

GO SLOW, HITLER TELLS MUSSOLINI

LABOR VIEWS OF GOVERNOR ARE APPROVED

LEGISLATURE WILL RESUME WORK MONDAY

Lansing, Jan. 13 (AP)—Governor Fitzgerald said tonight a two-hour conference with A. F. of L. chiefs convinced him his views on labor relations legislation and those of organized labor in Michigan are "not very far apart."

The governor described the conversations with William Frost, president of the Michigan Federation of Labor; Frank X. Martel, president of the Detroit and Wayne county federations, and others in a press conference that followed the meeting.

The labor group, he said, found he had anticipated several of their objections in directing the drafting of an industrial relations bill for submission to the legislature, perhaps next week.

Fitzgerald had already provided for separation of his proposed labor relations board and the present commission of labor and industry, as labor leaders suggested, and planned to require representation on the new board for "two separate unions," rather than "two major unions," so that labor membership would not be restricted to the A. F. of L. and CIO.

No Serious Clashes The delegation contended, however, that present picketing laws are adequate and asked that proposed changes, if any, be included in a separate bill together with an anti-injunction clause. Fitzgerald has urged strict regulation of picketing, and the abolition of mass picketing, in strikes.

Fitzgerald said there were no "serious" clashes of opinion, and pointed out that his labor relations measure would not be a "must" bill, but would be subject to revision by the legislature.

He said he would defer its introduction to give other representatives of organized labor who seek it an opportunity to confer with him.

The legislature, which adjourned today for a week-end recess, will resume its deliberations Monday. Fitzgerald said it would probably be another week, however, before he tossed the labor bill into the legislative hopper.

Harmony Luncheon Tuesday Republican members of the house invited the governor, as they adjourned a half-hour session, to meet with them Tuesday for a "harmony" luncheon, designed to pave the way for designation of a floor leader as desired by old guard spokesmen.

The senate, in a brief a meeting, received a bill to abolish the state library board, appointed by the governor, and establish in its place a commission of five, including the state librarian, the chief justice of the supreme court, the auditor general, the state superintendent of public instruction and the lieutenant governor. In committee of the whole, it considered minor amendments to the general tax law.

JAPAN WORRIED Tokyo, Jan. 14 (Saturday) (AP)—Rear Admiral Masao Kanamori, navy spokesman, said today that Japan regarded with grave concern the United States naval board's proposal to fortify the island of Guam.

Baseball And Beer King, Col. Jacob Ruppert Dies

BY SCOTT HERSHEY New York, Jan. 13 (AP)—Colonel Jacob Ruppert, the man who hated to lose and who loved to win and who mixed baseball, buildings and beer to his eternal delight and profit, died today after a long illness.

JACOB RUPPERT

Owner of the New York Yankees, one of baseball's really great teams; owner of a big brewery and a leader in the industry, owner of vast, rich real estate—one of the largest property holders in New York—the multimillionaire colonel at 71 was a living exemplification of a winner—and all the world loves a winner.

"You and I are going to see the opening game of the season," said Babe Ruth as he stood beside the colonel's bedside last night. Babe knew the Colonel wouldn't be there. Perhaps the Colonel knew, too, for he reached out, squeezed Ruth's hand and said faintly: "Babe."

The big fellow left the Colonel's room in tears. The Colonel, in all their years of association, had never called him "Babe" before; it was always Ruth.

Colonel Ruppert's vigorous life was curtailed last April when he was stricken with an attack of pleurisy (inflammation of the lungs), a painful affliction which he endured with his customary cheerfulness and good nature.

It nearly broke his old sporting heart, though, when he was unable to see his beloved Yanks win their third consecutive world series last fall. He had to take his baseball second-hand via radio.

The Colonel's condition became grave early this week and the last rites of the Roman Catholic church were administered. But he smilingly forecast his speedy recovery.

For two hours last night he was in an oxygen tent. He managed a weak "good morning" today to Albert Brennan, his confidential and executive secretary for the past 27 years. The doctor came at 10 and told Brennan to notify the Colonel's family that the end was near. At 10:25 he died—peacefully, though at his bedside said, with no hint of the pain he had endured these last months.

A high requiem mass will be celebrated at 11 a. m. Monday in St. Ignace's Loyal church on upper Park avenue. Interment will be private in the Ruppert family vault at Kensico cemetery.

The Ruppert fortune has been estimated at between $70,000,000 and $100,000,000. Colonel Ruppert was a bachelor and gave himself the proud title of "the best housekeeper in New York."

Denied use of elevators, hundreds of the demonstrators walked up ten flights to the eleventh floor, where UAW offices are located, and unbarred a door blocking their entrance there.

The board invited a delegation into its meeting, and they crowded about the board room, in heated discussion with board members. Richard T. Frankenstein, UAW vice-president and a leader of the dominant anti-Martin group on the board, could be seen gesticulating vigorously as he talked to the men.

Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—Germany and the United States, though completely at odds on Germany's "right" to discriminate against American Jews in Germany, appeared today to have reached a practical solution for a controversy that has added tension to the disturbed relations between them.

An exchange of notes between the two governments released this afternoon by the state department disclosed:

1—The United States again declined to recognize Germany's right to apply to American Jews in Germany treatment not applied to other American citizens.

2—Germany declared there was nothing in international law to prevent her from doing so.

3—Germany, however, agreed to "respect rights to which American citizens were entitled by virtue of treaties between the two governments."

4—The United States expressed itself as "gratified" at this and agreed to submit to the German foreign office, for its examination cases of alleged discrimination against American Jews. Hitherto such cases were taken up with local authorities.

5—The German foreign office stated that, "if such cases should be brought to its attention by the American embassy, the German government for its part is prepared to examine and settle them on the basis of prevailing treaty provisions."

BOYS RESCUED ON ICE St. Clair Shores, (AP)—Four boys who drifted into Lake St. Clair on a piece of ice that broke away while they were playing on it were reported none the worse Friday from their experience. The boys, Gordon Boyce, 18; Daley Foster, 13; Walter Jassemoth, 15, and Elmer Gagen, 13, were rescued a half-mile off shore by police in a boat.

BLEEDS TO DEATH Holly (P)—Police, hearing a report that Jack Higgins, 77, had not been seen about his home for some time, investigated Friday and found his body at the foot of a stairway in his home. Deputy Sheriff Harold Cole said Higgins suffered a leg fracture and a ruptured blood vessel in a fall down the stairway, and bled to death.

WORKERS CRASH UAW GATHERING

Restrictions On Martin Opposed By Faction From Car Plants

Detroit, Jan. 13 (AP)—Hundreds of automobile workers protesting restriction of Homer Martin's presidential powers jammed their way today into the United Auto Workers' International headquarters where the CIO union's executive board, hostile to Martin, was meeting.

Some of them gained an audience with the board. Before they departed nearly 100 members of a faction opposing Martin crowded into a union ante-room.

A detail of police watched the demonstration, apprehensive of a possible clash. There was no disorder, although the men shouted and milled about the narrow corridors of the building.

Many came from the Packard Motor Car plant, which was forced to close its small car division after union leaders said 2,000 UAW members walked out. Men from Plymouth and Ford locals joined the group driving through a heavy snowfall to the UAW offices.

Don Wilson, a Martin supporter, said the rank and file "wants all restrictions on Martin's power rescinded."

Interest in the day's activities centered upon the result of the fight over the size of the appropriation. With that fixed, the Republicans and Conservatives, who repeatedly said they had no desire to cut off relief, were ready to support the bill. Consequently the roll call on final passage showed only a small handful of opposing votes.

Southern Michigan Has Wet Snowfall

(By The Associated Press) A fresh fall of snow sent residents of a dozen northern states on a hunt for their rubbers Friday.

The flakes left only a trace in some districts but reached a depth of three or four inches in others. A heavy, wet snow made traffic hazardous in southern Michigan.

The weather bureau reported snow in North Dakota, southwestern Wisconsin, northeastern Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, and Washington, D. C.

Drenching rains doused several southern states.

Friday Luck Brings Idle Man $65,000

Oakland, Calif., Jan. 13 (AP)—Albert L. Foster's Friday the 13th luck was good—to the tune of $65,000.

Foster, 66, faced loss of his job as a ferryboat worker when trains began running across the bay bridge Sunday.

Today, he said, he received a telegram from an attorney at Liverpool stating his English aunt, Mrs. A. A. Saayres, had left him a $65,000 inheritance.

HOUSE SLICES RELIEF FUNDS 150 MILLIONS

COALITION SHOWS POWER AGAINST NEW DEAL

Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—The house, rebelling against President Roosevelt's spending policies, tonight passed a $725,000,000 emergency relief appropriation—$150,000,000 less than recommended by the chief executive.

Speaker Bankhead announced that the vote was 397 to 16. Republicans, their ranks augmented by the November election, voted with conservative Democrats in an effective coalition to slash the fund before the final vote was reached. The vote on the slash was 226 to 137.

Pay Rates Uniform The chamber inserted restrictions aimed at the elimination of politics from relief and, contrary to the wishes of the administration, it adopted an amendment to provide that pay rates for similar work should not vary by more than 25 per cent throughout the country. Southern Democrats were solidly behind the amendment.

The day's developments brought partial fulfillment of predictions made by political observers since the elections of last fall that the session would see the emergence of a coalition of conservatives of both parties sufficiently numerous to balk the President on many points of his program.

The issue of appropriating $725,000,000 instead of $875,000,000 was presented under parliamentary circumstances which prevented a roll call vote on the size of the appropriation.

This fact was a source of deep disappointment to many members who supported the president's estimates. Some of them, notably Representative Cannon (D-Mo.), who led the movement for the larger appropriation, charged that unusual procedure had been invoked to keep some members from "being put on the spot" on the issue.

Opposition Dwindles "I am not interested in putting anyone on the spot, on either side of the aisle," said Representative Woodrum (D-Va.), chairman of the sub-committee in charge of the bill. "I am interested in getting something constructive done on this bill."

Interest in the day's activities centered upon the result of the fight over the size of the appropriation. With that fixed, the Republicans and Conservatives, who repeatedly said they had no desire to cut off relief, were ready to support the bill. Consequently the roll call on final passage showed only a small handful of opposing votes.

Barcelona Sends Her Men To Halt Rebels

BY ROBERT OKIN Barcelona, Jan. 13 (AP)—The Spanish government announced tonight evacuation of the Ebro river area to a line at Hospitalet on the Mediterranean to prevent the advancing insurgent from isolating troops and civilians.

Hospitalet is 24 miles north of Tortosa (whose fall was announced by insurgents this morning) and more than half way between Tortosa and the important port of Tarragona, which is 50 miles southwest of Barcelona.

It was announced a few hours after informed sources said the government had launched a new counteroffensive in the Brunete area west of Madrid in an effort to counteract the insurgents' eastward sweep in northeastern Spain.

Barcelona was quickly becoming a city of women tonight as every available man made ready to leave for the front.

Offices, stores, factories and even government buildings were more deserted than ever as men and boys raced to complete the last formalities of enlisting.

The women—mothers, sisters and sweethearts of recruits—went shopping. They bought their menfolk warm stockings or shirts, many with the last few pesetas they had.

They couldn't buy shoes. Barcelona has had none on sale for a long time.

Some women, taken unaware by the fevered rush of the insurgent offensive against northeastern Spain, reached their sons and husbands just as they marched out of the city. They tagged along with the lines as far as they could, saying goodbye.

