PUBLIC INVITED TO CONFERENCE

Development Bureau Will Meet In Escanaba June 16 and 17

The public is invited to attend the 23rd annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, which will be held here June 16 and 17 in conjunction with the annual cruise of the Detroit Board of Commerce.

Guests will register in the Delta hotel Friday, June 16, and the meeting will open with a noon luncheon at the Sherman Hotel. Welcome will be extended by H. H. Shepeck, president of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, and Abbott M. Fox of Iron Mountain, the Bureau's first vice president, will be chairman of the speaking program. Brief addresses will be made by Col. Floyd Evans and Dr. W. H. Carey of Lansing, and Wilbur Treloar of Ishpeming. The annual business meeting will follow, with President J. J. Hebert of Manistiquic as chairman.

The annual meeting banquet will be served in the Delta hotel at 6:30 p. m. Friday, Mr. Herbert presiding. William Marble of Gladstone will welcome the guests, and Geo. N. Harder of Wells will be toastmaster. The speakers will be Congressman Fred Bradley of Rogers City and Walter Gries of Ishpeming. The musical program will include a vocal solo by Prof. Samuel C. Ham of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa.

Breakfast Discussions On Saturday morning at 8 o'clock there will be a breakfast round-table at the Ludington hotel, the theme being "Producing and Marketing Upper Peninsula Potatoes." John P. Norton, publisher of the Escanaba Daily Press, and a practical farmer, will preside. Five-minute talks on the potato industry will be made by D. L. Clananan and B. A. Heath, Marquette, Earl Roberts of Houghton, and H. A. Riley, Cadillac. Robert Pelletier, former Maine potato grower, will tell why he came to the Upper Peninsula to grow potatoes.

Another breakfast will be served at the same hour in the Sherman Hotel, devoted to tourist publicity and with W. H. Shockley, Menominee, presiding. Advertising and publicity phases of the peninsula's tourist promotional program will be discussed briefly by Wm. J. Duchaine of Escanaba, Edward Dreier of Grand Rapids, and Henry Brummer of Menominee. Both sessions will be followed by discussions concluding at 9:30.

The steamer City of Detroit III is due to arrive about 10 a. m. at Merchants Dock with 350 members of the Detroit Board of Commerce. Two bands and all attending the Bureau sessions will join with Escanaba citizens in welcoming them. From 10 o'clock until 2:30 there will be entertainment including golf, log-rolling, and softball, with opportunities for friendly contacts. Ladies are especially invited, and an afternoon bridge tea is being arranged for women visitors.

About 12:30 p. m. Saturday, a luncheon will be served aboard the City of Detroit III, in which a limited number of Upper Peninsula people will join. There will be a short speaking program on the theme, "Selling Michigan to Michigan."

Registration fee of $1.50 will include ticket to the Friday evening banquet. The two-day meeting is sponsored by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, whose convention committee is in charge of arrangements. Inasmuch as a large attendance is prospected, early reservations are advised.

Alger Students Graduate From MSC

Marinette Man Gyped By Two Gypsy Women

Menominee, June 7.—Sheriff's officers of Marinette and Menominee today issued a warning to be on the lookout for a band of gypsies who are wanted for robbery in Marinette and Green Bay.

Two women, one about 40 and the other about 30, dark complexion, and thin, robbed Louis Frishman, Highway 64, half a mile west of Marinette, of $64 this morning, telling him they were going to tell his fortune.

Sheriff's officers said the women told him to empty his pockets into a blanket, then folded the blanket over a glass of water and read to him from the family Bible. They told him not to leave the house until five o'clock. Checking over the contents of his pockets he found he was missing $64.

Several similar reports were received at Green Bay.

Violent Squall Hits Around Menominee

Menominee, June 7.—Riding out a violent squall from the west at 11:15 o'clock this morning, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Manson of Ephraim put back to Menominee early this afternoon in their 24-foot cabin sleep "Rejoice" without mishap.

The Mansons, both veteran sailors, reefed sails and rode out the squall. When the wind shifted around after the blow they returned to shelter in Menominee yacht basin. Rain followed the first hard pull of wind.

The wind broke a large front window in the M. & M. Sausage company's shop on Broadway, and blew down trees across highways in Marinette county. Menominee county highway officials said they had no reports of trees down on roads in this county.

Marinette county highway department removed two trees from across the river road today where they had been blown down by a strong wind in a storm this morning. The trees blocked the road on the river road, according to a sheriff's department report. The sheriff notified the highway department at Peshtigo.

The wind blew down four power line poles of the M. & M. Light & Traction company on Lakeview avenue. Service was continued on other lines and there was only a short interruption of service.

Only minor line trouble and no poles down was reported by the Michigan Bell Telephone company.

Last year's champions the McKie twins are in for keener competition this year from the preliminary cars that have been seen in operation around town. In some instances, neighborhood groups of boys will work together and enter one car.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Business Picks Up

WITH the ore movement about three times as heavy as last year's volume, business on the Peninsula division of the Chicago and North Western railway has made a decided pick-up this spring.

The spurt in ore traffic has resulted in more jobs on the docks and the return of a considerable number of men to make up the increase in train and engine crews.

Nevertheless, loadings are unflinching barometers of general business conditions, and the increase in traffic here indicates that some economic recovery is under way.

Admitting the fact, the usual American reaction is to shrug a shoulder, remark, "Why doesn't the city provide more parks? Broke, I suppose," and let it go at that.

Not much of the old rugged individualism spirit there! Something can be done about it, done without the aid of the city park department, done without a WPA project, done without anything but the determination of a group of parents that they will themselves make a safe place for their children to play.

