FR. BATESKI IS HONORED

DeTour Priest Is Named Vice President of Association

At the recent first anniversary meeting of Michigan United Conservation clubs in Grand Rapids, the Reverend Fr. Theo. Bateski of DeTour, Chippewa county, was elected vice president for the Upper peninsula, an action pleasing to the entire district.

Father Bateski has been for years a leading conservationist in northern Michigan, and has been in the forefront of the movement to close the famous Potagannissing Bay, at the mouth of St. Mary's River, to commercial fishing. The bay is an exceptional spawning and breeding ground for game fish, and the plan bids fair to be crowned with success next year.

"Intelligent conservation and resorting developments go closely along together," said Father Bateski. "Potagannissing Bay is one of the outstanding beauty spots of the Great Lakes, and if the game fishing formerly so plentiful can be saved, results will register in a greatly increased tourist patronage to the north country."

The meeting adopted a resolution favoring the raising of the general rod license fee from 50 cents to one dollar, the extra funds received to be allocated by the state for the further acquisition of stream and lake frontage. This is a controversial proposition which is likely to be the subject of much argument before the next session of the Michigan Legislature.

Harry R. Gaines and W. B. Perkins, Jr., both of Grand Rapids, were reelected president and secretary. Vice presidents serving with Father Bateski are Herman Kays, Petoskey, north of townline 16, and Jos. McArthur, Dowagiac, for the southern part of the state. Jacob Lieveuse of Holland was reelected treasurer.

Bans Rabbits

DR. R. C. FARRIER

Chicago, Dec. 14.—Health authorities issued a warning again yesterday to hunters and persons engaged in cleaning rabbits as at least one new rabbit fever death and a number of new cases were reported.

The death was that of Joseph Plaza, 55 years old, a grocer of Fairmount City, near East St. Louis. He became ill Saturday after cleaning a rabbit. His death, the twelfth of its kind since the hunting season opened on Nov. 10, was the second to occur in the East St. Louis area.

Thirty cases of rabbit fever, or tularemia, have been reported in or near St. Louis and about 300 throughout the state. Dr. R. C. Farrier, district medical director, last week ordered a ban on the sale and transportation of rabbits near East St. Louis. The state health board said the infection is the worst in the state's history.

Dr. Farrier was former director of the Delta county health department.

CONTEST WILL START FRIDAY

Snow Sculpturing To Be Sponsored By City's Recreation Dept.

A snow sculpturing contest beginning Friday, December 17, and ending Friday, December 30, will be conducted by the City Recreation Department, with the cooperation of the WPA Recreational Leaders. The dates are subject to extension in the event that there is insufficient snow for modeling.

Contestants will be divided into two classes: Juniors, 12 years and under; and seniors, 13, 14, and 15 years of age. One or more participants may work on the same entry, and in the event that that entry wins first place, all members shall be credited with a first.

There will be four entry classifications: 1. animals; 2. snowmen; 3. characters; 4. miscellaneous. The miscellaneous class may include buildings, automobiles, airplanes or any subject not mentioned in the first three classifications. To participate in the contest, boys and girls are to complete their entry, then notify the Department of Parks and Recreation, telephone 1976 or assigned representative and the judges will visit the entry as soon as possible, scoring the entry. Where possible, a picture will be taken. The entry will be judged upon appearance, proportion, originality, design, and setting.

Judges will decide the first three places in each division and in each of the four entry classifications. PC points will be awarded all competitors.

The rules of the contest permit the use of wooden staves or forms around which the snow may be modeled. The practice of forming the model and then freezing in order that the object will obtain its original shape is permitted. The use of artificial color is also permitted. Ways in which color is introduced is by the use of calcimine, which is applied with a brush or with ordinary dyes dissolved in water and the mixture put on the object. In some cases, a slush is made and used for the final coating.

Entry is based only upon a call to the Department and a request that judges be sent out. Judging will begin Monday, December 19 and will end Friday, December 30.

Trucking Terminal For Local Concern Under Construction

A new terminal for the L and L trucking company of this city is now under construction at the corner of Ludington and Fifth streets. The building will house the entire fleet of the local concern, and provide dockage space for transfer of freight from one run to another.

Concrete has been poured for the foundation of the new building, and masonry work on the brick walls has been started. Grover Lewis, head of the concern, said yesterday that work will probably be terminated shortly until spring.

The new building will house offices of the company, as well as facilities for handling freight. The side of the terminal facing Ludington street will contain the offices, and the rear, extending the full depth of the lot, will be used for storage and transfer.

Trucks will not have to be moved from the time they come in until they go out on the next day's run. In the new building, space will be provided for 12 trucks to back against the dock on the fifth street side of the building. The present buildings used by the company will be devoted to storage and garage space.

The local company runs trucks on daily schedules on lines from Escanaba to the south, west and north. "Escanaba is the ideal location for a terminal serving the Upper Peninsula," Lewis stated yesterday. "as all runs can be made from this city to transfer points and back in a single day. All our men live in Escanaba, and are able to be at home every night when they are working on scheduled runs."

