LEWIS OF CIO IS ENIGMA OF 1938 ELECTION

LAGUARDIA ANOTHER PUZZLE IN VOTE CONTESTS

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON Washington, Oct. 4 (AP)—Twin enigmas of the 1938 campaign are Mayor LaGuardia of New York City and John L. Lewis, CIO chieftain.

Neither has yet declared his attitude toward the Republican-Democratic contests for governor in Pennsylvania and New York—contests on which national attention will center.

Support for Lehman? Lewis' silence as to the inter-party contest in Pennsylvania dates back to the defeat of the CIO ticket in the Democratic primaries.

Has High Ambitions The fact that the American Labor party, with which the New York mayor is now affiliated, nominated the same ticket as the Democrats with minor exceptions, is regarded as a sign that, at the least, LaGuardia will adopt an attitude of benevolent neutrality toward the Lehman candidacy.

The dynamic New York mayor is still an unpredictable quantity so far as his reaction to any particular political situation is concerned. Some of his friends have been ardently boosting him for presidential nomination honors for years.

ENEMIES UNITED IN UAW BATTLE

Four Expelled Officers Reinstated As Result of CIO Efforts

Washington, Oct. 4 (AP)—The C.I.O. reunited opposing factions in the United Automobile Workers' high command today by obtaining immediate reinstatement of four expelled officers who had been at odds with the union's president, Homer Martin.

John L. Lewis, C.I.O. chairman, predicted that "complete elimination of all internal controversy in the U. A. W. would follow.

Martin, convening the union's full executive board for the first time since charges and counter charges of communistic and disruptive tactics split it in two and resulted in the expulsions, declined comment.

Phillip Murray and Sidney Hillman, C.I.O. vice-chairmen, who had served as arbiters, opened the board meeting today by reading their recommendations for settling the union's problems.

Hillman and Murray suggested immediate reinstatement of Vice-Presidents Richard T. Frankenstein, Wynham Mortimer and Ed Hall and Secretary-Treasurer George Ades. They suggested also that the board immediately adopt rules providing for assignment of responsibility and of duties.

Iron Mountain Girl Helps Mother Find Son, Lost 24 Years

St. Louis, Oct. 4 (AP)—After a 24-year separation, Mrs. James W. Frye and her only son, Robert L. Dirden of Chicago, have been reunited to the accompaniment of wedding bells.

In the presence of his mother Dirden was married yesterday to Miss Natalie Querio of Iron Mountain, Mich., who had come here with him Saturday in quest of "information of importance" about his family.

That was all Mrs. Frye said in a letter which was finally able to send him several weeks ago when she learned his address. She did not disclose they were mother and son until they met in a bus station on their arrival from Chicago.

Mrs. Frye, remarried since she last saw her son, was living in Duquoin, Ill., when poverty required her to put the boy then 7 years old, in an orphanage. Two years later he was sent to another home and she lost track of him.

Dirden, who had called himself Robert Bennesel, after a family with whom he once had lived, recently began to wonder about his relatives. He was able to locate his mother through information supplied by the Children's Aid society of Chicago.

HITLER RIDES AS HERO OVER SUDETEN LAND

SLOVAKS IMPATIENT; CZECH CABINET SHAKEN UP

(By The Associated Press) Karlsbad, Sudeten Germany, Oct. 4.—Adolf Hitler in exultant military procession added another slice of Czechoslovakia today to expanding Germany which he declared "nobody will ever be able to destroy again."

Accompanied by Sudeten leader Konrad Henlein, the Fuehrer of all Germany rode behind his troops into this famed resort town where the Sudeten movement received great impetus April 15 through promulgation of Henlein's autonomy demands.

"I didn't know how I would sometime get here," Hitler told a hysterical, heaving crowd. "But I did know that I would come."

Hitler, Henlein and his party arrived early this afternoon after troops occupying this third zone of Sudetenland to be taken over under the Munich four-power accord of Sept. 3.

Under Army Rule Military rule already existed throughout zones one and two, occupied by German troops Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The fourth is to be occupied Thursday and Friday.

On this second day of his tour through "liberated" Sudetenland, Hitler chose this city, where Henlein's followers first drew world attention with a definite program for independence, for his second talk in the newly-German territory.

Because the people of Karlsbad had remained true to their race and had remained faithful to his belief in the German people, Hitler said, "We both find each other in our common racial community. . . In our greater Reich which nobody will ever be able to destroy again."

Again he assured a Sudeten audience that "This great German Reich, whose Fuehrer I am," was proud of the Sudeten Germans.

Introducing Hitler, Karl Hermann Frank, Henlein's righthand man, asserted:

"In this historical moment in which you set foot on the soil of my home city, distress and suffering are forgotten and the intense desire of these peoples have come to realization through you, my Fuehrer."

"What we in Karlsbad resolved upon, you redeemed."

LABOR HARMONY MESSAGE HEARD

Green Says AFL Awaits Next Peace Move of Opposition

Houston, Tex., Oct. 4 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor is waiting for the C.I.O. to make the first overtures in any peace movement, William Green said tonight after President Roosevelt had addressed a message to the A. F. of L. convention urging American labor harmony.

"There isn't any immediate prospect of the American Federation of Labor making peace with the C.I.O.," Green said after the president's message had been read to the convention.

"We are in the position of waiting for suggestions from representatives of the C.I.O.," Green said. "We negotiated an agreement but it was vetoed by John L. Lewis so there is nothing for us to do but wait for a response from the C.I.O."

The president of the A. F. of L. said if any concrete suggestion toward mediation of the labor dispute is made by President Roosevelt it would be submitted immediately to the executive council of the A. F. of L.

"We accept his message today as merely an expression of hope that peace can be made and as such his message was read to the convention," Green said. "I do not expect to reply to it."

Green interpreted the message as being addressed to "both sides" and added that the A. F. of L. was willing to resume peace negotiations.

United States And Italy Ready To Start Airline Over Atlantic

BY DEVON FRANCIS Associated Press Aviation Editor New York, Oct. 4 (AP)—Italy gave notice today it would be ready next spring to start its airlines shuttling across the north Atlantic.

In a Wall Street building high above the turbid East river, Dr. James H. Kimball, the man who gave Charles A. Lindbergh the signal to take off for Paris in 1927, drew a weather map to indicate a future route of transport planes to Europe.

The route will be used jointly by Ala Littoria, the Italian airline, and American export airlines, subject to the approval of the new Civil Aeronautics Authority.

First State Health Chief, Dr. Olin Dies

East Lansing, Oct. 5 (Wednesday)—Dr. Richard N. Olin, director of the Michigan State college health service and hospital and Michigan's first state health commissioner, died at 12:30 a. m. today at his home here. He was 63. He had been ill two weeks.

Dr. Olin, a pioneer in state public health work, came to Michigan from New York and began practice in Battle Creek in 1898. In 1917 he came to Lansing as secretary of the old state board of health and in 1919, upon abolition of the board, became health commissioner.

Dr. Olin, prominent for his work to check spinal diseases and for his activities in infant and child health service, was a native of Perry, N. Y. He was educated at Bellevue Medical college of New York university.

He was a prominent Mason. He was well known in fraternal societies in Grand Rapids and other cities.

'Cotton Ed' Still 'Hoppin' Mad'

Senator Ellison DuRant Smith of South Carolina was still "hoppin' mad" when this picture was taken at Washington shortly after his request for a conference between President Roosevelt and a group of southern senators was refused.

Although the White House insisted "Cotton Ed," who recently was renominated despite vigorous Roosevelt opposition, was just too late in asking an appointment, Senator Smith saw a direct snub, complained angrily. Senator Smith is spokesman for senators and farm representatives seeking an increase in the cotton loan rate from 8.3 cents a pound to more than 11 cents.

War Scare May Rush U. S. Defense Program

Washington, Oct. 4 (AP)—Senator King (D-Utah), said today that last week's developments in Europe might make it necessary for the United States to "spend hundreds of millions of dollars more for military purposes."

He said Great Britain and France, by a spineless attitude toward Adolf Hitler, had "strengthened the forces which make for war and the domination of peoples and nations."

For that reason, he was of the opinion that America must take every defensive precaution.

With this view, however, Senator Bulkley (D-O.), partially disagreed. It is too early to determine the consequences of the Munich settlement of the Czech-German territorial dispute, he said, but at least the prospects for disarmament seem "more hopeful."

Senator Logan (D-Ky.), sided with King, asserting that the outcome of the European crisis had made it essential that "our national defense program be carried out with all the more vigor."

King contended that "the cause of peace had not been served" at Munich and that additional crisis and threats of war were to be expected.

A senate veteran and one of the original advocates of American participation in the League of Nations, he blamed the present disturbed state of European affairs partially upon the United States for its failure to support the league. Logan, who also had favored American entry into the league, again agreed with him.

Even leaving the present European situation out of the discussion, Logan said, the American isolation policy itself dictates a strong national defense.

"If the United States is going to be a hermit nation, and public opinion seems to want that," he added, "there is nothing open for us but to carry our national defense to the limit. We must be able to withstand attack from one and all, because, if we are going to live by ourselves, eventually they will all be against us."

"Without alliances, we must prepare our national defense to such an extent that the world will not attack us. That is a hard thing to do."

Mess Boy Admits Theft Of $50,000 Tibbett's Jewels Los Angeles, Oct. 4 (AP)—John H. Hanson, in charge of the Los Angeles federal bureau of identification, announced late today federal authorities have obtained a confession from Meyer Sopher, 23-year-old mess attendant aboard the steamship Monterey in connection with the theft of $50,000 worth of jewels from Mrs. Lawrence Tibbett.

Hanson said Sopher, who gave his address as Gwynn Falls Parkway, a suburb of Baltimore, Md., was taken from the boat at San Francisco and a complaint charging grand theft on the high seas will be filed against him in federal court there.

Jailer's Daughter Frees 2 Prisoners; Now She's In Jail

Lexington, N. C., Oct. 4 (AP)—Jailer T. C. Kimel locked his 22-year-old daughter, Lulu Belle, in a cell today after she confessed, Sheriff Raymond Bowers said, that she let two prisoners escape because she did not want to see one of them "go to the gas chamber."

Kimel wrote a formal letter to Sheriff Bowers asking that he be relieved of his duties as deputy sheriff and jailer.

"I am humiliated and grieved beyond control and have locked my own daughter in jail in order that justice may find its course," Kimel wrote. He said he wished to drop his duties "pending a full and complete investigation."

Miss Kimel was quoted by Bowers as saying she released 19-year-old James Godwin, held on a charge of first degree burglary, a capital offense, "after he had gotten religion and promised to go straight."

Godwin escaped from the Davidson county jail here yesterday with Bill Wilson, 21, of Hickory. Wilson was charged with a hold-up.

Another series of holdups in this vicinity followed the escape of the two youths. One man, Donald Moss of High Point, was shot fatally. Police Chief W. G. Friddle said that Godwin and Wilson would be charged with first degree murder in the slaying.

POISON ALCOHOL FATAL TO FOUR

Laboratory Helper Gives Out Death Doses at Eloise Hospital

Detroit, Oct. 4 (AP)—Bewildered authorities pondered in vain tonight the motive which led an Eloise hospital laboratory attendant—a graduate chemist—to give poison alcohol to himself and three other inmates. All four died.

The victims, all perishing after severe illness, were Hugh McCallum, 49, of Youngstown, O., who Superintendent Thomas K. Gruber said had obtained the alcohol, and Edward Carsona, 45; Henry Ramlaw, 53, and Anthony Pferrer, 45, all of Detroit.

Dr. Gruber said that before Ramlaw died this morning, less than 24 hours after the others had expired, he said all had become sick from drinks furnished by McCallum. A bottle containing a small quantity of methanol was found in Carson's locker.

