ALIENS GIVEN IMMUNITY BY COURT RULING

MEMBERSHIP IN ANY PARTY NO BAR TO RESIDENCE

(By The Associated Press) The supreme court yesterday... Received William O. Douglas...

Ruled that former membership in the Communist party was not sufficient cause for deportation of an alien.

Upheld the constitutionality of the agriculture act's restrictions on marketing of crops.

Decided that the Labor Board has jurisdiction over a local concern manufacturing goods under contract for a firm dealing in interstate commerce.

Washington, April 17 (AP)—In a 6 to 2 decision of far-reaching implications, the supreme court ruled today that an alien could not be deported solely because he once held membership in the Communist party.

The opinion, delivered by Associate Justice Roberts, upheld a ruling by the fifth circuit court of appeals in the case of Joseph G. Strecker, an Austrian-born restaurateur of Hot Springs, Ark.

Its immediate effect was to order Strecker released from custody, but by wiping out a construction of the deportation statutes followed by the labor department for many years the ruling will affect many other cases.

Bridges Case Delayed One may be that of Harry Bridges, Australian-born leader of the CIO on the Pacific coast—a case which has stirred controversy in congress and figured in the recent unsuccessful effort by Representative Thomas (R-N. J.) to secure house adoption of a resolution for impeachment of Secretary of Labor Perkins.

The labor department delayed a decision on which disposition would be made of the Bridges case in the light of the supreme court's ruling. Officials said no action would be taken until attorneys had given thorough study to the question.

(Bridges has been accused of being a Communist, a charge which he denied. The labor department some time ago halted its deportation proceedings against him, pending a decision in the Strecker case. Critics of Miss

Alvin E. Richards, Marquette, Named On Tax Commission

Lansing, April 17 (AP)—Alvin E. Richards of Marquette was notified tonight of his appointment to the state tax commission. He succeeds John N. Fegan, who resigned recently, as the upper peninsula's representative on the group.

There was no immediate announcement from the executive office. Governor Dickinson had departed for the day before word that he had selected Richards leaked out.

Richards' return to the commission restores Republican control of that body, lost when his previous term expired in September, 1937. Former Governor Frank Murphy, a Democrat, chose Fegan for the vacancy as a first step in his program of reorganizing the commission.

Salary $5,000 Murphy then removed Melville B. McPherson, veteran Lowell Republican, from chairmanship of the board and put Fegan in his place after dispute that was settled in the courts.

The late Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald restored McPherson to the helm as one of his first official acts, and Fegan's resignation from the commission came soon after Dickinson succeeded to the executive chair. Richards' return again establishes this status quo of Fitzgerald's first administration.

The third member of the commission is John W. Libcke of Detroit, a Democrat and a Murphy appointee. The commission by law is bi-partisan, and no move to unseat Libcke has been foreshadowed.

Richards has been serving as executive secretary of the commission since the Republican return to power in the state administration.

His salary in his new post will be $5,000 a year. The term of a tax commissioner is six years.

MARTIN'S UAW NOW WITH AFL

Charter To Be Restored to Auto Workers By President Green

Washington, April 17 (AP)—Homer Martin, once an ally but now an opponent of John L. Lewis, steered his independent United Auto Workers Union back into the American Federation of Labor today to regain the charter he lost when he joined the CIO in 1938.

Clintoning upon approval by his executive board and membership, Martin accepted an offer by the AFL president, William Green, to restore the charter.

The auto union leader, who broke with CIO several months ago and finally organized his followers into an independent U. A. D. in March, told reporters he would ask his board and membership next week to approve acceptance of the offer.

He said his union now had a paid-up membership of 200,000 auto workers. The CIO recently set up a rival U. A. W. convention, and scoffed at Martin's membership claim.

The CIO-U. A. W. claims to hold all the bargaining contracts in the industry, but Green asserted that no one had the right to use the name "United Automobile Workers" except the AFL.

The AFL charter offered Martin's organization, Green said, will cover all the workers in a production plant. In contrast with the CIO form of industrial charter, however, it will exclude skilled pattern and tool makers and die sinkers in the auto parts plants who are claimed by AFL craft unions.

Electric Current Off In Ishpeming, Negaunee, Gwinn

Marquette, Mich., April 17 (AP)—Marquette county mining communities were without electric light and power facilities tonight, fallen wires causing power failure in Ishpeming, Negaunee, and Gwinn. The breaks occurred about eight o'clock tonight and were not expected to be repaired until Tuesday morning.

Mining operations in the three communities were halted. The city of Marquette, which operates its own electric light plant, was not affected by the breakdown.

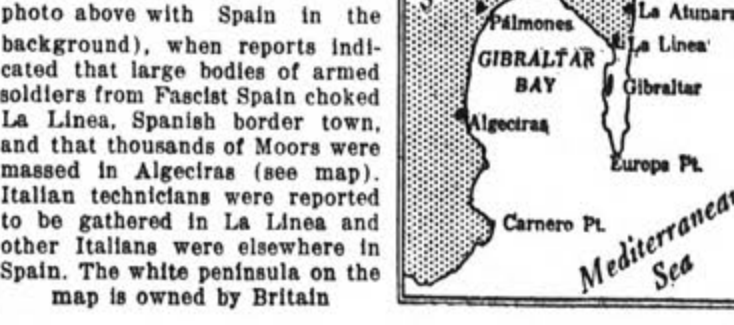

TRAINS SON FOR WAR

Detroit (AP)—A divorcee was granted Frank X. Schitler, of Detroit, Monday after he testified before Circuit Judge Arthur Webster that his wife took their 14-year-old son to Germany in 1930 and refused to return, asserting she liked to have the youth participate in war games.

Britain's "Rock" Menaced

British army engineers rushed to build barricades on the Spanish border of long-impregnable, British-held Gibraltar (shown in photo above with Spain in the background), when reports indicated that large bodies of armed soldiers from Fascist Spain choked La Linea, Spanish border town, and that thousands of Moors were massed in Algeiras (see map). Italian technicians were reported to be gathered in La Linea and other Italians were elsewhere in Spain. The white peninsula on the map is owned by Britain.

Public School Aid Bill Is Signed By Governor

Lansing, April 17 (AP)—Governor Dickinson signed a bill appropriating $2,500,000 for state aid to public schools today with the distinct understanding that the amount was an advance from next year's appropriation.

Budget Director Grover D. Dillman, in recommending enactment of the emergency appropriation bill on that basis, clapped a roof of $101,000,000 a year upon state expenditures. This means that the legislature may appropriate only $100,500,000 for the fiscal year that begins July 1 for all purposes, in addition to the $2,500,000 which will be available on July 1 for public schools.

Dillman told the governor that the state is "seriously embarrassed" for cash to meet immediate requirements, but described the government as "sound, financially, from the long-term point of view."

The budget director estimated the deficit in the state's general fund would be $24,000,000 by June 30. "The financial problem of the state," he said, "consists of a shortage of cash necessary to meet immediate requirements. In a broader sense the state is very sound financially."

Dillman said the net debt of the state is but five dollars per capita. The debt condition has been improving, he continued, "during a period of difficult finances because the sinking fund payments have been made." Only 12 states have a lower net debt, he pointed out, and some states have debts nearly 20 times as great as Michigan's on a per capita basis.

The budget director attributed the state's financial difficulty not to the costs of operating its own agencies and services, but to "a tremendous increase in the state's grants to local governments in recent years." Such grants, for relief, schools, highways and similar purposes, accounted for more than half the state's disbursements during the past fiscal year, he declared.

"It is necessary," he said, "that careful account be taken of the state's support of local government in any attempt to harmonize the income and out-go of state government."

Dillman said he would recommend that the legislature trim budgets submitted by institutions, departments, commissions and boards for the fiscal year 1939-40 from $148,000,000 to $102,900,000 and that a similar reduction from $146,000,000 to $102,300,000 be made in budgets for 1940-41. He suggested an annual emergency appropriation of $1,000,000 and assailed emergency appropriations of recent years as excessive.

PAROLE SYSTEM POOR, SAYS FDR

Washington, April 17 (AP)—President Roosevelt called upon the nation's law enforcement officers today to cooperate with the federal government in strengthening the prisoner parole system as a means of bolstering "our nationwide attack on crime."

"Much of the criticism which we have heard directed at parole," he told the national parole conference called by Attorney General Murphy, "is due to the fact that while 46 of our states have parole laws, less than a dozen have provided the money and the personnel which are necessary to operate a real parole system."

"Some of the criticism is due, too, to the fact that the parole power sometimes has been used to grant political or personal favors. This combination of neglect and abuse in the administration of the parole power is a matter of serious national concern. How well or how poorly a parole system operates in one section of the country may affect the lives of citizens throughout the nation."

Mistrial Declared In Flint Homicide

Flint, Mich., April 17 (AP)—Over a question of jury legality Circuit Judge Philip Elliott declared a mistrial today in the case of Joseph Zabljak, 42, charged with killing his baby daughter and wife 21 years ago. The trial was set to open Wednesday.

The court, acting on the prosecutor's motion, decided the jury, impaneled April 7, might be open to question inasmuch as it was selected from the panel for the February court term which ended April 10. The April term is now in session.

Gibraltar—French warships take over Gibraltar defense while British fleet stays near Malta and Suez.

London—Chamberlain expected to announce Turkey's adherence to British efforts to win their support in anti-aggression front.

Washington—Demands swell in congress that the United States keep out of any European war while favorable reaction comes from all Latin America to president's appeal.

Moscow—Soviet Officials silent on British efforts to win their support in anti-aggression front.

Danzig—Free city enforces financial decrees preparing way for absorption by reich.

Paris—Daladier calls cabinet meeting to discuss international situation and strengthen French finances.

BY MELVIN WHITELEATHER Berlin, April 17 (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler, in a public reply to President Roosevelt's peace proposals, was expected tonight to defend his policies before the reichstag April 28, coupling them with a sharp denunciation of methods used by others in acquiring territory.

The fuhrer's sudden summons to the reichstag started a corps of foreign office workers delving into historical data for what, it was believed, will be a lengthy "no-citing historical arguments supporting past and future Nazi policies."

Fuhrer Displeased He was believed to be planning to call the United States, Britain and France to account for their methods of acquiring territory in an attempt to show how empires have developed.

The summoning of the legislature was followed by an increase in bitter press attacks on President Roosevelt who asked Hitler and Italian Premier Mussolini Saturday to pledge at least 10 years of non-aggression to 31 nations and participate in world conferences looking to peace, disarmament and better trade relations.

Hitler was represented as displeased that the president's appeal was published before he had read it and his call to the reichstag—so sudden that even high officials were caught by surprise—was interpreted as a sign that his reichstag speech would be his only answer to Washington.

German diplomatic sources said the fuhrer refused to treat Roosevelt's communication as a "direct message to him because it was published in Paris, London and Moscow before it reached him."

"That is why he chose to call (Continued on Page Two)

Military Reviews Staged By Franco; 500,000 To March

Burgos, Spain, April 17 (AP)—Sixty thousand troops marched before Generalissimo Francisco Franco today in Seville in the first of a series of military reviews prior to the departure of Italian, German and other foreign legionnaires.

A military and naval review will be staged in Valencia probably this week and the northern army will display its power May 2 in Burgos.

The greatest demonstration is scheduled for May 15 in Madrid with 500,000 soldiers in full field equipment, sailors and 500 planes parading.

Brig. Gen. Gastone Gambaro, commander of the Italians, will head the Madrid parade with an estimated 20,000 legionnaires who are expected to sail for home soon afterward.

German technicians and volunteers numbering 8,000 also will march. It is believed Generalissimo Franco will establish his government in Madrid, probably by the end of May. Thousands of soldiers have been returned to home garrisons preparatory to demobilization, but Spain is expected to keep more than 500,000 men under arms ready for any eventuality.

WET AND DRY GROUPS MEET

Dickinson Reports Units Have Reached Better Understanding

Lansing, April 17 (AP)—Governor Dickinson, himself an ardent dry, presided today over a roundtable meeting of spokesmen for wet and dry organizations, state legislators and enforcement agents, and announced upon its conclusion that each faction had reached a "better understanding" of the other's views.

Dickinson said the conference produced no definite legislative program, although he predicted it would result in some amendments to bills now in house and senate committees. He said he was not sponsoring any program himself, and would leave the question of liquor control reforms entirely to the legislature.

The governor described the parley as having been "very helpful" in reconciling conflict in Detroit and outstate opinion. There was no discussion of a ban on Sunday beer sales, but proposals for an earlier curfew did receive attention.

