BARUCH CALLS FOR ADJUSTED TAX STANDARD

FINANCIER BLAMES GOVERNMENT FOR DEPRESSION

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—The present depression can be ended by a change of the government's attitude toward business and a "wise readjustment" of the tax structure, Bernard Baruch told senate investigators today.

Linked with these, the white haired financier testified, is the fear of further "disturbing assaults" on business.

He said these anxieties had produced a hesitancy or "paralysis of spending" on the part of capital, industry, workers and farmers.

"It is the combination of millions of cautions that holds back the spending and development which could do ten times more for re-employment than any government action or all of the spending for relief in any year of this depression," he said.

Must Change Policy Adjusting his shell rim spectacles, he read from a lengthy prepared statement.

BODY IS FOUND NEAR HAYSTACK

Girl Is Believed To Be Wayne Co-ed; Poison Is Discovered

Bay City, Mich., March 1 (Tuesday) (AP)—Identification of the body found yesterday beside a haystack in an orchard on Pine street, Essexville, as that of Helen Schweiger, Wayne university co-ed, was made shortly after midnight by the girl's father, John Schweiger of Detroit, and by a cousin, Alfred H. Schweiger, of Clawson. The girl had been missing since Thursday.

Two bottles of poison, one empty and the other half full, were found near the frozen body. Coroner Raphael D. Staphis said the girl's lips and mouth appeared burned, indicating that she took poison. He said that a post-mortem would be held tomorrow.

Sheriff Charles W. Kindermann, of Bay City, said that he was certain the dead girl was Miss Schweiger, recognizing her from pictures that have appeared in newspapers since her disappearance. The sheriff pieced together bits of charred paper found near the body, and the name "Helen Schweiger" was visible.

"Gone With Wind" Also found near the body was a copy of "Gone With Wind" in which had been inserted a note addressed "to whom it may concern."

LABOR BOARD IS UPHELD IN COURT RULING

"COMPANY - FORMED" UNIONS HIT BY DECISION

Washington, Feb. 28. (AP)—The supreme court upheld the right of the National Labor Relations Board to use a potent weapon against "company - dominated" unions today.

In two cases involving Greyhound Bus Lines, the tribunal held the labor board had authority under the Wagner act to require an employer to withdraw recognition from a union which he had formed and dominated.

Two Dissenters

The court also decided by a 5 to 2 vote that a federal district court in Wisconsin had exceeded its authority in granting an injunction against union picketing of a company which said it was on peaceful terms with its workers.

Returning to the bench after a two weeks' recess, the justices delivered opinions in 22 cases, at the rate of approximately one a minute.

Bargaining Unit Unfair

The labor board orders which the court upheld were directed against the Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines, Inc., and the Pacific Greyhound Lines, Inc. The companies had contended that at the time of the orders no elections had been held among the companies' employees to determine their collective bargaining representatives, and that, therefore, it was unfair to "discriminate" against the company-formed associations.

Picketing Involved

"In view of all the circumstances," Stone said, "the board could have thought that continued recognition of the association would serve as a means of thwarting the policy of collective bargaining by enabling the employer to induce adherence of employees to the association in the mistaken belief that it was truly representative and afforded an agency for collective bargaining, and thus to prevent self-organization."

BOY KIDNAPED IN NEW YORK; WANT $60,000

FATHER DEALS WITH ABDUCTORS OF SON, AGE 12

New Rochelle, N. Y., Feb. 28 (AP)—A second public appeal to the kidnapers of 12-year-old Peter Levine to "open negotiations" was made late today. Meanwhile, the police of this fashionable suburb of New York City agreed to stand aside to give Murray Levine, the father, a free hand in the negotiations.

Levine waited behind drawn blinds in his $30,000 brown stucco house for word from the abductors, who were understood without formal confirmation to have demanded $60,000, a sum considered by friends to be beyond his immediate resources.

Believed in Danger

He was fond of "G-man" lore and at first there was belief an active mind might have led him into an adventure.

Found Under Stone

As Tilden was promising a stand-aside policy, Hubert Levine, acting for the kidnap intermediary, Louis Posner, broadcast from a New York City radio station a promise from the father, who is a New York lawyer with Fifth Avenue offices, that the kidnapers could "safely deal" with him.

Wants No Interference

Levine made the first public statement on the affair in a telephone call to the police.

DEALER IN JUNK IS FOUND DEAD

John Bennett Is Victim of Carbon Monoxide Poisoning

Newberry, Feb. 28—John Bennett, age about 65, dealer in junk, was found dead in his truck cab in his garage at Smithville, a mile north of Newberry on Sunday morning. Death was reported due to carbon monoxide poisoning, and is believed to be accidental. Bennett was not of an unhappy disposition, and there is believed to be no reason for taking his own life.

According to the story reported to the officers Bennett sent a boy for three gallons of gas on Saturday night, saying that he was going to charge the battery of his truck. He is believed to have started the motor in the closed garage and to have been overcome before he realized his danger.

John Bennett had been in this locality about ten years, coming here from Escanaba. His wife died about two years ago. He leaves two sons, William and Earl, neither of them at home, and a daughter, Mrs. George Roat of Kalkaska. One son is believed to be in Wisconsin and the other was last heard of at St. Ignace. Officers are attempting to locate them.

CLUB HEADED BY VILLEMURE

Tahquamenon Sportsman's Group Has Election Friday Night

Newberry, Feb. 28—Joseph Villemure was elected president of the Tahquamenon Sportsmen's club at the regular election held in the clubhouse at the Fairgrounds on Friday night. Charles Knutson, who has headed the club since its organization several years ago, stated that he was no longer able to continue. Other officers are: George Edwards, vice chairman; Larry Kujala, treasurer; Neil Tuori, former secretary, re-elected. Dr. Max Purdy was again elected as delegate to the Upper Peninsula convention. The club has closed a successful year. The report of the treasurer shows that the club took in a total of $752.52 with activities every month of the year. The hope of the club is to increase the activities and to increase the earnings to at least $1000. The club books show a membership of 210, which the new officials hope to raise to 300 the new year. George Edwards, who was cook for the club lunch meetings, reports the work too much for him and asked relief.

Two conservation officers were present and gave brief talks. District Supervisor Francis P. Furlong stated the department appreciated the cooperation of the club in conservation projects and asked their continued support. Assistant supervisor Joseph Stephens talked on the condition of the deer in the district, and reported that this has been a good year for feeding and that the deer were fat and healthy. The animals are able to walk on the crust of the snow in many places, making it possible for them to reach high browse, which is of vital importance for younger animals and assures another summer of growth for them. Charles Knutson, retiring president, in answering the conservation officers, promised the continued cooperation of the members and the club then voted their thanks to the department and a continued support.

The next meeting will be held tonight when the winners of the card tournament will be selected.

ROSS KIDNAPER HELD FOR TRIAL

Seadlund Prefers Death to Long Prison Term; Jury Is Opposed

Chicago, Feb. 28 (AP)—John Henry Seadlund today was ordered to trial in federal court March 14 after he had pleaded guilty to kidnaping Charles Ross, retired Chicago greeting card manufacturer whose body was found by federal agents in a cave in the desolate country near Spooner, Wis., Jan. 20.

Attorney Floyd E. Thompson, one of the court-appointed defense lawyers, told newspapermen Seadlund had advised his counsel he wished to get the trial over with and preferred death to a long prison term. He faces the possibility of the extreme penalty unless his attorney can prevent the selection of a jury. The Lindbergh law, under which Seadlund was indicted, provides the death sentence can be imposed only upon a jury's recommendation.

Thompson said outside of court he would object to selection of a jury. Judge John P. Barnes denied a motion by the defense to quash the indictment on the ground the Lindbergh law was unconstitutional and a plea of abatement questioning the grand jury's validity.

Baer's Polish Foe Will File Protest

Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 28 (AP)—Paul Damski, manager of Gunnar Barlund, Finnish fighter who meets Buddy Baer in Madison Square Garden Friday night, asserted here tonight that he would appear before the New York state boxing commission tomorrow to file a protest in advance of the fight.

BOY KIDNAPER IN NEW YORK; WANT $60,000

phone call to the press from his home, dictating this statement, later read in his behalf over the radio:

"My son, Peter Levine, has been missing since Thursday afternoon. I have made every effort to keep this from the public because of my desire to do everything I humanly can to meet the demands of those who may be holding my boy."

"The authorities, local and federal, have promised me that I am to be permitted to negotiate for and accomplish the return of my son without any interference on their part."

"Those who may be holding my boy can safely deal with me. I especially ask the newspapers to refrain from having their representatives telephone my home or congregate in the vicinity."

"Until I have a reasonable opportunity to work this out, I shall give no further information."

Zionist Leader
"I also by my friends and the public to leave my house and telephone alone. All people of decent sentiment will understand and respect my wishes."

The federal bureau of investigation pursued its inquiry into the case with customary silence, but made no secret of its interest.

Levine's practice has been mainly in business law and has not involved criminal cases. He is a leader in the Zionist movement in New Rochelle and opened his home last spring to a meeting of the league for Spanish Democracy, although he has not been active in that group.

Asked tonight about a prevalent rumor that he had offered to pay $30,000—half the ransom asked—Levine responded, as he did to all other questions:

"There is only one authentic report in this case and that is the statement I issued today."

Henry J. Graybill, principal of Peter's school, said the boy was last seen, so far as the school authorities could learn, at about 3:30 p. m., last Thursday when he left the school in the direction of a group of village stores, saying he had an errand there.

Miss Frances Corder, his teacher, said "Peter was an excellent student and a thoroughly normal boy. I noticed nothing amiss the last day he was in school."

This was the description broadcast: height, 4 feet 8; weight, 80 pounds; blue eyes; brown hair; light complexion; wearing corduroy knickerbockers, a red windbreaker with a hood, blue sweater and brown oxford. On the windbreaker was the picture of an Indian with the initials "C. W."

Spanish Insurgent Drive Is Thwarted

Hondaye, France, Feb. 28 (AP)—The Spanish government army reported today its artillery had thwarted isolated attempts by insurgent forces to straighten their lines on several fronts preparatory to a long-heralded offensive.

While the insurgent headquarters reported "all quiet," government communiques said their field guns beat back attempted attacks on the Jarama river front and at Cuesta de la Reina, north of Aranjuez, both in central Spain.

Government batteries in the Carabanchel sector on the Madrid front dispersed insurgent reinforcements advancing on the Extremadura road from Mostales toward Campamento advance posts.

(By The Associated Press)
London, Feb. 28—Britain and France are pushing secret diplomatic negotiations aimed at the possibility of enlisting Italian aid to safeguard Austrian independence.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, faced with truculent opposition in common, however, how far he could go along with the French demands for action to halt Nazi inroads in Austria.

As one step toward aiding Austria, the prime minister was believed anxious to bring Germany into line through a four power pact with France, Italy and Britain that would limit her central European ambitions.

Today Chamberlain told commons Britain could take no official actions under present conditions as no treaties were broken by the Berchtesgaden conference between Fuehrer Adolf Hitler and Austrian Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg.

May Recognize Ethiopia
It was as a result of that conference that Nazi ambitions to control Austria were intensified and today 80,000 Austrian Nazis were reported awaiting a call to action despite heavy troop reinforcements rushed by Schuschnigg to the Graz stronghold.

British concessions to Italy in the forthcoming friendship negotiations at Rome might, however, drive a wedge into the Rome-Berlin axis. Austria reported today that Premier Mussolini had given Schuschnigg his guarantee that Austria would remain independent.

One such British concession would likely be recognition of Italy's Ethiopian conquest, long a sore point in relations between the two countries. Four more nations agreed today to recognize the conquest and Belgium indicated she was ready to take the same step.

The Balkan entente's action ranged Greece, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Turkey alongside Germany, Switzerland, Austria, Hungary, Albania, Insurgent Spain, Japan, Manchukuo and Yemen.