Coming to the hospital as a homeless "down-and-out" some time ago, McCallum was put to work washing laboratory glassware. The institution combines a home for indigents and hospitals for mental cases and other patients.

Superintendent Gruber said McCallum had received a chemist's diploma from Carnegie Institute of Technology and never had shown any irrational tendencies.

Twelve Witnesses Identify Two Men In Reuther Attack

Detroit, Oct. 4 (AP)—The prosecution neared the end of its case today in the trial of Edward Percell and Willard Holt on charges of assault with intent to kill Walter Reuther, president of the West Side local of the United Automobile Workers (CIO).

Twelve witnesses, including Reuther, identified Percell and Holt from the witness stand as the men who invaded the Reuther apartment April 9. At the request of Sidney W. Sherman, defense attorney, Recorder's Judge George Murphy adjourned the case until Thursday because of the observance of the Jewish holiday of Yom Kippur.

Reuther's brothers, Victor and Roy, were the principal witnesses today, testifying that Percell stood guard with a pistol while Holt beat Reuther until his black jacket broke. They said Holt then shouted to Percell to shoot Reuther. Albert Landers, a police detective, said that when he arrived at the apartment Reuther's only injury appeared to be a scratch on the finger.

Witnesses said the two men were admitted to the apartment in the belief they were delivering chop suey which had been ordered.

TWO NATIONS SEND ENVOYS TO MUSSOLINI

GOVERNMENTS BACK UP DALADIER AND CHAMBERLAIN

(By The Associated Press) Great Britain and France yesterday (Tuesday) hastened to extend the general appeasement program that was launched at Munich when they agreed to the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia's minority areas for the sake of peace.

Britain began negotiations with Italy in the hope of finding that "settlement" in Spain which has stalled since April 16 friendship agreement with that country.

Russia Drops France Simultaneously, Premier Daladier

PREMIER WINS FIGHT Paris, Oct. 5 (Wednesday) (AP)—Premier Daladier was voted full financial powers to rule by dictatorial decree today by the chamber of deputies. The vote was 341 to 78, with 187 abstaining.

The vote came after the premier had fought a night-long battle. Yesterday the chamber by a vote of 535 to 75 had approved his part in the Munich partition of Czechoslovakia to purchase Europe's peace, and he had announced his intention of resuming full diplomatic relations with Italy to extend that peace.

of France, who won a thumping victory in the chamber of deputies which voted its approval 535 to 75 of his part in the Munich accord, announced an ambassador would be sent to Rome. The naming of an ambassador implied that France would at last recognize Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

Meanwhile, Russia made known her displeasure with the Munich conference, to which she was not invited, by a statement in the semi-official foreign office organ, Le Journal De Moscou, that she no longer regards herself an ally of France.

France "no longer has an ally in Europe except Britain," the paper said, and it indicated Britain was regarded as a very unreliable friend for France.

Must Satisfy Hungary And while British and French statements were explaining to their parliaments the reasons that motivated them in sacrificing Czechoslovakia, Chancellor Adolf Hitler was proceeding with his triumphant appearances in the Sudetenland.

At Karlsbad he declared "nobody will ever be able to destroy again" the famous Spa behind his troops steadily marching into the zones of occupation.

Others were pressing for a settlement with Czechoslovakia. Hungary demanded negotiations on her authority and territorial demands.

Demands begin by Thursday, with Hungary first to be allowed a symbolic occupation of two border communes and other far-reaching concessions to provide a favorable "atmosphere" for the conversations.

Friendships Renewed A Polish foreign office spokesman declared the Czechoslovak problem would not be settled "until Hungary's demands are satisfied."

Under the impact the Czechoslovak cabinet once again was revised with more Slovaks taken into the government in the hope of "smooth-

MAJOR LEAGUES DRAFT PLAYERS

Gelbert and Parmelee Return to Big-Time Next Season

Chicago, Oct. 4 (AP)—Merrill May, third baseman of Newark's championship International League team and prize player on the draft list, was selected by the Philadelphia National League team tonight in the major league draft meeting preceding the world series.

The Phillies, as the last place team of both leagues, had the right to make the first selection from the list of eligible players. The Philadelphia team selected Leland Scott, outfielder and left hand hitter of the Indianapolis American Association club.

Seventeen players in all were drafted by major league clubs. Two old timers—Charlie Gelbert, former St. Louis Cardinal infielder who played with Toledo of the American Association this season, and Roy (Tarpun) Parmelee, former New York Giants, St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs hurler who played this season with Minneapolis, also an Association member—will return to the big time next season.

Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, brought back Gelbert in his only selection, while Connie Mack selected Parmelee for his Philadelphia Athletics.

Parmelee was one of five players the A's drafted. They chose three more than any other club. Philadelphia's other selections were Henry Pippen, pitcher from Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League and a former Cardinal; Joe Gantebain, third baseman from Toronto, and Bill Nagel, infielder from Baltimore, both of the International League, and Bill Beckman of Atlanta.

After making his selections, Mack was advised his roster exceeded the limit of 40. He must release or sell three players to get down to the quota.

Pittsburgh's Pirates also exceeded the quota when they selected Fern Bell, outfielder from Louisville of the American Association, and Jack Juchacz, International League first sacker with Rochester. Bell formerly played with Newark. The Pirates to reduce their roster, will let out Tommy Thoenow, veteran major leaguer.

Brooklyn drafted two pitchers, Hugh Casey of Memphis of the Southern Association, and Russ Evans of Jersey City of the International loop and a New York Giant farm.

Hal Spindel, Seattle catcher, was brought up from the Pacific Coast League by the St. Louis Browns. The St. Louis Cardinals chose Jimmy Outlaw, Syracuse outfielder of the International loop who had a tryout with Cincinnati's Reds.

Art Herring, veteran pitcher who once hurled for Detroit and Brooklyn, was selected from St. Paul of the American Association by Chicago's White Sox. The Detroit Tigers took James Lynn, Columbus pitcher, from the same league.

Boston's Red Sox obtained Wayman Kerkislock, right hander for Little Rock of the Southern Association who won 24 games pitching for Canton in the Mid-Atlantic League last year.

The pennant winning New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs and Cleveland, Cincinnati, the New York Giants and the Boston Bees did not select any players in the draft.

that on April 16 Henlein was content to ask only that the Sudetens be given full autonomy and the right to practice their own beliefs. While Karisbad Sudetens saw in Hitler the realization of their dream—union with Germany—an appeal issued in Berlin on the opening of the winter relief campaign called special attention to the tasks facing the expanding nation.

"In this year 10,000,000 Germans who had to endure misery and distress for 20 years returned to their home in the Reich," the appeal said of Austrians and Sudetens.

"Our special concern this winter is for them. They will know that the entire German people is ready to lead the battle against hunger and cold."

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, in an address in Berlin tomorrow, will open the campaign for funds.

AUTONOMY DEMANDED Prague, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Czechoslovak government under Premier Jan Syrový was shaken up today as Slovak autonomists agitated for more speed in consideration of their autonomy demands.

Minister Without Portfolio Cermak, a Slovak, carried out a threat to resign after declaring government proposals regarding Slovak autonomy demands were inadequate and charging the government with stalling.

Premier Syrový in his new cabinet included three Slovaks as a concession to Slovakia, but the three were not considered likely to be accepted as satisfactory by the Slovak autonomists because they do not have a big political following.

Premier Syrový retained the posts of premier and minister of national defense. Frantisek Chvalkovsky, Czechoslovak minister to Rome who arrived here only today, became minister of foreign affairs, succeeding Kamil Krofta.

Leans To Right The new government was considered moderate and as marking a move to the right, rather than to the left, as had been expected in efforts to solidify what remained of Czechoslovakia after cessation of German and Polish minority areas.

In addition to Syrový and Chvalkovsky, the new cabinet members are: Interior—Jan Czerny. Finance—Joseph Kalfus. Social welfare—Peter Zenkl. Public instruction—Stanislav Bukhovsky.

Can Now Eat and Sleep Good Again Enjoys Life Like Others In Good Health: Indigestion, Gas and Bloating Ended, Nerves Quieted

"A short trial of KruGon soon convinced me of its outstanding merit," said Mrs. Chester Wilson, 911 N. Washington St., Danville, Illinois. "For thirteen years I had been badly constipated. My stomach was soon affected refusing to digest my foods properly. Indigestion, gas and bloating followed most every meal I ate keeping me in constant discomfort. I could not get a good night of sleep, as frequent bladder actions caused me to get up at all hours and I was always tired and draggy. Then, too, such dreadful pains had settled over my body and I could find nothing to relieve this condition... until I tried KruGon."

"KruGon soon brought about a change in my health condition," continued Mrs. Wilson. "My stomach and bowels were regulated so easily and quickly, I eat and sleep good, nerves are quieted and all those clogged up poisons have been removed from my system in a natural manner. Even those dreadful muscular pains have been relieved. It is wonderful to be so well again and I wouldn't take a thing for what this laxative-ionic formula has done for me. It was truly wonderful."

1940 and, by tradition, turn other parties away from that state in their quest for a presidential candidate—excepting, of course, the Roosevelt third-term possibility.

Should a new deal dictated Democratic nomination go elsewhere than New York in 1940, some observers think LaGuardia might come in for consideration for second place on such a ticket. The fact that he is an American Labor party member, after various party affiliation adventures, might be no bar to his consideration for Democratic second-place honors.

At any rate the mayor could, these observers think, become an important figure in new deal Democratic strategy two years from now; but not if he backs Dewey against Lehman for governor this year.

That at least is the way important Democratic insiders here view the situation of the mayor. It underlies their off-the-record prediction that he will throw all his influence to Governor Lehman. They will be both amazed and shocked if he comes out for Dewey.

Insurgents Smash At Loyalist Lines Along Ebro Front

Hendaye, France (At The Spanish Frontier) Oct. 4 (AP)—Insurgent artillery, aviation and infantry smashed at government lines anew tonight intensifying the insurgent offensive against government positions on the Ebro front of eastern Spain.

At the same time insurgent aviators bombed two government seaports, Barcelona and Valencia, wounding three persons and damaging three British ships.

Insurgent dispatches from the Ebro front reported curly only that their advance was continuing. Government advices said insurgent assaults were concentrated on the Lavell De La Torre mountains, west of Mora De Ebro, on the river bank which was among the first positions to fall when the government captured this region in a counter-offensive on July 15.

THREE PARTIES FIX PLATFORMS

Wisconsin Democrats Are Without Candidate for Governor

Madison, Wis., Oct. 4 (AP)—Wisconsin's three major political parties—Democratic, Progressive and Republican—presented to the voters of the state tonight platforms drafted in separate convention meetings during the day.

The Democratic party, still without a formal gubernatorial candidate following the withdrawal of Robert K. Henry last Saturday, adopted a platform lauding the New Deal and giving complete approval to President Roosevelt and the state's Democratic senator from Fond Du Lac, F. Ryan Duffy.

The Democrats also favored old age pensions of $60 a month; urged that milk be "declared a public utility, with cost plus profit for the farmer"; criticized the state administration and Governor LaFollette's new National Progressive party, and asked a closed primary law in which "no voter of one party shall be permitted to vote in another party's primary and defeat upon it an unwanted and undesired candidate."

The Progressive party's platform included a pledge for liberalizing old age pension laws, a condemnation of the New Deal's farm relief program, and a statement in favor of government control of credit.

The party also advocated wider application of old age pensions, repeal of the state lien law by which property of pension recipients reverts to the state, and advocated further expansion of state activities through such corporations as the Wisconsin Agricultural Authority and Wisconsin Development Authority.

The Republican platform included a plank pledging support of "farm marketing co-operatives" in their quality improvement of marketing programs and insisting "these farm co-operatives shall have equal opportunity with other economic groups"; urged improvement of state and national old age security laws; demanded a referendum before war could be declared except in case of armed attack or invasion of the United States; favored completion of the St. Lawrence waterway, and also an enlarged and increased conservation program.

