BRITAIN CALLS MILLION INTO ARMY SERVICE

CONSCRIPTION TAKES IN MEN FROM 18 TO 21

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Great Britain was reported to have decided yesterday upon conscription — compulsory military service — for more than 1,000,000 men between the ages of 18 and 21.

Although the British government hoped this dramatic preparation would soften whatever words Chancellor Hitler is arranging to speak in his Reichstag address Friday, the German press promptly retorted it would make "no impression" on the Reichsfuehrer.

Semi-official circles in London acknowledged that the sudden return of the British ambassador to Berlin was to convey to Hitler news of the decision, which was made after reported prompting from both France and Russia.

Minister "Too Busy" However, Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, important Berlin newspaper, said "It would be silly to believe that the German government could be surprised" by conscription "or be dissuaded from its course by warnings or threats."

The British envoy, Sir Neville Henderson, cooled his heels in Berlin, failing to get an interview with Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop. A spokesman said the minister was very busy these days, and the British apparently were taken at their official word that Henderson's return had no special significance.

Britain's conscription decision was expected to strengthen the French-British alliance and smooth the way for Russia's entrance with Turkey probably following.

What Budget Raised Britain took one other great step yesterday in preparation for trouble. The government announced the largest peace-time budget in British history, with about half of it to be spent on the armed forces and civilian defense.

White Cloud Man Admits Strangling His Sister-in-law

White Cloud, Mich., April 25 (AP)—Investigators of the mysterious "faked suicide" death of 20-year-old Mrs. Helen Cassidy announced confessions tonight which they claimed were evidence of a "conspiracy of in-laws" to kill the young mother.

A few hours after Prosecutor J. Donald Murphy announced that a brother-in-law had admitted strangling Mrs. Cassidy at her home near here February 26, he reported that her husband, Charles, 23, had corroborated the story.

Prosecutor Murphy said the confession of Elton Cassidy, 24, to the actual killing of his brother's wife had implicated their mother, Mrs. Matilda Cassidy, 46, but that she denied any knowledge of it.

Officers confronted the husband, Charles, with his brother's story, and Prosecutor Murphy said the latter substantiated the account fully.

Has Speech Impediment An impediment in Charles' speech, a maladjustment suffered since boyhood, delayed efforts to get a coherent statement from him.

Brought face to face with his brother, Elton spoke to him, the prosecutor said, in this manner: "Tell the truth. I did. You'll be better off."

Earlier Murphy had announced Elton had confessed strangling his sister-in-law in order that his family could get possession of her four children.

Prosecutor Murphy confirmed reports today that Charles, Jr., four-year-old son of the dead woman, was an eye-witness to the conflicting stories but that, in some of them, he gave the name of a man who, he said, placed a rope around his mother's neck and dragged her by the hair.

Charles Cassidy and his wife separated in December. Divorce proceedings were filed. There was a dispute over custody of the children, Mrs. Helen Cassidy retaining them from her mother-in-law in early February. She took them to the home of her parents in Big Rapids.

Mrs. Helen Cassidy and the children returned to her husband's farm only five days before she was killed. The husband told officers during the investigation that there had been a reconciliation.

DEWEY HONORED FOR CRIME WAR District Attorney Gets Newman Award As Racket Buster

Champaign, Ill., April 25 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, racket ruing district attorney of New York county, was selected today to receive the Cardinal Newman award for 1938 for his "distinguished services" in the war on crime.

BILL TO CURB PARTY BOSSES PASSES HOUSE

LABOR RELATIONS SUBSTITUTE UP IN SENATE

Lansing, April 25 (AP)—An "anti-bossism" bill under which candidates for secretary of state auditor general, attorney general and state treasurer would be nominated in primary elections instead of at political conventions received the approval of the house of representatives today.

Sponsors said the measure was intended to prevent political "bosses" from controlling the tickets submitted to the voters in the general biennial elections.

The bill, introduced by Reps. Edson V. Root, Sr., of Paw Paw, and Nelson A. Miles, Holland, Republicans, was advanced to a doubtful fate in the senate by a vote of 78 to 14.

Remedy for Bitterness Root declared the bill would bring about "a return to the fundamental of government for the people by the people." He asserted he had no desire to discredit any persons who might have dominated state conventions in the past, but that "as long as we have the convention system the rank and file will follow leaders."

Rep. Ate Dykstra, Republican, Grand Rapids, said the election of Luren D. Dickinson as lieutenant governor last fall, proved that political machines lacked power to control nominations by direct primary election. He said politicians generally opposed Dickinson's presence on the ticket.

Dykstra and other speakers insisted the proposal would strengthen political parties, rather than weaken them. The Grand Rapids legislator said "bitterness" that has cropped out in past state conventions over the deflation of candidates would be avoided, and that the conventions would become harmonious affairs at which the writing of platforms would be featured.

Endorsed by Eaton Rep. Elton R. Eaton, Republican, Plymouth, who collaborated with Dykstra in preparing a joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment that would have permitted the governor to appoint the cabinet, also endorsed the Root-Miles bill. He and Dykstra, conceding their plan had no chance of adoption, had sought to amend it to do the same things proposed in the bill.

On Eaton's motion the resolution was referred back to the committee on revision and amendment of the constitution to be killed after adoption of the bill.

CALENDAR CROWDED Lansing, April 25 (AP)—A substitute for the labor relations bill sponsored by the late Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, passed by the house as he lay dying in his home at Grand Lodge, popped out of a senate committee today.

The measure, which retains a section outlawing sit-down strikes and modifies provisions regulating procedure and the procedure for reconciliation, will be formally reported to the floor tomorrow. It may come up for debate next Monday, nearly six weeks from the date Fitzgerald's original bill was referred to the senate committee.

The senate today waded through a calendar clogged with non-controversial legislation that had been sidetracked for debate on civil service and welfare reorganization. It passed bills to enable cities to include employees of municipal transportation lines, health boards and police departments under civil service systems, to make dog owners liable for injuries inflicted by their pets, to include all children under 21 in the school census, and to provide for election.

Alger County Seat Has Bad Morning Blaze

Shown here are the ruins of the First National Bank building at Munising after an early morning fire on Tuesday which wrecked the bank interior, second floor offices, and the Munising Press publishing plant in the basement. Damage was expected to reach $50,000.

Munising Bank Building Ruined By $50,000 Fire

Munising, April 25—Fire early this morning gutted the offices of the First National Bank here and the basement office of the Munising Press, weekly newspaper and job printing firm, and O. E. Brown, bank cashier, said that the damage might reach $50,000.

The fire was first noticed at about 4 o'clock this morning by Patrolman Ernest Schultz, who notified the firemen. Schultz had gone by the building on patrol duty about a half an hour before and had noticed nothing wrong. The fire apparently started in the offices of the Munising Press in the basement and broke through the floor into the bank above it.

No cause could be given for the fire and the state fire marshal has been asked to investigate the fire. Firemen responded to the call laid three hose lines, shooting the water into the flames, but it was almost 6 o'clock this morning before the fire was completely under control. John Hoffman, who was using a hose in the basement entry to the Press office was struck on the hip and knocked against the building wall, cutting a gash in his forehead, when an explosion in the building, shook a part of the stone cornice loose.

The building was occupied by the Munising Press office and printing plant in the basement, the First National Bank and the vacant postoffice section on the first floor and the offices of Drs. Wharton, Barnes and Ruggles, the Alger County Taxpayer's association, the Cleveland-Cliffs iron company lumber office, G. A. Baldwin on the second floor. Al Howells, who roomed on the second floor had to be rescued from his room by firemen who placed a ladder at his window. The Western Union office at the rear of the bank building was undamaged.

The offices of Dr. P. N. Wharton, the Alger County Taxpayer's association and Dr. L. B. Ruggles were badly damaged by water and smoke. Officers of the bank opened the vaults this morning and stated that there had been little or no damage to the vault's contents. Temporary quarters were set up in the showroom of the Cox Chevrolet Sales by the bank employees.

The fire was the third to occur in the bank building during the past four months. The first was in January and the second on February 17 when the Munising News was making preparations for the paper's forty-third anniversary edition. Both of those fires started in the printing shop of the weekly.

Widow Of King Ben Denies Deserting Husband's Beliefs St. Joseph, Mich., April 25 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Purnell, widow of King Benjamin Purnell and captain of one of the divisions of the House of David cult, today denied that she had deserted the teachings of her husband and had sought to convert the colony to other teachings.

The statement by Queen Mary was contained in an answer filed in Berrien county circuit court to a suit for an accounting started by William Connon and his wife Laura, former members of her flock. The answer asserted the Connon's left the order voluntarily and charged that the Connon's were the persons who had sought to change beliefs of the colony members.

Traffic Toll Detroit, (AP)—Donna Landau, 18 months old, was killed Tuesday when struck by an automobile her father, Joseph J. Landau, was backing out of the driveway of his home.

Cass City, Mich., April 25 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Goodall, 62, of Saksatchewan, died today in Marquette hospital, the second death victim of a two-car automobile crash near Imlay City Sunday in which seven other persons suffered injuries. Rosella Cluff, three-year-old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCurney of Cass City, was instantly killed in the accident.

LEISERSON NEW NLRB MEMBER

Collective Bargaining Student Acceptable to Labor Groups

Washington, April 25 (AP)—In the midst of a congressional campaign to revise the National Labor Relations Act, President Roosevelt today named William M. Leiserson, economist and student of collective bargaining, for a five-year term on the Labor Relations Board.

Leiserson, now chairman of the National Mediation Board under the Railway Labor Act, was picked to succeed Donald Wakefield Smith, whose recess reappointment last August brought strong opposition from the American Federation of Labor.

