NEW LICENSE PLATES NEEDED

Patrolman Decries Lack of Progress Along That Line

Kalamazoo, Mich., June 11 (AP)—The automobile license plate, which hasn't changed appreciably in 25 years, needs re-styling according to Patrolman Reeves Comfort, of the Kalamazoo police department. Comfort, who is a motorcycle officer, believes the present type of license plates has more than its share of shortcomings and that to perform efficiently its function of identification it should be: (a)—Larger; (b)—A reflector type; (c)—Inset in the automobile to prevent theft.

Citing the tremendous increase in the speed of modern automobiles over those of a quarter of a century ago, Patrolman Comfort remarked that "regardless of this advancement in speed, officers and others are expected to read license plates of the same design as 1912."

Part of this difficulty in reading license plates on speeding cars, Patrolman Comfort believes, would be eliminated if the plate is enlarged. The remainder of the problem will be solved by making the plate a reflector type which will stand out brilliantly at night, even if the tall lights are not working. Making the license plate an integral part of the car by bolting it from the inside, he contends, will prevent the loss or theft of plates.

"License plates are lost and stolen by the hundreds every day," he said, "but with a space especially designed by the manufacturer of the automobile in the body of the car, bearing in mind that a plate has to be changed but once a year, the old 'numbers game' with which the police are so familiar in regard to stolen and transferred plates would be over."

Funeral services for Emil Dahlstrom of Whitney were held yesterday at the Anderson funeral home, Roy Benson, student pastor of the Bethany Lutheran church, officiating. S. C. Hamm sang a solo, Goin' Home. He was accompanied by Miss Evelyn Mae Anderson.

Pallbearers were Odin Eskils, Benjamin Spencer, George Velle-nette, Hans Peterson, Andrew Christensen and John Olson.

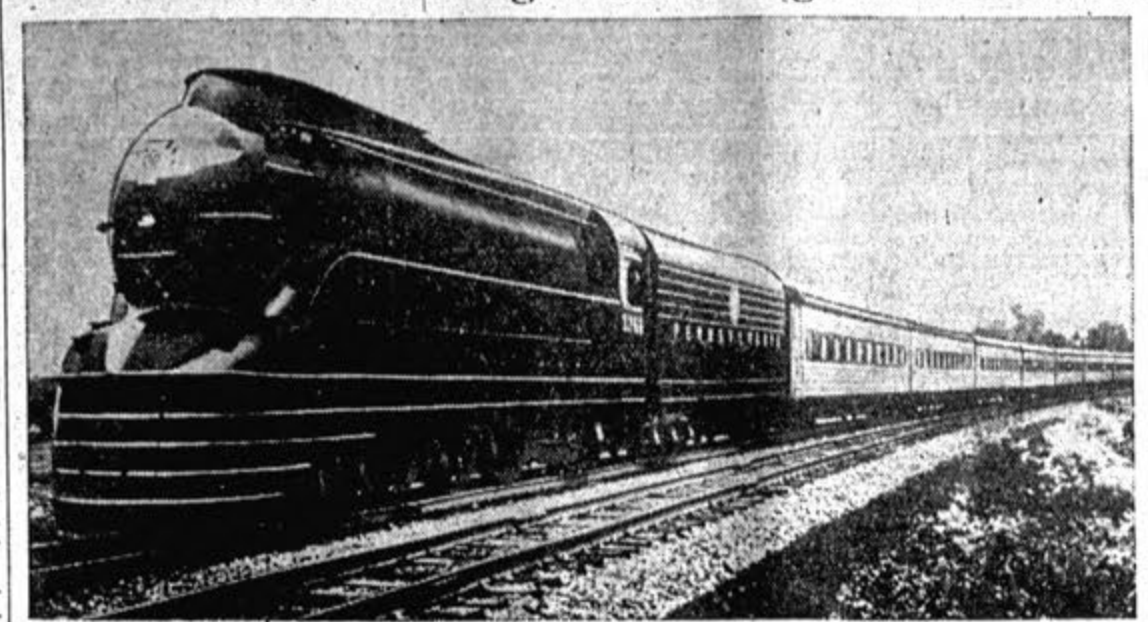

Among the out of town persons present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Christensen and Mrs. Frank Johnson of Rockford, Illinois; Odin Eskils and son, Benjamin Spencer and George Vellenette of Iron Mountain.

BUILDING SKI SLIDE

Iron Mountain—Although some difficulty was experienced at the outset because of a slip-up in following the plans laid out, work on the erection of the steel take-off at the Pine Mountain ski slide is progressing, and the tower is gradually taking form. WPA officials reported today.

The take-off will provide what professionals have predicted will be the "sportiest" ski run in upper Michigan and should produce many record jumps.

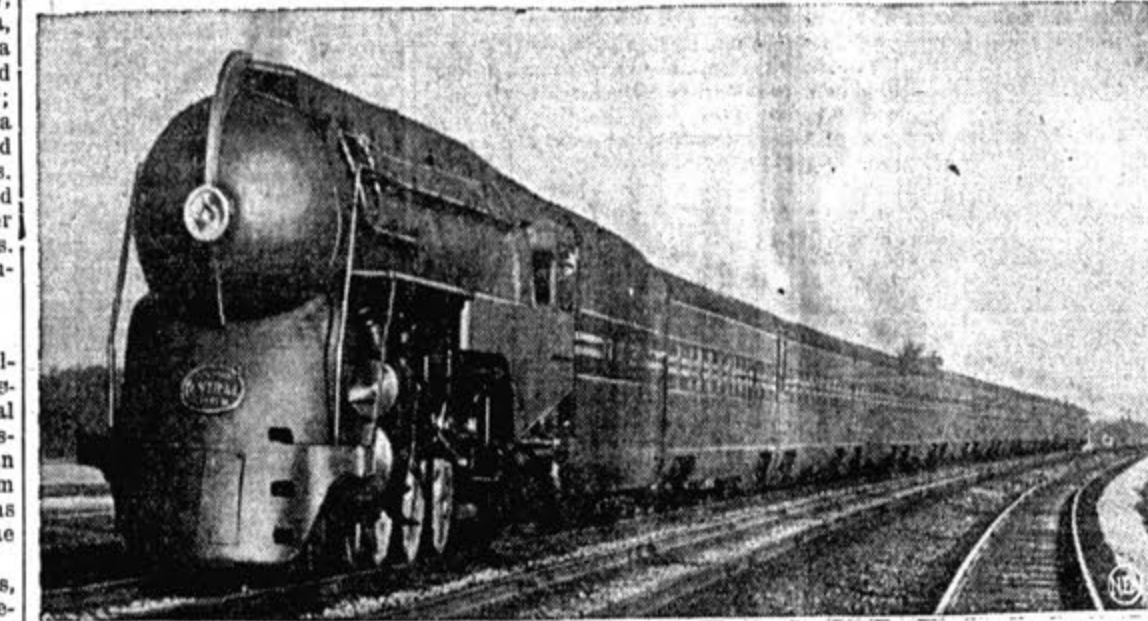

Old Railroad Rivals Will Fight It Out Along New Streamlines

New York—Gleaming, handsome, completely new, two of America's great trains—the "Twentieth Century" and the "Broadway Limited"—now enter the newest phase of their four-decade rivalry. At 6-p. m. on June 15, streamlined versions of these crack trains will make their first run from New York to Chicago.

The "Century" operated by the New York Central, and the "Broadway," maintained by the Pennsylvania, have been making the New York-to-Chicago run daily since 1902. They have long been extra-fare, extra-speed trains with special comforts. But today lightweight, super-power locomotives and modernized cars take the places of the older types of equipment. Henry Dreyfuss, brilliant young industrial designer, planned the new Century. A dark grey band, striped with silver, runs from the tender to the last of the 13 cars. Curved metal skirts hide the under-machinery.

Another famous industrial designer, Raymond Loewy, planned the Broadway for the Pennsylvania. This train is dark red in color and by its markings and lines, conveys an impression of high speed.

In the Broadway Limited the new observation cars are glass-covered inclosures in which built-in sofas and club chairs face outward to permit enjoyment of passing scenery.

In each observation car there are two master bedrooms and one double bedroom, so arranged that the connecting doors of all three

INDIANS WILL HOLD FESTIVAL

Ottawa Tribe Preparing for Ceremonials at Harbor Springs

Harbor Springs, Mich., June 11 (AP)—The fifth annual name ceremonial and festival of the Ottawa tribe is more than a month distant but members of the tribe already are checking the feathers in their war bonnets and the designs on their tepees.

The naming ceremonial dates far back into Ottawa Indian history. Long before the coming of the white man, but it has been an attraction for summer tourists for only four years. This year's ceremonial—the fifth—will be held here on the night of July 24.

Mida—the Michigan Indian defense association—is in charge of the plans for the ceremonial which will bestow native names on two white persons who have proved themselves to be friends of the Indian. Ancient tribal dances and other rites will accompany the bestowals.

To prove that they can break a precedent as well as their paleface brethren, the Ottawas announced today that for the first time in their hundreds of years of history a woman would participate in the tribal dances.

The decision to allow a squaw to take part in the ceremonial follows an earlier precedent breaking which occurred in 1937 when Mrs. C. F. Erwin, of Harbor Springs, became the first woman to be honored with an Indian name at the festival.

Chief Fred J. Ettawageshik, president of Mida, will be in charge of the ceremonial which will include sun dances, snake dances.

Theatres

AT THE DELFT
Replete with action, laughs and fine characterizations, "A Yank at Oxford," now screening at the Delft Theatre, offers Robert Taylor his most convincing role to date and more than re-pays Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for the time and effort spent in producing in England pictures equal in caliber to any made in Hollywood. This is the studio's first British-made production.

