NEW DEALERS TO GAG THIRD TERM REBELS

RESOLUTION MAY BE SHOVED IN PIGEON HOLE

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Talk of a senate expression against a presidential third term, cropping up again after 11 years, finds political circumstances so changed that the 1928 declaration of sentiment offers no safe augury of the outcome this time.

The no-third-term resolution of January, 1928, aimed at President Calvin Coolidge, was proposed and driven through by Republican left-wing rebels, aided by votes from the Democratic minority.

Conditions Reversed Only 25 of the senators who played a part in that 1928 foray have survived the march of time and politics to face the possibility of being confronted with the same question again, but this time with party lines and the political philosophy difference in the backgrounds exactly reversed.

The 1928 no-third-term resolution was sponsored by the late Senator Robert M. La Follette, father of the present senator of that name. He was prompted to present it by various polls in late 1927 indicating a strong sentiment in the Republican party for re-nomination of President Coolidge despite his term and a half in the White House.

McNary Disapproves His 1933 counterpart, probably in exactly the same terms, is projected by Senator Rush Holt, West Virginia Democrat, as a reply to the insistent talk of a third term for President Roosevelt from such important administration figures as Secretary Ickes.

Yet there is a possibility that the administration leadership can accomplish what Coolidge administration spokesmen in the senate could not do in 1928, and shelve the resolution in a committee pigeon hole, at least until the second session of the new congress.

That hope is brightened for administration leaders by the attitude of Senator McNary of Oregon, Republican leader. He disapproved senate meddling with the question at all. Behind that, many observers believe, lies in the minds of a good many Republican strategists the idea that the continuation of the third-term controversy is apt to cause more friction among the Democrats than would occur if an anti-third-term resolution were pressed to an early vote.

Dilemma For Barkley There is another aspect that gives Roosevelt enthusiasts encouragement that the proposal will be buried in committee. If it is pushed to a vote, there are a number of senate Democrats of today who would have to go publicly on record again on the point—and face either further open rupture with the president or charges of inconsistency with the position they took in 1928.

The senate's administration leader, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, is one who would face the dilemma of appearing to turn thumbs down on a Roosevelt third-term or of being called inconsistent. He was in the forefront

Al Capone May Be Brought To Milan To Finish Up Year

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Justice department officials disclosed today that Al Capone, former gang chieftain now suffering from a mental ailment, may be transferred from Alcatraz prison to the federal reformatory at Milan, Mich., in mid-January.

Although Capone becomes eligible for release from the federal island prison in San Francisco bay on January 19, he still has a one year jail sentence to serve.

Short-terms—those with a year or less to serve—frequently are sent to Milan and officials said the Michigan institution was under consideration for the Chicago gangster.

One thing may block Capone's transfer from Alcatraz. He has a $40,000 fine to pay in connection with his current penitentiary sentence—now ending by virtue of his good behavior.

JUDGE ORDERS SANITY HEARING

Livingston, Acquitted of Leebove Murder, Must Submit to Tests

Harrison, Mich., Dec. 21 (AP)—Carl (Jack) Livingston, acquitted of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Isiah Leebove, wealthy Clare, Mich., oil man, must submit to tests to determine his present mental condition. Circuit Judge Ray C. Hart ruled today.

The judge held that Livingston must remain in the Clare county jail until a sanity hearing has been conducted.

Livingston was found innocent of the shooting by reason of insanity on Dec. 13. At that time Prosecutor Donald E. Holbrook moved for sanity proceedings and the judge, after hearing strenuous objections by defense counsel, reserved his decision.

"The court has come to the conclusion," Judge Hart set forth today, "that proceedings to determine the sanity or insanity of the defendant are not only the duty of the court but are mandatory under the law. If the defendant has been placed to sanity he should be placed at liberty, but if still insane he should be restrained. The question should be settled now and attorneys of both sides should cooperate."

The judge followed his decision with instructions that Holbrook prepare the necessary papers for the sanity hearing and announced he would appoint examining psychiatrists at a later date. Date for the sanity hearing, he said, would be announced after the psychiatrists have made their examinations.

Mexico City Train Wreck Kills Eight

Mexico City, Dec. 21 (AP)—A Veracruz-bound passenger train was wrecked 45 miles outside of Mexico City today, killing eight persons and injuring 52. Most of the passengers were excursionists or government employes on vacation.

Railway employes said no United States citizen was among the dead or injured. Tickets sold for the train totalled 1,034.

The accident occurred near the village of Irolo, in Mexico state.

Young Bandit Dies In Electric Chair

Columbus, O., Dec. 21 (AP)—With a prayer book clutched in his left hand, Stephen Figuli, 21 of Cleveland, died in the electric chair tonight for the slaying of a Columbus detective.

The youth was the only member of a quartet of bank bandits to survive a furious gun battle with police last February at a house where they were hiding.

Lewis Tells Congress What He Wants Done

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—John L. Lewis, CIO leader, unfolded his legislative program for the new congress today, listing as his No. 1 objective a measure to compel industry to obey the Wagner act or forego its claims to federal contracts and loans.

COSTER PLOT TO SHIP SPAIN RIFLES BARED

SCHEME DESCRIBED TO OFFICIALS BY FORMER CRONY

BY JOHN FERRIS New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—A scheme of F. Donald Coster-Musica's to ship between 1,000,000 and 2,000,000 rifles to fighting Spain was described to federal authorities today by a former crony who knew the dignified president of McKesson and Robbins, Inc., as a bold swindler, ex-convict and sometime spy hunter.

The shipment was to be made, according to Benjamin Simon, 49-year-old Bronx salesman with a police record, only to make money and not for any political or sentimental reasons. Whether the government or insurgent forces were to get the arms was not disclosed.

Birth Records Faked Brien McMahon, assistant U. S. attorney general, related parts of Simon's story shortly before Simon, who once operated a drug business in which Coster-Musica was a silent partner, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter and held in $4,000 bail on a charge of conspiracy to violate the securities act.

McMahon said Simon also admitted he drafted five fake birth certificates, later filed in Washington, D. C., as part of the elaborate disguise of their background adopted by Coster-Musica and his three brothers to hide their real identity as members of the notorious Musica family which was involved in the million-dollar bank swindle and collapse of the United States Hair company in 1913.

All Plead Innocent The three brothers are George E. Dietrich-Musica, who became assistant treasurer and an assistant vice president of McKesson and Robbins, handling the affairs of the crude drugs department in which $18,000,000 assets are missing; George Vernard-Musica, Canadian agent for the firm, operating as W. W. Smith and Co. and Manning and Co.; and Robert Dietrich-Musica, of the shipping department. All are held in $100,000 bail on conspiracy charges.

George Dietrich-Musica pleaded innocent today before Judge William Bondy. The others entered similar pleas earlier.

The fifth bogus birth certificate, McMahon said Simon told him, was for Marie Musica Girard, one of several Musica sisters.

McMahon made his startling announcement a short time after Police Inspector Michael S. McDermott, in charge of Brooklyn

Germany Pinched; Pulls In Her Belt

Berlin, Dec. 21 (AP)—A serious shortage of foreign exchange has forced the Nazi regime to pull Germany's belt tighter in order to keep up her production pace.

Walther Funk, minister of economics, was named today as director of the newly created "central office for increasing production."

Informed sources said his task would be to stem the drain on already depleted foreign exchange funds for raw materials, yet keep industrial wheels moving at an undiminished speed.

His job described as unifying and directing industrial processes in order to permit reduction of imported raw materials. Business circles said this tendency already was evident in trade figures showing a drop of 13,500,000 marks ($5,400,000) in imports for October.

His program, announced by CIO headquarters, also included opposition to the drive for revision of the Wagner act led by the AFL, and the enactment of legislation affecting civil liberties, social security, relief, unemployment, housing and maritime labor.

Miners Trapped By Painesdale Cavein Rescued After 19 Hours

Houghton, Mich., Dec. 21 (AP)—Two miners, trapped for 19 hours by a cavein in the No. 4 shaft of the Copper Range Consolidated Copper Co. mine at Painesdale, eight miles south of here, were brought to the surface unharmed today by a rescue crew of 15 men.

The miners were Anthony Paulson of Boston location, Houghton, Mich., and Oliver Genovesi, of Atlantic, Mich.

The rescue crew dug feverishly into the rock and fallen timber that blocked the shaft for more than 15 hours before the imprisoned miners were brought to the surface. They were hungry and covered with grime, but otherwise unharmed.

Paulson and Genovesi told company officials they were working on the 44th level of the mine's Champion branch, 4,400 feet below the surface, when an air blast hurled timber supports and rock to the shaft floor, blocking about 500 feet between them and the main shaft. The rush of air when the rock fell extinguished the lamps on their miner caps and they were without light during the period of their imprisonment, they said.

General Manager William H. Schacht of the Copper company set the time of the air blast—a minor underground earthquake—at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday, but it was not until Tuesday midnight, after a routine checkup of the night shift, that Paulson and Genovesi were missed.

A rescue crew discovered the cave-in and the work of digging got under way. After the crew had progressed about 15 feet they heard Paulson and his companion banging on the sides of a metal car which was trapped with them. It was the first indication that the two were alive.

Rescue work continued slowly, for only three men could work at one time on the task of removing the debris. Shortly after 11 a. m. today the crew reached a point where they were able to carry on a conversation with Paulson and Genovesi.

"We kept up a steady conversation so they wouldn't get frightened," one rescue worker said.

The crew finally opened a narrow hole through the choked passage and dragged the miners through to safety.

Highway Projects Coming Under PWA

Lansing, Dec. 21 (AP)—Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, announced low bids totalling $930,131 for 12 projects in Michigan had been opened today.

He said 11 of the projects will be constructed in cooperation with the public works administration, the first such program in the state.

The other project calls for the grading and drainage of 5.2 miles on a relocation of US-23 between Fenton and Brighton, launching a program to complete the paving of this route between Flint and Ann Arbor.

'OFFICE WIFE' FOUND GUILTY AT ST. JOSEPH

KILLING OF LAWYER IS MANSLAUGHTER JURY FINDS

St. Joseph, Mich., Dec. 21 (AP)—A circuit court jury tonight found Mrs. Fern Patricia Dull, blonde "office wife" of Attorney William Holbrook, guilty of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of the Benton Harbor lawyer last Oct. 17.

Mrs. Dull showed no emotion as she heard the verdict which carries a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison. Judge Mark D. Taylor said he will pronounce sentence tomorrow morning.

Daughter Weeps H. T. Dowhirst, defense counsel, said he will ask a 15 to 20-day suspension of the sentence to allow time to prepare a motion for a new trial. His request will be argued before the circuit judge pronounces sentence.

A jury of two housewives and ten men, mostly farmers, received the case at noon and concluded deliberations at 7:35 p. m. (EST). They took time out for lunch and dinner, actually spending about five and a half hours in deciding Mrs. Dull's fate.

The defendant's mother, Mrs. Mary Baker Kimmell, Ind., and her 17-year-old son, Lester, were in the courtroom when the verdict was read. They displayed little emotion, but Mrs. Dull's daughter, Gloria, 15, who was outside, wept upon learning of the jury's finding.

Returned to Cell Mrs. Dull was returned to her cell in the Berrien county jail immediately and had no opportunity to talk with her family.

There was no demonstration by the hundred spectators, who had been cautioned by Judge Taylor when the jury notified him it was ready to report.

The jury had considered the case of the 34-year-old divorcee less than two hours when it requested the pistol with which Holbrook was killed near the Benton Harbor police station.

The shooting ended a nine-year love affair between Mrs. Dull, mother of two children, and Holbrook, whom she regarded as her common law husband after they repeated vows before an Indiana country church. The attorney had

HUSBAND TELLS OF AXE KILLING

Los Angeles Man Says He Cut Wife Up and Burned Body

Los Angeles, Dec. 21 (AP)—Police Captain H. J. Wallis announced today that William Spinelli, 53, had admitted he killed his 45-year-old wife, Rosa, with an axe Dec. 12, cut up her body and burned it in an incinerator in the back yard of their home.

After hours of denying any knowledge of his wife's death, the diminutive husband was confronted with fragments of bone and gold teeth found among ashes scattered on a driveway.

"We had a fight about the kids," Captain Wallis quoted him as saying. "She hit me with the axe. I kicked her in the stomach and she fell down in the bedroom, dropping the axe.

"I grabbed up the axe, smashed her head several times. Then I got sharp knives, a meat cleaver and a meat saw out of the kitchen and cut her up.

"I put the pieces in the electric ice box. Then I built a fire in the incinerator and burned the body, piece by piece. Later I scattered the ashes in the driveway."

Wheat From U.S. Sent To Starving In Spain

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—The United States government offered 3,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat to the Red Cross today for distribution in Spain. At the same time it appealed to other nations to join in with gifts of food or money to check starvation among civilians in the war-torn country.

