ATWOOD MADE NEW DIRECTOR OF SALES TAX

BETTER ENFORCING DEMANDED BY GOVERNOR

Lansing, Jan. 9 (AP)—Governor Fitzgerald removed Draper Allen as managing director of the state board of tax administration today, and appointed former Secretary of State Orville E. Atwood to succeed him.

The governor accompanied the dismissal with a public criticism of past administration of the department, which collects the use and sales taxes.

The board, holding its first meeting under the Republican administration, accepted Fitzgerald's suggestions for tightening enforcement policies.

"According to reports from apparently authentic sources," the executive said in a letter to Allen, "substantial sums have been lost through settlements and compromises in connection with the collection of the sales tax."

Leaks Alleged "In most instances the tax was paid by the consumer but not turned over to the state by the dealer. It is my wish that prompt action be taken to remedy this situation. I request that the board inquire into the feasibility of requiring those delinquent to furnish either a bond or other suitable guarantee of payment."

Auditor General Vernon J. Brown, who the new board elected as its chairman, said he understood some businessmen had used for their own purposes sales taxes collected from customers, and found themselves unable to make immediate restitution.

He said the old board, rather than risk the offender's recidivism, had involved a variety of plans for installment payment of delinquent sales taxes, but that a number of merchants had failed.

Brown added a belief that better collection practices should be employed, to detect delinquencies before they had reached large proportions.

OLD AGE BILL READY Lansing, Jan. 9 (AP)—Rep. Haskell L. Nichols, Republican, Jackson, submitted a bill today for introduction in the house of representatives calling for a minimum old age assistance benefit of $30 a month, which now is the maximum.

Nichols left the city immediately and could not be reached for an estimate of the costs his bill would involve if it were enacted, or a statement of his reason for introducing it.

He filed eight other bills with the clerk of the house, for introduction when the legislature reconvenes tomorrow night, one of them to create a new taxing authority to take over the duties of several other tax collection agencies.

Discount on Taxes The body, which would be named the Michigan tax and revenue commission, under his plan would collect the sales tax, gasoline, weight, chain store, and use taxes, and take over duties now exercised by the state board of tax administration and the state tax commission, which now has a

Showdown Is Near In Ranks of CIO; Martin Foes Gain

Detroit, Jan. 9 (AP)—Battle lines were drawn tonight between foes and allies of Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers, (CIO), for a showdown in the protracted war for control of the lusty young union of automotive workers.

Over the opposition of Martin, members of the UAW international executive board prepared to convene in special session tomorrow in response to a petition signed by 20 of the 24 board members.

The ostensible purpose of the meeting, according to Secretary-Treasurer George F. Addes, once suspended by Martin, was to obtain from the UAW president a report on "the nature of negotiations he says he has been carrying on with representatives of the Ford Motor Co."

There were persistent reports that the anti-administration faction would seek either to impeach Martin or shear him of much of his power, and that Martin, faced with a hostile majority on the board, planned a coup of his own, possibly suspension of a sufficient number of board members to give him a sympathetic majority.

JAPANESE LINES BEYOND HANKOW

Forces Join at Lolotien To Form Extensive Half-Moon Front

Shanghai, Jan. 10 (Tuesday) (AP)—Japanese forces were reported today to have pushed into Lolotien, 135 miles north of Hankow, linking Japanese lines beyond the fallen provisional capital into a single extensive half-moon front.

Chinese stragglers fled from Lolotien, Japanese forces said, leaving 700 dead after two days of heavy fighting.

Japanese asserted the success of the Lolotien operation enabled forces operating north and northwest of Hankow, which fell October 25, to bridge the gap that had separated them.

The boundary of the buffer zone the Japanese are establishing to protect their major Yangtze base at Hankow now runs from Sinyang, 20 miles east of Lolotien, through Lolotien, thence southwest through Tsaozhich, crossing the Yangtze to Yochow, 135 miles south of Hankow.

From Yochow, Japanese forces are strung southeast along a sprawling line some 200 miles long which cuts the Nanchang railway and ends at Wucheng, on the northwest shore of Lake Poyang.

Kuomin, Chinese news agency, reported from Chungking the establishment of a central guerrilla bureau, under General Li Chishen, designed to co-ordinate the activities of Chinese guerrillas in all war zones.

Japanese announced their troops based at Sochow, north of Shanghai, had engaged in 309 skirmishes with guerrillas in four months of mopping-up activities and had killed 4,550.

In the Hangchow bay area, 100 miles southeast of Shanghai, sporadic fighting was reported continuing. Chinese started an offensive against Hangchow on Saturday.

Suit For $18,000 Against CIO Heads Lost By AFL Union

Duluth, Minn., Jan. 9 (AP)—The timber workers and sawmill union No. 29, affiliated with the congress of industrial organizations, today was victorious in a $18,000 suit filed against it by the American federation of labor affiliate of the same name.

Judge Mark Nolan ruled in district court that a labor union can not legally be sued under existing state laws.

The plaintiffs were Edward Carlsson, Carl Hoffman, A. F. Conliff, Andrew Carlson and Fred Nordin in behalf of the AFL affiliate. The defendants named were Iinar Kolvrans as president; Charles Stark, as financial secretary; and Ernest Tomberg, as business agent for the CIO union.

The dispute arose over $18,000 in cash and property which the AFL claims Kolvrans and others took over into the CIO union when it was organized in 1937.

Machine Has "Human" Voice

Telephone operator Helen Harper demonstrates the "Voder," new scientific marvel which can create—not merely reproduce—the human voice speaking any language, in any inflection and in proper pitch for either sex. The Voder was developed by Bell Telephone experimenters and was shown for the first time before scientists of the Franklin Institute, Philadelphia. "Not Guilty" Is Plea Of Confessed Firebug; Insanity His Defense

"Not guilty," was the plea of Alfred Riguel, confessed arsonist, when arraigned before Judge Frank A. Bell in Delta county circuit court yesterday morning on charges of setting a series of 10 fires in Delta county.

"I know I set the fires," Riguel told Sheriff William Milron as he was being returned to his cell in the jail. "I set the fires, but I said 'not guilty' because I wanted the judge to know that I wasn't right in my head when I did it," he explained.

JOINT MILITARY SESSION CALLED

Ambassadors Are Armed With Secret Data for Congress

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—Armed with secret data, which is understood to include a report from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on Germany's air armada, two key United States ambassadors will go to Capitol Hill tomorrow in an apparent effort to remove congressional doubts about the Roosevelt armaments program.

The two men, Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to London, and William C. Bullitt, ambassador to Paris, arrived here unexpectedly today from Florida vacations. They held a prolonged conference at the White House, where the president is finishing the defense message he will send to congress this week.

Tomorrow Kennedy and Bullitt are to go before an announced joint meeting of the military committees of congress to tell what they know of the European political and military situation before, during and after the famous "Munich peace." They also are expected to discuss the chances of an outbreak of war this year in Europe. Kennedy recently said he could not prophesy peace after the beginning of this year.

While many members of congress have applauded the Roosevelt arms program, which calls for an extra expenditure of $500,000,000, (Continued on Page Two)

Motorists Stalled In Drifts As Storm Strikes New Mexico

Albuquerque, N. M., Jan. 9 (AP)—A rescue party pushed through snowblocked roads tonight to aid more than a dozen motorists caught in a paralyzing storm which swept the north central section of the state Sunday.

An aerial survey by Pilot Jack Carlton of U. S. highway 285 between Lamay and Eneino, in the isolated high mesa country east of the Sandia mountains, disclosed 14 automobiles stalled in drifts with no indication of the fate of their occupants.

At the order of Gov. John E. Miles, a rescue party using horses plunged over roads impassable to automobiles.

The state counted two dead, many injured and hundreds of motorists marooned in the blinding 24-hour storm which left snow ranging from nine inches to two feet deep.

TRUCE CALLED IN HUNGARIAN TROUBLE ZONE

CZECHO-SLOVAKIANS WILL WITHDRAW FROM BORDER

Prague, Jan. 9 (AP)—A temporary truce was declared tonight in the sporadic warfare over Czecho-Slovak and Hungarian borderlands.

An official dispatch said both the Carpatho-Ukrainian and Hungarian forces agreed to withdraw two kilometers (1.24 mile) from the demarcation line in the Munkacs sector where fighting occurred Friday.

The agreement was reached at Chust, capital of Czecho-Slovakia's eastern province of Carpatho-Ukraine, according to the message to Prague.

It was further agreed that only customs officers would remain in the disturbed zone and that an exchange of prisoners would be made immediately.

BARB WIRE STRUNG Budapest, Jan. 9 (AP)—Soldiers strung barbed wire across snow-covered fields along the Hungarian side of the Carpatho-Ukrainian border today and brisk military movements were reported on both sides of the troubled boundary.

No shooting was reported in the Munkacs and Ungvar districts but Hungarians reported a large Czech and Ukrainian force had moved up to the demarcation line at Derezen.

The Hungarians said a concentration of Hungarian troops near Derezen forestalled another incident such as that of last Friday when Munkacs was shelled by Czecho-Slovak artillery and the bombardment yesterday of a village near Ungvar.

Unlike the Munkacs incident, no loss of life was reported from the village of Nagygejce where it was said incendiary shells were used.

Relations Strained (Both Munkacs and Ungvar were principal cities of Parpatho-Ukraine (Ruthenia) before the post-Munich settlement of Nov. 2 at Vienna in which 4,875 square miles of Czecho-Slovakia, including a chunk from the eastern or Carpatho-Ukrainian end, were awarded to Hungary.)

Hungary delayed returning its military to Prague, shortly hinting that the clashes had endangered relations between the Czecho-Slovak and Hungarian governments.

The minister, Johann Wettestein Von Westerhain, was in Budapest. He explained he would remain here until relations were "clarified."

The foreign office issued a statement that another incident would have far-reaching consequences. Each country was reported quietly expelling citizens of the other and the Hungarian revisionist league charged that "German influences" played a part in the trouble.

Snow fell intermittently in the zone of friction. Visibility was poor but observers reported Czecho-Slovak forces were bringing up materials for building of pontoons near the village of Gat in a swampy borderland region.

Prominent Indian Educator Is Dead

Detroit, Jan. 9 (AP)—Dr. Charles A. Eastman, 80, Sioux Indian prominent as a writer and lecturer with degrees from Dartmouth and Boston colleges, will be buried here Wednesday.

Dr. Eastman, author of several books under his Indian name of Chief Ojibway and regarded as one of the best educated Indians of America, died yesterday after a brief illness.

United States Blacklists Japan In Military Aircraft Purchases

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—Congress learned today that "moral sanctions" invoked by the state department against countries exporting military aircraft to Japan.

This information was conveyed in the annual report of the national munitions control board which said the system of munitions export licenses now in effect gave the government complete and current information "on the exact quantities of arms, ammunition and implements of war which leave this country, the country of destination of each shipment and identity of the exporters."

Kelly to Widen Inquiry In Department Of State

Lansing, Jan. 9 (AP)—Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly said tonight that a preliminary check of departmental records indicated that none of the files collected by a branch office in Detroit during the regime of Hoyt Morris, former manager, for the use of a direct telephone wire to Lansing were ever turned over to the state.

Kelly and Robert Arnold, assistant attorney general, spent most of today digging into records after taking statements from Morris; former Secretary of State Leon D. Case, and his former deputy, Bernard J. Youngblood, of Detroit, over the week-end.

The new secretary of state, a Republican, said departmental audits would be checked closely tomorrow to determine whether the state ever received any part of $8,100 which now shows on the Detroit branch's books as a shortage. Morris, Kelly said, told him three payments had been made to the Lansing office.

M. J. Murphy, director of the state department's accounting division and its business manager, also will be questioned tomorrow. Kelly said he was undecided whether the next phase of the inquiry would take him to Detroit or keep him in Lansing.

Records produced today showed that the state received $3,300 from telephone users in the Detroit office in 1934, $6,600 in 1935 and $6,600 in 1936. "We have uncovered no evidence to date, however, to indicate any of that money has come up here in 1937 or 1938," Kelly said.

Morris said he made three payments after taking office in 1937 before receiving instructions to divert the money for political purposes. Youngblood denied that any payment was received after January 1, 1937, and said he authorized no diversion.

PRIME MINISTER SEES MUSSOLINI

Appeasement Continued West of Rhine By Chamberlain

(By The Associated Press) London, Jan. 9 (AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain turned toward Rome tonight to continue his appeasement program west of the Rhine.

In conferences with Premier Benito Mussolini, the British statesman will discuss differences between the dictators and democracies west of the famous river as he did in Munich when he and Hitler came to an understanding on affairs beyond its eastern bank.

