

MURPHY ASKS MILLIONS FOR RELIEF

PUMP PRIMING CLASH DENIED BY PRESIDENT

ROAD FUND SLICED; MESSAGE DRAFTED FOR CONGRESS

Washington, April 12 (AP)—A presidential conference with cabinet members and administration spenders led to widespread belief tonight that President Roosevelt would outline his future course in many fields, including foreign affairs, to congress and the nation Thursday.

Mr. Roosevelt summoned five cabinet members and the chiefs of his major spending agencies to the White House to discuss a special message to congress and a radio address. The message is scheduled definitely for Thursday, the radio talk tentatively for Thursday night.

More WPA Funds From a high administration official came word that the president would discuss a wide range of subjects, including international aspects. A recommendation that $1,250,000,000 be appropriated for WPA's work relief project is likely, and the president is expected generally to disclose his decision on additional expenditures to "prime the business pump."

There was some speculation that the chief executive might reply to critics who have urged him to reassure business by announcing a moratorium on "reform" legislation. The possibility that he might discuss the sidetracked wage-hour and government reorganization bills also was discussed by newsmen.

President Roosevelt had interrupted his work on new relief spending recommendations this afternoon to dine in cheerful but emphatic terms that he and Vice-President Garner had engaged in a "tiff" about "pump-priming" expenditures or anything else.

Radio Talk Thursday In answer to the questions of newspapermen, he said he had called Garner's attention to a published article saying the vice-president thought the administration should let business alone. Garner denied having given such an interview, the president added, and that was all there was to it.

Meanwhile, on Capitol Hill, some usually well informed legislators were inclined to doubt that Mr. Roosevelt would recommend "pump-priming"—that is, outlays for heavy public works, slums clearance and the like—in his coming message to congress on relief spending and the general economic situation.

The message, Mr. Roosevelt said at his press conference, positively would go to congress Thursday. He added he probably would follow it up with a radio address that evening.

Close friends of the vice-president have repeatedly described him as opposed to "pump-priming." Some were disposed to interpret Mr. Roosevelt's statement, that he and Garner had not disagreed on that subject, as meaning that no "pump-priming" recommendation would be made.

A new public works program definitely has been under consideration by the president, however, and its advocates continued to hope for his approval.

Bed Bugs Of Sing Sing Await Ruined Financier

BY J. NORMAN LODGE Ossining, N. Y., April 12. (AP)—Richard Whitney, until lately a symbol of integrity and power in the world of finance, dropped his name today to become convict No. 94835 in Sing Sing prison.

In a few quickly moving hours, the former broker who served as president of the New York stock exchange for five terms had been rushed from the old Tombs prison in New York city, taken aboard a train for Ossining, thence to the big state prison, stripped, bathed, questioned and given a suit of gray shoddy.

JAPANESE ARE IN TIGHT SPOT

Chinese Retake Chufu; Put Invaders on the Defensive

Shanghai, April 13 (Wednesday) (AP)—Foreign military observers believe the Japanese are in an extremely difficult military position in south Shantung province, where persistent Chinese counterattacks have put the Japanese on the defensive along the 150-mile battlefront.

Continuing their aggressive tactics, the Chinese said today they had retaken Chufu, birthplace of Confucius, on the Tientsin-Pukow railway. The Chinese said they had scaled the walls of Chufu and engaged the Japanese in hand-to-hand combat.

The Chinese said they occupied hills surrounding Yihsein, on a spur line east of the railway, in a night attack and were engaging the Japanese defenders of that city in a sanguinary battle. The center of fighting shifted to Yihsein, according to the Chinese, after they drove the Japanese from Talerchwang, 25 miles to the southeast.

Reinforcements by the thousands were being rushed into the Shantung war zone by the Japanese in an effort to repel the Chinese offensive and make possible the continuation of the Japanese campaign against Suchow and other strategic cities along the Lungal railway, transportation artery of central China. The Tientsin-Pukow line joins the Lungal at Suchow, about 60 miles southwest of Talerchwang.

DAVIS IS HEAD OF RED CROSS

Diplomat Is Appointed to Succeed Late Cary Grayson

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Norman H. Davis, 59-year-old diplomat of New York and Tennessee, received appointment from President Roosevelt today to be chairman of the American Red Cross.

Davis, who succeeds the late Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, accepted the appointment at a luncheon conference with the president and Secretary of State Hull.

He will direct the Red Cross without moving permanently from his home in New York City to Washington, national headquarters of the relief society, and he will still be available to the government for important diplomatic missions abroad.

Davis, widely known as the United States ambassador-at-large to Europe, was an assistant secretary of the treasury and undersecretary of state in the latter days of the second Wilson administration.

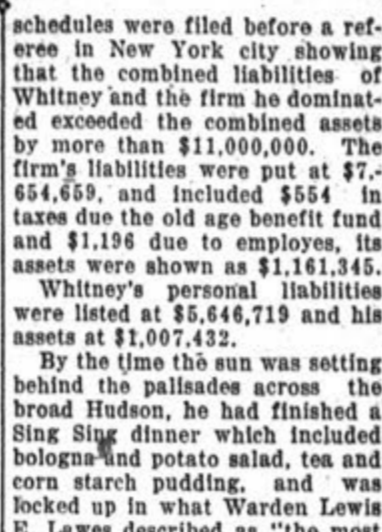

Baby Loses His Hair In Home Explosion

Goodrich, Mich., April 12 (AP)—Except for the loss of his hair, thirteen-month-old Myer Withy, Jr., escaped uninjured when he was thrown against a wall by the force of an explosion at his parents' home today. The boy's mother, Mrs. Florence Withy, was putting oil into a stove when the explosion occurred. She suffered minor burns.

DROWNS IN RIVER

Trenton, Mich., April 12 (AP)—Harley Gossett, 18, of Wyandotte, drowned here this afternoon while swimming with two companions in the Detroit river. Gossett, whose father lives at Lancaster, O., was seized with cramps and went down in nearly 15 feet of water. The body was recovered.

Convict 94835

Former power in the world of finance, Richard Whitney yesterday stepped into Sing Sing prison to become convict No. 94835 and began serving a 5 to 10 year sentence for grand larceny. The ruled Wall street broker's liabilities are said to exceed his assets by more than $11,000,000.

HUGE MAJORITY GIVEN DALADIER

Deputies Approve Plan to Govern France by Cabinet Decree

Paris, April 13 (Wednesday) (AP)—The chamber of deputies by a vote of 508 to 12 today approved Premier Edouard Daladier's request for power to govern France by cabinet decree for three months.

The bill was presented to parliament yesterday as an emergency measure to enable the new government to cope with troublesome financial and labor problems and was approved shortly after midnight.

The vote was the second huge majority the chamber had given Daladier in 24 hours. The premier declined, however, to make it a question of confidence. The bill now goes to the senate.

Last night the chamber gave the premier a 576-to-five vote of confidence, while the senate greeted his outline of policy with almost unanimous applause.

Financial Markets Close Good Friday

New York, April 12 (AP)—Important financial markets through out the world began preparations today for one to four days closings in connection with Easter-tide.

Both in the United States and abroad Good Friday is to be a universal holiday for leading exchange and commodity futures markets including those in New York, Chicago, New Orleans, London, Liverpool, Paris and the chief Canadian centers.

Governor Lined Up For Three Speeches

Lansing, April 12 (AP)—Edward J. Fry, chairman of the Democratic State Central committee, today announced three speaking addresses by Governor Murphy next week.

First National Bank Of Detroit Payoff Will Be 35 Million

Washington, April 12. (AP)—Marshall E. Diggs, acting comptroller of the currency, announced today a $35,000,000 payoff to approximately 145,000 depositors in the former First National Bank of Detroit.

Diggs indicated the payoff would begin in six to nine weeks, or as soon as B. C. Schram, receiver for the closed bank, could set up machinery for the payoff. He indicated that Schram would borrow $19,000,000 from existing banks and would add this sum to $16,000,000 in cash which the receivership has on hand.

Diggs, in authorizing the payoff, rejected a proposal of Hugh J. Ferry and a group of large depositors for the formation of a liquidating corporation to take over remaining assets of the receivership. There has been no payoff since 1934, when $84,000,000 was distributed.

SPENCER SET FREE BY JURY IN SOO DEATH

WIXOM MAN FOUND NOT GUILTY OF CAMP MURDER

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., April 12 (AP)—A jury in Ontario supreme court, deliberating hardly two hours, tonight acquitted Vernon Spencer, Michigan dairy farmer and former major league baseball player, of murdering Miss Helen Grier, his hunting companion last fall.

The 12 men jurors, admonished by Justice C. P. McTague before they received the case late today that "I could never reconcile my conscience to conviction on the type of evidence offered here," reported their decision to an applauding court room crowd at 7:55 p. m. (EST).

SHOW GOES ON, DESPITE STRIKE

Ringling Employees Picket Madison Garden; Want Outdoor Wages

New York, April 12. (AP)—With a great flourish of trumpets, "the greatest show on earth"—the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus—went on tonight despite a last-minute strike that sprouted picket lines around Madison Square Garden.

Just 45 minutes before the scheduled beginning of the evening performance members of the American Federation of Actors (A.F.A.) employed in technical positions and as roustabouts and the like struck for higher pay.

They demanded the same wage scale for their work in the Garden as they are paid under canvas—a $60 a month minimum above subsistence—instead of a $49 minimum.

John Ringling North, the young executive head of the big show, accused the union of violating a contract provision calling for a 10-day period of arbitration before any strike.

He contended the circus always had paid lower wages for indoor work as compared with wages under the big top.

The performance was some 25 minutes late in getting under way and the grand opening parade was held without elephants or horses, the reason being that the roustabouts were not on hand to make ready.

Pershing To Attend His Son's Wedding

Tucson, Ariz., April 12 (AP)—General John J. Pershing, described as in a "greatly improved" condition, made plans tonight to leave Sunday for New York City to be a guest at his son's wedding April 22.

Although Dr. Roland Davison, his physician, declined to admit he had given his consent, the 77-year-old soldier made arrangements to leave on a special railroad car.

General Pershing has been recovering from a heart ailment that almost claimed his life. His son, Warren, will be married to Miss Muriel Bache Richards at St. Thomas' church, New York.

Wrecked Honeymoon Bridge Disappears

Niagara Falls, N. Y., April 12 (AP)—The ice jam that destroyed famed "Honeymoon Bridge" last January broke up today, and the wreckage of the span sank in the deep waters of the Niagara river.

One last section that had clung tenaciously to the Canadian shore as the icy carpet on which the wreckage rested for three months was dissipated by a spring thaw, eventually was torn loose and carried a half mile downstream before sinking.

Two Ore Carriers Make Open Water In Lake Superior

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 12 (AP)—The Philip D. Block and the Joseph Block, ore carriers owned by the Inland Steel Co. of Chicago, were reported in open water near Whitefish point today after battering their way through Whitefish bay ice.

The coast guard cutter Ossipee returned to her base here tonight after smashing a trail for the ore carriers.

Whitefish point coast guardsmen said the vessels would have no difficulty getting through scattered ice fields off the point.

River craft and wintered steamers saluted the two boats as they went through the Sault locks at 8:30 a. m. today, the first vessels to clear this season.

It was exactly one year ago, almost to the hour, that the steamer Algecon opened the 1937 season.

Italy Seals Pact With Britain To Avert Major War In Europe

London, April 12 (AP)—Italy virtually has sealed in advance a British-Italian friendship pact which diplomats said tonight "might avert an otherwise inevitable major war within two years."

Premier Mussolini did this by promising a welcome to British War Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha who is to arrive in Rome April 22 to round out the new alignment.

Great Britain's cabinet was expected to give final approval tomorrow to the pact designed to avert radically the course of world diplomacy and reduce European tension. The achievement is to be signed Saturday.

When Hore-Belisha reaches Rome it will be the first time in nearly three years that a British cabinet minister has visited Italy.

Mussolini's promise of a welcome came as a quick response to Britain's pledge yesterday to work through the League of Nations for recognition of Italy's two-year-old conquest of Ethiopia.

Reliable sources said it was essential for Britain to seal British-Italian cooperation to Mussolini before Reichsfuehrer Hitler visits Rome in May.

Gladstone Harbor Big Enough, Army Engineers Report

Washington, April 12 (AP)—The board of army engineers submitted to congress today unfavorable reports on the proposed rebuilding of the outer portion of an existing breakwater at Gladstone harbor, Mich., and extending it for 125 feet, contending present facilities were ample for "all prospective needs."

FORD EXTORTION ATTEMPT BARED

Federal Jury Indicts Man Who Wrote Magnate for $10,000

Detroit, April 12. (AP)—An indictment charging Wesley Earl Gray, 22, with attempting to extort $10,000 from Henry and Edsel Ford was returned here today by a federal grand jury.

Federal bureau of investigation agents said Gray gave himself up at San Angelo, Texas March 28 after he had been sought for five months.

Government agents claim he wrote a letter to the wealthy automobile magnate and his son last November 6, which read: "President Ford Motors. Dear Messrs. Fords, Edsel and Henry. If you can afford one hundred thousand dollars for a broadcast, and not get it, you can afford to stay alive and healthy. Send $5,000 in five and twenty dollars to Earl Jones, care of general delivery. If you tell police or don't send it by Thursday, Nov. 9, your lives and families are lost worth a plug nickel. Will tell you when to send rest."

IGOE LEADING ILLINOIS RACE

Horner - Backed Entrant Ahead for Chicago Judgeship

Chicago, April 12 (AP)—Michael L. Igoe, spearhead of the Kelly-Nash faction, maintained a lead over Scott W. Lucas, the Horner organization's entrant, in the contest for the Democratic senatorial nomination tonight.

As returns from the nation's first primary election accumulated, Igoe predicted he would win by 50,000 to 75,000 votes over the candidate backed by Governor Henry Horner in the center ring fight for supremacy in Illinois Democratic ranks.

Horner, sowedly out to "smash the machine" headed by Mayor Edward J. Kelly and National Committee P. A. Nash, contended, however, it was "too early to make any statement about the outcome."

Igoe enjoyed a three to two advantage in Cook county (Chicago) although Lucas compiled a two to one margin in the downstate districts, where he expected to make his greatest show of strength.

Both Igoe, U. S. district attorney at Chicago and veteran of 16 years in the state legislature, and Lucas, serving his second term in congress from the corn belt area in the central part of the state, campaigned under the New Deal banner.

With 3,281 of the state's 8,256 precincts reported, Igoe had 363,483 votes to 290,131 for Lucas.

In three of the four other major state-wide contests, the Horner favorites forced into leads.

In Cook county's outstanding test, the Horner-backed entrant, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, maintained a steady lead over the Kelly-Nash candidate, Circuit Judge John Prystalski, in the race for the county judgeship—an office of paramount importance since the election machinery is under its jurisdiction.

