

TO BEAUTIFY SAND ISLAND

Willows, Cedar And Rye Grass Will Be Planted

Steps will be taken this week to seed and beautify Sand Island in the Escanaba yacht basin, the project to be undertaken through the joint sponsorship of the Escanaba Yacht club, Escanaba Boy Scouts and the U. S. Forest Service, with the cooperation of the city of Escanaba.

The island will be planted with willows, cedars and rye grass, which will not only make it one of the beauty spots of the south shore, but will keep the sand from blowing into the harbor. The project is looked upon as a good start toward the eventual beautification of the south shore, and will make Sand Island a cool and secluded spot for picnics and out-of-door meetings.

The Escanaba Boy Scouts, under the supervision of Scout Executive B. W. Phillips, will start cutting willow branches from the Stack property, just north of the old South Park, after school Thursday evening. Cutting also will be done Friday afternoon, and branches will be tied in bundles for planting on Saturday. The planting will be done under the supervision of Leonard Ashbaugh of the Forest Service.

CZECH UNREST IS CAUSED BY NAZI THREATS

months to a day after their predecessors came here on a similar mission.

The growing demands of the Sudeten German (Nazi) party in Czechoslovakia, with apparent encouragement from Berlin, made the fate of the central European democracy one of the most urgent questions before the ministers.

Joined with it was the whole issue of German expansion—whether this would have to be met eventually by force or could be checked by diplomacy.

Mussolini May Help

France's defensive alliance with Czechoslovakia made this a subject of vital concern to her especially, but Daladier was cold toward a possible four-power pact linking Germany with Britain, France and Italy to keep peace.

The ministers apparently planned their hopes of solving peacefully the Czechoslovak problem on the conciliation of the government and the Sudeten Germans with the possible aid of Premier Mussolini's influence on Reichschancellor Hitler.

The Anglo-French conferences will start mainly from the new positions in which Italy and Germany are placed—Italy by her agreement with Britain and her anticipated accord with France; Germany by her annexation of Austria.

The conversations, like those of last November, will cover the whole range of world problems, including possible ways of increasing the collaboration of the United States with the two leading old world democracies.

ELIGIBLE FOR PENSION

Detroit (AP)—John R. Norris, discharged city detective who has been held on a bigamy charge, became eligible Tuesday for a police pension when recorder's Judge John J. Maher ordered him committed to the Ionia State hospital. The bigamy charge will be held in abeyance pending recovery.

Escanaba Roleo Ass'n Formed To Promote Birling

Organization of the Escanaba Roleo association, which will have charge of plans for the world's championship log rolling tournament to be held in Escanaba August 12 to 14, has been announced here.

In addition to making arrangements for the Escanaba Roleo, the association will interest itself in promoting public interest in the oldtime lumberjacks' sport. Efforts will be made to foster the greater use of birling exhibitions as attractions at water carnivals, historical pageants, fairs and amusement parks, and also to interest the younger generation in taking up the sport.

Last year, 26 birlers from Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Washington participated in the championship contest held in Escanaba, and this year an effort will be made to secure entries from Maine, Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario, Idaho, Oregon and British Columbia.

Joe Connor, Cloquet, Minn., University of Minnesota forestry student, won the world's championship at the Escanaba Roleo last August, defeating Wilbur Marx, Eau Claire, Wis., who had held the birling title for 10 years. Laura Marchand, Cloquet, Minn., won the women's title in the first world championship tournament held for members of her sex.

Enthusiastic birling enthusiasts will serve in official positions in the Escanaba Roleo association. The officers are: President, George T. Springer, Minneapolis; vice president, Nicholas J. Nika, Munising; secretary-treasurer, R. C. Pryal, Escanaba; tournament manager, J. R. Andrews, Escanaba; head referee, Charles M. Sheridan, Washburn, Wis.; and publicity director, Wm. J. Duchaine, Escanaba.

The following were named on the board of directors: Joe Connor, Cloquet, Minn.; Wilbur Marx, Eau Claire, Wis.; William F. Girard, Gladstone; Joseph Stauber, Marinette, Wis.; Walter Swanson, Quilcene, Wash.; Harold Fischer, Stillwater, Minn.; Carl J. Sawyer, Escanaba; A. L. Ford, Chicago; Stewart H. Holbrook, Portland, Ore.; and Stewart Edward White, Burlingame, Calif. Holbrook and White are well known authors of lumberjack stories.

legislators and political onlookers appear inclined to doubt that any very definite decision will be taken publicly at the Wisconsin rally, whatever develops as to possibilities of third party spade work, particularly in the highly agricultural states of the midwest. The C. I. O. idea, no less than that of the Progressive followers of the LaFollette, is for a Farmer-Labor alliance. Without it, chances of either group to take national political power would be slim.