Those differences encompass a wider range of problems, including: 1. The Italo-French dispute raised by Fascist clamor for concessions in France's colonial empire.

2. The Spanish civil war. 3. Removal of Jews from Germany. 4. Economic advantages for Italy in the near east.

Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax and a delegation of six, will leave London at 11 a. m. (6 a. m. E. S. T.) tomorrow.

A significant stop "for tea" will be made in Paris with Premier Edouard Daladier and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet before the British party proceeds to Rome for the visit which will extend from Wednesday through Saturday.

Chamberlain conferred with his key ministers today and well-informed sources said the British cabinet and the prime minister were prepared to support France in resisting Italian clamor for a share in the French colonial empire.

HOPKINS WILL BE SUMMONED FOR WPA QUIZ

SENATORS BATTLE OVER POLICIES OF NEW DEAL

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—The senate commerce committee decided today to ask Harry Hopkins some questions—possibly pointed ones—on politics in relief before passing upon his fitness to serve as secretary of commerce.

It voted to summon the former administrator of WPA for hearings Wednesday. This was an outstanding development of a day which also produced clashes in house and senate over new deal policy.

The house, in a brief session, ran into a spirited debate on spending and other subjects, which ended somewhat abruptly when Rep. Allen (D-Pa) chided the participants for engaging in "petty bickering and cheap politics."

Murphy In Spotlight The senate meanwhile was listened to an argument by Senator Bridges (R-NH) that President Roosevelt had no right to depose Arthur E. Morgan from the board of the TVA, that consequently no vacancy exists, and that therefore the senate should not confirm the appointment of former Senator James P. Pope as Morgan's successor.

Accusing Bridges of "hatred and malice against TVA," Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) asserted that failure to act on the Pope nomination might ruin TVA because of its two remaining directors, one is seriously ill and the other consequently overburdened with work.

In addition, arrangements were made during the day for committee action two other important Roosevelt appointments, those of Prof. Felix Frankfurter to the supreme court and Frank Murphy, former governor of Michigan to the post of attorney general.

Finances Attacked A senate judiciary subcommittee scheduled a hearing for tomorrow on the Frankfurter appointment, at which seven witnesses, mostly opposing his confirmation, are to be heard.

The commerce committee is headed by Senator Bailey (D-NC) one of the conservative southern Democrats who have been repeatedly at odds with the new deal. Bailey said he was "not one of Mr. Hopkins' admirers."

Bailey said that anyone who had "anything substantial" to present would be heard. He made it plain, too, that the report of the senate committee on campaign expenditures asserting that WPA had engaged in unjustifiable political activities in the last election would figure in the committee's consideration of the nomination.

The flap-up in the house started with Rep. Rich (R-Pa) asserting that anyone who votes for President Roosevelt's spending program "ought to be driven out of the house." Mr. Roosevelt, he added, did not even know how to handle his own finances.

Harrington Wants $75 Million Rep. Schafer (R-Wis) asserted that as governor of New York Mr. Roosevelt "wrecked" the finances of that state, and added that John L. Lewis, chairman of the Congress for Industrial Organization, "ought to be in the jailhouse with Al Capone."

Rep. Sirovich (D-NY) replied that Roosevelt in 1936 was elected governor by the biggest plurality ever given any candidate for that office. He remarked that at that time, "Herbert Hoover, president of the Republican party" was urging that the unemployed make a living by selling apples in the streets.

Col. F. C. Harrington, who succeeded Hopkins as administrator of relief, urged the approval of the figure of $875,000,000 suggested last week by President (Continued on Page Two)

Fishermen Drown Near Wayland As Thin Ice Breaks

Wayland, Jan. 9 (AP)—Two fishermen were drowned late Monday in Chief Noonday lake near here, and two others narrowly missed the same fate when they attempted to rescue their companions who were thrown into the water as the ice broke on which they were walking.

Elwood Fenton, 31, Shelbyville, father of four children, and James Troy, single, of Wayland, met death. Their bodies were recovered late tonight. All of the fishermen carried planks and one wore skis to prevent the type of accident which happened.

Power Life Boat Taken To Manistee

Muskegon, (AP)—A new 36-foot power life boat will leave here Tuesday morning on a 70 mile trip up Lake Michigan to the Manistee coast guard station where it will be placed in use. Launching of the craft, which was shipped to Muskegon by rail, was supervised Monday by W. W. Bennett, commander of the tenth coast guard district.

Abolition Of ERA Is Urged At Ionia

Ionia, Mich. (AP)—Abolition of the state emergency relief commission was advocated Monday by Bert J. Storey, Republican state representative, during a meeting of the Ionia county board of supervisors. A measure to return welfare administration to the supervisors is now being drafted, Storey disclosed.

STRAITS FERRY FREE OF SHOAL

Wawatam Damaged; Will Go to Manitowoc for Repairs

St. Ignace, Mich., Jan. 9 (AP)—A rescue fleet of tugs and coast-guard cutters freed the car ferry Chief Wawatam today from her six-day imprisonment on a Straits of Mackinac shoal and, after an inspection for damage, she was ordered out of service for repairs.

A diver discovered that the Chief, which ran on the North Graham shoals last Tuesday during a storm, had broken blades in the forward wheels and damaged bow plates. Insurance representatives said the vessel would go to the Manitowoc shipyards tomorrow.

The ship was released shortly before noon today by the combined efforts of two tugs, two coast guard cutters and her own powerful engines. As soon as the ferry reached port here the interior inspection was started under the direction of William Pelkey, of Cleveland, representing the Insurance Underwriters and the United States Salvage Co. Also participating in the examination were Steamboat Inspectors Bernard J. Gelleck and Edwin C. Ewing of Marquette.

Meanwhile, the ice crusher Sainte Marie is handling the crossing of railroad cars and automobiles normally carried across the Straits of Mackinac by the Chief Wawatam.

The tugs Favorite and John Roen and the coast guard cutter Ossipee, which aided in freeing the grounded ship, left for their home ports today. The coast guard cutter Escanaba, of Grand Haven, which also aided, remained in port.

Traffic Toll

Norway, Mich., Jan. 9 (AP)—Julius Zadra, 66, was killed today when a truck hit him on highway 2 in Vulcan while he was standing on the road shoulder watching firemen at a small residential blaze.

Grand Rapids, Jan. 9 (AP)—George Barlow, 63, became Kent county's third traffic fatality of 1939 when he died in the Michigan Soldier's Home hospital tonight as the result of injuries received Saturday night when he was struck by a car driven by J. K. Blandford of North Park. Deputy Arnold Pigosch who investigated the accident said that Blandford was not at fault.

Highway Improvement Projects Planned In Upper Peninsula

BIDS ARE DUE ON JANUARY 18

Bridge Over Laughing Whitefish River Is Included

Eleven highway improvement projects in various parts of the Upper Peninsula have been opened to bids by the state highway department, bids on all the projects being received at the local office of the department until 10 a. m., Wednesday, January 18.

The projects include construction of two bridges, three oil aggregate jobs and six grading and draining jobs. Bridges of the single span type will be constructed in Onota township, Alger county on M-94 crossing the Laughing Whitefish river and in Sparr township, Baraga county on US-41 crossing Ruth Lake 4.7 miles west of Michigamme. The Alger bridge will have a 40 foot span and the Baraga crossing a 35 foot span.

Oil aggregate projects will be as follows: 9.531 miles of 16-foot oil aggregate surfacing in Chippewa county; 5.180 miles of 20 foot surfacing in Luce county on M-123, M-28 south of Ekerman north and on M-28 from M-28A west; 15.414 miles of 20 foot surfacing on M-56, Twin Lakes to Painesdale; 4.230 miles of 20 foot surfacing on M-28, Ewen to Bruce Crossing; 3.820 miles of 20 foot surfacing on M-28, Topaz to Matchwood; and 6.540 miles of 20 foot surfacing on M-28, Matchwood to Ewen.

Grading and draining projects are as follows: 3.112 miles in Gogebic county on US-2 south of Watersmeet; 7.532 miles in Chippewa and Mackinac counties on M-4 from county line west of Prentiss Bay southwest; 4.130 miles in Gogebic county on future US-2 from Iron county line northwest; 4.555 miles in Gogebic county on US-2, Wakefield and southeast; 1.553 miles on county road 550, Big Bay south in Marquette county; and 14.877 miles in Marquette and Alger counties on M-94, Harvey east and Deerton road west.

LETTING IS LARGE

Lansing, Jan. 9. (AP)—The state highway department announced today that it would auction off 60 construction contracts totaling approximately $4,000,000 to the lowest bidders January 18 in what it described as "one of the largest contract lettings in the history of the department."

The projects include 33 road construction jobs and eight bridges in 32 counties. The counties include Baraga, Alger, Houghton, Montcalm, Chippewa, Luce, Mackinac, Macomb, Gogebic and Marquette.

More than 300 contractors are expected to compete for the work, Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner said. Bids will be opened here and in the department's branch office at Escanaba.

The road construction work will embrace 285 miles of improvements. Thirty of the projects are included in the $4,000,000 PWA program, first of its kind to be undertaken in Michigan.

To Discuss Report

It was reported tonight that Lindbergh's report to American authorities on German air strength would be discussed at tomorrow's session, if not actually laid before the legislators. Both Kennedy and Bullitt are intimately acquainted with the views held by the famous flier on the reich's great air superiority in Europe.

Lindbergh only recently spent some weeks in Paris, where he had the opportunity to discuss his views fully with Bullitt.

While neither Bullitt nor Kennedy has commented publicly, both have been outspoken privately in their views that Germany's air strength was the deciding factor in the last September at Munich, and that Germany is forging ahead building at least 1,000 planes per month.

It is reliably reported that the president may ask congress to throw the defense program into high gear operation at once by an immediate large-scale allotment of funds for immediate airplane orders.

Five or six large airplane manufacturers who have been building government planes now have filled existing orders and their plants are almost idle. Officials believe the program can get at least a six months start if money is made available for placing orders in these plants at once.

Recent surveys of the airplane industry have disclosed that the plants probably will not be able to produce more than 400 military planes per month for at least an entire year or more.

These reports are said to have spurred the desire to get construction under way without further delay.

Smells a Rat

Harry Hopkins, former relief and WPA administrator, now receives the press as secretary of commerce, but at a recent conference he appeared to be sniffing trouble.

HOPKINS WILL BE SUMMONED FOR WPA QUIZ

Roosevelt. Mayor Laguardia of New York was of the opinion that $915,000,000 would be necessary. Ralph Heitzel, director of unemployment of the CIO, argued for an appropriation of an even billion dollars, and David Lasser of the Workers Alliance, an organization of relief recipients, contended the sum should be $1,050,000,000.

HOUSE REVOLT NEAR

Washington, Jan. 9. (AP)—The Roosevelt administration faced an incipient revolt in a house appropriations sub-committee tonight against the size of the $875,000,000 fund asked by the president to operate the WPA until June 30.

Some Democratic members of the sub-committee predicted privately that the group would make a "substantial" reduction in the fund when it meets to vote upon the question tomorrow.

Although such a decision would be an initial setback for the administration on the issue of continued large-scale spending, it would be far from conclusive. Members pointed out that last year, after the sub-committee had pared a $1,500,000,000 relief request by half a billion dollars, the full appropriations committee restored the reduction.

Can Stand Cut

Among those who came out today for a substantial curtailment in the federal work relief program was Representative Woodrum (D-Va.), who will handle the appropriation when it appears on the house floor, probably late this week or early next.

In a statement to reporters after the sub-committee had heard appeals from Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York and a CIO spokesman, for amounts even larger than the president asked, Woodrum said:

"So far as my personal attitude is concerned, I feel that WPA can stand a substantial curtailment of its program without causing any great suffering among the people who are in real need."

"I think there are many people on the rolls of WPA who are unemployable and who should go back to the states as relief cases. As a sizeable percentage of those on the WPA have been there since the program started three or four years ago, a careful reurvey of the rolls would take out thousands of such persons."

Winter Burden Heavy

Woodrum is acting head of the sub-committee which will act on the president's request at an executive session tomorrow and prepare a bill for house consideration.

Representative Cannon (D-Mo.), an administration supporter on the sub-committee, saw President Roosevelt today and told reporters afterward that if the appropriation were reduced it would mean "just that many destitute families."

"The testimony heard by the sub-committee fully supported the amount requested, or more," he declared. "It showed that in the depth of winter the need for clothing, food and fuel can not be ignored; that industry is picking up and is gradually taking on men who have been on the WPA rolls, but not in sufficient numbers to become appreciable until spring. In the meantime we can't leave the unemployed without subsistence."

