

FIRMS WARNED TO PAY TAXES

Social Security Installments Due Before January 31

Warning that employers of eight or more must make their payments of taxes due under title IX of the social security act to the federal collector of internal revenue before January 31 was received yesterday by Harold Lindsay, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce. The merchants will be allowed credit on the tax for only such contributions as made to the state unemployment fund. Contributions due the state but still unpaid cannot be used as a credit on federal tax.

Failure to make state contributions before January 31, would make the merchant liable for both state and federal payments. Considerable expense can be saved by making all state contributions before that date. Payment of all contributions due the state based upon wages paid in 1937 should also be completed. Contributions received after January 31 by the state cannot be used for credit on federal tax.

May Obtain Duplicate

Wage earners who have lost their social security account number cards may now obtain duplicates from field offices of the social security board. Field offices are located in 323 key cities. Formerly duplicates of account number cards issued in insurance program, could be obtained only from Washington.

This service has been established to help workers obtain employment. Reports from all parts of the country indicate, the board explained, that employers are giving preference to job applicants having account number cards. This may be due to the fact that if an employe fails to obtain an account number the employer must, under federal treasury regulations, apply for a number for the worker. The employer is required to include both the workers' name and his account number in periodic reports of the worker's wages which he files with the treasury.

Field office managers have been instructed by the board to obtain the home address and the name and address of the employer of persons requesting duplicate cards. It was explained that this additional information is required so that, if it is found necessary, the board can communicate with the wage earner or his employer.

Pretty Slick

This long, speedy toboggan slide will furnish some of the biggest thrills at the Michigan winter carnival at Petoakey, Feb. 4-13, and here is the 1938 Michigan winter queen and her court giving it a whirl. In the left toboggan, front to rear, are Eleanor Foss, Betty Brown, Robinette Cornell, Delphine Stackus, the queen and June Walton. The toboggan on the right contains June Hagle, Dolores Hill, Ruth Clark and Jean Dzieslinsky.

Law Is For Cops, Too, Chief Decides

Evanston, Ill. (AP)—The squad cars were lined up in front of the police station and traffic officers stood at attention before Police Chief William O. Freeman. "I've given them two days grace," the chief said sternly. "Go out and arrest all those who have not bought their 1938 city vehicle license."

31-YEAR-OLD LETTER

Pueblo, Colo. (AP)—For 51 years a letter has been traveling from one to another member of the Willets family of Iowa. It's the same letter and it makes the rounds of 14 members of the family who now reside in Connecticut, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Colorado and California.

More than a half century ago the family had a reunion in Iowa. They decided to start the letter in the mails and each year it makes the rounds of the family. Only three of the receivers now have the family name of Willets and only two of those present at the original family reunion still are living.

Grasshopper Voice Made In The Wing

Dallas, Texas (AP)—That sound the grasshopper makes comes from his wings, but not by rubbing his and wing covering together, Prof. F. B. Isely of Trinity university has discovered.

The source of the grasshopper's song was a mystery to most people, who believed it was "manufactured" by rubbing the wings and the wing covers together when the "hopper" was in flight. Prof. Isely said, "So he and some of his advanced students experimented, removed the wing covers from a number of grasshoppers, and found that the insects still could "sing." So the conclusion they drew was that the "voice is in the wing."

Book Of Henry IV Brings In $25,000

London (AP)—The historic Bolbrooke psalter, sought by many of the world's foremost collectors at Sotheby's winter auction, was bid in by Ernest Mages, an Englishman, for $25,000. It was offered for sale by the trustees of the Earl of Londale.

The psalter was specially written and illuminated for Henry IV shortly after he succeeded Richard II on the throne of England.

EUROPE'S NEWEST DICTATORSHIP?

DRAMATIC, given to royal pomp, and sudden decisions on state matters, Rumania's King Carol has provided Europe with its newest question mark. The question is whether Rumania is moving toward a dictatorship. It rises out of the recent Rumanian elections in which Premier Tarescu's Liberal party failed of support and resigned.

Two days of rumor and uncertainty followed that step. Then Carol moved, elevating to the post of premier one Octavian Goga, minority leader. And because Goga represents no party power he is considered the personal instrument of Carol.

"Rumania for the Rumanians" is Goga's declared policy. Accordingly Anti-Semitic officials have been appointed over the country. Immediately Germany and Italy hailed the move. So Europe speculates whether Rumania will go Fascist. It is pointed out that Goga may be the first step toward abolition of existing forms of government, since, as minister of the interior at one time, he was credited with carrying out one of Rumania's most coercive elections. Real force, of course, back of this would be Carol, shown here on a 1935 Rumanian postage stamp.

Roads Still Blocked

Isolated parts of Cheboygan county waited Thursday night for snow plows which were struggling to break through to them. Both night and day shifts are employed. County road employes estimated all county roads would be open by next week. Trunkline highways in the area are open.

The state highway department said 1,500 miles of roads were opened by Wednesday night and that only about 100 miles more of snowbound roads needed cleaning. In the lower peninsula all roads were reported clear except in the Cadillac area. In the upper peninsula, Chippewa, Mackinac and Schoolcraft roads were open for one-way traffic. Main roads were open in the western half of the upper peninsula, the department reported.

Lower peninsula roads were reported blocked or partially blocked as follows: In Charlevoix county, US-31 open to one-way traffic from Charlevoix to Esposito; M-66 blocked from Charlevoix to Iron-ton; in Leelanau county, M-22 blocked from Empire to Glen Arbor and from Leland to Northport, and M-76 and M-109 blocked entirely. In Manistee county, M-22 was blocked from US-31 north.

Hammered by ice floes, the famed "honeymoon bridge" over Niagara Falls collapsed late yesterday in a dramatic incident of a wide-spread cold wave.

Six children were snowbound in the Mastodon township school near Alpha, Mich. Superintendent K. W. Schultz provided food and beds for them in school; reported snow plows probably would not get through until today.

STEIWER QUILTS IN U. S. SENATE

Survivor of Roosevelt Landslide Returns to Law Practice

Salem, Ore., Jan. 27. (AP)—Frederick Steiwer, one of the few Republican senators to survive the "Roosevelt landslide" in 1932, resigned today to return to his law practice after next Monday. Steiwer previously had announced he would not seek a third term, but it had been reported he would serve out his present term ending December 31, 1938.

Gov. Charles Martin, a Democrat, said he would appoint a successor, perhaps within 48 hours, but gave no hint as to whom he was considering. Among those mentioned in state-house circles as possibilities were Mayor Joseph K. Cargon of Portland; former Governor Oswald West, and D. O. Hood, a former state budget director.

Typographical Union May Quit A. F. of L.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 27. (AP)—Charles P. Howard, president of the International Typographical Union, said today he would favor withdrawing that powerful unit from the American Federation of Labor if the AFL claimed complete control over the national union affiliated with it.

