

PERSONALS

CLUB—FEATURES—

WOMAN'S PAGE

FASHIONS—ACTIVITIES—

SOCIETY

AMY BOLGER, Editor, Phone 692

Social-Club

Guild Pasty Sale
St. Stephen's Guild will hold a pasty sale Thursday, January 20, at the church.

Party Successful
The party sponsored by the U. A. W. Auxiliary Saturday evening at the Eagles hall was well attended.

G. I. A. Meeting
The G. I. A. to the B. of L. E. will hold a regular meeting this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Grenier's hall.

Eastern Star Meeting
A regular meeting of R. C. Hatheway Chapter, No. 49, Order of the Eastern Star, will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Masonic Temple.

Ald Social Meeting
The Ladies' Aid of the Swedish Mission church will hold its first social meeting of the year Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the church parlors.

Farewell Party
Mrs. Carl Wicklund, 911 South Tenth street, entertained at a 6:30 o'clock dinner Sunday evening at her home in honor of Mrs. Edith Bloom who is leaving this week for Philadelphia.

Bridge and five hundred were played following dinner. Mrs. Walter Pierson, Mrs. L. A. Stade, Mrs. Gustafson and Miss Leah Gundon holding high scores.

Birth Party
Miss Therese Margaret Weber

MOTHER'S SPAGHETTI advertisement with image of product box

EMIL VIAU'S CASH MARKET advertisement with list of goods and prices

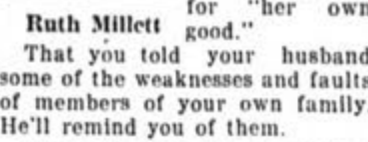

This Week's High Spot Specials advertisement with list of food items and prices

A & P Food Stores advertisement with address and phone number

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

You'll be sorry later—that you advised Mary not to marry Dick. For she will. And you will lose a friend.

That you told three of your best friends about the fight you had last night with your husband. Tomorrow, when the quarrel is made up, they'll still remember.

That you passed a bit of damaging gossip along its way. For you don't really want to cause another's downfall.

That you told anyone anything for "her own Ruth Millett good."

That you told your husband some of the weaknesses and faults of members of your own family. He'll remind you of them.

That you gave anyone a "piece of your mind." It's a piece you won't want to reclaim when your anger has worn itself down.

That you "rang down" another girl when a young man mentioned her name. The disinterested way he takes your criticism ought to show you that you made a big mistake in voicing it.

That you rearranged the truth to suit your own convenience. Chances are you'll be embarrassed by being found out.

That you ever pretended to be something you aren't. It's such hard work.

That you started pursuing the good looking man who stopped pursuing you. You'll end up without him—and without your pride.

That you listened to the advice of your friends. Unless they advised you to do what you wanted to do all along.

That you made yourself into your idea of a "perfect wife." You'll even bore yourself.

That you put on an indifferent act for the man you've been prying will want to see you again.

You'll be sorry—but, oh, so human.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Needham, 923 Ludington street, are the parents of a son, born Monday morning, January 17, at St. Francis hospital.

POWERS

SURPRISE PARTY

Powers, Mich.—Mrs. Matilda Borden was pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening, January 5th, when a group of friends and relatives helped her celebrate a birthday anniversary.

The evening was spent playing buncos and 500. Awards were won by Mrs. John Houle high, Mrs. F. Bronson Mattard was high and Mrs. Matilda Borden was low.

Lunch was served at the close of play. Mrs. Borden was presented with a number of pretty gifts.

Out of town guests included Mrs. John Houle, Mrs. Irvie Borden, Mrs. Clarence Houle and Mrs. Will Bruner of Escanaba.

P. T. A. MEETING

The township unit Parent-Teacher's association held its regular meeting Tuesday evening in the high school. The attendance was fair.

After the business session the following program was rendered: Solo, A Brown Bird Singing—Miss M. E. Peterson, Dorothy Kass, accompanist.

Duet, Shadow Time—Miss Julia Lebeau and Peter Kass. Address, Child Psychology—Joseph Gucky.

SEWING CLUB MEETS

The B. B. Sewing Club met at the home of Mrs. Ed Berg, Wednesday afternoon.

HOME EXTENSION COURSE MEETING

The home economics extension group will meet Tuesday evening in the high school at 7:30. The project selected this year is home furnishings.

SCHOOL SERVES HOT LUNCH

Beginning January 3rd, the children of the local school have been supplied with a hot lunch at noon. The menu includes soups, creamed vegetables or cocoa.

