

IDEALS MUST BE PRESERVED

Medical Profession Is In Step With All Social Changes

Chicago, Oct. 7 (AP)—Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, declared tonight the ideals and morals of the medical profession must survive changes in the social order.

"There can never be a retreat from the ideal that the interest of the patient is first; there can never be a retreat from the concept of a minimum standard of education for all who propose to heal the sick," he said in an address prepared for delivery at a dinner held in conjunction with the dedication of a new research building of Abbott Laboratories in North Chicago.

He spoke of the "glorious record" of the medical profession and said that record—"perhaps too proudly, because unaware of the new forces that would seize the leadership, enslave the soldiers in the battle against disease and death."

Dr. Fishbein asserted medicine was the key to progress. "Without contributions made by medical science," he said, "it is safe to assert the world would be today but little beyond the point it had reached in 1890."

"Alarmists and pessimists shake their heads sadly over the future of medical science, fearing that new social experimentation may permanently inhibit progress by destroying individual initiative and the stimulus to new discovery," he continued.

"The physician himself views with doubts attempts to regiment the medical profession and thereby lessen the quality of medical service."

"The war against disease is an unending battle; it is a pity that furor over the leadership in this battle may make for a time the enemies of mankind victorious."

"For a while, the leadership may be hampered; but eventually even Homo Stultissimus, or 'dot man,' may discover that all of those who claim that they work primarily for his good may not actually be doing the best that might be done."

Other talks were given by George Denton Beal, assistant director of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, Pittsburgh, and Harrison E. Howe, editor of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

Peninsula Mental Hygiene Conference Opened Friday With Large Attendance, Sessions Will Continue This Morning

The Upper Peninsula conference of the Michigan Society for Mental Hygiene, opened last evening at William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium, an intensely interested and attentive audience hearing Dr. R. Philip Sheets, medical superintendent of the Traverse City hospital, and Professor Stanley M. Ellis, of the Department of Education and Psychology, Western State Teachers' college, Kalamazoo, discuss thoroughly the topic, "Home and School Relationships."

Dr. Sheets, who dealt with the topic more direct from a psychiatric point of view, rather than social or educational, discussed thoroughly heredity as it relates to home and school problems and also family background and previous influences of the family, rural or urban dwellers, their economic situation and social life, and the results of those influences.

He explained the organic phase as a causative agent of behavior problems, and went at length into the phase of the functional problems, stressing more particularly neurosis, its beginning, its cause and the profound interference that such a condition has in home and school relationships.

In closing he told his audience of the mental clinics which are held by state hospitals throughout Michigan and of the plans for possible expansion of these facilities.

"A child needs guidance," declared Dr. Stanley M. Ellis, who discussed the subject from the social and educational standpoint. "The functions of the home and school are to furnish this guidance."

"No child can grow to normal mental maturity if deprived of the basic training which only the cooperation of home and school can give. Adults play a larger role in the child's development than most people suppose. Every child needs both a father and a mother. The function of the mother is to encourage orderliness and a feeling for the finer things of life, while the father must teach development of self-discipline and the ability to meet competition in a highly competitive world."

Tragedy of Broken Homes "Personality integration is basic to sanity and a well balanced mind," he continued. "Too many children are being disintegrated mentally by broken homes, bickering, neglect and feelings of insecurity. Inalienable rights of every child are love, security and a chance to succeed."

Time Is Central Standard New York, Oct. 7.—Baseball, with the world series still much under way, gets precedence over football on this October 7 Saturday. In other words, the diamond classic will have the air all to itself to the final out, and not until then will the football broadcasting start on the chains.

Series play having been transferred to New York, air time for WEAF-WJZ-NBC, WABC-CBS and the MBS chain will be 12:15 p. m., an hour earlier than for Chicago.

The football, beginning immediately thereafter, will include Southern California vs. Ohio State via WEAF-NBC and the MBS chain, Army vs. Columbia to WJZ-NBC and Kentucky vs. Vanderbilt on WABC-CBS.

Now programs make their appearance under this schedule: WABC-CBS 10 a. m., Cincinnati conservatory of music opening its fifth broadcast season; WABC-CBS 8:30 p. m., Joe E. Brown in his first regularly scheduled comedy series on the air; WEAF-NBC 7:30, Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians comeback to broadcasting.

Then there are to be these specials and other features: WABC-CBS and MBS chain 11:30 a. m., Dedication of Blue Water International bridge at Port Huron, Mich., Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario and Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan; WABC-CBS 9 a. m., Demonstration of fire fighting apparatus at Chicago; WEAF-NBC 11:30, National conference of Catholic charities, roundtable on "The Greatest of These"; WEAF-NBC 7 p. m., Col. Stoopnagle the guest of Tommy Riggs and Betty Lou; WABC-CBS 8, Special preview program of the American School of the Air, to open Monday afternoon.

LAST CRIMINAL CASE IS ENDED

Irving Anderson Found Not Guilty By Jury In Circuit Court

Irving Anderson, charged with reckless driving, was acquitted by a jury in Delta county circuit court last night.

The case was opened Thursday afternoon, when the jury was drawn, and was the last in the criminal calendar. A number of jury-civil, non-jury civil and chancery cases remain on the calendar for this court term, those pleading guilty upon arraignment or who were found guilty by trial will be sentenced before Judge Bell at 9 o'clock this morning.

Appearing as witnesses in the Anderson case were the occupants of the car driven by the defendant, of the car which was struck, and persons who saw the crash or investigated the place it occurred afterwards.

Among them were Robert Anderson and Walter Palmquist, who were riding in the front seat with Anderson at the time of the crash, and Dudley Neveau, driver of the car that was struck. Testimony revealed that after the crash, which occurred on May 16, Anderson's car was leaning against the Neveau car and had to be righted.

Jurors serving the case were August Brassick, Sylvia Goodman, Eugene C. Raymond, Ruby Lindquist, William Bouchard, Frank Romain, Edgar Bernard, Daniel Lane, George Honberg, Robert Bruce and Maurice Shane. A jury was impeached to hear

A Proclamation

WHEREAS, the Congress of the United States has, by legislative enactment, set aside a day to be known as General Casimir Pulaski Memorial Day;

AND WHEREAS, General Pulaski, of Polish descent, performed meritorious service to the Colonies in the Revolutionary War and, at the age of 31, died on the 9th day of October, 1779, in commemoration of the death of General Casimir Pulaski;

THEREFORE, as Mayor of Escanaba, I declare Sunday, October 9, 1938, a holiday and earnestly request our people to join with people of Polish descent in appropriate exercises in the observance of General Casimir Pulaski Memorial Day, which is to be held in Escanaba on said day.

Dated this 7th day of October, 1938. PETER N. LOGAN, Mayor.

Tappi Conference At Appleton, Wis.

The regular monthly meeting of the Lake States Section of the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry will be held Tuesday evening, October 11, at 6:30, at the Conway Hotel, Appleton, Wis.

The subject of the program following the dinner will be "The Application of Automatic Control Equipment To the Pulp and Paper Industry." A. H. Stanton of the Mason-Neilan Regulator Company will discuss this subject and will bring up in his paper the possible economies in buying control equipment, the relationship of initial expenditure to maintenance, and expected returns in terms of process results. These points will be explained by outlining specific applications of control in pulp and paper mills. Reservations for the dinner may be made through Martin L. Downs, Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., Kaukauna, Wisconsin.

CAR RECOVERED AT WAUKEGAN

Oshkosh Youth Sought As Schwartz Auto Is Abandoned

Police of three states are searching for Lloyd Bedore of Oshkosh, wanted in connection with the theft of an automobile owned by Willard Schwartz, conservation officer, here Saturday night.

Local police were notified yesterday by city police of Waukegan, Illinois, that the abandoned car had been found in the city. Three of the tires were gone and other accessories stripped.

Suspicion settled on Bedore when local officers were notified that the youth had sold two guns, identified as those belonging to Schwartz, at Stephenson in exchange for gasoline. The station attendance recognized Bedore and, after checking on the guns, notified local officers.

A jacket and cap were among other articles missing from the car when recovered in Waukegan. The car was almost new, having been driven only 100 miles when stolen from in front of the Schwartz home last Saturday night.

Attendance at M. E. A. Meeting Sets Record

Leo McDonald, superintendent of the Gwin public schools, was elected chairman of the Upper Peninsula district of the Michigan Education Association at the business session held here yesterday morning. Other officers named were: Emery Pierce, Sault Ste. Marie, first vice chairman; Lottie Wyckoff, Stambaugh, second vice chairman; and Frances Hallfrisch, Lake Linden, secretary.

Iron Mountain was voted by the teachers as the site for the 1939 convention, subject to the approval of the executive committee.

The Escanaba convention is believed to have had the largest attendance in the history of the Upper Peninsula district. About two thousand persons were in attendance. All section meetings were crowded, about eight hundred visited the art exhibit at the Jefferson school, and there were more than four hundred in attendance at the elementary reading demonstration.

Drew Pearson, noted Washington news commentator, and Supt. Earl H. Babcock of Grand Haven, president of the Michigan Education Association, talked to a crowd of one thousand persons at the general meeting at the Wm. W. Oliver auditorium yesterday afternoon. The convention closed yesterday afternoon.

Various Chairmen Named
Chairmen of various groups of the Upper Peninsula district were appointed yesterday.

The division chairmen are: High school, Randall Penhale, Iron River; rural, J. E. Siddall, Seney; elementary, Ethel Barth, Escanaba.

The section chairmen are: Mathematics, Orland Johnson, Iron Mountain; science, B. B. Loveland, Escanaba; geography, Clarence Prenevost, Iron Mountain; classical language, Bertrand Henne, Escanaba; speech, Helen Dunham, Stambaugh; history, Alice M. Potter, Escanaba; classical, Robert E. Jefferson, Hancock; industrial education, John Passi, Iron Mountain; English, Florence Langley, Escanaba; library, Margaret Brammer, Menominee; high school, Harry L. Crawford, Calumet; adult education, Frany Sweeney, Kingsford; physical education, Louis Moll, Wakefield; science, Elwood Little, L'Anse; and agriculture, Henry Wylie, chairman, and Gale Bowers, Stephenson, vice chairman.

Resolutions Adopted
The resolutions committee, composed of C. L. Phelps, Negaunee; R. W. Jackson, Munising; and Charles Folio, Jr., Escanaba, presented the following resolutions, which were adopted at the morning business session of the convention:

"Whereas, this 1938 convention of the teachers of the seventh region of the Michigan Education Association has been a pronounced success in every respect;

"Be it resolved, that we extend to the officers of the division our sincere thanks for their untiring efforts in planning and carrying out a most invaluable program in general, division and section groups; to the teaching staffs of the Escanaba public schools and the St. Joseph school for their tireless efforts in cooperating for a smooth working and efficient plan for the completion of the efforts of the elected officers of the region;

"To the various local organizations and individual citizens of our host city for their warm hospitality and their unflinching courtesy in making our stay here pleasant and memorable.

"Whereas, our first thought is always for the welfare and progress of the young people of the Upper Peninsula;

"Be it resolved, that our division record itself as constantly favoring every legislative movement, federal, state or local, which has for its aim the financial betterment of our school system, that we go on record as favoring a sufficient state emergency appropriation that will insure the completion of the school year without hampering the educational opportunities of a single child in Upper Michigan;

"That we work untiringly for an equitable appropriation of school funds in the future from whatever source, which will be based on the individual need of our youth regardless of the distribution of wealth or numbers, and that we favor federal aid unhampered by federal control in our local school system;

"That we favor especially the elimination of the evils of distribution which result in many of our teachers being paid a grossly inadequate wage; and we favor the passage of a reasonable minimum wage law.