Ex-Fireman Admits Burning His Home

Hudson Falls, N. Y., Jan. 9. (AP)—George T. Billeudoux, 47, former assistant chief of the Hudson Falls fire department, was sentenced today to a one-to-two year term after pleading guilty to second degree arson in setting fire to his own house.

OHIOANS CHEER NEW GOVERNOR

Republicans Take Over State After Eight Democratic Years

Columbus, O., Jan. 9. (AP)—Handsome, gray-haired John W. Bricker became governor of Ohio today to the accompaniment of cheers from massed thousands and the roar of a 19-gun salute that marked the Republican party's return to power after eight Democratic years.

The governor converted his inaugural platform into a national stage with an address calling for economy in government and states' resistance to federal "abuse."

The man who has been mentioned a Republican presidential possibility in 1940 said "with all our ability we shall oppose the abuse of federal power, when it means the destruction of local self-government within its proper sphere."

"There is the foundation of our representative system; that is the fundamental demand of the American electorate in the recent election."

"Two immediate steps are imperative in the revitalization of government. The first is to reduce the cost of government. . . . The second is the establishment of common honesty in the affairs of government."

The day was given a circus-like atmosphere from the start. There were three real elephants and many bands which marched and counter-marched in 50-degree temperature.

Loyalists Massing For Counterattack On Catalonia Front

Hendaye, France (at the Spanish Frontier) Jan. 9. (AP)—Spanish government forces tonight were reported to be massing for a large-scale counteroffensive against the insurgents on the northernmost flank of the Catalonia front.

The report followed an announcement by the insurgents that they had captured the road junction town of Mollerusa, bringing them to within 75 miles of Barcelona.

Border dispatches said an almost continuous train of government troops, tanks and artillery was moving through Puigcerdà toward the Seo De Urgel sector, about 20 miles south of the French frontier.

The reports indicated the government considered its southern flank sufficiently entrenched in the Montsant mountains, about 25 miles northwest of Tarragona, to permit a telling blow to be delivered in the north.

Tarragona, on the coast, lies about 50 miles southeast of Lerida. The Lerida sector has been the center of the insurgent drive, begun December 23, to penetrate Catalonia from the west and north with the ultimate object of taking the government capital, Barcelona.

Van Wagoner Pays Capital Visit To Help Pick Judge

Lansing, Jan. 9. (AP)—State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner left the capitol today for Washington, where he will remain until Friday.

Ostensibly the commissioner's errand was to "confer with congressional and road leaders on federal highway matters."

Reports from Washington, however, indicated his advice as No. 1 Michigan Democrat in the absence of former Governor Frank Murphy, now a member of the president's cabinet, would be sought in the selection of a federal judge for the eastern Michigan district.

U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown, Democrat, of St. Ignace, has announced he would confer with both Van Wagoner and Van Wagoner before nominating a candidate for the judgeship. The consensus is that Frank A. Picard, Saginaw attorney and chairman of the Michigan unemployment compensation commission, can have the job if he wants it. It was first offered to Edmund C. Shields, of Lansing, Democratic national committeeman.

Mooney Gives $10 To Help Strikers

San Francisco, Jan. 9. (AP)—Tom Mooney, whose long fight for freedom organized labor financed, reciprocated today by donating to strikers in Chicago and San Francisco the $10 he received "as compensation for 22 years in prison."

Mooney appeared briefly in a (Kress) five-and-ten-cent store picket line and donated to striking clerks $5 of the $10 that he gave to every convict when he leaves San Quentin prison. Mooney received the $10 when he was pardoned Saturday and absolved of guilt in the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing which killed 10 persons.

The other $5 he gave to the American Newspaper Guild for striking newspaper workers in Chicago.

SCHOOLS WANT 47 MILLION

Lansing, Jan. 9. (AP)—The Michigan Education Association disclosed today it would fight for an annual state appropriation of $47,000,000 for the schools, including the primary school interest fund pegged at $15,000,000.

The amount is $2,000,000 a year more than Governor Fitzgerald proposed in his message to the legislature. The primary fund and state aid funds this year amount to $41,300,000, a total that Dr. A. J. Phillips, executive secretary, described as "entirely inadequate."

The association's executive committee is preparing a bill for presentation to the legislature for revision of the formula under which state aid is administered.

Dr. Phillips said the revision would:

1. Increase the equalization fund from 12.25 percent to 15 percent of all state aid.
2. Increase from 2.75 mills to 4 mills the minimum local contribution under which any school districts may become eligible to state aid benefits.
3. Provide full payment of high school tuition by the state, allowing 135 percent of the average of the average cost per pupil in the school district.
4. Reduce from 2.75 mills to 2.25 mills the amount deductible by the state from gross state allowance in applying the formula.

JOB NOT GUARANTEED

Lansing, Jan. 9. (AP)—William Brownrigg, state personnel director, told a legislative investigating committee here tonight that the present civil service law does not guarantee that the person receiving the best grades in a competitive test actually will get a state job.

Brownrigg, who was questioned for more than three hours this afternoon and this evening by the joint house and senate committee, explained that the head of a department seeking to fill a series of vacancies in his staff receives groups of three names for each position to be filled, but is under no compulsion to take more than one of the three. Thus, he said, those who had the best grades would not necessarily be chosen.

The legislature created the committee by concurrent resolution to inquire into administration of the state's new civil service act, and charges that the law was violated in the November election campaign.

Payrolls Studied

Brownrigg testified the civil service department would require a budget of $620,000 to finance its work in the next two years. The figure is more than twice as large as the appropriation for the first two years of its life. He said the division would start this year a study of employment in every state department to determine whether payrolls were overloaded.

The committee showed the actual number now in the employ of the state. He will resume his testimony tomorrow.

The personnel director denied a charge by Senator Chester M. Howell, Republican, Chesaning, that the qualifying tests to which all state employees were subjected when civil service became effective were not practical.

"Yes, they were," Brownrigg shot back, sharply. Those who flunked the examinations were dismissed or demoted. He also defended the uniform pay schedule invoked under civil service.

Brownrigg first declined to reply when he was asked whether departmental executives had given him full cooperation, then testified that he had received "satisfactory" cooperation when he was pressed by committee members.

He said his department's budget is $55,000 "in the red."

ROOF FALLS ON FIREMEN

New York, Jan. 10. (Tuesday) (AP)—Five firemen were injured slightly early today in the collapse of the roof of a fire-damaged three-story warehouse in Brooklyn. Two others escaped unharmed when the roof gave way while they were "washing down" the ruins.

DEMARET WINS $5000 TOURNEY

Houston Star Captures Los Angeles Open In Sub Par Round

By ROBERT MYERS
Los Angeles, Jan. 9. (AP)—Conquering wind, par and pressure, 28-year-old Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., captured the 14th annual $5,000 Los Angeles open today with a last round sub par 69 and a 72-hole record set a year ago by Jimmy Thompson.

Smiling Jimmy found the stiff wind that greeted the field to his liking and breezed in an easy winner by seven strokes, but felled by one blow to tie the tournament 72-hole record set a year ago by Jimmy Thompson.

Demaret, who led the field from the opening round with scores of 66, 68, 71 and 69, came to the 18th green needing a par 4 to tie Thompson's record.

Harold McSpaden, shooting just ahead of Demaret, called his approach shot and gave the Wilson course, and a thrill by holding the iron poke from a distance of about 180 yards.

Demaret's approach swept over the green and landed in the fringe of the crowd. Nettled, his chip to the cup was short and he needed 2 more to get down. His victory was worth $1,650.

McSpaden's spectacular shot gave him 71, even par for the Wilson course, and $990 second prize money for his total score of 281.

Thomson wound up with 283. Harrison a stroke back and Sam Sneed and Mark Fry were tied at 285. The 286 bracket comprised Harry Cooper, Byron Nelson, Ben Hogan and William Goggin, while Horton Smith and two newcomers, Ralph Hutchinson of Bethlehem, Pa., and John Malutic of Glrand, O., finished together with 288.

Harmon Makes Bid For Basketball Post

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 9. (Special)—Tom Harmon, Michigan's brilliant sophomore halfback, has moved around to make a bid for recognition on the Wolverine basketball team.

Harmon was left behind when the Michigan squad went east for its Christmas holidays trip, but Coach Bennie Oosterbaan predicted that Harmon would be in there "when the effects of the post-football feeling wore off." Foot-ball's presence had been requested at numerous football banquets in December.

That Harmon is definitely "in there" was indicated in scrimmage sessions last week as the Gary flash earned a berth on the travelling squad and possible ranking as a first substitute. Highlight of his showing was a scoring spree of 30 points in a scrimmage "with the crippled varsity Wednesday."

Lawyers To Submit Bill Providing For Law Interpretation

Chicago, Jan. 9. (AP)—The house of delegates of the American Bar association approved today a bill designed to establish more uniform methods of procedure by federal administrative agencies and to ensure to citizens adequate judicial review of bureaucratic decisions.

The measure, covering much of the controversial field of administrative law, had been under consideration by the association for more than five years.

It was recommended by a special committee on administrative law and approved by the association's board of governors. The house of delegates authorized the special committee to submit it at once to congress.

Section One of the bill provides that within one year of the effective date of the act the head of every department of the government, "including every board, commission, authority or other agency of the United States," shall issue rules and regulations to implement every statute affecting persons or property.

These rules, the bill provides, shall be issued after public hearings at which all interested parties may state their approval or objections.

In its explanation of the bill, the committee, headed by O. R. McGuire of Washington, D. C., pointed out that, among other things, Section One was intended to provide a method "whereby business men and others may be advised in advance of administrative action determining particular cases as to the administrative interpretation of the statutes."

EFFINGER RELEASED

Detroit, Jan. 9. (AP)—Virgil F. Effinger was released from the Wayne county jail today on bond of $1,000 to await hearings on January 16 and 17 on charges of possession of bombs and criminal syndicalism, respectively.

Effinger, reputed head of the Black Legion, pleaded innocent to both charges Saturday.

It is estimated that waters of the Rocky Mountain region were stocked with trout about 6,000,000 years ago, before the impossible mountain barriers of today existed.

Protest By Italy Adds To Fuel For Attack On Bonnet

Paris, Jan. 9. (AP)—French-Italian tension—marked today by Italy's protest against an anti-Fascist demonstration in Tunisia—provided new ammunition for an attack on the policy of Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet.

Government opponents charged this policy made possible Italian demands for a share in France's Mediterranean and African empire.

Some reports in political circles were that if the attacks on Bonnet should become too pressing in parliament, opening tomorrow, Premier Edouard Daladier might sacrifice the foreign minister to preserve the cabinet.

As a whole, the cabinet has the confidence of the country, but Bonnet, who has become a symbol of the so-called "Munich foreign policy of concessions," is regarded by some as a weak link.

The foreign ministry announced today that Italy protested formally to France that during an anti-Fascist demonstration during Premier Daladier's trip last week to Tunisia an Italian flag was torn down and burned.

The foreign ministry said a preliminary investigation indicated the incident was unimportant—that a crowd had taken down a Tunisian flag hanging over a Tunisian tailor shop and that the tailor himself did not complain to the police.

However, coming on the eve of the new session of parliament and of British Prime Minister Chamberlain's arrival enroute to Rome, the protest added fresh fuel to the French-Italian dispute.

Chicago's Proposal For Lake Diversion Opposed By Dondero

Washington, Jan. 9. (AP)—Representative Dondero (R-Mich.), questioned today advisability of further extended hearings by congress on Chicago's proposal to maintain its former diversion of Lake Michigan waters.

Dondero, a member of the house rivers and harbors committee, opposed last session a bill by Representative Parsons (D-Ill.), which would have maintained diversion at 5,000 cubic feet a second.

The supreme court ordered the flow cut to 1,500 cubic feet at midnight, January 1. Parsons has reintroduced a bill for the larger diversion.

Dondero said a poll last session showed the committee opposed to the bill 14 to 10. Opponents, he said, probably would be increased this session with appointments to fill six committee vacancies.

He said he had asked Attorney General Read of Michigan to prepare to oppose the Parsons bill if a public hearing were called by the committee.

Pleased With KruGon's Action

Had Been Needing KruGon for Years; Digestive Disturbances Yield to Laxative-Tonic Formula

"For so many years before I knew of KruGon I had been miserable with poor digestion, constipation and night risings," said Mr. Frank Kreutzer, 612 N. 2nd St.,

MR. FRANK KREUTZER
Mankato, Minnesota. "Those intestinal poisons which were clogged in my body had their effect over my system in general until my digestion was terribly upset. I could hardly eat anything without dreadful attacks of gas and bloating afterwards. I would have those sharp, shooting pains through my chest after my meals and would bloat so it actually felt like a hard lump in the pit of my stomach. I was not able to get the sleep and rest I desired either, was distracted frequently and I don't know what I would have done if it had not been for KruGon as I had been growing steadily worse for months."

