BRITAIN CALLS FOR ALLIANCE AGAINST NAZIS

GERMAN SPOKESMEN STRIKE BACK AT CHAMBERLAIN

London, April 3.—Prime Minister Chamberlain, determined "to preserve the independence of all states threatened by aggression," today invited the world to form a defensive alliance with Britain against expanding Germany.

The prime minister made clear that Britain harbored no aggressive intention toward Germany "so long as Germany will be a good neighbor."

But he accused her of breaking faith and declared again Britain's intent to dominate the world by force.

House Hushed "What we are concerned with is to preserve our independence," Chamberlain said, calmly, deliberately, while the house of commons sat strangely hushed in contrast to its usual turbulence.

"When I say independence, I do not mean this country only. I mean the independence of all states which may be threatened by aggression."

"We therefore welcome the cooperation of any country, whatever may be its internal system of government, not in aggression but in resistance to aggression."

Chamberlain seemed the same calm, elderly business man in discussing what he suggested was a new "epoch" in British diplomacy.

He made his statement slowly, emphasizing his precisely-phrased points by rapping his eyesglasses on the historic house of commons bench box.

Brings Out Cheers Frequently, as he reached a decisive or dramatic point, the house came to its feet to cheer him thunderously—including the opposition member who a year ago assailed his conciliation policies.

Chamberlain sat down amid ringing cheers as he concluded, sternly but hopefully: "We cannot live forever in an atmosphere of surprise and alarm from which Europe has suffered in recent months."

First Smelt Dipped As Queen Broadcasts Word Of Escanaba Jamboree

On Sunday night, as local residents tuned their radios to hear Queen Barbara Banks on the first 1939 Smelt Jamboree broadcast from station WMAQ, the first runs of the little, silvery fish began in Ford River.

Local smelt experts rubbed their chins when confronted with the question, "When will the runs reach their peak?" Ordinarily the small, pre-season runs begin a week or more before the big runs really get under way.

Many Hear Programs Many Escanaba residents reported hearing the radio programs on which the Smelt Jamboree publicity party, composed of Miss Banks, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Duchaine and Harold Gessner, broadcast the story of Escanaba's festival, Sunday night and Monday.

The queen and members of the publicity tour will be heard on a nation-wide hookup at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon, when they will be interviewed by Phil Evans of the Goodyear Farm News program.

Take Plane Today Miss Banks, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Duchaine, will leave Chicago for Washington aboard Rep. Fred Bradley's plane shortly after the noon broadcast.

Thursday evening they will attend the all-Michigan smelt and farm products dinner in the Congressional dining room.

On Wednesday evening, Miss Banks will be a guest at a party held in her honor at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Wendell Lund, former local residents.

Plotted by Bob O'Dell, the smelt jamboree special plane will fly back to Detroit on Friday, when Miss Banks will present a box of Escanaba smelt to Mayor Richard Reading.

Coroner Kerlikowski prepared to call an inquest jury.

LANSING SUN MAKES LAWMAKERS THINK OF GOING HOME

Lansing, April 3 (AP)—The drive toward an early adjournment of the legislature gained momentum today as mild, sunny weather turned lawmakers' thoughts toward home.

The election removed the bar that has held controversial issues in senate committees. Leaders in the house of representatives said they felt any co-operation from the other branch would permit a windup of legislative affairs before June.

Speaker Howard Nugent pointed out the issue of "overhead" service and labor relations bills, and is attempting to speed action on the budget, revision of liquor laws and a welfare reorganization bill that would centralize control of relief funds in the counties.

He predicted the ways and means committee would release an omnibus budget bill to the floor within three weeks. Legislative leaders felt that once a budget has been approved other legislation on the calendars would be left stranded by adjournment.

The senate has touched none of its major legislation. Its leaders felt that caution required that these measures remain in the air until after the vote had been cast in today's election.

Reorganization Measure Is Also Approved By Roosevelt

BY DR. HAROLD OLIVER Warm Springs, Ga., April 3 (AP)—President Roosevelt signed tonight the $358,000,000 emergency army air defense bill and the government reorganization measure.

They were the only two important bills approved by congress which were sent to him here for action. He had ten days to act, but affixed his signature to both long before that time was up.

The rearmament bill authorizes most of the money for an increase to 6,000 in army plane strength. The army now has around 2,000 fighting planes.

Earlier in the day the president had approved a loan up to $18,000,000 by the commodity credit corporation to bolster prices for southeastern naval stores producers.

Re-Elected

C. P. TITUS

DELTA COUNTY CONTEST WON BY C. P. TITUS

On the basis of incomplete returns early this morning, it appeared that C. P. Titus, incumbent, was re-elected Delta county commissioner of schools over Wallace Cameron, superintendent of schools at Rapid River.

Final returns could not be tabulated early this morning because of several missing precincts, including three in Maple Ridge, and Escanaba and Fairbanks townships.

Because of illness of one of the members of the election board, the votes were not counted in Maple Ridge township and will not be available until about noon today.

With all but the five township precincts missing, Titus held a lead of 464 votes, polling 3,727 to 3,263 for Cameron.

The apparent margin of victory was gained by Titus in the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone. In Escanaba, Titus polled 1,609 votes to 1,088 for Cameron while in Gladstone precinct number four was the deciding factor.

The juror's finding was the first of its kind since the U. S. supreme court ruled sit-down strikes illegal a few weeks ago.

Benjamin Simons, defense attorney, announced he would appeal the verdict, which does not make the union's 16,000 members subject to attachment.

"It's absolutely right," F. Ellwood Struve, general manager of the company, said of the verdict. "Justice has been done."

New Regent

J. J. HERBERT

ENTIRE SLATE CARRIED INTO STATE OFFICE

Detroit, April 3. (AP)—A complete victory for the state Republican ticket was indicated tonight with more than half the precincts canvassed.

Henry G. Kipke, Republican candidate for regent of the University of Michigan, was leading the other three candidates for this office. With 2,197 precincts of the state's 3,555 reported, Kipke's Republican running mate, Joseph J. Herbert had 209,921 votes. The highest Democrat, Henry M. Butzel, Republican candidate for supreme court justice, had received the highest total in the state at this stage.

With 2,204 precincts reported, Butzel had 230,172 votes. Justice Howard West, another Republican incumbent, had 231,294 votes and was running second in the state.

One Amendment Loses Two regents and two justices are to be elected. Returns from 1,975 precincts indicated two to one approval of the proposed amendment to the state constitution to provide for non-partisan election of judges.

The other proposed amendment to broaden the powers of circuit court commissioners apparently was defeated by a wide margin.

Dr. Myer, the Ann Arbor Democrat who was given endorsement by some non-partisan groups for regent, led the Democratic ticket. With 3,197 of the 3,555 precincts tabulated, he was running approximately 15,000 votes ahead of his party mate, Charles C. Lockwood.

No Upset Expected The vote tabulation at this stage included 950 of the 1,152 Wayne county precincts and there appeared to be no remaining factor which might upset the trend.

Kipke, the candidate who injected the most color into an otherwise dull campaign, ran well in Wayne county, where Democrats and University of Michigan alumni both are powerful.

CABIN DEATHS STILL MYSTERY

Bodies of Michigan City Man and Woman Found Near St. Joseph

St. Joseph, Mich., April 3 (AP)—The body of an attractive young woman whose nude body was found with that of Nate Rosenberg, former night club operator of Michigan City, Ind., in a tourist cabin at the House of David's Grande Vista Gardens south of here early this afternoon, was identified tonight as that of Mildred Baldwin, Sheriff Charles L. Miller said.

The girl, who formerly resided in Hartford, Mich., had been living in Michigan City, the sheriff said. He said identity was established by acquaintances of the girl and by the initials "M. B." on her purse.

Rosenberg and Miss Baldwin, who took a cabin at 4 a. m. Sunday, registering as "Mr. and Mrs. N. Rose of South Bend, Ind.," were found dead by a maid who had gone to the cabin. H. T. Dewhirst, head of the colony, immediately called Sheriff Miller, Coroner Louis Kerlikowski and Dr. Roland J. Brown.

A post-mortem will be conducted tonight or early tomorrow to determine the cause of deaths. The sheriff said both victims were unclad and that there were no signs of violence or of a struggle. A partly filled bottle of whiskey was found but no sign of drugs. The authorities dropped the theory of a double suicide tonight. Sheriff Miller said he believed the pair died accidentally from fumes from a gas heater in the cabin, although earlier reports said a window was found open.

Coroner Kerlikowski prepared to call an inquest jury.

River Is Dragged For Fireman Lost In DSS&A Wreck

Michigamme, Mich., April 3. (AP)—Coast guardsmen from Marquette and Skanebe began dragging the Beaufort river near here today in the continued search for the body of Leo Nadeau, Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic railroad fireman, drowned when his engine struck a dirt slide and went into the river Thursday night.

The body of Charles W. Richardson, veteran engineer and former state legislator and senator was recovered, Friday.

ARMY DEFENSE BILL IS SIGNED

The army measure, first step in a supplemental defense program calling for a total of $552,000,000, does not appropriate any funds, but measures are pending to provide a portion of the money.

The navy part of the authorization legislation also is pending. Of the $358,000,000 authorization, $300,000,000 will go to the army air corps. A total of $23,750,000 is for bolstering Panama canal defenses, while $24,500,000 will be used for orders of war materials to "educate" American industry in their production.

Calander, Ont., April 3 (AP)—A quartet of dentists took a look at the Dionne quintuplets' teeth today and declared them all to be perfect.

Dr. A. R. Dafeo, personal physician to the five little girls, beamed at the report of the examination and asserted it was "most unusual" for children nearing their fifth birthday to have such faultless teeth.

STRIKERS LOSE COURT VERDICT

Apex Hosiery Mill Wins $711,932 Damages of Sitdowners

Philadelphia, April 3 (AP)—A labor union and its president were held responsible today for damage during a sit-down strike in the Apex Hosiery mill and were ordered to pay the company $711,932.

The verdict of a federal court jury of eight women and four men blamed Branch 1, American Federation of Hosiery Workers (CIO), and William Leuder, its president. The strike lasted 48 days in the spring of 1937.

The jury's finding was the first of its kind since the U. S. supreme court ruled sit-down strikes illegal a few weeks ago.

Benjamin Simons, defense attorney, announced he would appeal the verdict, which does not make the union's 16,000 members subject to attachment.

SURVEY CLEARS TVA ACCOUNTING

Charges of Dishonesty In Federal Agency Investigated

Washington, April 3 (AP)—A majority of the joint congressional committee which investigated TVA exonerated that agency of charges of maladministration and inefficiency today, while three Republican members of the committee indignantly protested such a finding.

Reporting its conclusions to congress, the majority asserted that: Rates for TVA power "provide a legitimate, honest yardstick" for comparison with the rates charged by private utilities.

Charges of dishonesty preferred by Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, former TVA chairman disposed last year by President Roosevelt, were "without foundation" and "not supported by the evidence."

TVA's "personnel is able, honest and efficient."

The acquisition of land by TVA "has been efficiently and honestly managed."

The criticism directed at TVA spending by the office of the comptroller general has been largely "baseless."

The comptroller general's audit of TVA should be discontinued and a private auditing firm, selected by congress, should go over the books annually, as is done in the case of RFP.

Before 1938, TVA's accounting methods were "extremely unsatisfactory," but have since been corrected.

Chief Of Valencia's Police System and 20 Aides Executed

Valencia, Spain, April 3 (AP)—The former chief of the Republican military police in Valencia, Loreto Apellaniz Garcia, and 20 of his aides were executed today after being convicted by a nationalist military tribunal of assassinations and tortures during the civil war.

They were convicted yesterday also of killing and imprisoning many nationalist supporters, and of terrorizing Valencia during the war.

They were the first persons tried by nationalist military courts.

Cafes and bars were opened again as nationalist money began to appear. In front of banks long lines waited through the streets waiting to change pre-war money for the new nationalist bills.

President Lebrun Of France Agrees To Be Candidate

Paris, April 3. (AP)—President Albert Lebrun, bowing to urgent requests made in view of the international situation, agreed to become a candidate for re-election at Wednesday's national assembly.

French presidents are elected for seven years and Lebrun becomes only the second man in the history of the French republic to stand for re-election. It was expected he would be returned to office.

He had planned not to run, but agreed to do so, according to a semi-official statement distributed through a French news service, because of urgent requests from nationalist leaders.

Plan To Store Up WPA Time Drafted In Upper Peninsula

Washington, April 3 (AP)—A system whereby WPA workers could store up work time in the winter to be drawn on in the winter will be submitted to Works Progress Administrator Harrington this week by a delegation from the Michigan legislature.

The group includes James Goulet, chairman, Victor Knox, Isadore Weza, and Robert L. Sawyer. They called on Representative Bradley (R-Mich.) today.

In the Headlines From Washington

(By The Associated Press) An effort was started in the senate to pass a $100,000,000 WPA appropriation bill instead of the $150,000,000 asked by President Roosevelt or much smaller sums proposed by economy advocates.

The house coinage committee recommended that the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund and the president's power to revalue the dollar be continued for two years.

The senate passed and sent to the house legislation to permit cotton growers to purchase loan cotton from the government at 5 cents a pound.

The securities commission announced the beginning of a broad survey into the credit needs of small business men.

George M. Harrison, chairman of the railway labor executives association, recommended to congress that a "new tribunal" with "unprejudiced minds" investigate transportation subsidies.

A majority report by a special congressional committee which investigated the Tennessee valley administration gave that agency a clean bill of health.

Murphy And Hoover On Inspection Trip To Four Cities

Detroit, April 3. (AP)—Attorney General Frank Murphy, accompanied by J. Edgar Hoover, head of the federal bureau of investigation, arrived in Detroit today on the first leg of an airplane tour of four inland cities.

While on the trip, Murphy said, he would discuss law enforcement problems and push his campaign to obtain advancement on court dockets of cases more than two years old.

In Detroit, Murphy conferred with U. S. District Attorney John C. Lehr and John S. Bugas, head of the local FBI office.

He attended funeral services for Frank E. W. Bright, veteran newspaperman and an old friend of Murphy's.

The attorney general said he and Hoover would leave here this afternoon for Chicago, where he has scheduled a conference with department of justice officials at 7 p. m. From Chicago they will fly to St. Louis, Mo., for a midnight conference with federal officials.

Tuesday morning they will fly to Kansas City, Mo.

Mode To Organize Ford Employees In CIO To Begin Soon

Cleveland, April 3. (AP)—The CIO United Automobile Workers launched an intensive drive today to organize employees of the Ford Motor company.

The union's convention unanimously adopted a program for this announced No. 1 goal, but withheld placing the motor firm on its "unfair to labor" list as earlier threatened.