"That we are unalterably opposed to the practice of placing in the hands of any one individual the power of reducing educational appropriations legally made by constituted bodies.

"Whereas, our present set-up makes it most fitting that movements toward remedial legislation should most effectively be initiated in our district meetings;

"Be it resolved, that it is the sense of this committee that all resolutions to that end be presented not to this annual convention but to the more workable local district where every issue can be thoroughly studied and sanely presented."

Officers and members of the Menominee Lions club, sponsors of the new club in Menominee county, will attend the meeting.

Marvin Affeld, Chicago, representative of Lions International, who signed 21 charter members on a recent visit to the county, will conduct the meeting.

A charter night meeting will be held later. Dinner will not be served at the Monday night organization meeting.

Squires Will Hold Party On Thursday
Charles A. Berigan circle 149, Columbian Squires, will hold a bingo party at St. Anne's hall Thursday, Oct. 13, beginning at 8 o'clock, to which the public is invited.

On the committee for the event are: Edward Hirn Jr., chairman; Robert Beaudin, ticket chairman; Arthur Harvey Jr., chairman of hall; Robert Beaudin, Joseph Young, Hubert Wood, Francis Murray, Robert Henry, Donald Trotter, Joseph Richards, Robert Morin, James Botrow and Fred Hirn Jr.

ROBERT HALL IS ARRESTED

Bound to Circuit Court On Breaking and Entering Charge

Robert Hall, of 1109 2nd Ave. north, was arraigned in justice court Thursday afternoon on charges of breaking and entering and was bound over to circuit court.

The youth was arrested by city police after it was alleged he crawled into a bedroom through a window in the William Gaborie home, 1310 First avenue south, over the week-end.

Hall also was questioned about breaking into a parked auto but denied he was involved.

Police have been keeping close watch on homes at night as the result of a series of minor thefts. Iceboxes seem to be the biggest target of the nocturnal marauders, several people reporting their larders being looted.

F.D.R. Wants Liberal Party, Says Pearson

President Roosevelt stands at the most important crossroads since the beginning of his administration.

Drew Pearson, noted Washington newspaper correspondent, said in a lecture at the closing general session of the Upper Peninsula teachers' convention at the Wm. W. Oliver Auditorium yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Pearson is co-author with Robert Allen of the daily syndicated column, "Washington Merry-Go-Round" and a book of the same name.

In the field of foreign affairs, President Roosevelt faces the prospect of European war and the crossroads of whether the United States shall participate, Mr. Pearson said.

In the opening remarks of his talk, at home, the speaker added, the President faces a widening split between the forces of his own Democratic party and the crossroads of whether he shall attempt to conciliate those differences or continue on the liberal progressive road as he has in the past.

He also faces another important crossroad in seeking a solution for the domestic economic problem, Mr. Pearson said.

"No matter what the outcome of the immediate discussions, now taking place, it is the conviction of the president and his advisers that war will come within the next year," Mr. Pearson continued.

"The basis for this belief is the deep-rooted conviction that Hitler cannot be trusted; that no matter what agreement he makes it will not last more than a few weeks or months. It is the definite impression of the President and the state department that once Hitler swallows the Sudeten Germans he will slowly take over the whole of Czechoslovakia in an economic octopus embrace and branch out from there gradually into Rumania until he has penetrated to the Black Sea."

Mr. Pearson said that Roosevelt's advisers compare the situation which exists in Europe today with that existing in 1914 when Great Britain held the peace of the world in her hands.

Undoubtedly, if Sir Edward Grey had notified the Germans in advance that Britain would act if Belgium were invaded, the Kaiser never would have ordered his troops into Belgium, according to the speaker.

Britain has given up the fiction that the English channel isolates her from the European continent, and Mr. Pearson pointed out commensurately the United States cannot consider herself removed from the affairs of the rest of the world.

"Today the United States occupies a position almost similar to that of England in 1914," Mr. Pearson declared. "Today the English channel has shrunk to a mere rivulet so that the British no longer attempt to maintain the fiction of aloofness. And simultaneously the Atlantic ocean, thanks to modern science and the far-flung interests of the United States, has dwindled in size until it now occupies a place not unlike the English channel in 1914. Thus the deciding factor in Europe today is no longer the British but the United States."

"President Roosevelt knows this and it has been one of the most difficult problems with which he has grappled. The final solution remains unsolved but skepticism increases in the minds of most government leaders as to whether or not the United States can remain aloof from a general European conflagration no matter what our neutrality acts."

Roosevelt's Purge Discussed
Mr. Pearson then discussed President Roosevelt's "purge" campaign against conservative Democratic senators, whom he sought to replace with New Dealers.

"The President went into the purge with his eyes open, and before that in many states he could not win," Pearson said. "However, he decided to push the issue to the limit in order that there might be no misunderstanding of his determination that the Democratic party in the future be liberal."

"The cleavage within the party is bound to increase," Mr. Pearson continued. "On one side is President Roosevelt, on the other the second in command of the party, Vice President Garner. Garner has come to play an increasingly powerful role due to his personal popularity in the senate and the fact that he appoints senate committees which can make or break the President's program. So far the two men have not split on personal issues; they remain good friends. Politically, however, they are getting farther and farther apart. Garner's ambition is not to run for President himself, but as he expresses it, 'see that none of these New Dealers are nominated in 1940.'"

America Invites Benes

MANY freedom-loving citizens of America hope that Dr. Edward Benes will find it possible to accept the invitation to become visiting professor of international relations at Brown university that was extended by the head of the eastern college, Dr. Henry M. Wriston, who incidentally formerly was president of Lawrence college at Appleton.

Dr. Benes, a former professor at Prague university, was closely associated with Dr. Masaryk, in the formation of Czechoslovakian republic, later succeeding the latter as the nation's second president. He resigned recently due to pressure from his bitter enemy, Adolf Hitler, and because he felt that his country could probably work out a more satisfactory settlement with Nazi Germany over the disputed Sudeten region if he stepped out of office.

The many admirers of Dr. Benes hope he will accept the professorship at Brown university. Surely, he must have an interesting and important story to tell of the behind-the-scenes happenings in Europe. He may be able to give some enlightening information concerning the operations of European diplomats and also offer some advice to Americans as to how we may steer the right course in international relations.

During these times when communist and fascist propagandists enjoy the freedom to carry on their activities under the protection of our democratic constitution, Dr. Benes also could reveal how the Nazis took advantage of similar privileges in Czechoslovakia.

Murder By Motor Car

MURDER by motor car is on the decline, according to the National Safety Council. Traffic accident fatalities for the past nine months have registered a steady decline. This decline has taken place in the face of a slight increase in mileage figures.

All of which seems to indicate that the speed crazed mass of 40,000,000 drivers, known as the motoring public, is slowly awakening to a new found responsibility—safe driving. Possibly the average driver is discovering that the modern high speed automobile can be a vehicle of horrible death as well as of comfort and convenience. If so, a great stride is being made toward the day when once again the family car can be trundled out for a week-end holiday with reasonable assurance that all will return intact.

Sooner or later the motoring public will have to get the fact through its head that the present slaughter on highways is criminally needless. As was recently pointed out by the New York Times, "It will have to learn that murder by motor car—although it may not lead to the chair—is still murder and that it is the part of good morals, good sportsmanship and good citizenship to drive and walk safely."

The Face of Things

GAS masks, according to a foreign correspondent, are forcing a change in the personal appearances of those unfortunate who live in areas where it's considered judicious to keep gas masks within arm's reach.

Beards for instance, are fast becoming things of the past. Tucking a beard into a gas mask is a complication nobody wants when the air-raid siren opens up. For similar reasons the bun-type hairdress is vanishing, along with its sister-type, the lateral knot. And somebody's trying to think of a way to make eye-glasses lie closer to the face.

Where Is Benito?

It would be interesting to find out just how Benito Mussolini is feeling right now.

you stop to think about it. Benito has been slowly but steadily deflated. He still rolls an ominous eye and struts out as big a chest as ever, but he is strictly the Number Two dictator now.

Hitler's Germany is the dominant power in Europe today, and there is every indication that it will become more dominant in the next year or so. And all of the boastful talk from Rome about the beauties of the Rome-Berlin axis cannot hide the fact that it is not at all to Mussolini's interests to have Hitler advancing so fast.

Look at what has happened already. A year or two ago, it was a cardinal point in Italian policy to keep Germany out of Austria. Today Austria is part of Germany, and a German army occupies one end of the Brenner pass—looking down contemptuously on the Tyrol, where some hundreds of thousands of Germans live under an Italian rule which is far more oppressive than anything the Czechs ever put on.

Jugoslavia and the neighboring country were likewise marked down as a sphere for Italian penetration and expansion. That dream also has exploded. A great deal of penetration and expansion will take place in that part of Europe in the near future, but it won't be Italian; it will be German.

The Near East has also been a goal of Mussolini's foreign policy. But the famous old German "drive to the east" is going ahead now faster than ever before, and it would be a hopeful soul indeed who supposed that Hitler was going to revise his plans there to make room for the junior partner.

What is left? An arid empire in Africa and a half-conquered, poverty-stricken domain in Ethiopia.

There may yet be a few pickings in Spain—but even there, it is the German agent who has been gobbling up the choicest concessions.

So Mussolini can hardly be happy about the way things are shaping up. Already he begins to look suspiciously like the tall to Hitler's kite. The pupil to whom he taught Fascism is in a fair way to muscle teacher clear out of the schoolroom.

Other Editors' Comments

COMMUNISTS FOR MURPHY (Iron Mountain News) If the Communists in Michigan are as good friends of Governor Murphy as they believe they are and if they are of a mind to do their best to put the Democratic ticket across their ways are difficult to understand. Their individual votes are as good as any other individual votes. But their collective support, publicly declared, can hardly be regarded as an asset by the man, or men, subjected to it.

If there is anything the Republicans could have asked of Clarence Hathway, editor of the Daily Worker, above anything else it is what he has given without the asking. His declaration that the Communists of the state are going to give Murphy their votes is an item of campaign ammunition that they should be able to use to good purpose. It strengthens the contention that Murphy is the darling of the radical elements in the state, and by strengthening it increases the likelihood that from the middle of the road to the extreme right the voters will turn on him.

The basic issue of the campaign is the political predilections of the candidates for governor. The Republicans need give no thought to the vote to the left of the center. The C.I.O. vote, for instance, as is the Communist vote, is hopelessly lost to them. Everything in between and almost everything to the right of C. I. O. up to the center Murphy and the Democrats will get. Their support will include a considerable group of electors who, while disliking the company in which they find themselves, are moved by considerations of party loyalty or the condition that they and their friends have selfish interests at stake.

Opposed to Murphy with this support will be Mr. Fitzgerald, who will take a middle of the road position. His stand on the labor issue will not please the C.I.O., but it is likely to be found acceptable to important Federation of Labor leaders. It will be a stand sympathetic with the aspirations of labor, and one that would a few years ago have been regarded as radical. It would, however, win relatively few labor votes were it not for the condition that the strife between the Federation and C.I.O. continues unabated, and that the Federation realizes that in the event of Murphy's re-election the C.I.O. chieftains will be recognized as Lansing as the spokesmen of labor.

