BILL PASSED ON PAROCHIAL SCHOOL BUSES

REVISION OF LIQUOR LAW STARTS IN LEGISLATURE

Lansing, April 4 (AP)—The senate today passed a bill to enable boards of education to furnish transportation in public school buses for pupils of parochial and private schools and sent it to Governor Dickinson for signature.

The senate vote on the measure was 22 to 8. Senator C. Jay Town, North Adams Republican, and the legislature's only clergyman-member, was among those who opposed the measure.

The division on a Wayne county measure, designed to facilitate the consolidation of fractional school districts, was even closer. The bill, sponsored by Senator Clyde V. Fenner, Republican, Detroit, passed with a vote of 18 to 12 and went to the house.

Appointments Confirmed—Senator Don Vandewerf, Republican, Fremont, assailed the Fenner bill as "an attempt to have the legislature settle a local squabble."

New bills, whose subject matter was advanced prior to the deadline on introduction of measures other than appropriation bills, continued to trickle into the senate hopper.

Senator Leo J. Wilkowski, Democrat, Detroit, proposed repeal of sections of the sales tax law exempting materials and supplies used in industrial processes and in agriculture from the three percent levy.

The senate confirmed the appointments of Elmer A. Beamer, Lenawee county Republican chairman, as state commissioner of agriculture and of John B. Strange, retiring agricultural commissioner, as Democratic member of the bi-partisan civil service commission.

WOULD ABOLISH STORES—Lansing, April 4 (AP)—A new liquor reform movement, to forbid the sale of beer on Sundays and to abolish the state liquor store system and the specially designated liquor dealers set-up as well, got under way today in the legislature.

The bill would center the sale of liquor largely in the hands of drinking houses, although responsible merchants could obtain liquor permits as "specially designated liquor retailers."

Rep. Nelson A. Miles, Republican, Holland, and a large group of associates sponsored the bill, which was introduced as a rival to the liquor control commission's proposed reforms.

Limits on Taverns—The Miles plan would double the cost of all types of liquor licenses. It calls for more generous discounts to persons dealing in

Locked gates and uniformed special policemen maintained strict seclusion for Libby Holman and her new husband, Ralph Holmes, at her estate near Greenwich, Conn., following the couple's surprise secret marriage in Washington. COURT JUSTICE IS CONFIRMED

Four Republicans Vote Against Douglass to Succeed Brandeis

Washington, April 4 (AP)—The nomination of William O. Douglass, 40 year old chairman of the securities commission, to be a supreme court justice was confirmed by the senate today, 62 to 4.

Before the vote, the senate heard a lengthy criticism of Douglass by Senator Frazier (D-N. D.) and answering speeches by Senator Maloney (D-Conn.) and Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.).

Four Republicans—Senators Frazier and Nye of North Dakota, Lodge of Massachusetts, and Reed of Kansas, voted against confirmation.

The former Yale law professor, who received much of his education in Washington State, will succeed Associate Justice Louis D. Brandeis, who retired recently. Douglass is President Roosevelt's fourth appointee to the court.

On motion of Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), the senate voted to notify the president of Douglass' confirmation immediately. This circumvented the requirement that nominations be held in the senate two days for possible reconsideration.

Douglass thus may take the oath of office at any time. The court is now in recess, however, and he can not take his seat until it reconvenes April 17.

Jackson Takes Old Prison Post; Coon Back In Marquette

Lansing, April 4 (AP)—Harry H. Jackson, former warden of the state prison of southern Michigan, was returned to that position today by the state corrections commission.

Acting Warden Marvin L. Coon, who was transferred from the Marquette branch prison to administer the penitentiary when former Warden Joel R. Moore resigned, was ordered to return to his post at Marquette.

Governor Dickinson had recommended the appointment of Jackson, who had been tacitly endorsed by the late Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald. Jackson was warden of the state's biggest prison during Fitzgerald's first administration.

Smelt Jam Mouth Of Boyne River

Boyer City, Mich., April 4 (AP)—Conservation officers reported tonight the mouth of the Boyne river was "full of smelt," 24 hours before the first legal dipping. The first dip will be at 10 p. m. Thursday, when the tenth annual smelt festival will begin formally.

BABY SCALDED IN PAIL—Kalamazoo, Mich., April 4 (AP)—Diana Abbott, 20 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Abbott of Richmond, died here Monday night of burns suffered when she fell into a pail of scalding water. The accident occurred Monday afternoon while Mrs. Abbott was washing a floor of their home.

Father Killed, Boy 3, Becomes King of Iraq

Baghdad, April 4 (AP)—A three-year-old boy became the king of Iraq and the youngest monarch in the world with the death of his father King Ghazi I, in an automobile accident today.

The succession was announced by the council of ministers as thousands of Arabs gathered before the royal "Palace of Flowers" and beat their breasts in mourning for the 27-year-old sportsman-monarch who crashed his swift automobile into an electric light pole at 12:40 a. m.

During the frenzied mourning at Mosul, on the River Tigris 200 miles northwest of Baghdad, G. E. A. C. Moneg-Mason, British consul, was killed by a mob which rushed on the consulate and burned it.

(Reports reaching London said agitators had aroused the mob by declaring that "the English" had killed the king.)

An estimated 50,000 mourners filed past King Ghazi's coffin in the royal court this afternoon during the four hours it was on view to the public. The funeral is to be conducted Wednesday at 8 a. m. (midnight E.S.T.).

The council of ministers, in announcing Ghazi's death, appealed to "Almighty God" to preserve "His Majesty King Faisal the Second," who will be four on May 2. He was named for his grandfather, "Faisal the Fearless." The council appointed the baby's uncle, Emir Abdul Ilah, provisional regent, while the widowed Queen Ilyah said she would follow Ghazi's wishes.

The chamber of deputies on April 6 will elect a five-man council of regency.

Ghazi, educated at an exclusive English school and by Nomadic Bedouin chieftains, claimed descent from the prophet Mohammed.

Lean and slightly built, Ghazi was passionately fond of motoring and flying. He drove racing cars on British speedways when he was sixteen and too young to obtain a private driving license.

Before Ghazi began his five year reign his father gave him a one day taste of kingship as a test of capacity for leadership.

Ghazi immediately summoned the dignified grand vizier and sent him to buy up Baghdad's stock of phonograph records. After Ghazi's second order—five carloads of fresh cut clover for his favorite horse—the father decided it was time to resume his royal functions.

Unlike his father, Ghazi disliked regal pomp and preserved a social and political aloofness which caused concern in Baghdad official circles. His reign began Sept. 9, 1933, when his father died of heart disease at Berne, Switzerland. Ghazi married his cousin, daughter of the late King Ali of Hejaz, ten days later.

Ghazi never knew the man who helped make his father king, the late Col. T. E. Lawrence, "Lawrence of Arabia," but was an ardent admirer and died in fashion similar to that which killed his hero. Lawrence died after a motorcycle accident in an English country lane.

Officers Retained In UAW; Work Week Of 30 Hours Urged

Cleveland, O., April 4 (AP)—The C. I. O. United Automobile Workers retained in office today President Roland J. Thomas and Secretary-treasurer George F. Addes—pilots of the union since its split from a faction led by Homer Martin—and formed a program for a 30-hour work week.

Thomas, 38, of Detroit, stocky electric welder, regarded as an "independent" in union politics, defeated Carl J. Shipley, Bendix Local No. 9, South Bend, Ind., and Frank B. Tuttle, Dodge Local No. 140, Detroit, for the presidency. The president polled 1,233 votes, on a basis of one vote for each 100 members represented at the convention. Shipley received 404 and Tuttle 59 1/2.

Addes, of Toledo, O., declined nomination for the presidency to preserve unity and was unopposed for secretary-treasurer.

Delegates, tense over the election which had been the subject of many caucuses throughout the convention, hoisted the reelected officers on their shoulders and pledged solidarity in song.

The convention swiftly adopted a resolution for formulation of a program for a 30-hour work week in the automobile industry with 40-hour pay based on existing wage scales.

Soviets And Japs Fighting At Border

Tokyo, April 5 (Wednesday) (AP)—Domei (Japanese news agency) dispatches from Manchoukuo today reported fighting was continuing on the border between Soviet Russia and Japanese-dominated Manchoukuo where a three hour battle occurred Sunday.

The outbreak was on the north-west border of Hsingan province where numerous clashes have occurred this year between Soviet troops and Manchoukuo forces.

The Domei reports said Russians had moved artillery and cavalry to the scene and strengthened their positions with machineguns.

MAYOR KELLY REELECTED BY HEAVY MARGIN

Chicago, April 4 (AP)—Mayor Edward J. Kelly, leader of the city's powerful Democratic organization, won reelection tonight by defeating Dwight H. Green, aggressive young Republican, who based his campaign on a promise to "redeem Chicago from machine rule" and a pledge of strict economy.

Unofficial returns, with only 28 of the 3,648 precincts missing, gave Kelly 808,862 and Green 630,967.