Any three or four adjoining households where there are children can throw their back yards together, tear down the fences, and create a common playground.

Wise landlords usually don't object. One said, "What if they do use up the grass in the back yards? It just means that they'll stay off the grass in the front."

The kids will grow up. Time enough then to set the yards back into grass and gardens. Infinite variations on this plan can be tried according to local situations.

Parents who are really intent on keeping the kids off the streets will not feel that the cost in energy, initiative, and trouble was too high.

Vacations in Michigan

WITH the advent of the annual Summer vacation season, the State of Michigan again is calling the attention of both its own residents and those from other states to the vast amount of natural facilities which make it an ideal Summer playground for those who seek outdoor recreation.

attained the age of 40. The reason, of course, is that most of its members are now in middle age, and would be seriously affected if this idea in personnel administration continues to expand.

Encouraging the American Legion and others of middle age is the report of a survey indicating that building contractors prefer middle-aged union laborers. According to the secretary of the Building and Trades council in Washtenaw county, the age composition in the construction trade is weighted most heavily in the 45 to 55 years of age group.

World war veterans, therefore, are mostly in the right age group to secure preferential treatment from building contractors. There is some consolation to be derived from this particular situation, at least.

Protect Summer Homes

THE pleasure and profit to be gained from summer homes and camps can be transformed easily into tragedy and loss by fire. These temporary homes, by their very nature, call for greater vigilance during week-end and vacation occupancy.

The use of kerosene for lamps and stoves is a common source of fire. But if a few simple rules are observed, the danger can be greatly reduced. Fill lamps and stoves in the daylight so you can see what you are doing. Stove kerosene and all other flammable liquids outside the house.

Don't make improper alterations or extensions of electric wiring. Guard against over-heating of stoves which are near woodwork; the usual sheet of metal attached to the woodwork is of little value in protecting against ignition.

And speaking of automobiles, if you value your life, don't burn up the roads and don't burn up the countryside. Throwing lighted cigarettes and cigars out of the windows of your car as you pass along the road, may cause great loss of life and property.

Do your part to protect your life, your property, and the great outdoors against fire.

Good advice came from Congressman Fred Bradley in a talk at Sault Ste. Marie Memorial Day. He urged veterans to stop the constant talk of war and to analyze carefully the nation's domestic needs.

The new bus service between Duluth and Sault Ste. Marie, which started June 1, will probably be another severe blow to the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway, already sorely pressed to keep its head above water, so to speak.

World Affairs Reviewed

Presidentialism is a term used to distinguish the Latin-American constitutional system from the parliamentary system of Britain and France, and it is supposed to have been inspired by the United States Constitution. No legislature or supreme court has ever enjoyed the power of the Latin-American president, who, in normal times, is merely a more varnished and polished type of mild dictator.

For a characteristic rule of political thought, there stands continuism. This describes an institution which, despite revolutions, constitutional changes, and other vagaries, has provided more stability in Latin America than seems to be the case. By means of continuism, one nation has had only a half dozen presidents in more than 100 years.

Logically there follow interventions, which are devices used in modern federal Latin-American republics whereby the Chief Executive sends his own henchmen into a state or province to replace the locally elected (by bullets or ballots) representatives. This aids the executive in molding the "elections" to suit himself, lessens the dangers of opposition in centers where it often develops and, obviously, increases his power.

Latin-American censorship is used in two manners. The executive permits a certain type of news, so that his opponents may have the rope wherewith to hang themselves; and then, by judicial use of the censorship, he gets rid of them, one by one. They have no "comeback" after they have cast their first die.

Concerning parties, they are generally nonexistent groups of people, bound together by no program. Only two or three Latin-American nations have organized parties of any importance. All the others, however, have had, and still have, dozens which appear in the morning and disappear at night.

As to elections in Latin America, they are a form of outdoor sport on stated days, when the police and army turn out in full force, and when the people develop great emotional fervor, and amazing physical activity to go through the motions of complying with the demands of the written constitution and with the necessity for sending out over the press association wires, news of periodic elections in the "democracy."

Even where the elections are more than a farce, or less farcical than in most, the problem of the presidential succession arises as soon as the president is inaugurated, and continues in a crescendo for four years. They are a topic for conversation and heated debates, and they prevent much bridge playing and worse crimes, all useless, because even those who participate know that by the unwritten constitution the matter is automatically decided in spheres beyond their reach or control.

The judiciary is composed very often of friends of the president who have graduated from law schools. An unusual violation to be aired in court in a long time. The complaining witness charged that Carlson divulged privileged information by revealing the man's name when he requested that a sub in the Spies mine be inspected.

Marquette merchants have started a practice that may eventually spread to other cities of the Peninsula. They decided that during a period of three months, starting last Friday, stores would remain open Friday nights until 9 o'clock and close at 6 o'clock on Saturdays.

Pythian Magazine Features Shrine

In line with suggestions of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau at Marquette, and Red Cross Lodge, Knights of Pythias, Sault Ste. Marie, the Western Pythian magazine of San Francisco is devoting practically its entire June issue to the Rathbone foundation shrine at Eagle Harbor, and to the present Pythian Pilgrimage Year.

This being the Diamond Jubilee year of the order, many Pythians and their families and friends will visit the little schoolhouse in Eagle Harbor, where Justus H. Rathbone wrote the Pythian ritual in the winter of 1859-60. Only 19 years old at that time, Rathbone, who was the village school-teacher, showed undoubted evidence of genius in his composition.

The school and grounds are now the property of the order, and a granite shaft near the building recounts the story. The monument was placed in 1930, and formally unveiled by officers of the Michigan Grand Lodge and the Supreme Grand Lodge of the United States.