The men were dressed in whatever uniforms they could lay hands on. Some wore civilian jackets. Others had only rope-soled walking shoes. They marched out of Barcelona without any band music. The insurgents hadn't left them time to get musicians together.

Driftwood Keeps Hopes Alive for Convicts

ALCATRAZ

Five convicts who sawed their way out of Alcatraz, "escape-proof" federal prison, were stopped by gun-fire before they started their swim to the California mainland, a mile and a half away, but the attempt revealed one secret that has been keeping alive the hopes of convicts who are looking for a chance to make a getaway. The one hope is driftwood, which is always floating past the prison island, and the prisoners regard the wood as possible lifesavers for the long swim in the treacherous bay current.

CHICAGO DOCTOR KILLER GUARDED

Confessed Slayer Says Dr. Mordoff Broke Sister's Heart

Chicago, Jan. 13 (AP)—A special guard was posted today at the cell of John Quinn, confessed slayer of his brother-in-law, Dr. Gordon E. Mordoff.

The 63-year-old prisoner's belt and necktie were removed as a precaution against any attempt at suicide after he detailed the shooting and his motive in a statement to Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Curtis.

"He killed my sister," Quinn was quoted as saying. "She died from a broken heart caused by worry and disappointment. He took her life so I stuffed out his life. Of course, I don't feel good but I do feel satisfied."

Dr. Mordoff, who figured prominently in the news in 1936 when he lost a stirring court fight for the custody of tiny "Sonny Boy," was shot to death in his office building in suburban Wilmette last yesterday.

Mrs. Mordoff died in February, 1936. Miss Margaret Mann then claimed the child. She testified the baby was born to her out of wedlock and boarded in the Mordoff home. The doctor contended his wife was the true mother of the youngster. Circuit Judge Rudolph Desort ended the litigation by awarding the lad—then three and a half—to Miss Mann.

Sales Tax Chief Cuts Staff By 40

Lansing, Jan. 13 (AP)—Forty employees of the state board of tax administration, which administers the sales tax, were dismissed today "for the good of the service."

Orville E. Atwood, new managing director of the board, said the dismissed employees would not be replaced immediately. He said most of them were clerks and field men.

Among those dismissed were John Kladyk, manager of the Flint branch office, and Ray Green, acting manager of the Traverse City branch, formerly of Pontiac.

Guns Halt Alcatraz Escapers After Five Saw Out Of Cells

San Francisco, Jan. 13 (AP)—Arthur (Doc) Barker, 40, gangland terrorist and kidnaper, participated with four other convicts in an amazing attempt to break away from "escape proof" Alcatraz early today and lost his life. Shot in the head and through the legs by guards as he made ready for a desperate swim into fog-shrouded San Francisco Bay, Barker died tonight in the prison hospital.

Barker, who was shot as he ignored a guard's order to halt, had joined fellow felons in sawing their way out of a steel cell block in the island federal penitentiary in which he was serving a life term for the Edward G. Bremer kidnaping.

During one of the thickest fogs the rock prison island had experienced since it became the terror of federal convicts in 1934, the five prisoners slipped quietly through the bars they had severed and out into the darkness.

At 4 a. m. a guard noticed the empty cells and saw the severed bars. In a moment the entire 12-acre island was aglow with light. But even powerful searchlights did not penetrate far into the fog, which Warden James A. Johnston was "like a mass of wool."

Guards along the island's rim finally sighted the prisoners fleeing toward water of San Francisco Bay.

Barker was shot through the head and legs as he ignored a guard's order to halt. Dale Stampfill, 27, Oklahoma kidnaper, was shot through both legs.

The other three fugitives surrendered. They were William McCain, 36, a kidnaper; Henri Young, 28, bank robber, and William Martin, 25, negro, a postoffice robber.

Martin was bruised and cut as he slid down the rocky northwest side of the island toward the water. Warden Johnston said the convict was collecting pieces of driftwood and tying them together when ordered to surrender.

Incidentally, Alcatraz gave up one of its secrets—one of the things that keeps alive the hope of escape.

The secret was driftwood. Day by day the "escape minded" prisoners among Alcatraz's 300 to 400 convicts see logs, boxes, old masts and other flotsam drifting past, offering potential life-savers to anyone who would attempt to swim the 1 1/4 miles of treacherous bay current to the mainland.

"There is driftwood all the time," said Johnson. "Sometimes there are large pieces, at other times only small bits, and there are prisoners who spend all their time thinking about escape."

Prisoner Martin's luck with driftwood ran to form for Friday the 13th. The pieces were small.

SKATER MISSING AT FORD RIVER

Russell Peterson Fails to Return From Trip On Green Bay Ice

After about four hours searching on Green Bay in darkness last night, Sheriff Miron expressed a fear that Russell Peterson, 27, South Ford River resident, had broken through thin ice and drowned. Search for the young man will be resumed this morning.

Peterson left his home at about 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning to skate out on the bay to watch Clarence Nordquist and Clifford Blowers lift nets. He did not join the fishermen on the ice and when he failed to return to his home at 5:30 o'clock in the evening the sheriff was notified.

A searching party composed of Sheriff Miron, Jos. Rademacher Sr., Jos. Rademacher Jr., Wm. Flath, Wm. Pratt, Louis Coulet, Harlan Peterson Jr., and Clarence Nordquist, searched the bay ice, using lights in an effort to trace Peterson by skate marks. The party reported on returning last night that in many places the ice is but an inch thick, dangerous to travel and plans were made to continue the search in daylight.

DUCE WARNED TO AVOID WAR IN YEAR 1939

HUNGARY TO JOIN PACT AGAINST COMMUNISM

BY RICHARD G. MASSOCK Rome, Jan. 13 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain's diplomatic "draw" with Premier Mussolini was thrust into the background momentarily today by reliable reports Adolf Hitler advised Il Duce to avoid war during 1939 in seeking to achieve Italy's "natural aspirations" for colonies.

The visiting British prime minister meanwhile paid a cordial visit to the Vatican, canvassing hopes for peace and the thorny refugee problem with Pope Pius XI.

Italy Wants Colonies Hitler's views were said by persons close to Germans to have been conveyed to his axis partner, Mussolini, through the German ambassador to Rome, Hans-Georg Viktor von Mackensen.

Von Mackensen conferred today with Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano for the second time since Chamberlain arrived Wednesday. It was Ciano who used the phrase "natural aspirations" in a chamber of deputies address Nov. 30, touching off Fascist clamor against France for colonial concessions.

Many who have been watching the development of Fascist claims on France expressed belief Mussolini wanted to keep out of war. Some Italians have said their differences with France could be settled without it.

Awails Spanish Victory British indicated Mussolini told Chamberlain he desired peace without making any commitments to that effect, however. He was understood to have made the remark as a generally without referring directly to France.

Il Duce's insistence on "peace with justice" was interpreted to mean he expected France to meet Fascist demands for wider sway in the Mediterranean in some ultimate negotiations.

Diplomats believed Mussolini had decided he must wait, at least for the added strength he could get from an insurgent victory in Spain, before he could safely press Mediterranean claims to the point of threatening the democracies with war. Mussolini was represented as confident Generalissimo Francisco Franco would win soon.

On the other hand Il Duce perhaps was amenable to Hitler's wish for a year's peace since, according to the British version, and contrary to diplomatic expectations, Chamberlain gave Mussolini a convincing demonstration of Anglo-French solidarity in their talks.

Pontiff Pleased Chamberlain smiled broadly as he left the Vatican indicating enjoyment of his visit with the pope. The pope spoke in English and French during most of the audience. Those who entered the room at the end of the private audience found the pontiff seated at a writing table in the small library with Chamberlain and Halifax sitting close by talking to him.

The pope rose and came forward to greet each of the others in the prime minister's party.

An authoritative source said the pope read a strong "humanitarian" document at the outset of the

In the Headlines From Washington

(By The Associated Press) The house rejected President Roosevelt's request for a $875,000,000 relief fund and passed a bill, 398 to 16, to provide $725,000,000.

A senate judiciary subcommittee, after hearing Frank Murphy explain his handling of Michigan sit-down strikes, reaffirmed its unanimous endorsement of Murphy's nomination for attorney general.

Confirmation of nomination of Harry L. Hopkins for Secretary of commerce was put off at least until next week.

Secretary Hull, a witness before a senate committee, was invited to draft legislation to investigate "tariff lobbyists" he said were swarming in Washington. He accepted.

The United States, in a note, declined to recognize Germany's right to treat American Jews in Germany differently from other American citizens. Germany declared there was no international law to prevent her doing so.

Pennant Forecast Offered By Manush

Sarasota, Fla., Jan. 13 (AP)—Heinie Manush joined the throng out on the limb today with a prediction the 1939 National League pennant fight would be between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the no-longer lowly Cincinnati Reds.

And he also said it would be "the Yanks again" in the American, a forecast a big portion of the baseball world no longer considers qualification for a place on the limb.

Manush listed three reasons why the Pirates should be better this year: Rizzo, Handley and Paul Waner.

"Rizzo should have a mighty good year in hitting, Leo Handley, third baseman, is much better and Paul Waner should get out of the rut that caused his batting slump last season," he said.

GREAT LAKES VITAL SEAWAY

Transportation of Grain and Ore Dependant On Use of Waters

Through the facilitation of the movement of ore and grain alone, the transportation facilities of the Great Lakes are of almost incalculable importance to the existence of the United States.

This statement was made by Herbert E. Dougall, associate professor of finance and transportation, School of Commerce, Northwestern university, in an address on "The Economics of Great Lakes Transportation" before the Great Lakes River and Harbor Development conference at the Palmer House. The meeting was called jointly by the Chicago Association of Commerce and the River and Harbor Improvement Association of Cleveland to focus public attention on the necessity for continued maintenance and improvement of Great Lakes River and Harbor facilities as factors vital to national economy and national security.

Professor Dougall, speaking before representatives of many social and economic interests in the Great Lakes area, pointed out that the great body of Lake Superior—eighty-three percent of the ore mined in the United States—is almost entirely shipped by special carriers over the water route to lower lake points; and that the grain products of the area which produces thirty-two percent of the world's supply move to the East at extremely low rates by special lake boats.

Regulations Are Few

"The economy of lake transportation is clearly illustrated," Professor Dougall said, "in the fact that it is possible to move vast quantities of heavy traffic at an average rate of about one mill per ton-mile and that self-unloading equipment has enabled the handling of this traffic at amazing speed."

Reviewing the present scope of federal activity in the field of water transportation, he stated that, aside from the regulation of common carriers, there is little regulation except in matters of equipment, navigation and safety. However, he declared, the extent of federal investment in domestic waterways in general and in lake harbors and channels in particular down to the present time—a total of more than two billion dollars including maintenance expense—is an indication of the government's interest in promoting waterways development.

Warning against unsystematic allocation of federal funds for river and harbor maintenance and development, Professor Dougall stated that, because of their vital importance to the nation, such allocation should be treated with judiciousness and not in a haphazard fashion.

Six Sentenced To Terms In Prison At Marquette

Six prisoners who entered pleas of guilty upon arraignment in Delta county circuit court, were sentenced to terms in Michigan State prison at Marquette by Judge Frank A. Bell yesterday. Four were placed on probation, and one remained to be sentenced.

Miles Brophy of Nahma, who pleaded guilty when charged with breaking and entering in the daytime at the Caisse resort on Uno Lake, was sentenced to serve 2 to 5 years at Marquette.

Clifford LaFond and Rudolph Norman, charged with larceny from a fish boat at the mouth of Ford River, were sentenced to serve 9 months to 15 years at Marquette. They pleaded guilty to removing a battery, tools and a marine compass from the boat.

