $16,500, making a net gain in 1937 over 1936 of $22,106.25.

Postal savings issued in 1937 were $53,902 and postal savings paid for that period were $50,384. Thus a net gain of $3,518 was recorded for the year. In 1936, postal savings paid totalled $51,978 while postal savings issued was $50,678, a loss of $1,300 for the year.

Domestic money orders issued in 1937 were 25,459 in number to the total amount of $186,319.96. In 1936, a total of 25,427 money orders were issued to the amount of $182,396.35.

Domestic money orders paid in 1937 totalled $7,994.79 for 7,156 money orders; whereas in 1936 a total of $73,057.96 was paid for 9,242 money orders. A net gain of $14,844.83 for 1937 over 1936 was recorded.

Christmas business this year also was considerably heavier than in previous years. For the period from December 18 to December 24, the annual Christmas rush period, the meter readings from the cancelling machine for the years 1930 to 1937, reveal the following interesting figures:

1931 39,520
1932 29,080
1933 32,920
1934 37,700
1935 41,630
1936 47,100

Apartment Damaged By Fire Wednesday

Fire damaged two rooms upstairs in the Dishneau building, located at Deer and Second streets, Wednesday afternoon. The apartment in which the fire spread was occupied by the Dewey Schampo family. The rooms and contents were damaged by the smoke, heat and flames.

he was a resident of Garden, where Mrs. Hazen lived, for 23 years.

George Carney, garage mechanic who was called to the accident scene to remove the wrecked cars, testified the ignition switches of both cars were still on and both wrecked cars were in high gear. He described damages incurred on the wrecked machines.

Witnesses who preceded Mrs. Maynard, Mr. Herro and Mr. Mercier to the stand Wednesday included Mrs. William Cook, hospital nurse, J. W. Schnepf and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Cora Schnepf, who were the first to come upon the accident scene; Dr. L. O. Finch, who also arrived upon the accident scene immediately following the crash; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Edick, whose car smashed into one of the wrecked cars; State Trooper Nels Friberg, and Sheriff William Laux, who investigated the collision; and Robert Eckdahl, who brought Baker, Tatrow and Mellon to the Shaw hospital.

Mrs. Cook testified she did not smell any alcoholic odor upon Mrs. Hazen's breath when Mrs. Hazen was admitted to the hospital for treatment.

Mr. Schnepf and his daughter-in-law told of arriving at the accident scene immediately following the crash. He helped Tatrow out of their wrecked car, and then with the aid of Mellon and Tatrow moved Baker, who was unconscious to the side of the road.

He also told of seeing the lights of another car coming and said that he tried to wave them down by blinking his own car lights, but the oncoming car, in which Mr. and Mrs. Edick were riding, crashed into Baker's machine.

Mrs. Edick who was driving and Mr. Edick told similar stories and explained the positions of the wrecked cars.

Eckdahl described the positions of the wrecked cars, and told about bringing the injured boys to the hospital, leaving his own passengers at the scene of the accident.

Mr. Friberg and Sheriff Laux told about the official investigation of the crash. Both testified the ignition switches on both wrecked cars were on, and both cars were in high gear. They also testified they could smell alcoholic odor on Mrs. Hazen's breath.

SOCIAL

B. & P. W. Meeting. The regular meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club was attended by forty members and guests at the Legion cottage Wednesday evening.

Lawrence Grossman, newspaper publisher of Grand Rapids, Minn., gave an interesting talk on the importance of the newspaper industry to communities.

The program which was under the leadership of Mrs. Hildred Taylor was composed of a solo by Mrs. George Morton accompanied by Miss Margaret Johnson and several violin selections by Dana Connell accompanied by Mrs. Connell.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Maude Waddell, chairman, Miss Alice Girvin, Mrs. Viola Dufour and Mrs. Cecil Keller.

Methodist Ladies' Aid. The regular meeting of the Methodist Ladies' Aid society was well attended Wednesday afternoon.

