

STORY CHECKED ON ABLEWHITE

Marquette Prosecutor May Cite Bishop for Embezzlement

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 3 (AP)—Prosecutor John D. Voelker said tonight he expected to decide within a few days whether there is justification for placing an embezzlement charge against the Rt. Rev. Hayward S. Ablewhite, who resigned as bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Northern Michigan.

A civil suit seeking recovery of from $75,000 to $90,000 of diocesan funds already is pending in circuit court here against the former bishop and trustees of the funds.

The prelate resigned last spring after the diocesan committee reported there was a shortage in the funds and a full report was given the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, presiding bishop of the United States.

Prosecutor Voelker said church officials turned over to him all records and other evidence several months ago and that these are being studied by Robert A. Burns, an assistant state attorney general whose assistance he requested.

Voelker said also that he has asked United States Attorney General Frank Murphy for help from the department of justice. Federal officers here declined to comment on a report that the former bishop's income tax returns were being scrutinized.

The prosecutor said he expected to confer with Burns tomorrow or Saturday and hoped to be able to decide then whether to seek an embezzlement warrant against the Rev. Ablewhite. He said church officials made no recommendation when they gave him their information.

The civil suit was filed by members of the Sault Ste. Marie parish and is still pending despite a statement by Bishop Tucker that he favored its withdrawal.

"PEACEFUL" DEFINED Lansing, Aug. 3 (AP)—Attorney General Thomas Reed held today that "peaceful picketing" by labor unionists must be free not only from violence but also from an unlawful act.

The attorney general included the definition in an opinion requested by Walter N. Moers, of Lansing, a member of the state's new industrial mediation board.

Picketing, Reed held, may attempt to persuade others "by reason, argument or proper appeal, but may not carry their methods to such an extreme as to become intimidation, coercion or force."

The use of placards, signs and handbills is generally permissible, he said, but such placards and handbills "must bear a truthful statement of the facts involved" and they must not "tend to arouse a breach of peace."

Federal Forces Map National Crime Drive

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Attorney General Murphy said today the department of justice intends to "marshal all federal forces" in a nationwide crime drive which will center on leading cities.

At his press conference Murphy said he had conferred yesterday with justice department division heads and treasury men on the Louisiana scandal "and other cases around the United States of major importance."

These cases, he said, "ought to be carefully prepared" and ready for action by early September, "to complete the picture of a drive we're making on crime and corruption. The might of Uncle Sam will be greater than any of their (criminals) efforts."

Cities where the government's offensive will be launched include New York, Chicago, New Orleans and Boston, he said. He declined to name others. Asked whether Miami, Fla., was included, he replied, "perhaps."

Murphy said the calling of a grand jury in New York yesterday to co-ordinate crime information from many parts of the country was "the outgrowth of the program we're planning here for several months."

The program, he said, would center on "areas of crime and corruption." We want to marshal all federal forces. There are some particular matters before us, for example the Buchalter case."

Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, alleged New York racketeer, is a fugitive.

On this case and others involving politics, income taxes and other matters, "grand juries will be doing work," Murphy said, adding that one objective is to "get at corruption and crime in politics."

"The public interest will be best served in allowing no delay in bringing these various cases to trial."

The attorney general said: "We're trying to put the fear of God into ourselves. It isn't a matter of getting anybody. We are keeping vigilance and seeing to it that the processes of this department are energized. We have stayed here during the summer and will continue to."

TAFT OF OHIO DROPS HAT IN RING FOR 1940

(Continued from Page One) ber, he had forecast that the Republican 1940 program would be developed by the current congress.

"I believe it has been," he observed.

Amendment of the social security laws to provide a "coordinated program that makes sense," and of the Wagner labor act should be effected, Taft asserted, terming "some (labor board) proceedings the grossest perversion of justice I have ever encountered."

WILLING TO RUN Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio entered the Republican presidential race today with a statement in which he denounced "new deal fallacies" and "supported relief, old age pensions, subsidized housing and other aids to the less fortunate people."