The Leiserson appointment drew praise from several senate members and appeared to be acceptable to organized labor. The AFL president, William Green, who directed a campaign to block senate confirmation of Smith if the latter's name were sent up for approval, said:

"The Federation will not interpose any objection to the appointment of Dr. Leiserson." From Lee Pressman, CIO general counsel, came the comment: "Quite satisfactory to the CIO."

Marquette Prison Trusty Walks Out But Is Recaptured Marquette, Mich., April 25 (AP)—Melvin Morse, 20, of Gould City, a trusty working with the farm crew at the state branch prison, walked away from the institution at noon today but was recaptured shortly afterwards by two guards a few miles from the prison.

A parole for Morse ordered by the state corrections commission has been held up pending employment for him. He was sentenced from Mackinac county to six months to 15 years for breaking and entering.

Fleet Is At Panama Enroute To Pacific Colon, Panama, April 25 (AP)—Panama Canal authorities worked far into the night tonight preparing to hasten transit of a large part of the United States fleet back to the Pacific. It was ordered to return April 15.

The battleship New Mexico, first of the vessels, arrived at the canal early today. Officials hurried to get merchant vessels through the big waterway before the fleet starts the inter-oceanic trip, probably about noon tomorrow.

A few units, however, started the canal trip tonight in company with merchantmen.

Kidnaping Threat Aimed At Children Of Singer Crosby Los Angeles, April 25 (AP)—The Tuloca Lake home of Bing Crosby, film and radio singing star, was under guard tonight, his studio disclosed, because of a kidnaping threat against one of his four children.

Crosby refused to discuss the matter and said he had been pledged to secrecy by agents of the federal bureau of investigation. Federal agents, the studio source said, talked with him on a motion picture set there late last week.

PERCH RUN STARTS Tawas City, (AP)—Fishermen reported Tuesday that the perch run has started in the Tawas river. A perch festival will be held here next week-end.

Financial Officers Of State Struggle To Cover Payrolls

Lansing, April 25. (AP)—The state's high fiscal officers met tonight to canvass current revenue prospects and decided that "there is no immediate danger of the state being without funds to meet its obligations."

State Treasurer Miller Dunckel, Auditor General Vernon J. Brown and Budget Director Grover C. Dillman took part in the conference. They had before them a daily statement of April 24 that listed $9,250,548 in active cash accounts.

Their problem was to find the money to meet the state's million-dollar payroll at intervals of two weeks between now and July 1, which will begin a new fiscal year, and find additional money for the second equal installment of the April allocation of state aid for public schools, which amounts to $6,300,000. The school payment is due on May 15.

Collections Increase "These payments will be met promptly, as well as other accruing warrants, because of an anticipated receipt of $4,400,000 in sales tax revenues on May 15," a joint statement issued by the three officials after their conversation promised.

"A survey shows that eventually the state will be close to the danger point. However increased efficiency on the part of our tax-collecting agencies will aid materially in helping the state over a possible critical period. Collections of gas tax, weight tax and sales tax are increasing through improved methods of collection.

"We do not favor new taxes, scrip or bond issues to solve any emergency that may arise. The surest way to reduce taxes is to spend less money. That is what the state is attempting to do."

LOSSES $27,122 FOR STATE FAIR Detroit Accountant Says Revolving Fund Is Short $485,018

Lansing, April 25 (AP)—State Treasurer Miller Dunckel said today that C. C. Whitlock, Detroit public accountant, had reported a deficit in the state fair's revolving fund of $485,018 and that the fair had lost $27,122 in its operations in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938.

Dunckel said he would "bring it up at the next meeting of the administrative board." Whitlock's audit, ordered by the administrative board after January 1, differed from one by William L. Stewart, another Detroit public accountant, who made an audit of the fair's books before Frank N. Isbey, Democratic manager of the fair, left office.

Stewart's audit showed the fair revenues were $29,906 above expenses in the same fiscal year and that, counting appropriations for rehabilitation and capital additions, the "net income to surplus" was $334,728.

Stewart reported a net profit for the six months ending December 31, 1938, of $24,915, while Whitlock reported a profit for the eight months ending February 28, 1939, of $3,701.

Stewart's audit of the books did not break down the revolving fund in the same manner as did Whitlock's, he referred to a sizable overdraft to the state treasurer as being in existence since 1926. Whitlock said it had been in existence "in various amounts for many years" and had been increased $127,774 from January, 1937, to February.

NEW BUREAUS ARE PROPOSED BY PRESIDENT

PROGRAM DESIGNED FOR EFFICIENCY AND ECONOMY

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Asserting that at a time of "ruthless" attacks on democracy it is necessary to keep democracy's tools up to date, President Roosevelt submitted to congress today a plan for a major reorganization of powerful federal agencies.

The plan calls for the establishment of three new agencies, with present relief activities to be consolidated under one, lending activities under another and social security functions under the third. In addition, the budget bureau and some other agencies are to be transferred to the White House.

May Save 20 Million Mr. Roosevelt informed congress that the aim of this "reorganization plan No. 1" was to "improve the administrative management of the republic" and to save some $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

At a press conference later in the day, he announced that two more plans would be forthcoming at this session of congress—one dealing with inter-departmental transfers and mergers, and the other with changes within departments. The latter will combine all law enforcement agencies of the treasury.

Unless both branches of congress specifically disapprove, the plan will become effective sixty days hence. Under the reorganization act, no changes in the president's proposals can be made and congress has only the alternatives of approving, or vetoing, the program as a whole.

Unofficial estimates placed the number of government employees affected by the proposed changes at more than 60,000, of whom about 50,000 are in WPA.

Capitol Hill Approves The immediate reaction on Capitol Hill was mostly approving. While a few house Republicans were openly critical, others of their party endorsed the plan. Several members identified with both the new deal and anti-new deal factions of the house Democrats had good things to say of the program.

In the senate, there were reports that no major fight would be made against it, by either Democratic or Republican blocs. Senator McNary (R-Ore) the Republican floor leader said the proposals would be carefully studied and "warmly embraced" if they pointed to "economy and simplification" in government.

Offices Regrouped Mr. Roosevelt's plan contemplated the creation of these three new agencies:

A "federal security agency," into which would go the social security board, the civilian conservation corps, the U. S. employment service, the office of education, the public health service, and the national youth administration. Some of the agencies affected are now independent, and the others are scattered through three departments.

A "federal works agency," under which would be consolidated the works progress administration (under the new title of "work projects administration") the public works administration, the U. S. housing authority, the bureau of public roads, the public buildings branch of the treasury's procurement division, and the

Republican Officials At Lansing Dinner Harmony Huddle

Lansing, April 25. (AP)—A "harmony huddle" brought embattled Republican legislative and administrative officials together here tonight without any open indication of rancor.

Peacemakers considered it would be advisable to let matters take a natural course rather than to provoke any open discussion of the troubles that might do more harm than good.

Rep. John P. Espie, Republican, Eagle, called upon Republican members of the house and senate who constituted the largest portion of the dinner gathering to hold a firm front against lobbyists who might ask for more generous appropriations than his ways and means committee might recommend.

He told them he would have a $100,000,000 omnibus appropriation bill ready for formal introduction shortly, but legislators who attended the closed meeting said he did not go into details.

Executive administrative officials sat quietly through the meeting, without mentioning the battle of words that has raged for a fortnight between State Treasurer Miller Duncel and Auditor General Vernon J. Brown concerning the state's buying policies.

Both men attended. Young Republicans and old guard Republicans, who have not seen eye to eye in the matter of investigating commissions received by former State Treasurer Frank D. McKay also left to informal cloak room gossip any discussion of their feelings.

BRITAIN CALLS MILLION INTO ARMY SERVICE

Premier Daladier said France must be purged of all internal and foreign-inspired efforts to divide national opinion.

President Roosevelt signed a bill authorizing the navy's share of the special emergency defense plan, a $66,800,000 program for construction of naval air bases in a far-flung chain from Alaska to Puerto Rico.

Meanwhile, the United States senate passed and sent to him for approval a $508,789,824 appropriation for army defense activities in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The senate foreign relations committee postponed its final decision on the hotly-debated neutrality issue, agreeing to continue open hearings on neutrality legislation until May 6.

State Political Gossip

Dominant Leader Is Crying Need of State Republicans

BY GUY H. JENKINS

Lansing—Wanted: A leader. This is the sign the Republican party has hung out since the death of Frank D. Fitzgerald. The party that won two rather sweeping victories appears to be floundering. A rudderless boat could be no more helpless than the GOP which once distinguished itself with gubernatorial majorities of 500,000 votes.

Out of the mess in which more than a score of crown princes find themselves will appear someone who can take charge and build for 1940 and future elections.

To add to the confusion, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg and Thomas E. Dewey, New York racket-busting prosecutor, have agreed that neither will seek to control the Michigan delegation to the 1940 national convention.

Both are presidential possibilities. In the senate Feltz H. H. Flynn, president pro tem, who took over when Luren D. Dickinson succeeded to the executive chair following Fitzgerald's death, is doing a good job. But he has to contend with a number of the boys who like to stir up things regardless of the political consequences.

DUNKEL GOES TO BAT FOR HIS FRIEND, NIENDORF. The house of representatives plods along under Speaker Howard Nugent. A quiet likeable individual, he lacks the zip and much of the loyalty that went to such speakers as Fred R. Ming and Martin R. Bradley, to mention just two.

On the first floor of the capitol one will find Vernon J. Brown, auditor general, and Miller Duncel, treasurer, in a constant row over state purchases. Duncel must protect his pal, Mr. Lawrence H. Niendorf, secretary of the administrative board, whom Brown accused of sloppy purchasing policies. The controversy became so hot Gov. Dickinson made Grant M. Hudson director of purchases. It seems Hudson had to have a job so he was put in charge of a $15,000,000 activity and the major was pushed aside.