Election of officers was held with the following elected: president, Mrs. Kenneth Musson; first vice president, Mrs. Earl Cox; second vice president, Mrs. D. J. Ward; secretary, Mrs. Thomas Grimley; treasurer, Mrs. Harvey Saunders; organist, Mrs. James Moon.

Plans were made for the annual birthday party which will be held Feb. 12.

Birthday Club. The Birthday club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Alvin Nelson, Range street, in observance of her birthday.

Two tables of contract were in play with honors going to Mrs. George Shaw, high, and Mrs. Paul Verina, high. Pink narcissus and green tapers formed the centerpiece for the refreshment table.

Mrs. Nelson was presented with a gift by the club.

Health Committee. The Schoolcraft County Health Committee will meet this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Chas. Underwood. Miss Georgia Hood, director of health education for the Children's Fund, will be the speaker.

Junior Missionary Society. The Junior Missionary society of the Zion Lutheran church will meet Saturday at 2 o'clock in the church parlors. Children are asked to bring more Bible pictures, scriptural Christmas cards and old stamped envelopes. All children of church school are invited.

Cubbing Program Is Progressing Nicely

Cubbing in Manistique is moving along rapidly. Two new dens were recently requested by boys who did not get in the first dens formed. As soon as Den Chiefs are selected and given their training course, the new dens will begin to function. Sixty seven boys of Cub age are working on, or have already passed, their Bobcat requirements.

The chairman of Cubbing reports the most active den—Onaway Oksha, Riverside district—as being prepared to present several badges at the forthcoming pack meeting. That den is guided by Bud Christiansen, Den Chief; Lawrence Musser and Cal Stevens, Den Dads; Mrs. Lawrence Musser and Mrs. Stanley Reid, Den Mothers.

Cubmasters are urged to contact all den dads to secure their registrations, after which applications will be sent in for the pack. Den Chiefs who are having difficulty getting started will find it helpful to attend a meeting of an active den.

Jay Parker has been dismissed from the Newberry hospital and is convalescing at his home here from injuries received in an automobile accident.

St. Joe Plays Upbays; Eskymos At Menominee

THIRD WIN FOR LOCALS SOUGHT

Parochials Cheered by Victory Over Harris on Wednesday

Encouraged by their victory over the strong class D team from Daggett Wednesday, St. Joseph high school cagers will entertain Coach Eldon Kell's Upbays from Gladstone at the junior high school gym this evening. The feature game will start at 8 o'clock.

By virtue of their victory over Harris Wednesday night, the Parochials will enter tonight's game with a record of two victories and two defeats. Their victims have been Harris and Felch while they have lost twice to Baraga high of Marquette.

Coach Johnny Vandewelle's cagers showed flashes of good basketball in their last two games and looked especially good in the first half of the Harris game when they garnered their 23 points. The boys were hitting the hoop with consistency and making good breaks for themselves. Their attack and defense suffered considerably in the second half, however, with the loss of Faber, key man, and Luskin, forward, on fouls near the start of the fourth quarter.

Gladstone always has been difficult for the Parochials to crack. This year probably will be no exception because in Gabe, Holm, Gobert and Zervic, Kell has four veterans who are well able to take care of themselves.

LINEUP REVAMPED
Gladstone, Mich.—A determined effort to get back in the win column will be made by Gladstone high school cagers tonight when they meet St. Joseph parochials at the Escanaba Junior high school.

A slightly revamped quint will take the floor against the parochials, Petrovich being scheduled to start at right forward in place of Frank. Petrovich is rangier than Frank and Coach Kell believes the change will provide a more rugged front line.

Unless several seniors show definite improvement several other sophomores or juniors may be gradually worked into the lineup. It was indicated.

Improvement over last week was shown in workouts against an alumni team this week.

Gobert will be at the other forward, Holm at center, and Captain Gabe and Zervic at guard.

Nahma City Team Will Meet Garden

Garden, Jan. 13.—Fans in this district can expect a real basketball treat when the strong Nahma city five journeys to Garden Saturday night.