Molten Iron Falls On Ypsilanti Man

Ypsilanti, Mich., Oct. 4 (AP)—Oliver Reed, 27, of Ypsilanti, suffered critical burns on his left leg and chest at the Central Specialty Co. today when a bucket of molten iron was dumped while he stood before it.

The liquid metal poured down the full length of Reed's leg from the hip to the foot and splattered on his chest. Fellow workers said Reed was the victim of an apparent confusion in signals.

State To Dedicate Refuge At Allegan

Lansing, Oct. 4 (AP)—Dedication of the 40,000-acre Allegan resettlement project will take place Thursday afternoon, P. J. Hoffmaster, director of the state conservation department, reported today.

Governor Murphy said he probably would attend. Other notables scheduled to speak were Dr. Carl Taylor, director of the United States bureau of agricultural economics, which is sponsoring the project, and L. E. Sawyer of Milwaukee, regional director of the Federal Resettlement administration.

Four years ago the federal government took over the area, mostly submarginal land, in Allegan county and has improved it as a wild life refuge and campers' haven. It will be turned over to the state to operate.

Typographical Union Man Appointed For State Appeal Board

Lansing, Oct. 4 (AP)—Governor Murphy appointed Charles Loughheed, former official in the International Typographical Union, to the appeals board of the unemployment compensation commission today.

Loughheed served for 10 years as president of the Detroit Typographical Union, and for 12 years as national representative in the International Union.

WANTS LAND BACK

Budapest, Oct. 4 (AP)—Little Hungary, eager to regain territories of which she was stripped by World War treaties, tonight pressed the Czechoslovak government for immediate occupation of some Hungarian zones of Czechoslovakia.

In a note to the Prague government proposing a conference to discuss the minority claims to be held Thursday, Hungary demanded that before the talks begin Czechoslovakia first must give these guarantees:

1. Hungary must be allowed to occupy, as a symbol of the return of territories in which 800,000 Hungarians live, two border towns and communes.

2. All Hungarian political prisoners in Czechoslovakia must be released.

3. All Hungarian-speaking soldiers in the Czechoslovak army must be sent home on leave immediately.

4. Local police and troops must be created in the Hungarian zones under a "mixed command."

Hungary proposed that the claims be discussed at a conference at 4 p. m. Thursday at Komarom, a town on the Danube 80 miles west of Budapest, part of it in Hungary, part in Czechoslovakia.

There were unconfirmed reports tonight that the Czechoslovak authorities were evacuating the Hungarian-populated border regions along the 450-mile frontier.

ing the way in negotiations with a faction of that minority which is demanding autonomy.

In the British house of lords, Prime Minister Chamberlain won powerful support for his course from the former prime minister, Earl Baldwin, who declared "there was nothing else (Chamberlain) could have done" than to begin his personal negotiations with Adolf Hitler at Berchtesgaden.

Premier Daladier told the French chamber of deputies he hoped by the Munich accord "to establish a durable peace" by seeking "renewed or new friendships" with Italy and Germany.

BRITAIN "MORALLY BOUND"

London, Oct. 4 (AP)—Sir Thomas Inskip, defense co-ordinating minister, told the house of commons tonight Britain would feel morally bound to aid Czechoslovakia in event of unprovoked aggression although technically Britain's guarantee of her integrity was not yet in operation.

Explaining the annex to the Munich accord in which Britain and France guaranteed Czechoslovakia's shorn frontiers, Sir Thomas said if the Czechs were attacked "his majesty's government would certainly feel bound to take all steps in their power to see that the integrity of Czechoslovakia is preserved."

Questioners have insisted upon knowing whether Britain's guarantee was effective immediately or after the frontier revision was completed.

Britain and France launched simultaneous diplomatic moves aimed at permanent European appeasement today as Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain won powerful support for his bitterly attacked Munich accord which carved up Czechoslovakia.

Earl Baldwin, the prime minister's predecessor, told the house of lords "there was nothing else he could have done" when Chamberlain decided to see Adolf Hitler at Berchtesgaden.

"I thank God he was able to do it," declared the man who as prime minister guided Britain through the abdication crisis in December, 1937.

Acting on the heels of the Munich agreement which partitioned the Czechoslovak republic but preserved peace, Britain began friendship negotiations with Italy through her ambassador in Rome, the Earl of Perth.

The negotiations were designed to better Anglo-Italian relations through some settlement of the irksome Spanish question thus putting into effect the Easter friendship pact between Italy and Britain—a pact whose operation is contingent upon such a settlement in Spain.

Can Now Eat and Sleep Good Again Enjoys Life Like Others In Good Health: Indigestion, Gas and Bloating Ended, Nerves Quieted "A short trial of KruGon soon convinced me of its outstanding merit," said Mrs. Chester Wilson, 911 N. Washington St., Danville, Illinois. "For thirteen years I had been badly constipated. My stomach was soon affected refusing to digest my foods properly. Indigestion, gas and bloating followed most every meal I ate keeping me in constant discomfort. I could not get a good night of sleep, as frequent bladder actions caused me to get up at all hours and I was always tired and draggy. Then, too, such dreadful pains had settled over my body and I could find nothing to relieve this condition... until I tried KruGon." "KruGon soon brought about a change in my health condition," continued Mrs. Wilson. "My stomach and bowels were regulated so easily and quickly, I eat and sleep good, nerves are quieted and all those clogged up poisons have been removed from my system in a natural manner. Even those dreadful muscular pains have been relieved. It is wonderful to be so well again and I wouldn't take a thing for what this laxative-ionic formula has done for me. It was truly wonderful." Impressive Observance of Golden Jubilee Held by R. C. Hatheway Chapter

In a setting of autumnal beauty, particularly impressive and fitting for the Golden Jubilee of an organization active in this upper peninsula community since 1888, R. C. Hatheway Chapter, No. 49, Order of the Eastern Star, last evening celebrated its fiftieth anniversary. The jubilee banquet, and the attendant program were attended by over three hundred members, including Grand Chapter officers and representatives of Chapters of Marquette, Norway, Marquette, Menominee, Crystal Falls, Stephenson, Bessemer, Munising, Ironwood, Manistique, Gladstone and Iron Mountain, as well as Escanaba members. Grand Chapter Officers Among the Grand Chapter officers were Mrs. Ethel Kronski, of Bessemer, Grand Conductress; Mrs. Mae Lutey Eckman, of Bessemer, Junior Past Grand Warder; Mr. Eckman of Bessemer, Grand Guard; Mrs. Mary Hicks of Iron Mountain, Past Grand Chaplain; and Mrs. Kate Ingram of Iron Mountain, Past Grand Electa, and also the first Worthy Matron of the Iron Mountain Chapter, organized fifty-one years ago. The chapter room and the banquet hall were beautifully decorated for the occasion, with gorgeous flowers of golden shades, and autumn leaves. Appointments for the banquet tables, centered with low bowls of cut flowers of golden yellow, and ivory tapers, were in the jubilee shade, and in the Chapter room, vases and graceful baskets of flowers were artistically arranged. Attractive leather folders, gold embossed were favors for the guests. A. J. Young, Past Master of Masons in Michigan, served in his customary able manner as toastmaster of the banquet, and the evening was given by Rev. D. E. Evans, followed by special musical numbers and the history of the Chapter. The interesting and well-prepared history of R. C. Hatheway Chapter was presented by Mrs. Theodore Farrell, widow of the first Patron of the Chapter, opening as follows: First Meeting "At a preliminary meeting held March 6, 1888, at the Masonic hall in Escanaba, for the purpose of forming a Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, the petition for dispensation was signed by the following: Mrs. Stella Rolph, Mrs. Anna Rogers, Mrs. Carrie McNaughton, Mrs. Carrie Mead, Mrs. Gertrude Kolbe, Mrs. Sarah Merriam, Mrs. Anna Sessions, Mrs. Hattie Ellis, Mrs. Rilla Schmidt, Mrs. Carrie Carlin, Miss Laura Rolph, Miss Eva Ephraim, Frank H. Atkins, Ole E. Nelson, Justin Mead, George Sessions, Harry Ellis, Theodore Farrell and Albert H. Rolph. The officers chosen were: Stella Rolph, Worthy Matron; Theodore Farrell, Worthy Patron; Anna Rogers, Associate Matron; Sarah Merriam, Conductress; Carrie Mead, Associate Conductress; Laura Rolph, Adah; Rilla Schmidt, Ruth; Hattie Ellis, Esther; Anna Sessions, Martha; Carrie McNaughton, Electa; Eva Ephraim, secretary; Gertrude Kolbe, treasurer; Ole E. Nelson, Sentinel, and Albert H. Rolph, Chaplain. The obligation of the Order was administered to all signers of the petition, the work was exemplified by R. C. Hatheway, and the dispensation was delivered to the Worthy Matron. At that time R. C. Hatheway was Grand Master of Michigan, and his name was adopted for the Chapter, the forty-ninth in Michigan. The members who were received by petition during the year 1888 included Mrs. Alice Morgan, Mrs. Anna Green, Mrs. Libbie Anthony, Mrs. Cora Green, Mrs. Sarah Farrell, Fred Merriam, William Wilcox, Daton Kolbe, Henry W. Thompson, James Rogers and Thomas Green. Three Living Charter Members "As far as the present records show there are now three living charter members, Eva Ephraim, of Green Bay, Carrie Collins, who lives in Oak Park, Ill., and George Sessions, now of Los Angeles, and there are two living of the group received by petition, Anna Hingst, of Marquette, Florida, and Cora Green, of this city, the only representative of that group present for the jubilee. Continuing, Mrs. Farrell paid special tribute to two faithful officers who have passed on, Mrs. Margaret Frost, who was treasurer for five years, Worthy Matron, five years, and secretary, eighteen years; and Mr. Farrell, who served as Worthy Patron for twenty-seven years. The speaker told of the location of the Masonic hall at that time, on the second floor of the Ed Erickson dry goods store, where the Elks Temple now stands, and mentioned names which recalled memories of early days to many of her listeners, among them, George Young, who was a baker and confectioner; John C. Van Duser, publisher of the Iron Post; P. M. Peterson, who was in the furniture business; J. N. Mead, who dealt in many wares from jewelry to fishing tackle and guns; A. H. Rolph, who was a grocer; D. A. Oliver, who was in the furniture business, and Lew A. Cates, who published a semi-weekly, the Escanaba Call-meet.

Sister M. Fidelis, of St. Francis Hospital Observes Her Fiftieth Anniversary

A beautiful and significant anniversary in a life devoted to worship of the Creator, self-effacement and ministrations to the needs of others, was observed Tuesday at St. Francis hospital, the Golden Jubilee of Sister M. Fidelis, one of the oldest members of the Order of Sisters of St. Francis, and a pioneer in the nursing profession in Escanaba. Sister Fidelis, who was received into the Order at Peoria September 19, 1888, was a member of the original staff of the old County Hospital, first institution of its kind in Escanaba, forty years ago, and her service at St. Francis hospital, which developed from the small institution, embraces continuous service during the past twenty-nine years. Coska, who came from Peoria, Ill., and sisters of St. Francis of Marquette and Menominee, including Sisters M. Anselma, Huberta, Ethelreda and Gilberta, of the former city, and Sisters M. Chicago Writer Tells Of Beauty Of Peninsula Fall

Interesting to Escanabans as well as residents in other parts of the peninsula is the following description of Hazzathaland, in its autumn coloring, written by Mrs. G. W. McCormick of Chicago for the travel section of a Chicago newspaper:

"Last July we made a trip through the upper peninsula by motor and found it so enjoyable we promised ourselves the pleasure and inspiration of taking it again when the forests have taken on their breath-taking autumnal beauty. We are calling it our 'Jack Frost' tour, for no artists of lesser skill could paint these northern forests with the brilliance and coloring that the greatest of all artists, Jack Frost, does every fall.

