The new plans and accomplishments included:

1. Disclosure that the government had completed a comprehensive scheme for rationing oil and gasoline during wartime.
2. Introduction of a food defense bill to create a food ministry and to finance storage and transport of foods.
3. Announcement that a nucleus of a merchant reserve fleet soon would be formed by purchase of six vessels for which the government has completed negotiations.
4. Disclosure that plans have been made to assure that parliament will be able to remain in session during wartime.
5. Announcement that the government had placed contracts for 2,500,000 bomb shelters to be distributed free to families unable to buy them.

Sir John Anderson, lord privy seal, told the house of commons that a weekly production of 55,000 shelters was expected by September and that 5,000 a week would be offered for sale at about $36.60 delivered.

Controversy Ended Over Fair Racing

Lansing, Aug. 1 (AP)—The state administrative board today closed a long controversy with the Detroit racing commission by wiping out counter-claims for funds by the board and the association and amending their joint contract to return use of Michigan state fair property to the fair.

The amended contract will permit the fair management to use that part of the fairgrounds previously leased to the association, including 100 acres of land, the grandstand, clubhouse, restaurant, track and parking space from August 15 to March 31.

The association's claims for $106,000 against the state for damages to association property and the state's claims for unpaid rentals were cancelled.

The amended contract affirms the reduced racing season of 42 days. Auditor General Vernon J. Brown said the loss in rentals entailed in the reduced season would be offset by income accruing to the fair from use of the property.

The suits were the outgrowth of a disturbance at the gates of the Ford Rouge plant on May 26, 1937. Walter P. Reuther, Richard T. Frankenstein and William Merriweather alleged they were beaten by Ford employes.

the bill considered.

Democrats Join Opposition

Joined with the 146 Republicans who voted against consideration were 47 Democrats. The 163 Democrats for taking up the bill were supported by three minor party members—two Wisconsin Progressives and the only American-Laborite.

Immediately after the house had blasted the program out of the picture, Representative Rayburn, in an interview with newsmen, grinned:

"It won't be long now."

Rayburn said he referred to adjournment.

Rayburn asserted that he expected "insistence from some quarters" for a vote on legislation providing exemptions from the wage-hour law but that no decision had been made on that point.

Another matter which he said might possibly come up, was amendments to the social security act, which among other things would freeze present payroll taxes for unemployment insurance until January 1, 1943.

Quick Results Promised

The amendments have been tied up in a dispute between the senate and house as to the extent of old age assistance to states. The house voted $20 per person on a strict 50-50 federal-state matching basis.

The senate social security bill would provide for-2 to 1 matching by the federal government up to total assistance of $15 and 50-50 matching thereafter until the federal government had supplied $20.

Rayburn said it would be "most unfortunate" if the amendments were shelved.

At his press conference, President Roosevelt said that if the lending program had been adopted, its effects would have been felt by industry within 60 to 90 days and orders would have begun to flow that would have put people to work almost immediately, thereby removing many from the relief rolls and saving the taxpayers that expense.

Wolcott Leads Attack

Estimates of the public works administration have been that for every man given work on a project 3 1/2 persons are also employed indirectly, he said.

During the house debate, Rep. Wolcott of Michigan, ranking Republican on the banking committee, led the Republican attack on the lending measure.

He said it "evades by indirection and subterfuge" a constitutional provision requiring that congress have jurisdiction over federal appropriations.

He declared also there was no demand from the agencies involved for the funds proposed and that in several cases the agency heads had said they had available all the money they required for the coming year.

Rep. Mapes (R-Mich) called the bill "dangerous at any time" and said the haste in trying to rush it through at adjournment time was improper.

HOW THEY VOTED

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—The roll call vote by which the house refused today to consider President Roosevelt's lending bill showed Michigan representatives voting as follows:

Democrats for consideration: Tenerowicz.

Republicans against consideration: Blackney, Bradley, Crawford, Dondoro, Engel, Hoffman, Mapes, Michener, Shafer and Wolcott.

Michigan Democrats announced as paired for the consideration: Rabaut, Dingell and Hook.

Michigan Republicans announced as paired against the consideration: McLeod and Woodruff.

The vote of Lesinski, Democrat, was not recorded.

Peninsula Forest Fire Loss Climbs

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 1 (AP)—Upper Michigan's forest fire losses climbed sharply last week to about the highest weekly figure since May, the conservation department's regional office here reported today.

Destruction was placed at 168 acres, caused by 46 fires. Two blazes in the eastern end of the peninsula accounted for more than 50 acres each.

Last week's fires bring this year's loss to date to 1,962.2 acres, as compared with 769.3 acres for the same period last year, an increase of almost 200 per cent. Total fires to date number 312 as against 245 in 1938.

More than a week of dry weather has served to place most of the peninsula in the danger zone as far as forest fires are concerned. Earlier this year rains were so general that seldom was there serious danger of widespread fires.

New Kiwanis Head From Wauwatosa

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 1 (AP)—William T. Darling, of Wauwatosa, Wis., was elected governor of the Kiwanis Wisconsin-Upper Michigan district at the concluding session of the three-day 21st annual convention in the Louis G. Kaufman auditorium here today.

He succeeds George M. Hetherington, of LaCrosse, Wis. Melvin H. Sater, of Madison, was reelected secretary.

Wisconsin Dells was chosen as the 1940 convention city.

Darling, district chairman of American citizenship, gave his report on Kiwanis activity in that field at the convention session this morning. He will choose the district secretary later. The incumbent is Stuart F. Brokaw, of LaCrosse.

Among the lieutenant governors for the 12 divisions elected by the delegates was Edward Mueller, of Ironwood, Northern division. He succeeds Charles B. Madden, of Iron Mountain.

sheer, in the new autumn shades, all within the price range of the day, in addition to summer merchandise.

There are cotton house coats, wrap-arounds and zipper fronts, taffeta slips, bathing suits, sports shoes of a popular model that will carry you well into the fall, footwear values that seem too good to be true, and hat values that will permit you to have the extra headpiece you wanted to complete a certain ensemble of soft brushed wool and other knits, silk blouses for your summer or early autumn suit, and more buys for your every day household needs than you have ever seen.

Weeks of Preparation

Weeks of preparation have preceded the event, with every store and every department in the larger stores concentrating on arrays of values too good for housewives who make their dollars work overtime, to-miss.

Thursday is the big day. The city's merchants are prepared to serve quickly those who take advantage of the sales event. Extra help has been secured in cases where it will be needed to move merchandise quickly and every consideration has been given to make shopping easy.

So, mark "shopping" in big letters on your calendar for August 3 because Thursday is Dollar Day in Escanaba.

Relief Client Gets Prison For Setting $166,000 Woods Fire

Atlanta, Mich., Aug. 1 (AP)—For starting a forest fire that burned 28,556 acres of land before being halted, Fred B. Shmel, Onaway relief client, was sentenced today by Circuit Judge Fred Smith to serve from two and one-half to 10 years in prison.

Judge Smith reprimanded Shmel as "a relief client, a dependent of the state who commits so grave a crime against the state."

At a hearing preliminary to sentence, conservation officers said the loss to the state from the fire was approximately $166,000.

Shmel pleaded guilty early in July to having started the fire on the Canada Creek ranch last May 5. Sheriff Charles Brown of Montmorency county said Shmel apparently started the fire because of a grudge against the Canada Creek ranch, which occupied land he had once hunted without restriction.