AT THE MICHIGAN
A musical that will appeal to opera lovers and swing addicts alike is "Everybody Sing" at the Michigan Theatre in "Everybody Sing."

Allan Jones and Judy Garland, as the singing chef and the swinging schoolgirl were outstanding in their singing, dancing and acting.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN Washington, D. C.—Whenever the subject of war in Europe is raised, there always is someone to assert that the nations could not go to war because of the tremendous cost. It will be recalled by many persons that in 1914, it was widely declared that the war could not last six months because of the same reason.

The system of conscription has been or may readily be extended to every factor of warfare. Conscription of man power was no new thing at the time of the World War, but conscription of other elements had not for a long time been resorted to. Today it would be the policy of warring nations to take what they wanted from their own people without payment.

Thus, while the question of money seems to have lost a good deal of its importance in determining issues of war or peace, some attention must be given it. A nation might conscript raw materials and manufactured goods from its own people but would still have to find credit with which to buy things originating outside its own borders.

Therefore, the financial and economic position of a nation still is important to the rest of the world. Nearly all nations in these times are chary of publishing full information as to their affairs, but some facts do appear. Much curiosity has been displayed in the United States over the state of affairs in Germany and to make a start toward satisfying this there has reached officials here a report of the Reichsbank which contains many data.

GERMANY'S METHODS PARALLEL OURS

It is made clear that Germany, under the Hitler regime, has taken many steps parallel with those of the New Deal in the United States. This is especially true in the world of finance.

Although the Reconstruction Finance Corporation here was established under the Hoover Administration, its greatest operations have been under the Roosevelt regime. Just as the RFC here made heavy loans to banks to prevent them from utter failure and necessary liquidation with huge losses, so the Reichsbank in Germany has supported its banks with public funds.

In similar fashion, the Reichsbank has made heavy advances to German industries, enabling them to keep on their feet and continue operations. If the statements are to be taken at face value, Germany has made more tangible progress toward recovery, or at least more continuous progress, than the United States.

The United States was making substantial progress up until about a year ago, but then came the recession which has torn down much of the new structure. There has been, it is true, some recession all over the world, but in Germany at least there have been nothing like the losses which have been noted here in the last six or eight months.

German methods are not American methods and what was called New Deal regimentation in this country would be regarded as something approaching wild freedom in Germany. Yet there was a similarity between the NRA codes which sought to fix wages and hours and other-wise control industry here, and the steps taken in Germany. The German system was a hundred times more harsh. Also, while many people here objected to the money spent on direct relief and on work relief, those manifestations were far different from the organization of labor camps in Germany. It is true that these labor camps where Germans were forced to work for board and lodging and a few pennings a week for tobacco money, enabled Germany to report to the world that she had no unemployment problem, yet America would scarcely have described the system as employment as it has been known here. It was not voluntary employment.

States. The picture in the advertisement is a mite idealized but no tourist need feel he has been bilked if given to understand he is looking upon our next President, in all probability. Indeed, he may already have got the idea from reading the ad.

Arranging this exhibit will be no job at all for the Michigan Tourist Bureau, since its (saluted) director by happy chance is Norman H. Hill, who is also the Governor's secretary and political adviser.

Answers To Questions

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Escanaba Daily Press Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. Does the Queen Mary draw much water? M. B. A. The steamship has a maximum draft of forty feet.

Q. What is the largest Negro church in the United States? C. H. G. A. It is the Abyssinian Baptist Church in Harlem, New York City, which has a membership of 14,000.

Q. Please give the value of mineral production in Canada. S. J. D. A. In 1937 the value of mineral production in Canada was estimated at $457,000,000.

Q. Which of the National Parks has the shortest season? D. S. R. A. Glacier National Park in Montana, which is open from June 15 to September 15.

Q. What English poet was an epileptic? C. L. F. A. Algernon Charles Swinburne suffered from persistent attacks of epilepsy, which coupled with his deafness, caused him to pass much of his life in comparative retirement.

Q. How much money is paid by the railroads in claims on account of robbery, loss of freight, and unlocated goods? C. M. G. A. Claims paid by the railroads in 1937 because of robbery and unlocated and concealed loss of freight in transit amounted to $2,355,112.

New York Column

New York—Typical New Yorkers: They are inclined to distrust others and believe implicitly in themselves.

They consider the rest of the country outlying districts. Sophisticated as they consider themselves, a movie star's personal appearance can throw them way off their mental balance.

The most ill-mannered folk in the land. They are inclined to put more "on the nose" at the race track than on their wives' backs.

Their greatest crime is the murder of the English language. But they're good of heart and charitable to a fault.

All Around the Town Climb on the sightseeing van and see the New York Sights: The eternal popping-out of heads from hotel and apartment house windows at every clank of auto bumpers in the street below, where Jerome Bonaparte once lived and now a popular place for young shag dancers. Its close neighbor is Graut's Tomb.

The town's musicians who cluster up the blocks on Broadway at 50th street every afternoon. The thousands of cubic feet of rock being excavated from under Sixth Avenue to make way for another of Father Knickerbocker's underground railroads.

The Times Building at the Square, an island entirely surrounded by humanity. The baby carriage legion on upper Broadway, each pram containing some mortal who will grow up to curse the carriages which harass the pedestrian on the street.

The pure-white Squibb Building on Fifth Avenue, a well-mannered fingertip held aloft in the skyline. The smitten swains in Central Park, mutely eloquent illustrations for the love songs that are played in the nearby Tavern on the Green.

Seeing Television First We sat before a box-like cabinet unlike the radio at home, and saw and heard Gertrude Lawrence enact a scene from the Broadway hit show, "Susan and God." The man in the next seat whispered, "For television, this is a historic moment—if it works." And it worked.

It was the first time television had lured an actress of such prestige as Gertrude Lawrence. It was the initial attempt to imitate the action and scenery of a Broadway play. And it was the first time television had maintained a steady flow of movement and dialogue for as long as 22 minutes, instead of the usual three or five.

To the novice spectator, it was an awesome exhibit. It opened to the imagination broad vistas of what could happen when television achieves a practical and commercial value in broadcasting. Broadway sports events, hits, movies, brought into your living room at the flip of a dial!

The Capital Parade

BY ALBION AND KINTNER

Washington, June 13.—Not long ago, two members of the Securities and Exchange Commission dropped in at the Chaste Marble Temple of the Federal Reserve Board, to pass the time of day with Chairman Marriner S. Eccles. It's fortunate the conversation was behind closed doors, for, held in a more public forum, it would have caused an epidemic of apoplexy in bank presidents' offices.

The subject, as usual in such talks in these days, was the depression and its causes. One of the first sub-topics mentioned was the failure of the banks to make loans to business, and especially to small business. Eccles suggested that the fault was not the banks', but the bank examination system's. He argued that the system was rigid, clumsy, and calculated to emphasize business slumps by its insistence on liquidity.

He pointed out that, if a bank lends to the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey. Yet, if a bank should accept Standard Oil of New Jersey debentures as collateral, the book value of the loan is determined by the market quotation of the debentures. Why not cut the banks loose from the stock-market? Eccles asked.

The SEC officials argued, for they and the Reserve board members have been equally pestered by industrialists complaining of money tightness. The Eccles suggestion itself was only a modification of a plan put before the board by Howard Bonbright, vice president of the Briggs Body Co.

ECCLES WHITE RABBIT

Specifically, Chairman Eccles wants to use the bank examining system as a sort of governor of the business cycle. During depressions, he would relax liquidity requirements, in order to get money out of the banks and into production. And during booms, he would have the banking rules made more stringent than ever, in order to moderate the enthusiasm of the boosters.

His scheme is labeled "cutting the banks loose from the stock market" because, for collateral purposes, he would determine a security's value by calculating the credit and net worth of the issuing company. Thus, he thinks, the soundness of the nation's banks would no longer be affected by the fluctuations of the stock-ticker.

WAR AMONG THE AGENCIES

A really violent bureaucratic war has raged around the Eccles plan. Obviously such a plan could never be carried out under the present set-up, which divides authority over the banking structure among the Reserve Board, the comptroller of the Currency and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Therefore, when the President was preparing his pump-priming message, Eccles submitted a paragraph calling for the unification of all authority over the banks.

At the urgent suggestion of treasury officials, the Eccles paragraph was altered by the substitution of the word "coordinate" for "unify." Shortly after the delivery of the message, Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., anxious not to be forestalled, went to the President to ask what should be done to make the paragraph effective. The President thereupon appointed a committee to study the subject and report to him.

Under the chairmanship of Henry Morgenthau, the chosen representatives of the Reserve Board, Comptroller of the Currency's office and FDIC set to work together. Before long, the Eccles men and the other committee members had disagreed sharply. The officials of the other agencies regarded the Eccles plan as extreme and impractical. They protested loudly against it.

In spite of their protests, however, the Eccles view carried enough weight to force concessions. In the committee report, the relaxation of certain rigid banking rules is expected to be recommended.

FOR PRESENT AND FUTURE

As matters stand, the officials of the conservative banking agencies are sweating with fear of further Eccles aggressions. Eccles and his friends, meanwhile, are chafing at a report which they regard as far too modest and timid. For the present, the chief interest of the story is in its illustration of the division of New Deal opinion and of the New Deal terror of increasingly bad times. For the future, it suggests the sort of thing that may come, if times do grow much worse.

Prominent visiting European announces he will rent a house on the rim of the Grand Canyon. Probably suspects he wouldn't feel at home if he weren't living on the brink of something or other.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

THE DOG STAYS ON He had a dog, a yellow dog. A dog of low degree, That kept his relatives agog And all his family.

A most disgraceful looking brute, His relatives declared, A dog he really ought to shoot. They'd do it, if they dared.

They didn't dare, because he had Some money, so they say. They didn't dare to make him mad Before he passed away.