"It is hard for me to tell in words my complete appreciation for this surprising KruGon," continued Mr. Kreutzer. "From the first few doses I could notice a general improvement in my condition as those intestinal poisons were eliminated. Now I can eat and enjoy the foods I want without any distress or discomfort afterwards. I sleep good, get my much needed rest and would not hesitate in publicly lauding a remedy as commendable as KruGon has proven to be for me."

'U' BOARD RAPS AT PROSELYTING

Officers Ask That NCAA Bar 'Hired Performers' From Membership

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 9. (AP)—Controlling athletic officers at the University of Michigan proposed a divorce today between colleges guilty of "serious evils" in the conduct of sports—in a word, proselyting—and institutions adhering to the amateurism.

Michigan's athletic board, differentiating between teams of "hired performers" and others composed of players "whose presence on the campus is due to a real desire for a college education," recommended that the national collegiate athletic association bar the former from membership.

In sharp words the board's annual report suggested that "professional and semi-professional teams" should "play among themselves."

"When mythical national championships are being awarded and ratings made," the report said, "those college teams of 'scholarship holders' and the like should be grouped with the New York Giants, Washington Redskins, etc."

Indicating a belief that adoption of its proposal might do away ultimately with the condemned practices, the board said the stigma attached to failure to meet NCAA membership qualifications "could not long be endured."

"Athletes Hired"

"It must be admitted," the board said, "that there are serious evils in the way in which football, particularly, is conducted at many institutions."

"It is indefensible for a supposedly educational institution to hire athletes to represent it on the playing field, and it is believed to be even worse to hire them under the guise of students by award of 'athletic scholarships' or by such devices as remissions of tuition . . ."

"Most of the difficulties arise out of an unwillingness on the part of too many institutions to have their athletic teams sink to their natural levels of accomplishment which the man power of their normal student bodies would produce. . . ."

"Sooner or later there must be a separation of those institutions which look upon intercollegiate athletics as mere adjuncts of educational programs and whose teams are composed of young men whose presence on the campus is due to a real desire for a college education from those, on the other hand, whose teams are made up of hired performers."

"While such separation may involve difficulties, it has already become increasingly evident that the former group is not finding it desirable to schedule games with those of the latter."

Benny Will Appear Before Grand Jury; Chaperau Convicted

New York, Jan. 9. (AP)—Albert N. Chaperau, suave diplomatic poser, was convicted of smuggling late today while Comedian Jack Benny flew here to follow other theatrical personalities before a federal grand jury looking into customs violations.

Two other cases are impending against Chaperau, who excused his importations on the claim of diplomatic immunity, which was disallowed.

The precise background of Benny's trip from Hollywood was not disclosed by the government, nor would the U. S. attorney's office confirm published reports that it concerned the purchase of $1,200 worth of jewelry for the comedian's wife, Mary Livingston. Benny himself said merely: "I'm going back to find out what it's all about."

Chaperau, a man of an international and somewhat mysterious background, waived a jury trial, claiming immunity as a commercial attaché of the Nicaraguan republic.

Mrs. Edgar J. Lauer, his accused co-defendant in this case, has pleaded guilty. Specifically, Chaperau was accused of smuggling French finery into this country in behalf of Mrs. Lauer.

His sentence was deferred pending disposition of three indictments against him. In one case his co-defendant is George Burns of the comedy team of Burns and (Gracie) Allen, and in another he is charged along with Paula Gheyskens, now in Paris. Burns has pleaded guilty. In that case the articles the government claims were smuggled consisted of jewelry.

Chaperau's claim of immunity was combated by the government through information from the state department that it never had received notification of his appointment to any consular position.

FOUR CITIES BOMBED

Barcelona, Jan. 9. (AP)—Insurgent bombers attacked four cities and towns in Catalonia today, killing seven persons and wounding 18. Barcelona, Reus, Tarragona and Borjas Del Campo were the points bombed.

FOUR CASES TO BE HEARD HERE

Criminal Docket Is Cut As Ten Defendants Plead Guilty

Only four defendants in criminal cases will go on trial during the January term of Delta county circuit court, it developed yesterday as ten defendants entered pleas of guilty upon arraignment before Judge Frank A. Bell at the opening session. Two cases were continued, one appeal was dismissed and another withdrawn.

Henry Auger pleaded not guilty to a charge of larceny by conversion, and his case was set as the first to be heard when jurors report for duty this morning. He is accused of converting to his own use a car taken from the Northstrom motor company of this city for demonstration purposes.

A plea of not guilty was made by the court for Roland LaCrosse of Gladstone, who stood mute upon arraignment. He is charged with striking a pedestrian and refusing to give assistance.

Alfred Rigue of Soo Hill, arraigned on a charge of arson, pleaded not guilty yesterday morning. Atty. Alger W. Strom of Gladstone was named by the court to defend him, and yesterday afternoon entered a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity at the time of the offense as well as at the time of trial.

Arraigned on a charge of disorderly, third offense, Henry Shampo pleaded not guilty and Atty. Robert LeMire was appointed by the court to defend him.

LaCrosse is charged with driving an automobile which struck and injured Sylvia Pelozo of Kipling on highway US-2-41 at Kipling on the night of December 11. A door handle, imbedded in the fifteen year old girl's right arm, was later identified as belonging to LaCrosse's car and he was placed under arrest. Arraigned in justice court, he demanded a hearing and was released on bond of $500. At the conclusion of the hearing Justice Henry E. Ranguette bound him over to circuit court. He is defended by Atty. George Carr.

Sentenced Saturday

Defendants pleading guilty will appear before Judge Bell Saturday morning, when sentences will be pronounced.

Robert Kosticky, arraigned on a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile, pleaded guilty. He was accused of taking a car belonging to Mrs. Torval E. Strom of Escanaba. Rene Meyeette of Hendricks Tank pleaded guilty to forgery, in connection with raising the amount of an order from the Sawyer-Stoll Lumber company.

Lloyd Magnuson pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property. He was accused of purchasing a saxophone which had been stolen from Charles Johnson, which was valued at $120 and for which he is alleged to have paid only $5.

Harold Minor, Clifford LaFond and Rudolph Norman pleaded guilty to larceny. They were accused of the theft of a battery, tools and a marine compass from a fishing boat docked at the mouth of Ford River.

Miles Brophy of Nahma pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering in the daytime. He was accused of entering the Frank Caisse resort at Uno Lake.

Edward Marcell and Verne Boyle pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny from an automobile, when accused of the theft of two grips with contents valued at $150 from a car belonging to James DeCock.

Lawrence Willette pleaded guilty to a charge of resisting an officer. He was charged with attacking Deputy Harold Johnston of the sheriff's department after his arrest for creating a disturbance at a dance hall. Johnston suffered a broken finger before his prisoner was subdued, and the car in which they were riding was ditched as the two men struggled.

Lloyd Bodore of Oahkoosh, Wis., pleaded guilty to larceny from an automobile owned by Conservation Officer Willard Schwartz on October 1.

Appeal Dismissed

In the case of Olin Stearns of Gladstone, charged with cruelty to animals, Judge Bell ruled that the appeal be dismissed. The case was an appeal from Justice O. C. Estenson's court at Gladstone, where Stearns had been fined when found guilty on the charge, and was returned to justice court.

Another appeal from justice court, made by Stanley Molzer who had been convicted of possession of illegal venison, was withdrawn by the defendant.

Cases continued were that of Charles Blosser, charged with fishing and using a set line with baited hooks and James Faucett, charged with a statutory offense.

Pullet Cackles

Long And Loud; Egg Is Whopper

Attracted by an unusual amount of cackling among his flock of white Plymouth Rock pullets, W. F. Breitenbach of 1407 Stephenson avenue, went out to his hen house yesterday morning to find a record egg.

The egg weighs six and one-half ounces and is nine and three-fourths inches the long way and seven and one-half inches the short way.

Breitenbach displayed the large egg to friends yesterday and predicted, "When that pullet cackles to be a hen she'll really begin to lay."

Defense of America

Naval Superiority In Pacific, New Bases In Atlantic Are U. S. Needs

How—and from what direction—might we come to us? This is the fifth of six articles in which George Fielding Eliot, former U. S. Army major and distinguished author of "The Ramparts We Watch," examines the problem of defending America.

BY GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT (Copyright 1939, NEA Serv. Inc.)

Wars don't just happen. They arise out of differences between nations, or are deliberately begun by one side as an instrument of achieving national ambition, or from fear.

The planners of our national defense must consider (1) why we might be drawn into war with various nations, (2) what we and they would be trying to achieve by such a war, and (3) what means are at our disposal and at theirs to gain these respective ends.

To take our Pacific front first, there is but one nation in that area with which we are likely to be involved in hostilities—Japan. A war with Japan will not be apt to occur because of something which Japan does to us in our part of the world. It will be far more apt to occur because of something which Japan does in Asia which we object to and are determined to stop, even by force.

Thus we might go to war to compel Japan to cease interference with our trade in the Far East. This would very likely come as the last act in a long contest, begun by trade reprisals, economic embargoes, and similar measures. Or we might be confronted by a Japanese attempt to seize the Philippines, perhaps as one result of our cutting off her oil imports from this country—the Philippines being a stepping stone to the Dutch East Indies, her most important source of oil supply next to the United States.

A war with Japan would be a long-drawn-out affair. There is very little more that Japan could do to injure us, once she had seized the Philippines and Guam and wiped out our military and commercial establishments in China.

While our navy remained superior, she could not send overseas such a great expedition as would be needed to attack Hawaii, much less our west coast. Small air raids from carriers might be delivered against our coastal cities, and commerce raiders might attack our merchant shipping sporadically. That would be about all, and these things we could eventually deal with.

But for us to bring Japan to terms, it would be needful for us to establish a base in the Western Pacific from which our navy could so interfere with Japan's sea communications—upon which, as she becomes more and more industrialized, she is increasingly dependent—as to compel her either to abandon the contest, or make a last desperate effort for relief by sending her fleet out to fight.

Thus, in considering the strategy of the Pacific, the all-important consideration for us is always to maintain a considerable naval superiority over Japan. While we have such superiority, we can, if needs must, although at great trouble and with heavy loss, so gravely threaten Japan as to force her to yield. Japan, on the other hand, can never do the like by us while her fleet remains inferior.

Our best hope of staying out of so costly and terrible a war as would be entailed in the step-by-step process of fighting our way across the Pacific until we had come close enough for our purpose will be to keep up our naval and military establishments at a level at which there will be no doubt in Japanese minds of our ability to inflict deadly injury upon them—if they compel us to. The chances will then be excellent that they will not enter upon a course of action in which risk so heavily outweighs advantage.

In the Atlantic, the most serious threat of war—other than becoming involved in a European conflict as we were in 1917—seems to be a German or German-Italian attempt to establish areas of conquest in Latin-America, either directly or by supporting dissident factions in some Latin-American country.

In either case, the attempt must be based on sea communications, and is initially a matter to be dealt with by our navy. While the strength of the latter may be sufficient in ships, it needs also bases to give it freedom of action. Agreements with Latin American states to this end will be useful, especially with Brazil, whose ports command the greater part of the South Atlantic Ocean, where we have no bases at all.

The air threat, to which Britain and France were compelled to yield at Munich, is hardly serious for us as yet. Yet it is as well to realize that this is only true while no bases on this side of the Atlantic are in the possession of any aggressive-minded nation.

The northeastern part of our country, where are concentrated our centers of political, industrial, commercial and financial power and a third of our population, affords an objective for enemy bombers scarcely less tempting than the island of Great Britain. The defense of this part of the country, if it is threatened, must ever be our first consideration.

The mass flight of Air-Marshall Balbo, via the Faroes, Iceland, Greenland and Labrador, showed the practicability of this air route. The first three stepping-stones belong to, or are controlled by, Denmark, which country is a neighbor of expanding Germany and has unsettled territorial questions with her.

It is none too soon to consider the question of obtaining the right to establish strong air and naval bases in the island of Newfoundland—at present wholly undeveloped and open to seizure as the final link between Greenland and our northeast—where we could provide amply for defense against any attack from this direction.

Similar considerations apply to Bermuda, which is but 680 miles from New York. We could not afford to allow Bermuda to fall into the hands of any conquering power.

The Bahama Islands, covering the two important waterways of the Strait of Florida and the Windward Passage, afford many lurking places for hostile submarines and seaplanes.

British sea power now lies under the threat of German air power. British policy is showing a tendency to co-ordinate itself with German policy. The Monroe Doctrine, long tacitly supported by the British fleet, is now become our sole responsibility.