Welfare Body May Cut Down Salaries

Ishpeming, Mich., Aug. 1 (AP)—Possible reductions in personnel and salary of employes of the state welfare commission will be studied when the body meets in Lansing on August 14. Walter Griles, chairman, said here today:

"By the time we convene, we shall have completed a survey of the commission's operation."

Athens, Mich., Aug. 1 (AP)—Revival services are being conducted in the Pottawatomie and Ottawa counties at Fuller's Grove here for approximately 1,000 Indians.

Roosevelt Dodges Third Term Queries

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt dodged away again today from questions about a third term.

He joked and laughed loudly when a reporter asked whether he would not say something in connection with the 12th anniversary tomorrow of Calvin Coolidge's statement "I do not choose to run."

The president asked if the reporter was suggesting that he spend his summer holidays in the Black Hills of South Dakota, where Coolidge made his famous statement.

The chief executive added that he was going to be away-off at sea during his vacation and would have three press association representatives following him on a destroyer.

Still laughing, he said that all news on the trip would have to pass through him. The reporters will get duly censored news, he added, referring to regulations that news sent from naval vessels must pass through the commanding officer.

As a further humorous dig at the newsmen, the president said sometimes he has to write their stories for them when they get seasick.

Minneapolis Star Purchases Journal

Minneapolis, Aug. 1 (AP)—Purchase of the Minneapolis Journal, evening and Sunday newspaper, by the Minneapolis Star, an evening paper, was announced today shortly before the first issue of the new Star-Journal appeared on the street.

The Star-Journal will be published as an evening and Sunday paper, said John Cowles, president of the Star company, and Carl W. Jones, Journal president, in statements announcing the sale.

John Thompson, publisher of the Star, and Basil Walters, its editor, continue in those jobs with the Star-Journal, and George W. Ronald, Journal business manager, assumed that position on the new paper.

The purchase price was not revealed.

CLEVELAND QUIET

Cleveland, Aug. 1 (AP)—Mass demonstrations ended and tension eased today at General Motors' strike-bound Fisher Body plant.

A number of non-strikers went to work through entrances where rioting yesterday sent 46 persons to hospitals in clashes between failed to make a dent in the picket lines. Now the company is attempting to bring the police and the courts into play. * * * GM's use of brute force to intimidate the strikers is having the reverse effect. * * *

Election Ordered

The new violence broke out a few hours after the national labor relations board in Washington, moved to clear up some of the confusion in the automobile labor field by ordering an employee election in the plants of the Chrysler Corporation, Briggs Manufacturing Company and Motor Products Corporation.

With the General Motors strike apparently no nearer a settlement and a Packard strike in the discussion stage, the NLRB decision was the only encouraging feature of the day's labor news.

The struggle for power between the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations is a factor in all the auto labor disputes.

The Chrysler election, to be held within 20 days, will be the largest ever ordered by the labor board. Approximately 57,000 workers will be eligible. Except in two Indiana Chrysler plant the question will be whether the workers, plant by plant, desire the CIO or AFL to represent them in collective bargaining, or whether they want neither.

The UAW-CIO had requested the Chrysler poll but wanted it on a national basis. The UAW-AFL was opposed to the poll but wanted it to be plant by plant if at all.

The labor board voted two to one in favor of the plan by plant method of determining a bargaining agent.

police and CIO United Automobile Workers and union sympathizers

They relieved some of the approximately 300 men marooned overnight in the sprawling, east side factory.

Obeying a proclamation of Safety Director Elliot Ness unionists reduced pickets to seven at each of the five entrances. The crowd which police estimated at between 5,000 to 6,000 dwindled today to a few scattered groups.

Union leaders protested the restricted area proclaimed by Ness and enforced by police.

"This is purely a violation of our civil rights," asserted Paul E. Miley, strike leader, after some 500 unionists gathered to hear a discussion of the ruling.

"We're going to use every avenue we can to have it amended. In the meantime, we're going to see what happens."

Company officials said 468 production and skilled employes were working today. After they conferred with unionists, Resident Manager Edward J. Gleason said strikers "suggested" closure of

Netherlands Hope For Boy This Time

Slootdyk, The Netherlands, Aug. 1 (AP)—Guns were put in place today for a salute to a potential king of The Netherlands as the time approached for the expected arrival of Crown Princess Juliana's second child.

The guns will boom whether the baby is a boy or a girl but thousands of Queen Wilhelmina's subjects are hoping for a boy, an heir to The Netherlands throne.

The first child of Princess Juliana and her husband, Prince Bernhard, was a daughter, Princess Beatrix. She was born Jan. 31, 1938.

Forty extra police arrived to control crowds about the palace.

Capital Loans Proposed For Settlers On Upper Michigan's Cutover Lands

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—The national resources committee recommended today a policy of making capital loans to settlers to help make the cut-over area of Northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota self-supporting.

"A policy of giving long time capital loans on a sound credit basis to settlers on good land for development purposes should be adopted as rapidly as possible," the committee said, adding "such loans should have the provision that approved farm plans be made and carried out."

This proposal was tied to other recommendations for resettlement within each state of settlers located on land unsuited to agriculture. These would be relocated on lands better adapted or more advantageously situated for possible employment, schools, roads and other public services.

Too Many Units

The committee also recommended elimination of "uneconomic" units of government. The county, it said, should take over town roads while school districts and assessment districts should be enlarged. Counties should be made responsible for health and welfare functions.

It was suggested that cooperative marketing, which flourished under the Federal Farm Board of the Hoover administration, "may be the only way for many scattered north country farmers to get a fair price for their produce."

Establishment of a large scale Public Works program for forest restoration also was recommended by the committee.

Fire-control improvements, it said, should be made on all lands regardless of ownership.

The proposed program covered a region of 57,000,000 acres in 86 counties. It was worked by the Northern Lakes States regional committee composed of representatives of the three states and of interested federal agencies and was approved by the National Resources committee.

County Zoning Praised

In submitting the report to the president, Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior and NRC chairman, said that by promoting land classification studies, county zoning ordinances and state laws encouraging sustained forest yield management the local and state groups have "gone far in the direction of a sound program for the rehabilitation of the region."

"The report," he said, "outlines a plan for construction action by local, state, and federal agencies."

The report found unemployment to be the major problem of the area.

"With lumbering past its peak, mining using less labor, and agriculture without its former markets," it said, "the cut-over area has more people than jobs. This condition can be best corrected within the region and without resort to mass migration. "Transformation of the area into a self-supporting district is advanced as the most logical and most promising objective."

"This may be accomplished through restoration of forest resources, improvement of lakes, streams and other recreational facilities, rational developments of the mining industry, movement of isolated settlers and those on very low grade soil to locations providing equal or better economic opportunity where public services can be provided at reduced cost, improvement in current farm practices, and reforms in local governmental organizations and procedure."

First Steps Outlined

Responsibility for carrying out various recommendations was assigned as follows:

Townships, counties and state divisions for transfer of town roads to counties.

Counties and townships for consolidation of school districts into units large enough to support a complete system from lowest grades through senior high school.

State departments for distribution of state aids on a basis of need.

State departments for having grants-in-aid funds administered locally, but with state standards for performance and state audit of funds.

State and federal governments for definite plans with local agencies for the maintenance of local roads in state and federal forests. This might involve the state and federal governments assuming the entire cost of such maintenance in certain areas, the report said.

Federal government for increased federal aids for health and education.

Federal departments to have federal land managing agencies set up a new basis for aid payments.

U. S. Department of Agriculture to have federal budget provide for continuation of program of the purchasing of isolated settlers' holdings.