LOAN IS MADE FOR MICHIGAN WELFARE USE

DRASTIC ECONOMIES NEEDED IN STATE EXPENSES

Lansing, April 12 (AP)—Armed with another million-dollar "loan" from 1938-39 appropriations to combat the state's welfare problem, Governor Murphy today coupled announcement of a "drastic" economy program with a call for the "little legislature" to provide him with another $1,000,000 welfare "prop."

He called the so-called "little legislature" or state emergency appropriations commission, to meet with him April 27 and consider appropriating $1,000,000 of the state's $1,500,000 emergency fund for prompt welfare use.

No Special Session His call, he indicated, is being made "instead of calling a special legislative session to provide new revenues.

Although the state administrative board lifted hearts on welfare today with the emergency allocation of $1,000,000, the governor indicated the funds for the relief "crisis" must be offset by stringent reductions of ordinary state expenditures.

Acting on the theory that the federal government will help those who first help themselves, the governor promised "drastic" economies with the start of the fiscal year, July 1.

The board drew $1,000,000 from general funds appropriated for next year and turned it over to the emergency relief commission for immediate use. It has already drawn $3,000,000 in advance. At the same time, the governor ordered a call for the state emergency appropriations commission to meet and hear a plea for an emergency grant of another $1,000,000.

Revenues Down Murphy said Michigan's relief load was mounting and that revenues were down $8,000,000. Reiterating that no new taxes are to be considered in the emergency, he said some state services may be curtailed and some eliminated in an effort to bring the budget near the balance.

He promised, however, to use salary reductions only "as a last resort" and to avoid undermining "standards" of state government.

Leaving today for a speaking engagement at Wichita, Kan., the governor said he would fly to Washington Wednesday night to seek federal relief for Michigan's unemployment problem and to confer with federal officials concerning the administration's proposed relief program. He reiterated that the state needs a program of direct grants or a work relief plan to supplement the WPA.

MORE GRADE SEPARATIONS Lansing, April 12 (AP)—The state administrative board released $455,000 to the highway department today, to permit completion of a grade separation program and the start of an aerial survey of 53 out-state counties.

The grade separation allocations, totalling $454,700, will complete the department's 1935 and 1936 programs. The projects and the estimated cost of each follows:

Marquette county—Grading approaches to Lake Superior and Ishpeming railroad grade separation on US-41 east of Carlsend, $51,700.

Mackinac county—Grade separation and approaches with the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railroad on US-2 east of Gould City, $127,000.

Allegan county—Grade separations and approaches with the Pennsylvania railroad on US-131 four miles south of Wayland, $83,000.

Isabella county—Grade approaches to Ann Arbor railroad grade separation on M-20 relocation. (Continued on Page Two)

STRAITS BRIDGE FIGHT RENEWED

Brown and Luecke See Chance Under New Works Program

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Senator Brown and Representative Luecke, Michigan Democrats, revived today their fight for a $32,000,000 bridge to span the Straits of Mackinac.

Discussion of a possible new $150,000,000 "pump priming" public works program, prompted them to seek an exact survey of the proposed bridge site and detailed plans for bridge construction.

Brown wrote Governor Frank Murphy and Murray D. Van Wagner, Michigan highway commissioner, urging the survey be undertaken. Luecke said he was sending similar letters to the two officials and was writing to the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau and several city chambers of commerce, seeking support.

"Michigan was caught napping when the last PWA money was spent without our getting the bridge," Luecke said. "We should be ready this time with full details to place before federal engineers."

SPENCER SET FREE BY JURY IN SOO DEATH

A court attaché rapped for order. Justice McTague then made his remarks to the jurors.

Ontario law provides for all-male juries.

Signs of strain left Spencer's face at the verdict, he arose in the prisoner's box at Justice McTague's bidding.

"I have no sermon to deliver to you, Spencer, at all—a time-honored custom which I do not follow," Justice McTague said.

"As an American citizen, I hope you realize that our juries here are still giving British justice. That term needs no further explanation. You will now be discharged from custody."

Returns With Wife
A verdict of guilty as charged would have meant death by hanging for the defendant.

In his charge to the jury, during which he spoke an hour and 15 minutes, Justice McTague said there were only two possible verdicts—"guilty or innocent of murder."

"It feels good to be a free man again," Spencer said as he left the prisoner's box.

The former athlete, flushing as he spoke in a choked voice, said of Justice McTague's reference to British justice:

"I will say that it is certainly fair."

His wife, who wore a fur coat, black dress, and black hat, came up to him quietly. They exchanged words in low tones, and left the court room together.

They planned to return to their Wikom, Mich., farm tomorrow.

Spencer had been in custody since Oct. 23, last, the day after Miss Grier's body was found. The two had made hunting trips to the northwoods in previous years.

The trial, lasting six days, was one of the longest criminal trials in Sault court history.

3 TOWERMEN NOW ON DUTY

Fire Conditions Very Hazardous; Warning Is Issued

Three towermen were added to the fire fighting personnel of the conservation department in this district yesterday. It was learned from Clara Farwell, district supervisor.

Farwell issued a warning to residents of this district that extreme caution should be used at all times in order to prevent fires. He said fire conditions are very hazardous at the present time, especially in the plains and open places.

No fires may be started without written permit from the department and authorities will enforce the law strictly, Farwell said.

The towermen who went on duty yesterday were Myles Proberg at Flat Rock, Leslie Vickery at Stephenson and Guy Ohman at Spalding. Previously, several wardens were added to the staff and more will be assigned to duty as conditions warrant.

Marquette Prison Recovery Barracks Gets $25,000 Fund

Lansing, April 12 (AP)—The state administrative board released $25,000 today to establish a "recovery camp" at the Marquette branch prison, to house youthful first offenders.

The camp will be set up on a 300-acre tract outside prison walls where, Correction Director Hilmer Gellein said, the young trustees would be shielded from contact with hardened criminals.

Facilities will be provided for work and study.

The board also made available $8,500 to finance construction of a store building at the girls' training school, Adrian, and allocated $32,387 for construction of a sewage treatment plant at the Ionia reformatory, subject to approval of the project by the WPA.

be appropriated for the generally lighter work relief projects of the Works Progress Administration is expected by all hands. Opposition forces, frankly seeing little prospect of rejecting such a proposal, are concentrating on a fight to earmark the sum or most of it for use for definite purposes.

On the subject of unemployment and relief, John L. Lewis told a meeting of CIO leaders today that the administration must find a "realistic remedy" and apply it at once. He said that "wasteful thinking needs to be replaced by well planned action"; that jobs in private industry "can be created under the leadership of the federal government, if it will start the creation of purchasing power." He added:

"The CIO and the unemployed do not want leaf-raking jobs. They want houses, slum clearance, schools, hospitals, flood control, and sound recreation."

Mr. Roosevelt declined to say at his press conference whether his recommendations would include appropriations for "pump-priming," advising questioners to wait and see.

"Call Off Cowboys"
The conference began with a question about his reported "lif" with Garner, a subject that Washington has been talking about excitedly since yesterday. All he knew of it, Mr. Roosevelt said, was what he had seen in the papers.

A reporter said there had been several versions of it, one most widely told being that Garner had told him he should let the cattle eat the grass, call off the cowboys, and quit harrrying the cattle man place to place.

Mr. Roosevelt said the story was made of whole cloth. He went on to say he had asked the vice-president if the latter had seen an article along this line, and that Garner had replied in the affirmative and with an assertion that he had nothing to do with it. Mr. Roosevelt said Garner added however, that he did not go around to the newspapers issuing denials.

"Did the vice-president differ with you on pump-priming?" A reporter asked.

Mr. Roosevelt replied with an abrupt negative.

"Did he tell you to give the cattle a chance to fatten?"

Another negative.

"Did he tell anyone else?"

The president replied that Garner said he had not done so, and that he, Mr. Roosevelt, believed him fully.

HIGHWAY WORK NEEDED

Washington, April 12 (AP)—President Roosevelt will be belated and possibly temporary victory today in the campaign he began last winter for reductions in highway appropriations to help balance the budget.

The house appropriations committee, approving a $797,785,516 appropriation for the agriculture department for the fiscal year starting July 1, included $100,000,000 for roads—only enough to finance the current highway program until congress reconvenes in January.

But Chairman Cartwright (D-Okla.) of the house roads committee immediately began an effort to have the fund increased to more than $200,000,000, the approximate amount congress has authorized annually for many years.

"I expect that almost the full amount will be contained in the bill when it passes the house," Cartwright said. "The bureau of roads has informed me that it needs $101,500,000 more than the $100,000,000 the bill carries to meet the obligations for which it already has contracted."

Farm Benefits Provided
Since President Roosevelt urged curtailment of highway spending in a message to congress on November 29, business has been in a slump and he now is considering a huge new "pump priming" program of public works. In view of that, some legislators said, it was likely the house would restore the road appropriation to its normal level.

For the agriculture department as a whole, the house committee recommended $73,975,684 less than the current year's appropriation and $10,431,398 less than the budget bureau recommended. Augmented by automatic appropriations, the total available for the department under the committee's recommendations would be $951,039,580.

The bill the committee laid before the house includes $485,000,000 for benefit payments to farmers and administration of the new farm act; $100,000,000 for roads; $8,000,000 for control of Bang's disease and tuberculosis among cattle; $23,525,000 for the long-established soil conservation service; $6,550,000 for the farm credit administration; $18,614,112 for the forest service; $48,000,000 for benefit payments to sugar producers; and $14,000,000 for the extension service.

Oldest State Prison Employee Replaced

Ionia (AP)—Warden Garrett Heys of the state reformatory at Ionia, announced Tuesday that Deputy Edward Haight would be removed from his position April 16 and retained in an advisory capacity. Haight, the oldest prison employe in the state, will be succeeded by William H. Bannan, chairman of the Ionia county Democratic committee, who was appointed last year as chief prison clerk.

State Political Gossip

Governor Murphy Settles Another Strike

BY W. A. MARKLAND
Lansing, Mich.—Friends and foes get comfort out of the fact that Gov. Murphy came back to Michigan this week to land right in the midst of more labor difficulties.

It took the Governor about nine hours to avert the threat of an immediate power strike and that, say his friends, is something to boast about. They believe the circumstance has served to add to his prestige.

Political enemies of the Governor are pointing out that when workers of the Consumers Power Co. struck a year ago, the Governor was out of the state and that when the emergency arose last week he again was out of the state.

"That isn't anything to boast about," they say. "And in the first place we wouldn't be having such labor troubles if Murphy hadn't coddled the unions."

The Governor has a flair for the dramatic, or it is his fortune to have things happen dramatically. It is true that last week all of Michigan was waiting for the Governor to return and take charge in the threatened power strike. Each side of the controversy and the people at large expected him to do something about it when he arrived, and he did. No one was surprised when the announcement came that there had been at least a temporary adjustment of difficulties and that there would be no strike.

Numbers of appeals, some of them from large business firms, were coming to the Governor this week asking him to intervene in Detroit's DSR strike. There was no possibility that he would do so in the absence of a formal request from Detroit City officials.

Maybe they were wrong, but newspapermen could not avoid the suspicion that the Governor was getting some small measure of satisfaction out of the fact that here was one major difficulty that for the moment, at least, was none of his concern. There was no questioning the fact that the Governor was intensely interested in seeing what other public officials would do to meet a troublesome situation similar to those which so often have beset him.

FITZGERALD PREPARES FOR HARD CAMPAIGN
Physically fit after three months under the Florida sun, looking better than he has since he became governor in 1935, former Gov. Frank Fitzgerald was at home in Grand Lodge this week preparing to begin his campaign for the Republican nomination for Governor.

He begins his work next week with a "speechless" tour which is to take him into every county in the State. He will be in Benton Harbor Monday, in Cass and St. Joseph counties Tuesday and in Kalamazoo later in the week. He will open his active speaking campaign in July.

"The basic plank of my platform will be 'The Record,'" Fitzgerald said, meaning the record of his own Administration.

On the wall of his beautifully furnished office in Grand Lodge still hangs a picture inscribed: "From your staunch and sincere friend, Harry S. Toy." The "Governor" apparently doesn't let a little political difference now and then influence his art display.

Beginning at the left the No. 1 picture is of former Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck, who so belatedly and unsuccessfully opposed Fitzgerald for the Republican nomination in 1934 and who is on record as a supporter of Toy. There, too, hangs the picture of William A. Comstock, Democrat. Fitzgerald never neglects an opportunity to claim Bill Comstock as his friend. There, too, hangs a picture of Theodore I. Fry, State treasurer and Democrat.

Fitzgerald exudes confidence. He discounts all suggestions that Toy has been making headway. He thinks Toy started campaigning too early. He thinks it is too early for anybody to start campaigning, even now.

"This will not have to be a campaign of promise," he said. "There is proof in the record of my administration that the budget was balanced, that no new taxes were required, that labor was given fair treatment and that the State government was conducted in an efficient and economical manner."

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE GETS A BAD START
The Michigan Anti-Saloon League got off to a bad start in its campaign to dry up large areas of the state in local option elections. The fact that the "test vote" in Branch County, believed to be dry territory, went nearly two to one against the league is not so significant as the fact that the effort made by the dry leaders was nothing that anyone wants to boast about.

Following the Branch County election it was immediately apparent that the league has some "organizing" to do within its own ranks before it can hope to step out and organize counties for a dry vote. This is admitted by Luren D. Dickinson, of Charlotte, president of the league.

"We have learned something about ourselves that may be helpful," Dickinson said. "We have made mistakes that will have to be corrected."

The Branch County election revealed that the league cannot now lay claim to being a completely efficient and businesslike organization. It succeeded in antagonizing and discouraging the local dry leaders. If any complete and proper accounting of the funds it raised in Branch County has been made, it could not be ascertained from D. L. McBride, of Lansing, the Michigan superintendent.

Two organizers, working out of the State headquarters, went into the county to set up an organization and solicit funds. The local leaders charged that they did nothing but solicit funds. They further charge that not a dime collected over was turned over to the local committee to be used in the campaign.

McBride said that no funds were turned over to State headquarters, that the money was turned over to the local committee.

These two statements indicate, at least, that something went wrong somewhere.

McBride explained that the workers from his headquarters are employed on a salary basis and that when they go into a county to solicit funds they are "on their own." They are supposed to collect their salaries and if they collect anything in excess of that, turn it into the county campaign fund.

It is entirely possible that the workers in Branch County didn't succeed in collecting their salaries.

In any event the local dry leaders might be pardoned a certain curiosity as to just how much money was collected in their own front yard and as to whom it was collected from.

WELSH STILL STRONG IN GRAND RAPIDS
George W. Welsh, by his jump from the Republican to the Democratic party and his subsequent dissatisfaction with the results, may have lost much of the statewide political following he once commanded, but he still is tops in his home town.

