LOANS URGED FOR SMALLER BUSINESS MAN

FEDERAL RESERVE PLAN ADVANCED IN CAPITAL

Washington, June 2 (AP)—A new plan for helping little business with federal reserve loans was announced in part today amid intensified discussions of ways and means of stimulating industrial expansion.

Before a senate subcommittee on banking, Ernest G. Draper, a member of the reserve system's board of governors, disclosed that a request would be made for legislation giving the reserve banks much greater leeway to meet the credit needs of the "small businessman."

Backed By Hopkins Meanwhile, Secretary of Commerce Hopkins, slouching back in a swivel chair at his office, gave his emphatic backing to the thesis repeatedly expressed by inner-circle new dealers recently—that the government should provide funds for industry "because it can't be done by private capital at this time."

Draper told the committee that the proposal for loans to little business would be described in detail by Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the reserve board when he appears before the subcommittee Monday. However, he left this much of the plan out of the bag.

The reserve banks at present are restricted to five-year loans to provide "working capital to businesses that are established."

Basic More Liberal Under a change in the law, he said, the reserve system could extend "additional credit facilities to small business on a much more liberal and flexible basis" than is possible at present.

The assets and liabilities resulting from these operations would be segregated, he added, "in a separate corporation organized as an integral part" of the reserve system.

Through this corporation, he continued, the reserve system could "meet whatever legitimate need there is for additional credit facilities for small business, either directly or through cooperation with existing banks and other financing institutions."

Draper made it clear that in his opinion such a plan should supplement rather than replace a system of insured loans by the reconstruction finance corporation, proposed in a bill by Senator Mead (D-NY).

Labor Law Discussed News items, appearing at a press conference called by Hopkins, were interested first of all in what happened last night at a White House conference attended by eight leading members of the commerce department's business advisory council.

The discussion, Hopkins said, ran "the whole gamut" of the economic situation, and in particular.

Optimistic Nazis Think Yugoslavia Will Help Berlin

(By The Associated Press) Yugoslavia was pictured by Nazis last (Friday) night as likely to remain helpful to Berlin while Soviet Russia awaited from Britain and France the next move of western powers attempting to form a bloc of nations.

Nazis said after Regent Prince Paul of Yugoslavia had been shown a cross-section of Germany's military might in a formidable Berlin review that Britain and France would be unable to woo Yugoslavia into the British-French bloc.

Soviet Russia delivered to British and French ambassadors to Moscow an answer to the latest proposals of Paris and London for a three-power mutual assistance pact. The answer was understood to have left it up to Paris and London to submit new proposals.

Bloodshed in Palestine Meanwhile Pope Pius XII told his cardinals that his intervention in Europe's dissensions had brought assurances from leading statesmen that they were resolved to keep the peace. He said the sympathetic response of European governments to his efforts on behalf of peace left the way open for his continued work toward that end.

A new wave of bloodshed swept the Holy Land, and British troops were reported to be fighting a major engagement with an Arab band in the Kalkilya hills. During the day the band had killed four British soldiers and three Jewish policemen. In addition, six Arabs were killed by explosion of a bomb in an Arab market place.

A boatload of 807 German Jewish refugees who had been denied entry into Cuba sailed out of Havana harbor tonight bound for Hamburg, Germany. A shipboard rumor that they might yet find homes in the western world through landing at New York bolstered their spirits. Such a landing, however, had not been authorized.

BABY KIDNAPED TO GET A MAN

Child Recovered After Overnight Search; Girl, 21, Held

Philadelphia, June 2 (AP)—A young woman related tearfully to police today that she stole a baby—recovered after an overnight search—and told her sweetheart the child was hers so he would marry her.

She said their own son died four days after birth. The child she substituted, five-month-old Gerald McCrohan, was snatched from his carriage on a busy street yesterday while his mother shopped.

Police found the boy unharmed this morning and took into custody Beatrice Wood, 21, and Frederick Bowers, 23. The woman was held on abduction charge, but the man was released when he said he had believed the child was theirs.

Gerald's parents, John and Margaret McCrohan, cried "thank God he's safe" when they saw their son again. Then Mrs. McCrohan fainted.

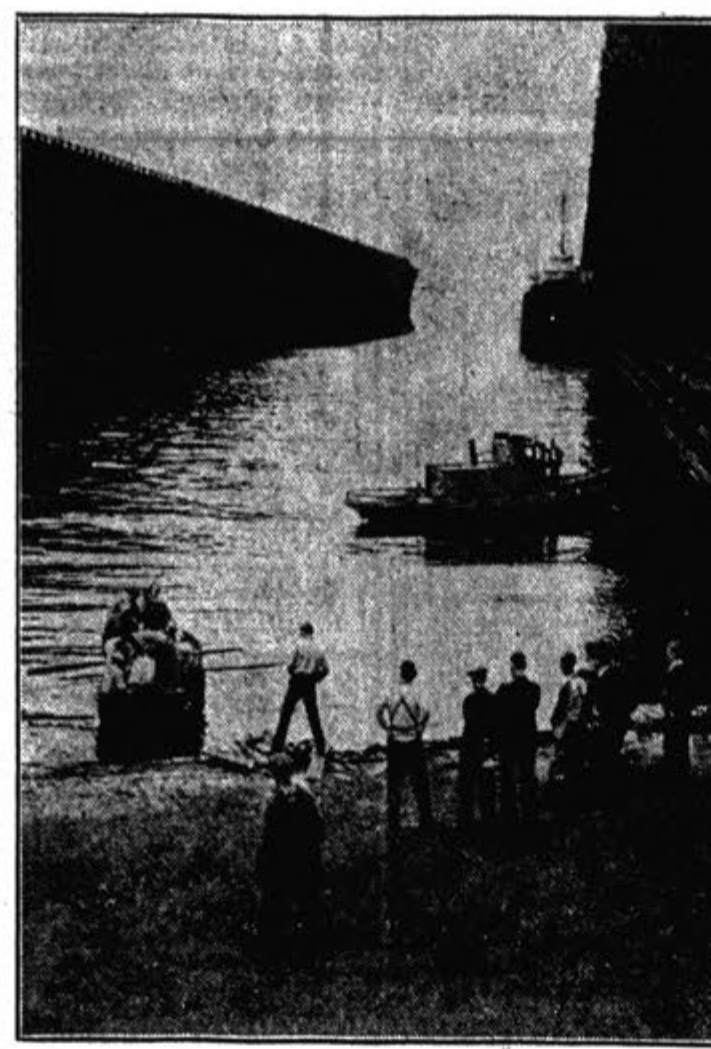

She had listed in a public appeal for the baby's safe return ingredients of a feeding formula she implored the abductor to use because of Gerald's "delicate health." The formula included lime water.

Suspicious Aroused Detectives George Myers and Harold Simmons went on a round of drug stores to inquire about recent purchases of lime water. In one of the stores Myers glimpsed a blonde woman who aroused his suspicions. At the same time, Simmons saw a man sitting on a park bench with a baby sprawled awkwardly across his lap.

The detectives took the couple and child to a station house, where Miss Wood sobbed out this story: "I was walking along and saw this baby lying in the coach, x x x I thought how pleased Fred would be if I could show him this child and tell him it was ours. I had stalled Fred several times when he asked to see the child who died, x x x I didn't realize what I was doing to the child's family. So I picked him up and x x x went out and met Fred and made arrangements for a date this morning so I could show the baby to him."