Although British plans might be directed toward making Italian and German cooperation less close an official communique in Rome announced today that Hitler would visit Italy during the first two weeks of May as "Fuehrer and chancellor" and would be lodged in the royal palace.

William Hard Secretary
Dr. Frank said the committee would be divided into eight or twelve sub-divisions, each with a chairman, in order to distribute the work of sounding out sentiment in various sections of the nation.

A central agency, he added, would be set up, probably in Chicago, with which the regional committeemen can confer. The Central agency, he asserted, would use "experts" to get facts concerning the New Deal.

William Hard, assistant to John D. Hamilton, chairman of the party's national committee, was named full-time secretary of the program body.

The program committee Dr. Frank added, would finance itself.

"We are not to receive funds from the national committee," he declared.

Dr. Frank said it was the consensus of the committee that no report be made at this time. As to whether one would be issued prior to the November congressional elections, he said:

"I am not letting the question of 1938 or 1940 enter my mind. This committee has a job to do. Whether its report comes before or after the 1938 elections depends on whether the job is done."

Former Utilities Commissioner Dies At Home In Lansing

Lansing, Feb. 28 (AP)—James A. Bice, former chairman of the Michigan public utilities commission, died here today. He was 79 years old.

Bice was a member of the commission from 1927 until 1931, when he became its chief inspecting engineer. His long career in state service, which began in 1899, continued until his retirement a year ago because of ill health.

Bice's first connection with railroads and utilities was a job he obtained at the age of 15 in a railroad shop at Marquette.

Wickstrom was alone in the car at the time of the accident.

He was employed by the Michigan compensation commission. Total operating expenses of American Class 1 railways increased $151,000,000 above the 1934 total in 1935.

BRITISH HOUSE IS FOR HALIFAX

New Foreign Secretary Given Hearty Vote of Confidence

London, Feb. 28 (AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's choice of tall, angular Viscount Halifax as a foreign secretary succeeding Anthony Eden, tonight received a hearty vote of confidence in the house of commons.

Opposition attacks against the peer who is destined to play a leading role in Chamberlain's planned European peace negotiations were smothered under a vote of 226 to 99 in favor of the government.

The attack was on merely constitutional grounds since Halifax sits in the house of lords and therefore is not available to answer questions in commons.

Major Clement Attlee and other opposition leaders carelessly pointed out they had nothing against Halifax personally—except the fact he was wearing Chamberlain's colors and was not a member of commons.

Winston Churchill asked the opposition bluntly "What is the use of crying for the moon when you have the sun?" meaning Chamberlain is always available to answer for his own foreign policy.

He advocated, also, a "thorough overhauling" of the regular income tax structure "to discover its maximum revenue-producing efficiency under the law of diminishing returns."

Baruch said he was convinced legislation should be passed to put a "floor under wages and a ceiling over hours," but advised against giving a board power to fix differentials. He said such action should be taken by congress itself.

Sitting Shot Wins Last Home Tilt For Wisconsin, 34 to 32

Madison, Wis., Feb. 28 (AP)—Shooting the winning goal from a sitting position, Ernie Davis, guard, gave the University of Wisconsin a 34 to 32 victory over Indiana tonight in the final home basketball game of the season before a wildly cheering crowd of 8,500.

Trailing 24 to 28 with about two minutes of play remaining, Wisconsin tied the score at 28-28, 30-30, and again at 32-32 to set the stage for Davis' spectacular shot. Howard Powell, forward, and Byron Bell, center, previously had kept the score tied up despite a final spurt by Andrew and Ratcliff of Indiana.

Ernie Andres, guard, took scoring honors with 18 points on eight field goals and two free throws. Powell led the Wisconsin marksmen with 14 points on six field goals and two free throws.

Wisconsin had a 15 to 12 lead at the half. Indiana beat the Badgers earlier this season, 47 to 44.

Bluegills, 50 Cents Each, Confiscated

Coldwater, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—At 50 cents each, bluegills are expensive but when an angler pays this price for them and doesn't get a chance to eat the fish, they are downright extravagant.

The fish were biting which made everything lovely for Austin Bullock, of Union City, Sunday—until a conservation officer appeared on the scene. Accused of possessing 223 bluegills, far more than the legal limit, Bullock was taken to court and fined $106 after entering a plea of guilty. The fish were confiscated.

There are between 500 and 600 doctors in Hampstead, London, which has an estimated population of 90,000.

DEER PLENTIFUL IN NAHMA YARD

Local Sportsmen Report Seeing Large Herd in Winter Quarters

Over three hundred deer are now yarded up in swamps north of Nahma, it is estimated by Conservation Officer Allan Tweedy of Nahma who led a group of local sportsmen on a "gruesome hunt" into the deer areas Sunday. Those making the trip were Tom Lynott, Don Boyce, Stack Smith, Bob McIntyre and Bill MacClintch of Nahma.

Armed only with cameras, the hunting party entered the woods at Nahma Junction and went in along the road leading to the Deer Hunters Shindig camp at Polack Lake. Leaving the woods road, they went north along the tracks of the Nahma and Northern railway and then into the swamps on snowshoes.

The biggest one got away—proving that camera hunting is much like fishing—when the group came upon three deer only a few rods from the railway. The animals moved slowly through the deep snow, but they were fast enough to escape the lenses leveled at them. Although cameras were kept in hand for the rest of the excursion, the opportunity for a close-up shot did not repeat itself.

Dead Deer Found

Many deer were seen at a distance, however, and Officer Tweedy's estimate that the area of about 800 acres contains between 300 and 400 deer is based upon the number of deer seen and the deer trails found.

A dead deer, half eaten by its enemies, was found by members of the party who were attracted to it by an eagle soaring overhead. Tracks in the snow indicated that it had probably fallen prey to a coyote or cat, only a few days before.

The largest "bag" of the day was made by Officer Tweedy, who saw 25 deer. Other members of the party averaged between 15 and 20. Although handicapped by the short range of their "weapons", the camera hunters are enthusiastic about their new sport. "Best of all," they say, "it's open season the year around."

FORD RIVER NEWS

Birthday Party

Ford River, Mich.—The Harmony club of Ford River celebrated the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Carl Scheenman, held at her home Saturday afternoon. The afternoon was spent in playing the board game, prizes for which went to Mrs. John Haring, Mrs. Sophia Sodermark and Mrs. John Terns. Mrs. Hilmer Sodermark received a special prize.

Following the games, a luncheon was served. Mrs. Scheenman was presented with a gift of money by the members, and other gifts.

Farewell Party

A farewell party was given in honor of Alvert Pudvin of South Ford River at the home of Mrs. Paul Schrader. Those attending included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Norquist, Mrs. Hilmer Larson and Anna and Dorothy Larson.

Ladies' Aid Meets

The Ladies' Aid of St. Paul Lutheran church will meet Wednesday at the home of Mrs. George Cholger, Sr. Following the meeting, the Sunday school teachers will hold their regular meeting.

NINTH GRADERS GIVE OPERETTA

Glee Club Is Working on Chinese Comedy for Presentation Soon

As a project of two of the six glee clubs at the Junior high school the boys and girls ninth grade glee club is working on a Chinese comedy operetta entitled "The Tea House of Sing Lo," by Daniel Therore.

The two-act musical will be given April 29 under the direction of Miss Gertrude Lund, R. P. Bowers and Frank Karas as an evening performance at the Junior high school and also at a matinee Thursday, April 28.

The characters are involved in a Chinese tea house, the proprietor being Sing Lo, acted by Robert Craig. His two daughters are Sing Hi, played by Hazel Peterson and Ah Mee, portrayed by Linnea Sundwick. Bert McKee as an American traveling salesman, enacted by Robert Kelly. Mr. Maxwell, an American business man, is taken by Jack Moberg and his wife, by Jennelle Promer. Their daughter, June, will be played by Eileen Perow. The Chinese man of all work, No Fan, will be taken by Wallace Curran, and Captain Appletree, a vice-council, is played by Roy Ingalls.

Lois Gault will handle the art work necessary for the production and John Nicholas will construct the stage properties. Besides the principals in the cast, a colorful chorus consisting of the other glee club members will aid in lending a Chinese musical background.

Profit-Making Enterprises Of Church Assailed

Rev. Carl E. Berger, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, challenged his congregation in his Sunday sermon to adopt the plan of annual pledges from its membership as the sole method of financing its program for the year, which begins April 1. The plan would involve dispensing with all supplementary drives and all profit-making schemes such as bazaars, suppers and entertainments for which a ticket is purchased.

Taking as his text the words of Paul to the Corinthia church, "Upon the first day of the week let each one of you lay by him in store as he may prosper, that there be no collections when I come," the Rev. Mr. Berger severely criticized all other methods as unbefitting the dignity and integrity of the church.

He called attention to the fact that as tax exempt institutions churches were breaking faith with this arrangement of exemption and were thus under condemnation every time they engage in profit-making activities.

It was also pointed out that the church at large can not expect to gain the good will and hearty support of the community when they engage in these enterprises.

"If the church wishes to gain in influence and power it must learn to stand on its own," said the pastor in part. "The church should be known and characterized as a giving institution and a dispenser of blessing without expectation of reward. It must learn to gather its strength for these works of grace through its free will offerings gathered every week. Perhaps the most serious indictment against profit-making activities was the charge that they led to sheltering those who had denied their vows upon joining the church, thus contributing to undermining the very thing the church is trying to teach."

Rev. Berger reports that the officials of the church are very much interested in the plan and are contemplating taking further steps in support of it next Sunday when the laymen under the leadership of J. H. Ladd will "sell the church" to its constituency for another year. Mr. Ladd will take as his topic, "True Presbyterianism."

WELFARE BILL IS IMPORTANT

Referendum Vote Would Kill Opportunity to Aid Unfortunates

Special types of public assistance would be administered locally including old age assistance, aid to the blind, and aid to dependent children with the help of federal and state grants under provisions of laws now on the statute books in Michigan awaiting a referendum vote in November, 1938, James G. Bryant of the state welfare department said recently.

Recent statistics published by the federal Social Security Board show that twenty-three states with departments of public assistance or welfare are now administering these three general types of relief as well as general relief. One of the significant features of the Social Security Act, as pointed out continually by the federal board, is its requirement that the initiative for providing assistance be taken by the state. Unless the state plan is presented for the approval of the board no federal grant for assistance can be made. Such approval has been granted Michigan.

The board requires a strict accounting of funds spent, and quarterly reviews of actual operations. In order that more accurate reports may be secured giving a better analysis of the whole relief problem reporting procedure has been consolidated in a single federal agency consistent with the trend toward integrated state programs of public assistance.

Federal Funds Heavy

General relief, and the three mentioned special types of public assistance under the Social Security Act, however, does not, as often accepted, constitute the major revenue of public assistance in Michigan or the United States as a whole. Nearly two-thirds of the total amount of assistance to persons in need is administered by federal agencies from funds appropriated under the Emergency Relief Appropriation Acts of which the Works Progress Administration is one such agency.

The general purpose of the Works Program has been to provide security wages to employable persons in need who are unable to secure employment in private industry. This general purpose was expanded to provide employment and educational opportunities for young people as through the National Youth Administration and Civilian Conservation Corps employment.

The Works Progress Administration in October, 1937, alone gave employment to 1,400,000 persons earning $77,000,000.

The total number of cases of general relief in the United States, excepting the two territories, in October, 1937, was estimated at slightly under 1,300,000 persons while the estimated total amount of obligations incurred amounted to $32,000,000. In Michigan these cases amounted to 37,940 with obligations approaching $1,000,000.

Difficult to Secure

These estimated figures are difficult to secure due to the emphasized fact that all states—including Michigan—do not have a centralized accounting system reaching into the local communities.

To gain some workable estimate of the enormity of the welfare problem and its complexity the Social Security Board points out that in October, 1937, more than 1,500,000 households received one or more of the three special types of public assistance in the 48 states and territories of Alaska and Hawaii. More than 1,500,000 aged persons, 496,000 dependent children from 200,000 families, and 41,000 blind persons, were given aid.