Twenty thousand of his fellow citizens went to the polls last Monday and made him mayor of Grand Rapids, giving him an 8,000-vote majority over his opponent.

It is not unusual for a candidate for office to win an election while losing his home city and even his home precinct. Welsh, in his attempts to win State office, has lost a number of elections, but he never loses Grand Rapids. His homecoming rally at the Grand Rapids Civic Auditorium in 1936, when he contested with Gov. Murphy for the Democratic nomination for Governor, was easily the largest and most enthusiastic indoor meeting of the campaign.

Good Friday Will Be Observed Here By Retail Stores

Stores in Escanaba will close from 12:30 noon until 3 p. m. on April 15 in observance of Good Friday.

This is in accordance with the closing schedule adopted some time ago by the retail merchants division of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

The "fair-haired boy" who used to be lieutenant-governor and speaker of the House, has quite a hold on the home town folks, despite the fact that he always has militant opposition there. He has carried the city running as a Republican, he has carried it running as a Democrat, and now he has carried it decisively running as a non-partisan.

Being the non-partisan mayor of Grand Rapids is certain to save Welsh from some embarrassment in this year's political campaigns. There are those who would like to know if Welsh is still a New Deal Democrat, which is doubtful, or if he has reverted to Republicanism, which also is doubtful. Under the circumstances it will be Welsh's business, and his pleasure, to be non-partisan.

DOUBT MAY TAX SALE WILL BE HALTED
Despite the fact that the Governor acknowledged "emergency" conditions and said that a study would be made to determine if something should be done about preventing the May 3 tax sale, Lansing expects no special session of the Legislature for that purpose. It is generally conceded that the only way the sale could be stopped would be by a special session. Auditor-General George T. Gundry's reply to the Governor's request for a report on the situation is expected to convince the Governor that the sale should be held, if he ever had any idea to the contrary.

It is doubtful that the Legislature would accede to a request for postponement of the sale, even if a special session were called. The House might be induced to approve, but it would be difficult to get the necessary votes in the Senate. In the regular session the legislative leaders were convinced that the time had come to put an end to moratoriums, extensions and special dispensations if the people ever were to be expected to resume regular payment of taxes on real property. It is considered unlikely that anything has developed which would change their minds.

It is not too early to announce that there will be a bill for the legalization of betting on dog races in the next regular session of the Legislature. The sponsor, as usual, will be Floyd Fitzsimmons, Benton Harbor sports promoter. Fitzsimmons began his campaign for that bill in 1927. Always he has been defeated, but he goes on ever hopeful, even confident, making friends where he can find them and speaking evil of no man who ever opposed him.

"Are you working on a bill for 1939 now?" Fitzsimmons was asked this week.

"I have never stopped," he replied.

CAN'T STOP SALE
Lansing, April 12 (AP)—Attorney General Raymond W. Starr said today that state officials are powerless to halt the May 3 tax sale.

Property owners will have 18 months to redeem their property after the sale, however, and he expressed the opinion the time was ample for the legislature "to take such steps as it may deem proper to afford adequate relief."

The attorney general's views were contained in a letter to Circuit Judge Arthur Webster of Wayne county. The letter also rebuked Wayne Prosecutor Dudley C. McCrea for seeking to substitute a role in legal proceedings connected with the sale.

The opinion may serve as an answer to Governor Murphy, who ordered a study of possible methods for the relief of home-owners whose property is scheduled to go on the block. Murphy sought legal counsel in an effort to determine whether a special session of the legislature would be necessary to afford relief.

McCrea contended the duties of a prosecutor to charitable trusts under his control were in conflict with duties connected with the tax sale. His petition said many charitable trusts in Wayne county held tax-delinquent property.

Starr's opinion was: "Until the legislature amends or repeals the tax law and postpones or cancels the tax sale public officers have no discretion and must proceed with their duties in connection with the sale."

LAKE DIVERSION ARGUMENTS END

Chicago Steal Opponents Predict House Defeat of Parsons Bill

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Foes of diverting Lake Michigan water concluded arguments today on what R. P. Malla, Milwaukee, Wis., secretary of the Great Lakes Harbor association, termed "Chicago's sure to fail struggle to continue its abstraction of great lakes water to the detriment of our port cities and navigation interests."

Confidants the house Rivers and Harbors committee would defeat the bill was expressed by Malla after opposition witnesses, including L. C. Sabin, vice president of the lake carriers' association, argued against the parsons bill.

This measure seeks to continue diverting 5,000 cubic feet of water a second at Chicago. The supreme court has ruled the diversion must be limited to 1,500 second feet December 31, next.

Herbert H. Naujoks, Chicago, special assistant to the attorneys general of the Lake States, asserted there was no merit to contentions of the bill's advocates that the 1930 rivers and harbors act contained an implied agreement for continuing the present diversion until the Illinois waterway was completed.

Michigan has one thirty-second of America's 241,822 miles of Class I main line railroad track.

Great Opera Basso, Feodor Chaliapin, Stricken In Paris

Paris, April 12 (AP)—Feodor Chaliapin, whose great basso voice raised him from obscure poverty to world renown, died today. He was 65 years old.

The great opera stages of the world revered him, but he remained the tempestuous, unaffected personality of his youth when he was the shoeless, hungry son of a Russian peasant.

Chaliapin went to the United States in 1906 to sing at the Metropolitan, but not until his return to New York 16 years later was his art acclaimed.

He was regarded not only as a superb singer, but also as a great singing actor and his genius made him one of the highest paid operatic stars in the world.

Chaliapin died in his beautiful Paris apartment after a two weeks illness of kidney ailments which became complicated with anemia.

Hantramck Bakery Damaged By Bomb
Detroit, April 12 (AP)—A bomb exploded under the hood of a truck parked in front of the new Hantramck bakery Tuesday, wrecking the truck and shattering windows in the bakery and in a grocery store across the street.

Frank Zochowski, owner of the truck and proprietor of the bakery, told police that two men had warned him to cut prices on his bread.

TEACHERS SIGN '39 CONTRACTS

Escanaba School Board Hears Program by Music Groups

Teacher contracts for 1938-39 were approved by the Escanaba board of education at their meeting last night. Three teacher resignations were received, all taking effect June 10. Those affected are: Inga Doris Johnson, Franklin school kindergarten; Mildred Rodgers, Franklin second grade; Marion Ibrig, Webster sixth grade.

A contract was given to Lillian Thompson, graduate of the Superior, Wis., State Teachers' college, who will join the elementary department at Escanaba. She was formerly instructor in the demonstration school at Superior, and was supervisor of schools in Burnett county, Wisconsin, for several years.

Details were discussed for the school election June 13, for which registration will begin Saturday, May 14. For the first time, voters may use an absentee ballot in the school election this year if they are not in the city on election day.

A contribution of $160 was received from the Kiwanis club for the milk fund, representing the profits of their recent play.

Preceding the business session, the board attended a program presented by the music department, which demonstrated the progress of musical instruction in the various grades of the local schools.

West To Stage Regional Fests At Frisco Expo

San Francisco.—All sections of the West will join in staging a series of regional celebrations in 1939 to make a Western "Fiesta Year" during the Golden Gate International Exposition on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay.

This was the word brought here by Ted Huggins, chairman of the Promotion committee of the Western World's Fair, who attended a conference in Portland, where the Northwestern states and British Columbia discussed plans for their part in the 1939 western travel stimulation program.

More Advertising
"Besides announcing an increase in community advertising appropriations for the Exposition year, British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and Idaho state officials and tourist executives declared they would take the lead in staging a "Fiesta Year" during 1939," Huggins said. "The plans will be carried out at future interstate meetings."

With western travel being stimulated by a $3,000,000 campaign sponsored by the eleven Western States, railroads, bus lines, air lines and the Exposition, 4,000,000 tourists are expected to visit the West in 1939, Huggins pointed out.

National Parks Aid
The national parks of the west will be advertised by the states as major attractions, as well as resorts and vacation spots.

Civil Service Test Given At Newberry

Newberry April 12—Tests for Civil Service positions will be conducted in three places in the upper peninsula. Newberry, Iron Mountain and Houghton on April 23 for positions to be filled in the various county Emergency Relief Commission staffs. Social Service visitors, grades 2 and 3, junior clerks and stenographers will be needed or are already needed. It is announced here by local welfare officials.

The social service visitors must be at least 21 years old and the other two positions must be supplied from candidates who are at least 18 years of age. The purpose of these tests are to establish a list from which persons may be selected to fill the positions the replacements take place.

It is necessary for all persons competing to have on file at the commission offices in Newberry or at the main office in Lansing, an application properly filled out and notarized forms may be obtained from the Newberry office in the community building, or by writing the Lansing office. All applicants will be notified later as to the exact hour and place of the examinations, but applications must be filed not later than April 16.

OLD RESIDENT DIES SUDDENLY

Carl Anton Engberg, 72, Lived in Escanaba for 50 Years

Carl Anton Engberg, 72, resident of Escanaba for 50 years, died at 9:30 last night at the home of his sister, Mrs. Nels Ahlquist, 520 South 16th, after an illness of about 10 days. He had been in poor health for a year. Mr. Engberg was born Feb. 18, 1886, at Pettio, Sweden. He was employed in the boiler shops of the C. & N. W. at Escanaba for several years, and during the last 10 or 12 years was employed by the city of Escanaba. He was a member of the North Star lodge and the Bethany Lutheran church. The survivors include the sister, one brother, Ernest, in Sweden, and a stepson, Edwin Munson, Milwaukee.

St. John Arraigned Before Judge Bell

Norman St. John, accused of aiding and abetting the escape of a fugitive from justice, was arraigned before Judge Frank A. Bell in circuit court yesterday and entered a plea of guilty. He was accused of helping Eugene Pizzala escape from officers by harboring the fugitive in his house and carrying him to the railroad station in the trunk of his automobile. Pizzala was found guilty of breaking into a Garden tavern.

Warning Is Issued On Water Supplies In Luce, Mackinac

There are many homes on the outskirts of villages and in the country where no public water supply is available and private wells must be used as sources of supply. This is indeed true of the area served by the District Department of Health No. 6 where Newberry, Engadine, St. Ignace and Mackinac Island are the only areas having municipal water distribution systems. Samples from these water supplies are collected weekly and sent to the state laboratory to test them for safety in drinking. People using these supplies may feel safe in doing so.

However, the great majority of homes in Mackinac and Luce counties rely on private wells which are liable to be contaminated at any time where most of them are not properly protected. During the routine inspection of summer resorts last year, 76 samples of water out of 175 collected were found to be contaminated, thus demonstrating how great a possibility there is of having an impure source of water.

Precautions in well construction are for the purpose of preventing the spread of disease, infections such as typhoid fever, dysentery and certain diarrheas which develop in the intestinal tract, and only such infections can be conveyed from the slick to the well person by drinking water.

It is believed that the entrance of water into a well from the surface of the ground is more likely to make trouble than that which reaches the well at greater depths. Water which percolates for some distance downward through the soil will have some of its pollution removed by the straining and filtering action of the ground. The fact that pollution does not penetrate the ground to any great extent is important in development of a safe well water supply. A well should be located as far as practicable from sources of contamination such as vault privies, septic tanks, cess pools, barnyards, sewers, and similar structures. It is impossible to specify a safe distance between a well and source of contamination, but where possible a well should be located not nearer than 75 feet from a known source of pollution and at a greater distance when possible.

The well should be so located on high ground that surface water will drain away from it. No well should be less than 10 feet deep.

The outside casing of dug wells should be water tight construction for a depth of at least 10 feet below the natural ground surface. The outside casings of drilled and driven wells should be water tight throughout their entire length.

A water tight concrete platform should cover the top of the well, sloping away from the pump. This platform should be at least 4 inches thick and extend at least two feet in all directions from the well casing.

The sanitarian of the District Department of Health is willing to take samples for testing from a well in the district, free of charge at any time. Write or phone the Newberry office of the Health Department asking that a sample of water be taken for test and giving the exact location of the house where the well is situated.

The sanitarian is always glad to give advice on well construction. Pamphlets and plans are free for the asking.

"MOTHER IS ALL BETTER, THANK YOU"

It is generally conceded that America leads the world in the quality and extent of telephone service. Important factors in this supremacy are the efforts of the Bell Telephone Laboratories "to find a better thing or a better way," and the experience and skill of the Western Electric Company, the manufacturing department of the Bell System.

Because of our association in the Bell System, every improvement so produced is made available promptly for use in Michigan... a continuing assurance of high-quality telephone service at reasonable cost. That is why Michigan's telephone service today... quick, dependable, courteous... is as fine as any telephone service in the world.

And that is why your telephone... although it can connect you with any of 35,000,000 other telephones all over the civilized globe... retains such simplicity that even a child finds it easy to use.

Checking Human Erosion

EVENTS often revive words not frequently used. Erosion is an old word that has come into general use because of the emphasis in recent years on the importance of saving the nation's soil.

The earth is man's rightful domain, but history proves that man has not properly kept the earth, since he has permitted large portions of it to go to waste, opening a possibility of starvation, the very thing which man first set out to avoid.

Next to disease, man has always had himself as his worst enemy. Apparently this enemy has been his inability to use his intellect for preservation of the earth committed to his care.

Wherever man has touched the earth it has broken down and washed away. A path to a cabin means the beginning of a gully that is destined to devour the whole hillside.

Building of roads has led to depletion of large sections of land. Until recent years man has not worried about erosion of soil for he could move when his land no longer produced.

It is now recognized that saving the nation's soil is an engineering job, but engineers say that their efforts must be supplemented by man's love for the soil, his willingness to cooperate and a vision to see the size and importance of the problem.

While a far-flung program has been launched by engineers to prevent erosion of the soil, sociologists have been giving study to another form of erosion that appears to be equally damaging to American life.

DAMS OR BEAUTY?

(Milwaukee Journal)

A proposed dam across the Potomac river in Iron county again opens the old contention between conservationists and utilitarians.

The conservationists want to preserve natural beauty, fine scenic places, the unspoiled forests, hills and rivers.

The utilitarians want to "utilize." A fast-flowing river, to them, is potential power. A forest is timber in the raw.

A hillside is a place for a billboard. Somewhere in our hearts, or our centers of sentiment, most of us feel that the conservationists are essentially right.

There should be unexploited forests, hillsides and rivers in this land where we hope to find more than just physical comforts.

But the practical parts of our minds swing us often to the side of the utilitarians. There is this proposed dam on the Potomac river, for instance. It would ruin a beautiful waterfall. It would pretty largely convert a lovely section of a fine river into an unlovely utility.

However, utilitarians point out that the waterfall is in a remote hinterland; that it is visited by few; that though a trail and rough steps have been provided, even the few people cared enough to visit the falls. And, to make this scenic beauty comfortably accessible, a costly development of roads and perhaps a park would be needed.