The drive will be directed by a special committee elected by the international executive board, subject to replacement if it does not report progress "at an early date."

Female Foot Found In Cleveland Dump

Cleveland, April 3. (AP)—Detective Peter Merylo, specialist on torso slayer victims, prodded in a city dump today but wasn't convinced that Cleveland's surgically skilled maniac had claimed No. 13.

The search started when the charred foot of a white woman, sawed cleanly off above the ankle, was found yesterday on the dump.

He found no further portions of a body.

The last victims, Nos. 11 and 12, were discovered last August. They had been killed several months before.

FIRST TO REPORT Pointe Aux Barques, Mich., April 3. (AP)—Republican candidates won big majorities in today's election in this Huron county community, first in the state to report its returns.

Sixteen persons went to the polls but all of them voted on only one issue, the proposed constitutional amendment providing for a non-partisan judiciary. The amendment was favored 15 to 1.

Justices Henry M. Butzel and Howard West of the state supreme court, Republicans, received 13 votes each to none for their Democratic foes, Thomas J. Murphy and Clarence D. Dwyer.

In the race for two places on the university of Michigan board of regents the two Republican candidates, Harry G. Kipke and J. Joseph Herbert, received 10 and 12 votes respectively. Dr. Dean W. Myers, a Democratic candidate, got three votes while his running mate, Charles Lockwood, received none.

Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, Republican, present superintendent of public instruction, received 13 votes. Republican candidates also led for the state board of agriculture's two vacancies.

A constitutional amendment that would give circuit court commissioners powers of justices of the peace trailed 8 to 7.

Reductions Started On Rosters Of WPA Chicago, April 3. (AP)—Bruce I. Thus, regional WPA director, said today the job of cutting 63,760 persons from the WPA rolls had begun in Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Michigan and Ohio.

The reductions are to be completed this week. They were ordered because the house passed a $100,000,000 WPA appropriation instead of the $150,000,000 requested.

The reductions ordered in this region and the new state totals cut were: Illinois, 18,220, to a total of 210,780; Indiana, 4,970, to 80,530; Michigan, 10,370, to 128,620; Missouri, 10,620 to 91,880; and Ohio, 19,580, to 225,920.

Lansing, April 3. (AP)—Sen. Felix H. Flynn, Republican, Cadillac, placed the problem of succession to the governor's chair in the lap of the legislature tonight.

Flynn, president pro tem of the senate and majority floor leader, introduced a bill which would confer the duties and powers of the chief executive upon the attorney general, state treasurer and auditor general, in that order, should the governor and lieutenant governor both die or become incapacitated.

The bill took no cognizance of a controversy whether an acting governor may appoint a lieutenant governor, who would interrupt the line of succession so far as other officers of the governor's elective "cabinet" might be concerned.

Other new senate bills would: Create a board of examiners to examine, license and otherwise regulate professional photographers.

Establish a board of abstract commissioners to regulate the abstracting of real estate titles.

OLE PETERSON IS COUNCILMAN

Richardson Is Named to Fill Year's Vacancy On Commission

Gladstone, April 3.—Ole Peterson, incumbent city commissioner, was re-elected today in a spring election which was termed "heavier than usual."

Interest in the Cameron-Titus race for the post of Delta county school commissioner boosted balloting to about 1,500 votes, which is considered high for an "off-year" election.

Peterson polled 693 votes to defeat Fred Schram, 589, and Herbert Peterson, 159.

J. F. Richardson was elected to fill a one-year vacancy on the commission, defeating Ernest Brynolf by a vote of 816 to 530. Alger W. Strom, incumbent justice of the peace, was re-elected without opposition.

The vote by precincts for commissioner was as follows:

MASONVILLE TOWNSHIP Rapid River, Mich., April 3.—Carl Person had no difficulty in defeating his slip candidate opponent, Robert Murchie, here today, winning the supervisorship by a vote of 494 to 53.

Other unopposed winners were: clerk, Hilda Johnson; treasurer, Edna Young; justice of peace, Nels Westling; board of review, Nels Westling.

MAPLE RIDGE TOWNSHIP Rock, Mich., April 3. (AP)—Frank Salmi, incumbent, was re-named township clerk in a torrid polling 256 votes to 234 for William Cook. John Sharkey, slip candidate, was third with 109 votes.

Edward Huff, incumbent, won a three-cornered race for supervisor, getting 347 votes to 142 for Arne Roine and 138 for Albert Suoni.

Martin Kaminski had no difficulty in overwhelming Peter Ruokola, 484-96, for treasurer.

John Norman won a three-cornered race for justice of peace, polling 391 to 146 for Frank Trombly and eight for Anselm Ruohonen.

Clarence Larson and George Kaukola were unopposed for member of the board of review and constable, respectively.

The election board did not count the state or county ballots, electing to hold the counting until tomorrow morning.

GARDEN TOWNSHIP Garden, Mich., April 3.—Members of the Democratic party were all victorious over the township ticket in a hot election here today.

Harry J. Green ousted incumbent Elmer LaCost for supervisorship by a margin of 235-177. Other races were as follows: Clerk: George Boudreau 249, Wesley Horning 151.

Treasurer: Hazel Hazen 257; Virgil Winters 146. Justice of peace: Thomas Truckey 180; Marie Whitmarsh 129.

against expanding Germany, meanwhile, reached a delicate stage.

The chief difficulty was to give Rumania a British military pledge without affronting Hungary—closely bound to Poland.

Hungary stands between Germany and King Carol's country of rich wheatfields and oil wells and a British promise to defend Rumania's frontiers would imply either that Hungary might attack Rumania or that Germany might march through Hungary.

Furthermore, neither Poland nor Rumania is eager to undertake too closely association with Soviet Russia. Rumania holds pre-war Russia's province of Bessarabia.

Diplomats said the solution to this thorny problem would be discussed with Beck and with Rumania in Bucharest. The only possibility, they said, might be to link Rumania to the "halt Hitler" bloc by extending the Polish-Rumanian treaty against Russian aggression.

"GROUNDWORK FOR WAR" Berlin, April 3. (AP)—Nazi Germany's spokesmen struck back quickly today at Prime Minister Chamberlain's promise to back up the independence of "all states" threatened by menacing forces with a charge that Britain was laying the groundwork for a new war which she would run at the expense of others.

"The self defense is on our side," said one spokesman in reply to the British premier's statement that his policy was one of defense.

The spokesman explained that in his Wilhelmshaven speech Saturday Chancellor Hitler refrained from starting a campaign for a preventive war, but warned that attempts to mix in Germany's sphere of influence would meet with resistance.

Foreign office quarters earlier had expressed a conviction that Chamberlain would get nowhere with his "halt Hitler" policy.

They said they had reason to believe that Poland, in the final analysis, would not respond to Britain's overtures at the expense of Polish friendship with Germany.

Too Late In Rumania As for Rumania, they indicated a belief that Britain had come in too late after the German-Rumanian trade treaty had been signed.

"Our relations with Rumania never were better," a spokesman said.

Officials studied Chamberlain's speech and watched closely the movements of Polish Foreign Minister Joseph Beck in London. It was taken for granted that Hitler was given a full report on the British house of commons session.

Hitler was still aboard the "strength through joy" steamer Robert Ley, cruising in the North Sea. He is expected in Berlin tomorrow night.

Beck's visit to London will decide the future of German-Polish relations, said Dienst Aus Deutschland news service, stating the views held by officials. It added:

"Warsaw, in the German view, is standing at the crossroads. Berlin desires to hold to good neighborly relations with Poland, signed and agreed upon in the January, 1934, understanding (the German-Polish non-aggression pact)."

"The future attitude toward German-Polish relations, in the German view, can not remain unaffected by the result of Britain's diplomatic efforts to draw Poland into an encircling system directed against Germany."

"Chamberlain's one-sided offer of assistance contains the hopes of British diplomacy that it will develop into a two-sided affair. But German-Polish relations also must be based on mutual respect."

All other comment was bitter. Nazi interpreters of Hitler's mind saw Britain insisting on continuing his "encirclement policy" despite Hitler's "peace speech" in Wilhelmshaven.

In London, both Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax denied any attempt was being made to encircle Germany.

Britain's "silver bullets"—meaning reports that Britain was offering a loan to Poland—"also can be dangerous," said some in an obvious effort to dissuade Warsaw from taking what the press called "such talk."

A resume of Chamberlain's address was carried by DNB (German official news agency) shortly after the prime minister spoke.

Former Petoskey Queen Killed By Hit-Run Motorist

Detroit, April 3. (AP)—Officers of the accident prevention bureau concentrated a search today for the hit-run driver who killed 18-year-old Mrs. Dolphine Bartlett, former Petoskey, Mich., winter carnival queen, and her unborn son early Sunday morning.

The bureau ordered eight officers into the hunt for the driver, and all garages were given a description of the car along with the first three numbers of its license plates as obtained by witnesses.

The right front headlight and fender were broken. A $50 reward was offered by the Wayne county board of auditors.

Witnesses said the car, a mud-splattered coach, struck Mrs. Bartlett and her husband, Gordon, 24, as they were leaving a safety zone. Bartlett suffered minor injuries.

Returns In Township Elections Are Given

BALDWIN TOWNSHIP Perkins, Mich., April 3.—No opposition appeared in the field here today as the following township officers were elected in a light election: supervisor, Ernest Carlson; clerk, Charles Nordstrom; justice of peace, Clifford LeClair; justice of peace, Alphonse Klunart; board of review, John Fuhrman.

CORNELL TOWNSHIP Cornell, Mich., April 3.—Morton Schire was reelected supervisor in an uncontested election here today. Others swept into office were: clerk, Ted McFadden; treasurer, Dorothy Woodard; justice of peace, Alex Carlson; board of review, John Bainger.

WELLS TOWNSHIP Wells, Mich., April 3.—Ole Thorsen was named to the board of supervisors again today, having no opposition. Unopposed candidates for other offices were: clerk, Jacob Groos; treasurer, Phil Clark; justice of peace, August Severinsen; board of review, Thomas Bedard.

NAHMA TOWNSHIP Nahma, Mich., April 3.—All members of the township party were named to offices here today in a light vote. They were: supervisor, Allen T. Mercer; clerk, Bernard Brophy; treasurer, Nell Fleming; justice of peace, Edell Remington; board of review, B. D. Royce. Mercer defeated John Nepper, 287-88, in the only contest.

MASONVILLE TOWNSHIP Rapid River, Mich., April 3.—Carl Person had no difficulty in defeating his slip candidate opponent, Robert Murchie, here today, winning the supervisorship by a vote of 494 to 53.

Flier Sets Record Crossing Country; Trip Costs $27.50

New York, April 3. (AP)—Chilled but chipper and out of pocket only $27.50, Clare W. Bunch of Robertson, Mo., dropped down on Roosevelt field today after a transcontinental non-stop flight that set a record for light planes.

Bunch left Burbank, Calif., at 10:41 a. m. (PST) yesterday, giving him a flying time of 23 hours 26 minutes, compared with the 30 hours 37 minutes required Nov. 28-29 by John W. Jones.

Jones' plane, however, had a 50-horsepower engine, while Bunch's Lambert monocoque has 90 horsepower.

Bunch said he spent $23.35 for 152 gallons of gasoline and had 15 gallons in his tanks when he landed. Oil cost him $3.90, 15 cents went for coffee, and 20 cents for two sandwiches.

He said he flew at 12,000 feet for 17 hours.

He wore a parachute and no topcoat.

Mountain Climber Is Blown To Death At Cold Spring, N. Y.

Cold Spring, N. Y., April 3. (AP)—A 20-year-old mountain climber strangled today when he became entangled on a rope down which he and a companion were lowering themselves to a ledge on Break Neck Mountain.

The victim, Irving N. Feigin of New York City, dangled 800 feet in the air for nearly two hours before a rescue party succeeded in lifting the body above the ledge.

Feigin and his companion, M. Girard Bloch of Brooklyn, were coming down the mountain when the accident occurred.

State Police Lieutenant H. A. Gay quoted Bloch as saying the pair tied an 80-foot rope to a rock at a point 800 feet from the bottom of the mountain. Bloch came down first, followed by Feigin.

When Bloch reached the base, he heard Feigin screaming. The rope had fastened around Feigin's neck and legs, doubling him up. He swung against rocky projections momentarily and then ceased shouting.

Bloch said he returned to the top, but was unable to pull his companion to safety. He cried for help.

Confirmation Held Back For Douglas In Supreme Court

Washington, April 3. (AP)—Senate confirmation of William O. Douglas to be an associate justice of the supreme court was delayed today when Senator Frazier (R-N. D.) made a lengthy address criticizing Douglas's activities as chairman of the securities commission.

Frazier contended that Douglas had performed an "about face" in his attitude toward the stock exchange.

For nearly a year, the senator said, Douglas applauded administration of the exchange but later, when his name was being mentioned for the supreme court and when some criticism was being heard that he was "naively sacrificing the public interest in his dealings with the exchange," he abandoned his praise and charged the exchange with offering "phony" suggestions for changes in the securities act.

KITE TOURNEY IS ANNOUNCED

Kiwanis Club Sponsors Meet On Saturday, April 22

The second annual kite tournament conducted by the Kiwanis club in cooperation with the city recreation department will be held Saturday, April 22, beginning at 9 o'clock. The committee in charge of the tournament consists of Dr. K. F. Harrington, chairman, R. F. Gregory, Kryn Bloom, Thaxter Shaw, J. H. Jackson, Dr. Rudolph Erickson and Burnell Phillips. The events are as follows:

100 yard dash: Each contestant lets his kite out to the length of three hundred feet of string and winds it back in. First one to have his kite back wins. No mechanical reels will be allowed.

Altitude race: At a signal, all contestants let out their kites. At the end of a stated time, the one whose kite is the highest wins.

Kite battle: Each contestant has his string equipped with razor blades, broken glass, or some destructive device with the idea of cutting an opponents string. All kites are raised in the air. At a signal, contestants walk around, trying to bring down another's kite. The last kite in the air wins.

Messenger race: Small pieces of cardboard or some other light object is worked up the string to the kite over a designated length of string. The first one to have his message reach the kite is the winner.

Largest kite: Measured over one flying surface. If it is a box kite, measured over the top surface. The kite must fly.

Smallest kite: Measured the same as above. Must fly.

Most artistic or unusual kite: Judged on design, effect, coloring and so forth. Must fly.

First, second, and third place awards will be made in most of the events.

LUMBER YARD BURNS

Rudyard—Loss was estimated at between $10,000 and $15,000 in the destruction by fire last night of the MacDonald Lumber Company plant at Rudyard.