It is pointed out as a matter of clarity that the number of households is less than the number of persons eligible for and receiving old age assistance or aid to the blind because in certain states a grant covers the need of two or more persons.

In the same manner the number of dependent children reported does not represent the total number of children in the 200,000 families but only those children who have been approved formally for aid to dependent children.

In a number of states grants are made on a family budget basis and the needs of the whole family as well as those of dependent children are considered when the amount of the monthly payment is decided.

Former Supervisor Seeks Office Again

Fayette, Mich.—The approaching Fairbanks township election gained impetus a few days ago, with the filing of the nominating petition of Martin Birk, as the head of the People's party ticket, for the office of supervisor. Mr. Birk formerly held this post for many years and it was only upon the urgent request of his many friends that he conceded to file his petition. He is one of Fairbanks township's leading citizens and is a farmer by occupation, thoroughly familiar with farming and agriculture.

Other candidates to file their petitions on the People's Party ticket are Martin Thill, the present township treasurer, who has filed his petition to be elected to the same office.

Judge Harold Beach, whose four year term of office expires this year, has filed his petition for re-election. In support of the People's Party ticket as justice of the peace, Frank Thill has filed his petition for the unexpired three year term, and Lee Mercier who has held the office of member of

BEAN RETURNS FROM CAPITAL

City Manager Testifies Before Committee on Parsons Measure

City manager George Bean has returned from Washington, D. C., where he testified before the house committee on the Parsons bill, which would divert a larger supply of water into the Chicago canal from Lake Michigan than is diverted at the present time.

Bean told committee members of the ill effects the city of Escanaba and surrounding territory would suffer were the Parsons bill approved. He told of the city's recreation plans within the next several years and how they would be affected by the Parsons bill, if passed.

Meetings of the committee on the bill are expected to be continued until late in the week. Approximately 15 congressmen are on the committee.

Bean went to Washington from Muskegon, where he had gone to attend the Michigan city manager's association convention. He originally had planned to fly to Washington but, because all planes were grounded at the time he was forced to take the train, cutting off time he had planned for the Muskegon meeting.

On his return trip, the city manager stopped at Milwaukee to confer with Eimer Krieger, assistant city planner of Milwaukee, who is working on a planning project for the city of Escanaba. Bean said that Krieger expects to have his work completed within several weeks and will be ready for consideration by the local council.

TRUCK LOADS ARE LIMITED

Restrictions Are Placed During Spring Break-Up on Roads

Annual load restrictions to protect Michigan highways against the depredations of the so-called spring break-up were clamped down upon the trunkline system this week by Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagener.

The commissioner put into effect statutory provisions requiring reduced truck loads between March 1 and May 31. Truckers must reduce their loads 25 percent on concrete pavements or pavements with a concrete base. On all other types of roads, the loads must be reduced 35 percent.

As an aid to truck operators in observing the restrictions, the state highway department for the second year has published a special map for their use during the restrictive period. Five types of highways are detailed on this map—concrete pavement and pavement with a concrete base; hard surface roads not having a concrete base; gravel roads, earth roads; and highways under construction.

For the first time, the map contains a table of maximum allowable truck axle loadings. The heaviest loads that are being permitted are 13,500 pounds compared with 18,000 pounds the rest of the year.

Commissioner Van Wagener announced that load restrictions this spring will again be removed on a selective basis. In other words, "rather than waiting to open up an entire area of the state, we will lift restrictions on individual routes as rapidly as frost conditions permit. This practice was started two years ago and it has been demonstrated that it is a fair and reasonable policy to follow," he said.

Historical Society Will Meet Friday

A meeting of persons interested in joining the Delta county historical society will be held in the lecture room of the Carnegie Public Library here Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The meeting has been called for the purpose of organizing a local chapter of the Michigan society. Chapman Smith was named temporary chairman at a meeting held several weeks ago but it is expected that permanent officers will be chosen Friday night.

The purpose of the organization of the local society is to gather data on the county to be compiled later into a pamphlet.

It's Good Advice

SPEAKERS at the meeting of the Michigan Merit System association in Lansing recently made it clear that the battle against the spoils system in government is not over with the mere passage of a civil service law.

Prof. James K. Pollock of the University of Michigan emphasized that "post-natal care is quite as important as the pre-natal care" for opposition to civil service dies.

The words of Mayor Fiorella H. LaGuardia of New York were also quite significant. The fiery mayor, who achieved a national reputation for his warfare against crooked politics in New York city, cautioned against making examinations too simple.

Predatory Control

UNDER the existing statute control of timber wolves and coyotes in Michigan is certain to become an expensive affair, according to Albert Stoll Jr., writing in the Detroit News.

A new bounty law on wolves and coyotes became effective July 1, 1937. It provided for the payment of $15 for male coyotes and wolves and $20 for females.

In providing appropriations for this act the Legislature set aside $75,000 for each fiscal year, $25,000 of which was to be expended in maintaining a small corps of experienced trapper-instructors working through county agricultural agents.

There were 37 timber wolves, 2,537 coyotes and 600 wildcats killed last year, the coyote showing a substantial increase over previous years.

A few years ago, the predatory animal control was in charge of the Bureau of Biological Survey, but a campaign by bounty trappers and sportsmen resulted in the substitution of the bounty system.

Mr. Stoll says that the present high cost of bounty trapping may be justified because of the saving of sheep and other livestock. However, there are some sheepmen, who would like a return of the Biological Survey.

Union Big Business

ONE phase of the wave of union organization that has been sweeping the country has largely escaped notice. That is the union business as a business.

It is getting to be a big one. A recent estimate was that during that year 1937 the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. took in and spent approximately $85,000,000, with about 70,000 people employed, mostly professional organizers and clerical help.

That means that simply as a business, unionism already has annual revenues greater than sales volume in the jewelry, typewriter, hat, or glove industries.

Many and many a "little business" isn't as big as that. There is a certain humor in watching organized labor, which has rallied for years to "big business," itself growing gradually into a big business of its own.

Idleness and Crime

THERE has long been a suspicion that idleness was no breeder of virtue. Especially when it was coupled with other old offenders—like bad companions and lack of proper home influence.

But now idleness marches to the head of the class as the chief reason for crime, ac-ording to Warden Lewis E. Lawes, of Sing Sing prison. Some years ago gambling headed the cause-of-crime list. Liquor came second and immorality third.

Warden Lawes blames the depression and points to the result. He said: "There are more first offenders getting into difficulty in tough times than when times are good. That's why the proportion of first offenders in prison is increasing lately."

The warden didn't add what he might have: that most of these first offenders would have been both honest and at liberty if they had been able to find jobs.

Trailers Increasing

ATTENDANCE reports at Michigan's state parks shows that the use of trailers by tourists is rapidly increasing. During 1937, the number of trailer camp permits, for instance, totaled 17,386.

The increasing use of trailers during the summer tourist season and the deer hunting period as well has been observed in the Upper Peninsula. Cognizant of the possibilities for boosting patronage from this class of vacationists, communities of this region are setting up accommodations for the trailerites.

JACOBSON'S CANDIDACY

(Ironwood Globe)

Arvid W. Jacobson of Houghton county, former school teacher who spent two years in a Finnish prison after being accused of acting as a spy for the Russian government in Finland, announces he will oppose Congressman Frank E. Hook for the twelfth district congressional nomination on the Democratic ticket.

Jacobson records his "whole-hearted support of President Roosevelt in his program to provide adequate relief for the needy and his endeavors to preserve and develop our natural resources." He also endorses "the efforts of the administration to guarantee equitable returns to the farmer for his labor and investments."

One is inclined to suspect that Jacobson has something else in mind—that he might win the nomination on a nationality basis. Jacobson is of Finnish parentage and Finnish is the predominant nationality in the twelfth district.

Unless Jacobson has more to offer than his nationality, it is probable that persons of Finnish extraction will not enthuse over his candidacy. They are too intelligent to permit nationality to be the deciding factor.

GOVERNMENT BY MIMEOGRAPH

(Chicago Journal of Commerce)

Those who fondly cherish the delusion that the propaganda machinery dedicated to selling Nazism and Fascism to anyone who will listen has no counterpart outside of Germany or Italy will be surprised to find that in pursuing the hot trail of abundance by restriction the New Deal has set up an organization of publicists never before equaled in our history.

Lawrence Sullivan not only describes our domestic propaganda ministry in his "Government by Mimeograph" in the March issue of The Atlantic Monthly, but goes into the theory behind it and its possible implications as they affect a free press and freedom of thought.

Having selected Secretary Wallace's theme that "a steadfast national allegiance to any fixed course, international or intermediate, also requires a certain degree of regimented opinion" as reflecting the views of the administration itself, the author points out that the President's committee on administrative management has called for a permanent central bureau of "information."

Three hundred general publicity writers at salaries ranging from $3,000 to $12,000 a year in every remote outpost from the Bonneville Dam to hamlets in the dust bowl augment the capacities of those who labor in the national capital. They inhabit the ship of state from stem to stern and from port to starboard; their "news releases" cover the land as the gentle rain from Heaven.

For fear that the reader may regard his article merely as one man's opinion, Mr. Sullivan becomes very specific; he describes chapter and verse, example and incident. He raises no question of the New Deal's right to any methods it wishes to employ. He merely points out what is happening.

Both Hitler and Mussolini found it urgently expedient to direct the mental processes of their people. They realized early in the game that along any other path lay eventual public awakening and resentment. As Mr. Sullivan further points out, the move toward "a regimented public opinion" in the United States already has progressed to name-calling and attempts to deny the press the right to criticize.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C. — Every indication points to the greatest armament race the world has ever seen. President Roosevelt's recent proposal for immediate enlargement of the army, navy, and air forces met a good reception on Capitol Hill, and is in line with what heads of other nations have been recommending over a period of time.

The natural barriers — the Atlantic Ocean on one side and the Pacific on the other — place the United States in a favorable position, but these thousands of miles of shore line also present a problem of defense. A well-equipped navy, sufficiently strong to give adequate protection to this continent is one of the best insurance policies against war that America can have.

To the pacifist it seems like a paradox that during two decades of the world's greatest effort toward peace, preparing for war has been a world program. And here two divergent schools of thought enter: strengthening lines of defense is not preparing for war is the contention of one group, while the other contends with equal sincerity that when machines of war are built they will be used.

The late Newton D. Baker was accused of being a pacifist when appointed Secretary of War by Woodrow Wilson. Baker said he was a pacifist in his prayers, a pacifist in that he believed that God made man for better things than that civilization should always be under the blight of the increasingly deadly destruction that war brings; that the real contribution to the pacifist sentiment lies in adequate, sane preparedness on the part of any free people to defend its liberties; and that peace would never come by merely wishing for it.

There is no doubt that all peace-loving nations of the world would like to find a solution to the problem of defense without the constantly increasing cost of maintaining armed forces, but finding such a solution appears to be impossible at the present time. Records show that it is not even possible to go from year to year on the same equipment basis, for devices of war are quickly outmoded and must be replaced with something more modern.

As an indication of how fast the armament race of the world is being run, sixty governments spent nearly four billion dollars in 1932 to advance their preparedness programs. In 1934 the figures went up to five billion and to eleven billion in 1936.

The nations are now spending four times more annually for national defense than they were spending prior to the World War, the one great event that brought about so much talk about and effort toward peace. The United States, Great Britain, Russia, France, Japan, Italy, and Germany were spending in 1936 and 1937 from 20 to 40 per cent of their national budgets for preparedness or national defense. Unfortunately, not one of the great powers is now able to meet its expenses without borrowing.

