Donald T. Holmes Chosen For Coast Guard Examination

BY PAUL MAY
Washington, D. C.—An Escanaba youth has been chosen among 900 aspirants to appointment in the Coast Guard to undergo examinations next month for entrance to the Connecticut academy training young men for officers in that branch of the service.

According to Rear Admiral R. R. Waesche, commandant of the Coast Guard, Donald T. Holmes, of 530 South 14th Street, Escanaba was selected in the final designation of candidates eligible to compete for appointment as cadets at the New London Academy.

Young Holmes was chosen as satisfying the scholastic and character requirements of the service, and with the 900 other candidates who will take examinations simultaneously, will be given the mental tests under supervision of the civil service commission.

The examinations are scheduled for the first week in June, at various parts of the country, the examination sites to be named later, the admiral explained.

This year the 900 chosen for the tests are double the number selected in 1937, it was stated, due to the expansion of the coast guard authorized by Congress.

Successful participants in the rigid examinations next month will be appointed as cadets for entrance into the Academy with the class beginning August 1, 1938. The Coast Guard announcement stated the young men entitled to entrance will be selected as the needs of the service require.

MONDAY'S RACE DRAWS 33 CARS

Ralph Hepburn Fails to Qualify; Total of 33 Are in Field

Indianapolis, May 28 (AP)—A full field of 33 cars was completed today for Monday's 500-mile Indianapolis motor speedway race.

Drivers who joined the starting field were Billy Devore of St. John, Kas., at 116.339 miles an hour; Henry Banks of Royal Oak, Mich., 116.279; George Bailey of Detroit, 116.393; Duke Nalon of Chicago, 113.828; and Cliff Bergere of Hollywood, Calif., 114.464.

Hard-luck honors for the year went to Harry Miller, veteran builder of race cars, who brought three brand-new speedsters to the track and didn't get one into the race.

Two of the cars were on the track this afternoon. Billy Winn of Detroit made two attempts to qualify one of them, but stopped each time because of lack of speed. The other, a rear-motored creation driven by Ralph Hepburn of Los Angeles, was on the line waiting for an attempt to qualify when the time expired at 6 o'clock.

No Serious Accidents
It was a bitter blow for Hepburn, who last year finished second, just two seconds behind Wilbur Shaw, the winner.

The car Bailey qualified was that in which Frank Beeder of St. Louis hit the wall earlier in the week. Beeder this afternoon had made one attempt to qualify and came in because of lack of speed.

The week of qualifying trials was completed without a single serious accident. Several drivers had run into minor difficulties but no one was injured.

Merrill (Doc) Williams of Franklin, Ind., went into a spin coming out of the southeast turn this afternoon, but stopped his car on the safety apron. It was on his final qualifying attempt, and he automatically was out of the race.

Four former winners of the Indianapolis classic will be in the field Monday. They are Shaw of Indianapolis, last year's victor; Louis Meyer of Huntington Park, Calif., winner in 1928, 1933 and 1936; Bill Cummings of Indianapolis, 1934 winner, and Kelly Pettilo of Los Angeles, first in 1935.

How They Line Up
Here is the way the 33 starters will line up for the race:

First row—Floyd Roberts of Van Nuys, Calif.; Russell Snowberger of Wilmington, Del.; Rex Mays of Glendale, Calif.

Second row—Tony Gulotta of

State Tax Commission Proposes Escanaba As Site Of Branch Office

John N. Fegan, chairman of the Michigan state tax commission, proposed yesterday that an Upper Peninsula branch office of the commission be set up at Escanaba. He spoke at a special session of the Delta county board of supervisors, called to discuss tax problems with the commission.

The supervisors went on record in support of the proposal, adopting a resolution offered by C. J. Burns, chairman of the finance committee, which pledged the full support and co-operation of the Delta county board of supervisors in the establishment of the new office.

Carl B. Johnson, chairman of the board, opened the session and turned the meeting over to Fegan. "The only pleasant thing about taxation is the attempt to make it fair and equitable," Fegan declared as he took the floor, "and the proposal I wish to make has to do with that phase of taxation."

"On recent trips through the Upper Peninsula," Fegan declared, "I have been impressed that the people of this part of the state have been neglected in matters of taxation." He went on to show how, on every visit to an Upper Peninsula community, he and other members of the commission have been besieged with questions on matters of taxation and assessment.

Office Is Needed
"There is a need in all counties of the Upper Peninsula for the institution of a clearing house for questions on taxation," he continued, "and Escanaba, in Delta county, has been selected to be the site of the first branch office of the state tax commission."

"The proposed district office will act in advising supervisors of counties all over the peninsula on matters of tax assessment and the keeping of tax records."

In explaining the choice of Escanaba as the site of the district office, Fegan pointed out that, in addition to having a central location, Delta county was the first county in the state to inaugurate its rural tax inventory project. This project, he declared, is providing the county with complete tax rolls on all parcels of land and hence makes Delta county a model one in which to institute a new facility such as the proposed branch office.

"Lansing is a long way from the Upper Peninsula," Fegan declared, "and it is difficult to handle tax matters by long distance. A district office in Escanaba will provide a place where supervisors can get first-hand information on their problems without the delay and complication which may arise when correspondence must be resorted to."

WPA Aid Promised
Z. E. Worden, who was named by Fegan as head of the proposed office, was called to the floor by the tax commission chairman.

"After a six-weeks tour of the Upper Peninsula visiting all county seats, I am convinced that there is a definite need for the establishment of a clearing house for tax problems above the Straits," Worden declared.

"Escanaba is an ideal location for such an office. The county of Delta is free from local antagonisms between rural and city residents, such as split many counties. Its location is excellent."

James Mogan, former Escanaba now in the former division of WPA, spoke briefly on the proposed district office and assured the supervisors that WPA is very strongly in favor of it.

"The rural tax inventory project being carried on in Delta county is the first in the country," Mogan said, "and similar projects are being planned for other states. Washington is receiving daily reports of the progress being made, and I can promise that WPA will go all the way and give all possible assistance towards the fulfillment of the project. Assistance in manpower and in money will be granted."

The rural tax inventory project, which is building up a complete roll of all tax descriptions in the county, is under the direction of Gale Gibson and was started about two years ago.

New System Presented
A new system of keeping land description records was presented by Worden, and will be considered by the Delta county supervisors. The system is similar to that employed by the city of Escanaba since 1923, and employs an addressograph for making out the tax rolls. Under this system a metal addressograph plate is made bearing the description of the parcel, name and address of its owner. The metal plate is used again and again without replacement, and error is impossible once the plate has been made out correctly.

A committee was appointed by Chairman Johnson to investigate the cost of adopting the addressograph system of keeping tax records, and to report back to the finance committee of the board of supervisors shortly before its June meeting. At that time the purchase of equipment will be considered.

Members of the committee are Carl Anderson, chairman, Carl Person and A. D. Algire.

City Manager George E. Bean was called to the floor to give his views on the addressograph system of keeping tax records. Bean stated that the city now has a used machine which is to be traded in on a new one shortly at a value of only $35, and suggested that it might be purchased by the board for the use of the county treasurer. He estimated that the cost of the used machine and addressograph plates for the county would amount to about $200.

Carl Anderson, Escanaba city clerk who has employed an addressograph in his department of the city offices since 1925, explained the working of the machine in detail for the supervisors. He stated that its use has saved the city from 30 days to 5 weeks in getting out the tax rolls. Under the old system of writing each description by hand, it took over a month to compile the tax rolls, while by using the addressograph the whole job can be completed in about two days. He also pointed out the increased accuracy of using the addressograph plates which, once they are stamped correctly, do not change from one time of use to another.

Anderson estimated that a complete new outfit for the county would cost about $1,200, but pointed out that a great saving could be made by purchasing used equipment or by renting the use of the city's equipment.

Scientists say that nature is combating the increased noise of modern life by making us gradually acquire the power of shutting our ears to noise.

THERE ARE HUNDREDS OF GASOLINES BUT ONLY ONE D-X

LUBRICATES UPPER-CYLINDER PARTS

D-X Motor Fuel is truly different! It contains an exclusive high heat-resisting lubricant, which is drawn into the combustion chamber of the engine with the gasoline vapor, providing instant and needed lubrication to valves, pistons, rings and upper-cylinder walls. These vital parts of the motor require lubrication to resist friction just as do other moving parts, but crankcase oil does not adequately protect them during the starting and "warming up" period when the greatest amount of wear occurs. Thus, scientifically and actually, does D-X reduce motor wear and tear. In addition, D-X tends to make your engine run faster, cooler, more silently, and mileage is substantially increased. Try D-X or D-X Ethyl, the lubricating motor fuels, on a money-back guarantee . . . at your neighborhood Diamond D-X Station.

Democracy on Spot

MOST of us are pretty cynical nowadays about that great slogan of the World War—"Make the world safe for democracy."

Indeed, America is by way of being that nation's godfather. Masaryk, the man who founded the Czech republic and became its first president, did the bulk of his work in America.

Now that independence is menaced by Nazi Germany; and it might be as well for Americans to understand just how hypocritical is the Nazi concern over the "oppressed" German minority in Czechoslovakia.

World Affairs Reviewed

South America is making it clear that if she must have dictatorships, the local variety is still preferred to the imported, it is shown in a survey of political conditions south of the Rio Grande.

The Vargas government in Brazil is like many others south of the Rio Grande—it falls short of the democratic ideal. Vargas, provisional president since 1930, was elected by a Constituent Assembly in 1934 rather than by direct popular vote.

