STAD LONDON UNBENDS FOR ROYAL COUPLE

NOISY HOMECOMING IS STAGED FOR KING, QUEEN

London, June 22 (AP)—England wrote "well done" after the King and Queen's tour of salesmanship of empire to North America in an hilarious welcome home tonight that upset the British tradition of stolidity.

It was more like an American football celebration than a formal greeting to a reigning monarch from a visit to one of his dominions and her neighbor.

Top hats waved in the air among dilapidated workmen's caps and broad accents of Welsh miners blended with voices attuned to parliamentary oratory.

The royal pair got their first welcome from their daughters, Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, who boarded the Empress of Britain in the English channel off the Isle of Wight.

The princesses climbed aboard the liner from a destroyer and ran to their mother's arms crying "Hello Mummy."

At Southampton, where the liner docked a few hours later, umbent with whistles, sirens and flags before the more formal welcome from officials.

The king and queen, however, came in London with the arrival of the royal party at grimy Waterloo station, decorated for the occasion with Union Jacks, Canadian flags and the Stars and Stripes.

Streets jammed As the royal party alighted from a special train drawn by a shining locomotive, the Sir Francis Drake, the princesses walked across a crimson carpet to shake hands with the mayor of Lambeth Borough while the king and queen chatted with Prime Minister Chamberlain and United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

Then the royal group got into an arm-embellished carriage drawn by the famous Windsor greys which trotted from the station between lines of cheering thousands.

The king and queen drove along jammed, bunting-draped streets past the majestic lions of Trafalgar Square, a sea of vigorously waving British and United States flags. Many spectators held aloft placards reading "welcome home"

Tax Relief Bill Passed By Senate

BY RICHARD L. TURNER

Washington, June 22 (AP)—The senate passed the "business relief" tax bill today but only after advocates of bigger and broader income taxes had amassed enough votes to give the sponsors of the measure the scare of their parliamentary lives.

Standing silently aside, the currency expansion bloc let the bill go to a vote without, as it had threatened, filibustering to force the administration to meet its terms on the issuance of new paper money and the price to be fixed soon for newly mined silver.

Spokesmen for the currency group, continued, however, to speak ominously of the outlook for quick enactment of the relief appropriation and other measures which must become law by June 30 if serious embarrassment to the government is to be avoided.

"You see," said Senator McCarran, (D-Nev.), leader of the currency expansion men. "This isn't a filibuster. We could have tied up the tax bill indefinitely."

"Does that mean, senator, that the gates will be open for the relief bill in the same way?" a reporter asked.

"I wouldn't say that about any bill from now on," McCarran answered, with emphasis.

Profits Levy Gone The tax bill, product of many months agitation for the removal from the tax structure of "obstacles" and "deterrents" to business recovery, was passed on a voice vote, without any audible dissent. It normally would go next to conference for a compromise with the house on amendments added by the senate.

Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the finance committee strongly intimated that this step would be skipped, by simply asking the house to concur in the senate changes.

The bill provides for elimination of the fragment of the undistributed profits tax which has remained on the books for the last year, allows corporations to deduct a year's losses from the profits of the two succeeding years in determining taxes to be paid extends the life of several "nuisance taxes" and the three cent out-of-town postage rate, and makes adjustments in the capital gains act.

Under present law corporations making $25,000 in a year pay a tax graduated from 1 1/2 per cent to 1 1/2 per cent depending upon how much of their profits are disbursed as dividends to stockholders. This is called the undistributed profits tax. In its place, under the new bill, they will pay a flat rate of 1 1/2 per cent.

HAYWARD POSSE ALL TIRED OUT

Strain of Manhunt for Killer Olson Begins to Take Toll

Hayward, Wis., June 22 (AP)—Fatigue struck today at the vigilante army of north woodsman determined to stand their posts as long as their quarry, Ray Olson, fugitive killer, remains at liberty.

Sheriff George Seehuetter, who had been directing 200 possemen, went home to rest, near collapse from seven days and nights in the rough country. He retired protesting "I was there when all this started, and I want to be right up there when we catch up with him. I want to give him what he gave us."

The 30 year old ex-convict gave Seehuetter and four deputies hot lead and burst into the wilderness to hide when they stormed Indian John Blue Sky's cabin Saturday to arrest Olson for automobile theft. Two officers were slain.

The worn-out sheriff left the posse in the hands of lieutenants. The manhunters' bearded faces were lined from fatigue, their eyes bloodshot from lack of rest and exposure, their stomachs gnawing for want of substantial food. The strain was beginning to take its toll.

They were bouyed, however, by the thought that Olson, if he still was hiding out in the Moose lake area where the search centered, was beset by equal if not worse hunger. His last known forage for food was last Monday.

Prison To Replace Alcatraz Planned

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Attorney General Murphy said today plans have been drawn for a new prison to take the place of Alcatraz.

But he told reporters its location has not yet been selected. He reiterated his opinion that it ought to be in an area remote from any city.

Murphy said he did not know whether the proposal to abandon Alcatraz as a prison could be submitted to congress this session. He added that when and if congress approved it, however, "the Alcatraz investment could be preserved."

NAVAL FORCES DOUBLE UP IN SWATOW AREA

AMERICAN CITIZENS TO BE PROTECTED, SAYS YARNELL

Shanghai, June 22 (AP)—The United States and Great Britain doubled their naval forces today in the Japanese-occupied South China port of Swatow in the face of a belated warning to the warships and nationals of both to leave a zone of possible hostilities.

Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, summarily rejected the warning which foreign officials said was not received yesterday until two hours after the Japanese announced the fall of Swatow and cessation of hostilities.

Destroyers Stand By The U. S. navy department announced Admiral Yarnell informed the Japanese that the permanent duty of United States navy vessels is the protection of American citizens and to go wherever necessary at any time to carry out that mission and to remain as long as Americans needed protection or assistance.

(The admiral declared "It is not considered that this (the Japanese) warning relieves the Japanese authorities in the slightest degree of responsibility for damage or injury to United States naval vessels or personnel.")

The United States destroyer Pillsbury, which stood by in the inner harbor yesterday to protect 48 Americans in Swatow, was joined by the destroyer Pope and the coastal gunboat Asheville which leave Hongkong tomorrow for the port.

British Evacuated Britain doubled her naval force there with the arrival of the destroyer Scout to support the Thetis. Twenty women and children of Swatow's British community of 80 sailed for Hongkong aboard two British merchantmen.

British naval quarters in Hongkong said foreign ships had been "ordered" to leave Swatow harbor by 1 p. m. today (midnight Wednesday E.S.T.), but a Japanese naval spokesman in Shanghai said only "the usual warning" had been given to foreigners to leave a zone of possible hostilities.

He denied that there had been any time limit. (A naval ministry spokesman in Tokyo said foreign-

Rough Water Stops One-Man Submarine From Michigan City

Michigan City, Ind., June 22 (AP)—Barney Connett's one-man submarine encountered rough surface water today, whereupon the little craft scuttled back to the harbor after being out more than an hour on a projected 37-38 mile trip across Lake Michigan to Chicago.

Scheduled to start at 5 a. m., Connett delayed departure until 10:44 a. m. (C. S. T.) and even as he headed the fish-shaped craft out into the harbor he conceded it was "pretty rough, all right."

It turned out more than "pretty" rough.

Michigan Slipping Since He Left, Murphy Claims

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Attorney General Murphy said today that recent developments in Michigan, including the overthrow of "a model merit system," constituted "contempt of public opinion."

The former Michigan governor spoke at his press conference about what he termed the "tragic thing that happened in Michigan" where his Democratic administration lost out to the Republicans in last November's election.

"This disruption of the model merit system," he said, "has broken a system we tried to make in good faith as a model for the whole country."

Its development, he added, was the work of Democrats and Republicans alike.

He said there also had been a breakdown in the penology system in the state, and in the health program.

"Efforts to get securities racketeers out of the state have been relaxed," he said.

The return to the "spoils system" he said, "has been thoroughly published by the very good press of Michigan."

Murphy said that on the day he left Michigan for Washington, gambling operations had begun and numbers rackets had opened up.

The attorney general discussed his views on events in Michigan after being questioned about his recent speech at Asbury Park, N. J. in which he pleaded for a reduction in the cost of federal, state and local government.

He said that the Michigan situation "touched me off on the subject."

School Aid Puzzle Is Tossed Back In Legislators' Laps

Lansing, June 22 (AP)—Governor Dickinson signed the three major appropriation measures of the 1939 legislature today, vetoing $500,000 in general appropriations for departments and institutions, and once more placed the Republican party's pledge of a balanced budget squarely in the lawmakers' laps.

Dickinson said his action brought the question of further budget balancing economies "right down to the public school aid appropriation."

He renewed his threat to call the legislature back into special session during the summer if the house and senate fails to break its deadlock over reduced school aid during the two days that remain of its regular session, June 29 and 30.

No Compromise Yet A handful of key men in the legislative fight over whether the schools should receive more than the $32,250,000 state financial officers say is the maximum that can be appropriated under the late Frank D. Fitzgerald's "pay-as-you-go" plan of government reported "progress" today in their efforts to iron out the tangle.

Called together by Dickinson two weeks ago, they asked time in which to work out a compromise on the school aid question. Today's caucus was without results, however, and the group scheduled a third meeting for next Wednesday.

Until the legislature agrees upon a new appropriation, the fund for public schools will remain at $43,000,000 a year under a continuing clause of an act of the 1937 legislature. Budget director Grover C. Dillman has estimated that this would throw the budget for the 1939-41 biennium out of balance by an approximate $7,000,000, augmenting a deficit which he predicts will amount to $31,000,000 by July 1.