BATHER DROWNED Flint, Mich., June 2 (AP)—Bertam D. Berry, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley L. Berry of Flint, drowned in the Flint river this afternoon while bathing. Police Capt. Edwin Hughes said the boy was trying to demonstrate his ability to swim across the stream near the water works.

Body of Dock Hand Recovered

Alfred Courteau Falls From Dock 6, Is Killed

Alfred Courteau, 65, employee of the Chicago and Northwestern railway for the past 37 years, fell from the north side of dock No. 6 about 10:20 yesterday morning and died of a broken neck when he was dashed against the side of the ore boat S. S. Corvus, which was docking at the time. The body fell into the water and was recovered a half hour later.

According to eye witnesses, Courteau, a dock hand, had been thrown a rope from the ship and was walking along a catwalk about 15 feet above the water line when he fell or was pulled off balance. He hung onto the ropes, apparently thinking it would enable him to remain above water. Instead, the rope acted as a pendulum and the unfortunate man was swung against the side of the ore carrier. An examination later by a physician disclosed that his neck had been broken.

Hooks Catch Body Grappling hooks from the city police and sheriff department were used from a life boat, lowered from the S. S. Corvus and the body was recovered from 22 feet of water at 10:50 o'clock. A pulmotor was used but of no avail. The S. S. Corvus, of the Pickands-Mather line, had arrived from Waukegan to get a load of ore for Cleveland.

Courteau, who lived at 217 North 20th street, was born July 12, 1873 at St. Jacques, Parisville, Province of Quebec, Canada. He was married on October 9, 1896 to Odilla LeMay and came to Escanaba in 1899. He was an employee of the C. & N. W. since February, 1902.

Funeral Monday The deceased was a member of St. Anne's church, of the Holy Name society, of Canado-American society, of the Brotherhood of Top Dock Workers.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Henry of this city; and one daughter, Germaine. He also is survived by two grandchildren. Three brothers and three sisters live in Canada.

Members of the Holy Name society will meet at the family home Sunday evening to recite the rosary.

The body was taken to the Allo funeral home to be prepared for burial. It will lie in state at the funeral home Saturday evening and will be taken to the family home Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Anne's church. Rev. Fr. Joseph E. Guertin officiating. Burial will be in St. Anne's cemetery.

MISHAPS STRIKE SQUALUS DIVERS

One Man Lost for Time On Bottom of Ocean; Salvage Pushed

Portsmouth, N. H., June 2 (AP)—Three navy divers escaped uninjured today and a fourth was "lost" on the bottom for a time as minor mishaps and disappointments marred the start of the second week of salvage operations on the sunken submarine Squalus.

One man, John Sibizky, first to reach the sub's deck last week after his sinking, lost his footing in a tidal current, was swept over the side and fell 15 or 20 feet to the muddy bottom. He "floated" himself back up by shutting off his air discharge valve, and "bouncing" back to the deck, he reported.

Lost for a time was R. J. Agness, who fouled his lines during the descent. By the time he re-located his destination on the submarine deck, navy men said the time limit for his dive had expired and he was recalled to the surface.

The other two mishaps struck at divers Roland Fiedler and H. W. Ross, who had identical accidents. In rising to the surface, their suits filled with air at the 30-foot depth, shooting them to the top.

Attendants on the deck of the rescue ship Falcon lowered both to the 90-foot level and brought them up again through the gradual ten foot steps of decompression. "With good luck," said officials directing the salvage, "we expect to begin tunnelling to clear a path to the propeller struts of the submarine early next week." The tunnels will allow chains to be fastened to the submarine, joining its stern to pontoons.

BRIGGS PLANT STRIKE STILL NOT SETTLED

RIVAL UNIONS HOLD UP PROCEEDINGS AT DETROIT

Detroit, June 2 (AP)—Negotiations for settlement of the 12-day-old Briggs Manufacturing Co. strike were adjourned late today with prospects remote for early reopening of the plants.

The Briggs company announced it would not negotiate a new contract until a national labor relations board poll of its employees to decide which of the two rival factions of the United Automobile Workers Union should represent its employees.

The company and the CIO-affiliated UAW "are very far apart" in the negotiations, according to James F. Dewey, federal conciliator who has been trying to bring about a truce.

Union officials said they had proposed a contract giving them exclusive bargaining rights with the provision that if an NLRB poll of Briggs employees went against the UAW-CIO the contract would be voided.

"Bad Faith" Alleged The company offered to extend the old contract, which expired May 22. The union accused the company of "bad faith."

Negotiations were adjourned until Monday morning. Dewey said he would leave the city for the week-end.

Dewey said two new union demands deadlocked the meeting today. The two new union demands were for a week's vacation with pay and for a minimum wage for women employees equal to the minimum for men. The company rejected both proposals, and estimated that either of them would cost approximately $800,000 annually.

Meanwhile Joseph Green, an adherent of Homer Martin's independent faction of the UAW, requested to police for questioning in connection with the shooting last Sunday of Joseph Ferris, a vice president of the Briggs Local of the UAW-CIO.

Green said a group of men surrounded his automobile Sunday night, that one of the men thrust a gun through his automobile window and that in the ensuing scuffle the gun was discharged. He said he did not know three men who were in the automobile with him.

Lashings Are Given To Windsor Youths For Wrecking Jail

Windsor, Ont., June 2 (AP)—Two Windsor youths were given 12 lashings each today for wrecking their Sandwick county jail cell last Saturday night in protest against a bread-and-water diet.

The youths, Jack Bernat, 21, and Peter Oud, 23, were held for a robbery. After the whipping they were taken before Justice Gerald Kelly of the Ontario supreme court and sentenced to eight-year terms in the Kingston penitentiary for the robbery.

They uttered only an occasional moan as the whip was applied during the subsequent court proceedings. The flogging was ordered by the provincial attorney-general department.

Volcano Clears Out Village In Alaska

Seattle, June 2 (AP)—Volcanic Mount Veniamin of the Alaska peninsula renewed activity today and fear-stricken Indians prepared to flee afoot.

The village of Perrville, menaced by the volcano, had only two white residents today. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Johnson, and a radio message from Johnson said "tomorrow there will be only myself and wife in village."

All but 12 of the normal native population of 92 have gone to seasonal fishing grounds farther away.

STAND DEFINED BY VANDENBERG

Michigan Senator Says He'd Rather Stay In U. S. Senate

Detroit, June 2 (AP)—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) reiterated in a letter today to a Detroit insurance man that he would not seek the 1940 Republican presidential nomination but would not decline it if nominated.

The letter was received by Luke C. Leonard, friend and former newspaper associate of the Grand Rapids senator. Vandenberg wrote:

"I hope my statement regarding 1940 will not be misconstrued. I certainly do not intend to make any sort of a campaign for the presidential nomination. I have simply wanted to emphasize and dramatize the fact that the approaching 1940 decisions are desperately important; and I have wanted to say—once and for all—that, while I would not pursue the nomination I would not refuse it if it should come to me.

"But I can tell you with great earnestness that I deeply hope my field of public service may continue in the senate. My own personal interest is entirely confined to my campaign next year to succeed myself in the senate.