Both Bolivia and Paraguay, stricken by their greuling Chaco War, are now ruled by virtual military dictators. Efforts to establish socially inclined regimes after the war found both too exhausted to carry on, and Bolivia sank into the arms of Lieut. Col. German Busch, one of her foreign military advisers, while in Paraguay a provisional president, Felix Paiva, was put in office by a military junta to liquidate socialist experiments.

In Peru, in Venezuela, and in Uruguay, presidential terms have been prolonged by congressional action rather than by direct appeal to the voters. Generals Oscar R. Benavides and Eleazar Lopez Contreras and Dr. Gabriel Terra are safely in the seats of power in the traditional Latin-American manner.

In Chile, one of the two South American countries with genuine Communist strength, President Don Arturo Alessandri sits firmly on the lid. In Ecuador, the other "Supreme Chief" Gen. Alberto Enriquez recently freed political prisoners, but announced a "national political purge," which falls short of the height of democracy.

Thus democracy in South America is far from being as dead as it might seem, for many of the dictatorial regimes are admittedly without a permanent philosophy or plan, but are simply expedients to meet present conditions. Such regimes may always progress slowly toward democratic methods as people fit themselves for the task.

The Capital Parade

BY ALBON AND KINTNER Washington, May 29.—The luckiest man in American politics is the Hon. James John Davis, usually known as "The Puddler," with no special equipment, but a certain low shrewdness and pure bull luck, he has kept his place at the public trough since the golden age of Warren Gammell Harding.

Only a few months ago, no one would have bet a cent on the puddler. The Guffey-Earle organization was riding high in Pennsylvania, and the Republican Party's angels, Joe Pew, Ernest Weir and Joe Grundy, considered the puddler a radical because of his occasional labor votes.

Grundy, the broken-down tariff lobbyist, trotted out State Senator G. Mason Owlett as his candidate. The word went 'round that the Sun Oil Company dollars of Pew and the National Steel dollars of Weir were to be lavished on the obedient Owlett. The puddler actually thought of withdrawing from the race.

By 1921, he was such a prominent joiner, and a labor politician of such special caliber that he was a natural for Secretary of Labor in the Harding cabinet. By a remarkable tenacity, he clung to the job until the people of Pennsylvania sent him to the senate in 1930.

Candidates are beginning to throw their hats in the ring already. Herbert Hoover went on a fishing trip the other day.

FISHING STUDY PLANNED HERE

Bureau of Fisheries to Conduct Survey of Lake Michigan

BY PAUL MAY
Washington, D. C.—Escanaba, Michigan, will be included in a new survey of Great Lakes fisheries, which was begun this week. It was stated today by officials of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

The survey will be conducted by C. R. Chilton, statistical agent of the bureau, who left here May 26th for Ohio, where he will begin his work, which is expected to require the rest of the year to complete. Chilton was accompanied by his superior, R. L. Greer, statistician of the bureau, who conducted the last survey of lakes fisheries, as well as several others during the 20 years he has spent with the bureau.

Greer will remain with Chilton during the first month or two of the survey.

Fishermen and wholesalers in Escanaba and other fishing ports will be visited by Chilton. From personal contact, data will be gathered on the number of men engaged in fishing, the type and number of boats used, the kind of gear employed, and the size of the catch and species caught. Packing establishments and state fishery officials will also be visited, and information will be collected on the number and types of fish manufacturing establishments, the number of people employed and wages paid, and the value of products.

The information gained will be transmitted to the bureau for compiling, both in a summary for the Great Lakes as a whole, and in a breakdown by counties.

36 "New Workers" Seeking Jobs Here, Census Discloses

BY PAUL MAY
Washington, D. C.—Escanaba has 33 young men and three young women, between the ages of 15 and 24, whose first jobs were on government-made emergency work, and who are still seeking, unsuccessfully, private employment, according to the results of the unemployment census taken last November.

Escanaba also has 34 young men and 31 young women in this same age group who registered in the census as being totally without jobs of any kind.

There are six men and 11 women in the city, over 25 years of age and wholly jobless, who are also classified in this group of "new workers"; but the majority of these are persons who were once so situated financially as to be in no need of jobs, but who now are forced to go out and earn more money or persons who are re-entering the working field after a period of non-activity or keeping house in their own homes.

The comparatively large number of women in this group is indicative of the number of families in Escanaba where the man, once the sole bread-winner, is no longer able to provide, and the woman of the family is out in search of work. Putting the man of this group to work would also remove the woman from the ranks of the unemployed, it is contended.

There are 13 men and two women in this group who have been given work by the CCC, NYA, WPA, or some other government agency, according to the census reports.

Favorite Haunts of Local Snaphooter Revealed

FIRST CHOICE among local snaphooters looking for picture material is the Escanaba power company's No. 1 dam, a short distance above the US-2-41 highway bridge across the Escanaba river below Groos. Taken from a "different" angle, the picture above frames the dam through E. & L. S. railway viaduct cross the highway about 300 feet south of the bridge. Exposure in bright sunlight at aperture F-11 was 1/60 second.

Dam Is Most Popular Photographic Subject In Escanaba Locality

The Escanaba amateur photographer's favorite scene, according to information gained from local photo finishers, is the Escanaba power company's No. 1 dam above the highway bridge across the Escanaba river. More prints of the dam are made up than of any other subject in this vicinity, the darkroom workers say, and there are few of their customers who do not come in at some time or other with pictures of it. Second in popularity is the American Veterans' monument in Ludington park, which is used as a background for subjects standing beside it, leaning against it or perched on top of it.

Other popular local subjects are the ore docks, tie-treating plant, yacht basin, airport, and the Escanaba lighthouse. But the dam stands out as the one scene that is photographed most the year around.

Is Good Subject
The dam is an inherently good photographic subject, in that there are almost an infinite number of angles from which it can be photographed successfully. Some amateurs prefer a straight shot of it, taking in the whole span and the power plant at the side of the stream, while others choose close-up shots of the water splashed over the top and sprayed into the air by a strong north wind. Some try taking in both the bridge and the dam, and some choose to "frame" the dam in the

Flash Bulb Used
The picture made at the monument, shown in an adjoining column, was made in bright afternoon sun. A sunshade was used to protect the lens from direct rays, and a small photoflash bulb was fired at the time the picture was made to light up the dark shadows on the subject's face.

Exposure for the monument shot was 1-100 second at F 6.3, which was slightly under the normal exposure for a similar setting. The flash bulb provided just enough lighting to bring up the shadows in the subject's face, and at the same time allow a short enough exposure to give some detail in the clouds in the sky.

The picture of the dam was given an exposure of 1-60 second at F 11. The small aperture was necessary to provide great depth of focus, as both the viaduct, which was quite close to the cam-

SMALLER HOMES GAIN IN FAVOR ANALYSIS SHOWS

Study of FHA Insured Homes Shows Average $5,467

Growing demand for small homes is seen in the analysis made by the Federal Housing Administration of the value of new homes financed under the Insured Mortgage System during 1937. Of the entire number of mortgages on single-family houses that were accepted for insurance, nearly 80 per cent were valued at less than $5,000.

The average appraised value of single-family houses covered by mortgage insurance last year was $5,467, which was a decrease of $158 from the average shown in 1936. Inasmuch as building costs increased in 1937 over the previous year, it would appear that this drop in average value was due to the trend toward the construction of smaller homes.

A study of property values in 1937 according to the number of rooms per house shows that 54.4 per cent of all single-family houses insured contained five rooms or less, as compared with 43.9 per cent in 1936. Higher priced homes accounted for only 8 per cent of the mortgages insured by the FHA in 1937. These homes ranged in value from $10,000 upward.

Let's Inspect Your Building

Your home, your business building or your apartment house quite probably needs some repairs. Make a little inspection tour through the properties you own to find out what is needed on the way of upkeep. There is no need to let these buildings grow old, depreciate in value or deprive the occupants of the comforts of modern housing. Loans at low cost for repairs and remodeling are available.

Let us check the roofs, the chimney, the flashing, the attic ventilation, the exterior trim, the interior wall material, the closet space, new outlets for wiring, finish flooring, plumbing and fixtures.

Let us see if we need new gutters and downspouts, any built-in equipment, new wall finishes, some built-in furniture, a remodeled fireplace or mantel; see that the joists and sub-flooring are all strong and in good repair.

How about grading and landscaping? Have you a heating plant that will permit of a basement recreation room? Are the rafters and studding, the roof sheathing, the dormers all sound? Do you need weather-stripping, insulation, new window frames and sash, blinds and shutters? New porches, stairway treads and rails? Check up on the foundation walls, the basement floors, the drains and footings.

BATHTUBS

If you are building or modernizing your bathroom, don't place the bath tub under a window unless it is impossible to avoid doing so. There may be an embarrassing moment when the shade accidentally snaps up while one is in the tub, but more especially chills from draft may bring on a cold.

Also, the tub is harder to clean if there is dirt and dust sitting in through the window all the time.

Modern Bathroom

Color plays an increasingly prominent part in homes of today and in no place in the home can color be used so daringly as in a bathroom. The bathroom above has a linoleum floor of dark shade and the walls covered with glass in two shades. Glass walls for the bathroom are very satisfactory and when used in connection with mirrors as done in the room makes an attractive room.

Good Quality of Doors Needed To Carry Out Design Effectively

A door is the guardian of the home. It should therefore have the dignity of that office, but it need not be so constructed as only to offer protection from intruders.