The announcement was made by Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, who said the government had for some time "been gravely disturbed by reports of widespread suffering and human misery in Spain." He said the wheat would provide 100,000 barrels of flour monthly for six months and that this would be distributed among civilians according to need. He added that investigation showed far greater suffering in loyalist Spain than in nationalist territory.

'Hiccough Special' Offered In Detroit On New Year's Day

Detroit, Dec. 21 (AP)—The Detroit Street Railway system is offering New Year celebrants the chance to "hiccough" their way home in de luxe style.

The company announced today it had decided to continue its New Year's Eve service by which passengers between midnight and 5 a. m. will be delivered to their own doorsteps if they live within two blocks of the regular bus route.

Ten thousand persons used the service last year. It is designed to keep tipsy celebrators from driving their automobiles during the carnival hours.

PAIR INDICTED IN SOVIET PLOT

Two Men Charged With Giving U. S. Secrets to Russia

Los Angeles, Dec. 21 (AP)—The federal grand jury returned indictments today against two men on charges of transmitting to Soviet Russia several naval intelligence reports concerning American national defense.

Indicted were Hafs Sallch, 33, former Berkeley, Calif., police officer, and Mikhail Gorin, 34, manager of the Soviet travel bureau, Intourist, Inc.

Several witnesses before the grand jury testified that Intourist, Inc., is fostered and supported by the Soviet republic and that expenses of American tourists in Russia sometimes are paid for information delivered to the government.

Sallch and Gorin are held in jail in default of $25,000 bonds. If convicted, they face sentences of 20 years each on three counts in the indictments, which were that:

1—The men took instruments, documents and notes regarding matters connected with national defense.

2—The men transmitted the documents to a foreign power (Russia), to the advantage of that country, and against "the peace, dignity and safety" of the United States.

3—The men entered into a conspiracy beginning in September, 1936, to accomplish these things.

Missing Girl's Body Found Under Bridge

Kingston, Pa., Dec. 1 (AP)—The four-day search for pretty, 19-year-old Margaret Martin ended tonight, state police announced, with the finding of her burlesque-wrapped body under a bridge near Keelsburg, Wyoming county.

Since she disappeared Saturday on her way to keep a street-corner appointment with a man who had telephoned an offer of a job, police of nine states had co-ordinated their efforts to return Miss Martin alive.

State Police Major William A. Clark appealed to them tonight to redouble their efforts to find her slayer. However, he said clues were as scarce as they had been for the past four days. A man, who had been questioned since Monday, was released today.

Relief Case Load Again Goes Upward

Lansing, Dec. 21 (AP)—George F. Granger, acting state emergency administrator, reported today the state's relief case load increased last week from 66,778 to 69,892.

A breakdown showed that the general relief load increased from 54,173 to 57,172, aid to dependent children increased from 11,950 to 12,052, and aid to the blind from 655 to 868.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Bay City, Mich., Dec. 21 (AP)—Albert Surawec, 60, of Pinconning, died today of injuries suffered yesterday when struck by a Michigan Central railroad train at Pinconning.

RELIEF MONEY WILL BE GONE BEFORE FEB. 7

SOLONS CONFIDENT THAT CONGRESS WILL ACT

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Congressional leaders put an emergency relief appropriation at the top of the list of prospective legislation today after Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA administrator, announced that the WPA would be out of funds February 7.

Williams told a delegation of relief workers from Pennsylvania that unless congress appropriates more money, the WPA must begin trimming its rolls January 26 and shut down completely 12 days later.

The immediate reaction among legislators now in the capital was an almost unanimous response that congress would not permit relief to lapse.

No Republican Opposition? Senators Norris (Ind-Neb), Wheeler (D-Mont), O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), Murray (D-Mont), Schwartz (W-Wyo), and Representative Cannon (D-Mo) expressed confidence that congress would quickly approve an emergency appropriation.

Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, predicted that there would be little or no Republican opposition. He indicated Republicans would make no attempt to bring up suggested changes in the method of distributing relief during discussion of an emergency bill, deferring their proposals until measures for the next fiscal year are introduced.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, recently said the administration intended to ask approximately $600,000,000 to carry the WPA through from March 1 to July 1, the start of a new fiscal year. The $1,425,000,000 appropriated for the WPA by the last congress had been scheduled to last until March 1.

Filled To Limit In connection with the failure of the funds to last for the allotted period, Senator Davis (R-Pa) charged today that WPA rolls had been "filled to the very limit" during political campaigns.

He attributed the subsequent decline of relief rolls this winter to this fact and asserted that "political not economic conditions determine the number of jobs."

Davis, in a letter to WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins, called WPA "a filthy mess" and "a great republic trust badly abused."

There were indications of definite action by the senate campaign expenditures committee on recommendations for stringent prohibitions against the political use of relief funds.

Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex) said after a committee meeting today that he favored not only strengthening of the general laws against influencing and coercing federal employes for political purposes, but the insertion of some specific ban in relief appropriations bills.

HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Pontiac, Mich., Dec. 21 (AP)—Joe Bierl, 40, of Pontiac, was ordered held for trial on an involuntary manslaughter charge today by Justice Milton Cooney. Bierl is accused of striking a woman with his fist in a beer garden altercation. The woman died subsequently. Bierl, unable to provide $4,000 bail, was held in jail.

Delta County Rural Schools Provide Instruction For 3,235

ENROLLMENT UP 155 ABOVE 1937

379 Students Now Attend High Schools; 2,856 Are In Grades

The total enrollment in Delta county schools, exclusive of Escanaba and Gladstone, for the current year is 3,235 pupils. C. P. Titus, county school commissioner, announced yesterday. There are 379 students attending the county's five high schools, and 2,856 are enrolled in the grades.

An increase of 155 pupils is noted in the total enrollment, last year's enrollment being 3,080. Most of the increase was made at Wells, where 73 Pine Ridge pupils formerly attending the Escanaba public schools were transferred to the Wells schools when Wells was organized under the township unit plan last August.

The rest of the increase was spread fairly evenly over the townships, and was not indicated by the school census of this year. Last year's school census showed 4,783 pupils between the ages of 5 and 20, and this year's census revealed a total of 4,937. The increase in enrollment was considerably greater than that indicated by the census, but the difference was partly offset by the fact that age groups used for census purposes vary from those found in the schools themselves.

Woman Teachers Lead

There are 73 woman teachers in the county schools, and 40 men, showing a considerable majority for the women but one that is no greater than found generally among county schools.

Cost of education, on a per capita basis, varies from $86.33 to $54.39 per pupil. The highest cost is in Bark River township, with a total of 204 pupils, and the lowest is in Brampton, with 141 pupils. Baldwin has 43 high school pupils, while Brampton has none.

The smallest township enrollment is at Bay de Noc, which has 75 pupils, all in the grades. There are 39 one-room schools in the county, making up a majority of the school buildings of the system. Of the remaining buildings, 7 are two-rooms and 2 are four-rooms.

There are five twelve grade schools and high schools, located at Rock, Perkins, Rapid River, Nahma and Garden. Two of them, Nahma, and Perkins, are rural agricultural high schools and receive state aid under the Rural Agricultural Act.

State Aid Provided

Under the Act, a district must maintain three departments: rural agriculture, home economics and general shop. The regulations for these are set up by the state vocational department, a division of the Department of Public Instruction under Dorr Stack and George H. Fern. When a district satisfactorily complies with the state's regulations it is granted an extra $800, over and above other state aid, plus $300 per school bus.

Delta county now has fourteen township unit school districts. Bark River formed its four primary districts into a township unit last year, and Wells became organized on the township unit basis last August.

The formation of a township unit in Bark River last year gave the community $4,984 additional school aid, and will provide a similar amount this year. Wells township will gain $5,850 from the state through the change in organization.

Old Railroad Man, Charles Beaudry Sr. Dies In Marquette

Marquette, Mich., Dec. 21 (AP)—Charles Beaudry Sr., 78, prominent Marquette resident and a railroad man here for nearly half a century, died tonight in his home after a long illness.

Born in St. Ambrose, Quebec, on August 24, 1860, Beaudry came to this country with his family when he was a child. He was a resident of Marquette county 70 years and had lived here for 60 years.

He began his railroad career as a brakeman on the Marquette, Houghton and Ontonagon railway in 1882 and worked his way up to the position of general yard master for the Duluth South Shore and Atlantic railway. He held that position for 30 years until he retired in 1929.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning in St. John's church.

BURNS KILL BABY

Bay City, Mich., Dec. 21 (AP)—Carmen Chartier, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Chartier, of Bay county, died in Mercy hospital yesterday of burns suffered when a gas heater ignited her clothing.

Wizard Of Words, Dr. F. H. Vizetelly, Dies In New York

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, 74, internationally noted arbiter of the English language and defender of modern slang, died early today of pleurisy and pneumonia at the Fifth Avenue hospital.

He had been ill since December 2. Master of a million-word vocabulary—reputedly the largest of any man alive—the eminent lexicographer was the virtually unchallenged successor to Dr. Johnson, Noah Webster and Dr. Isaac K. Funk.

As a child he spoke only French, and in his youth he was so nearly blind he wore black leather "blinders" with small pin-hole lenses. For 11 years, in contrast to the vast amount of knowledge he was later to absorb from books, he was unable to read less he strain his eyes. An operation by a London surgeon finally gave him normal vision.

He had been associated with Funk and Wagnalls Publishing company as reference editor and editor of "The Standard Dictionary" since 1881.

Coincided One Word

An educated man, he said, should know 50,000 words, compared with the 23,000-word vocabulary of William Shakespeare, but he said few persons lived up to his definition of an educated man.

One of his proudest achievements was the feat of his granddaughter, Jeanne Vizetelly Cochrane, who, on her sixteenth birthday in 1935, commanded the amazing vocabulary of 10,000 words—5,000 more than the average college graduate.

He himself took credit for coining only one word—"Myoblast," derived from the initials of the phrase "mind your own business" and meaning a person who didn't.

Survivors include his wife, Bertha, and a daughter, Mrs. Norma Cochrane.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at Cook's funeral parlors in the Bronx, with private burial on Saturday afternoon. Before his death, Dr. Vizetelly had requested that he be buried at sea.

'OFFICE WIFE' FOUND GUILTY AT ST. JOSEPH

separated from his wife and four children before he met Mrs. Dull. Romance 9 Years Old

The state contended that Mrs. Dull followed Holbrook from the police station early on the morning of Oct. 17 after he had complained that she was "bothering" him, and shot him four times as he stood on the street.

The blonde defendant, in a long witness stand appearance, told of a turbulent nine-year romance, in office and home, with the man she had served as secretary. She said Holbrook approached her on the Benton Harbor street and that "I knew he intended to kill me."

Of the shooting she claimed to remember nothing. Her attorneys produced medical testimony that she was "punch drunk" from a blow on the forehead, and was suffering from a temporary amnesia when Holbrook was shot.

Prosecutor E. A. Westin contended that "every act and statement" of Mrs. Dull after the shooting proved "she was sane and knew what she had done."

Not Guilty If Insane

Clad in the same black dress she has worn since her trial began Dec. 12, Mrs. Dull calmly listened this morning as Circuit Judge Mark D. Taylor instructed the jurors they could convict her of murder in the first or second degree, or of manslaughter, or acquit her by reason of temporary insanity, or by reason of self defense.

Judge Taylor told the jurors that if it found Mrs. Dull was in a state of amnesia at the time of the shooting, and without the full faculties of her mind, she was entitled to an acquittal.

He said the jury's first task was to determine whether the defendant was sane or insane when Holbrook was shot. If they decided she was insane, he said, "you should return a verdict of acquittal."

Should they find she was sane, Judge Taylor continued, they must determine whether she fired in self defense. If they decided she was sane and did not act in self defense, he added, their duty then was to determine the degree of guilt.

The judge's instructions consumed an hour and ten minutes. After the jurors retired at noon, they held a half-hour session, then went to lunch, returning at 1:45 p. m. Shortly before 3 p. m. the request for an opportunity to examine the death weapon came from the deliberation room.

Mrs. Dull was returned to her jail cell, but waiting in the courthouse corridors were her two children, Gloria, 15, and Lester, 17, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Baker of Kimmell, Ind.

The crowd which jammed the courtroom to near Judge Taylor's charge to the jury, left, only a handful of spectators remaining to await the verdict.

Thirteen jurors had listened to the trial testimony. One, Harvey Ostrander, was eliminated by lot before deliberations started.

VALUE OF FARM CROPS REDUCED

Bumper Michigan Harvest Is Worth Less Than Last Year

Lansing, Dec. 21 (AP)—Michigan farmers were informed today that their 1938 harvest, although a bumper one in quantity, was valued at eight per cent less than last year. The total did not include livestock.

