Grants to States for Restoration Next Year $1,500,000

Washington, June 24 (AP)—Uncle Sam is digging deeper into his pocket to help the man who goes out loaded for bear and is lucky to come back with a rabbit.

For the year ending June 30 he appropriated $1,000,000 for grants to states for wildlife restoration. For the 12 months beginning July 1 the agriculture department supply bill carries $1,500,000 for this purpose.

This means, says Representative Robertson (D-Va.), that Michigan will be entitled to a federal grant of $78,586, provided that state contributes one-fourth the cost of projects approved by the biological survey bureau.

Robertson wanted the house to approve the senate's addition of $500,000 to next year's wildlife restoration fund, but the house insisted on the $1,500,000, which was a half million above the sum approved by the budget bureau.

An appropriation of $2,000,000, Robertson said, would have increased Michigan's allotment to $104,782.

The money comes from the federal tax on firearms and ammunition. Under an act passed in 1937 receipts from the tax—totaling $2,826,973 last year, and $2,211,988 the first eight months of 1939—may be used only for grants to state game and fish departments for wildlife restoration projects.

The use is limited, however, by the amount congress appropriates—Uncle Sam can't use the money for anything else, but he can't use it all unless congress approves.

RELIEF FUNDS MAY BE HELD UP TOO LONG

LOANS IN DEFAULT

Washington, June 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt's proposal to lend $500,000,000 to foreign countries to promote American trade brought a blast of criticism in the senate today, even before the administration's new leading legislation reached congress.

Senator Borah (R-Ida), 73-year-old dean of the senate, told his colleagues that the foreign loans would be equivalent to turning over "vast millions of the taxpayers money for South American politicians to play with."

He said that South American loans were in default of both principal and interest and asserted that "in many instances no effort is being made to pay them."

TAFT VOICES CRITICISM

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) voiced criticism of foreign loans and Senator Lucas (D-Ill) told the senate that it was "a dangerous practice" to permit the export-import bank to make loans to foreign nations without the express approval of congress.

The president proposed a $500,000,000, two-year program of foreign loans as a part of his new $3,000,000,000 lending program. He stipulated that the proceeds from the advances, to be made by the export-import bank, should be spent in this country.

WAGNER SAYS EXPORT-IMPORT BANK HAD MADE "PROFIT TO DATE"

Wagner said the export-import bank had made a "profit to date" and had helped finance sales of goods which otherwise could not have been made.

Violation of Pledge

Rep. Ditter (R-Penn) said the president's loan proposal was "another attempt to pluck the American taxpayer to save the face of an administration bankrupt of ideas except to spend and spend," and, furthermore, was a violation of a pledge Mr. Roosevelt made in 1932.

ADMINISTRATION LEADERS EXPECT THE LENDING PROGRAM TO BE SUBMITTED NEXT WEEK IN THE FORM OF LEGISLATION.

Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex), the majority leader, said the house would "go to bat on it" as soon as it was received.

The prospect of the lending legislation may result in elimination of any funds for PWA from the $1,735,000,000 relief appropriation, now before a senate appropriations subcommittee.

Members of this committee forecast elimination of various house-approved restrictions on WPA operations and said they probably would send the measure to the senate floor by next Tuesday.

SENATE LEADERS TOLD REPORTERS, HOWEVER, THAT THERE SHOULD BE NO NECESSITY FOR ADDITIONAL PWA FUNDS IF THE NEW LENDING PROGRAM WAS APPROVED.

BRITAIN ALL AROUSED BY JAP INSULTS

embargoes on Japanese goods. In some sections of the British press appeared the significant comment on the number of Japanese subjects in Britain and elsewhere in the empire.

Complications Feared

Among these papers was the influential Times which said these Japanese would "of course, in all circumstances be treated in a civilized manner by British authorities." But it added that "if the language of diplomacy is not understood by the Japanese government, then other methods more intelligible to them will have to be employed."

With German-Polish tension over Danzig increasing and conclusion of an assistance pact with Soviet Russia more uncertain than at any time since negotiations began, the British government tempered its policy toward Japan to avoid complications which might give free play to other forces in Europe.

Further talks between the British and Soviet negotiators were planned during the coming week but with decreasing optimism apparent here.

BY J. D. WHITE

Tientsin, June 24 (AP)—The Japanese extended their military blockade of the British and French concessions today with increased restrictions on river travel from Tientsin to the port of Tangku.

A British passenger ship was delayed on the 18-mile trip, one British subject was held for four hours before being permitted to go on to Tangku, and others reported they were searched.

Previously shipping on the Hai encountered only occasional difficulty. Two British subjects reported they were compelled to undress and searched at the concession barricades, making a total of 11 such incidents in the last three days. A Brazilian, the only South American in Tientsin, reported he was molested last Monday.

A lack of fresh food in the French concession became apparent for the first time since the blockade was imposed June 14 when British authorities refused to hand over four alleged Chinese terrorists. The British area felt the shortage almost at once but the French had been using their military trucks to get supplies from the Italian concession.

Leaves Party Off

The writer engaged a Chinese taxi driver in the French concession who had solved in part the problem of submitting to search by the Japanese—he sat in his cab in his underwear.

He explained he was tired of taking off his pants every time a fare took him into Japanese territory. He put them back on hastily when I directed him to the British concession, into which he could drive without encountering the Japanese gendarmes.

One of the British searched today was Cecil Davis, honorary agent of the New Zealand government, who reported he was slapped three times and forced to stand naked in the examining shed yesterday. The Japanese permitted him to keep on his undershirt and trunks today.

The other was J. A. White-wright, secretary of the Tientsin country club, who said gendarmes pushed him from the shed and threw his outer clothing after him when they had finished their search.

Davis said he persisted in passing the barriers because his rug factory outside the British area required his attention. White-wright said his presence was required at the country club.

Blockade Is Denied

The Brazilian, Adolfo Peterson, 65, who represents a German firm, complained he would have been detained for some time under a brilliant sun but a French friend obtained his release. Peterson declared the guard refused to recognize his passport or a special pass from the Japanese consul general obtained for him by the American consulate-general.

The Japanese consul-general informed British officials today that G. A. Smith, British exporter, would be released tomorrow. He has been detained by the Japanese since June 17.

(Dispatches from Shanghai reported Japanese now were making no objection to American and British ships entering or leaving the port of Swatow with passengers and mail but without cargo.

A Shanghai spokesman denied the Japanese ever proclaimed a blockade of Swatow which they occupied Wednesday. Two British and two American destroyers are there now, and a British and Norwegian ship docked there without trouble yesterday. British officials in Hongkong said Japanese last Wednesday had warned ships and citizens of other nations they entered or remained at Swatow at their own risk.)

Hollister, Calif., Has Quake Damage

Hollister, Calif., June 24 (AP)—The most severe earthquake since 1907 occurred here early today but damage here was confined to the Cienega district, 13 miles south.

At Cienega, brick fireplaces toppled, dishes were broken and furniture overturned.

A large adobe wall of a winery crumbled at San Benito, center of the San Andrea earth fault. No one was injured. Small cracks opened in brick walls here.

Total weight of metal in the hull and machinery of the Queen Mary, trans-Atlantic liner, exceeds 50,000 tons.

Seized By Japs

Japanese arrested Eric Mayell, above, American news reels cameraman, for shooting scenes of civilians being searched at blockade of British and French concessions in Tientsin, China. Mayell was aboard U. S. gunboat Panay, which Japanese sank in Yangtze river, Dec. 12, 1937.

New Use Is Found For Sulfanilamide In Virus Maladies

Corvallis, Ore., June 24 (AP)—The "miracle drug" of the medical world, sulfanilamide, has been utilized to check salmon poisoning, scourge of dogs in many Pacific coast areas.

Oregon State college veterinarians said today this dye-stuff drug not only cures dogs stricken with this once mysterious malady, but can be used to immunize them.

Salmon poisoning long has worried dog lovers in the coast area. Countless pets, hounds, retrievers and stock dogs have been victims. In Alaska's early days the disease was an actual economic problem. The principal food of these animals was fish.

Dr. J. N. Shaw, head of the college veterinary department, and C. R. Howarth conducted experiments by feeding dogs infected fish, producing the disease, curing them with sulfanilamide, then testing them for immunity.

Dr. Shaw said this was one of the first instances known where sulfanilamide has been successful against a virus disease.

Houghton County Man Heads Eagles

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 24 (AP)—Louis Braun, of South Range, Houghton county, today was elected state president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Approximately 4,000 delegates attended today's session of the lodge's Michigan convention.