The Federation had a large part in the defeat of Judge O'Brien, the candidate for mayor of Detroit put forward by C.I.O. If the most is made of the possibilities of the continued strife between it and C.I.O. Fitzgerald and the other Republican candidates may be the beneficiaries of a deep split in the labor vote.

Fitzgerald has always been strong in the rural districts. In the primary he outvoted in many of these areas Toy as heavily as ten to one, while in them the Democratic vote was negligible. The Michigan farmer is more conservative than the farmers in the one and two crop states, and during the years of the depression has fared much better than they have.

World Affairs Reviewed

Reported border clashes between Poles and Czechs in the Teschen District of southeast Silesia keep in the news another sore spot calling for attention from Central Europe's peace doctors.

Straddling the Polish-Czech frontier, about halfway along the deekle edge of northern Czechoslovakia, the District of Teschen (Tesin to Czechs; Cieszyn to Poles) is an area of only about 850 square miles, points out a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. It contains, however, rich coke and gascoal deposits used both by Poland and Czechoslovakia, and has long been a source of controversy between the two nations.

PLEBISCITE ONCE FAILED—As far back as the 9th century, the kings of Poland and Bohemia (western end of what is now modern Czechoslovakia) disputed possession of this region. Coming under the powerful rule of the Hapsburgs in the 1600's, the old Duchy was part of Austrian Silesia when writers for the Versailles Treaty of 1919 re-cut the boundaries of Europe.

Then both Poles and Czechs, having lost their freedom in the interesting centuries and regained it as a result of the World War, clamored for the little district with the big mines. To settle the question, a plebiscite was scheduled, under Allied auspices, to determine not only with which side the "problem child" of Teschen would establish residence, but also what should be done with the nearby sister regions of Spis and Arava.

When the international commission arrived in 1920, however, strikes, riots and general patriotic uproar prevented a vote, and the matter was finally appealed to the Council of Ambassadors, organized after the Paris Peace Conference to execute various treaties growing out of the War.

Like Solomon, forced to choose between two mothers for a single baby, the Council decided in favor of partition. The principals in the geographic drama, unlike the old story, then agreed to the division.

RAILWAY TO CZECHS

According to the terms of the partition, a new boundary was drawn diagonally across the almost square face of Teschen, the western and considerably larger share going to Czechoslovakia. It is in this western triangle that most of the smaller republic's present Polish minority of some 100,000 is concentrated.

Across the line, in the eastern triangle, the Ambassadors awarded Poland the major part of the border town of Teschen, former capital of the old Duchy and important industrial center for the region, together with mines and some agricultural country. To Czechoslovakia was given possession of the Oderberg-Jablunok railway and also valuable iron and coal deposits.

While this coal is brown lignite and otherwise of quality inferior to the higher grade bituminous coal found on the Polish side, its vast quantities support Czechoslovakia's largest industrial area. More than ten million tons of pit coal are annually mined in fields of this Silesian region. Some 50,000 workers are employed in the Vitkovic ironworks in the vicinity.

On the northwest edge of the Teschen District, Moravia Ostrava is the nation's third ranking city. The "Pittsburgh of Czechoslovakia," Ostrava is a cluster of townships, linked together by a network of railroads and containing a population of some 200,000.

A STRATEGIC LOCATION—In addition to intrinsic value as a source of natural wealth and industrial power, the Teschen District as a whole is strategically located both for the peaceful pursuits of trade and in the interests of possible military objectives.

To the southwest near by, lies the famous Moravian Gateway, a natural gap in Czechoslovakia's mountain border. It was through this gateway that Prussian Field-Marshal Moltke marched against the Austrians in the 1866 campaign of the "Seven Weeks' War."

Rails and rivers serve the Teschen area, centered as it is on the writing back of lizard-shaped Czechoslovakia, near the point where German, Polish, and Czech boundaries merge.

Rising in the Carpathian Mountains, and flowing lengthwise through Polish Teschen, is the Vistula River that leads to many of Poland's big cities. Crossing Poland and running along the frontier of East Prussia, the Vistula meets the sea at the Free City of Danzig.

On the Czech side, rails of the Oderberg Jablunok connect with the Oder River on its way to the German Baltic port of Stettin as well as with internal railroads and lines bound for all parts of Europe.

of the faterland is not only preposterous, but just cause for world resentment. The subversive activities of his Nazi adherents in other lands are, by the same token, so much impertinence. The United States, for one, has had enough of them.

German nationals in other countries are enjoying the hospitality of the nations they live in. They have no claims save those based on hospitality to the privileges accorded them, no rights beyond those extended to all aliens. Good manners, if nothing else, would dictate that they look to their behavior. Regard for the rights, if not the good will, of other governments should afford a sufficient reason for der fueshrer to keep his nose out of other nation's affairs.

NO "MINORITIES" HERE (Los Angeles Times) There can be no reasonable allowance for Fuehrer Hitler's apparent assumption that Germans in lands remote from either pre-war or post-war Germany have special "rights" based upon an allegiance to Berlin. His seeming assumption that any spot a German happens to light on is a bit

Q. How is the Empire State Building heated? D. M.

A. The owners of the Empire State Building contracted for an outside supply of steam for heating purposes. This is derived from two entirely independent steam mains. The building has a two-pipe vacuum system with steam turbine-driven vacuum pumps discharging through suitable heat exchangers into the sewer. The equipment is divided into four separate zones, the lower up to and including the fifth floor, being supplied from the mains in the sub-basement. The next section is supplied downward from a set of mains on the twenty-ninth floor ceiling. The section from the thirtieth to the forty-fifth floors is supplied upward from mains on the twenty-ninth floor, and the top of the building, including the tower, from mains on the fifty-fourth floor ceiling. There are about 7000 radiators.

New York Column

BY GEORGE ROSS

New York—Vincent Sardi has hung up more tabs in his restaurant days than any rival in town. No doubt the names of his debtors, now and in the past, would fill a theatrical Who's Who, for Sardi has known and trusted them all.

His restaurant, the walls of which are literally covered with the caricatures of all the great and near-great in showdom, is in the heart of the theatrical world. His customers are all the famous actors, actresses, authors and producers of New York, Hollywood and London. Most of them he knew when they were struggling up the ladder to success; and a goodly number of them fed at Sardi's on the chance that they could repay him some day.

His hat-check girl, the vermilion-headed Renee Carroll, has an infallible way of knowing which actors are in the chips and which one's aren't by the amount of tips they give. But Vincent Sardi maintains a steady silence about his customers' current economic condition, also. Many an ingenuit or juvenile or jobless character actor still hangs up daily tabs at Sardi's without anybody being the wiser except the proprietor and themselves.

We used to see a former movie idol at Sardi's at the daily luncheon hour. He wore dapper clothes, seemed flushed with prosperity and bought drinks for producers and directors with reckless generosity. It wasn't until later and directly that we discovered this cinema god's secret. Through in Hollywood, he was broke and jobless in New York, and it was his notion that a broad front before the theatrical moguls would raise his stock around here. Sardi stood the bill. He thinks it was well worth it. The ex-Hollywoodian got a good part, made a comeback and has paid up in entirety.

Tea Party An elegant brochure which one of James J. Farley's men just brought us requests the pleasure of our company at a Tea Tasting, to be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf Astoria. Inside the cover is a long, learned piece about tea and how we are to go about appreciating it. For example, we are told to do this, if we observe the R. S. V. P. and attend this extraordinary party:

"Examine the tea carefully. Draw a spoonful into your mouth by a quick inward breath and roll it around, meanwhile judging it for flavor and body. If a loud 'Whoosh' results, don't be alarmed. That's a sign that you're throwing the fine tea spray against the back of your upper palate—a section of your mouth most sensitive to taste. Also consider the color of the liquid, the quality of the aroma, the appearance of the infused leaves. Then write your verdict on the official scoring card!"

Sweet reasonableness had won nothing except terms which a cruel, revengeful enemy would have dictated to a beaten foe after a long war.

The Capital Parade

BY ALGOP AND KINTNER

Washington, Oct. 8.—A day or so ago, it was announced that Victor Emanuel had been elected chairman of the Standard Gas and Electric, whose assets of $1,200,000,000 make it the second largest utilities holding company in the country. The announcement seemed an innocuous piece of financial page news, yet behind it there is the story of a curious and startling new technique in Government-business relations.

Not to put too fine a point on it, Emanuel was the New Deal candidate for the job. Some explanation is certainly required, when the New Deal begins to offer candidates for the board chairmanships of great utilities systems, and when the systems' directors begin to accept the men backed by the New Deal.

YOU SCRATCH MY BACK

The explanation begins with C. Roy Smith, director of the utilities division of the Securities and Exchange Commission, who has charge of the integration of all the utilities systems under the Holding Company Act. Four months ago, he began to work on a new idea. Previously, the New Dealers had always accepted the notion that peace with the utilities was impossible, and that merciless law enforcement, backed by the immediate threat of legal proceedings, was the only way to handle the power problem. Smith's new idea was that it would be far cheaper to put friends of the New Deal in control of the utilities.

Some time before, Emanuel, a New York banker, had made the same sort of private overtures to the administration which have earned the name of the President's tame capitalists for Harrison Williams and Paul Shields. He had a major investment in Standard Gas and Electric, and his old firm, Emanuel and company, had floated many S. G. and E. stock and bond issues.

Smith heard of Emanuel's overtures, and the two men met and discussed the S. G. and E. situation. At that time, the company was almost wholly in the charge of Bernard W. Lynch, a nominee of the Byllesby interests and a man whom the SEC suspected of adhering to the "rule or ruin" theory of dealing with the government. The Smith-Emanuel conversation's upshot was rather simple. Smith offered Emanuel his support in an effort to gain control of the S. G. and E. management. And, according to SEC officials, Emanuel promised that, once in control of S. E. and E., he would go the whole way with the SEC on integration and other problems of the big system.

Smith, who was working without any direct authorization from the SEC commissioners, then began to talk up Emanuel to the S. G. and E. directorate. Emanuel's own large interest in the company was no doubt brought into play. The directors were asked to envision a happy time of peace with the government. They succumbed to the temptation.

Emanuel was not only elevated to the S. G. and E. chairmanship. Lynch, while remaining president of the company, resigned his place as president of the Related Service Company, public utility engineering and service corporation.

William J. Hamenah, a friend of Emanuel, was chosen as the service company's new president. The transaction was approved by the SEC commissioners, who had to relax the rules to allow the banker, Emanuel, to assume his new duties. And thus the New Dealers believe their candidates now control the huge S. G. and E. The New Dealers may be a trifle optimistic as to the control's real extent. They may even greatly overestimate the part played by Smith's support in the choice of Emanuel. Yet the fascinating fact remains that a man openly backed by the New Dealers administering the hated Holding Company Act has been elected chairman of the second biggest holding company in the country.

Many difficult questions are raised by this singular incident. Some of the New Deal enthusiasts at the SEC believe that Smith's action sets a dangerous precedent. There will certainly be business men on the other side of the fence who will agree heartily with the SEC enthusiasts. Between these extremes, many will welcome the new effort toward government-business peace as a step in the best and most important direction.