A North Western railway calendar hangs on the wall of Lewis' office, and its presence there is symbolic of the rare cooperation between truck and rail companies that exists in Escanaba. The L and L trucks carry North Western freight, under contract, to all intermediate points between this city and Menominee, Ishpeming and Iron Mountain, and pick up freight to be transferred for shipment by rail.

Located at Escanaba, in the center of the peninsula, and only one block from the North Western freight depot, the new terminal is ideally situated for its function.

ALBERTA ON MAP

L'Anse—Alberta, Mich., the little white sawmill village in Baraga county on US-41 is so new that state highway maps do not show its name.

But the state learned about Alberta through the rotogravure section of the Detroit News Sunday in a page of pictures showing the model homes and the neat white mill built by the Ford Motor company and named after Alberta, the daughter of Fred Johnson, superintendent of Ford industries at Iron Mountain and L'Anse.

There are 68 persons who live in the village. They reside in 12 modern bungalows with wide grass lawns, gardens and a school. The community is a surprise to the speeding motorists who come upon it suddenly in the heart of deep timber.

BUILDING DOCK AT MUNISING

Mayor John Hannah Sees Boost for Tourist Business

Munising, Mich.—A much-needed improvement is under way in this city in the construction of a municipal dock, to cost approximately $65,000, and to be located at the foot of Elm avenue near the Beach Inn.

The dock will be L-shaped, extending straight out into Munising Bay 500 feet, with a 300-ft. breakwater arm. This will afford ample protection for small and large craft. Practically all vessels now sailing the Great Lakes will be able to dock here. Sheet piling will be used on a solid sand fill, with a black-top penetration surface, or possibly concrete. The structure will be lighted by a boulevard white way system.

Construction is made possible through a PWA grant of $32,727, with the city paying the balance through a 15-year bond issue which has been authorized. "The dock will be ready for next summer's business and will be free to all craft," said Mayor John Hannah. "It will thus be available to the Pictured Rocks and Grand Island ferries, excursion boats for the deep sea fishing which is rapidly growing in vogue here, and for yachts and pleasure boats from all over the Great Lakes region, which will hereafter find a good berth at the Naples of America."

The structure will supplant the old city dock which stood on the site for many years and has fallen into disrepair. The Cleveland Cliffs Iron company has given the city a tract of shore frontage extending for 900 feet east of Elm avenue which will be developed, probably next spring, as a city park. The area, fronting on beautiful Munising Bay, will be landscaped and a bandstand erected and possibly an open air swimming pool installed.

Michigan Mirror

Doings About Capitol

Lansing—Voters of Michigan may be called upon to express approval or disapproval next April of two additional amendments to the state constitution.

Encouraged by the success of the "good roads" amendment at the November 8 election, the Michigan Education association proposes to seek legislative action next month to earmark state funds for educational purposes. So far the idea is yet in the hatching process, and no definite plan has been formally approved.

Educators are determined that public schools must be guaranteed a fair share of revenue, and a constitutional amendment is one way of assuring this.

Governor-elect Frank Fitzgerald has pledged support to statutory earmarking of school funds and he also has promised to recommend a state appropriation of at least $44,000,000 a year in state revenue. Last year the schools received $41,000,000.

Non-partisan Courts?

Assured on the April ballot is a proposed constitutional amendment to remove judges from politics.

Instead of creating a judicial commission to nominate candidates to the supreme court bench and let the governor make his choices, the new amendment would merely require a non-partisan listing of judicial candidates for county and state courts. Party designations would be prohibited.

The amendment would affect circuit court judges and commissioners, probate court judges and justices of the State Supreme court.

Petitions were filed Dec. 1 with the secretary of state by the Non-Partisan Judiciary Committee of Michigan.

A similar amendment was voted upon by Michigan citizens four years ago. It lost by 80,000 votes.

Dry and Townsendsites

After each election the credit for victory is usually claimed by minority groups, each strong enough to swing the "balance of power."

The Townsendsites are taking credit for Fitzgerald's victory over Governor Murphy, stating that the Republican nominee was favored by the $200 pension-per-month group because of his sympathetic support of congressional consideration in 1939 of the Townsend Plan.

Fitzgerald made a speech in Detroit during the primary campaign that was interpreted by Detroit daily papers as a near outright endorsement of the Townsend scheme. Later the Grand Lodge citizen hedged a little on the claim of "endorsement."

To Michigan dries the election result was also pleasing. D. L. McBride, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league, points to the popular vote given to Luren D. Dickinson of Charlotte for lieutenant governor. Dickinson is president of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league.

Fitzgerald's position pleasing to the dries was a pledge to recommend removal of the state from the retail liquor business. Liquor would be cleared through state warehouses.

Milk Price-Fixing

Fearful lest state fixing of retail prices will increase consumer costs, the Milk Marketing Study commission, created by Governor Murphy, is ready to recommend state control of milk prices for producers only.

