

EUROPE HUNTING PEACE WITH GUNS

VAST FOREIGN PUZZLE WAITS FOR CONGRESS

PRESIDENT TO ASK BILLION TO BUILD UP ARMY, NAVY

BY CHARLES P. NUTTER Washington, Dec. 3 (AP)—Congress begins next month perhaps the most important and far-reaching discussion of foreign affairs since the World War.

Advance indications are that the legislators will spend many weeks in review of foreign relations and problems, some of which will involve the recent events in Europe and the surge of dictatorial power there.

The most important legislation to come before the senate and house of representatives may be President Roosevelt's proposal overhauling national defenses.

The president has not made public his complete plans as yet, but indications from executive departments are that the program calls for a vast increase in military strength, particularly in the air forces.

Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, said recently that army air forces must be "doubled, tripled or even quadrupled."

The United States spent over a billion dollars on national defense during the past year. There have been some reports that this total might be raised to a billion and a half dollars for the next fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1939.

Opposition Rumbles Already rumbles have come from some quarters on Capitol Hill that no such sum would be obtained easily, or without full explanations from the White House and defense departments of the reasons and objects of so-called rearmament.

Protests already have been heard from various peace organizations and some senators and representatives against President Roosevelt's proposal that America's defense system be not only national but continental in order to insure for all time that no outside power shall gain a foothold on the American continent.

Some forces in congress will want a clarification of what this means and involves, how much it will cost, what it will accomplish, and whether there is a full understanding and appreciation in Latin America of United States purposes.

'Hymn Sing' Made Popular Diversion For Grand Rapids

Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 3 (AP)—A group of young Grand Rapids residents who enjoy getting together on Sunday night to sing the hymns of their great-grandparents' day suddenly have found themselves in charge of a new and immensely popular community institution.

The next community "hymn sing" will be held in the auditorium Christmas night and another one is planned for Easter Sunday.

Duke Of Gloucester Breaks Collar Bone 'Riding To Hounds'

London, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Duke of Gloucester—brother of King George VI—broke his collar bone today when his horse fell and rolled on him after clearing a jump.

The accident occurred while the duke was riding to the hounds at Leicestershire. Physicians, after X-raying the break, said it was a simple fracture.

It was the duke's first spill since 1934, although he had been involved in ten tumbles before that.

He will be confined to bed for several days and all his engagements have been cancelled, including that of representing the royal family next Thursday at the funeral of Queen Maud of Norway, his aunt.

The duke's accident recalled the many falls taken by his eldest brother, the Duke of Windsor, another ardent horseman, who fell nearly 30 times before his family and friends finally persuaded him to abandon the perilous sport.

Killing Admitted For Refusing Loan

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 3 (AP)—Harley Lampher, 21, Comstock WPA worker, pleaded guilty in circuit court today to killing William Griffith, 61, Comstock filling station operator. A hearing to determine the degree of murder will be held next week.

Prosecutor Paul Tedrow said Lampher confessed shooting Griffith last night for refusing to loan him $25.

CANCEL STRIKE, IS FLINT ORDER

General Motors Claims UAW Violated Its Agreement

Detroit, Dec. 3 (AP)—General Motors Corp. sent a "demand" to the United Automobile Workers tonight for immediate cancellation of a strike in Fisher Body Plant No. 1 at Flint, asserting that the union had violated its agreement with the corporation by authorizing the walkout.

The demand was contained in a telegram sent by C. E. Wilson, General Motors vice-president, to Homer Martin, international president of the UAW, a few hours after Martin had announced that the strike was "duly authorized" and denied that it violated the UAW-GM agreement.

Substitution of a day-work basis of pay for piecework in one department of the Fisher plant is the major issue in the strike, which already has affected 6,400 Fisher employees and 3,000 workers on the final assembly line of the General Motors Buick division plant at Flint.

The United States department of labor announced at Washington that James F. Dewey, its ace mediator, had been sent to Michigan to seek a settlement of the dispute. Dewey, who will arrive tomorrow, will be on familiar grounds for he participated in negotiations that led to a settlement of the protracted General Motors strike of 1937.

Tree Climbing Test Stumps Foresters

Newton, Mass., Dec. 3 (AP)—Forty applicants appeared to take tree climbing tests for jobs in the Newton forestry department. Twenty looked at the tree they were supposed to climb and decided they had something else to do.

Ten became stranded high way up the tree and had to be assisted down. Six ran into other difficulties. Four passed.

Officials were wondering where they were going to get eight more men to fill 12 vacancies.

JAPANESE ARE BOGGED DOWN BY BLIZZARDS

CHINESE GUERRILLAS HALT INVADERS AT YANGTZE

BY LLOYD LEHRBAS Shanghai, Dec. 3 (AP)—Winter is fighting for the Chinese and after 515 days of warfare in China Japanese forces in the Yangtze valley, principal theater of the conflict, appeared tonight to be at least temporarily bogged down.

Blizzards sweeping in from the Mongolian plains of the northwest, overcast skies and the erratic resistance of hundreds of thousands of Chinese regulars and guerrillas had slowed up the Japanese along the Yangtze and elsewhere in the vast land they were attempting to "pacify."

Sharing importance with the Yangtze valley fighting were contests for control of the Lunghai and Peking-Hankow railways in the north and the resurgence of Chinese resistance in South China.

In South China the invaders were bitterly opposed in their efforts to march north along the Canton-Hankow railway to close the gap between Canton and Hankow, occupied by the Japanese in late October.

Japanese based on Hankow were fighting to solidify and expand a vast front curving from the Peking-Hankow railway on the north around to the west of Hankow, thence south and east to the Kiang-Nanchang railway.

On the north the struggle pivoted on a Japanese threat to cross the great bend of the Yellow river for an invasion of Shensi province, Chinese communist stronghold, where the Lunghai railway meets highway routes of supplies from Soviet Russia.

Iron River Hammer Attacker Sentenced

Crystal Falls, Mich., Dec. 3 (AP)—Russell (Jeff) Miller, 25, received today a sentence of 10 to 25 years in the Branch prison of Marquette for a hammer attack on a 15-year old Iron River high school girl.

Circuit Judge Frank A. Bell recommended that Miller serve 15 years of the statutory indeterminate sentence for assault with intent to murder.

Miller, whose home was in Bates township, Iron county, confessed he lay in wait in shrubbery near the Iron River high school planning to attack the first girl who came along, and that he struck Miss Lavergne Gustafson with a machinist's hammer.

Earth Shocks Jolt Fresno, California, For Five Minutes

Fresno, Calif., Dec. 3 (AP)—Earth shocks strong enough to jolt chandeliers and break dishes jolted Fresno today, tapering off with less intensity in other San Joaquin Valley communities.

No injuries or property damage was reported as the result of the quakes which scientists recorded variously as lasting from five to seven minutes.

AIRMAN SAVES 21 PASSENGERS

Plane Lost In Fog Lands In Cornfield Near Baltimore, Md.

Baltimore, Dec. 3 (AP)—Lost in fog, the pilot of an Eastern Airlines plane containing 21 passengers and a crew of three, made a safe landing tonight in a cornfield near here after narrowly missing a farmhouse.

No one was injured and the plane was not damaged. Pilot L. E. McLaughlin halted the plane fifty feet from a road lined with poles supporting power lines near Jacobsville, Anne Arundel county, eight miles from the Baltimore airport.

The plane, bound from Miami to Newark, was scheduled to stop at Washington, but poor visibility there apparently prevented the landing and the pilot continued toward the Baltimore airport.

The passengers apparently were unharmed, a forced landing was contemplated. Mrs. Edward Jeffries, Jr., of Detroit, accompanied by her husband, said: "Not a word was passed about that we were lost. We heard radio advices to the effect we would land at 4 p. m. When our watches stood at 4:30 and we hadn't landed we knew something was amiss."

Grand Rapids Negro Dies After Stabbing

Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 3 (AP)—John Foster, 30, a negro, died tonight from wounds inflicted when he was stabbed last Monday. Another negro, Hortense Wardfield, 24, has been held in the county jail since the stabbing and Detective Walter Coe, who arrested him, said a charge of felonious assault would be changed to murder Monday.

Vanderbilt Girls Back In Stockings

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 3 (AP)—Vanderbilt co-eds agreed today it was sheer nonsense to protest the dean of women's edict against ankle wearing.

And so they donned their long sheer hose. Thus, an eventful chapter in campus history was closed and everything was lovely once more.

Leni Is Leaving

Gone from Hollywood is Leni Riefenstahl, German movie expert and friend of Hitler, after wholesale snubbing by studios and stars.

DICKSON SEEN IN WISCONSIN?

Milwaukee, Dec. 3 (AP)—B. E. Sackett, special agent in charge of the Milwaukee FBI office, said tonight that reports Benny and Estelle Dickson, fugitives, had been seen at Sullivan, Wis., late in the day were unfounded.