Mrs. Dora Whittier, president of the Michigan W. C. T. U., suggested a statewide closing hour of 1 a. m. Council John W. Smith of Detroit replied that her proposal would encourage bootlegging and blind pigs.

Other subjects discussed included temperance education, the sale of packaged liquor in establishments licensed for glass sales, restrictions upon the number of licenses and aid for the Michigan wine industry.

Cutter Escanaba Attempts To Open Straits Channel

Grand Haven, April 17 (AP)—The coast guard cutter Escanaba returned to her base here Monday afternoon after failing to crash through the heavy ice in the Straits of Mackinac to open a channel for shipping.

Lieut. O. B. Wey, executive officer, said the ship will leave against Tuesday morning for another attempt as reports received Monday evening assert the wind has shifted to make the work less difficult.

Lieut. Com. R. J. Mauerman said the Escanaba ploughed to a point three miles off St. Helena Island Sunday. Ice there, he said, was 60 feet thick in the straits.

Thief Lifts $3,808 In Bank At Flint

Flint, Mich., April 17 (AP)—A light-fingered thief stole $3,808 in cash and checks from the Genesee County Savings Bank this afternoon and stroled out of the building before anyone was aware of the loss.

Detective Fay B. Murphy said he believed this is what happened: A man at a teller's window asked the teller to retrieve a fountain pen cap for him. The teller chased the pen cap into an adjoining cage, and the man pocketed three envelopes, awaited for the pen cap, and departed.

Murphy said the three envelopes, given the bank by the Standard Oil Company for deposit, contained $790 in cash and $3,018 in endorsed and negotiable checks.

President's Peace Message Is Turned Down By Mussolini

Milan, April 17 (AP)—Premier Mussolini's newspaper Il Popolo D'Italia today said President Roosevelt's peace message has already been rejected in Italy "by a prompt reaction of the national conscience."

"We deny the president any right to intervene in European questions because his country is not directly interested as well as because he personally has not the slightest claim to assuming the role of friendly and impartial mediator," the paper said.

The article, which was headed "unworthy maneuver of Roosevelt will get the response it deserves," bore a Rome date-line.

Newspaper critics said that if it were not written by Mussolini himself it certainly represented his ideas.

The article said President Roosevelt's appeal evidently was for internal use. It charged him with wanting to divert American opinion from "the unemployment which grows day by day."

Concerning the four nations which Mr. Roosevelt said had disappeared, Il Popolo D'Italia replied that Albania and Austria had "spontaneously decided" their own fates, that Czechoslovakia has scant claim to being a nation and that Ethiopia was "a tragic parody" of government to which Italy brought "light and the most glorious civilization of the world."

Royal Oak Reliever Denied Food Order, Smashes Things Up

Royal Oak, Mich., April 17 (AP)—Police tonight detained for investigation James Alessi, 33, of Royal Oak, accused by officers of staging a one-man riot when relief officials refused to give him as much food as he wanted.

Employees of the emergency relief administration office here said, according to police, that Alessi tore a telephone from the wall and hurled it through a plate glass window. Then, officers said, he picked up a typewriter, chair and other objects and sent them crashing through eight more windows.

Alessi asked for food immediately for himself, his wife and two daughters, relief workers said. He was given a surplus order for provisions to tide the family over until an investigation of his circumstances could be made. He spun the order and refusal of other aid resulted in the rampage, police said.

Among the dead at the church was the Baptist pastor, the Rev. Thomas West, 52.

Other deaths in Arkansas included three at Tilar, one at Texarkana, one at Calmar, one at Wabaska and two near Dumas. Two negro children, thrown into flooded Bayou Bartholomew when a twister tossed their cabin across the stream near Ladd, were missing.

Bridges Washed Out

The weather bureau at Little Rock forecast flood stages on the Arkansas, Ouachita, Saline, Petit Jean, White and Black Rivers, torrential rains, as heavy as 10.4 inches along the Petit Jean, accompanied the week-end storms. Mountain creeks were out of their banks and many roads and bridges were washed out. A reservoir dam broke at Paris, and two minor levees broke at Paragould.

Flood threats did not appear serious in other wind-struck states.

Alabama felt the tornadoes today. Mrs. Windon Hatchcock, 25, was killed at Boligee, 100 miles southwest of Birmingham. Others were injured near Tuscaloosa, and at Ranburne on the Georgia-Alabama line.

Haynesville bore the brunt of the blow in Louisiana, seven persons dying in the wreckage of residential and business property there.

Texas storms struck in scattered places, killing four at Pipe Creek, two at Gladewater and one at Athens.

COAL SUPPLY HOLDING OUT

State Institutions and Industrial Plants Well Stocked

Detroit, April 17 (AP)—A survey today disclosed that a major share of city and state institutions and large industrial plants in southeastern Michigan are well-stocked with coal despite the month-long halt of mining operations because of a deadlock between the United Mine Workers (CIO) and the Appalachian bituminous coal operators.

Several brokers said that small upstate dealers and plants which lack storage space are facing a shortage. Retail dealers reported they had a sufficient coal supply for serving a normal demand.

In western Michigan, brokers said, several counties are being supplied from Illinois and Indiana fields which are not affected by the labor dispute.

Detroit dealers said that if the local supply gives out, they can ship in Illinois coal, although freight rates are approximately 50 cents a ton more than from the Appalachian area.

Old Diesel Engines Provide Emergency Power In Iron River Iron River, Mich., April 17 (AP)—Two big Diesel engines, idle in an abandoned power plant here for 10 years, rolled into action today when an ice-coating downed two electric power lines which fed this district. For 10 hours the Diesels have provided electricity for homes and stores, shops, and also sufficient power to keep pumps in operation in the Iron mines of this district. Heavy electric hoisting machines could not be used. Diesels were reconditioned by the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. after ice downed power lines last January interrupting all electric service for nine hours. Crews tonight were at work repairing several breaks in the line near Florence, Wis.

STORM DEATH TOLL MOUNTS IN 6 STATES

Little Rock, Ark., April 17 (AP)—Flood warnings stirred fresh anxiety today on the heels of tornadoes that killed at least 48 and injured at least 340 in six southern states.

Arkansas, hardest hit area in the storm belt, received notice from the U. S. weather bureau that hundreds of lowland families might have to be evacuated before the rapidly rising waters of six major streams.

The week-end series of rapid-fire twisters left 25 dead and 223 hurt in Arkansas, seven dead and 33 injured in Oklahoma, eight dead and 24 other casualties in Louisiana, seven fatalities and 35 injuries in Texas, one dead and at least 20 injured in Alabama. Four were hurt in Mississippi and Tennessee reported tornado damage in one community but no casualties.

Damage Near Million Property damage was estimated at close to a million dollars. Major disaster scene was the little community of Center Point in southeastern Arkansas where 17 were killed and more than 60 injured. Eight of the injured were reported near death.

Eleven died when the twister whirled away the Center Point Community church in which they and others took refuge just after the close of an out-door funeral. Others were killed when 25 homes in the section were leveled.

Among the dead at the church was the Baptist pastor, the Rev. Thomas West, 52.

Other deaths in Arkansas included three at Tilar, one at Texarkana, one at Calmar, one at Wabaska and two near Dumas. Two negro children, thrown into flooded Bayou Bartholomew when a twister tossed their cabin across the stream near Ladd, were missing.

In the Headlines From Washington

(By The Associated Press) Senate debates on foreign affairs was punctuated by demands that this country keep clear of war irrespective of what happens in Europe.

The supreme court ruled that an alien could not be deported solely because he once held membership in the Communist party.

Three congressmen—Senator Burke (D-Neb) and Holman (R-Ore) and Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich)—told the senate labor committee the Wagner labor act needed drastic amendment to make it workable.

A house investigating committee heard from its counsel that Herbert Benjamin, secretary-treasurer of the Workers Alliance, reported to the third international that formation of the WPA union climaxed a four-year campaign by the Communist party.

President Roosevelt formally withdrew from the senate his nomination of Thomas R. Amle to be an interstate commerce commissioner, but in a letter to Amle expressed regret that opposition based on "political reasons" made the action necessary.

William O. Douglas took his seat as a member of the supreme court.

The president called upon the nation's law enforcement officers to cooperate with the federal government in strengthening the prisoner parole system.

State Political Gossip

McKay's Foes Push Campaign to End Political Influence

BY GUY H. JENKINS Lansing.—Sitting under the palm trees at his Florida winter home, Frank D. McKay, long a power in the Republican state affairs, has heard the far-away roars that may eliminate him as a party boss in Michigan.

He was paid $92,300 by a Toledo bond house in 1937 for services rendered. The Toledo concern told newspaper men McKay had worked for them nine or ten years. His work had been very satisfactory and of great value.

It's easy to understand that McKay is probably one of the shrewdest finance men in Michigan. He knows more routes to a given objective than all of his competitors combined.

But it seems the $92,300 commission recompensed him for his part in financing and building of the Blue Water bridge from Port Huron to Sarnia. He may have lent a helping hand in smoothing the way for the enabling legislation both in Lansing and Washington.

AN INQUISITIVE REPORTER RAN THE STORY DOWN

For several years there was agitation for the international bridge. It meant much to Port Huron. It would act east-west automobile traffic through the north central states to Toronto, Montreal, Quebec, or even down through New England after a pleasant trip through Ontario.

The New Deal in Washington with millions for pump priming was interested. When those millions became available the bridge was a certainty. It was built and President Roosevelt regretted he was unable to attend the dedication ceremonies.

But unfortunately for the organized Republicans, Gov. Dickinson does not care where they like the appointment. Hudson is an old friend of the governor.

There has been much ado about the state's salary scale, all because a 480-a-month clerk who may live as cheaply as one replied to Gov. Dickinson's complaint that state salaries, from governor down, are too high.

Of course, the governor based his complaint purely on the material and cultural wants of his own family. The governor and Mrs. Dickinson have reached a time in life when a small salary, much smaller than the governor's $10,000 a year stipend, is more than sufficient.

State salaries in many instances are too high, so far as the incumbents are concerned. But that is the fault of the system. In most cases, politics, or public service, as the case may be, attracts persons who could not be by the greatest stretch of the imagination obtain the same remuneration for industry for the simple reason they are not worth it.

Then again there are some in state service who would command larger salaries in industry. They are the exceptions. In the last dozen years, and maybe longer for that matter, one could check pay rolls and find many incompetents who could not support themselves in private industry because only producers are permitted to tarry for long.

But if and when the Republican administration is able to eliminate the Democratic employees there will be thousands of Republican boys and girls clamoring for the $80-a-month jobs only to complain afterward the state underpays them and it's just a shame for the taxpayers to ask them to work for such a paltry amount.

Underwriters of millions of bonds to finance public works make few mistakes. Only producers get $92,300 in commissions. REPUBLICAN SENATE SETS RECORD FOR CAUCUSES

The Democratic senate in 1933 established a record for party caucuses. A caucus is a closed session to determine what action the members are to take on an important bill, resolution or policy. It also provides an opportunity for the bellicose members to sound off, for afterward they are bound by the caucus majority.

Being inexperienced, the Democrats would recess the proceedings and gather in the office of the lieutenant governor to talk things over. This always gave them courage.

Until a few days ago capitol veterans insisted the 1933 Democratic senate held all records. If that was the case, they lost much of their standing the past week. The Republicans set a record that will stand for years.

They recessed a caucus—something that never has occurred before. The GOP has been having a tussle with the Eaton-Brake-Barnard outer bill.

When the Brake-Callum bloc organized to bypass the death sentence pronounced by the elections committee for this particular proposal, the caucus agreed to send Brake's bill to the judiciary committee.

CALLAGHAN KEPT ON JUMP IN SENATE IN PAST WEEK At Monday night's session, much to the surprise of many, Senator Miles Callaghan, Reed City Republican, decided the bill should go to the state affairs committee and made a motion accordingly.

A 20-minute recess was ordered for a caucus. Then they recessed the caucus to let some of the boys catch their breath. When the caucus reconvened Callaghan was polished off, so well in fact, that when the senate returned to business, it was the Reed City senator who moved to send the bill to the judiciary committee just as the caucus had decided several days the reichstag and give a public reply rather than go about it diplomatically," a Wilhelmstrasse informant said. "It was not a diplomatic document, but a piece of public advertising."

The supreme summons to the legislators was issued while Hitler was at St. Paulsen and Krems, in Austrian Germany, inspecting garrisons of his army.

He arrived in that region this morning from Munich where he conferred yesterday with his foreign minister, Joachim Von Ribbentrop, on Roosevelt's message.

The Fuehrer, apparently intent on observing the training of newest German recruits, watched artillery fire and saw a pontoon bridge being thrown across the Danube river in 30 minutes.