Edward Marcell and Vern Boyle were sentenced to serve 1 to 5 years on a charge of larceny from an automobile. They pleaded guilty to stealing two grips, with contents valued at $150, from a car belonging to James DeCock, of this city.

Lloyd Bedore, 17, of Oshkosh, Wis., was sentenced to serve 1 to 5 years on a charge of driving away an automobile belonging to Atty. T. E. Strom of Escanaba.

Two years probation was the sentence heard by Robert Kositzky, 17, of Escanaba, Rene Meyette, 24, of Hendricks, and Harold Minor, 20, before Judge Bell yesterday afternoon. Kositzky pleaded guilty to unlawfully driving away an automobile, Meyette pleaded guilty to forging a pay order, and Minor was involved in the fish boat robbery with LaFond and Norman. Meyette recently completed serving a sentence in United States prison on a charge of larceny from a store committed since the one upon which he was arraigned here. Sentenced to one year on probation was Lloyd Magnuson, who pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property.

Lawrence Willette, charged with resisting an officer, failed to appear before Judge Bell yesterday afternoon for sentence. The time when sentences were to be heard was originally set at 9 o'clock this morning, and prisoners at the jail were brought in yesterday afternoon when the program was shifted. Willette was out on bond, and could not be reached.

Charged with violation of parole, Donald Bellisle is to come before Judge Bell during the current session of circuit court. He was placed on parole after pleading guilty to a charge of breaking and entering, and since that time was arrested and convicted on a charge of theft at Menominee. He was brought here when court convened last Monday by Sheriff Edward Reindl of Menominee county.

Subpoenas were served yesterday ordering the appearance of witnesses in the sanity hearing of Alfred Riguel, 51, of Soo Hill, who was found not guilty by reason of insanity when tried on an arson charge early this week. Among those to testify are Mrs. A. J. Carlson, William LeMire and John J. Walsh, Mrs. Josephine Mattson, Wallace Kemp, Prosecuting Attorney William J. Miller and Defense Attorney Alger W. Strom. The hearing is scheduled for 10 o'clock Monday morning.

audience and then presented it to Chamberlain in a white silk cover. Its contents probably will not be disclosed, these informants said adding, however, that it was "a first rate, humanitarian and Christian statement straight from the shoulder."

The aged pontiff seemed well pleased with the visit, and later took a ride in the Vatican gardens.

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Berlin, Jan. 13 (AP)—Germany's push to the east received fresh impetus today from Hungary's decision to join the anti-Comintern pact, in which Germany, Italy and Japan are linked.

An official announcement said that Count Stephen Cseky, Hungarian foreign minister, had accepted the invitation of the German, Italian and Japanese ministers to Budapest to join their common front against the Communist International.

The pact binds its signatories to keep each other informed on international Communist activities and to act jointly on "necessary defense measures."

Influence Widened
Moreover, the Rome-Berlin axis, the Italian-German working agreement, gained in Hungary more formidable support following the expansion of Germany's influence in Czechoslovakia after the latter's dismemberment.

In other words, the influence of the axis reaches from the Baltic to the Mediterranean and from central Europe to the gateways to Ukrainian wheat and Rumanian oil.

Emphasis was laid in official German circles on the importance of Hungary as a bulwark against Bolshevism. It was pointed out that Hungary, having experienced the terrors of the Bela Kun Communist regime in 1919, may be counted upon to support any movement for stamping out Bolshevism.

In this connection, Hitler's reported advice to Premier Mussolini of Italy to forego force for a year in seeking a Mediterranean settlement, although not confirmed officially, assumed added significance.

It is a matter of general knowledge in informed circles that Germany is anxious to help avert a Mediterranean conflict, at least at this time.

Rumania On Spot
Hitler was represented by men who may be considered to know his feelings as convinced that a concerted attack by Germany, Poland and possibly Rumania upon the Ukraine would give a death blow to the Soviet Union and the regime of Joseph Stalin.

Colonel Joseph Beck, Polish foreign minister, apparently is not ready to give Hitler unqualified assurances of support, but the fact that Hungary, Poland's special friend, is joining the anti-Comintern pact may make Beck more will to join Germany. Hungary's adherence to the pact also may have far-reaching effects on Rumania. King Carol II has been under heavy pressure from Germany to come more closely into Berlin's economic orbit. Apparently he has preferred to keep his country as independent as possible, but Transylvania, which has a large Hungarian-German population, is something which the monarch must watch carefully.

Conceivably, if Rumania should insist upon remaining aloof and if the drive toward the east should continue nevertheless, Hungary might be rewarded by the axis powers by their support of Hungarian aspirations in Transylvania which Rumania gained from Austria-Hungary after the World war.

HOUSE SLICES RELIEF FUNDS 150 MILLIONS

lief were approved. One by representative Cole (R-Ny), forbade the use for political purposes of any of the money appropriated, the second, by Representative Voorhis (D-Calif.), would forbid payments to any WPA supervisor who sought to influence the votes of WPA workers.

No Civil Service
The appropriation goes next to the senate, where it faces an uncertain situation. As in the house, the Republicans and Conservative Democrats there are up in arms against the spending program.

Six Democrats and 10 Republicans voted against the bill as it passed. The Republicans included Crawford of Michigan.

The bill as it passed the house contains a provision preventing the administration from going through with an executive order blanketing WPA administrative employees into the civil service. The provision prohibits the use of WPA funds to pay employees so blanketed.

The chairman of the house civil service committee, Rep. Ramapoek (D-Ga.), tried to lift the ban but his amendment was shouted down after Roy Dirksen (R-Ill.) told the house its adoption would "freeze" the appointments of many WPA officials in Kentucky and Tennessee who, he said, had been "indicted" for political activity by the senate campaign expenditures committee.

HOW THEY VOTED
Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—Here is the Michigan roll call vote in the house passage of the $725,000,000 relief bill tonight:

Democrats for—Dingell, Hook, Lesinski, Rabaut, Tenerowicz.

Republicans for—Blackney, Bradley, Engel, Hoffman, McLeod, Mapes, Michener, Shafer, Wolcott, Woodruff.

Democrats against—None.

Republicans against—Crawford.

MANY LOSE JOBS
Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—The United States Conference of Mayors has estimated the $725,000,000 WPA deficiency appropriation approved by the house today would mean that 1,151,300 WPA workers would lose their jobs by June 30.

The figures of the conference, placed in the Congressional Record by Representative Marcan-tonio (AL-NY) during debate on the relief bill, showed that the reduction by states would include: Michigan—From 145,000 as of Dec. 31, 1938, to 91,900 on Jan. 30, 1939.

The Skating Capital

ESCANABA will be host today and tomorrow to the skating champions of Michigan and Wisconsin, who have come here to compete in the Bay de Noc open speed skating meet.

Last year winners in the various divisions of the Michigan and Wisconsin state meets, respectively, have come here to race for the trophies that have been put up for the Bay de Noc open. The entry list gives recognition to Escanaba as a speed skating center never before attained.

Much credit for the recent revival of speed skating in Escanaba is due to the small group of skaters, who fostered the formation of the Bay de Noc Skating association. This association now has the cooperation of the municipal department of recreation and hundreds of winter sports enthusiasts, who are assisting in various ways to make the Escanaba meet one of the best in the country.

The visitors are going to furnish stiff competition for the Escanaba skaters, but that is just what is needed to make a successful meet. We hope the Wisconsin and Lower Michigan boys and girls enjoy themselves while here, and that they will have many good words to say for this community after they return to their homes.

The 'American Way'

EVERYBODY has his two cents worth to offer about the way to combat foreign "isms" in America. Usually the two cents worth is laid on the counter and promptly forgotten.

Things are working out differently up in Manitowoc, Wis. There someone decided that the way to overcome un-American ideas is to promote American ideas. The townspeople got behind the idea, and the result may prove one of the most significant better-citizenship movements in modern American history.

It started simply enough. Dr. R. J. Colbert of the University of Wisconsin suggested to a local adult class in municipal administration that a Citizenship Day might well be held. A committee was appointed to look into it. It drew up a sensible and appealing plan.

Under this plan, next May 21 will be celebrated in Manitowoc as Citizenship Day. On that day all of the young people who have just reached the age of 21—there are about 1200 of them—will be formally welcomed to their new status as full-fledged voting citizens; and the occasion will be used by the rest of the people of Manitowoc to reaffirm their own faith in America and American democracy.

But Citizenship Day will only be the climax of a continuing campaign. The young people of Manitowoc county who will have reached 21 by next May are being organized in each of the county's 38 voting precincts. Between now and May, each of these groups will hold at least three major meetings, at which they will be addressed by educators, jurists and public officials. They will hold many group discussions to discuss both the philosophy of democracy and the practical workings of it in ward, city, county, state and national politics.

So by the time Citizenship Day rolls around, the 1200 youngsters will have a pretty thorough grounding in what the American form of government means, both in theory and in practice. They will understand what democracy is all about; presumably they will have seen enough of its workaday mechanics to begin their careers as adult citizens with their eyes wide open. Familiar with its ideals, they will also be familiar with its necessities—and so will escape the disillusionment that settles on so many citizens once they realize that politicians are not really knights on white chargers after all.

All of which adds up to a first-rate idea—one which, judging by the inquiries the Manitowoc people have received, is going to be widely copied in other cities, and which fully deserves to be copied.

An intelligent and fully-informed electorate is our first line of defense in the fight to save the American way of life. It is more than that, in fact—it is just about the only defense we need. If our "new citizens" each year could get a thorough grounding in the essential facts about our democracy, plus an intelligent understanding and appreciation of the ideals on which those facts rest, there would presently be little need to worry about the danger of any foreign "isms" getting a foothold here.

A Danger Spot

STATISTICS disclose that Stephenson avenue is having more than its share of the traffic accidents that have occurred in Escanaba over a period of years. The pedestrian toll has been unusually heavy.

In the three blocks on Stephenson avenue between Ludington street and Third Avenue North, there is considerable vehicular and pedestrian traffic, but the thoroughfare is not as well lighted as Ludington street.

Better lighting undoubtedly would help motorists in dodging some pedestrians, who carelessly cross the streets without looking to see whether cars are coming or going. The city administration has been considering the problem of better lighting in the business district through the installation of modern equipment. When it finds itself in a financial position to do this it might be advisable to extend the service to Stephenson avenue as a safety measure.

Ferry Traffic Drops

ONE of the unfailing barometers of the trend of the tourist business in the Upper Peninsula is the record of ferry traffic over the Straits of Mackinac.

For 1938 the record was not so encouraging. The state highway department reports that the ferries carried 433,322 passengers last year, a decrease of 7.4 per cent as compared with the 1937 figure.

But travel was down in every part of the United States because of the general decline in business. After all, the tourist business is always pretty much depend upon general conditions in the country.

It has become highly competitive, however, as each state, region or community carries on extensive advertising and publicity campaigns to attract visitors to their respective areas. The Upper Peninsula, therefore, should not relax in its efforts to develop the tourist business just because the volume of traffic was off during the past "recession" year. If we are ever to get anywhere, we must keep everlastingly at it, continuing with our promotional efforts as in the past, and increasing them if need be.

Quality Standard Needed

ONE of the rules of successful marketing is that first you must have a good product before embarking on an advertising campaign.

Fred P. Hibst, general manager of the Michigan Potato Growers Exchange at Cadillac, subscribes to this idea when he outlines his views on Michigan's approach to the problem of meeting potato marketing competition from Maine.