Cuts and material for the June issue of the magazine were provided by the bureau and S. J. Brownlee of Sault Ste. Marie, on behalf of the Red Cross Lodge.

TECH TO HAVE 4-YEAR COURSE

Full Forestry Program Offered With Prof. Noblet In Charge

Expansion of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology forestry course to four years, and the granting of a bachelor of science degree in forestry, have been authorized by the Tech board of control. President Grover C. Dillman has announced. The change goes into effect in September, the beginning of the college's 54th year.

Two years of forestry were introduced in 1936, and a third year of work was authorized later. Among fourth-year courses which will be introduced will be forest policy, forest administration, forest and timber law, forest valuation, forest and wild life conservation, advanced mensuration, and a senior seminar. Some additions will be made to the prerequisite courses of the forestry curriculum.

Will Expand Staff
The expansion will mean staff and equipment additions, though plans for these are as yet necessarily somewhat tentative.

Department head is Associate Professor U. J. Noblet, who received his degree from Michigan State college in the department of forestry. He is a former U. S. Forest Service employe, and for the past three years has been called to Rock Island, Ill., on timber valuation and mapping projects in connection with federal government condemnation proceedings concerned with timber lands.

From 1929 to 1936 Prof. Noblet was Michigan Tech's athletic director during the nine-month academic year, and during the summer was engaged on national forest projects.

R. B. Miller, instructor in the department, holds baccalaureate and master's degrees from Wash-bash college, and the degree of master of forestry from Yale university. He was for several years head of the forestry department at the University of New Brunswick; from 1919 to 1925 forester for the natural history survey of Illinois, and from 1926 to 1934 the state forester of Illinois.

Outstanding in the department's program have been the numerous student inspection trips taken each year under the direction of Messrs. Noblet and Miller. Two-day trips have been taken to both the Ottawa and the Hiawatha national forests, cover-

Summer Schedule At Straits Begins

Traffic during Memorial day holidays warranted the use of all five Michigan state ferries on the Straits of Mackinac, on an hourly schedule. It was not expected to use the hourly schedule until June 1, but, because of the rush, the summer schedule was begun ahead of time.

The new ferry dock opposite the Nicolet hotel was used successfully on Memorial day to load the two big boats, the "City of Munising" and the "City of Cheboygan."

From January 1 to May 30 this year, vehicles carried across the Straits from St. Ignace to Mackinac City totaled 432 fewer than last year. Some of the decrease is accounted for because of the ice jams in the Straits in February.

The Memorial week-end traffic, from Thursday to Monday, inclusive, compared to the Thursday through Monday of 1938, showed a decrease of four vehicles carried. However, on Memorial day this year there were 45 more vehicles carried than on Memorial day of 1938. Total number of cars carried this year on Memorial day was 1,221, as compared with 1,176 in 1938.

"Things look very bright for the summer season, as far as the traffic across the Straits is concerned," said Captain Laughlin, acting superintendent of the Michigan state ferries system.

The ferry schedule follows:
The service between Mackinac City and St. Ignace is on the following schedule (EST):

gan, Jack Thurber, Kay Wylie, Dick Henderson, Dick Baldwin, Ted Chapekis, Jim Moran, Chas. Prokas, Fred Thatcher was den chief and Jack Glavin assistant den chief.

The Beaver den of the Franklin school was second and the Bark River Cubs took third place.

There were fifteen dens entered. The order of the final standings for the first ten of the 15 are:

1. Shooting Star, Pack 10, A. Harwood, cubmaster, Escanaba.
2. Beaver, Pack 10, A. Harwood, cubmaster, Escanaba.
3. Pack 15, M. Goodreau, Bark River.
4. Silver Horn, Pack 12, L. Olson, Escanaba.

Two hundred and eight persons actively connected with Cubbing took part in the all day event. Thirty-three tents were erected. Many of them were home-made. The First Aid tent while treating no serious injuries reported. Bright business in many minor ailments. The Cubs found that they rather enjoyed receiving first aid treatment from Scouts who had special training.

The Cub-o-Rec of this year far eclipsed last year's Cub-o-Rec in total of boys and parents.

An idea of the thirst of the boys may be gained from the fact that over 900 bottles of pop were consumed.

The father and son ball game which was won by the Cubs with a score of 8 to 2 was a feature of the afternoon program.

GERMAN FAIR BOOMS
Germany's famous Spring Fair in Leipzig had 9,800 exhibitors from 28 countries this year, a prosperity figure. Nations at war, including China and Japan, were represented by exhibits as usual. Buyers came from all parts of the world and buying reached near-record figures.

WE,
the WOMEN
BY RUTH MILLETT

"You can buy more brains in a woman than you can in a man for the same amount of money." That statement, made by F. A. Altwater, superintendent of Duke Hospital at Durham, N. C., is backed up by the report of the Social Security Board. It shows that women in commercial and industrial jobs during 1937 received an average wage of $525, and men an average of $1027. Women never will even up those figures until they learn to stick together. Until women hire women lawyers. Until women go to women doctors. Until unmarried women stop siding in with men in the fight against married women working. Until the women who are big stockholders see that in their companies men and women are paid on the same wage scale, and that women stand an equal chance with men when it comes to employment. Today's Recipe

If you have a recipe for salted peanut cake in your collection, will you send it in to this department, in answer to a request from a Garden reader? In the crop of one cormorant we're found the remains of 76 anchovies, each of which was four or five inches in length. It is believed that they cannot work together in harmony.