The state-federal cooperative crop reporting service said the 24 principal field and fruit crops were valued at a total of $125,296,000, compared with $135,296,000 in 1937.

Only rye and wild hay among the field and seed crops, produced smaller yields than a year ago, the service said. The production of fruit was the smallest in recent years.

The report showed that the corn harvest dropped in value from $43,000,000 to $30,178,000, although 2,400,000 more bushels were produced. The winter wheat crop, nearly 900,000 bushels larger than last year, decreased in value $6,000,000 to $11,365,000.

The major exceptions to the trend were in sugar beets and potatoes, the service said. The sugar beet crop increased in value from $3,287,000 to $6,168,000. The potato crop increased from $14,031,000 to $16,500,000.

Murphy Considering Philippine Vacation

Detroit, Dec. 21 (AP)—Governor Murphy is considering a vacation in the Philippine Islands after he leaves office January 2, he disclosed today.

The governor, who resigned as high commissioner of the Philippines to make the race for governor of Michigan, said he had been invited to the islands as a guest of President Manuel Quezon. He tentatively booked passage for Manila on the S. S. President Coolidge, sailing from San Francisco January 20.

He said he has not abandoned his plans for opening a law office in Detroit.

New York Central Sued For $60,000

Charlotte, Mich., Dec. 21 (AP)—The New York Central railroad was named defendant today in three suits seeking a total of $60,000 as a result of a railroad crossing accident at Hastings, Mich., last September in which Harry Sparks of Charlotte, superintendent of the Reo Motor Car Co. of Lansing, Mich., and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Vida Fiske of Hastings were killed.

Two of the suits were filed by Mrs. Sparks, who is asking $30,000 for the death of her husband and $20,000 for injuries she says she suffered in the crash. An administrator of Mrs. Fiske's estate filed the third suit, asking $10,000 for her death.

Europe Shivers As Iceland 'Swelters'

London, Dec. 21 (AP)—Iceland "swelters" today as Europe's great freeze added a few more deaths to the several score reported this week.

The temperature at Reykjavik, Iceland's capital, usually below freezing in December, reached 45 degrees, permitting farmers to work their soil. Normally the ground is frozen from October to spring.

The cold wave in Europe rolled in from Soviet Russia. The coldest point there yesterday was Novosibirsk, 54.4 below zero. Moscow reported five below today. The temperature there Sunday was 14.8 below.

Till Looted Of $30 At Sandwich Shop

Big Rapids, Mich. (AP)—Two youthful bandits menaced a lone waiter with pistols and escaped after looting the till of a sandwich shop here Wednesday of $30. Police, following fresh tracks in the snow, discovered the bandits had tried to enter several business places before robbing the sandwich shop.

SHOCK KILLS WOMAN

Detroit, Dec. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Finley, 39, of Taylor township, Wayne county, appeared to have been unhurt in an automobile accident near her home today but collapsed and died a few minutes later. Police said she must have suffered a heart attack.

ENGINE HITS CAR

Detroit, Dec. 21 (AP)—A Detroit terminal railroad switch engine struck a street car at Mound Road and East Davidson avenue tonight derailling the car, damaging the front and hurting three persons. Those injured were Richard Harp, 53, street car conductor, John Cunningham, 43, the motorman, and Mrs. Cecilia Zawacki, 23, passengers.

Young trees occasionally are killed outright by the girdling of the sapucker, but larger trees recover from the injuries, although the blemishes may not disappear.

police, ordered a reopening of the unsolved slayings of Joseph Cohen, wealthy fish and poultry dealer, and his brother, Barnett, in the spring of 1932. McDermott sought to determine whether Coster-Musica had any connection with the case.

Spent Year At Sing Sing

Joseph Cohen spent a year in the death house at Sing Sing following his conviction of the murder in 1914 of Barnett Baff, a poultry dealer, mainly on testimony procured by Coster-Musica, then an investigator for the district attorney's office.

Cohen was reprieved time and again, once only 11 minutes before he was to walk to the electric chair. Eventually the chief witness in the case, Joseph Sorro, admitted he had perjured himself, and said he had been persuaded to testify by Coster-Musica.

Cohen later was freed and Coster-Musica was indicted for subornation of perjury. The indictment was dismissed in 1929, long after Musica had become F. Donald Coster, head of a great drug concern.

McDermott, who ordered detectives to question the Musica brothers and members of the Cohen family, said the Cohen brothers might have had strong motives for making use of their information if they had happened to learn that the former investigator, Musica, had attained social position and affluence as head of an $87,000,000 corporation.

State Sets Price Minimum On Wines

Lansing, Dec. 21 (AP)—The state liquor control commission today postponed until January 15 the effective date of a recent order setting a minimum price for the retail sale of wine by the glass.

Commissioner Hale G. Knight said the action was taken to allow dealers to arrange their inventories and to make preparations for the new order. The minimum requires that not more than two-and-a-half ounces of wine be sold for 10 cents.

DAFFY DODGERS GOING DIGNIFIED

Brains and Experience Are Gathered Around By Larry MacPhail

BY WHITNEY MARTIN
New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, who once could be relied upon to do one good turn daily, usually in the wrong direction and letting in three runs, have gone dignified.

Larry MacPhail, his red head turning out ideas in dozen lots, is gathering about him a Christmas candy assortment of brains and experience, and if the Dodgers can't find their way home from third base next summer it won't be because they are strangers in the park.

MacPhail's latest acquisition is Luke Sewell, who next summer will have 38 years behind him, as well as an umpire if his legs permit him to carry on without being carried off.

Sewell, a good catcher, was obtained from the Chicago White Sox at the waiver price, and he joins such other ancient mariners of the baseball seas as Tony Lazzeri, 34, erstwhile Yankee and Cub; Joe Stripp, 36; and Freddy Flansburg, 37.

MacPhail also is reported dicker-ing for Al Simmons, the 35 year old Washington outfielder on whom waivers have been asked.

That MacPhail does not intend to make the Dodgers a home for aging ball players is taken for granted, despite his apparent effort to grab everything on the loose. Neither does he intend to send these tried and true veterans out for regular duty while youngsters do their sliding along the bench.

Old Heads Helpful

But he does intend to have plenty of old heads around as a steady influence if the younger players begin to come apart at the seams and try to toss away the ball and the ball game with one quick motion.

The old timers—Lazzeri, Sewell, Stripp—will be in the reserve trenches as a sort of small annuity which may not pay much, but in time of stress will be worth its weight in ball players.

MacPhail's personal old-age plan for the Dodgers is not without precedent, as the late Wilbert Robinson had a penchant for giving veterans a chance when the other clubs gave them the gate. Robinson had more than ordinary success with the discards. And he used them regularly, not as a buffer for players who some day might need an old head instead of young legs to pull them out of a hole.

Just as another indication that the presence of a few gentlemen of years is no detriment, the New York Yankees might be considered. Lou Gehrig is 35 and still able to be about. Irving (Bump) Hadley is 34, as is Charles the Red Ruffing. And the Yankees seem to be doing all right.

At any rate, it looks like the days when the fans and the ball both got a kick out of the Dodgers definitely are past. It's serious business from now on, with a board of directors ready to mastermind every play.

For generations, England has grown lawns of camomile. Some of these still are extant. Camomile lawns usually were used for the sport of bowling on the green.

The examination of Roland LaCrosse of 614 Minnesota avenue, Gladstone, on a hit-run driving charge in Justice Henry E. Rungt's court here was continued Tuesday afternoon, and will be completed on December 28 at two o'clock. LaCrosse is accused of leaving the scene of an accident near the Kipling school the night of December 11, in which it is charged that his car struck Sylvia Pezoa of Kipling on highway US 2-41.

The door handle of a car, later identified as belonging to LaCrosse, was imbedded in the arm of the 15 year old girl as she was struck. It was the clue through which officers arrested LaCrosse and charged him with leaving the scene of the accident. He told officers that he was passing a truckload of Christmas trees near Kipling when he heard something strike his car, but that he had thought it was only a stake or pole.

NEW DEALERS TO GAG THIRD TERM REBELS

of Democrats voting in 1928 for the anti-Coolidge third-term resolution. With him were such other new deal Democratic stalwarts of today as Ashurst of Arizona; McKellar of Tennessee and Wagner of New York. Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, in fact, is the only Democrat still in the senate who voted against the resolution.

Insurgents Still In

Republican insurgents and independents who voted for the 1928 resolution and are still here to vote again, include Johnson of California; Borah of Idaho; Norris of Nebraska; Nye and Frazier of North Dakota, and Shipstead of Minnesota.

Senator Hatch (D-N. M.), expressed today the view some others have indicated they will take. He said he was opposed to third terms for presidents, but would be against any anti-third-term resolution because he thought it not within the senate's province to make such expressions.

Borah voted for the 1928 no-third-term without enthusiasm. The debate shows he felt the enforcement of the tradition could safely be left to American public opinion. He also argued that if it was to be re-emphasized, it should be in the form of a constitutional amendment providing for a single presidential term.

Retired Instructor Hangs Self In Jail

Hart, Mich. (AP)—Carl Shull, 59, a retired school teacher, was found hanging in a cell of the Orona county jail Wednesday, a few hours before officers were to have removed him to the Michigan state hospital at Traverse City for observation. Sheriff Frank Murmeister said Shull had taken his own life. He was jailed Monday after his wife complained that he had threatened her.

His Entire System Made Great Change

Relieved of Ten Long Years Suffering: Pains In Hips Wonderfully Aided; Bowels Functioning Properly Again

"For ten long years before I knew of KruGon I had been a victim of poor digestion and muscular aches and pains," said Mr. Scott Elben, age 79, of 214 Mill St., Albert Lea, Minnesota. "All of my suffering was indirectly due to the collection of poisons in my system which failed to be properly eliminated. I could not eat except terrible gas pains and indigestion would follow each meal. The dreadful pain settled in my hips and knees so badly that I could hardly get about. The frequent bladder action made sleep and rest an impossibility. Terrible backaches added to my misery and I was in a dreadfully run-down condition. But this was all before I tried KruGon and gave it a chance to help me."

"KruGon proved to be the very medicine I had been in search of for so long," continued Mr. Elben. "My stomach and bowels are now regulated and functioning normally, nerves are quieted and my appetite is improved. I get proper bladder action, backaches are eased and those awful pains are being driven from my body. My strength and energy has returned and my entire system has made a great change. KruGon gave results after all others I had tried failed."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.

MENOMINEE NOT SEEKING RIGUEL

Confessed Firebug Will Appear In Court Here January 9

No claim for the custody of Alfred Riguel, confessed pyromaniac now held for circuit court at the Delta county jail, will be made by Menominee county officers, Prosecutor F. Earl Lanthier and Sheriff Edward Reindl said yesterday. A warrant charging Riguel with setting the J. W. Wells lumber company fire at Menominee was issued Monday, but officials stated that it was with the intention of providing circuit court with information of Riguel's confessed act, and not with the intention of having the prisoner returned to Menominee county for arraignment.

"I doubt very much that we could prove a corpus delicti against Riguel in the Wells fire," Prosecutor Lanthier said. "A confession could not be introduced until we proved actually that Riguel set the fire."

Authorities and officials of the Wells lumber company report that they are convinced Riguel's confession has solved the Wells fire, a mystery for several years. No end would be gained, authorities said, by seeking his arraignment in Menominee county when he is already held for trial in Delta county circuit court on other arson charges. Riguel is scheduled to be arraigned January 9 before Judge Frank A. Bell of Negaunee in Delta county circuit court.

Gift to Home Is Joy Forever

IDEAL FOR THE HOME—Christmas gifts include a stunning mahogany dressing table, with a top that lifts up to reveal a really good mirror, and beautiful crystal dressing table lamps. Also—and nice for any room in the house—a luxurious easy chair with a footstool to match. In the bedroom, this could substitute for a chaise lounge. The window curtains are of finest white nylon and the drapes are of flowered chintz with white scalloped borders. Almost any woman in your family would appreciate new curtains and drapes.

BY MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
New York—In the midst of Christmas shopping when, apparently, all is confusion, you may be sure of one thing: each and every member of any family will be pleased with a gift that makes for greater beauty in the home and increases his personal comfort.

For Women Proud Of Their Home
To make her dining room table more attractive and simplify entertaining, consider these items for women:

A giant tomato of red Italian pottery which is perfect for salads, stewed fruits and buffet supper dishes; dark blue china flower vases with New York World's Fair designs in white; a tip-over teapot which settles once and for all the problem of how to get tea strong enough; giant candles that burn for 90 hours; a demitasse pot with a special lining which keeps the coffee really hot; casseroles that will keep buffet food hot for hours; small twin elephants of gleaming crystal that are containers for oil and vinegar; an electric egg cooker which will boil or poach your eggs right at the table.