B. A. (Bud) MacDonald said that origin of the fire, which was at about 10 o'clock last night, was not determined. The property was covered by insurance.

Buildings as well as the lumber stock were a total loss. The fire department of Rudyard, as well as citizens, attempted to save the building, but were powerless because the fire had such a start.

Mr. MacDonald said plans are to rebuild and restock a lumber yard, the only one at Rudyard. Mr. MacDonald was in the business with his father, I. D. MacDonald of Pickford. The business was established at Rudyard about eight years ago.

Potatoes for Spud Juice "FILL 'er up with spud juice, buddy."

This may be the wise-crack of the average motorist to filling station attendants in the not distant future, if research specialists now at work on the problem bring their plans to fruition.

Hereafter, when a surplus of potatoes accumulates, it is hoped to manufacture a type of motor fuel from over-plentiful and cull tubers that will take the place of gasoline and save the driver money.

One trouble the projected move may have to face is that of possible taxation. Potato fuel can be made from the waste of gas, manufacturers of the latter are not likely to take it lying down.

Saving the Scenery MICHIGAN'S growing investment in scenic state highways would be safeguarded against commercial exploitation of billboards and signs under provisions of Senate Bill 147, now pending at Lansing.

The measure, modeled after a California law, was introduced Feb. 27 by Senator Joseph Baldwin, Republican of Albion.

While Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, was attending the annual meeting of the American Road Builders' association in Seattle last month, he conferred with the California highway commissioner.

These changes were approved by Senator Baldwin on March 20, and the revised bill is now before the senate state affairs committee of which Senator Earl Munshaw, Grand Rapids is chairman.

"This bill would not deprive an outdoor advertising employee of one day's employment," state Senator Baldwin. "It seeks sensible regulation of commercial advertising structures on state trunkline roads in the interest of public safety and in protection of our scenic resources."

A feature of the bill, as amended by Commissioner Van Wagoner, is a provision for creation of scenic zones on designated tourist highways in which no billboards would be permitted outside cities and villages.

The Massachusetts Supreme court, in upholding a billboard law, ruled that the scenery of the state was an asset owned by the people as a whole and that values along a highway were obviously created by that highway, such rights thus belonging to the public which created the highway and used it.

The 1929 measure, with its amendments, is devoid of severe restrictions which led to defeat of a similar bill two years ago. Exemptions are provided for any sign that is used exclusively to "advertise the business conducted or services rendered or the goods produced upon the property upon which such advertising structure or sign is placed."

This would exempt the farmer or gasoline station dealer, enabling them to advertise their own business.

Profitless Punishment LAW enforcement is not a notable piece for a sense of humor, and perhaps that is just as well, else we might be overrun by strange punishments like those of Gilbert's Mikado who "make the punishment fit the crime."

But nevertheless it does no harm to observe some sense of fitness. Six months ago a Portland, Me., man was jailed for non-payment of a poll tax of $1.

Then somebody got to figuring a little. After six months in the calaboose, this gentleman had cost the community about $100. He was released, without having paid the tax. Everything then stood as at first, except that the community was out $100.

Thus 33 citizens had to pay their poll tax to provide the money for a vain effort to collect it from the 34th.

much. It is most unfortunate that approximately 20,000 children in Michigan, through circumstances of birth, disease or accident are seriously handicapped for the struggle of life by the conditions which this work aims to correct or ameliorate.

The Annual Easter Seal Sale affords opportunity for many people to contribute in amounts large or small, even down to a single penny.

And the giver of the penny may be sure he has a very real part in making life more real for some of these unfortunate little ones who might otherwise be doomed to a lifetime of suffering and poverty.

We know there are many and frequent calls for contributions to all sorts of projects. This work for crippled children is one of the most commendable, and we are glad to take this opportunity of urging people to buy these seals as they are able.

Tightening Up THE War Department is now reported finger-printing all its employees. Already 30,000 of the 70,000 civilian employees of the department have recorded their prints, and all but temporary unskilled help will soon be included.

There have been in the past many instances where employees of the War and Navy Departments turned out to be not only aliens, but even men definitely unfriendly to the government they were "serving."

The business of finger-printing them will not weed out all undesirables, but it ought to get some, and should help in locating others in the future.

Even civilian workers about arsenals, the Canal Zone, air bases, and coast fortifications, to say nothing of those working in the department at Washington, ought to be of unquestioned loyalty. Any government which permits any other condition is not being liberal, but stupid.

Other Editor's Comments HOW TO STOP HITLER (Detroit News)

Nothing is more amazing than that Europe should continue to study what Hitler has to say in the hope that it will find a key to his further purpose. We refer to his Memel speech, and to perplexity resulting from his statement that German wrongs had been righted "in the main," and the subsequent deletion of that statement from the official text.

We do not see that any Hitler promise, or suggestion of a promise, is relevant to the current European situation. Pledges elicited from him when he is flushed with success will be ignored when the proper time comes, for he has proclaimed in writing the usefulness of lies and of promises made to be broken. He spoke nothing but the truth on that one occasion.

The successful threats that Hitler has employed are a guarantee that he will return to the appointed course opportunely. We may, however, expect further promises along the way. Among the cleverest of his designs in dealing with the democracies is the periodic creation of the appearance of a lull, and of a feeling that the worst is over.

For it is in such times that any possible coalition against him is most likely to disintegrate. The European "Stop Hitler" bloc is made up of strange bedfellows. Even a few weeks of seeming quiet in Europe might shatter it.

Yet if sanity is to be restored, and order is to prevail, the nations wanting peace in Europe must realize one and for all time that they dare not risk their security upon the word of a sworn enemy, and that knowledge must continue to bind their union. The lament from Rome that a military alliance between the Western democracies and Russia is a bid for war certifies that such an alliance is the one thing the Fascist powers fear most.

German learned one all embracing strategic lesson in the World War. Her general staff calculations ever since have been predicated upon facing Russia and the Western democracies, separately. No matter how mad Hitler may be, it is not conceivable that his military advisers would again permit the armies to be smashed between the anvil of the West and the hammer from the east, a hammer far more menacing than it was in 1914. The proximity of Germany's large cities to Russia's air frontiers is as unsteady as German morale as is fear of Germany's bombers to the Englishman.

For the peace of Europe, the anti-Hitler bloc must first establish its faith in itself, and then defend that faith with courage and steady nerves.

THE GOVERNOR'S RESPONSIBILITY (Detroit News) Gov. Dickinson was quoted in The News yesterday as being content with what the Legislature is in process of doing to the State Civil Service.

"I am going to rely on the Legislature in this matter," he said. "They don't expect me to come in and be a steering wheel."

If this latter exclusively means the Governor hopes to leave exclusively with the Legislature the responsibility for what is taking place, he is sadly mistaken.

World Affairs Reviewed

By NEA Service London—While Jew, Arab and Briton struggle at the Palestine conference here to find a compromise solution to the problem of a Jewish national homeland in the Holy Land, a mild-mannered man with a brown beard sits in exile in Syria and directs his followers in the fight for Arab nationalism.

Though a fugitive in French-mandated Syria, His Eminence Haj Amin al-Husseini is like a living presence in the Palestine disorders.

He is Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, 43 years old. He is the religious leader of the Moslems of the Palestine area, occupying a position in Islam somewhat similar to that of a Cardinal of the Roman Catholic Church. During the past few years he has become the incarnation of the Arab cause in Palestine, and the backbone of Arab resistance to what seems to them Jewish, and now British, intrusion.

A year ago the Grand Mufti, wanted by British authorities on charges of stirring up Arab terrorism and resistance to the Jews, escaped to Syria disguised as a Bedouin. His presence there is an embarrassment to the French. They do not wish to displease the British, especially now, nor do they wish to antagonize the Mohammedan world. For in North Africa the French, too, have a Moslem problem.

So while British troops stand guard in Jerusalem, while embattled Jews fight with rifle and diplomacy to advance the Zionist cause, while British and French statesmen stave over what to do with mandates in the Near East, the Grand Mufti directs his followers in their fight for Arab nationalism.

It is not his first fight. Though the Mohammedan doctrine, the Mufti of Jerusalem is no product of the schools of the Koran. He is a soldier and a fighter first, and a religious interpreter second. Since he was 16, he has been a devoted Arab nationalist.

In those days Palestine was under Turkish rule, and Husseini was an officer of Turk-Arab troops. Even then he planned freedom for his people, and, deserting the Turkish cause, he rallied several thousand troops to the Allies for the campaign which wrested the Holy Land from German-Turkish control.

Confident that Britain and the League of Nations would stick by promises of an independent Arab state in Palestine, Husseini first adhered to the British mandate administration. From his plainly-furnished offices in the dim recesses of the Mosque of Omar, he directed the Arab side of the disputes with the Jews.

But as time went on, Husseini became more and more insistent on demands for stopping Jewish immigration. His contention is that Palestine is and must be an Arab state, and that Jews there must take a position as a minority.

Husseini would be an influential man in Palestine even if it were not for his high religious position, for his family is one of the most venerated in the country. Because of these factors, it is generally believed that the British allowed him to escape, feeling that he would be less a menace to order outside the country than within it. To punish so influential a man would be as a red rag waved before the Arabs.

It is believed that Mussolini, self-proclaimed "protector" of the Mohammedan peoples, has offered the Mufti refuge in Libya, Italy's African colony. Should he accept, and go to Libya as a "fugitive from British oppression," the act would be of great help to Mussolini in his efforts to stir up the Mohammedan world and ally it to himself. And it would be no help to the British with their problem of a large Mohammedan population in India.

tionally-recognized experts have placed on the plan drafted by the Fitzgerald Study Commission and enacted—as we say, almost miraculously by a subsequent Democratic Legislature. The people know of this estimate of the law.

The responsibility for repealing it and substituting a designedly weak and ineffectual law is not one most men would care to shoulder.

CONQUEST OF MEMEL (New York Times) Just as the conquest of Czechoslovakia points unmistakably toward a fresh German thrust toward the wheat fields and the oil lands of southeastern Europe, whenever the time seems ripe for such a move, so the conquest of Memel gives Germany a new authority in the whole Baltic area. Lithuania is small; but its strategic value is enormous, especially since Poland's western flank is exposed at Danzig. And it is scarcely to be doubted that what remains of Lithuania, deprived of the greater part of its seaboard, will now become in effect a vassal state of Germany.

It is not to be wondered that there is alarm in Warsaw and fresh anxiety in the capitals of Western Europe.

NO SURPRISE (Baltimore Sun) There is little occasion for excitement over the events in the country that once was called Czechoslovakia. The time for excitement came to an end last September, when Mr. Chamberlain and M. Daladier decided that they were unable to restrain the Nazi dictator's purpose to dismember the small nation. At that moment, Czechoslovakia's fate was sealed and the hegemony of the continent was finally placed in Hitler's hands.

Q. How did Henry Ford become interested in collecting McGuffey Readers? W. K. H. A. W. J. Cameron in one of his Sunday Evening Hour radio talks said: "Mr. Ford's interest in McGuffey was revived by a simple incident. One afternoon as the school children danced and shouted past the Ford home, Mrs. Ford remembered some verses she had learned from McGuffey's Readers in her school days."

Q. What is the motor boat speed record? M. H. L. A. The record is 127.5 land miles per hour made by Sir Malcolm Campbell in September, 1937, in Switzerland.

Q. How long is a Greyhound bus operated before it is overhauled or replaced? R. K. A. Greyhound buses are completely overhauled every 45,000 miles and the engines and bodies are often rebuilt. These buses are replaced about every five years.

Q. If a heavy and light object are dropped from a height simultaneously, which will fall the fastest? K. P. A. Neglecting the resistance of the air, a heavy object and a light object will fall to the earth with the same velocity. It was originally thought that the velocity of a freely falling body was proportional to its weight. Galileo, however, demonstrated that this was not so, by dropping various bodies from the top of the leaning tower of Pisa. It was discovered that light and heavy bodies reached the earth simultaneously.

Q. Were there any survivors of the Lost Battalion in the World War? C. E. D. A. There were 394 survivors of whom 156 were wounded.

Q. Please explain the term sub rosa. P. Y. T. A. For centuries the rose has been the symbol of secrecy. The proposition "sub" means under. In places of sanctuary where confidences were to be exchanged it was customary to carve a rose over the entrance. Literally, to be under the rose was to have the benefits of secrecy.

Q. Is Giuseppe Bentonelli the real name of the Metropolitan tenor? A. J. B. A. Joseph Horace Benton is the singer's real name. He is a native of Kansas City, Missouri.

Q. What is a Protocograph? D. B. A. Protocograph is a trademark for a machine which prevents alteration of the amount of a check or draft by roughening or grilling that part of the paper on which it prints the figures or the spelled-out amount.

Q. Whose picture is on the new gram is Bennett Kilpack.

Q. Has the Laetere Medal been awarded for this year? F. S. E. A. The Laetere Medal has been awarded to Miss Josephine Brownson, president of the Catholic Instruction League of Detroit, Michigan. Miss Brownson is the award which is bestowed annually by the University of Notre Dame on an outstanding member of the Catholic laity.

Q. How did Chevy Chase, Maryland, derive its name? M. J. C. A. The entire area now known as Chevy Chase was an original grant to Joseph Belt, who was born in 1680. He settled there in January, 1721, and probably named the place from the old Scotch ballad of Chevy Chase dating back to the 15th century, as he himself was a Scotchman.

New York Column

BY GEORGE ROSS New York—Hollywood papers, please copy: Katharine Hepburn has come back to Broadway, and the town is hers if she will have it.

Glamorous Katie is here with Philip Barry's scintillating comedy, "The Philadelphia Story"—as witty a show as we've had since the same author wrote "Paris Bound" and "Holiday."

And that Hepburn girl shines out in it, radiant to look at and to hear.

That girl can act, with verve, personality and umph, and if she weren't good in this, she'd be the first to say so. She once did. Several years ago, Miss Hepburn took a flier in "The Lake" on Broadway, after her early Hollywood skyrocketing to stardom. She took an awful ducking on "The Lake."

The critics said so. What did Katie think of it all? "I was lousy," she said, "and no one's to blame but myself."

And she still agrees with the others that she was merely terrible. They were compiling her biography for "The Philadelphia Story" program and her biographer discreetly omitted "The Lake" from her career.

"Put it right back and say how bad it was, too!" A regular girl? Well, ask the players who help her along in this new show. They say she is kind, modest, dynamic, witty and will go to bat for them every time. When they were rehearsing too long, she interceded on their behalf. The stagehands have her limousine—and liveried chauffeur. She foots the bills for all the after-theater suppers. Won't she hear of a Dutch treat.