His itinerary was not disclosed, but he was expected to visit infantry, engineer, artillery and cavalry units during a brief tour. He was accompanied by Col. Gen. Walther Von Brauchitsch, chief of staff of the army; Otto Dietrich, Nazi press chief, and generals commanding local divisions.

The German fleet, meanwhile, was getting steam up to sail tomorrow from Kiel and Wilhelmshaven for a month's maneuvers off the Spanish coast.

The Fuehrer's collaborators displayed deep interest in a railroad train meeting today in Poland between the Rumanian and Polish foreign ministers, Grigore Gafencu and Col. Joseph Beck.

The two diplomats talked for an hour and a half as the train carried Gafencu across Poland toward Germany. They were believed to have discussed Roosevelt's message and the Anglo-French guarantees to help their nations resist any threat to their independence.

Gafencu was expected here tomorrow for political and economic talks with Von Ribbentrop. He will remain until after Hitler's 50th birthday Thursday, which interior minister Wilhelm Frick has proclaimed a national holiday for Greater Germany.

The future of the Free City of Danzig remained an enigma with troop reinforcements again reported both on the Polish and German sides of the border.

No denial has been issued here of persistent rumors of plans to present the free city of Danzig to Hitler as a birthday present.

STEER CLEAR OF WAR Washington, April 17 (AP)—A swelling tide of demands that America steer clear of war regardless of what happens in Europe swept over congress today in the aftermath of President Roosevelt's appeal to Hitler and Mussolini to pledge themselves to peace for at least 10 years.

Coincidentally, the administration reported with expressions of pleasure that the president's message to the dictators was developing a world public opinion for peace, and word came from Berlin that the reichschancellor would state on April 28 his attitude toward the appeal.

With the arrival in Washington of additional replies from Latin American governments, the Western hemisphere stood solidly behind the president's appeal. Favorable replies came also from dozens of other capitals in Europe and Asia, including many of the 31 governments for whom President Roosevelt requested assurances of safety from the European dictators.

Reaction Favorable Officials hoped that this demonstration of international opinion would induce Hitler and Mussolini to heed an appeal which they might reject if it came solely from the United States.

Secretary Hull told his press conference he had received no indication from either Berlin or Rome as to what the official responses would be but he declared the administration was much gratified at the reaction elsewhere in the world.

"There is evidence of a definite feeling," he said, "that a practical and timely contribution has been made to the cause of peace and that a public opinion, the most potent of all forces for peace, is more strongly developing throughout the world."

During the morning Hull had discussed the peace plan for 20 minutes with the British ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, and it was presumed to be a topic of conversation at his subsequent luncheon meeting at the White House with Mr. Roosevelt and Treasury Secretary Morgenthau.

McKAY'S CASE UP TO CAUCUS

Various Plans Proposed for Investigating Bond Deals

Lansing, April 17 (AP)—The Republican majority in the house of representatives turned over to a caucus of its members tonight the responsibility for determining how far they should go in investigating commissions received by former State Treasurer Frank D. McKay in connection with the sale of state bonds.

The legislators, by a voice vote, deferred until Wednesday a vote on the resolution by Rep. Haskell L. Nichols, Republican, Jackson, pending a caucus to consider a variety of plans for conducting the inquiry.

Nichols himself proposed that the legislature lift its ban on new legislation to permit the introduction of a bill that would authorize the governor to employ special investigators for the probe, and appropriate money to finance it.

Representatives F. Jack Neller, of Battle Creek, and Robert N. Sawyer, of Monroe, members of a Young Republican faction, collaborated in a demand that the house take over the inquiry itself, excluding the senate, and employ detectives and accountants to scrutinize every state bond issue since 1925 to determine whether McKay received commissions in connection with such sales.

A dozen other lawmakers, Republican and Democrat alike, had special plans, and the house leadership decided the doors of a caucus room should screen the debate during which the members would get behind a single resolution.

Leaders said the caucus would be held Tuesday or Wednesday.

Governor's Sunday School Class Has Women Visitors

Lansing, April 17 (AP)—Governor Dickinson, who conducts a Sunday school class for men, included women in the gathering at Center Eaton Methodist Episcopal church yesterday.

"Those women told me 'we came from Detroit to attend your class,'" the governor said, "and attend it they did." Suggestions that they attend a corresponding class for women were ignored, he added.

Dickinson said he had visitors from Pontiac, Flint and Kalamazoo, as well as Detroit, at Sunday's session of his class.

VanWagoner Sees Lansing Spitework

Lansing, April 17 (AP)—Highway Commissioner Murray D. VanWagoner attributed a bill transferring state highway maintenance from his department to county agencies to "political spite" today.

Declaring the bill would mean "a 20-year setback," VanWagoner said it was "simply a political measure directed against myself as the Democratic state highway commissioner." The measure already has received house approval, but it is stalled in a senate committee.

COMMISSIONER BACK

Detroit (AP)—United States Commissioner J. Stanley Hurd returned to the bench here Monday after an absence of three months because of illness. George M. Read, clerk of the court, has been serving as acting commissioner.

Perkins declared at the time that the two cases were dissimilar and that the proceedings against Bridges should be pressed forthwith. After Miss Perkins failed to press them, Representative Thomas started his impeachment attempt.

In addition to that in the Strecker case, the court's important rulings today included: A decision upholding the constitutionality of those sections of the agricultural adjustment act providing for control over the marketing of principal farm crops and penalty taxes on farmers who sell more than their allotted quotas. Tobacco farmers in Georgia and Florida had challenged the act.

A decision that the National Labor Relations Board has jurisdiction over a purely local manufacturer processing, under contract, goods of a firm dealing in interstate commerce. The decision reversed a ruling by the Philadelphia circuit court that the Somerset Manufacturing company, Somerville, N. J., was outside the labor board's jurisdiction.

Before handing down its decisions, the court received William O. Douglas, former chairman of the Securities Commission, who appointed by President Roosevelt to succeed the retired justice, Louis D. Brandeis.

When the 40-year-old Douglas took the judicial oath administered by Elmore Cropley, clerk of the court, he became the youngest justice since 32-year-old Joseph Story of Massachusetts was named to the court in 1811. Before the ceremony in the supreme court chamber, Chief Justice Hughes had administered to Douglas in private the oath to uphold the constitution.

In the Strecker case, the labor department had instituted deportation proceedings under a 1918 statute providing for the deportation of aliens who join organizations advocating the overthrow of the government by violence. Strecker admitted that he was a member of the Communist party for three months in 1933-34.

Justice Roberts, in the majority opinion, held that the statute could not be construed as providing that an alien must be deported "if at any time in the past, no matter when, or under what circumstances, or for what time, he was a member of the described organization."

"We conclude," the opinion said, "that it is the present membership, or present affiliation—a fact to be determined on evidence—which bars admission, bars naturalization and requires deportation."

Justices Butler and McReynolds dissented. McReynolds wrote an opinion in which he referred to the view taken by the majority of the court as "both unwarranted and unfortunate."

"If by the simple process of resigning or getting expelled from a proscribed organization," he added, "an alien may thereby instantly purge himself after months or years of mischievous activities, hoped-for protection against such conduct will disappear. Escape from the consequences of deliber-

'Runaway Marriage' Measure Adopted

Lansing, April 17. (AP)—The senate passed and sent to the house tonight the bill recognizing civil marriages in Indiana of Michigan residents.

Before getting an approval vote of 17 to 8, however, the bill caused debate as to the decorum of "runaway marriages" as long as Michigan might do the job as well.

Senator Miles Callaghan, Reed City, led the fight against the bill, asserting "if people run away from their own state to marry—perhaps to escape their own laws—let them take it on the chin."

Recently a Detroit court held that Indiana marriages of Michigan persons could only be considered common-law marriages in this state. Senator Joseph Baldwin of Albion then drafted his bill. He pointed out tonight that Indiana's passage of marriage laws similar to Michigan's would prevent continuation of the "runaway marriages."

A last word from Senator Callaghan was that he hoped the bill would become known as the "Baldwin runaway marriage bill."

The senate tonight passed a bill to reduce the membership of the Upper Peninsula State Fair board from 16 to five. It now goes to the house.

In debating the welfare bill the senate considered a proposal by Senator Harry F. Hittie, Lansing Republican, that a person be required to have two years residence in Michigan before he could receive welfare.

The senate adopted a resolution calling upon the state attorney general to protest "discriminatory" rail rates in iron ore shipments from the Upper Peninsula. An increase in rates was ordered several years ago by the interstate commerce commission. Since then, Minnesota has protested and been exempted. The resolution will go now to the house.

HUNDREDS HOMELESS Cincinnati, April 17. (AP)—A record April rainfall drove lowlanders from their homes along the middle reaches of the Ohio river tonight, with a crest of 60 feet—eight above flood level—officially forecast for Cincinnati.

Tributaries boiled with the runoff along the Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia borders, where precipitation for the last three days exceeded four and one-half inches. Skies cleared during the afternoon in Ohio, but light showers predicted for Tuesday.

The Cincinnati Red Cross removed more than 70 families from the vicinity of the Little Miami river. As far upstream as Marietta, residents and storekeepers followed their springtime custom of "moving upstairs" to keep their feet dry.

Throughout the flood region, four or more deaths over the week-end were attributed directly or indirectly to the water. No new fatality was reported today.

Peak Due Today Landslides from softened hills blocked main roads in eastern Kentucky and caused some damage on the Ohio side of the big river.

Peak of the waters generally was expected Wednesday. Indicative of the affected area was the river's rate of rise.

Stuebenville and East Liverpool, Ohio, iconically reported "No flood danger." Marietta expected 33 feet or more of water, near flood stage, from a two-tenths of a foot hourly rise; just above Huntington, W. V., the rate was 25 of a foot an hour; a few miles downstream, at Ironton, Ohio, it was five inches an hour; and at Cincinnati there was a 20-foot elevation in the 24 hours of Sunday.

Downstream, at Louisville, federal forecaster J. L. Kendall predicted a crest of 34 or 35 feet, which would put water in lower sections of the city. Flood stage there is 28 feet.

The rise extended as far as Paducah, Ky., but no danger was anticipated there.

Entry In Detroit Turtle Derby Eats Laboratory Frogs

Detroit, April 17 (AP)—Wad-dies, the University of Tennessee's entry in the second annual intercollegiate turtle derby, was placed in solitary confinement today as the result of a gastronomic orgy that depleted the supply of frogs in the University of Detroit's biology laboratory.

Waddies arrived here last week end for the race which will be held at Detroit's stadium Friday afternoon. With other entrants he was placed in an aquarium that also contained frogs and during the night the hungry Tennessee snapper consumed ten frogs.

Turtles from ten colleges were in Detroit today for the derby and Paul Sanderson, Detroit publicity director, said he had been notified nine more turtles are on the way. Schools already represented include Tulane, Detroit, Iowa, Tulsa, Illinois, Western (Mich.) State Teachers, Southern Methodist, Yale, Tennessee and Vanderbilt.

Other school expected to be represented are Creighton, Temple, Purdue, Santa Clara, Baylor, Duquesne, Texas Christian, Fordham and Walkerville Tech (Ontario).

Mustang, Southern Methodist's entry, will defend his title.

FACES OLD CHARGE Flint. (AP)—A new trial will open in circuit court here Wednesday for Joseph Zabljak, 42, charged with the slaying of his baby daughter and mother-in-law 21 years ago. Zabljak was convicted and found sane after the killings but after serving for some time in the Marquette branch prison he was transferred to Ionia state hospital. The state supreme court ordered the new trial last summer.

The principal address of the day was given by Walter H. Wright, D. D. S., of Pittsburgh, who spoke on the necessity for building dentures so as to retain the normal facial contours of the patient.

Other speakers were Dr. Raymond Girardot, president of the Detroit District Dental society; Dr. J. Orton Goodsell, president of the state body; Isador Hirschfeld, D. D. S., of New York, and Louis C. Schultz, D. D. S., of Ann Arbor.

MSC ALUMNI AID STUDENTS

Contest for Scholarships to State Will Close May 1

Contests in Michigan's 32 senatorial districts to determine candidates for Michigan State College alumni scholarships will close Monday, May 1, Glen Stewart, M. S. C. alumni secretary, announced yesterday in East Lansing.

Scholarship examination candidates are selected by M. S. C. alumni clubs and committees in cooperation with high school principals and senior class advisers. One scholarship, equivalent to $90 in fees, is awarded in each senatorial district to an outstanding applicant. Candidates must be from the upper third of their high school classes, and nominations are limited to students whose financial circumstances warrant scholarship aid.