Bay City Pioneers Cheer Governor, Hear His Views On Hugging Dances

Bay City, Mich., Aug. 3 (AP)—Governor Luren D. Dickinson came here today for a picnic of pioneers, watched with pride some old fashion dancing and expressed a dislike for pitter-bugging and "that hugging kind of stuff we have today."

The governor remarked that in his youth the Virginia reel was his favorite.

The 50-year-old executive and critic of modern "high life" was given an enthusiastic reception by hundreds of pioneer residents of this area and was cheered by thousands as he headed a parade held in connection with the picnic.

The governor termed his reception by the pioneers "the most spontaneous and touching I have received since I became governor."

In his open-air address to the gathering the governor said the spirit of the pioneers and intense affection of religious interest could be applied to advantage to modern problems. He mentioned particularly labor questions.

The governor discussed informally the restrictions placed upon him of his many duties as chief executive, mentioning particularly that the time and nature of his various engagements were looked after entirely by "the man who is carting me around the state."

The governor mentioned that Miss Margaret Shaw, his secretary, was on vacation and that this fact made his work no easier. He said that "her substitute is doing a fine job" but that "it isn't the same" as when the regular secretary is present.

Miss Shaw, called "The Little Lady" by the governor, accompanied him east recently when he attended the conference of governors and saw what he said was much drinking by men and women.

The picnic was sponsored by the Bay County Historical society.

BIG PROGRAM OF PRESIDENT IS SHATTERED

Opponents Refused Time The house, filled with bitter animosity as a result of the week's successive defeats for the administration, was tense and restrained, in contrast to its usual noisy and unruly manner when an important measure is up. Chairman Sabbath (D-Ill.), of the rules committee, who was in charge of the allotment of Democratic speaking time refused time to Democratic opponents of the bill. They appealed, then, to the Republican leadership, and the latter gleefully acceded.

The Republicans went to the point, in fact, of giving the final opposition speech to a young Tennessee Democrat, Representative Gore, known at home as a fiery orator in the old southern tradition, but who had never before addressed the house. He stopped the show with a ten-minute speech which brought an ovation of proportions such as are usually reserved for the elder statesmen of the house. Opposition leaders credited his address with having changed several votes to their side.

Cost Mounts "On this bill there can be no doubt," Gore shouted with scorn. "It is not contemplated that any revenue from any project will ever be returned to the government. The cost of the program is paid by 60 annual payments from the treasury."

He estimated, that although the bills call only for an $800,000,000 increase in the borrowing power of the housing authority, its ultimate cost would be $2,700,000,000 when the 60 payments had been made. Previous authorizations to the housing authority, he said, would push the ultimate total to $4,380,000,000.

Gore, 31 years old, continued: "Mr. Speaker, I am one of the young men of this house, but if my people keep me here for 20 years—30 years, 40 years—this debt will still be unpaid and there will be an item on the annual budget, if this bill is enacted, of $73,000,000 per year. My 18-months old baby will be lucky to see one of these projects consummated."

For the measure, Representative Steagall (D-Ala.), argued that the measure provided only a continuation of a program which the house had already approved three or four times. It would benefit, he said, not just a few cities but "all the cities of the nation."

Vigorously, he challenged statements as to the cost to the federal government. Interest charged by the USHA, he said, would reduce the cost from $73,000,000 annually to $50,000,000.

With the completion of Steagall's address, the roll was called. In the same, tense, quiet atmosphere that had prevailed throughout the hour of debate. Many members anxiously kept a tally as it proceeded.

At the end, Speaker Bankhead directed that his name be called. He responded with an emphatic "aye." Administration adherents gave him the half-hearted cheer of a beaten company.

Included among the many fish caught were brook trout, weighing five and a quarter pounds, landed by Geo. N. Harder and C. Arthur Anderson. W. R. Smith and Dr. A. S. Kitchen also each caught a speckled beauty, weighing about four and a half pounds, in addition to a number of smaller ones.