"Whatever happens in connection with the presidency will result from the activity of others. I have absolutely no personal aspirations in this direction whatsoever. Perhaps I know too much about the job. Perhaps I am too familiar with my own limitations."

Million Dollar Span Damaged By Tanker

Norfolk, Va., June 2 (AP)—The crash of an oil tanker into the Norfolk-Portsmouth bridge today sent two men and some 570 feet of the million dollar structure hurtling into the water and blocked the channel of the southern branch of the Elizabeth river.

Two bridge tenders, C. O. Cunningham and I. Lee Zimmerman, escaped serious injury when they fell more than 100 feet from the top of the open vertical span into the water. Three others had narrow escapes.

Read Ruling Clears Dickinson's Status On Lieut. Governor

Lansing, June 2 (AP)—Attorney General Thomas Read delivered a formal opinion today spiking the theory that it would be within Governor Dickinson's power to set up a new political dynasty by appointing a new lieutenant governor and resigning so that the newcomer might succeed to the executive chair.

Dickinson said he would "abide by the attorney general's opinion," setting at rest rumors that a lieutenant governor was about to be appointed, recurrent since the death of the late Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald and Dickinson's own elevation last March.

Read said the office of lieutenant governor is not vacant, and that Dickinson in fact holds that chair as well as the governor's chair. Dickinson could not appoint a lieutenant governor without relinquishing the office himself, the attorney general held, and if he should resign the lieutenant governorship, he would no longer be governor since he holds the higher office only by virtue of the lesser one.

Succession Well Defined In an opinion dated March 28, less than two weeks after Fitzgerald's death, but released only after Dickinson's authority had been challenged in a court test in Detroit, Read said "common sense" should rule the interpretation of apparently conflicting provisions of the state constitution relating to succession. He cited decisions of Arkansas, California, Montana, New Jersey, Nevada, Washington and Wyoming courts as supporting his opinion in "unmistakable terms."

"It is our well-considered opinion," Read's opinion said, "that upon the death of the governor of the State of Michigan his powers and duties devolve upon the lieutenant governor; that the office of lieutenant governor is not thereby vacated; that the constitution by plain and unambiguous language provides for a line of succession from the governor to the lieutenant governor and to the secretary of state, a line of succession which cannot be broken by the appointment of a lieutenant governor to fill a supposed vacancy. No vacancy exists.

"It would seem clear to us that the people never intended to entrust the responsibilities of the governorship to one who has not been elected to state office."

SOLDIERS SHOT BY ARAB BAND

British Troops Fighting Major Battle In Holy Land

Jerusalem, June 2 (AP)—British troops were reported tonight to be fighting a major engagement in the Kalawiyah hills with an Arab band as a new wave of bloodshed swept the Holy Land.

The Arab band during the day killed four British soldiers and three Jewish policemen who were on a road patrol.

In addition, six Arabs were killed, including a native policeman, when a time bomb burst in a market place near the Jaffa gate. The bomb burst amid shopping crowds. A score of Arabs were wounded so seriously they were taken to hospitals.

Horror gripped the Holy Land in the wake of the outbreak. Tension grew hourly as police and military authorities strove to retain order by swift punitive measures and with ceaseless patrols in all sections of Jerusalem.

The Arab band wiped out the road patrol of four Britons and three Jews 35 miles northwest of Jerusalem and seized a machine-gun and other arms.

After the blast at Jerusalem's Jaffa gate, Arabs stoned Jewish traffic in the Arab-Jewish quarter, and then authorities suspended three Arab urban bus lines. Seven Jewish bus lines already had been suspended.

ONLY 4 FROM THETIS CREW ARE RESCUED

NEW CRAFT BURIED IN MUD UNDER IRISH SEA

Birkenhead, Eng., June 3 (Saturday) (AP)—Despite abandonment of hope by builders of the submarine Thetis, the admiralty announced today that divers reported faintappings on the hull of the vessel in which 90 men are entrapped.

The tappings were heard at 2:00 a. m. (P. M., E. S. T. Friday), the admiralty said.

As a consequence of these faint signs of life, the admiralty directed a vast array of rescue ships to push forward their operations throughout the night in attempts to raise the stern of the craft "when slack water provides the next opportunity."

Given Up For Dead The builders of the vessel had given up for dead the men aboard her. It had been estimated that at the expiration of 36 hours under water—20 minutes before the tappings were reported heard—the air supply would be exhausted.

Low tide was not expected until 6 a. m., and this would be more than four hours beyond the 36-hour deadline.

The admiralty announcement said: "Salvage operations are proceeding and a further attempt will be made to raise the stern when slack water provides the next opportunity."

Rescuers Remain Earlier a naval officer arriving at Liverpool hospital with one of the four survivors of the accident had said that salvage would be deferred until dawn and that hope had been abandoned by squads of workers as well as the submarine builders.

Ambulance squad workers were dismissed and pier lights were extinguished here, but the admiralty statement showed that the full rescue force was at work at the disaster scene.

"I am sorry, but there is no hope for the men remaining in the submarine," Sydney Woodward, secretary of the Cammell Laird shipyard said brokenly to a crowd dotted with wives and relatives of the seamen and civilian occupants of the vessel.

Four of those who were in the vessel were saved through use of the Davis "lung" apparatus. Three others were said by a lifeboat crew to have perished in an attempt to follow the four to the surface.

Wives Weep Announcement of the Cammell Laird official that hope for the men had been given up had no effect on the frantic yet apparently futile rescue operations being pressed forward by a huge force of naval vessels.

But to hundreds huddled in the shadow of the great cranes at the shipyards the Cammell Laird official's statement carried an air of finality.

Wives wept and were led away. Members of a North Wales lifeboat crew which visited the chill, search-lighted scene returned with the story that three occupants of the Thetis had perished in attempting to follow to the surface the only four survivors.

Their narrative suggested that others died desperately in trying to save themselves with the Davis "lung" apparatus.

Never before, said the lifeboat crew, had so many men perished in an attempt to follow the four to the surface.

ONLY 4 FROM THETIS CREW ARE RESCUED

(Continued from Page One) men, had they seen such a heart-rending drama. Pushed Down By Tide "We have never felt so helpless," said one who often had participated in rescues in turbulent seas.

Early in the evening they went to the scene, carrying doctors in their lifeboat—for hope had flamed in the afternoon when a portion of the Thetis' stern was visible.

"There were rescue vessels of all kinds around. Divers and admirals. As time went on the chances of rescue became more and more slender. We could do nothing, of course, and when we came away no more had left the submarine."

It had been a dramatic day of agony in which the high spring tides had a major part. The low early morning tide first made the stern visible. There was a rush of hope then that airplanes might be attached by divers, that a hole might be made for escape from the hull, or falling that, that navy "camels," buoyant cylinders of compressed air—might be attached to lift the craft entirely to the surface.

Automobiles Will Be Run Off Steep Burnt Bluff Cliff

Aldrick Raymond, Fayette, announces that he will stage a spectacular automobile crash exhibition at Burnt Bluff Sunday afternoon, July 2. Eight much-used automobiles will be run off the cliff and dropped upon the beach 195 feet below. Some of the cars will be set afire before the plunge, he said. Mr. Raymond has received letters from Jack Lieb of News of the Day, and Emile Montemurro of Movietone News, advising they may send news reel cameramen to cover the event. Dancing and other entertainment events also will feature the celebration.