The scholarship chairman in this district, comprising seven counties, is John Kelly, Junior high school principal at Manistique.

Candidates are asked to file their qualifications within the next two weeks on forms available through the M. S. C. alumni office, Michigan State College, East Lansing. District committees will select the three outstanding applicants in each district on May 1, and competitive examinations to determine scholarship winners will be held about May 5.

According to Mr. Stewart, 92 students attending Michigan State College now hold alumni scholarships. Fourteen are seniors, 20 juniors, 26 sophomores and 32 freshmen. Scholarships are continued after the freshman year if the student makes satisfactory scholastic average.

EDICK HEADS ROTARY CLUB

Named President; Other Officers Chosen; Rowe Speaks

Edward Edick, principal of Escanaba high school, was named president of the local Rotary club at an election of officers at yesterday's meeting. He succeeds retiring president, M. Robert Deo.

Other officers elected include: Vice president, Charles E. Lewis; secretary, Charles R. Henderson; treasurer, Leslie French; and sergeant at arms, Donald H. Boyce.

Members of the board of directors include: M. Deo, W. P. Schulz, Denis McGinn, John F. Hart, Edward E. Edick, Charles Lewis and Nicholas Carr.

An interesting address on contemporary drama was given by Prof. Kenneth T. Rowe of the drama department of the University of Michigan. The professor said that drama is directly affected by business conditions. He said approximately one million plays are written in a year, 100 of which are produced. Eighty of the 100 are failures and only about 10 or 15 of the remainder break even. Of the latter number, about four or five become what is known as smash hits. Most of the shows are produced by men with money and sporting blood.

Prof. Rowe said that drama is undergoing a decentralization. Heretofore, it has been the policy of judging success of a play merely by reaction of a few critics and select crowds in New York City. In the future, plays will be sent on the road more than they are at present. Little theatre movements such as that begun in this city will do much for drama, the professor said.

Communication

PUBLIC INFORMATION

Three delegates from each Worker's Alliance local in Delta county and the women's sewing project in Gladstone, met Sunday afternoon in the hall of the Escanaba local.

Mass 'layoffs' on WPA, cut relief appropriations, the need for jobs and security and the pressing problems of the unemployed has stimulated the drive for organization.

It has been a public criticism for a long time; to those who are in need of relief, cannot get what is granted to them by the act of our Congress; but those who can get along without this Federal aid (or a portion thereof) has been getting more than what is due them.

In order to save, promote and prolong the social benefits of such public programs, we feel that the people of our locality with our State and National departments can eliminate those elements who are undermining the WPA, causing undue hardship to many of our people.

As it directly concerns the members of our locals, we find it is our job to protect our jobs. And to expose to the people of our county, those elements who are responsible.

To tighten-up and expand organization in the County, within the fields of the WPA workers and unemployed, a County Central Board has been established. Officers have been elected to serve for the period of six months: Raymond Anderson, chairman; Julius Carlson, secretary; Edw. Young, treasurer.

The C. C. B. decided that members of the grievance committee shall consist of one representative from each local and that these representatives will be chosen by a direct popular vote. Other committees will be formed as the responsibilities of this Board increase.

Recognizing that the problems of those who represent are social in character, this County Central Board will work with all organizations interested in the welfare of all the people.

BOYS ELIGIBLE TO JOIN CMTC

Camps Will Open July 11; More Enrollees Are Being Sought

Although several hundred applications have been accepted, there is still an opportunity for young men between the ages of 17 to 28 to enter the Citizens' Military Training Camp, Colonel Ralph M. Parker, commanding the Michigan Military Area in Detroit has announced. J. T. Sharpsteen is county chairman.

This year 1,300 young men will be accepted to spend four weeks in camp with all expenses paid. The camp will open on July 11 and continue until August 9.

From southern Michigan, 1,000 will be sent to Camp Custer, near Battle Creek, for the four weeks, while 300 from the Upper Peninsula and the extreme northern part of the lower peninsula will go to Camp Brady in Saut Ste. Marie.

The Citizens' Military Training Camp provides a month of healthful outdoor life for those who attend. Among the features of the camp program are athletic events in which all in camp take part, many other recreational activities, scientific physical training and military drill.

Each young man who is accepted for the camp is given a round-trip railroad ticket to the camp, and food, clothing and shelter is provided without cost while he is at camp. The trainees are comfortably housed in tents where they can live a healthful life in the open air.

Any young man wishing to apply for camp may get full information by writing to Colonel Ralph M. Parker, 468 Federal Building, Detroit, who will furnish application blanks and complete details about the camp activities.

K. C. Open House Meeting Tonight

Gets Soft On Shores and Cracks Appear; No Boat Scheduled

Softened by heavy rains and a week-end sun, ice in Little Bay de Noc is expected to move out with the first strong north wind.

The ice has softened around the edges of the shore and cracks have appeared in several places farther out. The rains of yesterday undoubtedly had a beneficial effect on the ice. Open water could be seen on the south shore yesterday afternoon, although poor visibility obscured its extent somewhat. Meanwhile, there are no definite arrangements as yet for the arrival of the first boat at the local docks. The first boat's arrival will depend largely upon how quickly the ice leaves the harbor. It is expected that one may reach port by the latter part of next week, although no confirmation has been received.

At present, there are 106 cars of ore in the Chicago and North-western yards, 16 of which were held over from last fall. The remaining cars have come in in small lots on freight trains. Most of the ore in the yards is from the Bradley mine, an open pit, at Iron Mountain.

Word has been received by Mrs. Dave Laronge of Ford River of the death of her brother-in-law, Charles Laronge of Pontiac, Mich. Mr. Laronge, who was a veteran of the World War, enlisted at Bark River, and served overseas. He is survived by his widow and three children, also one sister, Mrs. Ben Douglas of Bark River. Services at which full military honors were accorded the veteran were held at Pontiac and burial was made there.

On To Washington

J. J. HERBERT of Manistique, Geo. A. Osborn and J. R. Merrifield of Sault Ste. Marie, and Geo. E. Bishop of Marquette, representing various Upper Peninsula groups and organizations, have left for Washington and will be present at the House committee hearing there Thursday on the Straits Bridge Bill, which is sponsored by Congressman Fred Bradley.

A like bill is before the Senate with the endorsement of Senator Prentiss M. Brown. These bills grant the consent of both bodies to the building of a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac by the Straits Bridge Authority, but do not at this time provide the means for the purpose. They pave the way for a further investigation of the project and for the presenting of building plans and costs by the Authority. They do not commit the state or nation in any way to financial investment, but open an avenue for the Authority to build a bridge when, as and if the specifications of the structure meet with the full approval of the War Department, and when, as and if the people of Michigan are convinced of the plan's feasibility.

This is all that bridge proponents can ask at this time, and there is little doubt that the great majority of Michigan citizens are satisfied to see proceedings go along in an orderly and legal manner, toward the eventual consummation or rejection of the project. If it develops that the structure cannot be built adequately, and cannot pay out when built, then the bridge boosters must be resigned to their fate and try some other means of opening the Straits bottleneck. If, on further investigation, the plan presents itself as sound and workable in all particulars, then a great step forward will have been taken with the passage of the present bills.

Let's Get to It

WHEN some sage said "the business of this country is business," a ton of brick fell on him.

Indignant repudiation smothered him in catcalls. Crass! Materialistic! Unspiritual! Like all generalizations, this one was perhaps too general. But it remains in large part true. Business is the whole complicated machinery by which men produce things and get them into the hands of men for use. So business must certainly be a large part of the business of not only this, but of any country. That's so, whether one likes it or not.

Russia's whole governmental system is based on the idea that business is practically the only business of the people. They have a different idea of business, that is, of producing goods and getting them into people's hands. But it is business none the less, and to Russia it is the one great ideal. In Germany, Hitler rose to power professing a fine disdain for business, a contempt for a world that would be "just a row of shops." But just the same, when he makes a political move, business is always in the background. When he said, "We must export or die," his eye was on business, not on Valhalla.

Americans, accused abroad of being materialistic and of maintaining a business civilization, probably are more moved by moral and spiritual issues than any other people. We are glad and proud that this is so.

But Germany, or Italy, or Russia, or Japan, make gleaming speeches about elusive spiritual ideals—and then act for business reasons. We, on the other hand, ashamed by taunts of material-mindedness, respond by fine frenzies of moral and spiritual exaltation, and let the other fellow get the business.

In short, our fascinated eyes are so riveted on the glittering political game being played in Europe that we are in danger of letting our own business and our own domestic affairs go to pot.

The occasional decent moral gestures we have been able to make in international affairs have been largely due to the fact that we had our own affairs in good shape.

The United States urgently needs a distinct pickup in business this spring and summer. This need goes beyond politics and beyond party. The only real government economy must come from getting millions back on payrolls; the only chance of a move toward a balanced budget is the increased government income that will come from increased business.

First-quarter reports from many corporations indicate that a distinct upturn is waiting, waiting for resolution and strength and courage that will realize at last that business, our material life, must go on, war threats or no war threats, even war or no war.

The way to resume is to resume, the time to roll up our sleeves and go to work is now.

Congratulations!

THE Escanaba Smelt Jamboree received many thousands dollars' worth of advance publicity through the media of newspapers, magazines and radio, but the Marinette-Memnon festival took the honors for a follow-up advertising stunt.

event in a smelt-covered arena. The stunt attracted the attention of four news reel companies and several newspapers, who sent cameramen to cover it. The movies will be shown in theatres throughout the country, all of which will make the people of the nation all the more smelt-conscious. Escanaba's fishing industry also will be benefited as a result of the unique enterprise launched by the Marinette-Memnon festival.

This year's Escanaba Smelt Jamboree was a success from every standpoint. The celebration got off to a good start with the Wolverine Conservation association's banquet and the Ford River Frolics, both of which were well attended and well handled. The coronation show and ball attracted a large crowd, the Mardi Gras of the North Parade was the best ever, and Rapid River citizens staged an excellent program on the banks of the Taconoc river Saturday night.

No better start could have been made for next year's program than by staging the successful jamboree that was presented in Delta county last week-end.

The Builders March

GESTURES and ceremonies that go with the opening of new projects are usually pretty meaningless.

There is the cut ribbon, the smashed bottle, the phony golden key, and the knot of languid stuffed shirts who have had little or nothing to do with the project and care less.

The New York World's Fair is going to have one feature at its opening that means something. Fifteen thousand members of labor unions, who have helped build the fair, will march in the opening parade.

Why not? They have built well, and they are proud of what they have done. Workmen always are.

Among the curious requests received by the wreckers of the Sixth Avenue Elevated in New York was one from a man who wanted a bolt from it—he had worked on its construction many years before, and wanted something to remember it by.

It is all too seldom that the ordinary rank-and-file workman gets a chance to show his justified and normal pride in what his hands, his skill, and his brains have produced.

FACTS ABOUT THE BUND

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch) The 14-volume report on the German-American Bund, just released by Attorney-General Murphy, serves to confirm the prevailing public impression of this organization. Its close link with the German Nazis is common knowledge, and also the fact that its vociferous clamor is wholly out of keeping with its numbers—6,617 members in 1937, according to federal agents, and 8,299 by Fuehrer Kuhn's figures. An item that is not brought out in the report is the Bund's financing, a detail of great importance in appraising Nazi propaganda efforts in America.

The report, with the addition of financial data, should be of value in drafting legislation. There must not be suppression of civil rights, but America wants no private armies drilling on its soil. It should be possible to work out practical means for keeping the noisy and numerically insignificant Bund within bounds.

BROWN MEANS BUSINESS

(Marquette Mining Journal) Those who know Auditor General Vernon J. Brown will not be particularly impressed with a blanket denial from Lawrence H. Niendorf, who denies the state's purchasing department, of Brown's charge that the purchasing system has been "unintelligent at least."

Brown is and always has been a stickler for having state business handled strictly on the up and up. When he campaigned as a candidate for auditor general he said Michigan taxpayers were taking it on the chin because of waste, extravagance, irregularities and unbusiness-like administration in Lansing. He promised to clean house and said he could and would stop leaks that were responsible in large measure for the state's mount deficit.

Mr. Brown's report on purchasing contains much more than general statements. He cites details which indicate that he has been digging deeply into the state's business records and that he intends to do everything within his power to carry out his pre-election promise. Coming on the heels of an announcement that Muriel H. Defoe, of the liquor commission, intends to revamp the buying and distribution system in that department, and the appointment by Governor Dickinson of Grant M. Hudson to the post of state director of purchase, Mr. Brown's charges had a ring of truth.