Plurality of 182,000—Projections indicate the complete count would be $20,000 for Kelly and $38,000 for Green—a plurality of 182,000 for the mayor.

Green, who was a federal prosecutor here during the government's Capone "gang busting" crusade, made a sensational race in his first bid for an elective office. Drafted to lead the party out of the minority woods, he tripled the 210,011 vote he received in the primary five weeks ago and compiled the largest total obtained by any Republican candidate here in 10 years.

Edward F. Moore, chairman of the Cook county (Chicago) Republican committee, stated the "huge Republican vote definitely insures a Republican victory in Illinois in 1940 and dooms the new deal nationally."

Much Money Spent—Green, in acknowledging his defeat, declared: "With all the regimentation of their payrollers, the most lavish campaign fund in history and the intimidation and coercion of people in the WPA and on relief, the Democratic party was only able to garner 56 per cent of the vote."

Kelly's total smashed the record for a Chicago mayoral candidate—the 799,050 he polled in the 1935 election—but his winning margin tonight fell far under the all-time high majority of 631,954 he enjoyed then. His vote also surpassed the 604,190 total he gathered in the February primary, although it did not equal the Democratic primary total of 954,311.

He interpreted the outcome as a vote of confidence in his administration and promised to continue his program of civic improvements.

Exceeded Only Once—The board of election commissioners estimated 1,474,941 votes were cast—a record for a city election. Only once has that total

Rosenberry Leads In Wisconsin Race For Supreme Court

Milwaukee, April 4 (AP)—Chief Justice Marvin B. Rosenberry, member of the Wisconsin supreme court since 1916 and a candidate for re-election, piled up a two to one margin over the nearest of his two opponents in early returns from today's judicial election.

With approximately one-sixth of the vote reported, Rosenberry's total was more than 16,000 above the combined vote of William H. Markham of Horton, and Gerhard A. Hagedorn of Milwaukee. The count in 488 of 2,916 precincts:

Rosenberry 62,092; Markham 28,690; Hagedorn 16,847. The 71-year-old jurist led in each precinct reported.

'I'm Ashamed,' Says Jack Benny Fined $10,000 For Smuggling

New York, April 4 (AP)—With a murmured apology—"I am ashamed"—Jack Benny, the usually suave and irrepressible comedian, pleaded guilty today to a technical charge of jewel smuggling, and was fined $10,000 and put on probation under a suspended sentence of a year and a day.

Specifically, he admitted through counsel that in his behalf Albert N. Chaperau, a pseudo-diplomat of shadowy background, had surreptitiously brought into the United States from France two diamond-studded gold clips and a diamond-encrusted gold bracelet worth altogether about $2,131. Duty on the jewelry, which was intended as a gift for Benny's wife and radio partner, Mary Livingstone, would have been about $700.

As he stood uncertainly before the bench—smoothing his grey hair, fingering his yinc-colored necktie—to ask the mine-of-the-court, he was substantially exonerated by Federal Judge Vincent Leibell of real criminal intent, but was denounced coldly and impersonally nevertheless.

"Sometimes," Judge Leibell told the actor, "men who are prominent in pictures and radio are just easy marks for smart people. But you should have been smart enough not to fall in with such a plan."

"You have undoubtedly made a fortune and shouldn't have fallen in with a scheme to defraud the United States government and the country in which you acquired your prominence and your wealth. It was small stuff."

"If I thought you really planned to do so and it was your own suggestion, I would take a different view of the case," (Benny's counsel had said that it was Chaperau who had suggested that he could bring in the jewelry duty free as a non-resident supposedly carrying personal effects.)

Escanaba Veterans Win Court Decision On Job Dismissals

RESULTS TO HAVE BIG BEARING ON 1940 PLANS

Lansing, April 4 (AP)—The state supreme court granted a new trial to C. G. Biggs, charged with having embezzled $273,000 from his former employers, the Filer Fibre company of Filer City.

The court upheld Biggs' contention that the prosecution had introduced a prejudicial statement in the trial record. He was sentenced in Manistee county circuit court to three to 10 years in prison.

The court also held that World War veterans dismissed from state jobs for political reasons before the Civil Service act became effective still were entitled to take Civil Service qualifying examinations.

The case was that of Frank O'Donnell, William Vallind and Gerald J. Daley, dismissed in April, 1937, from the Escanaba store of the liquor control commission. The court said the dismissals "were solely for political reasons."

The court sustained the Pontiac police and fire trial board in dismissing three police officers who were alleged to have been identified with the Black Legion.

MOST GERMANS WANT NO WAR

Nation Feeling Pinch of Debt; Poland's Envoy Watched

Berlin, April 4 (AP)—An official reminder that Germany's indebtedness stood at 28,109,800,000 marks ($11,243,920,000) on Jan. 31 was given today while many Germans watched Polish-British negotiations in London to try to get some inkling of what the future may bring.

The controlled press bitterly attacked Great Britain, but there were growing indications that the average German does not want war. Some observers believed that months of peace seemed assured unless Polish Foreign Minister Joseph Beck definitely signs up with Great Britain in a manner that places Poland in a distinct anti-German camp.

They pointed out that Chancellor Hitler might act in his usual quick, decisive way if the Polish-British consultations, started yesterday in London, should place Poland completely in the British-French sphere, but nobody in authoritative Berlin circles believed that Colonel Beck would make an unequivocal anti-Nazi choice.

One reason cited for believing Hitler would not venture farther at present was the financial position disclosed by the official statistics, which showed an increase of nearly ten billion marks (currently $4,000,000,000) in the German public debt during one year, with the total indebtedness amounting to 29,109,800,000 marks at the end of last January.

The figures also showed that the government owes German creditors 23,500,000,000 marks ($9,400,000,000). The balance comprises foreign debts and funds deposited in the reichsbank of amounts which are due but cannot be paid for lack of foreign exchange.

Big Yankee Clipper Arrives In England After Atlantic Trip

Southampton, England, April 4 (AP)—Pan-American Airways' Yankee Clipper, world's largest flying boat in service, heralded the opening of commercial aviation between the United States and England when she alighted on the harbor here at 3:40 p. m. (10:40 a. m. E. S. T.) today at the end of a 5,300 mile inspection flight.

It was uncertain tonight whether the Clipper would retrace the southern route or fly the North Atlantic on the return trip. The big plane will be flown to Foyens, Ireland, tomorrow and may return to Southampton.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh flew to England from France today and, as a Pan-American Airways adviser, was expected to visit the Clipper before she returns to the United States.

Today's landing marked the end of a leisurely flight from Baltimore, Md., via the Azores, Lisbon and Biscarosse and Marseille, France, with 21 persons aboard.

YOUNGEST ALDERMAN

Ionia, Mich., April 4 (AP)—Thane Benedict, Jr., Ionia insurance salesman elected city alderman in Monday's election, is the youngest person ever named to that post in Ionia's history. Benedict, a Republican, is 22 years old. He will assume his seat on the common council April 11.

DEBATE BEGINS ON NEUTRALITY

Amendments Will Guide President In Case of War Abroad

Washington, April 4 (AP)—The session's big bout over neutrality legislation begins tomorrow with Henry L. Stimson, former Republican secretary of state and champion of "affirmative action" against the Fascist nations, explaining his views to the senate foreign relations committee.

His testimony was generally expected to emphasize at once the senate's fundamental division of opinion on the subject by producing a searching cross examination from such advocates of isolation as Senator Borah (R-Ida.) and Senator Johnson (R-Calif.), the ranking Republican members of the committee.

While a series of proposed amendments to the present neutrality law are pending, the real issue to be decided is the question how much freedom of action President Roosevelt is to have in charting this country's course, if and when war breaks out abroad.

The administration makes no secret of the fact that it wants more latitude than the present law would permit. And, because of President Roosevelt's evident disposition to help the democracies of Europe resist aggression by the continent's dictator states, the isolationists are fearful that if such freedom of action is given it may eventually lead this country into a European conflict.

In the Headlines From Washington

(By The Associated Press)

Farm state senators sought agreement on funds, in addition to those already approved, for agricultural benefit payments.

The senate confirmed by a 62 to 4 vote appointment of William O. Douglas as an associate justice of the supreme court.

Chairman Arthur J. Aitmeier of the Social Security board opposed reduction of the present three percent payroll tax for unemployment compensation, and urged that the states liberalize their systems.

The senate approved legislation to abolish income tax immunity for public employes, including federal judges, and sent the bill to conference for adjustment with a house-approved measure.

The house appropriations committee selected a 13-member subcommittee to investigate W.P.A.

GAINS STRONG IN REPUBLICAN VOTE COLUMN

Detroit, April 4 (AP)—Republican leaders hailing the broad victory of their candidates in Michigan's spring election surveyed tonight the possibility the vote trend it revealed might lift the state out of its "doubtful" classification.

G. O. P. majorities in Monday's races for minor state offices mounted close to the 125,000 mark in an indicated total vote of slightly under 700,000. With a total vote more than twice as large, 1,600,000 in last fall's election, the late Republican Government was seen with a majority of less than 100,000.