—EVER INCREASING COST—

This means that taxpayers are not only burdened with repaying the principal on loans, but must be taxed for many years to meet interest. Two years ago Great Britain started the world by announcing a gigantic rearmament program to cover a period of five years costing $7,500,000,000, to be financed mainly through loans. Ever since Hitler came into power in 1933, France has borrowed heavily to meet its military budget. The conquest of Ethiopia by Italy was on borrowed money. Germany has for several years been a heavy borrower for military purposes. This ever-advancing cost for national defense and for the prosecution of war is a grave concern of all nations.

The economic aspect is always affected by military expansion of the nations. When huge amounts are provided for war materials, the cost of coal, iron, steel, and copper rises. This gives opportunity for rise in prices of other commodities, and in the end nearly everything men and women need increases in price. Fixed salaries, being more difficult to increase, spread between income and necessary expenditures widens and the reserve of savings is drained to meet the difference. When the gap between income and outgo gets to an unbearable point, the demand for goods almost automatically stops and a crash is the inevitable result.

Economists are now pointing out that ever-expanding military budgets, giving room and reason for rising prices, may lead the world into another crash like that of 1929. It has been in the hope of avoiding such disasters that most of the nations have endeavored to reach an agreement as to how much each will spend annually for defense purposes. On more than one occasion such agreements have appeared possible, but one unwilling nation is sufficient to thwart any agreement among others. There can be no dispute that distrust is the underlying difficulty. With the American nations this lack of confidence has been reduced to a possible minimum.

Senators who usually complain about the northern cold of Washington winters are now grumbling about the sustained blast of hot air from the South.

A film actress will be given a $100,000-a-week contract if she consents to bob her hair. Just another girl whose hair will turn to silver.

Answers To Questions

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Escanaba Daily Press Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. Was Justice Sutherland, who lately retired from the Supreme Court bench, born in America? A. He was born in England but came to America when a child.

Q. How many Police Boys Clubs are there in Washington, D. C.? A. D. A. There are now five, with a membership of about 3300 boys. The first club was opened, February 22, 1934.

Q. How many pounds of salt does the average person consume in a year? S. H. A. It has been stated that the average person needs about 30 grains of salt, but takes 90 to 150 grains per day. Perhaps 100 grains per day is a fair average. There are approximately 7000 grains to one pound avoirdupois weight of salt, so the average would be some five or six pounds a year.

Q. Are there any statistics on the percentage of people in the United States who read newspapers, magazines, and books? W. K. Adults. Read by Professor Guy Thomas Buswell of the University of Chicago, the author finds that 91 per cent of the adult population read newspapers regularly, 41 per cent read magazines regularly, while 34 per cent read books.

Q. Who said that the Jews give value and the Christians want something for nothing? E. H. A. The quotation from George Bernard Shaw's St. Joan is as follows: "They make you pay; they deliver the goods. In my experience the men who want something for nothing are invariably Christians."

Q. When was the English house system adopted at Lawrenceville prep in New Jersey? J. H. A. The school was originally founded in 1810 and refounded in 1882 as an endowed school known as the Lawrenceville School on the John C. Green Foundation at which time the English house system was adopted.

Q. What is the origin of the word lumbago? C. R. A. It is from the Latin word lumbus meaning loin.

Q. When was the Grand National first run at Aintree? M. H. C. A. The Grand National Race at Aintree, England, was first run in 1839.

Q. What was the cross given to Florence Nightingale by Queen Victoria? J. S. M. A. It was the Cross of St. George, the patron saint of England. It is a Greek cross with arms all the same length and red in color.

Q. How many kinds of poisonous lizards are there? J. W. A. There are only two species of poisonous lizards, the Gila monster and the heloderma.

Q. Please give the recipe for a ski ball. C. L. S. A. Ski ball is made of sugar, a thick slice of lemon full of cloves, and very hot tea poured over both. The mixture is stirred

Q. What were the French spoliation claims? B. P. M. A. They were demands upon the United States Government by American merchants for losses of ships and cargoes between 1793 and 1800 at the hands of the French, whose chief excuse for the depredations was that the United States had violated its pledges to France under the Treaty of 1778. The Treaty of September 30, 1800, and by the Convention of April 30, 1803, France released the United States from certain treaty obligations, and in return was released from paying the merchants' claims. Between 1800 and 1885 about fifty bills to reimburse the claimants or their descendants came before Congress. Appropriations were twice voted, but were vetoed. In 1885 redress was obtained when the adjudication of the claims was given to the Court of Claims, and decisions were reached awarding some $4,800,000 to the petitioners.

New York Column

BY GEORGE ROSS

New York—When Garbo was last in New York, it remained for an unemployed chorus girl and her boyfriend to cash in on the publicized fact that she stopped at the St. Moritz. The girl, who looked enough like Garbo to pass for her double at a distance, arranged her hair like the Swedish siren, dressed herself accordingly, and checked in at the hotel.

Then her partner set up a telescope in the park across the street and focused it on her room. When he got the desired range, he tacked a sign on the instrument with large letters reading: AWAY WITH MARS, VENUS AND SATURN! SEE GARBO, THE GREAT-EST STAR OF THEM ALL IN PERSON AT THE ST. MORITZ.

The fair creature then proceeded to do her stuff. She paraded unconcernedly up and down the room, stepped to the window every minute on the minute, tried on hats, and every once in a while treated the boys to a thrill by removing a bit of raiment. The boy friend, meanwhile, did a rushing business, at 50 cents a peek, until a cop chased him.

The two often pass each other in the hall, ride in the same elevator, and, on occasion, smile to each other. Which is irony, itself. "Euthanasia," as your dictionary will tell you, means "painless death." Mr. Buck, of course, has made his reputation on the slogan, "Bring 'Em Back Alive!"

Honorable Job-seeker The following was received by a friend whose firm—a textile manufacturing company—advertised in a Chinese paper for a chemist.

"Dear Sirs:—I am Wang. It is for my personal benefit that I write for a position in your honorable firm. I have a flexible brain that will adapt itself to business, and in consequence bring good efforts to your honorable selves. My education was impressed upon me in the Pekin University in which place I graduated Number One. I can drive a typewriter with good noise, and my English is great. My references are of good, and should you hope to see me they will be read by you with great pleasure. My last job left itself from me, for a good reason that the large man has dead. It was on account of no fault of mine. So honorable sirs, what is it? If I can be of good use to you I will arrive on some date that you should guess."

Faithfully yours, "S. L. Wang."

Hawkshaw It happened on West 52nd street—the street of swing dens. A wrecking crew had just demolished an edifice preparatory to erecting a new one. One of the saloonatics stumbling by noted the building torn to its foundations and exclaimed: "Gee—what a party they must have had there last night!"

The Capital Parade

BY ALSOP AND KINTNER

Washington—A delicate effort is being made to tempt Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, back into the administration fold. For the past month, the baits of pay, patronage and flattery have been quietly but insistently dangled before the able leader of the court fight opposition.

From the moment of his first attack on the President's court bill, Senator Wheeler has been in the strictest New Deal Coventry. Probably no other outstanding Democrat has been so heartily detested at the White House. And the feeling of the White House has found expression in the usual fashion—by a firm starvation treatment for the Senator in such matters as projects for his state, jobs for his constituents and personal recognition.

Now all that is changed. An early sign, reported here, was the warmly friendly invitation to the Senator, to sit with Senator Attorney General Robert H. Jackson and Benjamin V. Cohen at the counsel table during argument of the electric bond and share case in the Supreme court.

The politeness might have been meaningless, however, since Senator Wheeler, as chief sponsor of the Holding Company act, has an obvious right to the honor. The real baits dangled before the senator have been more tangible.

POLITICAL EARTHWORMS

PAP, Patronage and Projects are the juicy worms and plump helgramites to bait hooks for politicians. Lately, these have been coming Senator Wheeler's way with a surprising frequency.

For example, the Works Progress Administration, the Public Works Administration, and other PAP sources have a system of telephoning congressional New Dealers the news of allocations in their districts before publicly announcing them. Thus, the senator or representative is able to wire the glorious word to his home newspapers, and take credit to himself as the giver of all good things.

From the instant of his first court-bill opposition, Senator Wheeler has been denied, the privilege of the tip-off telephone call. His colleague and enemy, Senator James E. Murray, has been allowed to appear as the PAP-bringer. And when the President was in Montana last summer, he took care to dramatize the situation by mentioning Murray as the real sponsor of all the great public works in the state.

THE BEAUTIFUL CHANGE

But now everything is different for Senator Wheeler. This last month, the WPA increased its enrollment in the Butte district by 1,000 David Niles, officially a WPA assistant administrator, but actually an under-cover man for the White House left-wing advisers, hastened to warn the senator of the additional cash for Montana before Murray was told of it. Word of other PAP has also come to him first.

In the matter of patronage, Senator Wheeler's suggestions have been promptly complied with. Although jobs are scarce now, he had only to drop a hint to the state WPA to get a good place for a needy supporter. And this in spite of the fact that, when jobs were passed out before, Senator Murray or Representative Jerry J. O'Connell, another bitter Wheeler enemy, invariably got them.

Most astonishing of all, the members of the White House circle arranging the New York dinner for Assistant Attorney General Jackson persistently endeavored to get Senator Wheeler to attend it. He was ill, and could not accept, but the telephone calls kept up all week.

These may seem small things, but they are of the very tissue of politics. By such things as these, the quotations of a man's stock on the political exchange are always determined.

THE MEANING OF IT ALL

It's undeniable that the effort to tempt Senator Wheeler back into the fold is in progress. The meaning of the effort is a more doubtful matter. The likelihood is that the effort originates not with the President, but with the group of his advisers represented by the men at the electric bond and share counsel table, Messrs. Cohen and Jackson.

With this shrewd and brilliant group of White House counselors, Senator Wheeler is in agreement on two significant points. He favors a drastic policy of railroad reorganization, and he is a leading anti-monopolist. Moreover, he might have a much larger importance for them.

Within the Democratic party, the lines are now being clearly drawn between such New Dealers as Mr. Jackson and more orthodox, less idealistic politicians. Senator Wheeler has great standing in the country. His court fight leadership has put him in a strategic position to move either left or right. The Left-Wingers would be less than realistic if they failed to try to bring such a man into their camp.

MATTERS NEAR

I like the parson's simple way of prayin' what he was to pray. It seems to me he don't reach out for ev'rything to pray about. But sort of sticks to his own town. And church, and sick old Mrs. Brown.

No, he ain't offerin' no plan to heaven how to fix Japan. Or run the world. With humble heart He's askin' how to run one part. To keep the people free of sin in this one town that he is in.

He's here to see one vineyard through. And that's what he's attendin' to. The widow Brown is rather low. That's what he wants the Lord to know. And I believe that matters near is what the Lord would like to hear.

It is unnecessary to recount the sad result in detail. Perhaps South could have made another trick, but, demoralized by what he saw across the table, he managed to win only one trick in addition to his two a-king combinations. In reply to the question as to who was more to blame, there is of course no doubt that South was the culprit throughout. In his own defense, South insists that North should have bid one no trump in response to his opening bid, instead of two clubs, because, he stated, "a bid of two shows a trick and a half."

Such a rigid requirement leaves absolutely no leeway to take care of freaks such as this hand. In my opinion, North has but one indicated reply to any bid that South may make, and that is the number of clubs needed to overcall. South's opening of one spade, North's overcall of two clubs and South's jump to three hearts were correct. North's bid of four clubs should have been a warning to South, and he should have simply bid four hearts to show two five-card majors.

North would advise his partner that he was not interested in either major with a response of five clubs, and this bid South should pass. Five clubs will be made if a heart or a diamond is opened. A spade or club opening should defeat the hand one trick.

Contract Problem

South is playing the contract at six hearts. Unfortunately none of the suits break well for him. However, by careful play, the contract can be made.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

Woman's charm can be like the filling of tea-sandwiches. Spread so thinly that it isn't slightly tempting to anyone with a real appetite.

You know that kind of woman—dozens of her, perhaps. A woman who sets out to be charming with a capital "C," to please all spreading sweetness and light.