Whether or not it's wise for the New Dealers to meddle with business management will not be discussed here. But it is unquestionably true that, sooner the New Dealers meet business in friendly guise, and the sooner business executives stop treating New Dealers as poisonous snakes in human form, the happier the country will be. Men on both sides have said that, yet it's pleasant to see something done about it, right or wrong.

HEARTS MUST NOT WEARY

The heart must never weary. Feet May weary of the accustomed street. Or of strange country. Hills may seem To throw a shadow on the dream. Or a great city's roofs and halls May shut around like prison walls. But we must bravely play our part—The feet may weary, not the heart.

The heart must never tire. The load Is often harder than the road. The daily task, the rutted round, Add to the burden, pound by pound. But we must carry, and come through, What road we have, or work to do. Serving a child, a cause, an art, The hands may weary, not the heart.

The heart must never weary. Mind May trouble, even doubt to find, But something else will drive us on, Hope even when all hope is gone. We shall not hear the mind complain, Shall do our work, and play our part—Others may weary, not the heart.

NIGHT CLASSES HELD AT NAHMA

Business Courses Taken By Those Enrolled In Evening

Nahma, Mich. — On Tuesday evening, October 4, was held the first of the coming school year's night classes. At this meeting enrollments were made, books and supplies were passed out, and initial assignments and explanations were made.

Supt. Bernard W. Tobin has announced that the following courses will be taught in the night school classes: typing, bookkeeping, mechanical drawing and business arithmetic. Because of the interest displayed at the first meeting and because of the demand, there is every likelihood that shorthand will also be offered in the night classes.

The following schedule will be in effect until further notice: Miss Madelyn Eggert will offer typing at 7:00, bookkeeping at 8:00 and possibly shorthand at 9:00. Leo J. Pital will have business arithmetic as his first class at 7:00 and mechanical drawing from 8:00 to 10:00 p. m.

School Finances Are Explained by Babcock

An emergency appropriation by the 1937 Michigan legislature for aiding schools suffering financial difficulties was termed the most important subject in Michigan public education yesterday by Supt. Earl H. Babcock of Grand Haven, president of the Michigan Education Association, in a talk before 1500 teachers attending the sessions of the M. E. A. regional conference at Escanaba.

EARL H. BABCOCK

"Many schools in Michigan are facing serious financial conditions," he said. "The only possible solution offering itself at the present time is an emergency appropriation by the coming session of the legislature which will help level off some of the inequalities of the public education that have developed under the present law. This should be done early in the session."

In tracing the history of the present acute shortage of funds in many school districts, Supt. Babcock explained that the 1937 session of the legislature appropriated $28,000,000 for state-aid to schools which was to be distributed according to a formula which had been worked out after weeks and months of study.

Following the close of the 1937 session of the legislature, this appropriation was cut 2,800,000. Late in the summer of 1938, the legislature's appropriation was again reduced, making a total reduction of $8,500,000. This cut, Supt. Babcock pointed out, was partly offset by an increase of approximately $5,000,000 in the primary school interest fund. "The result of all this is that we have wide differences of effects in various schools," said Supt. Babcock. "Some schools receive slightly more than they did a year ago. Others will receive approximately the same amount. The great majority of schools, however, because they have a large number of non-resident pupils or depend greatly upon equalizing funds, will be forced to bear an unjust cut in state funds. Because of these drastic cuts, many are now facing a financial crisis."

Modern society is placing new demands upon public education, according to Supt. Babcock. Many schools will not be able to maintain their former standards, let alone expand their services to meet the needs of a changing society unless they are better financed. To meet the emergency, he added, it may be necessary for these schools to operate by increasing present deficits, by lowering teachers' salaries, postponing needed replacements and repairs, discontinuing the furnishing of textbooks, supplies and services, or by shortening the school year, he added.

While he considered the matter of financing public education of greatest importance, Supt. Babcock said that improvements in the curriculum, of teaching methods, and in teacher welfare were needed. "Subject matter taught in the public schools has followed quite closely the needs of the society of that time," he said. "Naturally, there is often somewhat of a lag in presenting subject matter to meet these needs. During the past twenty years, we have been undergoing a period of great social change and unrest. It is therefore imperative that the curriculum be revised and enlarged to meet these needs."

Supt. Babcock considered the problem of revising the schools' curriculum linked closely with that of improving methods of teaching. He termed it not only a problem of changing the curriculum, but also of developing teachers who are competent to teach the "newer attitudes and doctrines."

The regional conference at Traverse City was mentioned as an activity being sponsored by the Michigan Education Association as a part of its program to encourage in-service training of teachers. In the field of teacher welfare, Supt. Babcock said that teacher welfare he meant that welfare of teachers which results in pupil welfare. This, he said, is accomplished by surrounding the teacher with an environment, professionally and socially, in which she is free to give the most effective service.

Democratic participation of teachers in school management, decent salaries, an adequate retirement fund system, and civil service to protect competent teachers from unjust dismissal, were mentioned as matters to be considered under the heading of teacher welfare.

Hermansville Boy Injured By Gunshot While Out Hunting

Hermansville, Mich. — Frank Minarick, a sophomore student in Hermansville high school, was the victim of a serious hunting accident Monday afternoon, when a double barreled shotgun which he was attempting to carry over a fence accidentally went off, both charges entering his wrist.

Minarick was rushed to the St. Joseph hospital in Menominee where it was necessary to amputate the arm below the elbow. The accident occurred as Minarick was attempting to carry his gun over one of the fox farm fences. Both of the triggers became caught in the wire and were discharged at the same time.

Football suspended
Due to several members of the football team being out for the rest of the season with injuries it was decided at a meeting this week between the Meyer township school board and the school officials that the schedule for the rest of the year should be suspended.

Hermansville canceled her games with Crystal Falls and the Kingsford reserves. One game was played this year, that being with Niagara which the local team lost by a 13-7 score. In this game Maule received a fractured vertebra and Kure a serious knee injury. Maule's injury will keep him out of action for the rest of the season and he may not be able to participate in any more athletic contests this year. The school has also been handicapped by the lack of funds to buy the necessary equipment.

Honor Roll
The honor roll for the upper grades was released this week by the teachers.
Fourth grade—Cecilia Tomasi, Mary Ann Arduini, Veronica Rodman, Elaine Sutherland, Carol Jean Dani, Audrey Logman, and Henry Lombard.

Fifth grade—Shirley Swanson, Jack Earle, Gloria Stockero, Genevieve Tomasi, Francis Zimmerman, Helen Kobasic, Margie Rochon, and Shirley Ann Laundre.

Sixth grade—Kathryn Jezewski, Irene Tomasiak, Allison Logman, Lois Floriana, Evelyn Yale, Teddy Schultz, Elaine Nauer, William Kure, Thomas Becks, Phillip Minerick, William Whittens, and Gerald Williams.

Eighth grade—Mildred Chenard, Mary Elizabeth Laundre, Shirley Harrington, Dorothy Fish, Mike Poelg, Katherine Kibasic, Olga Holle, Gloria Dani, and Irene Dusterhoff.

Milton Switzenberg of Escanaba visited friends and relatives here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Goodreau and daughter, Patsy, spent last week-end in Escanaba at the home of Mrs. Goodreau's sister, Mrs. Albin Nelson.

Polish People Celebrate Pulaski Day On Sunday

Escanaba will join with other cities of the United States on next Sunday, October 9, in the celebration of Pulaski Day. Polish people will be accompanied by those of other extraction in the celebration which will honor the memory of Count Casimir Pulaski, Revolutionary war general, who died October 9, 1779, at Savannah, Ga., of wounds received in a battle.

Pulaski is known in history not only as the Polish general who helped America to gain its independence, but also as the father of the American cavalry. He was buried at sea on October 11, 1779.

The day is being observed nationally as the result of a Congressional Act introduced by Representative John Luecke of Escanaba, representing the 11th Michigan district, who will speak at the local celebration in Ludington park Sunday.

Many Take Part
The local celebration will include Polish people from other parts of the peninsula, who will assemble at Bark River at 12:30 o'clock and drive to Escanaba to participate in a parade which will leave the junior high school building at 2 o'clock.

Among those taking part will be groups from Bark River, Perronville, Wilson, Harris, Vulcan, Stephenson, Daggett, Munising, Norway, Niagara and Gladstone.

Sunday and injured his arm and knee. Several stitches were taken in one hand.

Mrs. C. Christian and Mrs. Albin Nelson and son of Escanaba, and Mrs. A. Ellingson of Daggett spent Thursday at the home of Mrs. Raymond Goodreau.

Miss Letta Beaudry spent the week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Beaudry in Lake Linden.

Richard Shanks has left for Cleveland where he will be employed.

Hugh Soper is a patient in the University hospital at Ann Arbor. The Meyer townships schools were closed Thursday and Friday in order to permit the teachers to attend the annual teachers institute which is to be held in Escanaba.

Mrs. Irvin Schaen and son Michael have returned from an extended trip in Maine where she visited with her parents and friends.

Many Hermansville residents attended the annual 4-H club exhibit with was held in Powers on Friday.

Charles Schwartz is a surgical patient in St. Francis hospital in Escanaba. The operation was performed Saturday morning and Mr. Schwartz is doing very well.

DEATH CLAIMS LOUIS JOHNSON

Published 'Medborgaren' At Escanaba for Several Years

Louis Johnson, 73, 517 Ogden avenue, widely known resident of Escanaba, and former owner and publisher of the Swedish weekly newspaper, "Medborgaren," died at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning in St. Francis hospital. Bronchial pneumonia, which developed from a cold he contracted ten days ago, caused his death.

Mr. Johnson was born in Varmland, Sweden, June 6, 1865, and came to this country, directly to Escanaba, when he was about eighteen years of age. He entered the printing business and became owner of the Swedish paper, which he disposed of in 1914. He then went south to New Orleans, engaged in farming in LaFitte, La., and later operated a fruit

Church Events

Christian Science Churches "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" will be the subject of the lesson-lesson in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, October 9.

The Golden Text (Jeremiah 30: 17) is: "I will restore health unto thee, and I will heal thee of thy wounds saith the Lord."

Among the Bible citations in this passage (Isaiah 33:22, 24): "For the Lord is our Judge, the Lord is our lawgiver, the Lord is our king; he will save us."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 285): "Omnipotent and infinite Mind made all and includes all. This Mind does not make mistakes and subsequently correct them. God does not cause man to sin, to be sick, or to die."

Service at Cornell Sunday school and morning worship services will be held at the Cornell school house Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Arthur A. Glen, Baptist missionary, will be the speaker.

Lecture Here On October 16

The Christian Science Society of this city announces a free lecture, entitled: "Christian Science: The Science of Christ-Healing," by Colin Rucker Eddison, C. S., member of the board of lecturership of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., at William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium, Sunday afternoon, Oct. 16. The lecture which the public is cordially invited to attend, will begin at 3 o'clock.

Inspiring Lecture by Dr. Maud Watson Feature Of M. E. A. Conference

"The Emotional Development in the Early Years of Childhood" was the subject of one of the most interesting addresses of the upper peninsula regional Michigan Education Association meeting, held Thursday before an audience of over one thousand teachers, and leading educators of the state, in William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium, by Dr. Maud E. Watson of Detroit.

