

MADRID SURRENDER EXPECTED TODAY

DEFEAT SEEN HEADING FOR ADOLF HITLER

FUTURE IN EUROPE MAY HINGE ON MUSSOLINI

BY JOHN EVANS General Foreign Editor of the Associated Press. Adolf Hitler has triumphed again, but a slowly forming "halt Hitler" group of nations thinks his victory will evolve into ultimate defeat.

Benito Mussolini, Il Duce of Italy, very likely may determine the future. He is the other end of the "Rome-Berlin axis" and what he may say tomorrow (Sunday) morning in Rome can make history.

If Mussolini peacefully settles with France, he may swing away from Germany eventually and help Europe maintain peace. If France tries to drive a hard bargain, Hitler may help Italy fight for her share of what the allies got from the Great War.

Striving Up Fear All Europe talks of war, but there are many reasons why there may be no war. Hitler is pictured as an aggressor in British and French parliaments, but his Nazi supporters reply that he seeks only what once was Germany's or belongs in Germany.

Because of that program, Hitler established a protectorate over his part of what was Czechoslovakia, refraining from the annexations he executed in German-populated districts.

The "halt Hitler" group feels Hitler's rapid success is going to end. The more Hitler does, the more they don't like, the more he stirs fear and fighting emotion among countries over which Germany might wish to stretch her power.

When Hitler took over Memel city from little Lithuania on Thursday, he concluded a triple success during ten days that seemed like anxious years to depressed Europe.

Threats Supplant Vote The Memel "affair" merely returned to Germany a northern Baltic seaport taken from her by the Versailles "peace" treaty. The interesting aspect is that he preferred to compel its return rather than wait for it to come through a vote.

Lithuania relinquished it under threat of invasion. A day earlier Hitler took over the remaining two-thirds of Czechoslovakia, whose dismemberment under the Munich pact, September 29, last year, stirred the world.

Hitler kept on for Germany the richest one-third, established a protectorate over another third and let his grateful neighbor Hungary take the remaining third.

The apparently approaching struggle between Hitler and others to dominate Europe seems complicated because it is a mesh of smaller problems, of hates and of desires.

Each of the problems is simple enough in nature, but each is hard to solve. Woven into this muddle are good motives and bad, pity for Jews, rivalries for power, religious feelings and combats among those sponsoring varied forms of government, from Communism to dictatorship.

Italy Feels Cheated The two armed camps of Europe.

Proposal Is Made To Defer Increase In Security Taxes

Washington, March 24 (AP)—A proposal to defer at least part of the 50 per cent increase in social security taxes scheduled for next year and to abandon the plan for a huge reserve fund for old age pensions was advanced by the administration today as a business recovery step.

Secretary Morgenthau outlined the suggestion to the house ways and means committee, linking it directly to recovery by saying it would lift a burden from "American productive enterprise."

Subsequently, President Roosevelt made clear at his press conference that the proposal had full administration backing and word was given out that it had approval of the social security board.

The proposal apparently caught members of congress by surprise. Democratic members of the house committee, which is studying possible changes in the social security act, deferred comment as did most Democrats on Capitol Hill.

Republicans Delighted But Republicans, many of whom have been critical of the present social security set-up, hailed the suggestion with delight and were quick to point to their earlier criticisms.

None of the suggested changes could be carried out without congressional action.

Under the social security act as it stands, an employee now pays one per cent of the first $3,000 of his annual salary and his employer pays a like amount.

The tax is scheduled to increase next year to 1 1/2 per cent each on employee and employer, to go to 2 per cent in 1943, to 2 1/2 per cent in 1946 and to 3 per cent in 1949.

More than a billion dollars has been collected under the tax, which first became effective in 1937, and some economists have contended this "siphoning off" of potential purchasing power has been a powerful deterrent to business recovery.

Gries was first offered the position by the late Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald soon after Moore's resignation was announced, and last week was urged to reconsider his decision not to accept.

"I find that I owe my first allegiance to my present employer (Gries is head of the welfare department of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company at Ishpeming) and greatly regret I find that I cannot accept the wardenship of the state prison of southern Michigan."

"I wish to do my share in serving the state, but I cannot take the position at the state prison. I greatly appreciate the fact that an upper peninsula man was considered for so important a position and regret exceedingly that it is impossible for me to accept."

Gries, in a telegram, notified Leslie P. Kefauver, of Bay City, secretary of the corrections commission that he was "unable to accept."

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 24 (AP)—Tom Harmon, who starred at halfback on last year's University of Michigan football team, announced his support of Harry G. Kipke, Republican candidate for the university board of regents, in a letter printed today in the Michigan Daily, student publication.

The university student senate recently announced its opposition to Kipke's candidacy on the ground that "he lacks the necessary qualifications."

In his letter Harmon declared the student senate does not represent the opinion of the student body. He offered "to match it man for man with students who are in favor of Kipke's candidacy."

Kipke, former football coach at the university, was nominated for regent on the Republican ticket. Two regents will be named in the spring election.

His candidacy has been opposed by the University Alumni society, which has sent letters to 30,000 graduates urging defeat of Kipke and repudiation of what it has termed "this bold attempt to make political capital of the university." The society said Edward N. Barnard of Detroit, Frank D. McKay of Grand Rapids, and Harry Bennett, Ford Motor Co. personnel director, were sponsors of Kipke's nomination.

Kipke declared in a statement today that he would be under obligation to no one if he were elected.

GRIES REJECTS JOB AS WARDEN

Negaunee Man Prefers to Remain With Iron Company

Negaunee, Mich., March 24 (AP)—Walter F. Gries, announced here tonight that he would "be unable to accept" the wardenship of the state prison of southern Michigan, succeeding Joel R. Moore, resigned.

Gries, a former warden of the Marquette branch prison, said he had not changed his original decision and was "sorry" he could not accept the position.

Gries was first offered the position by the late Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald soon after Moore's resignation was announced, and last week was urged to reconsider his decision not to accept.

Wyoming 'Tarzan' Robs Bank, Then Kills Self

Powell, Wyo., March 24 (AP)—Earl Durand, shaggy-haired mountain man who killed four peace officers in less than a week, put a bullet through his own head here today after a bloody bank robbery attempt in his home town.

At the same time, 40 miles away on Sawtooth mountain, a posse of 100 was closing in on what was believed to be the hiding place of the 26-year-old raw meat eating desperado.

John Gawthrop, 20, a bank clerk Durand used, as a shield when he shot his way from the First National Bank, was wounded fatally either by Durand or by misdirected shots of Powell residents.

Cerne St. John, a druggist, who saw the bank battle from across the street, said Durand and Gawthrop went down together. The fugitive then crawled back into the bank and killed himself with one of his six-shooters.

After Durand had fired the bullet into his head, Bob Nelson, the bank president, picked up the rifle Durand had dropped and put a rifle shot into the man's head as he lay on the bank floor.

While possemen with trench mortars and 37 millimeter guns formed a cordon around Sawtooth mountain and slowly closed in on the place from which Durand killed two posse members Wednesday, the fugitive slipped from his hiding place and forced a rancher to take him to Powell.

Durand walked into the First National bank, in which there were four employees and five customers.

"Hello Nelson," the hunted man said to the president. "Stick up your hands."

Durand backed his command with a .30-30 rifle in his hands, a six-shooter in his holster and pockets bulging with ammunition.

"I won't kill you if you do what I say, but no monkey business. Get over here and line up."

Nelson said Durand stood the employees and customers against the wall, and then scooped the cash—about $2,000 or $3,000—into some money bags.

Shoots Out Windows The mountain "Tarzan" then ordered cashier Maurice Knutson to open the vault.

Then, Nelson said, Durand "started shooting with his rifle." The bank president said the fugitive shot at least 40 or 50 times, but never shot at any person in the bank.

"He just kept on shooting around the building. He knocked out the windows and fired into the walls."

Durand tied Nelson, Knutson and Gawthrop together with a rawhide thong he took from his pocket.

"Come on boys, we're going," he announced. He pushed the three ahead of him through the door for protection. Gawthrop was shoved out first, with Durand slightly behind him and to one side.

Durand fired several shots up and down the street. Tipton Cox, 17-year-old Powell high school junior, hiding in a filling station, said he shot Durand in the chest as the desperado stood in front of the bank.

Durand staggered back into the building, drew one of his pistols and fired a bullet into his head. As he lay on the floor, Nelson seized the outlaw's rifle and fired one shot into Durand's head, "to make dead sure," witnesses said, "that he was dead."

East Bristol, Wis., Bell-Ringer Found Dead Near Church

East Bristol, Wis., March 24 (AP)—Day in and day out, Mrs. Mary Link rang the Angelus bells of St. Joseph's Catholic church, calling upon the devout to pause for devotions.

The chimes sounded yesterday morning and noon, but last night they were silent. This morning the bells again failed to greet the rising villagers. Fearful, because she was 75 and enfeebled, they set out to look for her.

BOARD PICKED FOR HOUGHTON TECH OPPOSED

LAST APPOINTMENTS OF FITZGERALD UNCONFIRMED

Lansing, March 24 (AP)—The late Governor Fitzgerald's last appointments—reaffirming his earlier selection of five members of the board of control of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology, and a sixth choice made previously by former Governor Wilber M. Brucker—encountered a snag in the senate today.

Senator Joseph A. Baldwin of Albion, Republican chairman of the committee on senate business, explained that his committee did not have time to act upon Fitzgerald's recommendation that the six present members of the board be confirmed in office by the senate before the late governor's death.

Now, Baldwin said, he is of the opinion that the committee must wait for Governor Dickinson to submit new appointments.

Holds Two Jobs The Albion senator said he had personally questioned the propriety of the appointment of Charles T. Ferris of Houghton. Ferris has held the chairmanship of the Houghton county Republican committee, in addition to his membership on Tech's board in control.

"The two posts do not, at first glance, appear to be compatible," said Baldwin, explaining he did not speak for his entire committee.

Members of the board whose names Fitzgerald sent to the senate for confirmation shortly before his death are William H. Schacht, Painesdale; Albert E. Peterman, Calumet; E. J. Oswald, Crystal Falls; Ferris and Frank J. Kohlhaas, Calumet, none of whom had received confirmation, and Frank J. Smith-Ransay, appointed to a first term by Brucker, confirmed by the senate and permitted to remain in office after the expiration of his term in 1937.

The Republican complexion of the board evoked repeated reports of an impending shakeup during the Democratic administration of former Governor Frank Murphy. Murphy admitted privately that he was being subjected to political pressure and might make some changes, but he never got around to them.