Sackett said he was advising police their highway vigils could be relaxed. The people who stopped at Sullivan for gas, Sackett said, turned out to be an innocent Illinois trio in their own coupe, instead of the fleeing Kansan wanted for a South Dakota bank robbery, his young wife and a "slumped over" man in the seat.

Chicago, Dec. 3 (AP)—State highway police threw up a blockade along the Illinois-Wisconsin border tonight when the Milwaukee office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported that a couple resembling Benny Dickson and his wife, fugitives from kidnaping and bank robbery charges, had been seen 30 miles west of Milwaukee.

The FBI said the suspected motorists were seen at 5:15 p. m. (E.S.T.) headed southward. Dickson and his 17-year-old wife, Estelle, are wanted for robbery of two South Dakota banks and for kidnaping two men and stealing an automobile in a flight early this week from Michigan across northern Indiana.

Pope Pius XI Back In Normal Health

Vatican City, Dec. 3 (AP)—Pope Pius resumed his regular heavy schedule of audiences today with little evidence of the illness which caused fears for his life a week ago. Apparently he has returned to normal health.

Guards Foil Escape Of 2 Long-Termers At Michigan Prison

Jackson, Mich., Dec. 3 (AP)—The alertness of two guards at the state prison of Southern Michigan prevented an escape attempt tonight by two Detroit long-term convicts.

The prisoners, Jack Blacel, 35, and Charles O'Brien, 34, surrendered to guards Irwin D. Coyle and Edward Plumley when they realized they were being watched. The men were placed in solitary confinement.

The two guards became suspicious when they noticed one of the pair had a rope under his arm. The prisoner, seeing the guards, tossed the rope into a hedge beside the prison wall and surrendered.

Warden Joel Moore questioned them and then ordered them into "solitary."

Blacel was sentenced to life Feb. 1, 1937, for the murder of Ted O'Farrell in a fight over a woman on a Detroit street. O'Brien was sentenced Feb. 25, 1930, to 20 to 25 years for the attempted abduction of Steve Atma of Hamtramck.

Both had earlier criminal records. O'Brien originally was committed to the Marquette Branch prison. He was transferred here in 1931 after becoming involved in a plot to smuggle firearms into the Marquette prison.

Consul Is Recalled At San Francisco; Reports To Hitler

San Francisco, Dec. 3 (AP)—Baron Manfred von Killinger, German consul general here, was enroute to Germany today, having been recalled to his country unexpectedly.

The consul's wife declared he merely had been summoned to Germany to "report." She said she expected him to return next month.

He was expected to report to Chancellor Adolf Hitler on the mysterious explosion which damaged the German steamer Vancouver in the Oakland estuary last Nov. 3.

Von Killinger boarded the ship after the blast and conducted a thorough investigation. Later he issued a statement declaring "an act of criminal sabotage" was responsible for the explosion.

ADOLF HITLER IS STILL MAN TO BE FEARED

RUMANIA BATTLES FASCISTS; ITALY WANTS TUNISIA

BY JOHN EVANS Associated Press General Foreign News Editor

Two months of peace in Europe have revived many of the old quarrels. "Peace in our time," said British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, came with the Munich accord, signed September 30.

Then the statesmen went back to drilling their armies. Peace, now, is being hunted with guns. Four men, who run one-third of the world, signed the Munich pact that dismembered little Czechoslovakia. They gave the pieces to Germany, Poland and Hungary. The remaining two-thirds of Czechoslovakia fell under German influence.

Future Course Obscure The whole world sees what is happening but even statesmen are puzzled to know much of the future.

The way ahead is obscure but the methods are plain and blunt. Diplomats still are polite but their countries' work sometimes has a hi-jacking air. Government-controlled newspapers and even officials demand others' territory, assault neighbors' leaders and urge someone to "halt Hitler."

Roughly, the Munich "peace" meeting brought a clear cleavage between "strong man" governments, the dictators, and the democracies. Germany's Nazi chief, Adolf Hitler, and Benito Mussolini of Italy worked together under their "Rome-Berlin axis" agreement.

Britain's Chamberlain and French Premier Edouard Daladier represented democracies. Their decision to sacrifice Czechoslovakia lifted the gloom of war from the map but revealed the ancient sores. The sores were there all the time but people forgot them in their bigger trouble, danger of war.

Jews Kept Off Streets Jews, Rumanian Fascists and Italy's clash with France illustrate the broad problem. Jews in Germany yesterday were forbidden to appear in certain main streets and public buildings. Restrictions that followed the assassination of a German diplomat by a Jewish youth in Paris November 7 aroused the world to rescue the 600,000 Jews in Germany. That brought new antagonisms. German Nazis resented the world's disapproval. British Jewish sympathizers criticized Chamberlain's desire to improve relations with Hitler. The fight goes on.

Rumanian King Carol had a Nazi problem of his own. The Fascist iron guard fought him, usually secretly. Recently Carol shopped around Europe to improve Rumania's position. Things began to happen when Carol got home fresh from a talk with Hitler. Cornelius Zelea Codreanu, Rumania's Nazi chief, and thirteen aides were shot down Wednesday outside a prison from which the government said they still ran the

STRIKERS HOLD UP NORMANDIE

Liner's Crew Is Laid Off By French Government In Labor Dispute Paris, Dec. 3 (AP)—The French government tonight laid up the liner Normandie and discharged its 3,000 crewmen and other employees in a move to break a strike of about 5,000 maritime workers at Le Havre.

Louis De Chappedelaine, minister of merchant marine, ordered discharge of the crew members who engaged in a sympathy strike with 60 of their fellow workers discharged for joining Wednesday's unsuccessful general strike. French line officials said the Normandie's operations were suspended only temporarily while the government sought to arbitrate between the company and the strikers. She was to have sailed for New York this afternoon.

Traffic Toll

Monroe, Mich., Dec. 3 (AP)—Henry Stahl, 80, of Petersburg, was killed by an automobile tonight while walking on a road near his home. The driver of the car which hit him, Leslie Low, 30, also of Petersburg, was ordered to report to Prosecutor Francis T. Ready Monday for questioning. Stahl was the father of Clifford Stahl, Republican, who was elected Monroe county register of deeds Nov. 8.

Father Betrays Bootlegging Son

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 3 (AP)—Farmer John Stoyko kept his word, sending son Mike to jail for four months. Etoyko told a federal court jury he had pleaded with the boy to remove an illicit whisky still from an abandoned mine on the farm property.

"If they raid the still, I'll tell them you own it," he said he warned the son. A guilty verdict was returned in 15 minutes.

Confessed Slayer Says He Killed Father In Drunken Stupor Chillicothe, O., Dec. 3 (AP)—Robert Bready, 29, charged formally today with killing his father, Dr. Russell H. Bready, Bainbridge, Ohio Methodist minister, said he deserved to be punished.

"I feel pretty bad about it," declared the accused slayer in his jail cell here. "There's no reason to feel otherwise." Asked if he realized he would be punished, the son who fought in Spain for a "thrill," said: "Yes, I have that coming to me."

DEFENSE IS SET FOR LIVINGSTON

Man Accused of Killing Leebove at Clare May Not Take Stand

BY G. MILTON KELLY
Harrison, Mich., Dec. 3 (AP)—Counsel for Carl "Jack" Livingston said today doctors would decide whether the one-time wealthy playboy should be permitted to take the witness stand in his trial for the murder of Isaiah Leebove, Michigan's enigma of politics.

The prosecution announced it would complete Monday or Tuesday the first step of its attempt to prove that Livingston, his inhibitions destroyed by habitual drunkenness, killed Leebove in envy of his success.

The defense, contending that Livingston is "not guilty by reason of insanity," then will open his case. The attorneys announced they would attempt to show that fear of Leebove and Detroit underworld characters, coupled with alcoholic excesses, drove Livingston insane.

They have entered no challenge to testimony by more than a dozen eye witnesses of the crime that it was Livingston who walked into a crowded tap room in a Clare hotel the night of May 14 and shot Leebove through the heart as he sat chatting with friends.

Trial fans who had looked for sensational disclosures of wild parties and drinking bouts have been disappointed. Those who had anticipated that the cloud of mystery which Leebove surrounded his activities would be stripped away also met disappointment.

armed conflict. The state department has discovered that any such proposal is under consideration, but reports have persisted the administration wants some changes in the act.

Want Embargo Lifted
The situation is complicated by the demands of Spanish loyalist sympathizers that the present embargo against arms shipments to both sides of Spain's civil war be lifted, on the grounds it hampers the loyalists but not the insurgents.

There has been some talk also of efforts to close American arms factories to Japanese war buyers, who are purchasing quantities of basic war materials in this country for prosecution of the war against China.