The Wisconsin rally could be a beginning of a liberal farm party just as the C. I. O. drive in Pennsylvania and New York City is held to be the start of a labor party. When and around what leadership they might unite by 1940 into a national liberal party nobody yet suggests, unless Sena-

U. P. VETERANS PLAN MEETING

D. A. V. And Auxiliary To Hold Conference At Iron Mountain

Cloverland Chapter of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War will be host to delegations from Escanaba and other cities at a meeting to be held at the K. of P. hall in Iron Mountain 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening, April 30.

At 7:30 p. m., a conference will be held in the clubrooms, with talks by Allen concerning the laws passed by the congress for the benefit of the war-time disabled. V. convention to be held at Grand Rapids in August, and a report by Barum, relative to the Michigan set-up for the care of needy children of disabled veterans.

The conference will be followed by a dance and other entertainment. Admission to all events will be free to members.

Borah Leads Fight On Naval Expansion

Washington, April 26. (AP)—Senator Borah (R-Idaho) threw the weight of his famed oratory against the $1,155,546,000 naval expansion program today, asserting in the senate that British policy had eliminated the danger of a struggle between "dictatorships and democracies."

The real danger in the world, the veteran told his colleagues, was "imperialism," and unless this country intended to "police the entire world against imperialism," the proposed expansion of the navy was not necessary.

For Norris' comment as to Roosevelt third-term possibilities points that way.

Boyce President Of Hiawathaland Notre Dame Club

Dr. Donald Boyce of this city was named president of the Hiawathaland Club of Notre Dame at a meeting held Monday night at Menominee.

Dr. Donald Boyce

Other officers elected were: Vice president, V. C. Wojcikowski, Kingsford; Michael Corry, Marinette, secretary; and Michael Khouy, Marquette, treasurer.

Those present at the meeting at Menominee were shown pictures of the Notre Dame-Navy game by Joseph Laerman, former student manager.

A TORNADO means DESTRUCTION

What state, city or community is next to make the headlines with "Tornado Strikes -- Damage runs into Millions"? Is it this one? Who can tell? Government weather bureau statistics show a 20-year average of over 140 serious windstorms annually with property losses above 37 millions in this country. No section of the country is immune from windstorms and there is no way to stop them -- no way to prevent loss. Tornado Insurance is the only means of recovering losses.

An EMPLOYERS MUTUAL Tornado policy can be written to cover your business or residence property, garages, warehouses, etc., and their contents -- to include signs, awnings, smoke stacks, etc. Damage from hail can be incorporated in the policy. Rates are standard, but policyholders share the earnings of the company and through Dividends, which have never been less than 25%, substantial premium savings may be realized. Further savings are offered on policies issued for periods of more than one year. Let us give you further information about the company and its Tornado policies. Address the office below.

TRY TO OBTAIN BOY'S RETURN

Roach Kidd's Relatives Want To Bring Him Back From Spain

Relatives of Roach Kidd, 18, who has been fighting with the loyalist forces in Spain, are making an effort through Washington circles to have the Escanaba youth released from military service and returned to his home here.

Palmer Jorgenson, a half-brother, said that a plea was sent to the loyalist government in Spain that the boy be released because he is under age, but the war minister replied that it would be necessary to secure a birth certificate, bearing the official seal of the state of Michigan. The Kidd youth used the name of an older brother, Stephen, now deceased, in applying for a passport to leave this country. Relatives here have secured an authentic birth certificate and have forwarded it to Secretary of State Leon S. Case for affixing of the seal. The certificate will then be forwarded to Congressman John Luecke, who will take up the matter with the state department.

Kidd wrote to relatives here that his "best friend" had been killed by the rebel army, and as a result he was determined now to remain in the fight until the end to avenge his companion's death. The contents of this letter gave rise to the rumor that William Connelly, who went to Spain with Kidd, had been killed, but his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Connelly, 303 South 14th street, stated that the report is untrue. Two other Escanaba youths, Donald Girard and Roy Anderson, also joined the Spanish loyalists in the war against General Franco's insurgents.

