CHINESE TAKE TSINING WITH SUDDEN DRIVE

RED ARMY BATTLES JAPANESE FORCE IN NORTH

Shanghai, Jan. 15 (Saturday) (AP)—Japanese announced today their forces in Shantung province had driven through strategic Tsining southward toward the Lunghai railway and had occupied Tangchiakuo.

They said the Chinese 29th army which had defended Tsining was retreating toward Kinshan, 27 miles to the south. Chinese press dispatches conceded the Japanese were in possession of Tsining which was reported deserted by civilians and virtually destroyed by gunfire.

Shanghai, Jan. 15 (Saturday) (AP)—A reinforced Chinese army, fighting savagely to stave off Japanese conquest of the nation's bread basket, was reported today to have recaptured strategic Tsining by storm.

Chinese dispatches said the Japanese captors of the southern Shantung province city were taken by surprise by a furious counter-attack over the frozen surface of the historic Grand Canal and driven three miles from the city.

The tide of battle in the great agricultural region of central China apparently still was in the balance as the Japanese claimed slow but steady advances toward the vital Lunghai railway.

Independent reports indicated Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, in personal command on the Lunghai front, was concentrating his utmost strength along the railroad, long considered China's last line of defense.

The Chinese have been recruiting new troops in the central provinces at a hectic pace and were reported to have enrolled 750,000 in the past six weeks.

These men, with only the scantiest training, are being put into action against the some 100,000 trained Japanese troops in southern Shantung and northern Kiangsu provinces.

Troops in Position The northern and southern Japanese columns were 180 miles apart, equidistant from Suchow, the center of the Chinese resistance.

Japanese announced their southern column had captured Linhwakwan, 15 miles southeast of Pengpu. Japanese insisted the northern army had consolidated its conquest of Tsining and moved five miles to the southwest.

Tsining has changed hands time and again in the last few days. In the far northwest, reports through Chinese channels said, 40,000 Outer Mongolian troops had moved into position along the border of Suiyuan province, which fell to the Japanese in the early months of the war.

These troops, considered under Russian influence, were said to be establishing a line to prevent Japan from cutting communications between China and Outer Mongolia, the route for any support from Russia.

Alarm In Washroom Saves Bank $30,000 On Second Robbery

Cleveland, Jan. 14 (AP)—Last February when the Bird brothers gang robbed the Lorain Street Bank of $18,866, Miss Mary Probsa, 28, ran into a washroom and stayed. When three robbers entered today she did the same—but saved the bank $30,000 in cash.

An alarm was installed in the room after the other holdup. She sounded it today, automatically locking the bank's main vault and tellers' safes. The men obtained only the $4,000 on the counter, and fled.

"I wasn't scared this time," said the plump stenographer. The trio attempted to force Manager Ralph Reisman to open the vault. After he told them it was protected by a time lock, they were content with the $4,000.

DISPUTE ENDED AT NEW HAVEN

Both Parties Satisfied With Truce; Village Folks Relieved

New Haven, Mich., Jan. 14 (AP)—A labor dispute at the New Haven Foundry, marked by three outbreaks of violence, was settled tonight with an announcement that an agreement "satisfactory to both parties" had been reached.

The announcement was made by Sumner D. Lamkins, owner of the foundry, and Bert Harris, organizer for the United Automobile Workers of America, at the conclusion of a peace conference which opened at noon.

The company said it would reemploy 14 workers the union contended were discriminated against when the foundry reopened Tuesday after a layoff. The U. A. W. A. charged that seniority rules were violated in recalling employees.

The management also said it would adhere to seniority regulations recalling others of its force back to work. So far, less than half of the 700 employees were said to have been returned to their jobs.

The 900 villagers' anxiety, aroused by disorders Tuesday, yesterday afternoon and again last night, was relieved when Lamkins and the union reached a truce which provided for the number of pickets and limited the number of pickets and deputy sheriffs permitted around the foundry.

Mail Truck Stolen With $5,000 Loot

Newton, Mass., Jan. 14 (AP)—A mail truck carrying bags believed to contain approximately $5,000 was stolen tonight while its driver was in the Newtonville postoffice.

William Maloney, the driver, said the truck contained considerable first class and registered mail. Police theorized that the theft had been planned in advance and that possibly the robbers had a hideaway nearby where they could conceal the truck and search the mail.

Three hours later the truck, with five of its 29 mail bags missing, was found parked near the Charles river, three-quarters of a mile from the postoffice.

Fasts Year

Believing he can "give up all material life and not die" because the soul is above such needs, Dean Israel H. Noe, above, of St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral at Memphis, Tenn., has undertaken a fast to prove his belief. Friends said that Dean Noe went, on an orange juice diet more than a year ago, and that on Jan. 2, 1938, he gave up even orange juice and up to 12 days later, at least, had taken no food or water except a thin communion wafer and a sip of wine three times weekly. The friends added that Dean Noe was thin and drawn and "looked bad."

Murphy Criticized "The Republican party must offer a clean, simple program of honest government," he warned the audience. "A government that takes into consideration the rights of all the people; the old-fashioned rule of plain, common sense planning with officials setting an unselfish example to duty."

"The Republican machine must be brought up to date by the injection of new blood," he continued, "a transfusion from the youth blood of the state must be made. Personal ambitions, sympathies, prejudices must be laid aside, and the greatest good for the greatest number should be our creed."

Dunn criticized a portion of his address to devotion of Governor Murphy. "There is a marked change in Michigan today from the scene of 1935," he asserted. "The presidential flit went through the state and Murphy was riding the rods. The special brought him here—the presidential special carried him into office."

"From promises to non-performances, from sit-downs to Frankenstein, from Manila to Washington, all is understood now. The folded arms policy is disclosed x x Michigan's roving governor is sending up trial balloons, waving tiny political arms to attract the national spotlight."

He said the governor's office force was "performing Murphy's duties while the middle class pays the bills." Dunn rounded out his address with an attack on new deal policies.

Aiken said tonight the suit of Miss Alice Graham, 36, asking $50,000 damages from former Mayor Frank W. Richey of Dowagiac, Mich., for alleged seduction would be dismissed because an identical suit had been filed in Cassopolis, Mich.

Miss Graham's suit filed here last September 13 alleged Richey, 73-year-old miller and former Dowagiac postmaster, had seduced her in a Fort Wayne, Ind., hotel September 28, 1926, and later built a cottage for her three blocks from the house where his wife and two daughters lived in Dowagiac.

Toy-governor committee, said in an address prepared for delivery to the greater Republican club of Kent county tonight that "the Republican party must put its house in order, and realize that business from the state government is not as important as the business of state government."

Dunn, former Muskegon county prosecuting attorney and later legal advisor to former Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald, did not refer to the candidate he is seeking to have nominated at the Republican primaries next September.

Running Again

Gifford Pinchot, twice governor of Pennsylvania, emphasizes with vigorous gesticulating hand that he is ready for the "fight of his life," despite his 72 years, to win the Republican nomination for a third term. His many foes within the party assure a bitter struggle for the gubernatorial nomination.

HOLDING COMPANIES OUT Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt startled the business world today with an emphatic call for the abolition of holding companies in all lines of industry and finance.

He told his semi-weekly press conference, in unmistakable terms that his ultimate aim was the elimination of such concerns, not only among the power utilities, as now partially provided by law, but in banking and other business and industrial fields.

Wall Street was amazed. Experts on corporation finance were quick to say that more than half the companies whose securities are widely held are holding companies, in some degree at least.

Of the latter, they said, many actually are operating companies owning outright control of subsidiaries, and thus differ from the pyramid type of holding company to which Mr. Roosevelt has objected in the past in the utilities field.

Regarding the president's criticism of holding companies in the banking field, and his attack upon "remote control" of local banks, they estimated that four companies control banks having assets of nearly $3,000,000,000.

When or how Mr. Roosevelt proposed to carry out his will was left to conjecture.

Some thought he might touch upon the subject in his forthcoming message to congress on "harmful" business practices. The message on business practices may be expected in about ten days, the president has indicated.

Young of General Electric, Charles W. Taussig of American Molasses, A. A. Berle, a former administration advisor, and John L. Lewis and Philip Murray of the C. I. O.

FORD PLANT CALLS 10,000 BACK TO WORK

Detroit, Jan. 14 (AP)—Cooperation—even to the point of accepting wage cuts—with managements of automotive plants forced to an "extreme position" by competitive conditions was offered today by Homer Martin, president of the CIO-affiliated United Automobile Workers of America.