The retail price would vary in proportion to distribution costs and other competitive factors, according to a legislative draft prepared by G. Mennen Williams, assistant attorney general.

Milk regulations would be made by a non-partisan state commission. On petition by local dairy farmers, an election would be held to create a marketing district and then the state commission would intervene to fix basic prices at wholesale.

Labor would benefit by wage-hour regulations.

All of this Lansing control would cost between $100,000 and $200,000 a year. Who would pay the bill? State licenses would cost from $1 to $5,000 a year. In the long run, Mr. John Q. Public would probably pay for the hidden tax through increased retail prices.

Did Democrats violate civil service rules during the recent campaign?

Both James Thomson, chairman of the Republican state central committee, and Senator Miller Duenk, treasurer-elect, have declared in press statements that they did.

During the campaign the Democrats were on the receiving end of contributions from state employees. Obviously someone must donate money to finance a campaign. It has been customary for years for politicians to get a substantial share from friends whom they have placed on public payrolls.

But civil service "dirt" will not fly until next month when the legislature convenes here. To air the evidence now, so Thomson explains, would be to place certain state employees in jeopardy of losing their jobs.

Treasurer-elect Duenk, declining to appear before the civil service commission, explained: "A more appropriate opportunity will present itself later for a correction of the condition which prompted my complaint."

In two years the tug-of-war will be probably reversed. The Democrats may be charging civil service violations, and the Republicans denying them.

By making a case against the Democrats this year, Republicans will be putting themselves in a position not to perpetuate such wrongs in 1940. Perhaps the public will have forgotten all about it by then. Perhaps virtue will triumph. Who knows?

New Pike Opened From St. Ignace To Trout Lake

Trout Lake, Mich.—This Chipewas county resorting community is now in direct connection with St. Ignace and the Straits of Mackinac by means of an important new road which was opened in time for the recent hunting season.

The pike, which is now under county jurisdiction but which may eventually become a state road, runs northwest from St. Ignace through Allenville, Moran, Kenneth and Ozark direct to Trout Lake, paralleling the main line of the South Shore railway. Heretofore the terminals have been connected only by a circuitous route through the Marquette national forest.

"The line affords the shortest route by several miles from the Straits to Soo Junction and Tahquamenon Falls," said John Taylor of Trout Lake. "It is also the most direct route from lower Michigan to Hurlbert, Strong's, Eckerman, and the new Paradise summer resorting region on the shore of Whitefish Bay, and it undoubtedly will be extensively used by travelers to the falls and the Bay region."

Choral Groups Give Assembly At Senior High Auditorium

Students of the junior and senior divisions of the senior high school chorus presented an enjoyable choral program Wednesday morning in the high school auditorium, with many parents present.

The first number, "So Help Me," was sung by the junior triple sextette under the direction of Annette Anderson.

The second number, "Summer Souvenirs," was sung by the senior girls' double sextette under the direction of Lucille Nelson. Both Annette Anderson and Lucille Nelson are student directors chosen by members of the groups.

The last number of the program was the entire junior and senior chorus under the direction of R. P. Bowers singing "The Karey Dance," "Fairest Lord Jesus," "Czechoslovakian Song," "Cantique de Noel" and the student body joining in "Joy to the World."

Next Tuesday a matinee will be put on for members of the senior high by Miss Ley's home room, 214, and on Wednesday the Senate club will present a Christmas program.

The many deep waterways of the Port of New York lead in every direction from its 771 miles of waterfront.

Santa Claus Wants 1,000 Of Newberry's Children On Dec. 22

Newberry, Dec. 14.—One thousand children are wanted! This is the word which has come by airmail to Jack Mahar, special agent for Santa Claus and commander of the Newberry American Legion. Jack reports that Santa wants to meet at least a thousand of his young friends on the evening of December 22 (instead of the 23rd as was first reported) at the community tree which is being set up today in the business section of the town. Jack also reports that the American Legion has found that they will have to assist Santa in bringing in the big load of candies, nuts, fruits and popcorn balls and that the Legion locomotive and box car will be loaded. Santa is coming in from the south this year, making Newberry by way of Beaver Island where he will land after his trip from the Pole.

A Big Load

"The biggest load Santa ever brought to town" is the way Jack reports the load, and it will have to be big to satisfy so many youngsters. The Legion has received the cooperation of the local members of the state police in keeping order at the big outdoors party, and seeing to it that no little folks are harmed. The Legion is asking the school board and the owners of school busses to bring in the youngsters who live out of town as none of the goodies must go unclaimed. The Legion reports splendid cooperation from local merchants who have also had to come to Old Santa's assistance. The People's Drug store has donated 400 pounds of candy; the Rexal Store has given popcorn and nuts; Rahilly's and Westin's have donated apples and the peanuts were given by Jackson's. Next week the ladies of the Legion Auxiliary will meet in the community building to package all of these goodies so that everything will be in readiness for the great night, Thursday, December 22. Santa will come as usual with his helper and reindeer, who is reported to be in fine condition this year.