TAX BOOST TEMPTING Lansing, March 24 (AP)—Legislators today received coolly the suggestion of State Treasurer Miller Dunckel that an additional one per cent be added to the three per cent sales tax in order to pay off the deficit inherited by the present administration.

In letters to the chairman of the senate finance committee and the house ways and means committee Dunckel proposed the extra fee be called "the Murphy deficit tax" and that it cease when the debt had been retired.

"It would be unfair to the present administration to keep its promises of 'no new taxes' and at the same time ask this administration to amortize the Murphy deficit of $25,000,000," he said.

Dunckel said two methods, a bond issue or a direct tax for that

Charlotte, Mich., March 24 (AP)—Dr. H. A. Moyer tonight said he was "very much worried" about the condition of Mrs. Zora D. Dickinson, ailing wife of Governor Dickinson.

The physician, returning to the executive's home after spending the day with the 79-year-old governor at the capitol, declared he found Mrs. Dickinson in a "weakened condition."

He said her pulse was 101 and her temperature 98.

Previously, Governor Dickinson had said his wife's blood pressure during the day had been at the lowest point in 10 years, and that he was much "encouraged."

Sextuple Execution Staged For Killers In South Carolina

Columbia, S. C., March 24 (AP)—Six prisoners died in the electric chair today for the killing Dec. 12, 1937, of Capt. J. Olin Sanders of the state penitentiary guard in an escape attempt.

At South Carolina's first sextuple execution, eight years ago, Sanders signaled for the switch to be thrown.

The six died today in this order: George Wingard, 21, of Columbia; William B. Gentry alias Woods, 25, of Biloxi, Miss.; Roy Suttles, 29, of Simpsonville; Herbert Moorman, 42, of Detroit, Mich.; Clayton Crans, 29, of Rochester, N. Y., and J. V. Blair, 29, of Sumter.

None showed any emotion. Crans and Blair died singing hymns. Woods entered the execution chamber chewing gum and smoking a cigarette and Suttles came in smiling and greeted officials.

All six said in farewell statements Sanders was not harmed until national guardsmen and all officers threw gas and noise shells into the tiny office where the prisoners held him hostage as they demanded freedom.

Governor Olin D. Johnston, standing in the penitentiary courtyard, outside the barred windows of the office, appealed to the convicts to release Sanders, but they disregarded all pleas. Then, after gas fumes forced them out, Sanders was found stabbed several times in the back.

WAR 28 MONTHS OLD

Rome, March 24 (AP)—Surrender of Madrid to Generalissimo Franco was reported imminent tonight in Italian dispatches from Burgos which said Spanish nationalist troops might march into the capital tomorrow.

Two Spanish Republican delegations were said to have reached Burgos to yield Madrid, virtually without conditions, after 28 months of Nationalist siege.

Reports of the negotiations brought Italy's territorial claims on France to the front of Europe's tense situation, since consolidation of the remaining one-fourth of Spain under Franco might give his backer, Premier Mussolini, the occasion to announce Italy's plans of future action in a speech scheduled for Sunday.

In the Headlines From Washington

(By The Associated Press) The administration, as a recovery measure, proposed modification of a scheduled increase in social security taxes and abandonment of a plan for a huge old age pension reserve fund.

A coalition of farm and city members, proposing to appropriate a full $150,000,000 for relief and $750,000,000 for farm benefit payments, took form in the house.

The house killed a resolution for an investigation looking toward impeachment of Secretary of Labor Perkins.

Secretary Hull, asserting Hitler's recent activities had "threatened world peace, called for support of all nations for law and order and sound economic relations."

The treasury, following a policy applied to Czechoslovakia and other territory acquired by Germany, slipped higher tariffs on goods imported from Memel.

BEET GROWING RULES ISSUED

AAA Lists Change From 1938 Requirements On Acreage

The farming practice requirements to be met by producers of sugar beets to be eligible for application for payment under the 1939 sugar beet program are the same as the requirements for 1938, except that additional credit will be given this year for new seedlings of alfalfa.

For each acre of sugar beets planted on a farm for harvest this year, at least one acre of a soil-conserving practice must have been carried out on land on the farm which is adapted to the production of sugar beets. For any acreage of sugar beets planted on rented tracts which would otherwise be part of another farm as much as 75 per cent of the requirement may be met with practices carried out on the balance of the farm of which the rented tract would ordinarily be a part in excess of practices required on that farm with respect to other sugar beet acreage.

Each of the following will constitute a credit of one acre of soil-conserving practice:

Maintaining until after July 1, 1939, one acre of protective covering of adapted perennial or biennial legumes, adapted perennial grasses or mixtures of such legumes and grasses.

Seeding in 1939 one acre of adapted perennial legumes (except alfalfa) or biennial legumes, adapted perennial grasses or mixtures of such legumes and grasses.

Seeding in 1939 one acre of adapted alfalfa.

Seeding and maintaining until Dec. 1, 1939, one acre of an adapted green manure crop or plowing under during 1939 one acre of a good stand and good growth of an adapted manure crop.

Applying during 1939 eight short tons of animal manure normally produced in one year by any of the following: Two heads of cattle (of more than one year of age), two horses, two mules, four colts, four calves, ten sheep or ten goats.

Applying during 1939 to land on which sugar beets are planted for harvest in 1939, 75 pounds (or 50 pounds in the case of peat or muck land, determined by the state agricultural conservation committee) of net available nitrogen, potash, or phosphoric acid in the form of commercial chemical fertilizer.

Adapted perennial or biennial legumes, or adapted perennial grasses, or green manure crops, are those which are approved under the 1939 agricultural conservation program.

Colorful Mardi Gras Parade Planned Here

Attractive prizes for the best decorated bicycles and best costumed individuals will be offered as incentives to boys and girls to participate in the Mardi Gras parade to be staged at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, April 15, as one of the features of the Escanaba Smelt Jamboree.

William J. Smith, chairman of the Mardi Gras parade committee, stated yesterday that the committee is planning several innovations this year. In addition to asking merchants to enter floats, the committee has enlisted the aid of artists and handicraftsmen of the WPA recreational department, who will design and build interesting parade units.

Several bands, including the Escanaba Municipal, Escanaba high school, Rapid River and Scout musical organizations, will take part in the parade.

Other ideas for the event will be worked out later.

AWAIT SMELT SPAWNING RUN

Thousands of Michigan Fishermen Prepare for Dipping

Lansing—Thousands of Michigan smelt fishermen are waiting for word that the silver hordes have started up Michigan rivers to spawn.

Annually the runs begin about March 25 in the lower peninsula and a week or two later in the upper peninsula where the waters are slower in warming. The exact time of the run can never be determined as it is dependent upon the temperature of the water.

Smelt festivals and jamborees will enliven the trips of the smelt fishermen with special events planned in several northern cities including Escanaba, East Jordan, Boyne City and Beulah. Tentative dates for the festivals are April 13 to April 15 in Escanaba, March 25 at East Jordan, April 1 at Boyne City and March 25 to April 8 at Beulah. The festivals are all planned to extend for several days.

The thousands of visitors will in reality be smelt "dippers" rather than smelt fishermen as nets are used to scoop the fish from the streams. In Cold Creek at Beulah the fishermen wade into the water but in most other places the streams are too deep and banks too high. In these streams long handled dip nets are used.

There are no limits as to the number of smelt a fisherman may take. Dipping is permitted only at certain hours of the night, when all runs are well under way. The only restriction imposed by the conservation department is that hand nets must not be more than five feet in circumference.

The silvery fish have proved an important source of income to northern towns not only through the dollars spent by visitors during the runs but also in supplying a living to hundreds of ice fisher-

WEIGHT LIMITS NOW IN EFFECT

Loads Restricted On All Concrete Highways of Michigan

Weight restrictions on all state trunklines went into effect at midnight last night, according to notification received at the Escanaba office of the Michigan State Highway department yesterday from B. R. Downey, maintenance engineer. The restrictions are enforced during the months of March, April and May, when melting, frost and soft ground endangers the concrete highways as well as other types of highways.

The maximum allowable axle loading on all other roads is 11,700 pounds, when axles are nine feet or more apart. With less than nine feet but more than three feet six inches between axles, the limitation is 8,450 pounds.

Weight restrictions are in effect the year around, but heavier loads are permitted through the months from June 1 to March 1.

Capacity Crowd Attends Demonstration At Junior High

Boy Scouts of America and Cub Scouts joined last night in presenting the first annual Scout Circus at the junior high school gymnasium. The circus was attended by a crowd which filled the gym to overflowing, and spectators stood along both ends of the floor and in the balconies.

The program opened with a grand entry of over four hundred Scouts, led by the Escanaba Scout band. The Scouts gave the pledge of allegiance to the flag, the Scout oath and the Cub promise.

A tableau showing the growth in commerce of the Upper Peninsula and the growth of Scouting was presented. The latter took a pair of boys through all phases of the Scout program, from Cub to Eagle Scout, and finally depicted them as grown men respected in their community and leaders among men interested in Scouting.

Demonstrating the pioneer spirit of Scouting was a section of the program in which the boys erected a camp upon the gym floor with lean-to shelters. Poles were tied together as framework for the shelters, and a covering was placed over the top of each.

Meanwhile Indians, each a Cub with a feather in his hair, crept up in a circle about the campers. The Indians closed in on the campers as nightfall was indicated by turning down the lights of the gymnasium, and amid Indian war-whoops the Cubs were converted to Scouting and made peace with the white men.

First aid demonstrations were given in artificial respiration and the treatment of various cuts and fractures. Groups of Scouts worked on "patients" at different stations on the gym floor, and at the conclusion of the demonstrations the "patients" were carried off swathed in bandages like caterpillars in their cocoons.

Under the heading of fun came a real circus act in which the Scouts dressed as clowns and animals and cavorted about an imaginary ring on the gym floor. Among them was a long-necked giraffe and a pair of creatures much like Ferdinand the Bull, whose hind quarters finally became divorced from their heads. All in fun were the Cub games too, with pillow fights, boxing matches and relay races. A tumbling team put on an exhibition as a part of the circus program.

On the more serious side was the impressive investiture ceremony in which Tenderfoot, Second-Class, First-Class, Star, Life and Eagle Scouts received awards.

General director of the Boy Scout program in this region is B. W. Phillips, Scout executive. Directors of the various events at the circus were: main announcer, Charles Thatcher; music, A. W. Erickson and Frank Karas; arrangements, Clarence Zerbe; grand entry, Joseph Mater, Clarence Zerbe and V. Thatcher; investiture, O. V. Thatcher; camping, Ira Smith; Indians, Allen Leitch; Cubbing, Allen Harwood; Joseph Mater, Donald McMillan, Ted Fisher and Thomas Dufour; first aid and pyramid building, Clarence Zerbe; signaling, Donald McKie.