Wives of the fishermen remained at Port Arthur, Ont., while they went up the Nipigon river.

TITUS WILL GO TO MEET

County Commissioner to Attend Gathering at Kalamazoo

C. P. Titus, Delta county public school commissioner, will leave to enroll in a two week's graduate course for the county school commissioners of Michigan which will open at Western State Teachers' College, Kalamazoo on Monday, August 7, to run for two weeks.

Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, State Superintendent of Public Instruction will be one of the distinguished speakers at the meetings. The sessions will be held at Walwood Hall, a new men's dormitory on the campus at Western State Teachers' college. The courses are planned to rotate between the four state teachers' colleges in Michigan. Next year the gathering will be held at Ypsilanti, since Central State is dedicating a new men's dormitory next year.

The courses will include special problems for county school commissioners. They will run in three divisions: Supervision, Administrative Problems, and Courses of Study.

Speakers and leaders will include Dr. William McKinley Robinson, head of the rural education department and other members of the state department of education.

Titus Association Officer

At the end of the two weeks' school, the County School Commissioners Association will meet. Officers of the Association are Lynn Clark, school commissioner of Kent county, president, C. P. Titus, Delta county, vice president and Miss Daisy Howard, Genesee county, secretary-treasurer.

The course, meeting for the first time this year, is planned to be an annual affair, offering two hours of graduate credit for each year's session. It is to be run on the clinic plan, with county commissioners from all parts of the state discussing practical problems met in their work and offering mutually helpful suggestions from their own experiences.

Will Raise Standards

This exchange of ideas will tend to standardize the county school commission work at higher levels, Mr. Titus believes. In 1935, when he became a county school commissioner, there were only 22 commissioners in the entire state and the plan was in its crude infancy. Most of them were young and new to the work, and young men and women have been added since that time. Last year five new commissioners were placed in the upper peninsula.

With such a situation existing and county school commissioners

Lions To Have Fish Fry At Minneapolis Light Monday Night

Celebrating the 150th anniversary of the Lighthouse Service, the regular meeting of the Escanaba Lions club on Monday evening will be a fish fry at the Minneapolis Shoals light. It was announced yesterday. The Lighthouse Service, first established in 1789, in addition to celebrating a century and a half of service this year, is also undergoing its greatest change in being merged with the coastguard service.

All members of the Lions club who plan to attend the fish fry must make their reservations by noon on Saturday. Members of the committee in charge of the event are Sid Shank, chairman, Nancy Clairmont, Joseph Shipman, Derlin Remington, Art Fillion, Dr. Deelista and Ole Norstrom.

Through the courtesy of the Escanaba Yacht club, transportation will be provided from the yacht harbor to the light crib beginning at 7:30 o'clock on Monday afternoon with the last boat leaving at 5:30 p. m.

Every Lion is expected to provide himself with fishing tackle.

SETS ASIDE VERDICT

Menominee—Judge Frank A. Bell today in closing session of Menominee county circuit on defense counsel motion set aside a Dickinson county jury's verdict awarding Mrs. Warren J. Hubbard of Stephenson $1,000 for alleged personal injuries suffered in a car accident on Nov. 6, 1938.

On July 20 a Dickinson county circuit court jury awarded Mrs. Hubbard $1,000, against Joseph and Peter Canavera of Norway, defendants. Defense counsel entered a motion for judgment in favor of the Canaveras on grounds there was not sufficient evidence for the jury's finding.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard and three other persons were in the Hubbard car, driven by Hubbard, when the accident occurred. Plaintiff's counsel said the Hubbard car was struck at an intersection by the Canavera car.

Galileo an Italian, is accredited with invention of the astronomical telescope, which has made modern celestial exploration possible.

