CHINESE GAIN ON HANGCHOW, WUHU FRONTS

JAPANESE ALMOST CLASH WITH BRITISH

Shanghai, Jan. 20 (Thursday) (AP)—A dispute between British and Japanese authorities at Tientsin, almost ending in a clash of armed forces, was reported today while Chinese said they had made "further successes" on the Hangchow and Wuhu fronts.

Mountains Occupied

The British refused, according to these sources, to let the Japanese threaten to take the Chinese by force, and the British replied that they would resist. The Japanese let the matter rest there, at least temporarily.

British quarters also disclosed that the Japanese high command in Shanghai suggested Wednesday that British forces evacuate their defense lines on the western borders of the international settlement, saying Japanese troops in adjacent Hungjiao could perform the defense duty. The British refused.

At Wuhu, 60 miles up the Yangtze river from Nanking, the Chinese said they had gained "a dominating position over the city" by occupying mountains five miles to the south.

Hampered By Snow At Hangchow, 125 miles southwest of Shanghai, they stated their forces were crossing the Chientang river in "increasing numbers" and approaching the city from the southwest.

Japanese said the Chinese still were on the south bank of the Chientang and were engaged with Japanese troops, but denied they were threatening the city.

Chinese reported the fighting along the Tientsin-Pukow railway and Shantung front had been slowed down by severe weather and snowstorms.

A strong reinforced Japanese offensive along the important Lungtai railway zone was indicated by intensive preparations to use Tsingtao, Shantung seaport, as a base for an inland drive.

Enforcements Landed Between 7,000 and 10,000 Japanese troops have landed at Tsingtao since the city was occupied ten days ago. All the troops were equipped with special winter clothing to withstand the intense cold.

A Japanese military spokesman said the Chinese had about 400,000 soldiers along the Lungtai railway and in the vicinity of Suchow, important rail junction north of Nanking, and that they were making desperate efforts to prevent the Japanese from consolidating their north China conquest.

The Japanese column advancing northward from Nanking still was unable to break through Chinese lines and occupy Pengku, midway between Nanking and Suchow.

Fighting on the Pootung peninsula, across the Whanpoo river from Shanghai, was reported continuing. The Japanese, however, minimized the importance of the fighting, saying the Japanese merely were rounding up "guerillas."

Spanish Insurgents Capture Oil Tanker Carrying U. S. Flag

Paris, Jan. 19 (AP)—Authoritative sources tonight reported the American tanker Nantucket Chief had been captured by two Spanish insurgent gunboats off Barcelona on Tuesday.

These sources declared the capture occurred while the American tanker was enroute to the Catalan capital with a cargo of Russian oil.

The capture was witnessed by French warships which declined to interfere. They reported the incident to the French navy ministry, however, the same sources said.

The Nantucket Chief was flying the American flag and carried an American crew.

French reports said the tanker was last seen being escorted by the insurgent vessels to Palma, Mallorca island stronghold of the insurgent sea and air forces.

(Lloyd's shipping registry lists the 5,189 tanker Gulfight of Port Arthur, Texas, as owned by the Gulf Oil corporation.)

LAKE SHOOTING IS INVESTIGATED

Saginaw Woman Found With Bullet In Abdomen

Tawas City, Mich., Jan. 19 (AP)—Sheriff John Moran today launched an investigation into the wounding of Mrs. Eleanor Russell, 19, of Saginaw, who was found on the floor of a cottage at Indian Lake, eight miles from here, with a bullet in her abdomen.

Moran said the young woman apparently attempted suicide. He and a physician brought her by roundabout roads past snow blockades in the area to a Bay City hospital where she was reported in "fair" condition.

The sheriff quoted Claude Crawshaw, owner of the cottage, as saying he returned Monday from his work at National City to find the girl there. Sid Cotterrell, who also lived there, was in the house, the sheriff said, and Crawshaw refused to stay.

He said Cotterrell claimed he went out for wood this afternoon and heard a shot. When he returned, he found the girl on the floor. She was shot with a heavy deer rifle.

Between 7,000 and 10,000 Japanese troops have landed at Tsingtao since the city was occupied ten days ago. All the troops were equipped with special winter clothing to withstand the intense cold.

Petty Cash $1.30 Over For 17 Years

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Jan. 19 (AP)—When Police Chief John A. A'Hearn took over his duties a few days ago, he checked up on the petty cash used by the department for minor expenditures.

"Say," he called to Desk Sergeant Edward J. Kelly, "this fund is $1.30 over; any way I can check it?"

"That's right," said Kelly. "It was exactly $1.30 over when I went in here as desk sergeant, nearly 17 years ago, and it has been that way ever since."

Cambria Mine Has Serious Accident

Negaunee, Mich., Jan. 19 (AP)—Ernest Moyle, 54, suffered a broken ankle and severe internal injuries in an accident in the Cambria mine of the Republic Steel corporation here today.

Mine officials could not be contacted for details of the accident, but the attending physician said tonight that Moyle's condition was "not favorable." He was given a blood transfusion.

Bullets Fly In Detroit As UAW Fights Eviction Of Poor Tenant

Detroit, Jan. 19 (AP)—The United Automobile Workers "flying squadron" today visited the home of Ronald Crider, to protect him against eviction, and the main problem left to police afterwards was a gunfire puzzle.

As Police Sgt. Walter Lauth reported it, the story ran like this: Early this afternoon two constables started evicting Crider and his family, piling furniture on the walk. Soon between 50 and 75 men arrived in automobiles. They were the "flying squadron" which takes a hearty interest in evictions. The furniture and the men of the squad were told the rules of the game required them to wait until all was moved out. The constables finished, left the key at the next door home of Angelo Lagonis, Crider's landlord, and waved a cheery goodbye.

HABER TELLS OF MICHIGAN WORK SLUMP

STATE UNEMPLOYED TOTAL 376,000, HE REPORTS

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—The tide of receding business washed approximately 163,000 persons off payrolls in Michigan between July 15, 1937, and January 15 of this year, William Haber, former state relief director, told the senate unemployment committee today.

He estimated the total number of unemployed on the latter date was 376,000, or 18 per cent of the state's gainfully employed population.

Delay In WPA Blamed On the other hand, Louis Nims, Michigan works progress administration director, said 7,000 of approximately 20,500 persons called to WPA jobs since December 1 had failed to report.

When Chairman Byrnes (D-SC) called this "astounding" in view of previous testimony about increasing relief demands, Nims said delays faced by the prospective WPA workers in obtaining state identification numbers may have been a contributing cause.

He said also that many had registered for WPA jobs before they really were in need of relief, because of a mistaken belief that such registration would give them priority. Others probably "concluded they didn't need relief as badly as they thought" when they found the WPA had only "pick and shovel" jobs to offer, he said.

Nims blamed the Washington budget bureau's policy of "making certain that all of the 'I's' are dotted and the 'A's' crossed" for delays in putting clients to work on WPA jobs. He said it often took a month to get budget bureau approval of a project.

The federal official said state WPA rolls had been increased by certification of 20,500 persons recently, in addition to the 55,328 who were listed in December.

Haber, a University of Michigan professor, said the home state of the automobile industry had been hard hit not only by increases in unemployment in the manufacturing and plants, but in other lines of business as well.

He said employment dropped 25 per cent in October and November, reversing a trend that had seen the number of jobless decline from a peak of 592,800 in 1932 to an average of 225,200 in 1937.

MURPHY VISITS WITH PRESIDENT

Governor May Not Call Special Session of Legislature

Lansing, Jan. 19 (AP)—Governor Murphy, leaving for Washington to visit President Roosevelt, said today he had not decided whether to call another special session of the legislature. His statement was prompted by reports that Rep. Frank J. Berka, Saginaw Democrat and speaker pro tem of the house of representatives, had announced that a special session was unlikely.

Murphy announced he had designated Frank X. Martel, president of the Detroit and Wayne County Federation of Labor, and Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, to represent this state at the federal department of labor's silver anniversary program at Washington later this month.

The governor and his sister, Mrs. William Heahan, will be guests at the White House and attend the presidential banquet in honor of the supreme court.

The entire story of the plot sounds so barbaric that it seems incredible unless regarded as a scheme devised by psychopaths.

Dean testified at the sensational Black Legion prosecutions that he had been hired by Legion members to kill Voisine "because of a political fight" in Ecorse and because of religious prejudice against him.

Chicago Diversion Hearing Postponed Until February 15

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Foes of the Chicago water diversion plan were granted a delay today until Feb. 15, by the house rivers and harbors committee in which to prepare their case against the Parsons bill to authorize diversion of an annual average of 5,000 cubic feet of water a second from Lake Michigan.

Three Gunmen Loot Bank At Charleston

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 19 (AP)—A $25,000 daylight robbery of the First National Bank of South Charleston sent 200 federal, state and local officers out on fog-shrouded roads tonight hunting for three men who looted the bank in five minutes. Their car, later abandoned, bore Pennsylvania license plates.

FLINT OFFICE ROBBED

Flint, Mich., Jan. 19 (AP)—Ralph H. Parker, manager of the Lee Coal Co., said two gunmen forced him to lie on the office floor tonight while they looted the cash register of $400.

Uppetre, Hungary, Jan. 19 (AP)—Edward Schneller, 25, member of a famous circus family, was mauled to death in a lion's cage at a performance in an inn courtyard here Tuesday.

Portly Pixie Pickets Picket

Picketing a linoleum store in St. Louis didn't turn out exactly as the picket with the umbrella intended. Furious at his marching, Mrs. A. Sarkis, owner of the store, hired the buxom negress, togged her out in wedding finery and assigned her to picket "her man." Both marched up and down in front of the store. The picket picketer was happier than the picketed picket.

Detroit Politicians Held For Perjury And Bigamy

Toledo, O., Jan. 19 (AP)—The Lucas county grand jury today indicted Bernard A. Boggio, former chief assistant Wayne county (Detroit, Mich.) prosecutor, and Mrs. Melba Levin Rubin, former assistant attorney general of Michigan, on charges of perjury and bigamy.

Warrants were immediately issued by Judge John McCabe of common pleas court. The warrant for Boggio was sent to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he was visiting, and that for Mrs. Rubin to Detroit, where she was reported ill in a hospital.

The indictment charges that Boggio and Mrs. Rubin, on May 19, 1937, obtained a marriage license here under the names of Bernard A. Boland and Melba Warren, Thomas J. O'Connor, county prosecutor, said.

The couple were married by Judge Frank L. O'Connell, according to the information.

O'Connor said handwriting experts declared the signatures of the marriage licenses were those of Boggio and Mrs. Rubin.

The couple married here gave the address of Dr. Raymond F. Cannon of Toledo as their home. Cannon was said to be a boyhood friend of Boggio when they lived in Calumet, Mich., but denied having seen Boggio in a number of years.

Both Boggio and Mrs. Rubin have denied the charges.

Boggio is married and has two children. Mrs. Rubin lives here with her three children, she was divorced in December from Samuel H. Rubin, Detroit attorney, who criticized her for a "superiority complex" in the proceedings.

The accused pair were associated in the campaign last fall of Patrick H. O'Brien for mayor. Boggio was campaign manager and Mrs. Rubin was office manager.

Grand Rapids Club Eats Roast Crow

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 19 (AP)—Three hundred western Michigan sportsmen attended a banquet of roast crow tonight which the Wyoming park club arranged in an effort to popularize the fowl as a table dish.

Club members said their aim was to interest enough persons in crow meat to offer an inducement to hunt the birds and thereby reduce the crow population. The first crow dinner, held a year ago, attracted more than two hundred persons.

Frank Dumond, director of the Grand Rapids public museum, was the principal speaker tonight.

Butcher Is Robbed; Locked In Freezer

Detroit, Jan. 19 (AP)—Sidney Black, butcher, warmed himself Wednesday after spending part of the previous night in the refrigerator of his market. Robbers locked him in after taking $50 from the cash register.

KILLED BY LION

Uppetre, Hungary, Jan. 19 (AP)—Edward Schneller, 25, member of a famous circus family, was mauled to death in a lion's cage at a performance in an inn courtyard here Tuesday.

AGENTS SEEK BODY IN ROSS KIDNAP DEATH

G-MEN QUESTIONING PRISONER ABOUT OTHER CASES

St. Paul, Jan. 19 (AP)—Federal agents holding Peter Anders for the kidnap-aying of Charles S. Ross embarked upon a mysterious mission today.

Several captives of the FBI men left for an unannounced destination amid indications they were seeking the bodies of Ross and the prisoner's alleged confederate, James Edward Craig, or attempting to find a cache containing the bulk of the $50,000 ransom obtained from the family of the wealthy Chicago clubman.

Simultaneously, they disclosed surly Anders was being questioned "about some other kidnappings."

Messenger Tells Story Director J. Edgar Hoover of the federal bureau of investigation, denied Anders was interrogated concerning the abduction and death of ten-year-old Charles Mattson at Tacoma, Wash., but Edward P. Guinane, chief of the St. Paul's G. man staff, said he would be asked about the enigmatic disappearance of Arthur Fried, White Plains, N. Y., business man who has not been seen since last Dec. 4.

Whether Anders, captured on the west coast last Friday and whisked to St. Paul by airplane last night, accompanied the agents on the automobile journey today was not made known.

Hoover planned to bring Anders to Illinois, but declined to disclose his arrangements.

In Chicago, George Kukovac, the motorcycle messenger who tossed the ransom bundle into a roadside ditch five miles east of Rockford on Oct. 8 in keeping with the kidnapers' instructions, conferred with government agents.

MATTSON CHILDREN LEAVE Tacoma, Jan. 19 (AP)—Dr. W. W. Mattson said today federal bureau of investigation agents had taken William Mattson, Jr., 16, and Muriel Mattson, 14, away from their home here presumably to attempt to identify Peter Anders as the kidnap-killer of their brother, Charles.

Dr. Mattson refused to disclose whether the children had been (Continued on Page Two)

SENATE TO SIFT NLRB DECISIONS

Investigation Demanded In Ford Case By Senator Burke

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—There were indications today that a special senate committee might look into the National Labor Relations Board's decision that the Ford Motor company violated the Wagner act.

The board recently ordered Ford to reinstate 29 employees alleged to have been dismissed because of union activities. When the company failed to comply, the board asked a federal circuit court of appeals in Kentucky to compel compliance.

A senate judiciary sub-committee will take up next week a resolution by Senator Burke (D-Neb.) calling for an investigation of the board.

Burke said he would present a "bird's-eye view" of the board's activities in an effort to show what lines testimony might take if a full investigation were ordered.

He said he "almost certainly" would seek information about the board's stand in the Ford case, but would not trespass on any questions now pending before the federal circuit court of appeals.

At Least 47 Dead In College Fire At St. Hyacinthe, Quebec

St. Hyacinthe, Que., Jan. 19 (AP)—Officials tonight listed 47 persons dead from the swift fire that trapped students and teachers in the college of the Sacred Heart early Tuesday.

Twenty-one charred bodies lay in the morgue of this small Quebec town, but only four were officially identified.

Dr. Paul Morin, district coroner, opening an inquest into the early morning tragedy, listed as dead the 25 others missing in the belief their bodies were buried under the frozen wreckage of the school.

Fears were expressed the death toll might mount much higher. Five of the most seriously injured were reported close to death. They were administered the last rites of the Roman Catholic church.

Twenty-one of those who escaped the flaming structure were hospitalized. Some were injured by leaps into the snow. Almost all were clad in night clothes.

Dr. Morin announced the four identified were Brother Jean Baptiste, 64, Sherbrooke, Que., who died of injuries, and three students, Deas Richard, 15, Jean Noel Vincent, 15, and Lucien Leclerc, all of St. Hyacinthe.

Anti-Lynching Bill Sidetrack Sought To Stop Filibuster

SCHAFFER MAN KILLED BY LOG

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Southern senators said today they would attempt to sidetrack the anti-lynching bill early next week to clear the way for other legislation.

Southerners have carried on a filibuster against the bill for 12 days. The fight has prevented senate consideration of President Roosevelt's legislative program.

Senator Connally (D-Tex) and other opponents of the bill contended they have been picking up strength steadily. Proponents of the measure were expected to oppose any attempt to sidetrack it.

On the floor, Senator Ellender (D-La) continued his long denunciation of the bill. Ellender, who started speaking last Friday, discussed dangers which he said would result from any "amalgamation" of the white and negro races.

Clifton Desjardins, 22, Is Fatally Injured at Rapid River

Clifton Joseph Desjardins, 22, of Schaffer, was fatally injured at Rapid River Wednesday afternoon when he was pinned underneath a log which fell from his truck. He died at St. Francis hospital at 7:15 p. m. following the amputation of a leg crushed in the accident.

Desjardins had hauled a truckload of logs from the Lawrence Gagner camp at Carleton Place to the Stone Anderson mill in Rapid River. As he unhooked the chains from the load, a log rolled down from the top, crushing the left leg and causing other injuries to the head and body.