Representative Elton R. Eaton, Plymouth newspaper publisher, has been sunning for Frank D. McKay and Edward N. Barnard. McKay is the real boss. Barnard does much of his messenger work. Barnard tries to give the impression that when it comes to big shots, he is one. Being of the flamboyant type he gets away with a lot but backstage where the things are planned the wizard of Grand Rapids is the real fellow who tells Barnard et al. when to loop through and they do loop through.

Out at the liquor commission Muri H. DeFoe and Chairman Orrin A. DeMaas are jockeying for position. DeMaas says everything is lovely. DeFoe is inclined to disagree with him. In spite of the chairman, DeFoe says he intends to shake up the purchasing and distributing departments. Things are not so well in that quarter.

The boys who want a new deal in prize fights and horse racing are afraid to do anything about either. They don't want prize fight and gambling legislation tossed into the governor's lap. BRUCKER, THOMAS WILLING TO ASSUME SENATE SEAT

And in the executive office staffs Michigan governor, believing everything will work out for the best. He has faith in mankind and, while professing that faith, Emerson R. Boyles and Dr. H. Allen Meyer keep him aloof from the common herd.

Boyles, much to the chagrin of many of the old Fitzgerald crowd, is dictating appointments and policies because he has the governor's ear. The others can't get by the big oak doors over which the doctor, Boyles and state police stand guard.

James F. Thomson, state chairman, is having a difficult time confining himself to the functions of the Republican committee.

Someone told him Senator Prentiss M. Brown, St. Ignace Democrat, was going to resign. Almost immediately it was learned around the capitol corridors that Thomson for his good work in the last two campaigns would accept the appointment from Dickinson to complete Brown's term.

It might be added, so would Wilber Marlon Brucker, who refuses to stay where the 1932 Democratic tidal wave put him.

The party needs a leader who has influence with the rank and file, and fewer constitutional state officers and members of the legislature who gaze into the crystal to see themselves in the executive office Jan. 1, 1941.

MR. DICKINSON REMINDS WHITELEY OF HIS "PAST" The conservation commission in its usual diplomatic and unusual political way recently called on Gov. Dickinson to pay its respects.

For some time the veteran members have been jittery about the reappointment of Joseph R. Rahilly of Newberry and Harry H. Whiteley of Dowagiac and the naming of a successor to Phillip Schumacher of Ann Arbor.

But, knowing the various ways to apply the pressure to reach the receptive ear of Dickinson, they accomplished their purpose. Whiteley and Rahilly were reappointed and in place of Schumacher the governor named Dr. Alexander Blain of Detroit. Dr. Blain, incidentally, was the first choice of many of the sportsmen's organizations. Schumacher had resigned and was not looking for reappointment.

Thursday morning the members told the executive office they would like to come over and say hello to the governor. They felt his three appointments to the commission stamped him as a real public servant.

So over they came, the governor at that particular time being too busy. (Nine capitol correspondents were trying to get stories for their papers.)

As they filed past the chief executive there were the usual pleasantries and warm hand shakes.

"Hello, Mr. Whiteley," said the governor as he took the hand of the Dowagiac newspaper publisher.

"You have been against me every time I have been a candidate for lieutenant governor, haven't you?"

AH! WHITELEY FINALLY FINDS THAT MISTAKE "Yes, that is right, governor," was Whiteley's reply.

This is typical of both men. Dickinson is a well bookkeeper when it comes to keeping tab on the boys and girls who have been outspoken against his years of political activities.

Whiteley never hesitates to speak right up and say what's on his mind. Generally considered a chronic kicker about this, that or the other thing, it appeared his recent appointment had him stopped.

There was nothing for him to kick about. He was ready to kick if Dickinson had overlooked him. The senate, because he is a former member, confirmed him in open session. The upper house does those things in executive session.

With this out of the way, Whiteley was back of the eight ball. He felt there was nothing for him to kick about, but his attitude soon changed.

Checking the official senate proceedings he found a reason to squawk. Someone inadvertently had omitted the final "e" in his name and that gave him the big moment.

"Why the very idea spelling my name like that . . ."

ANOTHER CHECK OF STATE CARS WILL BE MADE Believe it or not, there is to be another checkup of state-owned automobiles. The new drive to put state employes on their feet was launched by Grover C. Dillman, budget director. Apparently Dillman believes that if there were only half as many state-owned cars operating, his problem of digging up $2,500,000 for the public school system July 1 would not be so difficult.

For years no administration has failed to take a strangle hold on this problem. There are too many cars. The traveling costs are terrific. Only those who actually need automobiles are going to have them. And so it goes until another administration takes charge and again with the usual publicity out go the state-owned cars. However, in their places come the new shiny, snappier models that will get one over the roads in less than nothing flat.

Maybe some day the government will seriously attack the problem of state cars, which soon after their acquisition become family vehicles maintained and operated out of tax funds.

Let a recruit come into Lansing and attach himself to a pay roll other than as a class C clerk and nine chances out of ten his first question is:

"What kind of a car do I get to drive?"

Then, too, Dillman might be interested in checking up the number of chauffeurs hidden on some pay roll as inspectors, field secretaries or the like. There are many of them who drive the bosses and their subordinate who take the position it's a poor state which cannot support a few chauffeurs.

GALLERIES PACKED Lansing, April 25. (AP)—Opponents and proponents of Senator Joseph A. Baldwin's bill to create a permanent state committee to investigate subversive activities packed the senate galleries tonight at a public hearing on the measure.

The factions hooted and cheered speakers, reserving their most enthusiastic reaction for Lee H. Bierce, formerly secretary of the Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce. Bierce accused virtually every organization objecting to the measure of being "communistic."

Bierce declared that the Congress of Industrial Organizations, Civil Liberties Union, Labors Non-Partisan League, National Lawyers Guild, and Workers Alliance all of which were represented, were "formed to bore from within so that when the revolution comes there will be that much less opposition."

Baldwin asserted his bill was designed to answer the question of "whether our government can withstand the pressure . . . and sweep away from democracy." H. E. McDonald, Detroit, Americanization chairman of the American Legion, declared the purpose of the bill was to "protect civil rights."

Robert Roames, representing the Americanization committee of the Lansing Junior Chamber of Commerce, asked "what harm can there be in bringing facts to light."

Charles C. Lockwood, Detroit, come the new shiny, snappier models that will get one over the roads in less than nothing flat.

Maybe some day the government will seriously attack the problem of state cars, which soon after their acquisition become family vehicles maintained and operated out of tax funds.

Let a recruit come into Lansing and attach himself to a pay roll other than as a class C clerk and nine chances out of ten his first question is:

"What kind of a car do I get to drive?"

Then, too, Dillman might be interested in checking up the number of chauffeurs hidden on some pay roll as inspectors, field secretaries or the like. There are many of them who drive the bosses and their subordinate who take the position it's a poor state which cannot support a few chauffeurs.

CANADA COUNTS BUDGET DEFICIT

Finance Minister Says Dominion Is Short By 60 Millions

Ottawa, April 25. (Canadian Press)—A budget deficit of $60,000,000 for the fiscal year which started March 31 was forecast today by Finance Minister Charles A. Dunning in his annual budget message to the house of commons.

He estimated revenues at $490,000,000 and expenditures at $550,000,000 for the coming year. His budget message proposed income tax changes designed to promote the investment of capital in productive enterprise. Foremost of these was a provision granting income tax exemptions to all firms starting construction, plant extension or other improvements within the next year. They will be permitted deductions equal to not more than 10 per cent of capital thus spent, the deductions to be spread over three years.

Dunning said the income tax provisions were aimed "to promote a substantial expansion of employment in heavy construction and in the machinery and equipment industries" and thereby increase the government's revenues as well as lighten the relief burdens of the government.

For the 1938-39 fiscal year, which ended March 31, the finance minister estimated an over-all budget deficit of $55,666,000. This was based on expected final revenue returns of $501,677,000 against expenditures of $557,343,000 which include an estimated $25,000,000 loss on the guaranteed wheat price.

The 1937-38 budget deficit was $17,715,000.

CAMPAIGN COST $7,368 Pontiac, Mich. (AP)—A report filed Tuesday by Howard M. Warner, treasurer of the Republican state central committee, disclosed that the party received contributions of $6,303.90 in connection with the spring election. Disbursements were listed at $5,651.52 and unpaid bills at $1,716.44.

Warner allocated more money. They declared relief budgets already are inadequate and that they will be reduced still farther in May and June. C. H. Runcieman, chairman of the emergency relief commission, estimated his department would have only $790,000 in its treasury for June needs, which have been estimated at well more than $1,000,000.

Kanar suggested that municipalities and state government select a delegation to go to Washington to ask Michigan members of congress to solicit federal assistance.

Senator Stanley Nowak, Democrat, Detroit, introduced a bill that would make an emergency allocation of $2,000,000 for relief.

Alleged Blind Pig Beer Dopers Held

Detroit, April 25. (AP)—Recorder's Judge Arthur E. Gordon today ordered Henry Mihalak, 26, and his wife, Tazzie, 30, held for trial on charges of doping beer. Bonds of $5,000 each were set by the court.

The Mihalaks were arrested April 20 in an alleged blind pig in which Patrolman James Dunleavy posed as a drunken customer. Later police chemists said that a glass of beer served to Dunleavy contained chemical commonly used in knockout potions.

Lending agencies having to do with agriculture—the farm credit administration, the federal farm mortgage corporation and the commodity credit corporation—would be made part of the agriculture department.

Job for Jesse Jones? To the direct supervision of the president would go the budget bureau, and under it the central statistical board, and the functions of the national resources committee and federal employment stabilization office, the last two consolidated under a new national resources planning board.