SOME "CAN'T WORK FOR A WOMAN" Until women stop resenting working for another woman (That won't be until they realize that if they aren't willing to work under a woman, they can't hope ever to hold an executive position themselves.) "You can buy more brains in a woman than you can in a man for the same amount of money." How true that is. And how fighting mad it ought to make us.

BRITISH SHOW THEIR MIGHT

Military Forces Displayed As Recruiting Work Goes On

BY STANLEY ST. LOUIS
 London, England — England wastes no time in impressing upon the foreign visitor that she considers herself still quite capable of maintaining her position as the greatest Empire on earth.

As the ship sailed into Southampton three planes of the Royal Air Force kept circling dangerously close to the vessel. This procedure continued until the passengers disembarking, had been set off on the waiting tender, and the ship had continued on to Bremerhaven, Germany.

Perhaps the stunt was performed because the ship was German owned and that at the same time another German ship was leaving the port. Whatever the reason, it was a good introduction to what the visitor is in for when he steps ashore.

London seems one vast military enlistment bureau. Everywhere the call to the colors is being sounded. The countries that have been tickling the toes of the British lion have finally been successfully in rousing him from his laze nap. Now awakened, the process of sharpening his claws for battle is proceeding apace.

England's almost forgotten heroes, living and dead, of the Great War have been miraculously resurrected. Those who are living and physically fit are once more to enter service for defense of the realm. The dead heroes also serve. Their memory is now being extolled on all sides for purposes of propaganda. Genotaphs that haven't felt a flower's petals for years now receive regular floral tributes. There seems after all, to be some truth in the phrase "The memory of a man who gives his life for his country, never dies."

Recruiting Signs Everywhere
 Signs are posted everywhere in London to entice young and old into the service of their country. Screaming billboards shout at the passing Britisher: "Will you help carry on the great tradition?" "For England and Freedom, join the territorial army!" "Defend Britain, join the army!" "Your country still expects you to do your duty." "Safeguard your liberties."

The writer was standing looking at these signs with a British soldier who had lost an arm in the World War. After gazing long and earnestly at the high pressure advertising for super-patriotism, he turned and said: "How familiar that all sounds. It carries me back to 1914. I wonder! Do you suppose that if we fight another war to make the world safe for democracy we will get another Treaty of Versailles to keep it that way?"

Lord Nelson's historic statue, perched high on its column above teeming Trafalgar Square, must teeter in amazement at what it sees below.

No more ironic place could have been selected for posting signs to sell patriotism to the people, than this pillar on which stands the hero most famous in English history. Looking over the heads of children standing at the base of the monument feeding corn to doves, the birds synonymous with peace, one reads:

"National defence is the business of every citizen. Call at the Strand recruiting office 100 yards East."

In anxiety to swell the manpower of the British fighting forces the ex-soldier has not been overlooked.

Veterans between the ages of 45 and 61 are required to enlist in the National Defense Companies, for 4 years with the option (government's) of re-engagement. These men are to perform a number of drills each year for which they will receive pay and traveling expenses, a bounty of 5 pounds and pay at the current army rates.

War-scares and the rise to power of nations who threaten to unbalance Britain's much cherished, "Status Quo", adds special significance to this year's Military Royal Tournament.

The Tournament is conducted by the Territorial troops of the Empire for the encouragement of skill-at-arms and the benefit of Naval, Military and Air Force charities. From May 18th to June 3rd Englishmen are given the opportunity to see the military might of the Empire. Twenty cents out of every tax dollar is allotted for military purposes in England and the poor Englishman still has to pay a steep price to get in to see the show.

Britain's crack Territorial troops are put through their paces in the Royal Tournament. The show is a combination of Ringling Brothers, Lucky Teeter and Madame Tussaud's "Chamber of Horrors", in supplying the spectators with thrilling excitement.

The motorcycle display by the Royal Corps of Signals is one of the most sensational, daredevil acts ever conceived by man. The riders are picked from the motor-mounted arm dispatch carriers. In mass formation they race about the arena; hurdling obstacles, standing on the seats while traveling full speed, riding backwards and wheeling through intricate maneuvers which require the utmost skill, nerve and judgment.

Mimic Battles Staged
 Two mimic battles are staged during the Tournament. One by the boys of the Duke of York's Royal Military School, the other by the London Territorial Troops. The sound of the machine guns and small field cannon, echoing against the high, vaulted ceiling of the arena, is deafening.

In a scene where an army ambulance is blown up while crossing a bridge, the latest in mechanical fighting equipment is brought into play. New types of cable-laying lorries, gun-carriers, wireless cars, machine guns, small speedy tanks and late design ambulances all participate in the fake battle.

The English love of gold-braid is in evidence in the Musical Drive by "K" Battery, Royal Horse Artillery and the Musical Ride by the Life Guards. The soldiers are dressed in uniforms of fantastic splendour riding sleek horses harnessed in glittering array.

To the Londoner, the Technical Display by the Royal Air Force exceeds all other features of the show. The act depicts a balloon unit of the London Balloon Barrage arriving at its flying site, unloading, inflating, and flying its balloon, hauling down, deflating, packing up and moving off again. Any branch of militarism pertaining to war in the air seems to hold a strange fascination for London residents.

It is from the air that London is so vulnerable and it is from the clouds that she expects the enemy to strike first.

The Royal Air Force effectively demonstrates the vast improvement in air craft production by placing a fighting ship used in the World War next to the latest plane designed for the "Pursuit Squadron". This most modern product of Vickers-Armstrong is a 1939 "Spitfire", single seater fighter. Capable of a speed of 362 M.P.H. it is equipped with a Rolls-Royce 1000 H.P. engine. The machine is 30 feet long with a 37 foot wingspread and armed with eight forward firing machine guns.