Meanwhile the flowing water could be harnessed, would be utilized constantly, would serve a local industry, would help with local employment, and would yield a return in money instead of demanding an expenditure of public funds for a park and continuous outlays for maintenance thereafter.

There's a lot in those contentions and conservationists are on difficult ground when they insist on preservation of natural beauty on the one hand, but then show so little interest in the beauty that they won't even visit it unless the visit is made expensively convenient.

However, by and large, there has been too much ruthless exploitation of natural resources, and such public bodies as Wisconsin's public service commission should be slow about granting permits to build dams. Not many fine rivers are left. Not much of this state remains unslashed, untrampled and unspoiled.

OFFENSE WAS SERIOUS

(Ironwood Globe)

Arrest of a woman at Escanaba for failure to report a dangerous communicable disease and for refusing to cooperate with the department of health should have the splendid effect of impressing upon the community the seriousness of her offense.

A health officer testified in court that the woman failed to report a case of measles in her family, refused to allow the health officer to placard the home as a warning to others that a member of the family had a communicable disease.

Here was apparently a case of a woman who didn't believe measles is a disease to be disturbed about. In consequence, she was not concerned as to whether a member of her family exposed others to the disease. It could well have been read into the court records, in the presence of this offender, that complications often develop after an attack of measles—complications that affect the mucous membranes of the eye and chest.

Moreover, it is a highly infectious disease that spreads rapidly. It is a disease that should not be disregarded and it is hoped that this point was strongly impressed upon the offender.

World Affairs Reviewed

The world's rearming. You know all about that. You've seen it in the paper for months. You know, too, what the dictators say about it.

But what about your counterpart in England, in Germany, in France, in Japan—the "white collar man" with a family "over there"? Haven't you wondered what he thinks about it?

We wondered, too, so we asked four AP foreign correspondents to find out. Here is the first of the stories they sent back—four stories in which Mr. X of London, Tokyo, Berlin and Paris raise their voices above the din of rearmament to talk frankly about their hopes and fears.

BY WILLIAM MCGAFFIN AP Feature Service Writer

London—Let's drop in on Mr. X and see what he thinks about the course Britain is pursuing in a troubled world. His views should be enlightening since Mr. X is not just one man. He is a whole class of society—the great class of "black coat workers."

Like his American counterpart, the "white collar" worker, he is neither rich nor poverty-stricken, and although he is one of the important vertebras in the nation's backbone, his voice seldom is heard in the ruling councils of the land.

Settling down in an easy chair by Mr. X's open coal fire I start the conversation with a question on the armaments race—one of the principal topics of the hour here. I find that Mr. X quite naturally deprecates the world armaments race—but heartily approves of his country's prodigious rearmament program.

"Good thing, our rearmament," he says in a crisp, staccato accent. "It's the only thing we can do. Good insurance. Steady influence in the world, too."

"It's far wiser for us to rearm than disarm, don't you think?" (Mr. X has a curious habit of ending a declaration with a question.)

"A few years ago we were disarming while everybody else was rearming. We were in a most insecure position. Rearmament's costing a devil of a lot but if it will save our lives it's worth it."

TAXES—AND TAXES

Mr. X knows whereof he speaks when he talks about the cost of rearmament for he pays much higher taxes than his American cousin.

In his single days, Mr. X had to start paying an income tax when he was making only $750 a year. He paid $8 then. He got up to $2,000 a year shortly after he was married and had to give the government $63 even after deducting his marriage exemption. And if he ever reaches $5,000 a year he will have to pay $663.

But it's not just the income tax. He pours us a whisky and soda—and it's one-third whisky and two-thirds tax at least so far as price is concerned. (The bottle cost $3.12—$1 for the whisky, $2.12 for tax.)

We light up cigarettes which, due to import and other taxes, cost 25 cents for a pack of 20.

Yet he bears it all cheerfully for he's an extremely patriotic individual to begin with and was paying high taxes without a grumble long before he had the added incentive of helping his nation "rearm for peace."

—WAR? NOT FOR BRITAIN—

I resume our conversation with a leading question: "When do you think the next war will start?"

"There's not going to be another war," Mr. X comes back quickly, "at least not for Britain. We're too strong. If the weight of our rearmament does not prevent another war it at least will keep us out of it. No one would dare attack us."

Mr. X, while favoring a strong foreign policy, agrees with Prime Minister Chamberlain's plan of trying to make friends with the dictators.

"I hated to see Eden go," he says. "He's a nice fellow and all that—but honey catches more flies than vinegar, doesn't it?"

I ignore his question to ask another of my own. "Do you hate the people of any other country, Mr. X?"

"We're too phlegmatic to hate any one," he laughs. "Then he explains that 'hate' is too strong a word. He thinks perhaps he still holds some of the traditional English distrust of the French. And, although he has lost a lot of it in recent years, he still has a little of the superiority complex which has been drilled into him from school days—the feeling that the English are superior to other races."

—DEMOCRACY—YES—

He probably likes the Germans and the Scandinavians better than any others because they are more like him.

"What about you democracy, Mr. X. do you think it can be maintained despite present trends?"

"Most certainly!" The temperament of the people, he opines, is not suitable for any of the "isms." Furthermore, English democracy gains strength from having the "right man" on the throne.

The conversation switches into more peaceful paths such as social legislation. "Fine thing, that," says Mr. X.

He especially favors old age pensions and unemployment, insurance for their scope has been extended to take in some of his class.

The only thing he can't understand is why some countries are so backward with social legislation. England has had it for so long—some of it since before the war, in fact—that he more or less takes it for granted.

tions often develop after an attack of measles—complications that affect the mucous membranes of the eye and chest. Moreover, it is a highly infectious disease that spreads rapidly. It is a disease that should not be disregarded and it is hoped that this point was strongly impressed upon the offender.

Answers To Questions

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Escanaba Daily Press Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. Do the majority of people prefer to get their news over the radio or by reading newspapers? K. M.

A. A survey made by Fortune shows that the newspapers are nearly a two-to-one favorite over the radio as the source of the nation's news.

Q. How much did the late John D. Rockefeller give to foundations and other philanthropic organizations? C. M.

A. Mr. Rockefeller's gifts amounted to approximately $530,000,000. He gave a total of $446,000,000 to establish four funds: The Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, the General Education Board, The Rockefeller Foundation, and The Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial. In addition, he made individual contributions of about $84,000,000 for educational, religious, and charitable purposes.

Q. Was Paulette Goddard of the movies formerly a chorus girl? E. L. M.

A. She appeared in the chorus of Rio Rita and in George White's Scandals.

Q. In what year was the last street car pulled by horses in New York City discontinued? E. M.

A. The last horse car line in New York City ceased operation in the summer of 1917. This was the line operating on Bleeker Street.

Q. What is the small animal said to resemble the elephant? A. S.

A. The hyrax is related to the elephant and the hippopotamus in structure but not in size. In appearance it resembles a guinea pig. The fur is brown. Its feet resemble those of an elephant and it has minute tusks.

Q. What are some of the most valuable musical instruments that have ever been used in a public performance? C. J. H.

A. According to the Etude, a million dollars' worth of Stradivarius instruments were used in a concert at Carnegie Hall, New York, commemorating the bicentennial of the death of the great violin maker. The eighteen specimens used included some of the most prized in existence.

Q. What was the first foreign salute to our flag? M. B.

A. The first foreign salute to the Stars and Stripes, the new American flag, was rendered February 14, 1778, when John Paul Jones, in command of the U. S. S. Ranger, entered Quiberon Bay, near Brest, France, and received a salute of nine guns from the French fleet, under Admiral La Motte Pique.

Q. Is it incorrect to say please and thank you to servants? H. W.

A. Emily Post says: Every well-bred lady or gentleman says "please" in asking that something be brought him. In refusing a dish at the table, one must say, "No, thank you," or else one shakes his head. A head can be shaken politely or rudely. To be courteously polite, and yet keep one's walls up, is a thing every

New York—A few seasons ago a psychologist clapped delighted hands on Fifth Avenue and said that the Easter Parade was one of the best clinical studies of crowd behaviorism and exhibitionism that he had ever encountered.

This year should be no exception—so pick your standing room early.

Early reports from couturiers, milliners and custom tailors indicate that, the recession notwithstanding, the gaudy display that tints Fifth Avenue with the colors of the spectrum every Easter Sunday will be as florid as ever.

C-C IS ASKED TO JOIN MOVE

Business Problems Will Be Discussed By Many Groups

The Escanaba Chamber of Commerce has been invited to join with more than 1,500 other business organizations in a nationwide project of a business program designed to promote national progress through the traditional American economic system.

These organizations, with an underlying membership of nearly one million business men, little, medium and big, are all connected with the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

They are invited to give immediate consideration to a dozen or more major business subjects scheduled for attention at the Twenty-sixth Annual Meeting of the National Chamber in Washington, May 2 to 5.

The object is to stimulate local discussion of important business questions in advance of the meeting.

List of Subjects

Included in the preliminary program are such subjects as government-business relations, construction, taxation and expenditures, national defense, foreign trade and tariff, distribution, industrial relations, insurance, money, banking and securities, transportation and communication, insurance and others.

Besides discussing these questions from the local viewpoint, these organizations are asked to take two other steps.

They are asked to select, as soon as possible, their delegates to the Washington meeting, so that the delegates will have ample time to scrutinize the subjects.

They are asked to transmit to the Chamber at Washington, their views upon the topics put forward, either in the form of resolutions or otherwise.

Thus, instead of having only the advantage of consideration before a single meeting of the country's business representatives at Washington, there will be advance discussion in a thousand meetings throughout the country.

In this way, thousands of business men, who will not find it possible to convene in Washington in May, will have opportunity to express themselves beforehand on the subjects that will be weighed nationally later on.

Such a local effort, it is pointed out, is in line with the "What Helps Business" idea now sweeping the country and should be a potent force in creating a better public understanding of business and its problems.

Statement by O'Leary

In a statement on this country-wide move, John W. O'Leary, chairman of the National Chamber's Executive Committee, says: "The attention of both government and the public at large fastens increasingly upon the causes underlying the business slump and the possible remedies that may be applied to revitalize industry and trade."

"Some of these causes are known. Others remain more or less obscure. Just what their effects are upon different branches of business activity in different sections of the country is yet to be fully ascertained.

"All of the elements of recovery are present. All the resources needed, in men, credit and materials, are available. Business, nevertheless, is lagging.

"What makes it lag—and why—is a question for which the National Chamber will attempt to find answers through its member organizations in nation-wide discussions and subsequently at its annual meeting at Washington."

Repairs Needed

The building and grounds committee reported that the courthouse building is in need of better heating equipment, and was authorized to employ a steam radiation expert to analyze the needs of the heating system and present an estimate on the cost of putting it in shape to work efficiently.

The committee reported that the present plant is not capable of heating the building in cold weather.

The committee was authorized by the board to get estimates on the cost of repairing the roof of the county jail, and of adding more space for files in the basement of the courthouse building.

Vote For Patrol

The board voted to pay $110 per month from July 1 to November 1 as salary for a sheriff's department officer to operate the highway patrol car which was put on the road last summer. Sheriff William Miron gave a report on the activities of the patrol last year, stating that about 450 traffic tickets were given motorists violating laws of the road and many drunken drivers were removed from the highway before they were able to cause accidents. "Though having the patrol car on the road," Miron stated, "we have been able to make a substantial reduction in the number of automobile accidents in the county."

Drainage Discussed

Carl Person, Masonville township supervisor, brought up the problem of land drainage at a general session. He asked that a committee be appointed to investigate the law regarding drainage and to find out who is responsible for the settling of drainage problems.

Delta county has an elected drain commissioner, but no provision has been made for payment of his salary or expenses. Hence the office is, in reality, left vacant. The law states that the salary set in 1936 must be paid the drain commissioner, but no salary has been set in Delta county.

Chairman Johnson appointed Carl Person, chairman, and Supervisors Huff and Gustafson to set as a committee to investigate the drainage problem, and

County Board Defers Action On Courthouse

Members of the Delta county board of supervisors voted to defer action on the building of an addition to the county courthouse at the board's organization meeting yesterday. The building and grounds committee, headed by Carl Anderson, and the finance and taxation committee, headed by Clyde J. Burns, were authorized by the board to investigate the needs of the present courthouse building and to report on the possibility of building a new one through funds loaned by the federal government.

Under a bill now being considered at Washington, federal loans would become available to municipalities and counties without interest. They would be payable at the end of 50 years, or over a 50-year period at the rate of 2% per year. P. A. LeClaire, clerk of the board of supervisors, was authorized to write to Rep. John Luecke and ask him to investigate the possibilities of Delta county obtaining such a loan with which to build a new courthouse.

Placards for the protection of property were ordered by the board, the warnings being similar to those in use in Dickinson county. They quote the law regarding molestation or destruction of private property and offer a reward of $25 for arrest and conviction of any trespasser on the posted property. The board authorized the expenditure of not more than $25 for these placards which will be available to property owners at cost, at the office of the county clerk.

An appropriation of $200 per month for direct relief, through the ERA, was voted by the board. This appropriation, which has been made since the first of the year, will continue until the next meeting of the board at which it will again come up for discussion.

Members of the board discussed the present probation system in use in courts within the county and voted to have the clerk of the board send letters to members of the legislature asking that laws be made to cover probation work and providing for the financing of it.

A committee was appointed to attend the highway conference at Grand Rapids on April 28, when the state highway department is expected to plan its five million dollar road program. Chairman C. B. Johnson, C. J. Burns, O. J. Thorsen, Carl Person and Joseph LaFramboise were selected to represent the county at the highway conference.

ROAD LIGHTING NOW IMPROVED

Michigan Leading Way In Use of Powerful Reflectors

Lansing—Michigan, pioneer automobile state, set the pace for the nation today in the use of powerful reflectors for indirect night lighting of its highways.

The reflectorized lighting project on U.S. 16 between Lansing and Detroit, first of its kind in the world, bore the stamp of approval, of the nation's highway, safety, and automotive leaders including Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads. He characterized the "lights" as "a distinct contribution to the cause of public safety upon the highways."

Other leaders from New Jersey to Kansas, guests of State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner at a "premiere" showing of the "lights," joined MacDonald in praising the project. They included such men as J. H. Hunt, vice-president of General Motors Corporation; J. G. Vincent, chief of the Michigan State Highway Department; and J. G. Vincent, chief of the Michigan State Highway Department.

engineer, Packard Motor Car Company; C. L. McCuen, president of the Olds Motor Works; Sidney J. Williams, director of the National Safety Council; Richard Harist, general manager of the Automobile Club of Michigan; Norman Damon, director of the Automobile Safety Foundation; and Ernst Lieberman, Robert M. Reinhold, C. W. Brown, Harry E. Neal, E. R. Shetbaun, and A. B. Nuss, state highway authorities respectively of Illinois, Maryland, Missouri, Ohio, New Jersey, and Kansas.