For each of the three new general agencies, a $12,000-a-year administrator appointed by the president subject to the approval of the senate, would be provided, together with an assistant administrator at $9,000 annually.

There was immediate speculation among some officials that Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the RFC, might head the lending agency, and Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the social security board, was called a likely choice for head of the security agency.

CHARLES WICK STILL MISSING

River Dragged In Search for Farmer Last Seen On Saturday

Still working on the theory that the rushing waters of the Escanaba river hide the fate of Charles Wick, 56, West Gladstone farmer who disappeared last Saturday afternoon, officers of the Delta county sheriff's department dragged the river all day yesterday and planned to continue the search today.

Wick was reported as last seen by his wife at about 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when he set out from their farmhouse to gather driftwood on the banks of the river which adjoins the farm.

A large scow, powered by an outboard motor, was used in dragging operations yesterday. Dragging was started directly opposite the farm, and the area taken in was widened throughout the day. Some searchers expressed the opinion that, if Wick had fallen into the river, his body may have been carried far downstream by the swift current. Ice still covers the river some distance below the farm, although there is open water for about a mile each way from the farm.

Bloodhounds brought here Monday to aid in the search failed to bring to light any definite clue. They were led over the ground between the farmhouse and the river, and at times appeared to have caught the scent in the direction of the riverbanks. No distinct trail developed, however, and the dogs were returned to Menominee Monday night.

The missing man and his wife had returned to their farm home from Gladstone at about 2:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, and had coffee and lunch after their return. A neighbor stopped in between that time and 4:30 o'clock and talked with them, and reported to Sheriff William Miron yesterday that there was nothing said to indicate that Wick thought of going away. The couple had planned to visit with friends at Ensign Sunday. Mrs. Wick reported that her husband left the house at about 4:30 o'clock to go down to the river for driftwood, and that she did not see him after that time.

Their farm is located about a mile and one-half above the Ford farms on the Escanaba river in West Gladstone.

"Seeing for Keeps" Is Lecture Subject For Camera Meeting

An illustrated lecture entitled "Seeing Things for Keeps," will be presented at a meeting of the Delta Camera club to be held tonight in the library of the Escanaba junior high school. Prepared by Wyatt Brummit of the Eastman Kodak company, the lecture will be given by Robert L. McIntyre, Daily Press photographer. Sixteen slides accompanying the lecture will be shown, together with other slides of local news events.

The lecture deals with things in the picture, and selection of camera angle and viewpoint to bring them out best, rather than with the mechanics of operating the camera. It points out how many different photographic approaches there are to any subject, and how many individuals can picture the same scene and get entirely different results.

A vice-president will be elected at tonight's meeting, to succeed Robert Sullivan who has taken a position with the Eastman company, at Detroit. The vice-president is also chairman of the program committee.

When city police saw a truck weaving crazily down the street, they stopped it and arrested William Lemerand, 310 Ludington street, for drunken driving.

And, when they looked on the back of the truck, they added a charge of larceny against him. The truck had several hundred pounds of scrap iron on it.

Taken to court, Lemerand pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of intoxicants and of larceny of 7,200 pounds of scrap iron from the Chicago and North Western railroad. He was given two sentences of 30 days in the county jail, to run concurrently. His driver's license was suspended indefinitely.

Hiram McLean, 1515 Lake Shore Drive, who was arrested with him, also pleaded guilty to the larceny charge and was sentenced to spend the next 30 days in the county jail.

RAIN, snow or wind mean little to the woman who has a telephone in the house . . . for she can do her shopping and "run" many other errands without exposing herself to the discomfort and danger of icy streets or soaking rain.

The telephone does more than save her trouble. It saves her time too . . . in fair weather or foul. It shortens her working day, adds to her leisure.

And it's just as useful in social affairs. Chats with friends . . . bridge games or parties gotten up on a moment's notice . . . your telephone not only enables you to arrange them, but also to be included in them.

Day and night . . . at little cost . . . the telephone gives you a combined protection, convenience and pleasure that nothing else provides.

Let's Go After It

INSPECTION by Mel Freeburg, superintendent of the Eastern division of Northwest Airways, Inc., of the Green Bay to Marquette route this week, with a stop at Escanaba, again revives hopes that this section of the Upper Peninsula may secure air mail service in the near future.

The Northwest Airways operates air mail and passenger service from Chicago to the Twin Cities and to the Pacific coast. The company already has made application for the contract to carry mail on the proposed route from Milwaukee to Green Bay, and is considering the possibilities for the extension of this service northward to Escanaba and Marquette.

Recent developments suggest that the American aviation industry will undergo expansion and will receive much encouragement and additional subsidy from the federal government. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has been called back for service with the U. S. Army Air Corps, and as a result of his report of studies he has made of aviation in European countries it has been intimated that the United States must increase the scope of its military and commercial air services.

Now is the opportune time for this isolated Upper Peninsula to apply for air mail service. Speedier communications always contribute to the development of the industry and commerce of any region, and directly or indirectly benefit everyone.

Extension Of Veto Power

PERIODICALLY in American history the question of the President's veto power has absorbed the attention of the Congress and yet, in spite of many efforts at change, the power remains as provided for in the Constitution. The last concerted effort was made in 1937 when Congress was in revolt against the proposed economy measures which President Roosevelt wanted to inaugurate.

Certain Republicans and also certain friends of the President who were in sympathy with his economy views thereupon raised anew the issue of the veto power and at one time there were no less than six measures pending which would extend the power of the President to veto an item in a bill without vetoing the entire bill.

The Republicans gained a hundred seats and Democratic Members broke away from strict New Deal discipline. It is altogether possible that another broadening of the veto subject will occur before the next election but for different reasons.

As matters now stand under the Constitution the President has power to veto an appropriation or other bill passed by Congress and a two-thirds majority is required to pass a vetoed measure over the Executive objections. This is not often done. But the President must veto a measure in its entirety. He may not explain that he approves certain appropriations but not others. He may return the vetoed measure with a statement of his objections. Then Congress may, if it so elects, remove the objectionable sections and re-pass the bill.

The first six Presidents of the United States exercised the veto power only when they believed a measure to be contrary to the Constitution. Andrew Jackson was the first to use the power to express disagreement with the policy of the Congress. He vetoed bills because he did not like them, regardless of any constitutional questions.

The selective veto principle first comes into practice in American history through the adoption of the Constitution of the Confederacy in 1861. The President of the Confederate States was empowered to "veto any appropriation or appropriations and approve any appropriations or appropriations in the same bill."

World Affairs Reviewed

BY MILTON BRONNER NEA Service Staff Correspondent London—In case of a world war, is Russia once more a broken reed upon which to lean? That is what statesmen and military leaders in England and France are anxiously asking.

At even the lowest valuation, they feel Russia would be more helpful than in the last world war. In 1914, Russia had few industries which could supply rifles, machine guns, cannon, munitions and tanks. Today Soviet Russia has made considerable advances industrially, thanks to its various five year plans.

In 1914, Russia could mobilize millions of men, but due to thievery and jobbery in high places, the necessary equipment was lacking. Later in the war Russian infantrymen sent up to the front actually had to wait until some of the more seasoned troops were shot down.

What English and French military men would like to know above all is how effective an air force Russia has. In the early weeks of any new world war, the power of the air will be of tremendous importance.

As much as anybody, the Nazis have been responsible for the spreading of fantastic figures as to the strength of the Russian air force. Sometimes numbers ranging from 7000 to 8000 planes have been mentioned.

The pursuit planes are said to be the most modern and fastest of all the Russian planes, equal to the best of any other country has.

To the contrary, the scouting planes are heavy and slow. New ones are being constructed which are much better and very cheap. The fighter planes are mainly monoplanes, some of them being armed with eight machine guns.

The greatest weakness of the Russian air arm is that its aviation factories have not yet worked out many types of engines suitable for the types of airplanes designed by its engineers.

Some of the bombers cannot compare with those of Germany and England. The best Russian bomber weighs 25 tons and achieves a speed of 300 miles per hour when flying 20,000 feet up.

There were only a few minor defects in the act that easily could have been remedied by simple amendments. Instead the act has been amended to death and the funeral dirge will be the cry of party spoils-men hot on the trail of meat for their henchmen.

PLEASANT DREAM (St. Louis Post-Dispatch) If Hitler really and truly wants peace, and if his only fear at present, as a Berlin dispatch reports, is that peace will be shattered by a British-French attack on Germany, then a gorgeous anticlimax has been reached in Europe's feverish tension.

NEWS ABOUT THE COW (Moose Lake, Minn., Star-Gazette) Aren't you interested in the discovery by the department of agriculture that "the average cow breathes in and out 270 pounds of air an hour?"

THOROUGHLY RUINED (Iron Mountain News) The senate has completed the job of ruining the state civil service bill. So many holes have been shot in the act that it might just as well have been repealed. In fact, probably the best amendment proposed was that of Senator Shea.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Washington—There is a long chance that President Roosevelt will return the visit of the British King and Queen next fall.

Many ifs are attached to this possibility and nothing may come of it. No President has ever made such a trip, and much as Roosevelt loves to kick over precedents, this is one that can't be broken lightly.

The memory of Woodrow Wilson's unhappy experience still is too fresh in the mind of the country. The wartime President journeyed to Europe under entirely different circumstances, but with world conditions what they are, a Presidential junket even for social purposes would be certain to arouse suspicions as to what was behind it.

Certainly the Axis powers would view the trip with deep misgivings and charge ulterior motives.

In the end the President's decision will depend on a combination of factors: the state of Europe, public sentiment at home, business trends and political developments.

Whether he goes or not, however, it is significant that Roosevelt has discussed the idea with intimates and manifested the liveliest interest in the venture. It appeals strongly to all his highly developed instincts for drama. Even though it may remain only a dream, it is a glamorous one that he will mull over in many a secret moment.