Just beginning to develop their fields, Mr. Titus is in favor of the yearly "clinic" as a means toward solving practical problems which will help members of his profession supplement their formal education for their work and so raise the value of the departments to the educational system of the state.

Dog Chats

by HORACE LYTLE

A CRUEL HOAX

Scores of blind people and hundreds of their friends who are anxious to help them have been victimized recently by a cruel hoax which is spreading all along the Eastern seaboard. This is the result of rumors which the Seeing Eye has been completely unable to trace. These state that a blind person may secure a Seeing Eye dog by saving from 10,000 to 100,000 empty paper match folders. It is obvious that these stories are totally without any foundation upon which to stand.

During the past few months the Seeing Eye has received more than a hundred letters and telephone calls from persons anxious to verify the false rumor. These letters first came in from Philadelphia and that vicinity. More recently the rumor has spread so that letters have been received from Washington, Baltimore, New York and Poughkeepsie.

Careful investigation of these letters frequently revealed that, although only one letter had been received by the Seeing Eye, ten or more persons were industriously and actively engaged in saving match folders in hope that the books would get a dog for some local person who was blind.

On the day that Philadelphia papers announced that the whole matter was a hoax, a blind young man walked into the office of the Philadelphia Seeing Eye chairman and announced that he had saved 25,000 of the folders and asked if something could not be done with them. Unfortunately nothing could be done for the poor fellow. Any Seeing Eye member who hears of this tragic rumor should deny it emphatically at once so that more unfortunates will not be beguiled into unnecessary trouble and the instance should be reported with all of the circumstances to the Seeing Eye headquarters.

It is advisable also to inform any person placing credence in the rumor, that any blind person may make tentative application for a Seeing Eye dog merely by writing the school. The Seeing Eye will then determine if the individual is eligible for a dog.

Once a person's eligibility is established, he may make formal application and be placed on the waiting list in regular fashion. Until then the individual should make no definite plans as he cannot be sure of his acceptance by the school.

PULMOTOR IS NOT NEEDED

Council Told of New Findings; City Is Well-Equipped

City Manager George E. Bean last night remanded a previous statement as to the need of a pulmomotor in the city's life-saving equipment in another statement, the result of further study and research on the subject, which was made to the city council at its regular meeting last night.

"I have investigated from official sources the value of equipment now owned or which may be purchased by the city for rescue purposes," Mr. Bean said.

Inhalator Recommended

"It appears that the equipment which we have at the present time, known as the oxygen inhaler, or inhalator, is the type of equipment recommended by the Bureau of Mines. I quote the following from a handbook for miners entitled 'Self-Contained Oxygen Breathing Apparatus':

"The Bureau of Mines uses oxygen inhalers for this purpose. An oxygen inhaler includes:

1. A tank of compressed oxygen with a hand-operated closing valve.
2. A reducing valve usually set to supply the fixed feed of oxygen, which may be increased at will by operating the bypass or by a device for increasing the flow through the reducing valve.
3. A breathing bag of 10 liters (610 cubic inches or about 10 quarts) or more capacity.
4. A face mask with an inhalation valve connected to the bag and an exhalation valve opening to the outside air.

"An oxygen inhaler with these parts may be used to advantage in connection with artificial respiration by either the Schaefer or the Sylvester manual method.

"In reviving unconscious persons, whose breathing has partly or wholly stopped, time is often lost by sending for a mechanical resuscitating device. If breathing has stopped for 10 minutes death results and no resuscitating device will revive the patient.

"To be effective, artificial resuscitation must begin as soon as possible in fresh air only; ordinarily only resuscitation by manual methods is immediately available. The Bureau of Mines, by advice of the Public Health Service, uses only manual methods of artificial resuscitation, without mechanical resuscitating devices."