More Special Sessions Dickinson said he had derived "no particular encouragement" to date from compromise efforts. If the drive fails and the legislature adjourns finally on June 30 without adopting a reduced school aid

SALARY CLAIMS ARE ADJOURNED

Administrative Board Denies Pay for Todd and J. M. Donnelly

Lansing, June 22 (AP)—The state administrative board "adjourned" the hearing of salary claims today for two members of the old public utilities commission who fought in court against a legislative act that abolished their jobs, but allowed a salary claim for a third, who did not participate in the suit.

The board allowed Frank G. Schmanske, of Detroit, a Democratic member, $1,108.21 salary for the period of litigation, Feb. 15 to April 12, because Schmanske had offered to resign. He had remained on the job, however, at the request of former governor Fitzgerald.

Petitions from Paul H. Todd, of Kalamazoo, chairman, and Joseph M. Donnelly, of Ontonagon, also Democrats, who had filed suit to invalidate an immediate effect provision of the act abolishing the utilities commission and creating a public service commission to supplant it, received no action. The courts upheld the legislature and the two were ousted.

The board's claims committee reported that it was "constrained" to agree with the attorney general that Todd and Donnelly served as de facto officers during the litigation, and were not entitled to salaries.

NEW FEDERAL TONIC SOUGHT FOR BUSINESS

SPENDING PROGRAM SENT CONGRESS BY PRESIDENT

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Congress received from President Roosevelt today the administration's newest plan for stimulating employment, a seven-year, $3,860,000,000 lending program for projects designated as self-liquidating, and $800,000,000 more for the low-cost housing program.

In addition, Mr. Roosevelt told reporters he was considering a reduction in the interest rate of FHA-insured mortgages in an effort to induce more private residential construction.

The program was set out in a letter to Chairman Byrnes (D-SC) of the senate unemployment committee in which the president called for a "permanent policy" of federal financing of self-liquidating projects. Copies of the letter went also to senate and house leaders.

Some Lawmakers Doubtful First reaction on Capitol Hill was mixed, ranging from ready endorsement by administration-minded legislators to forthright opposition by some Republicans and Democrats who have urged reduced spending.

Some who were inclined to look with favor on other proposals indicated they were doubtful about a suggestion for $500,000,000 of loans to foreign governments to finance purchases in this country.

Mr. Roosevelt stressed that the proposals for loans for self-liquidating projects were designed not to cost the treasury a cent and that money repaid could be reloaned to supply continuing stimulation to business, if it were needed.

Loans For Bridges As self-liquidating projects, which would be financed by money borrowed from the public without affecting the treasury's budgetary deficit or direct debt, the president recommended:

$350,000,000 of loans in two years by the new federal works agency (which will absorb the PWA on June 1) to states, counties, cities and other governmental units for sewers, bridges, hospitals and similar projects. These projects would be similar to PWA undertakings for which $1,000,000,000 was allotted last fall, except that the government would lend the whole cost instead of donating 45 per cent. The first year's cost was estimated at $150,000,000.

$750,000,000 of investments in four years by the federal works agency, probably through a new federal toll authority. The money would be spent on express highways, by-pass highways, bridges, tunnels and similar projects. The cost would be repaid, the president said, by collecting tolls and making profits on the resale of excess land bought by the government along the right-of-ways. The first year outlay would be about $150,000,000.

Help For Railroads $500,000,000 of investments in three years in railroad equipment such as freight cars, which would be bought by a new federal corporation.

Capital Highlights

(By The Associated Press) President Roosevelt proposed a $3,860,000,000 program for aiding business through self-liquidating projects and low-cost housing developments.

The senate passed the tax revision bill. The house now must agree to minor amendments before the bill goes to the president. The house agreed with the senate and approved a $338,000,000 fund for farm parity payments and disposal of surplus commodities, in addition to the $500,000,000 fund for soil conservation benefits.

ers and foreign vessels were "free to leave Swatow at any time."

Admiral Yarnell's rejection of the Japanese communication was issued from Chinwangtao, North China, where the cruiser Augusta, his flagship, is anchored.

Compliments Handed Out The conflict between the Japanese and third-power authorities came as the Japanese blockaded the British and French concessions in Tientsin for the ninth day and they were charged with forcing British to undergo indignities and insults.

Americans have escaped the treatment meted the British and the Swatow issues developed a further instance of contrasting handling of Americans and British.

Japanese naval headquarters in Swatow issued a statement expressing "appreciation of the American navy's sympathetic attitude toward Japanese operations at Swatow."

The statement gave no explanation of what constituted this "sympathetic attitude" but Admiral Yarnell, in his rejection, said American warships would try to avoid interference with Japanese operations so far as was consistent with the duty of looking after United States interests.

Another Japanese statement said the destroyer Pope was escorted into Swatow harbor by a Japanese warship, after which Captain John T. G. Stapler, commander of the U. S. navy's South China patrol, made a courtesy call on Japanese Rear-Admiral Eijiro Kondo.

Japanese messages bestowed no such compliments on the British, and Domei (Japanese news agency) reported the destroyer Scout ignored Japanese instructions when entering Swatow harbor.

Swatow itself was reported quiet. BACKED BY WASHINGTON Washington, June 22 (AP)—High officials here strongly backed tonight the stand of Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, who sharply rejected a Japanese request that the United States destroyer Pillsbury leave the Chinese port of Swatow.

Not only did the Pillsbury stay on the scene but the destroyer Pope arrived to join her.

Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the American Asiatic fleet, notified Japanese authorities that the "duty of United States naval vessels is the protection of American citizens and they will go wherever it is necessary at any time to carry out that mission and will remain in such places as long as American citizens are in need of protection or assistance."

No Diplomatic Action While concurring in this, and in Yarnell's notice that Japan would be held responsible for any damage or injury she inflicted on American vessels or personnel, officials here indicated that no diplomatic action was planned as a result of the Japanese request.

Secretary of State Hull took the position that the request was similar to a series of requests in the past, and that it had been made in advance of Japanese occupation of Swatow.

According to the text of the Japanese request—at least in the form in which it was received here officially from Shanghai—Japan informed the foreign consuls at Shanghai that she was about to undertake the occupation of Swatow and asked that foreign nationals and foreign vessels evacuate to a safe distance and keep away from the danger zone while the city was being taken.

(However, news despatches from Shanghai said foreign vessels there asserted the warning was not received yesterday until two hours after the Japanese announced the fall of Swatow and cessation of hostilities.)

quarters said foreign ships had been "ordered" to leave Swatow harbor by midnight Wednesday, Eastern Standard Time. Officials in Washington were puzzled over this point, inasmuch as the text of the Japanese request, as received here, contained no time limit.

There are 48 Americans, including four children, at Swatow, and Whitney Young, American consul there, notified the state department today all were safe.

On previous occasions, when Japan warned of hostilities in an area and asked foreigners to leave, the state department's attitude has been as follows:

To advise Americans living in the prospective danger zone that the military advance was imminent.

To urge them to leave the danger zone or to mark their homes clearly with an American flag.

Having taken these precautions, to continue the protection of Americans, and to hold Japan nevertheless fully responsible for any injury to Americans or damage to their properties incurred by the Japanese invasion.

Despite reports published in Japan, Hull insisted that the United States offer of good offices to mediate the dispute over the blockade of Tientsin still stood.

He added that the offer held good also for any other place where similar questions arose.

He said he was keeping the president fully informed on the Far Eastern situation and following his instructions carefully.

Wolverine Staters Protest Pruning Of Education 'Frills'

Lansing, June 22 (AP)—Taking a lesson in governmental procedure, the "legislature" of the Wolverine Boys State today sat in the state's legislative chambers and adopted a resolution protesting Governor Dickinson's opposition to "frills" in education.

The governor recently condemned "non-essentials" in public education, and mentioned specifically courses in music, health, and physical education.

On the theory that they represented Michigan youth, the young legislators declared in their resolution that "morale and interest in scholastics have come to depend on music and health education to an extent which make them indispensable in the schools of Michigan."

of what the merit system could do," he said. HEAVEN FAR AWAY Lansing, June 22 (AP)—Governor Dickinson shrugged off tonight reports that former Gov. Frank Murphy, now U. S. attorney general, had been outspoken in criticism of the new Republican administration's gambling and patronage policies.

"We haven't got half-way to Heaven yet," the 50-year-old chief executive replied to a question as to whether the state is free from commercial gambling. He said, however, that no reports had reached his notice.

"I understand the state police have their instructions to watch the situation," the governor continued. An aide said that some communications relating to gambling had been forwarded directly to state police officials for investigation.

Dickinson made no direct reply to Murphy's patronage charge.

"I'm not going to deny him the right to his own opinion," the governor declared. "I don't know as you can prevent him from saying that or anything else any way, and he's a long way off, there in Washington."

Michigan Labor Act Is Already In Effect

Lansing, June 22. (AP)—Attorney General Thomas Read said today that the Michigan labor relations act, given immediate effect by the 1935 legislature, was already in effect, although the sending had not yet confirmed the appointment of a commission which will administer the new law.

Read said court precedent supported his belief that the members of the board already "are legally appointed state officers and may perform their duties and exercise their state powers until their terms expire or they have been rejected by the senate."

No Conflict Found Read said his department had examined state and federal labor laws in anticipation of requests for opinions concerning the validity, interpretation, construction and enforcement of the new Michigan act—"more particularly regarding the possibility of a jurisdictional conflict between the Michigan labor mediation board and the national labor relations board."