Ammunition for Tourney Sent In Exchange For Escanaba Smelt

Free marbles are being distributed to players who are signed up to compete in the "mbs" tournament which will be held at the Junior high school grounds next Saturday afternoon. Play will commence at 1:30 o'clock.

The marbles, a product of Ottawa, Ill., were sent to the Escanaba Smelt Jamboree by the Greater Ottawa Association in exchange for a souvenir box of Escanaba smelt which was consumed at a club meeting April 8. They are manufactured by the Pettit Glass company, and are in assorted colors.

Those wishing to enter the tournament must sign an official entry blank, printed elsewhere in this issue of the Press, and turn it in at the city recreation building, South 14th street, or the Press office.

All competitors are expected to show that they have practiced enough so that they are able to shoot in the official fashion, which requires them to knuckle down and shoot without hunching.

TELEPHONE RATES HAVE BEEN REDUCED IN FIVE SUCCESSIVE YEARS — 1934-1938 —

Those reductions, made in the face of substantially increased labor and material costs and taxes, mean an annual saving of more than $3,000,000 to Michigan telephone users.

The handset telephone charge was reduced and then eliminated. Rural line rates were reduced. Service connection and various other charges were cut sharply. And there have been 17 items of reduction in long distance rates, many of them applying to intrastate calls, in the past 11 years.

There is a type of telephone service to fit every need and every pocketbook. We will gladly give you details about how cheaply you can have telephone service if you will call, write or visit the Telephone Business Office.

Mrs. S. R. Adam Was 'Snow White' Of Escanaba Play

Escanaba's first "Snow White" in the production of some years ago, which the coming of the famous Disney film, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," has brought to the mind of many residents here, was Mrs. S. R. Adam, of 923 First avenue south, the former Maude M. Kitchen, sister of Dr. C. B. Kitchen and Dr. A. S. Kitchen.

Mrs. Adam, charming and cultured, recalled many details of the production, during a visit with her yesterday. The play, which was presented at the old Peterson Opera House, was in the form of an operetta, and Mrs. Adam, who had just finished boarding school in Toronto, and who had taken a large class of voice and piano pupils in Escanaba, sang the soprano role of the lovely princess, "Snow White."

"Prince Charming" was the late Ted Turner, who possessed a glorious tenor voice; the Huntsman was Elmer Van Valkenburg, now a resident of Los Angeles, Calif., who visited in Escanaba a year ago; and the late Mrs. Hugh Robertson, as you know, was the Queen. The choruses of fairies and dwarfs included many names well known in Escanaba.

Prominent in presenting the operetta of the beloved fairy story, which was given several repeat performances because of popular demand, was O. R. Hardy, who was teaching in Escanaba at the time, and who at the time of his death in 1929, was one of the leading financial figures in the country. Tribute to his artistry in making Escanaba's first "Snow White" and the "Seven Dwarfs" a memorable production, was given yesterday by everyone who recalled the play.

Richard Carlton Is Director Of Fisher School Glee Clubs

Richard Carlton, the son of Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Carlton of Escanaba and a student of the University of Illinois school of music, is directing glee clubs and vocal soloists at Fisher, Ill., and has trained one group which will compete in the Illinois State music contest for high school students at Champaign this coming week-end. Carlton, who is a graduate of Escanaba high school and gained much of his preliminary music training in the local schools, has been directing the Fisher high school vocal groups since the illness of their instructor a few months ago. In a district contest held at Fairbury, to determine eligibility for the state meet, his boys' glee club was given top rating.

Conference On Americanism To Be Held Tonight

An Americanism conference for Legion Posts and Auxiliary units of the upper eleven districts, and all others interested in the subject, will be held this evening at a 6:30 o'clock dinner at St. Patrick's parish hall.

The dinner will be served by members of the Cloverland Auxiliary unit of this city. The program of the dinner, of which Miss Gertrude Grandchamp, Americanism chairman in charge of the upper peninsula, will be toastmaster, will have as its main speaker, C. W. Flanagan, who will speak on the subject of the conference. Also prominent on the program will be Mrs. Lottie Weber of Manistiquette, upper eleven district committeewoman, who is scheduled to give the response to Mrs. Nancy Petry's welcome, and also to speak briefly later in the evening.

The music features of the program will include a solo by Mrs. John Bartel, and accordion music by the Helgemo brothers, as well as assembly singing with Mrs. George McGilgan, accompanist. Mrs. A. L. Stimp, chaplain of the local unit, will give the invocation. It is expected that the meeting tonight will be attended by representatives of a number of Posts and Auxiliary units in the peninsula, as well as by a large number of residents of Escanaba and neighboring communities.

