NYA Work Center Opens In Calumet

Calumet, Mich.—Under the co-sponsorship of the Calumet municipal council, 70 unemployed Houghton county youths have been grouped in a National Youth Administration unit for shop work in a part of the Calumet fire hall. Lathes, saws, joiners and drills have been installed, and the boys are working on material for a Boy Scout camp in the county. They will also install benches in Daniels Park at Laurium.

Sixty-two boys working on an NYA farm near Belding downstate and making $25 monthly, found that a tractor would be needed for spring plowing. No federal funds were available for the purpose, so the boys made a down payment on an $875 machine and have signed up for monthly installments of $62, or one dollar each, on behalf of the group.

Their pro-rata share of food, heating and textbook bills leaves each individual only six dollars a month for personal expenses. This will be reduced to five dollars each by the tractor purchase. The tractor will be given to NYA when the present personnel leaves the job. Several NYA units in the state are extending to their members a four-week training course for resort employes. The courses will continue until June 7, and those who qualify will be placed in summer jobs.

NEWS PRINTED ABOARD SHIP

Other Activities On S. S. Europa Described By St. Louis

BY STANLEY ST. LOUIS
London, England—One of the most interesting departments aboard a large ocean liner is the printing establishment and the daily newspaper provided passengers so that close contact with world events can be maintained.

The chief radio operator supervises all communication by cable between ship and shore, and an operator is on duty at all times while the vessel is at sea. Reception of news broadcasts released by the Associated Press through the Radio Marine Corporation station located at Brunswick, Newfoundland, also comes under the operator's work.

The sending and receiving sets in the radio room is the only equipment of this kind permitted on the ship. Absolute confidentiality in handling of cablegrams is required by law, and were passengers or crew to have shoreward sets they would, in some instances, be able to cut in on this transmission.

News received includes the latest comments on world events, baseball scores, stock market reports and other news of general interest. The chief operator selects the news which is to appear in the paper, writes the headlines and sends the material to the print shop where it is speedily printed and distributed to the passengers.

In addition to the daily newspaper the printing shop fulfills all of the rest of the ship's varied printing requirements. Turning out menus, programs, signs and passenger lists keeps one linotype operator, four typesetters, one pressfeeder and a shop foreman constantly busy.

Work in the print shop is greatly complicated because all work turned out must appear in both the German and English languages. Bund Meeting Held
Due to the fact that the S. S. Europa's passenger list on this sailing was so predominately German and German-American, your correspondent was privileged to witness a German-American Bund meeting, held at sea.

Before a background of large Swastika banners and with ex-troopers of the American Bund standing at the door, Herbert J. Baldermann, former Chicago Bund leader, addressed three hundred persons.

Mr. Baldermann was formerly employed as a dental technician in Chicago and is enroute to Germany to take up permanent residence there and resume his German citizenship.

The manner in which the meeting was conducted did not conform with the writer's expectations. Mr. Baldermann spoke in an ordinary tone of voice with a minimum of gestures or fanfare. The audience was very attentive but not unusually demonstrative.

With right hands outstretched in the Nazi salute the meeting was concluded with the singing of "Hort Wessel." The singing was done with obvious sincerity and everyone in the group seemed to

COUNCIL HOLDS LONG SESSION

Covers Wide Territory In Three Hour Tilt Last Evening

Taverns, trips to Washington, carnivals, dogs, parking rules and a multitude of other widely diversified subjects occupied the minds of the city council in a three-hour session at the city hall last night.

The Gene Beaudoin tavern case bobbed up again last night with a request for a renewal of his tavern license on South Thirteenth street. Some time ago, the council refused to grant a renewal of the tavern license in the present location after it had become somewhat of a community issue because of objections to it.

Since that time, legal talent has been thrown into the picture on both sides and last night a letter was presented from Charles A. Parrish, director of licensing and Enforcement Bureau of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, stating that there is no rule at present that prohibits operation of a licensed establishment within any specified distance from a church or school. Councilman Richter, who argued that the license should be renewed, offered a motion to that effect but it died for want of a second.

A motion then was offered to seek a meeting between the city council and the liquor commission to discuss the matter. It was passed by a vote of four to one, Richter dissenting.

$50 to Fincher Jaunt
By a vote of three to two, the council voted to give $50 to finance a trip of delegates of the Workers Alliance to a meeting at Washington. This was done over the vigorous protest of Councilman Harold Gasman, who argued that the money was nothing more than a move to finance a Communist representative's trip to Washington. Councilman Richter concurred with Gasman while Councilmen Carl Johnson and Charles Gallagher took the opposite view.

The deciding vote was cast in favor of the appropriation by Mayor Peter Logan, who argued that it was an attempt to raise the WPA wages above $44 per month and to protest against reduction in the WPA rolls.

Final reading and acceptance was given to an ordinance setting the tax roll of the city at $120,000 of which amount $89,375 is for city administration, $7,000 for garbage collection, $21,625 for repairs and $2,000 for bond.

A motion by Councilman Gallagher to raise the pay of the board of review from $5 to $6 daily died for lack of second.

Close Park at 12
A representative of the W. G. Wade shows, a carnival, appeared before the council, asking a permit to operate in the city under the auspices of the Eagles. With Councilman Richter dissenting, the request was denied. A later attempt to withdraw the request also was denied.

The city manager was instructed to have the city police enforce, strictly a 12 o'clock parking limitation in Ludington park hereafter. The previous closing time was 10 o'clock. Signs will be posted and an officer assigned to

DOG BITES CATCHER

At the city council meeting last night, a councilman asked: "What is being done about this dog nuisance? Are the dog catchers on the job?"

"Yes," replied City Manager George Bean, "the other day, we had to buy a new pair of pants for one of them—a big police dog objected to being taken in and he showed his objection by taking part of the dog catcher's trousers."

At last count, 79 dogs had been exterminated as a result of the latest raids on roving canines.

FOODS SOURD, GAS FOLLOWED EACH MEAL

Now Able to Enjoy His Meals Again Without That Awful Distress After Eating; KruGon First Medicine To Do for Him As It Was Claimed

"I am now enjoying my first well days in three years since I began using KruGon," said Mr. John Nelson, Route No. 2, Box 235, Duluth, Minnesota. "All this time I had been unable to eat a single meal without my foods souring causing gas to form in such quantities I could hardly stand it at times and I soon lost my appetite. My face and body would break out in an irritable red rash that would itch terribly. In my condition I could not sleep or get my rest and continued to grow worse in spite of my efforts to gain relief. Then I finally learned of KruGon and what it accomplished for me cannot be expressed in words alone.

"Within a very few days after I began KruGon I could notice a great improvement in my stubborn case," continued Mr. Nelson. "Once I was able to get proper elimination of intestinal impurities my digestion gave me no more trouble. I now relish hearty meals without suffering ill effects afterwards, rest and sleep well at night and that itchy rash caused from my upset stomach has also been relieved. It is wonderful to enjoy good health again... all through the merits of the laxative-ionic, KruGon."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.