You know her, for she is always smiling. Always delighted to see you, though you have a feeling that everything you say goes in one ear—and out a smile.

She talks to you with a pleasant set expression on her face, but keeps her eye out for someone else to draw into the circle of her charm.

The minute she sees you, without really looking, she begins to tell you how well you look, how smart, or the first compliment that pops into her head.

Her laugh is not hearty, but charming. Her eyes are admiring, but not "seeing."

Her talk is usually a breathless rush of words to fill the emptiness.

She is usually pretty in a fragile sort of way, never dynamic. She imagines that those who meet her say afterward, "What a charming woman. And often they do."

What, then, is wrong with the picture? Just that. She is a picture and not a person. You are never quite at ease with her, for her personality is all sweetness, with no solid foundation of truth.

Her compliments are so frequent that they have no meaning, meaningless once you have learned that it is lavished on everyone, without discrimination.

She has spread herself so thin-

AT THE DELFT

Samuel Goldwyn's long-awaited film version of "The Hurricane," the famous novel from the typewriters of Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall, who wrote "Mutiny on the Bounty," arrived at the Delft Theatre Sunday and proved well worth waiting for.

The high point of the picture is, of course, the amazing spectacle which gives the story its climax and its name, but the film does not depend upon this alone for its effectiveness. It has tender romance, a picturesque setting, powerful drama—in fact, every element of great motion picture entertainment.

"True Confession," directed by Wesley Ruggles from an adaptation of the famous French play, "Mon Crime," by Louis Verneuil and Georges Berr, is the chuckle-filled tale of a girl, the biggest natural liar that ever lived, who confessed to a murder which she hadn't committed just so that her struggling lawyer husband—a paragon of truthfulness—can defend her and get some publicity for himself.

Christianity's Crisis

Dorothy Thompson

Chancellor Schuschnigg's speech was heroic. With it he certainly risked his career, and possibly, his life. During the whole history of the Nazi revolution in Germany, not one individual in high office dared to take the stand that the Austrian Chancellor did on Thursday, February 24.

In the wave of "co-ordination" that swept over Germany in 1933, the heads of German states, the German bureaucracy, the German courts, the German press, were swept along as though by a mountain torrent. Socialists and democrats, capital and labor, science and art—all, all capitulated. Only at the doors of the Christian churches, Protestant and Catholic, was the wave opposed.

Only from a few Christian pulpits have come daring voices. The voice of the Protestant pastor, Otto Niemöller, of Berlin, now on trial before the Nazi courts.

And these voices were backed up three months ago by a most amazing document—the manifesto to Hitler of the chaplains of the German army, in which the Leader of the Reich was warned that his fight against Christianity was demoralizing the army, and dividing the German people from one end of the country to the other.

That document never appeared, of course, in Germany. But it was made available to the world by the German army, and the full text of it appeared in the New York Times. Curiously little attention was paid to it. But it was remarkable.

Now a dramatic struggle is going on in the Germanic world. The struggle is no longer as between democracy and dictatorship; as between the one-party state and the many-party state; no longer is it an issue whether or not Germany will have equality in Europe—the rest of Europe must ask whether Germany is to have dominance and control, not equality.

The issue in the Germanic world, precipitated by the events in Austria, is not even in the first line, the issue of Austrian independence. It is whether the Germanic world is to be Christian or pagan, whether the Church of Christ in Germany is to be a universal church, open to all men, and representing universal principles, or whether it is to be a mere instrument of German racialism.

It is not a small issue, but a fundamental one. For allied with it are all the fundamental questions: Is government to be based on law, or to be purely arbitrary? Is citizenship to be based on race, or on willingness to collaborate for the national welfare? Is justice to be "anything which serves Germany" or is it to take account of principles which have been written into western law for hundreds of years? Is the state to be the final moral arbiter, or not? Is the human being to be classed and categorized and treated by the state, according to the blood in his veins, or is he to be judged by his individual, personal behavior? Is man a human soul, or is he a creature damned and determined by his chromosomes? Is the German spirit to be one of conquest, or of reconciliation?

Schuschnigg, a German, speaking in Vienna, a German city, a city which ruled the Germanic world for a thousand years—the capital of the First Reich, of the Holy Roman Empire, says: Germany must be Christian.

Those were not his words on Thursday, but that is the basic implication of the fight for Austrian independence.

"An abyss separates Austria from Nazism," I quote again the words of Schuschnigg, not on Thursday, but stated early last month. "We know but one God. And that is not the State, or the Nation, or Race."

It is for that conception that Austria is fighting today. Fighting without weapons—what are the arms of six millions against six millions? Fighting without allies. That is what the world says. Fighting with wooden swords.

I remember that Hitler, whose sword in 1923, was of very rusty wood said, "If a people but desire Freedom, weapons will grow in their hands."

Austria's ally today is the conscience of the world. But perhaps it has gone permanently to sleep. If it has—what does her victory or her defeat matter?

Curiously, the struggle will determine, one way or another, the immediate fate of several million men and women of Jewish blood, in Austria and the surrounding states. The issue whether Germany is Christian or pagan will decide the fate of the Nuremberg Laws. Austria has no such laws, and as long as it is governed by Christian principles it cannot have them. The Christian philosophy, Catholic or Protestant, does not admit that the State can condemn a race irremediably to hell.

The Nazi program for Austria is clear. First, one disarms the country in its struggle for public opinion. (How much the Germans have learned from the allies in the

For Love of Polly

By RACHEL MACK

CAST OF CHARACTERS
POLLY CHELSEY; heroine; stranded in London when war breaks out.
JERRY WHITFIELD, hero; the Yankee who sees her through.
CABELL BANKS, privateer captain.

Yesterday, Banks finds his ship, the Gray Gull, and so Polly, Jerry and he sail for the States.

CHAPTER XXIII

The Gray Gull was crowding on sail now, for they were in open water. Polly stood quietly at the dark rail, wrapped in her sea cloak. By starlight, she could see three figures at the wheel. Jerry and Cabell and the old French pilot. It was the old man who held the wheel, for he knew the Channel Islands through which they must thread their way, knew like the features on his own face. Four times this ancient French sailor had been wounded in Napoleon's service, and he had thought to retire and enjoy his vegetable garden near Caen until Cabell Banks had persuaded him otherwise.

Now then Polly saw Jerry or Cabell raise a hooded lantern from deck and study the compass and charts, after which they would argue exhaustively. She knew that Cabell had no feeling of being a superior in command over Jerry. It was natural and proper for him to captain his own vessel but he made no pretense of being as good a seaman as Jerry Whitfield. Navigation and astronomy he knew, for he had learned them at Harvard, but concerning the things a skipper must know about sails he was not too well informed. They carried no second mate, but for "bosun" they were fortunate in having the Gray Gull's former boatswain, Bill Gill, a rough and reliable young giant from the Baltimore waterfront who knew his rigging and anchors as a woman knows her knitting needles and who could follow orders like a Spanish bull.

Tonight, however, the bosun's orders to the crew were muted. Sailors spoke to one another in quick rasping whispers that made Polly's flesh creep a little.

Cabell passed her as he was going below to his cabin. He was startled when she spoke to him.

"What are you doing here, Polly? Didn't Jerry tell you to go to bed?"

"No," Polly answered, "he didn't tell me anything. He's forgotten I'm alive, Cabell. . . . Not that I'm sulking about it, I'm too excited to sleep. Do you think the British will see us tonight, Cabell?"

"I'm sure they won't if they're as sleepy as I am. The old French pilot tells me he never knew the English to attack at night. By morning we'll be in the Atlantic. I can relieve Jerry later on. . . . Good night, sea bride! You're fetching in that coat. I can quote a verse of Horace in tribute, if you want me to."

"It would be wasted on me," Polly said. "My brother Dick's the only one that's studied Latin in my family."

"You're fond of him, aren't you? What's he like, Polly?"

"He's quiet and lame and he wants to study medicine. . . . Maybe Jerry told you why I came over here? It was to get money from my grandfather's estate so Dick could go to medical school. I'm going home without the money but with a husband. . . . Or will I get home, Cabell? What are the chances?"

"Frightened, Polly?"

"A little. The sea's so dark to-night. . . . The two long guns look important. Will we use them?"

"Not aggressively, because we carry no letter of marque. And not even defensively if we're out-classed. Jerry wouldn't run the risk of being raked, with you aboard."

"Just what will we do if we meet an English man-of-war?"

"Run for it."

"Of course. But if we can't out-sail them? Suppose they speak us?"

"We'd surrender and be boarded. There'd be some pretty formalities, after which we'd all be taken aboard Johnny Bull's ship. You'd be treated with courtesy. Jerry and I would be locked in a stinking hold with the crew."

"And what then, Cabell?"

"We'd cruise a while, and when Johnny Bull had taken another American vessel or two, or maybe a French one, the hold would be rather full and they'd take us to Portsmouth, a port we're off just about now, over there to northward."

"What's at Portsmouth?"

"The worst prison on God's earth Dartmoor. They built it for their French prisoners about six years ago. It's a rock tomb on a bleak moor where 10,000 men can be buried alive with no trouble at all. . . . But if you think I'll tell you tales about Dartmoor prison, you're mistaken, my girl!"

"You don't need to," Polly answered fiercely. "I've got imagination, haven't I? . . . Wait, don't go, Cabell! . . . Isn't there some place else they might confine Americans?"

"I hear the hulks aren't full yet."

"What are they?"

"Old ships without rigging, turned into prisons. There's a fleet of them near Chatham where the Medway joins the Thames. His Majesty's admirals don't consider a hulk properly used until the hammocks are touching. At night the ports are closed and the hatches grated down. Where 900 men get air to breathe at night on a well-filled hulk is one of the world's wonders. . . . But don't worry, Polly. What man has done, man can do. Your Jerry would come back to you out of Dartmoor or the hulks either. You had a sample of his talents when he left Ramsgate, hadn't you?"

"You're trying to pull the wool over my eyes," Polly said scornfully. "Men don't escape from Dartmoor or the hulks, I reckon."

"Who brought up this subject anyway?" asked Cabell, irritably. "I stopped to tell you you looked pretty standing there in your blown coat in the starlight, and this is the result! A catechism that sounds like Dante's Inferno. . . . Lord, I'm glad I'm not married to a woman!"

"Try a mermaid," Polly snapped. "Maybe she'd talk less. . . . Oh, I'm sorry I've been pesky, Cabell. You're kind and generous and we owe you so much. . . . Then she added simply, "It must be nice to have so much money, and a generous heart to match."

last war!) Pivotal places in the government are already in the hands of Nazis. The press of Austria must not be allowed to attack Nazism. The German press is under no such handicap vis-a-vis Austria. Already the Austrian Chancellor is under attack on the Nazi side of the border.

One gets a foothold, and then bores from within. (A communist tactic. How much the Nazis have learned from the communists!) That is the way the Nazis conquered Germany itself. Two seats in the cabinet were enough to start with.

One begins an anti-Semitic campaign. The Jews are the enemies! Thus one diverts attention. Already, in Vienna, a new anti-Semitic newspaper is on the street, to scare the children with pictures of the boyevan.

A communist menace suddenly rears its head. It is reported that revolutionary socialist pamphlets are being circulated in Austria. I would like to investigate the source of those pamphlets. Who burned the German Reichstag? Are we not familiar with the tactics of the agent provocateur? Why has there been no communist literature circulating in Austria until last week? Why does the German press begin to paint a bolshevist menace next door?

A Jewish menace and a bolshevist menace are necessary to establish a Nazi excuse for armed intervention. But the same trick cannot be pulled repeatedly, over and over. Or can it?