Coordination Needed

A recommendation also was made for extension of rural zoning through a more aggressive state educational program in Michigan and a corresponding effort to get enabling legislation in Minnesota. The responsibility for this was assigned to state planning boards, state departments of conservation, state colleges and universities, county officials and county agents.

A continuation, at an accelerated rate, of the fact-finding and research jobs was found necessary if the programs recommended in the report "are to be carried out efficiently and without waste of money."

To assist in making farmers self-supporting, the report said, the policies of the state relief agencies, local welfare boards, National Youth Administration, and the Works Project Administration should be more closely coordinated.

Emphasis was placed by the committee on the possibility of restoring the forest resources of the area to their former important status in providing employment.

"Forests at one time gave more employment than any other resource," the report said. "Their improvement would employ many men. When restored, the tending, harvesting and conversion of the crop will give the further employment that is necessary for a self-sustaining community."

Fires

Repeated fires were blamed more than cutting for the lack of more and better reproduction of second growth forests.

"The problems of the region, though aggravated and intensified by the recent depression, existed before 1929," the committee declared.

"They demand prompt and effective solution in order to effect the desirable rehabilitation of the region and to avoid greater retrogression. The region is worth rehabilitating. It goes without saying that the local people should hold themselves, but the states and the nation have enough of a stake in the region to make it worth while to lend a hand."

"Most of the machinery to do the job is now set up and in motion. It should be kept going. An adjustment of many present programs is needed to fit them more closely to local situations, the plans of action of all public agencies—federal, state and local—need to be brought into harmony."

A regional coordinating board of these public agencies was recommended with the Northern Lakes States Committee to continue functioning until such a board is established.

Newberry Legion Picnic Is Success

Newberry, Mich.—The Legion picnic under the direction of John Baetz which was held last Sunday at the Luce County Park at Round lake was attended by a crowd of about nine hundred people.

The sports events took place after Attorney A. L. Sayles had given his speech on crime. He stated that the crime in Luce and Wayne was the highest of all the 82 counties in Michigan in the past three years. A. L. Sayles states that the older citizens are the blame for the crime that their youths commit. So the solving of this problem lies in the hands of the older citizens.

The log birling contest was awarded to Larry Murphy because Johnny Valentine did not show up.

The next event was the swimming contest. The prizes were awarded to Darryl Gill, who won the boys swimming contest, and to Phyllis Villemure who won the girls swimming contest.

The last contest was a guessing bee, any person was allowed to enter. The puzzle was to guess amount of rocks in a pint jar. This was won by Fred Mil-

Special Interest
In Story of Iowa
Born Countess

When the fascinating story, "The Countess from Iowa," recently was added to the list of new books at the Carnegie Public Library, one Escanaba resident took more than ordinary interest in the announcement.

She is Mrs. John Trotter, Sr., of 523 South Ninth street, who during her stay on the Pacific coast last spring, chanced to meet Countess Fernandez-Azabal. Mrs. Trotter had the Countess as a traveling companion over a period of three days, and in discussions of mutual interests, she found the distinguished noblewoman, whose birthplace was Iowa, and whose career took her from the New York stage, to Kaiser-ruled Germany, the splendors of the Imperial Court of the last Czar of Russia, and the horrors of the Russian Revolution, a charming and interesting conversationalist.

The book, "The Countess from Iowa" is a story of the life of its author, it tells of her childhood in Iowa, and in San Francisco, her success on the New York stage as "Madeleine Bouton," her marriage to Baron von Nimptsch, her life in Germany, her subsequent marriage to Count Nostitz, military-attache of the Russian Embassy, which was the great love of her life, her years as a member of the Russian nobility, the terrors of the Revolution, the illness and death of her husband, after years of wandering in exile, and finally the finding of peace and companionship in the latter years of her life.

The Countess, whose home is now in Seville, Spain, is a noted lecturer as well as an author, and has filled many speaking engagements during her visits to this country.

PATTERN 9127

There's nothing like the poise that meticulous tailoring gives you—especially if yours is a difficult-to-fit figure. Marian Martin's Pattern 9127 makes both a cool printed dress for now, and a smart woolen fall frock.

That long center panel slenderizes in a gay and different way, with scallops frolicking all the way from the neck to your very waist. There are no wasteline seams—just straight, slim princess lines with a nice, easy flare at the hem. Make short sleeves, or use the new long style, with scallops that copycat those edging the panel. You may use ruffle trim if you like, and cut the square neck straight high or coolly low.

Pattern 9127 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 3 7/8 yards 39 inch fabric and 1 1/2 yards ruffling.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins for this MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.

Middsummer always calls for an inventory of your wardrobe to see if it doesn't need replenishing. Something cool and crisp for days that are hot and nights that are sultry! MARIAN MARTIN will bring you dozens of easily-made designs for sport, play and formal midsummer wear in our NEW PATTERN BOOK. There are pages and pages of fashions for femininity of all ages. The book is fifteen cents but when ordered with a pattern the price for both is twenty-five cents.

You will want to consult this pattern book frequently for your remaining summer costumes.

CHIFFON SUITABLE FOR FORMAL AFTERNOON WEAR

While silk chiffon is primarily an evening fabric, latest showings at famous French houses indicate that it is importantly considered by Paris couturiers a formal afternoon fabric as well. Paquin, for instance, combines black chiffon with vertical rows of black Valenciennes in a formal afternoon frock worn over a white silk slip edged with black silk lace. Printed chiffons, especially the smart new wallpaper prints, are also extensively seen at formal daytime affairs.

VOELKER ASKED CHURCH PROBE

Marquette's Professor Requested Help of Attorney General

The attorney general's department announced yesterday that the investigation into the tangled financial affairs of the Episcopal diocese of northern Michigan were launched at the request of prosecuting Attorney John D. Voelker of Marquette county.

Prosecutor Voelker asked state's counsel after he had studied documentary evidence, turned over to him by the standing committee of the diocese and the trustees of the diocesan trust fund, revealing shortages in that and other funds which probably will exceed $100,000. It was stated in a news dispatch from Lansing Sunday that Assistant Attorney General Robert A. Burns, of Wakefield, assigned to the case by Attorney General Thomas Read, was directing the state's end of the work and yesterday it was stated by McIntyre that there will be a conference later on the "advisability of warrants."

To date Burns has reviewed the documentary evidence in the hands of Prosecutor Voelker, who is in Cheboygan on vacation, but has not had time to study a complete audit of the diocesan funds which was prepared recently for the trustees and the standing committee.

Trustees Sued

Recently representatives of the parish of St. James Episcopal church in Sault St. Marie started suit in the Marquette county circuit court against trustees of the diocesan endowment fund to recover $75,500, the shortage for which the plaintiffs claim the trustees are legally responsible. The suit may be tried during the next term of court, which opens on August 21.

The Rt. Rev. Hayward S. Ablewhite, former bishop of the diocese, who resigned his post last March 23 when the fund shortages were first made public, is one of the defendants in the suit because as bishop he was president of the board of trustees.

From the time it was first revealed that about $69,000 of the diocesan trust fund and about $48,000 of the G. Mott Williams mission fund was missing it has been reported that much of the money was lost in speculation. The shortage in the diocesan trust fund came to light after the death of A. E. Miller, Marquette attorney who was secretary-treasurer of the fund for thirty years. The shortage in the G. Mott Williams fund was made public by the diocesan standing committee after it had received the resignation of Bishop Ablewhite, who was, the committee said, sole custodian of that fund.

Deal With Chicago Promoters

According to a story published yesterday in the Chicago Tribune in connection with the announcement that the state attorney general's department was assisting the Marquette county prosecutor in investigating the case, it is possible that one or more persons who had access to the diocesan funds associated with stock promoters in Chicago and Detroit.