FARM INCOME IS DISCUSSED

1938 Soil Conservation Program Planned to Boost Revenues

The effects of a low farm income on the land and how the goals set up in the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program are planned to help farmers realize a better income was outlined today by John K. Olson, county committee man.

A bulletin issued by the Agricultural Conservation Administration points out that when farm production is excessive and crop surpluses pile up, the farm income goes down. Farmers then are unable to buy as many city goods. Business slows down and unemployment in cities follows. Unemployment in cities means lack of buying power for farm products, and the prices received by farmers and the farm income are pushed further down.

Under the pinch of low income, farmers are forced to overcrop their soil by keeping every possible acre in cash crops which deplete the soil and subject it to erosion.

It is estimated that land permanently ruined by erosion within the last 100 years is equal in area to all the farm land in two of the large midwestern agricultural states. If all this soil destruction had occurred in those two states, the ruin would have been more impressive but not less costly to the nation.

The practice of continually growing a single cash crop with rarely a compensating soil-building crop in rotation, or as a cover crop, has so reduced the fertility of some farming areas that it is impossible for the farmers in those areas to maintain a decent standard of living.

Goals provided in the 1938 AAA program are planned to bring about a better balanced system of farming and to promote conservation of the soil. These goals, in the form of definite acreages of soil-depleting crops and a definite amount of soil-building practices, will provide abundant supplies of all crops, both for domestic needs and export, without the large surpluses that ruin prices, and at the same time encourage practices to conserve soil fertility. The new conservation program, like previous programs of the agricultural adjustment administration, is expected to raise and sustain farm income in the following ways:

First, by indirectly influencing the volume and therefore, the prices of farm products; second, by encouraging more extensive use of efficient farming methods; third, by providing conservation payments to farmers; and fourth, by making the land able to produce more when and if needed.

As in the past, the agricultural adjustment administration will be assisted in carrying out the 1938 program by the state, county, and community committees of farmers.

These goals, in the form of definite acreages of soil-depleting crops and a definite amount of soil-building practices, will provide abundant supplies of all crops, both for domestic needs and export, without the large surpluses that ruin prices, and at the same time encourage practices to conserve soil fertility. The new conservation program, like previous programs of the agricultural adjustment administration, is expected to raise and sustain farm income in the following ways:

First, by indirectly influencing the volume and therefore, the prices of farm products; second, by encouraging more extensive use of efficient farming methods; third, by providing conservation payments to farmers; and fourth, by making the land able to produce more when and if needed.

As in the past, the agricultural adjustment administration will be assisted in carrying out the 1938 program by the state, county, and community committees of farmers.

EARLE ASSAILS DELTA COUNTY

Says But $6,000 Given to Sanatorium After Pledge of $8,000

The Delta county board was criticized yesterday by Supervisor W. S. Earle, Hermansville, chairman of the Menominee county board's Pinecrest sanatorium committee, for appropriating only $6,000 of a pledged $8,000 as its share in support of the institution in 1938.

The sanatorium, located at Powers, is owned jointly by Menominee, Delta, Dickinson and Iron counties. Sanatorium committees from each of the four counties pledged their counties to contribute $8,000 for support of the institution, Mr. Earle told the board.

All of the counties except Delta, which Supervisor Earle described as "in better financial condition than any of the others," appropriated the full $8,000 he said. Delta county cut its appropriation to $6,000, Mr. Earle told the Menominee county board.

Supervisor John W. Fazer, Spaulding township, declared that "Delta is more capable of sharing equally than the other counties. There is no reason it should not do so."

Questioned by other supervisors whether it might not be possible that Delta county will contribute $2,000 from some other fund in addition to its $6,000 appropriation, Mr. Earle replied that he did not know if Delta made such a financial arrangement.

Supervisor Arthur H. Wickman of Nadeau county suggested that Menominee county should follow the lead of Dickinson county in financing the furnishing of a room in the sanatorium addition now nearing completion. Supervisor Earle said the sanatorium committee would investigate and report to the board at its next meeting.

ESCANABA H. S. WINS DEBATE

Defeats Manistique Trio; Makes Three Victories Out of Four

The Escanaba high school affirmative squad won the final debate of the elimination series with the Manistique negatives at the Wm. W. Oliver auditorium last evening, making three victories out of four contests for the local debaters. There is a good possibility that Escanaba high school will advance into the Upper Peninsula forensic contests.

Prof. Forrest A. Roberts of Northern State Teachers college was the critic-judge. Atty. Deuis McGinn served as chairman.

The Escanaba affirmative squad, coached by Bertrand Henne was composed of William Ranspeck, Frank Bender and Allan Earle. Preston Tanis is the Manistique high school debate coach.

Music was furnished at the debate by a double sextet composed of the following students: Beatrice Morton, Mildred Hira, Mildred Peterson, Betty Kelly, Lucille Nelson, Mary Jane Elmer, LeDuc, Marcella LeDuc, Marian Magnuson, Vivian Anderson, Ileen Anderson, Betty Voght and Beatrice Morton.

Marco Polo's travels, once regarded as fanciful tales, have since been demonstrated as sound reporting.

SPECIAL CROPS ARE DISCUSSED

Annual Farmers' Week To Be at Lansing Jan. 31-Feb. 4

Because diversification characterizes Michigan agriculture, the Michigan State College annual Farmers' Week program, scheduled for Jan. 31 to Feb. 4, will place emphasis on special crops and special practices.

E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture at Michigan State college and general chairman of this 23rd annual Farmers' Week, has announced a program filled with both educational and entertainment features.

The three speakers announced for the three general afternoon programs, which Farmers' Week visitors have come to recognize as highlights of the annual meetings, are nationally known figures in agriculture.

On Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 1, Dusty Miller, rural humorist of Wilmington, O., will offer information about livestock farming. Rural audiences have come to expect his talks to be filled with the humor for which he is famous in the central states.

Herbert W. Mumford, dean of agriculture at the University of Illinois will talk on "Good Farming Still Pays Best" at the Wednesday afternoon meeting, and the Thursday afternoon speaker will be Dr. H. A. Morgan, Knoxville, Tenn., official of the Tennessee Valley Authority. Dr. Morgan will discuss farming and its relation to conservation and the future of farming.

The evening program, which always fills Demonstration Hall to capacity, will be filled with entertainment features, Dean Anthony promises. Beginning at 6:45 p. m. on Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 2 and 3, there will be concerts by the college band. On Wednesday evening there will be a livestock parade, featuring farmers' entries in the annual colt development and calf feeding contest. Stock owned by the college will be seen in the Thursday evening show.

Other special features will be offered by the home economics, forestry, conservation, poultry and dairy departments, and winners in several agricultural contests will be announced during the sessions.

Kayla Mitzel Has Been Feted Often By Crowned Heads

Few young artists have been feted as was Kayla Mitzel, young Canadian violinist who is scheduled to appear in Escanaba on January 19 at the Junior high school.

During her first concert tour of the Scandinavian countries in 1933, playing in the principal cities of Sweden, Norway, Denmark, and Finland, the youthful artist was accorded such press approval as usually falls to the lot of only the greatest masters. Writers fell all over themselves seeking new phrases in which to describe the art of this lovely girl still in her teens and with the poise and power of the most matured violinists, and the critical enthusiasm was but a small part of the adulation which Mitzel received.

Because of her physical charm, she was beset by the attentions of many male admirers. Flowers, gifts, letters, and phone calls became a problem and Kayla and her chaperone were kept constantly busy dismissing and discouraging these admirers, without wishing to be unappreciative or discourteous.

To the artist, this form of approval of her work was of little or no interest. To Kayla, then as now, the greatest thrill comes from the quiet, conservative ways of a fine musician.

Hence, in the midst of throngs gathered around her backstage after a concert, it was not unusual to see Mitzel step aside and devote most of her time to some perhaps shabbily dressed musician, who had come from his gallery seat to pay his respects.

Restaurants of the world will be found on Treasure Island, site of the 1933 Golden Gate International Exposition.

What's the Use?

Tony Galento, the bar-keep' of Orange, N. J., whose latest pugilistic triumph was a three-round knockout of Charley Massera, has his own ideas about training. The poly-heavyweight seeking a shot at Joe Louis is shown holding a stein of the foamy stuff, and claims there's nothing like it for a conditioning diet. Once in a while, however, Tony gets out the heavy woolens, and does some straining in earnest. Very seldom, though, and so painful.