No Life After 10 Minutes

From another manual published by the Bureau of Mines, Mr. Bean quotes the following statement:

"Always rescue the person as quickly as possible. It is important after rescuing a drowning person to get the water out of his air passages and stomach. . . . Lose no time in resorting to artificial respiration. Usually after a person has been submerged in water for 10 minutes life is extinct. Vic-time have been revived after 2 hours of artificial respiration, so do not cease treatment too quickly!" (At least two hours of effort are required by an American Red Cross regulation.)

"I am informed by the Fire and Police departments that in no case have they been able to start work on any of our drowning cases for over thirty minutes after the victim has fallen into the water," Mr. Bean adds. "You will note that the above paragraph indicates that life is extinct after ten minutes."

Pulmotor Not Recommended

"In view of all the above information from scientific and impartial sources," said Mr. Bean, "I feel that the city should not buy a pulmomotor. I am informed that previous to the ownership of the present oxygen inhalers the city owned a pulmomotor and it was taken out of service on purchase of the more modern equipment. I regret that the previous information given the Council was not complete."

He also states that the manual of the Bureau of Mines does not recommend machines, such as the pulmomotor, which have been devised to compel or assist artificial breathing, for the use of the first aid man.

The inhalator, two of which are owned locally, is, however, officially accepted by the American Medical Association, the American Gas Association, and the Association of Police and Fire Surgeons, according to members of the local fire department who were interviewed on the subject.

It is also stated by local firemen that at least one trained and certified operator and instructor in life-saving methods is included in each of the crews at the local department, while other members of the department have had experience and training in life-saving.

Suggest Equipment at Beach

Members of the department suggest that if a machine, one of which is kept at the sheriff's office and one at the central fire house, were kept at the bathing beach and yacht harbor, where most of the accidents occur, that the main trouble, the delay in beginning operations, would be at least partially eliminated. Trained operators of the equipment would also have to be present at all times. It would also be of great help in rescue work, the firemen say, if blankets and heating pads of the electric or mechanical type were kept on hand, as warmth and protection of the patient is vital at times when vitality is at a low ebb.

Also not generally known, according to statements made by members of the fire department to Mr. Bean, is the fact that eight lives have been saved by the use of the present inhalator equipment under circumstances which, however, could not be publicized.

Stonington Youth Admits Hunting for Deer in Closed Season

Caspar Brandt, 18, of Stonington, arrested by Sheriff William E. Miron, on charges of killing a horse on the Arthur Lorenson farm at Stonington Monday night, while hunting deer, entered a plea of guilty to attempting to hunt deer during closed season, when arraigned in Justice George Carr's court Thursday morning.

He was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and costs of $9.25, or to spend thirty days in the county jail, and, unable to pay the fine, started serving his sentence at once.

A settlement with the owner of the horse, valued at $300 was understood to have been made out of court.

Brandt was taken into custody after he admitted that he had a rifle hidden in the woods about a quarter of a mile from his home, and that he had been hunting deer in the moonlight Monday night. Conservation Officers Alan Tweedy and Oscar Sunquist accompanied Sheriff Miron in his investigation.

Q. How is it possible for a chameleon to change color? I. S. A. The chameleon does not actually imitate the hue of the object on which it rests, nor is the process wholly under its control. The changes are reactions to certain conditions of light and temperature and to various emotional states, such as fear and anger.

AUGUST BRINGS HAY FEVERITES

Science Offering Little Relief to Sneeze Victims

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
AP Science Writer

Washington—If you're severely allergic to ragweed, you'd better either buy an air-conditioner or go on a long sea voyage.

Looking forward to the hay fever season in August, Department of Agriculture scientists offer no other hope. They know of no part of the country affording shelter from ragweed, which is the principal hay fever plant of the United States.

The pollen which causes so many sniffles and sneezes is a grain of protein so tiny that it can be seen only with a microscope. But ragweed is one of the commonest of plants and its various species are distributed through every state and county. It is particularly prevalent in the Middle West, the great grain-producing area, where it holds back until the grain plants are harvested, then flowers and produces pollen by the millions of grains from each plant.