A small fee is charged each child, or if he or she chooses to supply a vegetable or necessary article used in preparing the hot lunch, then he may "trade out" that many lunches.

The WPA has supplied an experienced cook, Mrs. Joe Glickner, to do the work, with several WPA young ladies assisting in the serving.

CARD PARTY

Mrs. R. A. Lalond entertained members of the 500 club at her home Wednesday evening. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Edna Courneau, first, Miss Julia Lebeau, second and Mrs. Alex Bouty consolation.

STEPPED-UP FLAVOR

One-fourth cup cooked crisp bacon added to corn sticks or bread batter when baked, gives a delicious flavor which goes well with a breakfast or luncheon main dish.

Single Design For Smock Or House Frock

BY MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9602

You can have a lot of fun with Pattern 9602, because you can make two entirely different garments from it . . . a smock that buttons down the back or a neat and attractive house dress that buttons down the front.

Pattern 9602 may be ordered only in misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 requires 4 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric and 1 1/2 yards ric-rac.

GARDEN NEWS

Juniors' Party
Garden, Mich.—The Junior class of the High school sponsored a card party at the St. John Hall Thursday evening when contests in 500 resulted in awards for Raymond Gravelle, Ray E. Ranguette and Charles Winter.

Personals
Clifford Anderson of Carney, nephew of Mrs. Lydia Knutsen, is spending some time at the Bay View hotel.

Mrs. John Heric and two daughters of Manistique visited relatives here Thursday afternoon.

Among the children who have been out of school during the past week with colds are Norval, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Farley, Alan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dotsch and Eleanor Mae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. La Belle.

Oliver Guertin was down from camp on the Nahma line Thursday.

Gordon, son of Mrs. Mary McPhee, is confined in the Marine hospital in Detroit.

RELISHES INTO CANAPES

Leftover relishes can be utilized for making salads or sandwich and canape spreads. Leftover preserves make fillings and toppings for cookies, tarts or bread fingers.

Church Events

Swedish Mission Choir
The Swedish Mission choir will hold its regular meeting at the church at 8 o'clock this evening.

Bethany Lutheran Aid
The Ladies' Aid society of the Bethany Lutheran church will hold a pantry sale at the Andrews furniture store Saturday morning.

Theatres

AT THE DELFT

"The Firefly," which came to the Delft Theatre Sunday, is the combination of music and drama for which the public has been waiting.

Here is Jeanette MacDonald more romantic and far more talented in her seventeenth starring musical picture than she ever was before.

Here, too, is Allan Jones, brilliant young tenor, who has accomplished in "The Firefly" what Nelson Eddy did in "Naughty Marietta," also with Jeanette MacDonald.

AT THE MICHIGAN

"Submarine D-1," a melodrama dealing with the exploits of Uncle Sam's undersea boats and the gallant lads who man them, thrilled enthusiastic audiences Sunday and Monday at the Michigan theatre.

The picture is authentic as well as stirring, for it was made with the complete cooperation of the Navy, which turned over to the movie-makers all its facilities at Newport, R. I., Cocos Coco in the Panama Canal Zone, and San Diego, Calif.

There are scores of battleships, cruisers, destroyers and airplanes taking part, and many hundreds of jobs and marines are seen going through their peace-time and war-time duties.

Perking up vegetables
Add one-fourth teaspoon of nutmeg to a cup of vegetable white sauce and use for covering cooked turnips, cabbage, onions or cauliflower. It will make a pleasing flavor contrast.

McKenney On Bridge

By William E. McKenney, Secretary, American Bridge League

AN AUTOMATIC SQUEEZE

Declarer, Faced with Bad Distribution, Makes Little Slam Contract by Expert Play

Bert Schmidt of New York is one of the small but interesting group

Bridge hand analysis with card symbols and dealer information

Webster P-T Will Hear Dr. Lanting

The Webster Parent-Teacher association will hold its January meeting at the school this afternoon at 3:45 o'clock with Dr. Roslof Lanting, director of the Delta County Health unit, as the principal speaker.

MONOGRAMS FOR PIES

Prick the top crust of the two-crust pie with the initial of the filling. This is a convenience if you are sending pies to a sale or community dinner. It also gives quite a professional touch.

Caught a Cold?