Howard, who is secretary of the Committee for Industrial Organization, said the ITU, which claims 80,000 members, had not paid a special assessment of one cent a month per man levied by the AFL on all its affiliates for organization work against the CIO.

The AFL executive council is meeting in closed session here and Howard said he was on hand to represent the printers' union in "any fundamental problems" that might arise. However, William Green, AFL president, said the council planned no action on the matter. The situation would be raised only at the next general convention, he indicated, when a move could be made to bar the ITU if it were not in good standing.

ELECTRIC CHAIR HAS 2 VICTIMS

Mother, 37, First Woman Put to Death in Illinois

Chester, Ill., Jan. 28 (Friday) (AP)—Mrs. Marie Porter, 37-year-old mother, and handsome Angelo Ralph Giancola, 22, both of St. Louis, died in the electric chair at Southern Illinois penitentiary early today for the wedding day insurance slaying of the woman's brother.

Mrs. Porter was the first woman ever put to death in the electric chair in Illinois, and the second ever executed by the state. Young Giancola, who had been described as the "paw" in the slaying, was the first to die. He entered the death chair at 12:06 a. m. (CST). Physicians pronounced him dead at 12:08.

Mrs. Porter was seated in the death chair at 12:17 a. m., and was pronounced dead two minutes later, at 12:19 a. m.

Half-Year Licenses Go On Sale Today

Lansing, Jan. 27. (AP)—Secretary of State Leon D. Case announced today half-year automobile license plates would be placed on sale at the branch offices tomorrow morning.

Half-year licenses in previous years were sold as stickers to be glued to windshields. This year they will be metal, similar to the full year plates but stamped in black and white. The full year plates have a green background.

Rotary Snowplow Eats Through Drifts to Open Line North

Throwing a forty-foot stream of snow from its whirling blades, the rotary snow plow above is shown as it cut its way through drifts across tracks of the Chicago and North Western main line at Rock. The rotary passed Little Lake late last night and was expected to completely open the line to Lahpetting early this morning.

TRAFFIC BACK NEAR NORMAL

Rail and auto traffic in this section of the Upper Peninsula returned to near normal state late yesterday, with trains traveling almost on schedule and most of the main highways throughout the area being cleared.

U. P. Trunklines Open
Through traffic between St. Ignace and Ironwood and Menominee was effected. The only state highway which still resisted efforts of crews was M-35 north.

Opening of M-35 to the line yesterday enabled residents of Lathrop, Rock and Perkins to reach Escanaba for the first time since Monday night. Traffic still was tied up on the side roads although county plows were working steadily to open them.

Highway crews were cheered yesterday with the weather forecast of "increasing cloudiness and not so cold." Although residents of this region suffered from the cold, the thermometer officially was two degrees above zero at its lowest Thursday.

Railroads Dig Out
Chicago and North Western railway officials stated last night that they expected to be operating almost the full schedule of trains today, providing the rotary plow was able to push its way through to Ishpeming.

Ken's Trained Skunk, Smelt the Great, Is Given to University

BY KENDRICK KIMBALL
Detroit, Mich., Jan. 27.—Smelt, the Great, Delta county skunk who "panicked" the Midwest Sportmen's Show at Convention Hall and a radio audition, was presented today to the zoology department of Wayne university.

Individuals in the fur business, whose intentions seemed doubtful, but that of Dr. Creaser was honored because of his association with the discovery of smelt in Michigan.

Voght and the skunk appeared over WWJ, the Detroit News station, in a radio interview on the Jamboree last Friday night. On Sunday the Escanaba man spoke on the Jamboree over the mutual network, from station CKLW in Detroit.

The presentation took place at the booth maintained by Michigan's four tourist and resort associations, where the skunk and a tub of lead smelt have been on exhibit. The two proved such an attraction that Voght and Hughie Brotherton, of Gould City, who represented the Stack interests, found eager recipients for hundreds of circulars and were quizzed by crowds of potential Delta county visitors.

Girl Receives Skunk
The skunk was received by Miss Helen Meisel, nature study teacher at the MacCulloch school, who appeared in behalf of Dr. Charles W. Creaser, of Wayne.

"Smelt will be given a nice home in the university," Miss Meisel said, as she gingerly grasped the steel cage that has served as the skunk's "den."

44 Wanted Skunk
About to return to Escanaba after a week at the show, Voght announced through the Detroit newspapers, that he would give the skunk to the first person who assured him it would receive a good home.

Three U. P. Cities Are Fighting For Legion Convention

Iron River, Jan. 25 — With both Crystal Falls and Iron River seeking the 1939 U. P. convention, Alfred Branchini post last night requested Floyd C. Van Wagner, county commander, to call a meeting to decide which city is to receive the support of the organization.

Many legionnaires hold it is a ridiculous condition that two towns in the same county should seek the convention.

In behalf of Iron River it is stated that early in March last year a convention committee was appointed. Crystal Falls legionnaires declare they knew nothing of this resolution and that the east side needs a convention to pep up the town.

Negaunee is also seeking the 1939 reunion, it was revealed at the mid-winter conference at Calumet. Delegates at Calumet pledged the Iron county representatives support but declared that Crystal Falls and Iron River would have to iron out their differences before the convention in Calumet in July.

In Respect to the memory of Mrs. A. H. Groesbeck, wife of our esteemed vice president, our main and branch stores will be closed from 2 until 3:30 p. m. today, at the time of the funeral.

RETAIL STUDY PLANNED HERE

Special Merchandising Course Proposed in Escanaba

A special course in wholesale and retail merchandising may be established in the Escanaba high school this year as a result of the visit of Jack Milligan, Lansing, assistant supervisor of distributive education in Michigan, who has been touring the Upper Peninsula.

Milligan was one of four educational officials who visited in Escanaba. The others were Harley Z. Wooden, of the curriculum division in special education; A. C. Tagg, supervisor of vocational rehabilitation for the state, and Stanley Corneliuson, field agent at Marquette for the state vocational division.

The group conferred while in Escanaba with public school officials and the retail merchants division of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce. Last July, the federal government appropriated $14,000,000 to be used in training young men and women in retailing and wholesaling.

The principal provision is that the student must be employed to be eligible for the course. If a high school student decides on some phase of retail endeavor and wishes to enter the course, he may with the cooperation of some business firm enter the latter's employ on a part-time basis, or after school hours, receiving instructions both in the store and in the class room.

Various phases of retailing and wholesaling will be taken up, including sales tax, advertising, stock arrangement and pricing and various other angles. Local instruction may be provided either by men in the community, with actual training in the specific training in the business or members of the high school faculty.

E. E. Edick, principal of the Escanaba senior high school, said yesterday the school is willing to cooperate. He said that additional material concerning the courses of study is to be sent here, and then a meeting will be held with the retail merchants to determine what action will be taken.