Dr. Watson, who is a nationally known figure in her field, is director of the Children's Center and the Child Guidance Division of the Children's Fund of Michigan and is a lecturer at Wayne University and the University of Michigan. She also has been elected to membership on the national committee for Mental Hygiene, is a member of the board of directors and advisory committee of the Michigan Society and was elected to an honorary membership in the Detroit Pediatric Association, as well as to membership in Alpha Gamma, national honorary fraternity.

History in Making "There is no more opportune time to talk of this subject than now when so much international conflict is rampant." Dr. Watson said in her introduction. "And permit me to say right here that it takes a lot of courage to teach geography or history when one knows so little where the boundaries may be thirty days from now, and when the past battles and campaigns of years ago are supplanted by leading personalities of the day who are making history, brought to the child daily by radio and newspaper.

"Europe is no longer across the ocean, but is now at our back door. "The problems of the old world today are the same as those we face in this country, and vastly important in the world today is the whole network of human relationship. Adults feel the pressure of living today as never before, with the keen competition, the jealousy, and that fear of solving problems of existence.

"The WPA in many cases, scarcely providing an existence, leaves children of those families with bitterness because they are unlike other children, and the adult, more and more, has set for his goal, the acquisition of material things.

Problem Adults? "Adults are unconsciously resentful," she continued. "They realize that this merry old world is in a state of confusion and they are helpless to arrive at even a period of solution. The effect of this is seen in the children, and we speak of them as problem children, but never of ourselves as problem adults. We expect them to meet problems of their own small realities and to show no destructive tendencies. We insist that childhood is happy, when often it is not.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

HER LIPSTICK IS A WOMAN'S "RED BADGE OF COURAGE"

Of all the nerve! A magistrate tells a woman on relief that she has no business having on lipstick and finger nail polish, that the money spent on them should be used for her children. And the magistrate is a woman.

Somehow that sounds even more smug than the fight led by a New York housewife to take the vote away from people on relief.

Lipstick and nail polish have become symbols to women. They give us courage, help us to hold up our heads among women, to meet men with assurance. They are badges of femininity and desirability.

And if any women in the country needs such symbols, they are the unfortunate women whose families are on relief—the women who have hurt pride, who have only the barest necessities for living, the ones who can't afford pretty underwear and smart dresses.

All this is no exaggeration. Women need their vanities. They need to feel that they are attractive. That their families are proud of them.

Many an old-time family doctor urged a complaining woman to spend some money on clothes, to take a trip, to fix up the living room—instead of prescribing a bottled tonic.

And here we are, in an age that pretends to know something about psychology, trying to take the symbols of pride away from the people who most need them.

It is too bad such demands are coming from women. If they were from men, we women could excuse it by saying, "No man can possibly know how much courage fresh lipstick can give a woman."

But we ought to know that lipstick is "whiteline" to women.

"Symptoms of the adult world today seem to be drinking as a way out of a situation difficult to meet, or desertion, but there is no understanding when the child does the same thing.

"The elementary teachers," Dr. Watson said, "dealing with children in their early years, have them come into the school room with a varying degree and scope of family background. There are children, who know of books, travel and music, and who are spontaneous and frank and there are children, whose only knowledge of books is that of the public libraries, and they are meagre in words and dull in their use. For the first school is a living dynamic experience, for the second, a laborious and dreaded part of existence, and our problem is to look for the causes back of this second situation, to find out the child's own inner life and confusion, and to remedy it."

Too Much Domination Dr. Watson traced the life and influences of the child, outlining and explaining emotional reactions from the time of birth, and she denounced the present system in home and school which stunts what should be normal development.

"We never really let a child verbalize what he actually thinks," she said, "but what we think he should say and this follows him through later life."

She described in an interesting manner food habits, how they are acquired in early life, and usually are retained, and the best means of eliminating these habits, pointing out to the child a purpose, rather than simply insisting without reason that he change.

Clear Thinking She urged evaluation of abilities and disabilities and the attainment of living comfortably with self and others through clear objective thinking, and in closing, said: "What goes on in education and actual learning process, we shall never be fully aware, but we have tucked away in our memories those teachers who inspired us, not out of fear, or particular interest in the subject, but because they gave us something of their courage to say frankly what we thought, helped us constructively when that thinking was poor, and by so doing, impressed upon us certain marks of their personality and again by so doing the actual material they taught. What greater tribute can we give a teacher?"

The Wishing Well puzzle grid with numbers and letters.

Copyright, 1938, by William J. Miller Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Delta Camera Fans Include Women On Photo Tour Sunday

"By all means bring the women," members of the Delta Camera club's program committee said yesterday in making plans for the organization's autumn picture tour which will be held Sunday afternoon. "We can't get along without them anyhow," was the consensus of opinion, "and we'll need them more than ever on Sunday, for use as models."

Loaded down with their picture-taking equipment, the photographers will meet at the Escanaba city hall at 11 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to start on the expedition. Their objective will be the camp of Walter Nelson, club secretary, north of Rapid River on the road to Round Lake. Cars from Escanaba will go in a group, picking up Gladstone members enroute.

Those who will make the trip are asked to get in touch with Walt Nelson at 101 during business hours or 1862-W in the evening.

A Happy Ending at Last?

Janet Gaynor, wistful sweetheart of the movies, has figured in many romances. But the endings have not been happy ones. Janet's only marriage went on the rocks when she divorced Lydell Peck, with whom she's pictured left above, in 1933. . . . When Janet and Charles Farrell, right, soared to film stardom in "Seventh Heaven," their fans believed them in love. But that romance didn't lead to the altar. . . .

Janet's name was linked with many dashing figures, and when she went places with Tyrone Power there were matrimonial speculations. Tyrone, who once flew across the country to dance with Janet, said marriage might hamper his career. . . .

And now Janet is widely-reported as soon to marry Adrian, famous Hollywood dress designer, with whom the titan-haired little actress is pictured here. Perhaps this time will be the happy ending—just as in the movies.

BEHIND THE SCENES

By Rodney Dutcher

Washington—The A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. are agreed on one thing anyway: They don't like Chairman Jesse Jones of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

A resolution prepared at the A. F. of L. convention in Houston charges that RFC has been lending money to corporations employing non-union labor at low wages. C. I. O. has made similar complaints.

This doesn't do Jesse's presidential aspirations any good, but according to some of the chairman's best friends nothing could. Jones, who is as able as he is business-like, appears to be the only one who takes those aspirations seriously any more. Although he is highly regarded by most conservative Democrats who think the Roosevelt administration is spend-thrift, it is generally conceded that the Texas delegation at the 1940 convention will be for Garner.

NOT NICE Friends of Jones say it wasn't nice of the A. F. of L. to talk about him in his own town, especially since he had built so many buildings there and paid out so much money to union labor which worked on them.

C. I. O. has still another complaint against RFC. When one of RFC's debtor corporations failed awhile ago it owed quite a sum in wages to its workers. RFC has first lien on assets in such cases. John L. Lewis protested in effect that human rights should precede property rights and that the workers should be paid first. Jesse said nothing doing and collected.

HOMER HAS SOMETHING THERE Senator Homer T. Bone of Washington, running in a Democratic primary, received 50,000 more votes than all opposing candidates in both parties. But he reported to the Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee:

No contributions. No disbursements. Only one radio speech. Details are lacking as to how he did it. Many other candidates, winners and losers, would like to know.

WPA PUZZLER The last Congress provided in the work relief appropriations act that no rates lower than the minimum provided in the wage-hour act (25 cents an hour) should be paid WPA workers in "similar occupations."

In southern states a minimum WPA wage of $26 a month prevails. This means about 18 cents an hour.

Objection has been raised that WPA workers aren't in inter-state commerce and, furthermore, that WPA jobs and work in private industry aren't "similar."

Then why, demands the Workers' Alliance, did Congress put such a provision in the act? Deputy Administrator Aubrey Williams of WPA is trying to figure it out.

FRANKFURTER'S POLETTI Charles Poletti, Democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor of New York who is expected to bear most of the burden of the governorship of Gov. Herbert Lehman—who didn't want the job again—if re-elected, is another of the pupils of Harvard's Felix Frankfurter, so common in New Deal ranks.

U. P. Briefs

CAMPS MAY OPEN

Iron River—Abbot Fox, official of the von Platen-Fox company, yesterday said that, if union activities do not prevent, operations, suspended last March will be resumed at Camps 19 and 24 in the Gold Lake district the latter part of October.

It is planned to put some 150 men to work. Between 75 and 80 would be employed at the outset, the number to be increased as production is stepped up.

Fox and the company's attorney, Charles D. Symonds, conferred at length yesterday with Matt Savola, president of the Timber Workers' Union, CIO affiliate, and a committee composed of Bernard McMillan, Iron River, member of the executive board; Earl Johnson, Marengo, second vice president of the union; and E. S. Bacon, Iron River, member of the committee.

WAGNER GIVEN JOB

Iron Mountain—Henry L. Wagner, employed by the Dickinson county highway department for about six years prior to last June, has been appointed city engineer at Bessemer, in Gogebic county, succeeding B. L. Knudsen, resigned.

Knudsen, formerly of Iron River, has accepted a position with the Castle Mining company at Ramsey.

Wagner's appointment, made by Mayor Hugo L. Hill, of Bessemer, was approved at the last meeting of the Bessemer city council and is immediately effective.

Wagner first came to the Dickinson county highway department in June, 1933, as an instrument man. On July 1, 1935, he was named assistant to George D. Tramp, former engineer, and on July 1, 1937, following Tramp's resignation, was appointed engineer. He remained in that office until June 4, last, when James Ciulo, formerly Norway city engineer, was named to succeed him.

SERIAL STORY MURDER TO MUSIC BY NARD JONES

CAST OF CHARACTERS MYRNA DOMBEY—heroine. Wife of the sensational swing band leader.

ROBERT TAIT—hero. Newspaper photographer—detective. ANNE LISTER—Myrna's closest friend. DANNIE FEELY—officer assigned to investigate Ludden Dombey's murder.

Yesterday, Tait and Anne start out for the country where Myrna may be hiding and Tait reveals that after the shooting he found Myrna's bag with a gun in it.

Tait turned quickly to see how Anne would receive the news that there had been a revolver in Myrna's bag. Even in the dim light from the instrument panel he could see her face blanch.

"That's—not true!" "It is, though," Tait said. "Did Myrna own a gun?" "Never that I knew of," Anne answered quickly. "Someone was trying to make her seem the guilty one."

"I hope you're right. But shooting Ludden Dombey and getting that gun into Myrna's bag before the lights went on would be a neat trick. And, if she wasn't implicated in some way, why has she run away?"

Anne sighed. "Heaven knows why. But it isn't because she had anything to do with it. I know that. I'd bet my very life on it." They lapsed into silence, and Bob Tait pressed the coupe hard. They had long since left gasoline stations and roadside stands. Farmhouses were growing fewer. Soon they were in a country of vast rolling hills, with an occasional tree standing eerily in the darkness.

"I'd forgotten there was country like this," Tait said suddenly. "Reminds me of when I was a kid. But I liked it better in the daytime, then—and I think I still prefer some light on it."

Anne shuddered involuntarily. "It is lonely. I wonder if I haven't been wrong, getting us out here."

"I'm afraid you have, pal. I can't imagine Myrna rushing out here in a rented car or a cab—to stay alone in a shack."

"She wouldn't be afraid. Oh—I hope we're right."

"And so do I," breathed Tait fervently. "If this is a wild goose chase we've lost some valuable time." He looked at the girl beside him. "And if ever I find you were leading me along the wrong path purposely I'll wring your neck with my bare hands."