"It is our conclusion," Read said, "after reading recent decisions of the United States supreme court upholding and construing the national act, that each of the statutes here in question operate lawfully within its own constitutional field."

The federal act serves the express purpose and extends its entire force in protecting foreign and interstate commerce and the rights of employees defined by the statute. The reserved powers of the states are affected only to a limited degree, and may still be exerted to preserve the public peace, to protect private property and lives and to conserve harmonious industrial relations."

Read said "Reasonable construction" of federal and state labor relations acts would indicate "little, if any likelihood" of a clash between authorities of the two jurisdictions.

"The Michigan labor mediation law imposes no burden on interstate or foreign commerce, contravenes no provision of the federal constitution, exerts only a reasonable measure of state police power and does not invade the jurisdiction of the federal authority created by congress in the NLRB," Read said.

"Popular concepts of the Wagner act to the contrary notwithstanding the NLRB has not operated to destroy state police powers nor have the states been relegated to provincial functions of government."

A clause requiring a five-day "cooling off" period, or notice of intention to strike or effect a lockout, Read described as "reasonable exercise of the police power, not destructive of constitutional or natural rights, designed to regulate rather than prohibit the right to strike."

No Weapon Provided "Such a provision imposes no burden on interstate commerce but in harmony with the purpose of the NLRA relieves foreign and interstate commerce of the burden of industrial strife," Read said.

Read said the state labor board possesses no weapon, may inflict no penalties, can issue no order other than those compelling the attendance of witnesses and is wholly dependent on the marshaling of public opinion as a morale force to lessen conflict between management and labor.

The attorney general also upheld a section banning sit-down strikes, asserting such a strike "is unlawful and under a decision of the supreme court of the United States a participant has no protection under the NLRA."

The parliament scene was as warm and spontaneous as the welcome accorded by the man on the street. Members of parliament and peers broke from line as the carriage passed with the king, queen and princesses, and scurried through a cross path for another view.

appropriation, the governor warned, he will call a special session in late July.

And, he was asked, should a special session fail to produce an agreement?

"Why then," he replied, "we can have some more special sessions."

Dickinson definitely turned thumbs down on a suggestion of Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, that the legislators should tap additional revenues in order to balance the current budget, instead of curtailing school funds.

"They won't get any invitation from me to talk about now tax-ed," the governor said. He pointed out that only subjects outlined in his call to the legislature could properly be deliberated in a special session.

The appropriation bills that received Dickinson's signature today provided $4,475,000 a year for the University of Michigan, $2,500,000 a year for Michigan State college and more than $57,000,000 a year for other institutions and departments.

The governor, exercising his power to veto items within an appropriation bill, pruned more than a dozen from the general appropriation measure. Most of the items eliminated affect the budget for the second year of the 1935-41 biennium.

The department of conservation shouldered the bulk of the reduction. The governor vetoed a $400,000 appropriation for park purchases. Also eliminated were: For construction of a national guard armory at Jackson, $42,000.

To defray the cost of the American Legion's state convention, $8,500.

To build an executive cottage for the Mackinac Island state park commission, $1,000.

For equipment of the radio and communication division of the Michigan state police, $4,575, leaving a similar appropriation for one year to satisfy the requirements of both.

In a like manner, he halved another group of appropriations, eliminating: for tomato inspection and seed certification, $22,500; for Japanese beetle eradication, $10,000; for spray residue inspection, $7,500; for the public service commission's cooperative railroad rate program, $10,000; peace officers' compensation $20,000; fire-fighting equipment for the Kalamazoo state hospital, $7,000.

Constantineau Wedding Thursday, Schaffer Church

At a ceremony performed Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at Sacred Heart church, Schaffer, Miss Ruth J. Constantineau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Constantineau of Bark River, became the bride of Albert Constantineau, also of Bark River, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Constantineau.

Rev. Fr. Joseph Remillard, who was celebrant of the nuptial high mass, read the marriage service. Pink and white feverfew and roses decorated the altar of the church for the ceremony.

The bride, who was attended by Miss Marie Constantineau, wore a lovely floor length gown of white satin, with a lace yoke, and her long white veil was gathered to a tiara of pearls. She carried a bouquet of carnations, white snapdragons and feverfew. Her bridesmaid wore a gown of pink net and lace over taffeta, a halo of pink carnations and her flowers were pink snapdragons and roses. Mrs. Constantineau, mother of the bride, wore navy with matching accessories, and the bridegroom's mother wore a gray ensemble with harmonizing accessories.

Wallace Constantineau served as best man.

A wedding breakfast was served at Belle's Coffee shop and a

ONE YEAR TO GO PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITIES

No. 2—John N. Garner

BY BRUCE CATTON Escanaba Daily Press Washington Correspondent

The first time you look at Vice President John Nance Garner, you understand why he is called "Cactus Jack." His face is brick red, his eyebrows are dazzling white, his eyes squint out cannily from beneath them. No man ever looked more like a Texas plainsman than Garner.

Garner is getting on—70, or thereabouts—but the years aren't

Michigan Literary Works Are Listed In Library Bulletin

The spring bulletin of the Detroit public library traces in outline the history and literature of our peninsula state. The earliest traveler's tales of the beauties of the Michigan forests and lakes were those of the Jesuits and agents of Louis XIV, pushing into the wilderness to win the souls of the Indians for God and the country for France—Nicolet, Brule, Joliet, LaSalle, Marquette. The period is reconstructed in the writings of Parkman and in recent biographies of LaSalle and Father Marquette.

The history of the first important settlements, at Mackinac and Detroit—first French, then British, are told in Parkman's "Conspiracy of Pontiac," Agnes Laut's "Life of Cadillac, Roger Andrews' "Old Fort Mackinac" and many other books and papers on accounts of fur trading, Indian warfare and French peasant life in the tiny stockaded villages. Henry Schoolcraft's classic studies of Indian life belong to the early 1800s. After the Civil war came the development of mining and lumbering. The story of the Calumet & Heckla and other great copper mines of the upper peninsula, of the iron ranges and the men associated with them like Peter White and Chase Osborn, make fine reading, and the lumbering phase is even more picturesque and accounts for more fiction. Stewart Edward White's "The Blazed Trail" and "The Riverman" are typical and more recently there's Holbrook's "Holy Old Mackinac" to reconstruct the days before the ceaseless cutting and forest fires wiped out the forests.

Ann Howard Shaw's "Story of a Pioneer" tells of her pioneer life in Northern Michigan and there have been several books written recently, but important in themselves, but interesting in their pictures of small town and farm life in Michigan a generation or so ago—Arthur Pound's "Once a Wilderness," Kenneth Horan's "Remember the Day," and Della Lutes' "The Country Kitchen" and "Millbrook." And coming down to date there are several lives of Henry Ford, of W. C. Durant, a history of the General Motors corporation and at least one novel whose background is the automobile industry—Wessel Smittler's "F. O. B. Detroit."

More than 16,000,000 people visited the areas administered by the U. S. National Park Service during the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1938.

wedding dinner at the home of the bride's parents, with covers for twenty guests. The wedding cake formed the centerpiece of the table, with decorations in pink and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Constantineau will make their home at Schaffer.

PUBLIC HEALTH DOCTORS TOUR

Medics From Finland and Canada Visiting Peninsula

Menominee—Three public health doctors, two from British Columbia and one from Finland, are in Menominee today with Dr. C. C. Corkill, director of the Menominee county health department, observing public health activities.

They were sent to Michigan by the International Health Division of the Rockefeller Foundation for a study of public health work in the field. They have been in Michigan since May 28.

They are: Dr. Erkki Leppo, who when he returns to Finland next fall will be the first county health officer in the country.

Dr. Joseph L. Gayton, city health officer at Trail, British Columbia.

Dr. Robert J. McDonald, who after completion this summer of his field work, will be a public health officer in the wild Peace River district of northern British Columbia.

The three men and the wives of Dr. Leppo and McDonald (Dr. Leppo is single) came to Menominee today from Escanaba. They were sent to Michigan for a study of public health field work. Dr. Gayton said, because "Michigan is recognized as one of the outstanding states in its public health organization."

Gain Information "Our field service trips are for the purpose of showing us how public health departments are set up, how they work. We pick up what pointers we can for use in our public health work," Dr. Gayton said.

Dr. Gayton and Dr. McDonald received their M. D. degrees at the University of Manitoba, and completed a special course in public health at the University of Toronto in May.

Dr. Leppo received his degree in Finland and completed his public health work at Johns Hopkins university at Baltimore.

First to Michigan After completing their public health courses this spring they came first to Michigan, and will go from here to Marquette and thence to Houghton, where the tour of this state will end. Dr. Gayton will then go to Montana, Dr. McDonald to Oregon, and Dr. Leppo to Tennessee to continue their field work, which will be completed by fall.

Scheduled for their two-day visit in Menominee county is a tuberculosis clinic with Dr. Corkill in Holmes township, a visit to Pinecrest sanatorium at Powers, and an inspection of public health sanitation work.

Mountain Drive Receives Praise

"I have driven over most of the mountain trails in the United States, Canada and Mexico, but for a sheer, magnificent panorama and blend of lake, sky and green hill scenery, the Brockway Mountain Drive beats them all," says J. R. Adlee of Los Angeles in a communication to the Upper Peninsula Development bureau.

"They told us in the Copper Country that the Mountain Drive was constructed as a relief measure and that its building was strongly opposed," continued Mr. Adlee, "but everybody who is privileged to enjoy this remarkable spectacle must thank the vision of the man or the men who materialized it. You have in this sky-line road an asset that will pay good dividends on the investment until the end of time. We shall never cease to tell our friends about one of the really outstanding sights of America, and we feel that you cannot publicize it too strongly."