VICKS VAPORUB advertisement with image of product box

Salvation Army Head

Salvation Army crossword puzzle grid and clues

Salvation Army advertisement with image of a woman's face

Bucilla Art Needlework and Yarns advertisement with large text and images

On The RECORD

By Dorothy Thompson

An Imaginary Interview

Dorothy Thompson

Yesterday morning Mr. Sloan Weidler and Mr. John Lowelyn Legreen came together in the office of the President of the United States. Just how this interview was arranged is not clear. It seems that the President telegraphed to Mr. Weidler to come down, and that his wire crossed with one from Mr. Weidler, requesting a n interview. Mr. Weidler had also wired Mr. Legreen, requesting his presence, which was convenient, because Mr. Legreen had just made the same request of the President.

This reporter was present during part of the session and a partial stenographic report follows:

THE PRESIDENT: Well, boys, what can I do for you?

MR. WEIDLER: I'm not quite sure, Mr. President, but that isn't what I came down about. I came to ask the same question of you.

MR. LEGREEN: That's just my idea. What can we do for each other? You see, it looks like we're all in the same boat. I want to get higher wages and shorter hours for the men I represent, and better living conditions altogether. But I can't get any of them, if they haven't got any jobs at all. So I thought we might talk about that.

MR. WEIDLER: Now, John, that was just my idea. Because the organization I happen to represent.

THE PRESIDENT: Which one? The Chamber of Commerce or the American Manufacturers' Association?

MR. WEIDLER: Neither of them. A brand new organization that I want to tell you about. But first I want to say that I agree with John. You see, if I am laying off men, it means that I am not making any money for my stockholders, or any money out of which to pay taxes—to you.

THE PRESIDENT: You've put your finger on just what's bothering me. The figures from the unemployment census keep me awake nights. Because just between you and me, that's what all the trouble in the world is about. All these class struggles, revolutionary movements, racial and minority persecutions.

MR. WEIDLER: And autocratic bureaucracies and regimentation.

THE PRESIDENT: All right; include them, too—but they are all the result of only one thing: competition between men for an insufficiency of jobs.

MR. LEGREEN: A man's got to live. His job is his own property, Mr. Weidler. We're out to protect that property.

MR. WEIDLER: I haven't got any quarrel with that, either.

MR. LEGREEN: Sure, but the moment there are a lot of us on the market, you begin cutting wages left and right.

MR. WEIDLER: That's what the new organization that I represent is about. You see, we've had employers' organizations for a long time. They represented the profit-taking end of industry. Whether you were a big wig in the organization depended pretty much on what your annual turnover was. Well, we've decided that that is an old-fashioned point of view.

THE PRESIDENT: That's good news. I've always said if the good majority of business men weren't wagged by the tail of a wicked minority.

MR. WEIDLER: Do you awfully mind if we drop that good and bad business? You know, in my experience, I've found that human beings are pretty much alike, all of them. They're greedy, imitative, egotistic, amorous, aggressive, possessive, and like all vertebrate animals from the fish upward—if it is upward—they are grabbers.

THE PRESIDENT: Well, they shouldn't be. Some day the race will evolve into men whose egos are sunk in social consciousness, whose greed is disciplined by affectionate solidarity.

MR. WEIDLER: I hope you're right, Mr. President, but we can't wait for that.

MR. LEGREEN: Weidler's right.

MR. WEIDLER: And, meanwhile, all of us have one common aim: All of us, good and bad, wise and foolish—you and I, and Mr. Legreen here.

THE PRESIDENT: What's that?

MR. WEIDLER: You tell him, Legreen.

MR. LEGREEN: We want to survive. We want to be survivors of this shipwreck.

MR. WEIDLER: So, we have founded an Employers' Survivors' Association. We've begun by admitting to ourselves that profit-taking is just one part of modern industry. We've got three duties, those of us who are managers. One is to our stockholders, who ought to get a little more return from their risk than they get from municipal bonds. One is to the Nation, for whom we run the industry; and one is to labor, who together with us, makes the wheels go around. So we have founded this new Survivors' Association with these three ideas in mind. We're going to set some professional standards, sort of like the American College of Physicians. We're going to agree that all the members pay a certain minimum wage—we'll work

Richest Girl in the World

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CONSTANCE CORBY—heroine; richest girl in the world.
BRET HARDESTY—hero; bridge builder.
RODNEY BRANDON—Connie's fiancé.
KATIE BLYN—Connie's "double."

Yesterday, Eloise discovers the jewels in Katie's room, tells Bret. At that moment Katie enters, challenges Bret to believe she is honest.

CHAPTER XI

"You should know better than that," Bret answered Connie's question. His dark eyes looked into hers. Now they were completely unguarded, all barriers let down.