"Michigan farmers can produce as fine potatoes as can be grown any place, any time," Hibst declares. "The biggest difficulty with Michigan potatoes is that they continue to reach the market in a poorly graded condition, sometimes in unattractive packages and often are dumped on the market by fly-by-night truckers, who have no thought of the potato industry other than to make as much money out of it as possible in the shortest space of time."

Mr. Hibst urges that Michigan growers to start at once on a concerted effort to bring up the quality of potatoes that are marketed and then lay plans for advertising them in the manner that is being done by Maine and Idaho. Governor Fitzgerald has proposed to the legislature that $25,000 be appropriated for advertising agricultural products. If the legislature carries out this recommendation, Michigan potato growers will have funds available for advertising their product. But advertising will not do any good if the potatoes are not better in quality and packaging than the Maine and Idaho tubers.

THE TOM MOONEY CASE (Milwaukee Journal)

Gov. Olson of California did the thing to which he was committed, and one of the things the people had elected him to do, in pardoning Tom Mooney. A pardon for Mooney had been a part of his platform and he had stressed it in his campaign. The people, who had in effect in other campaigns voted the other way, for governors who refused to free Mooney, had now become tired and confused about the whole Mooney business. They decided that it was no longer desirable to keep Mooney in prison.

So the pardon comes as a proper American procedure and as such it is unassailable. But that does not mean that Gov. Olson knew any more than anyone else whether Mooney was guilty or innocent. Nobody knows except Mooney and possibly his associates. For this had become one of those confused issues, like the Sacco-Vanzetti case, which judicial and executive hearing could not penetrate.

Mooney was convicted on what appeared to be credible evidence. Later it was charged that part of this testimony was manufactured. But the evidence to discredit part of the evidence of the trial record also bore just as many signs of being manufactured. There were confessions by witnesses and then repudiation of confessions. It was a maze.

Under the circumstances, the best thing for the people of California to do was to let Tom Mooney go. But Gov. Olson did not need to father a fantastic story about Mexicans having bombed the preparedness parade of 1916 in order to justify it. And he did not need to create the impression that Mooney is now proven innocent, for he is not. All the governor needed to do was to rely on the people's decision.

To have done it wisely, that way, would have been to minimize what has been the worst feature of the whole Mooney business—the class struggle that has been injected into it, and the propaganda. Thousands on thousands have been raised to propagandize for Mooney, by people who did not and could not know whether he was innocent or guilty. And the Mooney case has been used to stir up strife on the west coast. Mooney in prison even denounced the American Federation of Labor because it did not join the propagandizing and agitating that he had been fathering all his life.

No doubt class bitterness entered into the original trial against him, whether he was innocent or guilty. The lines were sharply drawn on the west coast. But Mooney had helped to draw them. He had been an agitator and a preacher for violent class struggle all his life. And his first words after his pardon show that he still is. If he was innocent, he was the victim of the very class hatred he helped to

The news early in January that Franco's troops had captured the small Spanish town of Artea halted traffic a hundred miles away, because Artea was key to a mountain gateway from France into Loyalist Spain.

Two mountain-climbing highways link the crossroads town of Artea to an elaborate road and rail network on the French side of the Pyrenees, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. News reports describe a heavy traffic in supplies now moving over routes that formerly brought vacationists to highland summer resorts and to isolated mountain valleys still quaint with remnants of feudalism.

In addition, the bulletin continues, Artea's highways connect with Pyrenees bridle path through keyhole gorges and hidden passes that have encouraged smuggling for centuries.

—ARCH MARKS HIGHWAY—

Barcelona, on Spain's northeast coast, is the hub of a half-wheel of land transport lines radiating through Catalonia and into France just a hundred miles to the north. Spoke after spoke has been broken off by insurgent advances, progressing clockwise from the southwest.

Rebel troops in the Ebro valley earlier in the war chopped off the southern railroad trunkline to Zaragoza and Madrid, which follows the Ebro valley up to Zaragoza after skirting the seashore south from Barcelona to Tarragona. The fluted columns of a 1800-year-old arch recall that this route was the Via Maxima when Spain was a mere colony under Roman Caesars.

The northern rail line from Barcelona to Zaragoza was later severed with the fall of Lerida, halfway between the two. Lerida's loss also put a dead-end sign on the main motor highway from Barcelona to Madrid. Of Artea's road connections, one winds down from the French frontier town of Fos, and the other descends southwestwardly from the independent state of Andorra.

What roads into Barcelona remain unblocked by the barricades of steel which insurgents are extending around the present Loyalist capital? Three roads and three railroads in roughly parallel pairs trisection the mountainous northeast between Artea and the coast. Two pairs make direct connections with the French border.

Natural barriers of ranges with 9,000-foot peaks fortify the region. The small town of Berga, on the westernmost of these three routes, was the last stronghold in the country to surrender during the Carlist uprising a century ago. Girona on the eastern route in 1809 defied besiegers for seven months; the small garrison was aided by the town's women, who enlisted themselves in a little squadron named for St. Barbara, patron saint of artillery warfare.

Crumbling watch towers, forts blocking mountain defiles, fortified churches dating from the Dark Ages, Roman ruins, chateaux surviving from the days of knights in armor mark today how desperately the French-Spanish balance of power once teetered up and down the mountain slopes now bearing traffic to Barcelona.

Charlemagne labored across the high passes of the Pyrenees to take Catalonia away from Spain in the 780's A. D. The region was twice again, in the 17th century, coupled to France by those same bands of road.

Busiest trade artery is the railroad from France that curves around the eastern end of the Pyrenees along the coast to cross the border into Spain at Port Bou. The central of the three routes by which traffic still moves into Barcelona crosses the crest of the Pyrenees, entering Spain over the international bridge between Puigcerda and Bourg-Madame. The third railroad is a small line running up the Llodregat valley, via Manresa, to the foot of the Sierra del Cadl.

stir up. He associated with those who preached violence and now perhaps the violence of the law was against him. Apparently he has not learned in his 22 years in prison that violence is not the way.

Perhaps America has learned something from the Mooney case. There is a lesson in it for this country. Class hatred and violence should have no place in a democracy. It serves only to defeat democracy and perhaps even to defeat justice.

We are glad Tom Mooney is free because in a case of such uncertainty a man should be given the benefit of the doubt. But the fewer Tom Mooneys we have in this country, the better.

Black Shirts, Christian American Crusaders, American Defenders, Knights of the White Camella, American Vigilante Intelligence Assn., Christian Democratic Corp., Association of American Gentiles, Association of Leagues, Christian American Patriots, Christian Campaign Committee, Friends of New Germany, German-American Economic Alliance, Defenders of American Liberty—

Just a few of the names of organizations, placed in the record of Rep Dies' Committee Investigating Un-American Activities.

It isn't exactly clear to us why—these various names, together with bundles of organization documents, were placed in the record. But the sheer bulk of the evidence seems to give it a characteristically American, rather than un-American twist.

Where else on the globe will you find such ingenuity in concocting resounding titles? Where else such resourcefulness on the part of ambitious fellows who shun the more irksome ways of making a living but go out and hustle up dues-paying members to contribute to their salaries as executive secretaries? And where else such initiative and enterprise in designing emblems and uniforms to peddle to aforesaid members—at two prices?

New York—Today, to the eye, she is a typical, buxom, dark-skinned southern mammy of the ads and story-books.

And few of the playgoers who currently are applauding the performance of Georgette U. Harvey as the shuffling, aged Mamba of the play, "Mamba's Daughters," know that for 12 years, in her vanished youth, she was a cabaret entertainer in pre-Soviet St. Petersburg, a favorite of royalty and an intimate of the Mad Monk, Rasputin.

She was in her dressing room, cocoa-brown, amiable and all smiles, when we went back. We got into the matter-at-hand. A Harlem belle in Czarist Russia?

"I'm not from Harlem," said the smiling negress. "My home's St. Louis, birthplace of the 'blues'. And this is how it all happened: Ernest Hogan—he and Bert Williams were the greatest comedians my race ever produced—suggested to me one day, when I was much younger, that I ought to be on the stage. So he went out and fetched me a part in a show called 'Rutus and Rastus.' That show had fine voices and mine wasn't so bad. So I formed a female quartette, by the way, in this country.

And before I knew much about the show business, an agent asked us if we wanted to play in Europe for six months. Europe! We grabbed the chance. Went to England, France, Germany and we planned to stay in St. Petersburg a couple of weeks."

"Hung Around" for 12 Years She planned to give Russia a fortnight's glimpse and remained twelve years. At a night club (the Aquarium it was called) favorites of Czar Nicholas' court declared her a unique personality and urged her to hang around a while.

After hanging around a few years, she moved into a gilt oasis known as the Villa Rode and there the Mad Monk made his frequent visits. He patronized the club regularly, sometimes brought his own party and locked the doors of the place for days at a time.

And the fabulous Miss Harvey also recalls that Rasputin made an awful racket while eating his borscht, that he was the kind of stew who got up to dance on one foot, but that he had the most hypnotic eyes—the same eyes that had mesmerized the Czarina—she had never seen.

This St. Louis woman was well-to-do when the Revolution broke out, but being the favorite entertainer of the aristocrats did not endear her to her rebels. A fugitive from the Leningrad reds, she landed back in America in 1921, at the height of jazz. She didn't know much about it, but there was a show called "Strut With Lizzie" in the offing and she got a job in it.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—In 1881, while en route to see his son graduate from college, President James A. Garfield was assassinated by a disgruntled office seeker. Eighteen months later (January 16, 1883) the first civil service act was passed.

For nearly 100 years prior to this, Congress had stubbornly resisted efforts to curb its insatiable appetite for pap and patronage. Only the martyrdom of a President finally moved it to act. From that date there has been steady progress in curtailing the spoils system.

Under President Taft the inroad was made on the giant postal service, always a lush source of political booty, by putting fourth-class postmasters on a merit basis. Last year this particular job was finished when Congress enacted the Ranspeck-O'Mahoney bill extending the civil service system to all postmasters.

This was followed several months later by a White House executive order blanket into civil service all government employees not specifically exempted by Congress. When this order becomes effective on February 1 over 625,000 federal workers will be under the merit system.

But while the legislative and executive branches of government have slowly denuded the spoils counter, the Civil Service Commission, created to administer the reforms, has sunk deeper and deeper into the mire of bureaucracy until today it is one of the most barnacle-ridden and inefficient agencies in the U. S. Government.

Unless reorganized, it will kill the very reform which it seeks to protect. So strong is the disgust with it that last year both the House and Senate, in separate votes, approved the provision in the later defeated government reorganization bill to house-clean the Commission from top to bottom.

BEHIND THE SCENES

By John T. Flynn

Commissioner W. O. Douglas has gotten around to an old and irritating subject—the corporation director. He thinks they ought to be paid. Certainly something ought to be done with them.

The best board of directors—for the corporation itself—was the board of the Standard Oil Company in John D.'s day and for some time thereafter. Perhaps it is still true. Every director was the head of some important activity of the company. They met every day and actually ran the company. John D. himself was never a director of any other company save the U. S. Steel for a while.

Now a man may be a director of a dozen, 20, 50 companies. Of course he is not a director since he does not direct. He cannot possibly know what is going on in the company. And in the end, in most cases, he is not supposed to.

That's not why he is a director. He is representing some outside interest that is exploiting the corporation or he is there for the inside information he can get or he is representing some inside interest that is exploiting the corporation. Of course this is not true of all directors or all corporations. But it is true of a majority of them.