Weather Man Has Road Restrictions All Up In The Air

Lansing, March 24 (AP)—The weather man had the state highway department in a whirl today.

When the temperature at Lansing headquarters stood at 78 degrees, only two degrees below the all-time high of record, the department issued spring loading restrictions on the entire trunk line system to prevent heavy trucks from breaking up soft road beds.

In the Upper Peninsula, maintenance engineers, still contending with snow, objected to the ruling, and the superintendent of the state ferries at St. Ignace added to the mix-up by reporting both ferries stuck in the ice since 9 a. m. today.

While officials watched sweat drip off their arms here, the ferries broke out of the ice after a five-hour tie-up, but there was still snow in the Upper Peninsula and no need for road limits.

ope are Hitler and Italian Premier Benito Mussolini of the "Rome-Berlin axis" and the "halt Hitler" group headed by Great Britain.

Hitler and Mussolini have worked day and night for years to build great air, sea and land forces. They contend the old war allies have worked on the "might makes right" principal in running Europe for twenty years. Now both of them say they will use their own "might" if necessary to get what they consider their "right."

Bluntly expressed, Hitler means to make Germany a greater empire than she ever was by recovering territory and colonies lost in the 1914-1918 war, areas four times the size of Germany proper, and to gain "access" to raw materials Greater Germany must have to be a self-contained country, living on food she grows and preparing on trade with countries linked to her.

Italy feels she was cheated in the last war. France admittedly owes Italy much that she promised her to bring Italy among the Allies. There is a quarrel over the settlement.

When Hitler, Mussolini, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Britain and Premier Edouard Daladier of France signed the Munich pact, Chamberlain predicted "peace in our time," but Britain went on with her $10,000,000 arms program.

The "halt Hitler" group almost suddenly emerged from a maze of fear and trouble like scattered conscripts called to the colors who dribble into barracks and quickly become an army.

Great Britain and France are allied to fight some "possible aggression" by Germany without saying exactly when or what or why.

Within the past week Britain openly invited Soviet Russia, Poland and the small Danubian countries to join a "declaration" against "aggression."

Soviet Russia rather upset the apple-cart by urging an immediate conference of the powers. Britain didn't want a conference, just yet. Perhaps Britain felt a conference called by Russia wouldn't be popular. It wouldn't be with Poland, who Friday informally refused to join the British-French "halt Hitler" crowd. Poland faces Germany, knows Hitler's strength and frankly doesn't trust his phrases. Before refusing to join she let Britain know she wouldn't do it unless Britain promised in writing to go to war at her side if Germany attacked.

Spain is a sample of how Hitler and Mussolini can influence Europe. Both aided Generalissimo Franco in the insurgent movement that is conceded to have won the fight in Spain. Mussolini especially aided. France fears he might attack her through Spain with Franco's consent. Britain and France fear Italy may be given Spanish islands which he might fortify to further threaten British and French communications with colonies through the Mediterranean.

Italy contends neither Britain nor France has the right to control the Mediterranean just as Britain and France protest against what they assert is Germany's intent to run a large part of Europe.

BACK IN BERLIN

Berlin, March 24 (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler rounded out ten days of achievement unparalleled in his meteoric career today with his return to Berlin from newly acquired Memel.

He came back to his pretentious chancellery without the fanfare of previous homecomings and turned immediately to arrangements for two important ceremonies next month.

He approved plans for launching Germany's 35,000-ton battleship and for a great celebration of his 50th birthday on April 20. Other developments today included:

1. General Franz Ritter von Epp, Hitler's deputy in colonial matters, told Nazi sub-leaders at Sonthofen that "Germany as the largest kultur-nation in Europe has a right duly to share the possessions of the world."
2. The German press continued its attacks against Great Britain with a bitterness seldom equalled in the Nazi press.
3. Hitler, according to men in a position to know, still is hoping Poland will offer the Free City of Danzig, Pomorze (the Polish Corridor) and other territory formerly German.

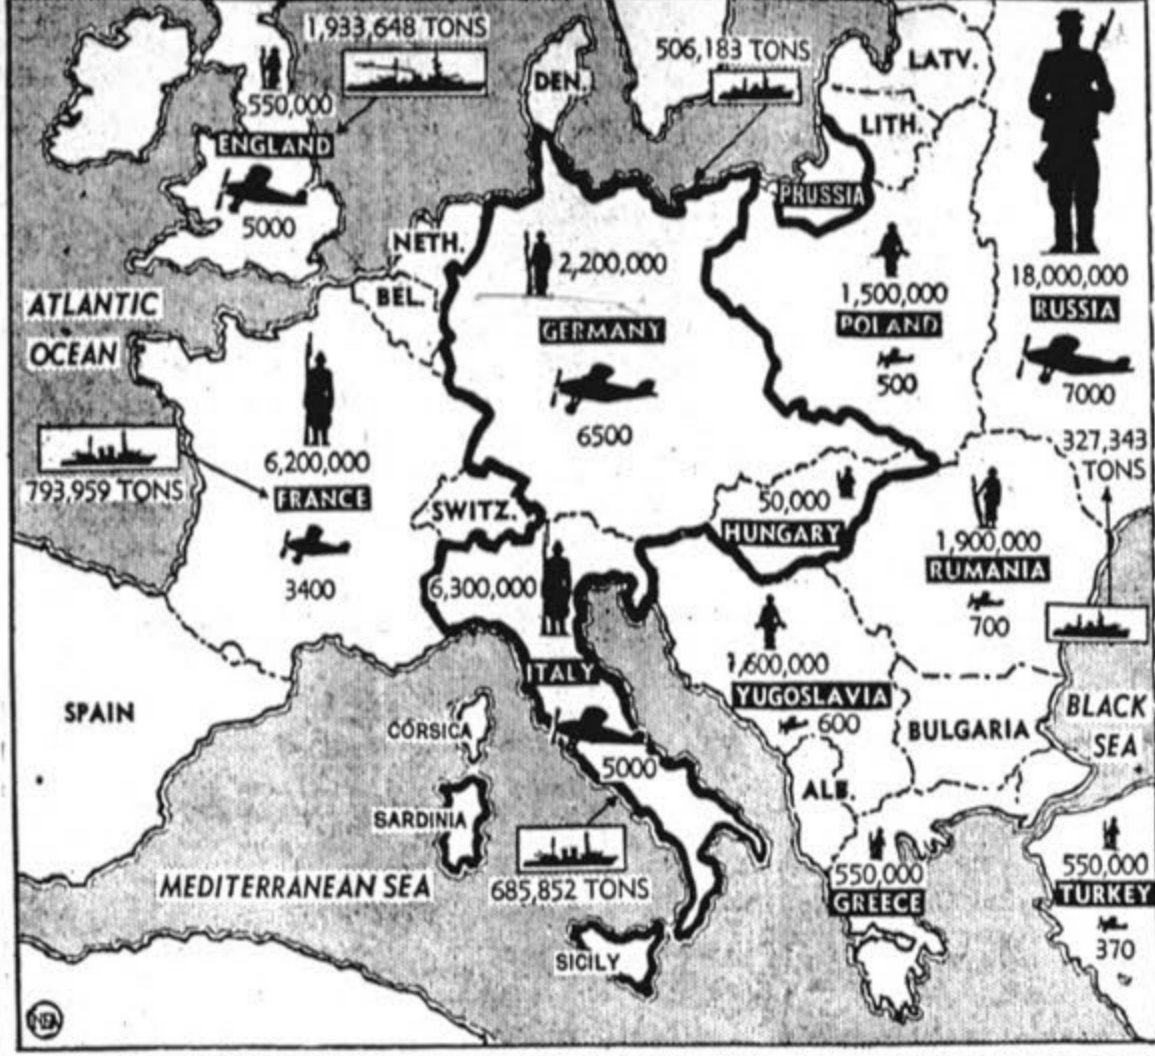

Temperature Hits 52 At Escanaba

Friday brought Escanaba the highest temperature of the year 1939. The weather bureau reported a maximum of 52 degrees for the day, but forecasts indicated cooler weather over the week-end.

Snow piles shrunk rapidly on city streets during the past three days, and Ludington street is entirely bare.

Market Lost Forever

WE might as well face it. The great European market, which took off our hands vast surpluses of farm products in the 1920's, is gone forever. It never did exist, really, because during the World War the need was abnormal, and afterward the trade was largely supported by huge loans.

Ever since the war, men have been dreaming of the return of this market to a "normal" which never was normal. Desperate moves toward self-sufficiency by all European countries, the rise of new and competing producing areas, the walling up of trade areas by totalitarian countries—all these have combined to destroy a market which once took the products of 50,000,000 acres of American farm land.

Secretary Wallace admits that this market is gone forever. The present trade difficulty with Germany, while it will cut down German imports here, will also further reduce export of cotton, for which Germany was a good customer. Overwhelming surpluses of cotton will continue to pile up.

There are two ways of facing this problem. One is to develop, insofar as possible, markets in the western hemisphere to replace those lost in Europe. Secretary Wallace is hard at work on this, and it is possible that some good can be accomplished in this way. But it will take time, planning, and government money.

Another approach is more immediate and more direct. Farmers in one-crop areas are beginning to realize that the great European export market is lost for good. There is not, and cannot be, any permanent future in producing for a market that is gone, despite any generosity the government can muster.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY BRUCE CATTON Daily Press, Washington Correspondent

Washington—If the business world is going to get any "appeasement" of a financial nature from the government this spring, it will almost certainly consist chiefly of tax revisions.

There is practically no hope of a substantial cut in government spending at this time, and anything remotely like a balanced budget is out of the question. Indeed, even the tax revisions won't add up to so much in actual dollars and cents. Yet the revisions are eagerly awaited, and the slightest Congressional moves toward economy are loudly cheered.