Mr. Brown's charges had a ring of truth. He is not a man who is easily misled. He is a man who has been in the state's purchasing department for many years and who has seen the state's business affairs from the inside. He is a man who has seen the state's business affairs from the inside. He is a man who has seen the state's business affairs from the inside.

State buyers are eliminating reliable concerns from bidding for state business. Bidding has not been open and fair. Violent protests from institution heads that commodities delivered have not been up to specification standards.

Local dealers ignored and purchases made at distant points above open market prices. Coal prices advanced since cancellation of contracts early in January.

Brown follows with concrete suggestions for changing the purchasing rules and his proposed program has merit, but opinion has grown rapidly that the whole subject of state purchasing should, without further delay, be given special legislative attention.

It might be a good time to bring up again the proposal, heard on several occasions in the last two years, that a new and separate state purchasing bureau be set up and manned with trained buyers under civil service. That appears to be an entirely logical plan. The civil service angle is especially desirable, but that immediately brings to mind the question of what, if any, kind of civil service Michigan will have when the patronage-demanding politicians in the legislature get through with it.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY MILTON BRONNER NEA Service Staff Correspondent

The difference between the boyish "Lucky Lindy" who returned to an idolatrous United States in 1927 after his famous flight to Paris and the stern Col. Charles A. Lindbergh who reappears on the American scene in 1939, is the difference between an exciting book of adventure fiction and a weighty tome on international politics.

Twelve years ago he was a hero clothed in shining armor, important only as a symbol of young American courage and the pioneer spirit.

Today he comes as a world figure of a soberer sort, a man whose opinions actually appear to have affected the turbulent course of international events and who, like all world figures, is both respected and criticized.

After the tragic kidnaping and death of their first-born son, the Lindberghs emigrated in 1935 to England with their second-born and set up in a secluded house 22 miles from London. Policemen and big dogs kept visitors away and you could not get the Lindberghs on the phone even when you managed to unearth their number, as I did.

Soon they were moving in the most exclusive British circles. They were guests at a selected dinner given by King Edward VIII for Mrs. Ernest Simpson. Nor was this the only time they dined with royalty. They also quietly entertained in their home but nothing ever appeared about it in the papers.

The year 1937 was featured by a number of Lindbergh events. Early that year the Colonel and his wife made a flight to Karachi, India, caused anxiety when they were not heard from for a day, turned up in Jodhpur. In May, Mrs. Lindbergh gave birth to a third son in a London clinic.

Later in the year, Lindbergh went to Munich to attend the Lillenthal Aeronautical Show, and here, apparently, he developed his reputedly great esteem for German planes. In December, 1937, the Lindberghs made a secret trip to the U. S. to visit Mrs. Lindbergh's mother.

But 1938 was really a big Lindbergh year. He attained a scientific reputation following much publicity about the "pump" which he invented with Dr. Alexis Carrel to keep a heart alive by artificial means. In April of that year Lindbergh bought a little French island, Illec, to obtain greater privacy and to be near Carrel with whom he continued to work.

The following month, Lady Nancy Astor, she of the "Cliveden Set," invited the Lindberghs to a dinner dance she was giving for King George VI. The Colonel and his lady attended.

Then, in August, with Europe building up to the Czechoslovakian crisis, the Lindberghs started a round of air visits. They flew to Russia to the airplane show at Tushino airport, met many famous Russian aviators. On the way back they stopped off at Bucharest, Warsaw and Prague.

After the "peace" of Munich a storm broke around Lindbergh's head. An English paper declared that Lindbergh was, wittingly or unwittingly, responsible for the decision of Premier Chamberlain to yield to Germany. At a dinner given by Nancy Astor, the paper said, Lindbergh had expressed the opinion that Russia's air force was inferior and that Germany's was equal to the combined air forces of Britain, France and Russia. This opinion of Lindbergh's had influenced the Chamberlain decision to bow to Germany, the paper reported.

Lady Astor promptly denied everything. "There was no dinner," she said, "and, anyhow, it was luncheon." On top of this, Lindbergh flew to Germany in October. The Germans practically threw everything open to him. He inspected numerous airplane plants. And, on behalf of Hitler, Field Marshal Goering himself accorded Lindbergh the Order of the Eagle with Star, the highest Nazi honor.

Then a newspaper storm broke. A Russian paper attacked Lindbergh as a "lackey of German Fascists and their aristocratic British patrons." A French aviation weekly called him pro-German and no friend of France. An English paper dubbed him "Europe's busybody," and declared that he never failed to voice glowing admiration for Hitler and Nazi Germany.

The storm had hardly died down when another English paper declared that Lindbergh was preparing to become a British citizen and an "unofficial agent of the British government, rather like Lawrence of Arabia." The latest Lindbergh story came about in January of this year. In a confidential memorandum to American officials, he reported that German aircraft production was at a point where it could become a formidable competitor of the United States in the production of commercial aircraft. He also credited Germany with having the world's greatest military air fleet.

It might be a good time to bring up again the proposal, heard on several occasions in the last two years, that a new and separate state purchasing bureau be set up and manned with trained buyers under civil service. That appears to be an entirely logical plan. The civil service angle is especially desirable, but that immediately brings to mind the question of what, if any, kind of civil service Michigan will have when the patronage-demanding politicians in the legislature get through with it.

New York Column

BY GEORGE ROSS

New York—Old-time carnival fans will be glad to know the midway is coming into its own at the New York World's Fair.

The basso boom of the barker will be heard, the sidshow will flourish and old-fashioned entertainment will be made to the Fat Lady, the Half-Man, the Two-Headed Boy and the Three-Legged Girl.

The salaries for the human oddities range from $200 to $1000 a week. Strange people are high priced, beholden to no one in the show business. They never end in homes for the aged, although they are not too cautious in their spending.

A few sidelights: Ernest Faulconer and his son. Both have eight toes on each foot and eight fingers on each hand. "There's a son that's a chip off the old block," the father boasts.

Ellis Phillips can drive a long-bladed knife or a 20-penny nail through his nose, and an ice pick through his arm. He sticks hat pins through his legs whenever he's feeling low. The wounds heal in five minutes. He can torture himself or accept torture of all kinds without wincing.

Take a Gander at This Fanny, the Human Goose, was a problem to the exhibitors. They didn't know whether to put her in the animal show or the human oddities. She was finally placed in the human collection because it was reasoned that there are any number of humans who act like animals.

Earl Hall, known as "Smoker," is normal in every way, but, instead of smoke coming out of his mouth and nose when he is smoking a cigarette, he makes the smoke appear to come through his skin. He doesn't know how he does it himself, but it proved entertaining and a source of a few winning bets back in his home town of New Ulm, Minn.

With all the rage for swallowing goldfish and records going on at colleges, Hermes not only swallows needles and razor blades but brings them back at will. Hermes, who has no other name, claims he never went to college.

"In Person, Not a Movie" Walter Huston, who is coveting in Maxwell Anderson's "Knickerbocker Holiday," quit the Hollywood gold fields as producers were vying for his services, because his first love is with the theater where he began. Huston follows a strict code: when a stage role appeals to him, he prefers it to a lucrative movie task.

In a poll of the New York dramatic critics, Robert Morley, who gives a stirring impersonation of Oscar Wilde on a Manhattan stage, was voted the best actor of the season. He is the performer who, after appearing in the lavish movie, "Marie Antoinette," could have got-rich-quick in Hollywood.

All these new laws disregard fundamental medical facts and past experience, lack uniformity in policy and procedure, and disagree on fundamental principles.

Dr. P. A. Jacobs, head of department of urology at Cleveland's Mt. Sinai Hospital, commenting on restrictive marriage laws.

I said: "Now, wait a minute, Mr. Ambassador; let's get down to brass tacks!"

—Abe Pickus, Cleveland's one-man peace organization, describing an interview with Ambassador Hourinouchi of Japan.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—Frank Murphy, red-haired Attorney General, is an adroit maneuverer who knows how to avoid the hot spots, but just now he is on one of the hottest spots in the Cabinet. He is in the middle of an intra-Cabinet row as to whether the State Department has the legal right to license the sale of arms to Germany.

This is the hangover of a long dispute dating from the time it was found that Secretary Hull's boys in the State Department were permitting Germany to buy arms from this country despite the post-war Treaty of Berlin, which "prohibits" the importation of arms into Germany.

Secretary Hull at that time stood up for Joe Green, head of the Munitions Control Board. He claimed that the peace treaty merely obligated Germany not to import arms, and placed no obligation on the United States not to sell arms. In other words, Germany was doing the violating, and it made no difference if the United States connived at the violation.

However, there are other Cabinet members on the Munitions Control Board, and some of them emphatically disagreed with Mr. Green. They feel that Secretary Hull merely has been trying to protect his subordinates. Result has been that the entire question was referred to Attorney General Murphy.

Lawyers in the Justice Department already have reported confidentially and unofficially that the State Department is wrong, but that it may be best not to embarrass Secretary Hull with such a report. They say that since a policy already has been outlined by the State Department, the Justice Department might have to defend its sister department in the courts, therefore the two must stick together.

Other Cabinet members, however, do not concur. They commend Hull's stand in rebuffing Hitler on Czechoslovakia, in withdrawing the U. S. Ambassador, and in raising tariff rates under the trade treaty. And they maintain that Hull should be consistent and also enforce the treaty in regard to arms shipments.

Murphy, standing between these two fires, has been asked to make a ruling. Odds are that he will duck.

DIES RETREATS

Chairman Dies of the un-Americanism committee is six feet two and weighs well over 200 pounds. Representative Mike Bradley is five feet four and has a hard time making the scales read 130. But the little Philadelphia has the big Texan completely baffled.

Last session Bradley lashed Dies groggy with one of the most blistering attacks ever heard in the House. So when he learned that his own American Legion Post in Philadelphia had invited Dies to address it, Bradley boiled home and delivered this ultimatum: "If Dies speaks I'm going to follow him and tell just what kind of a guy he is."

The Legion officers were in a stew. They knew Bradley would go through with his threat and it was impossible to call off the advertised meeting. Dies got them out of their dilemma.

When he heard of Bradley's action he withdrew as speaker, being replaced by ex-Representative Frank Dorsey, a friend of Bradley's.

Note—Bradley was confidential wartime telegrapher to the late Admiral Sims, handled hundreds of history-making cables.

GARNER AND NEGROES

Little things sometimes swing the tide of political events. In 1916 it was Charles Evans Hughes' failure to shake hands with Hiram Johnson in California that probably lost him the election to Woodrow Wilson. And today the fact that Vice President Garner failed to attend the Marian Anderson concert before the Lincoln Memorial, or even to acknowledge the invitation, may ruin his chances for the presidency.

The colored vote can swing an election one way or the other in such key States as New York, Pennsylvania, Missouri and Illinois, and Jack Garner, one of the shrewdest politicians in the country, is quite aware of that fact.

Greatly worried, Garner has told Senate colleagues that he never received an invitation, and claims Secretary Ickes did not send him one. On the latter point, Garner is correct, but only by a technicality. The invitation was sent not by Ickes, but by his Assistant Secretary, Oscar Chapman, in cooperation with Caroline O'Day, Congresswoman from New York. Western Union has a signed receipt showing that the telegram was delivered April 3, six days before the concert.

Two days later, Walter White, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, called Garner's office and asked why he had not answered the invitation. White talked to Louis Friday, competent Clerk to the Vice President, and got a definite turn-down. Friday said Garner had no intention of lending his name to the concert.

White has signed a statement to this effect, and the matter is the subject of considerable comment in the Negro press.

Lines for Living

By Barton Res Pogre

INVEST IN YOUTH He wanted to build a shack Of tin and box and crate, He wanted me to help with the work, But I urged the child to wait— Someday with better lumber and roof, When time would grant permit, I promised to help him build a shack And make a fine job of it.

With patience the youngster waited for me: Then the doctor told me low— The boy had lost his battle for life And softly now must go. I knelt at his side in blinding pain, He held the death-angel back And whispered to me, "We didn't get time To build our little shack."

SLEET MAKES HARD DRIVING

Traffic Is Hindered By Ice; Telephone Lines Down

An early morning sleet, causing icy windshields and slippery roads, made motoring hazardous for a major part of the day in Delta county and surrounding counties yesterday.

With the temperature hovering all day about the freezing point, rain which fell quite heavily throughout the day formed into ice on car windshields and made driving dangerous. The driving rain also made visibility poor and roads were slippery, making traffic slow up considerably. Several minor accidents were reported as the result of the slippery streets and it drew a word of warning from Chief of Police M. F. Ettenhofer.