Could Hardly Do Her Work So Crippled With Rheumatism; KruGon Again Does Its Work Without Fail.

"KruGon has accomplished for me what all else failed to do," said Mrs. Rosanna Lafleur, 1300 Ludington street, Escanaba, Michigan. "For fifteen years I had been troubled with rheumatism in my limbs, hips and back—I was in constant pain and my work was terribly difficult in this condition. My kidneys did not function properly either up many times during the night, sleep or rest was out of the question, lost my appetite and was always tired and worn-out. I tried many different kinds of medicines doing my best to get relief—but meeting only with repeated failure. Then I was persuaded to give this new KruGon a trial—it proved to be the very medicine I should have had years ago.

"KruGon actually amazed me with the manner in which it took hold of my case," continued Mrs. Lafleur. "Those dreadful rheumatic pains are now being driven from my body, kidneys and bowels regulated and poisons removed that had been bothering me for years. Even my appetite is returning, sleep much better and that tired, worn-out feeling has been relieved. I am thankful I learned of KruGon for I had been searching years for just such a medicine."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.

Famous Disney "Snow White" to Open Here Today

An event, surely not the least of those marking the incessant progress of motion picture entertainment, is the current advent to the screen of the sumptuously produced full-length animated feature, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" in Technicolor, with music and dialogue, a challenge to the major dramatic features of Hollywood. This remarkable example of the work of Walt Disney—creator of "Mickey Mouse" and the "Silly Symphonies"—as an evolution from the half-reel, one-reel and two-reel subjects, has struck the amusement world with a force parallel to the effect made by the transition of pictures from "silent" to sound.

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," three years in the making, had its origin between the covers of one of the most widely circulated and popular books known to civilization—the Grimms' tales. This compilation of legendary folk lore and the madcap, magical doings of sprites, goblins, and other mysterious little people, first appeared in print about 100 years ago. It was translated into every civilized language and brought undying fame to its brother-authors, Jacob Ludwig and Wilhelm Carl Grimm. It is now delighting its wider public in Walt Disney's achievement, admittedly the climax of all animated screen treatment of fanciful characters.

Since 1934 five hundred and seventy artists were employed on the production, which, completed in December, 1937, runs over an hour on the screen. At a conservative estimate 2,000,000 sketches were made for the picture every drawing having been redrawn three or four times.

Millions of fans who revelled with unrestrained delight at the whimsical adventures of "Mickey Mouse" will discern a similar spirit of scintillating fun in "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," especially when birds and animals take part in the action. But the full-length feature, operating over a wider range, provides diverse entertainment of a kind the screen has never offered before.

One hardly expects to find the strength of yirle drama among the audience-pleasing attributes of such a flight into the realms of fancy as "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." Yet it is there in generous quantity, carrying a double appeal to juveniles and adults. The rare feat has been accomplished of combining dramatic thrills and infinite pathos with the exquisite, delicately enchanting atmosphere of fabled Gnomeland, lulling tunes, merry, catchy songs and bewitchingly graceful dances.

Dr. Robert Lazowski has returned from a vacation visit with relatives in Detroit.

OPTIMIST vs. PESSIMIST

Ollie Emrich is Definitely the First Type, as His Play of Today's Hand Shows.

In bridge as in other things, the experts can be divided into two groups—optimists and pessimists. One who undoubtedly belongs in the optimist class is Ollie Emrich, who will be one of the stars at the annual Ohio State Tournament, conducted by the Northern Ohio unit of the American Contract Bridge League in Cleveland, April 26-30.

The optimist often undertakes difficult contracts, and thus his play must be very fine. Here is a case where Emrich had his work cut out. The North player felt that if Emrich could bid five diamonds by himself, there should be a play for six, with his two queens and four trumps.

The opening lead was ruffed with the ace of trumps, to leave plenty of trump re-entries in dummy. Now the seven of diamonds was overtaken with the nine, and the queen of spades led.

East covered and Emrich now cashed all of his spades, to prevent an exit in that suit. Next the diamond three was overtaken with dummy's five, and the heart seven ruffed with the diamond king.

The four of diamonds was led, the six in dummy winning. Next the heart queen was led, and Emrich did not ruff, instead discarding the club ten.

West won, but the last two tricks and his contract went to South for a well-played hand.

Contract Problem (Solution in next issue)

South's contract is three no trump. The opening lead of the diamond five is covered by the eight in dummy. Can you plan the play from this point, as South did, to fulfill the contract?