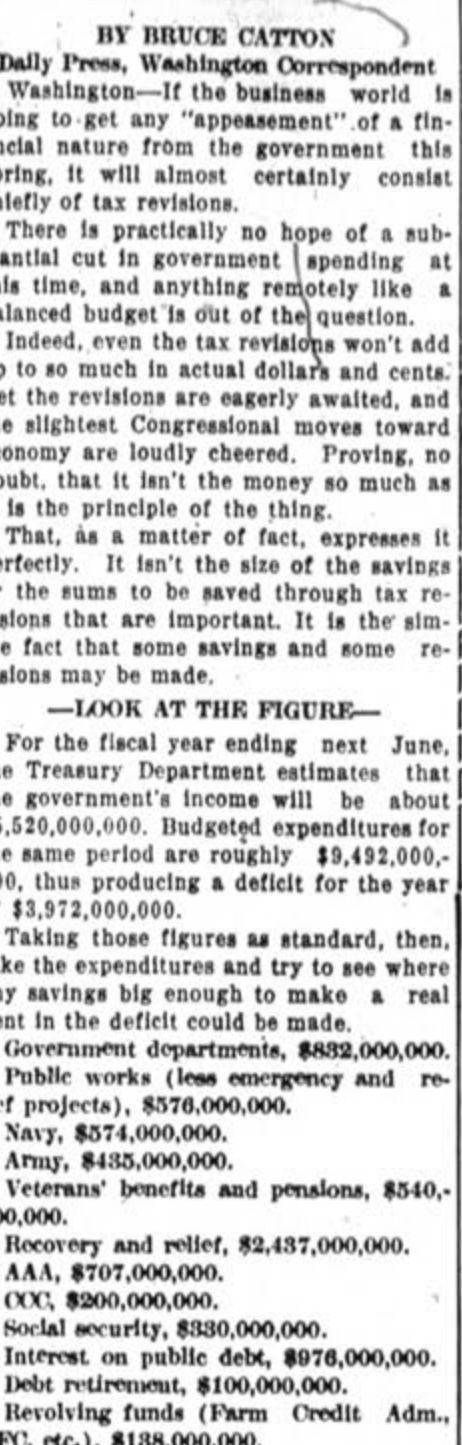

That, as a matter of fact, expresses it perfectly. It isn't the size of the savings or the sums to be saved through tax revisions that are important. It is the simple fact that some savings and some revisions may be made.

LOOK AT THE FIGURE— For the fiscal year ending next June, the Treasury Department estimates that the government's income will be about $5,520,000,000. Budgeted expenditures for the same period are roughly $9,492,000,000, thus producing a deficit for the year of $3,972,000,000.

Taking those figures as standard, then, take the expenditures and try to see where any savings big enough to make a real dent in the deficit could be made. Government departments, $432,000,000. Public works (less emergency and relief projects), $576,000,000. Navy, $574,000,000. Army, $435,000,000. Veterans' benefits and pensions, $540,000,000.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—The man most on the spot in Europe today is a squat, square-shouldered French baker's son who used to ride his bicycle to and from the Palais Bourbon when he was first Minister of War.

Today he is not only Minister of War but Premier of France, and as such he is under pressure today far more than Neville Chamberlain. For the chief aim of Hitler, whether he moves east first or west, is to crush Germany's ancient enemy. The life of Edouard Daladier has been strangely intertwined with the life of Adolf Hitler. They have come to grips before. It was one day after Hitler first became Chancellor of the Reich on January 31, 1933, that Daladier first became Premier of France.

France needed a strong man then. Germany got one and kept him. But France had a succession of crises, government turnovers and new premiers, one after the other, until April 9, 1938, when Hitler achieved his then greatest triumph, the annexation of Austria. On the day following, France once again summoned the hard-boiled, hard-fisted son of a small-town baker to pilot her through approaching war clouds.

Chamberlain and Daladier had come to Munich expecting to sit down with Hitler and Mussolini in a sincere effort to straighten out the problem of Czechoslovakia and come to an understanding which would mean permanent peace. Originally, President Roosevelt, who had inspired the conference, suggested an eight-power gathering including Russia, Poland, Hungary, and Czechoslovakia, the country which had most at stake. Instead Chamberlain and Daladier sat down opposite the two glaring dictators of Europe, and were forced immediately to listen to a harangue from Hitler. The German Chancellor waved his arms, walked the floor, scolded, fumed, and raved. Obviously the fact that the leaders of two powerful democracies had been forced to come to him, forced to sit at his feet, was one of the great triumphs of his life. He made the most of it.

During his trade Hitler laid down the terms of the Czech surrender, and borrowed verbatim the conditions which the Allies had dictated to Germany in 1918. He specified that the Czechs were to remove no personal property from Sudetenland, no clothing, no cattle, sheep, pigs, goats—and he went on to specify every detail, paraphrasing the terms of the World War armistice. Chamberlain sat and listened. Finally Daladier could stand it no longer. He jumped to his feet. —FRENCH ULTIMATUM— The exact words which he used were not taken down, and never will be known. But approximately what he said was this: "Let us make sure that we get this straight. M. Hitler has laid down certain conditions. He wants this and this and that. "Now let him, in turn, understand certain things. If he wants war, he can have it. France is ready to fight. Our army is mobilized and if Germany wants war she can have it tomorrow. "France is accepting no ultimatums. We came here to negotiate. Instead we are handed an ultimatum. Until the ultimatum is withdrawn you can count France out of this discussion." Then the under-sized Premier of France left the room.

He went out to a long anteroom adjacent to the conference hall. Field Marshal General Goering, Nazi Aviation Minister, leaped up and came running after him. For nearly an hour thereafter, Daladier paced up and down that anteroom, smoking cigarettes one after the other, lighting the tip of one from the butt of its predecessor. Goering paced alongside, almost like a dog trying to keep up, obviously worried that Daladier would bolt the conference. Later it developed that Mussolini was working on his axis partner, persuading him to withdraw his ultimatum, urging that the conference would attain its end without the withdrawal of France—and war. Finally Hitler emerged. His manner had not changed, nor his tone of voice. But his words carried at least the semblance of an apology. "I think you are completely unreasonable," he said. "But I withdraw what I said." Daladier went back into the conference room. What would have happened had the squat, square-shouldered baker's son not returned to the conference room never may be known. It is known, however, that France was ready for war—in fact, expected war.

MEAT FOR THE GUESSERS (Grand Rapids Press)

We have just a suspicion that Luren D. Dickinson will outlive many of those who, like ourselves, are wondering about the constitutional or legal provision for his successor. But as Michigan is now faced with this dynastic issue for the first time in its history, everybody is guessing whether the new governor can appoint a new Lieutenant governor, whether the latter honor could go to the senate president pro tem, whether this suppositions lieutenant governor would step into a gubernatorial vacancy hereafter, or whether he would have to let the secretary of state assume the office.

To aid in the busy conjecturing, a course of reading from the state constitution can be laid out. First—and this is a paragraph many investigators seem to have overlooked—is the opening part of Article V, section 7, which says: "No person elected a member of the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within this state or to the senate of the United States from the governor, except notaries public, or from the governor and senate, from the legislature, or any other state authority, during the term for which he is elected. All such appointments and all votes given for any person so elected for any such office or appointment shall be void."

So it seems clear that Mr. Dickinson could not appoint Felix Flynn nor any other legislator to succeed him as lieutenant governor. If he has authority to appoint, it is limited to persons outside the legislature. Such authority, if it exists, is based upon Article VI, section 10, as follows: "Whenever a vacancy shall occur in any of the state offices, the governor shall fill the same by appointment, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, if in session." Now, however, comes the question whether a vacancy exists at all. Does the lieutenant governor surrender that office when he steps into the governor's chair? Consider Article VI, sections 16, 17 and 18. "In case of the impeachment of the governor, his removal from office, death, inability, resignation or absence from the state, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve upon the lieutenant governor for the residue of the term or until the disability ceases. . . . "During a vacancy in the office of governor, if the lieutenant governor die, resign or be impeached, displaced, be incapable of performing the duties of his office, or absent from the state, the secretary of state shall act as governor until the vacancy be filled or the disability cease. "The lieutenant governor or secretary of state, while performing the duties of governor, shall receive the same compensation as the governor."

Science Aids Industry

THE rapid advance of science since the sixteenth century has brought with it the development and perfection of a large number of new instruments. Many of these have been a direct outcome of major scientific investigations and discoveries which in turn have had their origin in contemporary technological advances. In the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, for example, there were important contributions to the theory of gases; the barometer was invented for measuring the newly discovered concept of pressure, and a thermometer was developed for measuring temperature. This period also witnessed the invention of the telescope and the pendulum clock, instruments which found their chief technological applications in navigation, surveying and warfare. The basis for the extensive instrumentation found in industry today must be traced, however, not to this early period but to the rise of ma-

On The RECORD

By Dorothy Thompson

ECONOMIC WEAPONS

Dorothy Thompson

The decision of the United States to raise the duties on German goods by 25 per cent was not wholly a political gesture, although its timing was undoubtedly motivated by the wanton seizure of Czechoslovakia by the Nazi government.

Nevertheless, both the State and Treasury Departments have reached the conclusion two months ago that, under the mandatory provisions of Section 303 of the tariff act, countervailing duties would have to be put on against Germany.

This section provides that if any country pays a subsidy on exports to the United States which might circumvent the established tariff we must apply a countervailing duty.

The tariff act was passed in 1930, at a time when the methods of doing business in this world were relatively simple.

Today they are incredibly complicated, and it is far from simple to determine what is a subsidy.

Many months ago the Treasury Department applied countervailing duties to ten German commodities.

When this happened Germany sent a commission over to investigate, and as a result of their findings made certain changes which the Treasury accepted.

Under the terms of the agreement reached then the American exporter could sell abroad, get German marks, buy goods with them and bring those goods into this country.

As a result of this agreement, the import of German goods considerably increased, and complaints were made to Washington that the procedure continued to involve a violation of the tariff act.

Again the Treasury made a study and decided that what was being done differed from what had been agreed upon.

Fully three months ago the State Department had reached the conclusion that Section 303 was still being violated, and two months ago the Attorney General reached the same conclusion.

But action was delayed, and had it not been for the Czech coup there is no question that this country would have given the German government time to make adjustments.

But when the German government seized Czechoslovakia, and when we saw that $165,000,000 of Czech debts to the United States were no doubt going the same way that the $25,000,000 Austrian debt had gone; when the Nazi government committed nothing more nor less than a prodigious bank robbery, transferring eighteen truckloads of gold out of the central bank of a sovereign state, the United States decided to clamp the duties on immediately.

The economic weapon really wielded in the hands of the world democracies would be an enormous effective force against the present German government.

It might easily be the absolutely decisive force. But if it is to be effective it should be swift and comprehensive. And the difficulty of making it effective is the difficulty of collaboration.

It becomes increasingly clear even to Mr. Chamberlain and the Daladier-Bonnet government in France that the world today is faced by only three alternatives.

The first is that Germany, Italy and Japan, who are now in the most perfect strategic position and who pursue their way without the slightest regard for any agreements, using revolution, trade squeeze, war, enormous propaganda, espionage and all the implements of war in time of so-called peace, will meet nothing more than periodic protests and will gradually take over the control of most of this earth.