Anne was not resentful of Tait's doubt. She merely said, "I'm more anxious to find Myrna than anyone."

The countryside grew more hilly, and Tait had to resort time and again to the car's second gear. "We're getting near," Anne said at last. "There's a fork in the road just along here. Take the road to the left."

In the next quarter of a mile Tait's lights picked out the fork, and his hand pulled the steering wheel abruptly to the left. The road grew narrower and more rutted. "Are you sure we're right?" he asked, slowing down. "This looks to me like one of those roads that peter into a lane."

Anne was peering through the windshield. "I'm sure this is the road. The cottage is right up there on that hill. It—" She stopped suddenly and pointed. "Look! There's a light! She's there!"

Tait increased his speed. "Good!" He scanned the darker outline of hill above them. "I don't see any light. Are you sure?"

"Positive. We'll probably see it again at the next curve in the road."

"I wonder if we ought to go the rest of the way on foot?" Tait mused. "We might frighten her out of the cottage. After all, she doesn't know you and I are out here after her."

Anne nodded. "You won't be able to drive much further, anyhow. We'll come to a fence-line, and the rest of the way is along a footpath."

Even as she spoke, the fence loomed ahead, and the road ended without ceremony. Tait turned the ignition switch and the lights. "Can you find the path?" he said in a low voice.

Anne was quietly opening the door of the car. "Yes. But we should be able to see the light from here. She must have turned it out. I couldn't have been seeing things back there on the road."

Tait nodded grimly, and slid out of the car behind Anne. They started through the blackness. Tait held firmly to Anne's arm to keep her from stumbling, but he had to let himself be guided. Somehow, Anne managed to follow the path.

A host of worried thoughts tattered through Bob Tait's head. Nothing but the sheerest sort of desperation, or a mind temporarily unhinged, could have made a girl like Myrna seek this place. And if she were desperate, and that desperation was caused by guilt, then what would keep her from shooting them down as they stole along the path in the darkness?

If she had been burning a light, as Anne insisted, and had extinguished it, then she must have seen or heard the car. She must know that the cottage was being sought.

Suddenly Tait held Anne from a further forward step. "This is foolish," he whispered. "There's no telling what that girl may do next. You'd better let her know who you are."

Anne nodded. There in the darkness she called Myrna's name clearly. It echoed and re-echoed. But there was no answer from the cottage shrouded in blackness. "That's okay," Tait said. "At least she knows you're here. She's probably being cautious, but she won't be trying any fireworks. Let's get going. My hunch is that we've been talking to thin air and that the light you saw was a firefly. Anyhow, we—"

Tait stopped, clutched Anne's arm. Unmistakably, there was a thrashing in the brush near the shack. Yet Tait was positive that the door had not opened since the dwelling had come into their view. Anne heard it, too, and stood back fearfully against him.

Tait reached into his pocket, clutched the revolver he had found in Myrna's bag. "Myrna Dombey," he called the words suddenly and clearly. "If that's Myrna Dombey we want to help you. If it isn't, then come or down the path—with your hands in the air."

For a breathless second there was only silence. Then the thrashing started again, wildly this time, and they saw a figure run down the hillside, away from the path. It was a figure in trousers, unmistakably, and yet Tait dared not shoot for fear it might be Myrna.

"I'm—I'm afraid," whispered Anne with a queer catch in her voice. "Let's hurry."

She began running headlong toward the cottage, heedless of unseen danger. The next thing Tait knew she had thrown open the door, stood staring into an even deeper blackness.

"Myrna? Myrna, please. It's Anne."

Tait flashed a light and held it aloft. There in a corner of the room, the flickering light was reflected in two fear-widened eyes. (To Be Continued)

GARDEN NEWS

G. Y. M. Shower Garden, Mich.—The members of the above club, who do not meet anyone except for such occasions as this, complimented one of their number, Miss Laverne Fourier, at a party arranged at the home of her sister, Mrs. Cal Hennessey, Tuesday night. The time was spent in playing game and in sewing on some article for the bride-to-be. She also was presented with another gift by each one attending. Delicious refreshments were served.

Schools Close All schools in Garden and Fairbanks Townships closed Wednesday evening so that teachers might attend the Convention being held in Escanaba Thursday and Friday.

Fire Protection Last winter the people living at the top of the Church Hill had no water near at hand except from melted snow. During the summer the wells behind the Roland Boudreau residence and that near the Catholic Church have been redrilled and pumps set up. The one at the High School has also been repaired so that there is a good supply near all the buildings. The local doctor recently sent the water from the pump at the top of the Hill to be tested and returns show that this is perfectly safe for human consumption. Now the inhabitants can face the period of heavy firing with less dread of conflagrations.

Guild Meeting The regular meeting was held at the home of Mrs. May Mc Phee Wednesday afternoon. Friends are invited to Van's Harbor in two weeks to meet with Mrs. William Winter Jr., Oct. 19.

Home Economics Meeting A meeting of the Home Economics Extension Group will be held at the Town Hall Tuesday afternoon, promptly at 2 o'clock when the leaders, Mrs. William Swaer and Mrs. Tom Truckey will discuss "Color in the home". Everyone is welcome and is urged to attend. Mrs. Joseph Farley is Chairman and Mrs. Alfred LaValle, Secretary-Treasurer. It is expected that there will be five meetings during the season and it is hoped that the ladies of the community will take advantage of these.

Personals Mr. and Mrs. Peter Giustiano motored to Escanaba Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Clint Clemmons of Rochester, Minn., were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Giustiano. As they came this way they stopped in Northern Wisconsin to visit relatives and expected to stop at Green Bay on the return trip to visit friends.

WPA JOB WILL BEGIN TUESDAY

US-2 Roadbed In City To Be Torn Up for New Water Services

Work will begin Tuesday morning on the city's new WPA project, the installation of underground structures along the route of the unpaved portion of US-2 within the city limits, City Manager P. H. Beauvais announced yesterday.

A total of 85 WPA men are expected to be assigned to the job, which will last for several months. The job of tearing up the roadbed will begin on the west side, at the intersection of Deer street and Chippewa avenue. Only half of Deer street will be torn up at a time, to permit traffic to continue on the remaining half of the street. The WPA crew will work eastward from Deer and Chippewa intersection, ending at the Manistique river bridge. The job will then be resumed on Elk street, at the Maple street intersection, with the crew working westward to the Manistique river bridge.

Following the backfilling, traffic will be routed on that side of the street, and the other half of the road will be torn up.

All new underground water services will be installed, with copper tubing replacing the present iron pipe. Larger sewer services will be installed and some additional storm sewers will be laid.

The city's WPA project is preparatory to the construction of a new concrete highway along that route next spring. The state highway department has already given definite promise to the city officials that the unpaved portion of US-2 in the city would be paved next spring.

A 42-foot highway will be laid along this route, to conform with the pavement laid this year by the city of Manistique as a part of its PWA civic improvement program. The state will pay all of the paving costs and will also provide the funds for the curbing along the route.

Luecke And Dotsch Are Rally Speakers

A Democratic rally will be held at the Hiawatha Grange hall this evening, beginning at eight o'clock. Congressman John Luecke of Escanaba and State Senator James Dotsch, of Garden, will be principal speakers at the rally.

J. F. HART IS LION SPEAKER

Escanaban Relates Value of Work With Youth

A highly inspirational talk on boys' work was presented before the Gladstone Lions club at a regular meeting Thursday evening at the Lincoln House by John F. Hart, Escanaba, general manager of the Montgomery-Ward store.

Hart told of the value of boys work in general, pointing in particular to the great good accomplished through Boy Scouting. The manner in which early training stays with youths and is a factor in molding their lives was emphasized by the speaker.

The speaker, who had the good fortune to attend the National Jamboree in Washington, D. C., at which there were 25,000 Scouts in attendance, touched on the event and declared that he had never seen a more orderly gathering of similar size.

Before closing Hart lauded Lions Russell Skelenger and Walter Van De Weghe for their efforts in behalf of Scouting. Both are masters of troops in Gladstone.

PRICES MARKED TO HIGH LEVELS

Table of Bond Market Averages showing various bond indices and their values.

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—Loans of speculative rating continued in high favor with buyers in today's bond market. Prices generally were marked to new high levels for the "peace" recovery which started last week with the calling of the Munich four-power conference.

Anticipation of improvement in earnings of key industries over the next few months was expressed in a fairly broad demand for corporate loans showing substantial yields.

A considerable part of such buying was concentrated in the rail group, where gains of fractions to around 2 points were numerous.

Southern Railway loans were leaders, the 6 1/2% pushing up 5 1/2 points to 7 1/2%; 6% up 3 1/2% to 6 1/2% and the 4 1/2% up 2 1/2% to 5 1/2%.

Nickel Plate issues suffered further losses in reaction from the plan for a three-year extension of the 6 percent notes was in effect. Today the notes dropped 2 1/2 while the 4 1/2 gave up 3.

U. S. governments extended the week's gains by 1-32 to 11-32 of a point. Foreign loans were mixed though generally steady. Czech 8% of 51 fell 4-8 points on small transactions.

Dealings totalled $8,723,500 against $11,530,200 yesterday.

St. Joe Meets Gladstone Here Today At 2:15

SEEKING FIRST WIN OF SEASON

Keilmann Are Unbeaten; Local Lineup Has Been Shifted

One of the oldest rivalries in the county will be resumed at the high school athletic field this afternoon at 2:15 o'clock when St. Joseph high school gridiron entertain the unbeaten Gladstone team.

Coach Eldon Kell is one of the oldest coaches in the peninsula in the point of continuous service and yearly he puts out teams which are rated highly in peninsula circles. They are always well grounded in fundamentals and present a driving attack.

In their two games this year, the Keilmann defeated Munising by 6-0 and were held to a scoreless tie by Manistique.

St. Joseph gridiron were given a hard work out on fundamentals this week after a let-down last week. As drills wound up yesterday, the boys looked considerably improved and are in the pink of condition and ready for the Gladstone invasion.

Changes have been made in the Parochial lineup this week with Gray, fullback, and Perron, guard, changing positions. This is expected to add more weight to the line and more blocking and speed in the backfield. In addition, Babe Langefeld, regular quarterback who was injured earlier in the season, has returned and will be available for starting duty. The starting lineup, other than these three, probably will find Baker and Ashland at ends, Letsner at tackle, Klotz and Vian guards and Loeffler center. O'Donnell and Young, regular halves, will be stationed at those posts and expect to give the Uppay defense a good workout.

WORKED ON OFFENSE

Gladstone, Mich.—With but a single exception players injured in the Manistique game last Saturday have responded to treatment and will be in the thick of things when Gladstone travels to Escanaba today to clash with an old foe, St. Joseph Parochial.

Knutson, quarterback of the locals, who suffered a head injury is still on the sidelines and will not see action. All of the others, however, are in pretty fair shape for the tilt.

Coach Eldon Kell spent considerable time this week working on offense, especially his running attack which has not been up to standard. He also touched on pass defense which appeared to be the only vulnerable spot in the locals defense.

SPARTANS SEE EASY VICTORY

Boys and Girls of 4-H Clubs To Be Guests at East Lansing

East Lansing, Oct. 7 (AP)—A re-inspired Michigan State college football team was ready tonight for the third engagement of its 1938 season—an expected easy game with Illinois Wesleyan of Bloomington.