PISTOL SHOOT WILL BE HELD

Postponed Event Will Be Run Off Saturday and Sunday

The postponed pistol shoot of the Upper Peninsula division of the Michigan Rifle and Pistol association will be held Saturday and Sunday at the pistol range at the state fairgrounds in Escanaba.

Marksmen from all over the Upper Peninsula will compete in the two-day event. The Michigan State Police plan to enter a team. Stewart B. Miller of Marquette will be in charge of the matches.

Ralph Sheahan of the Michigan State Police, and Robert McLaughlin of the Michigan Conservation Department came from Marquette yesterday to make arrangements for installing the steel plates on the pistol range barrier. They reported that plans are already under way for the Upper Peninsula Pistol Tournament to be held during the state fair, August 6 to 11.

Leave it to the outsider to come into this country and discover things that we natives have overlooked because we are "too near the woods to see the trees". Morris Ackerman, Cleveland, outdoors editor of the Scripps Howard Newspapers, came into Escanaba Wednesday on the M-35 shore route from Menominee.

Another discovery made by Ackerman on the second day of his stay in Delta county was the interesting sight that is offered the public at an abandoned CCC camp garbage dump site north of Nahma, where each evening a half dozen bears may be seen foraging around.

Inventions Aid Recovery THE oldest tenet of the American industrial faith is that recovery from depression can and often does spring from some radical new departure, usually based on invention.

The invention of the steamboat and the steam railroad locomotive caused an industrial revolution which unquestionably brought revival from depression and the same may be said of the invention of the reaper and binder, the forerunner of a great number of revolutionary agricultural implements. The United States was not the sole beneficiary of these inventions but, being first in the field it gained the primary advantage, an advantage which has been retained through the years.

The automobile was not invented in this country but the first cheap motor car was first developed here and the industry was developed as primarily an American one.

YOU have only to think of the long squabble over Hoover Dam, or Boulder Dam, or whatever it has been finally decided to call it, to realize what a great man is James Boyd, chairman of the high school board of trustees at Willows, Calif.

We are so used to seeing public officials endow public works with their own endless names that Boyd's heroic act stands out like a willow tree in a celery patch.

Boyd, you see, had a good deal to do with naming the school board's new athletic field. Did he come out with Boyd Field? Not he. Said Boyd:

"The taxpayers put up the money we'll call it Taxpayers' Field."

It has taken a long time. But at last the country is to have its memorial to the Forgotten Taxpayer.

THE MEMBERSHIP DRIVE (Marquette Eagle Star)

The Chamber of Commerce membership drive, which will shortly get under way here, should have the united support of all Marquette citizens. Given that united support, the organization can be made to function with great benefit for the city.

As has been frequently pointed out since it was decided to organize a Chamber of Commerce here, membership in the organization should embrace all citizens who have an interest in the growth and prosperity of the city.

FROM BAD TO WORSE (Marquette Mining Journal)

The increasingly pathetic condition of the state's treasury is being felt more and more by local government. On top of orders from Lansing last week warning probate judges that the state will not pay for medical aid to needy persons during June comes word that 690,000 of emergency relief money due the counties is stalled in the auditor general's office in Lansing.

There was no warning that money for needy medical cases would be cut off, and there was no indication that the counties would not receive their proportionate share of relief monies. In fact the opposite was true. County relief directors had been promised definitely that they would receive relief money during June.

World Affairs Reviewed

This is the last of three stories on the concerted attack on Christianity in Europe.

BY MILTON BRONNER NEA Service Staff Correspondent

London—The attack on Christianity in Germany is not only physical, in the form of persecutions, but philosophical. There is a concerted effort to undermine Christian belief and supplant it with a new paganism.

This philosophical attack is led by Alfred Rosenberg, prominent Nazi editor, and a mentor of Adolf Hitler, whose views on religious questions he is believed to have greatly influenced.

The attack takes two lines: (1) Rejection of the so-called "Semitic" elements in the Bible, including all of the Old and much of the New Testaments. (2) The effort to create a new "Germanic Christianity," which old Christians insist is merely neo-paganism.

These Nazi philosophers "prove scientifically" that Jesus was not of Jewish, but of Aryan blood. In an outline for a German-Nordic religion, Felix Fischer-Doddelehen says:

"I am certain that if Jesus could see what the Four Evangelists and the Apostle Paul have made of him, he would cry out with dismay. 'What have you foolish men made—a God of me.'"

In later pages this author says that the early Saxon books represented Jesus as a stern "Hitler-nature."

That is a typical approach. Typical also is that of Prof. Ernst Bergmann of the University of Leipzig. He proclaims the era of world religions at an end, and says:

"A people which has returned to its blood and soil, can no longer tolerate a religion in its character which makes the scriptures of the Jews the basis of its gospel. We must base ourselves on the Holy Scriptures which are clearly written in German hearts. Our cry is, Away from Rome and Jerusalem! Back to our native German Faith in present-day form."

Thus the churches of Germany, hedged between a physical persecution of which the imprisonment of Rev. Martin Niemöller is a symbol, and a deluge of propaganda for a new German religion, are facing difficult times.

Leading Nazis who insist that penalties on professional religionists are inflicted only as a result of meddling in politics, were three times answered by the late Pope Pius XI, who said, in a March 1937 Encyclical, "We know that heavy persecution does exist. Not often before has there been persecution so heavy, so formidable, so grievous and so sad in its more profound effects. It is a persecution in which neither constraint of violence nor pressure of threats, nor tricks of cunning, nor lies, are wanting."

—RUSSIA KANES UP— In Russia, the crushing pressure against the churches which followed the revolution in 1917, appears to have let up a bit. It is now estimated that perhaps half of the Greek Orthodox churches in use in 1913 are now being used in some form by their congregations.

Under the new constitution of 1936, Russia gained a bill of rights somewhat similar to that of the United States. It promises the freedom to practice any religion or none. But the prevailing attitude of the ruling class is atheistic, and such toleration as is now permitted the churches is frigid and unsympathetic.

All propaganda facilities are denied the churches, and such as have recently resumed activity do so only because of the unshakable faith of their individual adherents.

In Italy, though there is nominal peace between church and state, there are deep underlying conflicts, especially over the training of children and the marriage laws. The increase of anti-Semitism and German-style racial beliefs in Italy as German influence mounts there have drawn repeated protests from high officials of the Catholic Church.

A Universal Church can scarcely accept the curious racial doctrines of Germany, which Mussolini appears to have adopted as his own. And the destruction of Catholic Youth and Catholic Action organizations in Italy, leaving the entire training of youth an exclusive state concern, has destroyed much of the church-state understanding of the Concordat of 1929.

The situation of the Catholic Church in Italy itself is unsatisfactory and loaded with potential conflicts. Even in Spain, traditional stronghold of the Catholic Church, a Jesuit order was recently arrested by Dictator Franco, and the inevitable conflict between totalitarianism and religion may lie beneath the surface.

Christianity is fighting a defensive battle over a large part of Europe today.

county already is paying a larger percentage than any U. P. county, will authorize additional expenditures. To say that the state's financial affairs are a mess is putting it mildly, and the recent legislature, because it appropriated monies far in excess of estimated income without tapping sources of additional revenue, is partly responsible.

The auditor general's office says welfare vouchers are being held up so that it can be determined whether sales tax collections will cover the amount. This is further proof that the state is living on a hand to mouth basis and is only one step removed from issuing I. O. U.'s and bills of credit against future income.

There is no denying the fact that the state needs substantially more income and much less expense. Current conditions indicate the system of deficit financing is breaking down. Congress turned down Admiral Byrd's request for another Antarctic expedition. With the civilized world at its present state, they may have been afraid he'd like it well enough to stay there.

Q. Please give the origin of the religious colony at Zion City, Illinois. J. S. B. A. The famous religious colony at Zion City, Illinois, was founded in 1839 by John Alexander Dowie, a religious leader from Australia. Purchasing a large area of ground, marshy and unimproved, during his lifetime he transformed it into a city with thriving factories, banks, and other organizations worth more than $7,000,000.

He was a powerful preacher and a great organizer. He delegated his authority to Wilbur Glenn Voliva who later turned on Dowie and succeeded in dispossessing him. Quite recently Zion City was seized for taxes and Voliva was deposed.

New York Column

BY GEORGE ROSS

New York—Wall Street, though a confining canyon, knows more hustle and bustle, than any other street of such narrow margin, the congestion is terrific and the inmates scurry from door to door, as if the SEC were after them.

And with reason, for most of Wall Street's business is transacted from nine to three and the short hours cram the day's activity.

But Wall Street also has learned to relax during a turbulent day. At least once a week, a throng collects at the foot of the Sub-Treasury building for a vaudeville show, held in the name of sweet charity.

Entertainers from an equally tempestuous avenue—Broadway—have been migrating to Ticker Tape Lane in the noon hour to strut and play for the Greater New York Fund, the sole beneficiary.

Occasionally a tycoon has stepped forward to sing or recite, as the individual talent dictates. It is quite honey.

Even J. P. Morgan was scheduled to relax during a turbulent day. But he paled at the prospect of what fate had in store for him. Morgan was to have emerged on the steps of Uncle Sam's vaults to meet and shake hands with Johnny "Tarzan" Weismuller.

But he begged off—for fear that Weismuller would greet him with that well-known Tarzan jungle cry! The head of the House of Morgan didn't think it would be dignified.