A Speedster Folk who seek out the prodigal Katharine, now that she's returned to the flicker bright lights, find her either in her dressing room or in that elegant, four-story mansion that she owns over in fashionable Turtle Bay. That is, except weekends when she journeys to domesticate with her mother, the ubiquitous Mrs. Houghton, her one brother and her two sisters.

Or when she is not at any of these addresses, speedy motorists can catch up with the vibrant glamor girl on the adjacent highways, where she likes to drive and ponder, generally over fifty m. p. h., as the state troopers will tell you.

The still-single Hepburn (she may say "Yes" to Howard Hughes almost any day) presides actively over her stylish East Side home. She chose the furniture herself, and is efficient about supervising the housekeeping. With detached art appreciation, she is mighty proud of the life-sized portrait of herself, painted by Alexander Brooks, that hangs conspicuously on the wall.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN Washington—Jack Garner practically nominated himself for President the other day.

He was quietly enjoying a mid-afternoon refresher in his office off the Senate chamber, when bald Senator Clyde Herring, former auto dealer from Iowa, walked in and introduced William S. Knudsen, head of General Motors, with another official of the company. Always the gracious host, Garner welcomed them cordially and passed around drinks.

One of the visitors congratulated Garner on the adoption by the Texas legislature of a resolution endorsing him for the 1940 nomination. Garner grinned broadly and then, waving his arms, launched into his speech.

"It was awfully nice of the boys," he said, "but don't get me wrong. I have no desire to be President. No, sir. If course I can't do anything about it if my friends will boom me. And a lot of them are, right here in the Senate, too. Bennett Clark (himself an ardent aspirant), Bailey (North Carolina), Burke (Nebraska), and a number of the other boys are for me—aren't they, Clyde?"

Herring nodded vigorous assent. "And," continued Garner with a significant glance at Knudsen, "I am also getting letters every day from business men all over the country urging me to run. Naturally, I can't help but be flattered. I am not looking for a thing but if the lightning should strike in my direction, I guess I'd have to accept. Wouldn't I, Clyde?"

Herring again nodded emphatically as he emptied his glass.

INSTRUCTOR— During the committee hearings on the proposed reorganization of the Interstate Commerce Commission, he was interrogated at length by Senator Clyde Reed of Kansas, a one-time State Public Utility Commissioner. When he had finished, Reed turned to Senator Lister Hill of Alabama, chiefly responsible for Alldredge's selection, and remarked:

"Lister, you may not know it, but I have just been giving you a course on freight rates."

"Oh, is that what it was?" drily broke in Senator Harry Schwartz of Wyoming. "From the way the discussion proceeded, it seemed to me that Mr. Alldredge was giving you the instruction."

DIPLOMATIC CHAFF— Discussing naval building for Latin American countries, Senator Pepper of Florida suggested in the Foreign Relations Committee that new yards be built in the Gulf of Mexico. This was too much for Senator Vandenberg, traditional foe of the Florida Canal. "I suppose," he said, "you would have a new yard at the end of the Florida Canal?"

Joe Green, head of Munitions Control, has detected what's a gun-runner, but he can't detect what's a run with his children's guinea pigs. . . . Departure of Dr. Homer Viteri of Ecuador is tacit admission that his country and Peru have failed to adjust a century-old boundary dispute. Both countries sent delegations here in September, 1936, to prepare for arbitration by Roosevelt. All they did was give their children American schooling. They never reached an agreement even on what to arbitrate.

FRANCO DRIVE— Recognition of Franco took place after a secret drive waged by pro-Fascists both within and outside the State Department.

Chief opponent to Franco's recognition had been Claude Bowers, intensely democratic Ambassador to Madrid. However, some of the State Department boys have proposed a deal by which they hope to satisfy Bowers. Their plan is to send him to Mexico, replacing Ambassador Josephus Daniels, whom they have wanted to oust for some time.

Caffery is a great friend of Father Joseph P. Thorning, of Mount St. Mary's College, Maryland, one of the most active pro-Franco clerics in the United States. Father Thorning toured South America in an effort to line up those countries behind Franco; more recently gave a dinner in honor of Ambassador Caffery attended by leading clerics and Franco-philes both in and out of Congress.

MERRY-GO-ROUND— International affairs have even affected Washington's cherry blossoms. The word "Japanese" is left out of stories about them and news photographers have not invited the ladies of the Japanese embassy to pose for pictures. . . . Wisconsin Progressive Tom Amille has flatly rejected all overtures that he withdraw his name for Interstate Commerce Commissioner. He has told Administrators, and others who have urged him to withdraw in order to save himself from a Senate turndown, that he is standing pat even if he gets only one vote. If his appointment is disapproved, the post will go either to John Carson, hard-hitting Consumer's Counsel of the Coal Commission and one-time secretary to the late Senator James Couzens of Michigan, or to Former Farmer-Laborite Governor Elmer Benson of Minnesota.

CLERGY GUESTS OF KIWANIAN

Return to Religion Is Urged By Laymen At Luncheon

In observance of Holy Week, members of the clergy of Escanaba were guests of the Kiwanians at the Sherman hotel yesterday and heard two laymen declare that the solution to present day problems in the United States is largely dependent upon return to religious principles.

Speakers were J. J. Bartella and Lloyd Walker.

"The church is an important and vital factor," said Bartella, who is a prominent figure in the Catholic church in the city. "In the upbuilding of any community and must have the whole-hearted moral and financial support of all its people. Out of the ruin of nations, the fall of empires, the church has risen, ready to bring new hope to despondent people."

"In this country—thank God—it is man's right to own private property, man's right to educate his own family, and man's right to worship according to the dictates of his conscience. Contrast these sacred and human liberties to those godless nations whose dictators are opposed to religion, because religion must be free to be true—and nothing free can be tolerated in a totalitarian state."

"The present day assaults on religion, human rights, family life and the democratic form of government should arouse every man and woman to the need for united action in defense of church and democracy. A disregard of Christian principles has produced economic and moral chaos. It has given us those godless systems of government under which millions are now living as slaves to the decrees of a state or the will of a dictator. We, who today—whether Protestant, Jew or Catholic—cultivate friendly relations with all our fellow citizens and believe that a man's religion is a man's own business and that he is entitled under the 'bill of rights' to practice his belief without interference or persecution, must unite and combine our efforts for the salvation of church and country."

An appeal to our government to adopt Christian principles in its dealings with other nations was voiced by Mr. Walker, who is president of the Cloverland Commercial college of this city.

"If we as a government," said Walker, "would follow the practices of building good will among the nations that are followed by American merchant princes in building good will among their customers, we should not feel so much the necessity for unlimited war preparation."

SCOUT LEADERS HERE THURSDAY

Executive Board Meets to Discuss Plans for Future

Members of the Red Buck council Boy Scout executive board of Mupling, Gladstone, Manistiquette and Escanaba will meet at the Delta Hotel, Thursday, April 6 at 6 o'clock. The meeting will be held at the same place that Scouting was reorganized in this area two years ago. At that time four men Fred Habne, Manistiquette, A. V. Aronson, Arthur Goulaie, and Carl Sawyer of Escanaba, met to hire a scout executive and begin Scouting. The executive board is now made up of twenty-eight men representing Alger, Delta and Schoolcraft counties. The board will meet to receive reports of finances, activities, camping and other phases of the Scout program. Plans regarding summer camping and Cubbing will be determined.

Scouting has had a rapid growth in membership during the past two years, going from a paid membership of 54 in April, 1937, to an all time high of over 800 in April 1939.

Requests for additional units in the rural areas are received frequently and extension work in rural Scouting will begin this fall. Members of the executive board are elected each year at the annual council meeting to represent the committee in the council. Members of the board are: Escanaba district: Clarence Zerbel, J. F. Hart, John Lemmer, A. L. McNell, Herman Gessner, Wm. Warrington, Carl Sawyer, Merton Jensen, O. V. Thatcher and A. V. Aronson; Gladstone district: J. T. Jones, A. R. Watson, S. R. Venne, Fred J. Schram, Henry Cassidy, and Oscar Ohman; Manistiquette district: Ed Bleibshemer, Chas. Underwood, W. G. Stephens, A. J. Gayla, Wm. J. Cook, and Fred Habne; Munising district: Henry Jacobson, Frederick Steen, E. O. Erickson, Dr. Glenn Baxter, Vernon F. Florida and Lawrence Ouellette.

Dance of Danger!

"If we were to pay out of the United States treasury full value to our citizens whose holdings in Mexico have been expropriated, we should not begin to recompense Mexico for the value of the states we took from her by force in 1848. Article 27 of the Mexican constitution provides that property in Mexico may be expropriated by the government without indemnity. Now, no sane American will challenge the right of Mexico to adopt a constitution, but we wave the big stick and demand that Mexico proceed according to the United States constitution in matters affecting our citizens in Mexico. It is a matter of history that all of the 14 points in the Treaty of Versailles by which the integrity of Germany was guaranteed have been violated.

Back To Fundamentals

"Time was when popular public speakers thrilled their audiences," the speaker concluded, "by relating the greatness of America and they made us all proud and thankful that we were so fortunate as to be born under the stars and stripes. America is great and doubtless has a great future, but this only can be safeguarded when the decisions of the public policy are being formulated by well organized, powerful and militant minorities, by those who are endeavoring to get back to fundamentals through reawakening an interest in the principles of true Americanism and religion."

Members of the clergy present were Reverends Thomas E. Kennedy, Joseph Guertin, Nolan McKevitt, Lester Bourgeois, Karl Hammar, C. A. Lund, Birger Swenson, Arthur Glenn, L. R. Lund, William Hultman, James Ward and Carl Berger.

Lost At Sea?

NADEAU'S BODY NOT RECOVERED

Believe Fireman May Be In Cab; Operations Hurt By Cold

Michigan, April 3.—Divers employed in rescue work at the wreck of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic locomotive near here expressed the belief tonight that the body of Leo Nadeau, 48, of Marquette, fireman, who drowned when the engine plunged into the Beaufort river after hitting a landslide on the tracks, might still be in or near the engine cab.

The body of Charles W. Richardson, 66, of Marquette, engineer who also drowned in the mishap, was recovered Friday afternoon.

It was thought that Nadeau had been thrown clear of the cab and had been carried downstream or was planned under the engine, but divers said after constant work today that Nadeau's body might be buried under two or three feet of mud and coal in the cab. Part of the cab is buried in mud.

Slings Under Engine

Working under most difficult conditions, because of cold water and mud, divers succeeded in putting slings under the locomotive, one under the cab and one circling the front end of the engine, but two huge wreckers failed to extricate the 93-ton engine, valued at $65,000.

The L. S. & I. and Soo line wreckers pulled several times, and it was thought that the locomotive moved slightly, but because of the great amount of silt, the engine was unable to be dragged from the river bottom.

Saturday, the 115,000-pound tender was lifted out and taken to Nestoria. The slings were placed on the engine at 11 a. m. today, but suction prevented progress. Dynamite blasts, in an effort to prevent suction, also were used, but this failed also.

Thousands Of Spectators

The divers, Captain H. H. Thompson and his son, John, of Duluth, worked most of Saturday and Sunday, assisting the wrecking crew and attempting to locate Nadeau's body. A careful search was made around the engine for the body.

It was possible for only one diver to be down at one time, and because of the cold water, he could not stay down for any great length of time. All rescue attempts, both in the hunt for the body and in hoisting the engine, were halted at 7 p. m. and will be resumed at 7 Monday morning.

The wrecking crew plan Monday to attempt to hoist the rear end of the engine, that nearest the north bank of the river. It is hoped that progress can be made, in that manner, by placing a large hook on the fire door of the engine's boiler.

Thousands of spectators were at the scene of the accident Sunday afternoon, many equipped with cameras and attempting to get "shots" from the opposite side of the river bank.

Automobiles were parked on the highway for a distance of two to three miles and state police from the Marquette and L'Anse posts were on duty all Saturday and Sunday keeping the road clear. Deputies from the Baraga county sheriff's department also

157 ARRESTED IN PAST MONTH

Conservation Violators Pay Fines of $608; Three Dismissals

A total of 157 arrests was made by conservation officers during the month of February with only three cases later dismissed in court.

Fines imposed on law violators totaled $608.80, costs amounted to $941.15 and jail sentences were imposed for 320 days.

Among unusual arrests made during the month was that of two violators who had in possession black squirrels and a bald eagle taken without a permit. Three arrests were made for taking caddis fly larvae from trout streams and one for the possession of rainbow trout during closed season.

Leading the list of total arrests were 39 made for fishing without licenses. In each case where fines were imposed the fine plus cost of license for many years to come.

Second largest number of violators were the 27 fishermen who took or attempted to take fish by the use of more than two lines. Sixteen persons were arrested for possession of undersize game fish and eight for the possession of more than the legal limit of fish.

Ford River Man Is Bound to Circuit Court On Forgery Charge

Wester Ritchie of Ford River, arraigned yesterday in justice court on a charge of forgery, pleaded guilty and was bound over to circuit court with bonds set at $1,500 which he had not furnished last night. He is being held in the Delta county jail and will appear at the next term of circuit court which opens April 10.

He is charged with passing four worthless checks in Escanaba stores, with a total amount of nearly $100. The forged checks were made by William Kratze, and a book of checks which had been lost by Kratze was found by officers hidden in Ritchie's home.

Metropolitan reports to its policyholders—

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company is a mutual company. It is operated solely for the benefit of its 29 million policyholders, whose life insurance with this Company totaled over $22,612,000,000 at the end of the past year.

In 1938, more than $566,300,000 was paid to policyholders and beneficiaries, and $176,000,000 was added to statutory reserves for payment of obligations which will accrue in future years under present policies. Dividends paid in 1938 amounted to $103,940,000. A still larger sum—$118,042,000—has been set aside for dividend payments in 1939.

Metropolitan has paid, since 1927, more than $5,000,000,000 to policyholders and beneficiaries.

More than $1,800,000,000 of life insurance protection was provided by the 3,330,151 new policies issued during the past year.

Assets held for the benefit of policyholders and beneficiaries—which include more than 100,000 carefully selected, diversified investments—amount to more than $4,900,000,000.

As part of its welfare program in 1938, Metropolitan distributed 68 million health booklets—an average of one for every man, woman and child in the United States. Metropolitan also published monthly health-education advertisements in magazines whose combined circulation for the year was over 300 million copies.

Metropolitan welcomes every opportunity to provide its policyholders with information that will enable them to have a clearer understanding of how the Company operates. To help accomplish this, the Company is publishing a series of educational advertisements in magazines, and seeks in various other ways to keep its policyholders informed. A booklet, soon to be available, contains a detailed account of Metropolitan's progress in 1938. We shall be glad to send a copy on request.