Ski Club Formed At Escanaba; Hike Scheduled Sunday

Ski riders of Escanaba held a meeting last night and formed an organization to be known as the 'Escanaba Ski Club', with a charter membership of 50.

Meetings will be held every other Thursday, the next one on February 10, at the city recreation center. A ski hike has been planned for Sunday, and the group will meet at 1:30 p. m. at the Junior high school.

Paul Bettila, of Ishpeming, noted ski jumper, placed winner in the national meet at Cary, Ill., gave members of the club some pointers on jump technique.

Officers elected by the newly-formed club included: President, Lorenz Schou; vice president, Bill Beckstrom; secretary-treasurer, Agnes Anderson; directors, Al Gerrits, Kenneth Cathcart, Ira Smith, Cecile Clements and Ray LaPorte.

W. A. MARANDA DIES THURSDAY

Insurance Executive Had Lived in Escanaba for Past Eight Years

William A. Maranda, 42, 412 South Eighth street, superintendent of the Escanaba office of the Prudential Insurance company for the last eight years, passed away at St. Francis hospital last evening at 7:15 o'clock following an illness of four weeks duration.

Mr. Maranda was born on July 17, 1894, at St. Paul, Minnesota, and had lived there previous to coming to Escanaba. He was connected with the insurance company for the past eighteen years.

An ex-service man, he served with the American Expeditionary forces in France for fourteen months. He was a member of St. Anne's church and of St. Anne's branch of the Holy Name society. He also belonged to Post 82 of the American Legion.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral Home to be prepared for burial and will remain at the funeral home until Saturday evening, when the body will be shipped to St. Paul, via the Soo Line railway. Funeral services will be held on Monday morning at St. John's church in St. Paul.

FOUR NEWBERRY MEN ARE FOUND

Basketball Players Had Spent Two Days in Farm House

Newberry, Mich., Jan. 27.—Newberry is digging itself out of drifts some ten to twelve feet deep after a three day blizzard which cut off all mail and railroad service and for a time crippled telegraph and telephone connections.

Four Newberry men, George Arneth, 20, Ernest Meyers, 23, F. Beaudin, 22, and Walter Hakola, 19, basketball players who were located on Wednesday night. State police and Sheriff O. E. Shaw had been looking for them. They were marooned in a farm house near Engadine.

Supt. Bernard McTiver of Lake Superior state forest reports four feet of snow, 20 miles north of Newberry. The garage was wrecked by the weight of ice, snow and wind. The extent of the damage to contents will not be known until it is dug out. The storm handicapped mill crews in plant operation and large crews were used in keeping the power plant of the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company in operation.

Failure of this plant would have cut off electrical service for the village. All woods roads are still blocked, but it is believed that a messenger would snowshoe in for help if conditions were serious. It will be several days before these roads will be opened.

About 1845, "gingerbread men" were the best "bred" men in France. A manufacturer began making gingerbread caricatures of "men of the hour" in that year, and it was said that a man was of no consequence unless he had been a "gingerbread man."

FLEXIBLE RULE FOR FISH NETS

Wisconsin Conservation Acts on Commercial Fishing in Lake

Madison, Wis.—The State Conservation commission today announced an order affecting Wisconsin's commercial fishing industry along Lake Michigan and Green bay by setting up uniform regulations which it said were designed primarily toward protection of small fish.

The new order has received approval of Gov. Philip F. La Follette and will become effective on official publication. Its regulations were said to be in line with those imposed by other Great Lakes states.

An original commission order including provisions similar to those announced today were protested vigorously by one group of Wisconsin fishermen. The governor granted a re-hearing on the order but the commission left its provisions unchanged and La Follette approved it.

Chief provisions of the new commission order as explained by the commission were:

Adopt Flexible Rule
1. Adoption of the flexible rule method of measuring sizes of mesh in gill nets, setting up a single standard of measurement. The former "stretch" measure permitted a fisherman to label his net size according to his ability to stretch it.

2. Establishment of an 18 1/2 inch size limit or lake trout and whitefish as against a former minimum of 12 and 13 inches. Under the old regulations no lake trout under 15 inches could be shipped out of the state but they could be caught for Wisconsin consumption.

This section of the law, the commission said, will become effective July 1, 1938 when traffic in lake trout will cease. It was explained this provision gives Wisconsin the same trout minimum size restriction as that governing fishermen in other Great Lakes states. Baby trout taken from waters will be confiscated by the conservation department under this provision and sold, with proceeds going toward commercial fishing activities.

3. Suspension of permits for taking of spawn of lake trout, whitefish or chubs. The commission said these permits have been issued in the past to commercial fishermen as the only practical method of obtaining spawn for the operation of the state hatcheries at Sturgeon Bay and Sheboygan.

Under this agreement the permit fishermen kept the fish they caught and turned the spawn over to the department. The new regulation means that the two hatcheries no longer will be used for commercial fish propagation, the commission pointed out.

4. Fyke and drop nets must be kept off the shore of Door county in 50 feet of water from May 20 to October. The commission said the object of this regulation was to keep these nets off small mouth bass grounds.

5. Issuance of small mesh, gill nets from Jan. 1 to April 14 for smelt fishing. This fishing will be supervised to prevent destruction of immature fish of other species.

6. Establishments of 2 1/2 inches flexible rule measure for gill nets used for taking of chubs. The old law provided a 2 1/2 inches stretch measure. The commission said the old size was not a definite mesh size limit because it was possible to stretch the mesh to the required size.

FUNERAL FOR PRIEST HELD

Father Manderfield of Menominee Laid to Rest

Funeral services for Rev. Father Peter F. Manderfield, 64, pastor of the Church of the Epiphany of Menominee, who died in St. Joseph's hospital Tuesday of coronary thrombosis, were held at a solemn requiem high mass Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Church of the Epiphany.

Escanaba clergymen attending the services were Rev. Fr. Joseph E. Guertin, Rev. Fr. Edward Leary, O. F. M., Rev. Fr. Peter Bleeker and Rev. Fr. Lester C. Bourgeois.

Rev. Fr. Manderfield, who was widely known in the peninsula was born in Houghton, Mich., February 28, 1873, a son of the late John and Emma Laube Manderfield. He attended the public schools at Houghton and at the age of 14 entered St. Francis Seminary in Milwaukee to begin his theological studies. He later attended Le Grand Seminaire at Montreal, Canada, and completed his studies at Louvain University in Belgium.

He was ordained to the priesthood at St. Peter's Cathedral, Marquette, August 24, 1900, by the late Bishop Frederick Els, the first priest to be ordained by Bishop Els, following his consecration as head of the diocese. He celebrated his first mass at his home parish at Houghton, and was assigned to the Bishop's staff at Marquette.

He later served at Nadeau, Rockland, Mich., where he remained nine years; Houghton, where he served for two years, and after returning to the Cathedral at Marquette for a period of four years, was assigned to Sacred Heart church, Munising, remaining as pastor of that church for twenty years. While in Munising he supervised the erection of a new parochial and a home for the Sisters, instructors of the school. When his church was destroyed by fire, he refitted the basement of the new school for services, and under his guidance the congregation purchased a block of property on which a new church will be erected.

