

PEACE APPEAL TACTICS BARED

Roosevelt Timed Message As New War Moves Were Planned

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen Washington—When Roosevelt summoned Cordell Hull to the Lincoln Study in the White House to draft his peace proposals to Hitler and Mussolini, two things were before him:

One was a set of cables from Ambassador Kennedy in London and Ambassador Bullitt in Paris, warning that war was almost certain, might break as early as April 20.

Second was Roosevelt's desire to register his views with the German people and put upon them the onus of war.

The latter was more important than appears on the surface. During the Munich crisis last fall, U. S. reports from Germany indicated that the German people had no conception, until the last few hours, that their country might be on the verge of war.

Also Roosevelt had had State Department reports that the German people as a whole do not want war, even though they are for Hitler. His strategy, therefore, was to send a peace message which in the first place would be so important that it would get through to the German people and second would make them realize that the burden of peace or war rested upon Hitler.

That he was partly successful in this is indicated by the fact that Hitler has now called a special session of the Reichstag for April 27 and will take one week to phrase his reply to Roosevelt; also by the fact that the German papers have resorted to a violent anti-Roosevelt campaign aimed to counteract the effect of his message.

All State department reports recently have indicated extreme pessimism regarding war, and Ambassador Bullitt reported from Paris last week-end that he was certain in two weeks.

Embassador Kennedy went even further. He reported that British Intelligence feared war would break April 20—Hitler's birthday. The British particularly were worried that the German fleet, which eased quietly out of the North Sea the other day for the Spanish coast, would pounce upon Gibraltar.

"For eight years I had searched for a medicine to help me and at last found it in KruGon," said Mrs. Mattie J. Robertson, 108 Maple, St., Wausau, Wisconsin. "I had been troubled with a stubborn

Regardless of my diet I was certain to have attacks of indigestion together with gas and bloating after almost every meal. Foods simply would not agree with me and caused great discomfort continually. Medicine after medicine failed to help me and I became so discouraged. But once I began KruGon it wasted no time in bringing me the relief I had sought for so long.

BOOST FOR MEN OVER 40 (From the Kansas City Times) When a common belief gets a jolt it's usually terrific. Take, for example, this matter of work for men over 40.

Well, it was discovered that "there is a greater proportion of workers over 40 in industrial employment now than before the depression," also that "they are a vital and dynamic part of industry."

It was found that about 38 per cent of the employers were giving preference to men over 40 in hiring, largely because of apprenticeship requirements and the nature of work to be done.

STRAITS BRIDGE HEARING TODAY

Upper Peninsula To Be Well Represented At Capital

Several Upper Peninsula people left for Washington April 17, in answer to a summons by Congressman Fred Bradley of Rogers City, whose Straits Bridge Bill is coming up for hearing today before a House Committee there. The party includes Publisher Geo. A. Osborn of the Sault Ste. Marie Evening News, J. J. Herbert of Manistique, president of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau; George E. Bishop of Marquette, the Bureau's Secretary-Manager; and John R. Merrifield, Secretary of the Sault Ste. Marie Chamber of Commerce and president of the Mackinac Straits

Bridge association. Mr. Osborn will represent his father, former Governor Chase S. Osborn, a foremost advocate of better transportation facilities at the Straits, who is detained by illness at his winter home in Poulan, Ga. Numerous other delegations from downstate points will attend the hearing. Prof. J. H. Cissel, Ann Arbor bridge engineer, was expected to join the Upper Peninsula party at Detroit. "There is a growing vision throughout the state of Straits needs and opportunities," said Mr. Osborn. "People have dreamed of a Straits bridge for years. The situation is analogous to that of 1865 in Sault Ste. Marie when the first ship lock and canal was opened after strenuous opposition. Henry Clay said in Congress that the scheme was a fantastic one, and that Sault Ste. Marie was far away as the moon. But today there are five much larger locks around the rapids in St. Mary's river, and in normal times ship blockades are not uncommon. "In 1920 a few dozen cars crossed the Straits on the railway ferries. About that time Captain Thos. Durocher had a vision of what was coming and tried to enlist private capital in a ferry venture, without success. Now, only a few years later, nearly a quarter of a million cars make the crossing annually, while the tourist business is still in its infancy. If the bridge is not built, enormous further expenditures must be made for ferries and ferry equipment which will be obsolete in a few years. The bridge boosters are the true advocates of economy, and the public is coming to a realization of this fact." A Bill on the order of Congressman Bradley's has been introduced in the U. S. Senate, under the sponsorship of Senator Prentiss M. Brown of St. Ignace. The measure gives congressional assent to the building of a bridge by the Mackinac Straits Bridge Authority, and they sanction further investigation and studies, but do not allocate any funds for building purposes at this time.