The Tribune story says, in part: "There is one rumor that some of the diocesan money went to finance speed yachts on Lake Michigan and night clubs on Chicago's north side. The assistant attorney general is investigating the story of one Chicago witness that he repeatedly saw the bishop in conference with Chicago stock and grain traders."

Alleges Market Deals

"Investigators in Chicago have transmitted to Assistant Attorney General Burns the story of John Rossman, formerly a chauffeur to a financial promoter. This promoter, according to Rossman, was a close friend of Bishop Ablewhite and interested him in market transactions."

"The identity of the promoter is being withheld. Burns has been informed, however, that he was connected about 1935 with George Bulloch, a successful operator of a market forecasting system."

"Bulloch soon found that his promoter friend was operating market pools of his own on a sideline and they parted company. The promoter then began operating independently in a loop office. The promoter maintained an expensive flat on the north side and a large power boat on the lake Rossman said."

Says Bishop Was Client

"One of his clients was Bishop Ablewhite," said Rossman. "I used to drive them around together. Eventually my boss went away. I don't know where. I have been told he is dead. But he went away from Chicago with a lot of money. 'You'd be surprised how much is in my pockets,' he told me as I took him to the train the last time I saw him."

"After he was gone I drove the bishop around. He was looking for my old boss. But he never got any trace of him."

"The investigators have also told Burns the story of another former Bulloch associate who followed the promoter friends of the bishop into his new business."

"Bishop Ablewhite was a frequent caller in the Bulloch offices," this man reported. "He never dealt with Bulloch directly. When the new office was started he was there a great deal. He regarded him as a prosperous client. He was royally entertained by the boss. We underlings always thought he was a man of great means."

"Rossman has turned over to Burns a letter which he received from the bishop after the 'boss' disappeared. This document, in substance, it is reported, requested the chauffeur to write the bishop that "he was in the same boat, except that he (Rossman) had lost nobody's money but his own."

Promoter Known Here

The Chicago promoter, referred to in the Tribune story, it was learned here yesterday, was Harry S. Lyons, believed to be dead, who resided in Marquette in 1933 and was associated with the John B. Greenfield company, which operated an investment office here for a short time.

Lyons was arrested in March, 1933, on a warrant charging embezzlement and the records show that he was in the Marquette county jail from March 15 to May 12, 1933. It was charged that he took money from the customers of the company in payment for shares of stock sold by the company, but failed to deliver the shares.

Lyons, it was said, was a member of the Episcopal church and a friend of Bishop Ablewhite. The bishop, it is understood, was instrumental in having the embezzlement charge dropped when Lyons agreed to pay back the money he had collected. Upon his release from custody he returned to Chicago, opened an office, resumed business and, it is said, repaid the persons from whom he had collected money here.

Bishop Blames Lyons

Bishop Ablewhite is understood to have told the diocesan standing committee at the time of his resignation, when questioned about the disappearance of most of the G. Mott Williams funds, that he turned $48,000 of the assets of the fund over to Lyons in Chicago on December 18, 1933, upon the latter's assurance that he could reinvest them in a manner which would increase their value. About two years later, however, the bishop is said to have told the committee, Lyons disappeared and he was informed afterward, he said, that Lyons was dead.

At the annual diocesan convention last spring in Escanaba, held after Bishop Ablewhite resigned, the bishop's story about Lyons, it is understood, was included in a joint statement presented to the convention by the standing committee, trustees of the diocesan trust fund and the diocesan ways and means committee.

A new standing committee was named at the Escanaba convention and the convention adopted a resolution recommending that the bishop's resignation be accepted by the House of Bishops. The House of Bishops will take action when it meets in St. Louis in November. It also will act on a request from the bishop that he be relieved from his clerical duties. Ablewhite is now staying in Gambler, Ohio, with relatives. He has declined to make a public statement since his resignation.

Iron Mountain—Although the proposed Iron Mountain street and sidewalk project, scheduled to start today, has been approved at the federal WPA headquarters in Washington, "further Washington approvals" are required, "including the action of the comptroller general and the signature of the President," according to telegraphic information received today from Prentiss Brown, junior United States senator from Michigan, at the national capital.

Meanwhile, practically no work at all is in progress on streets and sidewalks and some 150 men, formerly employed on that program, were transferred Saturday and today to county WPA projects.

The bride was gowned in a long white satin dress, with long trailing veil, and the bridesmaid wore green net. Bouquets of roses and baby breath were carried. Rose decorations were also carried out in the bride's home, where a wedding breakfast was served for members of the two immediate families. A three-tier wedding cake centered the table. The wedding dinner was at the Rodman home, where the bride had previously been the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower.

BUYS TROLLING BOAT

Sault Ste. Marie—Clifford O. Everett, Sault real estate dealer, is keeping pace with the rise in popularity of deep-sea fishing in Lake Superior. Everett recently purchased an 18-foot outboard motorboat and remodelled it for lake trout trolling on Lake Superior.

The forward part of the boat has been enclosed and the after part is open for trolling operations. The boat powered with a 32-horsepower Johnson outboard motor, can travel about 30 miles an hour with two passengers. It is a nine-passenger boat.

The advantage in having the lighter boat over the usually heavier Lake Superior launch, Mr. Everett explains, is that the boat can be pulled out of the water should a heavy storm blow up. Heavier craft must seek shelter in a harbor.

Lawrence Visions Vandenberg Clubs In Every County In State

BY GUY H. JENKINS
Lansing—So encouraging has been the response to the Vandenberg movement that Howard C. Lawrence of Grand Rapids, chairman of the organization, is predicting that within the next three weeks Vandenberg clubs will be organized in every county of the state.

The Vandenberg movement announced two weeks ago will sponsor the primary campaign of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg for another term in the senate. But the real objective is the nomination and election of the Grand Rapids senator for president on the Republican ticket.

"There has been such a generous response following the announcement we feel certain clubs will be formed in every county in the state before the middle of August," Lawrence said.

"The entire program is designed to organize for the senator from the voters up, not the bosses down."

When Gov. Dickinson, the Republican state officer and the party's congressional delegation called upon the national GOP to draft Vandenberg for president, the senator is acknowledging the movement said he would be a candidate to succeed himself in the senate but if greater responsibilities presented themselves he would not ignore them.

Lawrence is so enthusiastic about the whole affair he is expecting units of 25 members will be formed in voting precincts, townships, wards, etc.

Van Wagoner Out In Open As Target For Pot Shots

Murray D. Van Wagoner's willingness to run for most any office within the gift of the people puts the highway commissioner right out where the partisan opposition and his opposition faction within the Democratic party can take pot shots at him.

Just how it happened that Van Wagoner broke down and admitted his willingness to serve the party in any capacity is not easily understood.

The highway commissioner actually does not want to be governor of Michigan even though he is not one to brush aside political honor. He does not minimize nor is he one to scoff at the governorship or the prestige that comes to one representing Michigan in the United States senate.

Van Wagoner professionally is an engineer. He is deeply interested in road construction and would rather continue as state highway commissioner. As a promotion, being chief of the federal bureau of roads would be right down his alley.

Washington Dispatches Indicate That Van Wagoner, Attorney General Frank Murphy, Edmund C. Shields, National Committeeman, and Senator Prentiss M. Brown Had an Overzealous Love Feast over the Political Situation in Michigan.

All would support Murphy for governor and Van Wagoner for senator, or Van Wagoner for governor and Murphy for senator. Yes, sir, they were really going to bring the warring factions together for the good of Democracy.