The second is that at some point this process will be checked by war, which, since last week, has a very small chance of being isolated.

The third is that it be made almost impossible for this regime in Germany to survive, and that it give way to another regime with which the whole world could cooperate to start anew on a basis of equality and justice.

The third would be the cheapest and the best solution for everybody, but it would involve giving no comfort or aid whatsoever to the present regime in Berlin. It would involve the recognition at long last that it is impossible to live in the same world with a regime whose whole tactic is the tactic of the underworld.

The weakness of the democracies is their lack of imagination and the belief of certain people in the democracies that they can have the best of both worlds.

Thus representatives of the British industries have, up to the very explosion of last week, been conferring in Dusseldorf with the representatives of Nazi industries, and on the very eve of the rape of Czechoslovakia had reached an agreement that Germany and England would co-operate along cartel lines to create more trade with each other, and if the exports of outside countries interfered with their plans they were prepared to consult with their own governments and ask for aid.

This was all in harmony with

SERIAL STORY

'MRS. DOC'

BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

The characters and situations in this story are wholly fictional.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
ALAN WARREN—Ambitious young country doctor.
EMILY WARREN—Alan's wife.
ERIC KANE—Construction engineer.
DR. FARRELL—Alan's elderly associate.

Yesterday, Dr. Farrell warns Emily that she ought to adjust herself to Alan's life, that she ought to be "Mrs. Doc." Then Alan strikes in, says to Kane, "I want to talk to you!"

CHAPTER XV
For a moment there was a breathless pause. Even Farrell was taken back.

"Oh, it's not that bad, Alan said, quickly, nothing their faces. 'I'm sorry if I startled you, breaking in so abruptly. I'm a little upset, a little tired. Mrs. Howland—"

"She's all right, isn't she?" Farrell asked.

"Oh, yes, she's all right, now. We had a few bad minutes, but she'll live and so will the baby."

"I'm so glad," Emily's relief was sincere. "What you need now, darling, is some food," she added. "You haven't had a bite since breakfast—"

"I think we could all do with a little coffee," Farrell said. "Come on, Emily, I'll help."

Left alone, Alan and Eric were silent. Alan was the first to speak.

"Well, Kane, what have you to say for yourself?"

"Emily called, told me: I came as quickly as I could. She needed someone," Eric explained. "She told me everything—"

"Nice of her. Thoughtful, too," Eric ignored the comment.

"There is still time, Alan. Emily loves you. You must do something," he went on earnestly.

"Just what would you suggest?" Alan's voice was hard, sarcastic.

"Alan, what you think of me doesn't matter," Eric continued. "But you have no right to be unfair to Emily. She's an unhappy child, but she's your wife and you can't let her go like this. Start again. Begin over. She'll stay then—"

"Do you want her to stay?"

"Frankly, yes and no," Eric said. "You've been my friend, Alan. You've trusted me—and whether you believe it or not, I love Emily. If she gets a divorce, I want to marry her. . . . But when I found out that a dream girl was real, and that the fact that she was already married did not make me love her the less, I went to the dam and stayed there. I intended never to see Emily again. I wasn't coming back. I couldn't refuse when she called tonight. I thought I might be able to make her change her mind."

Eric's sincerity cooled Alan's anger. He had liked Kane and he was loathe to blame him too much. He was forced to admit to himself that he had given Eric every opportunity to fall in love with Emily, that he had been blind to the fact that Eric might, the kiss—the night of the dance—he dismissed almost without consideration. Neither Emily nor Eric had made any attempt to conceal it, and circumstances, rather than an attempt to cheat, were to the appeasement program of Mr. Chamberlain, and may have been partially responsible for the happy optimism that pervaded certain sections of Wall Street just before the Nazi government broke loose again.

The conclusion reached by the British and German industrialists comprised some ten paragraphs of a declaration, the sense of which was that they agreed to minimize competition with each other and bend their efforts to a mutual exploitation of the world market.

For instance, paragraph 8 stated that the two organizations realize that in certain cases the advantages of an agreement between the industries of the two countries—or of a group of countries—may be nullified by competition from industry in some other country that might refuse to become a party to the agreement; and that in such circumstances it might be necessary for the organizations to obtain the help of their governments, and that the two organizations agreed to collaborate in seeking such help.

Under the trade treaty with the United States the British government cannot give any concessions to Germany in the empire market that she does not give to us, but had this agreement gone into effect the Germans might very well have developed their trade in Brazil, for instance, in agreement with Britain and with British financial aid.

The real dilemma of the Chamberlain government is that it is to a very large extent dominated by British financial and industrial interests, and that these interests are suffering from a certain myopia, which makes it difficult for them to see clearly the exact state of affairs in the world.

The German financial and industrial interests are a complete instrument of the Nazi national policy and completely under the control of that policy.

But the financial and industrial interests of the democracies have divided allegiances.

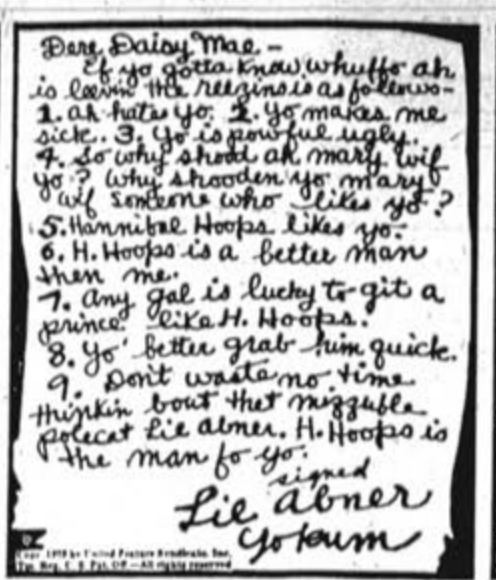

The result of last week's political

Luce County Plow Battles Drifts

A Luce county snow plow of the rotary type is shown above at work on an unprotected stretch of road near Newberry after the recent blizzard which tied up traffic throughout the peninsula.

Daily Press Photo

Timber Along Highways Cuts Snow Removal Cost

Newberry, Mich.—During the recent late winter blizzard which was one of the upper peninsula's worst in recent years the snowplowing between trees and snowplowing was amply demonstrated, says T. S. Dundon, county engineer of Luce county.

should not be counted only in the sense of representing hard dollars," Dundon says and points out their esthetic value.

Curiously enough many of these plantings have been made for their esthetic value and attractiveness to summer tourists.

Highways First Roads are divided into three classes for snowplowing purposes by Dundon. First in line for service are the state highways and trunk lines; second, mail (R. F. D.) routes; third, school bus routes.

There are 110 miles of road in Luce county to be serviced and this is a colossal undertaking during a heavy blow with limited equipment.

First in these classifications are the sheltered roads running through timbered areas or where narrow timber lanes protect the roads from the drift.

On semi-protected roads, snows are often necessary to clear them after an unusually heavy storm but generally they can be kept clear by the heavier type V plows.

CAMPAIGN FOR VOTES IS QUIET

Election Interest Here Enlivened by Herbert Candidacy

Due primarily to the sudden death of Governor Frank Fitzgerald and the resultant cancellation of all plans for political rallies, the spring election campaign is the quietest experienced in Schoolcraft county in years.

Despite the lack of an aggressive campaign, a representative vote is expected in Schoolcraft county in view of the fact that a local resident, J. Joseph Herbert, Manistique attorney, is a candidate for state office, regent of the University of Michigan.

In some of the townships, interest in the spring election is enlivened by the possibility of slip candidates against duly nominated candidates for township offices.

In the City of Manistique, however, the only office to be filled by election other than the state offices is the office of school commissioner and Ada S. Watson, Republican nominee, is the only candidate for the position. She is the incumbent.

Voters who cast ballots in the election on April 3 will find four parties represented on the ballots. They are Republican, Democrat, Socialist and Commonwealth.

The full slate of candidates follows: Justice of Supreme Court—Howard Weist and Henry Butzel, Republicans; Thomas Murphy and Clarence Dwyer, Democrats; Emanuel Seldner, Socialist. (Two to be elected).

Regent of the University—Harvey G. Kipke and J. Joseph Herbert, Republicans; Dr. Dean Myers and Charles C. Lookwood, Democrats; Francis King and Harold Chalk, Socialists; Florence Howard and Earl A. Tremain, Commonwealth. (Two to be elected).

Superintendent of Public Instruction—Eugene B. Elliott, Republican; T. Thomas Thatcher, Democrat; Walter Allmendinger, Socialist; LeRoy M. Lowell, Commonwealth. (One to be elected).

Member State Board of Education—Mary F. Farnsworth, Republican; Edna Cornell Wilson, Democrat; Carl Johnson, Socialist; Harry Schwarztraub, Commonwealth. (One to be elected).

Member State Board of Agriculture—Forest H. Akers and Melville M. McPherson, Republicans; Benjamin H. Halstead and Albert Burnett and Will Cheseman, Socialists; Walter S. Haynes and Charles R. Lanphar, Commonwealth. (Two to be elected).

County School Commissioner—Ada S. Watson, Republican. (One to be elected).

Two proposed amendments to the state constitution will also be voted upon at the spring election. The first amendment provides for the non-partisan election of supreme court justices, circuit judges, judges of probate and circuit court commissioners. The idea behind the amendment is to take the judiciary of the state completely out of partisan politics.

The second amendment would authorize the vesting in circuit court commissioners like judicial powers now exercised by justices of the peace.

State Political Gossip

Porritt "Kick In" Letter Blows Lid Off Merit Kettle Again

BY GUY H. JENKINS (Grand Rapids Press) Lansing—Civil service has become the hottest political potato of the present legislative session. And to increase the heat on the "Irish banana," opponents of the merit system this last week came into possession of the well-known Democratic "slug" on state employees, to "kick in." Just when the senatorial leaders thought they had things well in hand the lid blew off.

Charles S. Porritt, chairman of the state central committee, like a lot of other folks, wrote a letter. But the letter became public property. Of course, Charlie in his official position is expected to write letters, but this one went a long way in stirring up feelings. He told the members of the Michigan Democratic association still on the state pay roll: "Many of the (financial) sources that were available to the Democratic party now are closed, due to our defeat at the polls last November. We are eager to regain the lost ground and advance the prestige of our party in a significant manner, both state and nationally, on April 4.

HE COULD HAVE SAID "MONEY MEANS VOTES" "As you may not doubt realize, the remaining Democrats in state government are expected to lead the way to victory. In their interest we earnestly solicit that you give every consideration to an immediate payment of your current and past dues to the Michigan Democratic association, as itemized in the enclosed statement. Your cooperation will be appreciated and it will pave the way to victory."