Other officers elected were Frank Sadler, Calumet, vice president; Michael Ryan, Alpena, secretary; Claire Collison, Kalamazoo, treasurer; Daniel Klavner, Lansing, chaplain; L. N. Morrison, Ann Arbor, inside guard; Peter Johnson, Detroit, outside guard; Ernest Paul, Saginaw.

ROBBERED OF TROUSERS

Detroit, (AP)—Preston Acrites, 47, of Flint, reported to police Saturday that two men robbed him of his trousers and $15 in cash shortly after he left a Michigan avenue tavern Saturday morning.

PENSION CLUBS CHEER DOCTOR

Insurgents Boored Down At Convention In Indianapolis

Indianapolis, June 24 (AP)—With shouts of "We're with Doc Townsend" and "Down with traitors," 10,000 delegates to the national convention of Townsend Old-Age Pension clubs took notice today of a threatened revolt against Dr. Francis E. Townsend's leadership and enlisted in a new crusade to spread the gospel of economic bliss.

After decrying, with boos and hisses, an "insurgent" movement which Harvey Smith of Covington, Ky., has said he would promote, the convention loudly approved plans for the future. One of the plans is a $1,000,000 radio fund. With this, Dr. Townsend told the delegates, "we can absolutely compel both major parties to put our principles into their platforms, or reduce them to absolute extinction."

The day brought another thunderous ovation for the California physician—whose dream of a $200 monthly pension for everybody over 65, to be financed from a transactions and gross revenue tax, gave the organization its birth. Every man and woman in the jammed 10,000-seat auditorium stood and cheered when Chairman John Weir asked, "Are you with Townsend?"

Recently at St. Louis when Stark was mentioned to him as a possible primary opponent, Senator Truman predicted: "I'll beat the hell out of him."

Pontiac WPA Chief Held For Extortion

Detroit, June 24 (AP)—Victor Lab, 48, of Pontiac, pleaded innocent today when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner J. Stanley Hurd on a charge of violating the federal extortion act. His examination was set for July 8 and bond was fixed at $1,000.

Lab, a WPA superintendent in Pontiac, was arrested by agents of the federal bureau of investigation in Pontiac Friday and brought to Detroit.

John S. Bugas, head of the Detroit branch of the FBI, said Lab wrote several letters to Mrs. James De Greer, of Midland, Mich., threatening her daughter, Marjorie, 27, with bodily harm if Mrs. De Greer did not use her influence to reconcile the girl with him.

Bugas said Marjorie De Greer kept company with Lab for two years in Pontiac and recently left her position as a waitress and went to her mother's home in Midland.

Pendergast's Foe To Run For Senate

Jefferson City, Mo., June 24 (AP)—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, who helped smash the Kansas City political machine of Tom Pendergast within his own Democratic party, today announced his candidacy for the United States senate.

"If the people of this state want me to run for United States senator, I shall feel it my duty to do so," tersely stated the man who last year sounded the battle-cry against Pendergastism which ended in imprisonment of the ex-governor as the machine fell apart.

The apple-growing governor, a World War veteran, thus dropped a veritable political bombshell because his candidacy would presage a bitter primary battle in 1940 with Harry S. Truman, the man whom Pendergast helped lift in 1934 from comparative obscurity as a county judge into the senate.

Truman, who said when he heard Pendergast had been sentenced to 15 months at Leavenworth for income tax evasion that he would not desert "the boss," has announced he will seek senate re-election.

Washington, June 24 (AP)—Senator Brown (D-Mich), flooded with requests for federal census employment, announced today information on selection of enumerators and supervisors in Michigan will not be available until September 1.

He released a letter from W. L. Austin, director of the bureau of the census, who said that persons desiring to be considered for employment in their localities may write to the director, enlisting for consideration at the proper time.

Austin advised the senator that it is too early to attempt to give information as to how or when the field force including district supervisors and enumerators will be selected.

"The field employees are, by law, exempt from civil service regulations and the boundaries of the various supervisor's districts have not been determined," he said.

The census will not be taken until April 1, 1940, and the bill appropriating funds for taking the census is still pending in congress, Austin said.

Manager Terry And 3 Players Pay For Dispute With Ump

Cincinnati, June 24 (AP)—President Ford Frick of the National league today fined Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants $50 and players Bill Jurgens, Lou Chiozza, Zeke Bonura and Jim Ripple $25 each as a result of an argument with Umpire Charles Moran at Pittsburgh Thursday.

Frick previously had fined Coach Jewel Ems of the Pirates $25 as a result of an altercation with Moran during Wednesday's game with the Giants.

The New York players became enraged because Moran did not end the Thursday game when rain began to fall at the start of the ninth inning. An earlier shower had delayed the contest and the Giants contended Moran stated then that he would call the game if more rain fell.

The Pirates rallied in the ninth inning to win 8 to 7.

In a disturbance after the game, when the argument with the umpires was resumed, relief pitcher Walter Brant of the Giants was crowded into a dugout, spraining an ankle and forcing his return to New York.

Census Jobs Not Handed Out Yet; Senator Swamped

Washington, June 24 (AP)—Senator Brown (D-Mich), flooded with requests for federal census employment, announced today information on selection of enumerators and supervisors in Michigan will not be available until September 1.

He released a letter from W. L. Austin, director of the bureau of the census, who said that persons desiring to be considered for employment in their localities may write to the director, enlisting for consideration at the proper time.

TWO-TON TONY GOING STRONG

Joe Louis Loafs In Listless Workout; Style Changed

Summit, N. J., June 24 (AP)—Tony Galento stepped through five brisk rounds today with two of his stooges, then polished off the workout with three sessions of bag punching and rope skipping.

Galento boxed with durable Abe Feldman of Schenectady and the mammoth Mickey McAvery of Brooklyn. Both were glad when it was over.

Jack Johnson, former world's heavyweight champion, watched the work-out.

"This is the first time I've seen Galento, and I'm not prepared to do any picking yet," said Johnson. "But Galento has this on the other men Louis has fought. He isn't scared to death."

Trainer Jack Blackburn explained Louis' indifferent performance by declaring "chappie is right on edge now, and there's no sense having him cut loose when it isn't necessary."

But Harry Lenny, veteran trainer and manager, had another version.

"Louis looked bad because they're trying to change his style to meet Galento's barroom tactics," said Lenny. "That's a serious mistake. Louis' best bet is to fight his regular fight. If he tries to meet Galento at Tony's own game, he is likely to run into a lot of trouble."

The use of wing flaps with double slots is reported to be the latest safety device to be installed on planes. The flap is retractable and thus does not decrease the plane's speed when cruising.

Scout Camp Will Open For Summer On July 8

Summer camping will officially open at the Red Jack Lakes Council Campsite on July 8 the Scout office announced yesterday. The camp will continue until August 5 but may be extended one more week if registrations warrant.

Two distinct types of camping will be offered to boys of Delta, Alger and Schoolcraft counties. All Scouts coming independently or in small groups and paying a weekly fee will come under the term of general camping and be under the direct supervision of the camp staff.

In the past few years a new trend destined to change camping procedures has been noted over the country. The trend is definitely towards troops camping on their own. Under this plan, troops or patrols may come to the Council campsite, purchase all their supplies from the camp kitchen, and do all their own cooking. Under this plan, the Scout leader and Scouts are brought in close contact all hours of the day. It is a practical lesson of living the Scout way.

Phillips, Zerbe Lead

B. W. Phillips, Scout executive, will be general camp director, with Clarence Zerbe as program director.

During the regular Scout camp period each boy will be given a physical examination by a physician. The first aid work in camp sanitation will be in charge of John Michaud who holds the standard and advance certificates of the American Red Cross. Wallace Cameron, superintendent of Rapid River schools, who has had seven years of experience in boys camps will be in charge of all swimming and water activities.

Both the buddy and check system will be used in swimming. Each boy will be given a swimming examination upon his arrival in camp and special effort will be made to teach every non-swimmer to swim.

Handicraft Work

The handicraft department will be under the direction and supervision of Larry Musser of Manistique. Materials for handicraft will be sold to campers and all tools necessary will be loaned to the workers. Special instruction will be given in Indian handicraft, Indian head-dresses, totem poles, and many other instructive pursuits. One of the most important details of camp will be handled by Ray Billings of Gladstone who will be in charge of cooking. Mr. Billings was selected to be the cook for the boys on the Mackinac Island trip sponsored by the American Legion.