There's nothing like a little gold To hold your kith and kin, And so they let the pup grow old And didn't do him in.

Well, life's a mixup, isn't it? At last he lost his cash. His money vanished, ev'ry bit Departed in the crash.

Now all his relatives are gone, They never come to call. But, since the yellow dog stays on, He hardly minds at all.

"Do Something About It"

WITH a slogan, "Let's Do Something About It", the Chamber of Commerce of Hartford, Conn., has opened a campaign to increase its budget from $26,000 a year to $70,000 to add new bureaus and new activities for the promotion of Hartford business.

The campaign was decided upon after a series of "business clinics", at which 1500 persons talked over their difficulties and possible solutions for them.

It is encouraging to note that the program of work adopted by the Hartford Chamber of Commerce includes many items that have been listed on the Escanaba program for years.

Here is the Hartford program:

- 1. Starting a "buying crusade," to stimulate purchase. 2. Setting up a Bureau of Research which, through statistical studies, will assist taxpayers, businessmen, and government officials. 3. Forming an Industrial Bureau, to aid established industries and to bring new ones to Hartford. 4. Organizing a Retail and Wholesale Department, to develop the city as a trading and distribution center. 5. Bringing conventions and visitors to town. 6. Instituting a Safety Department embracing fire and accident prevention. 7. Publicity to "sell" Hartford to the nation as a place in which to live and work. 8. Conducting a Chamber of Commerce forum on regular schedule, attuned to other civic meetings. 9. Continuing Business Clinic to call executives into consultation. 10. Expanding activities to promote worthwhile civic affairs. 11. Work for better employer-employee relationships. 12. Mobilization of manpower into a unit that will work for the interests of Hartford as a whole.

STATISTICS reveal that Delta county is lagging behind the rest of the state in dairy herd improvement association work.

There are now 74 associations in Michigan the largest on record. But in Delta county, cow testing is being carried on by only 14 farmers, who have a total of 265 animals.

It has been often said that Delta county has fine possibilities for expanding its dairy industry since the home market consumes more dairy products than are now produced locally. An industry quite naturally expands when there are profits to be made, but these profits are not to be made when dairying is conducted in a hit or miss fashion.

Cow testing equips the dairy farmer with the information he needs to obtain profitable production. It enables him to determine what cows are not worth their keep so that he may dispose of these "boarders". It also furnishes a guide to the proper method of feeding.

Other dairy farming areas in Michigan are availing themselves of the benefits of testing. These farmers must have learned that it pays.

The Grist of News

AMONG the people who get gray hairs during the depression is the newspaper editor.

Not only does the editor have all the ordinary depression worries about payrolls, balance sheets and so on; he also has the responsibility of laying daily before his readers a mental bill of fare calculated to tempt their appetites.

Consider what the editor has had to choose from lately.

He has had an unusually bloody and cruel war in China, with day-to-day lists of cities bombed, non-combatants blown to bits, towns sacked, armies routed and spies executed. He has had an equally distressing war in Spain, with much the same sort of fodder coming out of that hopper. He has had rumors of war from all over Europe, with troops mobilizing on peaceful borders, cabinets tottering. Russians being executed, armaments being piled up and a general misera of fear and suspicion spreading across every land.

At home he has had a vindictive and occasionally unprincipled political row to report. He has had a stupendous unemployment problem to tell about, an equally stupendous problem in government finance to expound, a series of strikes to re-

Reflections on Ditto

THERE was an interesting story in a Philadelphia paper the other day.

A peacock roaming around in the city zoo encountered a penny scale that bore a mirror. The bird looked into the mirror and thought he had discovered an enemy. That was sad. He rushed at the scale with murder in his heart and almost killed himself. When he rose from the ground he looked at the mirror again and discovered the other bird still standing.

But, being a bird, and not having man's intelligence, he refused to believe what he saw, so he went right back to his old position and started in killing himself again.

There was an interesting story in a New York paper the other day.

It was on the financial page. "Students of conditions who have pored through the statistical records of the last few months," it read in part, "find nothing to stand in the way of a general recovery in business and industry. . . . Inventories are far below year-end figures. . . . prices of raw materials are at the lowest for several years. . . . There are unusually few distress signals flying. . . . On the other hand, business psychology is still gloomy. . . ."

Why not try keeping your eyes off the mirror for a while?

AGAIN THE SEAWAY (Minneapolis Journal)

The land-locked Northwest has waited long for action on the St. Lawrence Seaway, until now deferred has made the heart sick. There comes a flutter of new hope as the President and Secretary Hull make renewed overtures to Canada. President Roosevelt is tenacious of purpose, and now he is giving the project another try.

As an engineering problem, the waterway presents no serious difficulties. Ocean-going vessels of small size and craft even now can make their way into the Great Lakes. The Welland Canal, from Ontario up to Erie, gives a 30-foot draft. Vessels of that draft come up as far as Montreal. It remains by dams and locks to deepen the river channel above Montreal, which now is 14 feet deep and has abundance of flow.

To the Northwest, the opposition appears narrowly selfish. It comes from seacoast cities in both countries, and from Chicago, which wants to continue to divert more than the limit of 1,500 cubic feet a second into its drainage canal, not having come down yet to that limit set by decree of the United States Supreme Court. Those interests defeated the former treaty in the Senate, and will fight it again.

The Montreal Star scolds the President for making the proposal, claiming that Canada has turned definitely against the waterway. It charges that Washington is trying to force Canada just now because of the pending reciprocity agreement, also that it really is a power father than a navigation project. "If Americans did not want the power, they would not want the scheme," the Star declares.

Has Montreal ever heard of Detroit, Milwaukee, Duluth, Port Arthur and Fort William, and of the great agricultural empire around and west of the Great Lakes? The Northwest is not interested in power on the St. Lawrence, but in access to the ocean. Is that a selfish aspiration? If so, then the Northwest must plead guilty to selfishness, but how about Montreal and the other ocean ports? If the deep waterway, as they claim, would not be practical for ocean carriers, then why are they so bitterly opposed?

If Canada won't, she won't, but the stake is so important that it certainly is worth while to keep on trying to bring the two countries into accord.

MICHIGAN SCENERY (Detroit News)

We notice an advertisement in national magazines by the State Tourist Bureau which is a very creditable piece of work and well worth the tax money expended on it. What takes the eye particularly is the handsome picture of Gov. Murphy, this being both larger and handsomer than the Michigan scenery depicted elsewhere in the lay-out.

The Governor is by all odds one of the State's tourist attractions. But beauty is as beauty does and it does seem to us that as a matter of common fairness to the tourists attracted by its ad the bureau ought to give them a chance to look at him. Some arrangement along the lines followed at Callander, Ont., with the quintuplets would suffice. There is only one of the Governor, of course, but he is handsome and there is no Dionne who is at the same time a Governor, a friend of the Little Brown Brother and a potential candidate for President of the United

Workouts Eased Up For Max Schmeling

Speculator, N. Y., June 13.—Max Schmeling took a ten-mile workout on the road today but did no boxing in preparation for his attempt to regain the heavyweight title from Joe Louis a week from Wednesday.

He spent much of the afternoon sitting around his cottage and talking with sports writers. Max said (1) Doc Casey of Detroit, who has been in his corner during most of his fights in this country, again would be one of his seconds, assisting Trainer Max Machon; (2) That he would resume boxing tomorrow and work in the ring over the next week-end although he was uncertain about his Thursday and Friday drills, and (3) That he would insist that the kind of gloves he has always used here be picked for the fight.

Reports were that Louis would ask for a different make of glove. The Orkneys and other Scottish islands are to be linked to the mainland by radio telephone.

Baccalaureate Talk Delivered By Pastor

Munising, Mich., June 13.—Stressing the fact that "we are the stewards of God," Rev. Herbert Bjorkquist Sunday evening delivered the baccalaureate address to the Mather high school class of 1938. "Being stewards of God implies an obligation to your fellow man with a higher aim and a higher view," he stated.

The speaker emphasized work as the way to success "for the world does not beckon and offer the opportunities of life." "We must work and persevere." Extra-curricular activities in and out of school were pointed out as beneficial since it brought forth talents that often lay hidden in the average person.

"A keen mind without righteousness is a dangerous mind," he pointed out, urging the students to build on righteousness, faithfulness, dependability and humility, with love in our hearts.

The Mather high school mixed chorus directed by A. B. Cline sang several numbers on the program. The processional and recessional of the graduates was played by the chorus' accompanist, Miss Jeanne Fink.

Commencement exercises will be held in the high school auditorium on Wednesday evening at 8:15 o'clock. Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, will be the speaker.

"New KruGon Is Greatest Ever"

She Declares: Health Troubles of Years Yield to New Remedy; Stomach and Kidneys Regulated

"It seemed my system was in a terrible condition for I could find nothing to help me in the least until I began KruGon," said Mrs. Ella Forcum, 112 South Kerth Ave., Evansville, Indiana.

MRS. ELLA FORCUM
"Constipation and indigestion were constantly causing me much distress. Foods simply would not agree with me. I was also troubled with a catarrhal condition in my head and stomach which added to my distress. The poisons which accumulated over my system soon had disordered my kidneys too which caused me so many night risings that I could not get a good night's sleep. Finally I learned of KruGon... a short trial of this new remedy freed me of my years of health trouble."
"Never have I seen a medicine do its work so well before," continued Mrs. Forcum. "My stomach and kidneys seemed to change almost overnight. I am now able to eat and enjoy my meals as I wish, sleep soundly throughout the nights and arise of a morning refreshed and ready for the day before me. Even the catarrhal condition has been eliminated. My nerves are much improved and I am really feeling like my former self again. Anyone who suffers as I did are in need of just such a remedy as KruGon."