Senator Borah (R-Idaho) already has announced his opposition to any one-sided application of the neutrality act. Any effort in that direction would the congress into knots for months, he said.

Anti-Jewish measures in Germany, and the increased immigration of German Jews to this country, have raised the question of whether immigration quotas should be revised.

There is some sentiment in congress for relaxing the quota for Germany in order to permit more refugees to enter, but opposed to this is the firm stand of the American Legion and various labor groups anxious to stop all immigration until unemployment is reduced.

Already congressional leaders have expressed the opinion that any effort to tamper with immigration quotas would encounter strong opposition in both houses.

Philippine Question Up
Another matter which may cause prolonged discussion is the recent report of the Philippine-American commission. President Roosevelt endorsed the commission's recommendation that congress modify provisions of the Philippine independence act in order to give the Filipinos economic preferences for 15 years after independence in 1946.

The commission decided that the date of independence should be neither advanced nor retarded, but that cutting the islands' drift economically at that time would be disastrous to Philippine economy. Farm interests in this country take a different view. Should the independence act be opened for revision some groups may press for immediate political and economic independence of the islands.

Whatever treaties, agreements and instruments are reached at the forthcoming Pan-American conference at Lima, Peru, will be before the senate for ratification. This promises to open up the whole question of American relations with Latin America.

Administration leaders may be asked exactly what interpretation they place now upon the century-old Monroe Doctrine, which declares this continent closed to further European colonization. German activity in Latin America, economic and otherwise, is expected to be discussed from every angle.

The question of strengthening the Panama canal, vital link in American defense, has already been raised by Secretary Woodring's report that it must be made impregnable quickly.

An increased appropriation will be necessary for this purpose. When this issue comes before the lawmakers, it may occasion a widespread survey of the canal's position and bring up the long-proposed Nicaraguan canal for further consideration. Some military experts contend a second canal would be beneficial as an auxiliary waterway, particularly in time of war. Still others advocate two strong fleets, instead of one concentrated mostly in the Pacific, as at present, to avoid dependence on any canal.

Doubtless, congress will discuss

Wife Throws Away Shoe, He Kills Her

Harrisonburg, Va., Dec. 3 (AP)—Commonwealth's Attorney D. Wampler Earman of Rockingham county said Rosser Smith Morris, 59, was held on a charge of murder tonight after the tenant farmer told a story of slaying his wife Friday because he believed she threw away one of his shoes.

Mrs. Morris died in a hospital here this morning.

The prosecutor said Morris told him that on returning home, wearing boots, Thursday, the farmer asked for his shoes. Only one could be found and a child said Morris' wife had thrown the other away. Earman said Morris told him.

The commonwealth's attorney quoted the farmer as saying the next morning, without speaking to her, he struck his wife in the chest and back with the knife.

Job Compensation Cheating Watched

Saginaw, Dec. 3 (AP)—An intensive campaign to prevent frauds in obtaining compensation benefits will be launched by the Michigan unemployment compensation commission at its next meeting, to take place within the next week or ten days, Frank A. Picard, MUCC chairman, said here today.

"Now that the rush of starting payments to deserving persons is over," said Picard, "the commission intends to go after the fellows who have been getting compensation without being entitled to it."

Picard said the commission would seek the cooperation of employers, employes and the general public in uncovering such cases of fraud, pointing out that it is a matter of self-interest to employes to safeguard the state fund from exploitation by the undeserving. This cooperation is essential, said Picard, since the commission does not have enough staff members to cope with the problem adequately.

Plymouth Man Will Refuse Speakership

Detroit, Dec. 3 (AP)—Rep. Elton R. Eaton, Plymouth Republican, said tonight that he will not be a candidate for speaker of the Michigan house when it convenes next month.

Eaton said he intends to sponsor legislation to revise the election laws so as to prevent "mob political conventions" operated in a "cut and dried" manner. He said that, if he won the speakership, it might interfere with his promotion of such legislation.

Cancer Claims Life Of Student Prodigy

New York, Dec. 3 (AP)—Donald MacMurray, 24, student prodigy and brilliant chess player, who completed a four-year course at the University of Chicago in eight months, died today from cancer.

He had been studying psychology at Columbia university here.

PIGEONS EXPECTED BACK

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 3 (AP)—Unless the thieves who broke into Leo Kowalski's garage and stole 86 of his 300 pigeons prepare a squab dinner, their loot is apt to come flying right back home.

The birds were homing pigeons.

also the recent creation of a small Atlantic fleet, and the wisdom of continuing or strengthening it at the expense of the Pacific fleet.

The reciprocal trade treaties reached recently with Great Britain and Canada will come in for discussion from representatives of both critical and laudatory groups.

There is no general expectation, however, that the trade treaty act upon which Secretary Hull has based his policy of bargaining down world tariffs, will be revised.

SOUTHERN PINE PAPER CHEAPER

Six Million Dollar Mill To Be Constructed at Lufkin, Texas

Lufkin, Tex., Dec. 3 (AP)—E. L. Kurth, president of the Southland Paper Mills, Inc., announced today construction would be started early next year on a $6,000,000 newspaper paper plant here.

Kurth said financing was complete, contracts let and within a year the new plant would be converting southern pine into 50,000 tons of newsprint annually. This is only about 2 per cent of United States imports.

Southern newspaper publishers subscribed to $429,900 in stock and contracted to absorb the plant's entire output for five years at prices paid Canadian mills.

Lower freight costs and cheaper raw products would have enabled the Texas plant to undersell Canadian mills. The publishers, however, agreed to pay Canadian prices to insure profitable operation.

The process to be used was discovered by the late Dr. Charles Holmes Herty, famous Savannah chemist.

Lufkin was selected for the plant site because within a 50-mile radius there are 3,500,000 acres of southern pine. This supply will reproduce itself every 15 years, whereas Canadian spruce requires 60 years.

The sum of $3,425,000 was obtained from the RFC, to be repaid in ten years. The Southland Company financed the balance.

Conservation Staff To Seek Exemption From Civil Service

Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 3 (AP)—A discussion of proposals to exempt the state conservation department from the civil service act was anticipated here today as delegates of 68 organizations assembled for the first annual meeting of the Michigan united conservation clubs.

The expectation that the civil service issue would be injected into the meeting, which also will consider at least a dozen other aspects of conservation activities in Michigan, grew from a recent statement issued by Harry Gaines, of Grand Rapids, president of the conference.

In his statement Gaines attacked the dismissal of ten conservation officers and the demotion of five others for failure to pass civil service examinations as "unfair, inhuman and inconsistent with what sportsmen stand for."

Gaines recommended that the department be entirely exempt from civil service requirements.

JAPANESE ARE BOGGED DOWN BY BLIZZARDS

the deep interior capital of the Chinese, said the Japanese forces in China or Chinese waters amounted to 15 divisions 300,000 strong; 600 planes and 100 warships.

Since the Oct. 26 occupation of Hankow the Japanese had advanced southward along the Canton-Hankow railway about 175 miles only to be fought to a standstill or actually thrown back in the past two weeks after they had entered Hunan province, bound for its capital, Changsha.

Today the Japanese were reported about 55 miles north of Changsha. About 150 miles to the east of this sector there was another concentration of Japanese manpower on the Kiuksiang-Nanchang railway at Sunklapu, within 30 miles of Nanchang, Kiangsi provincial capital.

The Kiangsi force had made less than a 15-mile advance in the past month, about 50 miles since Kiuksiang was captured July 26.

The mountainous countryside through which the Japanese maintained a tenuous link between the Kiuksiang-Nanchang and Canton-Hankow railways was almost a no-man's-land with Chinese penetrating into the triangular area south of Hankow bounded on two sides by the Yangtze.

There were continuous attacks and counter-attacks inside the river bend, including large scale operations by Japanese airmen.

After chapel services tomorrow he will bid goodbye to a host of neighbors and take things easy waiting for train time.

Late today the president made public a routine report from the National Labor Relations Board showing it had closed 595 cases involving 78,583 workers during October, leaving pending on November 1 a total of 4,008 cases affecting 1,357,570 employes.

PRESIDENT GOES ON AIR MONDAY

2,000 Children Welcome Arrival of Santa Claus

Two thousand youngsters, to whom the arrival of Santa Claus each year means the beginning of the Christmas season, and a good representation of their elders, greeted the jolly old fellow Saturday afternoon, welcoming him at the Chicago and North Western station when he stepped off the train, cheering him as he rode down Ludington street in his special automobile, and greeting him with a shout that could be heard for blocks when he entered the Coliseum where he entertained at his annual Christmas party.

The program of the party, with Harold Gesener, master of ceremonies, included assembly singing of favorite Christmas songs, with Willard Clark at the piano, and numbers by a group of outstanding juvenile and professional entertainers.