TWO GROUPS MAY SOLVE PROBLEM

Corporation managers, officials and directors make far more money out of the inside dope of the opportunities for cutting in on exploitive adventures than they make out of their salaries. That ought to be stopped.

I once suggested that there should be two boards. One should be a board which actually runs the corporation and has complete control over its buying, selling, administrative problems. It should be composed entirely of the executives of the corporation with representatives of labor on it.

There should be another board named entirely by the stockholders and composed only of men who are actually owners of large amounts of stock, so that they have an interest in the corporation's health. That board should be an auditing, supervisory, scrutinizing, question-asking board.

Having made this suggestion, I was surprised to receive letters from two corporation executives, one of them a plan had been installed in their corporations for some years and had worked well.

LIMIT DIRECTORS TO FEW BOARDS

It is worth considering. Under such circumstances management and labor would be represented by the operative board and the stockholders would be represented by the supervising board. All that would be needed would be a prohibition against one man being on more than two or three such boards.

As for the public, any notion that the public can look for protection from the boards is ridiculous. The public must look out for itself through consumer organizations and public agencies such as the Federal Trade Commission, the S. E. C. and the like.

But none of these proposals will do very much good until the corporation laws themselves have been overhauled to get out of them the various sawed-off shotguns, blackjacks and other gadgets used to hold up the public and the stockholders.

Yesterday Mr. Bryant, Janet's attorney, calls her asking that she come to see him since there are some very important matters to discuss!

CHAPTER VI

When Janet carried her bills up to her own room, she was shocked and incredulous to find out how much she had spent during the past month.

There were several considerable items that Cynthia had charged to her account. On previous occasions Cynthia had charged things to her, and Aunt Mary had paid for them as a matter of course. . . . But I can't give the bills to Aunt Mary this time, Janet thought. Not after this afternoon.

The whole thing came to considerably more than her balance at the bank. Her dressmaker's bills were still to come; and as from the fact that she would need a great deal of ready money during the next few days, there was, Lance had told her, an immediate payment due upon the house.

She must make sure, when she talked to Mr. Bryant tomorrow, to arrange for those payments. And perhaps, after all, there might be enough margin to take care of the difference between the rent on this apartment and that of the smaller one Aunt Mary talked of taking at the Avalon.

Janet had just thrown the last envelope into the wastebasket when Aunt Mary opened the door. "Janet Dwight!" she cried, sweeping down upon her niece with all the indignation authority of her five feet two. "Do you mean to tell me that you haven't taken off those wet things yet? Get them off this minute, and yourself into a hot tub of water. After that, you're going to bed."

"But, Aunt Mary," Janet protested, "I'm not ready to go to bed. Besides, I want my dinner. This business of rushing around getting ready to be married burns up the calories."

"I did not ask you whether or not you were ready," Aunt Mary placidly folded hands which, not so many years ago, had so capably wielded a switch. When Aunt Mary spoke in that tone, Janet almost forgot for the moment that the switch was not still at hand. "Margy will bring you a tray in due time."

So Janet soaked in fragrant warm suds for a luxurious half hour; then she slipped into a soft green negligee, and after the hot soup, omelet, and salad which Margy brought her, snuggled on her bed lamp and stretched out with a new book.

It really was blissful to have an idle evening alone after the last few weeks' mad round of fitting and showers and late parties. She had read a chapter or two when a knock sounded at her door, and Cynthia slipped into the room. It was worthy of note that Cynthia had bothered to knock at all; but it was not that which made Janet put down her book and give her undivided attention to her cousin.

There was in Cynthia's manner as she poised there, a slim, black-gowned silhouette leaning against the creamy panel of the door, a strange, almost breathless excitement. It dilated the pupils of her violet eyes, and lent a new transparency to the pallor of her skin against the dark cloud of hair that hung to her shoulders.

She was wearing a black dinner frock with a long full skirt that rippled about her slender figure in lustrous folds. The slim tight basque had silver buttons up the front and slashes of silver at the wrists. It was a dress which Janet did not recognize.

Synthia's eyes followed her own as they swept over it.

"No, you've never seen it before," Cynthia said. "I'm sorry about it, Jan. I should have asked you first; but after I'd seen it, I just couldn't risk having somebody beat me to it."

"It does suit you marvellously," Jan said.

"Of course you know I shouldn't have bought it if I'd known—about Aunt Mary's money. I tried to return it today, but the store had made a lot of alterations on it."

"It would have been a pity to send it back. It does things for you, Cyn. It makes you look like a princess out of a story book."

"I know it's a knock-out. That's why I'm wearing it tonight. I have an idea"—Cynthia went even paler and broke off on a caught breath—"I have an idea I'm going to make it pay for itself."

Janet exclaimed, "Cynthia—but you can't mean that you're going to sell it?"

"Sell it?" Cynthia's smile twisted a little. "Perhaps that's not such a bad way to put it. . . . But not in the way you mean, Jan."

Jan opened her lips to ask, "Cynthia, what on earth are you talking about?" Then her memory echoed Aunt Mary's words of the afternoon. "Just as much as Cynthia usually means when she's feeling dramatic," and she laughed softly.

"Well, have yourself a good time," she said. "And, Cyn, don't worry about the dress. We just won't tell Aunt Mary."

She took up her book again. But Cynthia lingered, her glance bent as if in complete concentration upon her expertly maneuvered left hand. In a moment she said in a low tone, without lifting her eyes, "You're a swell kid, Jan. You've got something not many people have. . . . Aunt Mary has it, too. Something—oh, I don't know how to say it—like a clear, steady light that never goes out."

When she broke off again, Janet laughed in quick embarrassment. All this was so utterly unlike the cool, amused Cynthia she knew.

"Good Lord, Cyn!" she said. "If you need taxi fare or something why don't you say so without all the floral offerings? You know you're—"

"Don't!" Cynthia cried sharply lifting her head. "I was—trying to tell you something, Jan. Now I can't. . . . I—well, good night, Jan."

Abruptly she turned and whirled out of the room. Janet, touched and contrite, tried to call her back; but Cynthia had flashed down the hall and out of the door before she could find her bedroom slippers.

She wished she had thought to ask where Cyn was going for dinner. From her cousin's words at the telephone that afternoon, she had guessed it was somewhere with Barney McKnight. . . . Well, when Cyn came home, she would slip into her room and have a long talk with her—only by that time, no doubt, Cynthia would have put on another of her chameleon phases, and would resent any reference to this evening's strange mood.

Janet took up her book again. Later, she was drowsily conscious that some one was turning off her bed lamp, shutting off the steam, raising a window, and shaking out the warm coverlet that lay on the foot of the bed—just conscious enough to murmur, "Thanks a lot," without opening her eyes, before she snuggled more comfortably into her pillow and dropped off again.

She started awake to the clang of the telephone on her bed table. At first, confusion struggled with annoyance as she rolled over and caught up the instrument, her only thought to stifle the noisy bell. Then her annoyance fled. Of course!

How like Lance to think he must say "Good night!" to her after his party, no matter how late it was!

But it wasn't Lance who was calling.

Coal Helped Van Zandt Win Seat In Congress

BY BRUCE CATTON NEA Service Staff Correspondent Washington—Last fall James E. Van Zandt went traveling around central Pennsylvania with a big lump of coal in his fist. As a result, today he is congressman from the 23rd Pennsylvania district.

James E. Van Zandt, above, got to be a congressman from Pennsylvania largely because of chunks of coal like those in his hands, below.

COAL WAR CAMPAIGN FUEL

So Mr. Van Zandt went out and bought himself a ton of Russian anthracite coal. He selected a handsome chunk of it and went campaigning. Holding the coal aloft, he reminded all and sundry that this coal, mined in Russia by miners who worked for 18 cents a day, had been brought all the way across the ocean, admitted to the United States duty free, and put on the market at a price $1.50 below the going rate for Pennsylvania coal.

Today Mr. Van Zandt is in Congress. A Republican, he carried his district by a three-to-two majority over Don Gingers, Democrat.

Coal is one big concern in the new congressman's career. The railroad problem is another. For if his district contains coal mines it also contains railroads, and Mr. Van Zandt has been an employee of the Pennsylvania railroad ever since 1916, when he went to work as an apprentice molder at the Altoona shops. He is now, by the way, a special representative of the passenger traffic department.

"One of Congress's big jobs," he says, "is to relieve the railroads of the web of taxation and regulation which has them entangled."

AND THIRDLY—There is a third back-home worry on Mr. Van Zandt's list—agriculture. For if one of his counties is a mining county, and another is a railroad county, the third is a farming county.

"The administration's farm program just is not accepted by the farmers—not by the farmers of central Pennsylvania, anyhow," he says. "The average Pennsylvania farmer will tell you that it doesn't make good sense to import wheat, rye, corn, pork and beef while our government encourages a reduction in the domestic production of such things."

But here was Mr. Van Zandt, who became famous as head of a great veterans' organization, talking about coal and railroads and farmers. You'd expect him to be hipped chiefly on national defense. How, for instance, about Mr. Roosevelt's plea for a stronger defense layout?

WANTS PROFITS OUT OF WAR "Well," said Mr. Van Zandt, grinning. "Mr. Roosevelt was right about one thing. He said we're wiser and tougher than we used to be. We're wiser, because of some of the things we've been through under Mr. Roosevelt. And we're tougher, too."

"I'm for an adequate defense, of course. But I also want to see the profits taken out of war."

"You know, I represent 355,000 people in my district. It's only natural that I'd follow my leanings of the last few years and be interested deeply in this defense

Character Reading From The Hands

Palmistry is an interesting study because it has all the charm of exploration and discovery. If you have never observed the hands of your friends see how much you can learn of character and temperament from them. Next to the face, the human hand is the most expressive and revealing thing in the world. The booklet, Fortune Telling, with explanations and diagrams, tells you how to study character from the hands—the meaning of the square hand, of long fingers, shape of finger nails, and the mounts or flesh cushions at the base of the fingers. Just the help you need in perfecting yourself in the fascinating art of palm reading. Ten cents, postpaid.

question—but after all I'm here to represent those 355,000 people, not just one party, organization or group."

Mr. Van Zandt doesn't propose to be just a war veterans' congressman. His first worry is those 355,000 Pennsylvanians—and the coal, the railroads and the farmers.

Michigan In Washington

So far, the appointment of former Governor Frank Murphy to the Attorney Generalship has stirred up little fire in the Senate. Even Senator Bridges' remarks were mild. The subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary committee also has approved Murphy without a struggle. The full committee may ask to hear the story of the sit-down strikes in Michigan, which Murphy professes he will be glad to tell.

In the House, which does not vote on the confirmation, Clarence E. Hoffman of Allegan, this week. The irrepressible, unpredictable Arch-enemy of the C. I. O. and Murphy, really put on a show.

Word has been whispered around that Hoffman 'was going to shoot the works on Murphy' and the House was well filled, because the boys know that when Hoffman is aroused he is apt to say anything. When interrupted he lashes out in merciless retort.

Majority Leader Rayburn attempted to rush to Murphy's defense as Hoffman warmed up to his subject in a bold accusation of neglect of duty in not calling out the National Guard against the sit-downs. Unfortunately for the Democrats, Rayburn was not well-informed on the Michigan labor situation and asked a not-smart question. He asked Hoffman if he had any proof that Murphy did not enforce any order of a court. Hoffman answered that even Murphy did not deny that.

For days, Hoffman had promised he would show the weapons carried during the sit-down strikes—bludgeons, short whips, guns, knives—and he did. He brought them along in a suitcase. Perched on a wooden crate he placed them when he could grab a fierce-looking weapon and wave it to emphasize his point.