The young man was born March 26, 1914, at Escanaba, and had been living with his parents on a farm near Schaffer. The survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Desjardins, and the following brothers and sisters: Hubert, Stafford, John, Lorraine, Marcella, Jeanette, Delore and Patsy.

The body was taken to the Allo funeral home, and arrangements for the last rites will be made today.

Wage-Hour Study Urged

W. Averill Harriman, chairman of the board of the Union Pacific railroad and chairman of the council, acted as spokesman. While the president scrawled notes on a pad of scratch paper, he read the statement of the council.

It approved the objective of wage-hour legislation, but asked that a study of the question be made before another bill is introduced. To this Mr. Roosevelt later replied with the expression of a hope that such a study would not preclude action at this session of congress.

It pledged the cooperation of the group in working out legislation for the elimination of harmful business practices, "recognized" that the "anti-trust laws are to an extent unenforced," but asserted that monopoly and monopolistic practices were incompatible with democracy.

Housing Plan Approved It pledged the council's help in working toward the decentralization of industry, geographically, but "viewed with grave concern any general move to outlaw proper holding companies."

It deplored the administration's controversy with the public utility industry and asked that that industry be assured it will not be destroyed through government competition. On this point, Mr. Roosevelt said the misunderstanding affected but fifteen percent of the industry.

It endorsed the president's housing program. It called for modification of both the undistributed profits tax and the capital gains tax as impediments to the flow of capital into industry, and under this heading, as well, asserted that the mass of investors "need reassurance as to the direction reform is to take."

It opposed any "further cheapening" of the dollar. "In closing," the statement said, "we believe the critical problem before the country is reemployment in private industry."

"A solution of the subjects that we have enumerated above will go far, in our opinion, to this end. On the other hand, continual study of the subject of re-employment by representatives of industry, labor, and agriculture, in cooperation with government, we believe would do much to further reemployment, and we stand ready to assist in such a cooperative move."

Boyer City Entry Is Petoskey Queen

Petoskey, Mich., Jan. 19 (AP)—Delphine Stackus, 16, Boyer City high school junior, was chosen queen of the Michigan winter carnival here tonight over eight other contestants. The other girls will form her court of honor at the 14th carnival Feb. 4-13.

Delphine, daughter of Mrs. N. L. Stackus, will be crowned Feb. 4. She is a brunette, five feet four inches tall.

SAWS CELL BARS

Flint, Mich., Jan. 19 (AP)—George Wolosonowich, 25, in whose cell three bars had been sawed in what Sheriff Thomas W. Wolcott said Saturday was an attempt to escape jail, was sentenced to state prison today for 15 to 20 years by Circuit Judge Edward D. Black as a third offender.

BROAD ADVICE ON ECONOMIC LINES SOUGHT

BUSINESS LEADERS TELL HOW TO END RECESSION

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt said tonight he was working slowly toward the organization of an advisory council comprising all elements of the national economic life to guide him in the formulation of federal policies.

White House aides announced he made this disclosure to the commerce department's fifty-man business advisory council after generally approving a statement of that group's ideas on what should be done to end the present industrial recession.

Condemnation Modified In addition, he modified his stand of last week for the abolition of all holding companies. Some holding companies, he asserted, have produced a certain amount of mass efficiency in operation or are otherwise in the public interest.

And, commenting upon a request by the council for legislation fixing the responsibility of labor unions, Mr. Roosevelt suggested that unions should, by common consent rather than by law, list publicly their receipts and expenditures.

The council, formed in 1933 at the suggestion of Secretary Ropes and often critical of administration policy since that time, met in sub-committees and later as a unit to approve the statement of its views, before going to the White House.

W. Averill Harriman, chairman of the board of the Union Pacific railroad and chairman of the council, acted as spokesman. While the president scrawled notes on a pad of scratch paper, he read the statement of the council.

It approved the objective of wage-hour legislation, but asked that a study of the question be made before another bill is introduced. To this Mr. Roosevelt later replied with the expression of a hope that such a study would not preclude action at this session of congress.

Traffic Toll

Detroit, Jan. 19 (AP)—Oscar W. Hayes, 47, Eloise hospital inmate, was killed and William Ebers, 52, another inmate, was hurt tonight when an automobile struck them on Michigan avenue. State police released the driver, George Enot, of Wayne, after questioning him.

Pontiac, Mich., Jan. 19 (AP)—Elmer Anderson, 70, of Rochester, was killed tonight in an automobile collision on the Rochester Road three-fourths of a mile north of Rochester. His car and one driven by Carl Streling of Royal Oak, collided. Streling was unhurt.

POWER FIRM'S PRESIDENT DIES

Timothy A. Kenney, 55, Stricken at Home in New York

New York. (AP)—Timothy A. Kenney, 55, president of the Consumers Power Co., which operates in many Michigan communities, and a vice president and director of the Commonwealth and Southern Corp., died today at his home here after an illness of several months.

A native of Mechanicsville, N. Y., he obtained his early public utilities experience in New York state, then went to Michigan in 1912 as assistant manager of the As Sable Electric Power Co. Subsequently, he succeeded J. B. Foote as manager of that company, an operating affiliate of Consumers Power which then was a holding company.

When Consumers Power became an operating company in 1915, Kenney went to New York as assistant to B. C. Cobb, the president. He succeeded Cobb as president in 1932.

Kenney also was president of the Ohio Edison company and the Youngstown Municipal Railway Co. and an officer of several other companies composing the Commonwealth and Southern system. He long had been a leading figure in the electrical utility industry and was credited with inaugurating the centralized power load system used by Consumers Power. Surviving are his widow, a son, Craig, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. Lawrence Halter, Akron, O.; Mrs. Harold Sothorn and Marie Ethel Kenney, of New York.

Last Man Is Free In Sanilac County Crow Killing Case

Sandusky, Mich., Jan. 19 (AP)—A Sanilac county circuit court jury returned tonight a verdict of "no cause for action" against the sole remaining defendant in a woman's $100,000 damage suit for the dynamite death of her husband.

The verdict was returned in favor of Marshall Miller, farmer on whose land the plaintiff's husband, Orrin Frank, 34, was killed in an explosion in March, 1935.

The jury had deliberated five hours. Before it retired Judge X. A. Boomhower had dismissed the only other remaining defendant, George Trigger, former conservation officer.

Frank died March 22, 1935, the day after he had fired at a black crow in a tree which he thought was a crow. The object was a dynamite bomb, one of several used in an experiment to kill crows.

His widow, Mrs. Ressatta Frank, now a resident of Ida, Mich., filed a suit for $100,000 damages against 25 persons, contributors to a fund to finance the experiment.

Astoria, Ore., was established by John Jacob Astor in 1811.

HONOLULU TRIP BREAKS RECORD

Flight By Navy Bombers Made In 20 Hours, 12 Minutes

Honolulu, Jan. 19. (AP)—The navy strengthened Hawaii's aerial defense today by landing 18 more of its long-range patrol bombing planes on Pearl Harbor after a non-stop flight in record time from San Diego, Calif., 2,750 miles away.

The planes, carrying 127 officers and men completed the flight in 20 hours, 12 minutes.

It was the navy's greatest mass flight and brought to 42 the number of big naval planes thus transferred here from the mainland in the last year. Altogether, 48 naval planes have participated in formation flights from the California coast—all in the past four years.

It also brought unofficial estimates of the number of naval planes in Hawaii to 75. Counting army planes, reported to include 40 bombers and 100 pursuit craft, it gave the islands an unofficial total of 215 fighting planes.

Crime Commission Votes Citation To Dentist In Midland

Lansing, Jan. 19 (AP)—The state crime commission today voted a citation for meritorious police service for Dr. Frank L. Hardy, Midland dentist who shot Anthony Chebatoris and fatally wounded his companion, Jack Gracy, as they fled after the robbery of the Chemical State Savings Bank in Midland Sept. 29.

Dr. Hardy noticed the holdup from his office window and fired as the two gunmen fled behind a barrage of bullets from their own guns. Three bystanders were shot by the robbers and one of them, Henry Porter, died of his wounds.

It was for Porter's death that Chebatoris was sentenced to hang at the federal detention farm at Milan, Mich.

Coasting Injures 4 Marquette Boys

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 19 (AP)—Four Marquette county boys were injured in coasting accidents late Wednesday afternoon. Two of them, Edward Quinell, 5, of Marquette, and a Winters boy, whose first name Negaunee police did not obtain, are in hospitals with fractured legs. The others injured, Paul Garrow, 10, and Harry Handford, 12, riding on the same sled, were not believed to have been seriously hurt. All ran into automobiles. Quinell is the son of George C. Quinell, named Tuesday by Federal Judge Fred A. Raymond as U. S. court commissioner.

Deer Ate Up Crops; Brothers Take Jail

Allagan. (AP)—Despite the pleas of more than 100 neighbors, Byron Arndt, 28, and his brother, Jerry, 20, started a 60-day sentence in the county jail here Wednesday rather than pay a fine for shooting deer which they said were destroying their crops. Neighboring farmers have appealed for commutation of the sentence and for extermination or removal of the deer herds in this region.

Edward J. Neil Jr. Killed in Spanish War, Buried in Massachusetts

New York, Jan. 19 (AP)—In the little church of the Guardian Angel, newsmen and notables of the sports world mourned today at the bier of Edward J. Neil, Jr., war correspondent of the Associated Press, who was killed by shrapnel while "covering" the civil war on the Teruel battlefield in Spain.

Prominent among the floral pieces, banking the sanctuary rail as a solemn high mass of requiem was sung, was a shield of white carnations with a red-flowered figure "30"—the traditional "good night" in the lore of the fourth estate.

The body of the 37-year-old reporter, long a familiar figure at the ringside of big prizefights and other major sports events before he turned to war correspondence, arrived in a simple oak coffin in the liner Berengaria this morning.

Neil's widow, the former Helen Nolan, went down the bay in a cutter to meet the ship, and was accompanied to the church by Neil's father, Edward J. Neil; his brother, Dr. Richard J. Neil; and two sisters, Mrs. Mabel Riordan and Mrs. Dorothy Treanor.

ESCORTED BY TROOPERS

Methuen, Mass., Jan. 19 (AP)—Edward J. Neil, Associated Press war correspondent killed in Spain, came home tonight.

The flower-draped casket bearing Neil's body was escorted from Boston by a guard of Massachusetts state troopers.

The body will rest in the Neil home here until burial Friday morning.

A delegation of newspapermen met his widow and the party accompanying the body at the south station in Boston. Boston police accompanied the state troopers while in the city.

R. H. Jackson May Be Solicitor General

Washington, Jan. 19. (AP)—The name of Robert H. Jackson, head of the anti-trust division of the department of justice, commanded increasing attention today in discussions about a successor to Stanley F. Reed as solicitor general.

Reed has been nominated by President Roosevelt to be a supreme court justice.

An official close to Attorney General Cummings indicated that Cummings had narrowed his own choice to one man. Some persons suggested that might be Jackson.

Jail Gift Cigars Are Stolen Goods

Coldwater, Jan. 19 (AP)—Frank Palmer, 19, of Quincy, called upon a cousin confined in the county jail Wednesday. Frank passed him a handful of cigars. Sheriff Homer Burns asked him where they came from. Palmer admitted, the sheriff said, that he stole them from a filling station in a burglary several nights ago. Frank waived examination on a breaking and entering charge and was held to circuit court in default of $1,000 bonds.

Warehouse Burned At Benton Harbor

Benton Harbor, Mich., Jan. 19 (AP)—The Gelder Bros. warehouse, housing three motor trucks and a supply of farm equipment, burned at Millburg Wednesday. Bert Gelder, co-proprietor, estimated the loss at $50,000. The fire also destroyed the home of William Fricke and a garage and automobile owned by Arthur Antle.

Dirty Work on the Campus

Mud squashed, fists flew, and clothes were torn from squirming, rebellious bodies when freshmen and sophomores of San Francisco Junior college engaged in their annual mud battle, as pictured above. Look at the tattered garments. They had a ripping time.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Committees Meet — A joint meeting of the building and grounds committee and the finance committee of the board of supervisors will be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the county courthouse to discuss plans for a proposed addition and remodeling of the present courthouse building.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Slais of Newberry are spending a few days at Ford River, visiting at the Peter Hansen home.

K. of C. Card Party — Another card party will be held tonight at the Knights of Columbus club, starting at 8 o'clock. All games will be played, and refreshments will be served. Members reported an enjoyable evening last week, when six tables were in play.

Final Scene, Movie Actor Falls Dead

Culver City, Calif., Jan. 19 (AP)—Robert McWade, veteran character actor, finished his final scene late today in a movie, walked from the range of the camera, slumped in a chair and died of a heart attack.

Director Clarence Brown of M-G-M just had congratulated the 56-year-old actor on his performance.

"Good work, Bob," Brown said to him as the camera stopped. "That's your final scene."

"Yes, that's my final scene," replied McWade.

Potato Men Oppose Higher Rail Rates

Grand Rapids, (AP)—Meeting with the Michigan Railroad association Wednesday, the Michigan Potato Shippers association announced it was opposed to any increase in freight rates on fruits and vegetables. The shippers declared higher railway freight rates would divert more shipments to truck lines which now carry almost 50 per cent of Michigan's potato crop.

FARMER DROWNED

Berrien Springs, Jan. 19 (AP)—The search for the body of David Rainfeld, 74-year-old farmer who drowned in the St. Joseph river below the village Tuesday, continued Wednesday.

WRITER FOUND DEAD

New York, Jan. 19 (AP)—George Martin, 48, former newspaper and magazine editor and editorial director of the "Rochester Center Weekly," was found dead today in the gas-filled kitchen of his apartment. At one time he was chief editorial writer for Cotlier's magazine.

TVA Lowers Lake To Avert Floods

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP)—The Tennessee Valley authority has begun to draw down the giant lake behind its $36,000,000 Norris Dam on the Clinch river to provide reservoir capacity to control spring floods in the Tennessee valley.

Engineers estimate the mammoth barrier thrown across the fussy little stream in East Tennessee can hold enough water from its vast drainage area to lower flood crests at Chattanooga by three to five feet during a rainy season. Once in 1936, it was credited with preventing flood damage of more than $75,000 in the Chattanooga area.

Excess rainfall is stored in the 34,200-acre dam basin until it can be released without danger. The stored water also will provide an ample flow to insure a navigable stream below the dam throughout the summer months, the engineers say.

Vassar college was founded in 1861 through gift of $400,000 and 200 acres of land by Matthew Vassar.

The Indian villages of Acoma, Zuni and Oraibi all lay claim to being the oldest inhabited settlements in the United States.

BIGGE ON TRIAL
Sault Ste. Marie—Jerry L. Lynch of the Sault, president of Blysch Timber company, has been subpoenaed as a witness in a forgery case against Charles G. Bigge, former secretary-treasurer of the Filter Fibre company, Manistee, Mich., who will go on trial next Tuesday. The forgery charge against Bigge, an outgrowth of the investigation which preceded his arrest and subsequent conviction on a charge of embezzling several hundred thousand dollars from the Filter Fibre company, is based on the state's contention that Bigge signed the name of Jerry L. Lynch to a check for $1,000.

JUDGE BELL HONORED
Iron Mountain—Judge Frank A. Bell, of Negaunee, now presiding in circuit court here, was the guest of honor at a dinner meeting of the Dickinson County Bar association held last night at the Milano cafe. Other guests were Aaron Tufts, court reporter, and Nick Dulan, county clerk. Fourteen attorneys, residing in the county, attended. Charles D. Symonds, president of the county group, conducted the session.

FINNS TO CELEBRATE
Bessemer—Activities to raise funds for a monument and to pay for research to get the history of the participation of Finns in the early settlement of this county are being conducted by Gogebic range Finns in connection with the Delaware tercentennial celebration this year. The fund raising activities are being conducted in conjunction with other Finns throughout the country. The Delaware tercentennial celebration is for the period from 1638 to 1938. Finland has been asked to participate in the celebration because Finns, with Swedes, English and Dutch were the earliest settlers of the state.

TWO DISTRICT OFFICES
Marquette—Bids for the remodeling of the second floor of the Kaufman building to permit consolidation of the district offices of the Michigan unemployment compensation commission and the Michigan state employment service are awaiting approval in Lansing before the state administrative board and the unemployment compensation commission. As soon as bids are opened, work will commence. Several vacant rooms will be used to more than double the space now occupied by the newly created district office of the Michigan state employment service, which will be known alphabetically as the MSSS. The office was established on December 31, 1937, when F. S. Schouman, acting state director, announced that the district office of the national re-employment service had been absorbed by the state service.