New and handsome are leather cigarette boxes in the shape of eggplants, onions, apples, pears and other fruits and vegetables. A music box cigaret container plays tunes while the lid is open, and it stays open just long enough for you to help yourself to a cigarette.

More practical, perhaps, but sure to be welcome is a noiseless carpet sweeper with a push button for emptying. Also a set of transparent canisters for tea, coffee, sugar and spices; special kneeling pads for the amateur gardener; a basket of gardening tools with a special compartment into which you can put fresh flowers if you decide to stop digging and start cutting.

For Youngsters' Own Rooms

A young girl would be pleased to get Yuletide gifts in the shape of a pair of antique lamps with loosely gathered silk shades for her room.

She would also enjoy new lightweight wool blankets that look like a homespun material and have wide satin borders; an amazing dressing table chair with an attached back view mirror which will automatically focus on every angle of her head, no matter which way she turns.

For a boy's room there are inexpensive leather-framed maps of the world—up-to-date in spite of Hitler's rapid moves; small-shaped leather bookends; a fish plaque; wool blankets with colorful felt

Public Lands Again

UPPER PENINSULA legislators, assembled in a pre-session conference in Escanaba on Tuesday, decided to introduce another resolution in the next legislature to call attention to the problem of diminishing tax revenues due to acquisition of lands for national forests.

The resolution would serve only to renew agitation for the movement, launched a couple years ago by Upper Peninsula counties, for only Congress can enact the remedial legislation that is needed.

The Upper Peninsula counties claim that their financial condition has been seriously impaired by the removal of real property from the tax rolls because of its sale by the private owners and the state to the federal government. The movement derives its leadership principally from the persons, who hold county offices. They contend that the federal government should compensate the local governments with an acreage payment similar to that being paid by the state of Michigan on state lands set aside as game refuges and public forests.

It should be recalled, however, that most of the land acquired by the federal government for national forests has been cut-over acreages, abandoned by the private owners and reverted to the state for non-payment of taxes. When the federal government commenced its land acquisition program on a large scale, private owners paid up their delinquent taxes before selling. For a few years, there was a veritable windfall of delinquent tax collections, which helped local governments to get through the depression years.

There is still much idle land in the Upper Peninsula that could be put to better use if included in the national forests. There will not be much incentive for the federal government to expand its forest areas if it must pay taxes on land nobody else wants.

Pioneer of Conservation

ONE of the greatest evangelists of conservation in America died in Los Angeles, California, on Christmas Eve, 1934. This week marks the twenty-fourth year of his death, and 1938 the hundredth since his birth. That crusader for conservation was John Muir, born April 21, 1838, in the little town of Dunbar, Scotland.

John Muir was injured from infancy to thrive and self-reliance. Until eleven years of age he attended school in Dunbar. Daniel Muir, his father, added to the lad's cultural foundations by requiring him to memorize daily passages from the Scriptures. This memory training was of incalculable worth when the day came for him to take his place as one of the world's greatest champions of conservation.

In 1849 John Muir's father emigrated to America, taking up a homestead in Wisconsin, then a frontier wilderness. The lad played a man's part in this undertaking. Long hours were spent clearing land, splitting rails, and sowing crops that furnished the family sustenance. Daniel Muir did not permit his son to sit up nights even to study. If the boy wished to read he had to rise at break of day. To overcome any possible temptation to sleep late, the boy invented a device that lighted a lamp, kindled a fire, and tipped up his bed on end.

The years of working far beyond his strength and of insufficient sleep during his formative stage stunted the boy's growth, but not his eager mind. Even with the limited opportunities for education that existed in the backwoods, John Muir was ready for college in his early twenties. His invention of an alarm clock helped pave the way for his entrance to the University of Wisconsin. He had exhibited it, together with other mechanical devices which he had invented, at the State Fair at Madison, where it came to the attention of Dr. Ezra S. Carr, professor of natural sciences and chemistry, and his wife. Besides bringing a prize award, the exhibits won for the ambitious youth a lifelong friend and counselor. In Mrs. Carr, in later life he met at her home the woman who afterwards became his wife.

In his decision not to study for a degree John Muir held true to his native independence of thought and singleness of purpose. Learning for learning's sake was his ambition. For this purpose elective studies seemed to him more important and useful than a prescribed curriculum, and chemistry and geology became his major subjects. Later he took up botany—a study which he pursued enthusiastically as long as he lived. Every spare moment was utilized in tramping the countryside, where to him all nature came alive, even the seemingly inanimate rocks.

The late President Theodore Roosevelt came under the influence of the great naturalist during a camping trip with Muir through Yosemite, and as a result, thousands of acres of forests and virgin wilderness areas were made safe from ruthlessness, by their segregation as national parks, monuments, and forests.

John Muir discovered Glacier Bay in Alaska and the glacier that bears his name. He explored the upper reaches of the Yukon and Mackenzie, and later journeyed to the Caucasus, to Siberia, Man-

World Affairs Reviewed

BY MILTON BRONNER NKA Service Staff Correspondent London—Is the British citizen merely voting against Adolf Hitler, boss of Nazified Germany, or is he purposely voting for those who oppose Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and his national government for other reasons? That's a question the Tory party machine engineers would like very much to solve. Some time ago they were all for going before the country soon in a general election of a new House of Commons. For, although the country was divided on the results of the famous Munich agreement among Hitler, Mussolini, Chamberlain and Premier Daladier of France, there was an immense and almost universal feeling of relief that the country had not been plunged into war.

Gangland Technique

THERE is a reason for everything in this world, and if you want to understand why the Hitler government is cracking down so hard on the Jews you might consider the economic crisis that is developing so fast in Germany.

During 1938, according to a recent United Press dispatch, new loans amounting to some $3,200,000,000 were floated, bringing the nation's total indebtedness up to $20,000,000,000. This is almost entirely an internal debt money owned by the German government to the German people.

The government continues to operate at an annual deficit estimated at $2,800,000,000, the nation's prosperity depends on government orders, and it is an open question whether in the near future this will not push the nation up to the edge of disastrous inflation.

Such figures make dry reading, but they are the only background against which the recent pogroms can be understood.

For the essential fact about this wave of anti-Jewish savagery is that it is a financial measure. The technique perfected by Machine Gun Kelly and Ace Bailey is being used cold-bloodedly by the German government. A brief review of the facts will make this perfectly clear.

First, there is the "fine" that is being collected from Germany's Jews. The first installment of this $400,000,000 is going into the Reich's treasury now, and more will follow.

Hand in hand with this goes the rest of the restrictive program by which the Jews are to be culled of their last pennies.

All free professions are now closed to Jews. By the end of the year the retail trade will be closed to Jews. Jews must sell all their investments in industry and real estate. They cannot get ordinary jobs because, as Jews, they cannot obtain the needed labor passes.

The ultimate effect of this is tragically obvious. German Jews are barred either from earning a living or from making their capital work for them. They must live on their savings, and things are fixed so that their savings will vanish rapidly. It has been estimated that German Jews when the pogrom began owned property worth from 12 to 20 billions of marks. All of this is to be pumped into the leaky financial basket of the Reich.

When it is gone, what happens? Then a German Jew must either emigrate, receive support from Jews abroad—or die. If he emigrates, the government sees to it that a species of ransom is first paid. If he gets help from abroad, the money is simply pumped into the German trade stream. Only if he dies does he cease to be a source of cash to his oppressors.

Reviewing all of this, one can see that the whole scheme is nothing but a gigantic money-raising racket. The technique of American gangdom has been made a fundamental policy of a great nation. Those precious lads whom we keep locked up in Alcatraz apparently had the bad luck to be born in the wrong country.

DAYTON, O., has been operating under the city manager form of government for 25 years, and the administration has been so satisfactory that it is feared the citizens have lost that close touch with municipal affairs.

Civic spirit in Dayton has languished because there have been no exposures of fraud and corruption to arouse the righteous citizens of the community. While civic-minded leaders of Dayton are glad there are no abuses in public office, they are afraid of the consequences of this apathy on the part of the public.

A member of Dayton's original charter committee explains that the community's greatest problem is to keep citizens informed and interested. And there is something in this.

Escanaba and other cities having the manager form have made some real progress in municipal government. But it is doubtful that the regular meetings of the five-member council in Escanaba attract the attendance and interest the old-time ward councilmen did when they convened. In some respects, municipal government, in its efforts to promote efficiency in public affairs, has gotten farther away from the people.

The Daily Press, long a strong believer in city manager government, always has endeavored to keep the citizens fully informed about the affairs of the community. Its columns at all times are open to the city manager, council and other public officers for the purpose of telling the readers of the day-to-day governmental activities and explaining their policies and plans for the future.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY MILTON BRONNER NKA Service Staff Correspondent London—Is the British citizen merely voting against Adolf Hitler, boss of Nazified Germany, or is he purposely voting for those who oppose Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and his national government for other reasons? That's a question the Tory party machine engineers would like very much to solve. Some time ago they were all for going before the country soon in a general election of a new House of Commons. For, although the country was divided on the results of the famous Munich agreement among Hitler, Mussolini, Chamberlain and Premier Daladier of France, there was an immense and almost universal feeling of relief that the country had not been plunged into war.

Gangland Technique

THERE is a reason for everything in this world, and if you want to understand why the Hitler government is cracking down so hard on the Jews you might consider the economic crisis that is developing so fast in Germany.

During 1938, according to a recent United Press dispatch, new loans amounting to some $3,200,000,000 were floated, bringing the nation's total indebtedness up to $20,000,000,000. This is almost entirely an internal debt money owned by the German government to the German people.

The government continues to operate at an annual deficit estimated at $2,800,000,000, the nation's prosperity depends on government orders, and it is an open question whether in the near future this will not push the nation up to the edge of disastrous inflation.

Such figures make dry reading, but they are the only background against which the recent pogroms can be understood.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN Washington—Publicly, Captain Anthony Eden made no criticism of the Chamberlain Government during his recent visit to Washington. But in his private talks, he evinced some very strong differences with his former chief in the British Cabinet.

One was in regard to the Chamberlain policy on Spain, especially the granting of belligerent rights to Rebel General Franco.

"If that happens," the young ex-Foreign Minister said, "I shall resign from the Conservative Party."

Eden, although already resigned from the Cabinet, remains a member of Chamberlain's party, and his resignation from it would be a terrific political blow to the Prime Minister.

Within the past few weeks, the United States also has made it clear to both the French and the British that this country is absolutely opposed to granting belligerent rights to Franco. Belligerent rights would give the Fascists the right to blockade Spanish Loyalist ports, would cut off all food supplies, starve out Barcelona in short order. With belligerent rights, Franco could blow up British, French, American vessels. It would mean an early Fascist victory.

—ITALIAN STRATEGY— Another matter discussed during the Eden visit—which dovetails into Spain—is what Mussolini really wants in the Mediterranean.

It was the consensus of British and American opinion that at present he does not really want Tunis. His strategy is to yell for Tunis so hard that the French, to shut him up, will compromise on less.

Benito actually wants three things: 1. The French railroad from Djibouti, on the Red Sea, to Addis Ababa, capital of Ethiopia. (The Italians want to pay for this on such long-term installments that it would be a virtual gift.)

2. Participation in control of the Suez Canal.

3. Belligerent rights for Franco. Mussolini most wants the last. It means the end of the war in Spain, gives him a chance to station Italian troops along the French border, gives him naval and air bases to cut France off from her African colonies. After establishing these, if he wanted Tunis, he could probably take it.

For this reason Premier Daladier is adamant against giving belligerent rights to Franco. He would much rather give it to the French.

The French have exchanged views with the Roosevelt Administration on this, and they see eye to eye. The Administration has gone even further and encouraged the French to stand up against the British.

Diplomatic opinion is that joint efforts of the French, the U.S.A. and Captain Eden may steady the weak knees of Neville Chamberlain.

—FDR TOAST— During the recent congressional junket to Florida, Governor Fred Cone invited several of the Washington visitors to an informal function where a toast was drunk to President Roosevelt. Here was the toast:

"To Franklin Delano Roosevelt—may God bless, and correct, him."

—HOOVER BREAKFAST— Herbert Hoover maintained a tight-lipped silence on politics during his recent one-day visit in Washington, but he listened with keen interest to the comments of others.

The discussion occurred at a breakfast given by National Chairman John Hamilton. Present were about a dozen of Hoover's old friends, plus Republican congressional leaders. Most vocal was Senator Vandenberg of Michigan.

He had quite a bit to say about the pro-Townsendism of his young Massachusetts colleague, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, and it was not favorable. "Auctioneer" was what Vandenberg called him, for proposing a $50-a-month compromise old-age pension plan.

Tom Dewey and Ohio's new Republican Senator Robert Taft were two other who did not seem to rate high with the Michigan Senator—why, he did not say.