Conditions which were tolerable when Britain was free to act in defense of her outlying possessions and her Atlantic sea-lanes are not supportable under present-day conditions when the defense of this hemisphere is the responsibility of the United States Navy alone.

LOCAL SKIERS GO ON JAUNT

Inspect Hills; Several Make "Nasensprungs" On Crusty Snow

Escanaba ski enthusiasts turned out in large numbers Sunday to view the "frozen and hidden assets" found in the hills west of town on US-41.

These hills and a higher one nearby will be inspected again next Sunday by Escanaba Ski club officials and city officials. A decision as to the selection and purchase of a ski site is to be made at that time.

The hill visited Sunday was quite heavily wooded, but of sufficient height and variety of slopes as to make it a worthwhile project, but the other hill in question is superior, it is thought by some. Not only is this hill higher than the one seen Sunday, but there would be less clearing of the slopes necessary.

After the expedition to the hills west of town, many went skiing on the Danforth Hills. The rain hadn't done as much damage as was expected, and comparatively good skiing was enjoyed. Although the ridge was icy in parts, neophytes and the more advanced were hard at it again practicing stem and Christlania turns.

The crusty snow at the base of one hill was the scene of quite a few "nasensprungs," or falls on the face, as some impossible maneuvers were attempted.

With even a little snow to cover the icy parts of the Danforth Hills, skiing would be almost ideal.

To encourage more concerted action on skiing, it is hoped to have a ski banquet in the nearby future.

Squirrel's Lunch Sets $2,200 Fire

Altoona, Pa., Jan. 9 (AP)—The midnight snack Thomas Isenberg's pet squirrel enjoyed caused $2,200 damage.

Isenberg said he believed the squirrel, which slept on a cot in his farm home near here, chewed some matches in a coat, setting fire to the dining room.

State Legion Officers Coming Here Saturday

Arrangements are being made by Cloverland Post No. 82, American Legion, for the banquet and reception to be held at the Sherman hotel Saturday evening, January 14, in honor of W. B. Waldrip, Detroit, state commander of the American Legion, Mrs. Ella L. Swanson, Auxiliary president, and other state officers of the Legion.

In electing W. B. Waldrip of Detroit to be the twentieth commander of the American Legion, Department of Michigan, at the Battle Creek convention in August, 1938, his 31,000 comrades in the state selected a veteran of outstanding service to his country in time of war and one who has continuously been active in civic and veterans affairs for the past score of years.

He enlisted in the United States Marine Corps in December 1917; received his preliminary training at Paris Island, South Carolina, being assigned to the Sixth Machine Gun battalion with which he saw overseas service in the bloody Belle Woods battle and at Solomons. He was wounded in hospital four months, being invalided home and discharged from active service from the Marine Corps in April 1919, bearing a disability which remains with him today as a result of his service.

Commander Waldrip recalls that in 1916 he went to Windsor, Ontario, with the idea of joining the Canadian Expeditionary forces, but hadn't anymore than left the Detroit-Windsor ferry than a big Scotch Highlander sergeant accosted him on the pier and "balled" him out for not being in the army. This angered him so much that he made an about face and returned to Detroit, so that the Canadians lost a good soldier and the American Expeditionary forces gained one a little later.

Following the war he returned to Detroit, attended the University of Detroit for four years, graduating from that institution, and later also attended the Detroit Institute of Technology for a year. He has been connected with the Detroit Bank since 1921 and is now assistant cashier in that financial institution.

He is a past commander of Business and Professional Men's post of Detroit, of which he was one of the organizers. He is a past commander of the Wayne County Council of American Legion posts. For many years he represented the American Legion on the board of directors of the Servicemen's Bureau in Detroit, an adjunct of the Detroit Community Fund.

CHAS. JOHNSON PASSES AWAY

Aged Former Resident of Pine Ridge Dies Here Sunday

Charles W. Johnson, 1003 Lake Shore Drive, long time resident of Delta county, passed away Sunday night at 11 o'clock at the home of his daughter after an illness of about a week.

Mr. Johnson, who was 76 years of age, was a resident of Delta county for approximately a half century. He was born January 16, 1863, at Wester Gotland, Sweden, and moved to Ford River in 1888. He lived there until 1920 when he moved to Pine Ridge, where he resided on his farm until two years ago when he moved to Escanaba to live with his daughter, Mrs. Herbert Sundelius.

False Teeth Wearers Are Worst Breath Offenders!

"Need More Than a Mouth Wash" say Authorities... Recommend Polident

Plates and bridges soak up odors and impurities like a sponge! A thin dark scum collects on them. This scum holds germs and decay bacteria. It is so tough that ordinary brushing seldom removes it. And it gets into every tiny crevice where brushing can't even reach. Almost always it results in "denture breath"—probably the most offensive of all breath odors.

Yet there's a perfect way to clean and purify false teeth without brushing, acid or danger. It is Polident, a powder that dissolves away all scum, stains, tarnish and odor. Makes breath sweeter—plates or bridges look better and feel better. Tens of thousands call Polident a bless-

MODERN SKIING is a telling test of skill, stamina, and nerve-power. Nerves simply must not waver. Skiers, particularly, know how well it pays to protect their nerves—to rest them frequently—by letting up—lighting up a Camel.

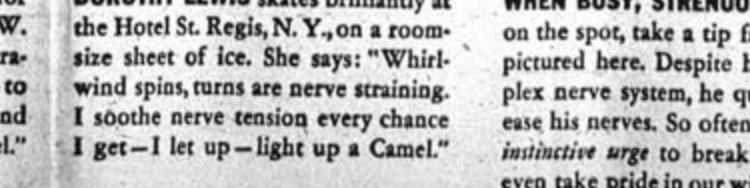

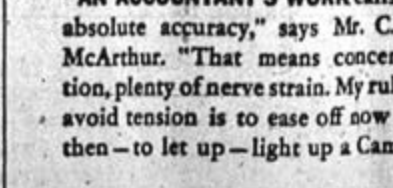

BETWEEN ORGANIZING CLASSES, checking up on equipment, giving exhibitions, and arranging a host of other activities, there's plenty of nerve strain in Hans Thorne's day too! Above you see him taking his own advice about the way to avoid getting tense, 'jittery'. He's letting up to light up a Camel. "It's a grand way to break nerve tension," says Thorne. "I find Camels quite soothing to the nerves."

"AN ACCOUNTANT'S WORK calls for absolute accuracy," says Mr. C. W. McArthur. "That means concentration, plenty of nerve strain. My rule to avoid tension is to ease off now and then—to let up—light up a Camel."

Brandeis to Retire?

THE next retirement from the United States Supreme Court is expected to be that of Associate Justice Louis D. Brandeis, who was 82 years old last Nov. 13.

Although he has been attending to his judicial duties with the usual diligence, he is suffering of late from heart trouble and his condition has been the source of worry for his many friends.

Justice Brandeis has upheld the liberal view of constitutional questions, along with the late Justices Holmes and Cardozo. This does not necessarily make him a New Dealer for he has frequently disagreed with the opinions of Justice Hugo Black, the first New Deal appointee to the supreme court, a fact which might be used to substantiate the argument that the New Deal is not necessarily liberal.

It is the old story of liberals who become the rankest reactionaries when they assume extreme powers in government. Let's hope that when Justice Brandeis retires a true liberal of his type will be appointed to succeed him. One who is just a New Dealer might not satisfactorily fill the bill.

Fitzgerald on Liquor

GOVERNOR FITZGERALD recommends to the state legislature certain changes in the law that appear to be intended to make a more practical handling of the liquor traffic in Michigan.

The governor proposes that liquor stores be abolished and that all retail sales be made by designated merchants, who would be privileged to order the brands of liquor they wish. The state would act merely as a clearing warehouse, under Fitzgerald's plan.

While government liquor stores may have been successful in Canadian provinces, the disposition has been on the part of the public in Michigan to favor the S. D. A's when they have wanted to purchase bottled liquors. Considerable money has been wasted to meet payrolls of state stores, which have been doing very little business.

There is also merit in Governor Fitzgerald's recommendation that the licensing system be tightened to eliminate undesirable drinking places. First of all, there are too many people engaged in the liquor business in the state. With the revenues distributed among so many operators there has not been much profit for anyone from the legitimate end of the business, with the result that in some places the operators have been forced to resort to gambling, selling to minors and other unlawful practices.

It would be much better to have fewer well-regulated establishments, earning a reasonable profit, than the many that are now struggling to earn a livelihood by fair or foul means.

A Start for Hockey

THE municipal department of recreation has leased the main exhibition building of the Upper Peninsula State Fair for use as an indoor rink, a step which may pave the way for the development of the hockey sport on a scale approaching that in Marquette, Houghton and other Upper Peninsula communities.

When the exhibition building was built several years ago, the plans provided for its use in winter for a hockey rink. Shortage of funds caused the fair management to reduce the length of the proposed building by 60 feet, however. While the floor space is not large enough for a regulation hockey rink, the building was so designed that it can be flooded for skating purposes.

Hockey is a popular sport, and it will be noted with satisfaction by many fans that the city is including this pastime in the winter recreation program here.

Hurting Own-Business

LAKE MICHIGAN commercial fishermen have been bemoaning for several years the rapid depletion of the whitefish supply and have called upon the state and federal governments to take steps to replenish these resources.

One can greatly sympathize with the commercial fishermen as their industry means of livelihood is threatened. But the public often wonders what is all about upon reading newspaper accounts of the arrest of a Marinette wholesale fisherman after conservation officers found 6,100 pounds of undersized whitefish in his possession.

If the commercial fishermen expect to protect their industry, they should at least observe the laws, which are designed expressly for the purpose of conserving the fish supply in the public waters.

Wings Over California

REMEMBER the days when you caught butterflies in a fruit jar and kept the gorgeous insects as captives for your entertainment? If you were a child today in Pacific Grove, Calif., you couldn't get away with it. This western community realizes that a live butterfly is more of an attraction than a dead butterfly, mounted under glass. An ordinance imposes a fine of $500, six months in jail, or both for disturbing a butterfly. Millions of the winged creatures flutter into the region each fall, staying in the warm climate until early spring. They've been adding to the scenic attraction of the Monterey peninsula since 1788. Pacific Grove believes them to be among the best of the state's annual winter visitors. Co-operation of citizens has brought butterfly conservation. To this own of 5500 inhabitants that is just as important as conservation of trees and woodlands, parks and lakes.

DECADES OF DEFICITS

President Roosevelt's budget message fills in with ten-digit figures the philosophy of deficit financing enunciated in his annual message to Congress. This rationalization of red figures was more fully elucidated a week ago by Chairman Eccles of the Federal Reserve. Mr. Roosevelt proffers it as "national investment for prosperity." But it adds up to a decade of deficits, $3,000,000,000 for the next fiscal year and a total public debt of nearly $45,000,000,000 by 1940.

And this time there is no promise of a balanced budget; only a hope that by continued Federal spending the lack of private spending can be made up until business so recovers that there will be an $80,000,000,000 national income. On that level there is hope of balance. Now it should be recognized that sound economists support the theory that Federal credit can usefully keep up the flow of investment while private enterprise is afraid to take hold. They believe the last recession was primarily due to too rapid shutting off of Federal spending.

But after a decade of deficits two fundamental facts make this theory a very dangerous basis for national policy. First is the fact that full-fledged business recovery requires confidence which will lead to long-term investment of private capital. As Mr. Roosevelt said last year, "No Government can conscript co-operation." And so long as investors fear that government competition, government-tolerated labor disorders, government-devised tax burdens, government-controlled political spending and government-fostered public distrust of business are going to make profits small and doubtful, the pump of recovery will not be primed.

It is true that some investors need to realize that there will never be a return to the "good old days" when the lid was off for unconscionable exploitation. Co-operation must be two sided. But there have been increasing evidences, particularly since the last election, that many business men have a new social outlook and are ready to go a long way on their side. In fairness, it should be said that Mr. Roosevelt also has shown a disposition to end the baiting of business. And his willingness to see some "polishing" of recent legislation which disturbs business men gives hope for better co-operation than at any time in the last six years.

But business confidence and co-operation will not be won after a decade of deficits, and with the unemployment problem still unsolved, by giving pleasant names to big debt increases. It would be better to face the second fact which undermines the Eccles-Roosevelt theory—the fact that these deficits are rooted in political causes. They are made up of grants to various pressure groups which no government and no party dares to defy. And they are manufactured by logrolling. Nearly every one of these groups would like to stop the spending for other groups—but it consents in order to get its own share.

Relief, farm subsidies, pensions—all these can be supported by arguments of necessity. But the amount of them is open to political pressures. And there is the difficulty about economy. The Roosevelt Administration might not be able to stop the spending. But it could take the lead in checking it, instead of rationalizing it.