Wayne Swinging Over—A prediction that "Wayne county will soon be completely Republican just as it was in the past" came from Edward N. Barnard, Detroit party leader who noted G. O. P. gains in urban centers. In recent elections Republican majorities outstate have dwindled in the face of usually Democratic returns from Wayne county.

Encouraging to Republican analysts were the increased vote percentages captured by their candidates who seized control of the state boards of agriculture and education from Democrats in Monday's election.

Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, received close to 60 per cent of the total vote as he was re-elected Monday. In the spring election two years ago, Elliott won the office with less than 51 per cent of the total, and Fitzgerald's percentage last fall was about 53.

Dickinson Pleased—Governor Luren D. Dickinson, who last week asked the voters to elect Republicans as a means of expressing confidence in his administration, termed the result "very gratifying," and added: "The legislature should be given credit along with the candidates, because of its insistence upon a policy of balancing the budget and avoiding new taxes."

The Republicans, besides gaining control of two state boards, retained present positions on the supreme court bench and on the board of university regents.

The electors approved a constitutional amendment to provide for non-partisan election of supreme court justices, but rejected one that would have given circuit court commissioners powers equivalent to those of justices of the peace.

A crossing of party lines, noted especially in the race for two seats on the board of regents, failed to affect general trends. Harry G. Kipke, elected a regent of the University of Michigan which dismissed him as head football coach in 1937, led four candidates in this race on late tabulations. A controversy over his candidacy and entrance of an anti-Kipke Michigan alumni committee into the campaign cut into Kipke's vote totals outstate but he more than made it up in Wayne county.

Detroit Senator Elected—The ex-coach (Irrated Republican J. Joseph Herbert of Manistee) by 11,000 votes outstate. But a 17,500 advantage over Herbert in Wayne county sent Kipke to the head of the race.

FOUR DIE WHEN PLANES COLLIDE

Tragedy Occurs During Launching of Giant Aircraft Carrier

Quincy, Mass., April 4 (AP)—A collision in flight of two naval planes sent four reservists plunging to death today during the launching of the giant aircraft carrier Wasp, newest addition to the nation's sea power.

Few who watched the Wasp glide majestically down the ways were aware of the tragedy, which struck almost at the moment Mrs. Charles Edison, wife of the assistant navy secretary, broke a traditional bottle of champagne against the warship's knife-like bow.

Among the victims was Lieutenant Commander Waldo H. Brown, 43, of Milton, whose widow, the former Frances Gray, Detroit heiress, witnessed the launching ceremonies. She quickly learned of the accident, but did not know immediately her husband was involved.

The others killed were Aviation Cadet Ellsworth Benson, 26, of Newton, Aviation Chief Carpenter's Mate Walter Kirk, 31, of Quincy, and Aviator Chief Mechanist's Mate John Auello, 35, of Revere.

Navy officials said the six standard scouting planes were going into "V" formation when two of the ships collided at an altitude of 1,500 feet.

Brown leaped from the plane, but he was too close to the ground for his parachute to open.

Lieutenant Commander Michael Kernode, U. S. N., commandant from which the planes flew on an "authorized training flight," said inquiry convinced him the six ships were engaged in "conservative flying" when the accident occurred and that a strong wind may have been a contributing factor.

been exceeded. That was in the presidential election of 1936, when 1,710,302 persons voted.

Ideal spring turnout brought a tremendous turnout for the first big direct test of strength between Democrats and Republicans in 1939.

Strategists on both sides of the political fence agreed the results would have an important bearing on the 1940 plans of the major parties.

Kelly, a veteran of 62 and master of the poker of politics, held most of the trump cards. He had the support of an organization rated as the strongest in the city's history by observers. His stewardship had been endorsed by many business and labor leaders. His party, with many of its members holding city, state and federal positions, united behind him.

Stands On Record Throughout the campaign he used a technique that was new to Chicago's political wars. He eschewed the blat, bands and bunting of yore and based his bid for reelection entirely upon his six-year record. He ignored Green's charges—and ignored Green, too. Not once in his public utterances did he mention his challenger's name.

Green, 42, and making his first race for elective office, was drafted by the party command to lead a comeback drive. As an assistant U. S. district attorney here in the early years of the current decade he won wide notice for his part in the prosecution of Al Capone and a half dozen other gangsters. Later Green became the district attorney. His organization did not match the Democratic unit in campaign money or manpower.

Green charged the tax rate had scaled up to the second highest point on record under Kelly and contended a number of businesses and industries had been "driven" from the city as a consequence. He contended the Democrats had spent $2,500,000 in the Feb. 28 primaries to nominate Kelly because "Kelly and his machine are afraid to have the spotlight of honesty focused on their padded payrolls and political contracts."

Claims (Time Curbed) Kelly asserted that during his administration crime and fire losses had been halved, the city's credit had been restored, the public health service had been improved, 75 new schools had been built and 1,800 miles of streets had been surfaced. He stated: "My administration has given more service at less cost than any other in the modern history of Chicago."

Episcopal Diocese Meets In Escanaba Thursday, April 13

Marquette, Mich., April 4 (AP)—The forty-fourth annual convention of the Episcopal diocese of northern Michigan will be held in St. Stephen's church, Escanaba, April 13, instead of in Marquette, Mich. as originally scheduled. It was announced here today.

The Rt. Rev. Frank Wilson, bishop of Eau Claire, Wis., will attend the convention as the representative of the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, of New York, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States.

Announcement of the change in date was made following a joint meeting of the standing committee of the diocese, the finance committee and the board of trustees, held this afternoon in the Guild hall of Grace church, Ishpeming.

CHET MORTON NEW PRESIDENT

Local Man Heads Upper Peninsula Confab of Musicians

Chet Morton, of Escanaba, William Riley, of Ironwood, Melvin Ramberg, of Marquette, and Ernest Tomassoni, of Iron Mountain, have been elected permanent officers of the Upper Peninsula Conference of Musicians. It was announced yesterday by Ramberg, secretary-treasurer of the group.

The conference convened in the labor hall in the Nester block in Marquette Sunday morning and afternoon and at the final business session, Morton was elected president, Riley vice president, Ramberg secretary-treasurer, and Tomassoni sergeant-at-arms.

Twenty delegates from Marquette, Iron Mountain, Ironwood and Escanaba attended the business sessions. Sault Ste. Marie was the only member city of the conference not represented. The meeting was a regularly quarterly session of the group. The next quarterly meeting will be held on Sunday, July 9, in Ironwood.

"Working Agreements" The purpose of the conference is to establish uniform working agreements among musicians' unions in the upper peninsula," Secretary Ramberg said. The group is affiliated with the American Federation of Musicians and the A. F. of L.

The meeting was concluded with a banquet and program of entertainment, featuring the music of five member orchestras of the association, at the Cinders club Sunday evening. Glen Wilson, treasurer of the Marquette Musicians' union, was toastmaster. The banquet was attended by 136 members and delegates.

Delegates present were: William Riley, president of the Ironwood union; John Poljach, executive board member of the Ironwood union; Chet Morton, vice president of the Escanaba union; Ray Richards, treasurer of the Escanaba union; Robert Baldrice, secretary of Iron Mountain union; Ernest Tomassoni, Iron Kobasic and Emmet Anderson, executive board members Iron Mountain union; George Corsi, Frank Corsi, Joe Cutler, Jack Minnella, George Anderson and James Giovere, members of the Iron Mountain union, and Frank Valenti, executive board member of the Iron Mountain group.

Marquette delegates at the business meeting were: H. M. Robinson, president of the Marquette Musicians' union; Melvin Ramberg, secretary; Clifford Savitski, William Gorst and William Small.

Communists Gain In Danish Voting Copenhagen, April 3 (AP)—Incomplete returns tonight from Denmark's general election indicated Communist gains while the German minority in north Schleswig appeared to be holding its own.

On the basis of returns from the first 10 constituencies the Communists would have four seats in the lower house of parliament instead of the two they held previously.

Returns from North Schleswig, which Germany watched for indications of any growing pro-German sentiment, showed a heavy vote with both Danish and German returns running ahead of the last election.

direction of the Chicago organization with the mayor, has assumed a less active role in recent months. Kelly, who began his public service career as a rodmaster for the sanitary district at $62 a month back in 1894, was chosen mayor on April 13, 1933, by the city council to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Anton Cermak. He was elected to the $18,000 a year post in 1935 with a record majority of 631,954 over Emil C. Wetten, a nominal opponent who wore the Republican colors.

Democrats, who have held the upper hand here since 1931, look forward to another four years as the ruling power in the city hall.

HOPKINS WILL MOVE TO IOWA

Secretary of Commerce Denies His Motive Is Political

Warm Springs, Ga., April 4 (AP) Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins said here tonight he would go to Iowa in a few weeks to establish a permanent residence at his boyhood home at Grinnell.

Political observers immediately saw in the move a possibility that Hopkins may be changing his voting residence from New York to the west to run for the Democratic nomination for the presidency or for the senate in 1940.