Beauty in doorways runs the gamut of design all the way from simplicity to antique, hand-carved portals. Many of the fine old doors of other centuries are now available in reproduction. These add greatly to homes that are of definite architectural design and do not cost much more than just a plain door that would not be in character with the home. Doors are poor articles on which to economize. The lightweight doors suitable for interiors will, in some climates, if used for exteriors warp and crack and necessitate replacement. If this occurs, the combined expenditures will be in excess of what the original cost of a good door would have been.

The FHA Property Improvement Credit Plan insures loans made for the purchase and hanging of new doors. The funds are obtainable from private lending institutions such as banks, building and loan associations, and others.

Loafing Space

Most of the hours that are spent in our homes are given over to sleeping and resting. Our sleeping rooms should therefore be comfortable and our resting places should be arranged for greatest amount of enjoyment and relaxation. People cannot rest in a dark, badly ventilated or noisy room.

Where the living room is arranged on a somewhat formal note, or where it must be kept in order at all times, the rumpus room, basement recreation room or a room in which to loaf provides this haven for rest and relaxation.

In this room all formality and even dignity may be laid aside. There is no expensive furniture to be considered, and the floor should be practically damage-proof. If there is a fireplace where steaks may be broiled and popcorn popped, all the better. Once having had such a room, one wonders how one got along without it before!

Windows Once a Luxury Now Everyday Necessity

In Colonial times windows were considered a luxury. Glass was scarce, expensive, and generally of inferior quality. Most of the original early nineteenth and late eighteenth century glass that has survived the vicissitudes of the years shows bubbles and other irregularities. Nevertheless these panes were placed in the ranks of luxuries, and a tax on every window in a house was levied.

The exterior appearance of a house may be greatly enhanced by the use of appropriately placed and shaped windows. There is also a choice of materials and in selection of type and material best suited to climatic conditions and the exterior design.

NOBLEST OF ALL THE ARTS

Architecture is the noblest of all the arts, and when this fine art is applied to the first of all human needs, the home, the result has an appeal to every man, woman and child.

In the past architects have been so very busy designing postoffices and railway stations, churches and schoolhouses, that they have woefully neglected the designing of beautiful small homes. Many people interested in small homes are cultured, refined, have common sense and good taste. They would be willing to pay a reasonable sum for a well-designed house of moderate size.

One difficulty in the way of designing a good-looking house is that you cannot make a small sized replica of a big building and use it for a home. Rooms must be a certain height and size and if you want only five or six rooms you cannot achieve the grandeur of our most popular railway depots! A small house—a sensible house of six or seven rooms—is a problem that tries the skill and ability of any architect.

The recent depression has given many architects much leisure time. Let us hope that out of the research of the last five or six years we may be able to discover a few masterpieces of small house design!

FRONT DOOR SHELTER

A shelter over the front door and the kitchen door is very desirable. It adds a decorative quality to the exterior of a house. It often adds interest to the blank wall and relieves the monotony of an unbroken surface. It makes it more attractive and at the same time provides a shelter from rain or snow in winter and from the blazing sun in summer, when one is searching for the key to unlock the door.

Laundry Chute Saves Steps

A laundry chute, with openings on all floors, is the quickest and most sanitary way of collecting soiled linens and clothing and disposing of them until wash day. The chute relieves the housewife of the necessity of carrying heavy bulky bundles downstairs. Also bathroom and hall space is not taken up with hampers.

The most satisfactory chute is of a metal which will not rust, chip, stain or in any way injure fabrics which are sent through it to the laundry room.

High Ceiling Not Popular In Modern Houses

One of the features of homes erected in the late 30's and early 1900's was the lofty ceiling. This was believed to aid in keeping the room cool.

Architects today lean toward lower ceilings, having established the fact that any space greater than 12 inches above a window head is of no cooling value unless ventilated.

Ceiling height, as it affects general construction cost is considered when a house is inspected for financing under the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration.

Bernard Tobin, who has been teaching rural agriculture and coaching, has been retained for next year. Tobin is attending Michigan State college where he is majoring in rural agriculture and minoring in coaching.

Under the Rural Agriculture Act a district must maintain three departments: rural agriculture, home economics, and general shop. The regulations for these departments are set up by the state which are as follows: two years of agriculture, including general agriculture, soils and crops; two years of home economics, including sewing, clothing, cooking, home management and foods; two years of shop work, one year of general shop, which is made up of mechanical drawing, sheet metal, household mechanics and wood shop. The second year of shop work is a continuation of the work in the four divisions with the emphasis placed on practical building and repairing from the standpoint of the home and farm. When a district satisfactorily complies with the state's regulations they are granted an extra eight hundred dollars over and above their regular state aid. They are also allowed three hundred dollars per bus.

Dorr Stack and George H. Fern of the Department of Public Instruction made an inspection of the Nahma school the first of May and have given their approval as a rural agriculture school.

FINNISH CHURCH 50 YEARS OLD

Special Services Mark Founding in 1888 at Newberry

Newberry, Mich., May 28.—Sunday, May 29th, marks the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Finnish church in Newberry. The event will be observed with special services.

It was about the year 1878 that the first Finnish settlers arrived in Newberry. The first few grew until, by 1888, it was found necessary to establish a congregation and church in order that the needs of the growing numbers be served and prepare for the future expected growth. On May 29th, 1888, a group of the people met at the home of John Pakka and formed the Bethlehem congregation of the Finnish Lutheran church. The following men were present and became charter members of the new organization: John Pakka, John F. Erickson, Isaac Hakola, David Riberg, John Bjorklund and Herman Anderson.

Others who joined soon were John Sira, Gustaf Anderson, John Backman, John Koukari, Matt Hakala and Matt Lake. Only one of these, Isaac Hakola, is at present living in Newberry. Two others are still living, Matt Lake in Marquette and John Bjorklund in Mass, Mich.

Plans for the construction of a church was an early order of business of the new organization, the building going up rapidly and being dedicated on January 6, 1890 by the Rev. J. J. Holikka, who was also the first pastor of the congregation. The original cost of the first building was about $700. Additions and improvements have been added from time to time until the building is now valued at around $6,000.

At present there is a membership of 230. Through hard work, faithful service and sacrifice, the group has been able to serve the community well and the membership of this group is among the most respected and valued members of the community.

The church is entirely out of debt and has had no indebtedness since 1919. At present there is a substantial fund on hand for further use. The value of the entire church property including church, parlors and parsonage is estimated at $15,000. The following pastors have served during the years: Rev. J. J. Holikka, Rev. K. L. Tolonen, Rev. Otto Stratus, Rev. E. W. Saaranen, Rev. John Mantta, Rev. M. Luttinen, and since 1921 Rev. Lauri Ahlman. Ike Lyyki is at present chairman of the board of trustees which administers the affairs of the congregation. The other members are: Alfred Erickson, vice chairman; J. A. Kaaramaki, secretary; John G. Johnson, treasurer; Thomas Kujala, L. Kujala, N. H. Tuori, John Harju and Emil Neiminen. The church is active through the following inter church organizations: Board of Deacons, Luther League, Sunday School, Luther League Sewing Club, Women's Reading Club, and Choir. These groups are doing important work of value both to the church and the community.

ASKS SPECIAL SESSION
Detroit, (AP)—Mayor Richard Reading of Detroit asked Governor Murphy Friday to call a special session of the legislature this summer to provide an additional welfare appropriation for the city.

CHURCH PICKET IS SUCCESSFUL

Fr. Simon to Remain in Charge of St. Barbara's, Vulcan

Vulcan, May 28.—The Most Rev. Joseph C. Flagens, bishop of the diocese of Marquette, today brought joy to the parishioners of the St. Barbara's Catholic church in Vulcan when he notified the Rev. Fr. Simon Borkowski that he was to remain as pastor.

The message was received about 9 o'clock and the picket line which was established two days ago was immediately disbanded.

Fr. Borkowski, better known as Fr. Simons, had been assigned to the church of the Holy Family at Barbeau, to which a mission is attached, and his place at Vulcan was to be taken by the Rev. Fr. George Dingfelder, of Iron River.

Friendly Picket Line
Members of the congregation of St. Barbara's organized a friendly picket line as a protest against Fr. Dingfelder nor the bishop, but merely to show the bishop how much it desired that Fr. Simons remain as pastor. The vigil was continued day and night and last evening there were about 300 persons massed about the church grounds and parish residence.

"Views the News"

By H. V. Kaltenborn

No Peace for Czechoslovakia
While Adolf Hitler continues to proclaim himself protector of the 3,500,000 Germans in Czechoslovakia there can be no peace between that country and Germany. The issue of peace or war will be at the mercy of the first frontier incident. And such incidents are expected while hundreds of thousands of troops are drawn up on both sides of the border.

Neither country is likely to make large concessions. The Czechs cannot afford to let their safety depend upon their willingness to fight. Any weakness in the face of the constant threats from Hitler's press invites invasion. What the Germans would like to do is to occupy over night the German-speaking border areas of the Czech Republic in response to Conrad Henlein's appeal for German help. If the Czechs had not mobilized their army in the German frontier districts last week Hitler's army might have seized those over the weekend by another coup de main.

Today this is not possible. Conrad Henlein tried to persuade the Czech Government to withdraw its military forces from the German frontier. He seems to have made this a condition for continuing negotiations. The Czech Government refused as it had to. Further municipal elections are scheduled for next Sunday and on June 12. Until they are completed the government proposes to continue military occupation of the German regions. After that the general military and political situation will determine its decision.