THIN SKATING A busman's holiday proverbially is spent on a bus and a sailor's shore leave in a rowboat on Central Park Lake, so it was not astonishing that Sonja Henie should have devoted much of her leisure in town, before she sailed for Norway, by poking around at the various ice shows. Sonja was especially intrigued by the skating prowess of a young Czech beauty in the ice carnival at the New Yorker Hotel.

This comely skater's name is Vera Hrubá. She is eighteen, tall and blonde and she sailed for America just before Germany's annexation of her native country. For reasons, she doesn't care to return. But her passport visa expired a few weeks ago and Vera, disconsolately, packed and bought her steamship passage home, although the State Department was begged to grant her a reprieve.

Two night before her scheduled departure, an official from the State Department watched her skate. The next day she was granted permission to remain in this country four more months, until something could be worked out!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—Behind the scenes, the State Department has been putting firecrackers under Jesse Jones to get his Export-Import Bank to finance a 300,000-bale sale of cotton to Fascist Spain.

Jesse, however, is skeptical about the deal, doesn't want to give General Franco more than one year's credit, whereas Cordell Hull's young men think that Franco should have at least two years. Jesse fears, probably with justice, that Spain will be involved in another European scrap before two years are up, and the USA never will collect its coin.

Significant of State Department policy is the fact that when Spain was under a republican government, Mr. Hull's career boys kept talking about the fact that Spain had not paid her debts. And when the Loyalists wanted to purchase automobiles and non-military equipment in the United States, they had to pay cash.

Now that Spain is under a fascist dictatorship, however, the State Department, despite Roosevelt's denunciation of dictatorships, is urging heavy credits for Franco.

Question in a lot of people's minds is: Who is running U. S. foreign policy?—the Career Boys or Roosevelt? —WPA POLITICAL TRADE—

Inside reason for that bi-partisan three-man WPA board which the Appropriations subcommittee sprang on Congress was a secret log-rolling deal between Virginia's anti-New Deal Democrat Woodrum and New York's anti-New Deal Republican Taber, both leaders of the committee.

The two men have been working hand-in-glove in battling the White House on relief appropriations. So in return for Taber's potent support, the bi-partisan board was inserted in the bill during the subcommittee's closed-door deliberations, even though it is manifestly inconsistent with the Woodrum-Taber demand for greater economy and efficiency.

For the board will add at least $100,000 to WPA operating costs in salaries, furnishings, traveling expenses, etc. And those items mean patronage boodle.

However, the Republicans would be assured a foothold in WPA, something they have coveted a long time. And as GOP leader of the committee, Taber probably would have a lot to say about picking the Republican board member.

Privately, some House GOP leaders didn't like the scheme, but couldn't oppose it without repudiating Taber. So they swallowed their disapproval.

—"DEMOCRATIC" DEBATE— Also, both Republican and Democratic leader privately were far from happy about the riotous spectacle staged by the House in the closing hours of the 24-hour session which jammed through the relief bill. The House is not noted for decorum, but this particular debate was the worst brawl there in years.

Members sprawled in their seats howling, hooting, cat-calling. Others dashed about like sailors on a jamboree. The floor looked like a monkey house and sounded like a dock riot.

With Taber cracking the whip, Woodrum kept the coalition's ranks firmly in line throughout the long ordeal, but took considerable punishment from Democratic colleagues. Representative Clarence Cannon, veteran Missouri member of the subcommittee, roared him in one of the most sizzling attacks the House has heard in a long time.

Woodrum kept his temper, but he blew up later when Representative Jack Nichols of Oklahoma jumped him just after the Republicans had given Woodrum a big ovation.

"It is fitting for the Republicans to acclaim the Gentleman from Virginia," snapped Nichols. "He, a Democrat, has done what they could not do in hamstringing a Democratic President."

Stung to the quick, Woodrum leaped to his feet and declared that he was not the only Democratic leader supporting the bill. At this Representative Pat Boland of Pennsylvania, Democratic Whip, shouted angrily, "I am one of the Democratic leaders of the House and I most emphatically do not agree with the Gentleman's viewpoint." Woodrum said nothing.

—CZECH REVIVAL PLANS— Confidential plans have been made by the beleaguered citizens of Czechoslovakia to carry on the same campaign in the United States that led to the formation of the new state at the close of the World War.

To that end, Eduard Benes, exiled President, will come to Washington June 28, visit key persons here, and then sail for Europe on July 12. Replacing him as a sort of wandering ambassador in the United States will come Jan Masaryk, son of the late Czech President and more recently Czech minister to London. Young Masaryk is a better mixer than Benes, speaks better English, and will devote himself to rallying Czech sentiment in America.

MILESKI SAYS FUND DRAINED

State and County Out of Medical Aid Finances

Word has been received through the office of Probate Judge Frank J. Mileski that state funds for free hospitalization, including that for crippled and afflicted children, have been exhausted for the present biennium, ending June 1, and no more funds will be available until July 1.

On June 1 the local county office received word from State Auditor General Vernon J. Brown that hereafter hospitals receiving patients would do so at their own cost. Since county funds have already been exhausted, there is no recourse to further relief money.

The reason for the shortage, according to a communication from Hugh E. Van de Walker, chairman of the Michigan Crippled Children's Commission, is that the 1939 state legislature failed to appropriate sufficient funds to care for a deficiency built up during the past biennium for services already rendered.

Due to the fact that deficiencies cannot legally be paid out of the next biennium's appropriation, there will be no additional funds for the work of the commission until the first of July.

"Heretofore," said Mr. Van de Walker, "the legislature provided by deficiency appropriations money to take care of bills incurred, which amounted to approximately $1,200,000. This legislature, however, keeps available only $800,000, short by $400,000 of the necessary amount."

Unless additional funds become available, the commission advises, counties will be financially responsible for all commitments during the present period.

Mr. Mileski reveals that at the beginning of the next fiscal period, July 1, funds will be allocated to each county, according to its population, and after these funds, to be paid monthly throughout the period, are exhausted, county administrations will be on their own. In view of such a situation, Mr. Mileski stresses the fact that with county funds in a very poor state, further relief hospitalization is impossible.

He adds, however, that it will be possible to estimate the situation more closely when word is received from the state commission after July 1, and until that time the situation must be looked upon as one impossible for either the county or state commission to remedy.

He further states that the Welfare Reorganization Bill may also have some unfavorable effect upon the availability of funds for this particular use.

Dr. P. O. Bersel was elected president of the synod and Dr. C. Albert Lund of Escanaba was chosen as vice-president. Sessions of the group were held at Bethany college at Lindsborg.

Rev. Bjorkquist and his party travelled throughout seven states, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Illinois on the trip and visited five state capitols. One of the historical spots which they enjoyed visiting was Lincoln's home and his tomb, at Springfield, Illinois.

TIDAL WAVE EXPLAINED
Marquette—A series of low atmospheric pressure areas within a larger low, acting like eddies in a stream, and possibly coupled with incompletely charted currents in Lake Superior, explain the "tidal wave," which alternately raised and lowered the level of water on the south shore of the lake five and six feet, according to H. B. Cowdick, U. S. weather bureau observer in Marquette.
The level of Lake Superior seemed to drop almost abruptly on Friday morning about the time a severe thunderstorm, accompanied by torrential rain and hail, struck this area. Then during the rest of the morning and afternoon, at approximately half-hour periods, a six-foot surge rose and fell, inundating docks and water-side buildings, stranded small craft, reversed the flow of creeks, flooded highways and left them loaded with debris.

Powers, Mich.—A valuable Jersey cow, owned by Dave Bryson was killed on US-2 and 41 near the Trefle Poquette gas station between 9:30 and 10 o'clock Saturday evening. The owner of the car, a salesman from Escanaba, made several attempts to establish ownership of the cow before leaving the scene. The owner was not at home, but his brother was notified of the accident. The salesman's car was so badly damaged that it could not be driven any further. Assistance was given by a couple from Powers who were driving past immediately after the accident.

A valuable dog, owned by a professional dog trainer, of Birmingham, Mich., escaped from the keeper, while being staked for their evening meal. The trainer and his dogs had encamped at the Bellefleur cabins at Powers. A reward of five dollars was offered. On Tuesday, Mrs. C. J. Quade, cited the stray dog near her home in Powers and began a series of entreaties, endearing tones of voice and several dog enticers, keeping this up from 2 p. m. until 9 before capturing the coveted prize. The animal had been chased by eager pursuers and had one injured paw which he very gratefully allowed his captor to bathe and clean.

The dog is very affectionate and well behaved. The Quades plan on notifying the owner in lower Michigan today.

The dogs were in transit to Saskatchewan, Canada to be trained for hunting purposes, and were of the setter and pointer breeds. One animal was valued at $2500, the trainer announced.

Garden, Mich.—Church services, Sunday, June 25: St. John the Baptist: 8:00 a. m. Mass. Congregational: 10:00 a. m. Sunday school.

Mellon-Spencer The chapel of the S. S. Peter and Paul Jesuit Church in Detroit was the scene of a beautiful June wedding Saturday at 9 a. m. when Miss Leona Mellon, daughter of Alex Mellon, became the bride of Leo Spencer.

The altar was decorated with white flowers, with palms in the chancel. White gladioli tied with white tulle bows marked the pews occupied by relatives and close friends.

The bride wore a gown of white embroidered organza over satin, fashioned with long leg-mutton sleeves, shaped neckline, high bodice and was fullskirted with train. Her veil was fingertip length in front and floor length in back with net tiara. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, lilies of the valley and white orchid in the center, from which fell a shower of satin ribbons with lilies tied in.