John and Ray Norton of Gladstone and James Nyberg of Escanaba will complete the camp staff.

The Council camp is located in the midst of thousands of acres of wild country, 14 miles south of Munising. A chain of four lakes and rugged terrain in isolation from other camps makes it an ideal spot for camping.

New Tents Secured

Buildings from CCC Camp Kentucky have been moved to the campsite and a new mess hall, 20 x 50 feet will be ready for service this year. The beach has been greatly improved and widened, and the forestry department is cooperating by building a new water tower pier. All new tents have been purchased for the camping Indian troops will be of special interest to many.

Camp fire programs will be held each Wednesday night at which time parents and friends and the general public are invited to attend. Arrangements will be made to take Scouts into Munising for Sunday religious services.

A full program of activities of fishing, boat hiking, swimming, baseball, horse shoe, ping pong, archery, water sports, and log birling will round off the program.

For additional information call the Scout office, phone 648, or call any Scoutmaster.

BOARD MEETS HERE MONDAY

Routine Business Faces Supervisors; Welfare May Be Discussed

Routine business is on the docket at the regular meeting of the Delta county board of supervisors to be held at the county courthouse Monday, beginning at 10 o'clock.

Prosecuting attorney William J. Miller yesterday said he had received a report from Dr. Nathan Frenn at Bark River that large quantities of arsenic were found in the stomach of Mike Panek, 50, of Schaffer, whose body was found June 17 in a haystack on his farm.

Panek had been missing since Tuesday, June 13 but Mrs. Panek believed he had gone to a neighboring farm to work and it was not until Saturday evening that she made a search of the premises. It was then that Panek's body was discovered on top of a haymow, the head pillowed on a jacket.

The stomach was sent to the University of Michigan laboratory for analysis of contents. Dr. Frenn received a report yesterday, saying that large quantities of arsenic were found. It was theorized by Dr. Frenn that the large amount of the poison found was largely responsible for the lack of signs of struggle.

Prosecutor Miller said yesterday that no inquest will be held in the death of Panek, who had been under $1,000 bond awaiting hearing on a charge of poisoning a neighbor's cattle.

Routine Business Faces Supervisors; Welfare May Be Discussed

Routine business is on the docket at the regular meeting of the Delta county board of supervisors to be held at the county courthouse Monday, beginning at 10 o'clock.

There is a possibility that there may be some discussion relative to the impending reorganization of the welfare set-up. Under a recent act of legislature, the welfare distribution problem has been put back in the lap of the county board of supervisors. There have been no definite details received here as to the new system.

Members of the board of supervisors at present are as follows: Chairman O. J. Thorsen of Wells; Peter N. Logan, Carl B. Johnson, Carl E. Anderson, Clyde J. Burns, Harold W. Gasmann, Ralph J. Kennelly, Charles Priestner, Carl W. Richter and Charles M. Gallagher of Escanaba; Milton Berg, Joseph A. LaFramboise, A. D. Algure and Ole Peterson of Gladstone; E. W. Carlson of Perkins; Omer Tanguay of Bark River; Wesley Anderson of Stonington; George Berg of Brampton; Morton Schire of Cornell; H. F. Gustafson of Esnig; John J. DETROIT SEEKS WATER TRADE

Recognition as Shipping Port Is Desired By Motor Center

Detroit—This great city, long conscious of its debt to Henry Ford and the other automobile pioneers, is today paying a larger debt to that resource or facility which has made possible its development as the nation's motor center, the Detroit river. It is paying this debt in an intangible way by seeking to make more and better use of the rushing blue-green waters which bring the commerce of the world to its 15-mile-long doorstep.

The Detroit Chamber of Commerce is leading a concerted and vigorous appeal for wider recognition of Detroit's position as a water freight terminus.

Ever since Lamothe Cadillac, young French army officer, pushed his way through the wilderness from Montreal to what is now the foot of Griswold street here, this city has owed a debt to the Detroit river. Today Detroit has its 15-mile navigable front to thank for a shipping exchange of raw materials and finished products which in amount of tonnage ranks sixth as a Great Lakes port.

Ships carrying flags of many of the European nations steam through this river at some time during the season and except for the winter months there is a steady stream of regular lake-going carriers. With the opening of shipping in May, two foreign lines, the Fjell of Norway and the Orange of the Netherlands, now provide a regular scheduled semi-monthly service to and from European ports. During 1937 water-borne commerce in and out of the port of Detroit totaled 14,319,436 tons valued at $475,150,873.

Detroit is in the main a receiver of raw materials and a shipper of finished products. The difference between the value of the raw materials received and the finished products shipped is considered by leaders a measure of the worth of the traffic to Detroit, its labor and business interest. Iron, ore, coal, and limestone assembled at a cost of $2 to $5 a ton, go out as automobiles with value 1,000 per cent greater.

Heaviest incoming traffic is from the mining and lumbering districts in the Lake Superior district with outgoing traffic directed to Chicago, Cleveland, Milwaukee and other industrial centers. An important unit in the daily water traffic is the Ford marine fleet with vessels traversing the Great Lakes, traveling through the New York waterways to tide-water, and along the coastal waterways, as far as New Orleans. Its ocean-going units travel as far as the important Ford branches in Europe and the three large assembly branches on the Pacific coast.

MANY FISHING PERMITS SOLD

Two World's Fairs Not Cutting In On This Pastime In State

The annual march to lakes and streams in quest of the season's limit of fish will not be thinned out by other attractions such as two world's fairs on Atlantic and Pacific seaboards. It is apparent from figures on number of licenses sold.

Officials in charge of license distribution for the department of conservation say that Michigan fishing is holding its own in spite of the barrage of advertising poured into the state to lure residents either East or West on their annual vacation.

Increases in number of licenses distributed by the 2,200 merchants and business men in communities all over the state, had been reported up to June 1 in four of the five categories as compared with a similar date last year.

This year, 2,000 more residents had purchased general fishing licenses by the first of the month, bringing the total to 53,397. Also increased were the licenses for temporary non-resident fishing, annual non-resident fishing and wife non-resident fishing.

Resident non-trout fishing permits this season had run behind the figure for 1938, with 140,782 reported as of June 1. License authorities stressed, however, that the reports of several agents may have lagged during the June rush of fishermen to get set for the lake season opening June 25.

The story of whether the summer fishing season will continue to have its grip or will relinquish some of its drawing power to the big shows in New York and San Francisco can be known at an early date, conservation officials said. Banner week for issuing licenses has just been completed, the big jam of applications always coming the week prior to the June 25 opening. No record of these sales is as yet available.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crosby at Van Meer and with other relatives here.

Mrs. Lyle Atkins and children of Carthage, Ill., are spending the summer vacation visiting at the home of Mrs. Atkin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Bjornstad.

Munising Lions will hold a special meeting in the Sylvania Inn on Tuesday evening and newly elected officers of the club will be installed. A banquet for Lions and their ladies will start at 6:45, the installation will follow and the remainder of the evening will be spent in dancing.

Mrs. Lawrence Larson is spending the week-end visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Clement, Lynn street.

Miss Katherine Alexander of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, is visiting at Van Meer with Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Syers.

Old Orchard Farm

Weeds Picked and Fences Whitewashed

Killing weeds and whitewashing fences were the principal orders for most of the days last week and the boys just about completed that job—for the time, at least.

When the weather turned fair, the first of the week, the cultivators were kept going just about every daylight hour, with the result that the corn, the potatoes and the beets were given a thorough going over. And when that job was done, Jimmie Leach took the hand cultivator in the gardens while Hank Barron gave his attention to the annual whitewashing of the board fences about the place. While it is quite a chore to whitewash about 120 rods of board fence, on both sides, it has been found that it pays, both in improving the appearance of the place and in preserving and protecting the boards from the weather. A little later, when field work slack off again, the house will be given its annual whitewash coat.

Every crop on the farm showed a healthy and a most substantial growth last week. The corn now averages about ten inches in height and the bright sunshine of most of the days in the week, gave it a healthy, dark green color and with favorable weather continuing, every promise is given for a full crop of mature corn this year. The oats and barley also gained considerably during the week and a walk through those fields showed that in the barley a practically perfect stand of alfalfa was obtained from the early spring seeding, while in the oats field alfalfa clover and timothy seedlings have now attained a growth of between three and four inches, so that only a prolonged dry spell can now injure next season's hay crop.