One Democrat caused a big laugh by asking Hoffman, "In what pawnshop did you buy those?" Hoffman's quick retort was—"You probably know more about pawnshops than I do. These came from the Michigan police."

 Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

CABINET PLAN IS CONSIDERED

Proposals for Revamping State Government Are Studied

Ann Arbor—If Michigan's State Administrative Board is to become the governor's "cabinet" envisioned by Governor Groesbeck when it was founded in 1921, several important changes in its organization must be made, according to Dr. George C. S. Benson, associate professor of political science and director of the Curriculum in Public Administration at the University of Michigan.

Outstanding among these changes is the addition to the Board's membership of the appointed directors of semi-independent departments. Professor Benson published in a monograph just published by the University of Michigan Press. In addition, he says, the Board's discussions should be made more deliberative and less executive.

"If Michigan administration continues to be divided between six elected department heads and a number of long-term, staggered-term commissions," Prof. Benson declares, "the Board would be well fitted for the task of coordinating the administrative policies of these semi-independent departments. . . . The directors responsible to the principal commissions, conservation, welfare, corrections, and civil service, as also the more important departmental heads under the governor, the budget director, and the director of agriculture, should also participate.

"Before such a Board might be laid any of the important problems which affect two or more administrative departments. Questions of personnel, for example, cut across all departmental lines. The budget affects every phase of administration. The cut-over areas of the state present problems of education, taxation, penology, social welfare, and conservation each of which might be more intelligently solved by one department in the light of the experience of other departments."

Our experience with the State Administrative Board, according to Professor Benson, has shown us its points of strength and its weaknesses. In the light of our present knowledge, he states, we may plan for the future, taking into consideration the great value of the Board as an organ of co-operation and deliberation and its doubtful executive value.

Other recommendations for state governmental reorganizations growing out of Prof. Benson's study are, No. 1. Publication of the board's rules and regulations so that its procedures and policies will be better and more widely known; 2. Establishment of a single-headed department of finance to co-ordinate accounting, budgeting, and purchasing; 3. Creation of a smaller legislature that can deal more quickly and efficiently with emergency situations; and 4. Development of an effective postaudit of the finances.

Gas Tax Revenues Drop 5 1/2 Per Cent

Edward G. Amos First Agriculture Agent In This County

Edward G. Amos, who was the first county agent in Schoolcraft county and who also at one time was manager of the Blaney Park resort in this county, will head a huge federal rehabilitation program in New England, it has been announced by the U. S. Forest Service.

Mr. Amos, who has been assistant regional forester at Milwaukee, has been transferred to headquarters at Boston, Massachusetts to lead the rehabilitation program made necessary by the ravaging floods in the east last fall.

The September hurricane blew down four billion feet of timber in New England, and the government is planning to buy what timber can be salvaged and store it until it can be marketed without demoralizing lumber prices.

Also called to service in the eastern flood zone is E. C. DeGraaf, former ranger in charge of the Manistique station. DeGraaf who has been stationed at Moran, in the Marquette National Forest for the past year, has been transferred to Montpelier, Vermont. He visited in Manistique this week before leaving for the east.

FARR GAME, BUT LOSES DECISION

Red Burman Is Awarded Ten-Round Bout At Madison Garden

New York, Jan. 13 (AP)—Despite a gallant showing in the late rounds by the game Tonypanddy Tommy Farr, Clarence (Red) Burman was awarded the ten-round decision over the Welsh heavyweight in the windup bout at Madison Square Garden tonight to the accompaniment of a round of boos by the crowd of 9,756. Farr scaled 201½; his Baltimore rival 183½.

In a tough, free-punching battle all the way, Burman, Jack Dempsey's heavyweight protegee, had the better of the going through the first six rounds, but was tagged by the more experienced Welshman often in Farr's rally through the closing heats.

The crowd of 9,756 booted the decision for nearly five minutes after the fight ended, and gave Farr a roaring cheer as he left the ring.

The decision went down as one of the major boxing upsets of the young year, since Burman, 13 to 5 underdog going into the ring, was rated little chance against the veteran puncher from the other side.

After a slow first round, Burman began a mauling body attack in the second and continued it with such force through the next five rounds that he piled up enough points to give him the decision through votes of Judges Patsy Haley and Eddie Forbes. Referee Pete Hartley called the fight a draw.

Joe Gould, Farr's manager announced in the dressing room later that he would ask the New York State athletic commission to reverse the verdict. The associated press score card showed Farr with a slim edge of five rounds to four, with one even.

St. Joe Gridders Get Awards; Grid Sked Is Announced

Letters were awarded to 20 St. Joseph graders at an assembly at the high school yesterday afternoon and announcement of the 1939 football schedule was made by Rev. Fr. Paschal Kerner, athletic director.

The program was featured by talks of Fr. Paschal, Dr. Fred Hira, Coach Leo Brunell, Eleanor Bourdela and Mildred Valind.

SEEK HOCKEY GAMES

Niagara, Wis. Jan. 10, 1939

Sport Editor Daily Press Escanaba, Mich.

Dear Sir—
The Niagara Junior hockey team is eager to arrange a match with a junior or industrial team in your district. Will you print a challenge for us in your newspaper?

Our team is undefeated in three years of competition and last year, at Fond du Lac, won the class A junior championship of the state.

All members of the team are under 19 years of age. We will drive to any place in your district to play, preferably on a Sunday, making the trip at our own expense. As the skating season is so limited, we would like to complete arrangements as early as possible.

Last year we had tentative arrangements with an Escanaba team—but conditions were such that we couldn't play the game. The team appears under the sponsorship of the Niagara Athletic association.

Sincerely yours,
John Le Roy Jr. Municipal Rink Supervisor.

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKBLINGER

A welcome and a congratulations come forth this morning... a hearty welcome, indeed, to about 60 visiting speed skaters from Detroit, Milwaukee, Kenosha, West Allis, Watertown, Oconomowoc, Waukesha, Delafield, Beaver Dam, Iron Mountain and other cities in Michigan and Wisconsin...

It's natural assets and a speed skating meet is a good solution... staging a meet is a lot of work but Escanaba people have shown a quick willingness to go to extra pains to do such work... none is paid in anything but personal satisfaction in a job well done... and, so, to those who are cooperating in any way, congratulations and thanks are extended.

Speaking of staging public events, we understand the Knights of Columbus are toying with the idea of trying to bring the Oak-kosh All Stars and the Harlem Globe Trotters here for a basketball game sometime soon... the idea is a fine one and we hope it can be put across... before bringing the Oak-kosh pros here last year, we toyed with the idea but couldn't get the two teams together on dates... we hope it can be done this year... it's going to cost plenty of dough to get the two teams up here but it would be worth it for it would give fans of the peninsula an opportunity to see two top notch teams meet... if you basketball fans would like to see such an attraction, by all means immediately get in touch with some members of the Kay-sees and tell him of your interest... they'd like to know if there is sufficient interest... speaking for a large number of fans, we would say there is plenty of interest in the game... but for the still larger number who would have to buy the tickets, we cannot speak... here's your chance.

Congratulations go to members of the committee and all others having anything to do with the staging of the event... in Escanaba, there is a natural setting for speed skating... the weather usually is ideal and the park rink is ideally situated for staging such a meet... it is only proper that Escanaba should make the most of

Terrible Yanks Go On Without Jake Ruppert

BY GAYLE TALBOT
New York, Jan. 13 (AP)—What- ever the details of Colonel Jacob Ruppert's will, the New York Yankees will continue on their terrible way, breaking the hearts of the opposition and winning world baseball championships for their late beloved owner.

Only a few of his most trusted lieutenants know what provision the little colonel made for the perpetuation of his vast baseball empire, yet none who knew his love of the Yankees doubts that he has arranged for their future.

"The Yankees will go on," said the club secretary, 70-year-old Ed Barrow, who built the great baseball machine with the unlimited backing of Ruppert's money. "We all have to live out our lives, like the colonel did. I promised him we would win a fourth straight world championship for him."

Property Worth 20 Million
It is taken for granted that Barrow and George Weiss, the head of the Yankees' extensive farm system, will continue to administer the property, value of which has been estimated up to $20,000,000. It is assumed the Yankees, who were the separate and distinct property of Colonel Ruppert, will become part of the fabulous Ruppert estate, now headed by the colonel's younger brother, George Ruppert.

George never has been much of a baseball fan, having confined himself to the administration of the brewery and the estate's extensive property holdings. None can remember having seen him at Yankee Stadium, so it is considered doubtful he will become active in Yankee affairs.

More likely is the assumption Col. Ruppert has established his Yankees on some sort of lasting foundation, with perhaps a regency council composed of Barrow, Weiss and his brother George.

There is little likelihood that the Yankees system ever will be offered for sale, at least so long as there remains a Ruppert to remember the old colonel's pride in his champions. There are few men with enough money to swing such a deal, anyway.

It was a source of pleasure to all who knew Colonel Ruppert and Babe Ruth to learn the once great slugger of the Yankees was called him "Babe" affectionately for the first and only time in his life. The Babe's name will ever be linked with the rise of the Yankees.

Ruth Jobsess Now
They had not been friendly in recent years, not since the Bambino, realizing his playing days were about ended, called upon the colonel at the brewery and asked him point-blank if he intended to appoint him manager of the Yankees.

"No, Mr. Ruth," Col. Ruppert replied. "Mr. McCarthy is my manager."
"Then give me my release," demanded the Babe, and stormed from the room.

Ruth has known few really happy moments since he severed his connection with Ruppert, despite the fact he saved enough of his huge salaries to make him financially independent. It was a great blow to his pride when Ruppert turned him down. His later ventures with the Boston Bees and Brooklyn were unhappy ones, and the Babe is at loose ends now, unable even to land a job broadcast-

WESTERN AGES WITH DETROIT

Secory and Dietz Will Report With Tigers At Lakeland, Fla.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 13—Baseball news broke for Western State fans this week with announcement that Frank Secory and Lloyd Dietz, former Western stars, are among 37 men ordered to the Lakeland training camp by the Detroit Tigers. They are both up from Beaumont.

Secory, also a grid star, signed with Detroit when he graduated in 1936, went to a class D farm, but was with Beaumont before the season ended. For two years he has been an outstanding outfielder there. For three seasons he has returned to Western to coach the frosh football squad.

Dietz signed with Detroit as a junior in 1935. The men played on some of Western's greatest teams. In 1934 Western won 15 of 16 games and in 1935 won 12 and lost three. Dietz lost a single game on the mound each year, to Wisconsin 3-2 and Michigan 1-0.

Secory is regarded as having a better chance to stay up than has Dietz, although the latter did some great hurling with Beaumont during the second half of the season and might make the grade.

WORK NEAR COMPLETION

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 13—Work on the concrete baseball stand of the new baseball layout at Western State Teachers College is practically completed, except for installation of seats. Within the infield sodded and the outfield all seeded down early in the fall Western will have one of the finest collegiate baseball layouts in the Midwest.

Oilers Of Escanaba Play Munising Leas

Munising, Jan. 13—Victors in eight straight games, the Munising Leas' Store, independent team will meet the H. & J. Oilers of Escanaba on the Mather high school gym floor on Saturday evening. The game will start at 8:15 EST.