Austria is already lost to democracy. Two dictators together, from two neighboring countries, saw to that a long time ago. But it is not yet lost to certain very old Christian principles which have influenced the law of the world for centuries. And until it is lost, Germany is not wholly lost, either. Perhaps the German "Fuehrer" knows this. For it is curious how desperately afraid he has become of the circulation of ideas outside his own country. He wants England, now, to "control" its own journalists! Foreign correspondents sent to Berlin must be "accredited" by the German government. If they do not speak Nazi language they will be put out—unless their own governments will discipline them.

So powerful in arms. And so afraid of words?

WORK BEGUN ON WPA PROJECT

80 Men Are Assigned to Water Connection Program

Work was started yesterday on the largest WPA project undertaken here to date, a job employing 80 men for a period of about five months. A total of 15 blocks of water connections will be made on both sides of the city, tying up all dead ends in the community except two.

The project is estimated to cost $27,395, of which the federal government has allotted $21,289. The balance, $6,106, will be paid by the city of Manistique, and represents merely the cost of materials.

Eighty men were certified for the project and began work yesterday morning. It was anticipated that only 24 men would be appointed at the start but a full crew was made available.

The project is the 15th under WPA in the city, and is by far the largest to date. Many dead ends of water lines now exist in the city, resulting in inefficient service for many residential homes in those areas. Also, the city is forced to spend considerable money to keep those services flushed out, a condition made necessary by poor circulation.

It is anticipated that when the water line connections are completed, the city will save hundreds of dollars as a result, and the property owners and renters will have improved water service.

Two, four and six inch mains will be installed to connect the dead ends.

Streets included in the project, where dead ends now exist, are the following:

West Side
On Caribou, from Fifth to Third streets.

On Badger, from Second to Front streets.

On Wolf, from Mackinac to Houghton streets.

On Clark, from Delta to Alger streets.

On Elk, from Front to School-raft.

East Side
On Main street, from Pearl to Cedar.

On Steuben, from Washington to Park.

On Park, from existing end east to Cattaraugus.

On Potter, from Oak to Manistique.

On Main, from Lake street to the Terrace.

On Saginaw, from Garden to Arbutus.

On Arbutus, from Lake to Range.

On Manistique, from existing end east to Potter.

Mrs. Napoleon Dufore of Muskegon is visiting here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Robare and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paquette.

Mrs. Lester Hodge of Sault Ste. Marie spent the week-end here at the Robare and Paquette homes.

Old Manistique Resident Dies at Family Home on Oak Street

Mrs. Edward Hughson, 73, pioneer resident of Manistique for the past fifty years, passed away at her home on Oak street Saturday evening, Feb. 26, at 10:30 o'clock.

Death was due to complications following an illness of many years. Mrs. Hughson was born Anna McKelvey on December 6, 1864, in Sudbury, Ontario. She came to Manistique in the spring of 1888 and was married to Edward Hughson on November 27, 1888.

Mrs. Hughson was a member of the Methodist church, the Methodist Ladies' Aid, the Agnes Rebekah Lodge and a charter member of the Lady Maccabees.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Hughson is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Paul Huff, Huntsville, Ontario; and a brother, Joseph McKelvey, Sutton, West Ontario. Ten grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Methodist church with Rev. S. T. Bottrell officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery under the direction of Kefauver and Jackson.

Palbearers will be: Everett Cookson, Keith Bundy, William Turpin, Joseph Turpin, Hubert Norton and Andrew Knopp.

Former Resident Dies in Detroit

Mrs. O. W. Huffer left Saturday for Detroit called by the death of her brother, Charles McLeod.

Mr. McLeod was a former resident of Manistique having been employed here fifteen years ago as cashier at the Soo Line. His death occurred Friday and burial will take place today in Detroit. He had been employed as traffic manager for General Motors in Flint.

Laux And Anderson Attend Institute

Sheriff William Laux and Chief of Police Roy Anderson yesterday motored to Newberry, where they attended the instruction class for officers charged with the enforcement of the new driver's license law. Under the legislation, all motorists applying for drivers' licenses are given tests to determine their fitness to operate a motor vehicle.

No Wonder You Are Constipated!

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat, potatoes? No wonder you're constipated—due to lack of "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft, bulky mass in the bowels. It's this mass that helps your bowels move.

The common sense thing to do about it is to eat a natural laxative food. Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast will give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal-tonsic, vitamin B. Eat this crunchy toasted cereal every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Lundberg Funeral Services Today

Funeral services for Andrew Lundberg, who died Friday in Detroit, will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry DeSautel, 700 West Elk street, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, with Rev. Ernest Nelson officiating. Interment will be made in Fairview cemetery, under the direction of Sven Johnson.

Surviving are three children: Fred Lundberg and Othalia DeSautel, of Manistique; and Frank Lundberg, of Detroit. Eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren also survive.

He was born in 1863 in Bjurholm, Sweden, but resided in Manistique for the past 45 years. He left Manistique late last summer to spend the winter with his son, Frank.

IRON MOUNTAIN TEAM ON TOP

Visitors Roll Ahead in Elks Club Bowling Tournament

A crack five-man team from Iron Mountain and individual bowlers from Manistique, Marquette and Iron Mountain wreaked havoc with the records in the Upper Peninsula Elks bowling tournament at Manistique Saturday and Sunday. The Iron Mountain Elks, putting together games of 943, 1039 and 947 for a total of 2920 occupy first place in the five man event. Robert Haskins Member of Detroit Schoolmen's Chorus

Of interest to Gladstone residents is the following story in Monday's Marquette Mining Journal, concerning Robert Haskins of Detroit, former member of Gladstone high school faculty:

"Robert Haskins, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Haskins, 1508 Presque Isle avenue, is a member of the Detroit Schoolmen's chorus of 37 voices, which will sing on the program of the American Association of School Administrators convention in Atlantic City.

"The group left Detroit in a special car Saturday morning. Friends of Mr. Haskins will be interested in tuning in on the radio broadcast of the chorus which will sing from 6:45 to 7 o'clock tonight (E. S. T.) on a nationwide hookup through the Red network of the National Broadcasting company. Superintendent Cody will introduce the chorus.

"Originally the Schoolmen's chorus was scheduled for two appearances, but now has four engagements. The ensemble will sing in the vesper service Sunday night, and it is thought this will be broadcast over NBC. The Westminster choir also sings at the vesper service.

"The outstanding appearance of the chorus will be at the president's dinner Wednesday night for which more than 2,000 reservations have been made.

"Dean J. B. Edmonson, of the University of Michigan, has requested the chorus to appear at the Michigan breakfast on Tuesday morning. The chorus will return to Detroit by way of Washington.

"Mr. Haskins is a graduate of the Northern State Teachers college, and taught music four years at Gladstone previous to going to Detroit. His friends will be interested in tuning in at 5:45 o'clock tonight."

STOCK DEALINGS LACK INTEREST

Table with columns for Stock Market Averages, including Net change, Previous day, Month ago, Year ago, and 1938 high/low.

By FREDERICK GARDNER (Associated Press Financial Writer) New York, Feb. 28 (AP)—Lack of interest rather than selling pressure resulted in a generally lower drift of leading stocks in today's market.

The list slipped from the start and, at the worst, prices were off 1 to around 3 points. There were mild recovery periods, however, and extreme losses were reduced in a number of instances near the close.

Exceptional slowness of the dealings on the set-back contrasted with the relatively lively performance last week on a rising trend. The ticker tape frequently stood still and blocks of more than 200 shares were scarce.

Transfers amounted to 560,610 shares against 897,970 last Friday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .6 of a point at 45.5.

Brokers attributed the slip-up mainly to the lack of fresh news stimulation and to the fact that some traders stood aside for the theory the list was due for at least a temporary reaction because for three consecutive weeks it had advanced on average.

Speculative forces showed some disappointment that the long-awaited supreme court decision on the constitutionality of the utility holding company act was not forthcoming.

Business developments lacked sparkle and sentiment was mildly chilled by the official estimate of this week's steel mill operations, placing them at 29.3 percent of capacity, a drop of 1.1 points.

Wall Street seemed to be waiting for congress to indicate the direction it would take on the much-discussed tax laws and for trade to show signs that it would enjoy a seasonal-pickup.

The co-ordinated campaign of the automobile makers to rid dealers of their huge stocks of used cars aroused hope in some quarters but was hardly a buying stimulant for motor shares. Rails held declines to small fractions, on the whole, although a handicap for this group was seen in the delay of the interstate commerce commission in handing down a ruling on higher freight rates.

Bonds and commodities were listless, but there was some comeback in evidence in these departments at the finish. Wheat at Chicago was off 7-8 to 1 3-8 cents a bushel and corn down 1-8 to 3-8. Cotton rallied to close up 15 to 40 cents a bale.

DAY'S MARKETS IN BRIEF

New York, Feb. 28 (AP)—Stocks: Lower; leaders dip on light selling. Bonds: Easy; secondary rails lead mild decline. Curb: Down; metals, oils in supply. Foreign Exchange: Steady; pound slips. Cotton: Quiet; trade buying, hedge selling. Sugar: Improved; trade buying. Coffee: Uneven; Brazilian buying. Chicago: Wheat: Lower; improved crop prospects. Corn: Easy; Chicago receipts large. Cattle: Steady to weak. Hogs: 15 to 25 higher.

Declines Broad; Curb Is Weaker

New York, Feb. 28 (AP)—The curb market was weaker today, with broadening declines down the list. Exceeding the trend included a few mines, utilities, and specialties. Aluminum Co. of America was 2 3/4 lower at 81 1/2, and Aluminum, Ltd., was off 2 to 87. Sherman Williams dropped 2 3/4 to 57. Gulf Oil was down 2 1/2 to 40.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Feb. 28 (AP)—Continually improving domestic crop conditions, especially in the northwest, raised the Chicago wheat market down 1-8 cents today, with but light power shown to recover. Wheat: 1.00; 1.05; new stock dull, supplies liberal, demand very slow, track sales less than last week, medium to good 1.40 to 1.60 lb.; 8.75 to 9.15; 240 to 275 lb.; 8.50 to 9.15; 280 to 330 lb.; 8.60 to 8.85; good 3 1/2 to 5 1/2 lb. parking snow, 7.50 to 7.85; smooth butcher kinds up to 8.00; shippers' stock 2,000; estimated holdover 1,000.

TRADING HIGH IN BONDS ERRATIC

New York, Feb. 28 (AP)—The bond market dipped today in light trading. Secondary rails which had shown recent increases in expectation of higher rates, generally were lower today. A few utilities held up throughout and towards the close several normally active bonds recovered to show small gains. Volume was $4,886,400, only slightly higher than last Monday's inter-holiday total.

The foreign dollar list, generally showed improvement in central European issues. U. S. treasuries were mixed, but tended down.

Associated Press averages showed 20 rails down 4, the foreign bonds advanced .6, and the low yield, industrial and utility indices unchanged.

Losses of more than a point were scored by Pittsburgh 5, Youngstown & Ashtabula 5, down 6 1/2, at 115 1/2; Philadelphia Railway 4, down 4 1/2 at 16 1/2; Nickel Plate 4 1/2, down 5 1/2 at 74; Louisville & Nashville 3, down 2 at 78, and Norris & Essex 5, down 2 at 56.

Remington Rand 4 1/2 gained 1 point at 97.

OVERTIME TILT GOES TO ILLINOIS

Offensive Late in Game Turns Tables on Michigan, 36-32

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 28 (AP)—Illinois came from eight points behind with two and one-half minutes to go in the regular play-off game to deadlock Michigan and then scored six points in the overtime period to win a Big Ten basketball game here tonight, 36 to 32.

The Wolverines were ahead, 30 to 22, when Bill Hapac and Charles Phillips of the Illinois scored eight points in rapid succession, sending the game into an overtime after the score had been deadlocked five times in the second half.

Pick Dehner rebounded a basket to open the extra period and Tommy Nisbet followed with a push shot. A free throw by Nisbet and another by Hapac salted the game away for Illinois even though James Rae sank a field goal for Michigan.