What Next in Spain?

H. V. Kaltenborn, Europe's two leading Fascist writers are doing somewhat better by General Franco.

Spain's revolution promises to end as it began, with Germany and Italy playing the major part in General Franco's drive for power. While President Lebrun of democratic France receives the new ambassador of Government by expressing his "unalterable sympathy and promising the "entire cooperation" of the French Government to Loyalist Spain, European powers are doing somewhat better by General Franco.

Mussolini's Black Arrow Division, which played a prominent part in Franco's drive to the Mediterranean, is still battering away at Tortosa, where staunch Loyalist defenders have held it in check for two weeks. On the Franco-Spanish border the Germans are apparently in complete control of operations. This should be of particular interest to the French Government, since Hitler, unlike Mussolini, has made no promise to Prime Minister Chamberlain that he will withdraw his forces from Spain when the war is over.

On Thursday a new type of Junkers bomber was tried out on this frontier, and succeeded in killing the usual number of women and children. German staff officers are establishing themselves at strategic points along the Pyrenees to direct the operations which are to cut contact between Franco and Loyalist Spain.

Meanwhile General Franco has been made certain of victory by his preponderant supply of German and Italian technicians, planes, tanks and artillery. He has begun to look toward the future. This week he delivered an address in which, after declaring that the war has been won—he did not add by whom—he outlined his plans for organizing his new government. They make it clear that Spain under Franco will have a totalitarian regime which includes a potpourri of ideas developed in Moscow, Rome and Berlin. The Generalissimo declares that his totalitarian state is to be peculiarly Spanish, but there is nothing Spanish about the program he has laid down.

The 26-Point Program
Just a year ago General Franco issued his first decree of unification. At the same time he made the 26 points of the Spanish Fascists, called Falangists, the basis of his new state. He has just reiterated his adherence to this program.

Let us examine some of these points.

1. The interests of Spain supersede those of the individual.
2. This is another way of saying that the state is not made for man but man is made for the state.
3. Spain must be a unit. Separatism is an unforgivable crime.
4. This provision condemns Spain to an unending series of revolutions in the Basque provinces and Catalonia. For centuries the determination to achieve measure of autonomy has dominated the Basques and Catalonians. They have their own history, language and culture and will not accept complete identification with a totalitarian state.
5. We want a totalitarian state without political parties, inorganic suffrage, political battles or parliament.
6. This means that the people can have no part in their government.
7. Spain is to be considered a gigantic syndicate of producers. We will organize the state on a corporative basis by a system of vertical production syndicates.
8. We repudiate the capitalist system, since this ignores the needs of the people, debauches the institution of private property and drives the workers into an ignorant mass subject to misery and desperation.
9. Moscow provided the inspiration for these two provisions. They sound much more like Communism than Fascism and prove again that there is little fundamental difference between totalitarian states, whether they begin with Marx or Mussolini.

Disappointment for Landowners
Franco's program also provides that wealth must be devoted to improving the condition of the people; that banks and all important public services are to be nationalized; that every one will have to work and that the land is to be redistributed.

If all these provisions are carried out, the big landowners who have supported General Franco against the socially minded Spanish republic will be disappointed. As the largest single land owner in Spain, the Church will also suffer. Nor is there much comfort for the Church in the only article of Franco's program in which it is mentioned. Falangist leaders in Rebel Spain assured me that the Church would never again be permitted to interfere in Spain's political life.

On many of the 26 points of Franco's program, government and Rebel Spain could have agreed. It is to the eternal shame of the Chamberlain Government in England that it did not make the slightest effort to prevent further useless bloodshed by mediating between Barcelona and Salamanca. That would have been

Easter Cruise

BY MARION WHITE Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday, Isobel has her left-down when the mysterious Mr. Gregory is arrested for embezzlement with plenty of time to let his heels cool.

CHAPTER XVIII
The social climax of the cruise was the Fancy Dress Ball the following evening. No passenger, no matter how conservative, was immune to the excitement of it. Few of them however, were prepared to the extent of having brought their own costumes.

"But I haven't a thing to wear!" Joyce protested to Dr. Gray, "and I hate rented clothes."

"Never mind. Mrs. Bates will fix you up with something. Why a young girl like you can't stay out of a Fancy Dress Ball!"

"I'm not going to dress up!" Dick declared emphatically.

"Of course you are," the doctor ordered. "I've got just the suit for you, down in my cabin. You come along with me."