So that, looking into them, she saw what she had wanted to see and all her anger was melted. Her own eyes grew soft and shining. "That's all that matters," she said simply. It seemed to her, in this breathless moment, that it was she had forgotten that she was Constance Corby. Forgotten that Bret did not know who she was. That the day must come when she must tell him. She had forgotten Eloise's bitter accusation. Just as now, looking into each other's eyes, they both had forgotten the other girl's existence.

They did not notice even when she got up quietly and slipped from the room.

Two long strides brought Bret to Connie's side. He took her hands in his. "Dearest," he said, and his voice was husky, "you know that I don't care who you are, or have been. I only know that you're the only girl in the world for me. And that I love you."

"And I love you, Bret Hardesty," Connie said. And then, "Please," she whispered, "aren't you going to kiss me?"

Now she knew why she had changed places with Katie Blyn, why she had left her golden world, why she had been born! This was that lovely, secret romance that she had sought. This was the heart's desire that Bret had wished for her.

"Fetch a wrap of some sort," Bret said, after he had kissed her, without any more urging, and most completely. "We'll take a walk, darling. Climb up to the top of the hill by the little church—look at the stars. Hurry! I want to tell you again how much I love you!"

"And you're the gentleman who claimed he had no time for romance!" Connie chided gayly.

"You're the lady who predicted I'd learn," he reminded.

Upstairs at the door of her room Connie encountered Eloise. Her pale face was streaked; her eyes red and swollen. "I wanted to tell you I'm sorry," she murmured. "I didn't mean to say the things I did. I know you're not a thief, Miss Blyn. I know I had no right. It's just..." Her voice faltered, she turned her head; she could not go on.

Connie put her arms around her, drew her close. "I understand," she told this girl whose defeat was her triumph, who had given her heart into the same man's keeping. "Better than you think I do. Come in a moment, Eloise, please." She drew the girl on inside, closed the door behind them.

From the big oak bureau Connie took the emerald brooch, the ring, the exquisite gleaming pearls. "They were my mother's," she told Eloise, for that was true. "She left them to me. I want you to have these pearls." As she spoke she clasped them around the slender white throat. "They look like you, Eloise. They are like you. See—look in the mirror! Aren't they becoming? As translucent and lovely as your skin, a fitting compliment to your gorgeous hair."

"Oh, but I couldn't accept them," Eloise stared at her mirrored reflection. The pearls did indeed become her. Why! she could look like a princess, too, had she had the fine manner. Never in her life had she looked like this, hoped to own anything so beautiful.

"Of course you can accept them. I shall be hurt if you refuse," Connie said. "I want you to have them, Eloise. I want to give them to you."

"Little enough to give, when she had so much more. Though Connie was not thinking of her millions. She was thinking of Bret who waited downstairs to walk with her to the top of the hill, to tell her again that he loved her."

"After what I said about you who employs anybody under the age of sixteen. Also no one can join who's opposed to independent honor to join this organization."

THE PRESIDENT: Why, that's the old Blue Eagle stuff that I thought you didn't like.

MR. WEIDLER: The difference is it isn't complicated and it's voluntary. And we're not going to set up any self-perpetuating mechanism to continue it. We're going to try it for a year and then at the end of the year see where we stand and whether it's gotten us anywhere.

MR. LEGREEN: Well all that's very interesting. Because all of us trade unionists have gotten together and decided to form an All-American Federation of Trade Union Survivors. We decided that if we wanted to survive we'd better have the good will of the public so we're going to pass a rule that you can't call any strike without having a majority vote from every worker affected, and you can't call a sympathy strike without a two-thirds vote. We've decided to expel from our membership any group or union that unilaterally breaks a contract honorably entered into, and we want you, Mr. President, to make the National Labor Relations Board into a judiciary body, a Labor Court with the rules a great deal clearer than they are at present. We're also going to make it a trade union offense willfully to sabotage an industry, or to intimidate any worker into joining.

THE PRESIDENT: Don't you boys want anything from me?

MR. WEIDLER: My organization, which already represents most important industries in the United States, wants to make you a proposition. We're willing to take a chance if you are. And that proposition is that we will guarantee to employ within the next three months five million extra workers. We'll find work for them. We'll make work for them. We think we can do it better than Harry Hopkins can. Maybe the stockholders will have to suffer a little bit for a while. Maybe some of our salaries will have to come down a little. Maybe we'll have to fire a few public relations counsels, and give up printing handsomely embossed memoranda to the public. They don't seem to be getting us anywhere anyhow. But we'll work it out and take the men on if you'll do something for us.

THE PRESIDENT: I know there was a trick in it.