During the Tournament active recruiting of volunteers was in progress. A young English officer handed your correspondent a form to be filled out when making application for National Military Service.

When the writer said, "Not for me, thank you, I am an American."

The officer came back with, "That's quite all right, sir, we can get along without you people this time."

The reply, most fervently stated, was, "I certainly hope so."

Longview Plans 1939 World's Title Role

The 1939 world's championship log rolling tournament has been awarded by the National Roleo association to Longview, Wash., model lumbering town of the Long-Bell company, according to word received from George T. Springer, Minneapolis, president of the organization which promoted the revival of the old-time lumberjacks' sport at Escanaba in 1937 and 1938. The roleo dates are Aug. 11 to 13.

Jimmie Herron, Keiso, Wash., boom man, who won the world's championship at the Upper Peninsula State Fair here last year, will defend his title at the Longview roleo. There is a likelihood that Mary Jean Malott, Bloomer, Wis., who defeated Clivia Winters, Astoria, Ore., nurse, for the women's title here, will journey out to Longview to birl with the Pacific coast lumberjills.

There is a possibility that Joe Connor, Cloquet, Minn., 1937 champion, Wilbur Marx, Eau Claire, former champion, and Jimmie Running, third prize winner last year at Escanaba, will also compete at Longview.

From the Port Orford cedar camps on the southern Oregon coast to the Idaho pine stands on the roaring Clearwater, and from Ryderwood, in the heart of Washington's great Douglas fir country, to the dense forests of British Columbia, the challenge has come out:

"You who think you are lumberjacks, who can ride a 'toothpick' log in swirling waters, or swing an ax until the white chips fly like falling snow, prove your mettle!"

The roleo, until depression days brought an end to many celebrations, is being revived this year as one of the features of Washington's golden jubilee commemoration of its admission to statehood. Longview is the home of the world's largest sawmills, those of the Long-Bell Lumber Co. and the Weyerhaeuser Timber Co.

Lumberjacks Practice Feats
 Roleo directors, anxious to obtain outstanding loggers to compete for world titles, have arranged for camp elimination contests. So right now, throughout the forests of the great northwest, the "fallers," "buckers," "high climbers" and other members of the woods fraternity are practicing to get themselves in top condition.

When a camp selects a winner it will back that winner to the limit. The husky, muscled lumberjacks of the Puget sound forests, for instance, will be so convinced their champions can defeat those of other woods operations that they're likely to bet almost anything, including their prized calked boots, on the outcome of tree topping, sawing, chopping or log rolling contests.

There'll be a surprise for those who attend the roleo—they won't be asked to pay an admission fee. The events will be held on Lake Sacajawea and in the surrounding park, right in the heart of Longview. Sloping banks of the lake help form a natural amphitheater.

Take Many Chances
 Most spectacular of the contests is the high climbing. Duplicating his actual workaday job, a lumberjack will mount nearly to the top of a 250 foot tree, equipped with his climbing spurs, safety belt, rope, ax and saw, racing all the while against an opponent in a near-by tree. The man who cut off his tree at a specified point, reach earth and unbuckle his rigging first is declared the winner.

The event is exciting, the participants often taking chances that can mean serious injury or death. The tree topped, the lumberjack speeds for the ground, sometimes descending in huge 15 foot leaps, made possible by proper manipulation of his safety belt.

The more daring of the contestants often will add a few seconds to their time just to offer onlookers a more spectacular view. When the topmost part of the trunk goes crashing to the earth, the remainder of the tree sways as much as 15 or 20 feet. Instead of heading for the ground, when the sawing is over, the daredevil will scurry to the top of his tall spar and either stand or sit there nonchalantly as the huge fir gyrates in a sickening arc.

Ride Tricky "Toothpicks"
 Birling or log rolling starts out on logs 20 inches in diameter. As the less capable birlers are weeded out, the lumberjacks will work down to 16 inch logs and finally to 14 inches. When the logs get that small, they're "toothpicks," and when they're "toothpicks" they become as difficult to ride as the trickiest and the meanest outlaw broncho. They're so small they are practically pushed beneath the water by the weight of the two men atop them. Trained feet can make them do almost anything from the can-can to the Highland fling in the water.

Ruling over the celebration, of course, will be Paul Bunyan, who will impersonate the famous logger of fiction. Although Wisconsin and Michigan woodmen claim the mighty Bunyan was born and bred in that area, Pacific coast loggers testify that he got around to scooping out the present Hood canal to form the rugged Olympic mountains.

Assisting Bunyan with his duties will be a Pauline. She will be one contest queen who won't be chosen solely for her looks, for among the things which a girl must do to reign over the roleo are patch a logger's "tin" pants and fry pancakes. The pancake frying is especially important, because the legendary Bunyan was a lover of pancakes, often tossing down 300 at one sitting.

POLICE SEEKING HIT-RUN DRIVER

Motorist Escapes After Striking Two; Stolen Car Recovered

Police are seeking the driver of a large car which struck two cars early Tuesday night, abandoned his own and escaped from the grasp of one of his victims.

According to police who investigated the affair, the unknown driver struck a car owned by Robert Sloan of Trenary near the outskirts of the city about 10:45 Tuesday night and later struck a car driven by Mrs. Steve Trekas, 1312 Delta Avenue, Gladstone. Sloan chased the car into Escanaba and through several streets before the driver abandoned his car on Seventeenth street.

Sloan met the driver in an alley, grasped him but the man escaped when Sloan was unable to hold him because of a back injury.