Good Alfalfa Prospects
In the alfalfa field, that will be cut for the first time this year, the plants now stand in a solid mass over two feet in height, over the entire field, so that Jimmie Leach has begun to worry over the prospect that he will have more hay from the two alfalfa cuttings than he will be able to get in the barn. The beets, blocked out by Mexican workers some time ago, have now had their third between the row cultivation and the plants look healthy and promise a fine crop this fall.

The potatoes now stand from six to eight inches above the ground and were given their first deep cultivation last week. Where the potato bugs come from no one knows, but Jimmie Leach says the old bugs were laying on the ground, waiting for the potatoes to come up, although there hasn't been potatoes in that field for seven or eight years. Anyway the old bugs got busy immediately and millions of eggs were laid on the underside of the leaves of the plants and as soon as they begin to hatch out, the sprayer will be started. All of the spray material for the season was delivered at the farm last week and it's likely the big power sprayer will get into action the first of this week. If last season's experience is any criterion it will be necessary to give the potatoes about seven sprayings, with bordeaux mixture and bug killer, during the season, in addition to cultivation, so the potato field is due for a lot of activity up to just about digging time.

To Pick Mustard Weed
If anyone doubts that pure blooded stock pays, a trip out to Old Orchard will be enlightening. Three full blooded OIC pigs were purchased this spring for the foundation breeding stock for the farm. In addition 14 pigs were purchased from neighboring farmers. Five of the pigs purchased locally are of the same age and the pedigree animals. All of them have been kept in the same pen and provided with the same daily ration of feed. If any visitor doesn't say that the three pedigreed pigs aren't today double the weight of any other three pigs in the yard, there's something wrong with their eyesight. In other words that pen of pigs out at Old Orchard just about proves that it's a shameful waste of money to feed poorly bred stock, when better bred stock will show double the growth on the same feed.

The next activity at the farm will be a campaign to give the fields their annual cleansing of wild mustard plants. Ever since Old Orchard was established not a single mustard plant has been allowed to go to seed, but each spring there is found the annual growth of this noxious weed and no matter how many years it takes to rid the farm of this pest, the battle is going to be kept up. Jimmie Leach says the moon isn't "right" yet for cutting Canada thistles, but when Jimmie gives the word, there will be another battle against that unwanted plant, which thrives so luxuriantly in so many fields in this section.

FARMERS NEED WARM WEATHER

Seed May Decay Unless Temperature Comes To the Rescue

Farmers of Delta county and vicinity are in the need of a little concerted warm weather if their crops are to amount to anything this summer, county agricultural agent E. A. Wenner said yesterday.

"Unless we have a few days of warm weather very soon," Wenner said, "farmers of this county stand to lose a lot of money. Right now, much of the crop remains pretty much at a standstill because of lack of warm sunshine. Much of the seed is rotting in the ground because of the frequent rains and lack of inducement from the sun. This is especially true in low ground or where drainage is poor."

Wenner said, if present conditions continue, the hay crop will be one of the heaviest in years. Frequent rains have had their effect and many farmers will have much more than they will need. And, unfortunately, the hay market of recent years has been very poor, due, partly, to the increase in hay acreage under the soil conservation program.

The corn crop will be good this year, Wenner said, providing there are a few warm days within the next week or two. It had a good start but progress has been impeded somewhat of recent days because of the lack of sunshine.

Grasshoppers Scarce
Rains and cold weather have had one beneficial effect, however, in curbing the grasshopper menace. There have been but few signs of grasshoppers in the county thus far, due partly to the weather conditions and also to the extensive use of poison throughout the county within the past couple of years. Poison bait still is available, Wenner said, and farmers are urged to request it at the first sign of activity among the crop pests.

County officials are keeping a close tab on any possible outbreak of the deadly sleeping sickness among horses. Some cases were reported last year and two or three horses were fatally infected but, as yet, there have been no signs of it. Farmers are asked to be very careful in observation of their horses and report any signs of illness quickly to a veterinarian or to the county agent.

WHITEWASHING BRICK WALLS

Whitewashing brick walls to accelerate their taking on the appearance of age is becoming more and more the practice. It has developed in all sections of the country and is growing quite popular. If anywhere, this practice predominates in the north and it may have had its inspiration from the effects obtained in the old Spanish architecture of the south and southwest.

But it isn't a new resort, for throughout the southern European countries, especially along the Mediterranean, such methods have been in practice for centuries. This effect is constantly found in old Italian cities where the brick walls have been covered in many instances not only with whitewash but first with a heavy coating of cement. It is found in Spain and there it is a universal custom to use the cement coating.

Simple and Convenient

It is necessary, in a small house that must be built with a minimum of cost, to eliminate all wasteful halls and unnecessary angles and spaces which cost money in their construction. This tiny house will be found economical to build and to maintain. The design is originated by the National Plan Service, Inc.

Basement Windows

Steel windows for the basement offer rigidity, fine appearance, and splendid weathering qualities. The rigidity is obtained through the method of manufacturing which builds the jam and sill together in one unit.

The windows are attractive due to the narrow margin of material which lies between the masonry jam and the glass itself. The sash and the frame fit very closely together and make a tight-fitting window.

Installation can be made in any type of construction—cement block, brick, wood, tile, fieldstone, or poured concrete. The windows are supplied in several types, sizes and divisions of window glass. They may be obtained from stock. Each window is a complete unit in itself.

NEW FAUCET IS WORKSAVER

The combination faucet at the sink is a great time saver, for with this fixture the temperature of the water may be adjusted to the desired degree.

There is a swinging nozzle and an attachment for a short length hose with a spray head for rinsing dishes.

Move Explained

Marquette.—Discontinuance of Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic trains Nos. 1 and 2, between Marquette and Calumet, effective July 1, has been made necessary because of losses on the run of approximately $18,000 per year. C. E. Urbahn, general manager of the road, said yesterday.

The fact that the trains can be discontinued without impairing passenger or mail schedules, Urbahn said, also was an important factor in the decision to abandon them. No. 1's mail will be routed out of Marquette on No. 7, which leaves at 6:10 p. m.

Service between Marquette and Calumet will be over No. 9, leaving Marquette at 4:10 a. m., CST, arriving in Calumet at 8:45, and No. 10, leaving Calumet at 4:40 p. m. and arriving in Marquette at 9:05.

Use of the adjustable length pendulum in the latter part of the 17th century made possible clocks of accuracy. Later it was discovered that the earth's pull was not constant on the earth's surface and pendulum clocks were found to run slower at the earth's poles.

SIMPLE PLANS FOR NEW BATH

When that extra guest comes, or the young son or daughter grows up, it seems almost imperative that the average family arrange for a second bath or at least an extra toilet and lavatory.

How to fit them into an already crowded house is a problem. So let's see what we can scheme out for converting some of our extra space into one of these much-needed conveniences. Take plan A, shown here. This is a simple method of installing a toilet and lavatory under the main staircase. This washroom will only require the length of four feet six inches. The width of the stairs will be ample.

It will be a most convenient arrangement and will be welcomed by all the family, especially the mother with several small children who need to be scrubbed several times a day. Countless steps and stairs will be saved, and the understairs washroom will prove its worth over and over again.

Plan B is really a tiny but complete bathroom. It can be squeezed into a space five feet by five feet six inches and many an old closet might be sacrificed and turned into this welcome little but comfy bath.

FIXTURES HAVE DRAIN CONTROL

Some of the newest items along the line of plumbing fixtures are improved drain controls, a larger square or rectangular basin in a lavatory, a cabinet lavatory underneath, towel bars attached to a lavatory.

INSULATE HOME TO KEEP COOL

If a home is properly insulated it is a pretty safe assumption that hot weather did not mean restless and sleepless night for the family. One way to make a second floor sleeping quarters more comfortable is to completely insulate the attic.

Bride's Bedroom

The bedroom of a New York bride is smartly decorated with walls painted gray-white and ceiling yellow. A black carpet covers the floor and draperies of yellow chintz enclose glass curtains of cream color net.

HOME PLANNING REQUIRES CARE

BY PAUL T. HAAGEN
Most of us look forward to the time when we shall build our own home. It may not be tomorrow—but some day we expect to create perfection in the way of a house, complete in every detail from the gate at the front, through the lawn or garden to the charmingly furnished and inviting interior. In fact, we spend so much time in thought that when we come to build, our requirements and desires have so changed that the problem must be thought out all over again.

People struggle along through a busy life accepting inconveniences of a casual lodging and when they have acquired enough to build they are perhaps indifferent to the happiness and comforts which a home should bring.