OVERWORKED SECRETARY—The President of the United States is a powerful person, but he is no different than any other boss when it comes to trouble with a temperamental clerical staff.

The other morning as Steve Early, overworked White House secretary, was holding his daily conference with newsmen, his phone rang sharply and Steve shouted to his secretary in an outer office, "Take care of that."

A moment later she dashed in saying, "It's the President, he wants to talk to you."

"Tell him I'm not in," snapped Steve. The girl departed but was back in another moment. "The President says he wants to talk to you," she said, "and for you to drop whatever you are doing and to get on the phone."

Scowling, Steve picked up the receiver, said grumpily, "Yes."

SUPREME COURT NOTES—All nine chairs behind the Supreme bench are now occupied. Save for one week in February, there has been at least one vacancy since December, 1937, when Cardozo first was taken sick.

The head rest on Justice Frankfurter's chair is different from all the others; it is a tight, round pad, like a chair arm.

Two newsmen who cover the Court daily have switched from disliking to admiring Justices Hugo Black and Charles E. Whittaker. The head rest on Justice Frankfurter's chair is different from all the others; it is a tight, round pad, like a chair arm.

BY GEORGE ROSS New York—There's nothing new under the sun, but the way in which the night clubs suddenly re-discover old diversions and play them up as novelties is something to behold.

The carnival institutions of fortune-telling, palm-reading and graphology have been coming back.

With a rush, several of New York's leading bistros have engaged calm, inscrutable young women who glide among the tables between floor shows and tell patrons things about themselves they never dared suspect.

At one oasis in the East 50's, a Korean lady named Helen Yun practices graphology with uncanny results. The subjects of her analyses are not all represented as kindly geniuses, as is the custom.

Miss Yun calls a spade a spade and his frequently been the instrument of making a patron repent and mend the error of his ways.

Miss Dionas, a palm reader, tracks down the life lines at Reuben's and more than one notable has returned to her after a prediction had been verified.

A squat, gold Buddha is the only concession to the occult arts at Ruby Foo's Den. The story goes that whoever kisses the feet of the idol will marry within a year.

Some time ago a Harlem club was trying out the idea of hiring a certain phrenologist to predict according to the patrons' cranial shape whether they would marry.

Tommy Corcoran and Harry Hopkins secretly investigated the Federation and recommended that "the chief" accept the invitation. As a result, Roosevelt phoned Louis E. Kirstein, who as an official of Filene's of Boston is the boss of son John Roosevelt, also chairman of the Federation's board, that he would accept.

Note—The Federation was formed because some retailers felt they weren't being adequately represented by the economic theories preached by the Chamber of Commerce. It is a comparatively new organization, founded in April, 1935.

St. Anne's church was the scene of a lovely wedding of the spring season Tuesday morning, the marriage of Miss Ruth Elaine DeLisle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. DeLisle, of 813 Second avenue south, and Walter Louis Snyder of Sault Ste. Marie, son of Mrs. Charles Snyder of this city.

Rev. Fr. Joseph E. Guertin, who was celebrant of the nuptial mass at nine o'clock, conducted the impressive double ring service. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was beautifully gowned in a princess model of white satin and lace, the skirt extending into a graceful train, with pointed inserts of lace. Her veil of fine net, of finger-tip length, extended from a cap of shirred net. She carried a white prayer book, with white satin streamer markers, to which were caught tiny white Tailsman roses. Her bridesmaid, Miss Goldie LaBresh, wore powder blue chiffon with a quilted taffeta jacket. She wore coral roses in her hair and roses of the same shade of coral were combined with blue and white sweet peas in her bouquet.

Mrs. DeLisle selected for her daughter's wedding, an ensemble of brundy and medium blue, and Mrs. Snyder wore navy blue. Both had shoulder corsages of yellow roses and pink and blue sweet peas.

Milton Snyder served as his brother's best man, and ushers were Earl DeLisle, Roy DeLisle and George Belanger.

St. Anne's choir, Miss Lucille DeGrand, organist-director, sang the music of the nuptial mass, with Robert Moreau and Mrs. Thomas Tounsgnant, soloists. The traditional processional, Wagner's "Bridal Chorus," and the recessional, Mendelssohn's Wedding March, were played by Miss DeGrand.

Wedding Breakfast
A wedding breakfast for twenty-two guests was served in the private dining room of the Delta hotel at 11 o'clock. The all-white wedding cake, topped by a tiny bride and groom, was the table centerpiece, with low white bowls of yellow roses, lilies and sweet peas at either end of the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Snyder left later on a honeymoon trip, their destination unannounced. The bride, for traveling, wore a black and white tailored suit and black and white accessories.

The bride was formerly a member of the staff of the Delta hotel, and Mr. Snyder is with the Offway hotel in Sault Ste. Marie, where they will make their home.

Bridge Olympics Here Tomorrow

Escanaba's part in the World Bridge Olympics will be played Thursday evening at the Sherman hotel, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Matinee Given Of Crocodile Island This Afternoon

A matinee presentation of "Crocodile Island," by Geoffrey F. Morgan and Frederick G. Johnson, will be given this afternoon in the Wm. W. Oliver Memorial auditorium for students of the grades and junior high school. The performance will start at 3:15 p. m.

An evening showing will be given on Friday, April 28 at 8:15 o'clock. There will be no seat reservations.

Much time has been spent on rehearsals and production. The musical comedy should prove very entertaining for an adult audience as well as students.

The locale of the operetta is different from any other one presented here, and since the scene is laid on a mythical island of the South Seas it lends itself to a great deal of contrasts in color both in scenery and costumes.

Northwest Airways To Apply For Mail Route With Stop At Escanaba

Application will be made this week by Northwest Airways, Inc., for a line between Marquette and Green Bay, stopping at Escanaba. It was announced here yesterday by Mel Freeburg of Minneapolis, superintendent of the air line's eastern division. Freeburg stated that it is possible for the service to be inaugurated this coming summer.

Air mail, passengers and air express will be handled by the ships on the proposed line. Freeburg stated. Steps necessary before the service may be inaugurated are the approval of airports along the route by the civil aeronautics authority and agreement by the post office department to air mail contracts for handling mail from stops along the way.

The airline has already made application for an air mail contract covering the route from Milwaukee to Green Bay, and the

Field In Good Shape

Freeburg stated yesterday that the Escanaba Municipal airport field is in good shape for approval for airline service, and indicated that few improvements would be necessary to bring it above the minimum requirements of the civil aeronautics authority. Lengthening of runways and removal of brush and low trees at the ends of the runways were among the improvements he recommended.

For winter flying, he advocated the use of snow rollers to keep the snow packed down, pointing out that they are now in use at all Northwest Airways fields in preference to V-type plows or rotary plows. Maintenance of the field would be handled by the city. Office space, in or adjoining the hangar, would be rented by the airline from the city.

Freeburg discussed the proposed air route yesterday with Harold P. Lindsay, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; A. V. Aronson, city engineer; Leut. Walter Arntzen, airport manager, and local persons interested in the proposed service. Yesterday afternoon he spoke at a meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

The proposed service would bring Escanaba within slightly more than two hours of Chicago, and would speed up air mail to all parts of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeburg flew to Escanaba yesterday morning from Menominee, where the airline executive inspected facilities at the Menominee airport for a stop on the proposed route.

10-Passenger Planes

Lockheed Electra ships, twin-motor planes carrying 10 passengers, are the type likely to be used on the Green Bay-Marquette route if the application of the airline is accepted, Freeburg said. These planes have a cruising speed of 175 miles per hour.

Daily service would be maintained, with one ship leaving Milwaukee each day and flying the round trip to Marquette and return. The traveling time to New York City would be reduced to less than six hours, and to Los Angeles from Escanaba would take less than 14 hours.

WHY SO MUCH FUSS TO GET RID OF CONSTIPATION

Most of us will always have some constipation in this modern way we live and rush and eat. When we get it, why not take the easy, pleasant way out of it.

Just swallow a few tiny, good-tasting Carter's Little Liver Pills at night—next day bright. That's all there is to it. Besides, Carter's Little Liver Pills wake up the bile juice that should flow into our bowels every day. Then most folks feel like jumping out of bed in the morning ready to go.

When you get constipated again, or get any of the 7 ailments in the left-hand column, take the easy pleasant way out. Phone your druggist for Carter's Little Liver Pills. If you phone NOW, you won't forget it—25c.

LONG, LONG AGO

Seattle, Wash., 4/21/39

Many, many years ago when Escanaba was a small village the streets were very soft sand, so much so that it was very difficult to draw a common tired wagon thru the streets with any load.

John Smith and Martin Dunn each bought two wheeled, six inch tired, one horse drays which did quite well. The Escanaba village board in order to remedy matters secured from some mill, chips, bark and sawdust to put on the street, which helped matters considerably. Some wag wrote a verse and it was published in the Iron Port, our weekly paper (Tom Simons editor).

Woodman spare that tree;
Touch not a single bough.

Aviation Classes Are Being Taught At CC Camp Wells

Several members of the civilian conservation corps at Camp Wells near Cedar River are enrolled in the aviation school being conducted at the camp by Lieut. Hulse. Instruction is being given in ground work and it is planned later to purchase a plane for use by members of the class.

Wally Arntzen of Escanaba gave a stunting exhibition over camp Saturday afternoon for the benefit of enrollees. Pictures of it and takeoffs were taken by Capt. Abbott of Little Rock, Arkansas, and will be used throughout the country in CCC camps for publicity on the Camp Wells aviation classes.

Escanaba's part in the World Bridge Olympics will be played Thursday evening at the Sherman hotel, beginning at 8 o'clock. The trophy above, emblematic of the Minnesota state championship, was won in 1936 by H. W. Wilson and L. W. Olson of Escanaba in the Olympics tournament of that year.