Natural Pearls In Many Colors

To the American woman the finest in natural pearls has always meant the creamy pink variety from the waters around Bahrain in the Persian Gulf.

The fact is that the genuine pearl is certain to be of the same color as the inside of the mollusk shell in which it is found.

The determining factors are believed to be the mineral content of the water in which the mollusk is found, the food upon which the oyster feeds, and the temperature and under-sea conditions surrounding it.

In India the different colors of natural pearls have always had great significance. There it is believed that the yellow pearl brings understanding, the white fame, and the blue good luck.

Fashion-minded women, however, have made a more realistic use of the color variations. They choose the shades that blend best with their complexions.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 38 to 43), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about her fashion, loss of sex, dainty spells, upset nerves and moody spells.

Just get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Send today for the very popular MARIAN MARTIN BOOK OF SPRING PATTERNS! You can solve ALL your spring sewing problems as you look it over from cover to cover.

Send your order to Daily Press Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

WE' the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

Members of New York's Fashion Group—the women who decide whether your hair shall be up or down, your shoes "Little Girl" style or sophisticated—bit their pencils the other day over a test designed to indicate their business P. Q.'s (personality quotients).

The questions, some of which are offered for your own check-up, were prepared for the group by Dr. David Seabury, a practicing psychologist in New York City.

- 1. Do you feel capable of running the business you're in as well as your boss does? 2. Do people with whom you have dealings soon get to know who you are? 3. Do you prefer jobs where you work with other people? 4. Do you usually make your own decisions rather than talk matters over with others? 5. Can you approach all business appointments with assurance, not having to force yourself to go to an interview in a strange office? 6. Do you make an effort to meet new people in your own field and to keep posted on developments in your field by belonging to organizations, reading, attending events, etc.? 7. Can you work under pressure without folding up, weeping, getting irritable, and going to pieces? 8. Do you make an effort always to look smartly dressed? 9. Do you feel at ease in a group of business people outside of your own office? 10. Can you take criticism without having your self-confidence shaken? Give yourself ten for every "yes" answer and nothing for the "no's."

You shouldn't get 100 on the test, according to Dr. Seabury. If you do you're too good. But if you get less than 60, you'd better perk up a little.

And while you are checking up on yourself you might as well know Dr. Seabury's advice to all business women: "Quit apologizing for being 'career women'. There's no longer any need for you to explain how you happen to be in the business world even when you're off in a corner talking to a good-looking man at a cocktail party."

This country can not be in good health, and the democratic principle can not be safe, until men go back to work.

Ten Mile P-T-A Names Officers For Coming Year

Officers of the Ten Mile Creek Parent-Teacher association for the coming year, elected at the March meeting of the unit, were announced yesterday, as follows:

First vice pres.—Edward Guindon. Second vice pres.—Miss Ruth DeGrand. Third vice pres.—Mrs. Phillip Desjardin. Secretary—Mrs. Elmer Langdon.

Treasurer—Mrs. Amie Derouin. Historian—Mrs. Romeo Hereau. A committee to consider the hot lunch project in the school was appointed by Mrs. Joseph Gaudreau, retiring president. Its members, Thomas LaFleur, Conrad Hereau and Edward Guindon.

Mrs. Thomas LaFleur was appointed chairman of the summer round-up.

A social and cards followed the business meeting.

At the next meeting on April 11, a short play and other numbers will be given by the school children.

Waffle Sauce

When serving waffles as dessert serve an orange-lemon creamy sauce with them, the kind that goes so well with steamed puddings. Spiced hard sauce, mixed with some grated orange peel, also blends nicely with waffles or pancakes.

Savory Pork

For a pork roast with a "different" flavor, select a shoulder, have the butcher bone it, sprinkle the inner side with salt, pepper, powdered thyme, chopped parsley and lemon juice. Roll and tie, then rub the outside with cut garlic, sprinkle with a little more salt and pepper, and roast.

Sandwich Paste

Here's a delicious date paste for sandwiches that will keep a week if stored, covered. In the refrigerator: Mix one-half cup chopped dates with one-third cup chopped figs, one-third cup sliced nuts, one-fourth cup orange juice and three tablespoons boiling water. Mix with fork until soft. If mixture stiffens, add water.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Coplan of 910 South 13th street, are the parents of a son, born Friday, March 31, at St. Francis hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hicks of Kipling are the parents of a daughter, born Saturday, April 1, at St. Francis hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gagnon, 206 North 18th street, are the parents of a son, born at St. Francis hospital, on Sunday, April 2.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Derocher, Bark River, Sunday, April 2, at St. Francis hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Willis, Gladstone, are the parents of a son, born at St. Francis hospital, Monday, April 3.

Announcement was received here yesterday of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Pearson, former Escanabans, who now reside in Salem, Ill. Mrs. Pearson is the former Nona Mae Robb.

Barr P-T Unit Meeting Tonight

The Barr Parent-Teacher unit has arranged an interesting and entertaining program for its April evening which will be held this evening at 7:45 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Miss Elizabeth Erickson will present a group of humorous readings; Mrs. Olive Lucas' Puckinny Chorus will be heard in musical numbers and Supt. John A. Lemmer will show motion pictures of the special departments of the school system. During a social after the program, lunch will be served by the officers. Each one is asked to provide his own cup and spoon.

I've been a liberal too long to think about changing my political views now.

MANY PLANTS PLAN REPAIRS

Much Expansion Depends On Disappearance of Fear, However

Plant expansion and improvement programs are planned by 69 per cent of medium-size metal-working firms, representing every geographical section and a wide variety of products, according to the results of a nation-wide survey just completed by the magazine Steel.

The magazine points out, however, in its current issue, that many of these companies are "holding back" any action toward expansion and improvement pending a more favorable administration attitude, improvement in a business outlook, easier financing, or more settled labor conditions.

Fifty-one of 74 companies said they have plans for improving manufacturing facilities. Of these, 42 said their programs are being postponed; seven are going ahead; one is postponing a part of its program.

Reasons cited by the 42 companies postponing planned programs: Eighteen definitely expressed dissatisfaction with or fear of New Deal policies.

Seventeen are awaiting improvement in business.

Seven said they found financing difficult or are attempting to preserve their cash positions. Others mentioned labor uncertainties, new products yet in the development stage and fear of the foreign situation.

Some Not Expanding. "Steel" also reported that many companies have no plans for improving manufacturing facilities. Two of these have just completed or are completing programs which satisfactorily round out their plants. The others give various reasons for not expanding.

Total cost of the improvements planned by the 51 manufacturers is estimated by them at $7,411,000. The 42 programs being postponed represent $6,193,500, or 83.6 per cent of the total. Programs going ahead are estimated to cost $1,217,500, or 16.4 per cent of the total planned. Included in the programs being held up is one to cost $3,000,000, which is scheduled to go forward "as soon as conditions warrant."

Twenty-three of the 42 programs involve plant expansion; 37 contemplate additional or replacement machinery and equipment; 18 involve both plant expansion and new equipment.

Important increases in employment would result if the improvement programs were carried through. Only 14 of the 42 manufacturers said their programs would cause no increase. Others estimated employment gains from "slight" to 100 per cent.

Percent Increase	Companies
None	14
Less than 10	2
10 to 25	9
25 to 50	2
More than 50	7
Indefinite	13

Four others estimated they would add 15 to 150 workers each.

Thirteen of the contemplated programs would be at least partially for the purpose of manufacturing new products; 38 for producing the companies' present products.

The new products planned include power plant equipment, new lines of dairy plant equipment, aircraft parts, petroleum equipment, welded plate products, steel stampings, coal handling apparatus, farm implements, electric ranges and machine tools. Several others said they were developing new products, but were not yet ready to announce them.

In summary: The 74 metal-working companies show a total of $7,411,000 in projected improvement programs. This indicates an average of slightly more than $100,000 per company.

The projects postponed average $83,696 per company. The projects not being postponed average $16,462 per company.

For every dollar "going ahead" in investment for improvements to plant or equipment, five are stymied, due to uncertainties—chiefly political.

RIVER IN REVERSE
Trenton, Mich. (MPA)—James Holden was watching the ice, snow, and water in the Detroit river, driven by a northeast gale, racing down the river. Suddenly, the ice seemed to stop. Then the river actually went into reverse, picking up speed against the northeast blow. Engineers explained that such a thing happens once in 30 or 40 years, when the water in Lake Erie becomes higher than the water in Lake St. Clair.

Communication

THE SPANISH SITUATION

Editor, Escanaba Daily Press.

Dear Sir: I would like to answer the rather belated Pro-Franco blast which appeared in the Press Friday signed Robert Beauchamp.

First Mr. Beauchamp says, quote, "let us look at what has taken place without emotionalism or bias"—after reading his article it would be rather hard to conceive of anything more biased. I have read many Fascist propaganda blasts at the Spanish Republic and have yet to read one more rabidly one-sided than his.

In case Mr. Beauchamp does not know it 87 per cent of the Spanish people voted for and supported this terrible thing he calls a "Red Communist Government." This was in a free and open election—not the kind Hitler, Mussolini and their stooge Franco ho'd. He is afraid to hold any kind of a plebiscite even one backed up by 1,500,000 Fascist bayonets! The 1936 Cortez (corresponding to our Congress) had 19 political parties represented in it Fascists, Royalists, Catholics, Republicans, Socialists, Laborites, and Communists. Out of 500 deputies all that could be remotely construed as having Socialist ideas were some 65. This then was the terrible Red menace.

Franco started his coup d'etat supported by an infestible percentage of the Spanish people. His supporters included the former aristocrats, the Fascist minded loan sharks, and coupon clippers who exist only in a reactionary country like Spain, and the multitude of small-time hangers-on who sucked the life blood of a once great country and caused it to degenerate to a fifth rate nation.

Spain has the most poverty, general misery, and the largest percentage of illiteracy of any modern country. This was caused by the government of incompetent Royal Tramps that the 1936 elections turned out of office. This is the wonderful government that Franco will give Spain—that or worse!

Mr. Beauchamp also says that Hitler and Mussolini waited until, "The Communists were just about ready to land the final blow before they interfered!" and more of the same about, "Saving Spain from Moscow." I wonder of Mr. Beauchamp knows who started this war and what it is all about. Spain wanted a New Deal (much milder than ours). They wanted Democracy. Franco and his Fascist bandit friends Mussolini and Hitler could not allow real Democracy in Spain. It would be a bad example to the millions of regimented idiots in Germany and Italy. So Franco started his putch—or the approved Nazi model. He started the fight—not the government! He did not let a man or a gun until Hitler and Mussolini had their pact to see him thru. In return for this they were to get military bases in Spain and a monopoly of the natural resources. This price has been paid. Not even Coughlin is so naive as to claim that Hitler and Mussolini spent $500,000 a day in Spain out of kindness of heart or regard for the good of humanity!

I read Dorothy Thompson and I have never noticed this $65,000,000 a year Loyalist propaganda fund. But I refer Mr. Beauchamp to these quotations from Miss Thompson "Spain and the Catholics"—quote, "Valkische Bestoder, official Nazi organ has announced, "We are armed and prepared to continue the battle against Catholicism until the final, frightful decision, until the point of total annihilation!" This is Franco's pal Adolph speaking. Why did Franco ban the Papal Eucyclical "Mit Brenndner Sorge" at the behest of Hitler?

I challenge Mr. Beauchamp to produce just one really authentic "atrocity" (I do not mean excerpts from Chas. E. Coughlin's anti Semetic ravings) just one that's all giving time, place, and witnesses. The American Red Cross is rather trustworthy but they are unable to find any unjustified Loyalist atrocities. Of course if one prefers Coughlin to the statements of thousands who were in Spain that's different. Ask Mel Anderson, Roach Kidd or Joe Girard—they were there and can answer this better than anyone who gets his stuff by reading paid propagandists who have an axe to grind.

The biggest joke and the cruelest is the attempt toward the end to endow Franco with a humanitarian policy. This is the Republican program of 1936 to stop the carrying out of which Franco started a war which cost 1,500,000 lives transferred to Franco and set to words and music! Franco, whose bombers wrecked 2,000,000 homes now rents new ones for $1.39 a month! Franco, whose Fascist murderers bombed the women and children of Spain to bloody shreds now feeds the survivors! Franco, who would rather kill his countrymen than see them get a little plot of land to save them from starvation now gives them farms free! Franco, whose Mohammedan black Moor, Fascist and Nazi atheist troops burned and killed up and down a prostate Spain for three years now emerges as the Sword of Christ. I wonder if the Christ who wrote the "Sermon on the Mount" (which Hitler calls the "First Communist Manifesto") will recognize his government. I don't think so! Christ tried to help the poor and lowly—they crucified Him. Helping the underdog has always been a most unpopular program with the Powers that Be!

The crushing of the people of Spain, the rape of Czechoslovakia, the inhuman persecution of the Jews and of subject peoples everywhere should not be cheered on by Americans but, should, be resisted with everything we have. America still the greatest, and freest of all democracies is not so powerful that she can afford to fall asleep and let it happen here. As for those who are fooled by the high-pressure Nazi propaganda to see good in anything they do I can only say that Barnum underestimated it—there is more than one born every minute! Hitler, Mussolini, the Mikado, and the latest recruit Franco "El Caudillo"—they are the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse. They mean to civilization only War, Death, Pestilence, and Starvation, until they are wiped out like the rats they are by their own oppressed peoples. Christians! Me for a deep breath and a long, loud, Bronx cheer!

Sincerely,
J. R. CONNELLY

STEEL OUTLOOK GETS CLOUDED

Absence of Expected Improvement Affects Purchasing

Absence of expected improvement in steel demand during March tends to cloud the outlook for the new quarter, according to magazine Steel.

With only a few exceptions, last month's business did no more than hold its own at the February rate, and in some instances a decrease occurred. Small variations in steel buying the past 30 days are reflected in the scant improvement in ingot output during March.

Nevertheless, ingot production the first quarter increased nearly 70 per cent over the corresponding 1938 period, despite a progressively smaller gain compared with a year ago as the quarter advanced. The decrease from the like period of 1937 was more than 35 per cent. Steelmaking last week declined 1 point to 54 1/2 per cent. This compares with 36 per cent a year ago.

Daily average pig iron production in March is estimated at 77,182 tons, compared with 73,578 tons in February and 47,426 tons in March, 1938. The gain over last year was nearly 63 per cent. Total output the first quarter was 6,628,235 tons, an increase of 57 per cent over the 4,221,406 tons produced a year ago.

Disposition of steel users to restrict orders to early needs is seen in the decrease in size of individual purchases the past month. In the East, finished steel sales in March were slightly ahead of February, but some producers did 65 per cent of the month's business in the first half, indicative of the letdown the past two weeks.