Bill Hapac was the individual star of the game as he pushed in 15 points for Illinois. It was his shooting that put the spark in the lagging Illinois offense late in the game.

James Rae scored 13 points for the losers. Johnny Townsend, Wolverine captain, was held to two field goals and two free throws by Dehner, who changed his role from offense to defense tonight. He scored six points.

The defeat was the sixth loss in 11 starts for Michigan and the victory was the fourth win in 11 starts for Illinois.

SPILLING the DOPE

From Manistique comes a note: "What do we think? ... I think one of the best columns you've written is your copy in Saturday's paper ... but why not publish Morrison's ideas for conference taking place of tournaments?" ... to those of you who did not read Saturday's daily blurb, we would, in the way of an explanation, say that we ran a reprint of a column by Eddie Morrison, Manistique Pioneer-Tribune sports writer, who is opposed to high school basketball tournaments ... Morrison gave his reasons for outlawing tournaments which, boiled down, were based on the contention that favorites often get "bumped" by dark horses and the tournament strain is too much for high school boys ... in running Morrison's column, we pointed out a couple of items on the other side of the fence just for the sake of an argument.

In the latter paragraphs of Morrison's column, he advocated the establishment of leagues to compensate for the loss of tournaments ... because of the length of the article, we did not run that part of the column, our failure to do so eliciting the above note ... unfortunately, we do not have the rest of the column available for reprint now but, as we recall, it concerned itself mainly with the merits of a high school league ... we, too, can see the merits in the idea but believe they are outweighed by the demerits ... hence, we again are on the other side of the fence from Morrison.

LITTLE GIANTS IN TWO GAMES

Play Harris Wednesday and Cooks Quintet on Friday

Rock, Mich., Feb. 28—Coach Clifford Buckmaster's Rock high school cagers will wind up their regular season this week with two games, both on foreign courts. They will travel to Bark River Wednesday to play Harris and to Cooks Friday night.

The local mentor was pleased at the thrilling 29-27 victory which his charges won from St. Joseph at Escanaba last Friday night, being satisfied that they outplayed the Escanabans except for their inability to stop the shots of Russ Faber, St. Joe center, who was a head taller than any of the locals. Offensively, the boys were a bit off their stride, being unable to hit the hoop with their usual consistency on pot shots but they played well generally.

With a record of six victories and six defeats, the locals have an opportunity to end the season on the right side of the ledger by winning both games this week. They will find tough sledding in the Harris game, the latter school, under Coach Arne Nelmark, experiencing one of its best records in recent years. Harris, a class C school this year, lost in a close game to the locals on the Rock floor several weeks ago and is determined to avenge that defeat Wednesday night.

A victory over Cooks, a team new to recent Rock schedules, would give Rock an excellent opportunity to grab off one of the seeded positions in the class D tourney at Escanaba next week. The local record of 500 in its class ranks with all other teams except Treney and a victory Friday over Cooks undoubtedly would give the Little Giants the post in the bracket opposite from the strong Treney team.

GEDEON NEWEST CLEVELAND ACE

Ohio City Schools Give Michigan U. Several Fine Athletes

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 28—(Special)—Cleveland high schools are doing more than their share towards keeping Michigan at the top in Big Ten hurdling competition.

Lakewood last year gave Michigan its captain, Bob Osgood, who won the Big Ten 120-yard high hurdles (4:10 in the time accepted as an American record and which has been submitted for recognition as a world's record, 14 seconds flat. As a junior in the conference indoor meet Osgood set an American record for the 70-yard high hurdles, 08.6.

Both of Michigan's 1938 hurdlers, replacements for Osgood, are Cleveland products.

Elmer Gedeon, a graduate of Cleveland high, did not run as a sophomore last year but in his first collegiate competition equalled two of Osgood's dual meet marks in competition against Michigan State.

He ran the 55-yard high in :08.1, a tenth second short of Osgood's best time, made as a senior, and the lows in :07.3, equalling Osgood's best and only a tenth slower than the Field House mark of Jesse Owens.

Gedeon's hurdling mate is Stan Kelley, a sophomore product of Lakewood high, who broke all of Osgood's freshman records last year.

Rock And Harris Clash Wednesday At Bark River

The Harris high school basketball game will close its regular season play in a game with the Rock high school cagers at the community building in Bark River on Wednesday evening.

The main game will follow two preliminary games, the first of which is scheduled to begin at seven o'clock.

In addition to being the last game before the tournament, this game will be the last appearance before a local crowd of the following Harris players: L. Beauchamp, A. Motto, Nelson, Kleiman and Sharon.

PURDUE TAKES CHICAGO, 64-33

Win Puts Boilermakers Game and Half Ahead In Big Ten Race

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 28 (AP)—Purdue shot into a game and a half lead over Northwestern in the Big Ten basketball race tonight by crushing Chicago 64 to 33, while the Wildcats were losing to Ohio State.

It was "Jewell Young Night," the high scoring Boilermaker hitting 11 field goals and 7 free throws for 29 points. Young's rampage, staged mostly in the second half, tied the Big Ten record for individual scoring in one game held by him, Lew Dehner and Joe Relf, brought Young's season scoring total to 174—a new mark—and advanced his three-year conference record, set Saturday, to 455 points.

Purdue jumped into an early 24-8 lead, but had it cut to 29-13 at half time. Young had scored only nine points in the first half, but his mates fed him the ball repeatedly in the second. He missed a number of close-in shots despite his high total.

Lounsbury led the hapless Maroons with 13 points. A total of 28 personal fouls were called on Chicago, four Maroons left the game on personals and two others had three against them at the end.

Loaners Take Win Over Nahma Quint By Score Of 34-29

Nahma, Mich., Feb. 27—The Loaners of Escanaba, leaders in the city recreational league, won a hard fought game from the Nahma Brews here Sunday afternoon by a score of 34-29.

Three field goals and a free throw by Kaufman in a fast fourth quarter, characterized by superior passing and teamwork of the visitors, enabled the Escanabans to win the game. Gangstad led the visiting crew with 11 points and Ward of Nahma contributed a like amount. Frasher of Nahma counted 10 of his mates' points. Burnell of Escanaba was banished in the fourth period on fouls.

In a preliminary the Mormon Creek quintet won handily from the Granadas of Escanaba by the score of 33-22. Micheau was high scorer for the CCC with 13 points. Connelly had eight to lead the Granadas.

Head UCLA Coach Quits Next Year

Los Angeles, Feb. 28 (AP)—William Henry Spaulding, head football coach and athletic director at the University of California at Los Angeles for the past 13 years, announced tonight he would drop his coaching duties there after next season.

His announcement, which was confirmed by Dr. Robert Gordon Sprout, president of the University of California, said Spaulding will continue at U. C. L. A. as athletics director until he has reached the University's retirement age.

It was stated at the University that Spaulding's salary would remain unchanged for next season, which will be his thirty-second as a college head coach.

He began his coaching duties in 1907 at Western State teachers college at Kalamazoo, Mich., was at Minnesota from 1922 to 1924 and came to U. C. L. A. in 1925.

Bowler Hits 300 Score And Faints

Detroit, Feb. 28 (AP)—For years Lee Menzel of Trenton dreamed the bowler's favorite dream—rolling a perfect 300—and tonight, when he did it, he fainted.

Menzel, gathered 11 straight strikes, and as he stepped up to roll his twelfth ball, he was pale. When all ten pins fell, he fainted. Teammates revived Menzel and he returned to roll 185 and 210 for a 695.

Pro Accuses Colleges Of Grid Proselytizing

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—When a man bites a dog it's news and when professional football accuses college football of proselytizing pro gridmen—well, it's George Preston Marshall.

"I'm appealing," wailed the owner of the professional champions, the Redskins, "to the sportsmanship of college presidents to protect us from the commercialism of their institutions."

It was "Jewell Young Night," the high scoring Boilermaker hitting 11 field goals and 7 free throws for 29 points. Purdue jumped into an early 24-8 lead, but had it cut to 29-13 at half time. Young had scored only nine points in the first half, but his mates fed him the ball repeatedly in the second. He missed a number of close-in shots despite his high total.

Lounsbury led the hapless Maroons with 13 points. A total of 28 personal fouls were called on Chicago, four Maroons left the game on personals and two others had three against them at the end.

CHICAGO READY FOR KEGELERS

Chicago, Feb. 28 (AP)—Forty bright and shining alleys are ready and the first shipment of 15,000 sets of pins is stored away as Chicago awaits the opening Thursday night of the biggest American Bowling Congress tournament.

A record series of drives, erected in the ancient Coliseum, will receive their first punishment from Chicago and adjacent cities on the opening night of the marathon, and from then on for 48 days of competition there will be little rest for them.

While not the longest in point of time, the 38th annual American Bowling Congress tournament will be the biggest in number of entries in each division since the event was inaugurated in 1901. Almost without exception every sizeable city in the land will be represented during the seven weeks from the Hawaiian Islands will come one team setting the long-distance record for A. B. C. travel.

Chicago's central location is partly responsible for the record total of 17,436 singles entrants, 8,419 doubles teams, and 4,957 5-man teams. Entry fees of $297,300 make the 38th A. B. C. meet one of the nation's richest sporting events.

LINE COACH TO BE SELECTED

Blott and Slaughter on Inside Track for Michigan Post

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—University of Michigan athletic officials said today a line coach would be appointed within "a day or so."

Under consideration, it was learned from an authoritative source, are two former University of Michigan linemen, Jack Blott and Edith R. (Butch) Slaughter. Blott is now head coach at Wesleyan College, in Connecticut while Slaughter is line coach under Dr. Frank Murray at University of Virginia.

Both won all-American recognition in their playing days. The late Walter Camp named Blott center on his mythical team of 1923. He honored Slaughter with a guard berth the following year.

After a brief professional baseball career, Blott became assistant football, basketball and baseball coach at Michigan, serving for nine years. He was line coach for the deposed Harry G. Kipke when Michigan ruled the Western Conference from 1929 to 1934. He then resigned to go to Wesleyan.

Slaughter went to North Carolina State after graduation, remaining until 1930. He has been at Virginia since.

H'ville Plans For Cage Tournament; Entries Starting

Hermansville, Mich., Feb. 28—Entries have already started to come in for the Upper Peninsula and Northern Wisconsin Gold Medal Amateur basketball tournament which is to be held at the Hermansville community club, on March 17-18-19-20.

The tourney will be divided into two classes, A&B. Class A will be composed of the stronger amateur teams, while class B will be teams with records not so impressive and from smaller communities.

Sixty three medals and three trophies will be awarded in each class. Last year 18 teams entered in both classes, and this year, tournament officials are confident of equalling or bettering this record.

KEILMEN NEXT ESKYMO ENEMY

Gladstone Cagers Wind Up Local Season on Friday Night

Coach Eldon Kell will bring his small but speedy Gladstone high school cagers to Escanaba Friday night to help the Eskymos ring down the curtain on their regular 1937-38 season. The reserve teams of both schools will meet in a preliminary.

Kell, who has been coaching at Gladstone for more than a decade has turned out some of the strongest basketball teams in the Upper Peninsula. During that time, his cagers have had more success in defeating the Eskymos than any other Eskymo opponent. His teams never fail to provide the locals with plenty of opposition, even when they are defeated.

This year, Kell has a small crew but it makes up in speed what it lacks in height. In Gabe, the Gladstone mentor has one of the coolest guards in this part of the peninsula. In the first meeting of the season between Gladstone and Escanaba, Gabe, in addition to playing a fine defensive game, led his mates in scoring with nine points. Other members of the Gladstone lineup upon whom Kell depend are Gohert, Holm, Zervic, Sjoquist, Frank and Segan.

In that first game of the year, the Eskymos won only after making a 12 point rally in the final period after having a slim margin at the three quarters post.

Late Gopher Rally Beats Iowa, 30-29; Last Hawkeye Tilt

Iowa City, Ia., Feb. 28 (AP)—The University of Minnesota basketball team staged a thrilling late rally here tonight to defeat the University of Iowa, 30 to 29, in the Hawkeyes last game of the season.