LITTLE GIRLS ENTERTAINED

There were 39 little girls from the kindergarten, first and second grades, guests of the Newberry Business and Professional Women's club on Tuesday evening at the annual Children's Christmas party held in the community building and Santa made his first advance appearance on that night. Tables were brightly lighted and

400 CARLOADS TO BE SHIPPED

Ontonagon County Will Send Out Many Potatoes

Ontonagon, Mich.—Ontonagon county will ship to market about 400 carloads of potatoes this season, and they will be valued at over $300 each, according to K. J. Mollanen, local agricultural agent. This gratifying fact was announced at a "potato supper" held here recently, when plans were laid for further expansion in 1939.

Earl Roberts, agricultural agent for Houghton County, stated that the Upper Peninsula is fortunate in having comparatively low freight rates to the big potato consuming centers and distributive points. Rates from Maine to Detroit are 65c per hundred pounds, and from Idaho to Chicago 72c, whereas from Houghton and Ontonagon to Chicago they are around 81c.

"From the standpoint of soil, summer climate and location, the peninsula is ideally situated to become a most important potato producing territory," said Mr. Roberts. "Potato prices are always a gamble, and farmers should not enter potato growing in irregular fashion. They should plant about the same acreage each year, for then they will get under the wire in high priced years as well as when their stock may bring less than a quarter a bushel.

"A few years ago, Houghton county raised barely enough potatoes for local needs," continued Mr. Roberts. "Now it is shipping hundreds of carloads annually, many of them being certified seed stock that is shipped to distant points. But our farmers are going at the matter systematically—using certified seed for plantings, carefully preparing their fields in advance, using 500 to 800 pounds of good fertilizer per acre in addition to barnyard manure, planting not later than June 1, and spraying their fields at least six times a year."

BLUE MONDAY GOES WHEN YOUR BILE JUICE FLOWS

When we have a blue Monday the chances are that our two pints of bile juice are not flowing from our liver into our bowels.

If these two pints are not flowing every day our food decays in our bowels. Also our pains, indigestion and harmful germs start working in our bowels. These bowel upset can make us have a lousy blue Monday.

Do you have blue Mondays? Do you feel draggy, mean and awful on other days? Well, just take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills. They back up the flow of your vital two pints of bile juice and then the sun may shine again in that good old body of yours.

But if you want this glorious bile juice relief, ask your druggist for Carter's Little Liver Pills and don't buy "something just as good"—25c.

YOUNG G.O.P. SEEKING JOBS

Clamor for Their Share of Patronage May Make Trouble

Lansing—While many Republican sympathizers are looking forward to very pleasant sailing in the next two years, there is a possibility of dirty weather if the administration isn't cautious about its patronage.

Following closely upon speculation that the Young Republicans might make demands for considerable recognition, it became known over the week-end that some of them had met with members of the legislature and state officers to discuss their ambitions.

The session is supposed to have preceded the GOP victory dinner in Ann Arbor last Thursday. Authoritative reports are that there were no decisions and no action—just a discussion of the situation.

Recent Oldsters' Influence

Younger members are supposed to have warned against indications of too much influence on appointments from the oldsters, particularly those who have statewide reputations for political dictatorship and "invisible government." They want the governor and other state officers to free themselves from the grasp of such men in favor of the newer element. This would apply not only to youngsters just past 21 years, but also to many who have served the party for years and still are looked upon as young.

Although the assumption lacks confirmation, the obvious interpretation of any union between such dissatisfied partisans and members of the legislature would be that the lawmakers would use their prestige to help. If state officers sold out to the alleged spokesmen, the legislature would refuse to act on measures desired by such state officers. There might easily be a totally different reason given for dumping the administration's program.

In the 1935 session a group of rebellious Republicans combined with Democrats to sink the program advanced by Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald. The reason given was opposition to Fitzgerald's policies. The actual reason was that some of the legislators were disgruntled over patronage.

Fitzgerald's announced intention to hold up all patronage pending progress on his legislative program might help him in some case of a rebellion. On the other hand a negative attitude by the legislators toward his bills might change his plans.

One plum in question will be awarded by the house of representatives when it chooses a clerk. Younger members of the party hope they will be recognized properly, but the "dope" is that "a more experienced man is needed."

The youngsters believe the first few major appointments will indicate whether they are going to get what they feel is justice. Probably no rebellion within the ranks will be noticed until they see which way the wind is blowing.

LEAGUES ADOPT UNIFORM BALLS

Night Games Introduced In Both Circuits; Trades Simmer

BY SID FEDER
New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—In a "kiss-and-make-up" session marked by the friendliest attitude shown between the two leagues in a long time, baseball's big leagues today agreed on a uniform ball and introduced night ball in both circuits for the 1939 season.

Not since the last split on the question of the "dead" or "live" ball back in 1935 has there been such a spirit of concession between the two sides of the big league picture as was shown throughout the second day of the three-day annual convalescence. After meeting yesterday and today in two separate get-togethers, the two leagues convene under Commissioner K. M. Landis' guidance tomorrow in joint session.