RELIEF MAJOR TOPIC AT MEET

Municipal Officials Will Convene June 16-17 at Iron Mountain

With relief and work projects costs draining municipal revenues—already dwindling under recession pressure—local government finances will top the list of subjects of the conference of Upper Peninsula city and village authorities, in Iron Mountain Thursday and Friday.

Copies of the program were received here yesterday from the Ann Arbor headquarters of the Michigan Municipal league, sponsor of the session.

Louis M. Nims, state WPA administrator, will announce plans for local work project participation under the new lending-spending program adopted by congress last week. He will speak at a luncheon Thursday.

State Budget Director Harold D. Smith will follow Nims on the program, describing the state revenue picture as it affects local units under the new pump-priming program getting under way in Washington.

Brake To Speak

How local units may obtain more control of money for public assistance—as to where and how much of it will be spent—will be the subject of an address by State Senator D. Hale Brake, city attorney of Stanton. He is co-author of the 1937 legislation aiming at these objectives.

Application of which has been delayed by a referendum due in November. He will be the Thursday evening dinner speaker.

Efforts to improve administration of local property taxes, through co-operation of municipal assessors and the state tax commission, will be related by Judge Charles D. Rosa, director of the commission's administrative service, speaking Friday morning.

Work of the state tax study commission in preparing for the 1939 legislature a program of suggested improvements in state and local finance machinery, is to be the topic on Friday morning of the municipal league's president, Kenneth J. McCarran, Detroit assessor and member of the study commission.

Protests of local units against their position in the priority of distribution of state-collected gasoline and weight tax revenues will be analyzed by Mark W. Aiger, municipal league staff member.

Demands of municipalities that congress extend federal aid to them for airport construction and maintenance, and results obtained this session, are features of a talk Friday morning by Col. Floyd E. Evans, director, state department of aeronautics.

Will Discuss Pensions

Pensions for municipal employees, in-service training for them, and the spread of civil service will be other subjects. Chairmen of the round table meetings Thursday are:

Mayors, presidents, and councilmen: Carl G. Miller, mayor, Iron Mountain.

Assessors: Kenneth J. McCarran, city assessor, Detroit.

Attorneys: Ernest W. Brown, city attorney, Iron Mountain.

Engineers and public works officials: James Trebilcock, engineer, Bessemer.

Managers: C. A. Miller, village manager, Kingsford.

Utility superintendents: Hugo Lilquist, superintendent, Escanaba.

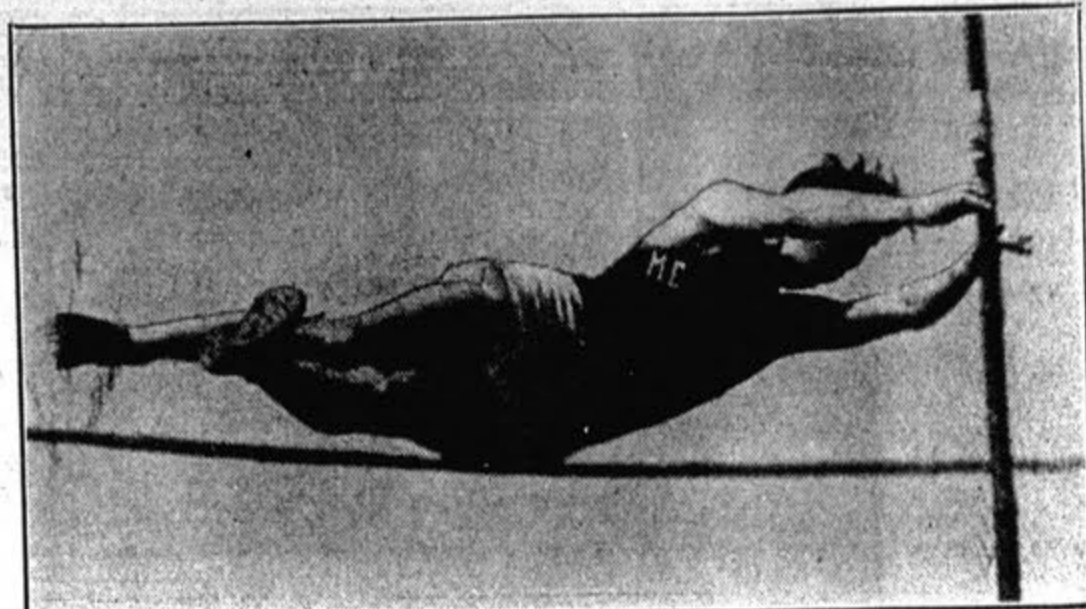

Mayor Carl G. Miller of Iron Mountain is scheduled to deliver the welcoming address at the luncheon Thursday.

Response for the officials will be made by Henry Sherman, city manager, Sault Ste. Marie, a trustee of the Municipal league.

Chairman of the dinner session Thursday is to be Mayor Arthur F. Jacques of Marquette, a trustee of the Municipal league.

Mayor Carl Hanke of Hancock will act as chairman of the Friday morning general session.

Fast Shutter "Freezes" Action At Its Peak

Camera shutter speeds of 1/500 second were used to "freeze" the fast action of the subjects of these two pictures. Both were made at the Upper Peninsula Relays in Escanaba. Deschane of the Menominee pole vaulting team is shown above as he topped the bar at 11 feet 6 inches, while Riley Best of Wisconsin university, steeple high jumper, is shown skimming across the bar at 6 feet 4 inches in his specialty.

High shutter speeds are essential for the snaphooter who wishes to make pictures of swift-moving objects. The photographer must also be quick on the trigger, to catch the motion at its peak. Like the hunter, he must learn to "lead" his quarry, pressing the shutter release a split-second before the jumper reaches the top of the bar.

Action shots can be made at slower shutter speeds, however, if the photographer is willing to take his shots from an angle at which the subject is coming directly towards the camera or moving directly away from it. A picture that would require a shutter speed of 1/500 second when taken with the action moving across the field may be made at 1/50 second when the action is directly toward the camera.

Both relays shots were made at aperture F 5.6 at a shutter speed of 1/500 second.

CHECK FROM FIRST BANK

Iron River—Brushing the dirt from a little slip of paper that blew in his yard, J. H. Harding found he held a check dated 1904 and drawn on the old Commercial bank, the first bank in Iron River. The check was written by Patrick Kelly, one of Iron River's first businessmen.

One-Third Of CCC Enrollees Secure Jobs In Industry

New York, June 11 (AP)—The civilian conservation corps, set up by the Roosevelt administration to take idle youth off the street corners, found jobs in private industry for a third of its entire enrollment last year.

The CCC education director, Dr. Howard W. Oxley, reported that fact today.

He said 90,000 young men had been taken off Uncle Sam's "forest army" payroll and put into private employment during 1937.

Of the 90,000 youths discharged from the CCC for private jobs in 1937—31 per cent of the year's enrollment—38.6 per cent were actually placed through the CCC program. The remaining 61.4 per cent used what they learned in camp to find jobs by themselves, through relatives or friends, the employment service, a community civic agency or some similar source.

The division of the jobs obtained was:

In agriculture, 29.4 per cent.

In manufacturing and mechanical industry, 19.7 per cent.

In transportation or communications, 12.1 per cent.

In business trades, 10 per cent.

Lesser numbers in mining, clerical positions, forestry and park service, and domestic service.

ROAD PROGRAM TO BEGIN SOON

Two U. P. Projects Up for Bids Here on June 22

Two Upper Peninsula highway projects are up for bids at the office of the Michigan State Highway department in Escanaba Wednesday, June 22.

The projects are: 8.504 miles of 20-foot concrete pavement in Schoolcraft county on US-2 relocation Whitehead north and Blaney southwest.

0.520 mile of grading and drainage structures in Mackinac county on US-2, approach to grade separation east of Gould City.

Machinery for the initiation of the state highway department's summer construction program was in motion this week.

G. Donald Kennedy, deputy state highway commissioner, announced that plans for 36 proposed construction contracts approximating $2,500,000 are in the hands of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads for approval. Bids on the projects will be the "letting" on June 22 will be the first since last December.

The bids also initiate Michigan's Federal Aid secondary road program on county highways. Seven projects estimated to cost $401,000 are on the county road system with the affected counties required to match Federal funds. It is the first time in the history of Michigan highways that the Federal Aid fund-matching principle has been extended to the county road system.

Kennedy said the Department will open bids on approximately a million dollars worth of projects once a month throughout the summer and fall. The initiation of the construction program follows the recent $1,750,000-a year settlement reached by Governor Murphy and Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagner over the Department's general fund appropriation.

Bike Parade Will Be Staged Today

The annual Montgomery Ward "Bike" parade will be held this afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock at the junior high school. It will end at the postoffice.

Six-Day Golf Tours To Peninsula Will Begin On Saturday, July 9

A six-day golf and all-sports tour to Upper Michigan, an innovation in travel similar to the Ski and Bicycle Trains so popular in the East, will leave Chicago on Saturday on Saturday evening, July 9, according to an announcement today by J. Stuart Rotchford of Happiness Tours, Inc.

Special emphasis will be given to golf, but the tour will also include other sports for men and women, such as boating, swimming, fishing, deep-sea fishing, tennis, riding and hiking.

The golfers will play a different course each day and will be able to play both in the mornings and afternoons if they desire. The Upper Peninsula area has many beautiful sporty golf courses that adjoin cool northern lakes and heavily wooded lands, and in some cases are on the banks of Lake Michigan and Lake Superior.

Accompanying each train will be a noted professional, who will give group demonstrations each morning and arrange special handicap tournament for both the par player and the dub.