HOSTAGE TO THE FUTURE

If we sense the mood of the country and of congress accurately, the President's budget recommendations will, in the main, be adopted. We imagine that few congressmen, Republican or Democratic, are prepared to undo what has been done toward providing for social security and stabilizing the income of farmers. Nor will they refuse to make adequate appropriation for the national defense or for the support of the various New Deal administrative agencies.

Yet in accumulating such a stupendous burden of debt, stable democratic government is giving a hostage to the future. No stone should be left unturned to hasten the time when private business and industry can take up the slack.

The situation emphasizes the duty of the administration to do its share toward inducing the enormous pool of private credit—estimated at a potential 20 to 30 billion dollars—to become active in providing jobs and producing goods.

TOWARD ANOTHER DEFICIT

The idea that the expenditure of borrowed funds represents an "investment for prosperity," which was explicitly set out in the President's message on the state of the Union on Wednesday, is implicit in all the discussions of the new budget and in the estimates attached thereto. The President even includes a table estimating probable Federal revenues at the various stages to which he hopes the national income may rise. The table indicates that with a national income of eighty billion—approximately the figure we attained in 1929—the present tax rates would produce a total revenue of eight billions and that

World Affairs Reviewed

BY MILTON BRONNER NEA Service Staff Correspondent

London—A group of millionaire industrialists—big-time executives with a talent for getting things done—have been entrusted with the job of injecting super-efficiency into Great Britain's rearmament program.

Reminiscence of World War times when millionaire "dollar-a-year" men worked for Uncle Sam, these British big business men will serve entirely without salary.

Britain's decision to employ its best business brains in the urgent job of building up home defense has been of particular interest to American observers here, in view of the fact that the United States is embarking upon a defense program in which the need for speedy and efficient production will be paramount.

The September crisis revealed grave defects in England's defense system. The air raid precautions were so ridiculous as to be tragic. There was an immense deficit in the number of anti-aircraft guns that were needed. The defensive air forces, mainly swift, heavily-armed fighter planes, were grossly lacking.

Ever since then men, both inside and outside the government ranks, have been spurring the cabinet on to make the most of the respite so that the next time there is a grave crisis Great Britain will be better prepared to defend itself.

One of the ways proposed was that the Prime Minister should set up a panel of independent and able business men whose aid should be sought in accelerating England's defense program. After all, to spend $7,500,000,000 on rearmament in a few years' time and try to get real results in as short a space of months as possible, is no easy job.

Premier Chamberlain, yielding to the outcry, named a panel of business men to receive representations as to any delays, defects or difficulties in supply or production in the rearmament program; to suggest remedial action, and also any general improvement in regard to the execution of the program. The government also, if it desires, can refer questions to the panel.

The panel will be independent of any of the cabinet ministers. The executive responsibility of ministers for the execution of the rearmament program will remain, but the panel members will have direct access to the Prime Minister in case they see serious causes for complaint.

Not only are the six members of the panel by Chamberlain millionaires, but the total wealth of the companies they represent aggregates well over one billion dollars.

They are as follows: Sir George Beharrell, 65, is chairman of the Dunlop Rubber Company whose capital is something over $60,000,000. He is a former chairman of the Imperial Airways and former president of the Federation of British Industries.

Sir Geoffrey Clarke, 67, is managing director of the Telegraph and Maintenance Construction Company, chairman of the street railway system in Calcutta, India, and director of the big P and O steamship lines.

J. S. Addison, 58, is the managing director of Courtaulds, the $160,000,000 rayon combine of Great Britain.

Peter F. B. Bennett, 58, is director of Imperial Chemical Industries, the huge $370,000,000 chemical and metals combine, and chairman of the Joseph Lucas Company of Birmingham, a $11,000,000 machine accessories concern.

J. O. M. Clark, 61, is chairman of the greatest cotton thread concern in the world—the $100,000,000 J. and P. Coats concern. He is also a director of the Union Bank of Scotland and of the Yorkshire Insurance Company.

Francis D'Arcy Cooper, 56, could almost claim to wash the world. He is chairman of the $360,000,000 Lever Brothers soap combine.

If by happy chance the national income should rise to ninety billions the Federal Government could expect a revenue of more than ten and a half billion.

The latter figure would, to be sure, balance the budget even at the present nine-billion-dollar level, and leave something over for debt retirement. But without a considerable reduction of expenditures there could be no balance on the eight billions of revenue which an eighty-billion-dollar national income is expected to provide. And everyone knows that even an eighty-billion-dollar income is exceptional.

Before congress and the country acquiesce in the policy to which the President seems to have committed himself, his course ought to be sharply challenged. The whole discussion ought to be brought down from the realm of pure theory, in which the President and his advisers seem to be dwelling, into the region of hard facts.

New York Column

BY GEORGE ROSS

New York — To at least one Broadway beauty, the beginning of the new Congress meant more than an important legislative premiere. For when the Congress opens, Tallulah Bankhead feels a personal stake in the event.

After all, her father is the Speaker of the House.

So this year, as in previous ones under the New Deal, the flaxen-haired Tallulah departed Broadway the other night for Washington to take a front seat in the visitors' gallery on Capitol Hill and be within sight of her parent.

Their solicitude on opening nights or mornings is mutual. When Tallulah is opening in a new show, the Speaker of the House strives to be there. If he can't, he sends a telegram, along with a floral greeting.

When Tallulah comes to Washington with a play, it is a signal for the House's chief officer to reserve a box or two, invite a distinguished party to accompany him to the theater and bask in his daughter's triumph.

Dual Personality An executive we know returned from lunch the other day and was informed by his secretary that he had a caller.

"Who was he?" asked the official. "He didn't leave his name," said the secretary. "Well, what did he look like?" the busy man urged impatiently. "Describe him. Was he tall or short?"

"Both." "Come now. Don't be a fool. How could he be both?" "Well," snapped the typewriter demon, "he was about six feet two and he wanted to borrow five dollars."

Big Present When Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne go back next summer to their farm at Genesee Depot, Wisconsin, they are going to find a lady elephant on the land. And the pachyderm will be theirs to keep, too, because it is a Christmas gift from a pair of executives of the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus.

It seems that while the Lunts hibernated in Chicago last year, they made friends with the circus folk. And when Yuletide rolled around, the officials of the Big Tent show wondered what to give the famous acting people.

They decided upon a lady elephant and they put it up to the renowned husband and wife. The Lunts said "Fine." They'd have a barn, big and suitable for such a guest, built immediately and they wired the carpenters at Genesee Depot to get to work. The lady elephant will be on her way soon.

The last private individual to play host to an elephant was P. T. Barnum. He kept the elephant on his trunk-line farm near Bridgeport, Conn., and all the neighbors went "tak-tak" when they saw him.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—Plans for sending even more wheat to Spain have been quietly discussed by Administration leaders, and it is possible that a bill may be introduced in Congress to this end.

Precedent for this is an Act of Congress in 1920 giving $15,000,000 worth of wheat to relieve the Soviet Russia famine. This was passed even at a time when relations between the two countries were none too friendly.

Whether more wheat is shipped to Spain will depend upon future Spanish needs and also upon the outcome of the present Franco drive. Administration leaders argue that sending wheat to Spain helps get rid of the American surplus, at the same time relieving acute human suffering.

Note—All last summer German and Italian ships in Spanish ports were loading wheat commandeered by insurgent forces and sure to be needed by local populations this winter.

GARNER'S "HOG-WASH"—Newsmen tried to get a rise out of Secretary Wallace by telling him that Garner had called the AAA program "a lot of hog-wash." Restraining himself, Wallace said: "When the press quotes one man to me, I don't rise to the bait. It has taken me five years to learn that."

Pressed further, however, he delivered himself of this masterly straddle: "It's a shame not to denounce a lie, but I have no comment."

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

When Roosevelt decided on $875,000,000 as his deficiency relief budget, he had before him a confidential economic study which, while generally bullish, warned that there would be little improvement in the unemployment problem during 1939.

Continued unemployment was attributed to two factors—technological developments in industry when are steadily wiping out jobs, and the annual "influx" of new (young) workers seeking employment. The experts estimate the "influx" at around 600,000 a year. Since 1937, the last prosperous year, when there were 7,500,000 jobless, over 1,000,000 new workers of all categories have entered the labor market.

This means that even if 1939 turns out to be as good as 1937, the jobless army still will number eight to nine million.

It was this factor which determined Roosevelt not to hold down relief expenditures. His original plan, when he started working on the budget last fall, was to recommend a $500,000,000 deficiency appropriation. But after examining the business survey, he decided that this figure was too low, and increased it to $875,000,000.

Prepared by the same experts who predicted the 1937 slump, the survey charted the following business outlook for 1939:

First quarter sluggish; no slump but also no upturn.

Second quarter, a rapid rise in the index of industrial production to a level of 120-125 by July 1. (It took more than twice as long to attain a comparable upturn during the 1935-37 boom.)

A "very vigorous" third quarter with the last three months equaling or topping peak conditions in 1937.

The only pessimistic note sounded by the experts was the possibility of war in Europe. Should that occur they foresaw a pronounced unsettling effect on American business.

In detail, the experts foresaw for the year 1939: A total auto output of 3,700,000 cars as compared to 2,600,000 for 1938.

A spectacular increase in steel production, due to the national defense program. The most building construction since 1930.

Marked improvement in farm prices. Extensive activity in capital goods industry due to expansion of utilities, purchase of railroad equipment and increased aviation output.

A total national income of between $70 and $75 billion as compared to around $62 billion for 1938.

"Well," replied the irrepressible Arizona, "when I was a younger man I used to devote considerable time and attention to wine, women and song. I have given up song now and am turning my thoughts to the study of deep subjects."

Lines for Living

By Barton Rees Pogue

IF I HAD YOU I have not asked a lot of life, I have not wept To see so little come to me and none been kept.

But now, with sunset all around, and falling dew, I wish that I might hold your hand and talk to you.

Of life I ask that I might press your lips, my dear, To hold you close against my heart and know no fear, To feel your hand upon my face, and in my right To be with you, to be with YOU when it is night.

If I had you! If I had you to lean above! If I had you! If I had you to feed my love It seems that all of life would be so fresh and new, With skies as blue as your dear eyes, if I had you.

By candle light you'd play old songs and we would seem To be forever floating on as in a dream; With love around, with love within, I know it's true, I'd have a soul to guide my pen if I had you.

PATTERN 9956

Here's a new bolero-dress to make people say, "You wear the MOST becoming clothes!" There's such captivating daintiness in the scalloped neckline and sleeves, especially when lace-edged! And the bolero, important for Spring wear as well as for now, makes the frock doubly useful.

Pattern 9956 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16, entire ensemble, requires 4 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric.

WE, the WOMEN

What to do when a rival gets in her way ought to be a part of every girl's training. Because the things a woman does instinctively are all wrong.

Instinct will make you to outshine her at her own game—he more sparkling than she is, or more big-eyed, or more whatever she happens to be.

Instinct will make you accuse him of falling for her when the two of you are at last on the way home. But you'll lose by it even though you win the momentary comfort of hearing him say, "Oh, that big blonde? Don't be a little nitwit. She isn't half as pretty as you are."

Instinct will make you let him drag her back into the picture. Better adopt the silent motto: "See no rival. Hear no rival. And speak no rival's name."

SERIAL STORY

NO TIME TO MARRY

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JANET DWIGHT, heroine. She was engaged to handsome young architect...

CHAPTER I
Great-aunt Mary Cantrell glanced up from the towel on which she was embroidering a monogram...

CHAPTER II
Still deliberately avoiding Janet's troubled eyes, Cynthia turned to Mrs. Cantrell. "Sorry to have passed you and Jan up for lunch, Grams," she said...

CHAPTER III
Cynthia hesitated an almost imperceptible instant before she blurted out half defiantly, "Timothy Benton."

CHAPTER IV
Janet had followed her exit with hurt, bewildered eyes. Then she turned to her aunt. "You're glad for me, anyhow, aren't you, Aunt Mary?" she asked...

CHAPTER V
Janet had opened her lips as if to speak, closed them tightly, and said, "I hope you will be very happy, my dear. He is a most engaging young man."

CHAPTER VI
Janet glanced toward Aunt Mary for moral support, but the old lady went placidly on with her stitching, only the straight line of her mouth offering any index to her feelings.

When, just after she had come home from school six months ago, she had met Lance at a party, she had been amused and mystified by the importance this slim, blond, apparently diffident young man seemed to hold for the other women there.

After Janet, partly because she was always kind to shy people, and partly because, in his quiet diffident way, he sometimes said unexpectedly amusing things, had danced with him for the third time, Cynthia wailed her in the powder room, and warned her with that air of tolerant sophistication that Janet often found very trying.