Vandenberg seemed to be in a very pessimistic mood, for he even turned thumbs down on the National Manufacturers Association for taking a conciliatory attitude toward the New Deal. After what had happened in November, the Senator said he saw no reason for trying to curry the friendliness of the Roosevelt regime.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch THE COMMON MIND All things are common to the common mind.

An insect hurrying home to feed her brood is but an insect—crush her where you find, And rob her little children of their food. And this old Bible now will never do. Old Grandad read it every living day. Until its corners all are thumb-worn away. It's really ruined—we must get a new.

And, children, break your toy—that's what it's for: It is a thing of beauty—but it's yours; And there are plenty others at the store—When things are common, nothing long endures.

Of course if you should die, we'd keep the toy; We always keep the shoes of babies dead; But, if you live, we would be fools instead.

To cherish then some plaything of the boy. Yet, in the fertile heart, what tendrils cling Around the common and inanimate!—Association alters everything; The great is greater, and the simple is great.

Our joys, our sufferings, immortalize. Some humble place, some unimportant day. God may have made us from the common clay—Yet roses dare from common clay to rise.

After covering the whole village, the students played games in the high school building after which they enjoyed hot dogs and coffee. The youthful carollers included Mildred Purtil, Cecily Hoefield, Janet Lester, Eleanor Kautchen, Janice Tatrow, Leona Duschene, Norma Elizabeth Tatrow, Norma Pauline Tatrow, Peggy Tatrow, Muriel Gauthier, Mae Farley, Marcella Winter, Pearl

ESCANABA BOY ADMITS THEFT

John Vorrone, 17, Tells Officers of Taking Banks at Waupun

A youth who gave his name as John Vorrone, 17, of Route One, Escanaba, was held for Waupun, Wis., police yesterday at Green Bay after confessing the theft of $28.85 from a theatre box office in that city. Lieut. Otto Crongo of the Green Bay police department stated.

Vorrone, who said he was "bumming" from Colorado, was picked up by police Tuesday in the waiting room of the North Western passenger depot. Brought to the station for questioning, he was found to have $10 in quarters, $2 in dimes, one $5 bill, nine one-dollar bills and a nickel for which he could not account.

Yesterday morning, Lieutenant Crongo reported, the youth admitted entering the Waupun theatre, which is being remodeled, and taking two banks belonging to the manager's children, from the box office, which had been unlocked on account of the remodeling. Vorrone broke the banks open under a bridge, he stated. Waupun police, notified by Green Bay authorities of the confession, confirmed the crime and said they would go to Green Bay to take the youth to Waupun for arraignment.

BLUE MONDAY GOES WHEN YOUR BILE JUICE FLOWS

When we have a blue Monday the chances are that our two pints of bile juice are not flowing from our liver into our bowels. If these two pints are not flowing every day our food decays in our bowels. Also gas pains, indigestion and harmful germs start working in our bowels. These bowel upsets can make us have a lousy blue Monday.

Do you have blue Mondays? Do you feel drabby, mean and awful on other days? Well, just take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills. They back up the flow of your vital two pints of bile juice and then the sun may shine again in that good old body of yours.

But if you want this glorious bile juice relief, ask your druggist for Carter's Little Liver Pills and don't buy "something just as good"—25¢.

Today's Recipe

A Daily Press reader has kindly sent in a recipe for Grandmother's meat pie, a holiday recipe for Christmas and New Year's, which has been handed down in her family for generations.

Christmas Meat Pie Two pounds ground fresh pork steak. One good sized onion, ground Salt and pepper to taste One-half teaspoon allspice Add water and cook slowly on the stove until the meat is well done. Leave enough broth so it will not be too dry.

Fill in between two pie crusts, and make a hole in the center of top crust. Make a fringe of crust, cut in narrow strips and put in center. Bake until well browned. Do not make pie crust as rich as for other pies.

PATTERN 9964

Holidays may come, and holidays may go—but the need for captivating afternoon dresses like this goes on forever! It's a grand new style to make people ask at a party, "Who is that striking person who just came in?" And it's easily made with the aid of Marjan Martin's Sew Chart! There's a young, high-tying neckline, or a collarless effect that curves charmingly to meet a fabric furrow or other ornament. The puff-top sleeves are long—or short and scalloped. The bodice is softly bloused, and has simple shirring at the shoulders. The skirt has slenderizing center seams and flares prettily—while its "girldie" banding gives the very popular "wasp-waist."

Pattern 9964 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric. Doings About Capitol

Lansing—"The art of government is the most difficult of all sciences," declared Governor Frank Murphy in a post-election address at Michigan State College. "This is true because primarily it is one of experimentation."

Considering the fact that more than 1,000 bills are introduced at the average session of the Michigan legislature, the governor's statement is a modest one. Legislators are prone to tinker with laws.

As a practical illustration of the difficulty of making democracy truly democratic, Michigan today has a growing movement to modernize its system of nominations to state offices. For the most part the impelling force has come from a group of liberal newspaper editors who were dissatisfied with the control by a few politicians of the Republican state convention at Grand Rapids. Prime mover of the convention reform plan is Elton R. Eaton, crusading publisher of the Plymouth Mail in Wayne county and a member of the house of representatives.

Editor Eaton condemns the Grand Rapids convention because deprived of their right to select nominees. A machine-picked slate was handed to the delegates. The convention even received a naive and frank appeal by a platform speaker to "go right down the line and do as we're told." And they did just that.

All of this is no secret to anyone who witnessed this affair or who read the newspapers at that time. The historic fact is that a few party leaders, rather than the delegates themselves, picked the nominees.

It was the method employed, rather than the men who were selected, that inspired the Plymouth editor to cry for reform. In his zeal to checkmate politicians, Editor Eaton proposes that the people select the nominees by primary ballot many of the minority parties that spring up overnight without substantial backing.

It would mean a long ballot. The Grand Rapids Press countered with a suggestion that the governor-elect appoint all the office holders except the auditor general. The Booth newspaper has recommended a short ballot.

Vernon J. Brown's Idea Agreeing candidly with Mr. Eaton that the machine-controlled Grand Rapids convention was an "offense against the rank and file of the party," Vernon J. Brown, auditor general-elect and the editor of the Ingham County News at Mason proposes a different experiment.

He would seek to make the convention system truly representative of the wish of the party by decentralizing control into congressional conventions and thus making it more difficult for politicians to manipulate the strings.

The plan in brief: Elect delegates to county conventions except in counties which are divided into more than one congressional district. In all other counties, delegates to county conventions would elect delegates to the congressional district conventions. Each congressional convention, in turn, would elect delegates to the state meeting which would be smaller in size and hence more deliberative in action.

Hotel Suite Nominations The auditor general-elect envisions the following result:

"The state convention then would naturally be much smaller in number than the present unwieldy, mob-like gatherings typified by the Grand Rapids gathering. No set of machine politicians, however astute, could possibly be at 17 points in the state simultaneously. Special trains, paid for by some political boss, would go out of fashion and hotel suites where now the business of the convention is done, would give way to a deliberative body of responsible delegates there to do the will of the people and not of a few self-seeking politicians."

But if such a plan could not be effected, the Ingham county publisher agrees with the Grand Rapids Press. He concludes: "If administrative officials are to be hand-picked in secret by self-appointed politicians as at present, far better that the constitution be amended and these administrative officials be appointed by the governor after his election."

Sales Tax Exemptions Governor-Elect Fitzgerald has made it known that he intends to purge state payrolls sometime after Jan. 1.

Determined to wipe out the deficit, Fitzgerald has put in doubt the continuance of upwards to 4,000 jobs, most of which are protected by civil service. And there lies the Republicans' dilemma. They don't want to scuttle the civil service system, but they do want patronage to appease party workers.

As an alternative to payroll cutting (or an accompaniment to it) is the legislative possibility of plugging revenue leaks in the state sales tax law. Of the reported sales of $4,322,000,000 during the fiscal year ending July 1, 1938, the state collected the 3 per cent sales tax on only $1,661,000,000.

State Treasurer Theodore J. Fry blames exemptions such as re-sale in the form of tangible personal property. This accounts for $1,667,871,000, or more than 38 per cent of the grand total. Sales made for outgoing interstate commerce are tax exempt, amounting to $450,000,000 last year. Government purchases are also exempt, involving more than $75,000,000.

As a potential source for new revenue for budget balancing purposes, the sales tax is a virtual gold mine.

And yet that path is one of additional taxation on the masses. Old-fashioned economy, such as Fitzgerald has proposed, could accomplish the desired results. It will be interesting to observe what choice the governor makes.

McMILLAN NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. John Hanger have returned to their home here following a trip to the Lower Peninsula.

Leonard Miner and Fritz Meisner have returned home following a business trip to Manitowish.

Members of the Ladies Aid society of the M. E. church entertained approximately 35 little girls of the community with a Christmas party held Friday evening in the township hall. Decorations for the party were carried out in the typical Christmas style with an enormous Christmas tree ablaze with multicolored lights. Games were enjoyed, and a peanut hunt in which all the young guests participated, Minnie Parker winning the hunt, was a feature of the program. A miniature Christmas tree formed the centerpiece of an attractively decorated table for the Christmas lunch which was served. Miss Marlon Reese acting as Santa Claus presented each child with candy and a gift.

TRAFFIC HEAVY AT POST OFFICE

Volume of Mail Handled Rises Above 10% Over Last Year

A continuous line of people, bearing Christmas cards, holiday mail and gift parcels, filed into the Escanaba postoffice all day long yesterday as the holiday mailing season drew near its peak.

Ten extra men are now employed by the postoffice in delivering incoming mail and parcel post packages, and two extra trucks are being used to haul mail to the trains and out on deliveries.

The line at the postoffice window has been kept shorter than ever before during this season, in spite of the additional volume of business handled.

Yesterday afternoon a check was made on the number of outgoing letters passing through the local postoffice, and 135,000 pieces of mail were cancelled between 11 o'clock and closing time.

Luxury Gifts Come In Rich Variety

LUXURY FOR HIM—Includes a collarless sports jacket of soft wool with knitted sleeves, a fitted travel case, hand knit dress ties, dress gloves and a de luxe game box.

BY MARIAN YOUNG NEA Service Staff Correspondent New York—Even the most practical-minded person likes to have Santa Claus leave at least one luxury present—a gift that isn't a necessity at all, but which adds a great deal to his joy of living.

In addition to the practical, easy-to-laundry underwear and warm bathrobe she needs, you may be sure that a lacy, frothy, utterly luxurious bed jacket and a nightgown that looks like an evening gown would make mother pretty happy. She'd like stockings that are gossamer sheer, multiples of checked or plaid broadie, enough fur for a hat to match her fur coat, a big bottle of perfume, a gift order for a new dress-up frock, long daytime gloves of finest suede, an evening bag, a fitted overnight case.

Opulent Gifts For Homemakers The homemaker on your list is sure to consider a quilted satin bedspread with draperies to match the height of luxury indeed. A hammered aluminum buffet supper server with compartments for keeping hot dishes hot will make her happy, as will elephant bookends in black and white marble.

A plate glass desk set, beautifully etched in leaf motif, is new. Consider, too, a set of pure white bath towels in criss-cross weave with royal blue monograms or a large, flower-shaped salad bowl of rare wood from Hawaii. Salad spoon and fork of polished bone with sterling silver handles will appeal to any hostess.

What's More Luxurious Than Sleek Fur? For the most luxurious of all the luxury gifts for women, head straight for the fur department of your favorite store.

And muffs are the fashion news of the hour. One of the newest is of two clubby squares of mink, tied together with a wide brown satin bow. A similar type, in sleek black Persian lamb appears to be two square pillows of fur, fastened together with black satin ribbon tied in an arresting bow at the top.

A velvet evening wrap with sleeves and yoke of snowy ermine would please a glamor girl. A reasonably priced wrap of white tweed with royal blue paillettes looks luxurious but really isn't expensive.

Here's the Christmas Way to a Man's Heart

A man would be pleased with new evening jewelry, white pigskin gloves, a gift order for tails and a top hat, porcelain hunting dog statuettes, a coffee table that is a replica of an old semi-circular wine table with metal lined compartment for bottles and glasses in the front of it.

Also for him, consider a fishing net with scales in the handle; silver cigarette case made to resemble a letter and addressed in your hand; an altimeter for the car. Or a wrist-watch with stop-watch-tachometer-dials on the face; a flashlight capable of throwing a beam one mile; a suction-cup device for carrying skis on top the car; an auto searchlight to penetrate fog or snowy air.

For the camper, there's an outdoor eating outfit with asbestos-lined gloves. For the music lover, a remarkable piano-radio-phonograph combination. For any gadget lover, a cigarette holder which filters smoke through spun glass cloth.