The Olympics consist of the playing of 20 hands of bridge, sent out from the Culbertson studios, New York. The hands will be opened at 8 o'clock on the night of play.

Sixteen of the hands have been picked as outstanding hands of the year from a bidding and play standpoint, and each one is described as interesting and instructive in bidding and play. The hands are not freaks, but are typical of the distribution which may be encountered in any bridge game.

Players will be provided with par sheets, and by checking their performance against par they can evaluate their game in playing the hands.

Four hands, termed the "mystery hands," were dealt by Grover Whalen, manager of New York's World's Fair, and awards are to be made to the contestants bidding and playing them the best.

Reservations for the Olympics may be made by calling L. W. Olson at 1260-W or 157, and J. L. Temby at 243 or 1501.

SAFETY GROUP ASKS NEW LAW

Two-Hour Parking Limit Recommended on Side Streets Downtown

Extension of the city parking ordinance to cover side streets one-half block north and south of Ludington street in congested areas of the business district was recommended by the Escanaba Traffic and Safety commission at a meeting Monday night. The recommendation will go before the city council at its next regular meeting.

A motion, made by John Lemmer and seconded by Harold Gessner, provided that the commission recommend to the council that "The Escanaba parking ordinance be amended to include 2-hour parking from 7 o'clock a. m. to 6 o'clock p. m. from 8th street to 13th street inclusive, from Ludington street to the alleys north and south." The motion was passed unanimously.

The proposed amendment bears the approval of the retail merchants' committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, which proposed the additional limitation to the traffic and safety council.

light at the corner of 11th and Ludington street was recommended on a motion made by C. B. Smith and seconded by John Lemmer.

Harold Gessner, secretary of the commission, was ordered to send letters to all truck drivers asking their cooperation in not using Ludington street as a through street during business hours. It was pointed out that trucks were again using the street for other than local stops for loading and unloading.

The commission voted to ask Chief Michael Ettenhofer of the police department to issue a warning in regard to stopping at arterial signs. Another warning was asked for local taxi drivers. Commission members stated they had observed laxness in regard to observing arterial signs on the part of motorists in general, and in regard to the speed limits on the part of the cab drivers.

LEMMER TALKS AT DEDICATION

Ceremonies Planned for Opening Addition to Perkins School

Supt. John A. Lemmer will be the principal speaker at dedication ceremonies May 3 at the opening of the $60,000 addition to the school at Perkins, it was learned yesterday from James A. MacNamara, superintendent of Baldwin township schools.

Details of the dedicatory program will be announced later this week.

The addition to the present building was constructed with WPA funds augmented by local contributions. It gives the Perkins school one of the most complete equipped units of any small community of its size. The school is classified as a rural-agricultural unit and is filing application this year for Smith-Hughes aid. In order to receive Smith-Hughes funds, a school is required to fill certain specifications.

The new building includes a combination gymnasium and auditorium, three class rooms, a library, home economics room, science laboratory and general shop. Showers and locker space are provided for those using the gymnasium.

BEHIND THE SCENES

By Bruce Catton

Washington—Being a peace lobbyist in Washington right now is not exactly the sort of job you'd pick if you were looking for a soft snap. But it hasn't got Dorothy Detzer down, even though she admits that the tide is running pretty strongly against her.

Miss Detzer runs the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, and is one of the battle-scarred faithful in the peace lobby here. She can remember back to the time when the peace lobby could run a temperature over the addition of a couple of new cruisers to the fleet.

In number of years, that isn't so very long ago. Psychologically, though, it seems like an aeon or so.

AGAINST THE WALL For right now the peace lobby is backed into a corner. It takes heart when it looks on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee—which it does, every time that committee holds a hearing—for the committee contains stalwarts like Borah, Johnson, LaFollette and Capper. But beyond that, there is little in the atmosphere of present-day Washington to cheer it.

As a matter of fact, there are only a few full-time peace organizations on the job these days. Many groups such as the League of Women Voters have peace committees, which devote more or less time to the anti-war movement. But of regular, heart-and-soul peace groups there are probably not more than half a dozen.

Most prominent among them are Miss Detzer's group and the National Council for the Prevention of War. World Peaceways continues active with an effective advertising campaign. Then there are the People's Mandate, the Fellowship of Reconciliation—and, possibly, one or two more.

Miss Detzer freely admits that public sentiment seems to be veering away from the old idea that the way to stay out of war is to stay out of any relationships that might lead up to war. This, she feels, is partly due to the seriousness of the international situation and partly to the leadership being provided by the White House.

FIRM FOR ISOLATIONISM "If you have a President—who's in a position to know what's going on in the world—getting up and saying that we must meet force with force, and stirring up public feeling, the public is bound to react with the most primitive emotion, which is fear," she says.

"If we had a President who wanted to have the United States serve as a negotiator or mediator, he would suppress these emotional reactions to the situation and would try to function as such. But this appeal to the nations for a conference can't have a very happy effect in Germany, coming one day after he says that we must meet force with force."

The organized peace movement as Miss Detzer sees it must cling to the old isolationist position on the ground that by trying actively to avert war we succeed only in entangling ourselves so that if war does come we are involved in it. And she thinks that a great deal of foggy thinking is being done these days about the moral values involved.

"If we take sides in the coming war," she says, "it will not be because we are opposed to nations which break treaties—because France broke her treaty with Czechoslovakia, and all the great powers have failed to carry out their obligations under the League of Nations. No, we'd simply be taking sides between two imperialisms in a struggle for power."

"I believe the most important thing in the world is to keep democracy—somehow. Of course, American democracy goes the minute we get into a war. Therefore if we would serve the world we must stay out of war and pre-

SERIAL STORY BORDER ADVENTURE

BY OREN ARNOLD

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday: The "submarine" smuggling is broken and Barro is dangerously mad, Betty learns. Next, he is to turn to alien smuggling, but he is angry enough to kill the federales.

CHAPTER XVII

Betty Mary changed her original plan when circumstances enabled her to meet Luis Barro in person.

She had thought at first to learn what she could about him through his helpers and agents, using the cartridge token which had proved so valuable to her. But there were some important details of his bigger plans which Barro did not tell his Juarez spotters and spies, she had discovered. Of the three or four of his hand which she had been able to contact confidentially—posing as a member of his hand herself—not one knew just what might be planned to make the crossing with his large number of aliens, nor where the crossing was to be made. She felt that she had to make a desperate effort to learn these essential details, in order to help the American officers.

She decided, therefore, to be even more audacious in her act with Barro. If necessary, she could act very confidential with him and say that she had five wealthy foreign friends whom she was anxious to have smuggled into the United States. Appealing to him for help, he probably would rise to the part and take on the job himself, thus revealing his own plans. In the showdown, she could say that her five friends were delayed in coming to Juarez. Accordingly, she set out to find Barro.

He was not in his suite of hotel rooms, and had left no message. He had not been seen for more than 24 hours at El Casino Tecolote, the manager there said. The manager there had not responded to her 22 cartridge token, as had the manager in The Place of the Sleeping Monk, but her cartridge had opened somewhat the confidence of a Casino waiter.

After she casually laid it on her table one day with her lipstick, the waiter also had placed a cartridge beside her menu momentarily, and had always maneuvered to serve her whenever she came in after that. Today she went to his table and spoke to him.

"I am anxious to see Luis, soon," she murmured, apparently discussing the menu. "Where can I see him now?"

"Yes, now. With the cheese toasted as usual?" he replied. Then in a lower tone "Is not town. Is at his rancho. Want me to send a message?"

"Is it fresh cheese, waiter? No, I must see him myself."

"Very fresh. A new kind. You will love it, miss.—You want Garcia to take you out?"

Betty Mary hadn't heard of Garcia.

Who was he? She deduced, thinking quickly, that he must be another of Barro's henchmen. Probably a closely trusted, hence dangerous, one. And yet, he might be extremely valuable to her. She decided to risk it.

"That will be fine," she nodded knowingly at the waiter and he went away to fill her order for food. When he came with dessert he bowed and spoke again.

"Does the senorita wish anything else?—Garcia will be near the plaza, the taxicab with red dots on the wheel hub caps. Within an hour."

"No, thank you," she smiled at him, and was careful to leave a tip, to mislead any other diners who might be watching. "But it was delicious. I just adore your Mexican food over here!"

She had little time, she realized. She went to her hotel room and changed her clothing to something a bit heavier and more becoming than her artist's smock and floppy hat. Trim appearance is ever an asset to a woman, she knew. She fluffed one or two curls that had been left tight after setting, put on a touch of lipstick that she didn't really need and smoothed on a bit of powder. Then she took up her inevitable sketching pencils and pad, which had served so admirably for her front.

On impulse she unlocked her suitcase and took out the pistol she had purchased in El Paso and had used once to such good advantage. But she had no way to carry it unseen. It was too large for her purse, too bulky if put under her clothing. It loomed awfully big in her dainty hand. She shoved it back into the bag and locked it again. (Later she was to recall that act.)

In the hallway outside her door she met Carlotta, a maid.

"I shall be gone for a little while," she told the girl. "Just keep my room ready for me. I made two little oil paintings on canvas and hung them before the window to dry, so don't move them, please."

She punctuated it with a smile and a silver American dollar. The maid therefore went into Betty Mary's room immediately, cleaned it but ignored the paintings, even though she dutifully closed the window and drew the shades lest too much dust come in, as per her routine.

Betty Mary found a woman making pottery in the plaza this morning and set down to sketch her from a sidewalk bench. The sketch took about 10 minutes. She tipped the woman, and maneuvered to inspect the five or six taxicabs that waited near. Almost at once she espied one driver looking directly at her, and with a glance verified the red dots on his wheel hubs. She sauntered up the walk as if waiting for someone. Then she glanced at her watch, said, "Oh, dear!" and motioned to her man. At once he pulled near her and opened his sedan door.