Their protests were of no avail. They would go to the ball, and they would be dressed up. Mrs. Bates was waiting outside of Joyce's cabin.

"The doctor said you wanted a costume, miss," she offered cheerfully.

"The doctor said I had to have a costume," Joyce corrected with a smile.

Mrs. Bates nodded brightly. "I'll fix you up right smart. The doctor has a Pilgrim costume for the young man—a John Alden outfit, you Americans call it. How would you like to go along as Priscilla?"

"Well, since I must dress up, I can't think of anything that would please me better. John Alden and Priscilla were practically next-door neighbors of mine."

So the stewardess was off to some hidden recess in the linen closet, from whence she returned promptly with a quaint gray costume, freshly laundered, voluminous with petticoats, and a stiff, starched white shawl and bonnet. Within half an hour, Joyce emerged as a demure Pilgrim maid, lacking only her prayerbook and spinning wheel.

"Mind the petticoats," Mrs. Bates cautioned. "They're only on a drawing-string."

Up in front of the purser's office, she met a young man whose costume, even to the high-crowned hat and the buckle-boots, proclaimed him a fitting companion to her own sedate state, but whose bright blue eyes danced with a happy abandon which would have disbarred him instantly from the stately ranks of the old Puritan elders.

"So, my lovely Priscilla!" he beamed. "Think not that I come to speak of our Captain Miles Standish this merry evening!"

She laughed. "You look as if you could speak of yourself, John!"

Together they went up to the lounge, all cleared now of furniture and rugs, with the hardwood floor waxed and polished for the dancing.

They wandered through a vague wonderland of familiar faces. Not only here in the lounge, but all over the ship, strange creatures popped into sight. Ghosts and skeletons roamed the deserted decks and booted at young couples who dared to seek a moment's romantic privacy; fierce red devils slipped in and out of staterooms; Napoleons and Josephines, Pierrettes and Pierrots, farmers and farmerettes, jostled each other on the dance floor. A small, mild Pop-Eye, banded in need of his spinach, danced with a tall, dominating Olive Oyle while his roving eye approved the bathing beauties. Every child who had been permitted to remain up for this gala evening was a stiff but chattering Charlie McCarthy, without the subtling Bergen influence.

"Look, quickly, I dare you!" Dick whispered as they came in for the dancing. "Over there, across the room."

Joyce looked. She saw the imperious Mrs. O'Hara coyly beckoned in the grassy trimmings of a Hula maiden—short straw skirt, flowered lei, deep sun-tan complexion. Her hair, which hung in kittenish curls to her shoulders, was held in place with the newly gardenias. Dozens of the novelty bracelets which the Kingston boys had been selling on the wharf adorned her fat arms and ankles. In only one respect did she fall to follow the traditional style. She was not barefooted. Instead, she wore high spiked-heel evening slippers, an incongruous foundation for the ankle bracelets.

"She looks like a round fat shredded wheat biscuit, with strawberries on top," Dick grinned. "And look at the old man."

"Lord, is he a picture for Puck!"

Indeed, it was difficult to decipher Mr. O'Hara's characterization. They assumed that he was a Boy of the Islands, fitting partner to his Sweet Lulane wife. He wore the flower lei. But Mr. O'Hara, for all his ventures from the straight and narrow path of temperance, was a modest man. He did not expose his manly bosom, Hawaiian style, to the stares of the multitude. Instead he wore a sort of Roman toga, perhaps the foundation garment of the ancient kings of the South Pacific, and across his shining bald head he wore, not the worthy laurel, but a handsome wreath of fresh gardenias, wafting their heavy perfume all over the room. He looked miserable and timid.

Joyce stood in the doorway, laughing. "Don't ask me to dance one way of justifying the agreement with Italy to British liberals and before the world."

"she implored. 'I couldn't pass them with a straight face.' "He looks like a little fat Caesar," Dick laughed with her.

"Or the sorrowful Buddha! But it's so unworthy of the O'Haras! I expected her to be Cleopatra, or the Empress of all the Russians. Something in which she could do credit to her diamonds and her figure."

"From the trouble she has with the old man," Dick added, "I wouldn't have been surprised to see her carrying the hatchet of Carrie Nation. But you're right; she's certainly gone back to the simple life tonight. Not a carat in sight!"