Curly headed Ramona Hale of Gladstone gave her military tap number, "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," and an encore, with accompaniment by her mother, Mrs. Ronald Hale. Three Little Darkies, Dick Larue, Eileen Gaffney and Robert Curran, appeared in "Dark Town Strutters' Ball," dance and song number; pretty little Barbara McCormick appeared in a clever Hitch-Hiker's tap number; Peggy Saunders presented her difficult and graceful acrobatic feats; Shirley Fletcher appeared in an intricate tap dance, and Wilbur Leonard and Dale Boes in accordion and guitar numbers.

Billy Tatrow, "Billy the Wonder Boy," was the hit of the show, his fast tap dancing, his racing around on his hands as easily as most people travel on their feet, and his chair acrobatic stunts, climaxed by a leap over one chair, two, three and finally four, in which he landed on his hands and then, still on his hands, picked matches off the floor with his teeth, were greeted with uproarious applause. His "Poppy" impersonation was equally popular with the children.

Amateur Program
Slender, graceful Yvonne Dupree, of the Sherman hotel floor show, in acrobatic dancing, closed the regular program, and the party closed with an amateur performance in which members of the audience took part.

Following the party, Santa Claus, who is the guest of Herman Gesener each year, returned to the Fair Store, which will be his headquarters during the holiday season.

PAUL PERRIZO, DAGGETT, DIES

Pioneer Resident Passes; Was Menominee County Democratic Leader

Menominee—Paul Perrizo, 74, pioneer county resident of Daggett, and long-time leader of the Democratic party, died suddenly yesterday in Riverside, Calif., where he had intended to spend the winter with his daughter, Mrs. William Wheeler.

Mr. Perrizo, accompanied by Mrs. Wheeler, left Daggett last week by motor for the California city, arriving there Thursday. He was stricken soon after arriving Friday morning and died within a few minutes.

Relatives and friends in Menominee county, advised of Mr. Perrizo's death, said the body would arrive here Tuesday. Funeral arrangements have not been completed, but burial is planned in Daggett.

Paul Perrizo was born in Fond du Lac on January 26, 1864. His parents later removed to Delavan, Minn., where his father was identified with lumbering operations.

The family then moved to Marinette, and in 1887 went to Daggett where, a year later, Mr. Perrizo and his father opened a general merchandise store, widely known throughout the county as Perrizo & Son.

Besides his mercantile interests, Mr. Perrizo was active in the lumbering industry in Menominee county and organized the Talbot Lumber company, of which he was president for several years.

All stamp collectors of the vicinity are invited to attend.

This orchestra features singers and entertainers.

Band Practice Cut—Rehearsals of the municipal band will be cancelled for the month of December, beginning Monday.

Watch for Kidnapers—Members of the Delta county sheriff's department and city police patrolled main highways in this vicinity last night upon advice from Milwaukee police that Benny Dickson, widely sought kidnaper, had passed through that city yesterday afternoon heading towards the Upper Peninsula.

Attack by Deer—Ivar Hellman of Cornell reported yesterday that he was attacked by a deer while hunting several days ago. He said he and a friend, Ernest Mattonen, were sitting down eating lunch when a deer sauntered up and "squared off" for battle. However, it scampered off when shot in the leg by Mattonen before it could do any serious harm to Hellman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Buchanan of Wauwatosa, Wis., and Harry Larson of Milwaukee spent the weekend here with Mr. Larson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Larson. They will be accompanied on their return to Milwaukee today by Mrs. Victor Larson, who will remain for a two or three weeks' visit.

Wolverine in Disfavor

MEMBERS of the Southeastern Michigan Tourist and Publicity Association have resolved to change the nickname of Michigan from the Wolverine to the Lake State.

Most assuredly, Michigan can qualify well for the suggested name for it is almost completely surrounded by Lake Michigan, Superior, Huron, St. Clair and Erie, with thousands of sparkling lakes, teeming with fish, dotting the inland regions.

It is true, however, that Michigan cannot be rightfully called the Wolverine state since this animal is now extinct. If the official name is looking for something in the nature of wild life that is plentiful, we should like to suggest the silvery smelt.

But probably the sports writers would prefer using the nickname, Lake Staters. It should be put up to a vote.

Not Idle Long

THE Republican comeback at the Nov. 8 election will bring to an end after the first of the year the close association between Governor Frank Murphy and his secretary, Norman H. Hill, existing since Murphy was mayor of Detroit in 1931.

When Murphy went to the Philippines, he took Hill with him, and returning to Michigan to become governor he also brought the former Sault Ste. Marie newspaper man to Lansing to serve as executive secretary and director of the state tourist bureau.

Governor Murphy will retire to private law practice in Detroit for the time being, while Hill will assume immediately after the first of the year his new duties as secretary of the Flint Chamber of Commerce, a position held several years back, incidentally, by O. I. Baudene, at one time secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Hill has the necessary background of experience for the Flint job, and his many Upper Peninsula friends will congratulate him on being able to land a berth without losing any time. Not all who lose at politics can be as fortunate.

A Brighter Outlook

ANNOUNCEMENT that the U. S. Forest Service is busily engaged in building ski trails and slides in the Days river area, coupled with another that the Escanaba Golf club is establishing an ice rink, toboggan and ski slides, will be of much interest to winter sports fans, who have been expressing fears that Delta county will be lagging behind other Upper Peninsula communities in the development of this type of program.

The U. S. Forest Service is developing the Wickman property, acquired for a municipal golf course by the Gladstone City club, and also adjoining property optioned for inclusion eventually in the Hiawatha National Forest, the boundaries of which have been extended to the vicinity of Kipling.

The real winter sports development project will not be undertaken by the Forest Service until the federal government has obtained title to the land, which probably will be the following year. When this is done, the Forest Service expects to carry out its plans to build a substantial ski slide and recreational building along the lines of those being erected at winter sports development areas on national forests in the Northwest.

For the time being, the Escanaba Golf club will be available for the use of visiting winter sports fans, who might wish to use the clubhouse accommodations while enjoying themselves at the golf club and also the hills in the county. While Delta county may not have the possibilities offered at Iron Mountain, Ishpeming and Marquette, it appears that eventually there will be developed a winter sports program that will meet with general satisfaction.

Good Water, Not Oil

FOR years, sporadic efforts have been made to determine whether the Upper Peninsula has the same possibilities for an oil industry that has been developed in the Mt. Pleasant and other fields of the Lower Peninsula.

The Stack Lumber company, which owns considerable acreage in the eastern end of the peninsula, sometime ago began exploration work at its resort property on Manistiquette and Whitefish lakes. No oil was discovered, but at a depth of 1100 feet the drillers struck a heavy flow of artesian water. With a well producing about four thousand gallons an hour, it will be possible to pipe good artesian water to all the cottages on the Stack property.

Good water is a real asset to resort property, and its availability enhances the value of the land. The state health department has been insisting that Michigan resorts provide pure water and other sanitary conditions for their patrons. Upper Peninsula resort owners may meet these demands by drilling artesian wells, as many have done already.

How to Save Time

SAVING time is one of the best things done in the United States. A desire to save time sends us hurrying along the highways in great danger. Saving time brought about many improvements in modern equipment ranging from the huge assemblers of lines of industry to the orange squeezers in the kitchen.

It is of little importance here that no good use can be found for the time so saved. But the ambition to save time must generally be commended. Conservation of energy is another equally laudable ambition and both may be admirably served in the next few weeks by a few moments of thoughtfulness here and now.

Sit down at once, with pencil and paper. Make your Christmas lists and then: Do your Christmas shopping early.

Nothing Like It

TRAVELERS who drive into Escanaba are making our local citizens feel "good" by telling them that nowhere have they seen a business district as attractively lighted as Ludington street is during the Christmas shopping season.

The length and width of Ludington street adds to the effectiveness of the colored lights and evergreen decorations. The view is particularly impressive to those visitors who come into town on U.S. 41 from the west.

Escanaba merchants are doing a good job this year in their efforts to revive the good old Christmas spirit. But first of all it took a spirit of cooperation to do it. And there is more business for all of them when they work together toward that common end of making Escanaba a good shopping center.

DEER SEASON OVER

(Milwaukee Journal)

The 1938 Wisconsin deer hunting season ended on Friday night with 15 hunting fatalities among perhaps 75,000 hunters.

There is nothing startling about the number of fatalities. They don't begin to compare with motoring fatalities that steadily pile up their grim record from one year's end to the other.

Beyond that, regular deer hunting seasons—one every two years—probably are necessary. The deer herd otherwise might increase unduly or become a placid group of semi-domesticated creatures too inert to struggle for existence in the forests.

Deer, in their natural surroundings, are harried by natural enemies. They are hunted by wolves and cougars, attacked by other predators, compelled to be alert, quick, resourceful. Thereby they overcome not only these dangers but also those of starvation. They move about, forage over considerable areas, learn to find food even though the favored cedar swamps are blocked out by snowdrifts or encased in ice.