LAND RUSH TO OPEN PROGRAM

Young Scouts to Stage Rally At Ludington Park Grounds

Over two hundred Cubs are expected to take part in the Escanaba Dist. Cub-O-Ree at Ludington Park today. The event will begin with a land-rush at 9 a. m. Boys from Escanaba, Gladstone, Bark River, and Wells will participate in this event. Howard Dufour, Escanaba District Cub Commissioner, will be in charge of the event and will be assisted by other Scout and Cub Leaders. Mothers and Dads will join with the Cubs in the program of the day, helping to erect tents and shelters and to cook the noon meal. Each Cub is permitted the aid of either the father, mother, or older brother or sister during preparation of the meal in the open.

Regulation manufactured tents will be in use in some cases, and many will be made from carpets, rugs and burlap bags. The Cub-O-Ree program has been arranged to teach the boys good camping habits, as well as to provide a day's outing for them. Two Camp inspections will be held during the day, and the Den with the best record will receive an award at the close of the Cub-O-Ree.

Tent Inspection Among the points on which the young campers will be judged by inspectors is care of the fire, which is to be extinguished after use. In connection with the Campfire, the woodpile must be kept in order, and at a safe distance from the fire site. The tents will be inspected that they are well erected, and some attention will be paid to the Cub's choice of a Campsite. He is taught to select a site for the tent which is likely to remain dry in case of rain, and one that is as comfortable as possible.

Care of the campsite will be considered by the inspectors, who will check to see that it is clean inside and outside the tent, with all paper and garbage properly disposed of. Food, water, and dishes must be kept clean, and towels hung out in the air.

Camping equipment, such as tools, an axe and hatchet, will be inspected to see that they are in proper shape, and are put away in order and safety.

The Cubs will be given a chance to display their ingenuity in campcraft, doing extra work about the camp to improve it and make it more livable. Tables, chairs, and fences may be improvised and comforts provided in the way of sunshades or windbreaks.

Organization of the groups will be considered during the inspection and the spirit of the den in group activities will be considered. Personal inspection will be held, as the Cubs have been taught to care for their personal cleanliness and orderliness while out on camping expeditions.

During the afternoon a treasure hunt will be staged, and other competitive events will be held.

Is New Feature The Cub-O-Ree is a new feature in the Cub-Scout program. It was first introduced into this region last year at Manistique with great success.

"It has been found that the cooperation of the parents is needed to make a success of an event of this type," Phillips said, "and mothers and fathers are urged to take part in the Cub-O-Ree by helping their sons erect tents, cook meals and perform other camp duties. Several of the features that the parents enjoy are cooking the noon meal over an open fire with the Cubs and attending the picnic supper for all parents of Cubs and friends. The day's program will be climaxed by a campfire program and presentation of Cub awards in the evening.

Men in charge of the various departments of the program are Jos. Mater, Council Cub Commissioner, Allen Harwood, Donald McMillan, Willard King, Orin King, Ted Fisher, Maurice Goodreau, Art Sawyer, Leonard Olson.

All Den Chiefs are requested to be on hand at 8:30 at the Ludington Park to assist with details of the program. The Cub program follows:

9:00 a. m.—Land Rush—Cubs line up and "rush" for camp sites that have been designated. Erect tents with aid of adult. Each Pack will rush for special area so that Pack and Dens will be together.

10:00 a. m.—Visit and Friendship Each Den will visit other Den sites and get ideas, etc., on how to improve own camp.

10:30 a. m.—Inter-pack ball games.

11:30 a. m.—Begin lunch.

12:30 p. m.—Complete lunch and clean up.

12:45 p. m.—Inspection.

1:15 p. m.—Cub games.

1:30 to 3:30—Odd relays, water cup relay, tug-of-war, and other events by C. M.

3:30 p. m.—Evening plans. Dens practice stunts for evening camp fire program. Cubmasters make final check for awards to be given Cubs at Campfire program.

4:30 p. m.—Treasure hunt.

5:30 p. m.—Begin supper.

6:30 p. m.—Clean up and inspection.

6:45 p. m.—Dad and Son ball games.

7:45 p. m.—Campfire program.

8:30 p. m.—Leave for home.

Escanaban Writes Story for College Fraternity Journal

An interesting biographical article concerning Warren Beck, Lawrence college professor and writer, written by Austin Stegath of Escanaba, appears in the May issue of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Journal. Mr. Stegath became acquainted with Prof. Beck while he was a student at the Appleton educational institution.

"A reformed playwright whose first excuse for writing was that he found it difficult to secure plays suitable for his class and who has now begun to crash first-class, short-story magazines—that's Warren Beck, Wisconsin Alpha, promising Sig Ep author and possessor of an unusually versatile pen," Stegath's article begins.

"Stories by him have appeared in Story Magazine, literary gem of the short story field, North American Review, and Prairie Schooner. Editors of Harper's, Southern Review, and Frontier and Midland have asked that he send manuscripts to them.

"Beck's 'Shadow of a Green Olive Tree,' poignant tale of a bewildered youth's first realization that Time is his enemy, which appeared in the spring, 1937, issue of Prairie Schooner, was selected by Edward J. O'Brien, acknowledged top critic of the American short story, as one of the distinctive short stories in American magazines.

Escanaban Catches Large Wall-Eyed

One of the first to catch a wall-eyed pike this season was Fred Bingman, 1816 Eighth Avenue South, who made his catch at Masonville Thursday night.

Using a daredevil lure, Mr. Bingman hauled in the five and a quarter pound pike, measuring twenty-five and a half inches in length.

From fishing enthusiasts, it is learned that the wall-eyed pike are just beginning to bite at the head of Little Bay de Noc.

THE DIRECT PUBLIC INTEREST

What is done about the stealing of a large sum of money from the diocesan funds of the Episcopal church is in only one particular the direct affair of the public. Whether the church organization, or the congregation of any church in the organization, seeks to hold the trustees to an accounting on the ground that they failed to fulfill their trust is an Episcopal family matter, as is, also, decision whether there shall be full revelation of what is learned about who got the money and in what amounts.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY MILTON BRONNER NEA Service Staff Correspondent London—Many of the leaders in the current "stop Hitler" movement are Englishmen who once took Fuehrer Hitler's words at their face value and believed in his written promises and his spoken pledges.

The reaction, following Hitler's grab of Bohemia, Moravia, Slovakia and Memel, has been one of the most sensational in modern British history. Lord Rothermere's Daily Mail, which for years had openly lauded Hitler, has now spoken hotly against him.

Hitler's entire career in his march to exemplified power is a road strewn with broken promises and pledges. Early on it, he concluded a Concordat with the Vatican. It was not long before in letter and spirit he was permitting his minions to violate it by wholesale arrests of priests, interference with Catholic schools and youth organizations.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

The mayor of Northampton, Mass., has come across with a new definition of working wives. He says they are "mercenary, shameless and selfish money grabbers" if they hold down jobs when their husbands are capable of supporting them.

It's selfish of a woman to give up her job—a job at which she excels—so that a man, who was unable to get the job away from her in open competition, can step into it.