"Take route 67 from Chicago to Menominee, the gateway to the upper peninsula of Michigan, stop for maps and information at the state tourist lodge of hewn logs and copper roof, built to last a century.

"Proceed on route M-35 along the shores of Green Bay through the state park to Escanaba, along Little Bay de Nocquet to Gladstone, then follow 35, passing Little Lake to Negaunee. Inquire there for the cliff drive and its gorgeous foliage.

"Take route US-41, pass Lake Michigan through the Ford forest to L'Anse and then to Houghton, pass copper mines to Eagle Harbor on route 129. Along the scenic mountain drive proceed to Copper Harbor, where the elevation is 896 feet. Autumn forests on the one side and ships passing along Lake Superior on the other, state tourist lodges, cottages and a golf course, deep wooded ravines and Old Fort Wilkins—these are only a few of the things you will see.

"Return to Houghton and proceed from there to Ontonagon by way of route 26 through deep ravines of hardwood maples, a riot of yellow and red overhead and under foot.

"From Ontonagon take the famous Porcupine mountain drive, 1,000 feet high, along Lake Superior, passing Lake of the Clouds, back to Ontonagon, then route to 35 to Rockland and 26 to Watersmeet. Detour from this point to Bond falls and Agate falls.

"From Watersmeet over Cloverland trails take route US-2 through hardwood forests to Iron River, pausing to see the rich coloring at Golden Lake and Sunset Lake.

Bridge Gets Boost

NORTHERN Michigan delegates to the Republican state convention at Grand Rapids succeeded in getting a Straits of Mackinac bridge plank in the platform adopted by the party.

Both political parties are now in favor of the Straits of Mackinac bridge project. This is a definite sign that public opinion has swung over to the proposal for linking the two peninsulas.

SMOKE OVER FORESTS

Already the fears recently expressed by Chief Forester Vanderwall, that forest fires might break out in Wisconsin, are justified.

Visibility at Superior, Wis., was limited to a few blocks on Wednesday because of forest fire smoke drifting in from Canada.

So the fire fighting forces are on their toes and "emergency conditions" prevail in the threatened districts.

And there seems to be such territory in Wisconsin, even though to hear that will surprise residents of the southern areas which were drenched by rains during the last two months.

That's what many of them will do in the next few days or weeks. The duck hunting season open last Saturday and many hunters will go to northern lakes or marshlands.

It is up to both these groups to consider the possible dryness of some sections of the north and be as cautious as possible with fire, including the fire that is in cigars or cigars that may spread from the campfire that fries a fish or boils a pot of coffee.

Those who now go north should inquire into the local fire hazards and the regulations that may apply in the various districts. Wisconsin has been kept encouragingly free from major forest fires in the last several years.

NOTHING NEW

The cruellest thing in this worldwide depression is the seizure of power by groups of adventurers who talk of production for use—when what they mean is bread tickets in the hands of an oligarchy.

The Republican ticket, headed by former Governor Fitzgerald, who always has been a good vote-getter, will furnish strong opposition to the Democratic party slate.

Ill-Advised Settlers

THE department of agriculture, in a report on living conditions in the Great Lakes cutover region of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, criticized the "ill-advised" sales of unproductive lands to would-be farmers.

The report points out in particular the passing of cut-over lands into the hands of promoters who "painted glowing pictures of their agricultural possibilities."

World Affairs Reviewed

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—The world is well aware that Germany has for a number of years been making supreme efforts to insure economic self-sufficiency, especially in the matter of food, and yet certain fundamental social forces have created a shortage in farm labor which, in turn, has to some extent at least slowed production in the Reich.

It has been a part of the Nazi program, especially of the celebrated Four Year Plan, to produce enough food in the Reich to relieve any necessity for imports.

One must go well back to discover the reasons for the present situation and take into consideration a number of factors. The most superficial observer is well aware of the manner in which, in this country, there has been a movement from the farms to the cities over three or four generations.

Germany must be classed among the pre-eminent industrial nations and the march from the rural regions to the cities has been going on there just as it has elsewhere.

Then, too, there has been almost no reform in land tenure over most of Germany. It was expected at the time of the erection of the German Republic, following the Armistice, that far-reaching reforms would be instituted.

Indeed, under Nazism, the trend has been in the opposite direction. The old Junker class is very much in the saddle and has been so for some years.

It seems an odd thing to report in this year of grace, but in Germany today the farm laborer occupies a position not so very far removed from serfdom such as existed centuries ago.

Employment of alien farm hands for seasonal work, particularly at harvest, started twenty or thirty years ago. During the World War, of course, this came to a stop as did much else in Germany and, after the Armistice, because of the great masses of unemployed, foreign labor was kept out so that Germans could have the work and the pitifully low wages that recompensed it.

During the World War, of course, this came to a stop as did much else in Germany and, after the Armistice, because of the great masses of unemployed, foreign labor was kept out so that Germans could have the work and the pitifully low wages that recompensed it.

It may be necessary, as the regulators claim—this trick of creating scarcities and maintaining unnaturally high prices—but it seems to us a poor way to reach the more abundant life.

Nobody can charge the statesmen currently fishing for favors in the international sea with not being fore-handed; they certainly haven't forgotten debate.

Now that France has sworn her protective help so vehemently, the Czechs' conception of her sounds like a heart-balm: suit: an alien nation of affection.

New York Column

BY GEORGE ROSS

New York—Clare Boothe's new show, "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," has made its Broadway debut—and society folk are being to their bomb-proof shelters.

Miss Boothe happens to be the holy terror of Park Avenue, and at her approach pedigreed blue-bloods deny their listing in the Social Register.

Also, they are not forgetting that in private life Miss Boothe is Mrs. Henry R. Luce, wife of the young publisher of Time, Fortune, Life and other journals; and that, therefore, she is a social arbiter and that incuring her ire is like sounding one's own knell of doom.

Well, here is "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" and Miss Boothe is in no more charitable mood than she was the last time about the sophisticates.

A group of terrible people are gathered for a week-end in Connecticut and among them is a movie producer in quest of a southern belle to typify the south in that best-selling saga, "Kiss the Boys Goodbye."

Then our heroine turns up. She is as southern as a mint julep on the verandah of the plantation and more than anything else in the world, she wants to play Velvet O'Toole in "Kiss the Boys Good-Bye." (Get it?)

But the gentlemen in the party want her for other purposes and a broken-down glamor girl isn't much competition, either.

So pit Miss Innocence from the land of honeysuckle against a hard-bolled mob, and what do you suppose happens? Exactly. She is ahead of the game at the final curtain and she exposes them all for inglorious nitwits.

And that is the gist of it. One critic said that Miss Boothe didn't write "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" with a fountain pen but with her long nails, and he said a mouthful. For the lady who showed no quarter to her sex in "The Women" is being equally ruthless against the members of both her and the opposite sex in her latest effort.

Only five per cent of the world's population lives below the equator.

The Capital Parade

BY ALBION AND KINTNER

Washington, Oct. 4.—The divergence between history and actuality has rarely been wider or funnier than the other day, when Benjamin V. Cohen landed in New York after a vacation abroad.

The story, which was printed in equivalent versions all over the country, went on to tell of how Corcoran went down the bay early, on a special, private cutter bristling with secret service agents.

As it happens, the physical facts of the story are strictly accurate, yet the story itself is utterly untrue. It was not Benjamin V. Cohen who was "surrounded by a system of secrecy and protection."

THE SILVER LINING As it happens, the physical facts of the story are strictly accurate, yet the story itself is utterly untrue. It was not Benjamin V. Cohen who was "surrounded by a system of secrecy and protection."

Corcoran was extremely anxious to see his partner and intimate friend. As a government official, he had applied for permission to go out on the regular coast guard cutter.

The central mistake in the story was not, however, the confusion of Ben Cohen with 10,000,000 ounces of silver bullion. It was the assumption that Corcoran and Cohen are either powerful enough to command, or foolish enough to desire the "system of secrecy and protection" which accidentally enveloped them.

Politics being what it is, and humanity's desire for a visible devil being what it is, the sanitization of Corcoran and Cohen was to be expected.

But, if there is any quarrel, it should not be with Tom Corcoran or Ben Cohen. It should be, first, with the President's ideas, which they carry out.

Comes news that an Australian factory is making a lipstick container that can be turned into a cartridge. And isn't that a fine thing to put in a woman's hands!

FINE AND APPLE

Sam Simpson climbed an apple tree To see as far as he could see, And all he saw was orchard, stable, And house and fields, all he was able.

Well, all there is to this is this: The truth we very often miss: Because our judgment both conceals And ends inside of our own fences.

An elaborate exhibit showing the correlation of art with other school subjects will occupy almost the entire Jefferson school building during the annual convention of the Upper Peninsula district of the Michigan Education Association, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 29 and 30, at Escanaba.

The exhibit will be in charge of Miss Mary Meighen, elementary supervisor, and Miss Lois Gaut, art director.

No classes will be held in the public schools Thursday and Friday.

Miss Meighen and Miss Marjorie Pratt, curriculum coordinator in the public schools of Shorewood, Wis., are the authors of a new reader, "Fun for All," recently published by Benjamin H. Sanborn and company. Detailed information concerning the new reader will be announced at the teachers convention this week-end.

It is expected that more than fifteen hundred teachers will attend the M. E. A. meeting here.

A breakfast for counsellors of girls will be held at the Central Methodist Episcopal church at 7:30 o'clock Friday morning. Miss Ethel Carey, dean of women at Northern State Teachers college, will be chairman and George Gilbert, regional supervisor of the department of public instruction, will be the speaker. The meeting is open to all teachers interested in girls' conferences and other phases of girls' work. Reservations may be made by calling either 2122 or 1380-J.

WIND VELOCITY SETS RECORD

Precipitation Slightly Below Normal for Past Month

For the second consecutive month, the wind velocity recorded at the Escanaba station of the United States department of agriculture weather bureau during September was the highest on record. The past month's average of 10.8 miles per hour was greater than August's 10.6 miles per hour, which broke all known records of the local station.

Precipitation for September totaled 2.68 inches, which is .64 inches less than normal. The period of 8 days, September 22 to 29, was without precipitation, and was the longest since July, 1936. It was only a very slight bit of precipitation that was recorded on September 29, and that was detected by special means and was not measurable.

The first measurable precipitation since September 29 occurred yesterday, when it was .02 inches. Fire wardens have been reassigned to their towers because of the threat of the rapidly drying timber lands, relieving them from small game duty.

The average temperature for the month of September was .3 degrees above normal, and nearly a full degree above the same month last year. The high for the month was 80, on the 26th, and the lowest 42, on the 29th. For last September the high and low were 86 and 33. Only one frost, a light one, was recorded on September 29.

Relative humidity averaged about normal, morning, midday and evening, and sunshine averaged 54 per cent, against a normal of 53.

HUNTERS SEE MANY GROUSE

Birds Reported To Be Plentiful and Well Scattered

Upper Peninsula hunters have taken to the woods and fields with prospects of the best grouse season in several years.

The Upper Peninsula season opened Oct. 1 to continue through Oct. 12, while in the lower peninsula the season opens Oct. 15 to extend through Oct. 31. Prospects also are cheering for the lower peninsula, according to game investigators, conservation officers and sportsmen.

In the west end of the upper peninsula partridge and sharp-tailed grouse broods showed up well during the summer and reports in September indicated that the birds were widely distributed and plentiful.