In Wisconsin deer no longer are in "natural surroundings." There are few wolves, no cougars, almost no other predatory enemies. So Wisconsin's deer, if undisturbed by hunting, readily might become too slothful to overcome the difficulties of a hard winter.

Moreover, the Wisconsin forests are only beginning to "come back." Many of them are new plantations; many others, but struggling and very young second growth. If the deer herd should become too abundant these young forests readily might be overbrowsed, the plantations destroyed.

Wisconsin must see to its forests first, its wild life afterward. Hunting, wisely controlled, is a factor in protecting forests against over-populations of wild life.

Of course, "special" hunting seasons raise other questions. Except as foresters request them to break up unusual concentrations of deer or other creatures, a state should be chary about permitting them.

While some "wild life control" is necessary, it should be remembered that Wisconsin wants as many deer and other creatures as it safely can have, for the sake of tourists, vacationists, resort owners and others as well as hunters.

MANY YULE TREES?

(Milwaukee Journal)

"One of the heaviest cuts of Christmas trees in years" is reported from Iron River, Mich.

Why? Are there indications of one of the heaviest demands in years? Or are the Christmas tree cutters just fixing to have some of the biggest bonfires in years, after Christmas?

Those bonfires cost money. When a surplus of trees is hauled to the Christmas market the losses offset the profits. They affect the price to producers. If 25c per tree was paid by "merchants" and if they then must burn half their trees because the market won't absorb them, they argue that trees are worth only 12 1/2c, in the forests.

They also argue, that, since half of a consignment of trees is just so much surplus stock that must be burned, the other half is worth twice its theoretical value. A tree that costs 25c in the forests, another 25c to cut and bundle, another 25c to ship, and another 25c for profit should sell to

NEA Service Staff Correspondent London—Baron Alfons de Rothschild, member of the once-powerful Austrian branch of the financial family, is today living in England, an exile from his home and a possible applicant for British citizenship. Like every other alien, he has to report himself and his residential address to the Alien Registration Office at famous Bow Street in London.

And that is a measure of the decline in power of the Rothschild family, which in the 19th century was a symbol of fabulous wealth and political importance.

The Rothschild fortunes were founded by Mayer Rothschild, who lived in the ghetto of Frankfurt and died in 1812. He had five sons. Anselm stayed in Frankfurt and carried on the family banking business there. Nathan settled in Great Britain, Solomon in Vienna, Charles in Naples and James in Paris.

Thus there were now five Rothschild banking houses acting independently in the five countries, but together when a big deal was necessary. The family became the bankers of kings and nations. They floated huge national loans. They were all ennobled by the proud Hapsburg emperor, becoming Barons of Austria. They helped finance and build great railway systems in France and Austria.

It was the English house which made a big fortune by getting first news of Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo in 1815. The English Rothschilds went from triumph to triumph. The second one of this branch, Baron Lionel Nathan Rothschild, was four times elected member of the House of Commons from London before he was allowed to take his seat, the disabilities imposed upon Jews being abolished in 1858. He was succeeded by his son, who became the first Rothschild peer of the British realm.

Disraeli, himself of Jewish blood, when Premier in 1874 pulled one of his most dazzling coups—the purchase of shares which gave Great Britain control of the Suez Canal. Parliament was not in session, so the money could not be gotten from the nation's treasury. His friends, the Rothschilds, advanced the $20,000,000 necessary, taking a chance on its being repaid.

In France, too, the Rothschilds had stunning success, surviving triumphantly all changes in the form of government. James, who established the French house, became the great friend of King Louis Philippe.

Down to the time of Leon Blum's Premiership, Rothschild brothers, Barons Louis, Eugene and Alfons, Eugene was the first Austrian host of the Duke of Windsor, entertaining him at Ensenfeld Castle. Both Eugene and Alfons were out of Austria when the Nazis took control. Baron Louis Rothschild is a Nazi prisoner, the rumor being that the Nazis are holding him for a gigantic ransom. In the meantime, they have grabbed all the Rothschild castles and estates.

Julius Strelcher, famous as the premier Jew-baiter of Germany, sneeringly remarked: "The era and dynasty of the House of Rothschild, as well as that of the Hapsburg emperors, is over and done with."

Not all the Rothschilds have been interested in finance. Rich by inheritance, some of them turned to other things. The late Lord Rothschild was interested in entomology and bequeathed to the British Museum the greatest private collection in the world. The successor to the title, Lord Victor, is connected with a Cambridge University experimental laboratory. In France Baron Henri de Rothschild is a well-known physician, founder of a free dispensary for the treatment of children's diseases.

the consumer for $1. But if half the trees incur these costs and then are unsold, the other half must take up the load. The tree that ought to sell to the consumer for $1, then is sold to him for $2.

So "one of the heaviest cuts in years," unless justified by the market, means smaller returns to the producer and higher costs to the consumer, this year or next or over a period of years.

It of course also means needless stripping of the forests. Since Christmas trees are not among the quick growing crops—a balsam or spruce requires at least six or seven years of growth to become a fair Christmas tree—men ought to cut them with a deal of circumspection.

The forests can produce all the Christmas trees the nation can use. Commercial growers also can produce them—in the forests, in nursery rows, in "cultivated" swamps or lowlands. But neither the forests, nurseries, swamps or lowlands can produce all that reckless dealers may haul to market and then burn up.

If we permit that kind of marketing and waste to continue we shall so deplete the natural supply that Christmas trees will become scarce—but, more important, we shall so strip the forests that young conifers no longer will blanket the soil, reduce evaporation, check erosion, keep the forests thrifty.

All that the public can do about it is to turn its patronage to good and careful producers and merchants as fast as they appear in the field.

A proposed plan to picket billboards with nudist bids fair to take the eyes of visitors off unsightly billboards.

The single objection to hidden taxes is that they are too easily found.

Mussolini bans the use of a "pony" in translating Latin in schools thereby coupling free livery service with free speech and freedom of the press.

The Department of Agriculture has announced that $7,000,000,000 eggs were laid last year. Exclusive of course of theatrical productions.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—The breath-taking move of the Securities and Exchange Commission to suspend from trading the stock of the Transamerica Corporation, holding company of the Bank of America, No. 1 financial institution of the Pacific Coast, is just the beginning of this sensational case. Before it is over there will be other eggs broken.

For behind the SEC's action is one of the bitterest inner Administration feuds in the history of the New Deal.

The chief rivals are William Douglas, tousel-haired, uncompromising head of the SEC, and short, hawk-faced Marriner S. Eccles of Utah, millionaire boss of the Federal Reserve Board.

Also involved in the vendetta are Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, who has frequently crossed swords with Eccles on his own account; ex-Senator William Gibbs McAdoo; former Comptroller of Currency "Jefty" O'Connor, who ran a poor fifth in California for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination; and last, but not least, President Roosevelt.

Douglas and Eccles are the most important financial executives in the Administration, next to Morgenthau. Both are very close to the President. But A. P. and L. M. Glanville, rulers of the giant Bank of America system, are the only top-hole financiers in the country who have supported the New Deal.

Not even the spectacular primary purge involved such an array of warring titans. And there is going to be slugging as sure as shooting—unless Eccles gives up and the Glanville makes terms with the SEC.

—DOUGLAS VS. ECCLES

Douglas, who brought the New York Stock Exchange to its knees, has never run from a fight in his life. He started this one and either he will finish it or it will finish him.

The affair started more than a year ago. David Schenck, head of the SEC's investment trust investigation, reported to Douglas that he had received certain information warranting an examination of Transamerica's application for registration.

Douglas told him to send several investigators to California. Copies of their report were dispatched to Eccles, O'Connor, Morgenthau and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Eccles and O'Connor did nothing about it. Morgenthau and the FDIC urged further inquiry, which Douglas promptly got under way.

After several more months of secret investigation, Douglas reported additional findings to Eccles, O'Connor, and the others. This time Eccles voiced sharp disapproval of the probe, but made no move to stop it. Later, when he went for a vacation, reports reached Washington that he was making disparaging remarks about the SEC.

—RUNS TO PAPA—

Two weeks ago the SEC completed its investigation and was ready to proceed against the Glanvilles.

Douglas personally informed Roosevelt, Morgenthau, the FDIC, and Preston Delano, new Comptroller of the Currency, and sent word direct to Eccles. All approved instituting action against the Glanvilles—except Eccles.

Instead, he took a train to Warm Springs and rushed to the President with an indignant protest that the SEC move was "precipitate, ill-advised and immature." Roosevelt made no comment, but several days later a full report of Eccles' fulminations reached both Douglas and Morgenthau. To say that they hit the ceiling is putting it mildly.

The showdown with Eccles will occur before or during the suspension hearings, scheduled for January 16, depending on what he does. Among the things he will be asked to explain are:

1. Why the Federal Reserve Board issued a permit to the Transamerica Corporation to vote the stock of the Bank of America.