Following is the proposed itinerary of the golf train: Leave Chicago on Saturday evening, play Riverdale and North Shore Country Club at Menominee on Sunday; Highland and Escanaba on Monday; Marquette Golf and Country Club and Wawanowin Golf Club at Ishpeming-Negaunee on Tuesday; Portage Lake Golf Club, Calumet Golf Club and Keweenaw Golf Club in the Copper Country on Wednesday and Thursday; Pine Grove Golf Club at Iron Mountain and the Oak Crest Golf Club at Norway on Friday.

The Upper Peninsula Development Bureau and George Bishop, Secretary, and separate city groups in Upper Michigan have joined wholeheartedly in supporting the Golf and All-Sports Tour. Special committees have been appointed to cooperate with the Chicago travel agency. In some cities women's clubs have arranged to hold bridge parties and other affairs for the women on the train who do not wish to make use of the sporting facilities.

The tour also includes a special 60-mile scenic motor excursion through the Copper Country on the unusual Brockway Mountain Drive, recently opened to the public. The party will spend two days in Keweenaw land, which is said to be one of the most strikingly beautiful scenic areas in America.

The train will leave Chicago, via the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad and return via the Milwaukee Road. The party will travel in private deluxe Pullmans.

Chemicals Will Be Put In Log Rolling Pool In Fairgrounds

Children who have been using the log rolling pool at the Upper Peninsula fairgrounds as a swimming pool will be forced to change their swimming place because chemicals are being added to the water.

Chemicals are being added to treat the wooden tank, officials said.

ROTARY HEARS DICK CARLTON

Local Youth Tells About Musical Education at University

An interesting discussion of the musical education at the University of Illinois was given by Richard Carlton, Illinois music school graduate, at a noon meeting of the Rotary club Monday.

Carlton said of the 12,000 students at Illinois U., only 200 are in the music school. Entrance is by examination only, with those without sufficient musical background being denied entrance. Two degrees are awarded at the music school, one for instrumental work and the other in public school music.

The University, Carlton said, has three bands, a picked concert band of 100 pieces, the regimental band of an equal number and second regimental band of 150 pieces. The university marching band, which parades at football games and other functions, has 168 pieces.

Carlton explained the growth of opera in universities, saying that Illinois for the past several years has produced a grand opera as well as an operetta.

Following his talk, Carlton sang three numbers, accompanied at the piano by Pauline Johnson.

BUSINESS GIRL—1938 MODEL—Office manager Olive Tucker keeps disarmingly calm despite nerve-ragging phones, buzzers, interviews. "If anyone needs healthy nerves, I do," Miss Tucker smiles, adding: "That's one reason why I smoke Camels regularly. They never get my nerves upset." Later—much later—Miss Tucker skips to the roof-top gym for a quick work-out. A shower—a rub—a Camel—and she's off again! Tired? Miss Tucker's answer: "Camels give my energy a refreshing 'lift.'"

CIGARETTES MAY LOOK ALIKE—BUT WHAT AN APPEALING DIFFERENCE THERE IS IN CAMELS!

As a smoker, you'll be interested to read what Miss Tucker, successful young office manager, said to Miss MacGregor about the difference between Camels and other cigarettes (below).

WELKER COCHRAN, who has won many important championships at billiards, voices his choice among cigarettes: "Camels give me real smoking pleasure. Under the strain of a championship match, Camels never make me feel jittery or unsure. I'd walk a mile for a Camel!"

JOE DI MAGGIO, idol of baseball fans, speaks for millions of smokers when he comments on his favorite cigarette: "I'm a steady smoker, and Camels don't irritate my throat. That shows Camels have real mildness all right. Watch the ball players pull out Camels!"

"Olive, do you always serve Camels because you feel that there's a big difference between Camels and other cigarettes?"

"I'm very glad you've brought that question up, Helen. I've tried as many kinds of cigarettes as most people have, I guess, and I'm amazed at how different Camels are. Camels are extramild—they never bother my throat at all! And Camels taste so good and rich, yet they never leave me with that 'cigarette' after-taste. Really, in so many ways, Camels agree with me."

OLD MAN BUSINESS licked for another day, Miss Tucker entertains dinner guests—thoughfully! There are lots of Camel cigarettes around her living room. Miss Tucker observes: "Camels are the favorite with my guests and are delightful for topping off a meal. During and after dining, I smoke Camels for digestion's sake. Camels set me right!"

"There's quite a difference between fine tobacco and ordinary grades," says Mr. Calvin Wiggins, who has sold tobacco to Camel for 20 years.

"From my own experience, it's Camel who buys the fine, thin leaves that make the nicest cigarette smoking. Camel bought the really fine baskets of my last crop. I smoke Camels, myself. Most of my grower friends do too. I know, and they know, Camel uses costlier tobaccos!"

Hesitating Democracies Face Purposeful Belligerents

How can peace-minded democracies deal with belligerent dictatorships? That is the question confronting France and Britain as a result of recent events in Spain.

Within two weeks 14 British and two French ships have been bombed and both French and British lives have been destroyed by insurgent planes.

General Franco's government has not been recognized officially by either France or Britain. From the standpoint of international law these bombers are air pirates waging an undeclared war against neutral merchantmen.

There is no proof that any of the bombed vessels carried munitions of war. Some of them, we know, were loaded with food or fertilizer. But even if they had carried arms and ammunition there is nothing in the law of nations which justifies the destruction of such material when it is being delivered to a recognized government.

For General Franco's planes to secure legal recognition France and Britain must grant the Salamanca authorities full rights as belligerents. They must first exchange official envoys with General Franco, and he must then declare an official blockade of Loyalist ports.

What Prime Minister Chamberlain would like to do is to acknowledge the legality of General Franco's blockade and thus disavow responsibility for anything that happens to British crews or ships in Spanish waters. British public opinion will permit him to do this without some concession from the rebel side.

Prime Minister Daladier of France, while he is not pro-Franco, might follow a British lead in granting formal recognition to the rebel government. But he, too, is blocked by French public opinion. While there is a vigorous Fascist minority in France which has helped the Spanish rebels from the beginning of the civil war, the great mass of French opinion is with the Popular Front in Spain.

No French Prime Minister could side with the rebels as openly as Mr. Chamberlain has done and escape defeat in the French Chamber.

Two Democracies Defied We have, therefore, a situation in which two hesitating democracies are being defied by a purposeful belligerent. The Spanish situation is further complicated by the fact that most of the planes and pilots now raiding the Spanish coast are of Italian or German origin. Italy and Germany have recognized the Franco government. They contend that he has established a legal blockade on the coast of Spain and that the killing of Spanish civilians and the sinking of neutral shipping are minor incidents of aerial warfare.

The Italian press expresses indignation that anyone should dare question the legality of these air raids. It alleges the entry of war material from France into Government Spain as ample justification for anything that Italy may do to help General Franco win the war. There is a sharp clash between the Observatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, and the controlled Italian press on attempted justification for the air raids which have killed hundreds of women and children in Spanish coastal towns. The Pope's organ says: "The centers harbored have no military interest nor are they near military centers or public buildings which affect the war. The defenselessness of these centers removes from warfare action every character of the contest and turns it into a series of aggressions."

This Man, Joe Murray

BY WILLIAM CORCORAN

Copyright, 1938, by William Corcoran; NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS: JOE MURRAY—liked new places, new jobs, new girls. HELEN—fell in love—hard—once. TERRY MALLOW—found love—and kept it!

Yesterday, So Joe and Terry are married and Joe confesses that he does love her. But that night he is troubled again by the phantom of Helen, come in final farewell.

CHAPTER XII She made a quick sound without words, saying something inexpressible. That was all had been lacking, the last thing needed... and life was in fullest flower.

It flowered for Terry. But for Joe there had once before been a time like that and then there was a blight, and no second blooming came.

There was a sound of music and a smell of carthy spring... but the music was discordant and the spring was too long dead, and it was a stark, desolate visitation, tragic and pale and fading for all time.

Helen no more! It was farewell. The past was dead; life went on. He was willing to face the decision. Life laid down a challenge and rendered him a job to do, and he could do, at least, his best. He could speak of love again. To the riddle of existence there was a plausible if still inadequate answer. He could do his best.

The rest was up to life. The marriage was a neat little bombshell in the two families and in the neighborhood. It was perhaps the easier launched for that very reason. One clean cut and the past was severed, and no one to question or bid them pause.

Terry telephoned her folks that first day. On the second day she called on them. There was a long interview, the details of which she kept entirely to herself afterward, but she walked out of the house defiantly and proudly and a bit shakily, resolutely piling a number of personal belongings into a taxicab, and asserting by her air and every gesture the independence she now possessed and her determination to keep it. Her visit was never returned.

Joe called on his mother when he knew she would be alone. She received him calmly. To his surprise, she was fully aware. He demanded who had told her.

"The newspapers," she replied. "I've watched the lists of marriage licenses issued lately; your name was there this morning. When you didn't come home, there was only one thing likely. Besides, one look at your face now and I'd know all I needed. I know you too well, son."

He grunted and paused. When she did not continue he said, "Well?"

She smiled and came and put a hand on his shoulder. "Lots of luck, Joe... a power of luck! You didn't ask for my opinion, so I'll be sparing with it now. I hope you'll be happy, and if there's anything I can do for either of you, you need only tell me."

"Thanks," he said. "You can call on us."

"I'll do that first thing," she paused and said, "Do I draw the line at the in-laws?"

"It's already drawn," she told him.

When you are poor and not afflicted with the touchy arrogance of false pride, life is often lovely in its sheer simplicity, and it is always, barring sickness or deprivation, fairly comfortable. Terry and Joe were one day single and unattached, and the next, married householders; and the neighborhood, after the first look of surprise, beamed and accepted the fact complacently.

They took up their jobs again, both of them. They had a talk about that, and Terry concluded to keep on working. "There isn't enough here to keep me busy, darling, and my money we can put in the bank without touching it. I never had any of it before."