The new reflectors, ten times as powerful and twice as large as ones in more general use, outline the highway for a mile ahead, relieve eye strain of drivers, and otherwise bring approximate daylight driving conditions to darkened rural highways. The elimination of operating costs was a factor that led Commissioner Van Wagoner to initiate the new type of night "lighting."

Rev. L. R. Lund Announces Holy Week Services

The following services will be held at the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church this Holy Week: Thursday evening at 7:30 Norwegian service with communion, sermon theme: "Paaskelammet og Nadveren." Mrs. L. R. Lund will sing "Hin Tids Getsemane," by William Hammond. English services with communion on Good Friday beginning at 1:30. The Passion story will be read by six readers. Sermon theme: "Wonders at the Cross." There will also be special music at this service. Easter Sunday the services will begin at 10:00 o'clock and will be in the English language. Rev. L. R. Lund will speak on the theme, "He is Risen." The music for this service will be furnished by the Senior and Junior choirs. There will be a hymn and a greeting in the Norwegian language. All those who are bringing Easter lilies or plants for the "Memorial Roll" are asked to bring them to church on Saturday before 5 p. m. Sunday evening at 7:30 the Senior choir will render the Easter Cantata: "Life Eternal," by Holton. Mrs. L. R. Lund is the leader of the choir, and Mrs. Arne Arntzen, accompanist. It will be in a form of a candle light service. A cordial invitation is extended to all to worship at these services.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

Girls do go to college to get husbands. It's no longer a matter of speculation—for, when questioned, a number of co-eds at the University of Tennessee cheerfully and frankly admitted that was why they were spending four years "on the hill." That may be a disappointed news to fathers who are footing the bills, and to a few career women who think their sex is being let down. But it isn't even news to anyone who has ever taken part in a sorority house bull session.

Ruth Millett For few co-ed notions about making their mark in some profession. They don't dream of succeeding the way college boys dream of it. They want to marry, just as much as the girls who stay at home. The only difference is they aren't in as much of a hurry. When they do get into professions, it is mostly by chance, not because they had a great longing to succeed in some work. And that is all right, too. Why should anyone look down his nose at the girl who goes to college to meet a man, fall in love, and marry? She has four years in which to choose a husband, while a debutante has only a season. If she doesn't find a man she wants to marry she's not branded as a failure, for she can make people believe a career is her choice.

And she is learning all during that four years not only in the classroom—but learning how to live with an odd assortment of people. Furthermore, if she marries a man she met in college he is pretty likely to come from a home of about the same social and economic level as her own. And that makes for harmony in marriage. To say nothing of the enjoyment that she and her husband will find through the years in recalling shared college days. Girls are going to hunt husbands as long as there are men and women in the world. And since they are, college is a swell place to look—if Dad can afford it.

Michigan Groups Meet This Week In Washington

By Esther Van Wagoner Tuffy

Washington, April 10.—Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg, wife of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, will be hostess to two Michigan pilgrimages to the Capital this week and next week—the visiting members of the D. A. R. coming for the 47th Congress and the two Campfire Girls, chosen to represent Michigan at a three day conservation conference. Although because of illness she was forced to cancel her tea to the Michigan D. A. R. members last year, it is an annual custom for Hazel Vandenberg to entertain in her Wardman Park apartment for this particular home state group. She thoroughly enjoys it and so do her guests, who always consider it a high spot on the week's brilliant and crowded calendar. Monday is the day of the tea this year, the first day of the full week devoted to the Congress, which is being held in beautiful Constitution Hall.

As each of Michigan's 59 chapters is expected to send one or two delegates, it is likely that almost 150 Michigan women will be in Washington next week. Mrs. William C. Geagley, of Lansing, is the state regent and will head up the Michigan group which will include the state pilgrim, Beth Eileen Marcus and nine pages.

A Holland high school girl, Miss Marjorie has been honored on a good citizenship selection basis to represent Michigan. Among the pages, all young members of the D. A. R. specially chosen by the President General, are three platform pages, Melva Leora Hammer, Miss Margaret Bowers and Miss Marian L. Brooke, all of Detroit, and Pages Miss Betty Louise Nicholson, of Grand Rapids, Miss Harriet-Simons, of Marshall, Miss Nancy Cooper, of Port St. Joseph chapter, now in school in nearby Frederick, Maryland, and Miss Alberta Stutsman, of Dearborn.

A busy week is ahead of the Michigan D. A. R. members. The opening night always splendid, is followed by the President General's reception on Tuesday night, with the Pages' ball, at the Mayflower Hotel scheduled on the same night. The regular sessions will be of special interest as it is election year. The former Michigan state regent, Mrs. George D. Schermerhorn, of Reading, is nominated for Organizing Secretary.

For Michigan members only, there will be several extra social functions in addition to Mrs. Vandenberg's opening day tea. Mrs. Geagley will give a buffet supper Sunday evening honoring Past Regent Schermerhorn. Mrs. Delois Blodgett, formerly of Grand Rapids, for years prominent in national D. A. R. activities, returns from Florida this week and plans to entertain the group. Mrs. Edwin Booth, of Detroit, is lingering on in Washington as the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Cooper, to attend some of the D. A. R. affairs and to see many of her Michigan friends.

Although only two Campfire Girls will come to the three day conservation conference yet their visit is of importance to every Camp Fire Girl in Michigan, where the movement is particularly active, according to Mrs. Vandenberg, who is chairman of conservation for the national organization and assistant hostess to the 70 delegates from all over the country. Two Battle Creek girls, Marguerite Hayes and Betty Owen, are the Michigan winners of the best record in conservation achievements. With their chapters, Mrs. LeRoy Sparks, also of Battle Creek, they are scheduled for a busy and fascinating time in the capital.

is Guest of Honor The highlight will be their presentation of a flowering dogwood to be planted in Washington's beautiful Rock Creek Park on Tuesday at a tree-planting ceremony, followed by a picnic at which Mrs. Vandenberg will be the guest of honor.

Wednesday the girls will breakfast at the capital with Senator Hattie Caraway and they will visit both houses of Congress in the afternoon. At 4 o'clock they will be received by Mrs. Roosevelt at the White House and in the evening there is a rally at the Department of Agriculture auditorium. Thursday, the girls chosen as most outstanding in the conservation work they have carried on in their home states will be presented awards by President Roosevelt. One of our Michigan girls may be selected—no one knows!

AT THE DELFT Bringing before the movie fans a new and youthful romantic team, a Warner Bros. comedy-drama called "Love, Honor and Behave," had its first local showing yesterday, at the Delft Theatre. The youngsters are Wayne Morris, the blond giant who scored so sensationally in his first picture, "Kid Galahad," and petite Priscilla Lane, who had about the same sort of success in her first film, "Varsity Show." It is the intention of the Warners to keep Wayne and Priscilla together in a number of comedy

McKenney On Bridge

By William E. McKenney, Secretary, American Bridge League

TAKING A CHANCE

Jacoby Seizes His Only Opportunity and Makes Apparently Impossible Contract. This is the eleventh of a series of twelve articles portraying the play of the greatest bridge players of the United States during 1937. Oswald Jacoby has many claims to bridge fame. As a youth unknown to the bridge world, he won the Eastern pair championship in 1929 with George Reith. Later he was a member of the famous Four Horsemen, one of the great teams-of-four. He gained further fame as the partner of Sidney Lenz in the match of 150 rubbers with Ely Culbertson, and now, as one of the Four Aces, he is known not only as a player but a writer who speaks with authority on the game.

In 1937 his team won the Knockout Team-of-Four Championship at Asbury Park and the Vanderbilt Cup in New York in November, so again, as in many previous years, I chose him as one of the outstanding players of the year.

This contract looked like one of those things that you wrap up and put away. Apparently three losers are all that can be anticipated. However, Jacoby (South) was not elated when he laid down the ace of trumps after winning the first trick, and West failed to follow. Four losers were now in sight, two trumps and one in each minor. There was still a chance, and Jacoby took it. He returned a diamond in order to establish a third round ruff. West won and led a club, which was won in dummy. Then the ace of hearts was cashed, and a low heart ruffed in the closed hand. Now dummy was given a diamond ruff, and declarer ruffed another heart. The high club put dummy in once more to lead a heart, which "Ozzie" ruffed with his last small trump, and the four losers vanished as early morning fog before the rising sun.

Contract Problem (Solution in next issue) Honors often influence the bidding, but West, the declarer, arrived at a three no trump contract and managed by skillful play to make it. Of course, the six-card heart suit helped.

D. A. R. Chapter Votes Donations For Activities

A business session devoted to various interests and an interesting program marked the meeting of Lewis Cass Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held Monday at the home of Mrs. M. K. Bissell. The Chapter voted to send its annual contribution of jelly and jam to the Veterans' hospital in Battle Creek. Mrs. G. R. Stegath, who is in charge, will pack the box Saturday and contributions should be given her before that time. Members also voted a donation to the D. A. R. Museum in Continental Hall, Washington, D. C., and to the fund for filing state genealogical records at Lansing. Mrs. A. J. Perrin, who was in charge of the program, read an interesting article on "Crossroads of the Pioneers," dealing with early days in Vincennes, Indiana.

"Love, Honor and Behave" is a story about a boy who has been brought up by his mother to be a graceful loser rather than a winner in the affairs of life. The mother is Barbara O'Neill, who had such a triumph recently in "Stella Dallas."

Cooking School, First of Series Is Big Success

Marked by a capacity attendance, with every available space taken, the second annual cooking school, sponsored by Moersch and Degan and Norge appliances, the first of a series of five schools to be held in Escanaba, was conducted yesterday by Miss Eleanor Rahn, nationally known home economist, at the Sherman hotel. The highly successful school will be followed during the month by four other similar demonstrations, all, as the initial school, sponsored by the city of Escanaba electrical department, the Upper Michigan Power and Light company, the Chamber of Commerce electrical division and community appliance dealers, the next to be held on April 19, presented by the Bonfeld Furniture company and General Electric appliances. The school of Tuesday afternoon opened with a talk on electrical rates and electrical distribution by City Manager George E. Bean. Miss Rahn, in her very interesting class, showed the advantages of electrical appliances on display, and demonstrated the ease with which all types of meals may be prepared by using the electric range. Among the recipes which her class followed with close attention were:

- Pecan Drop Biscuits: 2 cups flour, 3 tablespoons sugar, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, well beaten, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup pecan meats, finely chopped. Sift flour once, measure; add baking powder, sugar and salt. Sift again. Cut in shortening. Combine milk and egg; then add all at once to flour mixture and stir carefully until all flour is dampened. Add nuts, and stir vigorously until mixture forms a soft dough that clings to the side of the bowl. Drop from teaspoon in blended mixture of one-half cup sugar, one-half cup chopped pecans, one teaspoon cinnamon. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 12 minutes or until done.

- Mexican Relish: 1/2 pound grated American cheese, 2 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup minced green pepper, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon sugar, Dash of cayenne pepper, 20 ounce can red beans, 2 tablespoons catsup, 1/2 teaspoon paprika. Grate cheese. Sauté green pepper in butter. Add cheese. Melt over low heat, stirring constantly. Add seasoning, and the red beans, continuing to stir. Serve at once on toast.

- Quick Coffee Cake: 2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 6 tablespoons sugar, 5/8 teaspoon salt, 1/2 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, well beaten, 1-3 cup milk. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and sugar. Sift again. Cut in shortening. Combine egg and milk. Add to flour mixture all at once, stir until well blended. Turn into greased nine-inch layer pan, spreading dough evenly. Brush top with melted butter. Sprinkle with mixture of 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes or until done.

- Hom Creole: 1 1/2 to 2 pounds ham (center cut, one inch thick raw ham), Paprika, 1 large can tomatoes, drained, 1 large mild onion, sliced, Salt and pepper. Place onions in bottom of greased skillet. Add ham, a layer of onions and top with tomatoes. Season well. Bake uncovered. Distribution of the cooking school gifts closed the successful demonstration.

LOCAL ENGINE THEFT SOLVED

Dealer Who Bought Junk Makes Restitution to C. & N. W.

Special agents of the C. & N. W. announced last night that they had cleared up the recent theft of brass, copper and other fittings taken from engines stored in the yards back of the roundhouse at Escanaba.

The pilfering was found to be the work of boys, and caused heavy damage on the engines, which will cost several hundred dollars to repair. Daniel Nimginsky, local dealer in metals, was taken before Justice H. E. Ranguette, charged with purchasing the stolen parts, and agreed to make restitution in the amount of $100.

The boys implicated will be brought into probate court next week.

Interesting Items of Day Picked Up Around Town

The Daily Republican Times of Ottawa, Ill., publishes an amusing story, describing the smelt eating championship contest conducted at the smelt feed held by the Ottawa Association of Commerce recently.

The news article reads as follows: Meet the smelt-eating champion of Ottawa—He is F. A. Peterson, proprietor of the Leader Furniture and Rug company.

After a checkup of the scores of the men and women who competed for the title last night at a meeting of the Greater Ottawa association, the judges announced today that Peterson had qualified for the championship.

The signal to start was given at 9 o'clock, and the contestants were still going strong at 10 p. m., when resident M. B. McClelland called time.

Claims for the title were numerous. L. C. Carroll, acting secretary of the Greater Ottawa association, said he ate the most, but questioning by the judges disclosed that Lee had counted in those he ate for supper at home before attending the meeting. He was disqualified.

Other high-scorers were Abe Hecht, Sid Stiefel, A. J. Press, Birger Larsen and Alphonse Carretto, John Feehan was runner-up in the contest, with a score of 20 smelt.

To determine the winner, the judges found it necessary to count the bones left on the plates of Peterson and Feehan. This evidence established the fact that Peterson had eaten 21 smelt.

Feehan said he could have won if he hadn't taken time out to eat six pieces of corn bread.

Interviewed as to the training methods used for the contest, Champion Peterson said he had gone without luncheon and dinner yesterday, and before attending the Greater Ottawa meeting had shoveled off the snow in front of his sidewalk to work up an appetite.

Larsen Disputes Decision
Birger Larsen indicated today that he might contest the decision of the judges.

"I believe I ate more smelt than Peterson," he said, "and I don't think the judges were fair in deciding the winner by counting the bones left on the plates. Lee Carroll told me it was O. K. to eat the bones, so I didn't bother to remove them. Another thing, I have heard rumors that Dr. W. P. Freed and Clarence H. Wilson put their smelt bones on Peterson's plate."

Unless the judges reconsider their decision, a committee of Greater Ottawans this afternoon will call upon Peterson and, with fitting pomp and ceremony, present to him an engraved diploma expressing hearty congratulations from Her Majesty, The Queen of Smeletania, Escanaba, Mich.

Upon receiving the diploma, Peterson will qualify to enter the contest at Escanaba for the grand championship.