If Porritt had come right out and said "Money means votes—kick out the Republicans" he could not have done a better job of providing highly explosive ammunition for the enemies of the merit system.

Of course the Democrats, and the Republicans, for that matter, are not prevented by the present law from doing just what the Democratic chairman did. When the house of representatives in 1937 passed the civil service bill that had originated in the senate the Democrats saw to it that the measure left the gate wide open for soliciting campaign funds from state employees. They are credited with doing a good collecting job. At least sufficient evidence was presented to the legislative inquiry committee to substantiate the assertion.

The second in command in the department of state particularly was very efficient in collecting regular assessments, promoting moonlight excursion dances, etc. Some politicians now say anything may happen to the civil service bill since Porritt wrote his letter.

A mystery of the present session is the apparent working agreement between the nine Democratic senators and Republican Miles M. Callaghan of Reed City. The boys explain it is merely a coincidence when they and Callaghan vote the same.

As the session progresses the merchandise the gentleman from Reed City uses for trading purposes will be more apparent. In the last session it was Callaghan who gave to the state the present civil service bill that has caused more popoffs than the bitterest squabbles over small loan legislation several years back.

Recently the nine Democrats lined up with Callaghan, Otto W. Bishop of Alpena, Chester M. Howell of Saginaw and a couple more Republicans to defeat Earl W. Munshaw, Grand Rapids Republican, in his attempt to cut the advertising appropriation fund.

Callaghan led the fight to kill Munshaw's efforts to repeal the law creating the "little legislature." Temporarily his program is crowned with success. The nine Democrats voted solidly with Callaghan and four other Republicans to bury the bill in the finance committee. M. Harold Saur, Kent City Republican, went against Munshaw on the proposal.

DEMS EVENTUALLY TO ASK FOR "POUND OF FLESH" If Callaghan can hold the nine Democratic votes along with several others from the northern sections, such as Bishop, he will be just about the dominating influence in the present session. Later on in the session the Democrats will want their pound of flesh. When that time comes, if Callaghan draws the knife you can record it as the payoff for controlling the solid minority.

Not that they need it but Michigan Democrats are looking hopefully to the new year for additional federal jobs to give their campaign machine smoother operation for the 1940 campaign.

For those who may not know, 1940 marks another federal census. There will be supervisors for every congressional district, and clerks, deputies and enumerators no end. Of course all will be on a civil service basis, but to know a congressman gives one a head start.

GOP NOT LIKELY TO GET MUCH FEDERAL PATRONAGE Republicans living in districts represented by members of their political party need not get steamed up over the possibility of getting jobs. The local Democratic organization will see to that.

districts represented by Republicans. But maybe Brown won't have control. Recent news dispatches indicate he and Frank Murphy, attorney general, are not getting along any too well over patronage. The district census supervisors will have their appointments late this year, and if custom is followed the offices throughout the state will open right after the first of the year. As personnel is built up it can be determined whether Murphy has taken over the control of Michigan's federal patronage or whether the New Deal will follow the usual Democratic customs.

HOOK LOVE FOR DEBATES GETS HIM IN HOT WATER

Representative Frank E. Hook, congressman from the Twelfth district, is crashing the headlines again. Hook, who loves a hot argument, recently attacked Michigan State college. He was answered by college officials who charged him with being the mouthpiece of Dean Joseph Cox, who was let out a few years ago by the state board of agriculture. Now Hook is being charged with using WPA to advance his political cause last fall. Complaints have been made to the WPA high command at Washington that contributions were collected from WPA employees to finance Hook's campaign. Also it is charged Hook switched persons on WPA to favor his friends.

Another official identified with state government in recent years has been picked to do a job for another governmental agency. He is Caryle E. Mounter, who recently resigned as director of the unemployment compensation commission's division of contributions and benefits. He has accepted the task of installing the "Michigan plan" in New York state. The assignment will require upward of six months.

It has been reported here that New York has been in a mess with respect to its unemployment compensation payments. Some claims are months in arrears.

It was easier for Iron River against Calumet, the final score showing a 34-22 victory.

In class C, Crystal Falls and Baraga are slated for the final round at 8 o'clock tonight. Both disposed of their Friday opponents with dispatch. Baraga trimming Pickford 32-18 and Crystal Falls taking L'Anse 40 to 27. Bergland and Pequaming, Class D finalists, play the opening game of tonight's championship series at 6:45. Pequaming, victor over Nahma on Thursday, ran up 30 points to Alpha's 9 Friday afternoon. Bergland's opponent was Hulbert, and the margin of victory was not so one-sided, 44 and 39.

Game Was Scorching

The Iron Mountain-Marquette game was a fantastic fiction story come true. Marquette, spotting Iron Mountain a good height advantage, stepped out to grab off a seven point lead before Iron Mountain could score. The Mountaineers got hot in the game progressed, knotting the score at 18 all at the three-quarters mark. Coach Mason's crew edged to the front early in the final frame, holding a 22-20 advantage with six minutes to play. Marquette made a free throw on a technical foul on Kootchie Nelson of Iron Mountain for delaying the game.

With three and a half minutes to play, Tonn tied the score with a free throw and Mikulich through the home town fans into a furious uproar with a one-handed shot from the free throw circle. At this stage in the game, Iron Mountain lost Beauportant, guard, who had played a fine game. Friek and Mikulich made free throws, giving Kircher's boys a 27-23 lead, which looked safe and the Marquette fans heaved a sigh of relief. But it was too soon, because the irrepressible Nelson heaved a long shot that went good and made the score 27-25. Ladwig, reserve, tossed in a free throw, closing the gap to one point. Marquette controlled the ball for a few seconds but, with 12 seconds left to play, a Graverat player took a shot at the basket instead of trying to freeze the ball and Iron Mountain took the rebound, swept up the floor and gave the ball to Nelson. "Kootchie" poised momentarily for the shot, let fly and the gym came down with a roar as the ball swished the net—the game was over and fans went limp in their seats.

HAGEN REGAINS FORMER TOUCH

Golf Star Expected to Make Hay During Season

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor
Miami, Fla.—After watching Horton Smith and Henry Picard sink 15 and 12-foot putts for birdie 3's, Walter Hagen said he hadn't knocked in a putt like those since 1914, yet The Hag with no preparation was the star of the first round of the International Four-Ball matches at the Miami Biltmore Country Club.

It was not the immortal Hagen's fault that he and Gene Sarazen were eliminated. Sarazen was of little help.

Hagen had a 68 in the morning and needed a four for 69 in the afternoon. The way he hit his shots amazed Sarazen and the day's biggest gallery. And so pleased the 47-year-old Hagen that he has announced his return to competition.

Hagen ankled into the true test of golf in typical Hagen fashion . . . after a shave and a few practice swings.

He had played only a half dozen rounds since taking part in the $12,500 Westchester Open last September.

It was only a few months ago, while on a world tour with Joe Kirkwood, that he was delirious from malaria in India.

LONG VICTORY STRING GOES BACK TO 1914

Hagen has won 55 major tournaments . . . dating back to his first United States Open at Chicago's Midlothian in 1914 . . . and perhaps carelessly tossed away nearly as many more.

Richard Arlen, the movie actor, tells of Hagen heeding a three on a short hole to tie the then young Harold McSpaden in the Sacramento Open of 1934. Jug McSpaden, just married, was seeking his first important tournament victory.

"See that trap out there," remarked The Hag, as his tee shot found it. "This will be a fine wedding gift for that kid."

Hagen made his last great stand in a United States Open over treacherous Oakmont in 1935, when he was forced to play his entire last round in a storm and finished three strokes back of Sam Parks.

HAGEN PUTS SELF ON BUSY LIST

Anyway, it is pleasing to know that the great Hagen will appear in the North and South Open at Pinehurst, March 21-23; the Greenboro Open, March 24-26; the Masters' Tournament at Augusta March 30, 31-April 1, 2; and go right on through the P. G. A. and United States Open.

Golf has suffered for lack of color since The Hag and Robert Tyre Jones let down.

William Lawson Little, Jr., insists that he'd do it all over were he again a celebrated amateur turn professional. He calls the money players as fine a group as he ever met and the only real simon-pures.

Little asserts that in the spring of 1936, after he had become the first player in history to bag both the British and American Amateurs in successive years, he was offered $6000 a year and all expenses by a concern handling two entirely different kinds of products and shown a way in which he could remain an amateur.

"I was to play with certain of this firm's products and sell others," explains the young man who accomplished the unprecedented feat of winning 39 consecutive matches in major competition.

PROS SAY LITTLE WILL HIT TOP

But Little didn't like masquerading, decided to go all the way, and signed for the tour he made with Horton Smith and Jimmy Thomson. They were later joined by Harry Cooper.

The professionals like Little and his power game . . . believe he'll be in the select circle in another year.

Other shotmakers making rapid progress are Ben Hogan, a 134-pound Texan who swats the ball from course to course, and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock and Chandler Harper of Norfolk, who, as Henry Picard will tell you, certainly can massage a putt.

But all have a long way to go when you realize that Ralph Guldahl and Samuel Jackson Snead established a new tournament record in using exactly 28 strokes, seven under par, for their best ball in another Horton Smith and Paul Runyan on the outstanding nine of the afternoon round of the final International Four-Ball match at the Miami Biltmore Country Club.

These fellows today make true championship tests look like miniature golf courses.

NEGRO STARS PLAY ON WED'Y

Minnesota U. Cagers to Oppose Comedians In Court Bill

After an absence of a year, the Harlem Globe Trotters, negro clowns of the basketball court, will return to Escanaba next week, meeting the Galloping Gophers of Minnesota at the Coliseum Wednesday night.

In a preliminary, the Escanaba Eagles will meet a team composed of all stars of the Delta-Menominee county league, including players from Nahma, Hermansville, Nadeau, Bark River, Powers, Daggett and Rock.

The Globe Trotters need no introduction to fans of the Upper Peninsula, having played here for several years. They mix clever basketball ability with humorous antics which are screamingly funny. Such names as Harry Ruson, Ted Strong and Johnny Watts are familiar to local fans. In addition, there are several new players in the lineup who are said to add much to the cleverness of the troupe. The new boys include Louis Priestly, formerly with Jesse Owens Olympians, Bernie Price, formerly of Virginia State, and "Rock" Anderson, who has played with several negro pro teams.

The Galloping Gophers are composed of former University of Minnesota football and basketball stars such as Larry Buhler, Andy Uram and others. They have played against the Globe Trotters several times this year and have always extended the negroes to the limit.

Leo Brunelle will officiate the game.