While rumors of impending trades were heard all over the Park Avenue hotel in which the diamond magnates are meeting, each of the two leagues gave some ground in their previous stand on the ball question, and finally agreed on a pellet for 1939 which will have the raised and increased stitching of this year's so-called "dead" ball of the National League, and the thinner cover of the American League's livelier missile.

Indians Spend $60,000
Then, the junior circuit swept its objections to night baseball out the window, passed a resolution introducing the game to its league, and granted permission to the Cleveland Indians and Philadelphia Athletics to start the arch-light business going next season. The Indians, with a partial lighting system already erected in Cleveland Municipal stadium, will spend about $60,000 to complete it in time for the '39 campaign.

Tigers Dickering
While the magnates met behind locked doors, the managers and writers were swept all over the halls and lobbies by the trade winds which blew so hot it seemed just about every club in the league was on the verge of presenting a "new faces" act. Bucky Harris, the Senators' pilot, and Del Baker, boss of the Detroit Tigers, were closed for an hour but Bucky came out later with the flat statement that it did not concern any deal.

However, as one writer pointed out, what else would two managers be talking about by themselves for a full hour. There was a recurrence of the report that Shortstop Cecil Travis of the Nats was headed for Detroit, but the Senators explained the Tigers were not willing to offer enough playing material in exchange. The Dodgers and Boston Bees who already have completed two trades, indicated they were about to spring another, possibly tomorrow. Boston also is talking things over with Philadelphia, Chicago and Pittsburgh. The Pirates denied a rumor that Outfielder Johnny Dickshot was to be traded or sold, and President Clark Griffith of Washington said the same thing about All Simmons, although it was reported he had asked waivers on the veteran wallop.

Pitching Rules Broadened
In returning to a standard baseball, the big time is getting together on the question for the first time in four seasons. The new ball will be different from last season's National League ball in that it will have a covering one one-thousandth of an inch thinner, and will differ from the '38 American League pellet in that it will have five instead of four strands of stitching, which will be raised to afford the pitchers a better grip.

In line with this new aid for the pitchers—for which there has been a two-year clamor, particularly since the Yankee big guns have ripped things to shreds—the two leagues also voted a change in the flingers rules to give the flingers more leeway in their leg movement. The new ruling permits a pitcher to start his motion with only one foot on the "rubber," thus enabling him to give his windup more impetus by a freer leg swing. The rules committee of the two leagues will meet on this motion tomorrow to get it into legal terms for the rule book.

M-28 HIGHWAY PAVING ASKED

Wetmore to Shingleton Concrete Strips Advocated

Alger county interests are petitioning the state highway department to give consideration next year to a project for the paving of highway M-28 from Shingleton to Wetmore, in the eastern part of the county.

"The department has announced that M-28 is being accorded priority, along with US-2 and US-41, in the Upper Peninsula highway hard-surfacing plans," said Charles Clement of Shingleton. "The city and county residents and groups asking this favor from the department are not unmindful that paving on M-28 has been going ahead both east and west of Alger county. The relocated M-28 from Munising to Wetmore has been shortened and paved and is in extensive use.

"We are asking for only eight miles of additional paving, which will connect up Shingleton and Munising, and afford an all hard-surfaced road from the junction with highway M-34 to the most important trunk lines in the Upper Peninsula, traffic on it is growing right along, and further paving has become an absolute necessity."

Bradley Here On Tour of District

Congressman-elect Fred Bradley of Rogers City, recently elected to the United States Congress from the 11th district, was in Escanaba yesterday on a post-election tour which will take him to all major cities in his constituency. While stopping here he conferred with John Luecke of this city, whom he will succeed at Washington when the next term opens on January 3.

The Republican congressman-elect and Luecke, who was his Democratic opponent in the November 8 election, exchanged respects and discussed legislation pending before congress.

Bradley is taking a final swing through the 11th congressional district to sound out sentiment on matters to come before congress at the session which opens next month. The tour has taken him to Newberry, Grand Marais, Munising and Manistique. Late yesterday afternoon he went to Gladstone to confer with Joseph Sturgeon, who managed his campaign in this district.

Today he will go to Menominee, returning to Escanaba this evening, and tomorrow he will stop at Sault Ste. Marie and St. Ignace enroute to the lower peninsula.

Blueberry Mine At Ishpeming Reopens; Confidence It Felt

Iron River, Dec. 14.—Reopening of the Blueberry mine near Ishpeming this week gives rise to the belief that possibly operations may be resumed at the Forbes mine here. Both are operated by the North Range Mining company.

The Forbes has been closed since early last summer, when approximately 60 men were laid off. The men at the Blueberry are working five days a week and the mine is being operated on a double shift. It is estimated that 1,000 tons of ore will be hoisted daily.

The Ford Motor company takes the ore from the Blueberry, and practically all of that produced at the Forbes.

Shillings' Mining Review says: "In a reflex way the substantial production at this mine (the Blueberry) this winter may be accepted as further confirmation of the Ford Motor company's optimism."