MR. WEIDLER: Let's not talk about tricks. Join the organization Mr. President, the Survivors' Organization. All we want you to do is this: get together the smartest experts on taxes that you know—and you won't find them all in the Treasury Department—and tell them to work out a tax system that takes the taxes off productive capital and puts them on idle capital, that takes the taxes off productive land and puts them on idle land, that takes the taxes off pay rolls. Just keep one thing in mind: that we want to put idle men and idle capital to work and that the way

(Continued on Page Nine)

(To Be Continued)

Lil' Abner

By Al Capp

Myra North, Special Nurse

By Thompson and Coli

Boots and Her Buddies

By Martin

Wash Tubbs

By Crane

Freckles and His Friends

By Blosser

Out Our Way

By Williams

Our Boarding House

with Major Hoople

On The RECORD

By Dorothy Thompson

An Imaginary Interview

Yesterday morning Mr. Sloan Weidner and Mr. John Llewellyn Green came together in the office of the President of the United States. Just how this interview was arranged is not clear. It seems that the President telegraphed to Mr. Weidner to come down, and that his wife crossed with one from Mr. Weidner, requesting an interview. Mr. Weidner had also wired Mr. Legreen, requesting his presence, which was convenient, because Mr. Legreen had just made the same request of the President. This reporter was present during part of the session and a partial stenographic report follows:

THE PRESIDENT: Well, boys, what can I do for you?

MR. WEIDNER: I'm not quite sure, Mr. President, but that isn't what I came down about. I came to ask the same question of you.

MR. LEGREEN: That's just my idea. What can I do for each other? You see, it looks like we're all in the same boat. I want to get higher wages and shorter hours for the men I represent, and better living conditions altogether. But I can't get any of them, if they haven't got any jobs at all. So I thought we might talk about that.

MR. WEIDNER: Now, John, that was just my idea. Because the organization I happen to represent.

THE PRESIDENT: Which one? The Chamber of Commerce or the American Manufacturers' Association?

MR. WEIDNER: Neither of them. A brand new organization that I want to tell you about. But first I want to say that I agree with you. You see, if I am laying off men, it means that I am not making any money for my stockholders, or any money out of which to pay taxes—to you.

THE PRESIDENT: You're put your finger on just what's bothering me. The figures from the unemployment census keep me awake nights. Because just between you and me, that's what all the trouble in the world is about. All these class struggles, revolutionary movements, racial and minority persecutions.

MR. WEIDNER: And autocratic bureaucracies and regimentation.

THE PRESIDENT: All right; include them, too—but they are all the result of only one thing: competition between men for an insufficiency of jobs.

MR. LEGREEN: A man's got to live. His job is his own property, Mr. Weidner. We're out to protect that property.

MR. WEIDNER: I haven't got any quarrel with that, either.

MR. LEGREEN: Sure, but the moment there are a lot of us on the market, you begin cutting wages left and right.

MR. WEIDNER: That's what the new organization that I represent is about. You see, we've had employers' organizations for a long time. They represented the profit-taking end of industry. Whether you were a big wig in the organization depended pretty much on what your annual turnover was. Well, we've decided that that is an old-fashioned point of view.

THE PRESIDENT: That's good news. I've always said if the good majority of business men weren't wagged by the tail of a wicked minority.

MR. WEIDNER: Do you awfully mind if we drop that good and bad business? You know, in my experience, I've found that human beings are pretty much alike, all of them. They're greedy, imitative, egotistic, amorous, aggressive, possessive, and like all vertebrate animals from the fish upward—if it is upward—they are grabbers.

THE PRESIDENT: Well, they shouldn't be. Some day the race will evolve into men whose egos are sunk in social consciousness, whose greed is disciplined by affectionate solidarity.

MR. WEIDNER: I hope you're right, Mr. President, but we can't wait for that.

MR. LEGREEN: Weidner's right.

MR. WEIDNER: And, meanwhile, all of us have one common aim: All of us, good and bad, wise and foolish—you and I, and Mr. Legreen here.

THE PRESIDENT: What's that?

MR. WEIDNER: You tell him, Legreen.

MR. LEGREEN: We want to survive. We want to be survivors of this shipwreck.