TAX DISCOUNTS RULED ILLEGAL

Cleveland Cliffs and Charcoal Iron Must Pay Full Amount

Lansing, Jan. 14 (P)—The Luce county board of supervisors was informed today by Auditor General George T. Gundry that a discount and remittance of taxes it granted the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company and the Charcoal Iron company were in violation of the state's constitution.

Gundry, in a letter to William L. McMahon, Luce county clerk at Newberry, said the remittance and discount were considered illegal and that the full amount of the unpaid taxes, interests and penalties on the two corporations would remain upon the books of the auditor general. He said the properties of the companies would be offered for sale at subsequent tax sales unless the payments were made.

The auditor general said the supervisors and the township and school boards of Luce county had adopted resolutions remitting interest and penalties on the companies' delinquent taxes and had granted an additional discount of eight and one-third per cent on delinquent taxes.

Gundry, asserting the governmental units had exceeded their authority, quoted from an opinion of Attorney General Raymond W. Starr which held that counties have only such powers as have been conferred upon them by law.

Gundry repeated his warning at a meeting of upper peninsula county clerks at Marquette today.

REPUBLICANS CAN WIN

Dear Editor:—To thinking people the future of this country looks uncertain. Great changes are taking place and many think we are even losing our historic form of government. But any government that can not meet the normal changes of society is doomed to fail. Ours has always been a two party government and I think it should remain such.

Is the New Deal losing ground? You can make your own guess. But I am certain the aims of the new deal are as desirable as ever. I think this is proven by many recent elections. The republicans if wise will accept these new deal aims and offer them to the country in a better and more workable manner.

The Republican party has appointed a Committee of leading republicans to draw up desirable aims to work for.

I would like to offer them a platform of principles on which they can win the next two elections if they can get the people to believe they are honestly in favor of them. I suggest these:

1. Declare for the old economic law of Supply and Demand. This law can not be beaten. It is almost like a law of nature.

2. Declare for a Social Security law that will help every one in distress substantially as follows: (a), A pension to all over 65 of $30 a month. This is to go to all who have not a net income of $600 a year. A pension should not be paid to any one who will not spend it. (b), Pay $30 a month to all permanently disabled. (c), Pay $30 a month to all gainfully employed who are out of work in their line for more than 30 days thru no fault of their own, to be continued until re-employed. (d), To all whose income is less than $360 a year pay enough to bring it up to this amount. That is what the people want and are going to get. They can understand this so tell them it will be given if put in power. This debt can be paid with from 3 billions to 5 billions a year depending on the condition of the country.

3. This money should be paid from taxes and not from interest on bonds. To get it put a graduated income tax on every one, infant and older, who has an income of over $500 and starting with 1% tax, and graduate to take all of every income above $100,000 a year. The people would pay this tax if assured of the benefits offered. It would be considered as insurance and paid gladly.

4. Put a drastic tax on all inheritances permitting no one to inherit more than $100,000 from one estate.

5. On every donation to any person or cause place the tax equal to the donation.

If you will sit down and debate these five points, pro and con, you will see the pros far outweigh the cons. This plan would put buying power in the hands of those who need it and so would help all kinds of business and I think far over bar depressions. And it would forever kill all sorts of Fascisms.

The Democrats are striving to give these aims but they have gone off on so many wild goose and intolerable tangents the people are much disgusted and will gladly follow the Republicans if they offer them in a straight manner. They can carry every state in the union on this program in the next two general elections.

Your Income And Outgo

Do you know where your money goes? Most people do not. They go through life spending all they earn, but getting very little value out of it. Knowledge about money leads to confidence and independence—dividends. Ignorance about money, its uses, its earning power, its spending sensibly, and saving systematically, leads to poverty and dependency in old age. The Household Budget, 1938, contains 32 pages—a ruled page for each month's accounts and 20 pages of guidance on spending and saving. Model budgets for every income. Know where your money goes, then you will begin to save and get ahead. Send for a copy of this helpful guide today. Do not delay. Ten cents, postpaid.

Murphy Is Mentioned For Supreme Court

BY PAUL FRIGGENS
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
Lansing, Mich.—On the day that soft-spoken young Frank Murphy was inaugurated as mayor of Detroit in 1930, the space in front of City Hall was jammed with unemployed—wretched, hungry, sullen thousands. Murphy said afterward that the scene vivified for him everything that he had read about the French revolution.

So he gave them bread, spending at one time $1,000,000 a month for relief and compelling no man to "earn or go without." He summoned leading industrialists, including Edsel Ford, to help with the job.

Seven years later this same man, Murphy, now governor of Michigan, aged appreciably and his curly red hair thinning a bit above his high wide forehead, faced the battleground of the great General Motors strike. Murphy called it the "firing line for the testing out of the problems of social justice and economic democracy."

"The old order is dead and gone and cannot be resurrected," he said at that time. "We had best forget it and start rebuilding."

A Streamlined Liberal
Thus, if Michigan's genial Irish governor, who loves peace so well he will fight to keep it, is named by President Roosevelt to the U. S. Supreme Court, that high bench may be assured of a streamlined liberal.

For the war and the depression and years of hard experience as teacher, lawyer, judge, mayor and governor general of the Philippine Islands have profoundly moved Frank Murphy. At 44, unmarried but wed to his job, so to speak, his chief concern is the evolution of modern problems. The all-important issue to Murphy is the relationship between capital and labor.

To preserve this he favors amending the Constitution to permit the federal government to fix minimum wages, regulate working conditions and enforce genuine collective bargaining. He sees the alternative as a "state of chaos and disaster," and Frank Murphy hates bloodshed.

He showed that in handling the grim General Motors strike. He used both force and conciliation. He sent in the National Guard, but he told them to protect life as well as property. He told them to be neutral. He said he did not want anybody to be killed.

Taught in Night School
Frank Murphy's stature has been growing from the day he began as a night school teacher in the Rumanian and Hungarian settlements of Detroit. He decided then to pursue law. He graduated from the University of Michigan and then left a $5-a-week job in a Detroit law office to go to war.

In France he really began his career as a mediator. There, in the course of official duties, he defended soldiers at court-martials. He succeeded so well, it is said, that he was transferred, finally, to other duties.

Mixed Into Irish Fight
Murphy got mixed up in another fight abroad, too, the Irish fight for freedom. He brushed life again in the raw during the bloody Black and Tan battles in Dublin where he was enrolled in Dublin University.

Then the young man from Harbor Beach, Michigan, returned to Detroit and became chief assistant U. S. attorney.

He prosecuted a series of war-crime cases, won, and almost overnight Detroit became Murphy-conscious. In the interim he was instructor in law, University of Detroit. After a single-way stop on the recorder's bench he became mayor, running on a platform of relief and reform. Two years later he was re-elected.

At Farley's Request
Murphy was serving his second term as mayor when President Roosevelt appointed him governor general of the Philippines. There he achieved a brilliant social program, starting slum clearance work, revamping the penal system, creating a department of labor and setting up public health standards. Lastly he saw the woman's suffrage amendment through the island legislature.

It is generally believed that Murphy resigned this post at the request of James A. Farley to run for the Michigan governorship in an effort to strengthen the President's chances in Michigan. As it turned out this was unnecessary but Murphy is Irish enough to characterize the financial spot it put him on.

"My friends will vote to take me out of a job that pays $13,000 a year for one that pays $5,000," he said at the time. "And my foes will vote to keep me in the better-paying job."

He Loves His Job
Of medium height and build, Murphy is just dapper enough in his dress to be smart without going Jimmy Walker. His keen blue eyes look out at you beneath extraordinarily bushy red eyebrows. He neither drinks nor smokes.

He appears nervous, fidgety. Yet he is perennially cool under fire. He isn't a joiner, yet his ready smile makes him tremendously popular. He is a devout Roman Catholic.

He lives with his mother in Lansing. In the strike days he got two hours sleep a night. If things get too busy now and then, Governor Murphy averages four hours. But he doesn't care. The point is, he loves his job.

STEAM HEAT IS WORKING WELL

Net Revenue of $221.10 Realized During First Month

A net revenue to the city of $221.10 for the first month's operation of the central steam heating system was realized, according to figures released yesterday by city manager George Dean.

This revenue was realized from but three customers, the Sherman hotel, Liquor Control Commission building and the city of Escanaba. Of the three, the city, with the three buildings connected, used the largest amount, the Sherman being second and the liquor building third.

Gross revenue amounted to $684.66 of which amount $463.56 was paid to the gas plant for operating costs, leaving a net revenue of $221.10.