Rev. Fr. Manderfield was assigned to the Menominee church in May, 1935, and served there until his death.

Surviving him are four brothers, John, of Baltic, Mich., Robert of Detroit; Edward who is in Mexico; Matthias, of Houghton; and four sisters: Rose and Ann Manderfield, Houghton; Mrs. F. B. Goodman, Nashville, Tenn.; and Mrs. R. A. Lonier of LaGrange, Ill.

Following the services at Menominee Thursday morning the funeral cars left for Houghton where the body will remain in state in St. Ignace church, where Father Manderfield celebrated his first mass thirty-seven years ago. Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock a second requiem mass will be offered and burial will be in the family lot in Houghton cemetery.

In Constant Pain Day and Night

Rheumatism Made Life Almost Unbearable; Could Not Lay Down, Flesh As If In Knots, Entire System Run Down; KruGon A Blessing

"KruGon accomplished for me what I thought was impossible," said Mr. Wm. Schliewe, 115 5th St., Watertown, Wisconsin. "For over a year I had been in constant suffering with rheumatism settled

MR. WM. SCHLIEWE

In my knees and legs. But it became more severe until the last two months before I learned of KruGon, almost more than I could endure. The last three weeks I had been unable to sit down, could not lay down, was in constant pain day and night and those stabbing pains made my flesh feel as if it was in knots. I was nervous, run-down, foods would not digest properly and to eat meant only more misery to me. At the time I found KruGon I HAD TO HAVE SOMETHING AT ONCE and I do not know what I would have done had I not found this new laxative-ionic formula!"

"By the time I had completed my fourth box of KruGon," continued Mr. Schliewe, "I had full use of my legs again. I feel like a different person with renewed strength and energy, those pains have been relieved, kidneys and bowels regulated, stomach is fine and I really enjoy living again. I eat hearty, sleep good, am putting on weight and cannot help but tell others about a medicine which can accomplish such seemingly impossible results as this new KruGon does."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.

Three Counties Are Designated For Tenant Loans

Loans to tenant purchase farms will be made this year in Antrim, Berrien and Gratiot counties in Michigan, under the new Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, it was announced today by Roswell G. Carr, an executive secretary of the State Farm Security Advisory Committee.

The announcement followed closely the meeting of the State Farm Security Advisory committee, which recommended counties after a study of Michigan conditions. It was upon the recommendation of this group that the counties were designated by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

In effect the announcement means that from 18 to 20 tenant farmers in Michigan will be given the opportunity to acquire farms of their own and largely of their own selection. The farms will be sold under a 40 year, 3 per cent loan agreement. Payments will be made upon a variable payment plan, depending on crop, livestock, and livestock product yields for that particular year. The allocation for the state, based on farm population and prevalence of tenancy, was $109,952.

The procedure is for the application to be made by the tenant farmer to the FSA's county supervisor of rural rehabilitation who, in turn, will present the application to a county committee consisting of three farmer members. This committee, as yet unselected, will consider qualifications of the applicant and will appraise and examine the farms to be purchased. They must recommend and approve the applicant, the farm, and the amount of the loan that may be made upon it.

The successful applicant must be a citizen of the United States, a farm laborer, or a person who has recently obtained the major portion of his income from farming. The Act provides that preference will be given to married persons who have dependent families and, wherever practicable, persons who are able to make a down payment or who are owners of livestock and equipment.

The person desiring to apply for a loan under the provisions of this Act must reside in one of the designated counties and obtain an application blank from the County FSA Supervisor. No loans this year will be made in counties other than those named.

Japan Wastes Cable Tolls

Not often is the full text of a Japanese Cabinet member's speech printed in the United States. Foreign Minister Koki Hirota's speech at the 73rd session of the Tokyo Parliament was issued in the United States by the Japanese consular officials.

This suggests that Japan considers the text good propaganda for Americans. We may also be permitted to wonder whether we are getting the full text and a completely accurate translation. Diplomatic governments when permitted to wonder whether we are getting the full text and a completely accurate translation.

H. V. Kaltenborn, propagandist as a diplomat, has not hesitated to say one thing at home and quite a different thing abroad. Yet there is little in this speech to appeal to Americans. Above all they cannot approve these four conditions of peace which Japan presents to China—

1. China must side with Japan against Soviet Russia.

2. This means China is expected to abandon the only country from whom she has received practical help and to make common cause with the country that conducts aggressive war against her people.

3. To withdraw her soldiers from such zones as Japan may wish to occupy.

4. This means turning over to Japanese exploitation China's most profitable areas.

5. To accept economic control by Japan.

On the basis of what happened in Manchukuo this means the exclusion of other powers from trade.

6. China to pay Japan indemnities.

China Cannot Pay

China is to reimburse Japan for expenses incurred in killing her people and laying waste her territory. The particular merit of this fourth clause is that since China cannot pay indemnities, Japan will use that failure to make further exactions.

Minister Hirota refers to all the Chinese who oppose Japan as Communists. He defines a Communist as anyone who resists Japanese aggression in China.

Those parts of his speech which concern the United States are suspiciously flattering. Perhaps they explain why the Japanese Government was willing to relieve American newspapers of the cable charges for transmitting this speech.

But these niceties of Oriental diplomacy are less important than certain specific promises. Mr. Hirota declares: "Not only will Japan respect to the fullest extent rights and interests of the powers in the occupied areas, but she is prepared for the purpose of promoting welfare of the Chinese people to leave the door wide open to all powers and to welcome their cultural and economic cooperation there."

Empty Assurances

This sounds reassuring but we recall similar assurances when Japan occupied Manchukuo, assurances which have been violated ever since.

The Foreign Minister himself waters down his promises. He hopes the powers will recognize "new conditions" prevailing in China by appreciating the propriety of such Japanese demands for necessary rational adjustments as have been submitted or may be submitted hereafter.

That mouth-filling sentence leaves little comfort for the Western powers.

Already American rights in occupied Nanking are flaunted by the Japanese army. Looting of American property by Japanese soldiers has continued for weeks, despite repeated protests. American Consul Allison reports that during three days last week 15 cases of irregular entry were reported to him by Americans. On the morning of Jan. 18 Japanese soldiers, with two trucks, entered a compound belonging to the United Christian Mission and took away a piano and other property. On one occasion ten Chinese women who had taken refuge in an American building were forcibly removed. Protests are in vain.

Military Leaders Blamed

The explanation is simple. The civil government of Tokyo has no control over Japanese militarists in China. Even if the Hirota speech had been more forthright it would have meant little. He is a helpless puppet in the hands of Japan's military clique which governs the country.