2. Why he is so wrought up about the SEC's action.

3. Whether he is receiving compensation as an official of a corporation—not the Glanville firms—in violation of the law which bars Reserve Board members from engaging in private business.

NOTE—The SEC case does not involve the stability of the Bank of America, since over 90 per cent of its deposits are insured by the FDIC. Suspension from trading on exchanges is mainly important because lenders will not accept the suspended stock as security for a loan.

God, I know, will give us yet Skies without a thunder. God, I know, some day will set All his jewels gleaming; Not a rose will have a thorn— In a world of wonder We shall find a fairer morn Than our fondest dreaming.

Laugh and live and love today For the love that's in it. Knowing these shall pass away— Yet without a sorrow. When the sun shall set at night, Die the golden minute, God a brighter sun will light For the great Tomorrow.

CHESTER SIKO PLEADS GUILTY

Fined for Driving While Intoxicated; License Is Revoked

Chester Siko, Second avenue south, found out yesterday that it is serious business running into municipal Christmas trees—especially when driving a car while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Siko was taken to court yesterday for drunken driving and he pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined $50 and costs and his driver's license was automatically revoked for the period of a year.

The Christmas tree, which has been erected at the corner of Ludington and Ninth streets for the past couple years, has been the target of several motorists. Last year, it was knocked over several times. The tree hadn't been up more than an hour Friday when Siko's car struck it amidships, and moved it about a foot. City employes yesterday adorned the tree with colored lights.

HOME AND YARD

Last year Christmas home and yard lighting in the residential sections of Escanaba received much favorable comment both locally and in other peninsula communities. The only reason this was possible was because practically every home and yard in the community was gayly lighted and decorated. This year, if everyone makes just a little better effort, Escanaba will no doubt be the best lighted and decorated community north of Milwaukee. It's not too early, start now.

BUSINESS PLACE

Main street has already received a holiday spirit with bright lights, wreaths and lighted accessories. Think how much more beautiful it can be made if each business place along the street will just add a few lights and a little color. Think of how much more attractive your store front will be and how many more shoppers will be attracted to your doors. Make plans now to decorate and illuminate your windows and fronts.

DO IT --- BUT DO IT RIGHT!

Every year you read of fatal accidents caused by cheap and poorly constructed lighting fixtures. Escanaba has been fortunate in not having a serious accident occur in the past years so in 1938 be safe. Let's make Christmas in Escanaba more beautiful, generally happier and above all safe. Buy and use only tested and approved electrical equipment.

CIVIC COOPERATION MEANS SUCCESS

Again this year civic organizations, always on the alert to make Escanaba a better city in which to live, are sponsoring a home lighting and decorating contest in which every lighted and decorated home and yard is eligible to compete. It is the intention of sponsors of the contest that Christmas of 1938 will see Escanaba generally and every home individually appearing in its best holiday dress. This is a ONCE A YEAR OPPORTUNITY for everyone to participate in a worthwhile project in Escanaba.

Tells of Russia
"Women now have equal rights with the men of Russia—in that they do the same things—white collar jobs as well as laboring with pick and shovel. But formerly they were considered as household necessities."

The housewives of present day Russia also work under primitive conditions and carry on their work in the old back-breaking ways. They often have to stand in line for hours waiting to buy food and clothing from the government stores.

The above statement was made yesterday by Mrs. T. A. Hoffmeyer of this city in correcting some mistaken impressions, created by a Menominee newspaper's review of a talk she gave before the Menominee Woman's club last week.

Old Orchard Farm

Odd Jobs Now Being Done Around Grounds

In spite of the fact that general farm work is laid by for the winter season, employees at Old Orchard farm, the Daily Press experimental farm at Flat Rock, are finding plenty to do to keep them busy these days. In addition to the daily chores about the barns and chicken house a multiplicity of jobs are getting attention.

In the remodeling and building work that has been going on at the farm for the past year and a half, there was a monster pile of odds and ends of old and new lumber, logs and packing cases accumulated. This pile has been carefully sorted, to save the lumber that may be of use later and the remainder was converted into wood. The farm buzz at and tractor were brought into use for this work and a long pile of dirt was now lined the barnyard fence, for use when it may be needed. In addition, in the two wood lots on the farm there were a few windfalls, where trees were blown down or tops ripped off, during wind storms of the past summer and fall. These are being trimmed up and the brush burned and when time is offered, the trunks of the trees and the larger limbs will be converted into stove wood.

Another job that is now practically completed is the resorting of the seed corn, selected at husking time, for use in planting next season's crop of field corn at the farm. As the most perfect ears are picked out, they are tied in long strands, with twine, and hung up in the ceiling of the furnace room at the house, where complete drying is assured. Later kernels from the selected ears will be tested for their fertility, to make certain a good stand of corn when the seed is placed in the ground. The major portion of next year's corn crop will be a yellow dent that bears ears of moderate size and with a corn plant that is well set with leaves, making it valuable both for silage and for mature corn. The seed was obtained originally from the lower peninsula and has no particular name, but is known as a "finely day" corn. This seed was planted, with two other varieties, last spring and was the first to mature by two or three weeks. The first ears to mature were marked in the field and later gathered, to provide next season's seed, when the same process of ear selection will be followed. In addition it is planned to plant, at Old Orchard farm next season, some variety of hybrid corn that will give some promise of maturing in this section. The farm manager is now engaged in correspondence with several field crop experts, conversant with average weather conditions in this section and a selection will be made well before corn planting time.

It takes a lot of time just to do the daily chores about even a small farm, with a small number of farm animals. The two farm mares, Beut and Bell, must be fed three times a day, when the weather is inclement and they are left in their stalls. In addition they must be curried and brushed thoroughly at least once a day. On warm, sunny days, the horses are allowed to run in the corn field, during the middle of the day and they certainly seem to enjoy that daily outing, with the added pleasure of flinging stray ears of corn, missed by the huskers and all of which add to their flesh and general well being.

The farm's two cows and heifer, must have their ground grain ration at least twice a day and their mangers are kept constantly filled with hay. The cows are seldom allowed out of the barn, after rigorous fall weather conditions develop. The cow barn is equipped with drinking cups, so they have water constantly in front of them, a convenience that is a far cry from the old days when it was necessary to drive the cattle to a nearby spring twice a day, or break the ice in a wood stove water tank, to secure their much needed water ration, if they are to produce milk.

The six Chester White pigs purchased for the farm a short time ago, are making most substantial gains. They have ear corn constantly in front of them and once

Southern California Trips Up Notre Dame, 13-0

IRISH NATIONAL TITLE BID GONE

Victory of Rose Bowl Team Watched By 101,000 Fans

BY ROBERT MYERS
Los Angeles, Dec. 3 (AP)—Notre Dame came tumbling off football's highest peak today, knocked down for the first time this year by Southern California, the Rose Bowl hopes of the far west, in a savage game that ended in a 13 to 0 victory for the Trojans before a record crowd of 101,000.

Beaten twice this year but determined to carry no more defeats into the Rose Bowl against Duke January 2, the Warriors of Troy upset the Notre Dame hopes in two lightning-like thrusts that spelled gloom for the Irish.

Fumble Recovered
Coach Howard Jones' eleven scored the first touchdown in the fading moments of the first half after the Irish had gambled for a first down in midfield and lost, and hammered the Notre Dame defense 35 yards after recovering a fumble late in the fourth period. It was the thirteenth annual struggle between these two inter-sectional foes, and the courageous lads from South Bend went into the game on the crest of eight victories, Minnesota, Northwestern, Army, Navy, and all the others on one of the toughest schedules in the land had surrendered to the Irish forces, but Troy refused to bend.

Packed in the Coliseum was the biggest Los Angeles crowd of the colorful Notre Dame-U. S. C. series. It rivaled the huge throngs that saw the game in Chicago in 1929.

Misses By Yard
Keyed up to a pitch of excitement, both elevens missed scoring opportunities in the first part of the battle. Then came another opportunity for the so-called Notre Dame opportunists. But Bob Sagau, the splendid Irish sophomore halfback star, who tried to make three yards on fourth down, missed by one yard on the Irish 33.

The Trojans took the ball and Ollie Day, a reserve, trotted into the S. C. backfield. Two plays later, with the ball on the 37, Day sailed a pass into the arms of Al Krueger, hard-socking sophomore end. He took it on the six and fell across the line with a Notre Dame tackler, apparently Zontini, catching his ankles. Phil Gaspar missed the conversion and 35 seconds later the half ended.

The Irish came out battling after the rest, but so did the Trojans. They were without their star quarterback, Grenville Lansdell, who left the game in the first quarter with a twisted ankle, but Day, Mickey Anderson, Jack Banta, Jimmy Jones and a few other lesser lights were carrying on the battle.