The smelt for the Greater Ottawa contest were provided with the compliments of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, in exchange for 5,000 glass marbles, manufactured by the Peltier Glass Co. of Ottawa.

In the spring a young girl's fancy turns to thoughts of ropes. Staid pedestrians going calmly about their affairs usually have to run a gauntlet of flying ropes swung by dozens of girls in every block. Who among the hundreds of rope jumpers in Escanaba is the best? That is the weighty question which the department of parks and recreation hopes to answer when the rope jumping contest is conducted beginning Friday afternoon, May 22.

The contest will be conducted by Doris Costley, WPA recreation leader who has announced the following schedule: Friday afternoon at 3:30 and Saturday afternoon at 1:00, she will be at the Webster Annex to coach and demonstrate some of the trickier stunts. Saturday morning at 9:30 and Monday at 3:30 she will be at the city Recreation Center, So. 14th and 3rd Ave. for the same purpose. The contest will start at the Annex on Friday, afternoon May 22nd, and will continue at

PRIZES AWAIT KITE AVIATORS

Escanaba Kiwanis Event Will Have $10 in Cash Awards

Ten dollars in cash prizes will be divided among the winners of the various events in the first annual kite tournament sponsored by the Escanaba Kiwanians club and conducted with the cooperation of the city and WPA recreation departments to be conducted this coming Saturday morning beginning at 9 o'clock.

First prize for the most artistic or unusually designed kite will be $2; second prize, $1; the largest kite, $1.50; smallest kite, $1. Winners of special events will receive $1 awards. The special events are: 100 yard dash—Kites start on signal and may be run out in any manner desired to end of 100 yard-cord, and must be wound back to hand of flyer. Starter may help launch the kite and may help catch the kite as it is brought back to earth. At finish of event, flyer must be stationed on starting line.

Altitude race—Kites should be started on signal, run out to end of string, and worked up to highest possible altitude. At the end of five minutes, flyers must be on starting line and the kites at lower elevations will be eliminated until judges decide the kite flying at the highest altitude.

Kite battle—Kites to be run out to end of measured cord in which is inserted not over 50 feet of prepared cord equipped with cutting device for offensive combat. At signal to start battle, flyers may move anywhere within the prescribed flying field in an attempt to cross the string of an opponent's kite with the cutting surface of their kite string and thus bring down his kite. Surviving kite wins. No flyer may interfere with another or touch his string except with his kite or string.

Message race—Flyer may fly any type of home-made kite but all use the same length of string. Each contestant will be given a piece of paper to put on his string and will attempt to run it up to the kite in the shortest possible time.

The event will be held at the

400 CYCLISTS ARE SIGNED UP

Safe Riders Club Organized; Another Meeting Today

About four hundred boys and girls signed up yesterday for membership in the Safe Riders club, sponsored by the Escanaba Kiwanis club.

Another meeting will be held between 3:30 and 4:30 p. m. today at the city hall to give an opportunity for other cyclists to join the organization.

With the signing a safety pledge and a perfect record of safe driving for 60 days, each cyclist will receive an honorary membership button, offered by the Kiwanis club.

The pledge reads as follows: "I pledge not to ride my bicycle at night unless it is equipped with a rear reflector and observing all safety laws, viz: Stopping at arterials and keeping to the right on city streets and rural highways;

"Not to carry anyone on my bicycle or coast along with trucks or other vehicles;

"Not to make turns or cutovers between intersections and to give proper signals before turning;

"Not to ride abreast of another bicycle;

"To obey the above rules and others which may be prescribed by law, ordinances or this club from time to time."

JEWISH FEAST TO BE FRIDAY

Colorful Ceremony Will Be Observed This Week in City

Retelling the story of the deliverance of the Children of Israel from Egyptian oppression, the Jewish people will reaffirm the ideal of religious freedom as they usher in the feast of Passover, Friday evening, April 15.

The observance of the holiday begins with a ceremony, which has a longer continuous history than any other religious rite still practiced. This ceremony is the traditional Seder, a home service, a festive meal at which the story of Exodus is told, and a service of thanksgiving and hope is read from a special prayer book called Haggadah.

The Seder is preeminently a family celebration, but in recent years the second night of Pasach, as the holiday is known in Hebrew, has come to be the occasion for community gatherings.

For the duration of the holiday, pious Jews refrain from eating leaven and partake of Matzos, or unleavened bread.

The Passover is observed for one week by Reform Jews and for eight days by Orthodox Jews.

The Attack on the Civil Service Proposal

On Thursday Mr. Walter Lippmann took this column to task for saying that the Reorganization bill "puts the President — any President — who is usually the head, as well, of a political party, in sole command of the civil service."

Dorothy Thompson

under the basic law of 1883, and that the President has always since then had the power to remove any commissioner. Mr. Lippmann suggests that I and a great many other people are unnecessarily worked up about this bill and are exaggerating its dangers.

Now, what are the facts? There has been only one check on the President, so far, in regard to the Civil Service Commission, and that has been the provision that of the three commissioners who at present head it up, only two may belong to the same party. It has been, in other words, a bipartisan board, and under the terms of the law, the President was required to keep it bipartisan, no matter whom he might remove.

We have been in urgent need for years of a drastic reform of the Civil Service. That is conceded by every student of our federal government. One object of that reform should be to provide for a very considerable extension of the merit system, and the training of a continuing, absolutely non-political efficient personnel.

This was very clearly in the minds of the President's Committee on Administrative Management who wrote the original report, which was to form the basis of legislation.

This Committee—Louis Brownlow, Charles E. Merriam and Luther Gulick—recommended that the present bi-partisan board of three should be replaced by a single executive officer, the Civil Service Administrator, and a non-salaried Civil Service Board of seven members, all to be appointed by the President. The Board was to have no administrative duties, but be charged with the protection and development of the merit system.

The Committee justified this on the basis that a single head "would give the Civil Service Administration the unity, energy and responsibility impossible to obtain in an agency headed by a full-time board of several members."

So far so good. But in the original recommendations the President was to be restricted by definite rules governing whom he should appoint. The Committee urged that the Administrator and the Board, instead of being bi-partisan, should be non-partisan. Therefore, they recommended that the Administrator should be selected on "a competitive, non-partisan basis by a special examining board designated by the Civil Service Board, and should be appointed by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, from the three highest candidates passing the examination conducted to fill the post."

"In this manner," said the Committee, "careful attention to the professional and technical qualifications required by the office, and the merit principle would be extended to the very top of the Civil Service Administration. The President should be able to remove the head of this managerial agency at any time, but would be required to appoint his successor in the manner stated above."

Now, obviously, if these requirements had been retained in the bill, there could be no objection to the abolition of a bi-partisan board, for there would be a guarantee of the existence in its place of a non-partisan Administrator. But the proposed legislation does away with the bi-partisan board without providing the slightest guarantee that the new, sole Administrator shall be non-partisan. The President is instructed, to be sure, to select the Administrator without regard to political affiliations and by reason of special qualifications, and to remove him only for inefficiency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office. But in contrast to the recommendations of the Committee, no procedure is laid down which would guarantee that appointments should be made purely on merit.

Thus, the restrictions originally proposed, requiring the President to make this important appointment on the merit principle under the Civil Service laws themselves, are dropped completely, while the original bi-partisan check is gone. Mr. Lippmann says that the Civil Service Commission is not a quasi-legislative body; that the Civil Service rules have been traditionally promulgated and amended by the President that since 1883 it has been he who has made the rules. The second part of this statement is certainly true. And, therefore, there is all the more reason why there should be a check against the Civil Service Commission becoming a partisan political administration.

Easter Cruise

BY MARION WHITE Copyright, 1935, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JOYCE MILNER, heroine; she took an Easter Cruise.
DICK HAMILTON, hero; he bumped into the heroine.
ISOBEL PORTER, traveler; she sought a mate.

Yesterday: Heading for the shore, Joyce and Dick are marooned on a coral island. Suddenly Joyce thinks of the devilfish and she sings to keep up her courage.

CHAPTER VI

Hours passed, and now the swirling waters reached almost to their waists. At 11 o'clock the tender returned to the ship with passengers from shore, its red and green lights tantalizing as a mirage as the boat passed beyond the range of their voices. It was as if their last vestige of hope had vanished. Through the long hours, Dick had held out that promise of salvation. The tender, on its way back to the boat, would pick them up. They would call with all their might and someone would hear them. Someone, surely. But the wind from the shore blew their cries back in their faces and the tender chugged on out of sight.

Now he started to pull off his shoes. "I'm going to swim for it," he told them. "We can't wait here forever."

Joyce put out a restraining hand. "We'll all go together, Dick. You can't risk it alone." He took off his coat, laid it over her outstretched arm. "You must stay here, Joyce. Don't come after me. In that midstream current the three of us would be swept in every direction. Let me go alone, so that I'll know where to find you later."

"But where will you go, Dick?" Her voice was edged with hysteria. "You can't make it to the ship!"

"I won't go that way, against the current." He was taking off his vest and shirt, unbuckling his belt. "I can make Hamilton. It's only half a mile."

"More like a mile, boss," Obadiah corrected. But Dick grasped Joyce's hand, clung to it for a second and then he was gone. The black waters swallowed him, and presently there was no sign of him save the sound of his swimming. And then that too was intermingled with the sounds of the night.

Minutes they stood there, shivering and more frightened now, as the inky water crept slowly higher. High in the sky a star would now and then burn a little more brightly, but its light sent down no clarifying ray.

Suddenly, in the stillness, Joyce heard once more the chugging of the ship's tender, and she knew it was returning to the shore, emptied of its passengers. She held her breath as a quick new hope dawned. In another few minutes the boat would round the bend. Perhaps now they would hear the shouts...

"Dick!" she called quickly. "Dick! The tender's coming back!" If only he could get abreast of it, out in the channel! But he did not answer; perhaps he had not heard her. He would be swimming, with his head down in the water, and he would hear nothing, not even the tender.

"Dick!" she cried again. "The tender! Dick!" Once more she watched its red and green lights appear, two infinitesimal dots in a world of blackness. She felt them draw closer to the reef, only to disappear an instant as the boat swung around the buoy. Slowly it chugged its way along; soon it would be opposite them, in mid-stream.

"Obadiah! We must both shout now—together!" She took a deep breath, opened her mouth—

Simultaneously another call came to her ears. She stopped, listening. Was it only the echo of her own voice?

"A-hoy! A-hoy!" But no. It was Dick's voice! He was out there in midstream; he was within calling distance of the tender!

Again she heard it, clear and strong on the cold night breeze. Soon there were other sounds too, other voices answering his call, and she knew that the tender had sighted him. She heard its engine stop, then resume at a slower pace. She saw that the red and green lights were stationary now.

And then she did what she had wanted to do all along. She let down the barriers of fortitude and reserve, and she cried. She loosed the hard sobs that were choking her; she cried long and lustily, enjoying every salt tear.

Later, perhaps an hour after Dick and two of the men from the tender had rowed out and taken them off the reef, she was back on the Empress, its stout, strong decks secure beneath her feet, with her own kindly stewardess wrapping her in a warm ship's blanket and whispering words of cheer. Dick was beside her, wrapped in a similar blanket, and exhausted though he was, his eyes were shining with a deep new tenderness.

"Joyce, dear," he was saying, "you're the best sport a girl could be..."

Dr. Gray stopped in to see her the first thing next morning. It was after 9 o'clock but she was just beginning to open her eyes.

"Well, young lady, how do you feel this morning?" Her eyes widened slowly and memory began to dawn in them. "I'm fine, thanks."

needed was a good night's sleep." "How's Dick?"

Dr. Gray chuckled. "He's been up since daybreak, but I gave him strict orders not to waken you. Now he's gone over to Hamilton on some secret mission..."

"To Hamilton?" Joyce shuddered. "I wouldn't cross that water again..."

"Oh, come now!" The doctor regarded her more critically. Perhaps it had been a bad fright, more than she let on. He mustn't let it leave a scar. "Don't tell me you'd let a little midnight soaking frighten you."

She met the challenge in his eyes. "I'd rather stay on the boat..."

He stroked his chin thoughtfully. "Well, that's too bad, now. All the ladies have gone ashore, and I'm trying to find someone to do a little shopping for me. I promised my wife some doekin gloves from Trimmingham's. But I darn't leave the ship; I have one of the crew down with acute appendicitis."

Joyce hesitated. The morning sun streamed through the port, and she knew that the water would be clear and blue again, topped with little white caps edged in pink...

"I'll go for you," she said finally. "I guess it would be silly not to go."

The doctor beamed. "That's the girl! Think you can make the 10:30 tender?"

"I'll get right up."

An hour later, going ashore, she looked for the tiny reef beyond the buoy. There it was, showing just above the water line, and the waves were again beginning to break over it. But what a difference 12 short hours make! Now, in the reassuring light of day, there were no terrifying aspects. The spot was not more than a mile from shore, in any direction, and she knew under normal circumstances she could easily swim a mile.

There were other boats about this morning, wide flat-bottom rowboats, with lazy darkies fishing over the sides, and there were small launches, too. But she noticed that the motorboats skirted the reef at a wide arc, and she knew why Obadiah had hesitated to cross the spot in the pitch darkness.

Now she was glad that Dr. Gray had encouraged her to take the trip again. Daylight related every fear to simple understanding; this morning she could remember every detail of last night's experience without its accompanying horror.

She wished Dick were with her, that they might blot out the memory together, and she wondered what secret mission it was that took him ashore so early...

Trimingham's Department Store was crowded to capacity with passengers from the Empress, shopping for English doekins and Scottish tweeds and Wedgewood potteries. But the greatest number was at the glove counter, where doekins that sold for $4 in New York might be picked up for $2. It was a touch of Manhattan, this bargain counter, out of place in the serene life of Bermuda, where horses and carriages took a leisurely six or seven hours to traverse the island's entire 25 miles. This afternoon, after the Empress sailed, the glove clerks would probably shake their weary heads and doze in peaceful tranquility until another boat from the States brought struggle and strife...

Leaving the store, Joyce walked up the hill toward the center of town, idling away the hour until the last tender left for the ship. She strolled through the gardens of the Bermudiana Hotel again, enjoying their colorful and well-planned beauty; she passed the governor's mansion and she visited the quaint little Portuguese church. And all the while she looked above the heads of passers-by for a sight of Dick's turbulent brown curls. But she looked in vain.

Nor did she see him in the crowd on the wharf waiting for the tender. Mr. Gregory was there, standing apart from the others, and he joined her.

"If I'd known you were coming ashore alone," he remarked pleasantly, "we might have done something together."

Joyce laughed. "I've been shopping, and I know you wouldn't have enjoyed that."

A little colored boy approached them, his arms laden with enormous bouquets of sweet peas. "Flowers f' do lady, boss?"

"Why not?" Mr. Gregory responded promptly. "How much?" "Twenty-n cents, boss."