MR. WEIDNER: So, we have founded an Employers' Survivors' Association. We've begun by admitting to ourselves that profit-taking is just one part of modern industry. We've got three duties, those of us who are managers. One is to our stockholders, who ought to get a little more return from their risk than they get from municipal bonds. One is to the Nation, for whom we run the industry; and one is to labor, who together with us, makes the wheels go around. So we have founded this new Survivors' Association with these three ideas in mind. We are going to set some professional standards, sort of like the American College of Physicians. We're going to agree that all the members pay a certain minimum wage—we'll work

Richest Girl in the World

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CONSTANCE CORBY—heroine; richest girl in the world.
BRET HARDESTY—hero; bridge builder.
RODNEY BRANDON—Connie's fiancé.
KATIE BLYN—Connie's "double."

Yesterday, Eloise discovers the jewels in Katie's room, tells Bret. At that moment Katie enters, challenges Bret to believe she is honest.

CHAPTER XI
 "You should know better than that," Bret answered Connie's question. His dark eyes looked into hers. Now they were completely unguarded, all barriers let down.

So that, looking into them, she saw what she had wanted to see and all her anger was melted. Her own eyes grew soft and shining. "That's all that matters," she said simply. It seemed to her, in this breathless moment, that it was she had forgotten that she was Constance Corby. Forgotten that Bret did not know who she was. That the day must come when she must tell him. She had forgotten Eloise's bitter accusation. Just as now, looking into each other's eyes, they both had forgotten the other girl's existence.

They did not notice even when she got up quietly and slipped from the room.

Two long strides brought Bret to Connie's side. He took her hands in his. "Dearest," he said, and his voice was husky. "You know that I don't care who you are, or have been. I only know that you're the only girl in a world for me. And that I love you."

"And I love you, Bret Hardesty," Connie said. And then, "Please," she whispered, "aren't you going to kiss me?"

Now she knew why she had changed places with Katie Blyn, why she had left her golden world, why she had been born! This was that lovely, secret romance that she had sought. This was the heart's desire that Bret had wished for her.

that out with living cost indexes for different localities—and set maximum hours, and we'll work that out with you, Mr. Legreen, because you know what men really want is income not leisure; and nobody can get into this society who employs anybody under the age of sixteen. Also no one can join who's opposed to independent honor to join this organization.

THE PRESIDENT: Why, that's the old Blue Eagle stuff that I thought you didn't like.

MR. WEIDNER: The difference is it isn't complicated and it's voluntary. And we're not going to set up any self-perpetuating mechanism to continue it. We're going to try it for a year and then at the end of the year see where we stand and whether it's gotten us anywhere.

MR. LEGREEN: Well all that's very interesting. Because all of us trade unionists have gotten together and decided to form an All-American Federation of Trade Union Survivors. We decided that if we wanted to survive we'd better have the good will of the public so we're going to pass a rule that you can't call any strike without having a majority vote from every worker affected, and you can't call a sympathetic strike without a two-thirds vote. We've decided to expel from our membership any group or union that unilaterally breaks a contract honorably entered into, and we want you, Mr. President, to make the National Labor Relations Board into a judiciary body, a Labor Court with the rules a great deal clearer than they are at present. We're also going to make it a trade union offense willfully to sabotage an industry, or to intimidate any worker into joining.

THE PRESIDENT: Don't you boys want anything from me?

MR. WEIDNER: My organization, which already represents most important industries in the United States, wants to make you a proposition. We're willing to take a chance if you are. And that proposition is that we will guarantee to employ within the next three months five million extra workers. We'll make work for them. We think we can do it better than Harry Hopkins can. Maybe the stockholders will have to suffer a little bit for a while. Maybe some of our salaries will have to come down a little. Maybe we'll have to fire a few public relations counsels, and give up printing handsomely embossed memoranda to the public. They don't seem to be getting us anywhere anyhow. But we'll work it out and take the men on if you'll do something for us.

THE PRESIDENT: I know there was a trick in it.

MR. WEIDNER: Let's not talk about tricks. Join the organization Mr. President, the Survivors' Organization. All we want you to do is this: get together the smartest experts on taxes that you know—and you won't find them all in the Treasury Department—and tell them to work out a tax system that takes the taxes off productive capital and puts them on idle capital, that takes the taxes off productive land and puts them on idle land, that takes the taxes off pay rolls. Just keep one thing in mind: that we want to put idle men and idle capital to work and that the way

(Continued on Page Nine)

Lil' Abner

By Al Capp

Myra North, Special Nurse

By Thompson and Coli

Boots and Her Buddies

By Martin

Wash Tubbs

By Crane

Freckles and His Friends

By Blosser

Out Our Way

By Williams

Our Boarding House

with Major Hoople

LEADERS DROP TO 2 POINTS

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES

Table with columns: Net change, Monday, Previous day, 1937 high, 1937 low, 1938 high, 1938 low, 1939 high, 1939 low. Lists averages for Dow Jones Industrial Average and other indices.