LEAVES COUNTY JAIL
Menominee—James Rickenson, 64, today left a Menominee county jail cell free of a "fear complex" that has kept him here for 21 days. He has gained color and weight since he was placed in jail of December 29, because he "fit safer there."

Rickenson agreed today to go to the home of a daughter, Mrs. Edward Kulch, 1901 Chandler street. Previously he has refused to go to the home of his daughter or return to his farm home at Greenwood, although he said that he was not afraid of his sons and daughters.

The hearing was continued by the court to January 28. Howard E. Nadeau, appointed special guardian for Rickenson, will continue as special guardian until further action.

GIVEN RELEASE
Menominee—E. L. Carrington of Manistique was released from custody here last night after reimbursing Clement Linder, Nadeau horse dealer, to the amount of nearly $200, which it was charged that Carrington had obtained by fraud. Officers said Carrington had given Linder worthless checks.

After the settlement was arrived at in Justice Robert Burns' court, Carrington was released and the charge dismissed. Carrington was arrested at Cheboygan, Mich., at request of Sheriff Edward Reindl of Menominee.

ELEVATED ROAD IS FUTURE NEED

American Road Builders Elect Van Wagoner New President

Cleveland, Jan. 19 (AP)—The American Road Builders association announced its new officers tonight and heard a report which said "the greatest need of the age is express highways." "Elevated roads generally would cost less than street widening in congested areas," said the report by V. G. Iden, secretary of the American Institution of Steel Construction.

"Seventy-five percent of all traffic accidents in urban areas involve pedestrians," the report said, claiming elevated streets would alleviate this.

Col. Willard T. Chevallier of New York, retiring president, urged the builders to seek public support for highway legislation. New officers are: Murray D. Van Wagoner, Lansing, Mich., president; vice presidents, Paul B. Reinold, Pittsburg; E. D. Kenna, Jackson, Miss.; Lion Gardner, Columbus, O.; Stanley Abel, Taft, Calif.; treasurer—James H. MacDonald, New Haven, Conn.; directors, A. W. Brandt, Albany; Carl W. Brown, Jefferson City, Mo.; Frederick Holt, Boston; C. J. Sherlock, Montgomery, Ala.; Charles M. Upham, Washington; Charles N. Vall, Denver; H. C. Whitehurst, Washington.

AGENTS SEEK BODY IN ROSS KIDNAP DEATH

taken to San Francisco or whether they had viewed Anders at some other point. He said he did not know where the children had been taken or for what purpose.

Often Out of School
The physician, whose son was kidnapped from the family home here Dec. 27, 1936, said "the children are frequently out of school and have been taken various places by federal agents at various times."

(At San Francisco today the Call-Bulletin said it learned the two Mattson children, a playmate, Virginia Chaffield, were brought here by plane to view Anders, and had said he was not the man who abducted Charles. The three children were present Dec. 27, 1936, when young Charles was kidnapped.)

Dr. Mattson declined to say when the children left their home here or when they were expected to return. He asserted he did not know whether a report Muriet and William had seen Anders in San Francisco was true.

Tuesday evening Dr. Mattson said definitely the children had not been taken to St. Paul or Chicago to view Anders.

L'Anse Girl Out For Potato Crown

Detroit, Jan. 19 (AP)—From four young women chosen last fall at regional shows, the Michigan Quality Potato association will select a potato queen Sunday at the Detroit and Michigan exposition.

The candidates are Patricia Homer, 16, of Burnside, the south east Michigan contestant; Alice Frey, 20, of Edmore, representing southwestern Michigan; Jean Zittler, 19, of Charlevoix, northern Michigan choice; and Leona Toussaint, 19, of Marquette county, the Upper Peninsula candidate.

BARBER EXAMINER DEAD

Mt. Clemens, Mich. (AP)—Edward Haller, 68, member of the state board of barber examiners for 14 years, died here Wednesday.

Paul Bunyan, the lumberman giant. Crosshaul, considered the first person to give America a thoroughly orthodox interpretation of the Paul Bunyan legends, appeared before the Rotary-whiskers and all-to-give a version of Paul Bunyan based on an accumulation of material that has occupied a period of more than 45 years in its gathering. "The colorful personality of the noted legend expert interwove itself with the equally colorful story of Paul Bunyan as Crosshaul delved into the entrancing history of the legendary lumberjack, telling lore that has entertained thousands and "will ultimately flower into a notable American epic."

Interstate Compacts Urged

THE bureau of fisheries has issued a report, recommending that joint action be taken by the Great Lakes states to protect the commercial fishing industry.

The Great Lakes commercial fishing is an important industry, and it is one that is worth saving from destruction.

The Great Lakes and their connecting waters form the largest single fresh-water area in the world. They have a surface area of more than 95,000 square miles.

The fisheries of Lake Ontario date from the settling of its shores. Whitefish and trout were taken from this lake with seines as early as 1807.

Previous to 1890, whitefish, lake trout, sturgeon and lake herring made up three-fourths or more of the total poundage of the Great Lakes.

Many factors have contributed to the disappearance of Great Lakes fish; over-fishing, the destruction of immature fish by small-mesh nets, the deliberate efforts of fishermen to exterminate the so-called rough or undesirable fish.

G-Men Score Again

CAPTURE of Peter Anders, who is reported to have confessed to the kidnaping and slaying of Charles S. Ross of Chicago, adds another to the long list of achievements of the federal bureau of investigation in combating the kidnaping evil in this country.

While the kidnap of Charles Mattson of Tacoma, Wash., has not been apprehended as yet, J. Edgar Hoover's G-men have done a remarkable job in making the crime of kidnaping dangerous business.

A long list of notorious bank robbers and public enemies has been erased during the past few years since Hoover launched his vigorous anti-crime campaign.

Clean-Up Planned

A nine-point program to clean up "disgusting" conditions in some of Michigan's drinking establishments has been announced by the liquor control commission.

The program sums up quite completely the abuses that have developed in the liquor business in the state and offers remedies, based on the experience of the commission, that should be of considerable value.

Reduction of the number of licenses in those communities that have not voluntarily done so is proposed. Back in the old saloon days the granting of too many licenses and creating stifling competition led to serious abuses.

forced to attempt to increase their revenues through illegal and oftentimes immoral activities. Stiffer penalties for violations of the liquor laws are also contemplated.

Establishment of zones where licenses should not be sold is another point on the commission's program. The law now governs the location of drink places with reference to schools and churches.

State control of the liquor traffic is no easy task. It caused no end of trouble first for Governor Comstock and then for Governor Fitzgerald.

Tammany Nears End

TAMMANY HALL has become the national symbol of all that is crooked, slimy, un-patriotic, and sinister in politics. These words come not from any impractical political reformer or theorist, but from Jeremiah Titus Mahoney—former Tammany district leader and judge.

What does a statement like this mean? Just this. Even men who have risen to power and prominence on the Tammany band-wagon are beginning to realize what the rest of the country has believed for years—that Tammany Hall no longer is representative of the Democrats of New York.

Tammany must go, Mahoney declares. The name must be dropped; headquarters must be moved away from the famous Hall; every vestige of Tammany must vanish, even the rules under which it operates.

Such words must sound like heresy to some of the leaders of the organization which ruled the nation's largest city for so many years. As long as Tammany had power, it could—and did—ignore the recurring rumblings of displeasure, the repeated charges of graft and corruption.

Now that it is shorn of power, nothing is left. It stands unmasked for just what it is—an ineffective, discredited political organization which has been unable to elect its candidates for city offices even in a predominantly Democratic metropolis.

Mahoney never spoke truer words than when he said that the name Tammany means political corruption to most persons outside New York. That has been the case for years. To the average voter, Tammany typifies all that is sordid in machine politics.

It must have been a wrench for Mahoney to make that assertion, for he owes his political prominence to his start under Tammany banners. He was a close friend, almost worshiper, of the late Charles F. Murphy, Tammany boss.

He fought Murphy's successors—Curry, Dooling, and Sullivan—but his fight was never against Tammany; only against its leaders. Now, however, he is convinced Tammany must go, and his condemnation is all the more impressive because of his record.

Death in the Desert

A recent issue of LIFE contained a pictorial review of the fight against tuberculosis. Probably the most startling revelation, to many people, is the fact that climate has little or no bearing on modern treatment of tuberculosis.

Each year hundreds upon hundreds of people forsake home and family, or worse, bring their families with them, and spend their last cent reaching the deserts of the Southwest.

Delta, Menominee, Dickinson and Iron counties jointly own Pinecrest Sanatorium at Powers, where persons afflicted with this dreaded disease are given the best of care and treatment.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—A widespread sentiment to boycott Japanese merchandise, and cotton in this country at less than ten cents per pound, bring to the fore how complex is the boycotting of any nation's goods.

Cotton prices are low mainly because of the weak demand for the American staple in other countries. With an annual yield far in excess of home consumption, America is dependent upon exports to absorb her raw cotton.

With cheap labor and efficient machinery, Japan is able to take raw cotton from other countries, manufacture it into piece goods, and sell these goods back to the nations from which the raw cotton was imported.

Prior to the World War, exports of cotton from the United States to Japan were negligible. Between 1910 and 1914 Japan took only three per cent of this country's cotton exports.

During and after the World War the Japanese textile industry made great strides and the flow of American cotton into Japan greatly increased till 1932.

Among the cotton-manufacturing countries, Japan ranks third in the number of spindles, second in the quantity of cotton consumed, and first in the quantity of cloth exported.

In recent years Japan has penetrated into virtually every market of the world where cotton goods are sold, and has supplanted the United Kingdom as the greatest exporter of cotton goods.

A significant feature of the recent expansion of the Japanese textile industry is that it has not been stimulated, as in earlier periods, by external causes.

Of the approximately 170,000 textile workers in Japan, 89 per cent are girls from the overcrowded agricultural regions, and their average working day is 9 hours and 36 minutes.

New York Column

BY GEORGE ROSS

New York—Gilbert Miller has crossed the Atlantic some 330 times, both ways, in order to keep abreast of his new shows in London or on Broadway.

When, on either side of a couple of thousand miles off in a hurry, he has only to lift the phone, call either of his brace of pilots, motor out to the field and fly off.

All this in prelude to a casual phone call the ubiquitous Mr. Miller made the other morning. He was in the throes of gathering a cast for his next play, which is by Frederic Londale. He already had contracted Ina Claire. And he knew that another young actress he wanted, a Miss Nancy Ryan, happened at the moment to be the house guest of a certain Maharajah in India.

The other side of the globe is a pebble's toss for Mr. M. He picked up his hotel phone, quietly asked the switchboard operator to connect him with the Maharajah's palace in Jalpur and ask for Miss Ryan. Twenty minutes later, the operator reported that she had been informed from Jalpur of Miss Ryan's departure for Calcutta.

Another brief pause. "Calcutta says that Miss Ryan is on a London-bound plane," the switchboard said. "Let it go," the theatrical tycoon murmured.

Along with the phone bill the next morning ($33.50 per minute) Mr. Miller received a cable from Miss Ryan, datelined Baghdad where her plane had been forced down. "Am hurrying to New York," it said. "Hold-part-for-me."

Cupid's Exit This is a minor saga about a man, woman and dog, and the human protagonists happen to be well-known around the Rialto.

Their marriage plans suddenly had reefed against the rocks, when both parties grow temperamental. And the thwarted groom departed to brood and forget at Honolulu. With him he took his frisky scottie who always had been privy to the shattered romance. But as he approached that paradise isle, he ran into complications. The Quarantine Officers insisted upon the detention of his pet. So in anger and despair, he turned about with the jet-black little fellow to New York, where he ran into his would-be bride again.

To gether they brooded on a dog's harsh life and a week later they were wed. But 24 hours after the nuptial ceremonies, the dog passed peacefully away, having fulfilled his mission, I guess.

The Capital Parade

BY ALSOP AND KINTNER

Washington — "I can't believe that," said Alice. "Can't you?" said the queen in a pitying tone. "Try again: Draw a long breath and shut your eyes."

"I dare say you haven't had much practice," said the queen. "When I was your age, I always did it for half an hour a day. Why, sometimes I've believed as many as six impossible things before breakfast."

That morsel of dialogue from the President's favorite author is worth recalling at the moment because it is a magically apt comment on the situation at the White House. There are traces of the White Queen in the President. Sometimes he doesn't even have to draw a long breath and shut both eyes to believe the incredible. And this happens to be one of the times.

The fact is that the President has not yet been able to discover any incompatibilities between Donald Richberg's scheme for the establishment of a carefully modified NRA and the trust-busting inclinations of such Left-Wing advisers as Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson. It is not surprising, therefore, that business, the public and even the President's followers are beginning to feel the same exasperated puzzlement as to the President's intentions to which poor Alice was provoked by her white majesty.

Indeed, it now seems probable that both the Jackson and the Richberg ideas will prevail simultaneously. Mr. Jackson, who has been assured that his advice will predominate in the forthcoming presidential monopoly message and the accompanying bill, will be permitted to trust-bust to his heart's content. And Mr. Richberg will simultaneously be allowed to offer industry authorizations for trade agreements, mutual cooperation and perhaps even production planning.

On the Jackson side, the recent presidential attack on holding companies is said to presage a tremendous increase in the intercorporate dividend taxes originally thought up by the able assistant attorney general. It is expected that the levy will be broadened to a point where such mighty holding companies as General Motors and American Telephone and Telegraph will either have to transmogrify themselves into operating companies, subdivide or shut up shop.

Perhaps "tramp" corporations, doing their principal business in a state other than the one where they are incorporated, will also fall before extra taxation. The anti-trust laws will be stream-lined. The "basing point system may be destroyed, although the President is more enthusiastic about this than his advisers. The Federal Trade Commission will be strengthened, and probably authorized to enforce "open price posting." The patent laws will be gutted.

And then, after trying to grind the size out of American industry, the President seems likely to follow Mr. Richberg in letting the new small units cohere. Mr. Richberg wants to permit the member corporations in a given business to get together under the government's watchful eye, and lay out a floor of trade practices above which competition may begin.

To repeat, it may be stated definitely that, at this time, the President sees nothing inconsistent in doing both these things at once. The White House argument is simply that "we don't like having only three companies in one industry. But after we've broken the three down to fifteen, there's no reason why we shouldn't let the fifteen get around a table and plan production, outlaw child labor, establish trade practices, and remove business ups and downs."

On the surface, the White House argument may seem plausible, but the most cursory examination of the Richberg and Jackson theories shows how completely the plausibility is on the surface.

The Jackson theory of trust-busting is derived from Justice Brandeis, whose teaching has deeply influenced Mr. Jackson and the other Left-Wing White House counselors behind the anti-monopoly crusade. Justice Brandeis believes that business bigness is a curse because he is a follower of Adam Smith's classical theory of the value of free competition.

Justice Brandeis and his disciples in the administration would root out bigness, and return to a classical economy. Mr. Richberg and his friends among the industrialists, labor leaders, and the administration conservatives adhere, on the other hand, to a theory which is simply modified Marx.

Lyrics of Life By Douglas Mallo: UNDER DADDY'S HAT He has a house inside his hat. My daddy has, just think of that. My daddy said, "I have in mind The very house we tried to find. That we can buy, if they don't know How much we really want it, though. Then Mother said, said just like that, "Well, keep it underneath your hat."

I couldn't see how he, at that, Could keep a house inside his hat. So, when he hung it up tonight, I went and peeked. It wasn't right. But anyway it wasn't there, I couldn't see it anywhere. And yet he promised her, at that, He'd keep it underneath his hat.

There's something more to wonder at. Perhaps it isn't in his hat. For now, just now, my mother said, "Since you got houses in your head—" He ought to know, she ought to know. It's hard to understand them, though. It's in his head or in his hat. It's hard to understand, at that.

It is not un-Christian to back up a policy of rearmament. In this imperfect world it appears to be the only road to peace.

BUREAU PARLEY AT MARQUETTE

Hotel Association Also Will Meet Friday and Saturday

Marquette, Mich.—This city will be the scene January 21 and 22 of one of upper Michigan's largest winter meetings in recent years, when members of the Michigan Hotel association and the Upper Peninsula Development bureau will meet in several combined sessions at the Hotel Northland.

The meeting, sponsored by the Marquette Chamber of Commerce, will have for its theme, "Building a Permanent Tourist Industry." Both organizations are strongly interested in the further development of the tourist business. Those who attend will register at a table in the Northland lobby, and the meeting will open with an informal luncheon Friday noon, to be followed by afternoon committee meetings.

Friday evening's banquet will be held at 6:30 o'clock, with a speaking session at which John P. Norton, president of the bureau, will be chairman. The speakers will include August Syverson, president of the Marquette Chamber of Commerce; R. C. Pryal of Escanaba, secretary of the Upper Peninsula State Fair board; Harold Lindsay, secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce; and P. J. Hoffmaster, director of the Michigan Conservation department, Lansing.