Jessie Douglas, a close friend, who was maid of honor, wore a dusty pink marquisette gown, fullskirted, with a bolero of ruffles. Her headpiece was a braided tiara of the same shade with shoulder length veil and face veil to match. She carried pink roses and blue iris.

Mr. Spencer was attended by Fred Nelson, a close friend. Lohgrin's Wedding March was the processional and Mendelssohn's at the recessional were played. Gounod's "Ave Maria" and "On this day O Beautiful Mother" were sung by Gordon Douglas.

A wedding breakfast for thirty relatives and friends was served at the Wardell Apartments at 11 o'clock. The tables were decorated in white, with white bouquets and tapers. A beautifully decorated wedding cake formed the centerpiece of the bride's table.

The young couple left on a motor trip through the Southwest later in the day to be away for a month and on their return will reside in Detroit where the groom is employed.

For traveling the bride wore a navy and white printed sheer with navy tailored coat, and hat. Her accessories were white.

The bride was a graduate of Garden High School.

Birthday Party Janice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Tatrow was surprised at her home Saturday night by 20 girl and boy friends to celebrate her 18th anniversary. Prizes in games played went to Thomas Duschene, Roger Hazen, Lloyd Tatrow and Earedeen Kauthon. A delicious lunch was served, and Janice was fittingly remembered.

Clifford Gauthier of the Manistique Nursery spent the weekend at his home here.

Boudreau-Rost

Garden, Mich.—The St. John the Baptist church was the scene of a pretty summer wedding Tuesday at 8 a. m. when Miss Erma-layne Boudreau, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Octave Boudreau, exchanged vows with Earl Rost, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rost of Van's Harbor. Rev. Fr. Schevers of Manistique was the officiating clergyman in the absence of Rev. Fr. Savageau.

The bride wore a gown of white silk net with touches of blue velvet ribbon and a finger tip veil. Her flowers were white snapdragons and delphiniums. Her bridesmaid, Janet Lester, a niece, wore a gown of pink marquisette de sole and carried pink snapdragons and roses.

George Boudreau, nephew of the bride acted as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony the breakfast was served to sixteen guests at the home of the bride's parents, after which the newlyweds left for a honeymoon at points in Wisconsin. For traveling the bride wore an olive green suit with white accessories.

Mrs. Rost was graduated from the high school here and taught the kindergarten up to the time of her marriage. The groom is employed by the North Wisconsin Oil company at Rhineland where they will make their home.

BEHIND THE SCENES

By Bruce Catton

Washington—One of the most important angles to the great third term problem has been almost entirely overlooked. So far it is, simply, that President Roosevelt needs a new major issue.

The third term handicap in itself, it is understood, doesn't particularly worry him. He is said to feel that he could be re-elected in spite of it—IF he had some strong, compelling, and dramatic issue to take before the electorate.

So far no such issue has developed. A new spending campaign, a new lending campaign, an aggressive foreign policy—all have been tested out cautiously this spring and none has rung the bell. And the one apparently safe bet is that if the President does defy the no-third-term tradition he will do it with something a lot more exciting than a mere "I am running on my record."

NEW RECOVERY PLAN IN MAKING?

There are indications that the New Deal is slowly feeling its way toward a more direct and elaborate attack than has yet been made on the whole depression-unemployment problem—toward something which could be presented as a permanent recovery program, and which would be considerably broader than anything which the New Deal has tried to date.

Something of this kind is said to have been looked for from the Temporary National Economic Committee investigation. It hasn't appeared; Senator O'Mahoney is proceeding slowly and with painstaking thoroughness, and although he is unearthing a lot of useful information, he emphatically has not handed the President a made-to-order issue for 1940.

Meanwhile, there are certain straws in the wind.

The most significant was the recent Cleveland speech of Attorney General Frank Murphy, who called for "blueprints" for a "re-constructed economic system," declaring that the nation's problems could be solved if business men, engineers, industrialists, economists and the representatives of the people work out such blueprints.

"We do not want government to run business," he said. "We only want business to run itself—with any help from government that may be necessary—in a way that will provide for the good of all."

MAY EDGE IN ON ANOTHER'S IDEA

Now the interesting thing about this is that in that speech Mr. Murphy (consciously or otherwise) was edging right over into the territory occupied by an interesting group known as the American Association for Economic Freedom. The association, made up of churchmen, educators, and publicists, is polishing up a most elaborate and far-reaching industrial reconstruction bill for presentation to Congress.

This bill would do lots of things. It would have the government take over the investment banking field. It would set up a national planning board to develop an industrial program which would set all major industries working at capacity under a far-reaching government subsidy program. It would provide for federal licenses of all corporations. It would, in short, offer the most sweeping and spectacular program yet brought forward.

A good many New Dealers, in and out of Congress, have had a look at this bill. In his Cleveland speech Mr. Murphy talked along the same line that the association follows.

And there is some reason to believe that the New Dealers would like to see the association's plan sent up as a trial balloon. It represents the sort of thing the New Deal is groping toward. It would not be exactly amazing to see it given a New Deal boost sometime soon.

SERIAL STORY

PAR IS LOVE

BY EDWIN RUTT

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS ROYALTON AUGUSTUS HERRING—just a guy with a car who met a girl.

BARBARA GANNING—just a girl beset by a couple of golfers.

RONALD AND WILFRID—the golfers besieging Barbara.

CHAPTER I Royalton Augustus Herring brought his car to a stop beside the wall. Having done this, he got out and regarded the apple tree. The trunk was not in his line of vision for it grew discreetly behind the wall. But certain branches of nomadic disposition had seen fit to venture over and, weighted down with luscious fruit, were brooding over the territory by the roadside.

"Well," thought Royalton Augustus, "it may be a felony, but here goes." And he reached for the lowest bough, feeling like Adam.

As he did so a slight sound startled him. A girl, a black-haired girl, suddenly popped up from the other side of the wall. The fingers of Royalton Augustus Herring closed on empty air. His hand came down with guilty swiftness and for lack of anything better to do with it, he put it in his pocket.

"Oh," he said. "Oh—er—ar—um . . . I beg your pardon."

More of the girl appeared. He perceived that she had great iridescent eyes that put him in mind of the sea at sundown, and a wide mouth which looked as if it wanted to laugh.

"Go on," she said, regarding him soberly. "Don't let me stop you."

"Well, I really—you know, I wasn't. That is, if you'll let me explain . . ." Royalton stopped, aware that he was jittering.

"I see," said the girl. "You didn't want an apple. You were just measuring something! Making a calculation, perhaps?"

"Why, how did you know?" asked Royalton, deciding upon a course of action. "As a matter of fact, that's just what I was doing. I was trying to figure out where I'd dropped my watch."

"Oh, I get it. You dropped your watch and it stuck in the tree. Well, it ought to be easy to find. I suggest this: Begin at the top of the tree and work down. You're bound to run it to earth that way."

"No," said Royalton slowly. "I think it's on the ground."

"How convenient!" The girl swung a leg over the wall. It was a silk-stocking leg and offhandedly Royalton Augustus couldn't recall when he'd seen a prettier one. "Tell me, was it a good watch?"

"Nothing wonderful! But it—well, it had sentimental value. You see, it was my grandfather's. You oughtn't throw your grandfather's watches around like this," said the girl severely.

"Here, I'm coming down to look for it. Help me down."

Royalton Augustus was enraptured to obey. He did so with fervor. She landed heavily on her feet and then stood, tall, slim and smiling, at his side.

"You're not a baggage man by chance, are you?" she inquired.

"No. Why?"

"Oh, nothing. Just a passing thought."

"As a matter of fact," said Royalton Augustus, "I'm in the advertising business."

"Well then, what are you doing here?" the girl demanded. "There's nothing to advertise in this vicinity."

Royalton wasn't so sure. He wouldn't have minded at that moment roughing out a bit of copy about iris-colored eyes and hair close-cropped and smoky black. He said nothing to this effect, however. Ordinarily he was a fast worker, but this girl rather took the wind out of him. She was so direct and—well, disconcerting.

"I'm on my vacation," he explained.

"Oh. Well, let's look for the watch." Her eyes were grave, but somehow he distrusted the gravity. "Where do you think you dropped it?"

"At this point a golf ball floated lastly over their heads, missed the radiator of Royalton's car by a hair and settled in the dust of the roadside like a spent pigeon. The girl regarded it without surprise. "That one had backspin on it," she said.

"I beg your pardon."

"She picked up the ball. "Ronald, I expect," she said judicially.

"Ronald?"

"Yes. But on second thought, it looks more like Wilfrid. Ronald cuts them deeper."

"I see," said Royalton bravely. The girl laughed. "You couldn't possibly. You don't know Ronald and Wilfrid."

"Come to think of it, you're right," said Royalton. "Who are they?"

"They? Oh, they're my fiancés."

"My fiancés. The man I'm going to marry."

"Fiancés? Ronald? Wilfrid? The man you're going to marry?" Royalton sank down on the running board of his car. "Look here, you'll forgive me if I appear a little dumb. But I don't think I've tumbled yet. Now let's get together. Have a cigarette first."

"Thanks," said the girl, joining him on the running board.

"Well, now, as I get it the position is this: There's Ronald and Wilfrid and they're both your fiancés. But, being old-fashioned, your only going to marry one of them. Well, somebody's going to get the thin end, aren't they?"

"Not necessarily!" The girl shrugged. "You see, if I marry Ronald I'm practically marrying Wilfrid. And if I marry Wilfrid—well, to all intents and purposes, I've married Ronald. Get it?"

Royalton Augustus shook his head. "After all, I'm just an ordinary guy. And this thing is sort of complicated."

"Well, you see, Ronald and Wilfrid look exactly alike."