Santa Comes to Girls and Boys

For little girls, new luxury presents include: a sewing set with directions for pattern making; a V-shaped bag of smooth wine alligator; a miniature vacuum cleaner that can be plugged into any socket in the baseboard; a small washing machine that runs by electricity; a Tyrolean ski jacket with attached hood and mittens to match; a home screen test device designed to test her young friends' acting ability.

For boys, there are: a toy train with a push button which uncouples the rear car while the rest of the train moves on; a tractor in pedal car size; a bus which flashes a red light when it stops; a seaman's chest with lock and key for his room; marionettes.

Jewelry Makes A Gem of a Gift

Displays of jewelry, as always, provide the most permanent of the luxury gifts. He might like a wrist watch curved to fit the side of his wrist.

She might like a fairly wide collar of cultured pearls; a massive gold clip has a hand-painted medallion in the center. Bracelets and necklaces of walnut-size stones, set in yellow gold, are new.

The guitar, which is traceable back to 1700 B. C., is one of the world's oldest musical instruments.

RECORD BROKEN IN WATER USE

Newberry Village Plant Has Successful Year, Carlson Reports

Newberry, Dec. 21—Figures released by Russell Carlson, superintendent of the village water and light plant, show that the daily consumption records of the history of the plant were broken on Tuesday when a total of 4,000 KWH were used.

The water and light board is this year sponsoring a contest of lighted decorations for both business places and homes. The contest closes on December 26 when three judges, now being selected from local civic organizations, will drive around the village and make their selections.

Plant Makes Money

Since January, 1931, the village has purchased its electrical power from the Newberry Lumber and Chemical Company, retaining the village owned plant for emergencies. The records show the influence of the depression years in the amounts purchased, with a steady increase since 1934.

This would have been increased another 72,000 KWH if it had not been for the savings made to the village by the gravity tank which was installed this past year. This tank, with a capacity of 125,000 gallons, saved the village the sum of $1,249.80 in the first year of its operation for operation of the pumps.

There was little complaint last summer about warm water as the constant change kept it comfortably cool. Supt. Carlson reports that through the use of a small pump he plans to overcome even this small temperature change, without increasing the costs of the power consumption. The plant makes for the village a net profit of around $1,150 per month, the records show.

Shy Scholar Says European Conflict Was Climactic Act Of Class Struggle

BY RUSSELL LANDSTROM South Haven, Mich., Dec. 21

(AP)—A small, shy scholar who makes you think of some of Anatole France's fictive characters and who for some 50 years has analyzed and lamented repressive movements, said today the European conflict was the climactic act of a class struggle with world-wide ramifications.

Watson Nicholson, who has hidden plenty of literary candlepower under the bushel basket of ancient report, asserted:

"We like to deny that we are involved in a class struggle, but it is useless. It is there. We are in it. Much of our art today—dramatic, literary, musical, painting—is built upon class struggle. So are we."

Terrifying? Well, so are a lot of other truths, he suggests.

It is altogether possible that you never have heard of Mr. Nicholson. No publicity seeker, this philosopher, who regards with delicate commiseration those he considers foolish enough to chase after the chimera of enduring fame.

Empires do not acquire panoply and puissance overnight. Nor are good books whacked out in the blink of a publisher's eye.

Mr. Nicholson writes books. His magnum opus is an exhaustive study of the English stage, with especial reference to censorship.

He started the work when he was studying teaching in college and published the first section, "The struggle for a free stage in London," 30 years ago.

He has continued that work ever since, but he is in no haste to print the rest of his story. In his words:

"I want to wait until I feel myself declining, then I will publish the work in full. One of the faults of scholars, particularly young ones, is to publish their work immaturely."

When finally brought out, Nicholson said, the work would comprehend the entire history of the English theater, and, therefore, of England, itself.

Authorities say "the struggle for a free stage in London" established the first intelligent base for an understanding of the historical development of the acted drama in England and legislation governing the theater after 1660.

Expatriating upon one of his favorite subjects, Nicholson declared:

"The spirit of censorship is the very basis of dictatorship, especially—the fascist brand. Those birds translate 'am I my brother's keeper?' into 'I am my brother's jailer.'"

"Censorship has its basis in the static and the stagnant. It is the view that what is good enough for me and what was good enough for my ancestors is good enough for anybody."

"One of the penalties we pay in a democracy is that your neighbors will tell you how to live,

Gay Trappings Add Sparkle to Even Humblest Presents

Whether it cost a great deal or very, very little any Christmas present seems twice as important and is a good deal more than twice as much fun to get if it's beautifully wrapped in smart paper and beautiful ribbon. The striped paper and the figured ones shown here are glittering examples of the new trend toward sharper, more distinct patterns.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Ran Away From Creditors And Found the Pacific

HAVING no particular future at home, adventurous Vasco Nunez de Balboa joined the great mercantile expedition of Rodrigo de Bastidas headed for the New World in the early 1600s.

On arrival, Balboa established himself in Santo Domingo and began to develop a plantation. But he was not successful, plunged heavily into debt. In order to escape his creditors, he had himself smuggled in a cask on board a ship and joined the expedition to Darien in 1510.

Insurrection took place not long after the start, however, and Balboa became supreme in command. At the same time he heard rumors of a great ocean to the west and in 1513 he pressed on anew to find it. On Sept. 25 he was the first European to see the Pacific from American shores.

Balboa saw it from a mountain top in the Isthmus of Panama. On the 29th he reached the water itself at a point still known by the name he gave to it, the Gulf of San Miguel. Promptly he took possession in the name of Spain, called the ocean the Mar del Sur, or the South Sea.

But the discovery was to prove disastrous to Balboa. He was at length involved in a plot and was charged with being a rebel. He was beheaded at Acla in 1517. Balboa, discovering the Pacific, is shown above on a 1915 stamp of the Panama Republic, one of eight of the Panama Exposition issue. (Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.)

New York—Blue, in softer shades than formerly, and wine are the most popular colors in new papers and ribbons in which to wrap Christmas packages. Bold stripes, solid colors and clear, easy-to-distinguish prints are more in demand than all-over prints or tiny patterns so often lacking in character.

As always, traditional berry red and Christmas tree green are great favorites. This year, however, these often are combined with a touch of blue or gold or both to produce any number of wrapping papers that express the old-time spirit of Yuletide in designs unmistakably up-to-date. On one, gayly wrapped packages in red, green and blue sail over a bounding sea of green. On another, a wide variety of bright colored animals climb aboard

Noah's ark. And a brilliant paper with peasant-type designs makes further use of this effective color scheme. GENTLE DEFT BLUE IS OUTSTANDING SHADE.

Outstanding among the papers in the all-important blue is one in a muted, almost deft shade which serves as a background for a design of gold bells interspersed with the word "greetings" in gold script. Another new paper of Parisian inspiration combines blue with soft rose, gold and white.

A heavy, shiny-surfaced wine paper cries for plain, but wide and handsome white satin ribbon. A brown one of the same de luxe quality would be stunning on a box tied with wide gold ribbon with a small cluster of gold lacquered pine cones in the center of the bow. Smartly sophisticated is the idea of wine paper with a soft, dusty bow and wine with both yellow and blue ribbons. Among the wrappings for de luxe gifts there are a number of striking metallic effects, in solid silver and gold and in figured papers. One of this type uses gold as a background for green and white Christmas trees and gold stars circled in white.

LOTS OF ANIMALS FOR CHILDREN'S GIFTS. Seals and stickers range from amusing bears and kittens, elephants and showmen to lovely re-pousse plaques of gold or silver which give new dignity to the packages they adorn.

For money-gifts there are special enclosure cards with designs keyed to a lighter vein than formerly. The pack of a jolly Santa Claus is split to hold bill or check. A beaming colored Mammy's snowy white apron has a pocket into which money can be tucked. And another money card takes the form of a puffing engine driven by a laughing St. Nick. This unfolds to a "Santa Snow Train Special," one car of which holds a folded bill.

BEHIND THE SCENES

By John T. Flynn

A body known as the Social Security Advisory Council is reported ready with some recommendations about the old age contributory pensions system.

The session of Congress nears. And when the lawmakers sit down with the nation's troubles, old age pensions are going to be among the first to be considered.

It is a very serious moment for those genuinely concerned about the problem of the aged.

How to care for those who become too old to be useful in our highly geared industrial system is a delicate and difficult problem.

This is an insurance problem. And there are men who know a good deal about that and about social security in this country.

The whole subject, however, has fallen into the hands of politicians. Men and women over 65 have votes. And everywhere politicians are playing with this problem to get the votes of the aged.

It ever there was that Mr. Hoover called a case of "playing with human misery," this is one. FOOTBALL

It must be conceded this is a difficult problem to the administration. It may be forced to make unwise concessions.

This consideration would be easier for the administration if it had not itself been guilty of using the old age pension system as a financial football and of introducing into it one of the most grotesque schemes in public finance ever known in the history of this country.

This is the plan to create a reserve of 47 billion dollars "to relieve future generations of the great load of social security." It was the attacks on this plan which led to the consideration of the subject by the so-called Advisory Council on Social Security.

Now is time for CHANGE. One of its recommendations is that pensions in the earlier years of the system should be increased.

Certainly the pensions which are to be paid to those who arrive at the retirement age before 1950 should be enlarged.

The council is said to be ready to recommend a change in the exorbitant rates charged under the act to employers and employees.

The tax at present is 1 per cent on each. In 1940 it will be 1 1/2 per cent each. And this rate will continue until 1943.

The council goes no further than to say that at that time the rates should be re-examined in the light of facts presented then; that perhaps at that point the load may be lightened.

The first Advisory Council recommended before the act was passed a rate of 1 1/2 per cent from 1937 to 1941 and 1 per cent from 1942 to 1945. That would have been more than enough.

If the rates are continued until 1942 at the present level, nearly five billion dollars will be collected in excess of the needs of the system.

There seems to be no reason why the whole subject of the rates should not be re-examined and changed now to lighten the load of employers and workers.

SERIAL STORY SKI'S THE LIMIT

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

CAST OF CHARACTERS SALLY BLAIR—heroine. She had everything that popularity could win her, except DAN REYNOLDS—hero. He might have had Sally but while he was king on skis.

COREY PORTER was king of the social whirl. So... But go on with the story.

Yesterday: As Corey dates Sally, she is more and more sure of her love for Dan, and that her kisses are alone for him.

CHAPTER X Sally's father was as good as his word. Before a week had passed, through his lawyer, Dan Reynolds was offered a position in a Boston brokerage house.

It was such a good offer, with opportunities for advancement, that the young man would be able to turn it down. Especially a young man who did not have any other prospects.

"I like the lad's spunk," Sam Blair chuckled over the reply his lawyer had received. "He says he accepts, but only because he feels obligated to accept any offer made by his benefactor and only on condition that he be paid just what he proves to be worth."

Not many young men would have put in such a stipulation. There was no doubt about it, this lad in whom Sally had taken such an interest was made of the right stuff.

To say that Sally was thrilled at the thought that she would see Dan again would be putting it much too mildly. After her father's death last Monday, Sally scarcely could sleep a wink.

Only 24 hours and he would have started on his way. Only 12 hours, only eight—and at last Monday had arrived and although she had not seen him, Sally could hug the thought to her heart that Dan was living nearby, was working in one of her father's offices.

However, therein lay the "hitch," as Sally expressed it. Dan did not know that he was employed by Sally's father.

He must not find it out, which only served to strengthen the aforementioned "hitch."

And even that was not the worst of it. Now that Sally had Dan so near at hand, how was she going to manage to see him? She puzzled her pretty head over this.

for several days. Then Corey, who still was squiring her around, collecting his debt, gave her the solution.

"You'll never guess who I ran into today," Corey said. This was at a gathering of "the gang" in the big recreation room at Babe Fairchild's house.

"Right here in Boston," Corey added. "You could have knocked me over with a feather."

"I'd like to try that," Pudge said. He doubled his fists and gave Corey a poke in his ribs. They pretended to spar for a minute or so, with Pudge staggering to his corner after Corey administered a knockout blow.

Pudge always played a willing "stooge" for Corey's clowning.

"You didn't say who it was you saw," Sally reminded, after she had controlled her laughter. There was no doubt about it, Corey was fun. He always managed to be the life of the party.

Sally put her question in all innocence. It never occurred to her that Corey's answer would make her heart start thumping madly and offer the solution to her problem.

"It was Reynolds," Corey said. "Limp and all." Corey did not mean to be callous or poke fun. He merely endeavored to be amusing. "I hardly could believe my eyesight at first. Thought maybe I'd had one snifter too many. Had just left the Mandarin bar. But no, it was old Danny in person. I pulled up at the curb and offered to give him a lift."