The city manager said yesterday that the first month's revenues undoubtedly will exceed the subsequent months because of the fact that proper controls were not installed in most of the buildings during December. Since they have been installed, a large amount of wasted heat has been eliminated, cutting down consumption. In some instances, installation of controls has cut consumption almost fifty per cent.

A total of 927,118 pounds of steam was sold at fifty cents per thousand. Slightly more than 50 tons of coal were needed to generate the steam.

Distribution was as follows:

	Ibs. of Steam
City of Escanaba Light Plant & Stock Room	$9,528
City of Escanaba, City Garage	187,240
City of Escanaba, Machine Shop	$2,150
Sherman Hotel Building	282,300
Sherman Hotel Water Heating	32,300
Michigan Liquor Control Building	253,600
Total	927,118

Lathrop Back At Post; Kenny Is Transferred

After a lengthy leave of absence due to illness, W. T. Lathrop, local meteorologist, has resumed his duties as chief of the local weather bureau.

Lathrop recently submitted to an operation upon one of his eyes and has recovered sufficiently to resume his work at the weather bureau.

Since he began his leave on August 22, Lathrop's position has been filled by Howard Kenny, assistant, who was temporarily in charge. With the return of the chief, Kenny has been notified to leave soon for Chicago where he will be stationed in the weather bureau office at the Chicago municipal airport.

Kenny, who joined the weather bureau service in September, 1928, after graduating from Escanaba high school, is expected to leave for Chicago within the next two or three weeks to make his future home.

Kenny is succeeded here as assistant by Richard Patek of Milwaukee, who has been working at the local station for the past several weeks.

The weather bureau office, which has been quartered in the Sember building during the past several months, will be transferred back to the postoffice building sometime within the next two weeks. The postoffice building, which has undergone extensive remodeling, including addition of a third story, is almost completed and ready for occupation.

Two Projects In Mackinac County Given Approval

BY PAUL MAY Washington, D. C.—Jobs for a number of unemployed Mackinac County laborers are in prospect. It was learned today when the office of U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown announced that the Works Progress Administration is going to undertake two new projects there.

While it could not be ascertained just when the work is to get started, it was disclosed that President Roosevelt has approved the expenditure of federal funds amounting to $36,334 for the improvement of U. S. highway no. 2 between Epoufette and Gould City.

In addition to that the chief executive approved an allotment of $8,572 for the construction of an enclosed fort and road to site at St. Ignace for the purpose of attracting tourists, it was said.

Since presidential approval automatically gives the State director of the Works Progress Administration the authority to go ahead with the work, it is up to him to set the time for the actual commencement of the work, it was explained.

However, it is not until after he has approved the project that federal funds will be made available, it was said.

On The RECORD

By Dorothy Thompson

Bases of the Lack of Confidence

The persistent attempt on the part of the Government to present the opposition to today's tendencies as a emanating from a handful of greedy men representing entrenched privileges will fail. The President's speech on Saturday is another such attempt. Again, the "Head of the Nation" asserts his intention to work with all his might and main to restore and uphold the integrity of the morals of democracy—against a small minority group who seek to reassert their power.

In passing, this column cannot resist pointing out that under the American system, there is no such thing as the "Head of the Nation." The President of the United States is not the "Head of the Nation." The Constitution does not provide for parasitism government. On the contrary, sovereignty and authority are carefully divided between the states and the Federal government, and between the various branches of the Federal government itself, and the very conception of the "Head of the Nation" is what Jefferson denounced when he said: "an elective despotism is not what we fought for."

If the issue in this country were really what the President says it is: the People vs. a minority of recalcitrant, Economic Royalists, there would be no serious opposition whatever to the New Deal—and certainly not in this column. There would not be that serious lack of confidence which the President takes so lightly, forgetting apparently that confidence is a prime necessity of democracy, and that the Union was founded—again to quote The Federalist—"as the proper antidote for the disease of faction" and for "that repose and confidence in the minds of the people, which are among the chief blessings of civil society."

The lack of confidence arises out of observations, which, with all the good will in the world, it is impossible to avoid making. Granting that "the evils that men live after them," and that this Administration has inherited the "regious mistakes, follies, waste, greed, planlessness, exploitation of natural resources, creation of top-heavy corporate institutions—erected, incidentally, by means of the collaboration of a capitalist-dominated state—granted all this—what do we see now?"

We see that the attempt of the last few years, while it has provided many palliatives, has brought about no fundamental betterment, but instead has brought new evils into existence. Far from even starting the elimination of the proletariat, which must be the object of genuine democracy, it is nationalizing and institutionalizing their distress and meeting the unemployment problem by the withdrawal of millions of our people from productive enterprise, segregating them into what threatens to become a permanent sub-standard class, politically manipulated.

Far from bringing about the decentralization of wealth—although this is the latest rallying cry of the Administration—its only program for achieving this desirable end is to centralize everything under the control of the Federal government with the promise to decentralize it later. This hope has been held out time and again in history, but the promise has never been kept, and will never be kept as long as man is a power-loving animal.

Far from meeting the problems of technological unemployment in a constructive fashion, it has put into operation taxation policies which definitely accelerate the process.

Far from encouraging and releasing fresh energies and new enterprise, through which alone the national income can radically be augmented, it has adopted policies which have already tended to freeze production at past levels and now where it has been, to burden the whole wealth-creation process with a huge load of public debt, and a large non-productive class of inspector-bureaucrats, so that the burden of maintaining and increasing the goods and services which, produced and consumed, are the national income, fall on fewer and fewer shoulders.

The enormous growth of a class parasite on the government, plus professional job-holders having a vested interest in the perpetuation of the policies by which they live, create a pressure group of unprecedented power, which government manipulates but cannot control.

The attempt to create a balance between agriculture and industry by a minute control of agricultural production, acre by acre, leads to quota systems which become value-determining factors, stifling enterprise and passing the control from responsible ownership to irresponsible government bureaucrats, opening the gates for the law evasions which we knew

Richest Girl in the World

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CONSTANCE CORBY—heroine; richest girl in the world.
BRET HARDESTY—hero; bridge builder.
RODNEY BRANDON—Connie's fiancé.
KATIE BLYN—Connie's "double."

CHAPTER IX.
 "A bride! Bret looked startled, as though the suggestion were sheer impossibility. Then he laughed. "Why, no, Miss Blyn is going to help with the books. "Reckon she'll put on a few pounds then," Mrs. McCally said. "And 'tis just as well, cause I know of at least one heart as would be broken."

"So! You must have a sweetheart, too—since you accused me of one, Mr. Hardesty," Connie said after they were on their way again.
 "Indeed I haven't," he returned promptly, the color spreading up into his dark face, however. "All that women think of, it seems, is romance."

"Maybe the day will come when you'll find it's worth thinking about," Connie predicted. She supposed there had not been much time for romance in his busy life. Yet she liked that about him.

"I hope it never does," he said darkly; then his scowl deepened. "That is snow ahead. It'll be coming down on us before long." Even as he spoke the big flakes started to fall; before long the windshield was thick with them, the road and hills covered with a clean white blanket.

"It's beautiful!" Connie exclaimed. "I didn't suppose it could be so beautiful, or change so quickly."

Bret said it was pretty enough, but he hoped the road would remain passable.
 "You mean we might not be able to get through tonight?"
 "That's it exactly." They were just creeping along now, so slippery and steep was the road. It was impossible to see more than a foot or two ahead. "I shouldn't have risked it with you," his tone was contrite.

"But I love it!" Connie assured him. There was something dangerous and primitive about this storm here in this wild country that appealed to her. She had known so little of that sort of experience in her hothouse existence. "Please don't turn back. I'm not the least bit afraid." She knew as she said it, that she would never be afraid to face anything with him.

As though to force the proof of this the car skidded then suddenly, sickeningly.
 They had skidded into a ditch, facing the bank, which was fortunate. At the other side of the road there was a sheer drop of more than a thousand feet.

"Even this is bad enough," Bret said. "If only you could drive..."
 "But I can!"
 "You can?" Apparently he had not counted on such good fortune. "Do you suppose you could back up on to the road, if I stand outside and give directions?"

She said she could do her best. She felt she could do anything, with him to guide her. Without further delay, she slipped into the driver's seat as Bret got out.

"Don't slam on the brakes too quickly!" Bret warned. "Do exactly as I tell you. Remember that drop on the left—I don't know," he shook his head. "Maybe I ought not to let you attempt it."

Her eyes met his. There was no hesitancy or fear in them. "Didn't I tell you I'm not afraid, Bret Hardesty? You'd let me try it if I were a man, wouldn't you?"