Saturday, January 22, at 7:30 a. m. there will be a breakfast meeting of a special committee on the Mackinac Straits bridge project. John R. Merrifield of Sault Ste. Marie, president of the Straits Bridge association, will be chairman, and Prof. J. H. Cissel of Lansing will speak briefly. All who are interested are invited to be present. The midwinter business meeting of the bureau will follow at 10 o'clock, and there will be a morning business session of the Michigan Hotel association in the hotel.

Prof. Cissel will be the speaker at a combined noon luncheon in the Northland dining room Saturday. Both associations will continue their business sessions in the afternoon if necessary. The meeting will close with another banquet at 6:30 p. m., sponsored by the hotel association. President Leon A. Deglman of Sault Ste. Marie will be chairman, and the speakers will include Bruce Anderson of Lansing, president of the East Michigan Tourist association.

The public will be welcome at these sessions and where possible advance reservations should be made.

Hunting Of Mink Will End Jan. 31

Less than two weeks are left or hunting mink in Michigan until late next fall, the season closing Jan. 31.

Mink can be hunted only during the months of November, December and January and they can be trapped only during the regular muskrat trapping seasons which include the month of November in the upper peninsula, from Nov. 15 to Dec. 15 in the northern half of the lower peninsula, and the month of December in the southern half of the lower peninsula.

Corunna Jail Parson There For 20 Days

Corunna, Mich. (AP)—For two years Walter Stevens, 40-year-old Owasco cobbler, has been visiting the county jail here to conduct religious services. Now he will be right on hand for the services for 20 days. Judge J. H. Collins sentenced him Monday for failure to pay alimony.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Coffee—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning! It's So Good!
The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, weak and the world looks pink.
A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." The Logs Roll—The Queen Reigns—It's Forestry Day

A log rolling contest in which World Champion Joe Connors, right, Cloquet, Minn., jostled with Harold Fischer, Stillwater, Minn., in a gymnasium pool, was one of the Forestry Day highlights recently at the University of Minnesota. Connors won the world's title last August in Escanaba. This was the first time that birling was presented as a college sport.

Indoor and outdoor events arranged by students in the forestry division packed the day. The queen does a bit of log rolling in the orthodox way—Miss Dorothy Drey, Watkins, Minn.

A typical son of Paul Dunyan, mythical figure of the north woods, was the title given Fred Dickinson, Jr., Bemidji, seen greeting John Stillwell, Cloquet, to the festivities. The day was dedicated to Stillwell, for 14 years foreman of the forestry experiment station of Cloquet.

ZONING MEET HERE TODAY

Schoenmann to Explain Soil Classification Map

Members of the rural zoning committee of the Delta county board of supervisors and others interested in zoning are invited to attend a meeting at the Escanaba court house 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

L. R. Schoenmann, formerly director of the Michigan Land Economic Survey and now director of the Conservation Institute of Michigan State College, will discuss the land classification map of Delta county, which the soils department of Michigan State College has prepared for the rural zoning committee.

Dr. L. H. Wolfanger, also of the Conservation Institute, James Marshall of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics at Washington, R. S. Shaw of the State Planning Commission at Lansing, and J. G. Wells, director of the Upper Peninsula Experiment Station at Chatham, also will speak.

The soils map was prepared in response to a resolution passed by the rural zoning committee at a meeting held Feb. 5, 1937, asking Dean E. L. Anthony of Michigan State College to give this aid to the rural zoning program in this county.

Shoreline Fishing Will Be Discussed At Bureau Meeting

Marquette, Mich.—Members of the Izak Walton League will discuss this week at the midwinter meeting of the Upper Peninsula Development bureau the proposition of closing the shorelines of Lake Superior and other Great Lakes to commercial fishing.

Dr. John N. Lowe, member of the Northern Michigan Normal college faculty and prominent exponent of conservation, has repeatedly urged the removal of fishermen's nets from areas adjacent to the mouths of rivers and streams emptying into the Great Lakes.

"Closing the shoreline of Lake Superior to commercial fishing would greatly aid sport fishing in this district," said Dr. Lowe. "Fishermen's nets, when placed near the mouths of streams flowing into the big lakes, have a direct bearing on inland sport fishing. They obstruct the free passage of game fish seeking spawning grounds inland, and many spawn-laden game fish are taken in nets before they can reproduce."

"If the nets were permanently removed the numbers of game fish in the smaller lakes feeding these streams would be greatly increased."

Conservation Will Be Discussed At Bureau Conference

Marquette, Mich.—A meeting of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau's conservation committee will take place at the Hotel Northland, Marquette, Friday, January 21. The members will have luncheon together at noon and go into session immediately thereafter.

Several conservation questions of moment to the peninsula will come up for discussion. The bureau has been asked to express itself on the Potagannissing Bay situation, and to take a stand on the question of net-setting in the 'near shore' waters of the Great Lakes. The organization has been asked to go on record as favoring an adequate appropriation to restate the Michigan land economic survey which was started and then discontinued some years ago in the northern counties, giving counties which have approved the Michigan land zoning act the benefit of the data which such a survey would provide.

It is proposed at Washington to transfer the management of the U. S. Forest Service from the Department of Agriculture to the Department of the Interior. Having three national forests and two forest nurseries within its borders, the district is interested in the possible outcome of such a move, and the matter will come up for discussion in committee. There is also widespread interest in the new Tahquamenon state park and its prospects for early improvement. Considerable sentiment has developed for legislation providing a special appropriation for further improvement of state parks generally.

These and many other questions will command the attention of the bureau's conservation committee this week. The members are: J. P. Rakkilly, Newberry, chairman; M. J. Fox, Iron Mountain, L. G. Hillyer, Baraga, Frank Spear, Marquette; Ray McLaughlin, St. Ignace; G. H. Earle, Hermantown; James Troyer, Sault Ste. Marie; and John Carlson, Crystal Falls.

Chippewa County Shipping Tubers To Chicago Mart

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—What is believed to be the first carload of high grade potatoes ever shipped from Chippewa county left here January 3 over the Soo Line for Chicago, Consigned to the United Produce company, specialist in handling Upper Peninsula Green Mountain potatoes, it arrived January 7, and brought prices near the top of the market for U. S. No. 1 grade stock.

"This marks the initial effort of the newly organized Chippewa County Potato Growers association in marketing at outside points," said County Agent D. L. McMillan of Sault Ste. Marie. "The first car was packed and loaded by Roy and Raymond Eagle of the Hay Lake road. Probably more than ten carloads will be shipped from last year's crop. It is the organization's aim to handle shipments in such a way that every grower of even a small surplus of potatoes in the county will have an opportunity to participate in potatoes to sell are requested to see Roy Earle or Wesley McCondra, president and secretary respectively of the association," continued Mr. McMillan. "They will be glad to arrange for shipments, and potatoes of equal quality and similar variety will be loaded with these shipments, so that the evenly graded car will bring the highest possible market price."

Chippewa's potato-growing program was launched last spring, and many farmers have co-operated with Mr. McMillan, C. A. Waeleock, the banks of Sault Ste. Marie, and the agricultural department of the South Shore and Soo Line railroads. It was emphasized at that time that prices probably would be low this winter, but that a start could be made in getting good foundation stock on the farms, and that improved growing methods could be scientifically introduced. The crop harvested showed excellent yield and quantity—yields being so heavy that the county has a potato surplus for the first time.

"Thus the county has reached the shipping stage in a development which, in a few years, we hope will mark Chippewa as an important potato-growing center," said Mr. McMillan, "and another valuable cash crop has been added to our diversified farming industry. We are all encouraged over the progress made last year, and it is likely that a considerably larger acreage of both the Green Mountain and Chippewa varieties will be planted here next spring."

4 NEW LIGHTS ARE INSTALLED

Experiment in Lighting Ludington Street Is Launched

Four new street lights have been installed on the corner of Ludington and Ninth street to determine whether it will be worthwhile for the city to invest in an improved boulevard lighting system.

The lights are 600 candlepower, the same as the others on Ludington street, but various changes in the arrangement made possible a greater amount of illumination. The lights employ a new principle in street lighting, designed to place more light on the street and improve visibility. The reflector is made of aluminum by the Alzak process and is of light weight with a high reflection factor.

Blinding glare is reduced by moving the light source out of close range of vision. This is accomplished by using a mounting height of 22 feet 6 inches above pavement. Also embodied in the new fixture are Alzak processed Biflectors, which direct more light to the street than previous types and eliminates the light above horizontal.

This new light fixture is primarily designed to eliminate the discomforts of blinding glare with results in higher intensity with improved visibility.

Peninsula Farms Being Purchased By Illinois Men

Recent Federal Land Bank farm sales made by George F. Matthews, fieldman, of Manistowick, include the following:

To William F. Zick of Calumet City, Ill., the former Stanley Winkowski farm of 120 acres located three miles northeast of Perronville in Delta county. Mr. Zick is making extensive improvements to the farm buildings and will have the farm in operation this year.

This is the second Calumet City, Ill., man to invest in Upper Peninsula real estate in the past few months, another sale by Mr. Matthews being the former Holben farm in Schoolcraft county near Cooks to Joseph F. Sawyer whose family is comfortably located in their new home.

OLSEN EXPLAINS LICENSE SALE

Counties Credited With Sale Regardless of Place of Purchase

Regardless of in which county license plates for automobiles are purchased, the home county in which the purchaser resides always is credited with the sale, R. O. Olsen, Delta county treasurer, said yesterday.

Olsen's announcement followed a story from Menominee to the effect that the board of supervisors in that county have protested against their residents purchasing home near that place from the bank, and expects to re-enter the farming business on a more extensive scale, giving special attention to dairying and stock raising.

license plates in other counties. Olsen pointed out that all counties, including Delta, have the same situation but that it does not decrease the financial return of the various counties.

Even though residents of other counties may purchase their license plates at the local office, the counties in which they reside are credited with the sale and, as a result, those counties receive credit in weight tax distribution of the state.

Olsen said that many residents in the eastern end of Delta county purchase their plates in Schoolcraft county while others purchase theirs in Marquette and Alger.

Sale of licenses in this county has been very slow, Olsen said, not more than 600 plates being sold. It is estimated that there are 5,000 automobiles in the county. The treasurer warned motorists again that, under no circumstances, can the purchase date of license be extended after February 28 and urged motorists to get their plates immediately to avoid the inevitable rush during the last few days.

Archery Becomes Minor Sport At Escanaba S. H. S.

The Girls' Athletic Association of the senior high school now has a complete archery set, with six bows, six dozen arrows, wrist guards, finger tabs, and two large bull's eye targets.

The G. A. A., under the direction of the girls' physical education teacher, Miss Ruby Blizel, had offered to earn the fifty-dollar through socials, matinees, and sales for the set. However, Principal Edward Edick announced that the school would pay for the outfit in recognition of the interest the girls displayed in this sport.

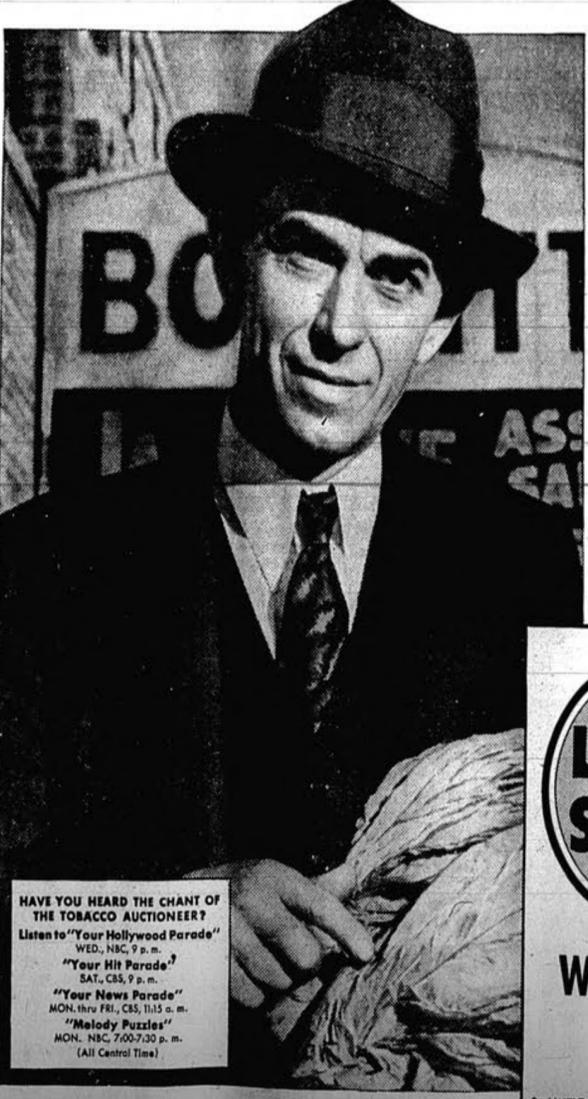

Interest in archery was first stimulated by an address and exhibition by Frederic Kibbe, maker of archery equipment at Coldwater and an ardent enthusiast in the field. The set purchased for the girls was made by Mr. Kibbe, who hunted for deer with his bow and arrow during the hunting season last fall. The gym classes are now studying the rudiments of the sport with the G. A. A. members in hopes of advancing archery to a minor sport of interest at the Senior High school.

MRS. SANDELL DECLINES

Marquette—Mrs. Ellen M. Sandell, appointed to the office two weeks ago, submitted her resignation as city treasurer in a letter to Simon R. Anderson, commissioner of the department of accounts and finance. At the same time a group of more than 50 persons gathered in the commission chamber heard an opinion of City Attorney John Walsh that Glen B. Wilson was not entitled to retain the office of treasurer under the provisions of the veterans' preference act.

Wilson formally protested his dismissal last week and asked reinstatement under that law. Only one side of the moon is seen from the earth, but every region of the moon is presented to the sun in turn.

Mitzel Concert Is Delightful Treat To Music Lovers

A happy combination of artistry and a depth of musicianship usually associated with one far beyond the years of this youthful violinist, was revealed in Kayla Mitzel in her concert last evening at William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium, the second of the League of Community Concerts series.

Miss Mitzel, who, in spite of her youth, has European as well as American success to her credit, is an artist of profound musical instincts and she possesses a vital communicative power and a true understanding of classic interpretation that make for greatness. The first part of her program composed of heavier numbers was given with vigor and inspiration. In the second half and in her generous encores were those smaller pieces in which the violinist's charm and sensitivity were most evident.

Her accompanist, Sanford Schussel, gave balance and added interest to the recital, complementing the violinist and showing imagination and color in his solo numbers.

Included in Miss Mitzel's first group were Bach's Chaconne, which she played without piano accompaniment, Poeme by Camsson, and the first movement of a Brahms concerto. In these numbers, the artist displayed a vibrant intensity in her playing which impressed her listeners with the spiritual nobility of the selections. Mr. Schussel's portion of the program consisted of a gavotte, Gluck-Brahms, and Lecuono's Malaguena, both of which were executed with the finality and finish of an artist of Mr. Schussel's ability.

Miss Mitzel came back after the intermission to play four selections in the lighter vein, all of which proved extremely delightful to her listeners. This group included Chopin's Nocturne; the novelty number, Flight of the Bumble Bee of Rimsky-Korsakov; and two selections of DeFalla, Pantomime and Danse Espagnole. The latter number was an arrangement of Fritz Kreisler.

The colorful young violinist, who captivated the audience by her charm and stage presence, responded generously to demands of encores.

First National Officers Named; Harris Promoted

Officers of the First National Bank were appointed for the year 1938 at a meeting of the directors on Tuesday.

The officers named are: President, M. K. Blasell; vice president, George N. Harder; cashier, Leslie French; assistant cashiers, Eugene G. Royce, Frederick F. Royce, Henry A. Peterson and Earle B. Harris.

All officers succeeded themselves with the exception of Mr. Harris, who was newly appointed. Mr. Harris' appointment comes as a recognition of long and efficient service. He has been with the bank since 1918.

FISHING LAWS ARE CHANGED

Non-Resident Anglers to Come Under New Regulations

Non-resident fishermen who try their luck in the Great Lakes this year will come under one regulation which includes two fine distinctions.

The regulation is among the changes in the state's fishing laws which have been effective since Jan. 1.

Under the new regulations, non-residents are required to have a license to fish in the Great Lakes. There are exceptions, however. No license is required of them to fish for perch, catfish, bullheads, blue pike, sand pike, ciscoes and carp.

The other distinction in the regulation is that the no-license provision applies only for taking the fish with hook and line. A license is needed for spearing the same species which are exempted from the hook and line regulation.

The minimum age for having a license has been reduced for non-residents, as well as residents, from 18 to 17 years.

Joel Hunt, New Georgia Coach, Was Brilliant Star

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

Texas, long a great developing ground for baseball players, rapidly is attaining the same steady efficiency in golf and football.