Smelt Run Heavy At Ford River

The jamboree is over, but the silvery smelt are running heavier than ever to the spawning beds in various Delta county streams. The biggest run of the season was reported on the Ford river Sunday night, with fishermen getting from 30 to 40 fish at each dip at certain intervals.

O. J. Thorsen Is Elected County Board Chairman

O. J. Thorsen of Wells was elected chairman of the Delta county board of supervisors at the board's organization meeting at the courthouse yesterday. Thorsen succeeds Carl B. Johnson of Escanaba. Ole Peterson of Gladstone was elected chairman pro tem.

O. J. THORSEN

Two new supervisors took their places on the board at yesterday's meeting. They are Harry J. Green of Garden, replacing Elmer LaCost, and George Berg of Brampton, replacing Matt Haga.

Standing committees for the year were named by Thorsen at the start of the afternoon session. They are as follows: Poor: Joseph LaFramboise, chairman; Peter Logan, George Berg, Jerry Fenlon and Morton Schire.

Allocation Discussed: Re-allocation of weight and gasoline tax funds returned to the county by the state was proposed by Omer Tanguay of Bark River, chairman of the roads and bridge committee, who proposed that the share of the tax fund turned over to Escanaba and Gladstone be reduced to the minimum required by law and that the townships be given the maximum allowed.

In 1938 the funds were distributed with the maximum going to the cities, on a population basis, and Escanaba and Gladstone were given $88,638.64 for highway maintenance within the city limits while the townships received $39,971.56.

Much discussion followed Tanguay's proposal, which was finally referred to a committee of six, three city men and three township men, in an attempt to reach an agreement. The committee, composed of Peter Logan and Charles Priestler of Escanaba, A. D. Algure of Gladstone, Allen T. Mercler of Nahma, H. F. Gustafson of Esnig and Tanguay, reported back to the chair that no agreement could be reached after about half an hour's discussion. The motion was called for, and was defeated by a vote of 14 to 13. A three-fifths vote would have been necessary to make a change in the allocation.

Park Purchased: A sixth Delta county park, located at Sac Bay in Fairbanks county, was purchased by the county board at yesterday's meeting at a cost of $800. The park is located on the point which separates Sack bay from Big Bay de Noc, and contains about 53 acres. It was bought from Hjalmar Winter. Other county parks are Pioneer Trail, O. B. Fuller, Brampton, Fishdam and Dutch Mill. J. T. Sharpsteen, county highway engineer, said yesterday that an improved road leading to the park area is now being planned. At present it is reached by a road along the beach which circles Sac bay.

Zoning Law Passed: The supervisors unanimously approved the Delta county land zoning ordinance, presented by Henry Wylie, and voted that it shall become effective as soon as accepted by the state planning commission. Wylie stated that it will probably receive approval and go into effect in May.

A new committee, to be called the rural schools committee, was created by the board and will be named in the near future by the chairman. Duties of the committee are to include receiving the annual report of the county school commissioner and acting as co-ordinating body between the different township school boards where cooperation is needed in obtaining state funds.

Missing Dynamite Sought In County: Three cases of dynamite, stolen from the Delta county highway department's dynamite shed in Escanaba township, are being sought by the county sheriff's department. Thieves entering the dynamite house broke two locks to gain entrance. Their loot totaled about 150 pounds.

Admiration Key To Success In Marriage, Judge

Guyton, Okla. — It's getting so District Judge F. Hmer Dale of Guyton regards a divorce in the Oklahoma Panhandle almost as a personal affront — his hobby is preventing them. Jolly, middle-aged and with a sense of humor about most things, Judge Dale takes marriage seriously. He thinks ignorance is responsible for most divorces.

Science Of Marriage

"Young people are beginning to believe the chances for happiness in marriage may be insured if courtship and marriage are studied as a science instead of being approached in ignorance and bewilderment and by the system of trial and error," he says. "He points to the establishment of marriage courses by 250 colleges as one of the most hopeful signs for the institution of marriage."

"It is the most rapidly spreading subject in the field of education," he says. "Twelve years ago only 22 colleges offered such courses. Where these courses now are given they are voted the most valuable in the curriculum."

The judge has no way of telling how many divorces he has prevented, but for 10 years he has been at his self-appointed task of making marriages "take." When someone he knows gets married he sends them literature explaining "things couples should know." If there is a divorce in the Panhandle, he sends the parties the same sort of literature in the hope they will "have better luck next time."

Three Tests Of Marriage

Judge Dale has three tests to determine whether a marriage is a success. They are the social, the economic and the biological tests. "A married couple should be a mutual admiration society," he says, explaining the first test. "When a husband or wife loses respect for the other partner love begins to die. That is the social test."

"As for the economic test, no young couple should get married until they have computed and are prepared to meet the cost of living in terms of reasonable budgets for actual families living under similar conditions; not simply in terms of romantic imagination. "The maintenance of wholesome affection determines the success of marriage biologically."

Better Than Golf

Judge Dale has become known in the Panhandle as an expert on domestic problems. His mail, from people seeking information or advice, is heavy. His personal popularity is attested by the fact that he recently was elected to a fourth term as district judge without opposition.

"As far as I know," he says, "no young couple to whom I have sent literature has been divorced." Judge Dale, father of six children, says his study of marriage problems has increased his own happiness in marriage. Besides preventing divorce he also is interested in the problems of raising families and he is treasurer of the Oklahoma Maternal Health Society. He thinks his hobbies are better than golf.

Revival Services Throughout Week, Calvary Church

With a particular stress of the voice on the words "on" and "upon," the audience was startled last night in the Calvary Baptist church revival to find Crusader David F. Nygren perched on the top of the pulpit. He said, "Too many people believe 'about' the Lord Jesus Christ, whereas they should believe 'on' Him." "Only One More Sermon to Preach" was the theme of the evening message, and as a climax a number came for prayer at the invitation of the evangelist. Rev. Arthur Glen and Rev. Fred Kinkle assisted in the services yesterday. The pastor, Rev. Birger Swenson, announces the services of the week as follows: Tonight (Tuesday): Women's night, open house for everybody; subject, "Woman's Chapter in History." Wednesday: Men's night; subject, "What I Would Do in Escanaba if I Were the Devil." Thursday: Family night; subject, "Noah and the Flood." Friday: Cheerio club, Sunday school and young people's night; subject, "The Most Beautiful Picture in All the World." Niagara Falls nearly ran dry on March 29, 1848.

CAISSE SELLS RESORT AT UNO

Ohio Group Is Purchaser of Recreational Property

Frank Caisse of Escanaba has sold his Uno Hunting and Fishing Lodge to a group of Ohio sportsmen, who have appointed George Parks of Steuben as manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Caisse plan to leave in the near future on two months' vacation tour around Canada and various parts of the United States.

Mr. Caisse was born in Peterboro, Canada, and for twenty years traveled as sales representative for the Burnheim Distillery company of Louisville, Ky.

Mr. Caisse entered the resort business by purchasing the Hughes resort. He disposed of the property in 1918 and purchased the Uno resort property from the Northwestern Coopers and Lumber company. In selling the resort to the Ohio syndicate, he reserved one cottage for himself to spend the summers there. The new owners plan to build several cottages at the resort.

Communication

BARBER LEGISLATION

House bill No. 324 is still in the committee on state affairs, and if we do not correct a wrong impression it may remain there.

We must convince this committee that these amendments are sponsored by the State Association of Journeymen Barbers in fact as well as in name. A little individual effort on the part of every barber will turn the trick. So will you without delay do these things.

1st. Write a letter addressed to Representative Maurice E. Post, House of Representatives, Lansing, Michigan. Head your letter to the "committee on state affairs—Mr. Maurice E. Post, chairman," and ask them in your own way to report house bill No. 324 out of committee favorably. Explain that the barbers in your city want it and that the barber industry needs it.

2nd. Write to your own representative asking his support in getting house bill 324 out of committee.

3rd. After you have personally done these two things go to as many barbers as possible and ask them to do the same thing. This should take very little time and if done promptly I feel sure it will get results.

Thanking you in advance for your prompt cooperation, I remain fraternally yours,

Arthur F. Sundling,
Vice-Pres., Michigan State Ass'n. of Journeymen Barbers.

Crocodile Island Has Interesting Music, Dialogue

The story of "Crocodile Island" the musical comedy by Geoffrey F. Morgan and Frederick G. Johnson, which is to be presented April 23 by the junior high school music department, is filled with witty dialogue and many humorous characters and situations.

The scene of the operetta is laid on a mythical island in the south seas. On the day of the opening of the play Coco Orinoco, a wily old wizard, and keeper of the sacred crocodiles, announces that the sacred oracle has decreed that the king of the island and his right hand man, Nit-wit, must be thrown to the crocodiles at sundown. This is a plot of Coco's to usurp the island kingdom which has a great wealth of pearls.

From then on many complications arise in trying to save King Pongazoola and Nit-wit from their fate. However, there is time for romances to develop between the king's daughters, Pearl and Petal, and Thomas Brooks and Jefferson Penfield, two young visitors to the island.

Tickets for this third annual operetta are now on sale. These may be exchanged for reserved seats next week. The date for reservation will be announced later.

Lions Club Hears Talk On Democracy By Atty. Jackson

Every good American should take it upon himself to spread the doctrine of democracy to counteract the termite 'isms' which are boring from within and seeking to undermine liberty and freedom, Attorney G. W. Jackson of Gladstone told members of the Escanaba Lions club last night in an address: "Is Democracy A Failure."

Attorney Jackson pointed out how absolutism, as practiced in Germany and Italy, tended to regiment the residents of those countries and stifled initiative. He showed that subversive influences were even now at work in America, preaching these doctrines, and termed them a menace to America's democracy, which means freedom and opportunity.

"It is our duty to preserve our freedom for our children," the speaker declared, "so that America and its democracy may still remain the hope of the world."

Miss Laverne Shea, vocalist and piano accordion artist, entertained at the opening of the club meeting.

Life A Drudgery Before The KruGon

Civil War Veteran Finds KruGon To Be Just What He Had Needed For Years, Aches and Pains No Longer Trouble Him, Given Proper Elimination

"Only those who have suffered as I did can understand just what KruGon has meant to me," said Mr. Albert Woolson, 215 East Fifth street, Duluth, Minnesota.

"Irregular bowel action had really taken its toll. I would often get clear down with severe suffering. I could hardly eat anything without awful attacks of gas, bloating and indigestion. My health seemed a complete 'wreck'. I lost my pep and vitality, also in weight and strength as I could not eat enough solid nourishing foods. My entire body was filled with aches and pains it seemed, especially in my muscles and joints which were cramped and drawn. I put many different medicines to a test in my awful case of ill health but could get no relief until I finally learned of KruGon and gave it a trial."

"Little did I realize a medicine with the merit of KruGon existed," continued Mr. Woolson. "For the first time in several years I get regular bowel action. Toxins impurities are being eliminated regularly and I am feeling like a different man even if I am past ninety years of age. I can eat wholesome, nourishing foods without suffering distress afterwards, my strength and energy has returned and those dreadful muscular aches and pains have been relieved. KruGon has put a climax to years of suffering."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.

THE FACTS OF LIFE

The political activities of the Nazi-Fascist revolution in this country and throughout the world are supplemented by the economic policy of the Third Reich, whose intention it is to break up the money economy of the world.

The world economy being promoted by the Third Reich is economic feudalism. If the Nazi-Fascist complex of nations becomes much stronger the pressure of Hitler's "export or die" slogan may succeed in doing for the modern world what the encroachment of feudalism did to the Roman Empire. The Nazi economic program has already seriously undermined our own prosperity and is halting recovery.

There is a world market price for staple commodities and this price is uniform. That is to say, trade is carried on on the basis of equality. To make that equality much surer and completely indiscriminating has been the objective of Mr. Hull's trade treaties.

But the Nazis in barter trade pay no attention to price. They will bid a nominal price above the world market for materials which they want and which they offer to buy through bilateral agreements. They will pay in goods, but the goods which they are willing to exchange may be sold below the world market price. The buyer, therefore, does get a bargain for the first lot of materials that he sells.

But Germany, in other barter agreements, dumps these goods in various markets below the world price and therewith depresses the world price, so that when she comes back for a second lot of materials she has already forced down the price in all markets, including her own.

This game which is now being pursued all over the world partially explains why, despite the fact that we have had a considerable recovery and that all other nations have had the same commodity prices have been continually depressed, especially those of agricultural products.

The German autarchal system, whereby Germany seeks a monopoly in certain markets, and the barter system, whereby she isolates country after country, and commodity after commodity from the world market, is making an artificial deflation and definitely contributing to world depression, and thereby to world discontent.