POTATO GROUP PICKS OFFICERS

Abigail Rowley Is Named President At Meeting In City

Miss Abigail Rowley of the Farmers Supply company, Stephenson avenue, this city, was elected president of Upper Michigan Potato Farms, Inc., at the annual meeting of the company held here. Jos. Belson of Chicago was re-elected secretary-treasurer, and Robert Pelletier of Schiller Park, Ill., will continue as field agent and manager of the company's warehouses.

Upper Michigan Potato Farms had nearly 200 acres in potatoes last season on its Houston county location, and will plant at least as much acreage this year, constituting one of the largest potato farms in Michigan. The concern follows strictly modern methods of potato culture and has had a good season.

Potato storages are maintained at Chassel, Mich., and Schiller Park, Ill., with a total capacity of over 100,000 bushels. The company pioneered last season in the use of white cotton sacks when shipping its products, with excellent results. Cotton was found to be as cheap and as durable as imported jute, and its use will be continued.

Hospital

Ernest Mattonen, Cornell, was admitted to St. Francis hospital, seriously ill with pneumonia. No visitors will be permitted in his room.

CONTEST WILL BE HELD TODAY

Old Time Spelldown At Senior High School This Morning

A spelling contest sponsored by senior high school will be held at the National Honor society of the 10-10 this morning in the school auditorium.

A six weeks spelling and vocabulary campaign in the English classes preceded the bee which today determines the class champions. George Rutwich, member of the faculty, will pronounce the words for the spellers over the public speaking system.

The contestants are: Seniors, Inez Edmark, Eileen Granskog, Betty Jaeger, Lois Jensen, Richard Kamrath, Adeline Schmelzer, Gerry Wurth, and alternate, Jules Troitier; Juniors, Donald Baum, Edna Burkland, Louise Giansanti, Jean Greis, Irene Kallio, Alice Klemmetsen, Jeanette Peterson, Doreen Villeneuve, and alternate, Helen Sharpsteen; Sophomores, Mary Ann Hoyler, Mildred Lambert, Helen Ann Lewis, Harold Nye, George Petaja, June Rangue, Elinor Sharpsteen, and alternate, Ralph DeGrand.

Suitable awards will be given to each class winner and to the school champion, presented by National Honor.

World's population at the end of 1937 was estimated at 2,134,000,000, an increase of 13,000,000 over the preceding year.

Music will be furnished by the Newberry bands. The dedication of the "Sons of the American Legion" will also be a feature of the program.

Briefs. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Sayles are spending a several weeks vacation visiting at Hot Springs, Ark., Cleveland, Ohio and Ypsilanti.

Mrs. E. H. Campbell and daughter Miss Margaret have returned home after spending the winter months in Florida.

THE FRANCO VICTORY
Of all the events that have happened in Europe in the last months, it is the belief of this column that the victory of General Franco in Spain will turn out to be the most critical event for Great Britain, France and, eventually, by way of South America, for the United States.

There have been several views on Spain. There is the predominant Catholic view — held by almost all Catholics all over the world, although there have been minority opinions even inside the Roman Catholic Church. The Catholic view is that the war in Spain is essentially a struggle between religion and atheism, and between an orderly Catholic social order and Communism.

Liberal though has tended to regard the struggle as between democracy and Fascism, with Spanish Communists and other radical groups supporting a Left Wing republic, and with the outrages against the Church as temporary aberrations of a revolutionary situation.

Conservatives have considered General Franco as a protector of private property, and Spanish industrialists have given Franco support for this reason.

Back of it all, however, has loomed the question of power politics.

Russia's interest in Spain has indicated that Stalin has not completely abandoned the idea of Soviet Russia as the instrument of the world Communist revolution.

Russia as a nation, and not as the center of the world Communist movement, has only a remote interest in Spain. There are no vital Russian interests on the Mediterranean.

Russia, as a nation, however — as any nation, whether under a Czar or under a Communist dictator, or with any other form of social and political organization — is and would be anxious not to see the economic and political power of Germany increased as long as Germany has open designs on Russian territory.

Great Britain and France, and particularly Great Britain, have taken the official view that the war in Spain was a social struggle, that its outcome was no concern of theirs and that when it was over they would come to terms with whoever was victor.

The British confidence that this could be done has rested on the perennial British confidence in the power of money. The Conservative government has argued that when Franco had won he would be in a bad way financially and could then be made amenable to British and French policy by generous loans.

The British and French have also counted on the disparate defeat of the Falangists before the more conservative elements in Franco's ranks, and they have argued that a strongly nationalist Spain would immediately get rid of foreign influence once it had consolidated its domestic power.

This viewpoint has always seemed to this column not to take into account the revolutionary nature of International Fascism, and the fact that the Fascist is now consolidated into a movement with a world policy, directed from Berlin, as the Comintern is directed from Moscow.

Hypnotized by the fear of the Comintern, British and French public leaders have most obstinately refused to see the facts about the Fascist.

Meanwhile, the Comintern gets nowhere, and the Fascist takes strategic point after strategic point.

It is entirely possible that every Italian soldier may leave Spain. But it is extremely probable that Spain will join the Berlin-Rome axis.

The weight of the axis is in Germany, and Mussolini himself is, since the conquest of Austria, taking his directions from there. It is the belief of this column — a belief in which I hope I shall be disappointed and proved wrong — that General Franco will take his directions from there.

The German penetration in Spain is much less conspicuous than the Italian and much more important. Germany penetrates not by way of armed divisions but by commercial agents who are at the same time political commissars.

The German interest in Spain is, in the first line, economic. In the second line, it is collaborating with Italy there for military and strategic reasons.

The Germans have already obtained — and obtained in a very inconspicuous way — control over the most vital resources of the country. Their organization power, which is extremely efficient, is likely to hold these resources and even be of considerable value to General Franco. For Germany will guarantee a market, and though she pays in kind she will be able to pay with things that Spain needs, even if some of the things are goods that she has bartered for in other countries and dumps in Spain below cost in return for Spanish ores and other raw materials.

SERIAL STORY

'MRS. DOC'

BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

The characters and situations in this story are wholly fictional.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
ALAN WARREN — Ambitious young country doctor.
EMILY WARREN — Alan's wife.
ERIC KANE — Construction engineer.
DR. FARRELL — Alan's elderly associate.

Yesterday, Emily's test comes when she helps a sick woman to the hospital. There she meets Alan, who is admiring. But there is no time to talk, since Alan is called to operate.

CHAPTER XXIII
Alan turned from her. Emily saw the light of the elevator moving upward as she reached the door. Not knowing why she did it, but knowing that she wanted to be near him, Emily followed, walking slowly up the stairs. No one stopped her.

No wonder Alan loved this little hospital, so quiet, so peaceful. Like a cathedral. White-clad nurses walked swiftly to and fro, making no sound. No one paid any attention to Emily.

Second floor. Surgical. The sign read, "The clean odor of disinfectant and medicines and sterile cleanliness. The sound of a childish laugh. Whispered conversations. Signs on doors — "No visitors."

Third floor. Medical. The faint sound of a dietitian's cart as it rolled along the corridor. How different this was from the bustle of the St. Louis hospitals she had known. The one where Alan had interned, with the loud speaker constantly starting out the words of some doctor.

Fourth floor. Maternity. So strangely still. The faint sound of a radio. She could see young Billy Bower pacing up and down in front of the glass doors of the sun porch, at the end of the hall. Farrell's old joke of "never having lost a father" came to her mind. It had seemed funny when she had first heard it, but it was so tragically real now. Poor lad, maybe she could help him.

Bower was glad to see her. "How's Angela? The baby?" he asked anxiously.

"Angela is all right," Emily reassured him. "You won't have long to wait. Dr. Warren and Dr. Farrell are with her. Just take things easy. Here, have a cigarette."

"Gee, thanks." His hands shook as he held the match. "You think she'll be all right?"

"Of course, she will. There's nothing to worry about."

He resumed his pacing, back and forth across the floor. After a while he stopped.

"You're sure Angela's all right, Mrs. Doc?" he asked. "Gee if anything happened to her — she's all I've got."

"Nothing is going to happen to Angela, Billy." Emily spoke as if to a child. "Get that idea out of your mind. She'll be downstairs in a few minutes. Now stop worrying."

"Mrs. Doc, could you go up there with her?" he pleaded. "They won't let me — told me to stay here. She's all alone, she needs somebody there. They'll let you."

"I'll go," Emily answered. The superintendent of the floor nurse might order her to leave, but Bower wouldn't know that, and it might quiet his fears. Besides, she was irresistibly drawn toward the delivery room. The same compelling force had made her leave the waiting room, downstairs.

She left Bower, pacing again, and walked back to the stairway. Up another flight. She disregarded the sign that warned all visitors off the fifth floor. Delivery Room B, she remembered. That must be it, across the hall. The door was open, a mere fraction of an inch. She leaned against the wall.

Emily could see nothing in the room except a small corner of the white-sheeted table, the gray wall beyond, and the glaring overhead light.

"The patient is asleep, Doctor," she heard the anaesthetist say. She caught a glimpse of Alan, all in white, only his eyes visible, as he looked in front of the door. Then silence.

After a long time she heard Farrell asking, "What is indicated?" but she failed to catch Alan's mumbled reply. Something about "version."

Then Farrell saying: "Remember the first time you watched me do that, Alan? You were as white as your gown."

"And the scariest junior medic you'll ever see. I decided right then that I'd never do any OB."

"Should have stuck to that decision. . . . You'd get a lot more sleep."

More silence. Alan stepped back into the range of vision and a nurse's gloved hand wiped the perspiration from around his eyes. Emily was shivering.

Emily knew now why Alan was so devoted to his practice. She could share this thrill with him. She, too, had a part, however small, in the beginning of this life. She would never forget it.

She shut her eyes. She could see Alan's face, as if it were close to her. The lips, set in a thin line, that hinted at a smile. The eyes, dark, steady, earnest.

It was this — this being close to God — that gave Alan, and Farrell, and all other doctors in the world, that understanding of human ills, and of human needs. No wonder they were able to comfort and cheer. No wonder their words brought peace, when all others failed. When one has guided a mother along this dark and friendless way, all other problems fade into insignificance.

A faint — exceedingly faint — cry brought her back to the present. She heard Farrell saying: "It's a girl, a fine girl."

Then Alan — "Oxygen." Nurse moving rapidly. Farrell hurrying past the door. Then the regular measured clicks of the inhalator.

Emily stood, breathless. The baby must live — it can't die now. Her heart was pounding.

Then a stronger cry and Alan's voice — "Well, little lady, you've decided to stay a while!" Farrell chuckling.

"Five and a quarter pounds Doctor," the nurse said.

"Not very big, but good enough for a start," Farrell replied. More moving around. The inhalator was stilled.

After a long wait, Emily heard Angela's voice, bewildered and wondering. "My baby, my baby!"

"It's a little girl, Angela," Farrell was saying then. "A wonderful little girl."

Tears were running down Emily's cheeks, splashing on to her dress. She glanced up, and discovered the floor superintendent standing only a few feet away. Emily wondered how long she had been there. She hadn't heard her approach. The nurse's eyes were moist too.

"I've been here for years," she said softly. "but I still get a thrill hearing that first cry."

The door opened. A nurse came out, guiding a cart. Emily looked down on Angela's still, white face, calm, serene. There was a faint smile around the girl's lips. Alan, in white surgical uniform, was beside her. His eyes were intent upon the still form, and he gave no indication that he had even seen Emily.

She watched them go down the hall, disappear into the elevator. A nurse came from the room, carrying a tiny bundle. Emily said, "May I see?"

The nurse started to refuse, and hurry on, but the floor superintendent's glance stopped her. "Just a peek," she said, drawing back the blanket. Emily looked down at a tiny, wrinkled red face. Then the nurse and the baby were gone.

Emily suddenly felt faint. The walls began to whirl around, she groped for support, felt the floor superintendent's arm around her, then — as if from afar off — she heard Farrell's voice:

"Here, here, Emily, none of that. You've just saved that baby's life." Then everything went black.

ways beat this system is not borne out either in logic or in experience. This system works, and the sooner the world realizes that it does work and is not economic nonsense the better off the world will be.

The idea that the present regimes of Germany and Italy, neither of which has shown any fiery enthusiasm for the Church, are in Spain as Defenders of the Faith cannot seriously be entertained.

One recalls the Farwell Address of George Washington — which is seldom quoted in its complete context — which said: ". . . It is folly in one nation to look for disinterested favors from another. . . . It must pay with a portion of its independence for whatever it may accept under that character; by such acceptance it may place itself in the condition of having given equivalents for nominal favors, and yet of being reproached with ingratitude for not giving more. There can be no greater error than to expect or calculate on real favors from nation to nation. It is an illusion which experience must cure and which a just pride ought to discard."

Franco has received enormous favors from Italy and Germany — without them he would not have won this civil war or certainly not by now. He is infinitely weaker than they are, and the idea that he can accomplish what neither France nor Britain is willing to undertake seems to me to be plain wishful thinking.

This will affect us in the United States directly and indirectly. It will affect us directly because the orbit of the German economic system will be importantly extended. The amount of the globe whose commerce is controlled by totalitarian powers — under a system incompatible with any measure of free economy — under a system with which it is extremely difficult for any other system of commerce to compete — is already imposing.

Furthermore, the distribution of American capital compels a certain amount of collaboration with this system at the cost of other American commercial interests.

For instance, the German Opel automobile is successfully competing with American cars in South America, although the Opel car is manufactured in Germany by General Motors, who purchased a controlling interest in the Opel works under the German republic. The profits from the sale of this car are not allowed to return to the United States, but must remain and be reinvested in Germany.

Similarly, Rumanian oil is not owned by Rumanians nor by Germans, but by Standard Oil, Royal Dutch, and British Shell. This does not mean, however, that these interests will be free under all political conditions to export oil as they please.

SCHOOL OFFERS RESORT COURSE

30-Day Training Program Will Begin First Week In May

A one-month resort training course will be offered by the Manistique public schools, beginning the first week in May. It was announced yesterday by Superintendent of Schools A. F. Hall. Miss Helen Eklund will be the instructor, and classes will be from 3:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. daily, five days a week.

Arrangements for the training course have been made by Supt. Hall and approved by Jack Milligan, chief of the department of business training, vocational education, state department of education.

The course will be offered to high school graduates and others who desire training in resort operation. A limited number of high school students also will be admitted.

Miss Eklund will contact hotel and restaurant managers and resort operators in this locality and the training course will be designed to fit the needs of resort men in the Manistique area.