Clear descriptions were given police of the man and important clues found in the abandoned automobile. Officers at Hermansville were notified yesterday and state police at Iron Mountain were on the lookout for the suspect.

Police recovered a car belonging to Dr. O. S. Hult of Gladstone in a ditch on North 23rd Street, where it had been abandoned by some person who had taken it from a parking place at Gladstone. The car was not badly damaged and nothing was missing from it.

It is said that pigs are the only animals that will eat primroses.

BEHIND THE SCENES

By Bruce Cotton

Washington—Contrary to general impression, the Dies committee is not nearly through with its inquiry into the activity of Fascist-type organizations.

There are a good many organizations of the Fascist or of the anti-Semitic type in America today. What the committee wants to find out is whether any effort is being made to tie them all together and co-ordinate their activities under one central body or leader.

SHIPS FALL TO SEX APPEAL

The Maritime Commission thought it would be nice to restore famous old American shipnames to the high seas.

So, when new boats began to come down the ways under the commission's construction program, the names of the proud old clippers were dusted off and applied—Staghound, Challenge, Comet, Northern Light, and so on.

But there's many a slip, etc. The first batch of these nicely-named ships were sold to a soulless corporation, which ripped off the names and named the ships for girls—Corra, Clarabelle, Genevieve, and so on.

RECALLING ANOTHER SUB MELODRAMA

The tragic case of the British submarine Thetis, which rested for hours with one end on the bottom and the other at the surface while rescue crews tried to cut a hole in the surface end and let the trapped men out, recalls one of the most dramatic escape stories in the annals of the U. S. Navy.

The S-5 went out for a swim off the Delaware breakwater sometime back in 1920. She made a dive, some valve or other went wrong, and she settled on the bottom in about 150 feet of water.

SERIAL STORY DATE WITH DANGER

By HELEN WORDEN

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, Mary is questioned for the murder of Martin while Ladd baits Shirley and Burden with special copies of a paper announcing her arrest.

CHAPTER XXV

"I've just heard of your arrest," Ladd protested, leaning on the police commissioner's desk.

"Mr. Burden," he said noncommittally. "Jack, hair ruffled, eyes blood-shot, and clothes wrinkled, burst into the room, clutching a rumpled copy of the Gazette.

"This isn't true," he shouted, pointing to the headline, "I killed Martin and I'm glad of it."

Ladd and Fenelon exchanged glances. Mary's own expression cleared as she realized what was happening.

"Well, aren't you going to do anything about it?" demanded Jack hysterically. "Here I am, arrested, and you—"

Fenelon gave him a quick look. "Take it easy, boy," his voice was kind. "We'll have to have some proof of this first."

There was a commotion outside the door. Clem Shirley pushed past a protesting officer.

"I heard that," she cried. "You can't arrest him. He didn't commit the murder. I did it!"

She waved a copy of the Gazette under Fenelon's nose. "This is all a lie. Mary Franklin had nothing more to do with Mr. Martin's death than you have. He was a snake and I killed him with my own revolver!"

She was in a frenzy now, beside herself with worry. She wore a fur coat over a lounging robe and she was without a hat.

While she babbled on, Jack rushed to her side, vainly trying to keep her from talking. "Stop, dear, stop," he murmured. "You don't know what you're saying. You're not yourself."

With a quick gesture, he put his hand over her mouth.

The commissioner listened gravely, nodding, sympathizing, as he heard both confessions.

Then calling into his telephone, he said, "Bring in Bill Condon."

Condon, Martin's butler-valet, was pushed in by two cops without any pretense of tenderness.

"Who killed Martin?" asked Fenelon coldly.

Condon focused on Jack. "There's the killer," he howled. "Don't lie to me," said the commissioner. "You probably killed Duke yourself."

After a few similar questions and incidents, Condon began to get wise.

"Why, Commissioner, I wasn't even in the joint when the Duke kicked in," he whined. "Honest to Gawd, I don't know a thing about it."

stern compartment, one by one, to drill a hole through the thick steel plating. After hours of labor, a hole about an inch thick was made.

Then Cooke got a thin rod, tied some seaman's undershirt to it, stuck it up through the hole, and waved it back and forth, hour after hour.

In the end the army transport, General Goethals, spotted it, decided there was no fishing buoy, went over to investigate. Cooke explained his plight through the one-inch hole, the Goethals men got out an acetylene torch and cut away a section of the steel plating—and Cooke and every one of his crew climbed out, unscathed.

"Take him out," ordered Fenelon.

Still whining, Condon was led away, his mouth twisted in a snarl.

The commissioner turned to Jack. "What motive would you have for killing Martin?"

Jack hesitated. If he mentioned Clem it would involve her. "I guess—I guess—I didn't know what I was doing, sir."

Fenelon smiled. "And you, Miss Shirley, what motive would you have for shooting Duke Martin?"

Clem pushed back her chair with a weary hand. "I'm so befuddled I can't think. But I do know that neither Mary nor Jack did it—the Gazette was all wrong about Mary."

Mary looked at Ladd. He did not meet her gaze. She turned to Fenelon.

"I saw Duke Martin after they had left. He was as alive as you."

"Did you kill him?" asked Fenelon skeptically.

"So the Gazette claims," said Mary, again looking at Ladd.

"Where's the gun?" demanded the commissioner. No one had seen any gun. Then they'd all seen it, but no one could produce it.

"I think you can go, Miss Franklin," interrupted the commissioner. "And you'd better take your young friends with you."

"But if we're all set free," asked Mary, "who really did the killing?"

"Person or persons unknown," Alons with Ladd, he opened a humidor. "These are very good Havanas, Tom," he remarked. "I keep them for special celebrations."