Nazis Continuing Pressure
It looks very much as though the German Government has decided to exercise continuing pressure on the Sudeten issue. The reason is obvious. Czechoslovakia blocks Germany's expansion to the south and east. If Germany can bulldoze the Czech Government to a point where Prague reluctantly consents to be drawn into Germany's political and economic orbit, it will have achieved one of the major purposes outlined in Hitler's "Mein Kampf."

Germany would then control the Danubian basin. The resources of half a dozen raw material countries would be at her disposal. If there were a Fascist party among the Czechs and Slovaks, German policy would be centered in Czechoslovakia—as it is in Spain—on helping the Fascist element gain control. Germany is much more concerned with changing Czechoslovakia from a democratic into a Fascist country than she is in helping the German minority.

The cold-headed indifference with which Hitler has abandoned the 350,000 unhappy German Tyroleans now being "gleichgeschaltet" by Mussolini is the best proof that political expediency and not racial affinity is the guiding motif of Nazi policy. This does not mean that the grievances of the German minority in Bohemia are not genuine. Every dispassionate observer agrees that the Czechs have too long delayed conceding the minority rights to which these Germans are entitled. Writing for the Encyclopedia Britannica, Dr. Hans Kohn, professor of history at Smith College, says: "With the support of the government and of Czech patriotic societies, Czech influences and numbers were constantly growing in purely or predominantly German cities and districts. The Czech language was given a prominent place; Czech officials and police, sometimes without a thorough knowledge of German, were put into positions of authority and filled even the minor offices. Czech employers and workers were given preference in economic enterprises promoted or financed by the administration in German territory."

Writing for the Foreign Policy Association in a recent special report, Dr. Karl Falk points out that "Centuries of subordination have made it difficult for the Czechs to rule with the effortless superiority of the British." But he, like most other students, points out that it is the constant fear of German domination that has made it difficult for the Czechs to be altogether fair to the German minority.

Certainly that is the situation today. Adolf Hitler does not want a settlement that leaves Czechoslovakia a vigorous democratic, liberal-minded republic which will include 3,500,000 contented Germans within its borders. He cannot admit that a German could be happy while living beyond the reach of Nazi totalitarianism. He may not concern himself for the moment with the plight of the German minority in the Polish Corridor, but as Dr. Rosenberg said to the writer: "There are some German minorities which have not been forgotten, but which, for the time being, must be overlooked."

Czechoslovakia showed the world last week she will fight rather than surrender. But she cannot fight alone. The issue will be determined by the attitude assumed by Britain and France in the face of the continued provocation which we must expect from Berlin.

"Beryl has gone to New York," Jackie answered. She did not say whether Beryl had told her or not. Beryl had asked her not to. "Why should she say anything to me? Oh, yes. . . . She did say that she would be back as soon as she could, that she had to go on some very important matter."

"I know about that," Roger said. The look of pain in his blue eyes deepened; his tone still was stern. "It's no use," he added. He turned his head away again for a brief moment; his hand lying on the cover clenched hard so that the knuckles stood out. Then he forced himself to meet Jackie's eyes once more. "I might as well tell you, Jackie. They don't think I'll ever be able to walk again."

"You mustn't say that!" Jackie protested as she had before. Now she did put her arms around his neck, gently, drawing him to her heart. "I won't believe it, Roger. You mustn't believe it, either. We won't think about it, talk about it even. Besides, that has nothing to do with what I came back to do with—that I love you, that I always have and always will."

"But you mustn't. You can't!" This was a cry wrung from him in spite of himself. "I'd like to see anyone or anything stop me!" Jackie said. "I tell you I'll never be any good any more," Roger said, almost bitterly now. "I'll never be able to fly. . . . that's what hurts the most. But I'll never be able to even to crawl on the ground. I couldn't hold you to a piece of a man like that, Jackie. I couldn't let you think you loved me, because of your pity. I'd rather be dead!"

"Poor Roger," Jackie said. "I do pity you, but not because of what you think. I pity you, darling, because you don't know much—yet—about love. Love has wings. Love can never be chained to the ground. It can conquer everything, if given half a trial. Do you suppose I give a darn that you may not be able to fly? Do you suppose I can stop loving you now, even if you can't walk again? Oh, my darling!" She bent her golden head so that he could not see the tears that filled her eyes. Her voice held all the love, all the infinite tenderness of womankind. "I love you Roger, really love you, can't you understand?"

"I can't, but I'll try," Roger said. A tear that did not come from Jackie's eyes splashed on her hands. She held him closer, put her lips against his. This was not such a kiss as they had exchanged before. Those faded into nothingness. For this kiss sealed love that was really true, that would not be denied. Much later the nurse opened the door, very quietly. There had been no response to her knock. "A telegram for you, Miss Dunn."

she said, murmuring an apology for intruding. "It is marked rush, so I guess it is very important."

CHAPTER XXIV

The telegram that Jackie had received was from Beryl. It stated that she was returning at once and that she was bringing with her a famous surgeon in whom she had the greatest confidence. "I told her it was no use," Roger said. "Dr. Watson ought to know his stuff—what can any other doctor do? But you know how Beryl is—she seems to take the blame for all this on herself—she simply won't give up."

"She's a wonderful person," Jackie said. Poor Beryl. . . . of course she was taking it on herself. Hadn't she told Jackie that if anything serious happened to Roger she would never forgive herself? But as for giving up, well Jackie would not do that either. She would never surrender the hope that Roger would be made well, that he would walk again. Maybe her faith, her prayers, would help in this as they had before.

The surgeon and Beryl arrived that next morning. Beryl herself had piloted the ship back. She had felt that there was no time to lose. Jackie never knew to what lengths she had gone to persuade this great doctor to accompany her, what amount of money she must have paid to secure his service. She did know that Beryl would have spent her entire fortune, gladly, if that could have made Roger well. "Do you really think there is any chance?" Jackie asked Beryl during the long hours of waiting that the two spent together. Perhaps it would have been easier, for Roger at least, not to have been given this new spark of hope if it would blaze but a brief moment only to sputter and burn into dead ashes of despair again.

Beryl did not answer at once; perhaps she was thinking the same thing. For if the verdict this time was that Roger never would be able to walk, then hope would indeed be dead. "There is—just a chance," she said. "It lies in the fact that Roger was able to crawl all that distance after the plane crashed. You see he couldn't have done that if his back had been injured as Doctor Watson believed it was. It was when I told this to Doctor Vendetti that he consented to take Roger's case. But he would not hold out much hope, even then."

London (AP)—Minister of Labor Ernest Brown had a ready answer when a radio speech he gave on the Bible drew this terse letter: "The old book says that by their fruits ye shall know them. No Christian can be a politician." Replied Brown: "You are wrong. The old book proves that Simon the Zealot was a considerable politician and he was also an apostle. P. Night Clubs Put On Ice Shows On Summer Evenings

AP Feature Service Writer New York—Now that summer's here, they're putting the night club shows on ice. It's a happy circumstance for those who haunt the hot spots right on through the warm weather. The ice that covers the stages is a cooling system in itself and the shows necessarily move in a tempo that makes even the speediest hardwood entertainment seem slow. Currently, there are ice shows at the Hotel New Yorker, headed by Norval Baptie and Gladys Lamb; and at the big Broadway night club, the International Casino, where Evelyn Chandler, Guy Owen, the Simpson Sisters and Bruce Mapes lead an aggregation of entertainers backed by a chorus on skates. Popularity of the shows plus the success of Sonja Henie's tour has resulted in an unprecedented demand for ice skaters. Lime, lemon, pineapple or mint ice makes a refreshing topping for fruit juice or iced fruit cocktails. The ice also may be used to top a holiday punch bowl filled with chilled fruit beverages.

MANISTIQUE

Water Tower Damaged When Wall of Reserve Catch Basin Gives Way

A deluge of water which broke through the pump room ceiling at the Manistique Water Tower Friday noon caused damage estimated at from $1,500 to $2,000, ruining virtually all of the glassware in the laboratory and causing extensive damage to a 60 horsepower motor. The inner walls of the pump room were crushed and considerable repairs to the pump room ceiling and the reserve catch basin also will be necessary. Neither of the chlorinators was damaged. The water had accumulated in the reserve catch basin, built below the water tank. Drain pipe apparently became clogged, and the weight of the water broke a large portion of the reserve basin. When the water fell from the reserve basin, it likewise broke through the pump room ceiling, smashing the walls as well. The pump motor was running at the time and as soon as the water hit the motor pump, it became shorted and was blown out. Richard Abramsen, analyst, R. M. Hopkins, and Fred Williams who were repairing one of the station motors, were out for lunch at the time of the mishap. Each reported the pump was not in operation when they left the station about 11:40 a. m. The motor, however, operates automatically. It is believed the water which filled the reserve basin came from a leaky seam near the top of the water tank.

WOODEN COINS TO BE ISSUED

Special Currency Planned to Advertise Homecoming

Wooden money will be circulated in Manistique during the month of June and early part of July to publicize the Manistique homecoming celebration, the general committee has decided. The old saying, "Don't take any wooden nickels," won't be appropriate at that time because every wooden nickel will be as good as genuine American coin. In fact every wooden coin will be backed by a like amount in American currency, and can be used to purchase any commodity, if the plans of the committee are fulfilled. All the details of the wooden money issue have not been completed, but it is expected to "float the issue" early in June and keep it in circulation to the redemption date, which has not yet been set. The money can be redeemed at local banks any time up to the final redemption date, which will be announced later. The money, of course, will be in the form of a souvenir issue and it is expected that it will prove an effective means of advertising the city's homecoming celebration. The wooden money will be in bill form, about the size of the present United States bills, and will contain information about the city's homecoming celebration. Fine strips of veneer, backed with cloth to provide flexibility and strength will be used to manufacture the money. Just what denominations will be issued has not yet been determined. It is likely that the wooden coins will be issued either as nickels or dimes, or both. Plans for the homecoming celebration are advancing nicely. A representative of the Rogers Producing company is due to arrive in Manistique next Thursday, June 2, to assist the local committee in making its celebration plans, and also to arrange for the presentation of the colorful historical pageant, which will be a feature of the three-day celebration.