Germany is conducting an economic war, and we have by no means adequately prepared our defenses against it.

We have interdependent interests with all the countries which are still operating in a money market. We are dependent, for instance, on the British and Dutch empires for basic imports. Great Britain is our largest buyer of goods. Our exports to the United Kingdom in 1938 were equal to our combined sales to nine other European countries. The United States and the United Kingdom together buy 28 per cent of the world's imports and sell 26 per cent of all exports. It is probable that half our trade is with the British Commonwealth.

The theory that we are not affected by what happens to the British Commonwealth or that the kind of money economy to which we are tied can permanently co-exist in the same world with the feudal economy of the Nazi-Fascist powers cannot be accepted.

To adjust ourselves to this feudal economy would mean changing our entire system of life and accepting a complete regimentation of all production and trade, which cannot be accomplished inside our existing political system. This is one of the facts of life.

In preceding columns I have tried to make clear that we are already engaged in a struggle which will certainly in the end result in war or in the defeat of this whole American way of life without war unless we are willing to use right now the political and economic weapons which are in our hands.

Using the political weapons available to us involves seeing what is happening and giving a modern interpretation to certain ideas which we cherish as shibboleths but which we need to protect from abuse.

One of these ideas is the conception of civil liberty. The right of free speech, a free press, free assembly and freedom to organize does not include the right of a foreign power to set up political activities on this soil in behalf of its own interests. No nation which ever concedes that right exists will long endure.

It is a fact that the Nazi-Fascist revolution has been most successful in its assaults on democratic states only because it could appeal to civil liberties and to the protection of the police forces of those states to give it active assistance in carrying out its program to overthrow democracy, establish dictatorship and do it all for the glory of the Nazi-Fascist world program.

The world today is in an acute crisis. This crisis demands action. The first action we should take is to make perfectly sure that none of our actions will be influenced by foreign agents.

We need a political and economic foreign policy as well as a military policy—a political and economic policy to deal with actual conditions as they are at this moment.

And we do not need to take Fascist measures in order to com-

SERIAL STORY BORDER ADVENTURE

BY OREN ARNOLD

Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday: Over the protests of the officers, Betty Mary goes to Juarez where, the next day, she sees Barro enter a hotel.

CHAPTER X
Betty Mary fairly gasped at what the traffic policeman told her.

Luis Barro! The man who had caused her so much excitement—and had caused the United States so much expense and trouble of late—had passed right before her eyes! And she, catching only a quick artist's eye-flick of his car and clothing and general picturesque quality, had neglected to look carefully at the man himself. She couldn't even remember his face!

"I've got to see him again!" she told herself. "Just got to, somehow."

And yet, no American girls, and probably no other respectable girls, dared go into El Casino Tecolote alone, the elderly American man had warned her. Betty Mary knew that the border towns did indeed hold some "tough" places. This one, it is true, was large and almost garish outside and very much on a main street—not hidden away from law and respectability as so many "joints" are. Nevertheless this was Mexico, and a lax border town at that. El Casino might be all the elderly American had said.

On the other hand this was broad daylight. Noon. Yonder a mile or two was El Paso in the good solid old U. S. A. And she was a self-reliant, self-confident American business woman, not a frail little sheltered girl. Hadn't she, indeed, even shot and wounded a desperate alien in a Border Patrol battle, just two nights ago? And wasn't that same pistol in her hotel room even now? She laughed at herself.

The head waiter in El Cascagreeted her obsequiously, bowing and escorting her to a prominent if tiny table near the orchestra. Twelve musicians were playing, not the strident, terrific jazz or swing but the soft and eternally beautiful music of the Latin lands, much the same as she had heard across the line in the Cortez. It was a string orchestra with excellent voices, too, soft and melodious—and with irresistible rhythms. Betty Mary knew in an instant that, whatever the morals of its patrons, El Casino Tecolote could be a place for a good time. She longed for someone to talk to.

"I am an American tourist, making sketches," she smiled at the waiter when he came for her order. "I don't know much about things here. Will you just serve me an excellent Spanish meal, using your own discretion?"

"The senorita is alone?" he asked.

"Yes. Just one meal. But I'm hungry, I warn you." She listened dreamily to the orchestra again. Now it is true that the big dancing room in El Casino was gorgeously decorated and that it held many exotic faces and many interesting kinds of dress. But it is also true that Betty Mary Jordan, of Washington, D. C., held that certain indefinable superiority in freshness and beauty to be seen only in a young American girl. It is a thing traceable to the fact that a girl in America is likely to have every luxury and every chance for brightness and poise, even though she be simply a salaried worker. It is one of the too-little-appreciated bounties of this land. Nature, circumstance, and general wholesomeness of character, had combined to make Betty Mary Jordan an outstanding person.

She could not know, of course, that many eyes had watched her enter. Some with envy, some with admiration. She had, to be sure, been warned slightly about the cosmopolitan nature of El Casino's patrons, but she really had given little or no thought to how this might affect her. She was just a hungry, curious, and rather impulsive American girl. She pitched in to eat her meal with definite zest and pleasure.

She was sampling the rare delights of combined avocado and tangerine salad when the orchestra began playing a gay waltz and a tenor began singing, in English. It was a catchy song and he sang it with excellent showmanship so that he got a swell of applause. Betty Mary herself clapped her hands, and smiled forward appreciation when he looked directly at her. Then she felt a trifle guilty, without real cause.

Nothing would have happened in America, probably, but that smile was a mistake in Mexico. Without further ado the singer came to her table, bowed and smiled.

"The American senorita waltz dance with me?" he asked. It was all so sudden, so utterly unexpected, that she just stared at him for a moment, her fork poised in mid-air. He was handsome in a very dark foreign way.

"Why—why—no thank you," she stammered. "I—I don't—"

Instantly he scowled. "What's wrong with dancing with me?" Betty could scarcely believe her own ears for a moment. And then all the things she had been told and had imagined about El Casino Tecolote raced at the singer's almost rudely. And he was still scowling, waiting his answer. There was but one thing to do—freeze him.

"No, thank you," she said, quite haughtily, and resumed eating. He grasped her arm and said, "You'll dance!" Betty Mary gasped in fresh astonishment. And now, sudden fear gripped her.

She did not rise. Nor even speak for a few seconds. She was too stunned. She thought wildly she might jump and run. Or—or—something! Anything!

Then it was that the unexpected happened again to venture some Betty Mary Jordan, who was later to tell herself that she was far luckier than she deserved. "The senorita has said she does not wish to dance with you," a suave masculine voice purred just behind her elbow. "The fact is, she wishes to dance with me. I, ah, had already made the arrangements. Is it not so, senorita?"

Something suddenly tightened inside Betty Mary; a strange, electric tension, of recognition. Somehow she sensed, rather than saw, who the second man was. Quite automatically she nodded then, arose and danced away in his arms.

"The senorita waltzes perfectly," he said. "Muchas gracias, senor," she barely murmured. Her heart was pounding and she was conscious of many people watching them.

"And speaks Spanish! She has been long in Mexico?" "No. I—I am a stranger here. An artist, to do some sketching. I—thank you, again, for helping me out of an embarrassing situation. Thank you very much."

"It is a rare privilege to have serve so charming a senorita," he declared, swinging her in a graceful waltz improvisation of his own.

Whatever his blackness of heart, thought Betty Mary, Luis Barro was certainly an excellent dancer.

HOUSE GUTTED BY FIRE HERE

Early Morning Blaze Is Discovered At Derocher Residence

The residence occupied by Desy Derocher and family, located at the corner of Michigan avenue and Cataraugus, was gutted by fire early Monday morning, and the family was able to escape with only personal effects.

Elements Put Damper on Senator - Yankee Game Monday

BY SID FEDER
New York, April 17. (AP)—If old man weather feels in the right mood—and chances are he won't—all 16 teams get baseball's full force tomorrow.

Mr. Weather ruined half of the usual two-game advance opening yesterday, forcing the nation's No. 1 right-hander, President Roosevelt, along with the New York Yankees and Washington Senators, to the sidelines.

The other half of the curtailed first-day program saw the highly-regarded Cincinnati Reds, the "experts" choice to win the National league pennant, fall apart in the late innings and drop a 7-5 decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates. The defeat was doubly costly, since shortstop Billy Myers was hit on the head by a thrown ball and taken to a hospital with a possible concussion.

Situation Dreary
Either mild showers or honest-to-gosh rainstorms are predicted for six of the eight cities planning to get the business started tomorrow. Things are even worse in Detroit, where the Chicago White Sox invade the Tigers' lair, for it's "rain or snow" as the outlook there. At St. Louis, where the Browns entertain the Cleveland Indians the prediction is "cloudy" but the chances are none too good.

Nearly 250,000 fans are expected to turn out for the four games in each league, with the biggest crowd, some 60,000 or so, anticipated in huge Yankee stadium, where the world champions try to get their season started again, with Boston's highly-regarded Red Sox, improved over the winter, as opposition.

The pennant-winning Chicago Cubs of the National league also open at home, against the Reds, and some 25,000 are expected to see big Bill Lee, the "life saving" right hander of the "38 champions, oppose Paul Derringer, the St. Louis Cardinals are slated to begin at Pittsburgh; the Phillies at Boston and the Giants and Brooklyn to renew their long-standing feud on the Dodgers' home grounds at Ebbetts' field. In addition to the New York, Detroit and St. Louis openings in the American league, Washington's Senators, their own home opening postponed by wet grounds, journey to Philadelphia to tangle with Connie Mack's lowly Athletics.

Six New Managers
The Senators will play host to the Yankees again in the delayed Washington opening Friday, but it's doubtful the president will be on hand to take care of his usual hurling assignment.

The annual winter overturn, necessitated by the customary bowling of the "wolves," finds six new managers beginning their first full season in the driver's seat. Gabby Hartnett, who succeeded Cholly Grimm in the middle of the 1938 festivities and then piloted the Chicago Cubs to the pennant, is confident he can repeat, aided by fresh reserves to back up his championship lineup of last year.

Del Baker, who took over Mickey Cochrane's post after the season got under way, rates his Detroit Tigers as an American league "It."

Fred Haney with the St. Louis Browns, Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Doc Prothro at the head of the futile Phillies and Ray Blades replacing Frisch as No. 1 gangster of the Gasless Gashouse Gang of St. Louis Cardinals are the other "freshmen" pilots. As usual, Connie Mack is still managing the Athletics. Only Mr. Mack can fire Connie.

Crop experts forecast the 1939 American wheat acreage would be the smallest in 40 years and that wheat planting would be 18 percent less than in 1938.

Closing his three-game series with a 257, Mervin Bowerman, counted 671 on the Shoreland alleys in Marquette to take first place in the singles division of the Upper Peninsula bowling tournament. His score, only 15 pins below the winning total last year, may withstand further assaults, particularly in view of the few 600's tallied in the tournament, which still has two weeks to run. Bowerman went into the third game with a two-game count of 414 on scores of 216 and 198.

Lee Hill, of Oconto, Wis., took second in the singles yesterday noon when he counted 612 on scores of 236, 163, 213. Tied for third and fourth are Ben Embiom, of Ishpeming, and R. Vleus, of Iron Mountain, with 600.

Bowerman Leads All-Events
Adding 520 to his sterling singles count and doubles score of 583 in team event last night, Bowerman also took over top position in the all-events class with 1774. Hill also is second in this department with 1719, far behind Bowerman.

Pete Tomassoni and Dr. Fredrickson, of Iron Mountain, grabbed the doubles lead yesterday, rolling games of 408, 374 and 403 for 1185. Dr. Fredrickson topped the partners with 635, including an opening 237. Fredrickson also hit his 593 in singles, to place him in the leading ten in that division. J. Roddy, of Oconto, took fifth place in singles with 596.

Girls who eat sugar and sweets seldom have male heart beats!

TEAM MANAGERS and those interested in joining the Delta-Menominee league this year will meet here tonight to organize for the coming year... last season, the league had a very successful schedule with large crowds attending the games... it is quite likely that there will be some changes in the league make-up this year but the loop should be even better than last year... with the city team in the Michigan-Wisconsin league, the Eagles in the Rainbow league, and possibly another in the Delta-Menominee loop, Escanaba will be well represented in independent baseball this summer... just how all the teams will arrange schedules which do not conflict remains to be seen... but it does appear that Escanaba will have baseball.

Croucher to Start
Croucher, also a product of the Detroit farm system, will start at shortstop. He was out practically all of last season after suffering a broken leg in training.