This is the most discouraging aspect of the whole Japan-China business. A handful of irresponsible military leaders has dragged the great Japanese nation into an adventure which may bring it to ruin. It has alienated from Japan the sympathy of every people which is permitted to know what is going on in China.

Until Japan's Foreign Minister can speak for something more than a helpless group of civilian officials, who themselves face assassination if they disobey the militarists, his government might just as well not spend any money on cabling us his speeches.

Richest Girl in the World

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

Copyright, 1928, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CONSTANCE CORBY—heroine;
richest girl in the world.
BRET HARDESTY—hero;
bridge builder.
RODNEY BRANDON—Connie's fiancé.
KATIE BLYN—Connie's "double."

Yesterday, Bret breaks up (Connie's anniversary party and she knows that they can never be quite the same again.

CHAPTER XX

Bret and Connie did not have their talk on that morning. Bret apologized again for the scene he had created at their anniversary party; he said that he had had too many whiskies and sodas, but that he would not use that for an excuse. He supposed it was the outburst of an accumulation of the past months. He hoped Connie would forgive him.

Connie said that she would, in a polite, constrained tone of voice that showed plainly that she had not. She maintained this cool courtesy between them for more than a week, keeping Bret at a distance, as though he were a perfect stranger, or a had little boy who must learn obedience. He was completely miserable.

"We've decided to charter my yacht, take a trip—perhaps Bermuda—make up a party," Connie said, at the end of that week. "Do you think you'd care to come along, Bret?"

"If you want me," he answered; did this mean that now she had decided to forgive and forget? "You know I want to be where you are. Who, may I ask, do you include in 'we'?"

"Oh, Rodney, Veronica, a half dozen or so." Her reply came carefully. If she was glad he was going, she did not let him see it. "Everyone's leaving town now that it's spring; it will be dead dull here. The Bermuda lilies are gorgeous in the Bermuda, a whole lot of them. The weather ideal, the crowd smart and amusing. I think you'll enjoy it, Bret."

He did not care who would be there, if only she would smile at him once more. He tried to take her in his arms now, but she held herself aloof, unresponsive. "I'll like it," he said, "if you are sweet to me again. Let's stop this nonsense, honey, let's be friends; sweethearts. Can't you see we're drifting apart, behaving in this way?"

She did not answer, but the look in her eyes accused him as the one who caused their "drifting."

He let her go, turned away, his pride flaring as a hot, angry flame inside of him. It was not his fault, altogether; she knew that, since she was taking unfair advantage, in so many ways, over him. If only he did not love her so much; if only she did not have all this money. . . .

"It will be nice to see the first signs of spring," he muttered. "Lord knows there's none in this man-made city. Not a blade of green grass, or a leaf, or flower."

His thoughts winged back to his own country, the dark hills that would be coming alive with that tender young green haze, the sky that would be so blue and unclouded, the air so crisp and fragrant. An almost unbearable nostalgia seized him.

"See here," he turned to her once more, dropping all restraint, his dark eyes warm and eager, "why don't we go back home, alone—just we two, darling. The hills will be beautiful now—you remember last spring in the valley? We could have another honeymoon, take our long tramps, climb our own hill, come 'alike' again, too—as we'll never do anywhere else, among a lot of people. Wouldn't you like that better, honey? Wouldn't you be willing to go back with me?"

There was no answering warmth in his wife's eyes. She drew herself up, threw back her head. "I'm sorry, Bret," her voice was polite, unsoftly cool once more, "that you don't like my friends. Or the plans we've made. Go back to that sleepy little old town, buried in the hills. . . . Heavens! I'd be bored to death. I'd die."

It was on the tip of his tongue to tell her that she had not been bored a year ago, that she had been happier than ever before, content, busy. But he checked the words. She had been Katie Blyn then, a different girl than the one who stood looking at him with hostile eyes that held a shade of contemptuous amusement. This girl was Constance Corby, heiress to myriad millions. He wondered how she could possibly be the girl he had married.

She might have read his thoughts, for a slow flush colored her lovely face, her eyes flashed now in anger. "I know what you're thinking. You might as well have said it. That I liked that little town, your hills and country, well enough last year. But I was only playing then, Bret, pretending. That was all it amounted to, really." She hurried on, before he could reply; she saw the deep color beginning to stain his face, too, the fire that leapt into his dark eyes.

"It's you who've changed, Bret, not I. I am what I was always, before and after that brief interlude. But you are different. You're grim and serious, cross and moody. You won't try to adapt yourself to my world; you won't try to like my friends, learn to live and play. Life isn't all seriousness and work; it should be fun and gaiety, too. I thought you would be big enough to meet this difference. I thought it would take more of a man to make a happy marriage with a woman who had so much more than he, it would take more courage, more doing. But it doesn't seem to me you're trying very hard, it doesn't seem as though you were succeeding. It's you who are different, from the man I married."

He did not answer right away. The deep color drained out of his face; the fire left his eyes. "I believe you are right," he spoke at length, slowly. "I'm not the same man. I've lost that courage—the things you thought made me different—different enough to face any situation and conquer it. Different enough to marry the richest woman in the world and make that marriage a success, to maintain my own independence and birthright and self-respect."

"I told you—the other night—before your friends—that I have become. A man who lives on his wife's charity. A man who fritters away his days and nights, accomplishing nothing. A man who can't look himself in the eye and hold up his head. Yes, Connie, I'm different. I have changed. You're right about that." That grim line etched itself around his mouth; there was a new look in the depths of his dark eyes. Bret Hardesty was becoming his old self again, a man who knew what he thought, knew what was right—and who had never been afraid of anything.

"You're right," he said once more. "I am the one to blame. The only one. I am the one who has changed."

"I suppose you mean," Connie said, her breath coming quickly, "that it is because of the money. I suppose you'd like me to give it to someone, throw it away. I suppose you want me to pretend to be Katie Blyn again. Well, I'll not do that! I tell you what I'm going to do, instead, Bret. I'm going to divorce you."

She turned from him now, pulled the cord to summon Gibbs. It was time to begin to pack, if she was going to Bermuda. Time to put an end to this ridiculous scene, force Bret, somehow, to come to his senses. She had not meant to go this far, but since she had, she would stick to it. She would even go through a divorce, if necessary.

Bret crossed the room, turned the key in the lock, so that the maid could not enter, came back to Connie. He caught her by the shoulders, swung her around. "You're not going to do anything of the sort," he said. "I shan't allow you to divorce me, ever. I told you once that this marriage was for keeps. I meant it. You think now, just because it isn't working out to please you that you can throw it aside—and me—like an old glove. You think you can follow through every impulse that comes into your silly, pretty head. First to pretend to be some other girl, then to marry me, when you knew I was afraid of such a marriage, now to refuse to help me work it out and the first signs of breaking up. You think your money, which has always got you everything you wanted, can buy a divorce, make an end to everything between us. But you are mistaken this time. You are my wife. For better or for worse, in sickness and in health. Until death do us part—remember? You are always going to continue being my wife—and you are going to like it."