In a game played at Nahma last Sunday Garden was nosed out in the last minute of the fracas. Now revenge will be sweet for the Garden boys as they are playing on their home floor before a home crowd. This will give them a slight advantage. This is the game that fans have been waiting for and whether or not the Garden city boys can turn the tables remains to be seen.

The game will be called at 8 o'clock.

"Piggy" Lambert, Purdue Coach, Is One Of Most Excitable And Successful Mentors In Big Ten

BY JERRY BRONFIELD
NEA Service Sports Writer
Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 13.—A Purdue forward once missed a sucker shot racing into the basket, and Ward (Piggy) Lambert failed to rear up off the bench to scream and tear his hair.

Naturally, everyone in the place suspected that the Boilermakers' coach had suffered a sudden paralytic stroke and was unable to move a muscle.

All of which is by way of saying that when a more dynamic and excitable coach comes along he will have learned his technique from Lambert.

In Hoosierland, where an all-state forward is by far a better-known figure than the local congressman, fans regard the Purdue mentor first as a colorful figure and secondly as a great teacher of basketball.

Lambert in season—and his season extends from October until April—eats, sleeps, and breathes basketball. His actions on the bench, especially during a close game, are highly entertaining to say the least. Frequently he rushes onto the floor and into a heated argument without permission from the officials.

Hot-Headedness Gives Buckeyes Title
In 1933 he became so incensed at an Ohio State player that he dashed out and aimed a Grade A sleep-producer at the Buckeye, and drew a technical foul which gave Ohio State the game and an ultimate Western Conference championship.

His language is becoming a little softer and easier on the ears of late. Heretofore an unhappy turn of events would bring forth a flow of words that would make a drunken sailor sound like an Oxford professor.

Himslef a smallish individual—when he played at Wabash College in 1910 he only weighed 114 pounds—Lambert has a soft spot in his heart for small, speedy men.

Which explains why he is an advocate of sustained action and a disciple of the fast break.

Much of the Boilermakers' success lies in their ability to gang up on foes with a lightning fast break, and getting two-in-one, or three-on-two.

Lambert came to Purdue in 1917 and since that time his teams have won or shared in nine conference titles. He has seen the Boilermakers win every scoring championship available—individual, game, and season.

Develops Eight Scoring Champions
Three years ago Purdue set a season record of 512 points for 12 games and scored 69 points against Indiana for a single contest mark. Last year Jewell Young established an individual record of 172 points for one campaign.

Lambert's penchant for developing high scorers has produced eight champions, Don White, Blair Guillon, Wilbur Cummins, George Spradling, Stretch Murphy, Johnny Wooden, Bob Kessler, and Young.

In Young, present Boilermaker captain, Lambert has an ambidextrous All-America forward who has the most unorthodox left-handed shot in the Midwest. Coupled with his deadly shooting ability, Young wears a deadpan expression which gives absolutely no indication of what he intends to do.

The slightly built Boilermaker, who hails from Lafayette, stands six feet and weighs just 145 pounds.

And mostly because of him Purdue was able to average 60 points a contest for their first six non-conference games this season.

As everyone is willing to admit, the combination of Purdue, Lambert, and Young probably will prove too much for the rest of the Big Ten in 1938.

INJURIES JOLT U. OF M. HOPES

Bill Barclay Has Leg in Cast; May Be Out for Season

Ann Arbor, Jan. 13 (AP)—The championship hopes of Michigan's basketball team received a jolt today when Bill Barclay incurred a leg injury in practice that may keep him out of the lineup for the remainder of the season.

Barclay, a senior, suffered a dislocation of the fibula bone in his left knee. Doctors placed the leg in a cast.

The accident occurred when Barclay, whose home is in Flint, lost his balance in jumping for a loose ball and fell to the floor. His leg buckled under him.

Coach Franklin Cappon, who leaves tomorrow with his team to play Minnesota and Wisconsin, said his loss "is going to hurt us."

"We can't very well afford to lose him," he said. "He could be used in almost any position on the back line."

Barclay failed to retain his first-string position at the start of the season but improved so readily in recent games that Cappon had inserted him in the starting lineup in the Ohio State game.