NEW YORK STOCKS (Last Sales)

Table listing various stocks such as Adams Exp., Air Reduction, Alaska-Johns, Allegheny Corp, etc., with their respective closing prices.

NEW YORK CURB (Closing Quotations)

Table listing various commodities and currencies including Am. Gas & Oil, Am. Light & T, Am. Sup. Power, etc., with their closing prices.

CHICAGO PRICES

Table listing prices for various commodities in Chicago, including Chicago Lard, Chicago Butter, Chicago Eggs, Chicago Potatoes, Chicago Livestock, and Chicago Grain.

DAY'S MARKETS IN BRIEF

Summary of market conditions: Stocks: Heavy; selling his utilities. Bonds: Easy; governments improve, rails drop. Foreign Exchange: Mixed; franc recovers. Cotton: Easy; liquidation hedge selling. Sugar: Lower; poor spot demand. Coffee: Easy; trade selling. Wheat: Easy; disappointing export demand. Corn: Lower; rains in Argentina. Cattle: Steady to 25 lower. Hogs: 10 to 35 higher.

SELLING SLICES RAILS, UTILITIES

BOND MARKET AVERAGES

Table with columns: Net change, Monday, Previous day, 1937 high, 1937 low, 1938 high, 1938 low, 1939 high, 1939 low. Lists averages for various bond indices.

NEW YORK CURB (Closing Quotations)

Table listing various commodities and currencies including Am. Gas & Oil, Am. Light & T, Am. Sup. Power, etc., with their closing prices.

CHICAGO PRICES

Table listing prices for various commodities in Chicago, including Chicago Lard, Chicago Butter, Chicago Eggs, Chicago Potatoes, Chicago Livestock, and Chicago Grain.

DAY'S MARKETS IN BRIEF

Summary of market conditions: Stocks: Heavy; selling his utilities. Bonds: Easy; governments improve, rails drop. Foreign Exchange: Mixed; franc recovers. Cotton: Easy; liquidation hedge selling. Sugar: Lower; poor spot demand. Coffee: Easy; trade selling. Wheat: Easy; disappointing export demand. Corn: Lower; rains in Argentina. Cattle: Steady to 25 lower. Hogs: 10 to 35 higher.

"Who Can Do It?" Is A Question Solved In The Business Directory

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING RATES

Table listing advertising rates for different ad types: Daily rate, consecutive insertions, Rate per line, Charges Cash, etc.

WHEN AND WHERE TO PLACE WANT ADS

The Classified Advertising Department is situated at 600-602 LUDINGTON ST.

These offices are open to receive advertisements from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily.

All ads must be received at the office in person in editions the following day.

PHONE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD TO 693

Miss Johnson, the ad taker, will gladly assist you, if desired, in the copy for your ad if prepared in such a manner as to bring the greatest results for you.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING INFORMATION

Errors in advertisements should be reported immediately. The Daily Press will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion.

LEGAL NOTICE

Default having been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage dated the twenty-first day of June, 1925, executed by Hemmie Ammeskaki and Lissa Ammeskaki, his wife, as mortgagors, to the Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Delta County, Michigan, on the thirty-first day of June, 1925, recorded in Liber 22 of Mortgages on Pages 188-189 thereof.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN

That the mortgage described herein is hereby foreclosed, pursuant to the provisions of the Act of Congress, known as the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933, executed by the Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Delta County, Michigan, on the thirty-first day of June, 1925, recorded in Liber 22 of Mortgages on Pages 188-189 thereof.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN

That the mortgage described herein is hereby foreclosed, pursuant to the provisions of the Act of Congress, known as the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933, executed by the Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Delta County, Michigan, on the thirty-first day of June, 1925, recorded in Liber 22 of Mortgages on Pages 188-189 thereof.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN

That the mortgage described herein is hereby foreclosed, pursuant to the provisions of the Act of Congress, known as the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933, executed by the Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Delta County, Michigan, on the thirty-first day of June, 1925, recorded in Liber 22 of Mortgages on Pages 188-189 thereof.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN

That the mortgage described herein is hereby foreclosed, pursuant to the provisions of the Act of Congress, known as the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933, executed by the Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Delta County, Michigan, on the thirty-first day of June, 1925, recorded in Liber 22 of Mortgages on Pages 188-189 thereof.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN

That the mortgage described herein is hereby foreclosed, pursuant to the provisions of the Act of Congress, known as the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933, executed by the Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Delta County, Michigan, on the thirty-first day of June, 1925, recorded in Liber 22 of Mortgages on Pages 188-189 thereof.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN

That the mortgage described herein is hereby foreclosed, pursuant to the provisions of the Act of Congress, known as the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933, executed by the Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Delta County, Michigan, on the thirty-first day of June, 1925, recorded in Liber 22 of Mortgages on Pages 188-189 thereof.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN

That the mortgage described herein is hereby foreclosed, pursuant to the provisions of the Act of Congress, known as the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933, executed by the Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, Minnesota, as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Delta County, Michigan, on the thirty-first day of June, 1925, recorded in Liber 22 of Mortgages on Pages 188-189 thereof.