But if there were any deals really made nothing was disclosed. Murphy had nothing to say, and neither did Van Wagoner as to just what their conference brought out.

Split In State Democratic Ranks Is a Wide One

Shields, like the fellow who whistled himself past the graveyard, gave the Washington reporters some baloney for Michigan consumption. They wrote: "Shields expressed optimism over the Democratic prospects for 1940 in Michigan, but added (and here is really what puts the political milk in coconuts):

"We have got to get together and eliminate the factionalism within the ranks."

Shields seemed to have the key to the Democratic situation when he said "we must get together." And no one knows better than Shields, Van Wagoner and Murphy they are not together, and if the Washington meeting was as hot-totay as Van Wagoner says it was, there was no need of Shields issuing his warning.

When the boys are together, the national committeeman does not indulge in such small talk. The split in the Democratic ranks is pretty wide and Shields knows of which he speaks. And if Murphy and Van Wagoner got together on their 1940 plans Shields would not have indicated the great desirability of everyone getting into the same political bed.

There are a large number of Michigan Democratic leaders who cannot be convinced that Murphy can win for governor and there are just as many who think he would be no better running for the United States senate.

The figures show he was a poor candidate in 1936 and in spite of everything he had to talk about in 1938, his vote-getting ability had not improved.

Harry Glass, Jr., Reported On U. S. Pay Roll Again

A fairly good story is being kicked around the state capitol these days. It relates to Harry Glass Jr., of Grand Rapids, who has managed to keep himself on one public pay roll or another since his first election to the legislature in the fall campaign of 1934.

According to the gossip, the Grand Rapids spellbinder has attached himself to the federal pay roll under Ben Cohen of the Corcoran-Cohen New Deal organization in Washington.

Cohen, eager to see that Glass was well taken care of, and some suspect that Frank Murphy may have had a hand in the situation, called the secretary of interior, Harold L. Ickes, to get Glass on his pay roll.

Ickes rose to the first lure when Cohen told the big interior chief he had a good all-around fellow from Michigan who would go to town on almost any assignment Ickes might give him. Cohen used the old oil can for Glass. It looked like a cinch until Ickes inquired:

"Is he an attorney?"

"Well, no, he is not an attorney. Just hangup all-around fellow who will make you a good man," Cohen replied.

"If He's Good You Better Keep Him Yourself."

It seems Ickes was in need of a lawyer for a special job right then and had Glass ever been graduated from a law school, he would have been set. But the sad story is that Cohen oversold Glass and when Ickes discovered Glass was not an attorney he terminated the interview with:

"Well, Benny, if that fellow is so good, you better keep him yourself."

But Glass has made himself useful. Something of an orator. Glass also is good at mimicking Franklin D. Roosevelt.

So when the Corcoran-Cohen combination prepares a speech which they recommend to President Roosevelt for delivery, they first try it out on the dog, with Harry Jr., doing the takeoff on Franklin D.

Ask anyone who has heard Glass make a Roosevelt speech and he will tell you "the kid's all right."

Dedication Exercises On Sunday At St. Joseph's

Solemn dedication of the beautiful new St. Joseph church edifice, gift of the late William Bonifas to his home parish, will be held on Sunday, August 6, it was announced yesterday by Rev. Fr. Edward Leary, O.F.M., pastor.

The dedication ceremonies will be conducted by the Most Rev. Joseph C. Plagens, D. D., Bishop of Marquette, at a Pontifical High Mass at 10:30 o'clock, with dignitaries of the church, and associate members of the clergy in the diocese, participating in the ceremonies.

Immediately following the Pontifical High Mass, presentation will be made to Mrs. William Bonifas, of the Cross Pro Ecclesia at Pontifical (for the Church and the Pontiff) which was awarded to her by His Holiness, Pope Pius XI, shortly before his death.

The honor is one awarded by the Holy Father to outstanding members of the laity, who by their activities and generosity, have aided in the cause of religion and it had its origin during the pontificate of Pope Leo XIII, who on the occasion of his golden jubilee in 1888, wished to honor those of the laity who by their lives in a special way merited the commendation of the church.

The recognition was conferred upon Mrs. Bonifas because of her interest in church affairs in the diocese of Marquette and in appreciation of the generous donations she and her husband made for the cause of religion in the diocese.

The complete program of the dedication and also of the presentation ceremonies will be announced later in the week.

ALL FISH BITE WELL IN STATE

Low Water in Delta and Menominee Affects Trout Angling

Lansing—All species of fish are biting satisfactorily in most sections of northern Michigan, and fair results are being obtained in the majority of counties south of the Grand Traverse region, according to a summary prepared by the state department of conservation.

Good fishing prevails in the upper peninsula. Bass, bluegills and walleyed pike were among the leaders in the area north of the Wisconsin line. Trolling for trout on Lake Superior at the western end was reported as excellent.

The heat wave produced "spotty" trout angling. Trout streams in the western Upper Peninsula district were receding, and fishing had steadily improved. In Menominee and Delta counties a number of small streams were down to a low water level which adversely affected fish life. The best trout fishing in the locality was in large rivers carrying cooler water. Good trout catches were general in eastern sections.

Below the Straits, northern counties found fishing "settling" down to its mid-summer average" one official reported, indicating the effect of warm weather in slowing up fishing. Trout streams also were low, and the scarcity of flies made grasshoppers and artificial flies tempting trout bait.

Fair fishing marked the Alpena district, with pike biting faster than the previous week. In the Huron national forest region all species showed up in excellent fashion. Around Roscommon fishing divided between "fair and poor". Northwest of Grand Rapids there had been no rain in two weeks, causing less favorable lake fishing. Counties surrounding Midland saw slow fishing but better than the week before.

Larger bluegills were being taken than in several years, said the Kalamazoo district summary. Calico bass in the area were doing a normal amount of biting. Elsewhere in the southern counties fishing was "spotty" and prospects were better.

SEVERAL MOOSE SEEN

Calumet—Deep sea fishing is assuming a foremost place in the diversions for tourists visiting Copper Country, especially Keweenaw, and large catches of trout are being reported, particularly in the Lac La Belle area.

Moose, another popular and unusual attraction, are seen frequently in Keweenaw and Wednesday a group of tourists observed several moose wallowing in Lake Bailley and Beaver Dam off the Mountain Drive, apparently driven to the water by the flies.

An excellent catch of trout was made at Lac La Belle Wednesday by Dr. James Twitchell, of Belleville, Ill., who, with his wife and a party of tourists, is vacationing in Keweenaw. He caught 30 pounds of trout, with each of the fish weighing from 9 to 10 pounds. The Twitchell party are annual visitors to Keweenaw.

STRANGE COINCIDENCE

Norway (MPA)—On March 9, 1938, Dorias Curry, conservation department supervisor, saw a buck deer with antlers, although bucks are supposed to lose their antlers in November and December. The most surprising thing, however, happened one year later, when on March 9, 1939 Dorias sighted a buck deer without antlers at the very same spot where he saw the freak the previous year.

Fishing too Good For Some Anglers

Lansing—"Fishing is so good that people are complaining about it."

Although that statement may appear to carry a typographical error, a report to the fish division of the Michigan department of conservation testifies to its accuracy.

The report concerns fishing in a number of lakes and streams of the eastern part of the upper peninsula. Stanley Shust, district supervisor stationed at the Thompson state fish hatchery, says he received the following statement from a resort owner:

"The fish are biting too good. My guests are getting the daily limit with only short periods of fishing, and have shipped their out-of-state limits long ago."