"Cheap enough. I think I'll take the white ones... that's it." He held them out to Joyce.

"Wear them for me, with that lovely white frock of yours. Will you?"

Joyce thanked him, admiring the wax-like perfection of the flowers. But her eyes clouded at the reminder of the lovely white frock that was no more, and she buried her face in the soft fragrance of the bouquet. Evidently Mr. Gregory had not heard of their little adventure...

While they were crossing the harbor, he asked her suddenly: "Would you care to spend the evening in Havana with me, Miss Milner? There's a great deal to do, I am told, with an agreeable companion."

But she begged off quickly. "I'm so sorry, Mr. Gregory. I've already made an engagement."

She knew that she was refusing the invitation solely in the hope that Dick would ask her. She might still be left sitting on the Empress all alone, a target for Mr. Gregory's sympathy.

COUNCIL SEAT STILL VACANT

Appointment Is Considered Monday; No Agreement

The Manistique city council Monday night reached an impasse in an endeavor to appoint a fifth member to fill the vacancy created by former Mayor Frank M. Gierke's resignation and after wrangling over the problem for a short time, the council adjourned until Friday evening, when they will hold a special meeting.

The appointment of a fifth member to the council was the first business on the program on Monday and when the four members of the present council were unable to agree, a motion to adjourn until Friday was accepted. An election of a mayor, mayor pro tempore and the city's representatives on the board of supervisors was deferred until after the fifth member of the council was selected.

Councilmen Harry Abramson and Frank Dahms held out for the appointment of John B. Nessman and Councilmen William Sellman and Victor Schuster urged the appointment of Charles Hancock. Motions were defeated in each case, the council holding firmly to the 2 to 2 split.

A letter from Nessman to the council was read by the clerk. Nessman's letter declared that he should be appointed to the vacancy because he had polled the third highest number of votes in the municipal election.

Walker Enters Controversy
Alex Walker, local labor leader, arose to demand Nessman's appointment. He declared that because Nessman received the third highest number of votes in the municipal election a week ago, he was the logical man to receive the appointment. Walker charged that the people of Manistique were coerced to vote against labor candidates in the last election and that "unless the civic clubs had entered into the campaign, the labor candidates would have been elected."

Abramson charged that city officials, too, had taken undue advantage of their positions and had entered into the campaign, apparently with the motive to defeat the labor candidates. Abramson charged that City Manager P. H. I will not be responsible for any bills contracted by any persons but myself.

Ed Denny

Beauvais had deliberately timed addresses on his stewardship before civic clubs in the community as campaign speeches.

The city manager, hotly denied Abramson's charge, pointing out that he was invited to speak to the civic committee of the club two months prior to his address. He declared that there was nothing in his stewardship address which could reflect anything but praise for the members of the city council. He also stated that he purposely avoided all mention of the forthcoming election or any mention of the candidates in the field.

When Sellman indicated he did not approve of Nessman's appointment, Abramson requested Sellman to disclose the candidate he was supporting. Sellman then moved the appointment of Charles Hancock and Schuster supported the motion. The motion lost when Dahms and Abramson voted against it.

Dahms then moved the appointment of Nessman. Abramson supported this motion, but it, too, was defeated, with Schuster and Sellman opposing.

PWA PROJECT MOVING AHEAD
Water Services on 200 Block of Cedar Street Are Replaced
The work of installing new copper water services on Cedar street in the 200 block was virtually completed yesterday, and the crews will be transferred to Oak street to replace water services there.

Some of the water services on the 300 block of Cedar street were replaced last fall and the remainder will be replaced shortly. On this block, however, the digging is almost entirely in rock formations where blasting is necessary.

New water services on River street must be installed by the contracting company of Gould and Cross, and the remainder of the River street storm sewer still must be completed. A portion of the sanitary sewer on River street will also be replaced.

Following the completion of the underground structures, the route from US-2 intersection of River street to the US-2 intersection of Oak street and Arbutus avenues will be graded and paved.

There were 11 births recorded in Manistique for the month of March. Records at the city hall disclose that of the 11 births, six were boys and seven girls.

There were seven deaths recorded during the month.

GIVEN TWO YEARS
St. Ignace, —Charles McCall, hotel clerk, who took $670 from the Travelers Hotel in St. Ignace while he was employed there last October, was sentenced to serve from two to five years in Marquette prison by Judge Victor D. Sprague.

McCall pleaded guilty before Judge Sprague when arraigned by Prosecuting Attorney Harold D. Beaton and made a full confession in which he admitted thefts from other hotels.

McCall took $165 from a Lima, Ohio hotel February 8 of this year according to his statement, and stole $65 from a Wisconsin hotel in August of 1937.

The clerk was arrested a week ago in Marquette and brought here to face charges of grand larceny. In his statement of sentence Judge Sprague recognized McCall's physical condition. He has tuberculosis. The Judge recommended that he be examined in Marquette and action taken on advice of physicians. He was taken to Marquette by Sheriff William McCauley.

RILEY CHANGES PLEA TO GUILTY

Hiawatha Man Is Charged With Statutory Assault

William Riley, of Hiawatha township, charged with statutory assault, who stood mute upon arraignment in circuit court Monday afternoon when a plea of not guilty was entered in his behalf, yesterday morning changed his plea to guilty.

Attorney J. J. Herbert was appointed Monday by Circuit Judge Runnels to defend Riley. It was planned to try Riley on the charge at this term of court, but his plea of guilty was accepted yesterday morning by the judge. Riley will be sentenced later in the session.

The trial of Conrad Holland, charged with desertion and non-support of his wife and minor children, was started yesterday morning. It was expected the case would go to the jury in the afternoon.

Jurors in the case are Evelyn Stephens, Thomas Kennedy, Gunnar Moline, P. M. Herman, Ethel Yoder, Susie Hoholik, Ludwig Hough, William D. Hall, Chester M. Tyrrell, Ralph Merwin, Harold Olsen and Gunnar Flodin.

The first witness for the people in the case was Mrs. Holland, who testified her husband left her in the spring of 1937. During the period from August 1, 1937 to February 15, 1938, her husband failed to supply her with sufficient funds to provide for her support and the support of her two minor children, she testified. She was being cross examined by Attorney Baldwin, of Munising, defense counsel, prior to the noon recess.

One other jury criminal case will be heard at this session. The case of Gerald Judd, also charged with desertion, will be tried following the Holland trial.

BIRTHDAY PARTY
Little Eileen Joy Davis entertained a group of friends at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Davis, 1201 Superior avenue, Monday afternoon, the occasion being the 8th anniversary of her birthday.

Decorations were in an Easter motif for the event and a large, attractively decorated birthday cake served as a table centerpiece. Games were enjoyed after which luncheon was served. The little guest of honor received a large number of gifts as mementoes of the occasion.

Among the guests were Mary Beth Strickland, Donna Mae Lindahl, Kathleen McGee, Roberta Moore, Patsy Anne Vandamme, Delore Bouillon, Helen Mae Wasbotten, Betty Jean Corbett, city, Jean Gamble of Escanaba, and Eleanor Roberts of Iron River.

JOHNSON-ACHBERGER
Palms and baskets of spring flowers adorned the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Johnson, 2623 South Delaware avenue, Milwaukee, Saturday afternoon when their daughter, Miss Thelma Gertrude became the bride of Eldon Edward Achberger, 1307 East Oklahoma avenue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Achberger, 916 West Bergsley avenue, Elkhart, Ind.

The Rev. Theo. Roykdal, pastor of the Methodist Trinity church, performed the impressive 2 o'clock nuptial.

During the ceremony a cello solo, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from Samson and Dallis by George Popin was rendered by Miss Dorothy Olsen, the vocal selection, "Because" by Guy D'Hardelet sung by Mrs. Barney Olsen, and a piano number, "Romance" by Rachmaninoff and "Melodie" by Maszkowski was rendered by Miss Genevieve Anderson. The traditional Lohengrin's and Mendelssohn's wedding marches were played at the processional and recessional.

For her wedding, the bride wore a beautiful white lace

NEGAUNEE NINE JOINS LEAGUE

Replaces L'Anse; Sked Being Made; Season Opens May 8

Iron Mountain, Apr. 12—Directors of the Northern Wisconsin-Michigan Baseball league wound up a lengthy meeting at the Kingsford Village Hall by admitting the Negaunee club into the six-team circuit to fill the berth vacated by L'Anse.

The Marquette county team was voted a franchise in preference to Iron River, which also sought a franchise in the league.

Other business taken up in the three-hour session included the naming of umpires, selecting the official ball, admission prices, presentation of the schedule and allotting additional money for league expenses in employing a statistician.

Present besides the league officers, President S. A. Donovan of Niagara and Secretary-Treasurer Buck Erickson of Iron Mountain, were: Escanaba, Manager Bill Puckelwitz; Niagara, Manager Roy Brown; Ford Twins, Manager Ed Kreitzer; Crystal Falls, Manager Ed Burling and South Range by proxy, (President S. A. Donovan.) Manager William Goldsworthy was spokesman for Negaunee and Iron River was represented by E. L. Naesser.

Promises Strong Team

Goldsworthy stated that his ball club has been playing in the Marquette-Alger county league for the past six years and during that time has won five championships and was runner-up in the sixth year. Goldsworthy also asserted that if Negaunee was accepted by the league, his team would be bolstered by the addition of Marquette and Ishpeming players.

After a long discussion a 4-1 vote granted Negaunee the franchise. Burling, of Crystal Falls, cast the only vote for Iron River. The league voted to adopt the Spalding No. 1 ball, the same used in the National League. Representatives of both Spalding and Wilson sporting goods companies were at the meeting. Last year the Goldsmith ball was used.

All entries but Crystal Falls submitted their lists of umpires. Following are umpires named with the No. 1 man listed first: Niagara—Allan Ronberg and Louis Ranquette; Ford Twins—Hugo Lund and Pete Baunler; Escanaba—Jake Bink, Babe Fisher and Bill Call; South Range—Garfield Baily, Arne Kolehmainen and William Perryman; and Negaunee—E. Jarvinen and J. Jerou.

To Have Statistician

Instead of going through with the original plan of raising the franchise fee to $5 to provide a salary for a league statistician, the managers voted that the fee remain the same and the money allotted to the statistician be taken from the present fee. As a result of that move, only $15, instead of $20 as in previous years, will be returned to the clubs at the end of the season. The managers agreed that the ball clubs be free to set their own admission prices.

The League Will Play a 20-game schedule opening May 8 and closing Labor day, September 5. The annual all-star game will be played on July 17. The schedule drawn up has not been finally approved and a few changes may be made. Escanaba is seeking the major change, protesting that a game scheduled at its field on Decoration day will conflict with the difficulties are expected to be ironed out this week.

Michigan Baseball Team Wins, 12 And 1

Lexington, Va., April 12 (AP)—University of Michigan's touring baseball team got back to the .500 mark in its spring training jaunt by routing Washington Lee 12 to 1 here today. The Wolverines bowled to University of Virginia 5 to 4 in their opening game yesterday.

The Generals were restricted to three hits, all of which were registered off Burt Smith, starting Wolverine pitcher. Dan Simick, who tolled the last two frames, held the Virginians hitless. Walter Peckinpah paced the Michigan attack with four hits in six trips.

Score by innings:
Michigan .. 032 003 103—12 13 2
W. & Lee .. 010 000 000—3 7 2

BRIDGES SHOWS HE CAN PITCH

Tigers Whip Atlanta, 12-3 as They Start Their Northward Jaunt

Atlanta, Ga., April 12 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers started their northward trek today with a rousing 12 to 3 victory over Atlanta, a club that always ranks among the leaders in the southern association.

With opening day of the American league race one week away, Manager Mickey Cochrane utilized the occasion to use the lineup that will face the Chicago White Sox at Comiskey park.

The game produced a number of significant performances. Among them were:

CROUCHER HAPPY

Detroit, April 12 (AP)—The happiest young man in Detroit tonight was not a Detroit—but a native of Houston, Texas.

He is Frank Croucher, Detroit Tiger rookie infielder, who is recovering in a hospital from a leg fracture suffered in a recent exhibition baseball game at Lakeland, Fla.

"The doctors not only told me I would be able to get out and see the opener a week from today but also said I could play again this year," Croucher shouted to visiting reporters.

He underwent an operation several days ago which physicians said was a complete success. They added that after proper rest Croucher should have the great speed that he flashed in practice at the Detroit camp.

he is fully entitled to start the opener by holding the crackers to seven hits, five or which were made in the first three innings.

2-Billy Rogell returned to his old post at shortstop after being laid up with an infected hand and performed in the real Rogell manner.

3-Donald Ross clinched the third base job for the time being, at least, by banging out four hits in five trips and batting in five runs.

Cincy Reds Next

From the competitive standpoint, the game was lacking because Detroit clinched it by scoring six runs in the first two innings.

Ralph Buxton, one of the many pitchers who have been cast adrift by the athletics, and Ted Pritchett, another right hander, worked for the Atlantics and gave up 17 hits which included a home run by Charley Gehringer and two doubles by Rudy York.

Detroit got two runs in the first when Roy Cullenbine walked and came home ahead of Gehringer when the latter drove the ball over the right field wall.

Pete Fox opened the second inning spurt with a single, stole second and scored on a hit by Ross. Rogell forced Ross but got to second on a bad throw on a double play attempt. Bridges walked.

Cullenbine singled, scoring Rogell. Fred Walker also singled sending Bridges home. Gehringer forced Walker, Cullenbine scoring.

From this point on the Tigers were in complete command and performed in a carefree manner. The teams battle here again tomorrow after which Detroit will head for Portsmouth, O. to open a four game series with the Cincinnati Reds.

Detroit 241 023 000—12 17 2
Atlanta 102 000 000—3 7 2

HAWKS DEFEAT LEAFS FOR CUP

Chicago Scores 4 to 1 Victory in Stanley Puck Series Final

Chicago, April 12 (AP)—The indomitable Chicago Blackhawks, one of the "longest longshots" in all sport history, scored in every period tonight to defeat the Toronto Maple Leafs 4 to 1 to win the Stanley cup and world's hockey championship.

The Hawks, who "backed" into the playoffs by losing their last three games of the regular National Hockey League season, defeated the Leafs, holders of the league title, on two sensational second-period goals by Karl Voss and Jack Shill. The tallies, which broke a 1-1 deadlock indirectly led to an unneeded third period counter to clinch a third victory for the Chicagoans in four starts against Toronto in the final playoff series, determined on a best-of-five basis.

The Hawks, in winning their second Stanley cup, trounced the speedy Leafs with a dogged fighting spirit which marked their battle from sixth place at the close of the regular season to rulers of the ice game world.

Scoring within the first six minutes on Cully Dahlstrom's counter, the Hawks saw the high-geared Toronto club, overwhelming favorites to win the cup before the final skrimish began, roar back for the tying goal, scored by Gordon Drillon, with help from Jimmy Fowler.