MICHIGAN SWIM TEAM IN LEAD

Wolverines Hold 34 to 30 Margin Over Ohio State Crew

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 24 (AP)—The defending champion University of Michigan team gained a 34 to 30 lead over Ohio State university here tonight in opening competition of the two-day national collegiate swimming championships.

With Al Patnik and Earl Clarke gaining first and second, respectively, in the one-meter springboard diving, the Buckeyes showed strength that promised plenty of trouble for Michigan in its bid for a sixth straight N. C. A. A. title.

In third place was Princeton with 16 points, mainly because of the spectacular swimming of its great backstroke star, Al Vande Weghe, who retained his title and added the Princeton 300-yard medley relay team in scoring another N. C. A. A. triumph.

Other point totals were: Yale 7; Harvard 6; Texas 5; Southern California 3; Iowa 3; Florida 2; Kenyon 2; Iowa State 1, and Illinois 1.

The distribution of points left the team battle a two-way race between Michigan and Ohio State, who battled to ties twice in dual meets during the regular season. The Wolverines put the Buckeyes to rout, however, in the Western Conference championships.

Five events remain to be contested on Saturday's concluding program.

Michigan scored heavily in the 50-yard free style and the 220-yard free style, picking up 10 points in each event.

In the former race Charley Barker of Michigan scored a surprising hair-line victory over his team mate, Waldemar Tomski, holder of the Big Ten title, who had equalled the N. C. A. A. meet record by covering the distance in 23 seconds flat in the trials.

Tom Haynie, Michigan's 220-yard free style star, regained the title in this class with a close victory over William Quayle of Ohio State. Haynie was N. C. A. A. champion in 1937 but was dethroned last year.

"Who's Who on the Maize and Blue" No. 5—B. G. "Bennie" Oosterbaan

WAS A MEMBER OF FAMOUS "BENNY TO BENNIE" COMBINATION FREEDMAN TO OOSTERBAAN

BENNIE G. OOSTERBAAN

Michigan's greatest all-around athlete and one of the most remarkable ever produced in an American college, Bennie Oosterbaan assumed the responsibilities of a head coach this year when he succeeded Franklin Cappon as coach of Michigan basketball.

Bennie's athletic feats as an undergraduate have become legendary as Michigan's only three-time All-American, named as an end in 1935, 1936 and 1937, and a three-year star in basketball and baseball, all-Conference in both sports, a scoring leader in basketball and major league prospect in baseball.

Graduating from the Literary College in 1928, Bennie remained at Michigan as assistant coach in football and basketball and freshman baseball coach, the positions he held until last year when he became basketball coach and Junior Varsity football coach. As a football assistant last fall he was given particular credit as one of the keenest scouts in the field.

Although Oosterbaan's first basketball team, dogged by injuries, has not been markedly successful, his personality and sincerity of purpose have gained him universal acceptance as one of the most promising and most popular men in the coaching profession.

Pete Fox outwaited Pitcher Hutchinson (Ira, of the Flatbush Hutchinsons) and was walked. Cullenbine forced him at second, but York singled, sending Cullenbine to third. Billy Rogell then drove in the winning run with a single to right. York also scored when Hudson fumbled Eisenstat's grounder.

Tamulis, who once showed his wares with the Yankees, and Hutchinson, once of the Boston Bees, were nipped for 11 hits by the Tigers.

NOTHING WRONG WITH GALENTO

N.Y. Athletic Commission Gives Approval to Bout With Louis

New York, March 24 (AP)—The New York state athletic commission today put its stamp of approval on Two-Ton Tony Galento's physical condition, thereby removing the last obstacle in the way of holding his fight with Joe Louis for the heavyweight championship in Yankee stadium.

The five physicians who examined the roly-poly puncher last Tuesday at the commission's request found him in "satisfactory physical condition." General John J. Phelan, the commission chairman, reported. The examination had been ordered to determine whether either an attack of pneumonia last summer or the usual Galento diet of beer and spaghetti had left the barrel-shaped brawler in anything but "the pink."

Although the physician's report just about killed the hopes of Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and several other places for holding the fight, which promises to attract a million-dollar gate, a new development made it appear today that the original June 28 date may have to be changed to accommodate Promoter Mike Jacobs' rapidly growing summer boxing program.

Mike has another heavyweight attraction, between Lou Nova and Max Baer to decide a September opponent for Louis, scheduled for May 15 in Madison Square Garden's Long Island City bowl. Nova's manager, Ray Carlin, arrived from California this week, pointed out his contract calls for the bout to be staged in Yankee stadium, and definitely objected to the Garden bowl because the fight "might not make any money there."

PITCHING FIND HAS HARD DAY

Hutchinson Drubbed Off Mound As Tigers Nip Dodgers, 6-4

Lakeland, Fla., March 24 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers hung up their second victory in the grapefruit league today, winning over the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6 to 4.

Freddie Hutchinson, a sensation on the Pacific coast last season, made his "second start" for the Tigers and was drubbed off the mound in the second inning after he had walked four men, made a wild pitch, and was nipped for four hits and three runs.

To say that Hutchinson was wild is putting it mildly. After walking Dolph Camilli and Fred Sington, he wild-pitched Camilli to third. Tebbetts and Gehring came to his rescue by picking Sington off his bag, but LaVagetto lined a triple down the right field foul line, scoring Camilli.

Harold Reiser then singled to right, sending LaVagetto home. After Tamulis had fled out, Stainback doubled, scoring Reiser, and Freddie walked Coesart and Vinced Manager Del Baker that Hutch was no man to be on the mound today, and he sent Bob Harris in to see what fate held.

Harry Eisenstat succeeded Harris in the sixth and was given credit for the win, holding the Brooklyn clan to two hits in four innings.

Tied In Seventh
The Tigers moved into the lead by scoring twice in the fourth and fifth innings. In the fourth Dixie Walker tripled to left and scored on a single by Fox after Gehring and Greenberg had popped out. Singles by Cullenbine and Tebbetts moved Fox home.

Mark Christian led the fifth inning onslaught. Sent in to bat for Harris, he lined the first pitch over the left field wall for a homer. Croucher walked, stole second, and scored on a single by Gehring.

Brooklyn tied it up in the seventh when Camilli tripled and scored on a single by Sington, but the Tigers came back in the eighth with the two runs that spelled victory.

Pete Fox outwaited Pitcher Hutchinson (Ira, of the Flatbush Hutchinsons) and was walked. Cullenbine forced him at second, but York singled, sending Cullenbine to third. Billy Rogell then drove in the winning run with a single to right. York also scored when Hudson fumbled Eisenstat's grounder.

White Sox Pitcher Has Skull Fracture

Pasadena, Calif., March 24 (AP)—Vic Frasier, Chicago White Sox pitcher, was confined to a hospital here today with a linear skull fracture suffered two days ago during a practice session, but not discovered until this morning.

The right hander, who played with St. Paul last year, went out the next day and pitched four innings against the Pittsburgh Pirates, holding them to one hit and getting credit for the victory.

This was after he had been struck back of the left ear by a thrown ball, the day before. Frasier complained of a headache at the time of the accident and when the pain continued an X-ray was taken yesterday. This failed to disclose the break but a second X-ray today led to the discovery.

Physicians said Frasier would have to remain in the hospital for five weeks, but they hastened to add his condition was not critical.

WORKMAN WINS GRAND NATIONAL

Irish-Bred Horse Comes From Behind In Final Mile At Aintree

BY SCOTTY RESTON
Aintree, Eng., March 24 (AP)—Sir Alexander Macquiere's Irish-bred Workman, a leaping streak of green and glittering silver, sprang from behind in Aintree's final mile today to win the 101st Grand National horse royalty and commensur numbering 260,000.

Cornered in the pack starting the final lap of the four and one-half miles, maneuvered free by his grinning, toothless little Irish jockey, Workman made his bid just where he faltered a year ago, bounded ahead two fences from home and beat Capt. L. Scott Brigg's MacMoffat B three lengths.

Kilstar, Dorothy Paget's 8 to 1 favorite, was third, 15 lengths back. When he blundered four fences from home, the crowd settled down for a duel between the 100 to 8 second choice, Workman, and the 25 to 1 shot, MacMoffat.

Big Russ Bauers Gets Bawled Out

San Bernardino, Calif., March 24 (AP)—Russ Bauers, the big Wisconsin lumberjack, took a verbal lashing today from Manager Pie Traynor concerning after-dark activities on Wednesday, then took another lashing from the Chicago Cubs, who beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 8 to 4.

MARKETS GIVEN RENEWED HOPES

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES table with columns for Net change, Friday, Previous day, Month ago, Year ago, 1939 high, 1939 low, 1938 high, 1938 low, 1927 high, 1927 low.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER New York, March 24 (AP)—Buoyed by a further lull in European war worries and renewed hopes of business tax revisions by congress, the stock market made another forward move today.

A drawback, however, was the continued slow going over the recovery route. Transfers totalled only 645,330 shares against 833,690 the day before.

Gains ran to more than 3 points at the best, but top marks were chipped down in many cases by profit taking at the close.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was up .3 of a point at 49.3, or about 4 points under the year's peak.

Aside from the fact Wall Street pretty well convinced there is little likelihood of a foreign bantle-up at this time, a fillip to sentiment was given by Secretary Morgenthau when he indicated before the house ways and means committee the treasury approved proposals to lift from "American productive enterprise" the burdens of tax increases in the social security system.

In other words, the jump in social security taxes scheduled for next year under the law, would not be put into effect if the plan goes through.

Some traders inclined to keep commitments light in view of possible complications which might follow refusal of Poland to join the "stop Hitler" bloc.

Business news was none too stimulating, but there were bright spots. Encouragement was found in a sharp increase in this week's automobile production.

Stocks favored on the climb included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Sperry, a number of American Telephone, American Smelting, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Sears Roebuck and Air Reduction.

Up fractions to more than a point in the curb were Lockheed, Electric Bond & Share, United Gas, American Gas & Electric and Cities Service. Volume of 116,000 shares compared with 131,000 Thursday.

Light oil is better for an automobile engine than heavy oil, but since the former has a tendency to aerate rapidly, a much closer check of the crankcase supply is necessary than if a heavy lubricant is used.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Canada—Reflection of Three Nations

POLITICALLY, the Dominion of Canada is attached to the British Empire, and so King George VI and Queen Elizabeth will visit the vast, sprawling North American possession this year. But the Canada they will see will be no more British than it is American, no more American than it is provincial French.

In fact, the Canada the king and queen will see smacks more of the United States than anything in the British Empire. For despite its loyalty to the Union Jack, the Dominion is essentially North American in expression. Geographically, the United States and Canada are almost the same, the customs are identical, the method of work in factory and office is alike and even the amusements fall in the same class: radio, sports, movies.