"I can make enough money," he said doubtfully, reserving agreement.

"We'll need all we can get later."

"What for?"

She laughed and said, "Oh, you can't tell what might happen." She blushed, who was always so bland, and tossed his hair. "I love you so much. I can't be trusted, I might want to have a baby. One exactly like you."

He laughed and sat her forthwith on his lap. She suddenly grew solemn. "Maybe you'll understand why I want very much to go back to work? People... that appeals to a determined aggressor power. Day by day it becomes more apparent that a well-backed threat of war may be the only way to avoid war."

SCHOOL CENSUS FIGURES GIVEN

1,543 Children Listed; Total 16 Below 1937

There are a total of 1,543 children of school age within the limits of the Gladstone school district it was ascertained in the annual school census, figures on which were divulged yesterday by Supt. A. R. Watson. This is 16 less than the 1,559 figure of last year.

The census was taken by Mrs. D. N. Koo during the last 20 days of May.

A summary of the "left" sheet discloses that 103 listed a year ago are now over age (only children between the ages of 5 and 20 are enumerated) while 96 have moved away. None were removed from the lists because of death.

On the "entry" summary sheet there are 68 five-year-olds listed for the first time and 115 children of families that have moved to Gladstone since the last census.

Crippled children listed total 11 while there are 2 deaf youngsters and one blind.

State aid to the local school district is based on the census.

Service Cancelled—The Gospel Assembly service announced for this evening has been cancelled because of the district fellowship meeting at Pound, Wis. The next service will be held Thursday evening with the opening of revival meetings in charge of Myrtle Price and Ada Barr.

Special Services—Special services will be conducted at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the First Baptist church at which the Rev. Alfred Holmgren, home missionary, will be the speaker.

Choir Rehearsal—The junior choir of the First Lutheran church will meet at 6:30 o'clock this evening for practice.

Ladies' Aid—The Ladies' Aid of the Congregational church, Rapid River, will meet Wednesday afternoon.

Ladies' Chorus—Rehearsal of the Ladies' Chorus of the First Lutheran church is scheduled for this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

BY VICTOR ELIANK New York, June 13 (AP)—Industrial stocks wilted under light selling showers in today's market.

Transfers amounted to 326,890 shares compared with 406,370 last Friday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .9 of a point at 35.2.

Decision of administrative chiefs to push rail relief legislation at this session of congress was hardly surprising to financial quarters and rail shares really made a better showing than other groups.

The boardrooms found a grain of comfort in predictions congress might adjourn by Wednesday night. Expectations the thoroughly worked over wage-hour bill would be passed were not too depressing to market sentiment.

Speculative forces, on the whole, derived mild consolation from the fact that important stock holdings refuse to come out on the downside and that for several weeks activity has been brisker when prices tilt upward.

Steel's ignored official estimates of an upturn of .3 of a point in this week's mill operations. The magazine "Steel," at the same time, saw few definite signs of a pickup in buying demand for the metal.

General Motors preferred was an exception to the declining trend, showing a gain of 1 1/2 points at 113 3/8, but the common was off 1/4 at 28 and Chrysler yielded 1/2 at 40. The somewhat pessimistic remarks of Chairman Sloan of General Motors regarding the outlook for this industry were seen a chilling influence for the market generally.

Aircraft, coppers, oils, farm implements, mail orders and specialties were without much support at any time.

Both sterling and the French franc lost their buoyancy in terms of the dollar which had given these currencies a sharp lift last week on rumors of dollar-pound devaluation.

U. S. governments were uneven, with longer maturity treasuries lower and shorter term obligations gaining as a sequel to last week's financing operation.

Named New Sweden's Hefty Dictator PETER MINUIT and his 150-coltionists set up Sweden's North American "trading post" in the spring of 1638 under express orders of the Swedish crown, but not until 1643 did bustling 400-pound Johan Printz descend the gangplank in the new world to become first governor of the colony.

Printz was immediately a sensation. A Swedish biographer describes him as "a man of brave size, who weighed over 400 pounds, possessed an eye as cold as an icicle, a nose that seemed to have been pounded into distorted prominence and a jaw that jutted like the prow of a ship—a man to be marked among ten thousand."

Printz set about at once to rule with an iron hand from his "Printzhof" log mansion and ordered the seat of government moved from Fort Christina to Tinicum island in the Delaware river, a few miles south of the site of Philadelphia. Swedish colonists settled along both sides of the Delaware, carrying on pleasant relations with the Indians and Dutch for the next 10 years.

SPRING SWAPS ARE BIG BUST

Bonura and Kuhel Both Flop After Changing to New Stables

Washington, June 13 (AP)—One of baseball's biggest deals of the spring—Zuke Bonura for Joe Kuhel—looked today like one of the biggest busts of the year.

Bonura—traded by the Chicago White Sox to the Senators—is hitting .229. Last year his percentage was .345.

Kuhel—swapped by the Senators to the White Sox—is batting .205. Last season his record was .283.

Zuke—battling in the clean-up role—has driven in but 39 runs.

And Kuhel has knocked but 4 runners across the plate.

But now look what's happened: Rip Radcliff, an outfielder, is playing first base for Chicago and Kuhel's out of the lineup.

Washington has recalled rookie Jimmy Waddell from Indianapolis to play first base when right handers are hurling against the Senators. Zuke will sit on the bench.

Clark Griffith, president of the Senators, knew he was sacrificing fielding for hitting when he traded Kuhel for Bonura. If Bonura had hit he would have been satisfied.

"It's the best deal I've made in 50 years of baseball," beamed the old fox in the spring when he made the trade.

Today he looked out of his office window when Zuke's name was mentioned and changed the subject to Rookie Waddell.

"He can field," said Griffith pointedly, "and he'll hit—extra base hits too. And—he can run."

Bonura has been in a slump since the first two weeks of the 1938 season. Not only has he been grounding out and popping up with deadly consistency, but he's been hitting into double plays.

The recall of Waddell has raised the eye-rows of the Washington fans. They're asking one another: "Is Griffith getting ready to trade Bonura?"

Pickups From Sports Trail By Mickelson

New York, June 13 (AP)—Views and news from the sports front: Fame... it isn't exactly correct to say a pitcher enters the hall of fame when he pitches a no-hit, no-run game. Since organized baseball began, 65 perfect games have been produced in the big leagues. And yet, only two of the triumphant pitchers—Cy Young and Christy Mathewson—have been in the real hall of fame at Cooperstown, N. Y. In fact, many pitchers have been harmed instead of benefitted by no-hitters. Says Lonnie Warneke: "I never want to pitch a no-hitter. You need breaks to get one but the breaks even up on you and if you can't take it, why, you're lost."

Six Perfect Games
Record books show only six strictly perfect games—contests in which the pitcher didn't allow a runner to reach first. The last was turned in by Charley Robertson of the Chicago White Sox against Detroit in 1922. Robby never was much good on the mound thereafter. Old Cy Young pitched two and never was bothered by fame. He could toss that apple at the age of 50 but his legs gave out. At the finish, he fell flat on his face trying to scoop up bunts.

Odds... An interesting note is received from St. Louis betting Commissioner James J. Carroll who writes that Joe Louis still is favored to beat Max Schmeling. Joe's odds are 9 to 20; Max's 8 to 5. That means you've got to bet $20 to win $9 on Joe, or five dollars to win $4 on Max. Carroll, who's been around and who knows his bets and better, says:

"Search me why Louis is favored. Maybe it's because he's a much younger man. Fight odds don't mean much. Too many top-heavy favorites have been beaten in the roped arena. The so-called experts are generally wrong. Old timers bet their shirts on John L. Sullivan and Corbett beat him to a pulp. Then they all picked Corbett to smash Fitz and Ruby Roberts to knock him into a cocked hat. Then Fitz took on Jeffries. The betters took Fitz and Jeff won. About the only time they were right was when Tunney met Dempsey in that return match. Dempsey opened the favorite but the big gamblers switched to Tunney and he closed a strong favorite and won.

Guldahl Repeats
Schmeling never has been favored by the betters in a big fight. Carroll says the Germans in Milwaukee, St. Louis and Cincinnati are betting their socks on Max, with a big load of dough coming—in little chunks—from negroes in New York, Chicago, Memphis and Washington.

Carroll is wrong when he says the experts generally are wrong. All in all they bet higher than a your Ruths Dimaggio and Geh-

MSC ATHLETES HAVE BIG YEAR

Various Teams Hang Up Imposing Record of Victories

East Lansing, June 13 (AP)—Michigan State college athletes cleared out their lockers today after participating in one of the school's most successful seasons.

The baseball team, which ended its season in a stalemate last Saturday when rain prevented a game with Western State Teachers college, had a record of 15 victories and nine losses. Since returning from its spring southern trip on which seven straight games were won, the Spartans had eight victories in 17 starts. They lost two games to Wisconsin, split with Iowa State, Michigan Normal, Notre Dame, Michigan, Ohio State and lost to California and Toledo. Both the latter losses to virtually the strongest and the weakest teams on the schedule came in the midst of a mid-season losing streak which saw the team drop five in a row.

The Spartan sports season opened hopefully. The football team piled up eight victories to two defeats, losing to Manhattan and to Auburn in the Orange bowl.

Four Meets Won
The basketball squad won nine games in 17 starts, losing to Michigan, California, Syracuse, Wisconsin, Notre Dame and Marquette twice.

The trackoutfit lost to Michigan and Marquette and won from Michigan Normal in its indoor dual meet season, but in the outdoor dual meets it won four in five, defeating Maryland, Penn State, Marquette, Purdue and losing to Notre Dame.