Someone had knocked on the door, twisting the handle; Gibbs, probably, responding to her mistress's summons. The knocking was repeated.

Bret, dropped his hands from Connie's shoulders, but not before he had given her a hard little shake to emphasize his words, to make them indelible. He turned now, went to the door.

"You may come in," Gibbs, he said. "And no matter what Mrs. Hardesty says, you will not pack her bags for Bermuda. If you do, I shall unpack them. And toss the stuff out the window."

The door slammed after him. Connie could hear his heavy footsteps, going toward his own rooms.

ROMANCE ON ROCKS

Menominee—Suit was filed Monday by James B. Rickenson, 64, in Menominee circuit court for a divorce from his "mail order bride" of a year. An injunction was also obtained from Circuit Judge Frank A. Bell enjoining his 58 year old wife from disposing of any of their jointly held property and from "injuring or annoying" him. The injunction was issued Monday with the filing by counsel of Rickenson's bill of complaint in the office of Harry N. Gilbertson, circuit court clerk here.

Mrs. Rickenson's counsel indicated that a cross bill will be filed and the suit contested.

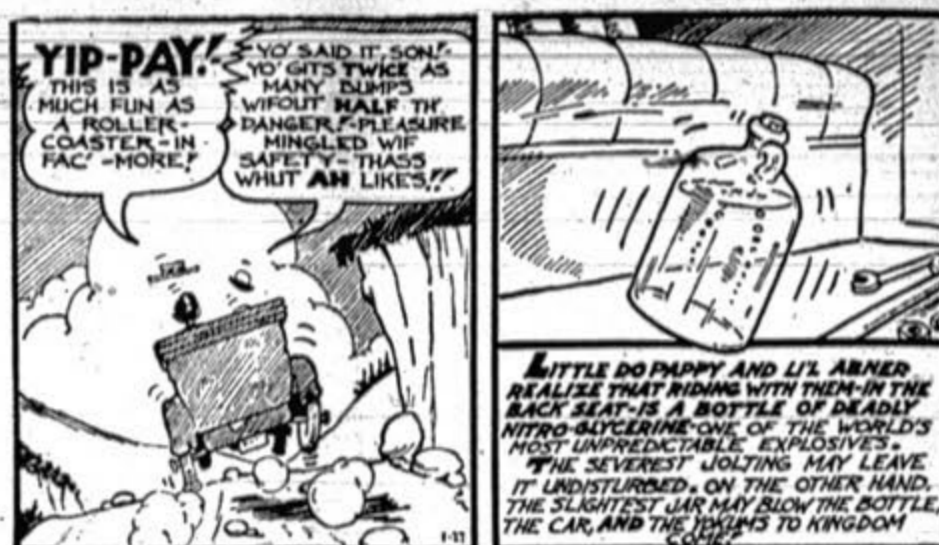

Escanaba was the scene of the Rickenson's marriage on November 23, 1926 after a postal courtship that began when Rickenson, a Menominee township farmer, answered an advertisement by Mrs. Margaret Wakely, now Mrs. Rickenson, for employment as a housekeeper.

The bill of complaint charges that Mrs. Rickenson treated her husband with "cruel and inhuman treatment," that she criticized him and possesses an "uncontrollable temper."

The Rickenson's separated December 21, 1927.

2 ESCANABANS ARE MAROONED

A. H. Watkins and Wife Spend Several Hours in Buried Auto

A. H. Watkins, Escanaba, chief clerk of the state highway department office, and his wife are safe in Marquette after having been marooned since early Monday evening at the Hillcrest dairy farm, about ten miles east of Marquette on US-41. They were in a group of more than forty persons marooned there.

Mr. and Mrs. Watkins left Escanaba Monday afternoon by automobile for Marquette, where the former was to give a radio talk from Station WBEO that evening. Their car became stuck in a heavy drift of snow near Skandia during the blizzard.

Because of the raging storm they remained in the automobile for several hours. Mrs. Watkins was reported to have suffered severely from exposure before people from a farm some distance away were able to dig them out of the car, which was buried in the snow. Her legs and face were badly frost-bitten.

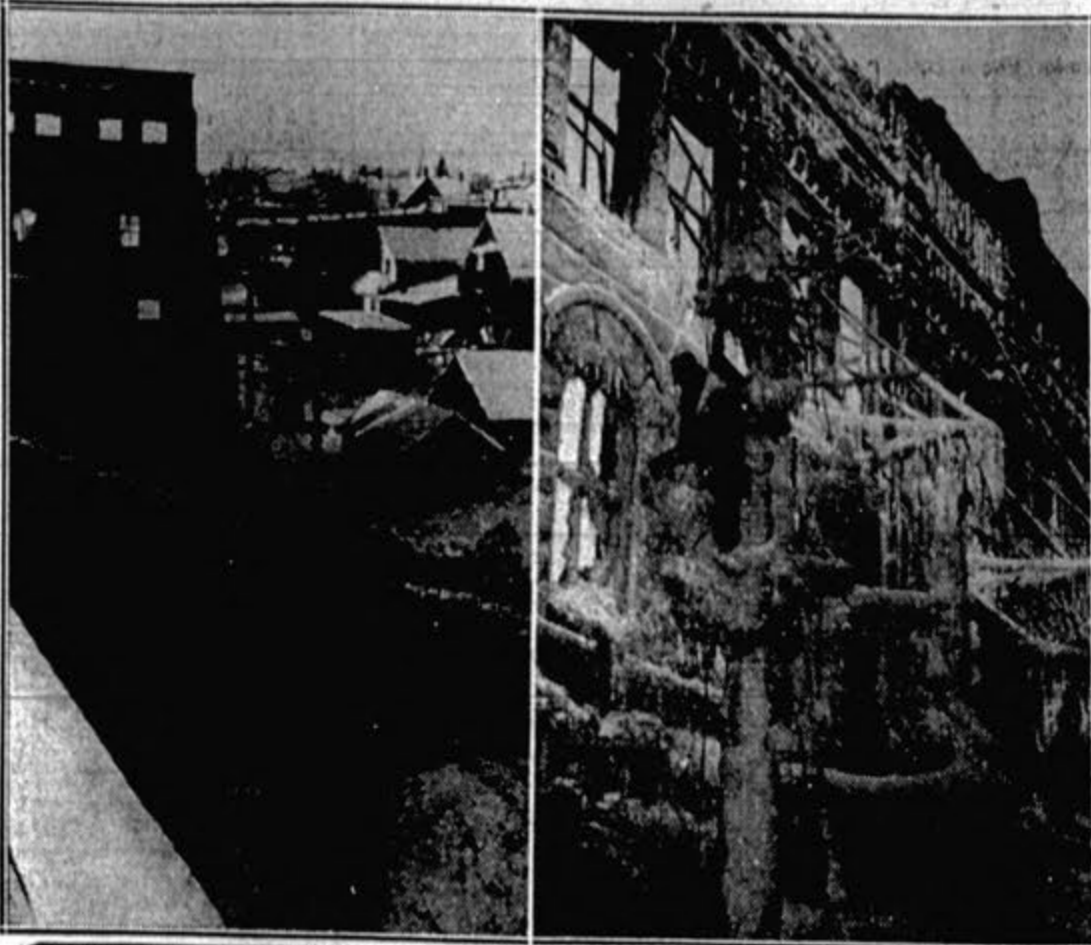

Plows opened the road to the Hillcrest farm late Wednesday and some of the marooned persons reached Marquette Wednesday night and others on Thursday morning.