Approximately 1,100 tons of smelt were harvested during the season this spring, according to estimates given in a report of Clara Farwell, district supervisor of the conservation department...

BAIT CASTING A WRIST MOTION

Hollis Tells Essentials In Fine Art of Using "The Short Rod"

BY HAROLD HOLLIS

Bait casting success is largely dependent on the outfit. Not only must each item of the caster's equipment perform efficiently but it should be adapted to the weight of lure that is used...

Harold Hollis designed for these.

For beginners a level winding reel, perhaps one with an anti-backlash attachment, is advisable. Don't get a line that is too heavy. A 12-pound test line is heavy enough for bass; one of 18 or 20 pound test will do for muskies...

Thumb Lightly The rod is held rather loosely so that the hand opens a little on the cast. The reel handles are on top as the cast is started.

The rod should follow through on the cast and end finish in a nearly horizontal position which allows the weight of the lure to bend the tip a little. The rod is dropped a bit below the horizontal and without any pause is brought up to a vertical position or only a little beyond it.

The thumb is not released from the reel spool until the forward movement is well under way. I thumb my reel very lightly during the entire cast so that the lure on its way to the water has to work a little to pull the line from the reel.

"Bogus" and Herman Look Over a Big One

It's a thirty incher so "Bogus" Baum and Herman Leisner have every reason to smile as they gaze on the big rainbow that Baum caught in Valentine Creek. The fish put up such a battle that it was landed only with the assistance of Leisner, well known former game warden.

FISHING FOR LADIES BY KENNETH REID

Amongst savage and barbarian peoples the male was always the provider of meat. He did the fishing and hunting as a usual thing while the women prepared and cooked the meat he brought in.

MICHIGAN REGULATIONS

The state of Michigan recognizes the growing number of women who are not novices at trout fishing by placing them on a par with men and requiring purchase of a license by those who fish trout.

But this picture is rapidly changing. Each year sees more women afield with rod and reel, and many of them have become confirmed enthusiasts who can hold their own in the company of men.

Recognizing this new interest of women in the sport of angling, several states have officially provided for it by setting aside certain waters for their exclusive use.

The rod should follow through on the cast and end finish in a nearly horizontal position which allows the weight of the lure to bend the tip a little. The rod is dropped a bit below the horizontal and without any pause is brought up to a vertical position or only a little beyond it.

Conservation Topics

BAIT WILL NOT HARM WILDLIFE

Will grasshopper poison bait harm animals? Now that plans are being made to prepare and spread grasshopper bait on many acres of land throughout the Upper Peninsula, this question is again being raised by many interested in the welfare of wildlife as well as farmers fearing for the safety of their livestock.

Five years ago when Pennsylvania established its Spring Creek Project as the first large scale public experiment in controlled fishing, it gave recognition to women by setting aside a large spring tributary for their exclusive use.

In the past, a few women have enjoyed the gentle art of angling, but their activities were confined mostly to accessible waters that could be comfortably fished from a boat or the shore near their homes or summer cottages.

This stream was intensively improved to provide accommodations for the maximum number of fish, and was kept stocked to capacity with trout from the minimum size up to double that length.

"A grasshopper, however, may eat as much as half its weight. This means that on a percentage basis, the amount required to kill a grasshopper is many thousands times less than that required to kill a large animal."

THERE IS A LIMIT ON PERCH

Fishermen who like to take a can of worms or a bucket of minnows, and dangle lines from breakwaters or piers in Lake Michigan and its bays are reminded that there's a new regulation on perch fishing in the Great Lakes this year.

GUARD NATURE'S BEAUTY SPOTS

Those who go afield now will find nature at her best. They find the woods and waters clean. If they are true lovers of nature they will not leave the beauty spots they visit any less beautiful because of their visit.

Fish Should Know Better, Yet They Will Strike Plugs

BY CAL JOHNSON

Why does a game fish strike a certain colored lure? That was the question we asked in hopes of enlightenment. Now comes a deluge of letters telling me it is because of curiosity—and also for food, some even declaring it is because the fish gets angry.

It may be some time before we are able to sift the "evidence" and decide just why a fish gobbles a wooden plug when he really should know better.

Among the replies received is one from our old friend, Gus Munch. Out of a vast store of angling knowledge gained through years of actual experience Gus tells us: "I do not believe that a game fish strikes an artificial lure thinking it is real food. We have all had the experience of having some little runt of a bass or pike, hardly out of swaddling clothes, hit a great big plug. Surely they didn't expect to eat it, did they?"

"No, sir! It's just curiosity and cussedness and spunk. They see a flash through the water and just hit it a crack for luck. Color effects arouse this combative spirit and eccentric action is even more important."

Can't Dope 'em "No two plugs seem to have the same action even though of the same model and manufacture. Some slight difference in the wood or balance in the lead weight makes the difference between a good plug and an ineffective one."

"I had this thing all figured out once. I kept a diary of each day's experience on the water. Noted the direction of the wind, temperature of the air and surface water, cloudy or fair, kind and color of plugs or baits they hit and wouldn't hit, time of year and hour of the day and such other memoranda."

"Then I struck a general average of the whole record. Now, I said, fishing was going to be an exact science and no more guess work. All I would have to do would be to judge the various conditions look at my meter, select my fishing grounds and go out and nail 'em right and left."

"It was a good scheme, too, only it didn't work. About 90 per cent of the time I was all wet. So I finally threw away my much-cherished diary."

"You can't dope 'em. You've just got to go out and try 'em out and experiment until you get the right combination, and sometimes there isn't any right combination. Some days they will hit a nickel-plated spoon in bright sunlight or a dark plug late in the evening. You just never can tell. But you can't catch fish sitting on the front porch, can you, Cal?"

Magazine Tells About "Bass-Hound" Judson

John L. Judson of Escanaba is the subject of an interesting article in the "Famous Guides Opinions" department of the current issue of Hunter-Trader-Trapper, national outdoor magazine.

In the same issue, there appears an article, entitled "Granddaddy of the Escanaba", written by Chapman W. Smith in collaboration with Mr. Judson. The story concerns bass fishing on the Escanaba river.

The article in the "Famous Guides Opinions" department reads in part as follows: "Bass are independent cusses."

John "Bass Hound" Judson grins when he says it, but you know he believes in what he says and means every word of it. And when Bass Hound Judson talks about bass, well that is something to listen to.

"I don't care what is thought or said, or done, it's bass for me and when it comes to real gamey scrappers—with brains to go with the scrapping, why the bass is the fish!"

Then with a reminiscent light lurking deep in his wise old guiding eyes, he goes on with some more things that every bass angler ought to listen to: "When I first came to the Upper Peninsula, the native fishermen were all trout-minded and anyone that had a 'bass-complex' was just—well, we might say they were bats! I had to hide my casting outfit under my coat and sneak out so the 'rass-berry' peddlers wouldn't see me when I made my first trip."

"What a reception I had! I honestly don't believe those bass had ever seen a Dowagiac before. 'Coming back,' reminisced the old guide with a chuckle, 'I felt very much like the lad who, on his way home with a fish that's at long, was stopped by a man and warned: 'You'd better throw him back, Sonny. Nobody's going to believe you anyhow.'"

Big Country Originally, John was a native of "downhome Indiana," but now he resides at Escanaba, in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, and he knows the fishing from end of the Peninsula to the other.

Although a bass addict, John can't, nevertheless, hold his own when it comes to trout fishing and hunting game, too, but you will find him always ready to go fishing. Any time during the season, the old guide is prepared to go after bass.

This Northern Peninsula is big enough to be a state in itself, and yet a lot of vacationists and sportsmen pass it up. If you want to give a U.P. publicity organization jumbo fits, just write and ask, "Has the Upper Peninsula of Michigan any vacation possibilities?" You will have to be more specific. Ask about the scenic motor routes, camping facilities, golf courses or summer resorts. Request literature in reference to the boating, swimming, hiking, hunting or fishing, or any other activity that spells "vacation" to you. But please no inquiries, generalized inquiries such as, "Has the Upper Peninsula any vacation possibilities?" For she has all of them!

Clear Waters

The U.P. has a history like that of no other state in the Union. But if you want to make a little Michigan history for yourself, here's that man again! "Try fishin'" chimes on the "Bass Hound."

One of the sources of never-ending wonder to the out-of-stater in the Upper Peninsula is the pure and crystal-clear waters of her lakes and streams. Your map will show you that the Great Lakes (Superior, Huron and Michigan) figure very importantly in the outline of the state. For three hundred years men have made written comment on the clarity of her water courses.

As a natural refuge, these cool, clear waters give fitting refuge to the livelier, scrappier species of the "denizens of the deep"—the brown, rainbow and Mackinaw trout, the walleye and the Northern pike, pan fish and those "independent cusses," the large and the small-mouth bass.

"Independent Cusses" Bass fishing in the Upper Peninsula is better now than ever before and especially in the waters that empty into Lake Michigan, for with the coming of the smelt in that lake it is the belief of "Bass-Hound" John that the bass are beginning to forsake their natural cannibalistic leanings and devouring these "nickel-plated" little fish that have come to be known as the "Smelt" up here... and again, "Bass Hound" John snorts, "—the independent cusses!"