Undaunted, the Chicagoans battled the Leafs evenly through three quarters of the second period and then scored two goals on two spectacular plays within one minute and 13 seconds. Karl Voss, veteran obtained by the Hawks from Montreal's Maroons, literally stole the puck from under the noses of the defenseless Fowler and Reg Hamilton and rifled a 10-foot shot past Goalle Walter Broda to put the Hawks out in front.

Only a few plays later Jack Shill scored a third counter, one which will take its place in hockey's "book." Obviously playing defensively, Shill idly lifted the puck into the air toward the Leaf net, flicking the disc from a spot fully 110 feet from the Toronto cage. Goalle Broda came out, dropped confidently in his knees to make what appeared as another routine stop, and then saw the rubber bounce over his stick and roll into the trine.

The goals forced the Leafs to open up in the third and this aided Chicago to a score by Mush March, diminutive forward. Taking a pass from Doc Romnes, March rifled a shot from right wing to beat Broda with less than four minutes of play remaining.

During the entire final period Chicago, led by Goalle Mike Karakas, fought off a desperate Leaf bid which had the crowd of 17,294 in a constant uproar. While the attendance was capacity, it did not closely approach the 18,496 gathering which set a league record last Sunday.

Rally In Seventh Gives Cubs Victory

Wichita, Kas., April 12 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs spotted the St. Louis Browns five runs and then beat them 9 to 7, in a seventh inning rally here this afternoon.

The victory gave the Cubs a one game lead in the six-game series which will end tomorrow at Kansas City.

The Browns jumped into the lead behind young Ed Cole who pitched five hitless innings. He was relieved by Harry Kimberlain at the start of the seventh after Chicago broke the ice with two runs in the sixth. A double, triple and home run by Hack, Herman and Cavarretta tied the score. Marty doubled and sent Kimberlain to the showers in favor of Julio Bonetti, who was unable to stop the attack as the Cubs blasted out three more hits for three runs.

WHITE SOX LOSE 14TH

Shawnee, Okla., April 12 (AP)—Jumping on two young hurlers for 15 hits, the Pittsburgh Pirates trounced the hapless Chicago White Sox 10 to 2 today. It was Pittsburgh's third win in four games with the Sox and a 14th defeat for the American leaguers in 20 exhibition starts this spring.

Bill Cox was nixed for four runs in the Pirates' first time at bat and gave up as many more tallies before being replaced by John Rigney in the fifth.

TEN STRAIGHT FOR CARDS

Pine Bluff, Ark., April 12 (AP)—Frankie Frisch's Cardinals won their tenth straight spring training game, 2 to 0, from the Pine Bluff team of the class C Cotton states league here today.

The game went scoreless for seven innings, then the Redbirds converted a pair of errors, one hit and two stolen bases into victory. The Cardinal regulars retired from play in the last half of the sixth.

IRON MOUNTAIN BOY IS COACH

Everett Larson Tutors Frosh Diamond Aces at Lake Forest.

Lake Forest, Ill., April 12—Everett Larson, of Iron Mountain, freshman football and basketball coach at Lake Forest college, has taken over the duties of coaching the frosh baseball team this spring while Louis A. Keller, regular frosh coach, is occupied with writing his doctor's thesis.

Larson, who was graduated from Lake Forest college in 1937, took over his duties as freshman coach and director of intramural athletics at the beginning of this year. After successful football and basketball seasons, he is looking forward to a good year in baseball inasmuch as several of the freshmen have shown a great deal of promise in practice.

While at Lake Forest, Larson won three varsity letters in football and basketball and two in baseball. On the grid squad, Larson was the hard-charging, full-back that the Jones system requires, and in his senior year was elected honorary captain of the team. In basketball, he was an exceptional defensive guard; and was a member of the pitching staff on the baseball squad.

Other Iron Mountain boys participating in Lake Forest college athletics are John Biolo and Douglas Anderson. Biolo, a junior, has won two varsity football letters, and was one of the outstanding guards on the squad last fall. Anderson, a sophomore, won his varsity football letter this year as a halfback, and was a member of the varsity basketball squad.

On the Record

By Dorothy Thompson

Under the bill the Administrator is authorized among other things, to "plan, establish, supervise and co-ordinate employee training programs and similar activities of the various branches of government, and make available to such agencies any employee training facilities at his disposal, and... assist in the installation of personnel standards, practices or policies for any agency of the government."

An Administrator and Board, therefore, subject to no guarantee that it shall be non-political, can decide what constitutes the equipment of a civil servant.

There is nothing in this bill to prevent them from requiring that all candidates pass an examination in the New Deal philosophy. Again I am not suggesting that they would, I am only suggesting that they could, under the terms of this bill.

My perhaps too suspicious mind suggests that it might be possible for such a Board to demand of all candidates for public office under the Civil Service something of the same sort of requirement that was put into the T. V. A. Act to govern its Administrators—namely, that they shall be persons who "profess faith in the feasibility and wisdom of this chapter."

After all, the administrative requirements in the single-party states require that all shall profess faith in the feasibility and wisdom of the Leader's policies. And one way to make a single-party state is to create a single-party bureaucracy.

Not only did the original recommendations of the Committee provide that the Administrator should be selected on a competitive basis under the merit system, but it proposed that a lay board of seven members should be set up as "a watch dog of the merit system."

It pointed out that "the commission is now obligated both to administer and to appraise and criticize its own administration. These functions are basically incompatible. An effective appraisal, critical and constructive, must be entirely detached from execution."

And it suggested that "no person should be eligible for membership if, at any time within five years preceding the date of his appointment, he has been a member or officer of any local, state or national political party committee, or has held or been a candidate for any elective public office."

Another object of the proposed Board was "to protect the service from the dangers of bureaucracy, spoils and deadly routine, and to advise the President and the Congress on weaknesses in personnel administration, policies and practices."

To all of which this column says: Amen! But no such Board is provided for in the bill.

And it is therefore perfectly legitimate to ask: Why, if the Administration, which is responsible for the proposed legislation, really wanted Civil Service reform, did it reject precisely those proposals of its own Committee which would have furthered genuine reform?

Why did it keep only that part of the proposals which centralizes power?

Smelt King's Family Has Corner on Firstbasemen

The Royal Family of Smeltania, presided over by King Norman Hill, also has another claim to distinction—one in the sporting world.

Norm's dad was a first baseman, Norm was a first sacker and now young Arthur is cavorting about the initial sack.

Hill's father was a first baseman on the Buffalo Athletic Club, which won the championship in the 90's. One was a 12 inning game against the Detroit A. C. captained by John Wolfe, former mayor of Detroit.

King Norman himself played first base on the University of Michigan team years ago at the same time that Dr. John (Jack) Welch of this city did.

Now comes his lanky son, Arthur, tall, handsome blond, who made such a hit with the Escanaba girls on his visit here with his dad during the smelt jamboree. Art, whose big interest just at this time is baseball, played first base on the Central high school team in Manila, when his dad served as executive secretary to Frank Murphy, then governor-general of the Philippine Islands.

Art now is a candidate for the same job at Mason high school, about 12 miles from Lansing, where the Hills reside.

Art prefers living on the Islands to the United States except for one thing—baseball. He says he enjoys being able to see a major league game occasionally. He has the perfect build of a first baseman, being about six feet two in height and weighing in the vicinity of 180 pounds with prospects of putting on more weight.

PERFECT SCORE ROLLED IN ABC

Conneaut, Ohio, Kegeler Hits 300 for Medal and $50 Cash

Chicago, April 12 (AP)—Mike Blazek of Conneaut, Ohio, rolled a perfect 300 game in the American Bowling Congress today. He became the fifth man in the 38 year history of bowling's world series to pitch 12 consecutive strikes straight and true down the drives.

Blazek entered the bowling hall of fame on his last game. He bowled 610 Monday night with the Renner Beer team. He completed his doubles today with 614.

His first singles game produced only scores of 171 and 145. One more game and Blazek was through with the 1938 A. B. C. with an undistinguished record.

His last game set the Conneaut bowler apart from the thousands who had preceded him in the six week old tournament.

It was not Blazek's first 300 game. Four times previously the Ohioan has reached perfect figures, on one occasion he cleaned the drives 24 times in a row for two perfect games. But, on new A. B. C. alleys under tournament conditions, a 300 score is more difficult to achieve.

Blazek's game did him no good in the singles or all-events ratings. His two mediocre games pulled him down to a 616 total in the singles and 1840 in the combined standings.

Ervin Roloff and Allie Rogahn of Milwaukee started out headed for the doubles leadership today. After accumulating 903 pins in the first two games, they needed but 433 more for the lead. They slipped to

HORSES AT TOP OF THEIR FORM

Purse of $100,000 Posted for Big Event on Memorial Day

BY ORLO ROBERTSON
New York, April 12 (AP)—The Westchester Racing Association today posted a $100,000 purse for a match between War Admiral and Seabiscuit at Belmont Park, but selected Decoration Day instead of the September date, previously proposed.

The board of directors, headed by Vice-President C. V. Whitney, agreed unanimously that the "race of the century" should be run as soon as possible. They pointed out that right now public interest is high, the two horses are sound and at the top of their racing form.

Samuel Riddle, owner of War Admiral, immediately accepted the new date and late tonight Charles S. Howard, California owner of Seabiscuit, informed Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the New York State Racing Commission, by telephone, that he approved the date. He said Seabiscuit might be shipped to New York Saturday after the running of the Bay Meadows handicap at San Mateo.

Howard made only one stipulation: That Red Pollard the jockey who guided Seabiscuit in all but two of his races, be permitted to ride his horse. Pollard was thrown three months ago and broke his shoulder and collarbone. He was on the sidelines when Seabiscuit lost to Aneroid, and to Staghound in the Santa Anita handicap.

Pollard appears completely recovered and will be given a thorough examination by surgeons tomorrow.

Much Public Interest
Riddle commented, "a four-year old would stand a better chance against a five-year old in the fall, but we're willing to take a chance."

Seabiscuit's most important engagement of the summer is the $50,000 Hollywood gold cup at the New Inglewood, Calif., track, July 16, War Admiral is scheduled to go in the $20,000 Suburban handicap, originally slated for Decoration Day at Belmont. The Admiral is also a nominee for the $50,000 Massachusetts handicap at Suffolk Downs, June 29.

Belmont proposes to run the match race at a mile and a quarter, weight-for-age.

Whitney, who presided in the absence of Joseph E. Widener, president, said he personally was opposed to match races and extravagant purses but yielded to public interest.

Kalamazoo Opens With Notre Dame

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 12 (AP)—Western State Teachers' college starts its baseball campaign here Thursday against Notre Dame, Western's original opener with Illinois was cancelled because of bad weather.

379 and their 1282 total left them well out of the running. It was lottless two-man count of the day.

A. B. C. officials announced tonight that a check of games rolled Sunday by Leonard Dettloff of Detroit gave him a total of 1937 in the all-events standings, instead of 1938, and placed him in a tie for fifth with Cliff Roblings of Columbus, Ohio.

Blazek's perfect game was not without profit, even though he failed to crack the leading group. He will get a diamond-set gold medal and a cash prize of $50 for high individual game.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER (Associated Press Financial Writer) New York, April 12 (AP)—Steel shares stepped out in front of a wavering stock market today and provided leadership for a mild forward push just before the close.

Apparently taking this as a hint steel reports generally for the first quarter would not be as bad as many had expected, traders boarded the steel for a ride.

However, buying lacked the kick it had on the broad upswing from the March lows, culminating last Saturday's spectacular upsurge after the house defeat of the reorganization bill.

Washington reports that opposition was brewing in congress against large-scale renewal of federal spending to prod business check inflationary sentiment in check.

Recovery in the bond market lost further headway and rails yielded some of the recent gains as investment circles studied the Splawn report submitted to congress by President Roosevelt, suggesting government loans for equipment purchases.

A memorable episode in Wall Street history was marked by announcement of the sale of Richard Whitney as the former five-times president of the exchange was imprisoned for $59,000, up $7,000 from the previous transaction.

Wheat at Chicago dropped 1/2 to 7-8 cent a bushel and corn was off 1-8 to 5-8. Cotton futures were 45 to 60 cents a bale higher.

TOURIST WORK IS BETTERED

Improving Services of Industry Planned By Bureau

Lansing, April 11 (AP)—George H. Fern, head of the State Bureau of Vocational Education, disclosed plans today for a scientific program of improving the services offered by Michigan's tourist and resort industry.

Fern said schools of instruction would be conducted throughout the state to teach unemployed Michigan young men and women such things as the science of housekeeping for the tourist trade, and the need for courtesies that will make the visitor feel at home.

The schools will also offer tips on beautifying the premises of commercially operated resorts, the operation of a restaurant from waitress to management, and the latest developments in sanitation.

Fern said hundreds of men and women come to Michigan from other states every year and find jobs in enterprises connected with the tourist and resort industry.

Many Walk Streets

"Meanwhile," he continued, "the young men and women of Michigan walk the streets in futile search for jobs, because they lack the experience the resort operators require. We will give them the opportunity to acquire that experience, so Michigan can give its jobs to its own citizens."

He said two types of courses were planned, but that that "learn-by-doing" methods would be employed in each. He contemplated an intensive three week course, with the students devoting four hours a day to their study and a longer course with instructions for two hours a day.

Classes In Resorts

The classes will be conducted at modern resorts and resort hotels for the most part, he said, with leaders in the industry supplying much of the teaching staff. The assistance of home economics teachers in the public schools and colleges also will be enlisted.

Fern said he would confer at Dowagiac next week with B. R. Proulx, in charge of the hotel administration course at Michigan State College; Carl Horn, superintendent of Dowagiac schools, and a group of resort operators to complete plans.

"The course will be designed particularly for unemployed young persons who have completed their regular schooling," Fern explained. "We probably will conduct schools in the vicinity of Dowagiac, Muskegon, Petoskey, Traverse City, Eastern Michigan resort centers and the Upper Peninsula."

KruGon Showed Him Steady Improvement

Says "Every Sufferer Should Profit From KruGon's Use"; Rheumatism Pains Yield to New Remedy; Kidneys, Stomach Regulated

orders and rheumatism. Also constipation had filled my body with poisons. I could not eat a single meal but that the suffering which followed was almost more than I could endure with indigestion, bloating and shortness of breath. Rheumatism finally got its hold on me, keeping me in constant pain. I was forced to get up many times during the night with my kidneys, lost much rest and sleep and was nervous, tired and worn-out all of the time. KruGon has been wonderful for me—even after all other medicines had failed."

"My health troubles were easily solved by this new KruGon," continued Mr. Randolph. "I am enjoying the best health I have had in years. These poisonous impurities are now regulated, constipation corrected and even those awful rheumatism pains have been relieved. It is wonderful that a single medicine could accomplish so much... after all else had failed."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.