It's selfish of her not to feel that her job should be given as a consolation prize to the woman who had less success than she in landing a husband.

WHAT ABOUT "EQUAL RIGHTS?" It's shameless of her to want the independence that money—and money alone—gives to a woman. The kind of independence that makes it necessary for her to live with a husband only as long as she loves him.

It's mercenary of her to get a thrill out of a pay check; out of spending money that she earned herself, instead of being content to have her husband dole out money to her or put her on an allowance like a school child.

It's selfish of her to want as many of the good things for herself and her family as hard work can earn.

Yes, they must be a bad lot—these working wives. They have the nerve to think that to all citizens in a democracy are due the same rights and privileges.

Ruth M. Brown Receives Degree, Trip Abroad Gift

Albion, Mich., June 2—Miss Ruth Margaret Brown, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Prentiss M. Brown, of St. Ignace, is a candidate for an A. B. degree at Albion college. One hundred seventy-four students will receive degrees at the graduation exercises to be held Monday morning, June 5.

Miss Brown was graduated at LaSalle high school in June, 1935. She is now pursuing a literary course at Albion, majoring in history. She is a member of the Albion Zeta chapter of the Delta Gamma sorority.

She became an active member of the Delta Gamma sorority in 1936. During her junior year she was secretary; in her senior year she has been president of the sorority.

In her sophomore year she was elected Miss Briton, Albion college queen, in a general student election. This year she was chosen by the freshmen as May Queen, being the senior woman most admired by the freshmen women.

A member of the student council since its founding in 1937, Miss Brown was secretary-treasurer this year. As president of the Women's Self-Government association this year, she was in charge of all women students. During the Delta Signa Rho debate trip to Washington, D. C. this spring, she was chosen as secretary on the committee on national defense for the meeting by delegates from 32 colleges.

She was elected to Chevon, local honorary society for senior women, by the faculty and former Chevon members. The basis of membership to Chevon is scholarship, personality and contribution to the college. She served as vice president of this society.

Miss Brown was also elected to Phi Gamma, local honorary scholastic fraternity for seniors. This election was based on her all-"A" average for four years in college. At the May breakfast for all Albion women, Sunday, May 21, she was awarded the Pan-Hellenic cup for being recognized as the outstanding senior woman of this year.

Miss Brown is a member of the college French and Forum club, being secretary in the latter. She has been a member of the varsity debate team in her junior and senior years.

This summer she will enjoy a fifty-day tour of seven European countries as a graduation gift from her noted father, Miss Brown and a college girl friend will sail from New York on the S. S. Normandie, June 28.

Three-Fourths Full Is Enough When making steamed puddings, fill the mold, only about three-fourths full. More will surely rise during cooking and flow over the top.

SERIAL STORY DATE WITH DANGER

BY HELEN WORDEN

Yesterday: Ladd orders Mary to bring in the story of Clem Shirley, suspecting Mary loves Jim Shirley. Mary thinks Ladd hates her, but she believes she loves him.

CHAPTER XVIII Clem looked very young, thought Martin, when she walked into his apartment half an hour later.

Her beauty startled him. He resisted an impulse to send her away. His sentimentality irritated him.

"Sit down and make yourself at home," he said awkwardly. "I've got a new drink I think you'll get a kick out of."

"Good," she said. "Drinks and people are no longer amusing when you know them too well."

"Then you must like me." "I hardly know you at all. But I already like you."

He sat on the lounge beside her. "Now we can talk."

As she sipped the cocktail she pressed him for more details of his own life.

"I'd much rather talk about yours."

"I'm very dull and so is my life."

"No beautiful woman is ever dull. You haven't the face to deny you've got the prettiest figure in the world." He put an arm around her.

"Don't," she said, but she didn't move away.

"Did you like your drink?" he asked.

"It's marvelous. I feel so happy—so gay." She smiled brightly, her eyes shining. "May I have another?"

"No. You've had enough. What are you doing tonight?"

"Nothing."

He glanced at his watch. "Like to continue our tour of the town?"

"I'd adore it."

He stared down at her. As the cocktail wore off, she watched him with fear. Suddenly he was kissing her passionately, savagely.

"Oh, don't," she begged, struggling. Then she laughed, and snuggled against him, but drew back as her head touched something hard and metallic in his vest pocket.

"What's that?" "It's my best friend, my gun."

A step sounded in the hall. She jumped up and began arranging her hair. Nick was standing in the doorway. "G'd ev'ning, Miss Shirley."

Mrs. Sadie Ward, who spent a few days with relatives here, returned to Chicago Saturday.

Mrs. Velma Call and children of Butler, Indiana, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bal.

Mr. and Mrs. Verell Bugg had as their week end guests Mr. and Mrs. William Gage of Lake City, Mr. and Mrs. John Loucks and daughter of Detroit, Miss Margaret Goyette and Ward Barlow of Detroit. Mrs. Gage is Mrs. Bugg's mother and Mr. Loucks her brother.

Mr. Robbins of Grand Haven is visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. Karouse.

Tony Bennett of Marquette is visiting relatives here for a few days.

Shirley." Clem's chin struck a defiant angle. "How do you do, Mr. Hart. Mr. Martin and I are just about to leave."

"So I see." He winked at Martin. "You've picked a good one this time, Duke."

Martin walked toward the hall. "I'm going to get my coat, Miss Shirley." Then in a whisper to Nick, "Shut up, you fool."

Nick mumbled something about people who couldn't stand kidding. "What'll you have, Miss Shirley?" he asked as he poured himself a scotch and soda.

"I've been drinking a marvelous cocktail Mr. Martin mixed for me." She held up her glass. "It's empty."

"Is he trying a new one on you?" "Yes."

He glanced at her thoughtfully. "Say, did you ever know Janice French?"

Martin walked into the room. "You're as much of a fool as Tuckie Thompson. Shut your trap."

"You'll have to excuse Nick, Miss Shirley," he said in a louder voice. "He's a diamond from Temah Avenue."

The second cocktail was getting results. "That's all right, Duke," said Clem.

"Lady, you'll have me fallin' fer you, instead of the Duke, if you keep that up." Nick grinned.

"You're easy on the eyes. How about a date?"

Martin's mouth straightened. "Beat it, Nick. You'd do better sticking around the Dove."

"Then I'll be seeing you at the Dove." The front door banged.

"If he wasn't my pal, I'd knock his head off," grumbled the Duke. "I've done enough beefing. How'd you like to go to Mickie's?"

"What's Mickie's?" "A joint where they've got a peep-hole in the door."

Mickie's was over a saloon at 40th street and Eighth avenue. Because of two entrances which formed a getaway, and a proprietor who was one of the boys, the gangsters of prohibition days made Mickie's their headquarters.

After repeat, those who hadn't gone to Sing Sing or to the bottom of the East river continued to call it headquarters.

Martin led the way up a narrow, winding flight of stairs. At the head of the steps was a closed door with a small oblong panel and an elaborate lock.

Duke knocked three times. The panel slid back and a pair of black eyes peered out. A little man, round enough to be called fat, with a full moon of a face, a broken nose, and a slit for a mouth, opened the door.

"If it ain't the Duke himself. How are you, Kid?"

He held out a fat, squashy hand, his small eyes darting back of Martin. "Brought your lady friend along, too?"