Site important
In their mind they see this house without a flaw of imperfection, and so seldom is this ideal realized. Perhaps it is too expensive for their purse and therefore is never started; perhaps a property suitable for the garden is never obtainable; perhaps General Inertia has them in his grasp and they never take the first step. And, perhaps, they start the building only to find that their pet desires are impractical, and anyway, they have changed their minds about what they need and what they want.

One of the greatest obstacles in the way of many having a home is a mental attitude. People demand a solution to necessities things without which they can live comfortably and with self respect. To overcome this inertia make a list of the actual fundamentals needed to form the nucleus of your home; other rooms and conveniences can be left for the future. The essential thing is to start a home early—at the outset of the family life—and you will be surprised how quickly your home grows in beauty, comfort and conveniences.

It is a hard thing to keep that list of essential requirements down to where it belongs. Shun the idea that it would cost but little more to do this, or very little more to do that. You so divert from the straight and narrow path and climb the hill of expense. Don't try to reduce the cost by the use of cheaper building materials and thereby get a larger house. Weigh every plan you make by essential requirement and quality of material, for a cheaply constructed house is a continual expense.

Bulld Security
To build a home is one of the most soul-satisfying and heart-warming things in the world. Home is where the heart is; the heart is with what we treasure most; and home should be the treasure, the pride, and the comfort of us all.

The future of the nation is founded on its homes, and the homes that count are those where the character and integrity of future citizens is being moulded.

People like to embody their own ideas in building, but don't let individuality go too far. Nor should the house be considered from the aspect of its possible resale.

A leading rubber company has introduced a new white sidewall tire paint, containing a rubber base, for renewing white sidewall tires or for making black sidewall white.

Modern Dressing Table

This extremely modern but very easily constructed dressing table may be constructed from a few pieces of lumber and one-half round mouldings. First, determine the size and shape of the top you require for the dressing table. The ends may be made or shaped as indicated at B, C or D. After you have cut out the design you wish for the ends, cut one-half round mouldings in 30 inch long pieces and then apply the mouldings with fine finishing nails to the top and base. Provide a curtain for the center opening, which must be left so that one's knees will go under the table. The piece may be finished as desired.

SWITCH CONTROL

FOR MODERN ELECTRIC WIRING

Present day fixtures require modern switch controls in all rooms, and room lights are most conveniently controlled at the room entrance.

Outside lights for the yard and premises are conveniently controlled by switches equipped with pilot lights.

Connecting cords under rugs or tacked along the baseboards are really dangerous. Convenience outlets should be installed where they are really needed, and included in the modernization scheme.

Always arrange for at least one outlet on each side of every room and for one higher outlet in every room for a vacuum cleaner or other appliance.

There is a signal light on the market which has a pilot light in combination with the switch which will soon pay for itself in saved electricity. This pilot light glows when the light in the cellar, garage or other lights which are often forgotten are burning, and immediately tells one that lights somewhere should be turned off as they are not in use.

Then there are closet door switches which, when the door is opened immediately turn on the light, when the door is closed the light goes out automatically. That is real convenience without waste.

It is quite simple to equip existing switch outlets with a combination switch and convenience receptacle which would be at just the right height for the vacuum cleaner or other appliances. The cost is quite nominal.

BEDROOM HANDY NICHES

Built-in niches or book shelves should always be planned for the bedroom. A small niche, either single or in pairs, gives interest to the room and serves as a book shelf for favorite or bedtime books, or as a recess for small ornaments or decorative cosmetic bottles. Narrow spaces between windows or beside the door offer good locations for small niches.

Some of the newest items along the line of plumbing fixtures are improved drain controls, a larger slab space on the lavatory, a lavatory with a shelf back, a square or rectangular basin in a lavatory, a cabinet lavatory with a unit built in a cabinet underneath.

A unique feature for your kitchen is to paint the inside of the cupboards, cabinets and the shelves of contrasting color to that of the walls. A coral pink is suggested for a green-walled kitchen and powder-blue for a kitchen where the walls are apricot.

Betty Rheume Bride In First Rectory Wedding

An attractive bride of June was Miss Betty Rheume, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Rheume of 516 North Twentieth street, whose marriage to Veikko Luukkonen of Rock, Saturday morning, was the first wedding to take place in the new St. Joseph's rectory. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Luukkonen. Rev. Fr. Paschal Kernor, O. F. M., read the marriage service, at 10:45 o'clock.

Attending the young couple were Miss Angeline Norden and William Lund. The bride wore a lovely gown of aqua blue georgette, with a full floor length skirt, the bodice finished with shirred puffed sleeves and shirred waistline, and a Queen Anne collar. A shoulder veil of the same shade was fashioned to a halo of aqua velvet roses. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses, snapdragons, fever few and buttons, with a shower of white satin ribbons tied with fever few. Her maid of honor wore a floor length gown of peach embroidered net over taffeta, with a bolero edged with pleated ruffles, and with it, a coronet headress of white. She carried an arm bouquet of like flowers.

Trip Through Wisconsin A wedding breakfast served at the Rheume home followed the ceremony. Pink and white flowers decorated the table which was centered by the bride's cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Luukkonen left on a wedding trip through Wisconsin, the bride wearing a summer suit of burnt orange with white accessories. They will make their home in Rock where Mr. Luukkonen is with the Co-Op Store. Mrs. Vina Loeffler of Lansing, an aunt of the bride, was among guests at the wedding.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

Leaving any question of morals out of it, it is a mistake for a girl to date a married man. She is almost sure to be wasting her time. Before she indulges her modern "right" to make life pleasanter for summer bachelors, a girl ought to size up the situation and find out just what she is going to get out of it.

She isn't going to get a husband. That's a cinch. Because even though he isn't adverse to being consoled while his wife is away with the children for the summer, the married man who starts a mild flirtation with her gives her credit for knowing it will never amount to anything serious.

After all, though he might not admit, he is a conventional, responsible pillar of society, who intends to go on supporting his family the rest of his days. Then, too, if the girl has any young unmarried men on the string they will resent having a married man chisel in, and are likely to step out of the picture.

WIVES BEGIN TO TALK

A girl has to remember, too, that wives stick together, when their territory is being invaded—and she is sure to be talked about by wives who feel uneasy every time they see a supposedly excellent husband playing bachelor. That may not hurt her—but there is always the possibility that it might.

Then, too, the married man is not going to be especially interested in her. What he wants is an audience. His wife—who devotes her life to building him up—has spoiled him so badly that he expects every woman to be on the cheering lines. When she lets a married man monopolize her evening a girl is just marking time. And marking time is bad business if her goal is a husband of her own.

St. Joseph's Church, Rectory Scene of First Weddings

Shown here following their exchange of vows are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Corcoran, whose wedding was the first to take place in the new St. Joseph's church, and Mr. and Mrs. Veikko Luukkonen, whose marriage was the first performed in the new rectory building. Both weddings took place on Saturday morning.

At the first nuptial high mass to be celebrated in the new St. Joseph's church edifice, Miss Wanda Helene Milkiewicz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Milkiewicz of 322 Stephenson avenue, Saturday morning became the bride of Joseph L. Corcoran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Corcoran.

The ceremony, which was at 9 o'clock, was beautifully appointed. Peoples in deep pink and white graced the altar of the church, and tall baskets of the same flowers were at either side of the entrance to the sanctuary where the young couple knelt for the exchange of vows.

Rev. Fr. Edward Leary, O. F. M., pastor of the church, was celebrant of the mass, and conducted the marriage service.

The bride selected for her attendants, Miss Irene Milkiewicz, her sister, who was maid of honor, and Miss Marion Corcoran, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Ann Sakal and Mrs. Casimir Milkiewicz, who were bridesmaids. Paul Corcoran, a brother of the bridegroom, was his best man, and other attendants were Millard Birk, Wallace Wilson and Casimir Milkiewicz.

White Satin and Lace

The bride was beautifully gowned in a princess redingote model of white satin and lace, the bodice trimmed with tiny satin buttons, the long, close-fitting sleeves of lace ending in points over the wrist, and the skirt extending into a long train. Her veil of tulle and lace fell in graceful folds from a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses, lilies and snapdragons.

Her maid of honor and bridesmaids wore frocks, fashioned alike, of net over taffeta, the maid of honor's of aqua blue shade, two of the bridesmaids of peach, and the third, of pink. They wore matching headresses of flowers and carried arm bouquets of roses and snapdragons.

Mrs. Milkiewicz wore navy blue lace with blue accessories, and both had shoulder corsages of roses and snapdragons. Soloists of the first nuptial mass, which was sung by the choir with Miss Eva Cossett, organist-director, were Mrs. John Grels and Miss Belle Bodette, and the "Ave Maria" at the offertory was sung by Miss Mary Bluk.