Touchdown in Ten Plays
The second break for S. C. came with about ten minutes of the fourth period left. Joe Piepul fumbled and Jimmy Jones came up with the ball for Troy on the Irish 35.

Ten plays—crash!—Troy's second touchdown. Gaspar's conversion was successful this time, and there was the score, 13 to 0.

Notre Dame wasn't through trying, however. Sagau, after the kickoff, reeled off 21, Tonelli added up several sizes, Sagau passed 13 yards to Steve Sitko, and Notre Dame reached the Trojan 14, first down. Two passes fell incomplete as the Trojan ends piled in on Sagau, and the third heave was intercepted by Bob Peoples, sub fullback, who ran it back 29 yards. It was the Irish's last chance.

The Irish outgained the Trojans on punting plays, 145 yards to 98, but the combined passing and running of the Trojan team brought the edge to Troy by 151 yards to 66.

In the first period the Irish drove from midfield to the Trojan 22, but lost the ball on downs as the Trojan aerial defense swamped the Irish passers.

Notre Dame Has Edge
Early in the second quarter Notre Dame's Morrison fumbled and Gaspar got the ball on the Irish 31, but two plays later the Trojans fumbled and Morrison recovered.

Rocking back and forth, Troy steamed up a drive of 63 yards that carried to the Irish 16, but Gaspar's try for a field goal from the 25 was wide.

The result left Notre Dame winner of seven games in the series, U. S. C. five, with one tied. Notre Dame's first chance in eight years for an undefeated, untied season was stopped by Troy's best team in five years.

BIG TEN VOTES AGAINST BOWL

Training Table to Give Free Evening Meal for Players

BY EARL HILLIGAN
Chicago, Dec. 3 (AP)—Western Conference faculty representatives quickly tipped over the Rose Bowl idea today—and then set one up "on the house" in the form of a free evening meal for Big Ten football players.

With a decision to reaffirm their standing of years against post season gridiron contests, the faculty advisors turned thumbs down on a plan which would have made the Rose Bowl game an annual contest between a Big Ten team and one from the Pacific Coast Conference.

The faculty representatives, pointing out that no formal proposal for such a reciprocal arrangement ever had been received from west coast authorities, adopted this motion: "In view of the wide publicity given to the matter of prolonging the football season so as to permit the playing of post season games, it was moved and carried that the conference reaffirm its ruling against such extension of the playing season."

Bees Play Fridays
Authorization of the training table plan was speedily achieved. Schools will be permitted to furnish the evening meal daily to players throughout the gridiron season. Heretofore players have been furnished meals until the opening of classes.

Conference "B" football teams were voted permission to play Friday games and the faculty members decided that John Marucci, crack Minnesota junior end, is eligible for another year of varsity competition. Marucci played varsity ball one year for Hibbing (Minn.) Junior college, while a freshman at the institution. It was decided that junior college varsity competition, while the player is a freshman at the college, does not constitute a year of varsity competition against the player should he transfer schools.

Track coaches decided to hold the central collegiate indoor meet at Notre Dame, March 10-11 and the outdoor meet June 2 Marquette university, Milwaukee. Baseball coaches, formulating their 1939 schedules, decided to play games regularly on Fridays and Saturdays throughout the season and that each team should play every other conference team within a five-year span.

Oklahoma Crushes Washington State

Norman, Okla., Dec. 3 (AP)—Oklahoma's Sooners, gridiron champions of the Big Six, crushed Washington State's Cougars, 28 to 0, here today with a last-half surge that carried them to the end of an all-victorious season and ran their victory string to 14 in a row.

A crowd estimated at 15,000 fans watched the Sooners score three touchdowns in the third period after a scoreless first half. By handing the Cougars their worst beating of the season, the Sooners wrote the final figures into a season's record of 10 wins to carry against undefeated Tennessee in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., Jan. 2.

Hugh McCullough, playing his last game on his home field, scored two touchdowns and Bob Seymour, hard-running halfback, the other in the third period spurge.

Southern Methodist Upset By Rice, 25-14

Houston, Tex., Dec. 3 (AP)—Ernie Lain and Ollie Cordill found themselves and each other today in the last game of the Southwest conference season and led Rice Institute to a 25-14 upset victory over Southern Methodist university, league runners-up to Texas Christian.

Lain heaved two touchdown passes to Cordill. Cordill scored a third and E. Y. Steakley, a senior speed merchant, snagged another of Lain's passes for the fourth touchdown.

Rice showed the potential power the critics gave it before the season opened, marching 84 yards for its first touchdown. Cordill smashed over from the two.

Brooklyn Triumphs In Refugee Benefit

New York, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers scored a 27-14 victory over the Metropolitan college All-Stars today at Ebbets Field in a benefit game for German, Austrian and Czechoslovakian refugees.

A crowd of 9,615 attended. The professionals established a 27-0 advantage in the first half, due largely to the short plunges of Vannie Albanese and the effective punting of Ace Parker. When the second half began, however, the collegians, paced by Sid Luckman's spectacular passing, climbed back into the running with two touchdowns.

Orange Bowl Team Beats Mississippi

Memphis, Tenn., ec. 3 (AP)—The power valve on the University of Tennessee gridiron machine remained wide-open today and the Orange Bowl selection roared to a 47 to 0 triumph over a hapless Mississippi Rebel team before 20,000 fans.

It was the Volunteers' tenth consecutive victory of the season. Six different ball carriers accounted for the touchdowns and the experts were chattering by half-time that "anybody" could score behind the blocking afforded by the orange-clad forwards.

The Rebels, weakened by the absence of their injury-ridden, all-America halfback, Parker Hall, much of the game, were completely bewildered by the potent offensive tactics of the victors.

George (Bad News) Cafego, hailed as the Vols' No. 1 back, scored only one touchdown, clipping a 64-yard drive, but spectacularly contributed to the other touchdowns. He turned in a major share of the 340 yards amassed by the Vols in their running game. Volunteer defenses held Mississippi's ground gaining to 56 yards.

Minnesota Opens With Easy Victory

Minneapolis, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Minnesota basketball team opened its pre-conference schedule tonight by winning about as it pleased from South Dakota State, 46 to 36.

While only ten points separated the teams when the final gun sounded, Coach Dave MacMillan had an entire team of reserves in during the last eight or ten minutes when the Jackrabbits scored 14 points to only three for the Gophers.

Joe Louis' Father Buried In Alabama

Lafayette, Ala., Dec. 3 (AP)—Monroe Barrow, father of Joe Louis, negro, heavyweight boxing champion, will be buried tomorrow in the family burial ground on the farm that Joe's great grandfather bought just after the civil war.

Louis, whose real name is Joe Louis Barrow, is not expected to attend but a brother and two sisters came here from Detroit to arrange for the funeral. The aged Barrow died last Monday at the Mt. Vernon state hospital.

Olif L. Walton, Lafayette newspaperman, said the undertaker told him Joe, seventh of eight children born on the Barrow farm nine miles from here, was paying the expenses.

Coaches and Schedules

(This is one of a series of biographies of high school coaches compiled by the Upper Peninsula Sportswriters' Association.)

Al Treado has taken over coaching football and basketball at Lake Linden high school this year after compiling a great record as coach at L'Anse in 1934 and as assistant at Ironwood in 1935 and head basketball mentor at Ironwood in 1936 and 1937.

While he was directing the high school cagers at Ironwood in 1937, Treado's team won the Upper Peninsula championship for the first time in 29 years of Ironwood history by defeating the great Ishpeming team by a score of 17-16 in a memorable four-overtime period game.

At L'Anse the next year, his team won the district title. Treado moved to Lake Linden this fall and immediately went to town, producing a football team which won six conference victories to capture the Copper Country title and lost only to Ontonagon by 6-0.

Treado starred at Michigan high school whence he was graduated in 1926 and at Northern State Teachers college. He won letters in football at the end position and in basketball at center under coaches Vic Hurst and C. B. Hedgecock. He was graduated from Northern in 1931 and earned his master degree at the University of Michigan in 1932.

The Lake Linden mentor is 29 years of age and is married. The Lake Linden schedule is as follows:

Dec. 2—Ishpeming*.
Dec. 9—Hancock.
Dec. 16—Calumet.
Jan. 6—Painesdale*.
Jan. 13—Dollar Bay.
Jan. 20—L'Anse.

Doc Kearns Loses $1,042 In Court On Adamick Ballyhoo

Detroit, Dec. 3 (AP)—Jack "Doc" Kearns, who piloted Jack Dempsey into the world's heavyweight championship, dropped a decision in recorder's court today when Judge John J. Maher ordered him to pay John Hetteche, Detroit automobile dealer, $1,042 which Kearns allegedly borrowed from Hetteche to bally-hoo Jimmy Adamick, young Michigan fighter.