Coach Harry Boll of the Titans will offer a strong backfield and a not so strong line, according to pre-game information. Hardly expecting a victory, his team hopes to make as good a showing as it did in 1938 when State won by a 20 to 13 score.

More than 5,000 boys and girls from 4-H clubs in the state will be guests of the college at the game.

Coach Charley Bachman kept to the last minute the secret of who would make up the starting team tomorrow, but it was almost certain that, barring an unexpectedly tough encounter, many new faces would appear before the game ends.

Most of the indecision hung over the starting line-up. Ole Nelson and Mike Kinek seemed sure of playing at end and Ron Alling at center.

Michigan Normals Nip Illinois, 12-6

Ypsilanti, Mich., Oct. 7 (AP)—Illinois Normal became the first team to cross the Michigan Normal goal line in three starts this season here today but the Hurons rallied in the last half to score a 12 to 6 triumph and remain undefeated and untied.

TEMPLE SWAMPED

Philadelphia, Oct. 7 (AP)—Texas Christian's famed aerial circus, with Little Davey O'Brien replacing Sammy Baugh in the passing role, swamped Temple, 28 to 6, in an intercollegiate game here tonight before 35,000 fans.

Looking It Over

No world series is complete without Judge Keneaw Mountain Lands, high commissioner of baseball. The white-thatched czar of the diamond trains a piercing eye on the scene at the opening game of the classic at Wrigley Field, Chicago.

CRISLER'S BOYS MEET MAROONS

Everyone But Coaches See Triumph for Wolverines

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 7 (AP)—Michigan's rejuvenated football forces, apparently no longer the door mat of the last few years, open the Western conference campaign here tomorrow against Chicago's Maroons.

Everyone but the coaches, who good-naturedly refrained from any pre-game comment, foresaw only victory for the Wolverines.

The game, expected to draw but 25,000 to the big stadium, marks the fortieth anniversary of Michigan's first Big Ten championship achieved by a 12 to 11 victory over Chicago in 1898.

The Wolverines, who have shown little interest in tomorrow's encounter despite the tussle the Maroons gave them last year, had a final warm-up drill today on Ferry field.

Injuries incurred by his two first-string tackles, Capt. Fred Janke and Bill Smith, may force Fritz Crisler to revise his lineup. Janke and Smith were in uniform today but Crisler said he did not intend to use them unless it was necessary.

Ready to fill their places were veterans Roland Savilla, Don Siegel and Forrest Jordan.

Crisler said he plans to use replacements liberally in the hope the squad can gain momentum needed against Minnesota a week hence.

Chicago's coach, Clark Shaughnessy, who had the Maroons work out in the stadium, said his team "lacks everything but spirit."

"I can't see how we can win," he mourned, "but we'll put up a good fight."

The Maroons have a big, inexperienced line, but the backfield is solid with veterans. In their only game this season they were held to a scoreless tie by Bradley Tech.

Michigan has won 17 of 24 games the two teams have played since 1893.

Cardinals Leading In Touchfootball

Touch-football will again swing into action Sunday afternoon at the South 19th street field, with four interesting games to be played.

The schedule is as follows: St. Joe vs. Champs, 1:00. Vikings vs. All-Stars, 3:00. Metropolitan vs. Stoves, 4:00. Eddie Gunkel, recreational leader, requests team managers to have their teams at the field on the scheduled time they are to play. In that way all games will be played at the time scheduled, and the games will not be delayed.

Escanaba Travels to Menominee This Afternoon

Newberry Indians Play At Manistique Today

Manistique—A rivalry of years standing will be resumed at the Arthur F. Hall stadium in Manistique this afternoon, when the Manistique and Newberry high school football teams clash in their annual grid battle. In a preliminary, scheduled to start at one o'clock, the reserve teams of the two schools will meet.

The Emeralds have played three games to date and the Newberry Indians only one. Manistique lost to Escanaba, and played tie games with Negaunee and Gladstone, while the Indians bowed to Sault Ste. Marie last week, 12 to 6.

Coach Frank Jehl of the Manistique squad eased up on injured players in practice sessions this week in the hope of sending full strength against the Indians. Lambert, who suffered a broken nose against Gladstone, is a doubtful starter.

In the event Lambert is unable to see action, Hoholik, regular center, will probably be shifted to left halfback, and McCorney will take over the pivot duties. Coach Jehl has provided a nose guard for Lambert's use.

Yanks Think 2 Games Will Wind Up Series

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—Two up and two to go, the jubilant New York Yankees came home today, confident they would be "winners and still champions" when the fourth game of their world series with the Chicago Cubs is over Sunday night.

In sharp contrast to the Cubs, whose confidence seems to have run out—just as Dizzy Dean's fine pitching arm in the late innings of yesterday's game of the classic. The weather bureau's preliminary report was for skies partly overcast, with the thermometer around 80, in contrast to the 53-degree temperature for yesterday's Chicago tilt.

Some 1,000 fans were at the station to greet the teams on their arrival at noon. They stationed themselves at all parts of the depot, lining the stairway the athletes climbed from their train, and crowding around the taxicab stand to see them depart.

Both clubs were in good physical condition, although Frank Crossett, shortstop star of the Yanks and hero of the opening engagements, reported with a swollen glove-hand.

Chief topics of conversation on the Yankees' train in their overnight jump from Chicago were the fine game pitched by Dizzy Dean despite a sore arm, and the weird play which accounted for the Yankees' first two runs.

Most of the party agreed the play, in which Stan Hack and Billy Jurges, Cub infielders, collided and fell in chasing a slow roller from Joe Gordon's bat and it rolled into center field for a double scoring two runs, has never been matched in a world series.

Dean's workmanship was perfect, the Yankees, to a man, reported. It was just that their power caught up with his sore arm.

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—Probable starting lineups for the third world series game between the Chicago Cubs and New York Yankees tomorrow:

Cubs—Hack, 3b; Herman, 2b; Cavarretta, rf; Marty, cf; Reynolds, lf; Harnett, c; Collins, 1b; Jurges, ss; Bryant, p.

Yankees—Crossett, ss; Rolfe, 3b; Henrich, rf; DiMaggio, cf; Gehrig, 1b; Dickey, c; Selkirk, lf; Gordon, 2b; Pearson, p.

Umpires: Sears (NL), plate; Hubbard (AL), first base; Moran (NL), second base; Kolls (AL), third base.

Game time, 1:30 p. m. (EST). Probable attendance, 70,000. Weather forecast, partly cloudy and cool.

NORDMEN HAVE REVISED LINEUP

Bender and Andrews Are New Faces of First String Group

Two new faces will be in the starting lineup for the Eskymos when they take the field this afternoon at Menominee in the resumption of the oldest football rivalry on the Escanaba schedule.

Elroy Andrews, who was injured early in the season, is expected to start at the right end position and Frank Bender, who has been dividing fullback duties, will man the post while Hansen has been shifted to right halfback.

Andrews is fighting for the end position with Cress and Swanson and both of these boys are likely to see action today if Andrews should not live up to Coach Nordberg's expectations.

Backfield Changed

Outside of the right end position, the rest of the line is expected to be the same with Olson at left end, Cox and Ferguson tackles, Pepin and Capt. Nilsen guards and Henry center. The latter tentatively was shifted to end early this week but was put back in his center spot when Andrews showed up well in practice.

Leonard, stocky reserve tackle, was used at guard this week in the place of the injured Pepin and may see action there.

Nordberg will have a completely revised backfield starting against Coach Barney McCann's Maroons. Bobby Barron, former left half, will be found at quarterback; Hansen is shifted from full to right half; Bender installed at full; and Pfothenauer has been moved from right half to the important left half spot. If this combination fails to click, it is likely that Nordberg will send Bennett back in at quarterback spot and shift the rest of the boys back to their original positions.

In addition to those already mentioned, Nordberg will take the following to Menominee: Swanson, Cress, Meunier, Shank, Finch, Thamer, VanEffen, Fedrow, Morin, Craig, Pelletier, Nickelson, Anderson, Arthur, Davidson, Erickson, Passard, Kaufman and Farrell.

Coach George Rutwisch will use the following boys on his reserve team in the prelin: Goymerck, Pilotte, Johnson, McDonald, Scott, Corbett, Peterson, Aschinger, Pfothenauer, Saykly, Kostzke, Feller, Dickey, Anderson, Morin, Rusha, Harris, Lequia, Hirn, Stein and Shallman.

MENOMINEE DESPERATE

Menominee, Oct. 7—In a desperate effort to find some kind of a football combination that will really click, Coach Barney McCann shifted his Menominee high school Maroons around in practice sessions this week as the team polished off some of the rough edges in preparation for the game tomorrow afternoon with Escanaba high school. The game will be played at Walton Biesch field and will get under way about 2:15 o'clock.

Bob Schliawski, rangy 165 pound lineman, has been shifted to left end, with Jim Spoerke holding down the other terminal. Bob Brown, whose scrappy defense play in the Shawano game was an outstanding feature, will fill the gap at guard caused by Schliawski's transfer to end.

Butts and Kabatek will hold down the tackle posts and Polon the other guard station. Wendt will work at center on offense, but will drop back into the safety spot on defense.

Hansen in Backfield

Co-Captain Waters will give up his fullback post to Harold Hansen, a newcomer to the backfield, and Waters will take over the blocking quarterback post. McCormick will do the signal calling from his halfback post and team with Waters on passing Rabin, who has been used at quarterback, will work at the other half.

Thus the Maroons will present a team for tomorrow's game far different from the one that hasn't seemed to be getting anywhere so far this fall. While seeking a combination that will click this season, McCann is also keeping a weather eye out for next season.

SPILLING the DOPE

With the knowledge that we have dropped to third place in the "Bum Guessers" big four, largely through our refusal to pad our lists, we go to work this week on a new batch of headlines... last week, we hit 11 out of 17, making good on every college game but falling down miserably on high school games, as did every other of the "Bum Guessers"...

MICHIGAN vs. CHICAGO: Crisler's team will be on its toes in its plan to beat the team he played with in college... and Michigan will do it.

MICHIGAN STATE vs. ILL. WESLEYAN: One need not even bother to guess on this State breather.

MINNESOTA vs. PURDUE: This always is a great game and the Boiler-makers have another promising crew this year... but you know the Gophers!

INDIANA vs. ILLINOIS: The boys of Zuppke are having a bit of trouble this year in spite of their win over DePaul last week... nod to Indiana.

NORTHWESTERN vs. DRAKE: A tune-up, boys... a tune-up. OHIO STATE vs. USC: The experts are picking USC so we'll stick with Ohio State.

SMU vs. MARQUETTE: The Mustangs will fill the air with footballs... and Marquette will crawl out from under when the game is over.

PITTSBURGH vs. DUQUENSE: The Panthers are tops this year... why doubt them today?

NOTRE DAME vs. GA. TECH: No one expected that avalanche by the Ramblers last week... they'll make a mess of the Rambling Wreck of Ga. Tech.

FORDHAM vs. WAYNESBURG: Fordham schedule makers are very considerate.

NEGAUNEE vs. ISHPeming: We caught merry wed last week for not being more enthusiastic about favoring St. Joe... as it turned out, we were too enthusiastic... today it looks like Gladstone although it should be a close battle.

MANISTIQUE vs. NEWBERRY: The Emeralds are just about due for a victory and this will be their day.