Wedding Breakfast A wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stankowicz, at Danforth, the tiered wedding cake with an arrangement of flowers in pink and white, forming the table centerpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Corcoran left later on a honeymoon trip through Wisconsin and Michigan, the bride wearing a becoming gray travel suit, fur trimmed, with matching accessories. They will make their home at 322 Stephenson avenue. The bride is a graduate of Escanaba high school, and Mr. Corcoran a graduate of St. Joseph's high school, is a member of the Escanaba police department.

Miss Irene Milkiewicz of Baldwin, Mich., a sister of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur LaSalle and family of Milwaukee were among guests at the wedding. Frank Hague has found out that he is not the law. William J. Carney, New Jersey C. I. D. director, on the Supreme Court decision outlawing Jersey City's public assembly restrictions.

Cecilia Kleiman Bride In Wedding Saturday Morning

A charmingly appointed June wedding took place Saturday morning at St. George's church, Bark River, uniting in marriage, Miss Cecilia R. Kleiman, daughter of Mrs. Mary Kleiman of Bark River, and Lionel R. Peltier, of Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Belanger.

Rev. Fr. D. Joseph Breault, who was celebrant of the nuptial high mass at 9 o'clock, read the marriage service.

Pink and white peonies and yellow iris and daisies decorated the altar of the church, and were arranged in baskets at either side of the entrance to the sanctuary. The bride, who was attended by Miss Marguerite Roberge, wore a becoming tailored suit of white and her hat, blouse and gloves were of dusty pink. She wore a corsage of red roses and fever few and she carried a rosary. Her maid of honor wore a bolero dress of beige, with a charreuse and violet bodice. Her turban was of violet shade, and tea roses and violet sweet peas formed her corsage.

Louis Belanger, Jr., served as best man. The music of the nuptial mass was sung by the choir of the church, with Mrs. Edwin Bergman, organist-director, and the "Ave Maria" at the offertory was sung by Mrs. Bergman played the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin", as the processional, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March as the recessional.

Wedding Dinner A breakfast for members of the bridal party, served at the Kleiman home, was followed by a dinner at Belle's Coffee shop, for forty guests. The tiered wedding cake and seasonal flowers featured the table appointments.

Following their wedding trip the young couple will make their home at Harris.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Belanger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schroeder and Kenneth Thompson, Escanaba; and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Marslock and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kleiman of Wilson.

Church Events

First Presbyterian Church Regular Sunday services at the First Presbyterian church were announced by the pastor, Rev. C. E. Berger, as follows: Church school at 9:30 o'clock; morning worship at 10:45; the topic of the sermon being "The Pursuit of Truth."

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Nelson left Saturday morning for their home in Minneapolis after visiting with relatives and friends in Escanaba, Gladstone and Bark River.

The Fuehrer has proclaimed peace with guns. Joseph Buerckel, Reich Commissioner for Austria.

PIONEER AUTO MAKING TRACED

Apperson Leader Among Manufacturers of First Cars

Detroit, June 24 (AP)—If the automobile industry ever establishes its own hall of fame, a place high on the list of immortals will be reserved for Edgar L. Apperson, one of the few survivors of that group of persistent individuals who labored under great handicaps to bring forth the motorized carriage, forerunner of the present-day automobile.

It still is a disputed question among chroniclers of the industry whether Mr. Apperson and his brother, Elmer, or Charles B. Duryea built the first American-made commercially successful motor vehicle. A crude, motorized carriage built by the Apperson brothers for Elwood Haynes in 1893 shares honors with one assembled by Mr. Duryea in the Smithsonian Institution at Washington as the first American-made motorcar.

Many Inventions

Many of the industry's historians agree that Mr. Haynes, the Appersons, Alexander Winton, Ransom E. Olds, Henry Ford, Charles B. King, George E. Lewis and a few others followed a trail blazed by Mr. Duryea.

However that may be, Edgar Apperson, now no longer active in the industry except in an occasional consultative capacity, won his place among automotive notables by contributing many of the inventions that made possible the industry's meteoric development.

Among the vital things he was first to bring out was the design for hanging the brake on brake supports, leaving the hand at the rear a free movement. Another original design was the fuel heating system. Mr. Apperson also joined with his brother in casting arms on the crankcase for engine supports.

He was first to adopt anti friction bearings; first to make an "opposed cylinder" gasoline engine; first to design carburetors with needle valves, and originator of the double ignition system in 1904.

Early Limousine

Mr. Apperson and his brother were owners of a machine shop in Kokomo, Ind., when Mr. Haynes, superintendent of a natural gas company, brought them plans for a motorized buggy. The original idea was to power it with a gasoline marine engine, Mr. Apperson said.

"We took the job on a time and material basis," he said.

It was on July 4, 1894, that Mr. Haynes tested the vehicle on the road for the first time. It had a maximum speed of eight miles an hour.

In 1898, Mr. Haynes and Mr. Apperson formed a partnership to produce the Haynes-Apperson car. The partnership lasted only a couple of years, and in 1902 the Appersons began producing their own vehicle, a two-cylinder affair which weighed 2,500 pounds, carried six passengers, and sold for $3,500. It was the highest priced American car at the time, but the following year they built a 50-horsepower limousine that sold for $7,500. Like the earlier model, it was chain driven, but boasted four cylinders and an "armored wood" chassis.

TOLEDO AIDED BY COMMITTEE

Civic Organization Has Found Way to City Progress

Toledo, Ohio—Toledo has fashioned a homespun approach for a little drumbeating of its own and christened its civic press agent Toledo Associates.

These men simply wanted to cultivate the good will of Detroit and similar industrial and financial centers. They raised a few thousand dollars and then launched a factual offensive on the news sources of the country.

Now, well into its fourth year of activity, Toledo Associates is completing plans for an annual meeting with a sheaf of statistics proving that its consistent day-to-day program has been highly instrumental in establishing Toledo's good reputation.

Dated From 1931

Toledo's troubles dated from 1931 when within one sixty-day period, the city's banking structure toppled, freezing more than $100,000,000 in deposits. Again in 1934 and 1935, Toledo, by unhappy coincidence, played host to the first two strikes aimed at the automobile industry, plus a short-lived but widely advertised power strike.

There was an immediate economic pinch to this bad news. Auto parts orders regularly allotted to Toledo manufacturing concerns were given to plants in other cities or placed on condition that they be manufactured in outside plants of local companies.

In June, 1935, with Toledo's name going from bad to worse, 22 leading industrialists sat down around a table to develop a public relations program for restoration of the city's reputation. Checking their product for constructive points, they found that there were two new sales features deserving of national publicity: the recently organized Toledo Plan for Industrial Peace developed by Edward F. McGrady, then Assistant Secretary of Labor, and a city manager-small council government, to take office January 1, 1936.

Having agreed upon a formula, these industrialists then set up on August 1 1935, Toledo Associates, a non-profit association of representative business interests. Responsibility for carrying out the program was turned over to a local advertising agency with a long and successful background in advertising and publicity.

Advisory Committee

Editorial and local newspapers acted as an advisory committee in planning a flank attack on newspaper, magazine and radio offices.

Success of Toledo Associates was spontaneous and has increased steadily. Newspapers in all parts of the United States ask them for special articles on Toledo. Influential trade journals find Toledo Associates' releases of real interest to their readers. National periodicals dispatched several writers to the city for articles on Toledo's regeneration. Radio networks have carried Toledo speakers.

COUNTY DEPT' TO COOPERATE

Will Aid State In Drive to Better Sanitary Conditions

The Delta county health department will cooperate to the fullest extent with the state department of health in general improvement in the sanitation of rural, resort and suburban areas of Michigan as prescribed under the new act of legislature recently signed by Governor Luren D. Dickinson. It was indicated at the local health department yesterday.

The new law becomes effective in 90 days.

Designed as a means of preventing the spread of typhoid and dysentery, the new act outlaws "any outhouse unless the same shall be kept at all times in a sanitary condition, and constructed and maintained in such manner as not to injure or endanger the public health." The new law recognizes the insanitary outhouse as a source of disease, thus making it unnecessary for health officials to prove that a public nuisance exists.

Both Cooperating

With this legal recognition of the insanitary privy as a source of disease the state and local health departments of Michigan are prepared to cooperate with all home and resort owners in the construction and maintenance of disease-proof outhouses. Construction of sanitary outhouses is considered necessary for the protection of not only the individual home owner and his family but of the entire community. Minimum standards of design have been established by the Michigan Department of Health for the guidance of the local sanitarians.