The Oilers are one of the strongest teams playing in the independent leagues in Delta county. They lead the Escanaba city league with nine games won and only one lost and are tied with the Escanaba Eagles for second place in the Menominee-Delta county league with four games won and one lost. Frank's Rock crew lead the Menominee-Delta county league. The Leas' squad have defeated both the Eagles and the Frank's crew of Rock and seem to have hit a winning stride. The Oilers will probably try to "grease" the skids under the Munising five in Saturday evening's encounter. A large crowd attended the Eagles-Leas game last Saturday evening and indications are that Saturday night's encounter will be equally well attended.

LEAVE AT 5 P. M.

Members of the H. & J. Crew, who defeated the Empson's of Gladstone last night by 38-20, will leave for Munising this afternoon at 5 o'clock. Those making the trip will be Brazeau, two Ericksons, Heidenreich, Faber and Somin.

Uppbays Beat St. Joe

In Ragged Game, 16-7

Gladstone, Mich., Jan. 13.—In a slow, ragged, low scoring tilt, Gladstone high school cagers defeated St. Joseph of Escanaba by a score of 16-7 here tonight. The victory was Gladstone's third of the season.

In a preliminary, the local second defeated the visitors by 40-8. St. Joseph's offense, dormant all year, hit a new low ebb here tonight, the Parochials making only one field goal and combining it with five successful free throws to total seven points. In fact, Gladstone's offense wasn't too much better, the locals only getting five field goals. Like the Parochials, Gladstone also was weak at the free throw line, making only six of 25 shots. Both teams spent a good part of the time on the free throw line, 13 fouls being called on Gladstone and 20 on St. Joseph.

Coach Kell's cagers took a 4-0 lead in the first quarter, led 7-3 at half time and went on to win easily. Neither team made more than five points in any single period.

Escanaba Cagers Trip Maroons; Score, 20-10

Hammering consistently at a weak spot in the right side of Menominee's zone defense, Escanaba high school cagers turned in their third consecutive victory at the junior high school last night in beating the Maroons by a score of 20-10 before a small crowd.

In a thrilling preliminary, a scrappy Eskymo reserve squad, behind for more than three quarters, snapped out of it in the final period to nose out a lanky Menominee reserve crew by 24-22.

Swanson Scores
In contrast to the Escanaba-Gladstone game of Tuesday night which was slow and ragged, last night's encounter was comparatively fast and interesting in spite of the difference of the score. Early in the game the Eskymos discovered that the right side of Menominee's zone defense was vulnerable, the guard failing to cover quickly after shifting with the ball in the front court. The Eskymos took advantage of the weakness and fed Elmer Swanson.

McDonald made the winning basket.

Ice Boats To Race In Regatta Sunday Morning Off Basin

If present conditions remain, perfect ice will be waiting for the Escanaba ice boat regatta to be staged by the Escanaba Yacht club off the local yacht basin at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. The regatta was originally announced for Saturday morning, but will be held Sunday before the Bay de Noc open speed skating tournament at Ludington park rink.

Warm weather and rains of last week melted the snow which covered the bay to a depth of several inches early in the season, and now skippers of local ice craft declare that the ice is in perfect shape for fast travel.

The local craft will race on a triangular course outside Sand Island on the south shore, marked off with three one-mile legs. Sheldon Cobb has been appointed chairman of the regatta committee, and will be assisted by Dale Vinette and Ralph Benson. Judges will be John Mitchell, John Erickson and Dr. R. H. Banks.

TECHNICAL FOUL BEATS 'STIQUE

St. Ignace Captain Is Successful; Final Score Is 20-19

St. Ignace, Mich., Jan. 13.—Friday the Thirteenth and a technical foul teamed up tonight to hand Manistique high school cagers a heart breaking 20-19 defeat before a large crowd here tonight. It was the second one point defeat in a row for the Emeralds.

With the score tied, Referee Jacobs called a technical foul on Noe, Manistique forward, for delaying the game in the last 30 seconds and Capt. Bentgen made a successful toss which won the game.

After a one sided first period in which St. Ignace took a 9-1 lead, Manistique came back to play the locals on more than even terms, eating up the lead in the three remaining quarters. They appeared to be headed for victory until the fateful technical foul.

In a preliminary, the Manistique reserves won by a score of 18-10.

MINERS TRIP MATHERS 27-25

Roberts Leads Negaunee to Thrilling Win In Last Quarter

Munising, Mich., Jan. 13.—A fourth quarter uprising led by Roberts, clever center who scored 18 points during the game, enabled Coach L. W. Shadford's Negaunee high school cagers to come through with a thrilling 27-25 victory over Munising here tonight.

The game was a scorching throughout, both teams opening slowly in the first quarter when Negaunee held a 4-2 lead. Both teams slipped into high gear in the second quarter, Munising outscoring the visitors 11-10 but being behind 14-13 at half time.

Coach Bob Villemure's boys continued their good play in the third period, taking the lead by 20-19 at the three quarters post. The final period was nip and tuck with Roberts' spectacular overhead shooting turning the tide of the battle.

Although the game was comparatively clean, two players were banished on fouls, Borlace of Negaunee and Nadeau of Munising having four called on them.

Seglund was Munising's high scorer with nine points.

Boy Scout Officers' Conference Will Be Held Here Today

MORE THAN 160 ARE EXPECTED

Movement Has Expanded Under Direction of B. W. Phillips

Boy Scout officers from Alger, Delta, and Schoolcraft counties will participate in the first annual Scout Officers' conference to be held in Escanaba today, starting at 9 o'clock this morning. More than 160 persons vital to the Boy Scout work will be present at the conference.

The purpose of the conference is to give boy officers of the scouts the benefit of the training of those men who have been successful, outstanding leaders of the council having been selected to speak on various subjects. This is the first conference of its kind in the upper peninsula.

The program will start at the junior high school at 9 o'clock this morning with registration. The afternoon session will open at 1:30 o'clock and a banquet will be held at the Delta hotel at 5:30 o'clock, the meeting to close at 7 o'clock.

Since coming to Escanaba in April, 1937 and taking over the Boy Scout organization, Burnell W. Phillips, who came here from Akron, Ohio, has made the Boy Scouts of this section of the peninsula one of the most active organizations in the vicinity. From 54 registered scouts in April, 1937, the organization has expanded until on December, 1938, the registered membership was 708 Scouts, Cubs and Leaders, all paid members. The goal set for the end of 1939 is 900 registered members. Present membership is divided as follows into classes: tenderfoot, 219; second class, 104; first class 60; star 19; life 18; and eagle, two. Eagle scouts, the highest rank attainable, are Pete Reynolds, Troop 50 of the M. E. church of Gladstone. Other Eagle Scouts in the council are Norman Seymour, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 48, St. Joseph church of this city, Sherman Mollie, scoutmaster of Troop 33 at Manistiquette and Chas. Niggeman, Scoutmaster of Troop 61 at Manistiquette. At present, there are 18 registered troops, five cub packs and eight units now under organization and nearly ready for registration. They are divided into districts as follows: Escanaba district 16; Gladstone six; Manistiquette six and Munising three.

Many Attend Camp

During the past year, 126 boys took part in long time camping of a week or more and 236 had short term camping of less than one week. Boys were successful in passing 635 merit badge tests during the year.

Most of the camping trips have been to the Scout camp on Red Jack Lakes, a chain of three lakes in the Hiawatha national forest. The land is owned by the forest service but has been leased by the Boy Scouts of the Red Buck council, which was organized during the past year. Camp buildings include a barrack 112 feet long, an annex 30 feet long and medical center 30 feet long, all buildings being 30 feet wide. The camp is ideally situated amid a chain of lakes and rivers and there are numerous timber trails.

Zerbel Is President

Clarence Zerbel of this city is president of the Red Buck council, which comprises scouts in Delta, Alger and Schoolcraft counties. Vice presidents are Fred Habne of Manistiquette, J. T. Jones of Gladstone and Jack Hart of this city; commissioner, A. L. McNiel; treasurer, William Warmington; and Scout Executive, B. W. Phillips. District chairmen are Henry Cassidy of Gladstone, H. C. Webber of Munising, Fred Habne of Manistiquette and Jack Hart of this city.

Taxes On Ruppert Estate To Total About 58 Million

New York, Jan. 13 (AP)—If Col. Jacob Ruppert's taxable net estate totals $70,000,000—sources close to him estimate his gross worth at between $70,000,000 and $100,000,000—the federal and New York state governments will take all but approximately $12,000,000 of it in taxes.

An employee of the federal treasury department said tonight the United States would collect about $32,000,000 of the first $50,000,000, net, and 70 percent of all over that amount—a total of approximately $46,000,000.

The state inheritance tax laws provide, after comparatively small exemptions, for a tax of 20 percent of the amount by which the net estate exceeds $10,100,000, which would mean a tax of $11,980,000.

This would make a total federal-state tax of about $57,980,000—and leave a balance of about $12,020,000.

Hopkins And Critics Agree That Politics Is No Good In WPA

Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—Harry Hopkins joined his critics today in suggesting ways of keeping politics out of relief, only to have his confirmation as a cabinet member delayed until next week at the earliest.

Members of the senate commerce committee concluded their grilling of the lanky former relief administrator and then decided to have the record of three days hearings printed before taking a formal vote on his appointment as secretary of commerce.

Friends and critics agreed that there are enough favorable votes, both in the committee and in the senate, to assure Hopkins his new job, but Chairman Bailey (D-N.C.), said the publication of the record was a "customary formality."

Passenger Plane Falls In Flames; Five Meet Death

Miles City, Mont., Jan. 13 (AP)—L. H. Bilven, manager of the Miles City airport, said a Northwest Airlines passenger plane, westbound, fell in flames near here tonight, carrying five persons to death.

Snow was falling here at the time of the crash.

The plane made what appeared to be a normal takeoff, westbound. About two miles west of Miles City the ship burst into flames, the airport manager said, and crashed into a dry coulee in the Sunday creek bottoms.

St. Paul, Jan. 13 (AP)—Five persons were aboard the Northwest Airlines plane that crashed at Miles City, Mont., tonight, company officials here announced.

The ship was in charge of C. B. "Cash" Chamberlain, veteran pilot of Minneapolis. Co-pilot was Raymond B. Norby.

Passengers, company officials said, included H. V. Hewitt, a company employee; R. S. Zahner, of Billings, Mont., connected with the Consolidated Motor Freight Service at Billings, and Mrs. Clara Morris, wife of a Northern Pacific railway conductor at Mandan, N. D.

Sitdown Sidelights Offered By Murphy For Senate Groups

Washington, Jan. 13 (AP)—Frank Murphy, former governor of Michigan, received today for the second time the unanimous endorsement of a senate sub-committee considering his nomination as attorney general.

The committee acted after listening to the newest cabinet member discuss for an hour, at his own request, his handling of sit-down strikes in Michigan during 1937.

Previously the group had voted to recommend his confirmation without the formality of a hearing. Murphy, however, had heard that some members wished to question him about his actions during the sit-downs, and he requested an opportunity to make a statement.

"I believe that I did my duty," he told the committee.

"I have never condoned the sit-down strike or countenanced disobedience of a court order. From the very beginning of the labor trouble in Michigan, I warned the union representatives that the sit-down strike was illegal, and further, that its use would alienate public opinion."

There were few questions when Murphy finished, but in response to one inquiry by Senator Burke (D-Nebr) he put into the record a hitherto unpublished sidelight on the struggle between General Motors and the United Auto Workers in the winter of 1937.

It was a warning which Murphy said he delivered to John L. Lewis, head of the CIO, on the night before the sit-downs were settled, that he was prepared to enforce the law and restore the seized automobile plants to their owners.