The victory put the Gophers in second place ahead of Northwestern in the Big Ten standings, and a full game behind Purdue, which maintained its winning pace by drubbing Chicago, 64 to 33. The Gophers have won eight games and lost three and they will finish against Wisconsin at Minneapolis Saturday night.

Iowa concluded its schedule with an even break in 12 games. The Hawkeyes can get no worse than a tie for fifth place in the conference standings.

After trailing, 12 to 10 at the half, Iowa came back to go into the lead midway in the second period, but the Gophers tied it up at 27 to 27 with only three minutes left when Maki sneaked through for a shot underneath the basket.

Benny Stephens, Iowa forward who led the scoring with 15 points, was ousted from the game a minute later.

Shortly after Stephens' exit, Maki came through with a long shot to put the Gophers ahead, 29 to 27, and Kundla made it an even 30 when he cashed in on a charity toss.

The lead was just enough, as Erwin Prasse, Iowa guard, looped one through from past the center of the court in a vain effort to win for Iowa, shortly before the final gun.

SMELT GROUPS ARE SELECTED

Jamboree Already Given Much Valuable Publicity

Announcement was made yesterday of the appointment of an executive committee to direct the preparations for the Escanaba Smelt Jamboree, which will be held April 7 to 9.

The committee is as follows: Karl J. Hammar, general chairman; Wm. J. Duchaine, publicity; Harold Gessner, Frolles producer.

SMELT BROADCAST

Harold P. Lindsay, secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, will tell of the Escanaba Smelt Jamboree in an interview with Todd Hunter at the studios of Station WBBM 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night. This is the Kentucky Club program, sponsored by the Penn Tobacco company.

tion; T. J. Lynott, finance; George Frisbie, stream improvement; Martin Olson, banquet; E. J. Vinette, smelt procurement; E. E. Edick, hospitality; Wm. J. Miller, fiesta; Charles Larson, sports; and Roy Olson, treasurer.

The Escanaba Smelt Jamboree is already receiving nation-wide publicity.

Harold P. Lindsay, secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, described the smelt runs Sunday afternoon in a Station WBBM broadcast program from the Outdoor Life Show at the Navy Pier, Chicago.

Bert Clafin, outdoors editor of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, wrote a lengthy article for Sunday's edition of the Herald and Examiner, which has a circulation of several hundred thousands.

About Hundred Attend Kiwanis, Farmers Meeting

About one hundred Escanaba Kiwanians and Bark River farmers enjoyed a social get-together and discussed their mutual problems at the Bark River Community Hall last evening.

Mrs. Lillian Reynolds gave a highly interesting talk on her experiences during a vacation trip to Hawaii last fall. She told of pineapple and sugar cane farming on the Hawaiian islands, described a number of scenic attractions, and related other interesting observations.

The Harris high school orchestra furnished music during the banquet, which was served by the Bark River Ladies Aid. Two solos were sung by Rev. Carl Berger, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Escanaba, with Bill Lang furnishing the piano accompaniment. Humorous talks by Wladar Norby and Helmer Bruce produced many chuckles at the meeting.

Henry Newkirk of the Kiwanis club's agricultural committee presided as toastmaster.

LOCAL TRIO TO MEET UPBAYS

Debaters on Affirmative Side at Gladstone on Thursday

Coach Bertrand Henne, Escanaba high school debate coach, will return to the scene of his first conquests Thursday night when he takes his affirmative debaters to Gladstone to meet the Upbays, a team which he coached last year.

The debate will be the second in the elimination series, the locals having advanced by defeating Alpha on February 18, while Gladstone disposed of Kingsford on the same date.

The Gladstone team, which won the Upper Peninsula championship last year under Henne's guidance, is coached this year by Raymond Nadeau, who succeeded Henne when the latter resigned at Gladstone to assume his present position in Escanaba schools.

Members of the Gladstone team are Richard Johnston, Dean Slye and Agnes Dahlbeck.

The local team is composed of Lorraine Charlebois, Frank Bender, Allen Earle and Bob Bedoin as alternates. The debate will be held in Gladstone with Prof. Burney B. Bennett of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology serving as the lone critic judge.

Appointment of places in the series have been made by Forrest Roberts, the head of Upper Peninsula district of the state forensic association. The winner of the fray will be eligible for the finals to determine the Upper Peninsula champions.

KruGon the Only Medicine Able to Help in His Case

Suffered Twelve Years With General Run-Down Condition and Complications; Given New Health

"I certainly made no mistake when I decided on giving KruGon a fair trial in my case of so many years suffering," said Mr. Ivey Smith, 210 N.W. 10th St., Evansville, Indiana. "For twelve years I had tried various medicines with but very little help if any in my stubborn case. My entire system was in a general run-down condition and complications developed. It seemed that I took everything in the drug store that I thought would help me but all I ever received was complete failure and disappointment. But when KruGon was introduced I decided to try it, only hoping for another defeat, but to my surprise I found that it was the very medicine that I had been needing all these years.

"KruGon was indeed the wisest choice that I had ever made in spending $1.00," continued Mr. Smith. "I was soon put in the road to good and glorious health with every ailment put in the past. I have gained in weight and strength, have renewed pep and energy and cannot praise the KruGon action too highly. I will gladly answer all inquiries either by letter or by personal calls at my home. KruGon has done so much for me that I am in favor of letting the whole world know about it."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.

SWEDES MINT SPECIAL COIN

Hail 300th Anniversary of Founding of Colony Here

A set of stamps and a commemorative coin will be Sweden's contribution to the celebration in June of the 300th anniversary of Swedish settlements in the United States. The stamps are to be issued in March.

The commemorative coin, now available to collectors, is a two-ounce silver piece featuring on one side a profile portrait of King Gustaf. On the other side is a reproduction of the Kalmar Nyckel, one of the two ships used by the first Swedish colonial expedition. Above the ship is the Latin inscription "Sweden Remembers New Sweden."

The New Sweden Tercentenary celebration will be observed from June 27 to 30. A Swedish delegation, headed by Crown Princess Louise, will come to the United States and will be received on the spot where the colonists in 1638 first set foot on American soil. A monument, a gift of the people of Sweden, will be unveiled at the opening ceremony of the celebration.

Further information about the Swedish commemorative coin may be obtained from the Swedish American Tercentenary Association, 630 Fifth avenue, New York City.

William C. Foard, Former Marquette Resident, Is Dead

William C. Foard, 79 years of age, lifelong resident of Marquette, died at 10 a. m. Saturday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Albert E. Herron, Lakewood, Ohio.

Mr. Foard was born in Marquette July 10, 1859; and on July 2, 1884, he was married to Susan Wagner. Mr. Foard is survived by his wife; three daughters, Miss F. Foard and Mrs. A. E. Herron, of Lakewood, and Mrs. Martin Flanagan, of Marquette; one brother, Michael H. Foard, of Marquette; seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held in Lakewood, Ohio, Wednesday morning.

Mr. Foard attended the Marquette public schools and prior to his retirement a few years ago was state trespass agent for 31 years.

He was a charter member of the Marquette council, Knights of Columbus.

Bark River Priest Tells Lions About Mexico Trip

An interesting summary of a trip which he made to Mexico last winter in company with two other priests was given to the Escanaba Lions club last night by the Rev. Fr. D. J. Breault of Bark River, who was the main speaker at the regular club program. Perry Bergman was the chairman in charge of the program.

George Stewart, associated marketing specialist for the department of agriculture, was a guest of the club, and told briefly of the work of the department of agriculture in doing in this section to absorb the surplus potato crop. The surplus, large because of the good yield last season, is being purchased by the government to be distributed to relief clients. A staff of five is working out of his Escanaba office, Mr. Stewart said. It was announced that the March 14 meeting of the Escanaba Lions Club would be a joint meeting with the Menominee club at Menominee. Frank V. Burch, of Milwaukee, International president, will be the guest of honor, and most of the Escanaba club is planning to attend.

Old Luce County Resident Is Dead

Herman Shufelt, age 84 years, a pioneer resident of Luce county, passed away Thursday, Feb. 24, at his home near McMullan. Although in poor health for the past four years, he still retained an active interest in affairs of the community and of his farm.

He was among the early settlers of Luce county and was still living on the same farm that he had cleared many years ago. He was born Feb. 22, 1854, at Iron Hill, Quebec, Canada, the son of David and Polly Shufelt, whose maiden name was Polly Cook, and she was a lineal descendant of Francis Cook, one of the Pilgrim Fathers.

He came to the United States in his early youth and worked at lumbering the pine forests of Northern Michigan and Wisconsin. He was married in 1889 to Olive Barker who passed away nine years ago.

Four children survive him: Arthur Shufelt of Sault Ste. Marie, Mrs. Charles Smith of Seney, Mrs. Frank Whitmarsh of Strongsville, Mrs. Charles Kubond of McMullan; fourteen grandchildren and one great-grandchild; one sister, Mrs. Rachel McCrum of Ottawa, Canada, also a boy whom he raised to manhood, Harry Whitmarsh, who resides at Henry.

Of a kindly nature, Mr. Shufelt was known and loved by old and young. He served his township as highway commissioner for many years, also served as township treasurer and was a member of the school board for several years.

Funeral services were held at the McMullan Methodist Episcopal church Sunday with Rev. Stubbs officiating. Interment was made in the McMullan cemetery by the side of his wife.

HER CURTAINS ARE ALWAYS SO CLEAN

OF COURSE! SHE HEATS WITH FORD COKE!

Ford Coke contains less than 1/25 the smoke-and-soot-making elements of un-coked coal.

• Have a clean, healthful home this winter! Burn Ford Coke.

It's clean to handle, clean to burn. Double-screened at the plant and rescreened before delivery. Won't break and crumble in the bin, raising clouds of dust that sift through the house.

Ford Coke responds quickly and burns evenly. Gives lots of heat; needs little tending. Its cleanliness makes it tops for any furnace.

Ford Coke is the most economical clean fuel. It is manufactured up to Ford standards. Uniform month in and month out—every ton like every other. You know what you get when you buy Ford Coke.

NEW PLAN NOW SAVING MONEY

Economies Effected at City Gas Plant in Choice of Fuel

Introduction of a "back run" which reverses the flow of steam for a certain time in order to utilize it to its greatest possibilities, and making use of coal exclusively as a generator of gas at the gas plant has effected a savings to the city taxpayers of approximately $1,200 per year, city manager George Bean said yesterday.

The new system was installed early last week and is working out in excess of original expectations. Originally, half coke and half coal were used in this generation of gas but under the new system the plant is being operated by coal.

The city at present is purchasing coke at $9.30 per ton and coal at $6.00 per ton. It is estimated that approximately 30 tons of coke has been used per month. This will be replaced by coal, with the saving of approximately $100 per month. Under the new plan, the coal will generate as much gas as did the coke under the old system.

Some saving also may be made in the amount of oils consumed, Bean said.

Half Million Buy Duck Stamps In Michigan In 1936

Washington, D. C.—Michigan wildfowl had at least 577,579 honest enemies in 1936.

That is the number of hunters who bought federal migratory bird-hunting stamps, according to the bureau of biological survey.

How many poachers were duck-hunting without the federal tax stamps, the bureau declined to estimate.

Of the stamps sold in Michigan during the year, 571,196 went to residents, and 6,383 to non-residents, the bureau's report shows. Money returns from sale of these stamps in Michigan totaled $790,119.75 according to the report.

Sale of hunting licenses is particularly important this year, the bureau said, because the new federal-state wildlife act, approved by the president last September and effective July 1 next, authorizes federal aid to states for wildlife restoration projects on the basis of their size and number of hunting licenses sold.

Until actual schedules were put into effect over a definite route in Alaska, pilots were required to follow the example of the dog teams and stop and pick up mail wherever a flag was displayed.