The 165-pound Barclay won three letters in football and two in

FERRELL SENDS CONTRACT BACK

Washington Righthander Says He Expects to Lead in Wins

Sarasota, Fla., Jan. 13. (AP)—Wesley Ferrell, temperamental righthander pitcher for the Washington Senators, said today he expects to lead the American league in games won next season.

That's one reason, he said, why he has returned his contract unsigned. It called for a pay cut of $3,000 a year.

"I don't mean I'll have the lowest earned run average," he explained. "I never was much on that earned run business. I just try to nose the other team out and with a few breaks I'll win more games than anybody else this year."

The pitcher said he does not expect he will have any trouble coming to salary terms with Owner Clark Griffith.

"I had a comparatively poor season last year, winning 14 and losing 19, but I pitched good ball all season and lost a lot of games by one run. With a few breaks I would have won many more.

"Since it wasn't my fault I didn't win, I don't feel I should be asked to take less pay. I am in good shape and anxious to play for Washington. I think we'll get together all right."

The Senators, he declared, "certainly will finish in the first division." Several promising youngsters and Bucky Harris, "the finest manager in baseball," make the prospect more than good.

Dangerous Fighter Is Hank Armstrong

BY ALAN GOULD

New York, Jan. 13 (AP)—New York's "no foul" rule saved the Henry Armstrong-Enrico Venturi bout from being a complete fiasco. The squawks would have echoed from here to there if Venturi's foul claim had resulted in depriving Armstrong of the verdict.

Armstrong, scaling a shade under the lightweight limit of 135 pounds, didn't punch with his usual sharpness or accuracy but he still looks the part of the ring's most dangerous fighter, pound for pound. Here's an appraisal of Homicide Henry by Harry B. Smith, sports ed. of the San Francisco Chronicle and long recognized as a fistic authority:

"Armstrong is far and away the best man of his weight we have had in years but it's questionable whether he would have been so outstanding 20 or 30 years ago. It's my guess, shared by others who have been around for some time, that boppers like Abe Attell and Owen Moran would have been too

PENN GRADUATE IS NEW COACH

Football Mentor's Post Is Taken Over By George Munger

Philadelphia, Jan. 13. (AP)—George A. Munger, freshman coach and graduate of the class of 1933, today was appointed head coach of the University of Pennsylvania football squad.

In announcing the promotion of the 23-year-old former Penn player, the university returns to graduate coaching. Munger succeeds Harvey Harman who resigned December 27 after a disastrous season.

President Thomas S. Gates in making known the appointment said Munger "has expressed his complete adherence to the policies and principles under which the university conducts its athletics."

Munger will assume his new duties at once. President Gates said that Munger now holds the faculty rank of instructor in the department of physical education and will be advanced to the rank of assistant professor in the department, effective July 1. Munger's salary as head coach was not announced.

"While holding the rank of instructor," Gates said, "Munger has acted as director of freshman athletics and specifically as head coach of the freshman football and track teams."

"In this capacity he has earned the respect and confidence of his associates and has demonstrated an ability and character which merit his promotion."

Munger entered Pennsylvania in 1929.

He had no trouble in making the freshman football eleven and became a varsity halfback the next year. He played three years on the varsity, filling the full-back post in his last year. Munger won the decathlon at the Penn Relays in 1932.

Munger coached the freshman team in 1933, 1936 and 1937 and while coaching Munger found time to work for a master's degree in psychology.

Jet is a variety of coal.

much for Henry to handle. To do much with a fighter of Armstrong's type it's necessary to crowd and uppeet him. Henry is on the Terry McGovern style but I would not yet put him in the same class with Joe Gans."