But Hopkins denied this saying there was "no political motive" in it at all.

He also denied a recent report that he intended to resign from the cabinet because of ill health. He said, as friends in Iowa had reported, that he wanted to provide a permanent home and "close circle of friends" for his young daughter Diane and he thought of no better place than where he spent his boyhood days.

A guest at President Roosevelt's cottage here, Hopkins said he would go to Grinnell and look around for a home as soon as he completely recovers from an attack of influenza which struck him down in Washington several weeks ago.

Hopkins was born in Iowa and spent the first 20 years of his life there. He lived in Grinnell from 1900 to 1912 and graduated from Grinnell college. His parents, now dead, lived there for years after he left for the east to take up social welfare work.

BRIDGES CASE UP FOR TRIAL

Local Contractor Being Sued At Marquette By Cletis Dahl

Marquette, Mich., April 4—Jury trial of a $50,000 damage suit, brought by Cletis Dahl, formerly of Bark River, against Clifford B. Bridges, of Escanaba, in which it is alleged that negligence of the defendant resulted in personal injury to the plaintiff in an accident April 2, 1931, was the first case on the docket for the April term of U. S. district court, which opened in the federal building this morning at 9:30.

In the Dahl-Bridges civil case, the plaintiff charges that on April 2, 1931, he lost the sight of both eyes and received other personal injuries when dynamite caps, allegedly taken from a shed near Bark River used by the C. B. Bridges Construction company, of Escanaba, exploded. It is claimed that negligence on the part of the defendant resulted in the accident.

Negligence Denied The complaint states that Dahl was residing with his parents on a farm in Bark River, nine miles west of Escanaba, at the time and that he was accompanied by "two brothers and a friend—all infants—into the shanty across the road from the farm." The dynamite caps, it is alleged, were taken from the "shanty" and it is claimed that the shed was "unlocked" and "unprotected."

The defendant, operator of the construction company on a road job in the vicinity of Bark River at the time, denies injuries to Dahl were caused by negligence, and alleges "in support of the denial that the plaintiff 'broke and took the caps. It also is denied that the shed was unbarred and unlocked. The defendant claims the plaintiff was negligent."

Attorneys for the plaintiff are the firm of Kelly, Kelly and Kelly, of Detroit, and Ray E. McAllister, of Iron Mountain, is representing the defendant.

Land condemnation cases to be heard concern 14,165.88 acres in Keweenaw county, Isle Royale tracts; 3,015.52 acres in Schoolcraft county, Seney tracts; 1,474.26 acres in Alger, Baraga, Gogebic, Houghton, Ontonagon and Schoolcraft counties, forestry tracts; 272.40 acres, Chippewa and Mackinac counties, forestry tracts.

liquor, a flat 15 percent rebate both to packaged liquor dealers and those serving drinks by the glass. The liquor commission proposed a flat five percent discount. The discounts now are 10 percent to those selling liquor by the bottle, 15 percent to those serving drinks.

The Miles bill would limit the number of licensees of all types to one for each 1,000 population, compared with the present system which has no limit on the number of taverns and a "ceiling" of one liquor-by-the-glass license for each 650 population.

It would forbid the licensing of drinking spots outside incorporated villages or cities, retain the present 55 percent profit to the state on the sale of liquor, and authorize the liquor commission to fix retail prices of drinks as well as of bottled liquor and beer.

It would restrict the sale of bottled beer to sealed packages of a half dozen or more bottles, and prohibit the licensing of gasoline filling stations as beer distributors.

Detroit (AP)—A man identified by police as Dan Baker of Detroit was arrested today and held in connection with an alleged $1,000 kidnaping threat made to Louis Kaufman, Detroit building contractor.

Detroit police arrested Baker at Woodward and Webb avenues as he stepped up to Kaufman's car and accepted an envelope containing $500 in marked bills, Detective Lieutenant Roy Pendergrass said.

Kaufman complained Monday that his life and his family had been threatened if he did not pay $1,000. He said several telephone calls were made to his home and office in the Dime Bank building threatening him with death and warning him that his two children would be kidnaped if the money were not paid.

Police instructed the Detroit builder to arrange a meeting at Woodward and Webb and to bring marked money. Pendergrass said Kaufman arranged for a $500 payment and handed the money over while police remained in hiding.

The suspect denied he was involved in an attempted extortion racket. He told police he had been promised $10 by "a man I don't know" to collect a debt from Kaufman.

Refunding Of State Bond Issue Favored Lansing, April 4 (AP)—Refunding of a portion of the state's $25,000,000 bonds' bonus bond issue was recommended by the state administrative board today in a communication to the legislature.

Miller Dunckel, state treasurer, said shrinkage of securities in the bond sinking fund, principally in Michigan municipal issues, had impaired the reserve but that only a "small part" of the bond issue would have to be refunded. He said the shrinkage was an unavoidable result of the depression.

In the future, Dunckel said, only U. S. government bonds would be bought for the sinking fund. Dunckel planned to outline his refunding plan and a program to liquidate present sinking fund assets at a meeting of state finance officials tomorrow.

Giacobina Wins By 19 Ballots; Slips Used By Opponent

In a nip-and-tuck race that aroused a tremendous last-minute interest, Joseph Giacobina, nominee yesterday won by 19 votes over his slip opponent, Ivar Anderson, for the office of mayor of Iron Mountain.

So close was the tally, with the lead switching back and forth and Giacobina's margin at one time cut down to two votes, that election boards conducted checks, rechecks and double checks to make sure of their figures. But there is still a possibility of a recount, much argument having arisen over the casting out of certain ballots which it is claimed should have been counted and the tabulation of others which, it is contended, should have been placed aside.

Mrs. Sharkey was born in Brentwood, Quebec, January 8, 1870, and had been a resident of Escanaba for many years.

Surviving members of the family are the following: sons and daughters, Florence Roy, Eugene Rose and Bert, Escanaba; George and Earl, Lathrop; John of Rock; Arthur of Wilson; and Mrs. George Poupard, Iron Mountain.

Settlement Sought In Vulcan Priest's Imprisonment Case Marquette, Mich., April 4 (AP)—Hearing on an injunction suit brought in an attempt to force the Rev. Simon Borkowski and some members of his parish to vacate St. Barbara's Roman Catholic church at Vulcan, Mich., was continued today until April 22 to permit opposing factions to reach a settlement agreement.

Counsel for parishioners who have kept Fr. Borkowski a "prisoner" in the church parish since last Aug. 15 in defiance of a transfer ordered by the Most Rev. Joseph Flanagan, bishop of the Marquette diocese, has announced that the parishioners would withdraw April 18 rather than fight eviction proceedings in circuit court.

The parishioners set up a picket line outside the church last August. Since that time they have claimed Fr. Borkowski was being kept a "prisoner" and was unable to leave the church parish.

The priest and pickets had been ordered to appear in court today to face eviction action instituted by the bishop.

Capitol Newsmen Admire Barbara Banks' Looks; Her Title Strikes 'Em Funny!

Washington, April 4—A matter of money would seem to be the best reason why there won't be any prolonged coal strike in the Appalachian area this spring, despite the conferees' long wrangle over a new wage agreement.

The chief reason for this confidence is the fact that the grapevine says that John L. Lewis' war chest is low. It costs money to finance a major coalfield strike, and the money just isn't at hand. So, at any rate, the operators believe.

On the other hand, the operators are not anxious to have a strike either. The last two years have been pretty tough ones for the industry as a whole.

The public presentation of claims and counter-claims at the negotiations in New York is looked on as mostly window dressing. The miners called for a 50 cent wage raise, a 30-hour week, and a guarantee of 200 days work a year; the operators explained that all of this was out of the question and that even the present scale was really too high. This said, it is assumed here that something very much resembling the present scale will ultimately be agreed on.

One catch might be the miners' demand for a preliminary agreement continuing the present wage scale, in the event of a deadlock, with an added clause making any new wage scale retroactive to April 1, when the existing agreement expired. The operators are dead set against this, on the ground that it would be a tacit admission that some sort of increase is coming.

NAVY'S LITTLE JOKE

The navy isn't having any trouble, in spite of what you may have heard; it has just been having a little joke with itself.

During the World War the navy had a lot of signs warning navy folk to "beware of female spies," and pointing out that "the enemy" often used such charmers to wheedle state secrets out of young men in uniform. Just recently someone wrote in and asked for a copy of one of those signs. The navy press relations department complied with the request, and then—liking the looks of the sign—stuck one up on the wall of the press relations office. A news man photographed it, the photo was reprinted widely, and the impression went out that impressive ensigns were being led astray by sly siren sirens overseas.

So if you saw the picture, and worried about it, set your mind at rest. The navy is just having a little joke.

MORE THAN FISH

Congressman Fred Bradley, Michigan Republican, is learning a lot of things he never knew before about the food products which his native state produces.