The new law should be especially effective in aiding local health officials to clean up insanitary suburban districts which are not connected with sewage disposal systems. Such districts have been a constant health danger on the outskirts of many metropolitan areas.

Act No. 273 specifically includes within its scope the sanitary control of all outhouses located within 200 yards of any neighboring residence or store or restaurant where food, milk or drink is served, or within 200 yards of any public gathering place.

The ultimate objective of this legislation—the eradication of fly-borne diseases such as typhoid, dysentery and diarrhea—can be attained, health officials indicated, only with the active support and cooperation of home owners, resort proprietors and roadside concession operators.

Students From Seven States At Iowa State Forestry School At Polack Lake

Students from seven states of the union are represented at the "backwoods university," the Iowa State college forestry summer school, which is being held at the Polack Lake civilian conservation corps camps northeast of Rapid River.

The college boys, mostly freshmen and sophomores, hail mostly from Iowa but come from as far as Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania in the east and Illinois, Wisconsin and Nebraska in the middle west. Most of them have never been in forest lands, the Iowa State being situated at Ames in a country where woods are somewhat of a rarity.

The school lasts for eight weeks and started last week. Four instructors comprise the faculty. They are headed by Professor Allen Goodspeed, who is in his first year at Iowa State after teaching for several years at University of Maine. Other members of the faculty are: Professor J. A. Larsen, who is a graduate of the University of Oslo in Norway; Professor George Hartman, who headed large lumbering operations in Louisiana for several years before becoming a member of the Iowa State faculty; and Professor Andrew McComb, who originally hailed from Pennsylvania.

ESCAPES DEATH

Menominee—Rolling over and over for 40 feet in front of a hay rake and jabbed in more than 20 places by the steel points of the rake, Max Schlick, 58, Menominee Rt 1, was not seriously injured, physicians at St. Joseph's hospital said today.

The accident occurred at 5 o'clock yesterday evening on Highway M-35 near the Green Light tavern when Schlick's team of horses ran away while he was raking grass that had been cut along the road.

Frightened when one end of the hay rake caught on a high-way sign, the horses bolted and Schlick was thrown from his seat ahead of the curved steel prongs of the rake. In turning out to avoid the sign Schlick had to drive on the pavement of M-35.

Rolling along the concrete inside the rake, the steel prongs picking at his body, Schlick finally managed to grasp the teeth and lift them up so that he rolled out behind.

In some sections of the Hawaiian Islands, wild raspberries grow as large as golf balls.

The steel industry consumes 8000 grams of platinum, valued at $10,000, annually.

Churches, Clubs To Use Forest Service Camp

It is carefully laid out with an eye toward practicability and natural beauty.

In the center of the group of buildings, which are well screened from each other by the slender birches, are the mess hall and recreation hall. The former building is fully equipped with a modern kitchen, including running water and an ice box. All necessary cooking utensils and dishes are furnished, organizations having only to provide their own food. The dining hall has eleven sturdily built tables with benches for six persons at a table.

Eight Cabins Used

The recreation hall is equipped with benches and tables and, at one end is a large fireplace. Here campers will gather for evenings of reading and enjoyment.

People will be housed in eight cabins, capable of caring for eight persons each. Beds, springs and mattresses are furnished, campers bringing their own bedding. Four of the cabins are near one end of the main buildings in the center of the lay-out and four are at the opposite end.

Sohlberg Returns From Rotary Meet

A. Theodore Sohlberg returned yesterday morning from Cleveland, Ohio, where he has been in attendance at the convention of Rotary International as a delegate of the Gladstone club.

The convention, Mr. Sohlberg said, was attended by 8,189 registered delegates and visitors representing clubs in every part of the world. It was reported that some seventy countries were represented, including, in addition to delegations from every state of the Union and the provinces of Canada and the countries of South America and the continent of Europe, the Dutch East Indies, Egypt, South Africa, Tasmania, New Zealand and Australia, Germany, Italy, Spain and Russia were not represented.

In addition to the official proceedings, and the consideration of enactments recommended by the legislative council the program included many important addresses by noted leaders in and out of Rotary. Rotary International is now made up of about 4,500 clubs in about 80 countries of the world. The present membership is estimated at 200,000. Despite the withdrawal of Italy and the cancellation of charters of Italian clubs, Rotary International seems to have made satisfactory progress during the past year. The 1940 meeting of Rotary In-

WORLD'S GREATEST TROPHY WINNER

By Jimmy Robinson Charlie Newcomb, prominent Philadelphia trapshooter, who started breaking clay targets back in 1901 and who recently shot in the North American Amateur Trapshooting Championships at the New York Athletic Club, has won more trophies and medals than any other figure in sport-dom. Newcomb has won more than 1,000 trophies.

Newcomb's Best. He was the man to beat at every shoot he attended. Records show that he broke 494 out of 500 at a Pittsburgh tournament that year, a new world's record.

Two years later Newcomb again attracted national attention when he led a fifteen-man team composed of Fred Plum, R. L. Spotts, A. King, and A. B. Richardson to a world's squad record at Maplewood, New Hampshire where they crashed 487 out of a possible 500. The next year, 1915 to be exact, Newcomb won the National Amateur Clay Target Championship of the world at the Chicago Grand American. He defeated the world's greatest shots in attaining this championship.

Newcomb is still gunning for the Amateur Trapshooting Championship at Travers Island, New York. He won this championship in 1913 and is the only gunner of that age who is still competing in this competition. He has won this title twice, the last time in 1917.

He is like Tennyson's brook, bubbling over with target enthusiasm—1,000 medals and trophies, something for the boys to shoot at, and has performed as great a feat as Lou Gehrig's straight game record at baseball. Copyright 1939, North American Sportsman's Bureau.

ONE YEAR TO GO PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITIES

No. 4—Cordell Hull

If Democrats compromise, it might be Cordell Hull.

BY BRUCE CATTON Escanaba Daily Press Washington Correspondent

If democracy's warring factions decide to nominate a candidate acceptable to both New Deal and anti-New Deal groups, Cordell Hull might very well be the man chosen.

The secretary of state is close to Roosevelt and has seen eye to eye with him on foreign policy from the start—

He can carry a grudge like a mountain feudist. Washington still remembers how Raymond Moley eclipsed him and trod on his toes early in the New Deal, and how, in the end, it was Moley who departed and Hull who stayed.

Almost forgotten by this generation is the fact it was Hull who authored the income tax law, passed in 1913.

Hull is austere and courtly; he looks and acts like the popular conception of a secretary of state. He will be 68 in October.

HIS ASSETS: First and foremost, an excellent record as secretary of state; a general reputation for disinterested public service; political shrewdness; considerable ability as a campaigner.

HIS LIABILITIES: Enmity of the isolationists, who think his foreign policy dangerous; probable opposition from Democratic left-wingers; his somewhat advanced age.

HIS CHANCES: Fairish—might

SCOUTS PLAN FOR CAMPOREE

300 Boys Expected for 3-Day Event Here; Opens June 29

Approximately 300 Boy Scouts from Escanaba, Gladstone, Munising and Manistique, composing the Red Buck Council, will meet in Manistique June 29, 30 and July 1 for the annual camporee.

The camporee will be established at the fairgrounds and campers will be separated in tents according to patrols. A space of 500 square feet will be allotted for each patrol.

The boys will provide their own meals during the three days of the camporee. Troops and patrol contests will be features of the event.

Friday evening, June 30, a district court of honor will be held, probably at the Manistique athletic field.

The fairgrounds is considered an ideal site for the camporee because it is a sufficiently large area with water supply and sanitary facilities. It contains a race track for the contests and a soft-ball diamond can readily be established. In addition, of course, the fairgrounds contains the Manistique Scout cabin, where local troops meet regularly.

Michigan In Washington

Esther Van Wagener Tufty The impeccable George A. Dondero, Royal Oak Republican, is so annoyed at the bad or careless manners of some of the members of the house of representatives that he has brought the matter to the attention of Speaker Bankhead.

Too many times has Dondero apologized to visiting constituents for the lack of decorum among his colleagues. Although there is a strict rule against smoking in the house some of the boys have been sneaking to the rear to smoke a long cigar as they lean over the rail. And they display club room manners with their feet. They don't actually put them atop the row in front, but they do often hoist them up against the seat ahead. Dondero also notes a certain slipshod manner in addressing the house after the usual recognition is given by the chair.