Menominee Mayor Names Commission To Seek Industry

Mayor Michael C. Olsen in an initial step to attract industries to Menominee yesterday named a Menominee industrial commission of 20 men representing labor, industry, city council and county board.

The commissioners were named at a meeting of Menominee labor representatives, aldermen and business men held yesterday in the office of Lewis Larsen, manager of the Lloyd Manufacturing company.

Mayor Olsen outlined a program for industrial development which has as its primary objective the return of local unemployed men to private employment and reduction of the number of men on relief work projects. Sponsors expense of relief work projects has cost the city and county large sums annually, and if private employment can be obtained for the unemployed there would be a considerable saving to the taxpayers.

The industrial commissioners named by Mayor Olsen: E. P. Smith, A. C. Wells, F. X. St. Peter, R. W. Wells, R. A. Hoskin, John E. Henes, James A. Hamilton, John Christie, George W. McCormick, August Ludwig, Lewis Larsen, H. H. Fisher, Francis Wall, Albert Kipfer, Stephenson, chairman of the county board of supervisors; P. H. Breenahan, board member; W. A. FOUR MINES EXPAND

Ironwood—Four Gogebic range mines will increase working schedules from three to four days a week starting Monday, it was announced today.

The mines are the Newport, Cary, Anvil-Palms and Sunday Lake. In announcing the increase, W. A. Knoll, general superintendent, said the action was taken "in consideration of an urgent request by employees for additional working time."

"It is hoped that the increase will be warranted by a pickup in the demand for iron ore," said the announcement.

BEHIND THE SCENES

By John T. Flynn

An architect in Washington writes to ask a question, in a previous article I said a depression appears when we stop making goods sold on long-term credits. He wants to know why. He says he fails to see the difference between goods made to be sold on long-term credits and those sold on short-term credits or cash so far as bringing fresh supplies of money into the capitalistic system is concerned. It all seems foggy to him.

But it is the most important thing to understand now. And the reasons can be made fairly clear. Here they are. First, when a man comes into possession of money from any source, he is the master of that money. He can decide what he will do with it. He may decide to spend it or to save it. If he decides to spend it he hands it promptly enough to someone else and that person hands it on to another.

And as long as the fellow who receives it decides to spend it, it circulates, makes business, makes income. But if this man who receives income—money—decides not to spend it but to save it, then an entirely different economic consequence ensues.

INDUSTRY STARTS FROM SAVINGS When a man saves money he does not necessarily hoard it, put it in a tin box. He more probably decides to invest it. That is, he decides to put it into some industry or enterprise, to open a store, start a business, build a house, lend it to a builder, buy a newly issued share in some corporation, buy a new bond. All these would be ways of investing.

When a man invests that way it results in spending. The builder buys materials, the corporation buys machinery, etc. But you will see at a glance that the kind of goods a man spends money on when he is spending his income is very different from the kind he spends it on when he is investing.

In one case he buys clothes, food, theater tickets, radios, luxuries, etc.—things which he consumes himself. In the other case he buys materials which are used in the manufacture of other materials.

Now it is clear that when a man who is saving money refuses to invest it, these kinds of materials—machinery, iron, lumber, cement, etc.—which go into investment goods—cease to be produced. The failure of these types of industry results from the failure to invest.

EFFECTIVE DOLLARS MOVE FAST As long as a dollar paid to a man as income is spent by him it moves and may go through many hands. But the moment someone in the chain decides to save that dollar and puts it aside as such, its spending days are over. They are over until he decides to invest the dollar.

The dollar flows back into the stream of spending. The only device in the capitalist system for returning saved dollars to activity is through investment. If investment ceases, dollars pile up in the savings reservoir and remain inactive. The great investment industries lag and in turn the consumer industries lag. And we have a depression.

There is more to it than this, however. Very often, a man invests money he has not got. He borrows money from a bank to invest. If he loses, this is even more potent than investing his own funds, as a bank loan has the effect of creating new money.

SKI'S THE LIMIT

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

CAST OF CHARACTERS SALLY BLAIR—heroine. She had everything that popularity could wish her, except DAN REYNOLDS—hero. He might have had Sally but while he was king on skis.

COREY PORTER was king of the social whirl. So... But go on with the story.

Yesterday, Sally finds Dan a striking, attractive fellow, earnest about his skiing ambitions. She feels a bit ashamed when she realizes she is "using" him to win her dare.

CHAPTER IV As Corey had predicted, Dan Reynolds came off with most of the points for his college, the final day of the meet.

Sally thought she had never seen a more magnificent, or impressive sight than the thousands of enthusiastic spectators, surrounding the course with its backdrop of high hills, sheer cliffs, dark pines and bright sunshine.

The most beautiful and impressive event of all was the slalom race, set through its intricate patterns of bright flags, that required all the agility and skill of which the runners were capable. None of them, Sally saw, with a thrill of pride, could come up to Dan.

A mighty cheer rose from all that enormous crowd as his swift, graceful figure took the run, executing high-speed Christlanas spray-throwing telemarks and the fast tempo-turn with astonishing and breath-taking perfection.