For several days, he said, he had withheld sending troops to carry out a court order to evict strikers at Flint, Mich., because he believed a settlement near. Then prospects for a peaceful settlement faded.

Thereupon, he told the committee, he called Lewis into private room during strike negotiations and in the presence of a federal conciliator read to him a letter, addressed to Lewis and Homer Martin, UAW president, which he said he would make public the next day if a settlement could not be reached by that time.

"The time has come," the letter said, "for all concerned to comply fully with the decision and order of the court and take necessary steps to restore possession of the occupied plants to their rightful owners."

"As governor of the state, however, it is my constitutional duty, in accordance with my oath of office, to take care that the laws are faithfully executed. I have no alternative but to perform this duty to the best of my ability."

License Of Bayport Fish Firm Revoked

Lansing, Jan. 13 (AP)—The commercial fishing license of the Bayport Fishing company of Bayport, one of the largest commercial fishing concerns in Michigan, was revoked today by the state conservation department.

P. J. Hoffmaster, director of the conservation department wrote H. Wallace, president of the company, that the revocation was mandatory by law when a concern had been convicted of three violations of the fish laws within one year.

Hoffmaster said the company, or its agents, were convicted October 10 and 22, and November 26 of last year for such violations. He said the law prohibits use of the company's "12 or 14" boats and other equipment by any other person during the term of the suspension.

Utica Boy, Age 11, Extortion Victim At Father's Store

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Jan. 13 (AP)—A 46-year-old Utica, Mich., WPA worker was arrested today and charged with extorting money from 11-year-old William Timms, who tended his father's general store near Utica.

Assistant Prosecutor Wilbur F. Held said the boy related he had loaned a dollar to August Dubois, the man held, after his father, George Timms, had forbidden it.

Since that occurred last October, Held quoted the boy as saying, Dubois had demanded more money, threatening to tell the boy's father about the loan. When the store began losing money, the elder Timms asked deputies to investigate.

The boy told what had been happening, Held said, and later gave Dubois a marked dollar bill. Dubois then was arrested.

Justice court examination for Dubois was set for January 20.

Rotten Eggs Greet Germans In Cuba

Havana, Jan. 13 (AP)—A group described as Cuban workmen pelted goose-stepping German sailors here today with rotten oranges, decayed tomatoes and oranges. Police rounded up a number of suspects and smelled their hands in vain search for evidence of participation in the barrage.

English Actress Will Play Scarlett O'Hara

Hollywood, Jan. 13 (AP)—Selznick International Studio announced tonight that Vivien Leigh, brown-haired English actress, has been signed for the part of Scarlett O'Hara in the film version of Margaret Mitchell's best seller, "Gone With the Wind."

Leslie Howard, blond stage and screen star, has been signed for the role of Ashley Wilkes, the studio announced, and Olivia De Havilland "undoubtedly" will take the part of Melanie. Selection of Clark Gable for the role of Rhett Butler, leading male character, was announced some time ago.

The studio announced Miss Leigh's appearance in the much-discussed lead of the Civil War picture was made possible by an arrangement with Alexander Korda, British producer, whereby he relinquishes a part of his contract to permit her to make one picture a year for Selznick.

Flaming of the picture, to be made in technicolor, is to start within two weeks.

Miss Leigh, born in Darjeeling, India, in 1913, is of French and Irish descent, as was Scarlett O'Hara in Miss Mitchell's story. Educated in Europe, she appeared in numerous stage plays in England and more recently in "Fire Over England," "Storm in a Teacup," Korda Pictures, and "A Yank at Oxford," made by M-G-M in England.

GEFULTE FISH STIRS UP DOPE

Heavyweight Champ Is No Bum, So Repression Hits the Ring

BY DREW MIDDLETON

New York, Jan. 13 (AP)—Fresh from an extra serving of gefulte fish, Mushky Jackson, handyman extraordinary to Mike Jacobs and one of the fight racket's blown-in-the-bottle sores, materialized out of the ether.

"The boxing industry is in a repression," said Mushky sadly. He meant a recession, but let it go. The question is why?

"The heavyweight champion is a hell of a fighter, that's why," said Mushky so loudly a small crowd gathered, expecting a speech. "If the heavyweight champion is a bum, then you can get him a lot of fights. Louis is no bum, in fact I figure he is further from being a bum than anyone I can think of. You'd be surprised who I can think of."

"So what happens? First we got Nova. A Kid. Too young. Then we got Farr. No good. Then we got Galento. We don't know if he's good or not. Most guys he fights got calluses on their shoulders from lyn' on the canvas. But he is fat and out of shape. If Louis gets in there with him it will be another case for silk lining and silver handies."

Bees? Just a Clown

There is one ray of sunshine. Max Baer is back.

Mushky murmured an old Slavick curse, crossed his fingers and spat loudly.

"Better we should give the business back to the Indians or to Jimmy Johnston, than to have that Baer runnin' around. At that I hear there are some nice Indians, like Chief what-chu-mucall-it, the wrassler. But that Baer. He's a clown. He knocks Farr all around, but howda ya know what he'll do the next time he fights. Sometimes he's a killer. The next time he ain't got the strength or the moxie to hoit a baby."

Speaking of babies, the youngest Baer reputedly is responsible for Max's comeback.

"Once a clown, always a clown," said Mushky. "I don't care if he's got six Dionne quintuplets. He'll be foolin' and dancin' around in the ring. He gets in there and fools with that Louis and he'll land in his kid's nursery on the foist house."

He May "Advocate"

In the opinion of the erudite Mr. Jackson there didn't seem to be anyone around capable of pushing the champion, then?

"No one I can see with my bare peepers," said Mushky in a resigned tone of voice. "If we don't get someone for him he'll have to pull a King Eddie and advocate his title. The boys talk about this Young Conn from Pittsburg and Nova and some Irishman named Comiskey over in Joisey. Joe would moider them the same night."

"Ah-h," sighed Mushky. "I wish I was 20 years young, 40 pounds heavier, 'n' eight inches taller. I'd be in there makin' myself a million bucks."

"I thought a moment. 'Two million bucks. Long as I'm wishin' I don't want to be no picker. And with a sign the little man passed into the night."

Big Gambling Inn At Detroit Closes

Detroit, Jan. 13 (AP)—Chestnutfield Inn, gambling establishment in east Detroit against which an injunction was issued late today, was closed tonight.

It was not known whether the temporary restraining order for the place to halt operations had been served or whether the place was closed before an officer could serve the order of the Macomb county circuit court.

Lights in the big inn were out and newsmen who called at the door soon after the closing, at 9:45 p. m., were told:

"Closed for the night, boys. Come back in a couple of days."

BURNS FATAL

Flint (AP)—John Gildea, 70, who was carried from his burning home Thursday, died Friday of burns.

TEACHER SHOTS HIMSELF

Pontiac (AP)—Victor L. Valaske, 38, who taught school in Detroit for 18 years, died in Pontiac hospital Friday of a shotgun wound. Deputy Sheriff Clayton Sims said Valaske admitted he had shot himself. No reason was given.

GOPHERS NEXT MICHIGAN FOE

Game Tonight Will Be Toughest of Season For Wolverines

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 13 (AP)—The Michigan basketball team faces its biggest test of the season here tomorrow night when it takes the floor against unbeaten Minnesota.

After losing their opening big ten encounter to Illinois, the Wolverines tripped Northwestern but they found few supporters for their match with the Gophers.

Minnesota, with virtually the same team as last year, risks a string of 18 consecutive victories extending from last season.

Oddly enough, Michigan was the last team to defeat Minnesota before it began its winning streak, turning the trick with a 31 to 16 triumph at Minneapolis just a year ago. The Gophers defeated Michigan here later in the season.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan said his lineup would consist of center James Rae, Capt. Leo Beebe and Ed Thomas, guards, and Charley pink and either Tom Harmon or Dan Smick, forwards.

Alger County Gets Title To Pictured Rocks Region Again

Lansing, Jan. 13 (AP)—The state conservation commission today returned to Alger county the title to 27 acres of unimproved park land in the Pictured Rocks area.

P. F. Hoffmaster, director, said the county had deeded the area to the state for park purposes in 1931 but that the state had been unable financially to develop it. Now, he said, the county wants it back to improve it as a local tourist attraction. The land includes the famous "Miner's Rock" formation.

The commission set the season for beaver trapping in the Upper Peninsula from April 1 to April 15 and in the Lower Peninsula from March 15 to April 5, seven days longer than last year.

It refused to ask the legislature to close Michigan waters to winter fishing by non-residents, and dropped a clause forbidding spearing of fish through the ice from a draft of proposed amendments to the game and fish laws to be presented to the legislature.

Read Drops Aide, Kin Of Reputed Detroit Gamblers

Lansing, Jan. 13 (AP)—Attorney General Thomas Read announced today the dismissal of Maxwell Benjamin, Detroit attorney whose appointment to the attorney general's staff was announced a week ago although he had not been added to the state payroll.

"It has been brought to my attention," said Read, "that Mr. Benjamin is the stepfather of the Wertheimer boys and, inasmuch as the gambling question is prominently in the public eye, it seems inadvisable for this department to have Mr. Benjamin associated with the office."

Spartans Tackle Western Reserve

East Lansing, Jan. 13 (AP)—Western Reserve University sent its basketball team here today to permit a full-day's practice before meeting Michigan State college tomorrow night.

Coach Roy Clifford, who graduated from a Lansing high school said he wanted to familiarize his team with the Spartans' portable floor in demonstration hall. The Redcats were to drill tonight.

The Spartans had a light drill today for the first time in four days, Coach Ben F. Van Alstyne having sent them home with the charge "state" crying after them.

Cy Blanton Sends In 1939 Contract

Pittsburgh, Jan. 13 (AP)—Pitcher Cy Blanton sent his signed contract to the Pittsburgh Pirate baseball club today with a letter declaring he was "well satisfied" with his salary for 1939.

Arky Vaughan, the Pirates' shortstop, whose 322 batting record placed him fifth among the National league hitters in 1938, also returned his signed contract today.

WRESTLERS WIN

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 13 (AP)—Michigan's wrestling team opened its season with a surprising 17 to 11 victory over Indiana in a Big Ten dual meet tonight. The Hoosiers scored the only fall when Robert Antonacci pinned Andy Sawyer with a front scissor and a reserve half-Nelson in 8:13. Five matches were won by the Wolverines, Big Ten champions, on points.

ASSISTANTS NAMED

Lansing, Jan. 13 (AP)—T. Carl Holbrook of Grand Ledge and Kenneth Prettle of Hillsdale were appointed assistant attorneys general today. Holbrook, who will be assigned to the sales tax division, was an assistant in the administration of former Attorney General Harry S. Toy.

Power! Trenary Has It In Trouncing Rapid River, 70-15

Trenary, Mich., Jan. 13.—A streamlined Trenary high school basketball machine displayed a world of power here tonight in steam-rolling over a luckless Rapid River crew by a score of 70-15. The score surpassed the 67 points chalked up against Nahma last week.

Firing the ball from all angles and connecting with amazing consistency, Coach Langford Collins' boys stepped out to a 23-0 score in the first quarter and went on to run up the highest score in peninsula basketball in several years. Everyone except the waterboy was thrown into the fray and seven players made at least four points each. Latvala and Marlin, clever forwards, were leaders in the merry parade with 20 and 13 points, respectively. Latvala cashed in on eight free throws.

Referee Schram of Escanaba called 23 fouls on the locals and 19 on Rapid River. Hytinen, Kallio, Short and Groleau being banished via the foul route.