Waters in Menominee and Dickinson counties where the trout population has previously been considered small are producing very good catches, according to Shust. He said the region's trout fishing is the most favorable in many seasons. Lake fishing was exceptional in Menominee, Manistique, Schoolcraft, Luce and Mackinac counties.

PLUMBERS TO MEET

Calumet — The Upper Peninsula Master Plumbers Association will hold its annual outing in the Copper Country on August 5 and 6 when between 75 to 100 master plumbers and their ladies meet to enjoy the district's scenic attractions.

The two day stay here will open with a brief business session in the Elks Temple in Hancock on Saturday, Aug. 5 to 10 a. m. Julius T. Nachazel, of Michigan Tech, and Attorney Frank Condon, Houghton county prosecutor, will give a short talk at this session.

At 1 p. m. the group will leave for Eagle Harbor where a dinner will be served at the Lake Breeze hotel at 2 o'clock. From there they will enjoy a trip over the Mountain Drive and to the Harry Herman cottage at Bete Gris, where they will spend the remainder of the afternoon.

Washington—One of the most unusual "company union" cases...

The union involved is the Industrial Employees Union, Inc., which claims some 12,000 members...

When the War Department withdrew from the scene after the armistice, its members decided to keep it alive and, in the fall of 1919, it was incorporated under the laws of Oregon.

The association signed contracts with the union; so did three lumber companies...

WAR AND A WOMAN

BY BETTY WALLACE

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS LINDA STORM—Fell in love with her best friend's fiancé.

Yesterday: At the field Marcia leaves to talk to Bill Brooks, a cadet. When Jimmy asks, "Was I wrong, last night, or did you feel it too?" Linda tells him she is leaving for home, at once.

"Marcia!" Linda cried warningly. In the one word was contained an urgent pleading. Jimmy must not know she felt about this naval air base, about the planes, about war...

It would be a mountain, high and impregnable, if Jimmy ever knew it. Linda thought unhappily. Their fight was hard enough already. Because they were both honorable people, they were trying to reason away the mysterious attraction which was catapulting them toward each other.

Jimmy Cooper was standing, straight and still, the sunlight on his ruffled tawny hair and his eyes on Linda's face. "If it's something you don't want me to know, of course Marcia mustn't tell me," he said tonelessly.

Linda wanted to cry out that she dared not stay. She wanted to say, "Marcia, you fool! If I remain here, maybe there won't be a wedding! How can you be so blind? Can't you see what's going on? Can't you?"

They cut the sight-seeing short. To Linda's relief, Jimmy stayed on the field and Marcia drove the car home. Nothing had been solved. Somehow she'd have to get through the two weeks ahead.

Suddenly she wanted, more than anything else, to see George Cameron again. If he was here, close beside her, she'd snap back into her senses. Everything would become serene and normal again.

"Dear George—Please come down here right away. I am missing you dreadfully! George, just for two weeks, can't you lock up the laboratory to be with me? I need you. Love, Linda."

It might not have been so bad, if, in the days that followed, Marcia had not innocently insisted on throwing Jimmy and Linda together so much. But she wanted her friend to have a gay time, and she wanted Jimmy beside her, too.

Linda was waiting for an answer from George. The third day after she had mailed the letter, it still hadn't come. She was tempted to telephone him. But he'd wonder what had happened, and so she kept herself from acting too panic stricken.

That night—it was a Saturday—Marcia had arranged a party at the Officers' Club. Linda heard her telling Jimmy, "Don't forget to dance with Linda. You haven't danced with her once since she's been here."

No, he wasn't brilliant. But he stuck close to her, and that was something. It protected her from looking at Jimmy Cooper too obviously. She prayed, too, that Peter's attentions would divert Marcia.

He said quietly, "I won't bite you." So she stood up and slipped into his arms, while Marcia regarded them both affectionately.

Linda had known that dancing with Jimmy would be torture. But she had not known that it would be heaven, too. The music wailed and sobbed around them, and the touch of his arms raced through her in fire and ice.

The night was seductively beautiful. There was a great white moon, and palms swaying in the wind. There was the breath of sweetness around them like a cloud of magic. And he was so close to her. So terribly close. She couldn't think, she couldn't fight any more.

"We shouldn't—oh—we shouldn't!" she burst out. "I know," he said miserably. "But, Linda—I've fought until I can't deny it, even to myself, any more. I haven't slept. I look at Marcia, and she's still the same as she always was. She loves me. It's like a knife in my heart to know she trusts me. But I can't take her in my arms any more. I can't tell her I love her any more. The whole world has changed. There's nothing but you. I see your face up there in the clouds when I ought to be concentrating on the way my student is flying. I hear your voice everywhere. It's driving me crazy! We've got to do something."

He had no right to put it into words! While it had been only a mirage, beautiful and unreal, beckoning and yet threatening, she had still had the courage to run from it. But now these words of his made it solid, inescapable.

"Listen!" she jerked out. "Even if there weren't Marcia—even if I weren't engaged myself—I couldn't—Jimmy, you're a flyer. A man whose career is devoted to war. And I'm a peace-loving girl. A pacifist. If you like, I hate your work! And—and I hate you for being in it—so there!"

Cornell News

Tuyls-De Grand
Cornell, Mich.—A wedding of local interest took place here Tuesday when John Tuyls son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tuyls and Julia Degrand, daughter of Mr. Frank Degrand were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the St. Francis hospital chapel Escanaba by Father Peter Blecker.

The young couple was attended by the brides sister Luellie Degrand and Chester Tuyls a brother of the groom.

The bride was attired in a becoming gown of blue and wore a shoulder length veil while the bridesmaid wore a gown of pink. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple and their attendants were served a wedding breakfast at the brides home.

A large crowd of friends and relatives attended the wedding dance and shower at the Cornell Town Hall.

The young folks received many beautiful as well as useful gifts. They will make their future home in Escanaba.

Mr. and Mrs. August Delvaux and Mrs. Bert Delvaux and Mr. and Mrs. Rene Carrigan were Sunday supper guests at the Eddie Carrigan home.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fiemel went to Rapid River Friday in search of blueberries, not finding any they spent the afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Tweedy.

This community will soon be losing one of its most active citizens in the person of Joseph Steff who for some years past has been manager and operator of the Clearman Land and Timber farm here.

Mr. Steff has been responsible for the building up of the fine Brown Swiss dairy herd on the farm and also the modernizing and beautifying of the barns and grounds.

Mr. Steff has accepted a larger and even more responsible position on a large dairy farm in the State of Alabama and will move his family there in the near future.

The fields here were greatly benefited by the heavy rain that visited our vicinity Tuesday afternoon.

Many of the fields were suffering from the drouth while gardens were virtually drying up but things are again looking green and thriving potato bugs are plentiful and most of the farmers are busy spraying and dusting against their ravishes. Potatoes, also planted late, are coming

Accused as 'Human Bomb'

Last March 27 a man sidled out of the First National Bank of Chanute, Kansas, with a wad of stolen currency and enough dynamite wrapped around him to blow the bank and everyone in it to kingdom come. Arrested recently, charged with being this "human bomb," was John Thornburg, pictured above (right) as he was arraigned on a federal indictment in Kansas City, Mo.

DON'TS FOR THAT CANOE TRIP THEY'LL SAVE TROUBLE

By Sig Olson

To the man who starts off on his first canoe trip, there are no taboos, except perhaps the one of not standing up in a canoe and tipping over, but to the old timer, the man who has spent years travelling the waterlanes of the wilderness, the woods are full of don't signs. Long experience away from civilization has taught him caution and he knows that one foolish mistake might ruin a trip or cost a life.