Among the Lone Star state's front men of the fairways are Harry Cooper, Ralph Guldahl, Byron Nelson, and Wild Bill Mehlfors, who will do until you can think of a more able quartet from one commonwealth.

No locality has made such tremendous strides in football in recent years, with Sammy Baugh a striking example of playing skill, and now Texas is sending its coaches to other sections.

Dana X. Bible was brought back after a whirl at Nebraska. Ohio State went to Texas for Francis Schmidt, Vanderbilt for Ray Morrison, and North Carolina for Ward Wolf. Bo McMillin of Indiana learned the fundamentals at Fort Worth.

There are numerous others, but today's story was to be about Joel Hunt, who hops from Louisiana State to succeed the veteran Harry Mehre as head coach of the University of Georgia.

Hunt is a Texas A. & M. immortal, who determined while still in college to make football coaching his life work. He kept that idea in mind following his graduation in 1928 and during five years of professional baseball as a member of the St. Louis Cardinals' chain gang.

Broken Leg Ended His Baseball Career

An outfielder who played in every baseball classification and had three trials with the Red Birds, Hunt voluntarily retired after breaking his leg in 1932, and decided to devote his entire time and attention to football coaching.

Hunt, blue-eyed, brown-haired, and only 32, likes to hunt and fish, but does little of either as long as he can find someone with whom to talk football.

Hunt, who stands 5 feet 10 1/2 inches and weighs 165 pounds, had three under the playing weight of his college days, understands players and personally is popular with them. He's able to convince his backs that he knows what he is talking about because he still can outpunt and outpass the best of them. He always is in top condition.

He probably will employ the Warner single wingback, which is used by Bernie Moore at Louisiana State, but has very definite ideas of his own.

Hunt applied for the Georgia job soon after Mehre's resignation. He had such fine recommendations that Bulldog officials interviewed him personally, and soon engaged him.

Hunt Goes to Georgia With Bright Background

Hunt was head coach at the College of Marshall, Tex., in 1928-9, where his club won the junior championship of the cow country. After three seasons as backfield coach at Texas A. & M. under Matty Bell, he went to L. S. U. in the same capacity under Maj. Biff Jones.

He was All-Southwest Conference quarterback in 1925-6-7, playing hero roles in the championship won by Dana X. Bible's Texas A. & M. teams in '25-7. He was the outstanding performer in an East-West game in San Francisco.

Hunt did such things as punt, pass, call signals, block, run, and kick field goals for the Aggies.

Hunt was born at Texico, N. M., where his paternal grandfather was a prominent government official of territorial days. He is devoted to Mrs. Hunt, the former Elyen Eckles of Baton Rouge, and their two-and-a-half-year-old daughter, Nancy Joe.

Joel Hunt combines the steadiness of Dana X. Bible, who drilled him, and the backfield imagination and brilliance of a triple threat. He is tremendously enthusiastic about his first big coaching opportunity.

Georgia will like him.

Errors as large as 1-10th of a second sometimes occur in observation time, but the average error does not exceed 5-100th of a second.

Mask And Wig Has Election, Plays Are Given At Meeting

The Mask and Wig Dramatic club of the local high school held its monthly meeting in the senior high auditorium Tuesday evening of this week.

A president and secretary-treasurer for the group was elected for the coming semester. Britton Temby was made president, and Betty Kraus, secretary-treasurer.

This year the club is organized under a new setup with three faculty advisors, Bernadette Brennan, in charge of the sophomores; Helen Snyder, the juniors; and Joseph Shipman, the seniors. Projects for the next semester were outlined, which included building a model stage, lectures on stage lighting, scenery, reports on current plays, student directed plays, and radio technique. The senior unit presented two radio dramas over the school loud speaking equipment. At the next meeting the junior group will entertain.

The first drama was written and directed by a senior, Bentrice Morton, with a George Washington celebration as the central theme, entitled "All God's Chillins." The characters were:

St. Peter—Jack Reynolds.
Cleopatra—Barbara Banks.
Jean Harlow—Mae Bergman.
George Washington—Don Peter.

Little Eva—Madelyn Shaw.
Abe Lincoln—Junior Anzalone.
Napoleon—Glen Lewis.
Sir Walter Raleigh—Walter Russell.
Julius Caesar—Nick Chapekis.
Announcer—Junior Anzalone.

The other was a one act comedy directed by Mary Francis Ghera. The characters were:

Mr. Jones—Nick Chapekis.
Mrs. Jones—Mary Francis Ghera.
Mary Jones—Madelyn Shaw.
Paul Jones—Glen Lewis.
Jack—Walter Russell.
Announcer—Jane Rawley.

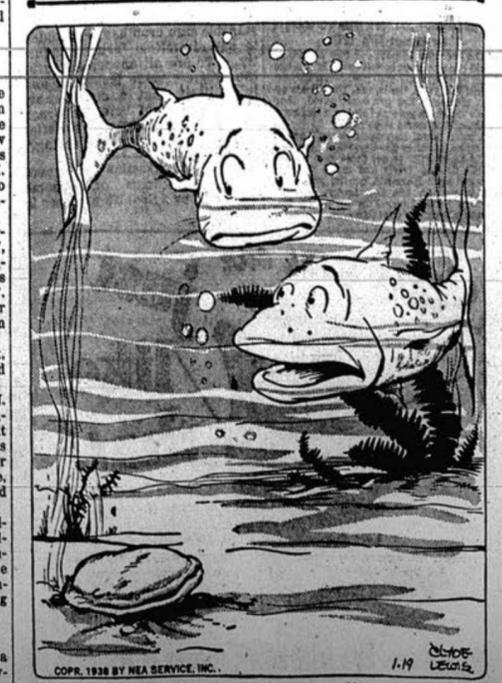

Michigan In Washington

Congressman Fred L. Crawford of Saginaw, is a Republican but he resents the cursing of the President in a certain advertisement appearing in a national magazine. Worried, distraught advertising men, magazine executives, manufacturers of the product have been beseeching Crawford "to let up" on his persistent drive to do something. The business men felt relieved when Attorney General Cummings had to admit no law existed against profaning the office of the President—until Crawford introduced a joint resolution requesting the Federal Trade Commission to investigate and report to Congress all the pertinent facts.

Manning Shaw, the dapper and most efficient secretary of Senator Prentiss M. Brown is a consistent chap when he grabs on to an idea. As generalissimo of the Brown Campaign in Michigan in 1936 he promised that Michigan voters should become so "Brown-conscious" that every time they saw the color they would think of his likely candidate.

So he proceeded with great thoroughness to have every one of his campaign billboards, every pamphlet, every picture appear in brown tones. The election won, he is still sepiia-minded and insists that the hundreds of letters that roll out of the senator's office each day be turned out in brown tones. Falling in a scrap with the government printing office to have the letter-head set up in brown ink, he ordered brown typewriter ribbon. The agreeable senator, almost balked at signing his name in the rather dirty looking brownish ink Manning discovered, but gave in when promised it would be doctored with some red.

OBITUARY

FRANK E. LIED
Impressive funeral services for Frank E. Lied, prominent Manistique businessman, were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the chapel of the Anderson Funeral Home, Rev. Martin Dornfeld of Manistique officiating.

The chapel was filled to the doors and beautiful flowers, tributes from business associates and friends of the family, banked the repose room. Rev. Mr. Dornfeld used as his sermon text, the Fiftieth Psalm, Verse 15. "Call upon Me in the day of trouble and I will deliver thee." The music of the service included two duets by Mrs. Phoebe Benson and C. Arthur Anderson, "Homeland," and "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." Mrs. Noel Piche was accompanist.

Burial was in Lakeview cemetery. Pallbearers were Arthur Wilbert, Austin, Walter and Edwin Lied, brothers, and Melvin Ehnord, a brother-in-law.

Out-of-town relatives and friends at the services were Mrs. Frank Lied, Clifford, Franklin and Robert, Manistique; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lied, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Lied, Menominee; Austin Lied, Mrs. John Rolph and Edwin Lied, Clio, Mich.; Walter Lied, Gladstone; Rev. and Mrs. Louis Witte, Kendall, Wis.; Fred H. Habne, C. L. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Rousseau, Manistique.

WILMER GOODMAN
The body of Wilmer Goodman, 308 South Thirteenth street, who died Tuesday, is resting in state at the Anderson Funeral Home until the hour of the funeral. Services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the funeral home chapel. Rev. Karl J. Hammar officiating and burial will be in Lakeview cemetery.

MRS. JAMES POISSON
The body of Mrs. Jane Poisson, 83, pioneer resident of Escanaba who died Tuesday, was removed from the Degnan funeral home to the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Pryal, 1312 First avenue north, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, to remain there in state until the funeral hour. Services will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Anne's church. Rev. Fr. Joseph F. Guertin officiating, and burial will be in St. Anne's cemetery.

Some Seek Drivers' Permits Too Soon

Indications that many motorists of Michigan are seeking to evade the coming examination for operators license are offered from applications received from persons whose present license will be valid for some time to come.

Leon D. Case, secretary of state, has warned that the state's licensing act prohibits the issuance of a license to any applicant whose present license does not expire in less than six months. Several thousand premature applications have been returned to applicants in the past few weeks.

This process adds to the cost of administration of the license law because of the involvements of the procedure. Credit of 15 cents to local governments for each license, has already been posted on departmental books when applications are checked; in instances where applications are rejected, such credits must be withdrawn. The entire refunding process to the counties is slowed up by the increasing volume of such operations.

HABER LAUDS SECURITY ACT

Economist Says Law Is First Attack on Insecurity

Ann Arbor—The Social Security Act of 1935 is not the panacea that its name implies, but it is the first planned and comprehensive broad of government on the problem of insecurity, declared Dr. William Haber, nationally recognized authority on social security and Professor of Economics at the University of Michigan in a recent address from the campus broadcasting studio here.

Because it is far from perfect, the Social Security Act must be amended many times and improved with the amendments, Professor Haber said, but, coming in effect in the midst of a new depression superimposed on an older and more or less permanent one, with a plea to use the insurance fund now, and with admitted lack of experience, we would do well to temper our criticism. Our choice today, he declared, is not between the present Social Security Act and some fond Utopia which we may all hope for. It is a choice," he added, "between the present act, a dignified and planned method of alleviating distress, and the past methods of haphazard relief."

"From the general nature of the constructive criticisms of the Act," said Dr. Haber, "it can be seen that the present old age insurance provisions place too much emphasis on the principle of equity, and fail to stress the ideal of adequacy." Throughout the act, he asserted, the provisions can serve only to eliminate or relieve certain insecurities. Therefore, he added, there is a definite need for an adequate supplementary relief program, integrated with the insurance policies of the Act.

The present business recession, Professor Haber asserted, emphasizes the permanent nature of the standing army of unemployed. While 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 have been thrown into the ranks of the unemployed since last November, there were, according to the November federal unemployment census, approximately 10,800,000 unemployed before that date, he declared, setting the total present unemployment and partial unemployment at about 14,000,000, about the same as in 1933 at the depths of the depression. These immense figures, explainable by our increased labor supply and the march of technological progress,

Recession Having Little Effect On Hiring Of Teachers

Ann Arbor—The present business recession has had no effect on the placing of teachers by the Bureau of Appointments and Occupational Information of the University of Michigan, according to a statement today by Dr. T. Luther Purdom, Director of the Bureau.

Calls for teachers placed with the Bureau during the first ten days of January, said Dr. Purdom, are higher than they were for the corresponding period last year. Thirty-four calls were registered with the Bureau during the ten-day period this year, he explained, while only 31 were registered in the same period last year.

The tendency toward the hiring of more teachers has been present during most of 1937, Dr. Purdom pointed out. During November, 1937, one of the least active months, he said, there were 42 calls as compared with 36 calls in November, 1936. August, 1937, at the peak of the Bureau's activity, he added, saw a registration of 256 calls as compared to only 220 in August of 1936.

The teacher placement division of the Bureau had a total active enrollment at the end of the last year of 2,919. During the year ending November 1, 1937, 1,700 calls for teachers were registered, credentials of candidates were sent out or shown in the office in 7,302 cases, and 1,064 of the Bureau's candidates were placed, a majority of them by the Bureau.

The general placement service of the Bureau had an enrollment of 1,259 as of November 1, 1937. During the year 220 candidates were placed by the Bureau, 376 by the candidates themselves or others, 196 returned to former positions, and 109 returned to school.

Speaking of the obstacles in the way of finding positions in business and industry at the present time, Dr. Purdom said: "Employers are very specific in their demands, especially since the years when good people were plentiful, and they refuse to be satisfied with candidates who do not meet their requirements. In view of the fact that more than half of the calls received are for people with experience, we feel that more effort will have to be expended on following up our graduates so that we may know where people are when we need them."

One of the first real Michigan game refuges was established in 1916 in Crawford county, north of Houghton and Higgins lakes.

WOLVERINES TO MEET TONIGHT

Hoffmaster Will Speak at Annual Banquet in Escanaba

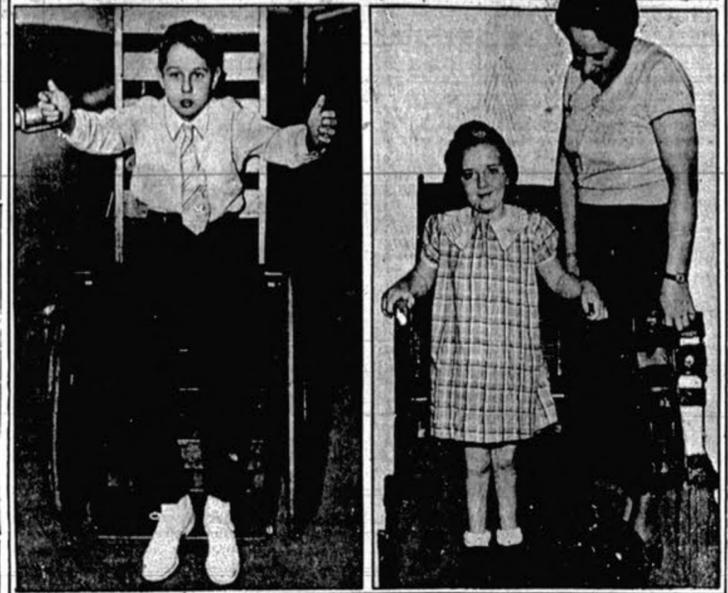

P. J. Hoffmaster, director of the Michigan Conservation Department, will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Wolverine Conservation association at the Sherman hotel this evening. The dinner meeting will begin at 6:30 o'clock.

The string ensemble, directed by Frank Karas, well known music instructor, will play several numbers during the evening.

Following Director Hoffmaster's speech, there will be a general discussion of various matters of vital interest to hunters, fishermen and conservationists, including the new fishing regulations, the 1937 deer hunting season, smelt fishing and the ruffed grouse situation.

The general public is invited to attend, and a special invitation is extended to the ladies. Reservations should be made before noon today by communicating with either President Karl J. Hammar or Secretary Walter Nelson of the Wolverine Conservation association.

Mrs. John Genesse announces that she will entertain the Ladies' Aid of the Fayette Congregational Church on Saturday evening, Jan. 22, at her home.

Church Meeting

A meeting of the members of the Congregational Church of Fayette was held at the John Genesse home Thursday evening. At that time it was decided to hold service one a month.

Church Services

On Sunday afternoon Rev. Robert M. Barksdale preached farewell sermons at Garden and Fayette. He was accompanied by Mrs. Barksdale, Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Parker, recently of Montreal, Canada. Rev. Parker took part in the service.

Rev. and Mrs. Parker returned from Scotland two months ago after serving a church there for four years. Before that time they resided on this continent. They expect to take over this field for a period of six months, and will reside in Rapid River.

Accident

William Walcher, who lives at the Garden Junction with Jack Gitzen, was painfully injured Friday while using a sawing machine. One hand was very badly cut, the local physician taking over forty stitches in an effort to save the fingers.

Stitch and Chatter Club

Members of this club were entertained Saturday evening by Mrs. Charles Tatrow at her home. The most interesting feature of the evening was a shower for Mrs. Max Wakeman of Lansing, who was a member when she resided here. A delicious lunch was served. Prize winners in 500 were Mrs. Octave Boudreau, Mrs. Wm. Winter Jr., and Mrs. Walter Stellwagen. Mrs. Leona Guertler and Mrs. Hermes won prizes in other games.

Bridge Club

Mrs. Alfred La Valle entertained the members of this club Friday evening at her home. Mrs. William La Belle achieved high score and Mrs. Nora Lester low. A tasty lunch was enjoyed.

Party

Mrs. Gordon Peterson of Fairport entertained a few friends at her home Wednesday evening, the time being devoted to sewing followed by a taffy pull.