The track squad took third in the indoor I. C. A. A. meet and second in the I. C. A. A. outdoor meet, won the West Virginia relays, was second in the Western Michigan A. U. meet and the central collegiates and walked off with the State intercollegiate by the greatest score of all time, more than all competitors combined.

The Spartan cross-country team had a 50-50 success in its two dual meets this season but it claimed success by winning permanent possession of the I. C. A. A. A. trophy, after winning it five times in a row.

The golf team crowned its record of one loss in eight starts with a surprise victory over a crack Big Ten team, Northwestern.

The swimming team won six in nine, the tennis team seven in 11, and the fencing team won six, lost one, and tied two. The boxing squad lost all three matches in its first year of inter-collegiate competition.

Interesting news! See Classified Page.

The best rule is to stick with your winner. If you bet on a man or a horse, go right back next time. That lesson landed back in this corner's lap Saturday when Ralph Guldahl repeated in the National open. If I had parlayed my 1937 winnings on Guldahl I would have had $1,350 today—and the Associated Press might have been looking for a Tuesday column.

Der Maxie Has Joe Louis On Spot; Claims He Will Be Worried Stiff By Time of Big Fight

BY HARRY GRAYSON Sports Editor, NEA Service

Bill Osborne, who established this Adirondack resort as a famous training camp by bringing Gene Tunney here in 1926, tells you what Max Schmeling will do to Joe Louis in their return 15-round match at Yankee Stadium.

The gas station man asks, "Did you ever see that German look so good?"

You get it in the grocery store, and in the little Inn at night, Chipmunks hop out of their holes, and chatter, "Play Schmeling." The pine trees sigh it. Trout jump out of the blue waters of Lake Pleasant, and gurgle, "The Dutchman's a cinch." There are reports that the squirrels of Hamilton county have bet their last acorn on the Ferocious Frankfurter.

In other words, the entire atmosphere is drenched with utter confidence in Herr Moxie. There is absolutely no doubt in the minds of everybody at Speculator that June 22 will be a decidedly blue Wednesday for the Brown Bomber.

Louis' name is spoken with a soft reverence... not unlike the muffled voice in a funeral parlor. Everybody here actually is sorry for the guy.

And speaking to Schmeling himself somehow clinches the convictions of the villagers.

IT'S JUST A BREEZE
With astonishing confidence and apparently simple faith, the Pretzel Pounder tells you: "I crossed the Atlantic eight times... traveled 55,500 miles... waited two years for another crack at Joe Louis." SMILES MAX SCHMELING.

"YOU DON'T THINK I'M GOING TO LOSE NOW, DO YOU? THE BROWN BOMBER IS GOING TO FACE A HIGHLY CONFIDENT MAN AT YANKEE STADIUM, JUNE 22..."

THE FEROCIOUS FRANKFURTER WHO ONCE ABANDONED ROAD WORK, IS HITTING THE PIKE AGAIN...

EAGLES DEFEAT FORD RIVER, 12-5

Seven Run Splurge In Sixth Frame Margin of Victory

A seven run splurge in the sixth inning was the margin of victory in the first league win of the season for the Escanaba Eagles Sunday as they defeated Ford River by a score of 12-5 on the local diamond.

Ford River took a 3-1 lead in the first inning but the Eagles tied it up with two runs in the fourth and took their game winning lead in the sixth.

Ford River has yet to win its first league game.

Ralph Dube of the Eagles allowed but four hits as against 15 by LaFleur of Ford River. The game was a sloppy fielding exhibition, with the losers making six errors by innings:

Ford River 300 000 020—5 4 6
Eagles 100 207 11x—12 15 5
R. Dube and Racine; LaFleur and Starrs.
Umpires: Call and Rodman.

Cardinals Defeat Garden Sunday, 6-5

Manistique—Successive doubles by Korench, Szymanski, and Lesica and a single by Morrison gave Manistique Cardinals three runs in the ninth inning and a 6 to 5 victory over the Garden city team here Sunday. In their half of the final inning Garden had combined two hits with an error and a walk to score two runs and break a 3-3 deadlock.

It was a pitcher's duel between Lesica and Ranquette but men going the distance. Lesica struck out fifteen men while Ranquette fanned eleven.

The Cardinals will play a return game at Garden next Sunday.

Louis Gets Rest After Hard Work

Pompton Lakes, N. J., June 13 (AP)—Joe Louis was awarded a well-earned day of rest and relaxation today after the excitement of boxing, before Sunday's big crowd.

The heavyweight champion's training activities for the day were limited to his usual six-mile jaunt over the roads in the morning, he devoted the remainder of the day to his favorite past times of rifle shooting and horse shoe pitching.

In an interview with a newspaperman, Louis predicted a "quick victory" over Max Schmeling, June 22. The champion attributed his previous setback at the hands of the German to a "bad mistake" and insisted "it won't happen again."

While he wouldn't place himself on record as to the round in which he expects to win, Louis hinted it would be no surprise if he knocked out Schmeling "in a hurry—maybe the second or third round."

Umpires—Howland, Keebaugh, Farley.

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

John Walter, Press Gazette sports editor and one of the best sport columnists in this section of the country, pens this very interesting item, which is applicable anywhere:

"Someone was replacing cautiously the high jump bar, which had been dislodged by a too-vigorous kick, and I was writing down the name of the lad who had placed third, and a young fellow sidled up and spoke as follows:

"Several weeks ago I read in your column where you gave a schooling to some former high school athlete who broke training during his senior year and lost his school a championship.

"Now, I am a former athlete, as you know, and in one of my last meets I didn't finish first, although I tried hard, and I was wondering if by chance you were writing about me. If so, I don't like it."

It was a busy moment during the meet, and I was planning to

ROCK SPARTANS VICTORS, 17-3

Take Undisputed Lead by Beating Bark River Sunday

Rock, Mich., June 13—The Rock Spartans took undisputed possession of first place in the Delta county league by soundly trouncing Bark River, the only other unbeaten team, by a score of 17-3 before a large crowd.

Bark River got an unearned run in the first inning but Rock came back to pound Ward, ace Bark River hurler, for three runs in the third and to knock him out of the box in the sixth inning.

Brown, "Rock" lefthander, and McIntyre, righthander, who divided mound duties, pitched fine ball throughout, both keeping Bark River batters well under control. Errors contributed to Bark River's scoring.

Lessard, Bark River catcher, sustained a painful injury to his thumb, the nail being torn off when struck by a foul tip.

Cooks Shuts Out Bay Views, 17-0

Cooks, Mich.—Cooks retained its leadership in the Delta-Schoolcraft league by defeating the Garden Bay Views in a one-sided game Sunday by the score of 17-0.

Cooks gathered thirteen hits from three Garden hurlers, while Deloria, the Cooks pitcher, held the Garden team to four hits. G. Roberts and C. Lund lead the Cooks attack with three hits each, the latter hitting a double with the bases loaded.

Summary:
Cooks --- 300 000 752—17 13 4
Garden --- 000 000 000—0 4 5
Deloria and Middaugh.
Truckey, Gauthier, Neeman and Stelwagen.

Oldtimers League Being Organized

Friday noon has been set as the deadline for teams to enter the Oldtimers' diamondball league. A meeting of managers and others interested in formulating rules will be held Thursday evening at 7:30 at the office of Bevier Butts, recreational director, in the municipal garage building.

Box Score For Escanaba Game Not Available

Because the Escanaba score-book is reposing in a safe in L'Anse, no box score of the Escanaba-South Range ball game played at South Range is available.

South Range won the game by a score of 5-1.

Grand Rapids Sees Big League Teams

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 13 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics scored a 14 to 7 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in an exhibition baseball game here today. Immediately after the contest, the Athletics left for Detroit where they will open a three game series with the Detroit Tigers Tuesday.

Brooklyn started fast, landing on Edgar Smith for three runs in the first. A five run outburst in the fourth and a six run explosion in the ninth sewed up the game for the A's.

CINCY SWINGS HEALTHY DEAL

Close to $50,000 Said To Be Involved In Trade With Phils

Cincinnati, O., June 13 (AP)—Cincinnati's Reds acquired Pitcher Buck Walters from Philadelphia today in return for Pitcher Al Hollingsworth, the veteran catcher Virg Davis and a sizeable sum of cash.

"I think it's a swell deal, and maybe we can go places now," commented the Reds' general manager, Warren C. Giles. "We're very, very satisfied."

One sports writer said "close to $50,000" was believed involved in the deal, which appeared to offer prospect of relieving Manager Bill McKeehan of a major worry: How to win ball games with only three starting pitchers.

Rookie Johnnie Vander Meer, who last Saturday hurled a no-hit, no-run game against Boston, Paul Derringer and Big Jim Weaver have accounted for 17 of the Reds' 25 victories to date.

Of the remainder, Hollingsworth accounted for two, although he went the route in only one contest. Up from Toronto in 1934, the big port-sider won 9 and lost 15 games in 1937 and so far this year has lost two.

Walter, 28, has been with the Phils since 1934. In 1936, he won nine and lost nine; in 1936 increased his record to 11 and 21, and last year won 14 and lost 15.

The release of Davis, who came to the Reds from the Cardinals in December, 1935, puts the burden of relief back-stopping upon young Willard Horsthering. Davis was with the Phils from 1925 until 1933. He caught 79 games last year, batted .268 and helped develop Lefty Les Griessem, sophomore hurler who has been out this season as a result of a tonsillotomy.

BARTENDERS PRACTICE

Practice has been called for 6:30 Wednesday evening at the brewery diamond for members of the Escanaba Bartenders team. The locals won a hard-fought victory from Pat Shea's Marquette Bartenders Sunday afternoon at the fairgrounds diamond. Both teams had their bands out for the occasion, and a picnic lunch was served at Pioneer Trail park after the game.