They went in and joined the crowd. Dancing around the floor, Joyce caught sight of several ship's officers standing out on deck and observing them through the window. Dr. Gray was there, with Mr. Jones, the chief officer, both laughing their teeth loose. No wonder the doctor insisted that everybody should dress up; he was having as much fun as a 10-year-old boy at a circus. Captain Boyer passed by on his way to the bridge, but he did not come in. His job would come later, after midnight, when he must lead the committee of judges to decide the best costumes and award prizes.

They had gone around the floor twice when she was conscious of a gradual loosening around her waistline, a loosening which slowly translated itself into a bulkiness around the knees and lengthening of skirts. She looked down in sudden alarm.

"Dick," she whispered, "Steer me over toward the door, will you? Priscilla's losing her bustle."

"What? No safety pins?" He grasped her more firmly about the waist. In an endeavor to hold the costume together, as he guided their steps slowly but surely toward the door.

"I'll be waiting here for you," he promised, as she hurried off, clutching her petticoats securely about her.

Hurrying down the empty corridor, she collided with a heavy figure backing out of one of the staterooms. She recognized the adipose Hawaiian princess, and automatically murmured a careless apology. But Mrs. O'Hara's eyes were still unfriendly and accusing; she stalked back to the lounge as if indignant that she must walk the same corridors with other mortals.

"The devil with her!" Joyce thought lightly. "I wonder if she still thinks I'm out to lure that gardenia-scented hoptoad of a husband..."

Five minutes later, securely tied and adjusted, she rejoined Dick.

"How about a little intermission?" he suggested. "I asked Dr. Gray and the chief officer to join us on the Lido deck for a bottle of champagne."

They found the two men waiting for them, and Mr. Jones was still convulsed in a spasm of laughter.

"It's unkind," Joyce accused them good-naturedly, "insisting that we dress up and make fools of ourselves just to give you a good laugh. I wouldn't be at all surprised if it was you, Mr. Jones, who made a Hawaiian princess out of Mrs. O'Hara."

He bent over again, holding his sides, and shrieked.

"We're not guilty of that," the doctor assured her. "It's her own costume, I'm told. She spent last winter in Honolulu, and she wants everybody to know it."

"Heaven forbid," Jones gasped, between chuckles, "that she spend some other winter in Bali!"

They sat at a quiet table far astern, enjoying the cool night breeze, and listened to the chief officer's exaggerated accounts of other Fancy Dress Balls and other counterparts of Mrs. O'Hara. Echoes of the music and gayety drifted back to them, but Joyce did not miss the dancing.

Mr. Jones was relating an amusing incident that had befallen one of the passengers at a masquerade some four or five cruises previous. "You remember, doc, we had this fellow wound round with some fort of feathers on adhesive tape, and it took us all of two days to dig him out of his costume. I tell you, 'twas as if the man had been tarred and feathered."

A sudden scream, coming apparently from the lounge, cut him short, and the music stopped on a half note. There was a quick babbling of voices raised in questioning confusion, then absolute stillness.

"Now what the devil has happened?" the doctor wondered.

They waited, expectantly, for the news to travel down their way.

"'Tis nothing," Mr. Jones finally contended. "Some buffoon's stepped on the mermaid's bunion."

"And he went on with the tale he had been telling.

Presently a long-faced steward came down and stood before them.

"Captain's orders," he said briefly. "All passengers will please go into the main lounge immediately."

"What's up?" the chief officer demanded.

"One of the passengers has had some valuable jewels stolen from her room, sir."

"Jewels?" they echoed in startled surprise.

Only one name flashed through Joyce's mind, and she said it aloud now, with dismal presentment: "Mrs. O'Hara."

MANY BEAVER SEALED HERE

180 Pelts Are Registered At Conservation Department

With the deadline for tagging of beaver passed, 180 pelts of the valuable animal were registered at the local district headquarters of the Michigan conservation department, it was learned yesterday from Clare Farwell, district supervisor.

The number of pelts registered, or sealed, is no indication as to the number taken in Delta and Menominee counties, however, inasmuch as any beaver caught in the state may be tagged at any conservation department headquarters. Farwell pointed out that many persons from the south end of Marquette and east end of Dickinson county brought their animals to this headquarters for tags.

Forty-six licenses were issued here. Each license costs $2 and every animal tagged costs $1.

This year the season opened on April 1 and closed April 15. The pelts brought into the local headquarters were of a very good grade, Farwell said.

The thick, warm undercoat of beavers is one of the most valuable of furs. It was at one time extensively used in the manufacture of hats, but the animals have been driven so far into the wilderness that beaver fur has become expensive and rare. It is now used chiefly for muffs, collars, coats and trimmings.