Basketball

A preliminary to the Nahma-Garden game Saturday evening was played by the two boys' teams of the grade school, each of which shows great promise for the future. In an exciting tussle the members of the Orange team beat the Blacks by 15-14.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mellon of Manistique visited at the Alex Mellon home Sunday.

Mrs. Emily Couchene is ill at her home. She is quite aged but has continued to do quilting until the present time and has gained a reputation which has traveled far, for the execution of this difficult art. Several quilts from long distances are awaiting her recovery.

John Gierke and daughter Leda of Fairport motored to Escanaba Friday, the latter having dental work done.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mercier and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rochefort were Escanaba visitors Thursday.

Miss Pearl Horning returned here Saturday after being employed for a short time in Great Lakes, Ill.

A Navigation Inspector of Marquette was a caller here Saturday, seeking information regarding the "Marrold" which was blown to pieces some time ago. It will be remembered that one of the bodies was found on the shore at Fairport.

A State Inspector was inspecting the properties of Garden Township Schools Friday and found much wanting, according to present day requirements for housing and use of school children.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mc. Leod and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Winter spent last Tuesday in Escanaba. Mrs. Mc. Leod had several teeth extracted.

Mrs. Robert Mc. Pherson of Rapid River, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Winter of Manistique, Mrs. Mabel Winkle and son Harold of Cooks were guests at the Wm. Winter sr. home Sunday.

Walter Kreshefske and F. J. Purtil motored to Oconto Wednesday.

Vernon Winter, sister Meta and Eugene Bernier visited at the John Heric home in Manistique Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Devet and son Leslie of Fairport spent Saturday in Escanaba.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Truckey and Mr. and Mrs. Andy Tatrow moved to Rapid River Sunday to live.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Farley and son Gary Paul of Manistique were Sunday guests at the Charles Winter home.

The Misses Clara Hominger and Alice Ritter of Nahma were weekend guests of Mary Ellen Farley of Kate's Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Prokop spent Saturday in Escanaba.

Miss Margaret Bureau of Escanaba spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bureau.

Home Economics Demonstration At Trenary Tonight

Trenary, Mich.—At night school in the home economics laboratory of the Trenary high school on Thursday, January 20, Ruth Gundry will show the ladies how to make pasties as the Cousin Jennies do; Mrs. Julius Sivula will demonstrate how to make and serve liver as the Finnish do; Mrs. Jorma Syrjanen will tell and demonstrate the fine points in decorating a cake with a pastry tube. Class begins at 7:30 P. M.

This will be the tenth Thursday evening class in home economics, led by Marian Edwin, the regular home economics teacher. Everyone is welcome, whether she has attended the classes before or not. So far 28 different people have attended the class at various times. The largest class had 16 members. Lessons to come are on cakes and ices, personal grooming, the spring wardrobe and individual problems in sewing. Miss Erwin would be most willing to change the subject of each class to suit the members of the class.

Other subjects offered in night school are shop, typing, and English. Toivo Sello, the commercial teacher has charge of typing. Shop classes are under the direction of Langford Collins. After attending the English classes taught by Vivian Sahlman, several people decided to take out citizenship papers. Miss Sahlman has read and discussed the constitution with her students and pointed out errors in their every day grammar.

On display in the Trenary Co-op window have been two wool dresses made by Hilda Rautio and Grace Trenary of the home economics II class. Margaret Ouellette of the same class has on display a black skirt made from a discarded winter coat. From the seventh and eighth grade home economics class is an apron made by Viola Laurila and two white slips each made by Muriel Bucholtz and Martha Seppa. In the spring the home economics I class expects to make pajamas and cotton dresses.

The first motorcycle speed record was established in 1903 by Albert Champion. He rode the machine one mile in one minute, ten and two-fifths seconds.

was played by the two boys' teams of the grade school, each of which shows great promise for the future. In an exciting tussle the members of the Orange team beat the Blacks by 15-14.

Pleasure Boats Are Planned

Advancement of the recreational possibilities of Michigan's Great Lakes shoreline is anticipated as a benefit to the state from the operation of an act adopted in the last regular session of congress and in connection with which hearings are now being held.

The act sets up provisions for the development of harbors of refuge for small craft at federal expense, after being approved by U. S. army engineers and authorized by congress. First step in the procedure is to petition the U. S. army engineer office in the district in which the harbor for which improvement is sought is located. Army engineers then hold hearings, inspect the harbor and make their recommendations to congress. Hearings have already been held at Duluth and Muskegon.

Petitions pertaining to harbors on Lake Michigan should be made to the U. S. engineer headquarters in Milwaukee; for Lake Superior harbors, to the Duluth office; for Lake Huron and Lake Erie harbors, to the Detroit office.

Erosion Control Is Advocated By Professor Young

Ann Arbor—Erosion has totally ruined or will in the near future ruin over one-third of the cultivated area of the United States unless the erosion problem is vigorously attacked and solved, declared Professor Leigh J. Young of the School of Forestry and Conservation of the University of Michigan in a radio address here last week.

Erosion is destroying over 300,000 acres of farm land every year, Professor Young asserted, pointing out that three billion tons of soil are being washed from our fields and pastures every year and either carried out to sea or deposited in other places. The annual loss of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium, three highly essential plant nutrients, he continued, is over 43,000,000 tons. Only one sixtieth of this amount was used in the form of commercial fertilizers in 1934, he said, adding that the cost of the fertilizers used in that year amounted to $158,500,000.

Heavy forest cover, particularly of heavy foliage types, such as beech, maple, spruce, fir, and hemlock, said Professor Young, is the best method of controlling erosion and should be used on lands unsuitable for cultivation. Other methods which can be utilized to control erosion in other areas where the production of crops must not be interfered with are terracing, properly selected rotation of crops, contour farming, and strip cropping.

Helsinki Chorus From Finland To Sing In Peninsula

Hancock, Mich.—The Helsinki, Finland, University Chorus is now on its first American tour and will reach the Upper Peninsula this month, appearing at the Louis G. Kaufman auditorium in Marquette Monday evening, January 24, and at the Kerridge theater in Hancock the following evening.

This great chorus is composed of student singers of the University of Helsinki, and it is devoted to the creation and development of Finnish choral music. It has been in existence for more than half a century, and Finnish composers have written and dedicated many of their songs for male chorus to the Y. L., as the organization is called. Jean Sibelius, whom many consider to be the greatest living composer, is an honorary member of the chorus and has composed all of his most famous chorus songs for the Y. L. Some of the Sibelius compositions will be rendered by the chorus on its Upper Peninsula visit.

Y. L. has been touring Europe, and press comments have been enthusiastic. "Completely amazing," "surpassing even the Russian Cossack chorus," "Magnificent," "unforgettable," "exceptionally fascinating," are some of the foreign press notices. The chorus is led by the eminent conductor Martti Turunen, who has wielded the Y. L. Baton for the last six years. Among the honorary sponsors of the American tour are Leopold Stokowski and Artur Rodzinski. The chorus will appear only at Hancock and Marquette in the Upper Peninsula.

SAULT GETS AIR MAIL

Sault Ste. Marie—Gratification over prospects of air mail service between Sault Ste. Marie and Detroit was being expressed today by Postmaster Mary A. Ripley and the Chamber of Commerce.

It was learned here today that President Roosevelt signed the air mail bill Saturday. The bill provides for the addition of 3,000 miles to the present system. One of the six new routes would be Sault to Detroit.

Both Congressman John Luecke and Senator Prentiss M. Brown of St. Ignace have actively interested themselves in behalf of the air mail bill which has been advocated for some time by the Sault postmaster and by the Sault Chamber of Commerce.

Herbert Hoover's Peace Program

Ex-President Hoover, speaking before the Women's National Republican Club of New York City, has launched a non-partisan peace program that deserves attention and endorsement.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull applaud it heartily since it approves their foreign policies. As our chief Elder Statesman Mr. Hoover has performed an important public service in thus demonstrating to the world the essential unity of America's best-informed opinion on our major foreign problems.

America is not isolated. It is not free from the "entangling alliances" of trade and power. As Mr. Hoover said on Saturday, "We are torn into confusion by idealistic dreaming, by wishful thinking, by illusion of isolation where there is no isolation."

We must be prepared not only to fight for our own independence, but to resist "violation of the Monroe Doctrine in the sense of aggression from outside the Western Hemisphere." Mr. Hoover goes even farther: "We must keep our nation respected and we must protect the lives of our citizens." And since foreign trade is vital to our national life "our citizens must live and do business abroad."

Mr. Hoover stems from the peaceful Quakers, but he knows that "scuttle and run" is no policy for the United States.

Deplores Neutrality Act

He favors just enough preparedness "to repel aggression against the Western Hemisphere." Yet a navy strong enough to protect Chile against an attack by Japan or to protect Argentina in case of attack from the combined navies of Germany and Italy would certainly be regarded by other countries as an offensive rather than a defensive force.

Mr. Hoover's suggestion that we exclude the Philippine Islands from our lines of defense is good sense. Most of our naval experts agree that without British help we could not defend the islands successfully against Japan. So why try?

Like most Americans who are well-informed on foreign affairs Mr. Hoover deploras our futile neutrality act and sees the danger of crippling the Executive in the conduct of foreign relations. We can all agree with Mr. Hoover that a popular referendum on war might be a good thing "if all the nations of the world were democracies and if all of them would agree to do it." But once the world has advanced to that point world peace will be assured.

Mr. Hoover's flat declaration against any kind of economic sanctions or embargoes or boycotts requires clarification. Does he approve the sale of munitions to war-makers? Would he insist on giving the "merchants of death" a free hand in all wars at home and abroad?

His conduct as President does not justify that conclusion. He favored control of the munitions trade in the interest of peace and national policy. He was willing to restrict it in co-operation with other nations. "We should co-operate," he says "in every sane international effort to advance the economic and social welfare of the world."

A Positive Peace Policy

The ex-President's peace policy is positive, not negative. Repeatedly he repudiates isolation and urges America to join other nations not only to exert moral force but to "build pacific agencies to preserve peace or end conflict in the world." He would not only uphold the Kellogg Pact but would "refuse to give recognition to any advantage gained by the violation of that pact." We are even urged to join other nations in the "denunciation of treaty violation so that public opinion may be mobilized."

This is direct endorsement of Secretary Hull's refusal to recognize Japan's puppet state of Manchukuo, Italy's conquest of Ethiopia or the Fascist rule in Spain. It would commit us to a far-reaching international endeavor. Mr. Hoover believes that we can protect our trade and our citizens, safeguard the Monroe Doctrine, denounce treaty-breakers and refuse to recognize the fruits of aggression "by the processes of peace."

He may be right. But one thing is certain. We cannot do these things unless we are willing to take the risk of war. Unsupported moral gestures will not restrain greedy dictators. We had better not make them if we propose to run away after they are made. Our only ex-President has presented us with an excellent peace program. But we must be prepared, and on occasion, even willing to fight for it if it is to be effective in the world of today.

Richest Girl in the World

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CONSTANCE CORBY—heroine; richest girl in the world.
BRET HARDESTY—hero; bridge builder.
RODNEY BRANDON—Connie's fiancé.
KATIE BLYN—Connie's "double."
YESTERDAY: Newspapers break the story of Constance Corby, reveal her true identity. Shaken, Connie wonders if Bret will understand, will forgive her.

CHAPTER XIII
 They walked that night again up their "special" hill. The air was soft and sweet against their faces, in Connie's flying golden hair; it held the promise of spring that would come early to the southern valley. The night was beautiful and still.

Connie's hand, slipped through the crook of Bret's elbow, tightened. "Dearest," she said, "do you remember that first day we met—the things we talked about?"

"Every word," Bret vowed. His dark eyes laughed down into hers. Their stride kept pace in swinging rhythm.

"You asked me, oh, so very politely, if I would care to see your paper," she reminisced.

"I had to find some way to get acquainted!"

"And I never dreamed you were starting a flirtation!"

"Is that what you call this?" He stopped so quickly that she bumped against him. There was no one to see, so he gathered her closer a brief, tender moment, his lips just brushing the top of her head that reached to his shoulder. For Bret was a most romantic young man these days, he who had had no time for such nonsense.

"If you think you are merely flirting with me, young lady, you're greatly mistaken! This, my sweet, is for keeps. Forever and ever and ever."

"Oh, darling, I hope it is!" She clung to him a moment longer. Forever was such a long time. It was so soon to be tested.

"You don't sound too hopeful," he reproved, tucking his arm under hers again. "Don't you remember that I told you I'd never let you go, now that I've found you? I owe a great deal to the newspaper introduction, to the bad man who stole all your money, to that baby for knocking off your glasses. You know, honey, that was when I fell for you, though I was such a fool I didn't know it. I was completely bowled over when I first saw you standing there, so proud and lovely. I made up my mind right then and there I must take care of you for the rest of your life."

"I believe," she said, "that's the only reason you liked me. You thought I was a damsel in distress, needing your masculine protection. Now suppose, Bret, again her hold on his arm tightened, "I had been that other girl—the one we talked about that day, the one I pretended to be—remember! Suppose I had been Constance Corby, the richest girl in the world?"

Her heart beat hard. In time to their step, as she waited for his answer.

He said, "I told you then I wouldn't care for that sort of girl at all."

"And I said she might be just like any other girl. Like myself, for instance."

"She couldn't be like you." His hold on her arm tightened. "There is only one of you. You are the only one. Sounds like a riddle, or a pun, but it's a fact, sweetheart. So why are we talking about that other girl? She has nothing at all to do with us. They had reached the top of their hill. There was a log that they used for a seat to survey the twinkling little village spread down beneath them and the stars, twinkling too, in the dark sky overhead."

Bret flicked away the dust with his pocket handkerchief, spread it for her with a gallant flourish. "Your box seat, my lady," he said. "Your throne, if you will. For don't you see, you are the richest girl in the world, for all that lies before you is your kingdom. Do you suppose," he added, laughing, "this poor subject might sit beside you?"

"I grant my royal permission," Connie smiled; but her heart did not beat so hard now; almost it seemed not to beat at all.

"In a few weeks," Bret said, "the bridge will be finished. Then we'll be married. You will be Mrs. Breton Hardesty. How does that sound?"

"It sounds lovely!" Connie breathed. The time had come—her hour was ended—now she must tell him. "But, darling, you slipped her hand into his, summoned all her courage, "I am that girl—just as you said, as we pretended. I am Constance Corby."

He did not say anything. He looked at her; slowly withdrew his hand. "You—but you couldn't be! You're pretending now." But he knew that she was not. He saw in her eyes that now pretense was finished. "You're laughing at me!" His tone was gruff, as though by employing his own pretense he could change things back again as they had been.

"No," Connie said. "I'm not laughing at you, Bret. Don't make it more difficult for me, darling."

"I—make it difficult for you? I am laughing now." His laugh was bitter. "You were laughing at me then. That day we met, you pretended to pretend to be Miss Corby when I asked you to have dinner. You've been laughing at me ever since, every day, when you played at working in the camp office, when we walked into the hills together, when I told you I loved you, when I kissed your lips . . ."

"No, no!" Connie cried. "That isn't true. That wasn't pretending! That was the truest thing that ever happened to me. The other . . . you won't even let me explain, you won't try to understand . . . Don't you remember, Bret," her tone, her eyes were pleading, "you said that first day that you know that Constance Corby could not be happy? You said happiness was the one thing money could not buy. That was why I ran away, what I tried to find, the sort of happiness that I had never had. You can't blame me for that, darling, you should be willing to forgive, to understand."

"But you could have told me," he said. He held his head between his hands, not looking at her. "You need not have pretended with me."

"I know that now." She must not expect him to forgive too quickly. She never doubted that he would, once his shock and hurt was numbed. "But I didn't then. I know now I should have told you much sooner. But it need not make any difference between us," she added eagerly. If he would look at her, if he had not withdrawn his hand.

"No," he said, still not looking up, "the only difference it makes is that there is nothing between us any more."

"Bret! You can't mean that! I'm just the same. You're just the same. We love each other."

He said, "I loved a girl who worked in my office. I loved Katie Blyn . . . Why, don't you see, that isn't even your name! I don't know you, at all. I wouldn't know what to call you. I couldn't ask the richest girl in the world to be my wife."

"But you have asked me!" Connie said. "Bret—look at me! You can't look at me and not know I'm the same girl you fell in love with, the girl you asked just a minute ago to be Mrs. Breton Hardesty. You told me—the first time you asked me—that it would make no difference to you who or what I was. You told me our love was to be forever and ever and ever." She put her hands up to her face now, tears ran down her cheeks, her slight figure shook with sobs.

He turned as though he would take her in his arms to comfort her. He shook himself, as though awakening from a bad dream, got to his feet. "I'm sorry, Katie Blyn . . . Bret Hardesty, who has worked all his life for his bread and butter, had anything but luxury. Our worlds are miles apart. We are as different as night and day, black and white. We could never find happiness, hold on to it, make it last forever and ever. That's why this must be the end."