Peninsula cage fans will have an opportunity of seeing some of the greatest basketball players in action on January 23 when the famed Oshkosh All Stars will play an exhibition against Jordan college at Marinette . . . Included on the All-star roster are Edwards of Kentucky, Mullen of Marquette, Vander Meulen of Carroll, Hamman and Preboski of Wisconsin, Alford of Texas and Witasek of North Dakota . . . at least one local cage, Stephen Rabideau of Rock, is interested in the latter star . . . Witasek and Rabideau were stars on the Nodak frosh team way back in 1931-32 . . . a clipping from a Grand Forks (N.D.) paper at that time said . . . "Stephen Rabideau of Rock, Mich., is one of the smoothest performers since the days of Al Letich (former All American) and is sure to find a varsity berth awaiting him as well as Herman Witasek, another frosh flash, of Linkin, N. D. . . a couple of present sops will have to step aside to make way for these two sensations next year. . . Rabideau quit North Dakota at the end of his freshman year and lost track of his old side-kick, Witasek, until he bobbed up with the All Stars."

We have been accused (and rightly so) of failure to comment upon the success of the recent speed skating meet in this city . . . apparently errors of omission are as much resented as errors of commission . . . we have been accused, too, (by the same backers of the meet) of being partial to the smooth performers since the days of Al Letich (former All American) and is sure to find a varsity berth awaiting him as well as Herman Witasek, another frosh flash, of Linkin, N. D. . . a couple of present sops will have to step aside to make way for these two sensations next year. . . Rabideau quit North Dakota at the end of his freshman year and lost track of his old side-kick, Witasek, until he bobbed up with the All Stars."

The final social affair will be a barbecue on the ranch of Bing Crosby, who is president of the lodge, host and active participant in everything that goes on.

Last winter it rained so hard it nearly washed the visitors into permanent abode here, what with bridges down. By far the best rounds of that entire affair were played in Del Mar's rambling hotel by the sea, which wasn't much wetter than the lawn in front of the place.

Originally it was planned to hold entries down to 150 this year. But so many wanted to get in that Crosby had to pull names out of a hat.

In the one day permitted for the tournament last year, Sam Snead shot a 65 and took first money. He's back, hoping to repeat. If not, there's always the barbecue.

NORDMEN SEEK FIFTH VICTORY

Maroon, Cagers All Set to Turn Tables on Local Quintet

Menominee, Jan. 13.—Menominee high school basketball fans are wondering if history can repeat itself where Escanaba is concerned.

The local fans know that history can, and did, repeat itself in the 1937-1938 renewal of the Kingsford-Menominee feud. And so they're wondering about the Eskymos.

It seems that last season Menominee found itself when the Maroons took the floor against Escanaba, and went right to town from that time on, winning 13 consecutive games before they tasted defeat. With that in mind, the Maroons are pointing for the Delta county quintet which comes to the local high school gymnasium Friday night for the first of a two-game series.

Eskymos Beaten Once
Escanaba has dropped only one game thus far this year, taking a 25 to 19 drubbing at the hands of Ishpeming. However, the Eskymos have defeated Kingsford, Menominee's Nemesis, 29 to 22, and have also got the scalps of Marquette, Iron Mountain and Gladstone dangling from their belts.

The big guns in the Escanaba offense are Captain Abrahamson, Hurley, Eis and Frederickson. Prior to the Gladstone game, played last weekend, Hurley was the team's best point getter, having accounted for 29 of his team's points in the first four games. Next in line are Abrahamson and Frederickson with 14 points each and Eis, who has garnered 13 counters.

Other members of the Eskymos squad are Hanson, Swanson, Olson, Cox, Barron and Bennette. Three of the squad, Abrahamson, Frederickson and Olson are letter men and veterans of the 1936-37 season.

Practice Free Throws
Menominee has won only one game in five starts this season, defeating Lourdes high school of Marinette. The four defeats have been at the hands of Kingsford twice, and Oconto and Marquette.

With the experience gained in the Kingsford game last Friday night, Coach Barney McCann has been working his charges overtime in practicing free throws. The locals' inability to convert charity tosses cost Menominee its game with Kingsford when the locals were able to snag only two out of 11 chances. Menominee lost the game by a score of 21 to 20.