"You mean they're twins?" She nodded. "Even worse. They're dead ringers for each other. Not only that, they dress alike, think alike, act alike. That's why I say that if I marry one, it's the same as marrying the other."

Royalton puffed in silence for a minute.

"It ought to be easy," he said at last. "Why don't you grab the first one you see and call it a day? No use racking your brain. One pin's the same as another. This iris eyes seemed to take on a sober look. "But if you're not sure whether you want a pin . . ."

"Ah," said Royalton, wondering why the sun should appear so bright. "That's another story."

The next instant the clouds blew up.

"But I guess I've got to want one," said the girl. "That explains the golf ball."

"Not to me, it doesn't."

"Well, I don't know why I'm telling you all this," she said. "But it's like this: I'm going to marry either Ronald or Wilfrid. By that I mean, only one of them will be the bridegroom. You understand that, of course."

Royalton nodded. "It's all right so far."

"But I can't decide which. So we're settling it on Saturday—with a golf match."

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Florence Ekstrom And Glen Pawley Married Thursday

Florence E. Ekstrom, daughter of Mrs. Alma Ekstrom, 453 Range street, became the bride of Glen D. Pawley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Pawley, Sr., Gulliver, Mich., Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Zion Lutheran church. Rev. Geo. Wahlin read the ceremony. Mrs. Hilda Ahlstrom played an organ recital preceding the ceremony. She played "Ave Marie" and "Serenade" by Schubert, "Traumerei" by Schuman, Processional, "Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus" and Recessional, "Pilgrim's Chorus" by Wagner. Mr. and Mrs. Gus Nye sang a duet, "Just Because of You" and Mr. Nye sang an altar solo, "O Perfect Love."

At the altar a huge archway banked with bridal wreath and bouquets of white and purple lilacs formed the background. The bride and groom were attended by Clara Ekstrom, sister of the bride as bridesmaid and Walter Duquette as best man. Dale Ott and Ralph Ekstrom were ushers.

The bride's gown was of silk marquisette over starched net and taffeta, styled with a sweetheart neckline and a girlish waistline. The skirt flowed very full from the waist. Her matching fingertip veil, fell from a tiara of tiny seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white snap dragons and white sweet peas.

The bridesmaid's gown was a floor length pale pink frosted organza with a bolero jacket and a fitted bodice. She wore a Juliette cap trimmed with silver sequins and accessories of silver color. Her bouquet was of pink snap dragons and sweet peas.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ekstrom chose a navy blue print dress with white accessories and a shoulder corsage of snap dragons. The groom's mother wore a gown of black and white with white accessories and a shoulder corsage of snap dragons. Immediately following the ceremony a reception and buffet luncheon for 50 guests was held at the bride's home. Later in the evening the young couple left on a wedding trip to northern Wisconsin and the Copper Country. The bride chose as her going away outfit a black and white checked suit with white accessories. Following their wedding trip they will be at home at the corner of Cataragus and Arbutus avenues.

Mrs. Pawley is a graduate of Manistique high school and has been employed as stenographer

STEPHENS IS CAMP SPEAKER

Manistique Judge Gives Fine Address At CCC Program

"Uncle Sam—Who is He?" was the subject of an interesting address delivered by Judge W. G. Stephens at the all-camp night program at Camp Cooks Wednesday evening.

In his address, Judge Stephens pointed out that the face of Uncle Sam is familiar the world over and yet nobody has ever seen him.

"Uncle Sam is a great personality," the speaker declared. "As a humanitarian, he has no equal in the world. His helping hand has reached the length and breadth of the globe to help all persons stricken by misfortune. He is a stabilizing influence for peace. He draws no color nationality nor religious lines."

"The initials U. S. stand for Uncle Sam. They have a deeper meaning too. They mean us, you and me. For each of us make up a small portion of that great man known as Uncle Sam."

Frank M. Gierke, Manistique postmaster, also was on the speaking program at the camp. He recited several humorous stories, which were well received.

The program included musical selections by camp enrollees and was concluded with the showing of a series of educational motion pictures. Hilding Olson, educational advisor at the camp, was program chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Flegal and Mrs. Frank Hoholik are spending a few days in Chicago.

and bookkeeper at the First National Bank. The groom is also a graduate of Manistique high school and is now employed with the Inland Lime and Stone company.

CHICAGO POUNDS BOSTON, 7 AND 1

Triumph Is Fourth One of Season for Diz, No Defeats

Chicago, June 22 (AP)—Dizzy Dean gave further proof of his return to consistent winning form today by pitching the Chicago Cubs to their fifth straight victory—a 7 to 1 decision over the Boston Bees.

In achieving his fourth triumph of the season against no defeats, Dean limited the Bees to six hits. Boston failed to get a safe blow until the fifth inning when it bunched three for its only run.

Meanwhile, the Cubs pounded two Boston hurlers for 11 hits, Dick Erickson giving way to John Lanning after two innings. Chicago concentrated its attack in the second inning when five hits, including Augie Galan's homer with the bases loaded, accounted for five runs.

Came Close

By the span of a hand Harry Gonder, 25-year-old professional, missed his objective during his hole-in-one marathon at Michigan City, Ind. Gonder wagered $25 he could do it on the Beverly Shores country club 136-yard tenth hole, whacked about three shots a minute for 16 hours and finally quit, convinced it was a matter of luck, not skill. On shot above, the ball went in, but popped out again, inches away.

Score: Chicago - 010 000 000—1 8 1

COMISKEY PARK TO USE LIGHTS

Night Baseball Games To Be Started Late In August

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY
Chicago, June 22 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox today joined the swelling ranks of major league clubs sponsoring night baseball.

J. Louis Comiskey, owner of team, announced that night games would be played at Comiskey Park starting late in August, with probably no more than four games this season. The huge park, with a seating capacity of 51,000, will be lighted by more than 700 floodlights installed on eight towers.

Comiskey said permission to play night games had been granted by the American league, and that work would be started immediately to equip the plant.

Thus, Chicago becomes the sixth major league club to join the rapidly growing movement since Cincinnati introduced the nocturnal experiment back in 1935, after it had been a success in the minor leagues. The following clubs already have lights: Cincinnati, Brooklyn and Philadelphia in the National League, and Cleveland and Philadelphia in the American League. The Phillies and Athletics use the same park.

"Here To Stay"

The National League first to try night baseball, limits each club participating to seven home games a year. The American league has kept the same limitation.

"We have been debating our move for two years," said Comiskey. "We hope to cater to our numerous loyal fans who simply cannot get to the ball park in the afternoon. Night baseball will give these loyal fans a chance to see the Sox and we are going to have the finest lighting system possible to erect."

William Harridge, president of the American league, said that the decision of the White Sox to play night games was in keeping with the times.

"It is here to stay," said President Harridge. "It has given opportunity to many fans to see major league games, who are employed in the day time and could not possibly attend. Everything is advancing. There is no reason the major leagues should not follow. They play softball at night and various other sports. So why not baseball? It has proven a huge success. In big cities like Chicago vacation visitors usually spend their time sightseeing in the day time and they will welcome an opportunity to see baseball at night."

Uppercut And Hook Await Tony Galento

Galento Still Ranks As No 1 Challenger to Champ Lou Nove

BY SID FEDER
Pompton Lakes, N. J., June 22 (AP)—Tony Galento isn't the only one who realizes Tony Galento's chances against Joe Louis Wednesday night lie in the ability of the pudgy puncher to rush in and land the first punch of the 15-round fight.

So the Brown Bombing champion is perfecting a little plan of his own to stop the Jersey brawler.

TOP SPOT GOES TO BOB PASTOR

Galento Still Ranks As No 1 Challenger to Champ Lou Nove

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Bob Pastor replaced Lou Nove as the No. 2 challenger to Champion Joe Louis in the National Boxing Association's quarterly ratings, released today.

Tony Galento still was ranked the top-challenger. It was indicated that inactivity had kept Pastor from receiving similar ranking in the last previous ratings. Putting him in the No. 2 spot shoved Nove down to the No. 3 and Max Baer, whom Nove defeated, to fourth.

Tommy Farr, of Wales, who was not carried in the first 10 in the previous ratings, was given the fifth position.

The other heavyweights, in order were: Red Burman, Willie Reddish, Roscoe Toles, Johnny Paycheck, and Tom Keenally.

Joseph Triner, NBA member from Illinois, recorded a minority vote in this order: Nove, Pastor, Baer, Reddish, Galento, Burman, Baer, Reddish, Toles, Keenally and Gunnar Barlund.

Heavyweights receiving honorable mention from the NBA were Arturo Godoy, Chlie; Gunnar Barlund, Finland; Tony Musto, Ill.; Buddy Baer, Calif.; Paty Perroni, Mich.; Eddie Blunt, N. Y.; Nathan Mann, Conn.; Al McCoy, Mass.; Maurice Strickland, Australia; Gus Dorazio, Pennsylvania.

The association said it would recognize as lightweight champion of the world the winner of a 15-round fight between Mello Bettina, and the winner of one of the following matches:

Gus Lesnevich - Dave Clark.
Len Harvey - Jack McAvoy.
Billy Conn - Ron Richards.
(A few hours after the NBA announcement, Lesnevich scored a technical knockout over Clark in the first of a scheduled 10-round bout.)

The association recently declared the lightweight champion vacant after an examination disclosed that John Henry Lewis' eyesight was impaired.

Wesley Ramey, of Grand Rapids, Mich., was rated as fifth contender for the lightweight crown of Henry Armstrong ahead of him in order were, Lou Ambers, Ammy Angott, Davey Day and Nick Peters.