A hay fever victim may be only mildly sensitive to the species of one area and at the same time be made violently ill from the pollen of a different species. He might find an area in which he is immune but in another section of the country the pollen might prove so poisonous that a few grains dropping on the skin might cause violent skin eruptions.

Dr. Henry Stevens of the department's division on allergic research, brings you up to date, like this:

"In studying the whole field of allergy and hay fever we are attempting to find just what fractions of a chemical substance like ragweed pollen are responsible for these reactions in human beings.

"Chemists believe that when they can identify and tag such substances, physicians will be able to work out better methods of treatment."

But, meanwhile, the only methods of relief are to get far out at sea where little of the pollen is carried by the wind, or high into the stratosphere where few particles penetrate, to find a section of the country which has ragweed to which you are immune, or to sleep in a room in which all incoming air is filtered.

Share the Snicker, Edward?

Bishop Assails Scandal Mongers In His Statement

Chicago—The Right Rev. Hayward S. Ablewhite, who recently resigned as bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Northern Michigan, last night issued a statement defending himself against charges and innuendoes and expressing the hope that the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, presiding bishop of the Episcopal church in the United States, soon will make public all the facts in the strange case. Bishop Ablewhite's statement follows:

"The time has come when I am compelled to speak out against scandal mongers who have used my silence to besmirch themselves, the Episcopalian church, and myself.

"Their falsehoods will catch up with them in due time. I am not privileged to touch all points, including those concerning the activities of the late A. E. Miller and the late Capt. H. S. Lyons, which I have officially laid before the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, presiding bishop of the church.

"Bishop Urges Investigation

"I have deeply admired and loved Bishop Tucker and so do now. I shall not force his hand in my own behalf. When he is satisfied that my statement is confirmed by investigation that I encourage, then, and only then, will I be able to lay my case before the public.

"These scandal mongers whose lives are so shallow, who feed only on the bestiality of others, have spoken of me as though my sole friends are publicans and sinners. That is, I am proud to say, true! I have no friends so self-respecting that they are in need of no repentance.

"When these morbidly whisper that I visited night restaurants where sprightly entertainers are to be found, I ask why whisper and use the cheapest of all tricks of human pen and tongue, innuendo! Why should they not be forthright and say, as I frankly say, and have said, that Mrs. Ablewhite and I have been at the Chez Paree, which we have enjoyed, and to other restaurants where shows have been as good or not as good.

"Asails Whispered Rumors

"It is no crime to eat and drink for enjoyment. Let those who have not entered or would not if they could, cast the first stone. And few care now what mischief making has been done.

"Some of the whispered rumors against my conduct, some of which are as unprincipled as they are untrue, are too incredible to come from sane minds.

"For example, there is the cruel reference to blackmail that involves Mrs. Lyons. Mrs. Lyons and Mrs. Ablewhite remained friends through the years regardless of my relation with the late Capt. Lyons. (Capt. Lyons died in Miami a year ago.) Our common troubles have deepened our mutual friendship and loyalty.

Mrs. Ablewhite and I are moved with sympathy for her in her illness, which is aggravated by multiplied difficulties.

"As to rumor and alleged evidence that I wrote checks to Chicago hotels and night restaurants, I say there has never been need of rumor or innuendo. Dining temporarily residing in Chicago cannot be done without expense.

"But that expense was paid from funds belonging to Mrs. Ablewhite and me, and that is our own affair, the opinions to the contrary notwithstanding. Moreover, at no time did I ask special secrecy or protection in the cashing of my checks, as are frequently shown by those whose motives require secrecy.

"Discredited and dissolute persons may easily be found who add what seems to be body to certain rumors concerning my alleged conduct. Against such witnesses no one has any defense and only those who wish to do so will give their irresponsible statements any credence. Two weeks ago I was in official but informal contact with Bishop Tucker, but any written statement that he then asked for did not reach him until last Friday. Knowing Bishop Tucker as I do, I am convinced that his study of my formal statement will be made as rapidly as possible. When these have been completed I am quite sure he will make the statement public."