Friday night's program will start at 7:30 with a curtain-raiser between the Menominee and Escanaba reserves. The high school band, under Director Octave Paquette, will be on hand. Escanaba will send a large delegation of fans here for the battle and a capacity crowd of indicated.

CROSBY IS HOST AT GOLF PICNIC

Ranch Barbecue Is Final Feature of Saturday and Sunday Event

BY ROBERT MYERS
Del Mar, Calif., Jan. 13. (AP)—Members of the Bing Crosby barbecue-picnic and golfing society began gathering here today for their second annual mid-winter meeting which features many things, including golf.

Thirty six holes of play, split up Saturday and Sunday, offer the main attraction, particularly for such serious minded members of the society as Jimmy Thomson, Harry Cooper, Horton Smith, Sam Snead, who earnestly desire a part of the $5,000 prize money.

But—for members—who shoot with less concern—say in the bracket with Leon Errol or Andy Devine—there are other diversions.

The final social affair will be a barbecue on the ranch of Bing Crosby, who is president of the lodge, host and active participant in everything that goes on.

Last winter it rained so hard it nearly washed the visitors into permanent abode here, what with bridges down. By far the best rounds of that entire affair were played in Del Mar's rambling hotel by the sea, which wasn't much wetter than the lawn in front of the place.

JORDAN PLAYS DOUBLEHEADER

Meets Northern State Tonight; Has Won Seven Games

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 13.—The Jordan college basketball team will play two basketball games this week-end. The first will be at Marquette, Mich., against the powerful Northern State Teachers college team on Friday evening, January 14. The second will be against the Wisconsin University Extension school team from Milwaukee and will be played Saturday night, January 15, at the Menominee high school gym.

When the up-and-coming Angels basketball team meets the Teachers from Marquette this Friday they will be after their first victory over the Northerners. The Jordan team has played Marquette each year since the school was organized but has yet to take the Hedgecock men into camp. This year Jordan has one of the finest college teams in this section and feel that they have a swell chance to break into the win column against the Teachers.

Have Won Seven
On Saturday night the Angels will play an improved Extension team at the Menominee gym. If the Angels are to triumph for the second time this season against the invaders from Milwaukee they will have to display their best brand of basketball. The Milwaukee team has been strengthened by the addition of several new players, and especially by the addition of a new center. The Angels on the other hand have played a hard schedule to date and are beginning to show just the least trace of staleness. They played great ball at Menominee, Wis., against the Stout Institute team and then after playing a powerful LaCrosse team off their feet the first half at LaCrosse last Friday night they lost all of their drive and looked very bad during the last half of the fracas.

The Angels to date have won seven and lost four games. In the four games they lost, two were by one point and only one was by a large margin. That one was to the LaCrosse team.

from the St. Louis office, but his wife said they hadn't been to the postoffice in two days.

Conjecture about the pitcher's new contract has been rampant since the close of last season, during which he was of little value to the club.

"We've been so busy arranging for this golf tournament," Mrs. Dean said, "that we haven't had time to get the mail."

She said they had been having "a lot of fun" with the Dean service station here.

"In fact," she said with a laugh, "we are likely to be pumping gas instead of playing baseball next summer if that contract doesn't look good."

Moore shot seven birdies and went over par just once to get his 67 and collect $200 top money. Lloyd Guillekson of St. Petersburg took a 68 to tie for second place with Bill Heinlein of Indianapolis. Each won $62.50.

Eldon Auker, Detroit pitcher, and Jack Russell, Boston Red Sox hurler, shot 75's to head the baseball players division with another finger, Cleveland's Lloyd Brown, another stroke back. Joe Medwick of the Cardinals, National League batting champion, and Wes Ferrell, Washington pitcher, scored 78's.

Dizzy himself finished down the list with an 81.

STRAITS SQUAD AT MANISTIQUE

Revenge Is Sought for Previous St. Ignace Home Victory

Manistique, Jan. 13.—St. Ignace high school basketball team, victor in a previous encounter with the Manistique high school aggregation, comes to this city tonight for a return game which promises an interesting evening for cage fans.