Janet had gone to bed, frightened by her own sense of desolation. If missing one evening with Lance Barstow meant so much to her, how dangerously far she had come since she had dismissed him as just an amusing young man with a diffident, charming smile.

CHAPTER VII
Cynthia took off her hat before she answered lightly, "Oh, nothing. I—just wondered."

CHAPTER VIII
Cynthia had followed her exit with hurt, bewildered eyes. Then she turned to her aunt. "You're glad for me, anyhow, aren't you, Aunt Mary?" she asked...

CHAPTER IX
Janet had opened her lips as if to speak, closed them tightly, and said, "I hope you will be very happy, my dear. He is a most engaging young man."

CHAPTER X

BEHIND THE SCENES

By John T. Flynn

The Sheppard Committee of the Senate, reporting on WPA political abuses and making recommendations for reform, singularly leaves out the most important recommendation of all.

It is all right to prohibit politicians from soliciting funds from relief workers and other persons on the government payroll; to prevent politicians from getting their names and addresses, and so on.

As early as December, 1934, the present writer observed the amazing degree to which the old spoils system was being revived. There was some criticism of it elsewhere too, but it was all blamed on Jim Farley.

TAKES ORDERS
He does what he is told—follows Roosevelt's order with child-like simplicity. But this much must be said for him: He said over his own signature: 'Patronage is a reward for party victory.'

Every man knows what are the weaknesses of human nature. The President knows them. He knew as everyone knew, what the writer tried to point out in that 1934 article—that you cannot spend billions of public money and entrust it to political appointees all over the map.

SWEEPING INQUIRY NEEDED
What has happened in relief has happened everywhere in the government. Thousands of men have been employed under the spoils system and then the President, with a pious gesture, has announced that they should be put under civil service.

Barstow. She had told them while the three women were finishing their dinner in the candle-lit, ivory-paneled dining room of the charming apartment they shared.

CHAPTER XI
Janet had followed her exit with hurt, bewildered eyes. Then she turned to her aunt. "You're glad for me, anyhow, aren't you, Aunt Mary?" she asked...

CHAPTER XII
Janet had opened her lips as if to speak, closed them tightly, and said, "I hope you will be very happy, my dear. He is a most engaging young man."

NEXT DEBATE AT ESCANABA

Local Trio Prepares for Last Match of First Series

The Manistique debate team will conclude their preliminary round in the U. P. Debate League next Monday evening, when the local affirmative team opposes the Escanaba negative team at the senior high school auditorium in Escanaba. The single expert critic judge for the debate will be Prof. Forest Roberts, of Northern State Teachers College, who is manager of the U. P. Debate League.

The Manistique debaters will be John Solar, Jane Cayia and David Shinar, the same trio that has represented Manistique in each of the first three preliminary debates.

In an afternoon contest, the Manistique reserve team consisting of Mary Cayia, George Erickson and Robert Beauvais, will take the negative arguments in a no decision match with the Escanaba affirmative reserve team.

The Escanaba-Manistique debate was originally scheduled for Friday evening, but was postponed to Monday evening by mutual agreement.

The debate is important only in the schools' desire to maintain a perfect record of victories in the preliminary series. Each team has won their first three matches, and both are assured of places in the elimination series which will follow upon completion of the qualifying round.

Escanaba has won from Menominee, Ishpeming and Newberry and Manistique has defeated Trenary, Soo and Gladstone.

The question argued in all interscholastic debates in Michigan this year suggests an alliance between Great Britain and the United States. The Manistique debaters argued the negative side of this question in two of their first three debates and the affirmative in the other contest.

G. W. JACKSON ROTE SPEAKER

Warns Against Doctrines Un-American In Nature

Rotarians were urged to guard against the infiltration of Nazism, Fascism and Communism in an interesting and timely discourse given yesterday noon before the Gladstone club by Atty. G. W. Jackson.

Atty. Jackson read a resolution adopted by the National Council of Italian Rotary abolishing Rotary in Italy in response to an edict by the Italian dictator, Benito Mussolini. It was in marked contrast to praise given by the Italians a few years earlier for Rotary's part in cementing good will between nations.

Italy is the second dictator controlled country to abolish Rotary. Germany having started the movement a year ago, and this is due to the fact that rulers of both countries desire war, not peace, and Rotary's international program was beginning to be felt, according to the opinion expressed by the speaker.

The history of the rise and fall of Rome and other high civilizations under absolute governments was sketched and conditions in European countries today contrasted with the conditions and principles which have assisted in making the United States the greatest of world powers.

R. C. Olson of Manistique spoke briefly extending an invitation to Gladstone Rotarians and their wives to attend a banquet and program at Manistique on Jan. 30, at which the speakers will be Frank C. Barnes, Manistee, International director of Rotary, and Larry Reynolds, Ontonagon, district governor.

Eskymos Play Upbays; St. Joe Travels To Felch

THIRD VICTORY BEING SOUGHT

Comparative Strength of Two Old Rivals Is Unknown

Seeking their third victory of the year, Escanaba high school cagers will open their post-holiday season at the junior high school gym this evening, meeting their old and respected rivals, Gladstone in one of the feature games of the year. The main game is scheduled to start at 8:15 o'clock and will be preceded by a preliminary between the reserve teams of the two schools.

The local cagers, after being buoyed up considerably by a 17-11 victory over Ishpeming in their last game before the holidays, have been working out under the direction of Coach Carl Nordberg all during vacation and are in tip-top shape for tonight's game. Tonight's game will give the Eskymos an opportunity to get above the 500 mark, their record thus far being two victories and two defeats. They opened the season with a two point defeat by Marquette, defeated Kingsford by the same margin, lost to Iron Mountain by four points and defeated Ishpeming.

Lost One Game
Gladstone comes here this evening with a record of two victories and only one defeat. The Upbays opened with an easy 34-17 victory over Rapid River, then took Manistiquette into camp by 19-13. In their final game before the Christmas vacation, however, they lost their first game, a 23-21 thriller to Rock's undefeated Little Giants. Since that game, Coach Keil has been working hard and reports from the Upbay city indicate the Gladstone boys have begun to click in mid-season form.

Nordberg undoubtedly will start the same crew which defeated Ishpeming, which will put Swanson and Barron forwards, Bennett center and Hanson and Olsen guards.

Tim Barry and Ell Enger of Kingsford will officiate.

KEIL EXPERIMENTS

Gladstone, Mich.—Coach Eldon Keil's Gladstone high school basketballers will get back into action after the holiday vacation tonight when they face the Eskymos on the Escanaba junior high court. The reserves of both schools will clash in a preliminary.

Practice sessions were resumed last week and the locals are gradually getting back into shape. However, they have not yet regained the form shown shortly before the close of school for the Christmas vacation period.

By virtue mainly of their victory over Ishpeming, the Eskymos rank favorites to win over the inexperienced Keilmans, only one of whom is a veteran from last year. However, the locals have been improving steadily and undoubtedly will make things interesting for the county seaters.

Coach Keil has been experimenting with several lineups. One is composed of Zervic at center, Knutson and Dahl at forwards and Kee and Petrovich at guards. Another that worked well was similar except that Zervic replaces Petrovich at guard and Price takes Zervic's place at the pivot post.

It is probable that the latter lineup may start as Petrovich submitted to an operation for removal of tonsils during the vacation period.

Rebounding Hoosiers Beat Illinois, 29-28

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 9 (AP)—Indiana's Hoosiers rebounded from their defeat at Ohio State Saturday night to defeat Illinois, 29-28, tonight in their western conference basketball battle. It was Illinois' first defeat of the season.

Illinois, which opened its season last week by conquering Michigan, had a 13 to 9 lead at halftime, but Indiana, sparked by Bill Johnson, moved in front early in the second period and never was headed. Johnson collected three field goals in the first ten minutes of the second half.

Keep Seal Of Your Pants Off Floor, Father's Advice to John Henry Lewis

BY SID FEDER
Summit, N. J., Jan. 9 (AP)—Way back when John Henry Lewis was just a little shaver around Phoenix, Ariz., his father handed him a theory which he expects will win the world heavyweight championship from Joe Louis on January 25.

"John Henry," pappy advised, "if you want to get somewhere fighting, always hold your hands up, throw punches and keep the seal of your pants off the floor."

That's just the plan John Henry figures on using against the Brown Bomber when they tangle in Madison Square Garden's ring. Of course, this particular system will be mixed with a liberal quantity of applied science—the boys in the business call it brains or "noodle"—and a whole flock of right hands.

Although he isn't talking much about it, John Henry's training sessions here at Madame Bey's camp in the Jersey hills indicate he's going to fire right-hand shots at Joe all evening. As Max Schmeling once did, John Henry apparently "sees zomezing" in the Louis armor.

Like Plane Landing
It's a neat punch, too, when it works, that Lewis right hand. He snaps it straight off his shoulder with an overhand delivery and you're reminded of an airplane landing when it whips across. He's giving his spar mates large doses of that blow daily, and when he finishes with them he keeps right on practicing it until the harmless little light bag howls for mercy.

John Henry is confident he can whip Johnny Joe. He's expecting the fight to go the distance, with Mr. Louis from Detroit abdicating in favor of Mr. Lewis of Phoenix when the 15 rounds are over. Lewis is so confident, in fact, that he has about decided to give up the light-heavyweight championship (he's recognized everywhere but in New York) for keeps.

"What the use of having two titles?" he says. "One's enough for anybody. And the heavyweight one is enough for me."

"Heck," he adds, when a listener is doubtful, "you don't think I'd have taken this fight if I didn't think I could beat him, do you? I won't be giving away much weight, maybe 15 pounds. I'll come in around 185." (He weighed 189 when he opened training last week.)

John Has Brains
About the brains—well, John Henry won't go into that, but others around the camp will. Take George Gunther, a little negro who admits to 65 years and spent 34 of them in the ring. During that time, from 1859 to 1923, he had 617 fights, among them bouts with Jack Blackburn and Joe Gans.

"Well, sir," says George, "you know why John Henry's got a good chance? This is why" and he taps his forehead. "He thinks faster in the ring than Joe does. And he'll be smarter in the infighting."

Then there's Larry Amity, who's training John Henry and who worked with Joe for more than a year. He insists John Henry can do it because he's the better boxer and ring general.

John Henry's plan of campaign for the fight itself has been set. His trainers tip you that he'll keep moving to Joe's right to stay away from the Louis right cross that can make dreamers out of the most wide-awake. Then he'll fire left hands to the body and those rights, dozens of them, to the head.

That sounds all well and good, John Henry, but maybe Joe'll have something to say about it.

IOWA IS TOUGH FOR MINNESOTA

Gophers Come Through With Second Big 10 Victory, 36 to 29

U. P. BOWLING DATES FIXED

Annual Tournament Will Be In Marquette April 1 to 29

The thirty-second annual Upper Peninsula Bowling tournament will begin Saturday, April 1, and end Sunday, April 29, on the Shoreland alleys in Marquette officers and members of the advisory board of the U. P. bowling association decided at a meeting in Marquette Sunday.

Almost every section of the peninsula was represented at the gathering. In addition to the officers—J. Rex DeHaas, president; Ralph A. Rodefer, vice-president; and John H. Milnar, secretary—treasurer—the following members of the advisory board were present:

L. V. Johnson, Marquette; T. O. Manes, Iron Mountain; Walter VanDeWeghe, Gladstone; J. M. Lenz, Houghton; E. J. Slapp, Iron River; C. J. Sawyer, Escanaba; M. Bowerman, Munising; S. J. Violetta, Negaunee; and C. W. Eckholm, Niagara. W. W. Hubbell, of Marinette, and Joe Drews of Menominee, did not attend, but wrote letters to the officers stating they would agree to any regulations adopted.

Entries Close March 28
The delegates adopted a rule setting Tuesday, March 28, as the closing date for all entries and officers were authorized to enforce the rule. It was stressed that absolutely no entries will be accepted for any division after the above date.

Reservations can be made unaccompanied by entry fees at any time prior to Saturday, March 18. On that date, however, all reservations must be paid for in order to be held.

Another change adopted yesterday was the manner in which teams will bowl their five-man series. Formerly only one team was assigned to a set of two alleys at one time, but, under the new arrangement, teams may compete in pairs, two teams to a set of alleys, as far as the schedule will permit.

A committee was appointed to draw up a schedule for distribution of prize money. The group includes the three officers and the following advisory board members: Manes, VanDeWeghe, Sawyer and Violetta. They will meet Sunday, April 2, after entries are completed, and prepare a table of awards.