Hetteche testified the money was borrowed while Kearns was dragging Adamick up and down Broadway and hailing him as "better than Dempsey."

Adamick was seriously injured recently in a fight here with Roscoe Toles. He was released from the hospital after several weeks' treatment and is now reported to be living in Hetteche's home. Kearns promoted the fight.

Judge Maher gave Kearns 20 days to pay the judgment.

MINOR LEAGUES HOLD POW-WOW

Bargain Hunters Move Into New Orleans; Rumors Thick

BY KENNETH GREGORY
New Orleans, Dec. 3 (AP)—Baseball's bargain hunters, ready to talk long but not loudly to gain the best of trading, moved into New Orleans today for the annual pow-wow of minor leagues.

Behind the scenes of crowded hotel lobbies, executives of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues will attend to organization problems, pointing chiefly toward uniformity.

Since the close of the 1938 season many rumors have reached the surfaces, and with major league clubs preparing to strengthen and reinforce for the forthcoming campaign this minor league confab may be the occasion of numerous deals. Unfinished business in the purchase and trade division will be carried over to the major league meetings in New York next week.

The 37th annual assemblage of the governing body of the minors finds the organization prepared to study and very likely take action on problems designed to bring the 37 leagues into closer uniformity, especially as regards class rules, the championships, scoring and official averages.

Practically every major league club has been reported ready to listen to deals that will fortify a weak link. The minor league gathering for years has been the scene of a major part of the trading.

An advance rumor that will be watched is the one attached to the New York Giants, who have been reported as having offered St. Louis $250,000 for either Ducky Medwick or Jimmy Mize. The Chicago Cubs are ready to entertain propositions, as are the Cincinnati Reds, who are not satisfied with several positions.

Cleveland, Detroit, Washington and Pittsburgh are reported ready to listen to trade talk.

YOUTH BOUND OVER ON BOND

Robert Kositzke Charged With Driving Away With Automobile

Robert Kositzke, who resides on South 17th street, was bound over to circuit court yesterday after he had waived examination in justice court on unlawfully driving away an automobile.

Kositzke, who was arrested by city police as an aftermath of an investigation of a series of robberies which has extended over a period of several months, was charged with theft of a car belonging to Mrs. T. E. Strom several weeks ago. Bonds were set at $500, which he was unable to furnish, and he was taken to the county jail.

Kositzke was one of three youths picked up by police after one of the other two, both of whom are minors, confessed to a series of thefts of numerous articles from homes and automobiles throughout the city during the past several months. The investigation, which has continued for two days, has revealed a series of petty crimes which has amazed even the police. Since the arrest of the three, police have discovered many thefts not previously reported.

200 Loyalists Are Returning To U. S.

Word has been received from Washington that 200 American volunteers, who have been fighting with the Loyalist forces in Spain, were scheduled to sail yesterday from Havre, France, aboard the S. S. Normandie for their homes in this country.

Included among the 200 volunteers returning, it is believed, are Joseph Girard and Roach Kidd of Escanaba.

A later dispatch told of the cancellation of the sailing of the Normandie because of a seamen's strike, and the transfer of passengers to other ships.

iron guard. It was announced the prisoners tried to escape. Yesterday there were killed three iron guards who admitted shooting a university rector who opposed their movement. They also were asserted to be escaping when on their way to trial. Those things strengthen Carol because he wouldn't want his Rumanian Nazi enemies dickered with Hitler. If Carol joins the Hitler movement, he wants to run his own show.

All "Powder Kegs" Italian-French trouble is an old story. Just now the French complain that Italian Fascists shout too loudly their desire for French territory. Italy long has sought "rights" in Tunisia in that north Africa protectorate Italy once had for her own schools and courts for her preponderant Italian population. France promised Italy "satisfaction" during the 1914-1918 war but Italy didn't get it. She got instead continuation of those rights for a few years. There is no formal demand for more but Mussolini's black shirt Fascists often voice an informal one. Also they frequently remind France that Alpine France and Corsica once were Italian.

All these muddles of statecraft are powder kegs for Europe because nations have seen what force will do. German force inspired such a fear of trouble that Hitler took over Austria last March 13 and got what he asked for in Czechoslovakia under the Munich accord.

For the moment Britain and France don't parade their force because it didn't get them anything at Munich. There they decided Hitler's peace terms were better than a general war. Yet both countries frankly and openly furnish their arms with the definite idea of making themselves strong enough to talk turkey to Germany—some day.

Guns, drums and soldiers cause a terrible uproar but in the bedlam the peacemakers still struggle for peace.

Chamberlain said he would borrow an Americanism and make himself a "go-getter" for peace. He went to see Hitler at Munich and Jan. 11 he is going to Rome to see Mussolini.

Daladier, likewise, is at work. While labor Wednesday fought his economic measures with a general strike that failed to stop him, he kept on talking to Germany and Tuesday Hitler's right hand diplomat, former champagne salesman Joachim von Ribbentrop is going to Paris to sign a French-German declaration similar to one Hitler and Chamberlain made at Munich.

TERRORISTS EXECUTED

Bucharest, Dec. 3. (AP)—Three confessed terrorist prisoners were shot and killed today by their guards in Rumania's quick-triggered campaign to wipe out the Fascist-patterned anti-semitic iron guard.

The shooting of three assassins at Cluj brought to 17 the number of prisoners disposed of in that fashion within four days—all killed, officials said, when they attempted to escape.

Last Wednesday Corneliu Zelea Codreanu, convicted of treason as leader of the iron guard, and 13 sub-leaders were shot down when, it was said, they tried to flee while being transferred from Rumnik-Sarat prison to Bucharest for questioning.

Codreanu was suspected by authorities of having directed an iron guard rebellion conspiracy from prison—a plot which they said cropped out at Cluj last Monday in an attempt on the life of the rector of the University of Cluj, an outspoken opponent of the iron guard.

Tried To Escape?

The three killed today had confessed the assassination attempt on the rector, Flori Stefanescu Goanga. The rector was gravely wounded but a detective who tried to protect him was shot and killed.

The trio, Nikolai Fagadaru, Hicu Ananai and Petru Andrei, all in their middle 20's, had admitted they were members of the iron guard and had taken orders from Codreanu.

They were being taken from court to prison at Cluj early today when, their guards reported, they tried to escape. Succinctly came the official report to Bucharest: "On the way back to prison the three youths made a break for freedom whereupon they were shot dead."

The shooting conformed to an order to gendarmes issued Wednesday after the mass killing on the road from Rumnik-Sarat—shoot without warning in event terrorists are caught in the act of committing crimes.

Attempting to escape constituted a crime.

The killing was another step in an anti-iron guard drive which, it was estimated, had put more than 2,000 persons suspected of guardist intrigue into jails throughout Rumania.

An interior department official said the record was "eloquent evidence" that the government would not shrink from "as much firmness as is necessary" to suppress terrorism.

FRENCH ARE FIRM

Paris, Dec. 3. (AP)—France will tolerate no interference in Tunisia whatever may be the outcome of the French protest to Italy against the Fascist clamor over the French African protectorate.

The protest was made yesterday after Italian deputes and the controlled Fascist press had indicated Italy was dissatisfied with the status quo in Tunisia. The Italian foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, was disclosed today to have disavowed any official responsibility.

This disavowal cleared up the situation somewhat but concern persisted.

The French were piqued especially by the statement in yesterday's Rome newspaper Il Giornale d'Italia that Italy is "ready to march against France if necessary."

It was met here with the comment in authorized quarters that France, no matter what the circumstances, would stand in official circles, feels the Tunisian question was settled definitely by the January, 1935, agreement between French premier, Pierre Laval, that agreement granted Italian residents of Tunisia the right to remain Italian citizens but on the understanding that they refrain from political demonstrations.

In addition to Count Ciano's statement, made to the French ambassador, Andre Francois-Poncet, the French government would like a more formal assurance that Italy has no designs on the Mediterranean status quo.

BRITAIN TAKES HAND

London, Dec. 3. (AP)—Great Britain backed France today by deciding on diplomatic action to block Italian designs on Tunisia, French African protectorate.

The Fascist challenge to French control of Tunisia has threatened to deliver a final blow to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's European appeasement policy, already weakened by Germany's anti-Semitic campaign.

The Tunisian development led Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax to order immediate strong representations at the Italian foreign office.

With vital English and French strategic interests in the Mediterranean involved, Lord Halifax, rollable quarters said, ordered Britain's ambassador to Rome, the Earl of Perth, to take a "firm stand" against Italy's latest anti-French drive.

This drive threatened to wreck Chamberlain's projected visit to Rome. First announced Monday, the trip was set today for Jan. 11 to 14. The foreign office announced the date, however, amid conjecture that Chamberlain might not go at all as a result of the French-Italian friction.

During a three-month period, births in England and Wales showed there were 1045 boys to every 1000 girls.