Best of all, "Bass Hound" John is not one of those rule-of-the-book guides who looks you up and over, turns on the supercilious "pooh-pooh" smile and then insinuates that your rig isn't worth a so-and-so for bass fishing in the U.P. waters. That put plug you have used to land the one, "that 'Bass-Hound' John snorts, "—the independent cusses!"

CALVIN STEVEN OPENS RESORT

Good Fishing in Indian Lake and Streams in Vicinity

The Mountain Ash Beach, owned and operated by Calvin Steven of Manistique, has opened for the 1938 season and the management looks forward optimistically to a record volume of business.

The popular resort is located on Indian lake. It consists of eight commodious cottages, completely furnished and with electric service. There is a fine sandy beach in full view of the cabins, providing a safe place for children.

There is fishing in abundance on Indian lake, including small and large mouth bass, northern and walleyed pike, and perch. Boats and outboard motors are available at the resort. There is also good trout fishing in the streams within a few miles radius.

The famous Kitchitiki spring and other scenic attractions are also nearby. A week's rental of a cottage at the Mountain Ash Beach resort will be given away as a prize to some good fisherman at the Fisherman's Party to be held at the Upper Peninsula State Fairgrounds Sunday afternoon, June 26, under the sponsorship of the Lions clubs of Escanaba and Gladstone.

MINOR'S BEACH EXPECTS RUSH

Fine Swimming and Fishing at Resort on Indian Lake

Deer Path Lodge at Minor's Beach, owned by Dewey Minor of Manistique, is making preparations for what is expected to be the busiest season in its history.

Located on Indian Lake, Minor's resort is popular with fishermen and vacationists, who like to have an opportunity to enjoy the outdoors in a forest environment and at the same time be in quick reach of the stores, shows and other city attractions that are offered at Manistique, three and a half miles away.

Log cabins at Minor's Beach are completely furnished, including linen. All cabins are well screened. There is fine swimming on the Indian Lake beach and also the best of fishing. Deer and other wild game may be seen frequently. A week-end vacation for two persons, with board and lodging, will be awarded as a prize at the Lions Clubs' Fishermen's Party to be held Sunday, June 26, at the U. P. State Fairgrounds in Escanaba.

NESTFUL OF KITTENS

Hinckley, Ill. (AP) — A cat on the Valley Brasher farm started raising her newborn kittens in a tree nest formerly occupied by a family of squirrels.

Scottsbluff, Neb. (AP) — Mistaking a piece of string for a worm was fatal for a robin that lived in the Rev. J. M. Wingett's yard.

Fur, Fin and Feather

By George Rintamaki

"Just 'cause a feller don't play your game it ain't no sign he's a gold-darned fool!"

The simple backwoods philosophy of old Sandy McIvers applies admirably to a certain trout trout admirer among the present day trout anglers. A great many trout fishermen in the peninsula are joining the ranks of the purist group and their discussions concern nothing but the merits of the various types of artificial flies.

The mere mention of using the lowly garden hackle or angle worm for trout is met with a prolonged sneer. Mention any rig but the fly outfit and you are a moron; an outcast who doesn't belong "within the charmed circle."

"Maybe there is an upper-crust and a lower-crust among the trout fishermen and if such is the case, then I'm one of the lower-crusters," says Sandy. "But give me a wiggly angieworm on a six foot gut leader and I'll show the upper-crust a thing or two about catching fish in the early days of the season and, yes, even in mid-summer during the height of the fly time, too."

Sandy is like some other smart fellows we know. He does love a fly rod but he doesn't sneer at worms, due simply to the fact that he really understands the art in worm fishing and can derive as much enjoyment out of it as he can from whipping a fly over a hidden pool. There's a science in fishing with a worm. It's not just wading near little pools and "plunking" a heavily wormed hook into the waters. The anglers equipment in this type of worm fishing which will describe may well be a fly rod for it will worm fishing even more like fly fishing. The line, however, should not be the usual double tapered one, the level line being preferable. A six or seven and one half foot gut leader is a necessary part of the equipment. A sproat hook, size about 10 or 12, with a finely hollow ground point is snelled to the end of the gut. Another of the hooks is fastened to the gut about an inch or even less, above the first hook. Remember only smaller hooks are desirable. There is a trick to baiting the hooks. Don't thread the worm on as you do with single hooks; piece the worm at one spot near the end instead, allow to wind around the stem of the lower hook several times and impale the lower end of worm just on the point of the lower hook. Thus the worm will wriggle and act lively for a long time, or until a hungry trout grabs it. To fish correctly with this lure, it should be worked upstream in not too long casts. Let the current bring the bait back to you, working it among the rocks and along the banks, reeling up the slack as it comes in. You'll find, as Sandy says, that worms have taking ways if you fish with a little skill and science instead of just "plunking". Even the purist element may learn a thing or two from the worm fisherman who often knows little and cares less about the technique of carrying a fly out of his hair but nevertheless gets his fish as regularly as does the fly fisherman.

Pertinent Pressing Points

When pressing your clothes, never rest the iron on the right side of your material, as this will cause a shine. Most pressing is done on the wrong side. If it is necessary to press the right side always cover with a pressing cloth. Be sure your iron is not too hot when you start to press a dress. There are few marks harder to remove from a garment than scorch, aside from the fact that it weakens your material. Heavy materials can stand a hotter iron than thin. Rayon materials should be pressed with a warm iron.

STOCKS REGAIN RECENT LOSSES

BY FREDERICK GARDNER (Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, May 28 (AP)—The stock market rallied mildly today and leaders got back fractions to a point or more of their recent losses.

Trading forces were said to have been moderately cheered by the fact that the tax revision bill became a law at midnight, even though the president refused to attach his signature to the document.

Offsetting this to some extent, however, were indications the administration, not satisfied with the new law as a whole, would throw the entire tax matter into congress at the next session.

Business news provided scant stimulation for speculative contingents. Transfers amounted to only 216,880 shares against 286,070 last Saturday.

For the week the turnover was about 1,000,000 shares ahead of the preceding six days, and it was not overlooked that the pick-up in activity was coincident with a downward trend.

While the Associated Press average of 60 issues was up 4 of a point for the short session, on the week this composite suffered a net decline of 1.5 points. It was the third consecutive week in which the average fell.

Advances for the day were held by U. S. Steel at 41, Bethlehem at 41 1/2, General Motors 37 1/2, Chrysler 40 1/2, Anaconda 22 5/8, Kennecott 28 5/8, Douglas Aircraft 42 1/2, International Harvester 49 1/8, Montgomery Ward 28 5/8, Standard Oil of N. PREDICTS ELECTION RESULTS

Escanaba, Mich. May 27, 1938

Escanaba Daily Press, Dear Editor:

Your paper recently carried so much baloney of the Pennsylvania Republican victories and the dark horses won, and that a Democrat and Republican will fight it out in the regular election. These articles were not written by the Daily Press Staff, but it casts a reflection of the old Republican war cry.

Did I ever occur to your memory of previous elections how this state went Republican and swung around to the Roosevelt band wagon in the general election?

Well, all Republican newspapers can scream now and you will be screaming with them in the primaries, but the strategy is this: the Democrats will vote for Toy who is knocking Governor Murphy of Michigan. The silent Fitzgerald seems to have Toy as a teammate.

Toy is out with the hammer telling the world what a business untrustworthy Murphy is. Fitzgerald, his teammate, will put on a clean campaign.

But our labor men will cast our Democrat votes for Toy in the primaries and let you scream. But we will fool you in November and vote for our great humanitarian Governor Frank Murphy who does not spill the workers' blood with bayonets when they are down and out, and he believes in feeding hungry people in garbage cans as was the workers' past experience, when there was no such thing as relief. We have not forgotten Fitzgerald when he didn't care if Fitzgerald children got fed or not when he said, "Strikers who put their children and families on other's responsibilities and strike no matter how small the pay, get no relief."

Give Governor Murphy a chance. Daily Press and company. We may want him to feed hungry children yet before this depression is over. The smart voters will vote for Toy and make the Republicans scream, that way we will get rid of that Fitzgerald in the primaries, and we will put Murphy over with a landslide in November.

Yours truly, AXEL LINDQUIST, 429 South 12th street, Escanaba, Mich.

BRIDGES GIVES ONLY SIX HITS

Tigers Take Six-Inning Tilt, 9-1; Sox Walk 12 Batters

Chicago, May 28 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers got only five hits today but they beat the Chicago White Sox, 9 to 1, in a six-inning game, thanks to rookie Bill Cox and Sugar Cain, Sox pitchers, who walked 12 batters. It was the second straight Tiger victory in the three-game series.

It was victory No. 1 for Tiger pitcher Tommy Bridges, who had been laid up since April 27 with an ailing arm. Bridges allowed six hits, three of them going to Jackie Hayes.

The game was called early in the seventh because of rain, and the final status of the contest reverted to the last of the sixth.

Charley Gehringer and Pete Fox each got two of the Tiger hits. The other went to Ray Hayworth, in the Tiger lineup for the first time this season, who caught Bridges.

Scores On Wild Pitch Three Tiger runs came in the first inning. Dixie Walker walked and went to third on Gehringer's single. Greenberg and York then walked, the latter forcing in Walker. Gehringer scored on a wild pitch and the other runners advanced. The bases were filled again when Pete Fox walked.

Hayworth filed to Kreevich, and Greenberg scored after the catch. Cox lasted until the fourth inning, which netted Detroit six runs.