Recently the congressman announced that a big "Michigan food products dinner" would be thrown on April 6 in the Congressional restaurant, with members of the press and congressional delegations from Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio as guests. The big idea was to introduce the lads to smelt, those little fish which are caught in buckets and old wash-bowlers in the streams around Escanaba at this time of year.

But the rest of the state took hold in a big way. All sorts of commodities began to start coming in—beans, potatoes, cherries, celery, apples, whitefish, turkeys, champagne, and heaven knows what else. The result is that the dinner will get one of the most all-inclusive meals ever served in the national capital.

In cidentally, Congressman Bradley is an aviation enthusiast. He has to be; his district covers parts of both the upper and lower peninsulas of Michigan, and he covers it via his own plane. Now, just to do the dinner up right, he is sending the plane to Michigan to bring down the guest of honor for this festival — Miss Barbara Banks of Escanaba, who is extremely pretty but who has been saddled with the title of "Queen of Smeltians."

Apply enough, Mr. Bradley's

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts
The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or overworked, your stomach often fails to do its job. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel your skin and bowels all over. Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and harmful. It takes three little black tablets called Bell-u-sol for indigestion to make the stomach work. Laxatives, when used, make the stomach stop working. Bell-u-sol is safe. It is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-u-sol for indigestion.

All-Michigan Dinner

MICHIGAN often has been referred to as the automobile state, but the array of farm products that will be served at the all-Michigan dinner in Washington, D. C., Thursday evening, April 6, will be unmistakable evidence that she does not come to take a back seat when it comes to agriculture.

In fact, Michigan leads in the production of some farm crops. She is first among all the states in field beans, cucumbers and peppermint; second in potatoes, sugar beets, celery and onions; third in clover seed, grapes and popcorn, fourth in buckwheat, beets, cabbage and tomatoes; and fifth in field peas, pears, cherries and snap beans.

The Upper Peninsula took the opportunity to reveal the magnitude of its agricultural resources, in a dinner given at the national capital dinner. This region north of the Straits of Mackinac is becoming generally recognized as an ideal potato raising country, a fact that is demonstrated by the large yields of high quality tubers that are being recorded. The dairying industry also continues to grow, and the recent statement by William Asselin, Norway, secretary-treasurer of the Upper Peninsula Dairy Manufacturers' association, would be surprising to those who have never taken the time to study the situation.

The Michigan legislature has given recognition to the state's agricultural industry this year by appropriating $20,000 for advertising its products. In doing this, the state is following the example of Florida and California, who are using public funds to promote the sale of citrus fruits; Idaho and Maine, with their potatoes; and other states, who are doing a good job in marketing their farm products.

State Trade Barriers

THIRTY-TWO states and four territories of the United States enforce "buy-at-home" laws compelling preference for products made within their own borders, the council of state government reports.

This seems all very curious in view of the fact that complete freedom of trade among the several states was one of the prime motives of the convention which drafted the federal constitution. The framers of the constitution had seen how jealousy among the states bade fair to wreck the whole idea of a federal union. Such states as New York and New Jersey, following the Revolution, had regular tariffs against each other.

The constitution provided that "no state shall lay any imports or duties on imports or exports." This meant imports or exports from or to other states as well as foreign territory. Also, it was provided that "no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States." Yet, in face of these clear provisions, states have enacted ten types of laws which have the effect of trammeling commerce over state lines. Ten states also have passed laws concerning public employment of residents since the New Deal.

Under the theory of a country, one and indivisible for economic as well as political purposes, presumably every state should welcome every legitimate business enterprise no matter where it originated and yet seven states levy discriminatory taxes upon corporations organized in other than their own jurisdictions. These taxes relate to general business.

There are 25 states which levy discriminatory taxes on life insurance companies organized outside their own boundaries. Twenty-one states have such restrictive laws against fire companies of other states.

The chain store controversy is an old one which for many long years has produced legal and other recriminations. There are now 23 states which have chain store taxes.

There are 29 states which have taxes on oleomargarine. Some of these levied to protect local butter industry while others protect domestic vegetable oils.

Of all the many taxes probably the most serious interferences with the free flow of commerce arise from the various gasoline and vehicle taxes. In this field the situation has become so involved that several states have provided ports of entry to their borders and certain vehicles may enter in no other way. The wide variety of these state and local regulations and imposts makes a trip across several state lines an adventure of no mean magnitude. The inspectors of many jurisdictions must be encountered and satisfied that the traveler and trader have complied with the multiple exactions.

To what extent economic recovery has been retarded by these measures no one has had the temerity to estimate, but it is obvious to anyone that there has been a far departure from the American way.

Paris—If stocky, pugnacious Edouard Daladier appears to have become, at least temporarily, a dictator to make France strong in the growing European crisis, it is because he holds no illusions about Adolf Hitler.

Edouard Daladier, who has three times been premier of his country in recent stormy years, holds no illusions because he is a keen student of history and because he has been a soldier, both as a private in the trenches and as officer.

Above all, Daladier believes in constitutional government, but he believes at the same time that to have peace one must be strong. That philosophy more than anything else explains his demand put French workers on a 64-hour week, that have geared the nation to a war-time basis generally.

—20 YEARS IN POLITICS— As minister of war, the one-time Provencal baker boy began to strengthen national defense as early as 10 years ago. More than any other man he has been responsible for bringing the French army to its present high point of efficiency. With Andre Maginot, he has been called the greatest war minister since the Armistice.

Daladier's political career started on Armistice day, 1919, when he was elected to the Chamber of Deputies. Herriot gave him his first portfolio five years later, naming him minister of colonies. From that point he rose swiftly.

He has been minister of colonies, of public instruction, of public works and of war.

He was first elected premier in 1932. His great chance came then when Herriot was overthrown on the debt question and Daladier succeeded him as a "stop-gap" Radical-Socialist. He turned out to be one of the most able premiers since the war. How able, is evidenced by the fact that he proved himself a "strong man" in a period of great crisis in the French parliament.

He returned to power again in 1934 and for the third time in April, 1938. He has weathered crisis upon crisis in the present term. He has demanded emergency powers on repeated occasions and France has granted them.

But there has been no fanfare of the dictator, for all that, about Edouard Daladier. He is a man of few words, so few that he has been often called the "Condolice of France." He made only three speeches in one year as premier. On the other hand, he is a man of direct action.

—TTED IN WORLD WAR— He has been, in fact, since his boyhood in the sunny Romy country of southern France. He was born the son of a French baker, but his father had high ambitions for his son and so Edouard went to college. He won highest honors, although he worked himself through the university. He gave lessons at three francs an hour, getting up at five o'clock in the morning to prepare them. Thus from 17 to 25 he developed habits of inexhaustible endurance.

From French colleges he went to Rome for a year on a scholarship. Then he returned to France to specialize in history. And from history he plunged into the trenches. He spent four years in the trenches, came out with the Legion of Honor, the Croix de Guerre and three citations for bravery. He has been fighting some form of battle ever since.

Daladier is known today as a Radical-Socialist. But those terms do not quite mean in France what they do in America. More accurately he is said to be Republican and a Democrat.

If France's action makes Edouard Daladier look like a dictator, Daladier doesn't care, so long as it makes France strong.

winter sports in the northern section and football bowl games in various southern cities.

Something of the same nature is being considered in Waukesha. While only in the tentative state, the Association of Commerce is considering plans to stage a water carnival in Waukesha next summer and if it proves successful it may become an annual affair. Competition in floats and races would be staged on the river and the parks would be utilized for other entertainment. Waukesha, the city of springs, can well afford to revive the interest shown in its natural resources, and even if it is not fortunate to have smelt runs and the like, by putting ingenuity to work Waukesha can become an annual mecca receiving state-wide publicity and recognized as a royal host city.

The city which has capitalized mostly on the smelt feature is Escanaba, Mich., whose jamboree this year will be held April 13 to 15. The spawning run is expected to start about April 1, says an announcement sent out generally to the press in the Lake Michigan area. To make known to what proportion the jamboree has grown and what significance it has attained, the officials in charge of the celebration declare an all-Michigan food products dinner will be served in Washington as a pre-jamboree event. The meal will be served in one of the congressional dining rooms in Washington, April 6, for congressmen, federal officials and capital newspaper writers and cameramen. That is a sample of the national recognition Escanaba, the national smelt capital, is receiving.

Smelt, which a few years ago caused no particular fuss, and seldom was mentioned, except in the jargon of commercial fishermen, today is the talk of official Washington. Yes, the lowly smelt is playing a big role in a high social strata, king for a week at least.

Official population of Soviet Russia is 170,126,000. No, Mr. Hitler, you can't work your minority irick there.

New York—It's a town of many moods, as a walk from Fifth Avenue to Broadway will reveal.

Radio City on a sunny morning is a boon to the spirit. The newly planted elm trees on Fifth Avenue are reminiscent of Paris' Champs Elysees. The Buildings of Britain and France have imposing, not forbidding, facades. The promenade toward the Prometheus Fountain is beauty borrowed from the Versailles Gardens. And there is a spirit of decorum about the place that gives even the beggar a prosperous feeling.