"That's just it..."
 "That's it exactly! We're not going to park here all night just because I happened to have been born a lady!" Her laugh was as gay as though she would not be taking her very life in her small hands in another moment.
 "Okay," he agreed shortly; but she did not miss the flash of admiration in his dark eyes. "Throw her into reverse—easy, remember! Stop the second I shout out at you—and don't forget the emergency!"

Those next few moments were ones Connie was never to forget; moments during which, ears strained for Bret's directions, she shifted gears, twisted and turned with all her young strength, kept a steady nerve as well as her wits about her. But she managed to back on to the road at last.

Climbing in beside her, Bret frankly mopped his forehead in relief. "I wouldn't want to live through that every day," he told her. "But I do want to do something. Pay my respects to a very gallant lady—a game little sport."

Connie had received many compliments from many men, but none had ever pleased her quite so much.

"Maybe it would be best for us to go back to the McCally's," Bret suggested.

"Please don't. I'd much rather keep on; if I were a man that's what you'd do, isn't it?"
 "Perhaps. But..."
 "Didn't you just say I'd proved as good as one?"
 He laughed. "You win!" Once more they started on their way.

murmured, "A place apart. I'll never forget this drive. I would not have missed it for anything!" His eyes smiled into hers, as though he understood what she meant. They did not talk much, sharing the silence of the night, as well as its strange eerie beauty. They might have been the only living creatures—this man and this girl—so completely did they whole wild world belong to them alone.

When they reached their destination it was long past midnight. The village was asleep under its blanket of snow, its little group of houses nestling close. High on a hill the tall steeple of its little white church rose against the mountains, keeping watch over all.

This was where Katie Blyn, who had been Constance Corby, was to live and work, dream and play; this where she was to try her wings, find that freedom so long sought.

"Like it?" Bret asked, at her side. He seemed to sense her mood, almost her thoughts. "It may not appear very grand—unless you have the seeing eye. But you'll find it friendly and kind and simple. I hope," he added with those same qualities, "you will find much more than that. Maybe your heart's desire!"

Then he laughed. "Mrs. Parson will think I'm bringing home a bride, arriving at such an hour!"
 They had pulled up now in front of a square brick house that sat well back on the Main Street. Its walls were almost completely covered with ivy that still clasped its green leaves; its wide porch supported by tall colonial columns; over the door was an exquisite fanlight, and a row of stately elms flanked the crumbling walk.

"Why this house must be over a hundred years old!" Connie exclaimed. "It must have been a perfectly lovely house in its day."

"Shsh!" Bret put a finger to his lips. They had come through the gate; he placed her bag on the steps. "It still is, my dear young lady! Aunt Bertha—as I told you everyone calls her—she thinks it the finest mansion in the whole country-side. I'll have you understand, And, one other thing, "your eyes twinkled warningly, "you will be her guest. No West Virginia lady ever takes in boarders, or accepts the smallest charity, you know."

"I'll not forget," Connie promised. They could hear movement inside the house now; a bolt shot back; the big door opened.
 A woman peered out, holding high a candle; her head was wrapped in a lace cap; her huge person enveloped in a faded old flannel robe.
 "Well, well," her face fairly beamed. "If it isn't Bretton. And someone else with you? That's nice. Come in, come in!"

She might have been clothed in the finest raiment, receiving royally, her manner was so warm and hospitable, so dignified and sincere.

Bret performed the introductions; explained the delay that caused them to arrive so late, and that Miss Blyn was to help in the camp office. He said he hoped she would find that she could take Miss Blyn in, and make her feel at home.

"As if a friend of yours would not be heartily welcome!" There was reproach in the small, merry eyes; they rested on him with motherly affection. "That is more than enough for me. I'd be right happy to have you, as my guest, Miss Blyn. I'll have Eloise show you to the south room; you'll find it the most pleasant. And if you'd like to wash up, my boy, I'll see what I can do, meantime, about a bit of something warm. You both must be famished!"

"No need to bother!" Bret protested. "I'll go on over to the hotel; see if they've still held my same room..."

"You'll do no such thing!" Mrs. Parson reproved him. She acted as though being disturbed at midnight, and preparing a bite to eat for her guests, was an ordinary occurrence.

A girl had come down the stairs as far as the landing. She, too, wore a faded, plain wrapper; but she was a very pretty girl. Connie had never seen such hair. It hung like a cloak of glory, nearly to her waist; it was the color of burnished copper.
 "Come on down, Eloise," her mother called. "It's Bret, come home. I reckon you all won't be sorry to hear that!" Her voice held a teasing note; her chin shook with suppressed laughter. "He's brought a friend—which should please you as well, since there are few girls your own age and kind to make friends with around here. Come on down. Bid them both welcome."

The girl came down, though somewhat reluctantly. She started to hold out a slim hand toward Bret, but he laughed, bent his head, gave her cheek a brief caress. "Why so formal!" he chided. "I don't believe you're one bit glad I'm back." Then to Connie: "Eloise and I grew up together; she's practically the same as my own sister. As Aunt Bertha said I, too, hope you girls will become great friends."

Connie extended a hand; the girl accepted it, murmured a quiet greeting. But there was no welcome in her face, not much friendliness. Connie knew the reason. This was the girl whose heart would have been broken, as the old mountain woman had said, had Bret Hardesty brought home a bride.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

Telling adult bedtime stories in a courtroom seldom does much good except to give a thrill to the crowds who shove their way to good seats near the witness stand.

The Cady "How much love is enough?" trial in Chicago is our latest and stickiest example.

Everything that was told to a judge and a court of giggling people have been told to a psychiatrist by the Cady's when they first found their ideas of remarriage were not in harmony.

It's probably too late now for the Cady's to straighten out their own marriage, but this trial may give impetus to the new educational idea of teaching young people what to expect of marriage.

Not that the college courses in marriage are going into this latest question of "How much love is enough?" But they are teaching their students something of the physical side of marriage, which for generations has been skipped over lightly by embarrassed parents and head-in-the-sand educators.

Chances are that a fairly intelligent young couple, marrying after having taken such a straight-forward course, will go to a psychiatrist with their problems if they have any, and get them straightened out in the beginning, instead of letting sex-maladjustment cause another divorce.

This case ought to do even more than awaken the laggard schools to the duty of educating young people in marriage. It should have some influence on the old-fashioned parents who are objecting to the new frankness in college marriage courses.

Almost anyone, it would seem, would rather have a son or daughter face a problem squarely before it is his to work out than to have that son or daughter ruin his own marriage from lack of understanding.

Theatres

AT THE DELFT Teeming with the thrill and excitement of modern day college life with its colorful scholastic competition, comely co-eds and husky heroes held sway at the Delft theatre yesterday with the opening of Columbia's hit campus offering, "All American Sweetheart," featuring Scott Colton and Patricia Farr.

Hitting the timely college theme from a new angle, Columbia glorifies the racing crew athlete, who each year pulls his oars towards the Poughkeepsie finals. This one is meaty in plot, peppy and refreshing and turns the spotlight on a comparatively untouched sport.

America's most widely publicized penitentiary, that "Big Rock" situated in the chill waters of San Francisco bay, is brought to the motion picture screen for the first time in "Alcatraz Island," a thrilling Cosmopolitan melodrama which Warner Bros. presented for its local premiere yesterday at the Delft theatre.

Grim but fascinating is this story of men who live outside the law, and of the men whose duty it is to apprehend and convict them. Every moment is loaded with thrills as this drama moves swiftly to an unexpected and exciting climax.

AT THE MICHIGAN In a picture as tensely exciting as she is excitingly lovely, Annabella, the girl whose loveliness

East and West were nationally famed experts, Theodore A. Lightner and B. J. Becker. South was Walter Halowan, who used to be equally well known to tournament players, but in recent years has confined his bridge to the rubber game and club duplicates. So it was a case of strongly matched players, and Becker, holding the West hand, thought he had a good double of Malowan's three heart bid. Lightner was well satisfied as he, too, held a first rate supply of cards which should take tricks.

Lightner won the first spade trick with the ace and returned the seven of spades which Becker ruffed. Becker now led the diamond six, and East played the nine. Malowan's queen winning the trick. The king of hearts in dummy was cashed, and a club ruffed in the closed hand. Now Malowan laid down his four remaining hearts. East in the meanwhile being forced to discard down to the queen and one spade, the diamond ace and the club three. East and West had taken two tricks, so at this point South led a diamond, forcing East to win, and East led the low club which was won by West. Now dummy won the last two tricks with the diamond king and club queen. The student will note that East would have been no better off by saving the club king, as declarer would then win the last two tricks with the king and jack of spades.