The Tiger spree started with two down. Rogell walked and stole second when Berger dropped Sewell's throw. Cox then walked Walker, Gehringer and Greenberg, Hank forcing Rogell home. Cox went to the showers and Cain came in, only to walk Rudy York, who forced in Dixie Walker.

Poffenberger Next Fox then got the only two-base blow of the game and drove in Gehringer and Greenberg. Hayworth got as far as second on a wild pitch but was left when Hayes threw out Don Ross.

The Sox got their only run in the fifth. Kreevich walked and was forced by Steinbacher, Greenberg to Rogell. Steinbacher went to second on a wild pitch, and scored when Gerald Walker singled to left.

Bridges, who always has worked well with Hayworth, struck out six men to two apiece by Cox and Cain.

Complete with band and cheer leaders, the Gladstone bartenders baseball team will arrive in Escanaba this afternoon to play the Escanaba barkeeps at No. 3 diamond. The game is booked for 2 p. m.

Otto Haberman of Gladstone will officiate as umpire. The Escanaba boys will be resplendent in their new uniforms. Rumors of fabulous wagers are being heard, and both teams are prepared to take any and all bets.

This will be the first local appearance of the Gladstone keg-drainers team, and will probably be followed by a return game at Gladstone. The Escanaba bottle gang holds the record of an impressive victory over the Marquette bartenders at Marquette last Sunday.

Shampine Munising Entrant In Relays Munising, May 28—Oliver Shampine, Munising dash man, will be the Mather high school entrant in the Memorial Day classics at Escanaba on Monday.

Shampine competed in the annual state interscholastic track meet at Michigan State college, East Lansing, on Saturday.

Always In a Big Hurry

Charles H. (Cnuck) Fenske, sensational University of Wisconsin distance running star who will run an exhibition race at the U. P. Relay Carnival here tomorrow afternoon, climaxed a remarkable career when he won both the mile and half mile runs in the recent annual outdoor championship meet of the Western conference at Columbus, O., in near-record time.

Other great runners have won the "distance double" and in fast time but none have, as undergraduates, turned in times of 4:10.9 and 1:52.9 for the two events the same day.

Fenske has a record of 4:08.9 for the mile, made last March in the Armour Tech relay meet in Chicago, and has run more than a dozen races under 4:16 but few except his coach, Tom Jones, believed him capable of better 1:53 in the half. At Columbus, knowing he would have harder competition in the half, Fenske saved himself in the mile, running only fast enough to win safely. All the experts who saw him agreed that he could easily have cracked the Big Ten record of 4:10.8 had he so desired.

With at least three major meets ahead of him, there is little doubt that the Badger star will set a lower mark before he finishes the season. He will compete in the Central Intercollegiate meet at Milwaukee, Friday night; in the Big Ten-Pacific Coast conference meet at Evanston, June 11; and in the final collegiate classic of the year—the National Collegiate meet at Minneapolis, June 18. He also plans tentatively to run in the national A.A.U. championships at Buffalo in July and may be chosen to run the mile on the U. S. team which will compete in the Pan American games in Brasilia this summer.

With all his athletic competition—he has been on the Wisconsin cross-country and track teams for three years, Fenske has never neglected his studies and has a fine scholastic average for his entire course. In witness of this, the Badger was recently awarded the Conference medal for excellence in scholarship and athletics—the most prized award open to a big Ten university athlete.

Chatham To Play Bonds In Munising Munising, May 28—The Munising Bonds will meet the strong Chatham nine here on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the Bonds first week home game of the season. Last week the Bonds dropped their opener against the Ishpeming squad at Ishpeming, 17-12.

In the probable line-up for the Bonds will be Boyak, C. Wrona, 1b; Miron, 2b; Tunteri, ss; Alken, 3b; Rousseau, rf; Flak, cf; and Fleming, lf. Vinskoski or Malone will probably see duty on the mound.

Both the Bonds and the Chatham nine dropped their openers, the Chatham squad bowing to the Model Towers, and the Sunday game will promise to be a tough battle.

Dodgers Nose Out Boston Bees, 6-5 Boston, May 28 (AP)—Fine relief pitching by Fred Frankhouse and Tot Pressnell enabled the Brooklyn Dodgers to end their five-game losing streak today by nosing out the Bees, 6 to 5.

Brooklyn—021 300 000—6 10 0 Boston—300 200 000—5 14 1 Hamlin, Frankhouse, Pressnell and Phelps; Shoffner, Hutchinson and Mueller.

Precision Marks Plan Of Relays; Sked Is Strid In order to do justice to athletes, coaches and fans alike, every effort has been extended by Principal Edward Edick and Director Carl Nordberg to run the Relay Carnival off in the shortest time possible.

To that end, specific instructions have been issued to all officials and contestants that procrastination will not be the order of the day. A time schedule has been arranged and events will be run off as closely to that schedule as possible.

Contestants must be at the starting line immediately after the first call has been sounded, a second call being sounded only where absolutely necessary to get more than one athlete. Under no circumstances, will a call be put through for any individual athlete. Contestants not at the starting line after the second call will be scratched.

All questions of regulations will be handled by the referee, C. B. Hedgcock, director of athletics at Northern State Teachers College. Officials will be directly responsible to him.

In order to prevent confusion at the scene of action, snow fences has been erected on the football field and all boys and officials not actually involved in any of the events will be forced to remain behind the fence until such time as they are scheduled to compete. None but timers and judges will be allowed at the finish of the races. Bleachers have been erected in the field for the use of athletes and school officials.

NINTH TRIUMPH TAKEN BY CUBS

Nine-Run Rally in 7th Brings 9-3 Victory Over Pirates

Pittsburgh, May 28 (AP)—Chicago's fast stepping Cubs crushed the slipping Pirates today with a nine run rally in the seventh for a 9 to 3 victory, their ninth triumph in ten games and the Pirates' eighth defeat in ten.

Russell Bauers sallied along nicely for Pittsburgh until the fatal seventh. He had permitted only two hits, but after Carl Reynolds slid a single past Arky Vaughan, Rip Collins homered, his seventh of the year. When things cleared, 14 Cubs had batted.

The Pirates' first run in the fourth was the first scored by them in the last 21 innings.

He Leaps Through College

J. Riley Best, University of Wisconsin jumper who will give an exhibition at the Relay Carnival tomorrow has been a star on Coach Tom Jones' Badger track teams for two years. In the recent Big Ten championship meet at Columbus, O., Best made the remarkable record of scoring points in both the high jump and broad jump. There have been occasional jumpers who could perform creditably in both these events but few have scored points in both in a major meet, as of broad jumping usually takes a lot of height off a jumper's normal ability in the high jump.

Best placed third in the broad jump at Columbus with a leap of 23 feet 6 1/2 inches and tied for fifth in the high jump, in which he cleared 6 feet 3 inches. The blonde Badger has another year of competition and is expected to better both these records next season. He is one of the most consistent performers on Coach Jones' squad.

RELAY RECORDS ARE IN DANGER

Track in Good Shape; Competition Will Be Speedy

With the track in its best condition in years and splendid competition scheduled, many of the records of the Upper Peninsula Relay Carnival are expected to fall by the wayside Monday afternoon at the senior high school athletic field.

Coach Nordberg and his helpers have been working on the track every week after practices putting in it shape. New surface cinders have been added and yesterday the whole track was raked by hand and rolled with the city roller. If it rains again today, it will be rolled before the meet.

One of the most exciting races is expected to be the special hundred yard dash in which competition is especially keen. Mildren, defending champion from Ironwood who holds the Relay Carnival record of 10.2, will have tough competition from his mate, Di Mario, Johnson of Iron Mountain, LeBrasseur of Nahma, Shampine of Munising, Douville of Stephenson, Oulmette and Abrahamson of Escanaba and Bourion and Fernstrom of Menominee.

The presence of such fine distance men as Olds and Nelson of Iron Mountain, Hurley of Escanaba, Slough of Manistique and Fernstrom of Menominee may mean the breaking of other records in the relay events.

The records are as follows: Pole vault—Stohberg, Iron Mountain, 1936. Height, 12 feet 3 inches. Low hurdles—LaCoy, Kingsford, 1936. Time, :24.0. 440 relay C and D—St. Joseph, 1930. Time, :48.0. Class B mile—Ironwood, 1936. Time, 3:42.9. Class D medley—Trenary, 1937. Time, 4:01.9. Class C medley—St. Joseph, 1932. Time, 3:55.3. Class B medley—Escanaba, 1936. Time, 3:47.3. Relay Century—Mildren, Ironwood, 1936. Time, 10:2. Two mile relay—Escanaba, 1932. Time, 8:43.4. Class D half mile—Berglund, 1934. Time, 1:41

DORA MAY PAYS $12 AT DETROIT

Five-Year-Old Bay Mare Captures First Race at Fairgrounds

Detroit, May 28 (AP)—Dora May, five-year-old bay mare which had not run a race since last October, bested a field of seven other sprinters today to capture the $2,500 added inaugural handicap, feature of the opening day's program of the Detroit spring race meeting.

She ran the six furlongs in 1:12 3-5, finishing a half length in front of Grey Streak, Mrs. A. M. Cress's gelding. A half length behind Grey Streak and a nose in front of Sweep Royal was Miss Bull Dog, three-year-old filly from the Valley Grey stable.

Dora May paid $12 to win, $6.40 to place and $5.30 to show for a $2 ticket. Grey Streak paid $8 and $5.40 while Miss Bull Dog rewarded her backers with $5.20.