She leaned then to put her right hand over the back of his seat. In her fingers was her 22 cartridge, which he saw instantly. "Can you take me to the rancho?" she queried. "How far is it?"

"Yes. Is about five miles, American miles." He reached to slip his meter lever, and his own fingers held a cartridge like hers. "Luis is terribly upset," she ventured next, riding. "About the submarine."

"Yes. But he will laugh last. He always does." Betty Mary had sudden renewed fears about that, too.

Juarez is a small city and within a mile they had passed the last residence and were on the open semi-desert land, rolling toward some low mountains. The road was a rutted dirt trail, although reasonably smooth.

"I have not been to the rancho before," she told the driver. "I—I have served on the other side mostly."

"You're helping him in this big deal, then?"

"Oh, yes. He needs help, whether he realizes it or not."

"He will have 100 or so. About 50 more have been arranged for the last few days. If they are all armed—then to los federales, poof! Is fit not so, senorita?"

"Yes, the Border Patrol could hardly cope with so many. There will, uh, be quite a problem on my side, too."

"The senorita doubtless is clever. Don Luis has no other kind of help. Save for this Peralta, who bungled last night. He shall pay!"

"A bungler," she admitted, disdainfully. "But sending 100 aliens across the line at once is a daring thing to do, is it not? Even for Luis? Has he settled on a night yet? He wasn't sure, when I saw him."

That was a key question! She realized Luis Barro was planning to send a crowd of aliens over—but when and where? Would this taxi driver tell? And, in any event, what situation would she face at Barro's rancho? There, if ever, she would have some desperate bluffing to do!

"He hasn't said what night," said the driver. "But yonder's the rancho, there on the slope. You can ask Luis yourself."

PIRATES TAMED BY LEE, 5 TO 3

Stan Hack Sets Pace With Triple, Single and Two Baser

Chicago, April 25 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs clung to their league leadership today when Bill Lee pitched them to a 5 to 3 victory over Pittsburgh to win his second triumph of the National League season.

It was the Cubs' third straight success and their second in a row over the Pirates. More than 9,000 fans saw the game.

The Cubs piled on Truett Sewell and Bill Swift for 10 hits while Lee limited the Bucs to but eight.

Billy Herman drove in three of the Chicago runs with a walk, a single and a double. But it remained for Stanley Hack to again pace the Cub attack with a triple, a double and single.

Winless Dodgers Take Bees, 3 to 2

Brooklyn, April 25 (AP)—The Dodgers ended their "win-less" streak at four straight today by nipping the Boston Bees 3 to 2 behind the steady seven-hit pitching of Luke (Hot Potato) Hamlin. The Dodgers collected only five hits off Johnny Lanning and two other Boston toppers, but an error by Debs Garmis with a man on third in the seventh inning led the winning run across.

Jimmy Foxx Homer Beats Washington In Eleven Innings

Boston, April 25 (AP)—After watching his first 1939 homer go to waste battering Jimmy Foxx timed No. 2 to the exact second today to give his Red Sox a 6-5 victory over the Washington Senators in 11 innings.

With one out in the second extra frame, Foxx whaled Joe Krauskas' first pitch for a drive that cleared the left field wall and landed on a roof at least 450 feet from Fenway's home plate.

Another Triumph Scored By Feller

Cleveland, April 25 (AP)—It was no mistake when Cleveland's Manager Oscar Vitt shoved Bruce Campbell into the Cleveland outfield today for Earl Averill, who hasn't been hitting his weight. Campbell connected for two circuit blows, good for five runs, to lead the Indians to a 7-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Bob Feller evened the series by hurling four-hit ball under gloomy skies for his second triumph of the campaign in as many starts. He fanned nine batters, setting the White Sox down in order on strikes in the first and third innings. The Iowa farmboy gave only three walks.

Pennant-Bound Reds Whip Cards, 5 and 1; Moore Goes Route

St. Louis, April 25 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, the "peoples choice" to win the National League race, clipped the St. Louis Cardinals, 5 to 1, here this afternoon. Lloyd Moore pitched the full nine innings.

He gave up 10 hits, two for extra bases, but kept them well spread out and worked like a veteran in the pinches. The Cards had the bases loaded in the fifth and got two on in the eighth, but could not score.

Futile Giants Are Easy For Phillies

Philadelphia, April 25 (AP)—Those astonishing Phillies stretched their undefeated string to five straight today with an easy 8 to 1 victory over Bill Terry's New York Giants.

Falling before Claude Passeau's five-hit pitching, Terry's outfit appeared to have stolen the Phils' "futile" nickname as they dropped their second decision in a row to the one-time Quaker-City doormats. Passeau tired in the ninth, but Jim Henry finished the job without trouble.

EDDIE HOLDERMAN is at it again... last Saturday afternoon the former Eskymo distance ace turned in another double victory for Purdue against Wayne university of Detroit... he loafed his way through the mile in 4:39.8, which is slower than his best high school record in that event... however, he didn't let any grass grow under his feet in the half mile event, stepping that one in 1:56.3... don't ever let anyone tell you that isn't moving along briskly... Eddie seems destined to become one of the top notch runners in the Big Ten... incidentally, when he won his daily double against Michigan State, it was like carrying coals to Newcastle... Eddie's high school coach was Henry Wylie, former Michigan State distance man.

Yanks Belt Three Pitchers To Trim Athletics, 8 to 4

New York, April 25 (AP)—The Yankees celebrated the announcement of Joe DiMaggio's engagement today by belting three pitchers over the Philadelphia Athletics.

DiMaggio confirmed reports that he will marry Dorothy Arnold, motion picture actress, next winter or the winter following.

With big Red Ruffing and Bump Hadley splitting an eight-hit hurling performance, the Yankee big guns went to work on Bud Thomas, Edgar Smith and "Line Drive" Nelson. George Selkirk paced the attack, collecting a homer and two singles and driving in four runs.

ED EDICK, principal of the senior high school, is beginning to look around for top notch college track men as special exhibitions for the Relay Carnival... it appears likely now that the carnival will be held... sometime ago, things looked dark but added state aid may clear up the situation and school probably will run as scheduled... there are a large number of fine college athletes around this year and the exhibitionist undoubtedly will be a good one... among the boys now being considered are Milt Padway of Wisconsin, who has pole vaulted over 14 feet... and Wilbur Greer, sprinter, and Arrington, broad and high jumper, both of Michigan State... if you have any suggestions, Mr. Edick would be glad to receive them.

TROUT IS GOOD FOR 3 INNINGS

Kramer, St. Louis Rookie, Hit Hard In First, But Settles Down

Detroit, April 25 (AP)—Two hopeful graduates from the Texas league, Paul (Dizzy) Trout of Detroit and Fred Kramer of the St. Louis Browns, squared off on the mound today, and the Brownie boy got a wide decision, 7 to 2.

Making their major league debuts, the two youngsters went at things in opposite styles. Trout hurled a perfect first three innings and then blew up. In contrast, Kramer was smashed hard in the opening frame, and thereafter shut out the Tigers.

To give the former San Antonio right-hander a worrisome baptism in the big show right at the start, Barney McCosky and Dite Walker put together a line single and a rousing triple to center, respectively, in the first inning which, with an infield out, scored the Tigers' two runs.

Subsequently, however, Kramer was the master. Only one Tiger—Rookie McCosky, to be sure—got past first base after the first inning. Barney did it on a double in the fifth with one out, but neither Walker nor Charley Gehring would move him any farther. Kramer allotted the Tigers only six hits.

A world beater for three innings during which he struck out three men, Trout went sky-high in the fourth after a "break" had put a man on first. He pitched to six more batters before Manager Del Baker relieved him with George Gill. Of the six, one sacrificed and four singled and one doubled.

Ribbed From Bench
Mel Almada, first up, bounded to the mound, but the ball escaped Trout. Joe Grace singled and George McQuinn sacrificed to put the runners on second and third. By this time the Brownie bench, capitalizing on Trout's reputation for temperament, were riding him unmercifully, and Red Kress pumped a single to right to score Almada and Grace.

Kramer, St. Louis Rookie, Hit Hard In First, But Settles Down

Cliff and Myril Hoag filled the bases, and Johnny Berardino hit the left field screen for two bases and two more runs. Gill came in and the side was retired when a squeeze play, with Kramer at bat, turned into a double play.

In the fifth the Browns shelled Gill for four hits and three more runs. The attack included a double by Grace and singles by McQuinn, Kress and Hoag.

Chet Cullenbine batted for Gill in the Tiger fifth, popping out, and Jim Lynn took over the mound starting the sixth. He held the Browns to two hits the rest of the way.

The Tigers complete their three game series with the Browns tomorrow and then leave for a double play in Chicago.

Harold Cass Works With Hermansville Track Team

Hermansville, April 25.—With most of last year's point scorers lost due to graduation the Hermansville track team is looking forward to a slim season unless some of the promising freshmen can come through with good performances. The team last year had one of its best years, winning the county and district championship.

A large squad reported for practice with about twenty boys working out either at noon hour or after school. The team will face its first major test this weekend when they will take part in the county meet at Powers. The main cog in the team this year will be Clarence Ryberg who is counted on to win points in the pole vault, high jump, the quarter mile and run anchor on the relay team. Other lettermen returning are William Jezewski, Walter Peterson, Glen Wery, and Eval St. Juliana.

The squad consists of the following candidates:
Sprints — Sutherland, Parish, Holle and Landre.