So, once more, the weight of all those millions, rested on the slender shoulders of the girl who was Constance Corby again.

Had her grandfathers, she herself, Bret, been right when each had said there was no purchase price for happiness?

FACES LABOR CHARGE

Iron River, Mich. (AP)—Charges of unfair labor practices filed against the Davidson Iron Ore Mining company will be reviewed at a hearing here January 20 by the national labor relations board.

The case is believed to be the first of its kind in upper peninsula mining circles.

The charges have been filed by Henry Frostell, an employe, who alleges he suffered loss of work because of union activities, and therefore is entitled to back pay for time lost.

Frostell's charges, as presented to the NLRB, were filed with M. S. McDonough, counsel for the mining company, yesterday with notice of the hearing date. McDonough, on behalf of the company, immediately prepared blanket denial of the charges to be filed with the NLRB office at Milwaukee.

Frostell, an Iron River resident was recalled to work at the Davidson mines November 1, 1937, and still is employed there.

Anyone who says the picture doesn't even look like Miss Bennett is reflecting on my ability as an artist. It is a good picture, a very good one.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

Today the woman who decides that her marriage was a mistake gets a divorce and either tries again -- or tries to like living alone.

But the woman who substituted a career for marriage and who finds herself unhappy in her work is often afraid to break away and try again.

She has a job, as secure as any, and though it isn't giving her any sort of personal satisfaction, it is paying her rent and buying theater tickets.

And so she holds on to it, more afraid of facing insecurity than she is of living a succession of years as a misfit.

Having built one niche for herself, she is too cautious to give it up and build herself another more to her liking.

These dissatisfied women -- and there are thousands of them between the ages of twenty-five and forty -- ought to be encouraged by the story of Judge Florence Allen.

A story that has found circulation since President Roosevelt mentioned her as a possible selection for the vacant seat on the Supreme Court.

Judge Allen, who has climbed higher than any woman lawyer in the country, didn't start out as a lawyer. And law wasn't the second thing she tried. It was the third.

She started out to be a concert pianist -- and a very good one. But an injury to a nerve in her arm cut that career short.

As the next best thing she turned to writing about the music she could no longer play for audiences. She became a critic.

But the woman who was to become a judge discovered that she wasn't getting out of life what she wanted, and she had the courage to start a third career. This time law.

If wives are a little quick in calling marital mistakes, working women are a little slow in making new beginnings.

Judge Allen's third-time-charm story ought to make them a little more reckless. (Copyright, 1938, NEA Serv. Inc.)

Silhouette Of Floradora Girl Fashion Forecas.

New York, Jan. 19 (AP)--A whirl in the cycle of feminine contours--away from the stream-lined slyph of post war years, back to something approaching the wasp-waisted model of the Floradora Sextette or Gibson Girl days--was forecast today.

If all came out at a fashion exhibition of the latest thing in corsets.

The latest silhouettes from Paris call for a slightly longer waistline and a high, well-rounded bosom," explained Jack Love, exhibit official. "Women are padding their shoulders and busts to bring out the illusion of a slender waist. Not waspy, exactly, but gracefully thin."

Love said that government statistics show 65 per cent of American women are only five feet, four inches tall or less and consequently "need special corsets to create an illusion of height and slenderness."

South American cowboys are known as vaqueros.

POLAND'S
NEW PORT

DETERMINED to possess an all-Polish seaport, the Polish government in 1924 turned to the splendid natural site at the small fishing village of Gdynia. Until then most of the country's sea trade passed through Danzig.

So basins were excavated and wharves constructed at Gdynia.
In a short time the population leaped and trade leaped with it.

Today the city is one of the greatest, busiest ports on the Baltic. Its population is 100,000. It was 500.

Vessels of 40 lines make Gdynia a port of regular call today, linking it with at least 120 American and European ports. Out of the port Poland poured upwards of 7,000,000 tons of exports in the last year, chiefly coal, timber, beet sugar, grains and eggs. And the port is a seaside resort as well, attracting 15,000 vacationists last summer.

Almost entirely of new construction, Gdynia has become Poland's modern metropolis. And shortly big guns to be erected on the white sand dunes of Hel Peninsula will make the port the site of strategic fortifications.

Pride of Poland, the maritime terminal at Gdynia is shown on a 1937 stamp.

game law violations during the period, 76 of which were convicted. There were no acquittals, but one defendant, charged with desertion and non-support, was discharged on preliminary examination.

Game law violations led in the prosecutor's report. There were 24 persons accused and convicted of violating the state's conservation laws during the six month period. Reckless driving cases were second in number, with 14.

The prosecutor's report revealed the following: assault and battery cases, 3; desertion and non-support, 4; disorderly persons, 9;
driving under influence of liquor, 6; game law violations, 24; interfering with officer, 1; larceny, 13; negligent use of firearm, 1;
reckless driving, 14; vagrancy, 1.

JOHNSON TELLS ABOUT REFUGE

Seney Marsh Project Is Explained to Local Club Women

The Manistique Women's club held their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at which time Clarence S. Johnson gave an interesting talk on the Wild Fowl Refuge at Seney.

Mrs. Flora M. Morton of Grayling who is past district president of the Northwestern District of Women's clubs gave a few informal remarks on club work. Mrs.
Morton is the mother of George
Morton of this city.

Mr. Johnson, in describing the Seney Refuge stated that it is one of two hundred and sixteen in the United States and is the fourth largest. Game of the newest variety include beaver, moose, deer, partridge chickens and grouse. The Seney marsh was started in 1935 with a dozen ducks. Last year the accumulated count was 21,000.

The speaker further stated that the Seney marsh, according to a biological survey, was 5,000 years old and the peat on it 8 feet deep in places. According to statistics, it takes 400 years to develop an inch of peat. Mr. Johnson said that it would take ten years to complete the work and it would cost a million dollars.

Plans are being made to allow camping, fishing, berrying under permit, building of small waterfalls, swimming pools and other forms of recreation. One hundred miles of dykes from four to 16 feet high are to be built, as well as sixty miles of good road and sixty miles of fencing.

Mr. Johnson stressed the value of wild fowl refuges, describing the aid of the U. S. Forestry Service, Park Service and Soil Conservation Service. W.P.A. labor is used in some instances and at present 22 C.C.C. camps are helping in the work. Land which would otherwise be mosquito swamps is being used. In closing Mr.
Johnson said that 90 per cent of the wild fowl were reared in Canada and the Arctic region and under the present set up the United States hopes to be able to raise its own.

A piano solo, entitled "Fascination" by Walter Rolfo was given by Loreen Smith. Table decorations were in silver with white tapers and Mrs. V. I. Hixson and Mrs. H. Peterson presided. Hostesses were Mrs. Eklund, chairman, Mrs. H. Holland, Mrs. L.
Drevald, Mrs. M. Holbein, Mrs.
C. Hancock and Mrs. D. Ross.

ADOPT SLOGAN FOR GLADSTONE

"Gateway to Hiawatha Nat'l Forest"
Chosen

"The Gateway to the Hiawatha National Forest" is the slogan adopted for Gladstone by the City club upon the suggestion and motion of Dr. O. S. Hull.

Dr. Hull pointed out that the Hiawatha forest now touches the Gladstone city limits and adoption of an appropriate slogan would publicize the fact. The group attending Tuesday night's meeting unanimously approved the motion.

Regarding the bathhouse project, Wm. Marble reported that plans are now being drawn by Wallace Olson, Escanaba, member of the architects staff of Derrick Hubert, Menominee, and that the plans and estimates would be placed before the city commission next Tuesday evening.

The issue will have to be presented before taxpayers of the city at the spring election as a bond issue will be necessary to finance a portion of the cost. Mr. Marble said he believed a new, modern bathhouse would bring many people to the local beach in the summer time.

George Johnson, chairman of the retailers' committee, reported on activities of the committee during the past few months. Sales promotion and holiday decorating were among the principal activities.

Upon the motion of Wm. Marble a vote of thanks is to be sent Secretary of State Leon Case for reestablishment in Gladstone of an auto license bureau.

Committeemen Tell of Winter Carnival Plans

Details of Gladstone's Sixth Annual Winter Carnival to be held here Feb. 11-13 were outlined at a regular meeting of the City club Tuesday night.

Hilding Granberg who is arranging ski events traced the gain in popularity that has marked sking in this city. A year ago it would have been hard to find 25 pairs of skis here while today there would be little trouble to find over 200 pairs.

He pointed to the benefits which accrue to businessmen through sale of equipment, outfits costing an average of $20 and

SKI CLUB NOW BEING FORMED

A Ski club to be affiliated with the Gladstone Winter Sports association is now in the process of organization.

A group of ski enthusiasts met Tuesday evening following the City club meeting with Hilding Granberg for the purpose of discussing a charter and drafting tentative by-laws.

Charter members are now being signed by Mr. Granberg and it is expected that a large number will join tonight at the weekly ski hike. Charter members will be received until next Tuesday night when a meeting is to be held to complete the organization of the club.

Gladstone To Get Publicity At Big
Sportsmen's Show

A placard bearing scenes of winter sports in Gladstone will be displayed at the Michigan booth at the Detroit and Michigan Exposition which opens Friday.

The photos were forwarded to Kenneth C. Voght yesterday by John Vogt, chairman of the Winter Carnival publicity committee.
A number of booster buttons were also enclosed.

It is understood that Mr. Voght will announce the dates of the local winter carnival in a radio broadcast to be given Friday evening over WWJ, Detroit.

MAIN CAST OF PLAY SELECTED

Rehearsals Continue for Lions Musical Comedy

There's a great deal of dancing and singing going on these days at the Rialto gymnasium where rehearsals are being held for "Sunny Skies," much discussed musical comedy which the Lions club is sponsoring here on Feb.
2-3.

Direction is by a professional coach from the John B. Rogers Producing company.

In between times, members of the cast are going over their lines, following chalk marks and doing many other things necessary in grooming the production.

With a background of Kentucky, an intriguing plot, enticing songs and smooth dances the play is expected to be one of the finest presented here in a long time.

Members of the main cast include John Speare, Blanche Mathison, Cleve Krout, Howard Mc-Donald, Mrs. Bernad DeHooghe,
Frank Riehl, Elizabeth Millward,
Dick Hammond, William Skellenger, Ruth Warner and Mrs. Clarence LaFave.

MARKET STILL ON BACKTRACK

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES

Table with columns for Date, Dow Jones, S&P 500, etc. showing market trends from 1937 to 1938.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER (Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Jan. 19 (AP)—Backtracking after the recent new year upturn, the stock market yielded today under moderate offerings for losses of 1 to 3 points or so in many rails and industrials.

A few mining and utility issues broke away from the main retreat and made minor gains. A late recovery cut losses in rails, motors, steels, chemicals and other groups.

But declines predominated at the finish and the Associated Press average price of 60 stocks was lower for the third consecutive session, ending off .6 of a point at 46.

Transactions increased to 398,851 shares from 779,060 in the previous session.

Against the chief concern of most market analysts were prospects for continuation of the January business pickup and what federal policies would evolve from White House conferences with industrialists and congressional hearings on taxes and unemployment.

Although talk of increased government spending for armament and relief persisted in brokerage circles, the focus of the moment was on deflationary trends in commodity prices, agitation for lower quotations on steel and manufactured goods and a slippery bond market.

Traders seemed to think coal deflation might help utilities and gold mining shares. Alaska Juneau, McIntyre Porcupine, Dome, Consolidated Edison, American Water Works and Electric Power & Light closed fractionally to more than a point ahead.

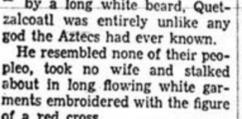

Some of the larger losses at the close were recorded for Crucible Steel, Norfolk & Western, Union Pacific, Johns Manville, Eastman Kodak, Chesapeake & Ohio, International Harvester, Sears Roebuck, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, American Can, Allis Chalmers, National Steel and Atlantic Coast Line.

Formation of the Chautemps government in France was influential in rallying the franc to 3.36 cents, up .02 of a cent.

STORIES IN STAMPS

THE RETURN OF QUETZALCOATL

PAIR-SKINNED, distinguished by a long white beard, Quetzalcoatl was entirely unlike any god the Aztecs had ever known.

He resembled none of their people, took no wife and stalked about in long flowing white garments embroidered with the figure of a red cross.

But the strangest story about Quetzalcoatl, god of the arts and culture, was his departure from his people.

He left one day saying he was going to the home of his father, Tlalapan, the Red Land in the southeast, but that he would return to them in some far future year of Ce Acatl.

Centuries later, Cortes arrived in the land of the Aztecs, 1519, which by the Mexican calendar of Quetzalcoatl was the year Ce Acatl.

Legend says that three blazing comets swept the sky, the waters of the lakes rose without apparent cause and eerie lights appeared in the east.

So when the news came to Montezuma that strangers had arrived he said, "This is Quetzalcoatl returned." And Montezuma addressed Cortes accordingly in their first interview.

BOND MARKET AVERAGES - Table showing bond market trends.

New York, Jan. 19 (AP)—Securities of a half dozen prominent railroads continued to exert depressing influences on the bond market today and with scattered exceptions quoted values melted away fractions to 3 or more points.

Contrary to the previous day, when there was plenty of unfavorable news from the carrier front, including the Erie reorganization decision, the market was comparatively free of specific developments of an adverse nature.

In this group were Erie general 4 1/2, refunding 5s, Nickel Plate 4 1/2, Baltimore & Ohio refunding 5s and convertible 5s, all of which advanced to more than two points above water.

Contrasting performers were Erie general 6s, off 7 at 54; Southern Pacific 4 1/2 of 1929, off 3 at 53 1/2; Southern Railway general 6s, off 3 at 50; Baltimore & Ohio 4 1/2 of 1948, off 2 at 60; Chesapeake & Ohio 4 1/2, off 2 at 118; Nickel Plate 6s, off 4 at 68 1/2; New York Central 5s, off 3 1/2 at 63 1/2; Allegheny stamped 5s, off 3 at 29; Illinois Central 4 1/2, off 3 1/2 at 29; and Great Northern 4s, off 2 at 99 1/2.

Industrial and utility losses in most cases were small and there were a few gainers.

U. S. government bonds maintained an even keel with most of active issues unchanged to 1-3/4 of a point lower. Treasury 3s of 1948 and Federal Farm Mortgage 3 1/2s foreign 6 1/2s showed stability.

Foreign dollar bonds showed stability. Rome 6 1/2s and Italian 7 1/2s were among others advancing. Japanese 6 1/2s lost a point.

The Associated Press average of 20 rails dropped a full point to 65.6, a new low since November 24, 1937. The 10 utilities yielded .6 of a point to 90.1, a new low since April 13, 1935.

Transfers of $8,390,900, par value, compared with $8,811,625 the day before.

Braddock Looks Mighty Good, Bomber Declares

FARR CAN'T HIT LICK, SAYS JOE

Young Jimmy Winds Up Training for Friday Night

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Pompton Lakes, N. J., Jan. 19 (AP)—Two slugging guys named Joe—Louis and Di Maggio—showed up today to watch the veteran Jim Braddock complete his training for Friday night's bout with Tommy Farr at the Garden.

Di Maggio, the Yankees' home run whanger, thought Jim looked swell, possibly because he had made the 35-mile trip in the company of Joe Gould, who is Braddock's manager.

Louis, looking like a dusky Daniel Boone in a coonskin cap and hunting clothes, moved in to begin training seriously for his tilt with Nathan Mann on February 23.

"First time I ever seen him 'cept when we was in the ring together," said Joe, "but he looks mighty good. Yes sir, this ought to be a good fight."

Won't Pick Winner
The champion, who has knocked out Braddock and beaten Farr in the past year, wouldn't try to pick a winner.

"They's two different kind of fighters," he explained. "If I was to fight the two of 'em again, I guess I'd take Braddock 'ere a little more serious because he's a harder puncher. He was dangerous in our fight at Chicago until he hit the canvas. But that's not sayin' he'll whip Farr."

If there is a knockout Friday night, Joe picked Braddock to land it. He said flatly that Farr couldn't hit a lick.

"That left of his never bothered me and his right ain't nothin' at all. I guess he's pretty tough, but just the same I never hit him solid with my right, like I did Braddock.

The odds against the Cinderella man winning here 8 to 5 in New York today, but those who saw "Young Jimmy" work predicted they would drop to near even by tomorrow.

Jim went three rounds each against two tough heavyweights, Jack McCarthy and George Nicholson, and he finished fresh. His boxing was sweet and his punching sharp. He weighed only 135, or almost three pounds under what he scaled at Chicago against Louis.

"He gave Nicholson a better licking today than I ever did," admitted Louis, who has used the big negro frequently while in training here.