So, sauntering out of the sunny richness of Rockefellerland, we enter immediately upon Sixth Avenue—that part of it not yet free from the shadowy "El"—where sordid window fronts display dingy signs and employment notices. This Sixth Avenue sector is the job mart for Manhattan's manual workers, construction gang toilers, dishwashers, chambermaids, and all servitors of a menial kind.

Hotel's "Alcatraz" Then—up any of the side streets that lead to the Great White Way, Tawdry hotels, large and small, dot these arteries that connect with the main human stream. Behind their grimy walls are thousands of human interest stories which, glided with a little glamor, could supply the fictioneers for years.

These are the hostleries occupied mainly by ex-vaudevilleans, that lost tribe of strutting numbers whose livelihoods were taken unceremoniously from under their eyes and feet. They live in these unpretentious inns from hand to mouth and away from the gaze of rent-demanding landlords.

But they tell tales of warm-hearted landlords in these hemmed-in streets—tales that do humanity credit. In one hotel, for example, where the tenants are of that exclusive, impoverished ex-vaudeville circle, the paying of rent is irregular, to say the least.

But the management has not the heart to put the poor devils out on the street. A year ago, the barren top floor of the hotel was converted into a vast dormitory, scantily partitioned. There are assigned the non-payers who are too far in arrears; and they can stay until they are back on their feet. The aerie up there has achieved a grim nickname among the hotel's guests: Alcatraz.

Wander a bit farther through these tight little lanes and Broadway, brash, boisterous, seemingly unconcerned, lies at the feet of its great mazda sign-gods.

The cross that then was sign of shame Hold now before our eyes, The once-despised is glorified Through His good sacrifice.

For joy that was before Him set He counted nothing loss, But suffered there without the gate That men might love the cross.

If patient suffering glories The trials that man must meet Help us, O Christ, to bear with joy And never sound retreat.

MARCH FALL OF SNOW IS HEAVY

Blizzard of 15th Brings Greatest Depth for Month Since 1930

The blizzard of March 15, which brought over 8 inches of snow to Escanaba and tied up highway and rail transportation in the upper peninsula, broke a record of 9 years standing according to a report issued yesterday by the United States Weather Bureau office here. The blizzard boosted the total snowfall for the month to 20 inches, the greatest since 1930 when the total was 21 inches.

This year's snowfall, up to the end of March, was 79.8 inches, 22.5 inches above the average for that period. Last year's total, to the end of March was 69.1 inches. The average snowfall for the season as a whole is 63.5 inches.

The mean temperature for the month was 23.2 degrees, one degree daily cooler than normal. Total precipitation was .01 inch above normal.

As a result of the late storm this year, snow cover did not diminish to a trace until March 29. Last year it had diminished to a trace on March 20.

Snow on the ground was 16.4 inches deep on the first of the month and decreased to 12.8 inches on the ninth. It reached 23 inches on the 15th and a peak of 23.7 on the 19th. From the 24th to the end of the month it fell rapidly from 11.6 inches to just a trace.

"Whereas, there is now pending in the current session of the congress of the United States of America, legislation embodying general principles of the so-called Townsend Plan, in which thousands of Michigan citizens are keenly interested; now, therefore be it

"Resolved by the senate (the house of representatives concurring), that the members of the Michigan legislature respectfully memorialize the congress of the United States of America to promptly, diligently and fairly consider and act upon at the current session, by its legislative branches as such, and not merely in committee, the proposed legislation aforesaid; and be it further

"Resolved, that this resolution be spread on the journals of the senate and house, and copies transmitted to the president of the United States, the vice-president of the United States, the speaker of the house of representatives of congress, and the Michigan members in the senate and house of congress."

The above resolution passed the senate by a practically unanimous vote. In the house of representatives it met with serious opposition, but through the determined efforts of Representatives Neller, Benson and Calbert it was passed on March 9 by a vote of 46 to 23. (Signed) Townsendsmen.

BEHIND THE SCENES

By Bruce Catton

Washington—Perhaps the best way to explain just what America's "good neighbor" policy in Latin America means is to describe a few of the things which it does not mean.

First of all, it does not mean that the United States is trying to set itself up as the boss of the Latin republics.

The Pan-American conference idea is not new. John Quincy Adams was the first American President to send delegates to such a conference; and the first regular, periodic conference was held in Washington in 1889, when James G. Blaine was secretary of state.

For a full half century, the essentials of a democratic ordering of foreign relations in the new world have been in evolution.

In 1933 six or seven Latin republics adopted a treaty expressing the principle of non-recognition of territorial changes made by force, in respect to the American continent.

Later, the United States and all the rest of the 21 new world republics adhered to it.

CONTINENTAL SOLIDARITY

At Buenos Aires, in 1936, the 21 nations adopted a statement asserting that the American nations proclaimed their absolute juridical equality and their unqualified respect for their respective sovereignties—which, in plain English, means that they agreed that all of them were equal at law and that each nation was fully independent and boss in its own house.

With this statement came a declaration that any act which disturbs the peace of the new world concerns all new world nations.

At Lima, a few months ago, the delegates re-stated and amplified these principles. They endorsed the removal of trade barriers and adopted a "declaration of continental solidarity," declaring that a threat to the integrity of any new world nation was a matter of common concern to all and agreeing to consult in case the "peace, security or territorial integrity" of any American republic is threatened.

The good neighbor policy is not one-sided. It must be reciprocal. The State Department admits that much remains to be done, but it also feels that all the new world nations are coming to see the advantage of standing as sovereign equals, united by common ideals.

Now if the good neighbor policy does not mean that the United States wants to be boss, it also does not mean that the United States wants to monopolize all trade with South America and stop imports and exports between South American nations and other countries.

It does not mean that Americans need run a temperature every time Argentina sells a shipload of beef to Germany or buys a cargo of machinery from Italy.

EUROPEAN TRADE MUST BE NORMAL

For generations, South America has sent foodstuffs and other raw materials to Europe. That's only natural.

The United States can't buy those things in any great quantity, because it produces them at home. It certainly cannot regard it as an insult if a Latin nation sells its produce to a totalitarian power and buys manufactured goods from that power in return.

In fact, the State Department would regard it as a calamity if that sort of thing were not taking place.

What this government does asks that such deals be not exclusive; that the process of normal exchange of goods remain a process of exchange and be not a process of political pressure or a threat to other countries.

It objects to seeing any overseas country mobilize its nationals in South America for the purposes of such pressure—and, in this objection, it is sustained by a resolution adopted at the Lima conference.

THE GOOD NEIGHBOR DEFINED

If the good neighbor policy is not an attempt to control South America or to monopolize its trade, then, what is it?

Primarily, the good neighbor policy is an attempt to promote better understanding and to improve trade. The two go hand in hand, to an extent, and they take with them the concept of a common plan for new world defense, out of which come such things as the current proposal to help the Latin nations arm.

The defense angle is important. Back of it lies the belief that democracies can prosper only in a relatively stable and prosperous world. The constant sequence of war, war-threats, and the preparation for war is an eternal threat to the democratic ideal.

Hence, to defend American democracy, it is necessary to keep the new world at peace—and in the present state of the world that can best be done by working out a common plan for the defense of the new world and buttressing it with the proper armaments.

If that is done, if the peace of the new world is kept inviolate, if the common acceptance of the principle of peaceful settlement of disputes is firmly established, and if the normal, peaceful flow of trade is revived.

Then the outlook for democracy in the new world is bright—and the good neighbor policy, as one angle of America's general

SERIAL STORY 'MRS. DOC' BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

The characters and situations in this story are wholly fictional.

CAST OF CHARACTERS ALAN WARREN—Ambitious young country doctor. EMILY WARREN—Alan's wife. ERIC KANE—Construction engineer. DR. FARRELL—Alan's elderly associate.

Yesterday, Emily watches Alan on his delivery case. Then as she watches him leave, she faints. She hears Farrell calling her, saying that she has just saved a life!

CHAPTER XXIV

When Emily came to, she was lying on a couch on the sun porch. Farrell had a bottle of evil smelling something under her nose. She pushed it away, sat up.

"There, that's better," Farrell said. "You went out on us. Take it easy for a bit, you'll be all right."

"I'm all right. Silly of me to faint. I never did before. Where's Alan?"

"He's with Mrs. Bower. He'll be here in a minute. I suppose you realize what you've done. Emily?" Farrell asked, seriously.

"Why, no. Did I do something wrong?"

"I'll say you did not. You've just saved that baby's life!"

"I saved that baby's life?" Emily groped for some explanation.

"You certainly did. If you hadn't rushed Mrs. Bower to the hospital when you did, Alan would have had to take care of her at home—there wasn't time to get her here, after we got the call. And then, we wouldn't have had oxygen handy. Yes, Emily, you've saved your first baby. I'm proud of you."

"Oh, Dr. Farrell—here I go, crying all over again."

They looked up to see Billy Bower enter the door, strutting, not pacing this time. A strange metamorphosis usually evidenced by young fathers.