Croucher is a certain starter and McCosky also appears destined to appear unless Manager Jimmy Dykes, of the White Sox, should elect to load with a southpaw pitcher. In such a case, Chester Laabs would go to center field. Dykes has indicated that John Dungan Lungan Rigney will fill a right hander, he won nine and lost nine last season, beating Detroit three out of five times.

Stout-hearted Tommy Bridges, 32-year-old veteran, received the mound call for Detroit. Troubled by an arm ailment early last season, Bridges put on a great finish to wind up with 13 games won and nine lost to top Tiger pitchers in victories.

The rest of Detroit's lineup will consist of familiar faces. Behind the bat will be slugger Rudy York while Hank Greenberg, aviator of 58 homers last season, will cover first base. The ever reliable Charley Gehringer, oldest of the Tigers, will be at second while Billy Rogell will handle third in the absence of the injured Frank (Shinky) Higgins. Rogell, Detroit's shortstop for almost a decade, will be relegated to a utility role when Higgins returns unless he shows more stuff than Croucher.

Two New Faces
McCosky's aide in the outfield will be Fred (Dixie) Walker in left and Ernie (Pete) Fox in right. Chicago also will have two new faces in the lineup—Catcher Kenneth Sylvestri, up from St. Paul, of the American Association, and second baseman Eric McNair, American League veteran who was obtained in a deal with the Boston Red Sox.

Those old Detroit favorites, Marvin Owen and Gerald Walker, are scheduled to start for Chicago. The game will be preceded by opening day ceremonies starting at 2:15 p. m. Play will begin 45 minutes later.

Governor Luren D. Dickinson is scheduled to attend the first major league baseball game. Mayor Richard Reading, of Detroit, will pitch the first ball.

TIGERS OPEN WITH CHICAGO

Rain Predicted; 50,000 Fans Expected At First Game

Detroit, April 17. (AP)—Boasting two new faces in the regular lineup, the Detroit Tigers will meet the Chicago White Sox at Briggs Stadium tomorrow to formally open the Bengali American League campaign.

The weather bureau predicted rain changing to snow but Walter O. (Spike) Briggs, Jr., said that every effort would be made to play the game in order to avoid upsetting the plans of thousands of opening day faithful. The advance ticket sale passed the 40,000 mark and only unreserved seats remained available, leading Briggs to predict an attendance of upwards of 50,000.

The new names in the Detroit lineup are Barney McCosky and Frank Croucher. McCosky, a former Detroit sandlotter, will patrol center field, a position that he won by batting .379 in spring exhibition games. He played with Beaumont, of the Texas League, last season.

Joe Louis Knocks Roper Out In Two Minute Bout

California's first heavyweight championship in 30 years was as wild as it was brief, as the old war-horse waded in at the start and lived up to his promise to punch it out with the deadliest puncher in the ring today.

Couldn't Get Up
He punched as long as he could, but the fury of an aroused Louis, stung by Black Jack's famed left hook, brought disaster. Battered into his corner, Roper was trying to crawl up the ropes as the count tolled on, but couldn't make it. As Blake finished Roper slumped over forward to the canvas again and had to be dragged to his stool.

The crowd was in a state of intense excitement as the fighters entered the ring shortly before 10 p. m. The principals lost no time setting fire to the tenistry.

Louis and Roper walked slowly from their corners at the opening bell. Fully 20 seconds passed with neither offering a threat. Roper jabbed first, a weak blow that touched Louis' chin lightly. Joe stepped back, jabbed, and Roper moved in, pushing the champion toward the ropes. Louis countered with a hard left hook, and as they banged away in close quarters, Roper suddenly backed up a step and let fly three lefts that smashed over the side of Louis' head.

Hooks Land
Louis closed in with a furious assault, and as they parted Roper's eyes were about to spurt blood. Again, however, old Jack moved into the range of Joe's fists, and as his corner yelled for him to keep away, he wrestled Louis toward the Roper corner.

Louis, a snarling killer by this time, unleashed the knockout attack. Four rights and as many terrific left hooks landed on Roper's head, and a final right smash to the jaw sent him reeling downward. A left caught him flush on the chin before he could hit the floor.

Louis retreated quickly to a neutral corner and the final count began.

It was a perfect night and the ringside was filled with celebrities of the entertainment and sports world. Just before the titleholder and the challenger came into the ring, ex-heavyweight champion James J. Jeffries and other one time greats of the ring were introduced.

Roper appeared in the ring first. He had a half grin on his face and gave Louis little heed when the champion stopped to examine his gloves and shake hands. Louis was, as ever, a stolid, non-scrutinable. Roper chuckled when he was introduced as "Jack Roper, Junior."

Galento Next
Later in his dressing room Louis paid tribute to Roper's gameness and declared belief he would have less trouble with Tony Galento, his next foe.

"I know I had two hands and Roper had one," Louis said, "so I felt like I'd beat him alright. I know I was hit when he caught me with that left. That's more than Max Schmeling and John Henry Lewis done."

Roper's dressing room was virtually deserted after the fight.

"Don't let anybody fool you," Roper said, laughing. "That Louis hits like a load of dynamite."

Roper said a left uppercut during the wild melee started him going out, paralyzing his legs. After that he was unable to stave off the murderous punches of the champion.

REDS BEATEN IN OPENER, 7-5

Vander Meer and Walters Shelled From Hill By Pirates

Cincinnati, April 17. (AP)—Cincinnati's Redlegs almost ended their opening day victory famine today, but finally succumbed 7 to 5 as the Pittsburgh Pirates rapped five markers across the plate in the last two innings of the National League's centennial campaign inaugural.

It was the seventh straight opener lost by the Reds, and was a tough one for the 30,644 fans to accept, for the Cincinnatians had a three-run edge going into the final eighth.

The Buccaneers exploded a four-run bomb in the frame, however, at the expense of Bucky Walters, who had relieved Johnny Vander Meer in the third. Five hits, including doubles by Vaughan and Young, rolled off the Pirate bats in the big inning.

The Pirates tacked two hits and a sacrifice together for another run in the ninth to clinch the argument.

Meyers Hit On Head
Vander Meer, of double no-hit fame, was unable to find the plate and lasted less than three innings. Frank McCormick's homer over the left field wall with Goodman aboard in the first spotted Vandy two runs, but the Bucc evened it with two walks and hits by Blanton and Suhr in the third, sending Vander Meer to the showers.

Billy Myers, Redleg shortstop, suffered a slight concussion when struck behind the left ear in the second inning by Brubaker's long throw from third as he raced across first after grounding down the base line. He was removed unconscious from the field and taken to a hospital.

Myers was unable to accompany the team to Chicago tonight.

Dr. Reed Shank said his patient recovered consciousness quickly and followed later innings of the game by radio from his bed. His condition was described as good.

LOOP SCHEDULE IS ANNOUNCED

South Range Opens On Escanaba Diamond On May 7

Iron Mountain, April 17.—The Ford Twins, of Iron Mountain-Kingsford, will meet the Niagara Badgers at Niagara; Crystal Falls will play host to Negaunee, and South Range will invade Escanaba in the 1939 inaugural games of the Northern Wisconsin Michigan league on May 7, according to the schedule approved at the meeting of league directors yesterday at the Riverside club.

Giving spice to the meeting was the presence of Albert Wilke, president of the Interstate league, who tangled in a heated verbal battle with the officials of the N. W. M. loop in an attempt to obtain a working agreement with the senior league against a so-called "ransacking" and "selfish" policy that he accused N. W. M. league managers of using in drafting Interstate league players. However, when the squabble was over the Wisconsin Michigan league flatly refused to agree to Wilke's demanding terms.

In the absence of President S. A. Donovan, of Niagara, "Buck" Erickson, secretary-treasurer of the loop, presided at the meeting. Directors present were: James Manel, Ford Twins; Warren Miller, Niagara; John Pastore, South Range; William Carlson, Crystal Falls; and Orville Welland, Escanaba. Negaunee was not represented.

The schedule follows:

FIRST HALF
May 7—South Range at Escanaba. Negaunee at Crystal Falls. Ford Twins at Niagara.
May 14—South Range at Ford Twins. Niagara at Negaunee. Escanaba at Crystal Falls.

Swimmers Invited To Tour England

Ann Arbor, April 17 (AP)—Matt Mann, University of Michigan swimming coach, said today he had been invited to lead a group of seven or eight swimmers on a tour of England next September.

Mann said the invitation was tendered him by the amateur swimming association of England in an effort to promote the sport in the British Isles. Twenty exhibitions will be given in as many cities, he said.

The group will be chosen from the 1938 and 1939 Wolverine teams. Mann was born in Leeds, England, and at 16 years of age, was British Empire free-style champion.

U. M. GOLFERS WIN
Columbus, O., April 17. (AP)—Michigan's golf team began its Big Ten season today by humbling Ohio State, 20 to 4, with all but one of the five Wolverine team members winning.

The best way to wipe out a friendship is to sponge on it!

EDDIE HOLDERMAN gladdened the hearts of Escanaba fans by copping the mile and half mile events in the Purdue-Michigan State meet Saturday... Glenn Lewis and Jack Reynolds of this city are trying out for the fresh tennis team at MSC... they were Escanaba high school champs... the move in high school circles seems to be organization these days... Menominee county high schools recently organized a permanent set-up while larger schools of Dickinson and Iron counties already were organized... it's a good idea because the organization is bound to be beneficial to all schools concerned... we sincerely appreciate the resolution of thanks given by the Menominee group and hasten to assume members of that group that we are always glad to carry news of their respective activities... and now, folks, after one last look at the outfield, we'd yell: "Play Ball!"

Boys Wishing To Be Caddies Meet On Wednesday

Haddock and Harry Hogan. Haddock will talk at the meeting on golf etiquette and Hogan will tell of caddy rules and duties.

All caddies and those boys who want to caddy during the season should attend the meeting.

Preparations are now being made for the opening of the season at the club. The opening event will be a barbecue and blow-out at the clubhouse on April 29.

TRADING LIGHT; MARKET FALLS

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES table with columns for Net change, D12, D6, D3, D1, and various stock indices.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER New York, April 17 (AP)—With no especially helpful change in either the European scene or the domestic business picture, the stock market today stepped back fractions to more than 3 points at the worst.

Light buying support in the afternoon lifted prices above the lows, but there was little vigor in the few and brief rallying periods.

Transfers of 524,040 shares were the smallest since March 29, and compared with Friday's next lightest session when the turnover was 619,860.

Efforts to extend Saturday's sharp recovery, which followed the president's appeal to Hitler and Mussolini for peace, met with opposition at the start as markets at London, Paris and Amsterdam opened downward.

Contrasted with an estimated drop of 1.2 points in this week's steel mill operations, faint encouragement was derived from reports automobile sales in the first part of April were better than had been forecast.

From the standpoint of the technicians, the day's drifting decline may have partly due to the fact the list had recovered about 35 percent of the set-back which got under way the early part of March and was entitled to a rest.

While Wall Street had not expected either Germany or Italy would be especially friendly to the Washington peace move, vitriolic comments from Rome and Berlin in the "intermediary" step revived doubts Europe would be able to compose its differences amicably.

U. S. government loans tilted higher but corporation bonds lagged. Grain and cotton futures improved, but rubber, copper, hide and cocoa contracts lost ground.

Off fractions to more than a point in the curb were Electric Bond & Share, American Gas & Electric, American Cyanamid "B," Lockheed and Gulf Oil.

Turnover of 83,000 shares was the smallest since September 22 last year and compared with 104,000 Friday.

Pets Popular On Lyceum Number At Senior Hi School

Pamahaska's Pets, a lyceum program, was presented to the senior high student body Monday morning.

The program consisted of Bozo, a monkey, who shot a gun, caught tin plates thrown to him by his master, and went through various gymnastics.

A remarkable feat presented by Mr. Pamahaska was the act of his canaries. Usually frightened and hard to manage, Pamahaska's canaries obeyed every order and carried out every trick perfectly. Among the most interesting were racing, hurdling, raising various foreign flags, riding on a miniature merry-go-round and ferris wheel, and the oldest canary rocking in a rocking chair.

Another highlight of the program were the Australian Cockatoos ages of which varied from 12 to 70 years, the oldest one still active and engaging in the tricks of the show. Besides riding on a saw, picking out flags, firing a toy cannon, and putting out a fire, the birds responded to numbers called by the audience and rang a bell the right number of times according to the number called. Several of the birds rang out their age on the bell, while others even subtracted and added by different rings. The finale of their part of the act was the raising of the American flag on the enemy fort in a miniature battle.

The six dogs of Pamahaska entertained the audience by jumping through hoops, climbing ladders, saying prayers, and crossing a bridge of wooden spikes, each dog showing perfect balance.