A small flock of sharp-tailed grouse was seen recently by F. M. Baumgartner of the game division of the department of conservation, near Doe lake south of Munising in Alger county. This plus confirmation of reports from the Seney marsh in Schoolcraft county suggests that the sharp-tails are spreading eastward in the upper peninsula. The wild-trapped birds which were released near Trout lake in Chippewa county and in the Pigeon river state forest below the Straits last winter have not been reported since the early part of the summer but game investigators hope that they will show up again this fall and serve as a nucleus for the establishment of this game bird in all parts of the state where the food and cover are suitable.

In the east end of the upper peninsula the partridge and prairie chickens seem to be on the increase again although some districts report few broods and are likely to have spotty shooting. The daily bag limit for ruffed grouse is five, the possession limit 10 and the season limit 25. For prairie chickens and sharp-tailed grouse the daily limit is five, the possession limit 10, combined, and the season limit 25.

The rabbit season also is now open in the upper peninsula. The lower peninsula season will open Oct. 15.

On The RECORD

By Dorothy Thompson

On August 2nd, Lord Runciman went to Prague as a mediator between the Czechoslovak government and the Sudeten Germans.

On September 9th, Hitler made his Nuremberg addressing declaring, "Germany will capitulate to no one."

On September 11th, an outline of British policy was handed to journalists in London, consisting of four points: first, anxiety in Britain is growing; second, Germany must not think that she can launch a quick victorious war; third, the Czechoslovak government's Sudeten concessions have removed any justification for Germany to try violent measures. Elucidations and modifications may be needed, but the negotiations in Prague should continue on the basis of the Czech proposals. Fourth, the security and integrity of France are intimately bound with Britain. Britain enjoys the sympathy of the United States.

On September 11th, Hitler got a message from Great Britain, warning that an attack on the Czechs might involve Britain and the rest of the world in war.

On September 11th, there was a Sudeten German demonstration before the Petrosad Castle in Czechoslovakia where Lord Runciman was a guest. Lord Runciman conferred with the leaders and afterward stepped upon the balcony to address a crowd, which was crying: "Dear Lord, free us from Czechoslovakia!"

According to Walter B. Kerr, the correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune, Lord Runciman said: "My good German friends, you have a very beautiful country and I pray God may preserve it in peace."

According to G. E. R. Gedy in "The New York Times," Lord Runciman said: "May God grant that this beautiful country have peace and that you will all continue to live in it unity."

Whichever version may be correct, there is no question that Lord Runciman in referring to the beautiful country meant Czechoslovakia and not Germany.

On September 14th, it was announced that Chamberlain would fly to see Hitler.

On September 15th, there was the meeting between Chamberlain and Hitler in Berchtesgaden.

On September 16th, Chamberlain returned to London.

On September 16th, Lord Runciman returned to London.

On September 17th, there was a Cabinet meeting in London.

On September 18th, there was a consultation in London between British and French Cabinet officials.

On September 19th, Britain and France decided to accept the Hitler demands and recommend them to Benes.

On September 20th, the Czech government replied that the plan was unacceptable and suggested arbitration in the Hague.

On September 21st, the Czech government accepted the plan "under extraordinary pressure" from the British and the French.

On September 21st, Lord Runciman presented his report.

On September 22d, at 5 p. m. the Czechoslovak government handed a communique to the French and British ministers, saying: "The government accepts the proposals as a whole and places special emphasis on the principle of the guarantee."

(This communique, curiously enough, was not published in the British White Paper.)

On September 22d, Chamberlain met Hitler at Godesberg.

On September 23d, Czechoslovakia mobilized on the advice, or at least with the consent, of the British and French governments.

This column presents this chronology in order to try to throw some light on the British White Paper of September 28, and especially on the document which heads it, namely the report of Lord Runciman to the Prime Minister.

We should like to call attention to the fact that Lord Runciman arrived in Prague on August 2, that on September 11, that is to say, only five days before he left Prague, the British government informed journalists that the Czechoslovak's Sudeten concessions had removed any justification for Germany to try violent measures, and that the negotiations should continue on the basis of the Czech proposals. These proposals were the ones which Lord Runciman had been negotiating between the Czechs and the Sudeten Germans, the so-called "Fourth Plan."

One must certainly presume that the attitude of the British government on this date, September 11, was determined by the reports to date of Lord Runciman.

And on the same day Lord Runciman indicated in a one-sentence speech, definitely, according to one reporter, and inferentially, according to another, that he wished to see a solution inside the Czechoslovak frontiers.

But the Runciman report dated Sept. 21, and published September 28, is dated after Berchtesgaden, and on the very day that "extraordinary pressure" is put upon the Czechs by the British and the French.

When one studies the Runciman report closely, it is revealed to be a remarkable and illogical document.

The bulk of the report is a straightforward account of his negotiations between the Prague government and the Henleinists. Lord Runciman first considered the Sudeten German party "sketch" of the 7th of June—Henlein's eight-point program. He

 MYRNA DOMBEY—heroine.
 Wife of the sensational swing band leader.
 ROBERT TAIT—hero. Newspaper photographer—detective.
 ANNE LESTER—Myrna's closest friend.
 DANNIE FEELEY—officer assigned to investigate Ludden Dombey's murder.

Yesterday, Ludden Dombey is about to announce his marriage when he is shot. He falls down in front of his swing band.

CHAPTER II

For almost a minute, it seemed to Tait, no one moved, no one uttered a sound. Then "Torchy" Stephens stepped down from the band and half fearfully lifted Dombey by the shoulders. Tait nodded nobody to tell him that the swing leader was dead. Tait could sense it from where he stood.

At that moment the crowd in the Golden Bowl jerked itself into hysterical action. Half a hundred rushed for the exits and were gone before anyone could stop them. Others, morbidly curious, crowded toward the band platform where Lud Dombey had led The Swingers for the last time.

Suddenly Tait heard Myrna's tiny, stifled cry, and at the same moment he saw Anne Lester's stricken gaze toward the girl beside him. In a flash he realized that the girl who was to have been in the golden spotlight was this slender, dark creature who had risen unsteadily beside him. His camera forgotten, Tait took her arm firmly. "You must get out of here," he whispered.

She nodded dully, her clenched first pressed against her teeth. Tait guided her past the table, taking up her bag as he went. As he did so his heart skipped a beat with the shock of exciting discovery. His fingers, clutching the soft silk of the bag, had encountered asserts that negotiations took place on September 5 and 6 on the so-called "fourth plan."

He says: "In my opinion, and I believe in the opinion of the more responsible Sudeten leaders, this plan embodied most of the Karlsbad eight points, and with a little extension, could have been made to cover them in their entirety. Little doubt remains in my mind that the very fact that they were so favorably operated against their chances with the more extreme Sudeten party members. . . . It is my belief that incidents at Maerisch Odrau) were used to provide the excuse for the suspension of negotiations.

"The Czech government, however, once more gave way to the demands of the Sudeten German party. . . . Again I am convinced that this did not suit the policy of the Sudeten extremists, and incidents were provoked and instigated on September 11, and with greater effect after the Hitler speech on September 12. . . .

"The Sudeten delegation refused to meet the Czechoslovak authorities as had been arranged on September 13. . . . and presented a new series of demands, which the Czechoslovak government again prepared to accept on the sole condition that a representative of the party come to Prague to discuss how they should be maintained. On the night of September 13, this condition was refused by Henlein. . . .

"With the rejection of the Czechoslovak government's offer on September 13. . . . my functions as a mediator were in fact at an end. . . . responsibility for the final break must in my opinion rest upon those of their supporters inside and outside the country who were urging them to extreme unconstitutional action. . . . Unless therefore, the Henlein Freil Corps are deliberately encouraged across the frontier, there is no reason to expect further disturbances, even the danger of civil war in the continuance of this state of uncertainty."

Almost up to the point where he says "It has become self-evident to me that these frontier districts. . . should be given full self-determination at once," he has been arguing that the whole matter could be settled with justice to the Sudeten, and without violence, if Germany would keep her hands off.

Suddenly, on the basis of nothing contained in the early part of the report, recommendations are made which embody in substance the Anglo-French proposals presented to the Czechoslovak government on September 17, after Chamberlain's visit to Hitler.

This column asks whether the last part of this report, which is presented as that of a just and independent investigator may not have been dictated by Hitler.

This column asks why the Runciman report was not submitted in advance of the visit to Berchtesgaden. This column further suggests that most of the report was tered the outline of a revolver. And the barrel was warm through the silk!

Hurriedly Tait stuffed the bag into his pocket, literally beat out a way for Myrna through the frantic crowd. Fortunately none of them knew who she was. The golden spot had never picked her out. Instead, death had reached down through the momentary darkness and touched her husband.

Wanting to keep clear of the Pacific-Plaza's huge lobby, Tait guided her down the short hallway from the Golden Bowl and into the ladies' lounge. In front of its foyer he ran into Bill Joiner, one of the Pacific-Plaza's staff of detectives.

"What's up in there, Tait?" Joiner wanted to know.

"Dombey's been shot. A lot of the crowd have beat it already. Better figure a way to keep 'em tied until they can get somebody here from headquarters."

Joiner hesitated a moment, looking at Myrna. "Who's she?"

"Friend of mine," said Tait briefly. "The thing upset her, and I'm taking her in here. We'll be around."

Joiner hurried on toward the wide entrance of the Golden Bowl, and Tait led Myrna to a davenport inside the foyer. "Take it easy here for a while," he said gently. "I'll hang around outside. Myrna dropped wearily to the davenport, and he studied the dark head for a moment. "Will you need your bag?" he asked quickly. "I have it in my pocket."

She shook her head, then buried her tear-streaked face in the arm of the davenport.

Thoughtfully Bob Tait returned to the hallway. There he stopped, fished for a cigarette and lit it. What the devil had come over him, he asked himself. Why wasn't he in there in the Bowl, snapping his "minnie" right and left, trying to get his job back? A photographer couldn't stay off the job two or three days and expect to get away with it. Not even a good one. Not even if he'd wanted to watch his college play an opening game of football when Riggs wanted him to be somewhere else. But some candid shot in the Bowl tonight would soften Riggs up.

Yet here he stood, standing guard over a girl he'd never seen, before and might never see again. And in his pocket was her bag, and in it, as sure as taxes, was the weapon that had killed Ludden Dombey.

The shot wasn't fired from that table, though. It couldn't have been. Still, she could have slipped away in the darkness, then hurried back to the table before the lights went on.

Disgustfully Tait spun his cigarette into an ash pillar. "She couldn't be the one. Whoever killed Dombey was inside the mob that scrambled out when the lights went up again. The gun had been planted."

Tait reached into his pocket, unzipped the bag and let the revolver fall unseen against the pocket's lining. The bag he brought out and transferred to an inside pocket. He couldn't bolt out the gun on the police, he told himself. But he resolved to keep the bag a while—at least until he was more certain of a number of things than he was now.

As he stood there, Anne Lester rushed up to him. "How did you get out of the Bowl?" Tait demanded. "Haven't they got things in hand in there yet?"

"I haven't been in the Bowl for the past five minutes," Anne said desperately. "I've been searching all over the lobby and balcony for Myrna. Where is she? I saw her go out with you just after—just after it happened."

Tait jerked a thumb over his shoulder. "She's in there." Anne started for the foyer, but young Tait restrained her. "Just a minute. I'd like to help her if I can. Do you realize she's liable to be in a tough spot?"

The girl stiffened. "You're not saying that she—"

"I'm not saying anything," Tait said quietly. "How long have you known her?"

"We've roomed together for five years. They don't come better than Myrna."

"This room of sudden?"

Anne flushed. "I'm afraid this is none of your business. I understand you were a newspaper photographer, not a detective. I'm going to see Myrna."

"Sorry," Tait grinned sheepishly and let her by.

The kid was right, he thought. What he should do was turn the bag and the gun over to the police and let them fight it out. Yet if he did that, the girl in there would find herself instantly embroiled in a sticky mess. She was hit hard enough as it was.