"He was the wonder on skis, wasn't he?" Babe asked. "Sort of a Greek god with a Barrymore profile and a touch-me-not air."

"Sally's neck," Judge put in. "He made a gesture as though cutting off his own neck with an imaginary and magnificent flourish."

"What in heck is Reynolds doing in our fair city? Thought he hailed from upstate in the backwoods somewhere. He had to drop out of college after his accident, you know."

"Did you give him a lift?" Sally asked. They did not know how their light remarks struck home, bringing the warm color into her cheeks, a sharp pain in her breast.

Corey shook his head. "He wouldn't let me," he said. "Insisted he preferred to hoof it, even though he had a bad leg."

"Do you have to keep harping on that?" Sally broke in. Her dark eyes flashed. She pulled away from Corey, whose arm circled the back of the couch on which they were sitting.

She got up and crossed the recreation room to shut off the intercomible record machine. "This eternal racket makes my head ache," she explained. It had been a gay dance tune and it made Sally's heart ache, as well.

"Well, I'll be..." Corey muttered. He simply could not understand Sally lately. She must have the jitters over something. Maybe she still felt she was to blame for Reynolds' smashup. Which was silly. It was just the break some people got. Sally ought to know that.

He pulled himself up from the couch, too, went over to her. "See here, Sally my sweet," he lowered his voice, "you aren't taking this on your slender shoulders, are you? Reynolds' bad luck, I mean. He'd be a heel if he held it against you. And you'd be one if you let him."

"He wouldn't hold that against me," Sally returned. What Dan held against her went much deeper. But she did not want Corey, or any of the others, to know how much that mattered to her.

She picked up a pingpong racket, served a ball neatly over the net. "My shoulders are broad enough to take what's coming to me," she told Corey. "Even though I am just a party gal—on the surface."

It was then the answer to her problem as to how she was to get to see Dan presented itself to her. "Which reminds me," she raised her voice so that the rest of the young people could hear, "I'm throwing a party Saturday night. To round off the spring vacation festivities. Incidentally Saturday also happens to be my birthday, so all of you are herewith invited." This was greeted with a shout of approval from everyone, during which Sally again lowered her voice, and turned to Corey.

"I want you to do something for me. As a special favor," she dimpled at him. "I want you to promise you'll bring Dan Reynolds to my birthday party, Corey."

Candy To Be Distributed to Children Friday and Saturday

Santa Claus will appear in person to visit with Manistique children Friday and Saturday of this week and will distribute sacks of candy to all the children in the community.

The jolly old fellow will be on the west side Friday, visiting the children on the main business streets and then making house to house calls wherever there are children too small to be outdoors.

The distribution of candy and the visits of Santa Claus will be made on the east side Saturday, with Santa meeting the children on the main street first and then going into the residential areas later.

The Manistique fire department packed all the candy for distribution to the children.

STOCK MARKET SAGGING AGAIN

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES table with columns for Net change, Previous day, Month ago, Year ago, 1938 high, 1937 low, and Movement in Recent Years.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—Aviation shares, recently buoyant, lost altitude today as the stock market sagged for the fifth straight session.

After scrambling for the aircraft in the belief proposals for a great air defense program would be laid before the congress, many speculators seemed to have turned skeptical about some of the high figures tossed around in Wall Street lately as to the number of planes the army and navy would get.

At any rate, there was a decisive shift to the selling side of the aircraft group and some were off 2 points or more at the worst. Final prices, somewhat above the day's lows, were down 1 to nearly 2 for Boeing, Douglas, United Aircraft and Sperry. Wright, relatively inactive, broke 4 1/2.

Further price-cutting in farm implements helped expedite a decline in agricultural machinery shares. International Harvester ended at 56, off 1 5/8, and J. I. Case was down 2 3/4 at 87.

In most stocks, however, losses were not fractional and a few were out ahead. Essentially the market repeated the year-end downtrend of recent sessions while traders waited for completion of December tax selling. The usual tendency to hold down commitments before the Christmas holidays also was noted by brokers.

Steel shares were sluggish on the rallies. The final week of the year was expected to see a further curtailment of steel operations in the usual year-end slump. Steel makers, however, were building up a reserve of orders for a new year upturn in production, according to trade forecasts.

The Associated Press composite price of 60 stocks was down 2.3 of a point at 50.9. Transactions totalled 1,057,745 shares against 937,280 yesterday. Bonds were down a trifle and most commodities remained at depressed levels. Chicago wheat was unchanged to 3-8 of a cent a bushel higher. Corn was off 1-8 to 3-8. Cotton futures were unchanged to 15 cents a bale improved.

British and French currencies held their ground against the dollar. Off fractions in a ragged market were Electric Bond & Share, Cities Service, American Cyanamid "B" and United Gas. Gruman Aircraft added 1/4 and Lockheed and Columbia Oil & Gas smaller amounts. Turnover of 257,000 shares compared with 230,000 Tuesday.

BOND MARKET AVERAGES table listing various bond averages and their prices.

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—Trading in railroad bonds reached unusually active proportions today on a generally declining market. Most of the rail issues prices slipped fractionally. Erie 5s of '75, however, which led them all in activity with dealings totalling $158,000, face value, ended the day unchanged at 12.

Western Union 5s of '60 continued the preceding day's downward trend, losing 3-8 to close at 48. Simultaneously with the announcement of a federal government suit against the Columbia Gas & Electric company, that firm's 5s of 1933 lost 2 1/4 points to end at 92.

American & Foreign Power and International Telephone & Telegraph slipped 2 1/4 and 1-3/8 points respectively. As far as U. S. governments were concerned, the market tone was uneven, with gains as high as 4-32 in some issues counterbalanced by losses of 2-32 and 3-32 in others.

The foreign list was uneven, with some of the Latin American issues showing fractional gains. Total bond sales for the day were $8,846,875, face value, compared with $8,603,275 Tuesday.

Davey O'Brien Outstanding Figure In Gridiron Drama This Year; Many Peculiar Plays In 1938

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD
NEA Service Sports Writer

The little fellow took the ball from center and started fading back. Two opposing linemen broke through and closed in on him, but the full-back and a gigantic tackle who had dropped out of his own line, cut them down.

For two very brief seconds he surveyed his field and then diagonally across the gridiron he spotted his best receiver. The little fellow let go and the ball sailed 35 yards straight to its Coach of Year mark. Big Don Looney took it in the end zone for a touchdown.

The little fellow, of course, was 150-pound Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian, the football player of the year, who 19 times this past season had stepped back much in the same fashion and pitched those touchdown passes.

A better passer than Sammy Baugh, says Coach Dutch Meyer of the mighty mite who completed 93 aerials out of 167 attempts.

Trojans Dump Irish For Biggest Upset

O'Brien was the main figure in the 1938 football drama, but he had a fine supporting cast of thrills.

Quarterback Steve Sitko of Notre Dame elected to run the ball instead of kicking on fourth down and 18 to go against Southern California, Dec. 3. Seconds remained in the first half. After a short gain, Bob Saggau was tackled out of bounds and the ball went to the Trojans on the Irish 38.

Substitute Quarterback Oliver Day plunged for seven. After a five-yard penalty he tried a pass. Incomplete. He tried again. Fading back to midfield he unleashed a tremendous heave which went down to End Al Krueger, who snared it on the six. Lou Zontini caught him on the four but Krueger's momentum carried them both across.

It was the first of two touchdowns which enabled the Trojans to score the most important upset of the year—one which spotted Notre Dame's undefeated season and proved that the men of Troy really belong in the Rose Bowl.

There were plenty of upsets this year, starting on the first day of the season when Alabama conquered those same Trojans on the coast.

KERN CHOSEN COACH OF THE YEAR

Carnegie Tech, directed by Bill Kern, the coach of the year, struck hard and effectively to swarm over Pitt. The same Pitt team was an overwhelming favorite to spoil Duke's perfect record at Durham, but Willard Perdue, Blue Devil end, barged through to block John Chickerno's punt in the end zone for a 7-0 victory, and the Blue Devils finished their season undefeated, untied, and unscored upon.

Rutgers, for the first time since the series started 69 long years ago, defeated Princeton.

In 1932 Michigan won the national championship. For the next four years the Wolverines walked around in the wilderness. Came Fritz Crisler and the Renaissance and this year the Maize and Blue returned to its old-time place in the sun.

The Wolves outplayed Minnesota but lost by a single point, 7-6, after the Gophers had connected on a long touchdown pass. They were held to a scoreless tie by Northwestern, but they had served notice they were on the way up again.

Those who saw it never will forget the exhibition of punting put on by Eric Tipton of Duke, whose uncanny ability to put a wet soggy ball out of bounds time and again within the five-yard line contributed as much to Pitt's upset as the blocked punt. It was the greatest kicking of the season.

IRISH CAPITALIZE ON REFEREE'S BONUS

A Notre Dame stadium crowd witnessed what resulted in one of the greatest gridiron controversies in years. Referee Johnny Getchell mistakenly notified Paul Friedlander, Carnegie Tech quarterback, that it was third down.

But when the Tartans tried a line play with a yard to go on their own 46, Getchell reversed himself and gave the Irish the ball when the attempt failed by inches. Everybody in the stadium knew that it was fourth down.

So completely demoralized were the skibos that the Irish marched 54 yards to a touchdown in three plays.

There were no hidden ball tricks to speak of this past fall and Dartmouth didn't have a twelfth man on the field as happened a few years back.

But the Big Green had a new one this year. Harrington Gates, star blocking back, suddenly decided he had enough football and hit the headlines by abandoning himself from the campus to join a cult in the wilderness.

Nineteen thirty-nine will have to go some to tie that one.

TEX CARLETON SOLD BY CUBS

White Sox Get McNair From Boston for Lou Berger

Chicago, Dec. 21 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs and White Sox participated in a mild flurry of baseball trading activity today, with the Cubs selling a veteran pitcher and the Sox obtaining Eric McNair from the Boston Red Sox in a straight trade for Lou (Boze) Berger. Both Berger and McNair are infielders.

Continuing the reconstruction program promised by Manager Gabby Hartnett after his Bruins lost four straight to New York in the world series, the Cubs sold Righthander Tex Carleton and a young catcher, John Bottarini, to Milwaukee of the American Association. The Cubs recently signed a working agreement with the Brewers.

The disposal of Carleton, who was troubled by a sore arm in 1938 and had a record of 10 win and nine lost, still left the Cubs owning about 16 hurlers. Several are minor league youngsters whom Hartnett believes he can mold into major league talent.

The Berger-McNair trade virtually was made in a hospital room. The sore knee which gave McNair trouble this past season, when he appeared in only 46 games, was examined by the White Sox Physician. When he found the veteran in good shape, Sox officials immediately signed McNair to a contract. He hit only .156 in 1938 to Berger's .217 in 118 games, but had a good season in 1937, batting .292.

There have been rumors that Manager Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox would use McNair as bait in an attempt to get Catcher Frank Pytlak from Cleveland. Vice President Harry Grabner said, however, he believes Dykes will develop his young backstops and use McNair in a relief role.

Practices Started For Western Stars

San Francisco, Dec. 21 (AP)—Western football stars, who will meet eastern collegians in the annual Shrine charity game here Jan. 2, assembled for the first time to run through a light workout.

The western coaches, Orin Holmberg of Washington State college and "Bill" Jones of Nebraska, outlined a few plays, divided the 22-man squad into two teams, and sent them through an hour's practice.

The eastern squad of 22 players, headed by Coaches Bernie Bierman of Minnesota and Andy Kerr of Colgate, will arrive in Berkeley tomorrow morning. Kerr sent word that morning workouts would be held on the University of California campus.

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

From Ollie Kuehle of the Milwaukee Journal come these bits of sport news:

Howie Weiss of Wisconsin, recently voted the most valuable football player in the Big Ten last season, will receive his award, a mounted silver football, between halves of Wisconsin's first Big Ten basketball game at the field house Jan. 7. . . . Yale was the first school to honor its football team with a banquet. The custom was begun in 1888 after a season in which the men of Eli scored 698 points and their opponents none. Will someone please figure out how many spit peas and how many meat loaves have been served at similar banquets since then? . . . Notre Dame has the most impressive winning streak in modern football. From 1926 to 1931 the Irish played 27 games, won 26 and tied 1. . . . Purdue basketball teams have won or shared in 10 Big Ten championships in the last 18 years.

Coaches and Schedules

(This is one of a series of high school coaches compiled by the Upper Peninsula Sportswriters Association.)

In his first game in the capacity as head coach, Willard C. Anderson of Stambaugh high school accomplished that which most peninsula coaches have been trying in vain to do for many years—defeat Ishpeming.

Anderson, who is a perfect example of the home town boy who made good, took over the reins of head coach at Stambaugh this year when his former chief, Marty Mahberg, was elevated to the post of principal. His football team this fall had a successful season and his basketball team got off to a flying start with one point victory over Coach C. C. Watson's always powerful Hemetites of Ishpeming.