"Glad to see you, Mickie," said Martin. "Meet Miss Shirley."

The little man shook hands with Clem. "Come in, said the spider to the fly," he chuckled.

"But in this case, I guess it's the other way round, Miss Shirley. I'm the fly and the Duke's the spider. At least I'm one of the flies." His eyes rested on her.

She and Martin followed Mickie. The tightly shuttered windows, dim lights and cigarette smoke, helped the hush-hush atmosphere. So did the people. A group of dark-skinned, unshaven men stood at the bar talking in low tones. Two or three who might have been race track bookies were in a corner drinking. At another table, four fellows were shaking dice. The rest of the room, obviously a shady lot but in a cheaper, weaker way, were the leg-workers.

All the company seemed to know Martin and all stared furtively at Clem. Fleeting glances passed between them. Clem wondered if it was her fur coat or diamond bracelets they wanted.

In another moment, they were fawning in their servile greetings to Martin.

"Well, here I am, by God," he exclaimed, slapping first this one, then that one on the back.

He was in excellent spirits. "I want the best steak in the house," he commanded, "and bring us two Scotch and sodas."

"Tell me about this place and these people," she said.

In stark words Martin began describing the purple patch that was the past of this furtive spot. He sketched in the killings, the pay-offs and the get aways that had been planned at Mickie's.

His self-complacency was magnificent. "I made Mickie," he said. "Saved him from being fried. With a violent gesture he drained his glass. "Another Scotch and soda," he called to the bartender.

"I never knew life could be so exciting until I heard you describe living." Clem said. "It's like living a detective story. You take chances."

Martin lit a cigarette and inhaled a long breath of smoke. "To my mind there is no risk, if you plan." He reached in his pocket and brought out a cigarette case.

"Have one?"

As Clem smoked she studied the cigarette.

"That isn't drawing well," Martin said suddenly, substituting another. Dropping it in the ash tray, he deliberately lit a match and set fire to the stub. Slowly the flame licked up the paper, lighting sharply, for a second, two initials just below the red marks left by Clem's lipstick.

"Why look," she exclaimed. "J. F." Janice French's initials are on that cigarette I was smoking!"

Evangelist

The First Baptist church, Gladstone, Rev. Nils J. Hedstrom, pastor, is now in the midst of a Gospel Crusade, being assisted by Evangelist David F. Nygren, Chicago, who conducted a series of meetings in the Calvary Baptist church, Escanaba, a few weeks ago.

Mr. Nygren is assisted by Parks T. Hunt, Boston, Mass., baritone soloist and trumpeter. The two men possess singular gifts in their respective lines. Services are held every evening, 7:30 o'clock, over June 11th. Sunday subjects are as follows: 11 a. m., "An Ancient Conqueror and His Relatives in Gladstone," 7:30 p. m., "Sin-Sick Souls in the Hospital Called the Earth."

The evangelist was at one time editor of a daily newspaper in Kansas. At the present time he is the editor of a religious magazine, "Revival Dynamite." One of his recent books, "The Eternal Quest," published by Zondervan Publishing House, Grand Rapids, is having a sweeping sale. He has also compiled three hymn books, which have gone out in editions totalling 20,000 copies. He also writes poetry and composes music. A Gladstone song, written especially for and dedicated to Rev. and Mrs. N. J. Hedstrom, will be introduced Friday night of next week.

Mr. Parks T. Hunt was formerly a member of a jazz orchestra, and has dedicated his talents to the Lord. As a trumpeter he ranks with the best of today.

GHS BAND WILL MARCH TONIGHT

Will Extend Thanks for Work Done Towards Uniform Fund

In token of appreciation to those who assisted in the drive for uniform funds, the Gladstone high school band will parade tonight.

At 6:45 o'clock this evening the band will march to the residence of Joseph A. LaFramboise on Lake Shore Drive where they will play several selections in appreciation of Mr. LaFramboise's great help in boosting the uniform fund to a peak.

Later the band will parade through the business district in token of support given by businessmen and townpeople.

To Mr. LaFramboise a letter of appreciation has already been sent by the music department over the signatures of Supt. A. R. Watson and LeRoy Christian.

Its text follows:
Dear Mr. LaFramboise:
We wish to take this opportunity to express to you our appreciation for the very fine job which you have done in soliciting for uniforms for the Gladstone high school band. We wish to thank you in behalf of the band and the school for the excellent service which you have rendered.

We assure you that it is unusual for any citizen to manifest such an aggressive interest in any institution as you have done in this case, and to give as liberally and as freely of his time to carry through such a project.

We believe that you may have the satisfaction of knowing that you are about the only citizen who could have done such a piece of work as successfully as you did, and you may also have the double satisfaction of knowing that you are the only one who had the determination to carry it through to a conclusion.

We believe we express the sentiment of everyone in the community from patrons to pupils when we say, "We thank you most heartily for a good job, well done."

Escanaba Entertains Twins Team Here Today

DELAYED GAME TO BE PLAYED

Locals Travel to South Range Tomorrow for Return Game

The Escanaba baseball team has its work cut out this week end, entertaining the strong Ford Twins of Kingsford at the 23rd Street diamond this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and traveling to South Range Sunday.

Today's game is a make-up game, it having been washed out by rain two weeks ago. The locals originally had scheduled the Ethiopian Clowns, a colored aggregation, for today but, upon word from League President Doc Donovan, that game was cancelled in order to get in the postponed game.

The boys are pepped up greatly since their victory over Negaunee Tuesday, a victory gained without two regulars in the lineup and with an untired pitcher, Bobby Kamrath and Johnny Schwalbach, regular infielders, were not present while Ralph Dube took his first turn on the mound and hurled a fine game. Although he did not get many strikeouts, he held Negaunee in the palm of his hand all afternoon, making the batters either pop up or hit on the ground.

It is expected that Dube, Phil Brazaux and Toodles Flath will be available for mound duty for the two week end games.

IN SECOND ROUND

Iron Mountain, June 2—A return engagement between the Ford Twins and Niagara Badgers, at Kingsford, will headline the Northern Wisconsin Michigan league slate Sunday as the clubs head into the second round of the first half championship race.

The Badgers and Twins, ranking teams and two of the greatest rivals in the circuit, will have district fandom to themselves and are expected to pull a crowd of record proportions through the turnstiles.

Crystal Falls, the district's third club, will take to the road, traveling to Negaunee, Escanaba will invade South Range in the day's third contest.

Rounding out the week-end program will be a get-together between the Twins and Escanaba, at the dock city, Saturday in the playoff of a postponed game. The date remains to be set for the postponed Niagara - Escanaba game. South Range and Negaunee will make up their contest June 15 in a doubleheader.

Pitching Problem
Their two games coming in two days present the Twins with a pitching problem, with it expected that Manager Jimmie Mancel will nominate Kenneth Jacobson to go against Escanaba and start Tony Gober against the Badgers. Jacobson showed stuff to spare against Negaunee last Sunday but was handicapped by wildness, a defect he will attempt to eliminate in workouts this week. Gober regained his stride in subduing Crystal Falls on six hits Tuesday and appears set for an attempt to hand Niagara its first setback.

At Escanaba the Twins will probably face the slants of Ralph Dube, recruit who did the flinging as Escanaba trimmed Negaunee 7-2 Tuesday. Dube authored a 7-hit job.