Law Enforcement Group Holds Meet Here Today

More than 60 members of the Upper Peninsula Law Enforcement Officers Association are expected to attend the regular meeting of the association to be held in Escanaba today. Rev. A. J. Parker of Rapid River will be the principal speaker at the luncheon at 12:30 at the Elks Temple, which will open the conference. Harold Lindsay, secretary of the local chamber of commerce, will be toastmaster. Rev. Parker will discuss "police work and law enforcement from the clergy's standpoint." He is considered a forceful speaker. Following the luncheon, a regular business session will be held in the afternoon and will conclude about 5 o'clock. Chief of Police M. F. Ettenhofer is in charge of local arrangements. Officers of the association are:

President, Donald McCormick, chief of police of Marquette; and secretary-treasurer, George Hager, special agent of the Duluth South Shore and Atlantic Railway. Much of the discussion will center around the upper peninsula police officers' school held in Marquette April 3-8, inclusive, when 80 law enforcement officials from northern Michigan attended daily classes and received valuable instruction from state police leaders and officials of the federal bureau of investigation. The school was the first of its kind ever held in the upper peninsula and was judged by downstate officials as "one of the finest and best-conducted schools in the state." Subjects studied covered practically every phase of law enforcement work.

COUNCIL MEETS THIS EVENING

Preliminary Discussion Will Be Held On New Budget

Unless unexpected business appears at the last minute, the city council meeting this evening is not expected to be an especially lengthy or heavy meeting. Only four items are listed on the budget for tonight. The principal item of business will be preliminary consideration of some items of the city budget now being formulated. The budget is expected to be ready for presentation to the council and general public within the next few weeks. The proposed ordinance to regulate registration and use of bicycles in the city will have its second reading this evening. The ordinance will give the city a more strict and complete supervision over bicycles. In the past few months, there have been many complaints upon conduct of bicycle riders and it is the hope of the city administration that this situation can be corrected with the new ordinance. Letters will be read from the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau regarding the Straits bridge and from the WPA legislative committee regarding WPA wages in the Upper Peninsula.

Achievement Tests Scheduled For All Schools Next Week

All seventh and eighth grade pupils of Delta county rural schools will be given standardized achievement tests next week, C. P. Titus, county school commissioner, announced yesterday. Teachers of seventh and eighth grades will attend a meeting at the county courthouse next Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the test forms will be given out. The achievement tests, which are standard, provide a means of checking the county pupils' work as it compares with the average for the country as a whole. There are 658 pupils in the grades which will take the tests, which will be administered by 46 county teachers. Commissioner Titus announced yesterday that the rural schools will close on Friday, May 19, which is approximately the regular closing date. May 5 has been set aside by the governor to be observed in the Upper Peninsula as Arbor day and Bird day, and programs in keeping with the observance will be held in all county schools. England's Forestry commission is the biggest landowner in that country, with 516,390 acres of land planted with trees.

FOR YOUR SUGAR BEETS TO GET ENOUGH POTASH

TO make the yield and quality which mean more profit to the grower, sugar beets must be able to get from the soil and fertilizer more potash than nitrogen and phosphoric acid combined.

Consult your county agent or experiment station about having your soil tested for available potash. To supply ample potash for beets apply broadcast before planting 200-400 lbs. of fertilizer containing at least 6% potash, and also 150-200 lbs. of fertilizer in the row at planting.