Manistique has a revamped team, and is out for revenge against the tossers from the Straits city. A preliminary will precede the feature event.

Trenary's Coach Expects To Lose Rapid River Tilt

BY COLLEGE COACH

Trenary, Mich., Jan. 13.—Coach Collins of the Trenary high school basketball team is not very optimistic about his squad's chances to win in the game with Rapid River at the Gladstone high school gymnasium Friday evening.

At the students meeting held today, Coach Collins reported that Guard Vitor, Center Hytinen and a couple other leading players had not been able to report for practice because of illness. He said they may be in uniform Friday evening, but it is doubtful whether they will be able to participate in the game very actively.

Coach Collins said that he was hopeful that the Trenary cagers would be in shape for the return game to be held later.

Auxiliary Invited To Attend Legion Rally In Gladstone

American Legion Auxiliary members are being urged by Mrs. Nancy Petry, Auxiliary president, to attend the dinner banquet being held in Gladstone Saturday evening in honor of state officers of the Legion and Auxiliary who are touring the upper peninsula.

A large delegation from Escanaba is expected to attend. Tickets for both Legion and Auxiliary members may be obtained from E. R. Kauphusman, Legion commander. All planning to be present at the banquet are advised to get tickets so that those in charge may have an advance checkup on the crowd.

STORIES IN STAMPS

WORLD'S GREATEST SHIP HIGHWAY

WHERE the waters of Lake Superior mingle with the waters of Lake Huron, at the spot where Father Marquette founded a Jesuit mission in 1668, commerce today plies along the greatest ship highway in the world. This is the Sault Sainte Marie canal, on the St. Mary's river, east-end of Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

The river at this point "Jeaps" 20 feet downward in less than a mile. To expedite traffic between Superior and Huron, therefore, gigantic locks were necessary. So two canals were constructed, employing five great locks, four on the American side and one on the Canadian.

An average of 100 ships a day, mostly ore-bearing, pass through these locks during the eight-month navigation season. Traffic in many years has approximated 90,000,000 tons, valued at more than $1,000,000,000. The Davis and Sabin locks (1350 feet long and 80 feet wide) are the longest in the world. St. Mary's river was first navigated by the Indians who made a portage around the falls. The North West Fur company built a lock on the Canadian side in 1797-8. The present canal was started in 1855, but locks were added up to 1919. The locks are shown on a U. S. stamp, the Pan-American issue of 1901.

Marinette Man Poses For "Mag" Cover Picture

Marinette—Friends of Charles "Chuck" Lawrence, son of Mrs. Beatrice Lawrence, 2609 1/2 Hall avenue, city, will be pleased to learn that the handsome young conservation warden, pictured on the front page of the magazine section of a Milwaukee newspaper last Sunday, was posed by "Chuck" himself. Those same friends will be amused to learn that "Chuck" is taking no little "razing" from his brother officers in the state.

The following excerpt from the Milwaukee paper offers an excellent explanation of the whole affair:

A Martyr, Yessir!
"The game warden on the cover of This Week magazine is Charles (Chuck) Lawrence of Phillips, Price county, Wisconsin. H. W. MacKenzie was asked by J. F. Kernan, the artist, for a model. Mac looked around for a good-looking warden and decided on Lawrence. Pictures of Lawrence in various poses were forwarded to Kernan, who also was lent a complete warden's uniform.

"Kernan did a fine job on Chuck and all of Chuck's friends in the fish'n sector will raze the life out of the guy. Chuck's only consolation is that he gave his life for his country. The conservation department will hang the original painting in its capitol offices. Last time we saw Chuck Lawrence he didn't look like that. It was late at night on the shore of Long lake and Chuck's flashlight was directed into a mess of brook-trout that had been caught by Henry Steussy of Milwaukee. As we remember, Chuck was wearing a pair of khaki pants and a hickory shirt—but it was after hours.

"Anyway, ain't Chuck a dandy? And here's another tip—he's known as one of the toughest wardens in Wisconsin. Don't argy with him. Specially not after today."