Sunday the Twins will confront the league's leading pitcher, Cedric Richardson, Niagara ace who has chalked up four triumphs over the Sabath trek to Negaunee. Hugh Orphan has continued to perform sensationally and with him on the hill the Falls will be favored to hop back into the win column at Negaunee's expense. However, Crystal Falls' batsmen may have trouble ahead. The Rovers have Manning, youthful curvball artist who beat the Twins Sunday, ready for duty and expect reinforcement in the person of "Sonny" Cavenough, of Menominee, once one of the best throwers in the league, who has been tossing his roundhouse twisters in Wisconsin.

No Protest Filed
League officials today stated that no protest had been officially filed in connection with the Twins-Crystal Falls game of Tuesday, played at Crystal Falls and won 4-2 by the Rovers. The game was finished under protest, Crystal Falls objecting to the Twins' umpire, Warner.

Warner, who worked only on the bases, was acquired Tuesday morning after a clubhouse altercation during which Hugo Lund, veteran arbiter, tendered his resignation. Lund was the oldest umpire in point of service in the league and it is understood that at least one club is angling for his services.

While the Twins were winning at Crystal Falls to cement their hold on third place, a half game behind Crystal Falls, the Badgers were defeating South Range 3-1. The Niagara triumph, besides keeping the Wisconsin crew safely in first place, showed the Rangers into a cellar tie, Negaunee fell into the basement with South Range when it lost to Escanaba.

In games Sunday Negaunee upset the Twins 5-6, Crystal Falls beat South Range 4-2 and Niagara was rained out at Escanaba.

RICE MENACES MEHL IN MILE

Fenske, Wisconsin Star, Batters American Mark In 1,000

BY EARL HILLIGAN
Milwaukee, June 2 (AP)—Scoring in 13 events, Marquette university won the 14th central collegiate track and field team title tonight as Charles (Chuck) Fenske, former Wisconsin ace, bettered the existing American record for the 1,000 yard run before 6,000 cheering spectators.

Marquette piled up 45 1-3 points to capture its third team championship in the meet, but it was Fenske's brilliant performance in an exhibition effort that provided the big thrill of a program which also saw two new meet records established.

Paced by two Wisconsin freshmen, Fenske reeled off the 1,000 yards in 2 minutes, 9.3 seconds as against the official accepted American mark of 2 minutes, 9.7 seconds, made in 1937 by Elroy Robinson at Fresno, Calif.

Second to Marquette in the hot team title fight was Indiana, with 36 points. Notre Dame, the 1938 team victor, scored 35 1-2 points, with Wisconsin picking up 35 and Michigan State 23. Behind those leaders other schools in the large field were strung out.

Walter Mehl, Wisconsin's big blonde distance star, fought off a stirring challenge by Gregg Rice of Notre Dame to capture the mile run championship.

Orville Wagner of North Central, Ill., college, captured the 440 yard run title in 49 seconds.

Reds Win Their Second Straight Overtime Victory, 4-0

Boston, June 2 (AP)—Ernie Lombardi's ninth homer of the season, driven into the left field stands with two mates aboard, today clinaxed the Cincinnati Reds' second straight overtime victory over the Boston Bees, by a 4-0 margin in eleven innings. The Reds exploded a five-run barrage in the 13th to win yesterday's game.

During most of the shutout, which enabled the Reds to gain a game on the second-place St. Louis Cardinals, Milburn Shoffner, the Boston southpaw, waged a keen duel with Whitey Moore.

Until the tenth, Shoffner limited the hard-hitting league leaders to five scattered hits, and their first scoring chance did not come until Bill Werber opened the 11th with a single. After he was forced by Linus Frey, Shoffner issued his third base on balls to Ival Goodman.

The pace then told on Shoffner and after Frank McCormick singled to bring in Frey with the first run, Lombardi belted the first ball pitched into the stands for the other three tallies.

HEAVY HITTING HELPS BENGALS

Four Balls Slugged Out of Park; First Win for Benton

Detroit, June 2 (AP)—As if preparing for the impending battle with the Yankee howitzers, the Detroit Tigers indulged in some pretty fair heavy-hitting exercises today to come out ahead of the Boston Red Sox, 8 to 5, and square the series.

When the laborious struggle was over, five pitchers had seen duty, four balls had been slugged out of the park for home runs, 27 hits had bulged the batting averages, and young Al Benton had won his first game as a Tiger.

The Tigers, who receive the

TROUT GETS TROPHY

Detroit, June 2 (AP)—Paul (Dizzy) Trout, Tiger pitcher, today received the Sporting News trophy as the most valuable player in the Texas league last season.

Yankees here Sunday, smashed three Red Sox hurlers for 13 hits, including Hank Greenberg's eleventh homer of the year and an extension to the sensational batting streak of Pinky Higgins. Pinky slapped a homer and two singles.

In the midst of this Benton could stick around against an equally heavy assault from the Sox for a bit more than eight innings, but Tommy Bridges had to come to his rescue in the ninth with Boston dangerous.

His Luck Turns
It was a turn in luck for Benton. On other days he has been good, and a loser. Today, under ordinary conditions, he'd have lost again, what with giving up 14 hits and two walks in eight and a third frame.

While most hands of both teams made merry at the plate, Filt Cramer of the Sox was the one who never got out. Cramer collected five straight hits—a double and four singles. Manager Joe Cronin, between cogitations on whom next to put in the box, crashed two homers and a single.

First up in the sixth, Greenberg poked No. 11 into the lower left field stands and another run came over on singles by Rudy York and Higgins with the help of Bobby Doer's error, but Detroit really won the game in the seventh. The three runs scored then salted it away.

Higgins Obliges
To open the last attack, Dixie Walker hit a single, his third blow, and stole second. Charley Gehring sacrificed, and Walker scored on Greenberg's fly. York was safe when Cronin let his roller go into the outfield, and Higgins obliged by swatting a homer into the left field pavilion.

This gave the Tigers an 8 to 2 lead, which seemed comfortable until Benton began to wilt. In the Sox eighth, Ted Williams singled and Cronin homered with none out. Benton got the next three with the help of Gehring's star play on Johnny Peacock's ground-er.

In the ninth successive singles by Cramer, Vosmik and Jimmy Fox scored a run after one was out and caused Benton's departure. With Bridges' arrival, it was all over. Williams forced Fox at second and Cronin did likewise to Williams.

Up to the sixth inning the Tigers, fallen back into a characteristic of 1939, were proceeding toward an apparent record in leaving men on base. They had left 14 stranded.

Fans Acclaim Nova; Baer Ready To Quit

BY GAYLE TALBOT

New York, June 2 (AP)—While victorious Lou Nova and his badly damaged victim, Maxie Baer, licked their wounds from last night's stadium engagement at Yankee Stadium, plans went forward today for another thrilling encounter at high noon tomorrow, when Champion Joe Louis and round Tony Galento meet to sign the papers for their title bout June 28.

There's a strong possibility the session will end in a wild uproar, with Galento defying the New York state boxing commission and demanding the scrap be transferred to Philadelphia. All the principals will be searched for knives before Brigadier-General John J. Feltz, retired, calls the meeting to order.