"It's a girl, it's a girl," he shouted delightedly at Emily. "I'm awfully glad, too," he added, his face serious. "She'll never have to go through what I've just gone through in the past hour."

Farrell's hearty laugh followed the youth down the corridor.

"Alan said you were leaving for St. Louis." There was a question in Farrell's tone.

"That's what he thought, Doctor. He rushed away. He wouldn't let me explain. I've been trying to tell him, ever since the night the dam broke, that I want to stay here, in Summer, with him. But he wouldn't listen to me."

"He thought I loved Eric, but I don't. I love Alan, only Alan. I want to stay here—to be 'Mrs. Doc' if he'll let me."

Farrell smiled. "Well, you've a fair start, Emily."

"You'll have to help me, teach me," Emily went on. "You were so right when you told me what my duty was here—I couldn't see it then, but I do now. Please make Alan understand."

"I think he will," Farrell said. "What if he hates me?" The thought terrified her. "I've done enough to make him hate me. What if he doesn't want me any more?"

"I wouldn't spend much time worrying about that," Farrell answered. "You've plenty of other things to keep you busy."

"Other things? What, Dr. Farrell?"

"Well, you have to start taking lessons on what every doctor's wife should know. And you won't learn all that in a day, or two. You have to learn his patients, each one individually, so you'll know when John Jones says 'Send Doc in a hurry,' whether he means it or not. Some people always want the doctor right away, and no delay. Others say 'rush' only when it's actually necessary. You have to know which is which. Oh, there are a thousand things to learn. And then there's the clinic."

"The clinic? What clinic?" Emily asked.

"That's been a dream of Alan's and of mine for years now. A free maternity clinic, where women of the poorer class can get care and treatment. Where we can keep a better watch on both mother and children. Alan was talking about it this morning."

"He's never mentioned it to me."

"He probably didn't think you'd be interested. You've been a factor, in a way, of preventing its establishment. Alan knew that if we did start it, it would mean his being away from home even more of the time. It would have to be an after-hours affair, you know, with a lot of work at night."

"Is there anything I can do to help?"

"If you really want to, Emily—and I believe you do, now—you can be most important. Alan and I will have to start it on a shoestring, and there'll be plenty of work for you, making appointments, keeping records, investigating cases. We had planned to hire a professional investigator, but you would be better. People will tell a doctor's wife more than they will an ordinary case investigator."

"It will be a great thing, for mothers, for children, and for Summer, Emily. And I hope you'll have a big share in its success."

"I didn't think there was much cause to worry about your leaving, once you saw the light," he continued.

"He spoke frankly, and to the point. Emily realized, had he said the same things a week ago, she would have been furious. Now, however, she warmed to his plans, welcomed his advice. Things might have been easier had she listened to Farrell before. But he had never talked to her like this—only once before, when he laid down the rules for a doctor's wife.

Farrell was on her side, definitely, and his counsel was important to Alan. Even if Alan were slow to forgive her, for her heart-breaking errors of the past few weeks, if Farrell urged that he forget the whole thing he would make a greater effort.

Just how was Alan going to take her coming back although she really had never left, Emily wondered. He had been so cold, so distant ever since that night the dam broke except for the instant when she kissed him goodnight at the dock. All of his love for her was in that kiss, mute and unspoken. And Emily had given all of her heart then too. It was like the kiss on the altar, after their marriage.

"I'll see you downstairs," Farrell was saying. "I'll send Alan right up, soon as he can get away. You rest there for a while."

—It might have been only a minute or two—it might have been 10 when she heard the door open again, then Alan's anxious voice.

"Emily, are you all right?" She reached out her arms to him. He was across the room, at her side in an instant. Their lips met, clung together, and in that kiss all the fear, and worry and unhappiness that Emily had ever known left her, never to be remembered. Alan loved her, just as he always had, just as he always would.

"Darling, my darling," was all Emily could say.

At last he knelt on the floor beside the couch, holding her hands, punctuating his sentences with kisses.

"I suppose Farrell told you that the Bower baby is alive because you rushed the mother to the hospital. Wouldn't have had a chance. Angela and Billy know, too. They're so grateful to you, Billy has three women in his life now, his wife, his daughter and you."

Emily laughed. "If you had seen him pawing the floor up here, you would have known how glad he was it was not a boy. Billy's a fine young man, Alan. I want to do more for them, more than out of that hotel, get him a better job. You'll try, won't you?"

"Of course, but Emily, I thought this was just an emergency. You talk as if you intended to stay here."

His smile faded, the line of his lips hardened. "What about going to St. Louis? What about Eric?"

New $24,000 Cubs Shortstop Out With Bad Ankle

BARTELL CAN'T START SEASON

Fans Fear Loss of Spark Plug Will Be Blow to Flag Hopes

BY EARL HILLIGAN
Chicago, April 4 (AP)—Dick Bartell, the $24,000 a year shortstop acquired from the New York Giants and currently the Chicago Cubs' No. 1 "clamor boy" was placed in a hospital for observation of his ailing left ankle today—just two weeks before the Cubs begin defense of their National League championship.

Ordered here by Manager Gabby Hartnett when a sore and stiff ankle failed to respond to treatment on the spring training trip, Bartell slipped into town this morning. Quickly Cub officials whisked the once fiery but now bewildered star to a physicians office and then to Masonic hospital.

"There is a traumatic injury to the ankle," said Cub Physician Dr. John F. Davis, who just a year ago was prodding the $185,000 arm of Dizzy Dean to see what made it break. "It has left a condition in which some fluid is in the joint. There is no rheumatism and the ankle is free from arthritis symptoms."

Bartell obviously is worried. He's worried over a puzzling ailment which likely will keep him from starting the season and he's bewildered at being in the row Dean played a year ago—that of a newly acquired and high salaried star dogged by a mysterious disability.

Burns Him Up
"It's killing me not to be in there," said the infielder counted on to capably fill the shoes of Bill Jurges, now wearing a Giants' uniform. "I worked hard all spring to be in shape, then this comes along. I'd do just what the doctor orders and hope for the best. The ankle feels good now, but it swells when I run on it."

Here is the case history on Bartell, who will remain in bed for a few days: Ankle first pained him March 12 at Catalina Island; flown to Los Angeles hospital two days later and in hospital three days; resumed workouts only to again hurt ankle March 28 in over-running bag; ordered home by Hartnett last Saturday.

"It burns me up to see these cracks that maybe I wasn't all right when the Giants traded me to the Cubs," said Dick. "I had a little ankle trouble in 1936, but none last year. My arm was sore last season but there isn't any doubt but it's all right now. I can't dope this ankle out at all."

K. Wrigley, Cub owner, was optimistic over the situation, remarking "We'll get a lot of good baseball from Bartell."

"But many Cub fans were apprehensive. Bartell's absence leaves the Cubs dependent on 21-year-old Steve Mesner, who's been hitting well but fielding poorly. Bartell was expected to add fire and spark to the sometimes colorless Cub attack."

AWARDS GIVEN AT LAWRENCE

Houghton Youth Given Letter As Sport Manager

Appleton, Wis., April 4—Basketball, swimming, and wrestling awards to the members of the 1938-39 Lawrence college teams were made by their respective coaches at the annual winter sports banquet sponsored by the Lawrence Men's club here tonight.

Speaking of the Olympics, Houghton's authorities are still wondering where they'll put 100,000 visitors in a city of 300,000. Twenty-seven steamships, which have received permission, will help solve the problem by anchoring in the harbor as floating hotels. For those who make an issue of this sort of thing—a survey at Wisconsin revealed oarsmen have the highest scholastic average... and footballers, the lowest... Vince DiMaggio late of the Bees and currently with Kansas City, is taking singing lessons—seriously—with an operatic career in mind if he fails to make the big-time grade again.

DODGERS TRIM TIGERS, 5 TO 3

Schoolboy Rowe Shows Stuff On Mound for Five Innings

Clearwater, Fla., April 4 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Detroit Tigers 5 to 3 in an exhibition game today but the Detroit club found solace in the licking, for Schoolboy Rowe gave indications that he has progressed far in his comeback fight.

The Schoolboy pitched the first five innings for the Tigers and limited the Dodgers to three hits during that period. With the exception of a home run that Camille poled over the right field fence in the second, no Dodger was able to pass first base while Rowe was on the mound.

The Tiger management watched his performance with no little satisfaction. He miked up as fast as it once was, but it was fast enough today. His slow ball worked perfectly and he had the Brooklyn players flying out or hitting into the dirt most of the time.

Had Rowe remained in the contest the Tigers might have won today. But Manager Del Baker chose to give Harry Eisenstat a workout and Harry was touched for six hits including three home runs and two doubles.

Brooklyn opened the scoring in the second with Camille's homer, but Detroit tied it up in the third when McCoskey lined a homer over the right field wall.