John (K. O.) Morgan, of Detroit, was rated as second contender for the bantamweight championship held by Sixto Escobar. George Pace was given first place.

Dave Clark Upset By Gus Lesnevich On Technical KO

BY JOE SULLIVAN
Nutley, N. J., June 22 (AP)—Gus Lesnevich of Clifffide Park turned in the most sensational upset in recent history of light heavyweight boxing tonight when he scored a technical knockout over Dave Clark, Detroit negro stablemate of Joe Louis, in 1:28 of the first round of their scheduled 10-round bout at Nutley Velodrome.

Less than a minute after the fight began Lesnevich shot a left hook to the jaw and dropped Clark for an eight-count. The left hook dropped Clark again and a barrage of both fists sent the negro to the canvas for the third time, each for counts of eight.

When Clark went down for the fourth time, Referee Gene Roman halted the bout. It was the first time in 34 professional fights that Clark was knocked out. It was Lesnevich's 61st victory and 23rd knockout in 65 engagements.

Lesnevich weighed 174½ and Clark 172.
Lesnevich's victory eliminated Clark from consideration for a shot at the light heavyweight title taken away from John Henry Lewis in many states because of failing eyesight. Lesnevich earned the right to meet the winner of the Billy Conn-Mello Bettina bout scheduled for New York next month. The Clifffide Park fighter also has been offered a bout with Lewis in St. Louis, Mo., where the negro is recognized as champion.

Maroons Practice At 2 p. m. Today

The Maroons will hold a practice session this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the No. 1 softball diamond. All members of the team are requested to be present.

BENGALS BLOW LEAD IN EIGHTH

Newsom Blasted for 12 Hits; Philadelphia Wins, 6 to 5

Philadelphia, June 22 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers blew a four-run lead today and went down before Connie Mack's youthful Philadelphia Athletics 6 to 5 in the final game of a two-game series.

The Tigers were coasting along with a 5 to 2 lead when they went into the eighth inning. The Athletics jumped on Big Buck Newsom for three runs to tie the score in that session, then reached Relief Twirler Jimmy Walkup for another run in the ninth to take the contest.

The Athletics blasted Newsom for 12 hits before Manager Del Baker rushed Walkup to his rescue with two out in the eighth. Newsom was lucky to last as long as he did, for Philadelphia loaded the bases on him twice and on two other occasions they had two men aboard.

Homers Come Easy

Detroit led off in the first with a three-run barrage off Nelson. Barney McCosky and Averill smashed homers, their fourth and third, respectively, of the season, and Gehring and Greenberg singled. Higgins hit into a double play, but Gehring scored with the third marker.

The Tigers got another run in the fourth when Pete Fox homered and the fifth and the final of the day in the seventh when McCosky doubled and Gehring duplicated.

The Athletics broke into the score in the fourth when Johnson hit a homer into the upper deck of the centerfield stands, a distance about 400 feet. They added another in the fifth when Nelson and Lodigiani singled after Gehring doubled, but went scoreless from that point until the eighth, when the Quaker City leads came through with their three-run rally.

Gantenbein and Nelson opened that inning with singles. Newsom then hit Lodigiani with a pitched ball, filling the bases, after which Ambler fled to Fox in deep short. Fox might have kept Gantenbein from scoring if he had tried for the plate, but he played safe and threw to short to keep Nelson from moving to third. Johnson and Hayes then singled to tally two more runs and the score was tied.

Rowe Faces Senators

The ninth inning run that won the game came when Gantenbein doubled to left. Pitcher Nelson, known as a dangerous batter, was purposely passed, after which Lodigiani bounced to Higgins, who fumbled, filling the bases. Mack then sent Pitcher Chubby Dean to bat for Shortstop Wayne Ambler and Dean lifted a long fly to Fox that enabled Gantenbein to score after the catch.

Schoolboy Rowe, with a record of 4-0 and two wins, will face the Washington Senators tomorrow in the opening game of a three-game series at Washington. He will be opposed by Emil Leonard, who has won six and lost one.

GEHRIG FINDS FRIENDS LOYAL

New York, June 22 (AP)—Lou Gehrig is finding his friends are still with him.

Turning up at Yankee Stadium as usual this afternoon, after receiving his first treatment for a disease diagnosed as a form of chronic infantile paralysis, Gehrig was given a bundle of telegrams and letters expressing the sympathy of fans and was informed the club would hold a "Lou Gehrig Day" soon.

Plans for a game honoring Gehrig are now being worked out. President Ed Borow of the Yankees said Manager Joe McCarthy and members of the team had expressed a desire to assist in every way possible.

Gehrig was given an injection of serum at the base of his spine this morning by Dr. Edward R. Maloney, one of the physicians designated by the Mayo clinic to administer treatment, and will receive a second injection in Philadelphia next week when the champions are there to play the Athletics.

The stalwart star who appeared in the Yankees' lineup in every game from June, 1925, to May 2 this year was cheerful as he donned his uniform today and was given a loud welcome from the fans as he caught fly balls in the outfield before the game with the Chicago White Sox. He made no effort to chase balls which did not fall near him and lobbed gentle throws back to the diamond after each catch.

ENGLISH VIEWS BOOST ARMING

Popular Opinion Parallel Pre-War Excitement As Conscription Booms

BY STANLEY ST. LOUIS
Newcastle-on-Tyne, England—In the large cities of England considerable difference of opinion exists regarding the wisdom of some of the measures adapted previous to and following the Munich crisis, by the Chamberlain government.

It is out in the country that an almost united front in favor of the Prime Minister is held. The usual conclusion for most political arguments is, "Well, he kept us out of war anyway, so I'm for him." With the exception of the Wales district, public sentiment in the country is solidly behind the present Conservative government.

The farmers, like their fellow countrymen in the cities, have swallowed conscription without too much fuss. Provision has been made so that young men will be available for farm work during planting and harvest time, when his services are most urgently required.

Young men between the ages of twenty and twenty-one look upon compulsory military service as though it were a holiday. Before leaving for the camps, ideas of good times ahead seem to predominate. Athletic contests for building up physical resistance are an important part of camp life and the change from a hum-drum existence on the farm, is in many instances, greeted with joy.

Little or no consideration is given the possibility that the initial six month's military program may only be paving the way for far more drastic draft measures in the future.

Few Objectors
Your correspondent spoke with only one boy who seriously objected to serving in the army. When asked why he did not become a "Conscientious Objector", which, under the terms of the Military Training Bill, is grounds for exemption, he replied, "If I did that it would make me a social outcast."

That statement is typical of young England's attitude towards conscription. Much of the devil-may-care spirit is obviously a failure to grasp the true significance of the situation. There seems little or no comprehension amongst the proud, young wearers of the natty uniforms (which they have to pay for themselves) that often people wearing uniforms wind up in muddy, bloody trenches.

Publicity for the government's re-armament program is carried on in the country with an intensity nearly equaling that which greets the eye in the large cities. Recruiting offices are to be found in every village. Posters carrying the appeal, "We Must be Prepared", are evidently getting results if the number of youngsters strutting around the streets in their brand new uniforms, is any criterion.

Past Lessons Forgotten
The time worn argument so often heard in the United States, that it will not be so easy to get soldiers for the next war, simply does not hold up in face of what is to be seen in England today. Has twenty years brought forth another generation that has learned nothing of the horrors of war? Any effort to discuss the "true causes" of the World War is foredoomed to failure. A wave of mass-thinking, operating in a single narrow groove, is met with on all sides. The thought paramount in most British minds today is, "We will show the world so much military power, no country will dare make a move, without first consulting us". The fact that countries have acted contrary to the wishes of England in the past. In face of an equal show of power, seems to have escaped a majority of the population.

Re-armament is being sold to the people as a purely defensive measure. That is the understanding of a majority of the English people. If Germany marches into the Polish Corridor and the Free City of Danzig, territory which was originally German, and England fulfills her promises to Poland, will England then be waging a war of defense?

Excepting some of the lads so tragically happy in their soldier suits, the vast portion of the English people hope and pray only for peace. If Chamberlain can keep the peace by appeasement on one hand and pursuing his present policy of encirclement of Germany with the other; and at the same time maintain British trade supremacy, he should go down in history as the prize diplomatic juggler of all time.

Russian Alliance Difficult
Daily statements appear in the English newspapers saying that an agreement with Russia is expected at any moment. The press which not so long ago bitterly assailed Russia and its Communist government, is strangely friendly these days. Desperate overtures to Russia by France and Britain have become everyday occurrences. The nation that was snubbed at the time the Munich pact was reached is now being asked to once more enter what England euphemistically chooses to term the "Peace Front".

But for some reason no definite Anglo-Russian alliance can be reached. English diplomats are finding it difficult indeed to extract promises from Russia without in turn making definite commitments. It seems highly improbable, regardless of temporary convenience, that a Chamberlain and Stalin government will ever be able to see eye-to-eye on anything.

Hitler, Roosevelt Mis-represented
The two men outside of England that receive the most publicity here, are Roosevelt and Hitler. It is difficult to decide which of the two men are most mis-represented. Roosevelt, since his intervention at Munich, has become the idol of the British people. Some of the absurd stories appearing about him pass all belief. His present popularity in England exceeds even the strength of his American following two months after he first assumed the presidency.

Some of the tales told about Hitler are still more grotesque. He is painted in lurid colors that outdo the best efforts of Edgar Allan Poe. Stories of Kaiser Wilhelm, which appeared during the World War, are mild in comparison to the present work being done on Adolph Hitler.

The "Statesman's Yearbook" estimates that there are now 28,