Drenched Fans See Gov. Chandler Win In Illinois Derby

Chicago, May 28 (AP)—Splashing through mud and rain, Gov. Chandler, three-year-old son of Reigh Count-Saucy Sue, captured the $12,000 added Illinois derby today before a drenched crowd of 15,000 spectators.

The veteran jockey, Willie Garner, piloted Gov. Chandler to a length victory over Xavier, a long shot, with Dolly Val, another long shot, finishing third. Count Valant was fourth.

The race had a gross value of $13,170 with $9,550 going to F. Fred Miles of Louisville, Ky., and Howard Hawks, of Los Angeles, movie producer and speed flyer, recent purchasers of Gov. Chandler, which covered the mile and an eighth in 1:58.

Gov. Chandler paid $5.40 to win, $4.00 to place and $3.40 to show. The place price on Xavier was $11.20, with $5.80 to show while Dolly Val returned $8.00.

Flying Lee Winner At Churchill Downs

Louisville, Ky., May 28 (AP)—Giving an exhibition of speed and stamina, Hal Price Headley's Flying Lee, a bay daughter of Penant, won the 64th running of the Kentucky Oaks, $5,000 added, at Churchill Downs today.

Flying Lee, coupled in the betting with Drift Alone, took up the running when the latter faded and fighting it out in a ding dong finish with S. T. Baker's Janice out-gamed the latter to score by a scant neck. Janice, which gained the lead momentarily in the stretch, held on stubbornly to take second money, five lengths in front of J. O. Keene's Fantine.

W. J. Spross's Birdie was fourth in the field of ten.

Flying Lee, by virtue of her victory, added $4,720 to the Headley coffers. Second and third money were $1,000 and $500, respectively, to Janice and Fantine. Birdie saved her entrance fee in drawing down $250.

The Headley entry, a warm public choice, paid $4.80 in the $2 mutuels to win, $2.30 to place and $2.20 to show. Janice paid $5.80 and $4.00 and Fantine paid $5.60.

Fighters Prepare For Tuesday Bout

New York, (AP)—Dusky Henry Armstrong, the featherweight champion and challenger for Barney Ross' welterweight title, returned to his Pompton Lake, N. J., training camp today to resume preparations for Tuesday's title bout.

Armstrong wound up his camp work early this week but after the bout was twice postponed because of rainy weather Thursday and Friday, he decided to go back to his country retreat and get in a few more licks.

Ross remained in New York but had only a light workout. He did four miles of road work this morning but when the scales showed 140 1/2 pounds after that session, his managers cancelled a scheduled boxing session in Stillman's gym and let him go to the ball game at the Polo Grounds instead. Barney is due to box four rounds tomorrow.

Putter Helps Yates Claim British Title

BY SCOTTY RESTON
Troon, Scotland, May 28 (AP)—Charley Yates, relying on his heart when his putter wouldn't work, won the British amateur golf championship today by defeating Cecil Ewing of Ireland, 3 and 2, in the 36-hole final, and thus re-established Atlanta as the golfing capital of the United States.

Bobby Jones' cheerful young fellow-townsmen won it on the 34th green, and on this green, as indeed on almost every green, both his heart and his putter were in good shape.

Gigantic, baldish Ewing, stubborn and non-hearted, had cut Yates' lead to two and, in a last desperate effort, had exploded out of the sand and dropped his putt for a par 5. Yates, after three picture shots, was on the green in three—eight feet from the pin.

The crowd of 7,000 fought and elbowed for positions around the green. When Yates addressed his ball, only two sounds could be heard—the washing of the sea on the near-by shore and the singing of sky-larks overhead. It was a fit setting for the putt that was to come, for Yates struck the ball squarely into the cup.

The crowd rushed for Yates. Charley got to the hole in time to rescue the ball, and a moment later was high on the galleries' shoulders.

They like this fair-haired lad over here. They like his manner and his directness.

Yates decided tonight that his new, fast putting stroke was responsible for his success.

"I decided when I got here I was gonna miss 'em quick," he said, "and the faster I putted the better I did. I'm not one of those guys who've got no nerves. I've got 'em and when I putt fast they don't get a chance."

New School Tennis Champions Crowned

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 28 (AP)—New champions were crowned in all divisions in the Michigan High School Athletic association tennis tournament here today.

Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills won the class A title, replacing Kalamazoo Central as champion.

The class B title went to East Lansing, which nosed out Grand Haven, 1937 victor.

In class C-D St. Clair and University High of Ann Arbor finished in a deadlock. East Tawas won the crown last year.

Quintuplets Taste First Ice Cream On Fourth Anniversary

Callander, Ont., May 28 (Canadian Press)—The Dionne quintuplets celebrated their fourth birthday anniversary today at a private family party by tasting ice cream for the first time.

Later they re-enacted the scene for visitors.

Yvonne stood solemnly at the head of a little table in their sand pile of their playground enclosure while 200 tourists watched.

With Marie, Annette, Cecelle and Emilie group around as they had at the party, Yvonne ceremoniously said grace, led the way to the chairs and poured "tea" from a long-spouted watering can.

The quint's parents, Oliva and Eldre Dionne, and four of their seven brothers and sisters attended the party. Three other Dionne children were away at boarding school.

CLANCY APPOINTED

Menominee—William J. Clancy, municipal judge for the last two years, was named city attorney at last night's special session of council. Judge Clancy will resign his court post to take over his new duties.

Vote on confirmation of the Clancy appointment, submitted to the aldermen by Mayor Michael C. Olson, was 10 to 4, dissenting votes being cast by Aldermen Lawrence Boucher, Second Ward; Chester C. Devoe and Herbert Beyersdorf, Fourth ward and Fred LaBran, fifth ward.

Judge Clancy will fill the vacancy in the city attorneyship which has existed since May 9 when Postmaster Matt F. Bilek, council's original selection for the post, declined to qualify. Postoffice regulations prohibited Mr. Bilek's accepting the post and retaining the postmastership.

TROSKY LEADS JUNIOR LOOP

Replaces DiMaggio of Yanks; Greenberg Has 11 Homers

Chicago, May 28 (AP)—Cleveland's consistent Hal Trosky again rode in front of the American League batting parade last week after a fortnight of trailing slugger Joe Di Maggio.

The big first baseman regained first place with a mark of .383, semi-official averages including games of Friday disclosed, when his New York Yankee rival suddenly encountered a slump that sent his average skidding 61 points to .370. Di Maggio was hit hardest in a general decline affecting the four leaders last week.

Trosky fell off 28 points, Ben Chapman of Boston 32 and Frank Hayes of Philadelphia 9.

Taking greatest advantage of the faltering pace setters was Hank Steinbacher of Chicago's White Sox. Steinbacher advanced his total 30 points to .381, two behind Trosky.

New Jersey Clergymen Deplore Jersey City Ban On Free Speech

Jersey City, N. J., May 28 (AP)—Twenty Protestant clergymen expressed "alarm" today over "hysteria" on both sides in the controversy between city officials and groups they have prevented from speaking in the city.

The clergymen suggested in a "Memorial Day" statement that some places other than Journal Square, heart of the business district where some organizations have sought permits for speeches, be set aside "for open air meetings for all who desire."

Representative Jerry O'Connell (R. Mont.) sought to speak last night at Pershing Field, a sports center, but was restrained by police from doing so. Three weeks ago he likewise failed to make a scheduled speech at Journal Square.

"We believe some suitable place where traffic will not be interfered with should be set aside for the purpose designated, just at Hyde Park in London," the clergymen's statement said.

Meantime, it was announced Mayor Frank Hague, who yesterday declared he would fight to the finish with the CIO and would not enter into any compromise "with these Red groups," had accepted an invitation to lead a patriotic demonstration June 6 in support of his "anti-Red" campaign.

O'Connell, in Washington where he said he was "glad to be back in America," announced he would ask president Roosevelt to take some personal action in behalf of an investigation of alleged infringement of civil liberties in Jersey City.

DENTAL UNIT TO GLADSTONE

Dr. Robert Lazowski to Leave City for Other Parts of County

The dental unit of the Children's Fund of Delta county will be transferred from Escanaba to Gladstone on June 1, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Robert Lazowski, director.

The unit has been established in Escanaba schools for the past year. After the program at Gladstone is completed, about October 1, it will be moved to various points in the rural districts, it is expected.

Work is being done in the senior high school building at Gladstone. Dr. Lazowski, who now is visiting with his relatives and friends in Detroit, came to Escanaba in September, succeeding Dr. H. I. Miller, who left to attend school at Ann Arbor.

During health examinations held in December and January, he reported but 5.3 per cent of the children in Escanaba were dentally perfect.

War Clouds Lifted In Czechoslovakia; Republic Optimistic

Praha, Czechoslovakia, May 28 (AP)—Czechoslovakia's pro-Nazi German minority and the government suddenly resumed negotiations today.

The surprise conference created general optimism on the eve of municipal elections.

The republic tonight was bright with hope of an eventual understanding over the autonomy demands of her 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans, backed by Germany in their troubled dealings with the rasc government.

This was in sharp contrast to the mood of exactly one week ago when the country felt on the verge of war over the Sudeten problem and attendant disorders.

Today's parley between Premier Milan Hodza and two Sudeten Germans actually made some progress toward the goal of a workable compromise between the Sudeten German demands and the government's insistence upon security for the Czechoslovakian state.

The progress was relatively small, but after the many disappointments of the past, the mere fact the peace parleys were resumed, and the prospect of their actually continuing, made the week-end much brighter.