None of the other of the Big Six, for there were representatives from Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Yale, and Brown had any runner to match Reynolds. No other man came off with as many points as he, for Dan excelled, not only in slalom, but in jumping and downhill.

"He ought to be in the Olympics," Sally said to Corey. "It could go professional, I've never seen anything like him, Corey. And I've seen some of the best."

This was after the meet, back in the fraternity house where a dinner-dance was in progress in honor of the visiting girls. For tomorrow the house parties would be over, the co-eds would pack their fluffly dance frocks and silver slippers, ski togs and clumsy boots; the men would settle down to cram for mid-term exams.

"Look here," Corey said, his eyes narrowing, "I'm getting a bit fed up, hearing you sing Reynolds' praises day and night, night and day. Don't forget you're still my girl—tonight, anyway!"

He scowled so fiercely at another brother who gave evidence of intentions of cutting in that the rest of the stag line took note and knew they had better let CORNELL NEWS Cornell, Mich. — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holmes and Mrs. John Rockland visited Saturday evening with John Backlund who is a patient at St. Frances hospital in Escanaba.

Henry Morin and family of Detroit arrived Thursday at Chandler where Mr. Morin was called on business.

The children of the Cornell school are busy getting ready for their Christmas programs.

Mr. Brown, who is inspecting the Cleerman Timber, returned to his home at Phelps, Wis., Friday evening.

Chub Bruseau returned to his home at Danforth Thursday evening.

Following is the honor roll of the Chandler school for the month of November:

Scholarship: Mary LaRose, Louis Fleming, Lowell Steff, Wallace Ray, Leonard Vandresse.

Attendance — Dorothy Dahn, Leona Charles, Ethel Vandresse, Carlton Van Dross.

Corey have a clear field this evening. "That reminds me," he held Sally a little closer, gave her an unexpected whirl that nearly lifted her silver slippers from the floor. "We've a special date later on. Just you and yours truly. I've ordered a cutter, going to take you for a sleigh ride. And I've also ordered a big full moon. How does that sound, my sweet?"

"It sounds almost too romantic," Sally returned demurely. But she meant it. She was not at all sure that she wanted to take a moonlight sleigh ride alone with Corey. He might get ideas in his handsome head, ideas that would be too romantic for Sally to cope with.

For she knew that Corey had lost his heart to her during this gay week-end.

The funny part, however, was that Sally had hoped to add Corey Porter to her list of admirers. She had hoped this week-end would accomplish just that victorious conquest. For it was a conquest to land Corey. He never had fallen, seriously, for any girl like Sally. He was too popular, too much in demand.

Why wasn't she thrilled now, knowing that on this sleigh ride, Corey, without doubt, would ask her to be his girl, not just for tonight, but for always? What had happened to Sally to make her change her mind? Surely it had nothing to do with a boy named Dan Reynolds, a boy who, by his own admission, did not belong in Sally's glamorous world, who did not like a girl of her sort, or have any time for anything beside his beloved skiing. A boy who had waited table at this banquet at which Sally had presided, the prettiest, most sought-after girl present.

Now while Sally danced in her silver slippers and wide-skirted chiffon dress, with Corey's orchids nestling over her heart, Dan would be washing dishes in a stuffy hot kitchen. When Corey tucked Sally under the big buffalo robe in the cutter behind a dancing, spirited team, Dan would be obeying the strict schedule that kept him in such magnificent physical condition and that allowed him no time for romance.

Sally wondered, a bit wistfully, if in his dreams, perhaps, Dan might not think—just once—of her. For he had shown signs of thawing out, just a little, of liking her, just the least bit, during those early morning lessons. He had promised to give her a last lesson tomorrow before she went away—perhaps never to see him again!

"Why the big sigh?" Corey asked, bending closer. They sat close together in the old-fashioned cutter, under the big robe. The sleigh bells jingled pleasantly in the crisp night air, the horse trotted lightly on the hard-packed snow. There was a moon, as Corey had promised. A big round silver one shimmering over this silvery scene, magical world.

"Because it's so beautiful," Sally said. "Because this is the last night. Because everything has to come to an end. Because her heart said, tomorrow will be the last morning I shall get up to meet the dawn. And Dan..."

Corey gave the horses their heads, allowing the reins to lie in one hand. He threw his free arm over the back of the seat, around Sally's shoulder. His blue eyes looked down into hers. "But it doesn't have to end," he said. "Not for you and me, Sally. Not ever."

This was the moment of Sally's biggest conquest. Her moment of triumph. But why didn't her heart beat faster? Why did she wish this moment was not so close at hand?

"You know what I mean, Sally," Corey's voice was exceedingly earnest for him, for Corey always spoke gallily to be my girl—for all ways. "You're the first girl I ever really fell for like this. The sweetest girl—the prettiest, the sweetest I ever met."

He took it for granted that any girl would be thrilled to hear him say that. That no girl could refuse to accept to be his. What he Corey Porter, who always got what he wanted? Wasn't Sally Blair, Queen of the carnival, meant just for him?