Perronville Takes Schaffer, 7 to 2

Perronville won from Schaffer in a rainbow league game played at Schaffer on Sunday by a score of 7 to 2. The game was featured by fine close play until the eighth inning when the Schaffer second baseman blew up and away went the ball game.

Batteries were Perronville, Johnson and Sheverski, Schaffer, Lancour and Levine and Koslowski.

Sinus Infection Dean's Trouble

Chicago, June 13 (AP)—Dizzy Dean, Chicago Cub's pitcher who was left at home because of a sore arm when teammates headed east for a long road trip, will take treatments for a sinus infection within a few days, club officials said tonight.

After six weeks of rest Dean complained last week of recurring soreness in his high-priced salary filiper and physicians believe a sinus infection which bothered Dean last spring may be delaying his recovery. Dean will not be permitted to throw for at least a week and when he does start tossing a ball he will not be permitted to "bear down" for several days.

York Poles Record Hit In Exhibition

Charleston, W. Va., June 13 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers mowed down their little brothers, the Charleston Senators of the class C Middle Atlantic league today 7 to 1, with Rudy York hitting the longest home run of the season in the local park.

York's liner went 25 feet further than the record one poled yesterday by Kenny Huff of Charleston.

The score: 011 032 000—7 8 2
Charleston --- 100 000 000—1 6 2

STRAITS SPAN IS CONSIDERED

Murphy Promises to Complete Personnel of Authority

By Esther Van Wagoner Tuft
Washington—The next step towards the erection of a great span connecting the two peninsulas of Michigan is seen in the assurance given Congressman John Luecke by Governor Frank Murphy in a conference late yesterday that he would complete the personnel of the Mackinac Straits Bridge Authority. He also promised that any appointment he would make would be made shortly.
Predictions are that the new chairman of the Mackinac Straits Bridge Authority will be one of three men, Murray D. Van Wagoner, State Highway Commissioner, or one of his two deputy-commissioners, V. B. Steinbaugh or Donald G. Kennedy.
$100,000 for Survey
Many conferences in Washington during the year make Congressman Luecke certain that no federal financial support is possible, unless the feasibility of the erection of such a bridge is backed up by a comprehensive survey. Such a survey must be paid for with state funds, and would necessitate an outlay of approximately $100,000.

The Mackinac Straits Bridge project, very dear to Luecke, will not be allowed to be pushed aside if he can prevent it. In fact, he is all prepared to push the survey forward as a desirable WPA project, if he gets no action from the state.
Senator Prentiss Brown had a conference the same day with President Roosevelt concerning his trip to Michigan. Nothing was said about the Mackinac Straits bridge, but it is safe to predict that if he follows the tentative route from Detroit to Port Huron, where he will dedicate an International Bridge, and on to Mackinac Island, it will be mentioned within the party.
Pledges Hospital Aid
Governor Frank Murphy assured Congressman John Luecke, of Escanaba, at a conference late yesterday, that he favored the Gladstone hospital to provide needed hospitalization for veterans in the Upper Peninsula area. Further that he had checked with WPA officials while in Washington to be certain that the Gladstone hospital was on the list of Michigan hospitals anticipating federal financing on the new spending-lending program.
An earlier conference with Frank T. Hines, administrator of the Veterans Bureau, Luecke with Senator Prentiss Brown secured the approval of the head of the Veterans Administration, if the needs will justify such expenditure.

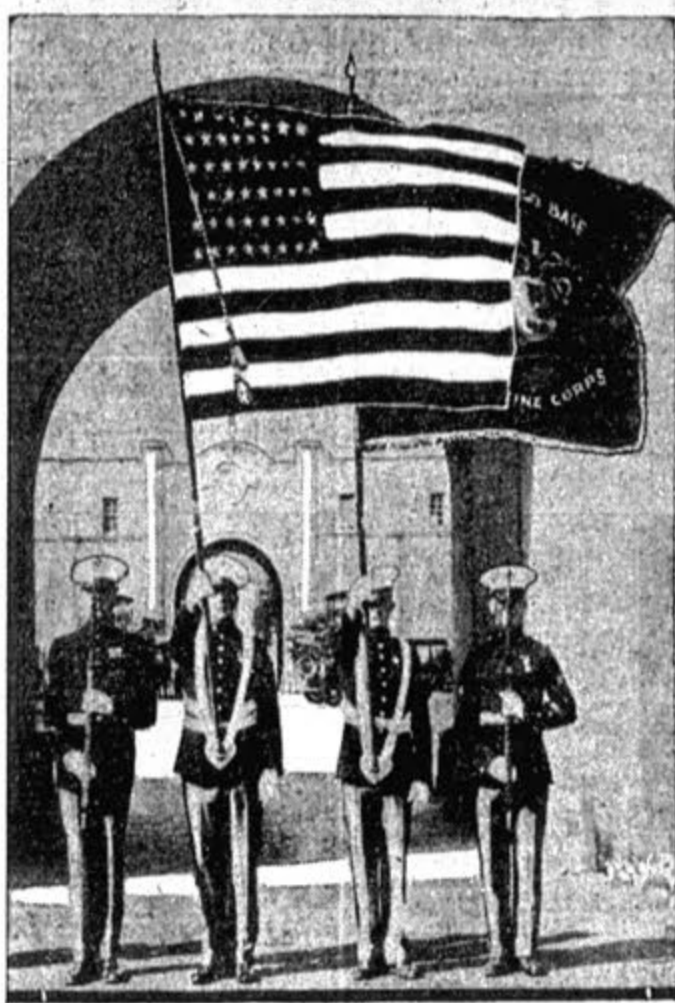

Whether such need can be established to the satisfaction of the Veterans Administration will soon be revealed in a report of the findings of a survey made by the sub-committee of the Federal Board of Hospitalization.
The Escanaba Democrat places high hopes for success on the personal approval of Administrator Hines and Governor Murphy.
Prof. Schilling Will Leave Tech
Houghton, Mich.—Associate Professor E. W. Schilling of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology will leave Houghton August 1 to assume a position as professor of electrical engineering and head of the department at Montana State college at Bozeman. He was notified of his appointment yesterday.
After extensive industrial experience and six years of teaching at Iowa State college, Dr. Schilling came to Michigan Tech in 1931 as assistant professor. He was made associate professor three years ago.
His writings include a textbook on electrical engineering, just ready for the publishers, and technical papers delivered before the American Institute of Mining Metallurgical Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. He is a member of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, the A. I. E. E. and Eta Kappa Nu, national honorary electrical engineering fraternity.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION HELD

Lewis and Groos Only Candidates; Vote Very Light

Attorney Charles E. Lewis and Dr. Louis P. Groos were elected to the Escanaba board of education at the annual school election Monday, the former for a four-year term and the latter for a two-year term.
Voting was very light, with the exception of the first precinct, city hall, where over 150 votes were recorded. Lewis received a total of 255 and Groos 247. In the first precinct Lewis received 193 and Groos 189; third, 11 each.

HITCH HIKER FATALLY HURT

Emil Rugh of Menominee Killed at Ford River Switch Sunday

Emil Rugh of Menominee was killed almost instantly early Sunday morning when struck by a car driven by Elmore Haynor, also of Menominee, at Ford River Switch of US-41.
According to Haynor's report to the sheriff's department, Rugh was walking near the center of the road, apparently thumbing a ride to Menominee. Haynor said he was unable to stop quickly enough to avoid Rugh and the car dragged the man approximately 50 feet from the point of impact.
Haynor stopped immediately and rushed Rugh to this city but the injuries were fatal.
Sheriff William Miron said the accident appeared totally unavoidable and that there is not likely to be any action taken.
Cal Hennessey of Garden reported to the sheriff's department that an Indian, Robert Petonquet, stepped into the side of his car about 1:35 Sunday morning near Bark River. Hennessey rushed Petonquet to the St. Francis hospital but the latter was released yesterday. He suffered only minor injuries to the legs and shoulders.

S.F.A. MEETING TO OPEN TODAY

Delegates Coming Here from Minnesota, Wisconsin and U. P.

About one hundred delegates and other visitors are expected to come today from Minnesota, Wisconsin and Upper Michigan to attend the convention of the Scandinavian Fraternity of America, which will open today.
Registration of delegates and a public reception will be held this morning. Mayor Peter Logan will give a brief address of welcome, and P. S. Engman, district president, will give the response.
The first session of the district convention will be held at the North Star hall 10 o'clock this morning. A sightseeing trip will be enjoyed this afternoon.

This evening, the group will visit the Kronan lodge in Gladstone, where there will be initiation ceremonies, dancing and other social diversions.

Due to the changing climate, there are 90 per cent more houses with fireplaces in Chile than there were 25 years ago.

The American Gladiolus Society has registered more than 2243 distinct varieties of gladiolus.

Why the Swedes Came To the New World

NO dazzling dream of exploration stirred the average Swede in 1638. He was perfectly contented at home. There was no religious persecution, taxes were not high, there was no social oppression, no overcrowding of population.
Then came Peter Minuit, Dutch soldier of fortune who had served as general manager of the Dutch New Amsterdam, or New York. Minuit brought tall tales to Sweden and the promise of great riches in furs and probably gold. But even then the first immigrants had to be drafted, many of them as a punishment for being in disfavor with the government. There were Finns who had run afoul of the poaching law and army deserters and debtors, altogether not a promising band of colonists.
But promising or not they set sail from Sweden in Minuit's two ships, the Kalmar Nyckel and the Fogel Grip, and more than four and a half months later, moved slowly up the Delaware, a weary group of 150. They landed on what is the present site of Wilmington, Del., April 8, 1638, erected a fort on Christina creek, and promptly named the country New Sweden. The ship Kalmar Nyckel is shown here on one of five Swedish stamps issued to commemorate the 300th anniversary of this historic settlement in America.