Joe Jacobs, Tony's manager, is going before the commission to demand that he be given a manager's and second's license in this state, so he can work in Galento's corner against Louis. The commission repeatedly has refused even to talk to Joe. This time he says they will be more sociable or there will be no Galento-Louis scrap in this state. Tony is backing his pilot right to the hilt.

The disappointing crowd of 16,738 paying customers that watched Nova cut Baer up and force his retirement in the 11th round last night, it will be quite all right with Promoter Mike Jacobs if the commission gets stuffy and forces him to take the big fight out of town.

"The tickets are printed and ready, but not one will go out until tomorrow's meeting is over," said Mike.

The Galento camp has wanted to hold the fight in Philadelphia all along. Tony is a great favor-

MUNISING PLAYS EAGLES SUNDAY

Uppays At Manistique In Rainbow League Games Tomorrow

The two teams which won their opening games last Tuesday in the Rainbow league will meet the two losers in contests tomorrow.

Munising, a team which disposed of Gladstone by a score of 11-5 last Tuesday, will travel to this city to meet the Eagles, who are managed by George Williams. The Eagles did very well against Manistique in the opener last Sunday—until the eighth inning. Then they did a nose-dive, folding and allowing Manistique to push across four runs in the eighth and three more in the ninth to win 10-6. The Eagles are confident that no such thing will happen this week and are all set to take Munising into camp.

Gladstone will attempt to redeem itself tomorrow with a victory over its traditional rival, Manistique on the latter's diamond. The Uppays got off to a bad start against Munising last week, allowing the Algers a six run lead in the first three innings. They did a comeback later but the damage already had been done. Gladstone probably will start Fitzpatrick and Jahne while Manistique undoubtedly will call on Lesica or Chartier and Barr.

PLAY AT NAHMA
The Taverns will play at Nahma Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Kositake will hurl for the locals with Beauchamp, Ritter or Warner for Nahma. The latter team is trying to arrange a game with Pestigo at Nahma for next Sunday.

Wallace Goodwill Demands Exam When Arraigned; Repudiates Confession

When arraigned in Justice H. E. Ranguette's court yesterday on a charge of setting fire to the I. Stephenson Co. retail yard on May 16, Wallace Goodwill, a meek looking chap of 19 years, demanded preliminary hearing and repudiated a confession he had made to Sheriff William Miron, and Lieut. Harold Mulbar of the Michigan state police.

The fire, which Goodwill is accused of setting, destroyed the retail warehouse of the I. Stephenson company at Wells causing a damage estimated at $50,000. Because of a high wind, firemen from Escanaba, Gladstone and Rapid River had difficulty in preventing the flames from spreading into the residential section of the village.

The sheriff and prosecutor returned with Goodwill from Lansing late Thursday night where the latter submitted to a test by the lie detector. Following the test, the Wells youth signed a confession before Sheriff Miron, saying that he started the fire with a cigarette, returning home afterwards and then going back to the scene of the blaze.

Was Not Coerced

When arraigned in Justice court, Goodwill, who is small for his age, being about 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighing about 120 pounds, demanded a preliminary examination. When asked why he demanded an examination after signing the confession, he said:

"I never set the fire."
"Why did you sign the confession, then, if you didn't start the fire?" he was asked. "Were you forced by anyone to sign it or to say that you started the fire? Did anyone threaten or abuse you at any time?"

"No," replied Goodwill, "no one forced me to say anything or to sign the confession. The machine (lie detector) said I was lying when I told the truth and I thought the only way I could get out of it was to say that I started the fire."

"Truth Is A Lie"

Then followed a series of stories which contradicted each other so much that it was obvious the youth was not interested in being quizzed any further. When asked if he knew the difference between the truth and a lie, Goodwill replied:

"Yes, a truth is a lie and a lie is the truth."

Following the arraignment, Prosecutor Miller said that Goodwill's stories to Lieut. Harold Mulbar and Lieut. Watkins of the state police and a psychoanalyst at Michigan State college were at wide variance constantly.

Bonds for the youth, who reached the seventh grade in school, were set at $5,000. He was remanded to the county jail to await the preliminary examination.

OVER 100 SICK AFTER PARTY

Ham at Maloney-Couvillon Wedding Feast Is Suspected

Green Bay, Wis.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maloney are honeymooning in northern Wisconsin, apparently quite unaware that an estimated 100 to 150 guests became suddenly and severely ill following their wedding reception Tuesday.

Yesterday it was reported that three persons went to a Green Bay hospital, victims of ptomaine poisoning from ham sandwiches. Later, as contacts were being made with other guests, the list of the sick continued to grow.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Couvillon, 301 South Clay street. Mrs. Maloney is the former Doris Corrine Couvillon.

Ham Bought Here
Mrs. Couvillon said that the 25-pound ham was bought from a local dealer, and was taken to a bakery for baking. "The ham looked perfectly delicious, and we hadn't the slightest idea that anything was wrong," she stated.

About 300 guests were served a light luncheon at the reception. A Green Bay physician inspected the ham yesterday and declared that it was responsible for the ptomaine poisoning. What remained of the ham is being sent to state officials at Madison for further study.

Dr. W. W. Townsend, 740 South Jackson street, was one of those who became ill, and he went to Bellin Memorial hospital. Reported in St. Mary's hospital yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Novak, 518 Wroman street, and Merle Delforge, 828 Oregon street. Severely Ill At Home

Few, if any, of the others went to a hospital, but many were reported severely ill at their homes. So far as can be learned, however, none is dangerously sick.

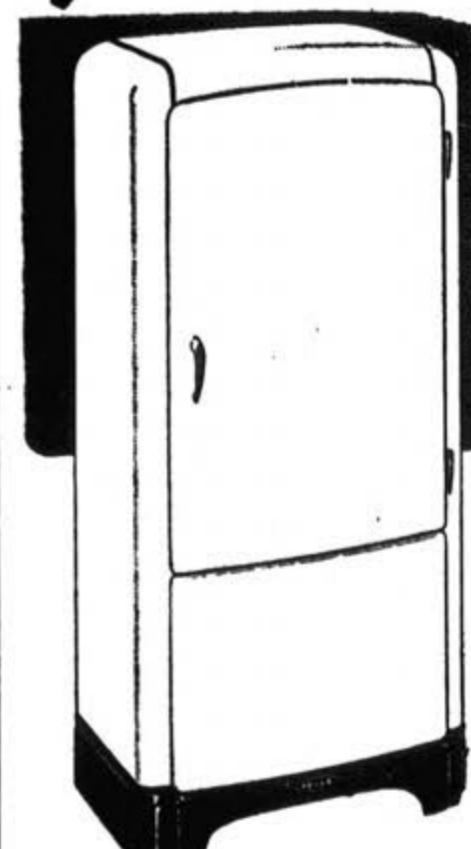

Out-of-town guests came from Milwaukee, Racine, Oconto, Lake Forest, Marinette, Madison, Wausau, Escanaba and Denmark. It was said that many became sick on their way home, and had to stop before reaching their destinations.

The bride's father, Sam Couvillon, was one of those who was taken sick. Mrs. Couvillon, who was occupied in receiving the guests, did not eat any of the sandwiches.

Xavier Grenier of Escanaba, who was one of the guests at the party, was taken slightly ill but had completely recovered yesterday.