Copyright Stops Dance

Menominee—The popular "Beer Barrel Polka" and other copyrighted music heard these days in Menominee city and county taverns will cost the tavern proprietors not less than $90 a year.

The $90 is a minimum rate for the use of copyrighted music, to be paid to the North American Society of Authors and Publishers. The copyrighted music, whether in recordings or over the radio can not be used commercially without paying for it.

This year for the first time the Society of Authors and Publishers has established an office in the upper peninsula, and commercial users of copyrighted music are being notified that they must pay the use rate. An attorney for the society is located in Munising.

Family Reunion At Pine Grove

A reunion of members of the family of Mrs. Elizabeth Dumouchelle of Menominee and Escanaba, was held Wednesday at the summer home of her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. C. O. Fullinger, at Pine Grove, on the Marinette bay shore, in honor of Mrs. Margaret Dumouchelle Aseltine of Los Angeles, who is in Menominee for her first home visit in twenty-one years.

Nature Student

Margaret Drake Elliott, author of many newspaper and magazine articles on the out-of-doors, and former head of the biology department of Bay View, Michigan Summer University, who joined the staff at Phil DeGraff's Birchwood resort, Trout Lake, on Aug. 1, to be available for nature hikes and talks throughout the month.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

Even though she wins the argument a wife loses every time she keeps her husband from doing what he wants to do. She may nag him into taking her to a picture show the night he comes home all pepped up over the thought of going to a stag party. But she can't keep him from wishing she'd go visit her mother for a couple of weeks.

She can pull a long face and say every five minutes "How much longer are you going to read," and maybe get him to turn out the light before he figures out "who done it," but if she does she can be sure he'll go to sleep with a righteous frown.

A DISLIKE FOR HOME MAY GROW She can ignore every one of his suggestions about the way the house is run and the furniture placed and keep all of his belongings out of sight.

Her friends will agree with her when she says, "I just go ahead and do as I please. What does a man know about running a house?" But she shouldn't be surprised if her husband doesn't hurry home at night and seem awfully glad to be there.

She can throw a few jealous tantrums and bully him into never even looking at another woman—which she's with him. But she can't do anything about his deciding that she is too jealous ever to be told the truth.

THE LONG PULL MEANS MORE If his hobby interferes with her life she can make so much fun of him he'll give it up—but she can't do anything about the girl who "understands" him.

Almost any woman can get her way with a man. But before she sets her mind to it, she ought to realize exactly what it is going to cost her.

E. F. Ericksons Back From Cruise

Scallops Trim Princess Mode Shirtwaister

BY MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9130

Almost too good to be true—a shirtwaister and a princess-line frock all in one. Besides, it's a Marian Martin creation, which means becoming, up-to-the-minute style! Pattern 9130 is easy as saying your ABC's to stitch up, with Marian Martin's Sew Chart at your elbow. There are no wasteful seams—just sleek princess lines, with darts at the back waist for trim fit. A delightful new note is added by a scalloped buttoning all the way to the waist. You might enclose it with a scalloped collar of fresh white. For a dressier style, leave the neck plain and plant flowers on your shoulder.

Pattern 9130 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3 3/4 yards 39 inch fabric and 1/4 yard contrast.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coin for this MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your RISE, NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER. Midsummer always calls for an inventory of your wardrobe to see if it doesn't need replenishing. Something cool and crisp for days that are hot and nights that are sultry! MARIAN MARTIN will bring you dozens of easily-made designs for sport, play and formal midsummer wear in our NEW PATTERN BOOK. There are pages and pages of fashions for femininity of all ages. The book is fifteen cents but when ordered with a pattern the price for both is twenty-five cents.

You will want to consult this pattern book frequently for your remaining summer costumes.