MRS. HAZEN IS FREED BY JURY

Acquittal Verdict Returned Early Friday Morning

After deliberating the evidence for approximately six hours, a circuit court jury of nine men and three women early yesterday morning acquitted Mrs. Ada Hazen of a charge of negligent homicide, a charge growing out of an accident near Manistique May 3, 1937. The case went to the jury at 5:30 Thursday evening and the verdict was returned shortly after one o'clock Friday morning.

Although Mrs. Hazen was charged with the crime of manslaughter, Judge Herbert Runnels instructed the jurors there was no evidence presented to support this charge because it was shown she was wifely and wantonly drove her automobile in a manner which caused the death of Baker. The court instructed the jurors they should confine their deliberations to the lesser crime of negligent homicide and decide whether she was guilty or not guilty of this charge.

NORDMEN NOSED OUT BY 22-21

Free Throws Missed Are Cause of Defeat In Thrilling Game

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 14.—A sluggish Escanaba high school basketball team, resting on its superior record, met a Tartar in an inspired Menominee quintet here tonight and went down to defeat by 22-21 in a scorching battle before a screaming crowd of enthusiastic rooters. In a preliminary, the visiting reserves tipped the local seconds, 23-14.

The visitors, with four victories to their credit, were behind all the way, trailing 9-5 at quarter time and 14-9 at the halfway mark. Both teams scored six points in the hotly contested third quarter.

The Eskymos began to make up things in the final frame but just missed out. Capt. Stan Abrahamson dropped in two pretty field goals and with less than two minutes to go, Eis had an opportunity to win the game with two free throws but missed both and the Eskymos were unable to put in the winning points thereafter.

Captain Deschaine of the locals again led his mates, scoring eight points. His total was topped by his rival captain, who scored nine points.

The Eskymos will entertain Ishpeming next week.

DEAN RETURNS CARD CONTRACT

Big Pitcher Disappoints Management, Gets 50 Percent Cut

Bradenton, Fla., Jan. 14 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals baseball club opened its annual salary show featuring the one and only Dizzy Dean today.

This year, for the first time in a number of seasons, there was a note of pessimism in the speakers' ballyhoo. "Old Diz" wasn't so hot last season—winning only 13 games and losing 10—so the Cards would cut his pay more than 50 per cent.

The Cards mailed Dean a contract calling for $10,000 for one season on the mound. Branch Rickey, president of the club, said this was a cut of $13,500.

"Old Diz," receiving the contract here, immediately declared he would return it unsigned, and insisted the $10,000 offer represented a cut of $15,500.

"We made Dizzy a straight unqualified offer of $10,000 for his services in 1938," said Rickey. "There are no clauses providing for a bonus based on victories or anything else. It is what we thought we ought to offer him in view of circumstances."

The big pitcher—voted the major disappointment of the 1937 sports world—said:

"I expected a cut—but not such a big one. When I was winning 20 or more games a season for the Cardinals they didn't raise my pay by $15,500, so why should they cut me that much when I happened to have a bad season through no fault of my own?"

"I think I am entitled to at least $30,000 this year. Certainly my salary shouldn't be trimmed to less than $17,500. That's positively the lowest they can go if they expect me to pitch and I don't know that I will accept that. I'm sending my contract back."

Asked to comment, Rickey said: "We want all our players signed and all of them satisfied. We believe that we will reach an agreement with Dean and that he will be in uniform at the scheduled time, ready to give his best efforts."

NOT FAR APART

St. Louis, Jan. 14 (AP)—Baseball fans who have tried to keep up with the annual pocketbook wrangles—and verbal curves—between Cardinal bosses and their big worry, Dizzy Dean, scratched their heads tonight and wondered if "them good old days" are gone.

Certainly the Dizzy one and the gentlemen who hand out the cash are not as widely separated in their views as they were a year ago at this time.

Dizzy was demanding $50,000 for 1937, whereas his reported 1936 salary was raised to $22,185 after weeks of argument. He

Soo Blue Devils Play Mather High

Munising, Jan. 14.—The Mather high school squad expect a tough battle here Saturday night when the strong Soo Blue Devils come here for the first game of a home-and-home series.

The Munising squad will meet the Shadford quintet at Negaunee tonight and the outcome of that game will show their strength.

The Mather and Blue squad will visit to the Blue Devils earlier in the season. Both Munising and Soo have bowed to the Hemattite squad by close margins and on the basis of those two games the tilt tomorrow night should prove to be an interesting one.

Last year the Soo quintet took their game with the Matherites, 29-16, and Coach Peterson's boys are hoping to even the score tomorrow evening. The Mather squad will meet the Soo again at the Soo on March 4.

A preliminary game will be played at 7:15 o'clock and the main game will start at 8:15.

LOCAL SKATERS AT STATE MEET

16 Speedsters Leave for Alpena Championships Yesterday

Skaters representing several cities in Michigan will compete in the state meet at Alpena today and Sunday. Escanaba, the only city in Upper Michigan being represented, has sixteen skaters together with their coach, Alvin Ness, and expects to afford lively competition for the down-towners.

Norman Seymour, Gene Hebert and Kenneth Gallagher are entering the senior division. John Hebert, James McMonagle and Donald Campbell will uphold the intermediates. In the junior division Francis Ryan, Edward Hirn and Bill Stoll have entered. In the senior section for women are Laura Johnson and Delvine Hebert. Francis Jerow and Marion Hebert are in the girl's intermediates. Lila Mae Ness is the sole supporter for the junior section, and Dale Wood and Robert Perron are competing in the midget class.

Ceremonies will be staged at Alpena with the events including speed and fancy figure skaters. Michigan State Leaguers and forty skaters from Detroit beginning at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The skaters from Escanaba are members of the Bay de Noc Speed Skaters club under Alvin Ness, having sponsored the trip by raising funds through associate membership cards and using the proceeds from the concession stand at the Ludington park rink at the local speed meet last Saturday and Sunday to defray their expenses.

CUBS DICKERING TO LAND MUNGO

Brooklyn Not Satisfied With $75,000 and Four Players

Brooklyn, Jan. 14 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs have made a new offer of $75,000 and four players to the Dodgers for Van Lingle Mungo, but the Brooklyn club is not satisfied with the playing material it would receive in the transaction, it was learned from a reliable source today.

The Cubs offered, in addition to cash, First Base man Rip Collins, infielder Lonnie Frey (an ex-Dodger), outfielder Joe Marty and pitcher Clyde Shoun.

The Dodger reply, in effect, was "we want better players and less cash."

A deal for the Dodgers' fireball pitching ace has been on the fire ever since last season. The Cubs and New York Giants have been reported in the van in the bidding, but recently the Giants were said to have ceased negotiations, because of the Dodgers' demand that Mel Ott be included in any transaction.

Florida Net Bout Moves To Finals

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 14. (AP)—Wayne Sabin of Hollywood, Calif., stroked his way into the final round of the Nautilus tennis tournament today with a four-set victory over Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., as officials here for the United States Lawn Tennis association's annual meeting tomorrow looked on.

The scores were 6-3, 3-6, 6-0, 6-4.

Sabin will meet the winner of tomorrow's semi-final match between top-seeded Bobby Riggs of Chicago and Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., in the final Sunday.

threatened to retire from baseball last March, but ultimately signed for what he said was $25,500.

That was $24,500 less than $3,300 above his 1936 salary.

At present a mere $7,500 to $10,000 sum seems to separate Diz and bosses Branch Rickey and Sam Breadon.

RAPID LOSES FIRST BATTLE

Trenary Crew Noses Out Sawmill Towners by 26-24 Score

Gladstone, Mich., Jan. 14.—Failure to connect with field goals in spite of a large number of set-ups proved the downfall of Rapid River high school cagers here tonight as they were nosed out by Trenary, 26-24. In the preliminary, the Trenary reserves won 27-7 over the Rapid second team.

The game, which was played at Gladstone high school gym because of the fire which destroyed the Rapid River gym last week, was the first class D defeat of the year for the boys from the head of the bay.

A fast start and driving finish were not enough to provide victory for the Wittala coached crew, who bogged down during the second and third quarters.

Boyer and Carlson led the Rapid River attack while Trenary's scoring was well divided. Referee Ruwlich of Escanaba calling 18 fouls on Rapid River and 16 on Trenary. Nelson and Ebbeson of Rapid River and L. Latvala of Trenary were foul victims.