As he passed Ladd the cigar he winked.

Ladd lit his cigar. "That Shirley girl's a lot better than I thought. She wanted to save young Burden. How do you suppose it happened?"

"She was going with Martin a little, wasn't she?"

"Yes."

"That's simple enough. The boy was jealous. She went to Martin's place. He followed. Mary trailed them."

"I can understand that," drily commented Ladd.

Fenelon eyed him steadily. "Personally, I believe Burden shot Martin with that revolver the Duke used to carry around. Martin never stirred without it, but he didn't have it on when my men searched his body. The case is closed as far as I'm concerned."

"There's nothing else to do. With Mary and Clem and young Burden all lying to save each other we'd never get a case against any one of them that would stand up in court."

"How about Condon?" Ladd asked.

"Condon is scared of going to the chair for the Janice French murder—it was murder," the commissioner went on. "We've been questioning him since the Martin killing was discovered and he's told us everything. He'll turn state's evidence to send Nick Hart up for 20 years, and Condon himself will be lucky if he gets off with 10. There's an old pre-legal gang killing charge against Condon, too."

"We've spread the word around the underworld by grapevine that Condon shot his boss. So right now the healthiest place for him is inside prison walls. Martin had a lot of friends as well as enemies."

"And you'll let the Martin killing go as 'unsolved'?"

"Even the district attorney agrees that's best," Fenelon concluded. "Good riddance of bad rubbish—and an end to the Dove and its racketeers."

When Ladd left police headquarters, a disconsolate managing editor, he stood on the corner, face set in a pessimistic scowl. Then suddenly he brightened. Shoulders straightened. Stepping as if he were going to a fire, he dived into a cigar store and dialed Mary Franklin's number.

"Hello, Mary? What you've just come in? Well, stay in." He roared into the phone. "I've got something to tell you."

Mary shrieked back that she'd been fired from the Gazette. Ladd paid no attention. His voice was deafening. She couldn't answer him because he wouldn't stop.

Five minutes later Ladd was looking into the eyes of the woman he loved.

"It's no use," he said. "I can't get along without you."

TORNADO HURLS WAREHOUSE TOP

Damage Caused Flooring Plant Structure By Wind

A "twister" swept with terrific force through a narrow path in the northern part of the city shortly before noon yesterday demolishing part of the flooring plant warehouse.

Over 200 feet of the structure's roof was torn away and buried some distance and so great was the force of the wind that about 70 feet of the building's concrete wall was blown in.

Large water pipes were torn apart and huge strings and timbers were shattered as if they were match sticks.

Portions of the roof were hurled to the water's edge, a distance of between 400 and 500 feet.

An eye witness said the roof was carried into the air a distance as high as the water tank which the twister narrowly missed.

John Lagina, who was engaged in demolishing an old building nearby, was just out of the path of the windstorm.

New Yorkers Get Only Five Safeties Off Claude Passeau

New York, June 7 (AP)—Reaction set in today against the New York Giants after their hitting spree of yesterday and they collected only five safeties of Claude Passeau in losing their series opener to the Chicago Cubs 7 to 1.

The former Phil, in winning his first game for the Cubs, fanned seven, got two of Chicago's 12 hits and scored twice himself.

The Giants led off in the third with their only run on Burgess Whitehead's triple and Joe Moore's double, but Jimmy Gleason tied the score for the Cubs with a homer in the fourth and errors helped them to go ahead with two tallies in the fifth and three more in the seventh.

SPILLING THE DOPE

WHEN THE NEGRO baseball team, the Ethiopian Clowns, come to town tonight, we hope they are more kindly received than they were last year . . . at that time, local fans put up one of the most disgusting exhibitions of sportsmanship we have seen in a long time . . . in spite of the fact that the Clowns had put up a fine show of comedy and baseball ability, many fans hurled insults at them when their business manager called them off the field in the middle of the game

TWIN BILL WON BY WASHINGTON

Seven Runs Pushed Over In Ninth to Take Nightcap, 13-9

Cleveland, June 7 (AP)—The Washington Senators came through with seven runs in the ninth inning to win a night cap over the Cleveland Indians 13 to 9 and sweep a double bill. Two home runs by Roberto Estalola helped the Nats to a 10 to 4 victory in the opener.

The double-header saw an outburst of circuit clouts. In addition to Estalola's first game homer in the fifth, of the first game with one man on and the other in the sixth with the bases empty, Lewis got one for Washington in the seventh of the second game.

Ralph Heikkinen, Upper Michigan's All American guard, we are told, will direct the athletic program this summer at Camp Charlevoix, a boys camp in the northern part of the southern peninsula . . . associated with him will be Charlie Backman, Michigan State college grid coach who visited in Escanaba last week during the Relay Carnival . . . Backman will give a course in football at the camp. . . Heikkinen, who is freshman line coach at Michigan, has been called by Fritz Crisler as the "most intelligent athlete I have ever worked with" . . . incidentally, Backman has great respect for Crisler's crew next fall, claiming Michigan will have another great team . . . 'Connie Mack Day' Staged In Detroit; Old-Timers Shine

DETROIT, June 7 (AP)—This was the day for the aged (in baseball years, at least) at Briggs stadium and for more than an hour men whose names were household words with Detroit Tiger fans a decade or two back again raved over the turf of a major league park. The occasion was "Connie Mack Day" staged by the Detroit Old Time Baseball Players Association in honor of the veteran manager of the Philadelphia Athletics. Tonight there was a banquet at which Mr. Mack and Owner Walter O. Briggs, of the Tigers, were among the speakers.