Automobiles

1938 FORD V-8 long wheelbase 1 1/2 ton chassis and cab. In First Class Condition - 7 new tires. CLARK & BECK, C18

Specials at Stores

TYPEWRITERS—Service, Repaired, Rebuilt OVER MACHINES, 15 and up. OFFICE SERVICE CO. 1-18-41

For Rent

FOR RENT—Two sleeping rooms, well heated. 304 S. 14th St., Phone 1468-W. 3747-15-31

Real Estate

RESORT LOTS, "Lake Front Acres," Timber Lands, 2 Farms. Wm. S. Crowe, Resident Agent. Phone 6, Manistique, Michigan.

Business Directory

George's Radio Shop, George Kornetzke, Prop. For RELIABLE RADIO SERVICE, STROMBERG-CARLSON RADIOS, 705 South 15th Telephone 705

Shiner Refrigeration Service

For All Makes of Elec. Refrig. REFRIG SERVICE MOTORS, Phone 1112 128 S. 9th St. Escanaba

Electric Motor Service

Repairing and Rewinding Motors Bought, Sold, Exchanged and Rented

CHALTRY

Opp. Postoffice Phone 1901

LANG MUSIC SHOP

EVERYTHING IN MUSIC, Tel. 461-W 614 Ludington St.

LENCY CLAIRMONT TRANSFER

Daily Freight Service GREEN BAY - MILWAUKEE - CHICAGO, -ault St. Marie - St. Ignace and Intermediate Points

MOVING

Local and Long Distance Fully Insured, PHONE 1511

THE DIAMOND CLINIC

205 Wis. Ave., Gladstone, Mich. DR. F. J. DIAMOND, Physician and Surgeon, DR. A. J. DIAMOND, Ear, Eye, Nose, Throat, Eyes Tested and Glasses Fitted, Phones 221 (4 line), or 229

FOR BUSINESS BOOKS ALL WORKED OUT FOR YEARLY RESULTS

Liberty Weekly Income Records - $3.50, Automatic Collector-collects your accounts, Divinity Appraisals - $1 and $5, Chapman Certified Income Records - $2.50, This is the book for ladies' beauty parlors and small businesses - $2.50, Business Comparative Records-gives record for a year - $1.75, Household Budgets-for coming year - $1.25, Automatic Expense Records for auto owners - $2.50

Call 1766 or at 1507 Ludington St.

Expert Lubrication and Car Washing ATLAS TIRES

Batteries, Fully Guaranteed, and Accessories - Sold on Easy Payment Plan-as low as 49¢ per week, Come In And See Us Today, TOM GABOURY'S STANDARD SERVICE, 11th St. at Ludington

SEE! HEAR! TUNE! 1938 AUTOMATIC TUNING PHILCO

NO SQUAT NO STOOP NO SQUINT

Moersch & Degnan

112 N. 10th Phone 1381

Bristol Insurance Agency

"Where Better Insurance Costs Less" CHECK THESE RATES, Dwellings, approved roof, $3.20 per M., Automobile, $5,000 P. D.-10-20,000 P. L., $22.00, 115 S. 7th St. Phone 1704

Announcement

Gray Transportation Co. Bus Leaves Escanaba for Bark River, Powers, Hermansville, Iron Mountain, Menominee, Marquette, Green Bay - 10:05 a. m. daily, Central Standard Time.

Look for Your Name In These Columns

FREE THEATRE TICKETS Every Day (Tickets Good Today or Tomorrow Only)

Two Delft Tickets Two Rialto Tickets

DELFT THEATRE TODAY "THE FIREFLY" Jeanette MacDonald

RIALTO THEATRE "SARATOGA" Jean Harlow - Clark Gable - Lionel Barrymore

"Now I want you to watch everything I do, Mama—in case you're left here alone with him some afternoon."

Now I want you to watch everything I do, Mama—in case you're left here alone with him some afternoon."