The new Hilltop head coach is a product of the home town, graduating from Stambaugh high school in 1927. He matriculated at the University of Wisconsin and earned his letter as a halfback under the leadership of Glenn Thistlewaite, head coach of the Cards before Harry Stuhldreher. He received basketball instruction from Walter Meanwell, The Little Doc, whose cagers always used an intricate short pass system.

Anderson, upon graduation from Wisconsin in 1931, returned to Stambaugh high school to become assistant coach to Mahberg. He served in that position until this fall when he took over top duties.

The rest of the Stambaugh schedule follows:

Dec. 22—Kingsford there
Jan. 6—Iron Mt. here
Jan. 13—Iron River there
Jan. 20—Crystal Falls there
Jan. 27—Iron Mt. here
Feb. 3—Iron River here
Feb. 7—Kingsford here
Feb. 10—Crystal Falls here
Feb. 14—Escanaba there
Feb. 24—Bessemer here

HUTSON SPLITS WITH TINSLEY

Card Star Breaks Pass Record; Packer Wing First On Gains

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—Gaynell Tinsley of the Chicago Cardinals and Don Hutson, Green Bay Packer star, shared honors among the National Professional Football League's pass receivers, according to final statistics for the 1938 season released today.

Tinsley caught 41 passes to tie the league mark set by Hutson in 1937, while the Packer wingman's 548 yards gained on aerials, nine touchdowns and 54 points were tops for the season in those departments of play. Tinsley also broke a league record when he caught a pass from Dougal Russell and carried it for a total gain of 98 yards, bettering the 95-mark he had established last year on the receiving end of a toss from Pat Coffey.

With 32 catches, Hutson finished second to Tinsley, while Joe Carter of the Philadelphia Eagles was third with 27. Tinsley's 516 yards made him runner-up in gains, with Jim Benton of Cleveland third at 418. Carter, with 42 points, and Smith of the Cardinals, with 36, trailed Hutson in scoring.

In field goal kicking, Ward Cuff of the New York Giants and Ralph Kercheval of the Brooklyn Dodgers tied for the lead at 5 each, two more than Jack Manders of the Chicago Bears, who had won or shared the title in four of the last six seasons. Kercheval's 40-yarder was the longest boot of the season. The league's kickers had a 40 percent average on 41 successful kicks in 101 attempts.

Unbeaten Michigan Five Plays Cornell

White Plains, N. Y., Dec. 21 (AP)—Michigan's undefeated basketball team concludes its eastern holiday jaunt here tomorrow night against Cornell's improved cagers.

The Wolverines have defeated the University of Rochester and Syracuse, both by two-point margins, on their present tour, and also hold victories over Michigan State and Notre Dame.

In Capt. Walter Foertsch, Cornell has the Eastern Intercollegiate league's high scorer. Like Michigan, the big red this year has a new coach, Blair Gullion.

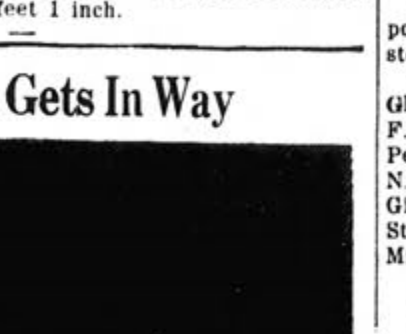

The two schools have met twice in basketball. In 1936, with Coach Bennie Oosterbaan a member of the team, Michigan defeated Cornell 30 to 23. Two years later the Wolverines won again 45 to 13.

University of Pittsburgh players told Carly Lambeau that they considered Brock the best center they had played against all year. Bernie Bierman of Minnesota told Lambeau he considered Elmer the best pivot in the country. . . . Bill Kern of Carnegie Tech has privately expressed the opinion that that his team will beat Texas Christian Jan. 2. He bases his opinion on what he says is the superiority of his tackles. . . . Notre Dame was distinctly not a passing team last fall. The Irish tried only 51 passes, an average of less than six a game, against opponents' 139. . . . Northern State Grads Make Good As Coaches

With the recent winning of the Upper Peninsula football championship by Norway high school, the spotlight again turns again to Northern State Teachers College at Marquette, the school which has produced a majority of the high school coaches in the peninsula.

Coach Allan Ronberg, whose Norway Vikings were undefeated in seven games this fall, is one of the most successful of a large group of fine coaches developed under Coaches C. B. Hedgecock and Vic Hurst at Northern State. In addition to the peninsula football title this year, Ronberg has directed his basketball team to an Upper Peninsula crown as well as to several Menominee range championships in both sports.

More than 30 graduates of Northern State, in addition to Ronberg, are holding down coaching positions and athletic directorships in Upper Peninsula schools and compiling a remarkable series of records.

Joe DeCook, classmate of Ronberg at Northern State, has compiled a successful record in his tenure at Newberry, winning an Upper Peninsula championship in 1933 and taking several district titles in basketball.

Al Treado, now coaching at Lake Linden, was head basketball coach at Ironwood in 1937 when that school won its first peninsula basketball title in 29 years, defeating Ishpeming 17-15 in four over-time periods. Treado's football team this year won the Copper Country conference championship with six victories.

Under at Marinette When Lars Thune, veteran peninsula coach, left Marinette this fall, Harry Anderson, Northern graduate, was named to succeed him and his team proved victorious in its first Armistice Day game with its state rival, Menominee.

Trenary high school has been one of the outstanding small school teams in the past three years, winning two district cage titles and narrowly winning peninsula titles. Trenary is coached by Langford Collins, who finished at Northern State three years ago.

Among the numerous products of Northern State guiding the athletics in the peninsula are: Oscar Wanstberg, athletic director at Manistique; Rollin Thorin at J. D. Pierce, Raymond Ranguette at Garden, Maurice Richards at Ontonagon, Ray Dion at Painesdale, Earl Messner at St. Paul (Neegaunee), Esko Whittala at Rapid River, Steve Baltic at L'Anse, Robert Villeneuve at Munising, Ed Wilmer at Daggett, Arne Nelmark at Harris, Paul Koski at St. Ignace, Floyd Carlson at Eben, Olaf Vicklund Iron River, assistant; Vance Hiney, Neegaunee, assistant; Rice Zenti, Olin assistant; Fred Pizzoli, at Piquanning; Paul Challancin, Johnson, Norway assistant; and Roy Brigman, Alpha assistant.

Gladstone Nipped By Camp Wells 5 By Score Of 34-28

Alternately hot and cold, Gladstone Empsons and Camp Wells played a wild battle last night before the CCC boys finally came out on top by a score of 34-28.

Camp Wells opened with 11 points in the first quarter, but their attack dwindled to but two points in the second period only to shoot back up to 13 in the third. Gladstone opened weakly with four points, got hot in the second with 14 points and cooled off to a mere two in the third, giving Camp Wells a 26-20 lead at the third quarter. Both teams became consistent in the last, each scoring eight points.

Wedin led the victors with 12 points while McIntyre of Gladstone led his crew with 11 points.

SARASOTA GULF COLONY GROWS

Ballplayers Buy Land; Derringer Puts Up Several Cottages

Sarasota, Fla., Dec. 21 (AP)—Thanks to the city tax collector, it would be difficult to toss a wild pitch in these parts nowadays without knocking a window out of some thrifty baseball players' winter home.

For years this gulf resort town has been a popular golfing, fishing and living spot for such diamond notables as Paul and Lloyd Waner and Dizzy Dean but since the city went into the real estate business with a long bargain list of tax repossessions, the horsehide heroes really are moving in.

Last week business with the following transactions, all in Payne Park, a residential community: Dennis Galehouse, pitcher, recently acquired by the Red Sox, bought two lots.

F. P. (Babe) Ganzel, manager of the St. Paul Saints, in the American Association, took three adjoining ones.

John Cooney, of the Boston Bees, who already owns a home, added two more lots to his estate.

Billy Sullivan, catcher for the St. Louis Browns, acquired three lots on a Monday, ordered material Tuesday, and began erection of a home on Wednesday.

Paul Derringer spread out with three beach cottages last year, is building three now and plans several additional, thus putting him in the landed gentry class.

Roy Spencer, former major catcher, has holdings which include two dwellings and an apartment building. Lloyd Brown, St. Louis Browns pitcher, also is a landlord of note.

The crowd got worked up into a frenzy as Perron tied the score at the opening of the last quarter and Langenfeld put St. Joe one point ahead. Pierce tied it up again with a gift shot and set the stage for Gray's game winning shot. Rapid River threw a goal but Ashland pushed in a one-hander from the side to tie the score again. Short of Rapid River and O'Donnell of the locals added free throws as the period ended in a 4-4 tie.

Consecutive field goals by F. Hirn and Berube, the former making two, gave the Parochials the biggest lead of the night, 10-4, midway in the second period. Duroy scored a field goal and, when fouled by Langenfeld, he made a free throw. Short added another point just before the half ended, 10-8 in favor of St. Joseph.

Duroy opened the third frame with a free throw but Berube came through with a field goal. Fuhrman retaliated from the side and Rapid River knotted the count on free throws by Roberts and Duroy, which put them ahead by one point as the quarter ended, 13-12.

GRAY'S BASKET WINS THRILLER

42 Fouls Called; Both Teams Miss Numerous Charity Tosses

Gray's short shot, his only basket of the evening, was the margin of victory as St. Joseph high school cagers nosed out Rapid River by 16 and 15 in a hectic cage encounter at the junior high school last night. In a preliminary, Klinger led the Parochials reserves to a 19-7 victory over Rapid River seconds.

The feature game was a scorcher from start to finish. Scoring by both teams, with extracting teeth, was accomplished only after much difficulty and groaning. The boys got very few good shots at the basket and were particularly ineffective from the free throw line. St. Joseph missed 19 free throws and Rapid River failed on 15 charity tosses.

Referee George Ruwitch called fouls closely, nicking the Parochials for 22 infractions and calling 20 on Rapid River. Three of the visitors and two St. Joseph boys made their exit from the scene after using up their allotted four fouls. Three other St. Joseph boys and one Rapid River player just missed getting the thumb, having three personals against them.

Rapid River opened the scoring with a free throw by Groleau but Ashland tied it up quickly with a ripple. Groleau dribbled the length of the floor for a field goal but Ashland pushed in a one-hander from the side to tie the score again. Short of Rapid River and O'Donnell of the locals added free throws as the period ended in a 4-4 tie.

PAY SCHEDULES TO BE REDUCED

All Counties In District Subject to Reduction On WPA Rolls

That "some adjustments" are being made in the WPA pay schedules of counties in the fifth district by reducing the number of persons classified as skilled and semi-skilled, and in supervisory work, was the statement received here by Harold W. Gill, fifth district WPA director.

"While I said previously that Dickinson county was particularly affected by the reclassification of WPA employees, I did not mean to imply that the revision would not affect any of the other counties in the district," Gill said. "The work is completed in Iron and Dickinson counties, and is in progress today in Alger county. The reclassification will be extended to each of the other counties, 11 in all, comprising the district."

The reclassification means, principally, that wages previously paid for skilled, semi-skilled and supervisory work will, in many instances, be reduced to the base security pay of $14 a month. Instead of $63 and more. The ratio of $44 workers to others above that classification was about 62 to 38 in Dickinson county, and the change will reduce that to about 85 per cent of $44 workers to 15 of the higher brackets.

The same objective will be arranged in all of the other 10 counties in the district, the director said.

Information Not Checked
In response to an inquiry from Marquette relative to the number of single and married persons among the fifth district employees who will be transferred there on January 10, Gill said he had not checked the personnel to determine that information.

"As I stated Saturday," he reiterated, "I believe there are only one or two cases in which there may be any doubt about moving— but 98 per cent or more of our present administrative staff have indicated they will move, with the office, after the first of the year."
Several employees, it was stated, have already obtained homes or rooms at Marquette.

SEEK HORSESHOE MEET

Iron River K. D. Campbell, of Stambaugh, president of the Iron county Horseshoe Pitchers' club, has extended an invitation to the Michigan Horseshoe Pitchers' association to hold its 1934 tournament at the Iron county fairgrounds in Iron River.

The veteran Stambaugh sportsman directed his bid in a communication to Lee Rose, Detroit, secretary of the association, reminding him that when the state pig finals were held in conjunction with the Iron county fair in 1937, Rose promised Campbell the meet might again be obtained here two years later.

Rose replied that the possibility of securing the tournament for Iron county is good and he said he would correspond with another community in the Lower Peninsula which had also made a bid for the tournament, to inquire if the invitation still were intended.

Until the discovery of America, the world's surface was believed to be mostly land. It really is about three-fourths water.