He did not notice that Sally drew away a little, was silent too long. He bent even closer, his arm tightening around her shoulders, his lips seeking hers.

But Sally, after a kiss too brief, too fleeting, turned away her head.

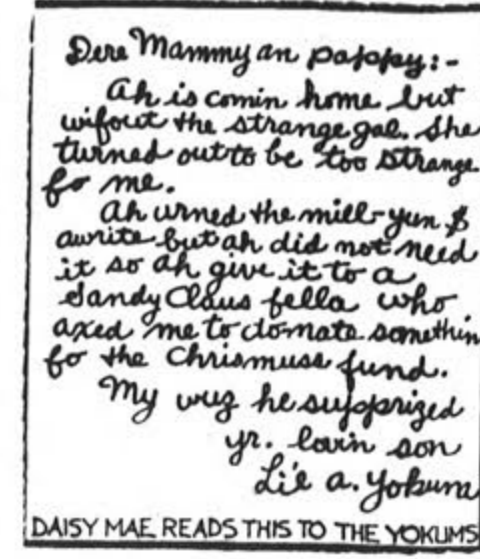

It had not been too romantic. It had held no romance at all. That triumphant moment. It had proved to Sally that she could not be Corey's girl, no matter how sure he was, how right and fitting it might be.

It had proved something to Sally that made her frightened and glad, sorry and ashamed. For Sally for the first time in her glamorous, blithe existence, had stopped to look deeply into her own heart, to wonder and question what lay hidden there.

"Oh, Corey, I'm sorry," Sally said. And her voice was earnest, too, not light and gay. "Terribly sorry. Truly I am. But I can't be your girl—ever." Because I am someone else's, her heart said. Someone who does not want me, who would not have me for his girl, if he did.

STOCKS START YEAR-END RISE

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES table with columns for Net change, Previous day, Month ago, Year ago, and various stock indices.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Many traders who occupied cautious seats on the sidelines recently clambered aboard the stock market band wagon today in hopes of a year-end ride to profits, giving impetus to an upward movement.

The shift from the sidelines became a buying rush just before the close and trading came near hitting a 2,000,000-share clip for the first time since the post-election spurt in November.

Breaking out of the rut they loafed in the last two weeks, leading shares ran up for gains ranging to around 3 points. Final prices were about the highest of the day, with the ticker lagging behind floor dealings in the last minute scramble.

First to take off decisively were the aircraft manufacturing shares. Several of them zoomed to new highs, buoyed by reports extensive plans for enlargement of army air forces had been laid before President Roosevelt.

Mid-week trade news, recounting a spurt in rail buying and chances of sustained building record, seemed to reinforce hopes for more business improvement after the turn of the year.

Corporate bonds rose with stocks, notably rails. Major commodities also did better. At Chicago, corn futures jumped 7-8 to 1 1/4 cents a bushel and wheat 1/2 to 7-8.

An off note was a slump in Reo Motor following a receivership move against the company. It finished at 1 1/2, down 1/4.

TRADING LIVELY FOR BOND LIST

BOND MARKET AVERAGES table with columns for Net change, Previous day, Month ago, Year ago, and various bond indices.

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—The bond market, under the leadership of the rails, swept ahead today in the liveliest trading session in over five months, and trading favorites were fractions to 2 or more advanced at the close.

The carriers displayed a vigor that lifted the Associated Press average of 20 rail bonds .7 of a point. It was the group's third consecutive advance, making the cumulative gain for the week on the average 1.4 points.

The rails, as well as advancing utilities and industrials, seemed to get most of their pop from the rising stock market.

Deals in bonds totaled $12,427,750, face value, the biggest turnover since July 7 last, and compared with $10,224,000 yesterday.

United States government issues closed 6-32 of a point higher to 2-32 lower.

Polish issues were weak in the foreign sector, the 7% of 47 closing at 42, off 4 1-8; 8% of 50 at 38, off 1, and 6% of 40 at 40, off 1/2.

Hungary 7 1/2% of 44 lost 7/8 at 37 1/2 on the sale of five bonds.

Utah Provides Sick Insurance For Its Citizens

Salt Lake City—(AP)—Utah medical leaders set in motion today a state-wide health insurance program designed to assist the low-income family in weathering financial storms that accompany major health breakdowns.

The plan, conceived and sponsored by the State Medical association, is directed at 90 per cent of Utah's half-million persons—those whose incomes are $2,000 a year or less.

The association planned to get the program under way quickly. Dr. A. Cyril Callister, president, said he expected first contracts to be signed early next month.

He explained the insurance would be sold in groups of not less than 10, thus preventing the signing of a majority of persons requiring immediate hospitalization. An entire family will be able to buy hospitalization and medical insurance for a fee tentatively set at $4 a month. This entitles each insured member 21 days hospitalization each year with subsequent medical care.

When illness requiring hospitalization occurs the family may choose any doctor within the association and any participating hospital. The association pays a guaranteed fee to both.