LASH WILL AIM AT NEW RECORD

Hoosier Iron Man All Set To Break Mark Set By Nurmi

New York, Jan. 14 (AP)—Don Lash, sandy-haired Indiana iron man, will make his first official record attempt of the indoor track season tomorrow night at the 69th Regiment A. A. meet in the Regimental Armory.

The Hoosier is one of five entries in the Joyce Kilmer two-mile special. But it's the 3,000-meter mark of 8:26.4 credited to Paavo Nurmi, rather than the two-mile standard which he himself set last winter, at which Lash will be aiming.

Everything is being done to aid him in his attempt. Special timers will clock the runners at 3,000 meters, 240 yards short of two miles. In addition the two-milers will be permitted to wear spikes, though there is a rule prohibiting their use on Armory floors. An exception was made in this case since the Armory is due to get a new floor in March in any event.

Ranged against Lash, who also will seek to lower the Citizen's 3,000-meter record of 8:27.4 set by Archie Stearns Roman a week ago, will be veteran Joe McCluskey, national 5,000-meter champion who ran one of the best races of his career last week; Eino Pentti, Millrose A. A. distance star; J. Errol Vaughn, metropolitan six-mile champion, and Paul Kanaly of Belmont, Mass., son of the Yale track coach.

Sam Romani and Glenn Cunningham, crack mile rivals, are entered in separate events. Sam Romani's chief rival in the three-quarter mile race will be Lou Burns of Manhattan, I. C. A. A. champion. Howie Brock, Manhattan captain and 1:56.4 half-mile, will be the chief threat to Cunningham in the 1,000-yard test.

Outboard Champion Has Ten-Pound Son

Bay City (AP)—Mrs. Earl J. Wuepper, the former Hilda Mueller, once holder of the world's class A outboard motor boat champion, is the mother of a 10-pound boy.

BLONDY OLSON FREED

Menominee—Jean "Blondy" Olson was free today and Forrest Williams, (Doc Donovan) is in jail starting a 60-day sentence for contempt of court at the close of a Marinette county circuit court trial of charges that she shot him.

Marinette Circuit Judge A. F. Murphy today approved a motion of Marinette District Attorney Richard P. Murray to dismiss a felonious assault charge against Miss Olson. A $2,000 bail bond under which Miss Olson had been at liberty was released and the 23-year-old blonde was freed.

The motion of the district attorney followed a report by a circuit jury last night at 9:30 o'clock that it was unable to arrive at a verdict after nine and one-half hours deliberation. The jury was dismissed.

SLATE RE-ELECTED

New York, Jan. 14 (AP)—The National Outboard Association today re-elected its entire slate of officers at its annual meeting, held in conjunction with the motorboat show.

SPILLING the DOPE

An interesting story is told how Bernie Bierman, Minnesota grid coach who has been in Escanaba several times, lines up his football material. . . . It is said that, in the spring and early fall, Bierman makes the rounds of the farming country throughout Minnesota, North Dakota and surrounding territory, looking for grid prospects. . . . everytime he sees a husky, young farmer plowing, he stops and asks the way to the next town. . . . if the kid points the direction with his finger, Bierman moves on but, if he picks up the plow and points the way, Bernie gets him interested in going to the University of Minnesota to get a higher education—in football!

Apparently plenty of Minnesota farm boys pointed with plows instead of fingers last fall because the frosh team was considered one of the best in the history of the school. . . . they're already singing the praises of several of the boys on the green squad and some of the veterans will have to look toward their laurels next year, if reports are to be believed. . . . it is interesting to note that almost every one of Minnesota's gridgers and other athletes lives within a 100 mile radius of Minneapolis. . . . looks like the athletic department does not believe in paying traveling expenses for the far-away athlete when it can get them cheaper. . . . not a bad idea.

Nose Out St. Ignace By 24-22 to Avenge First Defeat

Manistique, Mich., Jan. 14.—Clinging tenaciously to a narrow lead, Manistique basketball team nosed out St. Ignace by a score of 24-22 here tonight, thereby avenging a defeat earlier in the season. The Manistique seconds defeated St. Ignace reserves, 33-18.

Manistique, led by Noe and Slough held a small lead throughout the game and at no time was the result of the game ever assured. The Saints put on a driving last quarter finish, scoring six points to but three for the locals, but were unable to knot the count in spite of the fact that the Emeralds played much of the last quarter without Jordan, who was lost on fouls.

Noe scored nine points to lead his mates while Brown, St. Ignace guard, was the game's high scorer with 10 points.

Levin's Right Proves Useful In Wrestling Debut

Chicago, Jan. 14 (AP)—King Levin's "roundhouse right," the hay-maker punch which earned him about $300,000 as a prize fighter, served him well as he made his Chicago debut as a wrestler tonight.

Before a throng of 2,000 yelling fans at Marigold Gardens, Levin's defeated Pat Murphy of Chicago in one minute, eight seconds of a half hour time limit affair. The word "defeated" took a lot of territory. Levin's, lashed by "Murphy's hair-pulling tactics, suddenly let go with a right hand punch which knocked Murphy out of the ring.

Murphy, shaking his head, stumbled back into the squared circle, only to meet another punch. The King started from the floor. Then it was a simple matter for the former Maxwell street fish peddler to pin Murphy's shoulders to the canvas in orthodox manner, Levin's, in winning his fourth start as a grappler, weighed 230 pounds to 205 for Murphy.

RACKHAM FUND HELPS COLLEGE

Michigan State Receives $500,000 Trust Fund Endowment

East Lansing, Jan. 14 (AP)—Michigan State college officials disclosed today that the college has received a $500,000 trust endowment for agricultural and chemurgic research from the Horace H. Rackham and Mary R. Rackham fund.

Robert S. Shaw, president of the college, said the gift would establish the Horace H. Rackham research endowment of the Michigan State college of agriculture and applied science.

Rackham was an early associate of Henry Ford. His widow still lives in Detroit.

The board of trustees selected to administer the income from the endowment is composed of Shaw, V. R. Gardner, director of the experimental station at the college; Hudson McCarroll, head of the chemical and metallurgical laboratory of the Ford Motor company; Michael A. Gorman, editor of the Wint Journal and Dexter Horton, of Ann Arbor.

Shaw said tentative plans for utilization of the endowment call for a study of the development of industrial uses for farm waste materials. He said work would get under way in the near future.

Communities Are Urged To Create Public Forests

The U. S. Forest Service is launching a campaign for the establishment of community forest by cities and towns as a recreational and revenue measure. The movement is headed by F. S. Silcox, chief forester, who states that the plan will bring into practical use several million acres of submarginal and tax delinquent land now idle in various parts of the country. The idea has been followed successfully in Europe for many years.

Mr. Silcox has neglected to mention that Michigan has had considerable experience along this line since the Legislature of 1931 enacted a law for the building and maintenance of county, township, city, village and school forests.

Says Albert Stoll, Jr., in the Detroit News: "Unfortunately, the plan has not been as successful as contemplated, but many school districts and communities throughout northern Michigan have taken advantage of it. Most of these smaller forests have been established on tax delinquent land adjacent to the communities that were acquired from the state for a small sum. The state has furnished seedling trees for planting and advice on how to carry on the administration.

Numerous forest plots of this nature are now growing healthily in various parts of upper Michigan. In some cases the land was donated by the Von Platen-Fox company, the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Company, the Ford Motor Company and other organizations and individuals, and in others lease for the purpose was given without charge. The Upper Peninsula Development Bureau started several of these plots about the time the national forest movement began in the peninsula, largely as an object lesson in the fast growth of evergreen species here, and without exception they have done well.

State activities in this line are handled through the state college and the county agents who, working with the college extension office in the Upper Peninsula, have helped schools and clubs to establish community forests in their areas. Municipalities can now carry on such projects legally, and accept money gifts for maintenance, in addition to levying a tax up to one-tenth of a mill per dollar of assessed valuation, if approved by vote.

Under the law, all income from producing forests reverts to the general fund of the city or other agency establishing the forest. Many European political units now derive a large part of their income from well conducted forested areas. Michigan now has about 5,000 acres in forests of this type and, says Mr. Stoll, the total could be increased easily to 50,000 acres or more.

More Veto Powers Granted President Stir Up Rebellion

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—Angry members of the house appropriations committee joined today in an almost unprecedented "post mortem" rebellion against legislation giving President Roosevelt power to veto individual items in an appropriation bill.