One don't sign that he learned to recognize early in life was "Don't run rapids" no matter how harmless they seem to be. Youngsters who have read of the exploits of river men; who have seen the running of wild water in the movies, cannot be blamed for wanting to try it themselves. They don't realize that every harmless looking riffle harbors a rock; that it takes no time at all to rip through canvas or smash a bunch of ribs; that once a canoe is ruined, there is nothing to do but sit and starve or hike home through some of the ruggeddest country left on the continent.

Hardly a rapids in this border country but has seen misfortunes of this kind and no experienced cruiser ever runs one when there is a chance to portage.

Another—"Don't pick a camp site too close to big or over ripe timber. A bad blow might topple one across your tent. Indians always camp in the brush or in a grove of saplings. Generations of camping have taught them caution—and contrary to the story books, they seldom take a chance on white water either.

Put Out That Camp Fire
And "Don't leave that camp fire of yours burning over night or right along and if frost don't come too early the crop looks as though it won't be as bad as was at first feared.

Championship Corps Coming To Escanaba

Housing arrangements were completed at Escanaba Tuesday for the Pontiac American Legion drum and bugle corps, four times state champions, who will defend their title at the state American Legion convention in Escanaba on Sunday, August 20, the opening day of the 31st annual Michigan Legion rally.

Representing the Pontiac corps here yesterday were Norman Cox and Ivan B. Royal. Their corps, consisting of 55 men, will be housed at the Webster school during the convention at Escanaba.

Benton Harbor Market Receives Many Tomatoes

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party, runs the old test line for typewriters and newspaper telegrams, and now is the time for Escanaba homemakers to put up those tomatoes for this winter.

Besides chili sauce, tomato preserves, and tomato pickles, canned tomatoes lend themselves to thousands of nutritious and yet inexpensive dishes. Often called the poor man's orange, tomatoes in recent years have won a high place in the estimation of dieticians and food specialists.

Although the U. S. Bureau of agricultural economics says that the 1939 crop will be lighter, there will be sufficient production in the middle west to care for the needs of ambitious housewives.

On one market alone, the non-profit city-owned and city operated market at Benton Harbor, Mich., it is estimated there will be receipts of three-fourths million packages between now and November. There also will be adequate supplies from regions around Escanaba at moderate cost.

Preferred by many home canners are the Pritchard, John Baer, Margiobe, Chalk's Jewell, Early Baltimore, and Stone varieties. For slicing the Ponderosa or Beef Steak variety is popular. Canned either open kettle or cold pack method, tomatoes put up at home will prove a welcome addition to the family fare in the months to come.

Young Horse Shot By Deer Hunter In Stonington Region

Ballistic tests are planned by Sheriff William E. Miron in an effort to trace the supposed deer hunter who killed a valuable horse on the Arthur Lorenson farm at Stonington Monday night. The animal, a three-year-old, was valued at $300.

The bullet, removed from the carcass of the horse Tuesday by Sheriff Miron and the Lorensons, was found to be a 30-30 calibre, and a checkup will be made of rifles of this size in use in the vicinity. Bullet markings will be checked in an attempt to locate the gun which fired the shot.

WILL HELP INDIANS

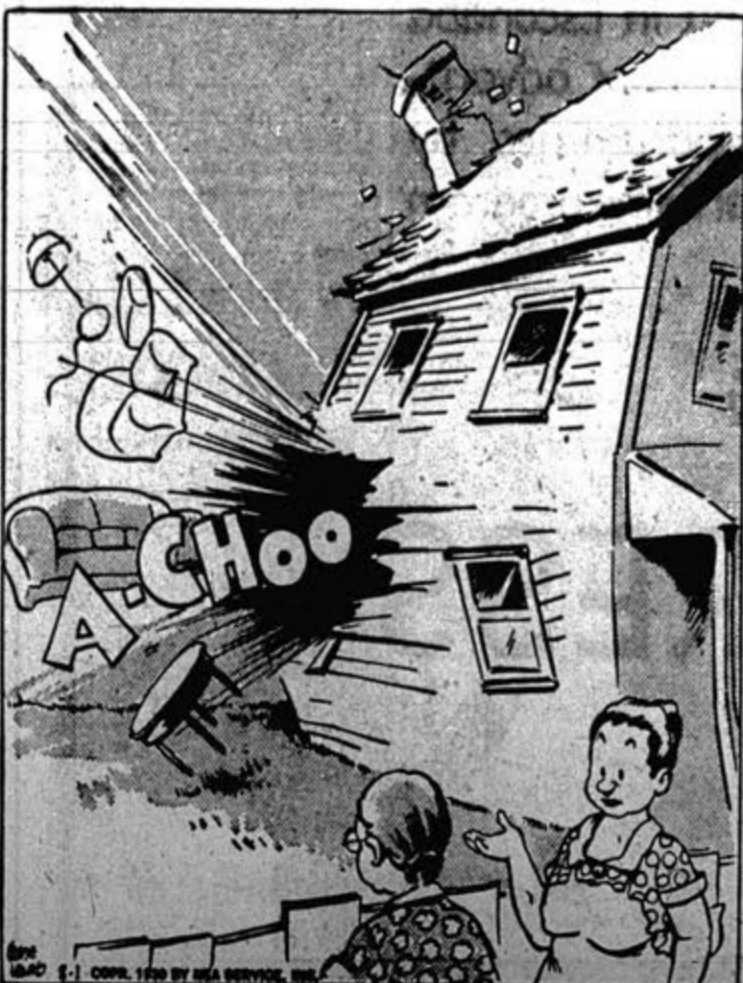

Menominee—Further steps to aid in the rehabilitation of 26 Indian families in the settlement in Harris township were taken at a juvenile delinquency hearing and conference conducted by Juvenile Judge Katherine Stiles Laughton in the reservation school at Hannahville yesterday afternoon.

More than 100 Indian men, women and children attending the hearing were assured by Indian Service workers that full cooperation will be given the recently reorganized Indian council to improve conditions at the reservation.

Attending the hearing were J. C. Cavill, Ashland, Wis., superintendent of the Great Lakes Indian agency; Miss Olive Gwinn, Lansing school social service worker for the federal Office of Indian Affairs; Archie Finney, an Indian graduate of Harvard, with the Office of Indian Affairs; William Holst, also with the Office; Rev. Father E. J. Breaud, pastor of St. George's Catholic church of Bark River; Judge Laughton and Mrs. Marie Kleimola, Hermandville, Menominee county welfare agent.

Forestry experts estimate South Carolina's 3,600,000 acres of woodland could—with proper management—yield $11,200,000 annually instead of the present figure of around $3,000,000.

Fouberts Win 14; Zeniths Nip Moose

Munising, Aug. 1.—The Munising Foubert's Tavern softball squad marked up victory number fourteen on Sunday afternoon when they defeated the "Manitowish Moose" squad, 8-4. "Babe" Anderson pitched the game for the locals and allowed only one hit. The Fouberts have lost only one battle during this season when they split a double-header with the Negaunee Legion squad several weeks ago. A challenge to any and all softball teams in the upper peninsula was voiced here by the squad this week.

ZENITHS WIN TWO
Munising, Aug. 1.—The Munising Zeniths won both ends of a double-header here on Sunday afternoon from the Negaunee Moose softball team. The Alger crew defeated the Moose 5-4 in the opener behind the hurling of Dott and in the second round the Marquette county squad, 1-0, with LaFave on the mound.