CHICAGO GRAIN

LOCAL KNIGHTS GO TO MUNISING

Escanaba Council Will Take Part In Sunday Ceremonials

It is expected that 50 to 75 members of Escanaba Council, Knights of Columbus, will go to Munising Sunday to take part in the institution of a new K. of C. council in the Alger county seat. First degree work in the Munising ceremonies will be by the Marquette council, second degree by the Calumet council, and third degree by a Detroit degree team headed by State Deputy John J. Babcock.

All Escanaba council members planning to go to Munising are requested to make their reservations by calling the custodian at the K. of C. club by Thursday noon. This includes both reservations for the Munising banquet and for transportation. The on-to-Munising committee in charge of arrangements includes: James J. French, J. L. Clements, Emil L'Hoteux, Joseph Feller and Robert Finley.

Last Sunday a group of 75 local Knights headed by Grand Knight J. J. Bartella, went to Manistique and exemplified first and second degree work at a gathering of the Manistique council.

William Walters Dies At Neuberry

Word was received here yesterday of the death of William Walters, West Gladstone farmer, at Neuberry state hospital last Sunday. Walters, who was about 80 years old, was taken to the hospital by officers of the Delta county sheriff's department only a few days before his death.

The aged farmer had lived for many years on a farm on the east side of the Escanaba river, about a mile and one-half above the Ford farms at West Gladstone and directly across the river from the farm owned by Charles Wick, who has been missing since last Saturday afternoon. He had spent the winter in the Delta county infirmary, and his farm animals were being cared for by Wick during his absence.

Walters, who often drove his single horse into Gladstone, was well known in Delta county. He was called "Dutch Bill." The horse, an ancient bay now turned grey on back and shoulders, remains in Wick's barn where he is being cared for along with the Wick team.

The average temperature in Missouri during 1938 was 58.4 degrees, the highest average recorded in the 50 years that records were kept.

Roosevelt May Move These Two

These two will figure in changes in Washington political panorama, if current rumor and recommendation become fact. Influential Democrats are urging President Roosevelt to appoint former Gov. Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin, left, to Interstate Commerce Commission. Search is on, according to reports, to find successor to ailing Secretary of Navy Claude A. Swanson, right, who'll likely get another important job.

Seniors Present Roeder Drama as Class Production

"Under the Seal," a three-act drama by William Roeder, will be presented by the senior class of St. Joseph's high school this evening at 8 o'clock in William Bonifas Memorial Auditorium.

The play, based on the problems of modern life, and the inviolability of the seal of the sacrament of confession, develops a stirring plot, with an exciting and dramatic climax. Members of the cast have been rehearsing faithfully for the past several weeks and are prepared to give a highly creditable interpretation of the drama.

The principals in the cast of characters are: Mrs. James McDonald, society matron—Monario Desmond.

Father Giles McDonald, her son—Joseph Kroll.

Jack Davey, Virginia's friend—James Ashland.

Sandor Tanos, the bridegroom—John Goodman.

Eudes Carroll, Sandor's rival—Francis Langenfeld.

Mrs. Ely-Hampton-Jones-Guzzel, versed in matrimonial adventures—Josephine Vandenberg.

In the supporting cast are Andrew Hughes, as Hatley, the butler; Dorothy Vogel as Mrs. Townsend Harrington, an inquisitive matron; Margaret Needham as Geraldine Barry, Billy McDonald's friend; Stephen Matakovich, as Professor Guzzel, an authority on ancient history; Mary Roddy, Irene Aschinger, Henry Leisner and Donald Trotter, friends of Mariellen; Joseph Goloback, who plays Patrick McDonald, uncle of the bride; Leslie Varino, Steve Smokovich, Lloyd Baker and Wilfred Casey, as friends of Billy; Mildred Valind, Bertha Curran, Lorraine Menard, Marlon Somin, Jeanette Lancour, Alysce Beauchamp, Jeanette Moran, Francis Rodgers, Lawrence Klots and George Cass, also friends of Mariellen; Emory Skradski and Fern Dupey, acolytes; Francis LaViolette, who plays the chauffeur; Patsy Ammel and Patsy Flanders, who are flower girls; Charles Baker, as ring bearer, and Eileen Helm and Joan Mercier, who are train bearers, in the wedding scene.

Michigan In Washington

Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
This week the conference report on the $500,000,000 war appropriation bill will come before Congress. This is the regular army bill plus the $50,000,000 national defense appropriation to build 565 additional planes.

Congressman Albert J. Engel, on the War Sub-Committee of the House Appropriations Committee, and therefore a member of the Conference Committee to blend the Senate and House bills, anticipates no trouble in getting it through Congress. This closes one of Engel's big jobs of the season. Never since World War days has the War Sub-Committee had a more difficult task. The members will not soon forget the tense secret meeting with President Roosevelt at the White House. Engel was full of questions that day, but what he asked and what the President answered is still "off the record"—unlike the President's conference with the Senate Military Committee, which was reported practically verbatim in the next morning's papers.

No date has yet been set for the adjourned hearing on the Mac Straits Bridge proposal, says the clerk of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee of the House.

At the hearing last week all the pros on the bill to permit the construction of a span across the two peninsulas were aired, but the cons were not heard, as the time was cut from two hours to one. As the opponents of the bill are members of Congress, who can be heard any time at their convenience, the other dozen witnesses, who had travelled almost a thousand miles to testify, were heard at the first hearing.

Probably the only two who will testify against the estimated $32,000,000 bridge, will be Congressman Carl E. Mapes of Grand Rapids and Congressman George Dondero of Royal Oak. The expense, and the method of financing, have previously been their major reasons for objecting, and will likely be part of their testimony at the adjourned hearing.

Congressman Frank E. Hook, Ironwood Democrat, was the sponsor of the bill providing for construction of a home for the United States Legation in Helsinki (Finland). The bill called it merely an election stunt, designed to impress the large number of American of Finnish descent in Michigan.

Use Of AP News Is Requested In Sponsored Radio Programs

New York. (AP)—A resolution urging the Associated Press board of directors to consider the question of allowing AP news to be broadcast on commercially sponsored radio programs was adopted today by the Association's members in their annual meeting.

It followed authorization of an amendment to the AP's certificate of incorporation, stating that henceforth one of its objects was to be the supplying of news not only to member newspapers but to "others entitled to the use thereof."

Charles P. Manship of the Baton Rouge (La.) State Times presented the resolution dealing with radio.

It recalled that recently a "substantial number" of state meetings of AP members had asked the board to "consider the question of the use of AP news in sponsored programs"; said an increasing number of members had been "compelled to purchase the news of competing agencies for such sponsored programs"; and concluded:

"Be it resolved that the board of directors be urged to give consideration to the problems presented and that interested members be afforded full opportunity to appear before the board and present such recommendations and suggestions as they may see fit to offer."

In a move begun by Joseph E. Ridder of the St. Paul (Minn.) Pioneer Press, the meeting went on record by vote of 139 to 36 as proposing a grant of discretionary power to the board to remit operating assessments against members in periods of emergency shutdowns, including strikes, for the period of non-operation.

For such a policy to become operative, however, it would be necessary first for the board to initiate it by two-thirds vote, and second for it to be accepted in a vote of the membership. The board already had declined to grant Ridder's request for such a remission.

Among those who spoke out against the proposed grant of such authority to the board was Frank B. Noyes of the Washington (D.C.) Star, veteran former AP president.

Ridder explained that he had an interest in the Duluth News Tribune and Herald, adding that in connection with a seven-week strike there by the American Newspaper Guild he had sought

Briefly Told

Exhibit Postponed—The second annual arts and crafts exhibit of articles made in the recreation centers the past year, originally scheduled for this week-end, has been postponed until next week. Articles to be exhibited are to be brought to the city recreation center not later than Wednesday, May 3.

Nets Now Available—The department of parks and recreation announced yesterday that beginning today, tennis nets will be available to the public at all courts in Ludington park. The regular park crew starts today at Ludington park.

Frank Murphy Talks
Attorney General Frank Murphy was the meeting's guest speaker at luncheon. Introduced by Robert McLean of the Philadelphia Bulletin, AP president, as President Roosevelt's "right arm of justice," Murphy appealed for public support to protect the courts "from every influence that is degrading and unclean."

It was a "bitter but undeniable fact," he said, that the courts had been lowered in public esteem. To allow public confidence, he declared, "would be to strike a blow at those imperishable—the precious liberties and rights—that to many of us are the most important things in life—most important even though the apostles of despotism across the seas today as always preach that men are better if they own no liberty."

The six AP directors whose terms expire this month were re-elected: W. H. Cowles of the Spokane (Wash.) Spokesman-Review; George B. Longan of the Kansas City Star; Robert R. McCormick of the Chicago Tribune; L. K. Nicholson of the New Orleans Times-Picayune; E. Lansing Ray of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and Stuart H. Perry of the Adrian (Mich.) Telegram.

The following were elected to the nominating committee: J. S. Parks of the Fort Smith (Ark.) Times Record, chairman; Charles P. Manship of the Baton Rouge (La.) State Times; W. W. Knorr of the Phoenix (Ariz.) Gazette; Frank S. Baker of the Tacoma (Wash.) Ledger; Hugh Powell of the Coffeyville (As.) Journal; Frank Troop of the Lincoln (Neb.) Star; E. D. Corson of the Lockport (N. Y.) Union Sun and Journal; Henry Waliser of the Hazleton (Pa.) Standard Sentinel.

Elected to the auditing committee: Frank G. Huntress, jr., of the San Antonio (Tex.) News; C. F. Waite of the San Pedro (Calif.) News Pilot; Joel H. Bixby of the Muskogee (Okla.) Times Democrat; E. R. Stevenson, chairman, of the Waterbury (Conn.) American.

Florida's beef industry was estimated in 1939 to furnish employment to approximately 10 percent of the state's population and represents an investment of $140,000,000.