There will be no charge for the course, except for whatever textbooks will be used in the training course.

Particularly the training course will be designed to train students for work in hotels, restaurants and resorts.

REPUBLICANS IN HEAVY MARGIN

Mrs. Watson Unopposed for Commissioner of Schools

With 13 of the 14 precincts reported, Republicans held a comfortable lead over the Democrats in the quiet state election here yesterday.

The Republican margin ran about 300 votes. Joseph Herbert, local attorney seeking the board of regents post, was running ahead of the state ticket, polling 1,272 votes for his Republican running mate's 1,158. The Democratic candidates, Lockwood and Meyers polled 756 and 838 votes, respectively.

Mrs. Ada Watson, incumbent, was unopposed for the office of county commissioner of schools.

In a township election at Hiawatha township, Burns defeated Schnur by 153-89 for supervisor while Watson was named treasurer, polling 121 votes as against 55 for Mrs. LaBute and 40 for Mrs. Klarich.

In Seney township, Roemer was named supervisor over Tull by 73-53 and Bertha Morris was elected treasurer over Del Falkner by 84-35 in the only contested offices.

At Germfask, Angus MacDougal won over Conlon for supervisor by 137-119 votes.

Amendment No. 1 was approved 824-545. The total vote totaled 830-532.

Beauvais One Of 20 City Managers Left After Two Decades

The City Managers' News Letter, official organ of the International City Managers' Association, for April, 1939, disclosed the interesting information that of the city managers whose names were on the roster of the association in April, 1919, twenty years ago, 20 are still on the job today, and 12 are still working in the same cities.

P. H. Beauvais, city manager of Manistique, is one of the 20 men whose names were included in the roster of the association in 1919, and who still is engaged in city manager activities. Beauvais was city manager in Manistee, Michigan at that time, however.

Another city manager included on the list is Wilder M. Rich, now at Hackensack, New Jersey, but who was at Sault Ste. Marie in 1919.

A special table at the opening luncheon of the Detroit conference of the International Association, October 9, will be reserved for the 20 year veterans, and they will be asked, "How do you do it?"

'Everybody Feels Real Good' About The Dodgers

OLD BROOKLYN ALL OPTIMISM

Team Needs Pitchers, But They Still Have Mungo

BY DREW MIDDLETON
New York, April 3 (AP)—"Yes, sir," said the bartender, "everybody feels real good about them Dodgers. We have about three fights a night and last Saturday they almost lynched some guy for saying Mungo wouldn't win 20 games."

That's the way it is in Brooklyn. Come spring and the "place" is alive with optimism. Come fall and there are interesting attempts to tar and feather the manager and some of his players, preferably Van Mungo.

We asked the bartender if there were any dissenting voices. He admitted Little Joe, the elder statesman of the bar's debating society, didn't feel quite secure. "He'll be alone soon," he said, "he's got a brother-in-law living with him that roots for the Jints, so he leaves home right after dinner."

Grass Is Sprouting
Joe came stumping in. "I come by Ebbers field and looked at the grass," he announced. "Say, its sprutin' fine. The outfield is fast. It'll be up to me. At that we'll have to put some of them outfielders on bicycles unless we get some pitchers."

Lured by a stein of beer, Joe consented to a brief two-hour interview. He is optimistic, but several things puzzle him.

"In the first place, why we got six catchers?" he asked the youngsters who had belted up to the bar. "Tree is enough for other clubs. We gotta have six. Only reason I can figure is some of these pitchers is so fast they'll wear the catchers out."

"Listen, lug," said the bartender, "them pitchers got so little stuff one guy could catch 'em all season. And he wouldn't need no mask or protector. He could go up there naked."

Someone murmured they might be used for trading purposes. "If they are it's godbye," said Joe. "The Dodgers trade a guy and the next thing you know he is hitting .500 and stealin' more bases than Cobb. We let Hasset go and I'll bet he leads the league in hitting this year."

"But the rest of them bums look great. This kid Reiser is a sensashun. He will be the best second baseman in the league"—he paused to glare at a rebel who murmured "best in the Three-I league"—"and Cam Hill will lead the league in home runs."

A Sassa Yuma
After a year's time, how does Brooklyn like Larry MacPhail, the wizard of the Gowanus canal? "We like him all right," said Joe. "Last year you didn't have to watch the ball club—which was a break at that, MacPhail allus had flagpole sitters or bottle races goin' on. It got so the kids was askin' could they come ooly and see the elephants."

Was that a crack at big Babe Phelps? "Now the Babe only weighs about 240 this year. Hey, you know what? This spring they got to wonderin' why he allus is gettin' his fingers broke. They find he's been catchin' with his bare hand open. Can y' imagine that? A guy is a big league catcher with the Dodgers and he don't know enough to close his hand."

There were rumors some of the Dodgers weren't as young as they might be. "Just hangin' on till they get their old age pensions," Joe agreed. "But we can use buys with good level bases. But them guys ain't pitchers and we need pitchers."

Well, they still have Mungo. "Year, we got him. If we had a couple guys that can pitch like Mungo is supposed to pitch we'd be up there. But that big bum, I been waitin' five years to see him win 20 games. If he wins 20 this year I'll buy the house a drink."

"You see," said the bartender, "he's gotta sassa yuma, too."

Hubbell To Rejoin Giants Saturday; Flipper Is Better

Memphis, Tenn., April 3 (AP)—Smiling after a conference with a Memphis bone specialist, lanky Carl Hubbell predicted today his famed left flipper would be ready for heavy duty "after a little rest and treatment."

Manager Bill Terry sent the New York Giant hurler here to see Dr. J. Spencer Speed after a nagging pain in the pitcher's left shoulder failed to respond to spring camp treatment.

"It's a kind of pulled muscle," Hubbell said after a lengthy session in the physician's office. "The doc may have some long name for it, but that's what it amounts to. It isn't serious and he said it would be all right after a little rest and treatment."

Dr. Speed removed some bone chips from the Hub's elbow last summer. Carl said he had experienced no trouble from the left elbow this year.

Hubbell will rejoin the Giants when they come here for an exhibition game Saturday.

If not accompanied by a gale, zero temperatures, and a drifting powdery snow, a storm is not a blizzard.

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

VERNON GOMEZ tells how, after an early pitching spurt with the Yankees, Ed Harrow advised him to put on 20 pounds and make them forget Amos Rusie.

"I put on the 20 pounds," says Gomez, "and they nearly forgot me."

The great southpaw's ambition is to ride a motorcycle from the distant Yankee Stadium bullpen to the pitcher's box.

Gomez was speaking of pitching casualties in the annual All-Star game. Van Linglo Mungo, Hal Schumacher, Dizzy Dean, Johnny Allen and Johnny Vander Meer—Gomez traces the trouble to pitchers working out of turn and excessive bearing down due to lack of knowledge of hitters and a desire to make a showing during their three innings that will be remembered.

"I started the second All-Star game in New York despite the fact that I had a sore arm," relates the curving Castilian.

"I didn't want anyone to suspect that I was afraid to tackle Carl Hubbell."

Mungo hurt his back in an All-Star engagement.

A lot of auto wrecks result from the driver hugging the wrong curve!

SCHUMACHER had won seven straight when he appeared in the All-Star show in Cleveland in 1935 with one out. The St. Lawrence sliker struck out three or four in a row, but the resultant pain didn't disappear until he submitted to an operation last fall.

A liner off Earl Averill's bat broke Dean's toe in Washington in 1936. Something snapped in the cotton picker's throwing apparatus while he resorted to an unnatural delivery in order, to favor the sore digit.

Allen's arm misery which led to his operation started with the All-Star business in Cincinnati last summer and, while he had ear and appendix difficulties, Vander Meer hasn't been himself since the same afternoon.

A smile is the same in all languages!

BRANCH RICKEY was stressing the importance of abstinence to youngsters assembled at a St. Louis Cardinal farm school some years back.

The oratorical director of the far-flung Red Bird chain filled one glass with water and another with gin. He dropped a worm into each glass. The worm in the water wiggled gleefully. The other sank to the bottom.

"Now, young men, what do you get out of that?" Professor Rickey asked the students.

"Well, Mr. Rickey," spoke up a bushy named Popper Martin, "I'll get out of it is that if you drink gin you won't have worms."

Young Martin was promptly moved to the head of the class. . . has remained there since.

DEAN REMAINS QUESTION MARK

Hartnett Relies On Cub Heavy Artillery to Carry Through

BY JOHN BEERMAN
NEA Special Correspondent

Los Angeles—If extra base hits make for pennant winners, then Leo (Gabby) Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs stands in a fair way to pilot his second championship team in as many years as a manager.

Gabby, who figures on catching 100 games this season as well as pilot the 1938 National League champions, is building his club around the heavy hitters.

That's one reason why the Cubs traded Bill Jurges, Jim O'Dea and Frank Demaree for Hank Leiber, Gus Mancuso and Dick Bartell this winter. Hartnett definitely wants men on the club who can connect for extra bases.

"We had too many games decided by the margin of a single run last year," Gabby says. "That's winning them the hard way. If you can get out in front with a few runs to the good, you can ease up and don't have to keep bearing down all the time."

"Give me that kind of a club and you won't find us folding in the stretch."

Leiber is the key to the Cubs' attack. The big former Giant will bat in the cleanup spot and Hartnett is counting on him to drive home a lot of runs. Leiber, who stands 6 feet 1 inch and weighs 215 pounds, hit but 269 in 98 games last year, but in 260 trips to the plate he garnered a total of 159 bases for a slugging percentage of .442.

LEIBER IN BEST SHAPE SINCE 1931
Hartnett is a different kind of boss than Bill Terry and Leiber knows it. What's more Leiber is pounds lighter than last season and says he is in better shape than he has been since 1935 when he hit .331.

Stan Hack, who led the club in hitting last year with a .320 average, and Mancuso and the other members of the squad Hartnett is depending upon for heavy attack work.

"It's all well and good to say you're going out and knock in a lot of runs, but it doesn't do a good unless you can keep the other fellow from making as many. That's where the Cub pitching staff comes in and that's where their pennant hopes lie."

Ace of the staff of course is Big Bill Lee, who won 22 and lost 9 games last year, turning in an earned run average of 2.66. Lee should do as well this season. A pain in the neck slowed up his early training, but he is now fit and ready to go.

Veteran Larry French, youthful Clay Bryant and Raymond Harrell, purchased from the Cards, will bear the brunt of the rest of the work unless Jerome (Dizzy) Dean snaps back into his top form.

French had one of his poorest years last season, but has been working exceptionally well and looks good for 15 games. Bryant won 19 and lost 11, and a repeat would be good enough for any club. Harrell didn't do much with the Cards but he has a world of stuff and Hartnett figures that his own and Mancuso's receiving will do the tall Texan a lot of good.

MADE OVER INFELDER LOOKS GOOD ON HILL
Dean is a question mark. He may win 15 games and he may not win any. At any rate Hartnett isn't pinning any hopes on him.

Gene Lillard, Vance Page, Jack Russell, Charley Root and Earl Hartnett will carry but 10 pitchers so Walt Hugel, Ed Carnett, Newel Kimball and Al Epperley will probably be dropped.

Lillard, a made-over infelder, comes up from Los Angeles where he won 16 and lost 10. Whitehill suffered a broken bone in his left ankle in training and will be out for a month. Russell was a crack relief hurler and Root and Page will start a fair percentage of games.

Hartnett has only five outfielders on the club and he'll carry all of them.

Leiber is a fixture in center.

Much Activity Prevails In Kegeling Sport Over Week-End

Marquette, April 3.—Strikes, spares, misses, splits and everything else that happens in a kegeling game were in evidence in the Shoreland alleys over the week-end as 36 five-man teams, nine doubles partners and 14 singles entrants pounded the maples in the opening rounds of the thirty-second annual upper peninsula bowling tournament.

Marquette, Gladstone, Escanaba and Iron Mountain keglers kept the pin boys busy from 7:30 Saturday night, when the tournament was opened, until late last night. The Goldenstedt Pisk Tires, of Marquette, led by P. Anderson, swung into first place last night with a total of 2621. The Tires, starting with 789, added a pair of 900 games. Anderson had games of 224 and 203, in addition to an opening 158, for 585.

The Paper Makers, of Escanaba, are in second place with 2548 and the Easy Aces, of Gladstone, occupy third place with 2508.

Bowling in the finish shift last night, W. Kraiger, of Escanaba, landed in the top berth in the singles division after a slow start. He scored 141 in the opening game, then clouted 224 and added 214 for 598. Two other 500 scores were rolled in this division. L. Weingartner, of Gladstone, made 533 and A. Hemil, of Escanaba, bowled 524.

Bowls 638 In Team Event
The week-end's outstanding performance was that of an Escanaba man. Bowling with the Cutters of the Delta city, A. Hemil, at anchor, added 236 and 234 to an opening 163 for 633. His 463 in the doubles and 524 in the singles gave him an all-events count of 1610.

No tournament activities are scheduled for tonight or tomorrow night. Wednesday, at 7:30 p. m., four Iron Mountain teams and two squads from Marquette will take the alleys.

John H. Miller, association secretary-treasurer, said last night that the tournament will end Sunday, April 30, instead of a week later as originally announced. It will be possible to schedule all teams within this month, he said.

CRACK 3,065 PINS
For the first time in the history of the local alleys in match play, a team cracked 3,000 pins here Sunday when Iron River rolled 3,065 to defeat an All Star Escanaba team.

The Escanaba boys did very well for themselves, rolling 2,961. Polich of Iron River spilled 678 pins but was pressed by Raiche of Escanaba, who knocked over 659.

The Racine aggregation has 2,960 for second place.

In the 775 division, the Gophers (DOR) of Milwaukee, took over fourth place on 2,548.

Outfielder Winslett Returns To Giants

Baton Rouge, La., April 3 (AP)—Outfielder John Thomas Winslett, who was sold to Jersey City recently, returned to the New York Giants today. Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis refused to sanction the deal which sent Winslett back to the Giants' "farm."

Manager Bill Terry assigned Winslett to the group which will play at Memphis next Saturday and Sunday while the rest of the squad plays the White Sox and Pirates here.

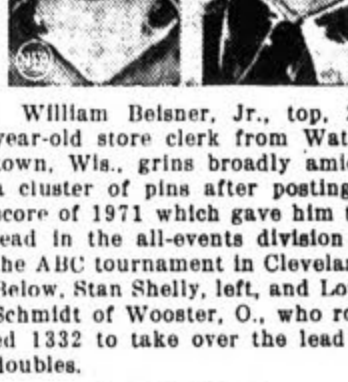

"Sold the first day," said Jones. "Now you try a For Sale Ad."