Snowloader Back In Action Today Rinks All Opened

Removal of snow from Ludington street suffered a temporary setback Thursday when the city snowloader machine was laid up for repairs. The loader broke down at noon Thursday while slicing into the huge drifts on Ludington, but will be back in action again today.

Skating rinks, buried under drifts by the blizzard, are ready for use again, and will be open for skaters tonight.

Ruins of Buildings Destroyed by Fire at Marquette

SCHOOL HEADS MEET FEB. 5

Lemmer, Edick and Zerbelle Are Going to Marquette

Supt. John A. Lemmer, Principal E. E. Edick of the Escanaba senior high school and Principal Clarence Zerbelle of the junior high school will attend the meetings of the Upper Peninsula high school principals and superintendents to be held Saturday, February 5, at Marquette.

R. W. Jackson, principal of the high school at Munising, will be in charge of the program. Sessions will be held in the morning and afternoon at the Graveraet high school and a noon luncheon will be served at the Northland hotel.

H. J. Anderson, principal of the Graveraet high school, will preside at the luncheon.

The meeting will be the first of an annual series, the principals and superintendents believing that the short session usually allotted them during annual teachers' meetings is not sufficient for a thorough discussion of their related problems.

Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, and members of his staff will be present. Dr. J. Cecil Parker, director of the Michigan study of the secondary school curriculum, will outline the progress of his work.

Much of the remaining program will be devoted to informal discussions of present day problems, particularly as applying to the secondary schools, and also of various innovations being tried in these schools.

As outlined to date, the program will include the following, in addition to Guild's talk:

Morning session, starting at 9:30 o'clock. H. S. Doolittle, Negaunee, chairman—"Study of Transportation Costs." Supt. K. W. Schultze, of Alpha—"Services Available Through the Upper Peninsula Office of the Department of Public Instruction." George D. Gilbert, regional supervisor, of Marquette—"Changing Concepts of Education." Dr. Parker, and "Provisions for Instruction of Children." Supt. C. L. Bystrom, Newberry; H. A. Wood, Munising, and A. P. Hall, Manistique.

Afternoon, starting at 1:15—"Emerging Trends in Activities Related to Instruction." Dr. Elliott: "Proposed Legislation Being Considered by the Michigan Education Association." Dr. A. J. Phillips, executive secretary, Michigan Education association, and a closing discussion, followed by the business meeting and election of officers.

Curb Lower After Last Minute Rally

New York, Jan. 27 (AP)—Curb stocks failed to recover early losses in a last-minute rally today, and closed fractions to 2 or more lower.

Conspicuous for their strength, however, were the gold mining shares. Lake Shore Mines ended at 55, up 1-8, and Pioneer Gold added 1-8 at 3.

Tilting downward between 1 and 2 were Aluminum Co., at 75, Pan American Airways 15, and Sherwin Williams 84 3/4. North American Rayon lost 2-3-8 at 18 1/2.

Gaining 1 or more against the trend were Pittsburgh Plate Glass at 85 1/4, Jones & Laughlin Steel 34, and Buckeye Pipe Line 37.

Utilities as a group were weak, and losing part of a point were American Gas & Electric at 23 3/4, Niagara Hudson Power 7, and Northern States Power "A" at 10.

American Light & Traction gained 3/4 at 12 1/4. Sales totaled 246,000 shares, against 284,000 Wednesday.

The Hooker Oak, of California, is the largest leafing tree in America; 8,000 people can be shaded by it when it is in leaf.

HOUSE-CLEANING TAKES MUCH LESS TIME SINCE WE CHANGED TO FORD COKE

FURNACE-TENDING IS EASY TOOL!

Ford Coke contains less than 1/25 the smoke-and-soot-making elements of un-coked coal

• Yes ma'am! And with reason. For practically all the elements that make smoke and soot are removed in the coking process. That's the beauty of Ford Coke—the most economical clean fuel you can buy. Screened and re-screened, it won't crumble in the bin. And you'll find that Ford Coke is easy and clean to handle, with few ashes to remove.

Ford Coke responds quickly. Gives comfortable, even heat. You just load up the fire-box. And Ford Coke is economical because the wasteful elements have been removed in the coking process. Ford Coke is uniform and dependable—every ton like every other. There's a special size to fit your present furnace. Our representative will be glad to advise you.

AMERICA OUT-OF-DOORS

THE MAKING OF GREAT PHEASANT DOGS
For good reasons pheasants have the reputation of being tricky customers for most young or old bird dogs, which are started on them im-properly. Some hunters think that no bird dog can be taught to handle them properly, to point like they do quails and prairie chickens.

A man's mental equipment never approaches a bird dog's in the matter of handling wary game birds. Man has too many other destinies up his sleeve, while a bird dog has only one, decided by instinct. If you have a likely prospect, for a long time do not attempt to force it to point a pheasant. Let it hunt, then, at every possible opportunity, in its own sweet way, at least for several months until you are sure that it has mastered the habits of the game. Then only commence to steady it to wing, and to your great satisfaction you will discover you have developed a surpassing bird dog which races high headed into its point right on top of the bird, and forces it to remain still in its sudden seizure of momentary helpless trepidation.

Kidnaper Of Ross May Have Visited In Iron Mountain

Iron Mountain—That John Henry Seadlund, charged with the kidnaping and killing of Charles S. Ross, once had visited Iron Mountain is indicated in an account appearing in the Daily Globe of Ironwood, where Seadlund's picture was identified by a former friend residing in that district.

Norman Matthews, former Ironwood resident and now living in the Puritan location in that area, identified the picture of "Peter Anders" as Seadlund some time before the final identification was revealed by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the G-men.

Matthews knew Seadlund in Crosby, Minn., in 1918. The two attended grade school together and became friends. Seadlund, Matthews said, was quick tempered and "hard as nails," and took part in many boyhood quarrels and fights. The Iron Mountain angle, however, was submitted by Ed Hedlund, Ironwood city assessor, who was an employee of the Hub store firm at Ironwood which, a few years ago, sold Seadlund an overcoat. There is still a balance due on the coat, Hedlund said.