BILLY GOT STUCK
St. Johns (MPA)—Thinking it would be fun to "shoot the chutes", nine-year old Billy Shipley started for the basement of the Shipley home, travelling via the clothes chute. All went well 'till Billy came to a bend in the chute and got stuck. It took a hammer and saw and dismantling of the chute to free him, but he was none the worse for his experience.

Contrary to popular opinion, all trout have scales, although they are small and inconspicuous in some species.

Briefly Told

Birling Pictures—The current issue of Look magazine carries two pages of pictures of the lumberjills, who competed in the Escanaba Rolec at the state fairgrounds last year. The pictures were taken by Wallace Kirkland, who will conduct the photography course at the Nahma Vacation school, August 13 to 26.

Model Airplane Contest—A model airplane contest will be held today at the 23rd street field across from the ball diamond at 1:30 p. m. It is expected that fifteen planes will be entered in the event, with perhaps one gas model included. The contest is sponsored by the Escanaba Aero-knights, a local model-building and flying club.

EDITOR SPEAKS

Marquette—Asserting that "taking sides in a world war even before it starts, even before it is seen as inevitable, seems to me to be close to treason to the American people," Mark Byers, managing editor of the Wausau, Wis., Record-Herald, called upon his hearers at the Kiwanis convention here to keep a level head and take a realistic view of the world situation.

"If there is one characteristic American trait in political thinking, it is the tendency to believe what we want to believe to think what we want to think, to see facts through a distorting lens of our emotions. It is continually getting us into trouble at home, and it is even more dangerous when we give this trait a free rein in the hazardous and treacherous realm of international politics. "In this field a wrong estimate may have the most fatal qualities. Here, as nowhere else in our personal and governmental relations, we must be on guard for our own interests, with a lively sense of enlightened self-interest," he said.

WHAT YOU CAN DO TO START BUYING ACTION

TODAY THERE IS JUST ONE GENERAL AGENCY WHOSE FIRST PURPOSE IS TO SATISFY THE AGE-OLD HUNGER OF PEOPLE TO KNOW ALL THAT HAS JUST HAPPENED. THAT AGENCY IS THE NEWSPAPER. DAY AFTER DAY IT TELLS THE RUNNING STORY...ANALYZES...CLARIFIES...SUMS UP. FROM IT THE AVERAGE MAN AND WOMAN GET MOST OF THEIR IDEAS REGARDING MEN AND AFFAIRS...COMPANIES AND MERCHANDISE. THUS THE NEWSPAPER PROVIDES THE MANUFACTURER AS WELL AS THE RETAILER WITH HIS LARGEST AUDIENCE AND GREATEST OPPORTUNITY TO BUILD GOOD WILL AND MAKE HIS LARGEST VOLUME OF SALES.

BYOND what he learns from personal experience, most of that which the average American knows is what he gets from his newspaper. And it is a liberal education, for the newspaper alone tells him the news comprehensively... as it happens.

News of what happened and why it happened... and what may reasonably follow!

Readers in every walk of life expect the newspaper to help them understand... to give them ideas of laws and politics, of labor and business, of all the things they need to know.

It is the dependence by the public on the newspaper... this continuing and highly personal relationship... which gives it such power as an advertising medium. As they read the news, readers turn consciously to the advertising columns. They are in the habit of basing most of their buying on what they see in the newspaper.

IN ESCANABA, the newspaper to which... every day of the week... except Monday the majority of the families turn to keep abreast of the news is the Daily Press. Its editorial policies, accurate news reports and many departments and features appeal to people in every walk of life.

Through the columns of the Press the advertiser can address a constant audience of over 8,233 families in Escanaba and suburbs.

Every dollar the advertiser spends for space in the Press can be devoted to building a sound appreciation of his product and the company back of it. He need waste no time or money on preambles. He can start selling at once without subterfuge. He risks no ill will precipitated by inexpert or irresponsible presentation of his advertising message.

The Press advertiser can picture his product realistically in black and white. He can describe in lengthy detail the special features which so often are the determining factor in making a sale.

On the basis of results, Escanaba retailers spend a large part of their advertising budget in the Press. With incomes drawn from commerce, industry and the farm, Press readers are the backbone of retail trade... and the steady volume market for branded merchandise.

THE SALES RECORDS of retailers and national advertisers alike demonstrate that the families who patronize the stores, as a result of Press advertising, buy practically everything.

Clothing or soap, lipsticks or work shoes... no matter what you sell... you can depend on the newspaper to produce... year in and year out... the greatest volume of sales. And in Escanaba you can take maximum advantage of sales opportunities by building your advertising program around the Press.

FRENCH SAVES DAY FOR DEAN

Dizzy's Shoulder Sore; Mancuso Catches for Veteran Larry

Chicago, Aug. 1 (AP)—Larry French, the veteran southpaw who had asked owner Phil Wrigley to do something about his case of bench-riding, got his chance today and pitched the Chicago Cubs to a 6 to 2 victory over the Philadelphia Phils in their series opener.

Dizzy Dean started but was taken out at the end of the third inning when he complained of soreness in his right arm just below the shoulder. He had allowed one run and two hits to that point.

French, who told Wrigley he was in Manager Gaby Hartnett's "dog-house" because he had expressed a preference for Gus Mancuso as a catcher, set the Phils down in the last six innings with six hits and one run. It was his seventh victory as against five losses.

Mancuso was French's catcher today, the veteran receiver having started with Dean. Before the game Hartnett had said he planned to rest for a few days and leave the catching to Mancuso.

AUGUST RALLY HALF-HEARTED

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES table with columns for Net change, 100's, 50's, 10's, 5's, 1's, 10's, 5's, 1's, 5's, 1's

BY FREDERICK GARDNER New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—The stock market today ushered in the month of August with a half-hearted and highly selective rally.

The list got off to a limping start, but buyers soon began to tap favorites lightly and, around mid-day, initial losses of fractions had been covered into gains running to a point or so in a number of cases.

Top marks were shaded at the close and minus signs were plentiful when the final gong sounded.

There were one or two mildly active surges, although the ticker tape never got up even a semblance of speed. Transfers for the five hours amounted to 575,030 shares against 519,990 the day before.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .1 of a point at 49.9.

As in the past several weeks, the business outlook remained as the principal sustaining market influence. Lack of any real vigor in the day's performance, however, was attributed to conjectures of some observers as to whether industry could keep up its recovery pace through the fall.

Brokers thought part of the early speculative nibbling was due to the belief stocks may have been "oversold". The supporting argument for this was the notable drying up of offerings in the preceding session.

Opinions in the financial section differed regarding the sentimental effects of the lending bill battle in congress. One school of thought suggested drastic curtailment of the administration's program was deflationary.

Other quarters appeared heartened by what they considered the "growing conservatism" of the national legislature in tightening the spending reins of government.

The general Motors strike and outcropping labor troubles elsewhere tended to dim optimistic thinking, though, was the action of the NLRB in ordering elections in plants of Chrysler, Briggs Mfg. and Motor Products to settle union disputes as to bargaining authority.

The flow of favorable profits statements for the second quarter and first half served to drop trading spirals.

Bonds were irregularly higher. Commodities were mixed. Wheat at Chicago was off 5-8 to 1 1/2 cents a bushel and corn down 3-8 to 1. Cotton was up 40 cents a bale to 20 cents in arrears.

Foreign affairs proved a negligible factor, analysts said. European markets were just about steady.

Slightly depressed in the curb were Phoenix Securities, Utilities Power & Light and Sunray Oil. Small gains included Lockheed and Electric Bond & Share. Turnover of 144,000 shares compared with 126,000 Monday.