Rock Team Beats Powers; Retains Loop Leadership

Rock, Mich., Jan. 9.—Paced by Lauri, former Northern State cager and Aelred Trombley, member of Rock's Upper Peninsula championship team of 1931, Frank's team retained its Delta county league leadership by coming from behind here Sunday afternoon to nose out the formidable Powers quintet by a score of 43-41.

Powers, featuring Kant, former St. Norbert's star, and McInnis, who played at Northern State, stepped out to an early lead and held it throughout most of the first half. The visitors, one of the tallest teams ever to play on the local floor, held a 25-18 advantage at half time but Rock came back to knot the count at 25 all at the three quarters post. The last period was a scorching one, with Frank's finally pushing ahead to victory by two points.

Kant and McInnis led Powers with 17 and 14 points respectively while A. Trombley and Lauri each had 14 points.

By this season for the unbeaten Minnesota team which now has a string of 18 consecutive victories, including eleven in western conference competition.

RACING HORSES BURN TO DEATH

Fire At Amsterdam, N. Y., Traps 20 Thoroughbreds; Loss $200,000

Amsterdam, N. Y., Jan. 9 (AP)—Twenty-five thoroughbred horses owned by John Sanford, millionaire sportsman, were destroyed tonight in a fire that razed the main racing stable of the Hurricane breeding farm with a total loss estimated at $200,000.

Among the horses which were hopelessly trapped in the flaming barn and were burned to death were Supply House, one of the best steeplechase horses in the country; Pharsalia and Sun Port, which was purchased last year at a reported sum of $15,000.

Hollie Hughes, trainer of the Sanford stable, who estimated the loss, said the fire apparently started in the upper section of the main racing stable, and believed the cause was defective wiring.

None of the horses could be liberated when the blaze was first discovered.

The blaze had gained too great headway before the Amsterdam fire department, which brought all available equipment, arrived on the scene.

Steeplechaser Spared
The barn, approximately 150 feet long, contained 28 stalls. The farm is located north of the Amsterdam city line and for many years has quartered some of the best race horses in the nation.

Sun Port, six-year-old son of Sun Briar, was purchased from William Sharpe Kilmer of Binghampton, N. Y., last fall. He won four of five stakes in the fall meeting at Narragansett Park.

Both Pharsalia and Supply House raced at Saratoga Springs, Narragansett and other eastern tracks.

Trainer Hughes said Golden Meadow, considered one of the best steeplechasers in America, was housed in another barn and escaped death. He explained he was unable to determine the names of the other horses destroyed until tomorrow morning.

John Sanford was reported to be in Florida. His stable, which races in the name of the Sanford stud farm, was founded in the 1880's by his father, the late John Sanford, carpet manufacturer, of Amsterdam, who was first to prove that good thoroughbred race horses could be bred in New York state's climate.

MICHIGAN WINS IN LOOSE GAME
Lanky Center Rae Gets 14 Points to Stop Wildcats, 37-28

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 9 (AP)—James Rae, lanky center, who scored 14 points on six field goals and two free throws, paced Michigan to a 37 to 28 basketball victory over Northwestern in a rough, loosely played game tonight. Twenty-seven fouls were called, 14 on the Wolverines and 13 on the Wildcats.

The Wolverines took a 10 to 1 lead in the early minutes of the game and were never threatened. They had a 20 to 12 advantage at the half.

Northwestern made its only serious threat to overtake the Wolverines by scoring seven consecutive points near the close of the first half. The victory was the Wolverine's first in two Big Ten games. The defeat was Northwestern's second straight in conference competition.

SPILLING the DOPE

No loud huzzahs accompanied the announcement Saturday of sites of the district basketball tournaments in this district. . . . not that there is any serious objection to the sites chosen, but, rather, that they are somewhat out of the way, especially Class D. . . . Iron Mountain is a logical spot for the Class B tournament, especially so this year in view of the fact that the Mountaineers are at present rated near the top. . . . the selection of Iron Mountain was somewhat of a mild surprise in this district because it was believed Menominee would land the meet. . . . The Maroons were due for it last year but passed it up because their gym was undergoing remodeling. . . . It may be that

From the looks of things, Trenary will be the team to reckon with in the Class D event. . . . did you see last week where they walloped Nahma, 67-27? . . . that's really pouring in the buckets. . . . and Nahma hasn't exactly a weak team this year, either. . . . Langford Collins, soft-spoken Trenary coach, has proven to the peninsula that he is just about tops in basketball coaching. . . . tonight marks the renewal of the annual meeting on the court of Escanaba and Gladstone. . . . the game should be an interesting one inasmuch as Escanaba has a record of two wins and two losses and Gladstone has two victories and one defeat. . . . St. Joe will probably land a Tartar at Felch, the Dickinson county boys seemingly being able to slip 'em in the basket.

Announcement that the city had rented the exhibition building at the fairgrounds for use as an indoor skating rink was received with pleasure by many local skating enthusiasts. . . . we'll watch with great interest the outcome and hope that the move may be the means of introducing hockey as a permanent sport in Escanaba. . . . the outdoor rinks are taking a terrible beating the past few days and, unless the weatherman gets a little more generous with his colder weather, the city crews will have to start all over at scratch again. . . . worthwhile, indeed, is the drive of the National Sports Council for funds for the battle against infantile paralysis. . . . incidentally, softball fans will be interested to know that next year players will be able to score from third on a passed ball, wild pitch or throw-back to the pitcher. . . . this is the most important among several new rules recently passed by the softball association.

LITTLE GIANTS PLAY ST. PAUL

Risk Unbeaten Record Against Negaunee Wednesday Night

Rock, Mich., Jan. 9.—Risking their unbeaten record, Coach Clifford Buckmaster's Little Giants will travel to Negaunee Wednesday night to meet the formidable St. Paul quintet in the first post-holiday game. In the second game of the week, the Rock boys will travel to Nahma to meet Coach Bernard Tobin's cagers.

The Little Giants go into the second stretch of the present campaign with the best record a Rock team has had in years. In their first three games, the locals defeated two class C teams and one class B team. They opened with a victory over their old rivals from Rapid River, followed it with a win over Eben and topped it off with a much coveted victory over Coach Buckmaster's alma mater, Gladstone high school.

The boys have been working out during the holidays and appear to be in good shape. St. Paul, with a veteran crew, will furnish the stiffest test for the Little Giants thus far this season. Last year, Rock divided two game series with the Negaunee Parochials.

Coach Buckmaster will undoubtedly start his regular lineup of Capt. Cliff Carlson and Peltonen forwards, Sutel, center and Irving and Lester Pilon guards.

The rest of the Rock schedule is as follows:
Jan. 11—St. Paul Negaunee, there.
Jan. 13—Nahma there.
Jan. 20—St. Joe Escanaba, there.
Jan. 25—Manistiquette, there.
Jan. 27—Cooks here.
Feb. 1—Rapid River, there.
Feb. 7—Harris, here.
Feb. 17—St. Paul Negaunee, here.
Feb. 24—Garden, here.
March 1—Harris, there.
March 3—Trenary, there.

Nahma Noses Out Camp Wells, 19-17, In Hedic Game

Nahma, Jan. 9.—Basketball fans of Nahma were treated to a thrilling Sunday afternoon when the local club team defeated the CCC quintet from Cedar River by the score of 19 to 17. Two tight defenses and close refereeing made this game one of the best seen on the local floor in some time.

Machalk, former Hermansville flash, was high point man for the CCC boys with four field goals and three free throws. The scoring honors of the Nahma team were well divided with Pacholke leading with seven points. The guarding by Hebert of Wedin, high scorer for the CCC's, was the main feature of the game. Wedin scored only three points. The score was tied at seven-all when the whistle blew for the end of the first half.

Nahma rang up two field goals on tosses by Douville and Beauchamp to start the second half, and were never behind after that although Camp Wells was always close by two or three points. Fans were appreciative of the sportsmanship shown by the visiting team. Both teams have a record of two wins and three losses.

LEWIS TO GET SMITH'S POST

Former Representative Favored By CIO-AFL For Labor Board

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN Washington.—The White House has decided not to risk a defeat on Labor Board Commissioner Donald W. Smith.

His recess appointment last summer will be dropped and the name of former Representative David Lewis will be sent to the senate instead.

The veteran Maryland liberal is acceptable to the CIO as well as a the A.F.L., which is violently opposed to Smith.

The backdown on Smith was the urgent advice of senate leaders, chief among them Vice President Jack Garner. Early last month they warned the president that Smith faced certain rejection, and urged that he be dropped in order to avoid a licking that would have a bad psychological effect on congress at the opening of the session.

Roosevelt pool-pooched their fears and indicated he intended to stand pat on Smith. An AFL emissary who proposed he switch to Lewis got a chilly reception.

But when the senate leaders a few days ago laid a secret poll before him showing 52 votes against Smith, the president bowed to their demands and agreed not to reappoint him.

Rough Battle Goes To Chicago, 28-18; Wisconsin Stymied

Madison, Wis., Jan. 9. (AP)—Chicago held Wisconsin to only four field goals tonight and defeated the Badgers 28 to 18 in a rough basketball game.

A crowd of 7,200 watched the futile attempts of Wisconsin's forwards to break through the Maroons' zone defense. The half time score was Chicago 11, Wisconsin 10.

Dick Lounsbury, center, paced Chicago to its first conference triumph of the season. He had five field goals for ten points and was ably assisted by Joe Stampf, forward, who scored five free throws and two field goals for a total of nine.

Young Don Budge Beats Vines Again

Pittsburgh, Jan. 9. (AP)—Lanky Don Budge tonight took a three-to-two lead over Ellsworth Vines in their series of coast-to-coast matches by defeating the professional champion 8-6, 3-6, 12-10.

The stamina of the red-haired 23-year-old San Francisco star proved too much for the 27-year-old veteran from Pasadena, who faded in the marathon third set.

The triumph represented a comeback for the youngster who made a grand slam of the world's four major amateur titles last year. He had beaten Vines in the first matches in New York and Boston, then lost in Philadelphia and Chicago.

The third and deciding set of 22 games was the longest staged since the barnstorming tour began. The previous high having been 14 games in the second set at Boston and equalled on the first set here. The repeated rallies kept the largest crowd ever to witness an indoor racquet match here standing most of the time until Vines netted the deciding point.

WOLVERINES PLAY TONIGHT Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 9. (AP)—Michigan's hockey team, yet to meet defeat this season, tomorrow night meets the London (Ont.) A.C., one of the few teams to trip the Wolverines last year.

Local Man Injured In Rear-End Crash

Leo J. LaViolette of 1109 Third avenue south suffered cuts about the face and a knee injury at about 11:30 o'clock Sunday night when a car he was driving collided with a car stopped on highway US-41 near Wallace in a dense fog.

Wesley Krause, 20, and Roy Heron, 18, of Menominee, Route 1, suffered head and face cuts in the crash. Krause was driving his coupe north on US-41 near Wallace, and in the fog drove past a county road into which he told officers he had planned to turn. Heron was riding with him.

While the Krause car was stopped preparatory to backing up to the turn, the LaViolette car rushed into it from the rear. LaViolette was also headed north, and driving at 35 or 40 miles per hour, officers reported. Both cars were badly damaged.

Spanish Conflict Is Described By Rotary Speaker

Roach Kidd, 19-year-old Escanaba youth who spent several months in Spain fighting for the Loyalists against General Franco's insurgents, told Rotary members at yesterday's meeting about his experiences at the Spanish front while a member of the Lincoln division of the International Brigade, a group of 5,000 American youths who left this country to enter the conflict and when they were discharged only 1,200 of the original band returned alive.

Details of the horrors of front line conflicts, with poor fighting equipment and under exceptionally adverse conditions, with man power being the only usable warlike weapon of any value, were fully described by the speaker.

Kidd was sadly disappointed when he finally arrived in Spain to see the conditions under which they were expected to fight. His military training was very inadequate and the equipment they were given to work with was meager and out of date. The insurgents were much better fighters due to the newer arms that were supplied by the dictator nations of Italy and Germany.

The speaker told of going into battle with a troop of 600 men and getting an order to retreat within a few hours and then returning to the base with probably one-third of the group missing. Enemy aircraft was always the great defensive factor of the insurgents. Squads of General Franco's planes would fly over a Loyalist troop bombing and machine gunning until they had completely scattered the unit with great numbers of Loyalists being killed with each attack.

The speaker told that his belief was that the insurgents would eventually win the war due to their superior training, better equipment and having an abundance of technical advice and supervision from the Fascist nation. Dr. George Shaw, a Manistiquet Rotarian and a past district governor, was a guest of the club and extended an invitation to all Rotarians to be a guest of the Manistiquet club January 30 for a ladies night program and to hear a national director of Rotary International.