The French influence shows sharply, of course, in old Quebec, the battleground of Montcalm and Wolfe. Even the language is dominantly French. The U. S. influence shows in every city across the Dominion, except for Ottawa. There the halls of Parliament and other government buildings reflect Westminster itself. Situated on beautiful Parliament hill in the Dominion capital, these structures represent perhaps the only outward tie of Canada to the mother country.

South African Statesman

United States should give its support for nothing or tag along after other countries, but rather make it clear that if it is in this game it wishes to be consulted at every step of the game and not be regarded as the rich uncle who pays the others' gambling debts.

It is, indeed, somewhat difficult to understand why the British and French governments should have been so suddenly appalled at what is happening in central Europe. After all, it was obvious, and it was indeed agreed upon, that Munich meant for Germany a free hand in the East, and there is nothing whatever new about the Nazi method of using that free hand.

It is quite impossible to believe that the British government should be less able to foresee the inevitable outcome of Munich for Czechoslovakia than a communist writing in New York.

I am inclined to think that what has really horrified the British is the realization that Mr. Hitler is not striking directly east at Russia but is striking southeast through Rumania, toward the Black Sea and the Dardanelles, where he can meet Mussolini's navy. His route is maybe east—but east toward Iraq, Arabia and India.

This column has always been in favor of the United States having a very active foreign policy. In the complete conviction that it will be impossible for us in the long run to isolate ourselves from the European situation.

But I do not believe that the

CROP ACREAGE FORECAST MADE

Slight Decrease Is Seen; Michigan Leads In Field Beans

Lansing, Mich.—The total acreage of crops to be grown on Michigan farms in 1939, according to information obtained from the annual inquiry on this subject in March, promises to be about one to one and one-half per cent smaller than in 1938. Prospective changes in individual crops are somewhat greater than usual, with a tendency toward decreases in major crops except hay and sharp increases in several lesser crops. These changes, according to Verne H. Church, Senior Agricultural Statistician of the Michigan Co-operative Crop Reporting Service, are attributed to influencing factors of the Agricultural Conservation program, large stocks of grain and hay carried over from last year's heavy production, the relatively low level of prices obtainable for many farm products, the farm labor situation, and general economic conditions.

Much Corn Grown
Large crops of corn were produced on Michigan farms in both 1937 and 1938, and growers report a reduction of 48,000 acres of 3 per cent, in intended plantings this year. The oats acreage is expected to decline, according to Verne H. Church, Senior Agricultural Statistician of the Michigan Co-operative Crop Reporting Service, are attributed to influencing factors of the Agricultural Conservation program, large stocks of grain and hay carried over from last year's heavy production, the relatively low level of prices obtainable for many farm products, the farm labor situation, and general economic conditions.

Big Potato Yield
Michigan harvested 250,000 acres of potatoes in 1938, which was 20,000 acres more than any other state. Yields were good in nearly all sections, and prices have been relatively better than for most other crops. Growers are planning an increase of 6 per cent, if these intentions are fully carried out, the potato acreage will be still 15,000 acres below the average of the last ten years. For the United States, the acreage planted in the 11 early southern states shows a decrease of nearly 3 per cent; and intentions as reported for the 37 late and intermediate states are for an increase of only seven-tenths of one per cent.

Michigan led all states in both acreage and production of field beans in 1938, notwithstanding the fact that the acreage was 100,000 less than the 10-year average. Prices for white beans, which type comprised 88 per cent of the State's total, have been discouragingly low throughout the past two marketing seasons and growers contemplate a 10 per cent decrease in plantings this year. Other bean states are New York and California; the former reports an intended decrease of 4 per cent and the latter a decrease of 5 per cent in plantings. The great northern bean area, comprising the States of Montana, Idaho, Wyoming and Nebraska, shows no important change in planting intentions. The pintobean states report intended increases totaling between 7 and 8 per cent. For the country as a whole the intended planting change is reported as 1.5 per cent less than last year.

Soybeans Increase
Michigan is rapidly becoming a soybean producing state, and growers intend to increase their acreage by 50 per cent over the 77,000 acres grown for all purposes in 1938, which in turn was an increase of 75 per cent over the 1937 plantings. A part of the soybean acreage is ordinarily cut for hay and some acreage is plowed down. The increase this year probably will be chiefly in the portion harvested for grain.

An increase of two per cent in the acreage to be cut for hay is reported, following an increase of about 3.5 per cent in 1938 over 1937. These increases reflect the influence of the Soil Conservation program, and are also in keeping with expanding numbers of livestock being kept on farms.

Progress Being Made In Economy of Fuel

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
Washington, D. C.—The cry for fuel conservation fifty years ago began to bear fruit in a telling manner a quarter century later. From 1912 to 1938 improvement in fuel efficiency was most pronounced, especially at central electric power stations. This was followed by steam locomotives, iron blast furnaces, and other enterprises using large quantities of coal. With fuel a large item in the budget of manufacturing plants, the high prices of the World War period set into motion powerful forces that have accelerated the progress of fuel economy.

Fuel savings have been achieved by the recovery and use of by-product fuels formerly wasted, such as coke oven, blast furnace or refinery gases. Other savings have been effected by the use of devices for retrieving the best formerly lost in stack gases or hot products and using it for preheating raw materials and air for combustion, or for generating steam. The advance of fuel efficiency has been most marked in electric power stations, railroads, iron and steel plants, cement plants, and others that require large amounts of energy for either heat or power.

As fuel and power constitute a large proportion of their operating costs, there is a constant incentive to economize along this line, and this tendency is often stimulated by high fuel prices. High prices have accelerated the application of fuel-saving techniques and encouraged efforts to discover new ones. In consequence, fuel saving has constantly progressed.

Public utility electric power stations have made a remarkable reduction in the rate of fuel consumption, decreasing it from about seven pounds of coal per kilowatt-hour in 1899 to an average of approximately one and one-half pounds in 1936. More recent figures are not available, but it is believed that savings continue.

Some of the most efficient plants now consume less than one pound of coal per kilowatt-hour. Economy has also been achieved at these electric power plants by replacing reciprocating engines with the more economical turbines, by better diversification of load, by inter-connection of systems to maintain economical operation conditions and by utilizing steam at higher pressures and temperatures.

Constant progress in fuel efficiency by central power stations is especially significant because of the greatly increased consumption of central-station power, which rose from about 24.3 billion kilowatt-hours in 1919 to about 62.7 billion in 1929—an increase of 158 per cent. A similar showing is expected when the data for the present decade are compiled.

Much of the increase in public utility power represents the replacement of power formerly generated by relatively small and less efficient isolated steam plants, definitely removing these establishments, with their high raw-energy needs per kilowatt-hour, from the fuel market. Concurrently, fuel economies at non-utility power plants that continued to operate paralleled the progress shown by central power stations.

Railroads also have made substantial progress in fuel economy in the past twenty years. The consumption of fuel by steam locomotives in freight service, for example, dropped from 176 pounds of coal per thousand gross freight ton-miles in 1917 to 119 pounds in 1936, a decline of about 32 per cent. During the same interval the consumption of fuel in passenger service fell about 20 per cent. As the railroad industry consumes more fuel than any other, principally as locomotive fuel, these economies effected a large segment of the Nation's fuel requirements.

Locomotives are doing more work with less fuel because of increased average tractive capacity, which has permitted the haulage of longer and heavier trains per unit of fuel consumed. Longer boiler tubes have transferred heat more efficiently in steam raising, and average boiler pressures have been increased. Fire-boxes have been re-designed to permit better draft and better combustion. More stokers have increased the rate of firing; superheaters have raised the temperature of steam and have given it greater expansive force.

Dead weight of passenger locomotives has been reduced by the more extensive use of aluminum and alloy steels. The size and capacity of freight cars have been increased. Stops, delays, and slowdowns in-transit have been decreased and fuel consumption by idle locomotives reduced, largely by automatic control of signals and switches, improved train schedules, and double tracking. Better roadbeds, more careful firing of engines, more careful inspection, improved training of crew, payment of bonuses for saving coal, better selection of fuels, and many other improvements have also aided the progress of fuel efficiency by railroads.

Corresponding advances have been made in the iron and steel industry. In 1912 blast furnaces consumed 3631 pounds of coal in the coke required to produce one ton of pig iron and ferro-alloys. By 1935 this consumption had been cut to 2838 pounds. This represents only the savings made by more efficient blast-furnace technique and by higher yields of merchantable coke per ton of coal charged into coke ovens. It excludes economies obtained through greater recovery of the thermal by-products of coking, which represent another important saving.

Important fuel savings have been made also in other branches of the iron and steel industry, such as open-hearth furnaces, rolling mills and power-generating plants. The principal economies have been realized through the recovery and utilization of fuels formerly wasted. To a large extent they have replaced coal, fuel oil, and natural gas as sources of heat.

Change in the Coke Industry
The coke industry is a striking example of an almost complete change in the process of manufacture that brought with it important economies in the use of coal. Whereas in 1900 about 95 per cent of all coke was made in the relatively inefficient beehive ovens, by 1935 more than 97 per cent was produced in by-product ovens. The significance of this change is that beehive ovens allow the energy-containing volatile content of coal to escape, whereas in by-product ovens it is saved. Much of this retrieved energy is used where, otherwise, additional raw fuels would have been required. Advances of fuel efficiency in cement production parallel the experience of other industries. For the industry as a whole the average consumption of energy per barrel of finished cement, including purchased electricity, dropped from about 192 pounds of coal equivalent in 1917 to 145 pounds in 1937.

The old theory that the world would one day exhaust its fuel supply is no longer advanced. The new and now accepted theory—which is a near fact—is that savings and substitutes for fuel will forestall cessation of business for lack of energy-producing materials. Then too, not a few believe that man may yet see the day when the utilization of the sun's rays will substitute for many fuels now in use.

Marquette—Work of tearing down what remains of the Knights of Columbus building and clearing away debris left by the fire of Thursday, March 16, was started yesterday and it is expected that construction of a new building will get underway early in April. Dan Vaughn, Sr., chairman of the K-C building committee said yesterday.

Bids for construction will be opened in a week or two. No contract has been let for clearing refuse and tearing down the walls, Vaughan stated. The work is being done by day crews in charge of Franz Menze, Marquette contractor, under the supervision of Arthur Ripelle.

Six men were on the job yesterday tearing down the upper portion of the brownstone front wall. "We were eager to clear this away as soon as possible because it was dangerous to leave it standing," Vaughan said.