350 4-H Club Members Gather In City Today

Members of Delta county 4-H clubs will gather today at the Escanaba Senior high school for their annual Achievement Day program. About 350 are expected to attend the meeting, which will be under the direction of Clare Rood and Miss Marcella Meyer, Marquette, Upper Peninsula 4-H club leaders and E. A. Wenner, Delta county agricultural agent.

The day's program will open with a meeting for all 4-H club leaders at 10:30 o'clock. The 35 club leaders of the county are expected to attend this conference. Clothing exhibits which may be seen in the gymnasium, will be judged at 11 o'clock.

A style review will be held on the stage of the Senior high auditorium at 12:45 o'clock. Girls participating will meet at 12:15 to prepare for the style show, in which they will wear clothing they have made as a part of their club work.

The 4-H club members will be guests at the Delft theatre at a 2 o'clock matinee.

Work on exhibit at the high school gym is that which club members have done during the winter months, and includes clothing and furniture and drapery projects by the girls and wood-working by the boys. Local people are invited to visit the exhibits during the day, and to attend the style show at 12:45.

Summer work of the 4-H clubs will commence next week.

Hey, Skinny!

C'mon Over'n Play A Game Of "Mibs"; Here's Rules

"Yoo Hoo, Skinny! Let's have a game of mibs!"

That's the well known and oft-heard cry these days around every school yard and vacant lot as the youngsters drag out their bags of marbles. They're really not marbles, either, the weapons these days being "aggies" instead of the old clay marbles.

From the game of marbles has come a language peculiarly all its own. Here are definitions of some of the terms used:

Shooter. The agate or glass sphere held between the thumb and finger and released by force from the thumb. Used in knocking marbles from the ring. Also sometimes called taw or mooney.

Not "Marbles" at All. Marble. Actually a misnomer, especially in these days of glass or clay spheres, which are to be knocked from the ring with the help of the shooter.

Lagging. The first action in Ringer. Denotes action of tossing or shooting the shooter from the pitch line to the lag line, which is drawn tangent to the ring or circle. Players lag for choice of first shot at marbles—with the fellow lagging nearest the line winning the No. 1 shot.

Dubs. Contraction of the word "double." The act of hitting two or more marbles from the ring with a single shot. It is one of the prettiest plays.

Lofting Requires Skill. Lofting. Requires skill to be done effectively. It is the act of shooting in an arch through the air to hit a marble.

Knocking Down. This is tough on the player, especially if the back of his shooting hand is tender. It consists of resting one or more knuckles on the ground in the act of shooting.

Hunching. This is the act of moving the hand forward across the ring line when shooting from the ring line, or forward from the point where the shooter came to rest when shooting inside the ring. It means taking an unfair advantage and, of course, is not allowed.

Heists. The act of raising the hand from the ground when shooting, particularly after the other fellow insists on knocking down. Heists also is forbidden.

Roundsters. Permitted only at start of each game. It is the privilege of taking a different position on the ring line for shooting, or on a turn after your shooter has passed from the ring.

Kill. Consists of knocking a rival's shooter from the ring and claiming all the marbles.

Playing for Fair. This means the exact opposite of playing for keeps. So when you are playing for fair as you will be in the tournament, marbles are returned to their rightful owners at the end of each game.

FARMERS..LOOK

Buy Machines When You Need Them — Pay a Little Out of Each Source of Income—on the INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER EASY-PURCHASE PLAN

The founders of the International Harvester organization pioneered in the sale of farm equipment on "time." Because of this policy, hundreds of thousands of farmers have been able to enjoy the benefits of improved machinery years earlier than would otherwise have been possible. The machines have literally paid for themselves in time and money saved.

During the past year our terms have been improved, better meeting the needs of farmers. The new INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER EASY-PURCHASE PLAN recognizes the fact that frequent small payments are easier to make than one large payment. It is so flexible that it can be adapted to each farmer's marketing schedule, permitting him to make his payments when he has cash coming from crops, livestock, or dairy or poultry products. Each farmer's requirements are considered and analyzed individually—resulting in a convenient schedule of payments, easy to meet.

Pay CASH on delivery for your International Harvester equipment when you can, but when cash must be conserved see what the INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER EASY-PURCHASE PLAN offers you. Get the full benefit of the equipment you need—let it pay its way as you pay.

We will gladly discuss this plan with you in detail on request.