Send your order to Daily Press, Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

SOFT BOILED CUSTARD

The basis of many desserts. This recipe makes enough for four servings. Beat three eggs or six yolks (yolks make a creamier custard); mix in two tablespoons of flour blended thoroughly with a third of a cup of granulated sugar. Add an eighth of a teaspoon of salt and two and a half cups of milk. Cook in a double boiler, over low heat, until custard thickens a little. Beat steadily while cooking and remove from the heat as soon as the custard is done. Stir several times for five minutes to prevent a coating from forming on the top. Add blended extracts; half a teaspoon of vanilla and a quarter of a teaspoon each of lemon and almond makes a delicate combination. Chill and serve plain, or poured over cake crumbs, fresh or canned fruits or candied fruits.

Engagement Announced A wedding in October is planned by Miss Louise Bolitho whose engagement to Edwin T. Thompson was announced at her home on Arbutus avenue Wednesday.

Guests who had been bidden to a tea in honor of Mrs. Mary Thompson of Chicago and Mrs. Charles Woodworth of Detroit, were met at the door by flower girls who presented them with corsage bouquets of sweet peas and roses, each with attached cards bearing the happy news.

The engagement of Miss Bolitho is of unusual interest because of her general popularity in this community where she was born and reared.

On Wednesday, F. R. Stoneking and wife and R. W. McFadden and wife of Detroit caught a 30 1/2 inch northern pike weighing six pounds. MANY TOURISTS VISITING CITY

Indian Lake Park Busy; World Fairs Don't Hurt District

In spite of expected competition from the New York and California World Fairs, Manistique's tourist trade has been exceptionally good this year, according to reports of tourist camp operators, state camp caretakers and city merchants.

Automobiles along city streets and main highways leading to the city are predominantly of foreign residents, the state of Illinois being especially well represented.

E. T. King, superintendent of the Indian Lake state park, yesterday reported that 30 to 45 campers have been using the park nightly for the past three weeks. These are in addition to the usual run of picnickers and bathers.

On Tuesday of this week, George Gimbel and son Kirk of Jackson brought in a 36 inch northern pike weighing 10 pounds. The Gimbels said they caught it twice, the first time, it having dropped off the hook in the process of being landed.

On Wednesday, F. R. Stoneking and wife and R. W. McFadden and wife of Detroit caught a 30 1/2 inch northern pike weighing six pounds. On the previous day, Mr. Stoneking's party caught about 75 perch and blue gills. In the evening, members of the party staged a fish fry at the picnic pavilion and invited other campers in the park to join the fun.

Riggs Leads Way To Semifinals In Tough Competition

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—Bobby Riggs led the way into the semi-finals of both singles and doubles in the Meadowbrook annual invitation tennis tournament today, but the unpredictable Chicagoan had to fight all the way before overcoming game Joe Hunt in the individual competition.

With Riggs into the round-of-four of the singles marched Sidney Wood, the former Wimbledon champion; Ernie Sutter of New Orleans and Bob Kamrath of Austin, Texas. It will be Riggs against Kamrath and Wood facing Sutter in tomorrow's semifinals.

A hot sun and a long layoff from tournament tennis deprived Hunt of most of his early strength in his match against Riggs, but he staged a rally in the third set that forced the No. 1 Davis cup hopeful to go all out to win 4-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Hunt, playing his first competitive tennis of the summer, was spent at the end of the second set. When Riggs blasted out a 4-0 advantage in the final stanza, the naval academy plebe's defeat seemed imminent. At this stage, however he rallied and finally squared the set at 5-5.

Riggs' service followed and hunt took a 4-0 edge, but his weariness overtook him again, his strokes overshot the baseline five successive times, and Riggs took the important 6-5 lead.

Hunt served, and was one point from a 6-6 deadlock, but Riggs, forcing the issue now, applied too much pressure and registered in the final game, winning on a flat drive that nicked the net cord and bounded crazily out of Hunt's reach.