COMING TO DETROIT?
Detroit, Jan. 19 (AP)—Reports from New York that Joe Louis would defend his heavyweight boxing championship against Max Schmeling in Detroit, under "present plans," met an immediate confirmation tonight from State Boxing Commissioner Frank MacDonell.

Commissioner MacDonell, while declining to go into details, was nonetheless emphatic.

"I'm certain," he said, "that the fight will be here but I can't discuss details now."

The fight, which Detroit had sought almost from the moment the match was made, might be lured to this city, rather than New York or Chicago, for several reasons, fight circles pointed out.

The state of Michigan, besides permitting 20-round title fights, levies only a five per cent tax on boxing shows, compared with ten per cent in other states.

Promoters here, who ostensibly would act with Mike Jacobs of New York in such a venture, also claim they have Briggs stadium, Detroit Tiger baseball park, at their disposal with a seating capacity of 90,000.

Play Started By WPA Hockey Loop

Teams in the WPA hockey league will start play today, with games at both local rinks. In the junior league, the following games will be played at North Escanaba: Black Hawks vs. Wells Cubs, 7 p. m.; Rangers and Dick-a-Do at 8 p. m. Saturday games will be the Wells Cubs vs. Rangers at 10 o'clock at the North Escanaba rink and the Dick-a-Doos vs. Midgets at Ludington Park at 10 o'clock.

In the senior division, the Hawks and Brackett Chers Cyclone Six will play at Ludington Park at 7:30 p. m.

All games will be in charge of Clifford Anderson, WPA recreational leader.

Boosters Of Hockey Meet Again Friday

Another meeting has been called for Friday evening at 7:15 by a group of boosters who are trying to form a hockey team at Escanaba. The meeting Friday night, which will be at the city recreational center, will take up such matters as coaching, sources of equipment, and other details.

Games have already been solicited by teams in nearby cities who have heard of the hockey organization move here.

Schenectady, N. Y., has a greater population than the entire state of Nevada, which has an area of 109,321 square miles.

Penn Points

Pennsylvania won the Eastern Intercollegiate championship last season, and although heavily hit by graduation, hopes to repeat. So it is that these first-string players hope to make this pose a familiar one. They are, from left to right: Payson Brickley and Ray Stanley, guards; Roy Menzel, center; and Captain Bob Dougherty and Tony Mischo, forwards.

JORDAN PLAYS PRO CHAMPIONS

Oshkosh All-Stars Will Play at Marinette Sunday Afternoon

Menominee, Jan. 19.—Sunday afternoon the Jordan college Angels will step out of their class and play an exhibition game of basketball against the world's (professional) championship Oshkosh All-Stars basketball team. The game will be played at the Marinette high school gym and will start at three o'clock sharp.

The Angels have one of the finest college teams in this section of the country and have played a stiff schedule that leaves them with a record of eight wins and five losses to date. Their games have all been close ones and it can be truthfully said that the local collegians represent the average college team.

What they will do against a highly-organized group of ex-college stars like the Oshkosh team will be hard to say but will be worth watching.

In Carl Steffen, the Jordan supporters say that the Angels have one of the finest college players in the game. In a recent game at Menomonee, Wis., against the Stout Institute team, Steffen caged seven field goals without a miss. He has averaged 16 points per game for his team and has not been hit to less than 11 points in any one game this year. Steffen is closely followed in scoring ability by Anton Anderson, a six-foot guard who is plenty speedy and has coined as many as 19 points in one game.

Anderson is not quite as consistent as Steffen, but has nights when it is impossible to stop him.

Eddie Wagner, while not quite as high a scorer as Steffen or Anderson, has proved an adept ball handler and local fans say that he will prove a puzzle to the pros as much as he has to the college teams he has played against. Bob Hamm, a colored flash from Escanaba, has been in the throes of a slump, but has proven himself a fine basketball player and should be in top shape for Sunday's game, as he has been rested in the last few games. The Angels have in Doc Tressel an experienced and steady guard, and with this lineup are sure to give the Oshkosh team a real battle. The big handicap that the Jordan team has been laboring under all season is capable reserves.

Feller said he was satisfied with the flat salary offer made by the Indians, but added there were some details he wanted changed in arrangements for a bonus.

Perkins To Play Bark River Friday

Bark River, Mich., Jan. 19.—Perkins high school basketball team will furnish the opposition for the Bark River cagers in a game to be played at the community building here Friday night.

In a preliminary, the Perkins girls will meet the Bark River girls.

The Bark River cagers have shown considerable improvement during the past week and have expectations of turning in a victory over the Perkins crew.

SPILLING the DOPE
BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

Escanaba, or a small portion thereof, got a look at College basketball at the junior high school Tuesday night . . . and apparently liked it . . . we had thought that the Jordan-Northern game was the first college basketball game ever played here but our chief operative, Vic Powers, who is convalescing from the ordeal of fatherhood, tells us that Tech and Northern played at the old senior high gym yonder . . . we were mistaken, too, in our advance stories about the Northern coach . . . we were laboring under the impression that Vic Hurst had taken over the cage duties from Hedgcock . . . however, we found at the game that the supercilious athletic director was gracing the bench for Northern.

There are coaches and then again there are coaches . . . but there is only one Hedgcock . . . the bespeckled Northern mentor jabbars constantly throughout the game on everything from basketball to his Aunt Minnie's operation . . . we sometimes wonder, in fact we often wonder, whether or not just about 90 per cent of his running the gamut of emotions from A to Z and back again is not staged for the benefit of all within earshot . . . we, of course, should not deny any coach his prerogative of releasing a game but we do believe that there may be many other persons in this world who are intelligent, too . . . 'aint so, Izzy?

Did you notice that our old partner in crime, Ken (Sez Me) Gunderman indulged in a bit of basketball refereeing the other night . . . he worked the Manistique All-Star tilt with the Chicago girls' team . . . the box score showed a total of no (zero, nothing) fouls chalked up against the girls team . . . hey, Ken, were you bribed or was it just chivalry . . . incidentally, we hear that the girls put on a "darned good" show . . . many of those girls teams can put on a show if given a bit of cooperation by their opponents, but we shall never forget the fiasco between the Bevenoes and the Taylor Trunks here several years ago when the local boys harbored the impression that the crowd came to see them play instead of the girls . . . that game did more to kill independent basketball in this city than anything else.

Hermansville Wins From Rapid River, By Score Of 33-10

Hermansville, Jan. 19.—The Hermansville basketball team defeated the Rapid River high school players by a score of 33 to 10 here tonight. In a preliminary the local reserves won, 29 to 13, from the Rapid River reserves.

Tough On Track Men

Before the center jump was eliminated, body contact often was vicious when opposing forwards and guards plunged in for the tip-off.

They made it a little tougher on the college boys a few years back when they split the game into 20-minute halves instead of 10-minute quarters, but they didn't dare let the rule affect high school players.

So rough is the sport that many track coaches forbid their stars to play. They claim the constant, sudden starting and stopping is the easiest way to ruin a track man's leg muscles, or give him a trick knee that will ruin him for keeps.

Jesse Owens, who liked basketball, was forbidden to participate

TIGER PITCHER BRIDGES SIGNS

Difficulties Adjusted; Terms of Contract Not Revealed

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 19 (AP)—Announcing he had signed again with the Detroit Tigers, Tommy Bridges, Tiger pitcher, said today his difficulties with the club had been "amicably adjusted."

He did not reveal the terms of his contract. When it was received a few days ago, he said he would not sign until he conferred with his bosses at spring training camp. Today he gave no indication of what caused his change of mind.

Bridges won 15 and lost 12 games last season. He averaged more than 20 victories in the three preceding years.

Another Tiger, George (Birdie) Tobitts, announced at Nashville, today he has signed his contract. The catcher said he would leave for the Detroit training camp at Lakeland, Fla., in about a month.

ROOKIE IS HOLDOUT

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 19 (AP)—Rookie Pitcher Cletus "Boots" Poffenberger proclaimed today he won't play major league baseball for "a minor league salary" and said he had returned his contract unsigned to the Detroit Tigers.

And just to hurry things along, the rookie holdout sent it by air mail.

Poffenberger won 10 games and lost 5 for the Tigers last year after being brought in from the Beaumont, Tex., club in June. He said he got a raise but claimed a promised bonus for good work was not paid because of a love for the "bright lights."

But he said he still thinks this year's salary should be based on his 19 and 5 record.

The Tiger rookie said he got his contract last week and spent "32 good cents" to send it back.

His chief comment was: "Imagine that! They think I'm dumb enough to sign for that minor league salary."

Injured Maple Leaf Hockey Pilot Quits

Toronto, Jan. 19 (AP)—Charlie Conacher, injured captain of Toronto's Maple Leafs and one-time big bomber of the National hockey league, announced his retirement from the sport today.

Conacher's announcement came as somewhat of a surprise, although he had been out with injuries several weeks this season. He practiced with the Leafs earlier today and then advised Managing Director Conny Smythe he was through.

"I give up," he told Smythe. "The old pep is gone. My legs are no good."

Dr. J. B. Rush, the club physician, examined him and advised Smythe that if Conacher continued playing, "the results might be serious."

Macphail Maps Plans As Dodger Vice-Prexy

BY ALAN GOULD

New York, Jan. 19. (AP)—Red-headed Leland Stanford (Larry) MacPhail, the man who introduced night baseball, usherettes and modern color schemes to the big league at Cincinnati, today became executive vice-president of the Brooklyn club.

MacPhail signaled his return to the game by signing a three-year contract at $20,000 per year. He left the Reds in November, 1936, after being general manager of the club for three seasons, lifting it from eighth to fifth place in the National league and startling old-timers with his innovations. He has been in the banking business at Grand Rapids, Mich., during the past year.

MacPhail has been given full authority to re-organize the strifetorn and financially-harassed Dodgers, together with their "farm system," but the first thing his interviewers wanted to know today was:

"What's going to happen to Van Mungo?"

"First let me say that I'm willing to trade anybody connected with the club, including Manager Burchleigh Grimes or MacPhail, if it will help the team," replied the new head man.

"At least three or four National league clubs want Mungo and have either made us definite propositions or—like St. Louis—offered to meet or better any rival proposition."

"Yes, if we could get what we wanted, we would trade Mungo across the river to the Giants. But we want players—not cash. The Brooklyn club now is in a position to go into the market and bid for desirable players. Mungo is a great pitcher and he will stay with Brooklyn unless we can make a deal for him that we feel sure will strengthen the team."

"The directors already have turned down one offer for Mungo, from the Chicago Cubs, because it involved more cash than player value."

MacPhail will confer shortly with Manager Grimes, probably next week at Grand Rapids, on the possibility of making some player deals, as well as to determine camp details.

"Grimes will have the fullest authority on the field and all the support I can give him in organizing a winning club," said MacPhail. "It's always easy to second guess a manager. I'll consult Grimes on any moves we make."

Confidence in the 47-year-old MacPhail's aggressive ability to produce results was expressed in behalf of the three elements of Brooklyn ownership, comprising the McKeever interests, headed by President Stephen W. McKeever; the heirs of Charles H. Ebbets, long-time head of the club; and the Brooklyn Trust company, which holds nearly a million-dollar financial interest in the proceedings.

Rated one of the best baseball towns in the country, Brooklyn attendance has dropped from a

TECH CARNIVAL ON THIS WEEK

College Hockey Matches Will Feature Winter Sports Festival

Houghton—Beginning with the first of a two-game series between the University of Minnesota and Michigan Tech hockey teams on Friday night, Tech students and townspeople of the Copper Country will unite in celebrating the height of the winter season with the 12th annual Michigan Tech Winter Carnival at Houghton.

Supreme ruler over all festivities will be the Michigan Tech Carnival Queen, Barbara Foley of Calumet, who was elected to her office after a spirited contest in which over 150,000 votes were cast. She will hold sway over the various events on the two-day program.

These include, besides the hockey games, numerous skating, skiing, and snowshoeing contests, snow-sculpture competitions, dog derbies, parades, dances, and special features such as a game of winter softball in the open, with contestants wearing barrel staves fastened to their feet.

Among the highlights of Saturday's program is the colorful parade, in which various student organizations on the campus, high schools of the district, and local business men of the neighboring communities vie for the honor of having the most outstanding as well as original representation.

And for the sports enthusiasts the clashes between the Minnesota Gophers and Tech Huskies promise plenty of excitement. Last year Tech and Minnesota split the two-game series, with two overtime periods necessary in the final game. Tech finally emerged victorious 1-0. Smarting from the effects of a bad start this season, the Tech Huskies are in a fighting mood, and anything can happen in these two encounters.

Quinnesec Loses To Harris, 34-17

Harris high school's basketball team trounced Quinnesec at Bark River last night by a score of 34 to 17, holding the advantage all the way. Quinnesec's heaviest scoring period was the last quarter.

In a preliminary, the Harris seventh-eighth graders lost to the ninth graders, 19 to 6.

Big Crowd Watches Irish Defeat Pitt By 51 To 41 Score

Pittsburgh, Jan. 19. (AP)—The largest basketball crowd of the season, approximately 3,500, saw Notre Dame defeat the University of Pittsburgh tonight, 51 to 41, in a rough and tumble game.

The Irish led, 24 to 16, at the half and managed to halt a threatening rally by the Panthers which whittled their margin to 36-34 at one point.

Forty-one personal fouls were committed during the contest, 24 by the visitors.

Pitt's guard, Eddie Spotovich, was high scorer with 14 points. Sawowski paced Notre Dame with five field goals and a free throw.

ROAD OFFICIALS PLAN MEETING

U. P. Parley at Michigan Tech in Houghton April 1 and 2

Announcement was made this week that the annual meeting of highway engineers and commissioners of the Upper Peninsula will be held April 1 and 2. The conference will take place at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

The annual meeting is sponsored by the state highway department in cooperation with the College of Mines and the Upper Peninsula Road Builders' Association.

State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner has appointed W. W. McLaughlin, research and testing engineer of the state highway department, as general chairman of the conference. Other members of the committee are: P. N. Thornton, Hancock, contractor; C. F. Winkler, Houghton County road engineer; Prof. N. F. Manderfield, of the College of Mines; and Ben F. Sparks, Escanaba, Upper Peninsula engineer for the state highway department.

New Lighthouse For Escanaba Is Not Likely Now

Possibilities for the construction of a new lighthouse in Escanaba in the near future are rather slim, according to a letter received from Congressman Luecke by O. D. Thatcher of the Escanaba Yacht club.

According to the congressman, a $47,000 item had been in the budget, but was eliminated by the Bureau of the Budget. He said that the only one possible chance for receiving the funds for this purpose now would be by appealing to the appropriations committee considering the bill. He said he would do this although it appears to be a hopeless task.

454 Predators Are Killed In December

Lansing—Four hundred and fifty-four predators were eliminated from competition with game animals during December, bounty records of the department of conservation show.

Coyotes made up the largest haul—a total of 443 including 219 males, 204 females, 12 female pups and six male pups. In addition six male wolves and one female adult and one male wolf pup were taken during the month.

Henry M. Stanley spent 295 days and about $25,000 in his famous quest for Dr. David Livingstone in darkest Africa.

The negrité Aeta tribe of the Philippines cut off and exhibited the heads of tax defaulters as a warning to others.

According to scientists, there is no basis for the belief that a person loses a drop of blood every time he sighs.

Afraid to Walk She Was So Dizzy

Was Lame With Rheumatism, Housework, a Druggery Feeling As She Did; Kruton Accomplishes The Amazing

"KruGon has done wonders for me," said Mrs. Anna Ayle, 1520 White Ave., Beloit, Wisconsin. "Rheumatism had filled my body with poisons crippling my knees until it was hard for me to get around. I was so lame, knees so stiff I could hardly bend them at all. My housework was a druggery and practically impossible at times. My bowels were terribly irregular too and I had such dizzy spells I was afraid of falling, couldn't walk across the room at times as everything would grow dim and my head would whirl so I could not stand. I was in a general run-down condition and did not know where to turn next when I finally learned of KruGon. . . . it is remarkable."

"KruGon is the first medicine I have ever taken that did not disappoint me," continued Mrs. Ayle. "By the time I had taken a few doses I could see a remarkable change in my condition, but now after having taken several boxes of KruGon I am glad to say every ache and pain of rheumatism has gone entirely, bowels are regulated and I have not had a single dizzy spell in months. It is wonderful to feel so well again, sleep good, get up in the morning refreshed and ready for the day before me. No wonder so many praise KruGon, it deserves it all and more too."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.

A Bottle of Helium for Germany

First shipment of helium to leave the United States, this big steel bottle of gas from the Amarillo, Texas, fields is consigned to Germany. It is part of 17,900,000 cubic feet to be used in the new LZ-130, sister ship of the ill-fated Hindenburg. The gas is transported in 465 of these bottles aboard the German steamer Dessau, shown here at the dock in Houston.