The Tigers moved ahead in the fifth, scoring twice. Rogell and Rowe walked with but one away and McCoskey slashed a single to left that scored Rogell. Dixie

REISER STAGES BATTING SPREE

Unscheduled Brooklyn Rookie Gets 8 Hits Straight In Game

BY WHITNEY MARTIN
New York, April 4 (AP)—It was quite a relief to face pitchers who had everything under control instead of those who hit you when you didn't hit them, and this fact accounts in some measure for the spectacular batting spree of Pete Reiser, the unscheduled Brooklyn rookie, this spring.

The 19-year-old St. Louis lad sat on a bench in the locker room and rubbed a sore leg thoughtfully. He had just been removed from a game after registering his eighth straight hit. He went too far too fast in scoring from first on a double and pulled a leg muscle.

"The big difference in batting here and against the Northern League pitchers," he explained, "is that the pitchers here have better control. You can stand up to the plate with more confidence. We had some pretty fast pitchers up there, but you didn't know whether the ball would hit the bat or your head. I got 18 home runs with Superior last year, but the pitchers got a draw out of it at that. They hit me 18 times."

Both Hands Good
Reiser, a switch hitter who can throw well with either hand, was the sensation of the grapefruit league, getting eight hits and three walks before they finally got him out.

He wasn't on the Dodger roster, but Manager Leo Durocher invited him to the Clearwater camp "because the kid wanted to see Florida and I wanted someone to relieve me at shortstop occasionally." For a while it looked like the relief might be permanent. However, the law of averages finally caught up with Reiser, but not before he had shown enough stuff to possibly earn himself a place on the squad.

The boy grew up on the St. Louis sandlots, and as a loyal Cardinal fan picked as a hero a classy shortstop named Durocher. His other hero was an older brother, now dead, and it was an attempt to imitate this brother, a southpaw, that made Pete, a natural right hander, ambidextrous. ## Bay de Noc Skaters End 1939 Ice Season With a Bank Balance

The Bay de Noc Speed Skating club of Escanaba has completed its 1939 season with a bank balance of $69.12, according to a report made recently by the club treasurer. Total receipts for the year ending March 31 were $48.66 and total expenditures, $39.54.

The skaters during the past year made a very enviable record. In the Bay de Noc Open meet the club won the midget boys, midget girls, juvenile girls, intermediate girls championships. At the Great Lakes meet they won midget and juvenile girls titles and at LaCrosse tied for national cham-ionships in the midget and juvenile girls. Three state titles were won at Alpena; the juvenile girls, class B men, and junior boys. Every championship but one was won by a Bay de Noc member in the Upper Peninsula Championship meet.

A great deal of progress was made in the past year in gaining recognition of Escanaba and Escanaba skaters. The Bay de Noc Open meet is practically established as one of the biggest and fastest meets in the middle west. The club always obtained a great deal of attention for their performances and appearances at all meets which they attended. This recognition was made possible because of the very generous support given the club by its associated members.

REDS' PITCHING IS POWERFUL

If Hurlers Click, Bill McKechnie Will Make Much Trouble

Tampa—If it is true that pitching is 75 per cent of baseball, the Cincinnati Reds have 125 per cent the best of it at the outset of the National League race.

With Les Grissom a dead loss and Johnny Vander Meer out of it for a month, the Reds finished fourth in 1938... with a six-game margin blanketing the first four clubs.

Lefty Grissom again is making the ball look like a pea. The tall Californian gave the mighty Yankees just one measly hit the other afternoon.

But Vander Meer has been bothered this spring first by influenza, which had nine Redlegs down at one time, and then by an inflamed appendix. It was an ear infection that incapacitated the no-hit hero last summer.

If Bill McKechnie can get all his high-geared pitchers going together, it will be just too bad for the other selling platers making up the National League.

In addition to Grissom and Vander Meer, terrifying left-handers, the Reds have established stars in Paul Derringer, who bagged 21 games last trip, and Bucky Walters.

McKECHNIE HOLDS HOPES FOR ROOKIE BARRETT

Then they have pitchers of great potentialities in Lloyd Moore, Gene Schott, and Peaches Davis. Big Jim Weaver also is capable of hitting high spots.

Joining the imposing array is Charles Henry Barrett, red-headed right-hander who authored two victories in the Reds' September drive after winning 16 games for Syracuse and topping the International League with an earned run average of 2.34.

Gene Thompson, who copped 16 games for Columbia of the Sally League last season, helped Whitey Moore hold the Brooklyn Dodgers hitless in an early exhibition game.

The Reds have catching to match their pitching. McKechnie gives huge Ernie Lombardi much credit for his staff's many low-hit pitching performances. The veteran Jimmy Wilson will be restored to the active list to assist the National League batting champion in back of the plate, and capable Willard Hersberger is around as the third man.

With Bill Werber covering more ground at third base than Lew Riggs, the infield is good enough. Werber will help the attack, too. Deals like the ones sending Werber from the Athletics to the Reds and Zeke Bonura from the Senators to the Giants almost gives you the idea that there is a deliberate plan in the American League to bring the first division of the National up to its standard.

OUTFIELD SHAPES UP AS STRONG UNIT

Buck McCormick gives the Reds plenty of first basing and made more hits than any other athlete in the elder wheel last season.

Billy Meyer at shortstop has one of the finest throwing arms in the game, and if Eddie Joost, up from Kansas City for a third trial, doesn't make good at second, McKechnie can fall back on Linus Fry, who played that position satisfactorily.

The ancient Nolen Richardson, an accomplished fielder, is around to spell Meyer. Another infielder, with a menacing war club is Les Scarsella, the large Italian first sacker recalled from Newark.

In the outfield, speedy Harry Craft will be flanked by Wally Berger and the home-run hitting Ival Goodman. Lee Gamble and Frenchy Morgarday are around as extra men, and Antonio Bonagiovanni hit .321 for Syracuse.

Lefty Grissom, who appeared to be on his way to becoming one of the great pitchers, promises to stay hitched on the bases. It will be recalled that after soreness disappeared from his arm last summer, he broke his ankle attempting to steal for no reason at all.

McKechnie has impressed Grissom that the club purchased Bill Werber to steal bases. Grissom and Werber easily can be the difference between fourth place and a world series.

Hermansville Youth Wins Rifle Honors

DePere, Wis., April 4.—For the second consecutive year Leroy Floriano, Hermansville, Mich., junior, with a total of 823 points, was high scorer of the rifleman of the St. Norbert college senior R.O.T.C. It was announced this week that Elmer Grissom, assistant instructor in the college unit and team coach.

Only two points behind Floriano was Donald Barber, Green Bay freshman, who compiled a total of 821 points. William Belke, Green Bay junior; and Kenneth Simmetz and Clarence Terriff, De Pere sophomores, followed in that order with totals of 817, 811 and 810.

It was stated this week by Maj. Harry C. Luck, St. Norbert college P.M.S.&T., that a gold medal will be awarded to Floriano and bronze medals will be presented to the other four men.

CRACK SAILING CRAFT BURNED

Bayview Yacht Club Has Heavy Fire Loss; Gear Damaged

Detroit, April 4 (AP)—Fire swept the locker shed of the Bay-View Yacht club on the Detroit river tonight and destroyed the gear of numerous crack sailing craft of the Great Lakes. A spark toppling from the rafters periled three men.

The damage, which Roy Priebe, club director, estimated at $60,000, included the destruction of spars, rigging and sail, the locker shed, and a new $1,200 dock. An east wind turned the flames from the clubhouse and hulls valued at $250,000.

An attendant, Homer Burdeno, said the fire started in the middle of the shed apparently from a short circuit and that he futilely tried to stamp out the flames. He then ran to the clubhouse for aid.

With fire extinguishers and hoses Gregg Fredericks, a boat owner, and Harry Peterson, club vice commodore, attempted with Burdeno to halt the flames but were forced out of the shed. As they were leaving a spark plunged from the ceiling in their path.

Spreading rapidly, the flames destroyed the shed and dock before firemen could gain control. The fire boat James Battle arrived too late to help.

The destroyed gear belonged to the sailboats, Chanty, Nawanna, Sonata, Alumbar, Trident and Charly, all former winners of the Detroit-to-Mackinaw race, and the

Former Local Evangelist Held on Morals Charge In Menominee County

Menominee—Oliver Scott, 36, formerly of Escanaba, a white man, and Georgianna Thunder, 19, Indian of the reservation in Harris township, are held in jail here today on a morals charge.

Scott is married and a father of six children. Mrs. Scott and the family reside in Escanaba.

Prosecutor Michael J. Anuta said the two would be arraigned tomorrow in justice court here. The girl has a child one year old, the prosecutor said.

In 1935 a rape charge against Scott was dismissed here when the Indian girl refused to testify against him, the prosecutor said. Scott at that time was an itinerant preacher who held services at the Indian reservation.

Scott and the girl left Menominee county and returned here recently from Chicago. Scott was arrested Friday and the girl was arrested Saturday at the reservation by Sheriff Edward Reindl.

The arrests mark continuance of a drive by Menominee county authorities to correct morals conditions at the reservation. Prosecutor Anuta said the influence of white men has been an important factor in the moral disintegration of the little band of county Indians.