Two Rookies Trim Toronto For Tiges
Lakeland, Fla., April 3 (AP)—Brilliant pitching by Floyd Giebel and Fred Hutchinson, recruit right handers, enabled the Detroit Tiger regulars to down Toronto, of the International League, 5 to 1, in an exhibition contest here today.

Toronto got only four hits, three of them off Giebel in the first five innings. Hutchinson, who finished, gave his best performance of the training season, allowing but one scratch single.

Bill Weir, a southpaw, and Philip Marchildon, a right hander, pitched for Toronto, the former being charged with the loss as a result of allowing five singles, five walks and three runs in four innings.

LAABS BEANED
Halves City, Fla., April 3 (AP)—Chester Laabs, Detroit Tiger outfielder, was struck on the head by a fast ball thrown by Pitcher Joe Vance of the Kansas City Blues as the minor leaguers downed the Bengal reserve 9 to 7 here today. Laabs was driven to Lakeland, Fla., by Pitcher Roxie Lawson and was taken to Morrell hospital for observation.

"I have a prize headache," Laabs told Manager Del Baker upon his arrival at Lakeland. "The ball that hit me sailed and I couldn't get out of the way."

The Blues, a New York Yankee farm club, hammered Lawson and George Gill for 13 hits. Lawson departed after a rough third inning in which the Blues scored three times. Vance and Al Reis held Detroit to eight blows.

Baseball Team Breakup Seems To Be Starting At Wrong End

BY WHITEY MARTIN
New York, April 3. (AP)—It's just a misunderstanding, no doubt, but they seem to be starting at the wrong end of the American league to break up the teams for a more equitable distribution of power.

As the sleek and well-fed Yankee organization reaches out to take and keep everything it wants, the eighth-place athletics not only must comb what is discarded by the hopper of the more prosperous clubs for material, but must dispose of the best material at hand.

When Connie Mack sold third baseman Bill Werber to the Cincinnati Reds for $25,000 he not only was turning loose a much-needed player, but he was handing him over to a National league club rated one of the strongest. It was as if a man said to a boy: "You could never reach that apple, but I'm pretty close, so if you'll bend over and let me stand on your back I can get it."

Various reasons have been advanced for Mack's action in weakening a team that already seemed too weak to lift itself out of the cellar.

To begin with Connie, who admits he has a tough time financially, possibly decided he could not pay the salary Werber asked, and it was the general opinion that Werber, a well-educated, personable lad with a lucrative business, would stay out of baseball rather than take less money than he thought he was worth.

Then, too, there was the idea that Mack sorely needed that $25,000 to keep the wheels turning. And a third suggestion was that the cagey veteran was accumulating a nest egg for the day, unrelentably close, when he must bow out of the baseball picture.

Even Mack realizes how close he is to the end of the baseball trail, but he has set no date for retirement. He plans to keep going as long as the mental and the physical machine, the one still alert, the other still agile, function.

"When I start repeating myself in my conversation, or when the players start telling me what to do instead of me telling them, then I will step out," he said, adding thoughtfully, "and I hope I'm the first one to know it."

As for Werber and the Reds, he is just what the doctor ordered for a team with pennant aspirations and a little indigestion around third base.

The second base combination also had been a subject of criticism, but after Werber's first workout with the team Billy Myers, shortstop, said:

"I believe he's going to help me."

And in recent games the Myers-Linus Frey second base combination has been functioning as a well-oiled unit. It is the old bucket brigade idea, with the aid being passed along from Werber to Myers to Frey, but it may quench many an offensive blaze.

As for the American league, it's just a case of the rich getting richer and the poor getting poorer, but inasmuch as the Mackmen weren't going far anyway, they might as well help along some team that is, although their Philadelphia followers might have other ideas on the matter.

TIGERS HOPEFUL ON HUTCHINSON

Seattle Youth Cuts Off Toronto Maple Leafs for 4 Innings

Lakeland, Fla., April 3 (AP)—A single good pitching performance against a minor league club does not necessarily prove the quality of a pitcher but nevertheless there was optimism in the Detroit Tiger camp tonight over the prospects of Fred Hutchinson, the 19-year-old Seattle youth for whom the Bengals paid a wad of cash and a flock of players.

Hutchinson came up with his best mound performance of the training season today as Detroit beat Toronto of the International league 5 to 1. He hurled the last four innings, shut out the Maple Leafs with a scratch single and did not allow a man to get beyond second base.

Hutchinson, most publicized rookie of the year, was preceded on the mound by Floyd Giebel, a young fellow who has toiled in almost complete obscurity. Giebel gave most complete obscurity. Giebel gave most complete obscurity. Giebel gave most complete obscurity.

Baker a good reason to keep him in camp. Giebel is a fast ball flinger with good control.

Bill Weir and Philip Marchildon worked against the Tigers and allowed nine hits, the most old of which was a three-bagger by Charley Gehring. Barney McCorkey, batting hero of the Tigers Sunday, continued his spurt today with two singles thereby bettering his chances of winning the centerfield job.

Fred (Dixie) Walker, veteran gardener, was the leader of the Detroit attack with three hits. The last man to arrive in camp, Walker has batted well since putting on a uniform.

Weir, a southpaw who belongs to the Boston Bees, started against Detroit and gave five hits and three runs in four innings.

Detroit scored two runs, enough to win, in the opening inning. Walker started with a single and Weir filled the sacks by walking Gehring and allowing Hank Greenberg to single. Walker came home on a bad throw in an effort to get Greenberg, Gehring going to third on the slip. Charley Toronto's run was scored in the third as a result of a single by Weir, a walk to Al Smith and a pair of infield outs.

From this point on the Bengals hammered away to increase their edge.

Detroit plays the Brooklyn Dodgers at Clearwater, Fla., Tuesday and then closes the Florida portion of the season here Wednesday in a clash with the same club. Lynwood Rowe is due to fling for Detroit tomorrow.

MAROONS PLAN FOR NEXT YEAR

Menominee Cagers Try to Forget Poor Season

Menominee, Mich., April 3.—Menominee's Maroons, who won but a single game on the 1938-1939 regular basketball schedule, and failed to score a victory on their home court, have forgotten there was such a season and are already concentrating on 1940-1941.

Checking over his squad's record for the past season Coach Bernard H. McCann found that his three high scorers will all be back next year, and that he should have a first rate basketball club.

Cadieu Leads Scorers
First of all will be Bob Cadieu, guard and center, who led the scoring as a junior this year. Cadieu tallied 59 points to nose out Harold Hansen by two points. Next in line is Jack Reffling, who was promoted to varsity squad only for the last few games and yet managed to hit the hoop with enough accuracy to gain third position in the scoring.

Fourth and fifth in the scoring race goes to two graduating seniors Dave Baumer and Carleton Zielowski, regulars throughout the season who played an important game of the season from Manistique, and scoring a mild upset by dumping Gladstone in the first game of the district tournament at Iron Mountain.

The total of 279 points in 16 games, including the tournament, is the lowest the Maroons have tallied in many years. Last season with Norman Deschaine pacing the squad, Menominee rang up a 351-total for the same number of games.

Juniors Coming Up
Much of the burden of next year's team will fall on the shoulders of Coach Al Sharer's juniors, varsity, which hung up a good record during their regular season. Such as Bill Dooley, Mike Connors, Leroy Schmidt and others will be battling for places when the season rolls around next fall.

Searching further for talent Coach McCann found that one of the tallest freshmen squads in years played this year. Some of the outstanding men were Mickey Kirchner, Don Bergstrom, Oscar Okerlund, Marshall Jowziak, Bill Herschled, Ralph Sorenson, Bob Kawalski and Bill Olin.

WAR EXPLOSION FEARS DWINDLE

Prices were at the worst in the afternoon, but some support was evident for many leaders at the last.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .1 of a point at 45.7. Transfers totaled 1,476,510 shares against 2,588,390 last Friday.

With the Hitler speech, which came after the conclusion of the preceding session, less belligerent than had been expected, and the seemingly stronger stand of the British-French entente in the matter of eastern European "aggressions," Wall Street's apprehension over a war explosion seemed to have faded.

While the overseas picture was a shade brighter, financial quarters found nothing particular to cheer about in domestic business or Washington news, and brokers thought that they had much to do with the cashing of profits on today's opening bulge.

Selling by chart followers was a factor in the day's proceedings, the theory here being that the breaking of January support levels was a bear market signal.

At the same time, other technicians presented the argument that the charts now in use may be deceptive in the light of present-day conditions, especially the abnormal situation abroad.

Securities in Amsterdam, London and Paris pushed higher before the start of trading in New York.

Bonds ended irregularly higher. Commodities were mixed. Wheat and corn at Chicago were off 3-8 to 5-8 of a cent a bushel. Cotton advanced 30 to 35 cents a bale.

Electric Bond & Share and Lockheed slipped back a notch in the curb at the close while gains running to more than a point were posted by American Gas & Electric, Consolidated Copper and Lake Shore. Turnover of 229,000 shares compared with 232,000 Friday.

They please. They will have to operate in conformity with the new German-Rumanian treaty, and this will simply mean that American, Dutch and British capital will be helping to finance the economies of the dictators against which France, Great Britain and the United States are arming for defense.

In this sense—and in a great many others—we are arming the dictators, as they are certainly not in any sense arming us in return.

CARR SPEAKS AT LIONS CLUB

Administrative Law Is Subject, Dr. Campbell Tells of Work

An interesting and instructive program featured the meeting of the Escanaba Lions club at its meeting on Monday evening at the Chicken Shack on the Ford River road. Art Peterson served as chairman of the meeting.

Dr. J. G. Campbell, Detroit, who has been conducting eye clinics in the eastern part of the upper peninsula since last October for the Children's Fund of Michigan told of the work. He revealed that between October and April 1,416 children had visited the clinics. Of that number, glasses were prescribed for 934, 21 cases were referred for medical attention and 60 cases of squint (crossed eyes) were arrested.

Judge George Carr, the principal speaker of the program, talked on "Administrative Law." He defined the subject of his talk as that part of law administered by commissions and boards as distinguished from law made by the legislative bodies and administered by the courts.

"The great obstacle to administrative law," he said, "has been the theory that a legislative body cannot delegate its own powers or 'the powers of the courts.'"

However, he went on to say that there are so many questions now that demand detailed investigations and rulings on questions not of general interest that administrative law has grown up without being formally recognized.

"The question," he stated, "is not whether we are going to have administrative law, for we already have it; but, how we are going to use it."

He pointed out that thus far administrative law has been largely confined to questions of a technical nature where extensive and involved investigations and the need for expert knowledge is admittedly necessary.

THIEVES LOOT TWO COTTAGES

Summer Homes At Garth Are Entered; Light Bulbs Broken

Two summer cottages on "South avenue" at Garth were looted by thieves at some time since the heavy snowfall which blocked Garth road. It was reported at the Delta county sheriff's department yesterday. They are owned by Miss Beth Brotherton of Escanaba and O. J. Thorsen of Wells.

Electric light bulbs were smashed by the vandals, who broke into the cottages and removed tableware and an electric lamp.

The damage and theft was discovered by Thorsen last Saturday, when he visited the cottage for the first time since the road had been opened. Footprints from the Thorsen cottage led to that owned by Miss Brotherton, where similar damage was discovered. Clothing was strewn over the floors, and drawers emptied of their contents. Exact losses were not reported yesterday.

FIRE DESTROYS ESCANABA BUS

Blaze Occurs At Wells After Children Are Taken Home

Returning to Escanaba after delivering school children to their homes, bus number 2 of the Escanaba-Gladstone bus line caught fire suddenly at Wells Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock and was almost completely destroyed. The cause of the blaze, which the driver, James Hennessy, first noticed in the rear end of the bus, was not determined. There were no passengers in the conveyance at the time.

The fire department was called, but the blaze made rapid headway and the bus was a total loss.

Woman At Onaway Killed By Buzzsaw

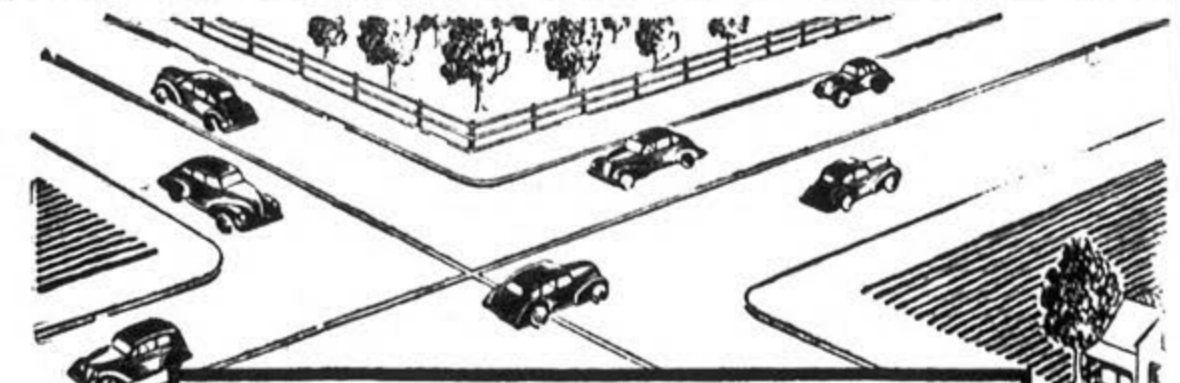

Onaway, Mich. (AP)—Mrs. Henry Pram, 22, who was killed when drawn into a buzz saw, will be buried here Tuesday. The woman was riding her husband in operating the saw when her skirt became entangled in the belt and drew her into the mechanism, virtually decapitating her. In addition to her husband, she is survived by two children.

"Rented the first day" said Smith. Try a For Rent Ad today.

The Better Way to Correct Constipation

One way to treat constipation is to endure it first and cure it afterward. The other way is to avoid having it by getting at its cause. So why not save yourself those dull headachy days, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can do it by a simple common-sense "ounce of prevention"?

If your trouble, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, "the better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal has just the "bulk" you need. If you eat it every day—and drink plenty of water—you can not only get regular but keep regular, day after day and month after month! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

FACTS AND VALUES—ON AUTO INSURANCE

A new, more equitable way of classifying drivers is in effect at Michigan Mutual... Because of this fairer method, thousands of motorists are getting greater insurance values under the Company's Qualified Driver Plan.

The famous Blue Ribbon Insurance policy that protects against every insurable motoring hazard and provides Essential Club Services, offers more value than ever before. Qualified Drivers make an initial saving when their policy is issued, and further reduce insurance costs through the generous dividends in which all policyholders share.

Phone or write now. You, too, may make substantial savings if you qualify under this new plan.