Hedlund sold the coat to Seadlund in January, 1933, when Seadlund was calling himself Frank Eastman. Seadlund said he had enough money to pay for the coat but was on his way to Cornell in Delta county and it was agreed that he could pay the balance due

SNOW ORDERED FOR SKI MEET

Six Carloads Will Go from Escanaba to Soldiers Field

Apparently, as far as Chicago ski tournament promoters are concerned, the only place where a lot of good, white snow may be gotten is up in Escanaba, Michigan.

The S. M. Johnson Ice company yesterday received a long distance telephone order from the Chicago Daily Times for six carloads of snow to be shipped on Saturday for the Central U. S. championship tournament to be held at Soldiers Field on Sunday, Feb. 6. Three carloads of snow were shipped a couple weeks ago to the Fox River Groco slide near Cary, Ill.

Skidom's most famous Hussars of the Heavens, Birger and Sigmond Ruud of Norway, will pit their prodigious jumps against America's best in the Central U. S. championship tournament.

The "Ruthless Ruuds", as the Norwegian comets are known, hold a monopoly on the world's greatest ski jumping titles. Birger, a newlywed, is world and Olympic champion. Sigmond is present holder of the United States Crown.

Both of the Ruuds are members of that most exclusive of athletic "clubs"—the brotherhood of skiers who have leaped more than 300 feet in competition. Membership of this "club" embraces only three, and two of them are the Ruuds!

In March, 1934, Birger became the world's first ski jumper to "break 300" when he soared 301.76 feet in a tournament in Yugoslavia. Shortly after, the present world record of approximately 329 feet was set by Reidar Anderson, whose new mark just stood up under a tremendous jump of 311.1 feet by Sigmond Ruud.

So the gigantic slide in Soldier Field—a beauty whose construction cost was $21,200—is certain to get a thorough going over when the Ruuds crack down with their stratosphere shattering flights.

Paul Bietila, Ishpeming, University of Wisconsin skier, and Roland Sullivan, Escanaba, will compete in the Chicago Times meet.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

Associated Press Financial Writer. New York, Jan. 27 (AP)—Stocks suffered another relapse in today's market when a slow forenoon rally failed to develop volume.

The list got off to a ragged start but soon came back under leadership of gold mines. Heavy selling in the final hour put the ticker tape behind and converted early gains running to 2 or more points into declines of 1 to 3.

The market was exceptionally "thin," with advances or declines of a point or so frequently recorded on a single trade.

There was no outstanding news to account for the belated slide, but brokers said the financial sector was still confused by the administration's stand for maintenance of wages and lower prices.

The morning recovery move was attributed partly to a mild revival of inflation psychology based on the possibility of a government spending campaign as a means of increasing employment and stimulating business.

Sluggishness of bonds and commodities, coupled with further weakness of the French franc in terms of the dollar, was also seen as a depressing influence.

The fact Bethlehem directors, meeting after the close, took no action on a dividend for the common shares was according to expectations, but announced earnings of 76 cents a share for the last 1937 quarter as against $1.08 in the same period the year before was pleasantly surprising to some observers in view of the sharp drop in December mill operations.

CASE DEFENDS SPECIAL PLATES

Says Practice In Giving Privileged Permits Is Democratic

Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, approaching the end of the annual season when special automobile license plates are requested by thousands, today defended the practice of issuing them, as "democratic."

"Any citizen of Michigan who has wanted some special number for any reason whatever, has always had the privilege of making his request," Case said, as the supply of 30,000 specially numbered plates was reaching its end. "The making of these plates involves not a dime extra—part of the time of less than half a dozen clerks in the department throughout the state, accounts for the handling of these requests," the State Department head observed.

Case has followed the custom of several of his predecessors in office by reserving in advance license plate numbers for citizens, regardless of political affiliation, who have held them for some years in the past. "There are relatively few of these, and for the balance, anyone may ask for any combination we have, and if it's available, they get it. It's a matter of first-come-first-served," Case said.

He added: "I believe that as more special plates are made to meet the demand, fewer people will want them in the future. So long as people can be made happy with certain combinations of numerals and letters, I'll be glad to accommodate them, so far as I can."

Taken By Death

William A. Maranda for the past eight years in charge of the Prudential Insurance company office here, died last evening at St. Francis hospital following four weeks of illness. Funeral services will be held on Monday morning at St. Paul, Maranda's former home.

BOYS PREPARE FOR BIG EVENT

Plans Made by Scouts for Celebration of Special Week

Plans for the observance of National Boy Scout Week were made last night at a conference of Scoutmasters and commissioners. All troops in the city will meet at the junior high school auditorium on the night of Feb. 8 at 7 o'clock for a combined program. The opening ceremony will be under the direction of Clarence Zerbel, Scoutmaster of Troop 57.

O. V. Thatcher will conduct group singing of Scouting songs. A full hour of motion pictures will be given by L. J. Ashbaugh, Scoutmaster of Troop 53. At 8:15 all Scouts will rededicate themselves to the Scout oath and law led by the chief Scout executive, Dr. James E. West, over a nation-wide radio network. Radio details will be arranged by A. J. Carlson, Scout commissioner. General plans and arrangements are under the direction of Robert Clayton, field commissioner. Troop 55 with H. Geo. Nelson will close the meeting with a special ceremony. Parents and friends are invited to attend.

Crowley Once Was Star With Packers

Green Bay, Wis.—Jimmy Crowley, well known coach of the Fordham Rams, is a Green Bay product and was a high school star before E. L. Lambeau, the Packer mentor sent him on to Notre Dame where he penned football history as a member of the "Four Horsemen" under the late Knute Rockne. In 1925 after Crowley had completed his season's coaching duties at Georgia, he joined the Packers on their eastern trip and played against the Frankford Yellowjackets in Philadelphia and the Steamrollers at Providence. In the Providence game, Crowley caught a forward pass in the end zone which paved the way for a 14 to 10 Green Bay victory.

Samuel Morse, famous inventor, was a portrait painter before he became interested in the field of invention.

STORIES IN STAMPS

FOUNDED UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE

SINCE the days of the Tower of Babel, men have sought for a form of universal language. Scores of schemes have been worked out, but most of them proved inadequate.

Attacking the task from many angles, Dr. L. L. Zamenhof, a Polish eye specialist, announced in 1887 a language form which he called "Esperanto." He claimed it possessed the vital "universal" characteristics. Its grammar can be grasped in half an hour, every rule is without exception, the spelling is phonetic and the dictionary small. Esperanto, nevertheless, has flexibility, precision, literary beauty. And it is catching on!

Upwards of 5000 books, including the Bible, are now in Esperanto; there are approximately 100 magazines in Esperanto appearing regularly. The League of Nations has favorably passed on the language form. Many European commercial schools now teach it. Annual Esperanto conferences are held with delegates from every part of the world.

Zamenhof is shown here on a 1927 Russian stamp marking the 40th anniversary of Esperanto (Copyright, 1928, NEA Service, Inc.)