ROWE IS LOSER FOR FIFTH TIME

Seven Bengal Safeties Kept Well Scattered By A's Pitcher

DETROIT, June 7 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, after two victories over the New York Yankees, fell victim today to Lynn (Line Drive) Nelson and the sixth place Philadelphia Athletics, losing the opener of a three-game series by a score of 5 to 4.

Nelson scattered seven Detroit safeties which included Rudy York's fifth home run of the year and Dixie Walker's fourth. Both circuit blows came with the bases empty, however. Nelson fanned three and walked none.

Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe lost his fifth game of the season, being touched for 12 of the 14 Philadelphia hits, and all of the runs. The A's scored twice in the first inning and the Tigers never were able to catch up. The four runs were scattered over as many innings.

The victory pulled the A's to within half a game of the Tigers, currently in fifth place in the league.

Rowe was lifted for a pinch-batter in the Detroit eighth and Luther Thomas hurled the ninth, allowing two hits but no runs.

The A's lost a run in hitting Rowe's delivery. Gantenben started with a single and Wally Moses sent him to third with a double. Gantenben scored on Ambler's infield out and Moses came home on Stebert's single.

Rowe settled down and held the Athletics scoreless for four innings. The Tigers finally touched Nelson for their first run in the fifth, Rowe driving Pete Fox home from second base with a single to center and making the score 2-1.

Promptly the A's got Rowe into more trouble, filling the bases with none out on two singles and Chapman's successful bunt safety.

Rowe fanned Nagel, but Bob Johnson scored from third as Chapman was forced at second, and when Gantenben singled to center, the fourth Philadelphia run came home.

The Tigers got an unearned run in the sixth when Walker reached second on Ambler's wild peg on his grounder, took third on an infield out and scored on Greenberg's long fly to Chapman.

What proved to be the deciding run came in on a passed ball in the Philadelphia eighth, after Chapman doubled and reached third on Nagel's scratch single.

New York, June 7 (AP)—Tony Lazzari, the former star inflied of the New York Yankees who in less than two full seasons has been shunted from the Chicago Cubs to the Brooklyn Dodgers to the New York Giants, was given his unconditional release again today.

The veteran made two of the Giants' four errors today, one of the fumbles letting in two runs, and in addition batters twice beat out bunts in his direction.

Lazzari was signed by the Giants immediately after being turned loose in mid-May by the Dodgers, but did not play for New York until May 28 because of a lengthy attack of tonsillitis.

Lou Chiozza was expected to play third for the Giants tomorrow.

Boston, June 7 (AP)—Right-hander Bill Swift held the Boston Bees to seven scattered hits today while shutting them out, 2-0, in his first start of the season for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Every one of the Pirates hit Deacon Danny MacFayden at least once and 10 safeties were charged against him when he gave way to a pinch-hitter in the seventh. Lefty Joe Sullivan held the Pirates hitless during the last two frames.

HIGHER PRICED ISSUES REVIVE

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES table with columns for Net change, High, Low, and Close for various indices.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER
New York, June 7 (AP)—Buying in some of the higher-priced issues moved the stock market forward another notch today.

The creeping advance showed a little speed in the forenoon, then slackened before the finish. Final prices were mixed but gains outweighed the losses.

Attracting the bulk of the buying were such issues as Westinghouse, Du Pont, American Can, American Telephone, International Harvester, U. S. Gypsum, Public Service of New Jersey, Union Carbide, Owens-Illinois Glass and General Electric.

Brokers said there were indications some investors who sold out in the March war scare were replacing their holdings in belief conditions in Europe had improved and business in this country would profit by the respite from the war alarms.

Hopes for improvement in business after mid-year mounted in some quarters. A rebound in automobile production was expected to help recovery in the current week.

But stock market traders operated cautiously while they waited to see whether the list would cut through the present "resistance area," as it was described by chart theorists.

Transactions slowed to 530,840 shares compared with 600,410 yesterday.

Barbara Burt, 4, Called By Death

Barbara Jean Burt, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Burt, 520 North 10th street, Gladstone, died at St. Francis hospital at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, of ruptured appendix.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral Home where it will be in state late this afternoon. Funeral services will be held at All Saints church in Gladstone at 10:15 a. m. Friday, with the Rev. Fr. Joseph Schaul officiating. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery here.

Cats Tearing Up Garden; Eat Birds

Several complaints have been received from Escanaba residents of the damage being done by house cats. In many neighborhoods, pet cats have been tearing up flower gardens and killing birds. Stray cats will be exterminated just like dogs which are not kept tied up. Owners having desirable cats should see that they are not allowed to run loose and cause damage.

Menominee Asked To Repay Schools

Menominee, June 7—The City of Menominee, which owes the city public schools $18,110.96 in taxes which were collected by the city and never returned to the schools, was today asked by Superintendent John L. Silvernale to pay $5,000 of the amount before June 15.

Olsen the school superintendent said the $5,000 is needed to meet current expenses, including teachers' salaries before the close of the school term on June 16. The debt of $18,110.96 accumulated over a period of years and was inherited by Mayor Olsen's administration. The present city administration has paid the schools its share of taxes collected. Superintendent Silvernale said.

a meeting of the Menominee school board Monday afternoon, when the board approved a $168,271 budget for 1939-40. The budget for the ensuing year is about $1,500 less than the $170,756 for last year. Anticipated total receipts for the ensuing year is estimated at $169,955 which would be $1,686 over the budget. With the uncertainty concerning the amount of state aid which will be received the school board may, if state aid is reduced, be compelled to ask the city for payment of another $5,000 to aid schools next year.