Maybe it's because there are so many new members, suggests Dondero to Bankhead. (That makes the sinners more Republican than Democratic.)

Anyone who has heard the surprised reactions of first visitors on Capitol Hill knows Dondero is justified in his criticism. He should be lauded for his attempt to give to that august body all the dignity possible.

The reason that Isle Royale will not be dedicated as a national park this month is three-fold. The financing of an adequate transport system to carry tourists across the 50 miles of water from Copper Harbor to the beautiful island has not been satisfactorily arranged. Nor is all in readiness on the island. The headquarters building is not completed. The two government-owned resorts will accommodate about 200 people. Also the loose-ends and legal transactions pertinent to the final acquisition of land on the island have not reached completion. So now it looks very much that the dedication will be staged in 1940.

The Farm Security Administration has it all figured out that its rehabilitation program for low-income farm families has resulted in a lot more children attending school. The estimated increase in Michigan is 3,639.

A great road-traveler, Congressman Albert J. Engel of Muskegon and Lake City made a suggestion the other day of tourist value to Michigan. He would have the state put up attractive markers on the many historical spots along the highways and byways.

"You would think that only the original thirteen states in the east had any history to brag about," said Engel, whose favorite weekend sport is piling all the family into the Ford and hitting the road.

To those who say that no one reads such markers, because motorists drive so fast by them, the state of Virginia has the answer. This state published a book to augment the signs on the roads. The sign marks the historic spot—and people in the cars can read the description without stopping.

A certain select group of senators and congressmen will board the Yankee Clipper today—Saturday—for London. As this is written only two Michigan members in congress have been invited—Senator Arthur Vandenberg, and the dean of the congressmen, Carl E. Mapes, both of Grand Rapids. In London great plans are afoot to entertain them, with Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy playing host.

When I saw Carl Mapes earlier this week he said he had his passport and was all excited to be aboard the great trans-Atlantic ship as it starts out on its regular passenger service.

At the same time Senator Vandenberg was apprehensive about

STAY OUT OF DISPUTE

Iron Mountain—A "hands off" policy on the part of the Iron-Dickinson County Medical Society in the dispute over the appointment of Michigan state health commissioner was indicated by officers and members of the group today.

"We have no advices of any stand taken by the Michigan State Medical Society," one of the officers said, "and it is doubtful, even if the state group does declare itself one way or another, that we will make any issue of it here. We believe it is something the county societies may well leave alone."

Meanwhile, the Michigan medical society definitely became an issue today, according to reports from Lansing, where it was questioned whether the officers of the group had virtually endorsed Dr. H. A. Moyer, of Charlotte, medical secretary to and long-standing personal friend of Governor Dickinson, for the post of state health commissioner. There is an open controversy on that question, it was indicated.

The Schoolcraft county board of supervisors will convene at the courthouse Monday for the purpose of equalizing the value of the real and personal property in the county.

Members of the equalization committee of the board are William Bauers, chairman; P. H. Beauvais, Thomas Grimsey, William W. Davidson and Angus McDougall.

Another matter of business expected to come before the board at this session will be the appointment of a member of the county road commission to succeed Ed Walker, who resigned recently because of WPA regulations.

City Council Will Meet Monday Night

A regular meeting of the Manistique city council will be held at the city hall Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Final adoption of the annual budget is expected to be made at that time.

RALLY FEEBLE; TREND ERRATIC

BY FREDERICK GARDNER
New York, June 24 (AP)—The stock market attempted another feeble rally today, and while scattered strong spots were discernible, price trends were indefinite at the close.

Fairly encouraging business prospects continued the main supporting element, brokers said, and kept offerings at a minimum. Weakness was rare in any department.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues ended off .1 of a point at 47.4. Transfers totaled 187,820 shares against 171,440 a week ago.

Most steels failed to get anywhere in particular, despite indications next week's mill operations would be maintained at or near the present rate.

Rails were colorless throughout. Motors were listless as steels. Coppers held to an even tally as foreign demand for this metal expanded and the export copper price rose a shade.

Finishing with modest advances were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Woolworth, Eastern Aircraft, Spicer Mfg., Coty, Union Pacific, Manhattan Railway and Philip Morris.

Nehi Corp. tumbled 6 1/2% in the curb but small gains were scored by American Cyanamid, B. Lockhead, Niagara Hudson Power, Aluminum Co., and Lake Shore.

cheered. "Hit 'em, boss!" they shouted. But the be-smared got a bit more. It didn't sound so funny to them or to their wives and children.

Of course, they couldn't grab the microphone and call names back. You know, you fellows have the radio sewed up that way. Also, they couldn't write a letter to the newspapers saying to the President, "You're another!"

Now, let me tell you this straight from the horse's mouth, that every time Ickes pulls one of his best speeches—and wouldn't miss one for a dish of lentil soup—somebody gets sore at you boss and the next thing you know one of those stories you complain about goes from Washington to New York and straight out to Hollywood. By that time the whole country's heard it.

And let me tell you something else which you can pass on to the boss. Those smearing committees which started when somebody put a midget in J. P. Morgan's lap and ain't ended yet when Senator Elbert Thomas pulls a couple of non sequiturs don't help any. No, sir! I've seen men come away from those things saying that everybody in Washington is nuts.

Well, you know how that gets around. The salesman tells it on the Pullman and by the time you reach Dubuque everybody has it as first-class information with the names of the doctors. It's a lousy business, Steve. But you know you people started it and now it's turned out to be a boomerang. Well, it's always like that.

Why don't you tell your boss that, third term or no third term, he get together with the opposition and figure some way to make 1940 clean? I bet the country would like that. Everybody's tired of name calling except the Communists who make a specialty of it. If they didn't call names, what would they have to say?

But Americans are tired of it. They don't like it. They agree with you that it's hitting below the belt. But, on the other hand, they figure that a one-sided name-calling contest ain't fair. If one does it, everybody's going to do it. So why don't you fellows quit first? You started first. Why not quit first?

This has been a long letter, but I hope you take time off from your writing to read it. And, Steve, although I ain't ever met you, I've seen your picture and you look like a clean sport yourself. Give your gang the tip-off. Tell them to come clean in 1940. Yours for a clean fight, SOK.

P. S. I hope you don't mind my calling you Steve.

Sun Lover Takes $10,000 Handicap At Delaware Park. Stanton, Del., June 24 (AP)—Sun lover, under the silks of the Milledale stable and ridden by Jockey Charles Stevenson, drove to a nose decision in the one mile and one-sixteenth $10,000 added Kent handicap at Delaware park today.

Fresh from his corking second to the doughy Johnstown in the Dwyer stakes at New York, the son of Sun Beau and Dark Love came from last place in the early running to earn the close decision and $5,978 in the final stride.

The victory was earned at the expense of George D. Widener's Eight Thirty, while two additional lengths away the favorite and top weight Chalcedon was third for Wm. L. Brann. Sun Lover covered the distance in 1:44 4-5, one second slower than track record time but a new mark for the running of the Kent.

The veteran's doubles title also went to the U. S., with two Detroiters, William Beyer and Charles Wagner, downing O. R. Smith of Detroit and Bruce Unger of Windsor, 6-0, 6-1, in the final.

AQUEDUCT RACE WON BY CRAVAT

Galloper Stages Rush On Stretch, Equals Track Record

New York, June 24 (AP)—Townsend B. Martin's bargain-counter galloper, Cravat, staged one of his characteristic stretch rushes today to win the 51st running of the Brooklyn handicap at Aqueduct in track record-equaling time for the mile and a furlong. Loaded with 126 pounds and conceding weight to every one of the other horses in the field of eight, the four-year-old from the Man 'O War line came home a length on top of J. B. Partridge's light-weighted Our Ketcham. His time of 1 minute, 48 1-5 seconds equalled the track mark set in 1935 in the second of three straight years Discovery won this half-century old stake.

Dog Chats by HORACE LYTLE

DON'T TAKE A PUPPY TOO YOUNG

By C. E. Harbison. While it is true that many kennels will sell a puppy almost as soon as it can be weaned from its mother it is decidedly unwise to bring a puppy into a new home and the resulting strange surroundings before it is at least two months old. It is even wiser to wait until the puppy is six or seven months old before separating it from the others in the litter. Many puppies are not weaned until they are about six weeks old and kennels that are properly run should have greater experience in their care than the uninitiated. Like children puppies are subject to a fit of loneliness if they are separated from their kind. This possibility should be avoided for in a high spirited puppy it has great significance in moulding the future temperament.