He was startled by Anne Lester's voice at his shoulder. "Myrna's not in here!"

"Are you sure?"

Anne nodded. "There's a fire escape to the alley. She must have gone down that."

Tait hesitated a moment. Then: "Do you think she might have gone to your apartment?"

"I—I can't think where else."

"Then listen. You get over there right now. And give me the address. If she's there, make her stay. Because if she pulls another disappearing act it's going to look bad. I know what I'm talking about. They'll want to see the girl Lud Dombey married five minutes before he was murdered—and she'd better be around for them to look at!"

BRENNER TELLS OF RELIEF WORK

Describes Rehabilitation Activities Following Southern Floods

Dr. E. J. Brenner, director of the Alger-Schoolcraft health unit, described the relief work which was done in the south following the disastrous floods of last year, in an address given at the meeting of the Manistique Rotary club Monday noon at the Legion cottage.

Dr. Brenner's address was timely in view of the hurricane disaster which occurred in the east only recently, and his description of flood relief work conveyed to the Rotarians the efficiency of relief measures adopted by Red Cross and other social groups in the rehabilitation of stricken areas.

The speaker declared that flood sufferers were obviously grateful to the manner in which the entire country responded to calls for aid, a condition which improved the morale of the flood sufferers considerably.

Dr. Brenner was one of hundreds of health workers called to the flood areas to care for the thousands of injured, sick and homeless in the stricken areas.

Evangelist Will Speak At Church
And now that the Czechoslovak problem has been settled without recourse to war, what about the future? Has the threat of war been banished or only postponed? Thousands of business men and statesmen are spending large sums of money enquiring of fortunetellers and mediums who only deceive them. Evangelist W. C. Hankins says that the Bible alone gives an accurate picture of the future and that he will begin a series of lectures on Bible Prophecy next Sunday evening, October 8, at 7:30, in the Gladstone Presbyterian Church, on the corner of Central and Wisconsin avenues. These lectures will continue every Sunday and Wednesday night during the month of October.

As threats of war disrupt business, Evangelist Hankins says that he thinks every business man in Gladstone and Escanaba would find some useful hints in these lectures. Also that high school teachers and students would find them to be of great educational value, especially the history classes.

Beautifully colored stereopticon pictures will be used to illustrate many of these lectures. All lectures are free and the public is invited.

MAYOR OFFERS ODDS

Chicago, Oct. 4 (AP)—Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago offered Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York heavy odds today in picking the Chicago Cubs to whip the New York Yankees in the world series.

"I'll bet the biggest blue ribbon porker in the stockyards against the best box of cigars you can buy in Yanktown," Kelly said.

Kelly made his offer after getting word that LaGuardia wanted to put up a box of good cigars against a box of stogies.

Ruffing, would start on the mound for the Yanks with Big Bill Lee, pitching hero of the late Cub pennant dash, for Chicago. Yet a rumor that Hartnett might cross everyone up and start the famed Dean with his $185,000 sore arm and all in a bold dramatic attempt to upset the Yankee gunners, spread like a forest fire. That was just a rumor.

Gomez Yank Ace

Neither Hartnett nor McCarthy went through any great amount of mauling to decide upon his pitching choice. Hartnett's decision to start Lee, winner of 22 games this season, caused no surprise. Baseball men generally figured the starting honors for the Yankees rested between Ruffing, winner of 21 games this season—the best record in the American league—and Lefty Gomez, New York Yankee.

McCarthy made known the selection of his ace right-hander over Southpaw Gomez shortly after the arrival of his slaughterhouse Yankees.

"It's Ruffing, boys," he said quietly, as if he had not intended otherwise.

Hartnett heard of the selection and then snapped decisively: "Lee goes for us."

Hartnett's desire to make his selection after McCarthy's was interpreted as indicating he would have named Dean, his only logical alternative, if the Yankees had named Gomez. Gomez has won every one of his five world series starts and is regarded by many as the Yanks' best bet against the Cubs.

On this basis, Hartnett, in gambling with Dean, seemed to prefer to pit him against Gomez instead of Ruffing.

Starts at 1:30
Neither manager would make any prediction as to the outcome of the series. McCarthy tossed up his hands and shrieked:

"No, no, no."
Hartnett merely declared the Cubs were just as hot as they were when they swept the Pirates out of the championship and still will be sizzling when they advance to meet the Yanks in the first game of the series tomorrow.

The great battle between the Cubs and Yankees will start at Wrigley Field tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 p. m. (CST) before a sell-out crowd of 44,466 with $234,804.90 in the till. The weather forecast reads: Cloudy, cool and no rain.

The Yankees will take the field at least 2 to 1 favorites. But the odds have not discouraged the rampaging Cubs one bit. Chicago, gaining the National league championship in the next to the last day of the season, upset the sports world by winning the flag in the greatest finish in 30 years. The players figure, just like Hartnett does, that they are still as hot as they were and possess the spirit to bowl over the powerful Yankees.

Odds With New York
The odds are with the Yankees, because of their power, because of the fact the Yankees, twice world champions, would be courageously trying for their third in a row, a feat no other club has ever accomplished. There is no question about their power. The Yanks have slugged 174 home runs this season with five of their slingers, Henrich, DiMaggio, Gordon, Dickcye and Gehrig, connecting with more than 30 each.

There is drama between the coming clashes between the Cubs and Yankees, even down to the managers. McCarthy, leader of the Cubs, then, as now, Hartnett was a catcher. He took charge of the Cubs last July, relieving Charley Grimm, and by sheer ability and resourcefulness as a leader led the Cubs to a 21 out of 24 game winning streak that brought them the championship and knocked Pittsburgh out of it.

McCarthy and Hartnett are friends. Hartnett respects McCarthy as a great baseball leader. McCarthy doesn't think the Cubs are going to beat the Yankees, but if they do he probably would just as soon see the honor go to Hartnett.

Gabby Catches Today
Hartnett, who was out of the last three games of the season because of two split fingers on his right hand, will start behind the plate tomorrow. He may not survive the series, but nothing will keep him from leading his team at the start. In the workout today Gabby freshened up on his third finger, the one damaged in the final with the Pirates.

Hartnett shifted his lineup because Ruffing is a right hander. He will send young Phil Cavarretta into right field. Carl Reynolds to center and Frank Demaree to left. Against a left hander Hartnett intends to use Joe Marty in place of Cavarretta. Both teams have casualties. Augie Galan, Cub left fielder, benched by a knee injury may be used as a pinch-hitter. The Yanks will be without the services of Spud Chandler, a young right hander with 14 victories to his credit, because of a sore right elbow.

SERIES NOTES

By Earl Hilligan
Chicago, Oct. 4 (AP)—Charlie Grimm, displaced as Chicago Cub manager and then cut out of a share of the player's world series pool, also is out so far as broadcasting the series which opens tomorrow between the Cubs and New York Yankees.
His studio revealed today that because of his recent connection with the National league, Commissioner K. M. Landis ruled Grimm could not broadcast the games. Both President Ford Frick of the National league and President Will Harridge of the American league asked the commissioner to rescind his ruling, but the commissioner stood pat.

This should be one of the biggest money series in the game's history. A fortune of $659,000 all ready is in the Cub strongbox. Of this sum $219,667 will be rebated if the series is decided in four or five games. Whether the total receipts for the entire series will exceed that of the Cub-Tiger six game series in 1935, $1,073,794, is problematical. But with Yankee Stadium's 70,029 and the Cub capacity of 44,466, the individual player's share may go to $7,000 each for the winners and $4,500 for the losers.

Stock Market note: The 10,000 shares of Cub stock increased $300,000 in market value in the wake of the team's pennant surge. Quoted at 148 bid and 152 asked a week ago, the stock soared to 165 bid and 175 asked, then jumped again with one sale at 180.

When the Yankees came to town, Manager Joe McCarthy and Mrs. McCarthy posed amiably for photographers until someone asked him for a series prediction, to which he yelled: "No!" and bolted away. Later, Joe confided he was sorry for his old pal Hartnett. Some fans yelled at Lou Gehrig: "Lou, you'll need a rabbi's foot," to which the husky New York first sacker replied with a grin "Don't worry, I got one" and pulled a bunny's paw right out of his pocket.

Red Ruffing, tomorrow's Yankee pitching choice and winner of 21 games this season for the Yanks, became mixed up in the milling at the station and was separated from the main Yank hotel-bound party. Grabbing the arm of a policeman, he inquired the shortest way to reach the Yank hotel on the North Side and received prompt directions. A minute later someone told the blue-coat he had been talking to Ruffing, powerful Yank pitcher.

"Huh," granted the officer, "maybe I should have started him for Kokomo, Ind."

Bloomington (AP)—Indiana University's football squad, its running department weakened by injuries, practiced a series of offensive formations today as it looked toward Saturday's big tilt at Illinois. Coach Bo McMillin put his charges through scrimmages despite fear of further injuries.

Madison (AP)—The University of Wisconsin variety stopped the freshman cold Tuesday in a scrimmage featuring Iowa players in preparation for the Badgers' Big Ten opener with the Iowa Saturday. The freshmen gained less than 10 yards in 30 attempts against the first and second stringers.

Shifted to Quarterback

Bobby Barron, fleet Eskymo back, has been shifted to quarterback post this week by Coach Carl Nordberg in a wholesale shift after the Norway defeat. Barron's blocking and passing abilities will be utilized from this position, Nordberg hopes.

Buck "Bum Guess" Erickson of the Iron Mountain News says: "WHO TRUN DAT? ... A gust of wind that resembled a hurricane, cyclone and typhoon rolled up in one through this sector over the week-end, picking up four football fields and turning them upside down. ... The storm took no toll in lives but left at least four persons scarred for life with cherry-colored klasers. ... The victims all affiliated with the 'Fall Guy club,' a fraternity for broken-down prognosticators. ... Rescue workers identified three of the four as Johnny Gray, Crystal Falls Diamond Drill; Hank Grishalm, Iron River Reporter, and Charley Larson, Escanaba Press. ... The fourth casualty was not identified up to noon today. ... He was found a short distance from the Norway high school football field—unconscious and with one hand clutching a burly sack with the bottom cut off.

INDIANS TO PLAY AT MANISTIQUE

Emeralds Anxious for First Victory of Season

Manistique—In three games, the Manistique high school grid team has suffered only one defeat but they have yet to register their first triumph of the season. The Emeralds lost to the strong Eskymo team in the opener, and then played the games with Negaunee and Gladstone.
Next Saturday Manistique will oppose Newberry at Manistique, and the Emeralds are eager to register a victory over the always potent Indians.
Coach Frank Jehle declared yesterday that he will give the injured players on the squad comparatively easy assignments in practice sessions during the week in the hope that all of the squad will be available for duty against Newberry next Saturday.
The Emeralds have displayed a stout enough defense this season, but their offense has not been anything to cause much concern to their opponents. This condition is cause for concern for the Manistique coaching staff, however, and the grid mentors have indicated they hope to broaden the scope of the Emerald's running and passing attack for the Newberry game.

MICKEY VOTED SERIES SHARE

Tigers More Generous With Ex-Manager Than Cubs

Detroit, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers voted a full share of the club's dividends from the world series to Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane, who was deposed as their manager on August 6, it became known today.
Detroit finished fourth in the American league race, thereby qualifying for a minor cut of receipts from the series that starts tomorrow between the New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs.
Also voted full shares were Ray Hayworth and Don Ross, who were sold to Brooklyn in September; Alton Benton, who was recalled from Toledo in July; Arthur Sheahan, road secretary, and Denny Carroll, trainer.

Part shares went to Cletus Poffenberger, Roy Cullenbine and Chester Laabs, who spent most of the season with Toledo of the American association.