Members said the committee decided to try to get the senate to nullify the "item veto" power approved by the house earlier this week.

Provision for the presidential vetoes was added to the independent office appropriation bill late last Tuesday when few house members were on the floor. Much criticism since has been directed at the amendment and its author, Representative Woodrum (D-Va.), the chairman of the subcommittee in charge of the bill.

The appropriations committee decided to have Chairman Taylor (D-Colo.) confer with the senate appropriations committee, which now has the bill.

Charge Of Dodging Gas Tax Dismissed

Lansing, Jan. 14 (AP)—Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr today freed Robert White, wholesale gasoline distributor of Detroit, of a charge of embezzlement of $7,543 in gasoline tax money from the state.

White, who had been bound over to circuit court on the charge, filed a motion to quash the information on the ground that it did not charge any offense.

The motion was granted by Judge Carr, who held that at the time of the offense charged and prior to the time that an amendment to the gasoline tax law last year became effective, a distributor of gasoline was not liable to prosecution for embezzlement because of failure to pay as required by the statute.

The court ruled that the legislature, by enactment of the amendment to the gasoline tax law, implied that failure on the part of a wholesale distributor to pay the tax should not constitute embezzlement.

President Honors "Softy" Reporters

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt, who called those newspapermen "softies" who complained of sleeping in heatless and leaking tourist cabins during a cold and wet overnight stop with him at Lake Crescent, Wash., last fall, carried the joke a step farther today.

He presented the reporters a painting of the lake, situated on Olympic peninsula, to be hung in the White House press room with this card in his own handwriting: "To my boys: In memory of their heroic and uncomplaining courage—September 30, 1937. Franklin D. Roosevelt."

BAD AXE, MICH. MAN CONVICTED

Huron County Farmer Found Guilty of Killing Friend

Bad Axe, Mich., Jan. 14 (AP)—Robert Mandich, 54-year-old Huron county farmer, was convicted of manslaughter tonight by a circuit court jury for the shooting of Sam Popovich, 47, last August.

Mandich, who had broken down and cried as defense counsel made its closing argument, regained his composure and was stilled when he heard the jury report its verdict to Judge N. A. Boomhower after deliberating one hour and 20 minutes.

Sentence will be pronounced later. The penalty may be probation up to 15 years' imprisonment.

The state charged Mandich with lying in ambush to kill Popovich, who had been his friend and partner in farming for 20 years. The defense contended Mandich acted in self-defense and contended that Popovich had alienated Mandich's sons and stolen the love of his wife, Dorothy.

Mandich himself was the principal defense witness. The prosecution witnesses included the defendants' three sons.

Insult To Hitler, Just Free Speech, Ambassador Told

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—Secretary Hull met an official German protest against a bitter anti-Hitler speech by former Ambassador William E. Dodd today with an explanation that American citizens enjoy the right of free speech.

Hans Heinrich Dieckhoff, the German ambassador, visited the state department to tell Hull that Dodd, who recently resigned from the diplomatic corps after five years as American envoy at Berlin, had insulted Hitler in an address in New York last night.

In particular, he was aroused by Dodd's statements that under Hitler "almost as many personal opponents were killed in five years as Charles II (King of England) executed in 20 years of the 17th century," and that Hitler is "now more absolute than any medieval emperor of Germany."

Hull replied that Dodd had resigned his ambassadorship, was now a private citizen and therefore enjoyed the freedom of speech guaranteed him by the constitution.

Big Gas Well Afire In Montcalm County

Mt Pleasant, Mich., Jan. 14 (AP)—A fire shooting 70 feet toward the sky at the W. S. Eckert No. 2 gas well, near Six Lakes, was extinguished tonight when five volunteer oil workers joined pipe to make a crude wrench and shut the master gate.

P. A. Roe, of Mecosta, led a crew of five in braving the flames at the well, which had a daily flow of nearly 30,000,000 cubic feet. The fire was attributed to a heating device used to prevent freezing of control valves.

The Superior Drilling company, owned the well, which was drilled almost two years ago and supplied the Consumers Power company.

BONNET TAKES HELM IN PARIS

Paris, Jan. 14 (AP)—Georges Bonnet, diplomat and financial expert, tonight tried to pull together the shattered remnants of the government to solve the labor and economic problems that forced Camille Chautemps out of office.

Bonnet, finance minister in Chautemps' cabinet and like him a Radical-Socialist, promised to give President Albert Lebrun his answer tomorrow.

He conferred late into the night with political leaders of the government coalition which collapsed early today.

At least two other persons refused the post before Bonnet accepted the task of whipping the Communists, Socialists and Radical-Socialists once again into the people's front that ruled France for 19 months.

The still spreading wave of strikes and the threat to France's prestige among her already wavering allies in central Europe hastened Lebrun's efforts to obtain a new government.

SPANISH TROOP TRAIN WRECKED

Government Expects New Insurgent Drive in Teruel Sector

Hendaye, France, At the Spanish Frontier, Jan. 14 (AP)—Insurgent bombing planes today were reported to have destroyed an entire train bringing up government reinforcements to the Teruel front in eastern Spain.

The insurgent dispatches said the government was moving new troops into the hotly-contested sector in anticipation of a new insurgent offensive. Teruel was captured by the government late in December in a drive that caught the insurgent garrison by surprise.

The insurgent offensive, border advice indicated, was likely to get under way as soon as the rains let up.

There were also reports of a plan for a direct assault on Madrid, the long-besieged capital 125 miles west of Teruel. It was generally admitted, however, even by the insurgents, that considerably more than 100,000 men would be necessary for such an attempt.

Harvesting Of Ice Will Start Soon

Annual ice harvest, the cutting and storing of winter's natural product, will begin Monday or Tuesday of next week, S. M. Johnson said yesterday.

Approximately 25 men are expected to be employed during the harvest. Power saws are employed in cutting through the ice floor, which is approximately 12 inches thick. The ice blocks then are hauled by sledge to the storage houses where they are kept until needed.

The ice is said to be of a fine quality this year, although somewhat rough at the surface.

Operations will begin off the north shore docks.

CHINESE TAKE TSINING WITH SUDDEN DRIVE

Resistance in northern Shansi province. Generals Displaced

Two of the best known military figures in China were reported to have been relieved of their commands. Peng Yu-Hsiang, China's picturesque "Christian" general, was said to have been replaced by Gen. Chen Chien, vice-minister of war, as commander of the Peiping-Hankow railroad zone.

Gen. Yen Hsi-Shan, one-time virtually omnipotent governor of Shansi province, was reported to have been displaced by Gen. Chu Teh, leader of the Chinese communists, as commander of the guerrilla warfare in the north.

Foreigners in Peiping estimated 100,000 Chinese communists and irregulars were operating in north China, cutting Japanese communications and holding positions, in one case at least, only 20 miles from Peiping.

COMMUNISTS ACTIVE

Peiping, Jan. 14 (AP)—Foreign observers today estimated 100,000 Chinese communist and irregular troops were operating against the Japanese armies attempting to consolidate their conquest of north China.

These troops—Japanese admit their number at least 30,000—have been concentrated mostly in Shansi province but some have approached to within a few miles of Peiping, seat of the Japanese-inspired "provisional government of China."

One unit of the red army fought a five hour battle with Japanese troops Tuesday near Mentoukou, 20 miles west of Peiping, before they were driven off.

Railroad Raided
(Mailed dispatches from Peiping have indicated the Japanese "conquest" in north China extends but a few miles beyond the railway zones, the routes followed by the advancing Japanese. Communications are harried constantly and in many cases the irregulars close in behind the Japanese.)

Nightly raids by Chinese communists on the railroad in east Shansi province were reported to have caused frequent Japanese casualties and interruptions in service.

Unofficial Japanese advices said the communists killed a train guard and wounded several Japanese, including two newspaper correspondents, yesterday by dropping grenades from high cliffs on a train traveling on the narrow gauge railroad from Shihchiachung, Hopeh province, to Taiyuan, Shansi province capital.

Japanese authorities estimated there were 5,000 Chinese communist troops in north Shansi province.

U. S. PROTESTS

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—The United States has protested to Japan once more against violation of American property rights in China.

The state department announced today that Consul John M. Allison at Nanking had notified the Japanese embassy in Nanking that Japanese soldiers continued to enter American property there and remove goods and employes of American institutions, despite a previous American protest.

Allison cabled that the soldiers did this without giving notice of, or reasons for, their action.

The employes of American institutions mentioned in Allison's dispatch today were believed to be Chinese. The American property referred to lies outside the embassy compound.