SOO vs. MUNISING: This looks like a nip and tuck affair with Soo slightly favored.

BESSEMER vs. CALUMET: The big game of the day between two of the strongest teams in the peninsula... just a hunch on Calumet.

Big Ten Engagements Grid Features Today

Minnesota's league bow against Purdue; four of the Big Six elevens are booked for intra-sectional warfare, and three all-Ivy league games, plus Columbia's battle with Army, stand out in the east.

Notre Dame's inter-sectional tilt with Georgia Tech and the meeting of Tennessee and Auburn are tops in the south. On the Pacific coast it's Santa Clara against Texas A. and M., Stanford against Washington State, and U. C. L. A. against Washington.

LITTLE SERIES GOES 7 GAMES

Kansas City Takes 4-2 Victory Over Newark; Nips Final Rally

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 7 (AP)—Walter Judnich's galloping one-handed stab of Ham Schulte's drive to left center with two down in the ninth inning nipped a Newark rally tonight, gave Kansas City a 4 to 2 victory, and forced the Little World Series into the seventh and final game tomorrow night.

The sensational play climaxed a well-played, and, on the part of Kansas City, a well-pitched baseball game. Marvin Breuer, young right hander who failed to finish for Kansas City in the third game at Newark, went the route on the mound for the Blues tonight, and only on rare occasions was he in serious trouble.

Kansas (A.A.) 001 300 10x-4 10 1 Newark (I. L.) 001 000 010-2 9 0 Haley, Russo, Blair, Strincevich and Rosar; Breuer and Ridde.

WASTE SCORED BY FITZGERALD

Nine Million for State Politics Impairs Aid for the Needy

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 7 (AP)—Frank D. Fitzgerald, Republican gubernatorial candidate campaigning in the Copper country, charged tonight that Michigan is spending $9,000,000 for "unnecessary political employees" and that the state's unfortunate consequently are not sure of receiving their needs.

"Our state government, during a mad whirl of labor sensationalism," the former governor told two audiences at separate meetings "has forgotten that doles cannot take the place of jobs in benefits to working men."

"Almost every conceivable plan of governmental paternalism has been tried out, at huge cost, but sadly most of them have failed."

"The real unfortunate, the forgotten men and women who want jobs and homes and who pay the cost of government, have been left out in the cold."

"I favor relief for the aged and the needy, but I favor administration of the taxpayers' money so that it will be used for relief and not for political patronage."

"I know and you know that there are many persons receiving relief who are not entitled to it. That is true because an expensive political machine in Lansing decided who shall receive relief and who shall not. Officials back home, who know the difference between fakery and need, are not consulted."

"Money rolls out in endless streams for unnecessary things. No thought has been given to the taxpayers' security. The treasury has been tapped so heavily that funds for relief's real needs are uncertain."

"Here in Michigan alone $9,000,000 spent to support unnecessary political employees should have been spent for security."

Spanish Insurgents Gain in Ebro Area

Hendaye, France (At the Spanish Frontier), Oct. 7 (AP)—Spanish insurgents reported tonight that their forces had stormed and captured the first government defense lines in a heavily fortified mountain sector in the Ebro front.

The sector is near Corbera, northeast of Gandesa, in South Catalonia.

Insurgent advisers said the insurgents had almost encircled the mountain position where government troops were occupying underground fortifications.

New Moron Measure Set For Legislature

Lansing, Oct. 7 (AP)—Attorney General Raymond W. Starr and Hilmer Geilstein, state corrections director, laid plans today to present a new "moron law" to the next legislature as a substitute for the measure declared unconstitutional Wednesday by the state supreme court.

The law allowed commitment of a degenerate for an indefinite period without regard to the length of sentence imposed by the trial court. Under the law a committed degenerate would have been confined until prison alienists declared him no longer dangerous.

under sentence. Two thousand Czechoslovak customs officials, frontier guards and others seized by the Sudeten German "free corps" still are held.

2. Successful conclusion of negotiations for a trade agreement with Turkey was announced.

No More Flowers
Hitler suffered the first mishap in his series of four triumphant tours of Sudetenland in the flower-throwing incident which occurred at Jaegerdorf, in the fourth zone of military occupation.

Although medical attention was not needed for the scratches on his face, the accident caused a stir in Nazi officialdom.

Nazi party leaders will be held personally responsible for seeing that the ban on flowers in the future is carried out.

Hitler was treated to another day of ovation today in his tour. Tomorrow the fœhrer will end his first Sudetenland visit and on Sunday he will open a new theater in Saarbruecken, in the Saar valley.

Government circles said he may make an "important pronouncement" on French-German relations there.

In a brief talk today in the Jaegerdorf market place Hitler declared that, when the rest of Sudetenland stood under the swastika on Oct. 10, the territory would be forever free and irrevocably a reichsgau (district) of the German nation.

The economic sub-committee of the international commission set up under the Munich accord meanwhile met in Berlin.

It tackled a number of technical problems dealing with the transfer of Czechoslovak holdings on what is now German territory, reparations for damages and other economic questions.

It was learned reliably one question it was trying to settle was the disposition of the reserve raw materials, such as cotton and wool, which various Czechoslovak industrial concerns possessed.

It was said the Germans would like to take these raw goods at once under Germany's four-year plan of self-sufficiency, but Czechoslovakia insisted the materials were the property of Czechoslovak industrialists who should have the right to remove them.

TURKEY GRANTED CREDITS
Ankara, Turkey, Oct. 7 (AP)—Walther Funk, German minister of commerce, today concluded a trade agreement between Turkey and Germany under which Germany will grant Turkey credits for the purchase of industrial and military material. It was understood the German credits would amount to 150,000,000 marks.

Survivors Of Blast On Tanker Silenced
Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Oct. 7 (AP)—Ordered not to discuss their experience in advance of a company inquiry, 33 survivors of an explosion which wrecked the tanker E. J. Bullock at sea arrived here today.

The seamen had been picked up in lifeboats by the tanker O. M. Bernuth which turned them over to a coast guard cutter off the base here.

The men boarded a train for New York where the investigation will be conducted by the Standard Oil company, owners of the 435-foot ship.

Three members of the crew of 37 were killed and one injured when a terrific explosion disabled the tanker off Dry Tortugas late yesterday. Sailors aboard the Ber-

Pickaback Seaplane Shifted Off Course

Capetown, South Africa, Oct. 8 (Saturday) (AP)—The British Pickaback seaplane Mercury was trying early today to establish her position, in a series of radio messages, after a long distance record attempt from Dundee, Scotland.

At 11:35 p. m. (6:35 p. m. EST) the plane was reported about 380 miles from here over Alexander Bay, but at dawn today it was believed here she was off her course and would not arrive until 8:00 a. m. (3 a. m. EST).

Legion Commander Calls Munich Pact Menace For Peace

Indianapolis, Oct. 7 (AP)—Stephen F. Chadwick of Seattle, Wash., newly-elected commander of the American Legion, took up his duties today at the organization's national headquarters here. He was elected at the Los Angeles convention.

The new commander said he considers the Munich agreement "a threat to the peace of Europe."

"I do not see how a settlement forced on a people can result in peace," he said, "particularly when the most interested party is not represented in the settlement conference."

Asked concerning his feeling toward the German-American Bund he said he was opposed to direct action against alien groups but favored passage of laws making the formation and perpetuation of such organizations illegal.

Negroes Are Urged To Back President

Baltimore, Oct. 7 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Ickes urged negroes tonight to support "our humanitarian president," asserting that they "have had their own bitter experience with false friends."

In an address to the eastern region conference of the National Negro Congress, Ickes said many years after the Civil war negroes "gave their loyal support to a party that was as exacting in its political demands upon them as their former masters had been in their physical demands."

"And ever since the American negro has declared his political independence to match his physical freedom, he has learned that many will promise but few will perform," Ickes said.

TUGS FREE COLLIER
Detroit (AP)—The Collier John A. Kling of Cleveland, grounded Thursday in shallows of the Detroit river near Amherstburg, Ont., was pulled free by tugs early Friday after part of the cargo had been lightered.

Approximately $800,000,000 is paid in state and federal gasoline taxes in the United States annually.

nuth saw and heard the blast and sped to the rescue. The Bullock sank about an hour later.

SLOVAKS GET AUTONOMY IN CZECH NATION

America to know that "our first thought was of them to whom we are grateful for moral and financial support." He added:

"I wish it were possible that all Slovaks might come back and live with their brethren."

Town Is Decorated
Candles burned in the windows of Zilana's houses last night. Windows were decorated with red, white and blue streamers, the Slovak colors. Torches and gaily colored lanterns lighted the way for parades.

Dr. Tiso, former minister of health for Czechoslovakia and a parish priest of the little nearby town of Banovec, will have four ministers to assist his administration.

An announcement in Prague said these are Matus Cermak, Dr. Ferdinand Duriansky, Pavel Topolansky and Jan Lichner. Their functions will be determined later by parliament.

Dr. Tiso said the administration of Slovak affairs would be directed from Bratislava with the exception of foreign affairs, national defense and finance which still will be controlled from Prague.

He is the leading figure of the Slovak people's party, founded by the late Father Andreas Hlinka. He was born in the town of Velka Bytca, near Zilana, and attended schools at Zilana and other Slovak cities and Vienna.

On a three-month trip to America in 1937 Dr. Tiso spent much time in New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

WELLS SHUT DOWN
Saginaw (AP)—Twenty oil wells in the Overisel Pool have been shut down and development of other wells in the territory has been halted by an agreement of the operators in protest of reductions in crude oil prices from $1.12 to $1 a barrel.

The ending, "wort," found in numerous flower names, such as bellwort, spiderwort, etc., is an old English word, meaning plant, or herb.

BRIEFLY TOLD

No Ships Sailing—Elmer Sanders, South Ninth street, who has been serving as radio operator on freighters working out of New Orleans, is visiting at his home here. Shipping has been tied up considerably because of the war scare.

Played at Meeting—The string band under the direction of Joseph Bousineau played at the PTA meeting at Newhall Wednesday night.

Licensed to Wed—Marriage licenses were issued yesterday at the Delta county clerk's office to Eugene Coppock of Brampton and Lula McMillie of Wells, and to Sulo Kivela and Violet Ekquist, both of Rock.

Arbutus in Bloom—W. J. Fahey, 220 North Nineteenth street, found a bunch of trailing arbutus in bloom in Pioneer Trill Park yesterday. The arbutus is a spring flower, and is rarely found in bloom at this late season.

Five Alleged Bank Robbers Indicted In Federal Court

Bay City, Mich., Oct. 7 (AP)—The federal grand jury indicted five men today on charges of violation of the National Bank robbery act and sixteen others on miscellaneous counts.

Larry Redman, 28, lifer at the state prison of southern Michigan, and John Jergovich, 21, Pontiac, both captured September 2, were accused of the frustrated Linwood state bank robbery.

George Jazwiak and Arden Cousineau were indicted on charges of robbing the First State and Savings Bank of Flushing, June 22, and Birch Run State Bank, July 17. Ivan Smith was accused with them in robbing the latter bank. All three men live in Detroit.

Remaining indictments included Esteban Rivera, 49, Mt. Pleasant, narcotics law violation, and the following for alleged violation of federal liquor laws: Adolf Messal, 60, Alpena; Fred Sommerfield, 59, Alpena, and George and Virginia Brown, Alpena.