Personalities Of Chicago Cubs

TEX CARLETON

Rangy rancher from Comanche, Texas. Great athlete at Texas Christian University before baseball claimed him. Three years with the Cardinals before joining Cubs. Veteran of two successive world series, 1934 and 1935, because the trade moving him from St. Louis to Chicago transpired 7 weeks after the Cards won the 1934 world championship. Started pro ball at Texarkana, East Texas League in 1925, and climbed to Cardinal corps via Houston and Rochester, winning 20 for Houston—13 of them in a row—in 1931, same year Dizzy Dean won 26 for same club. Both now teammates again with Cubs after all these years. Tex is a championship good luck charm. Had pitched on 7 pennant-winning teams in 13 years up to 1933. Austin in 1926, Houston in 1929 and 1931, Rochester in 1929 and 1930, the Cardinals in 1934, and the Cubs in 1935. Started 1938 notably by pitching the entire game in the 10-inning Cub victory April 26 which was Pittsburgh's first National League defeat since September 23, 1937. Pitches now his last 10 in 1937 and their first 7 this year, 17-straight streak interrupted by a winter and some spring exhibition games between the 10th and 11th straight. When Cubs occupied first place briefly in early June, Tex pitched the game that put them on top June 5. A mid-summer charley horse kept him on the sidelines but his comeback game August 21 was momentous. The Cubs had lost 6 out of 7 and were 2 games behind the Pirates when they met the Bucs at Wrigley Field and clean-swept that doubleheader as the start of their meteoric rise. Lee and Carleton were the winning pitchers, Tex holding the Pirates to 7 hits in the nightcap.

DIZZY DEAN

Reams were written and plump volumes circulated the baseball world telling the fame and feats of The Great Dean before he ever wore a Cub uniform but this year's chapter is a great story, too. Even in the white light of the 1934 World Series, when he beat Detroit twice as the Red Birds of St. Louis rode to their world championship, he was hardly more brilliant than on September 27, 1938, when he stepped into the box with a weaker arm than of yore against the Pirates in the opener of the crucial series and kept the league-leaders away from the plate until 2 out in the ninth, standing as winning pitcher of the 2-1 decision which cut the Pirate lead to half a game. What a climax to what a year for the Diz! Purchased in April for $185,000 plus 3 players, he was benched by his arm trouble in May, less than a month after Opening Day. He didn't pitch again until July 17. His last starting assignment before his September 27 red-letter day was August 20. That day the Pirates knocked him out in the sixth inning and that defeat put the Cubs 9 games behind first place, their furthest point south under Hartnett management. That sad day was also Dean's first defeat of the season in the pitching records. The September 27 revenge comeback was Diz' 7th victory, his 875 percentage posting his name at the top of the league's list of pitchers working in 10 or more games. In case you need brushing up on Dean highlights, he started pro ball at St. Joseph in 1930, moved to Houston in late summer, pitched one game for the Cards on the season's last day, a 3-hit victory, then spent 1931 winning 26 games for Houston before joining the Cards as a regular in 1932. He was strikeout king of the National League throughout his first 4 years with the Cards. He won 30 National League games in 1934 and led the league in victories again in 1935 with 28. Though on the bench most of this year, in '32, '35, and '36 he pitched more innings than any other National League moundsman. Was voted the League's most valuable player in 1934 and proved it by 26 innings of World Series pitching, winning the series opener and coming back in the seventh game to pitch the Cards to the world championship with a 6-hit shutout of the Tigers.

Usual Scrimmage Resumed At State

East Lansing, Oct. 4 (AP)—Michigan State college football players who took Coach Charley Bachman seriously when he ordered a two-day rest for those who saw heavy duty last Saturday, woke up today to find themselves banging into each other in the usual scrimmage fashion.

With motion pictures showing boldly the mistakes made in the University of Michigan game and scouts' reports on Illinois Wesleyan in either hand, Bachman could not wait for the varsity to catch its breath. He tossed them back into practice and starting shaking up the line.

Indications were that some changes may be made in the forward wall but that they are not yet apparent until the game this Saturday with Wesleyan. The latter bowed to the University of Cincinnati last week, 6 to 0.

The coaches paid particular attention to the work of Paul Griffith, of Burgis, and Mike Masny, of Cincinnati last week, 6 to 0.

Rae, 230-pound tackle from Pellot who saw duty last year, is battling to return to the varsity.

Three Peninsula Boys Playing At Michigan; Heikkinen One of Best

Three Upper Peninsula boys are making good on the gridiron this year at the University of Michigan, helping Coach Fritz Crisler in his rebuilding efforts at the Wolverine institution. The three boys are: Ralph Heikkinen, senior of Ramsay, who is 21 years of age, weighs 180 pounds and is five feet, nine and one half inches tall; Walter Kittl, sophomore of Calumet, who is 20 years old, weighs 170 pounds and is five feet, 10 inches; and Reuben Kelto, Bessemer sophomore, who tips the beam at 195, is six feet, one inch tall and is 19 years old.

"Hike" is the most outstanding guard to play for Michigan since the halcyon days and probably ranks with the best of all time in view of his recognition last year on the all-Conference eleven although his team had only a 500 season. As a sophomore Ralph was slowed considerably by injuries and illness and played less than ten springs during the season. In spring practice that same school year he came to the front to be established as the top right guard on the squad and he has never since relinquished that post.

First In History

His play last year was climaxed by his selection by the 1937 Michigan team as its most valuable player. That recognition had never before been accorded a junior.

A hard-going, alert and intelligent player, Hike is at his best on offense. He is a natural blocker and play leader. Defensively he relies upon a fast charge which carries him into the backfield to block several kicks, cause and recover fumbles.

"Hike" is an honor student in economics, but considers coaching upon graduation. He is an outdoors enthusiast but writes poetry in his spare time. He graduated from Bessemer High where he was coached by Robert Reihlsen.

Fine Natural Blocker

As a member of Michigan's Physical Education freshman squad last year, Kittl was termed by Coach Wallie Weber "the finest natural blocker I have ever seen." That blocking ability is going to carry him a long way although he is in competition with a great bunch of sophomore running backs. After a turn at quarterback, Walter is back at right halfback on the squad now. He played halfback and everything in the line but center at Calumet High.

A guard and center at Bessemer High, Kelto reported at Michigan and played as a freshman at tackle. A shift in personnel this year brought him back to center where he has shown much promise defensively with need to polish the offensive play which is new. He now rates number 3 center on the squad.

Heikkinen, Kelto and Kittl are following in the footsteps of several other Upper Peninsula boys, who made names for themselves at Michigan years ago. They included Ferrin, Riley, Hughtitt, Bessemer of Marquette, LaJunesse of Iron Mountain, Soranson of Marquette, Niemann, Kruezer, Huebel and Blahnik of Menominee, and Goetz, Weston and Rye of Sault Ste. Marie.

COACH CRISLER NOT SATISFIED

Offensive Drill Draws Criticism In Work for Chicago Tilt

By GEORGE A. STAUTER
Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 4 (AP)—Michigan's football team romped through a disappointed offensive drill today that drew frequent criticism from Coach Fritz Crisler.

A noticeable let-down after the recovery over Michigan State was evident as the squad practiced on old and new plays and brushed up on its passing game. "If the boys don't get down to work," Crisler said, "we're going to be in for a lot of trouble."

The Wolverines play Chicago here Saturday in their first big ten engagement. The Maroons have one of the heaviest teams in the conference.

Numerous times during the practice session Crisler reprimanded players who failed to carry out blocking assignments. Time and again plays were executed a split second too late, a fault which he complained of in last Saturday's game.

Crisler told the squad not to take Chicago lightly or "we'll get our ears pinned back." Linemen got more work on fundamentals by tearing into a tackling and blocking dummy, the first such practice for more than a week.

Despite the criticism of coaches the lineup had few changes although Crisler continued to experiment in the backfield. Capt. Fred Janke, injured on the Michigan State game, was on the sidelines as Don Siegel and Forrest Jordan alternated at his left tackle post.

Showing up well in passing practice were Bill Luther, a sophomore halfback from Toledo, who has been out with an injury and veteran Fred Trosko.

PROTHRO MADE PHILLIES PILOT

Memphis Man Succeeds Jimmy Wilson, Who Quit Saturday

Chicago, Oct. 4 (AP)—Gerald Nugent, president of the Philadelphia Phillies, tonight signed Dr. James Thompson (Doc) Prothro as manager of the club. Prothro, who has held a manager's job in the Southern association for nine years and resigned recently as the Little Rock pilot, said he would return to Philadelphia with Nugent after the world series to confer on the club's 1939 prospects.

"The Phillies have some good pitchers," Prothro said, "but I want more power and want to add speed to the club."

The new Philly pilot managed Memphis in the Southern association for five years, winning one pennant, then resigned, four years ago to go to Little Rock where he won another flag.

How To See Football

NO 4—THE NOTRE DAME SYSTEM

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD NEA Service Sports Writer

From under the shadow of the Golden Dome have come many of the nation's outstanding coaches. And practically all preach the gospel of Knute Rockne—the Notre Dame system.

The most significant feature about the offense at first sight is the balanced line.

Blocking probably is even more important in this plan than in any other. The reason is that the ends, who are spread a yard or two, must handle the defending tackles themselves without aid from a wing back. This is no small assignment.

Guards pull out to block, for which reason they must be unusually mobile.

In effect, the Notre Dame system is a single wing formation, but it operates differently.

Coming out of the huddle, the backfield lines up in a "T" formation, with the blocking back just behind the center and the other three lined up in a row about five or six yards to the rear of him, forming the "T."

The shift brings the offensive set-up, which finds the blocking or No. 2 back a yard behind and slightly to the right of the right guard. The No. 1 back stations himself a yard behind his right or left end, as the case may be. The left halfback, which is the threat position, usually takes the tail-back post, with the No. 3 back alongside him, and to the rear of the blocking back.

Great versatility is the keynote of the Notre Dame plan.

The wing, freed from the task of aiding the end on the defending tackle, becomes an integral part of all deceptive plays. From this formation can be worked any phase of offense. Three men are in position to take a direct pass from center, and the stage is set for spinners, cutbacks, reverses, and passes of all kinds.

But the basic Notre Dame system depends on blocking—on whether the guards can pull out fast enough and whether the ends can handle their tackles.

Variations have sprung up, and often the end will receive assistance from the wing, or the other blocking back.

HOPE GLIMMERS IN KANSAS CITY

Franks Think Blues Have Chance to Trip Bears In Fourth Game

Kansas City, Oct. 4 (AP)—A faint ray of hope penetrated an otherwise black outlook as Kansas City baseball fans tonight awaited the return of their Blues from Newark for the fourth game of the little world series tomorrow night.

The Newark Bears, International league champions, lead the Blues two games to one in the series to date.

The ray of hope is the fact that in both the semi-finals and the finals of the American association playoff the Blues came from behind to win out.

Fearing further, the Blue fans, 17,000 of whom are expected to pack Ruppert stadium tomorrow night, find hope in the fact the erratic play of the Kansas Citizens at Newark is an exception, and a return to their normally tight defensive game would bolster their chances.

Manager Bill Meyer of the Blues was expected to use pitcher Kemp Wicker, who handcuffed the Bears in the series opener to give Kansas City its lone victory. Atley Donald, knocked from the mound in the opening game, was slated to work for the Bears.

If the Blues even the series, Newark still will have an edge as Manager Johnny Neun can come back with Joe Beggs, and then Jack Haley, who hurled the Bears to a 7 to 1 triumph last night. Meyer's choice after Wicker is a gamble, as the other Kansas City

NAHMA INDIAN CHANGES PLEA

Admits Negligence; Mrs. Hannigan Case to Conclude Today

Ambrose Beaver, young Nahma Indian, pleaded guilty in circuit court yesterday afternoon to a charge of negligent homicide after having entered a plea of not guilty in the opening session. He will be sentenced later this week.

Beaver was driving a car which struck and killed Thomas Tardiff, 14, near St. Jacques on September 22.

Most of the day yesterday was spent taking testimony on the case of Mrs. Mildred Hannigan of Gladstone, who is charged with negligent homicide in the death of Lois, 9 year old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Theophil Hoffmann of Gladstone. Prosecution and defense evidence was presented and the prosecutor summed up his case to the jury before court was adjourned.

The defense counsel will present his case to the jury at the opening of this morning's session.

Child's Father Testifies

Members of the jury trying the case are: Swan Anderson, Edward King, Peter Jacobson, Frank Jaeger, Maurice Shane, Jack Langworthy, George Honberg, Albert Piche, Charles Wood, Glenn Ohman, Arthur McFadden and Frank Zack.

Rev. Theophil Hoffmann, father of the fatally injured Lois, was the first state witness. He told of having made several sick calls in Escanaba and, on returning about 9 o'clock that evening, stopped at a fruit stand situated on highway US 2-41 a few hundred feet north of the intersection with highway M-35 between Gladstone and Escanaba. He said he parked his car about eight feet from the stand, got out of it and went over to make some purchases of fruits and vegetables. His four children, Lois 9, Gay 11, Mary Ann 4, and John 13, followed him to the stand.

He told of talking for a few moments with the attendant and of returning to the car with his purchases, followed, again by his four children. As he was placing the fruit in the car, Rev. Hoffmann testified, he felt the car tremble and he was shoved forward slightly. He said he lost his senses for a moment until he heard the cries of his children. His first impressions after the shock had passed, he testified, were that in a ditch about 15 feet away, John coming out from behind his car and of not seeing Mary Ann nor Lois. He said Samuel Holman of Gladstone, whose car was parked near the stand, brought him Lois and they put her and Mary Ann in an automobile owned by Roy Olson of this city and rushed them to the local hospital. He said Lois was dead when the doctor arrived.

Traffic Is Moderate

Rev. Hoffmann said the weather was clear and he had left his lights burning when he was at the fruit stand. He described damages to the left front end of his car but said he was unable to remember how they were inflicted.

Upon cross examination by defense counsel, he said traffic the evening of the accident was moderately heavy. He was unable to say whether or not he was knocked down by the impact.

Mrs. Hoffmann followed her husband to the stand and corroborated his testimony as to stopping at the stand and the actions of the minister and children. She said she did not see the approaching car but felt a "tremor like an earthquake" and the car was enveloped in a cloud of dust. She said she saw her husband slump from the car but that he was up by the time she got out of the car to assist him.

Dr. John Welch testified to the injuries to Lois and said she was dead when he arrived at the hospital.

Saw Actual Crash
Erwin Ladegast, attendant at the fruit stand at the time of the accident, was called. He said the stand, which is 24 feet long, is situated 37 feet from the shoulder of the road and identified pictures of it. His testimony as to the position of the Hoffmann car and actions of the occupants was similar to that of Rev. Hoffmann.

Mrs. Ennis Funeral Held This Morning

Newberry, Oct. 4.—Funeral services for Mrs. Frank M. Ennis, who died during the night of Sunday, will be held at St. Gregory's Catholic church on Wednesday morning at 9:00 o'clock. Rev. Mrs. Ennis was born on May 22, 1882 at Jackson, She was Hattie May Davenport, daughter of Spencer David and Mary (Nugent) Davenport. With her parents she moved to Baraga in 1890 and ten years later to Duluth where, in 1906 she was married to Frank M. Ennis. They made their home in Baraga until 1924 when they came to Newberry where Mr. Ennis is the manager for the Horner company.

Five children, together with the husband, survive her. They are Mary, Mrs. James Monroe of L'Anse, Spencer, Frank R. and Joseph Patrick of Newberry, and Catherine, a student in a girl's school in Duluth. Mrs. Monroe arrived on Monday afternoon and Catherine will arrive today. Mrs. Ennis was educated at Baraga and at St. Joseph's Academy in Marquette. A quiet and friendly lady, with many friends, active all her life in the affairs of her church, Mrs. Ennis will be missed in this community.

ident, saying that she was not paying any attention to the road at the time. She said the car was traveling between 35 and 40 miles an hour and that Mrs. Hannigan had said the traffic was heavy.

Taking the stand in her own defense, Mrs. Hannigan said she could not see where she was going at the time of the accident because of being blinded by the bright lights, she did not know she was off the concrete pavement, she did not recall hitting the Hoffmann car and that she could not remember anything until she came to a stop after hitting another parked machine. She said there was nothing wrong with her brakes because she had had them adjusted just several weeks previously.

The only witness for the defense in addition to Mrs. Hannigan was Henry Sauers, local garageman who testified he had adjusted the brakes of her car about two or three weeks before the accident and that they were in good condition at that time.

Hans Krebs Is Expert Behind Konrad Henlein

BY MILTON BRONNER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
London—Konrad Henlein comes back triumphant as the Reichskommissioner of the newly-Nazified Sudetenland.

But behind his triumph there sits a little-known figure who may yet be an even greater force in the new territory than Henlein. Henlein's position is considered similar to that of Seys-Inquart in Austria, nominally that of "head man," but really that of a subordinate carrying out orders from party headquarters in Berlin.

Hitler already has at his right hand at Berlin a Czech Nazi who wore the swastika before he did, and who fled Czechoslovakia before Henlein's rise, to be a continual adviser at the Fuehrer's elbow throughout the Czech crisis.

A pioneer in the Nazi movement, now a refugee in Germany, Krebs has been appointed a district leader without a district. Krebs was a Nazi long before Hitler, and his National Socialist party in Austro-Hungary was working along Hitleresque lines for many years before (in 1917) it took the name of Deutsche-Nationalsozialistische Arbeiterpartei. That is, German National Socialist Workers' Party.

HITLER FOLLOWED KREBS' LEAD

It was about 1920 that Krebs came in contact with the small movement in which Hitler held card No. 7, and which had been started in Germany by Gottfried Feder. Krebs' associates were the swastika in Czechoslovakia and had begun to undermine the republic there long before Hitler's followers were at it in Austria and Germany.

Krebs' party was dissolved by the Czech state at just about the time Hitler was coming into power in Germany, and Krebs himself and several associates, violating their parole, skipped into Germany. He had resigned his seat in the Czech parliament when charges were brought against him, and though a citizen of Czechoslovakia, was elected to the German Reichstag in 1936.

Naturally, with his Czech background, he became a trusted adviser to Hitler in all matters relating to the Czechoslovakian coup. The successor party founded by Henlein after Krebs' flight was supposed to be a separate affair. Krebs received his title of gauleiter (district leader) from Hitler last April, and there is every reason to believe that on most of Henlein's visits to Germany, he was seeing not Hitler himself, but Krebs.

Because Krebs was denouncing, 15 years ago, the foundations of Czechoslovakia as a "gigantic historical lie," and because that is precisely the position taken by Hitler in his speeches about the Czech crisis, it seems likely that Krebs is close on his confidence.

KREBS READY TO TAKE OVER

Thus Henlein, who did the active spade work in Sudetenland, may eventually be relegated like Seys-Inquart, in Austria, to a position of nominal honor but no influence, while the real government of the Sudeten regions goes over to Krebs.

RHEUMATIC PAIN IN LEGS

RUX Did Me A World Of Good States Minnesota Man

MR. NELS LOITVED

According to a statement received from Mrs. Nels Loitved, 502 4th St., Bemidji, Minnesota; RUX Compound relieved his terrible rheumatic pain attacks in his legs. Loitved states, "I would like to give my endorsement to RUX Compound as it has certainly done me a world of good."

Many people throughout the United States have made the same statement. Many of these people have been so tortured with muscular rheumatic pains in arms, legs and shoulders that they could scream with pain, and RUX relieved these attacks in an almost unbelievable way.

If you suffer from these dreaded pains, why don't you talk to Peoples Drug Store. Ask them about the RUX test today. You owe it to yourself and family to find out about the powers of RUX. Your druggist will tell you about the powers of salicylates in relieving the pains of rheumatic fever and he will tell you that RUX contains salicylates and that it is pure. Don't delay—go to Peoples Drug Store today and see about this RUX test.

Hans Krebs, above, pioneer Czech Nazi, may become the real power behind reorganization of the Sudeten area into a Nazi district.

Regimentation of the Sudeten areas, with elimination of all parties, and any opposition press, will unquestionably follow in the footsteps of the German army of occupation. And the Henlein Nazi party will undoubtedly be absorbed into the German Nazi party, whose natural leader for that area already sits in the place of power in the person of Krebs.

In Germany, as in Russia, the important posts are party, not government positions.

Redding, Calif., has a municipal gold mine, which yields the public treasury approximately $1500 monthly.

Approval Is Given To Real Property Valuation Project

City Manager George E. Bean received word yesterday from the WPA regional headquarters at Iron Mountain that approval had been given to the application for a real property valuation project in Escanaba.

The project is scheduled to start on Oct. 14, and will provide employment for 11 certified and two non-certified workers. The project sponsor also must provide an agent to accompany each field crew on private property.

City Manager Bean explained yesterday that the project is similar to the rural land inventory now being conducted throughout the state of Michigan. It would furnish a scientific procedure for the evaluation of real estate, looking toward more equitable taxation. He pointed out that at present because of the lack of any scientific procedure there are some pieces of property assessed to low while others are too high.

He expressed doubt that the total assessed valuation of the city would be materially increased, the main objective being the equitable valuation of all property in the city.

City Manager Bean Back From Meeting

City Manager George E. Bean returned yesterday from Boston, where he attended the annual convention of the International City Managers association. About two hundred city managers from the United States and Canada attended the sessions.

Much interest was displayed at the convention in the matters of housing and city planning. Mr. Bean reported, Austin, Texas, it developed at the convention, is one city that has made remarkable progress in public housing. Unemployment, work relief and many other public questions were discussed at the convention. Mr. Bean headed two discussion groups at the meeting, dealing with city personnel retirement systems.

Flyer Is Unhurt In Manila Crash

Manila, Oct. 4 (AP)—Two United States army pursuit planes collided in midair yesterday, but without loss of human life. One ship crashed. The other, damaged, returned to the army base at Nichols Field.

Second Lieut. John M. Bartella of Escanaba, Michigan, a 1936 West Point graduate, bailed out and landed safely. Second Lieut. Conrad F. Necraso of New York, a West Point classmate of Bartella, flew his damaged plane back to the field.

The accident occurred near Paete, on the shore of Laguna Bay, southeast of Manila. Lieut. Bartella is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Bartella of Escanaba, Mich.

Escanaba Chamber Issues Appeal For Donation Of Autos

A transportation and courtesy car committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce is arranging for transportation of teachers during the two day Michigan Education Association district meeting this week in Escanaba.

Math Petersen is chairman, assisted by Henry Bathke, John Bissell, Harry Brackett, George Brown, Albin Carlson and Edward Edick.

A call has been issued by Mr. Edick for the use of cars owned by the parents of students, with the students to act as chauffeurs, and anyone who will donate the use of his car for this purpose during the convention is asked to call Mr. Petersen or the Chamber of Commerce.

THEATRES

AT THE MICHIGAN

What happens when four devoted sisters fall in love with the same man? "Four Daughters," the Warner Bros. picture based on a Fannie Hurst story, which is at the Michigan Theatre, takes that as its theme and develops it into a richly human story.

The four daughters of an elderly musician all give their hearts unthinkingly to a captivating young man who comes to live at their home, and he in turn is enraptured by the youngest of them.

At The Delft

Margaret Sullivan makes her debut as a singing star in "The Showman Angel." The picture, co-starring Miss Sullivan and James Stewart for the first time, opens today at the Delft theatre.
