DEATH CLAIMS HOWARD GEORGE

Menominee Resident Was Grandson of Senator Stephenson

Howard Stephenson George, 51, of 335 Sheridan Road, Menominee, vice president of the Central West Coal company of that city, died at 12:30 o'clock Thursday morning in Presbyterian hospital, Chicago, of an ailment for which he had submitted to an operation on July 24.

Mr. George, a grandson of the late Senator Isaac Stephenson, of Marinette, had been ill for several months. With him at the time of his death were Mrs. George and their daughter, Miss Elizabeth, and Mrs. E. P. Smith and F. A. Stephenson of Menominee, his aunt and uncle.

Born in Marinette
Mr. George was born on August 17, 1888, in Marinette, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. George. Mrs. George was the former Ella Stephenson, daughter of the late Sen. Stephenson. He attended the public schools of Marinette, Culver Military Academy at Culver, Ind., and an eastern college.

On February 24, 1914, in Menominee, Mr. George, then of Marinette, married Miss Florence Carpenter of Menominee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Spencer Carpenter.

Mrs. George and Miss Elizabeth survive. His only brother, Isaac George, was fatally injured several years ago in an automobile accident at Marinette.

Following their marriage in 1914 the Georges resided in Menominee.

Enlisted in Service
In 1917 with the entry of the United States into the World war, Howard George enlisted for military service on Sept. 5 at Camp Custer. He served with an ambulance company and in October of the same year was promoted to sergeant. In the Third Officers Training Camp in January, 1918, he was transferred to Camp Lee, Va., and was commissioned a second lieutenant, infantry, on June 1, 1918.

Transferred to Camp Lewis, Wash., George was commissioned a first lieutenant in November, 1918, one month before he was discharged from military service. For a few years after the war Mr. George was sales manager for the Northland Motor company in Menominee.

Joined Coal Co.
In May, 1933 he became vice president of the Central West Coal company, a position in which he served the company until his death.

He was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal church of Marinette, and at his death was a member of the church vestry.

He was a member of the Elks Lodge, Marinette, and Menominee Lodge No. 269, F. & A. M., and the Oscar Falk Post, American Legion. He was also a member of Riverside Country club.

The body, accompanied by members of the family, was taken to the McLain Funeral Home in Marinette Friday.

WILL CLOSE SCHOOL

Stambaugh—The board of education of the Stambaugh district decided at an informal meeting yesterday afternoon to close the Gastra school, as an economy measure.

The board has for several weeks been considering the advisability of closing either the Gastra or Palatka school. The deciding factor in favor of decision to keep the Palatka building open was the fact that there are four basement rooms, two with concrete floors, at the Gastra.

The Palatka school is also in better condition than the Gastra, and requires only minor improvements. The board is considering transporting the smaller children to the Palatka.

It is estimated that from $3,000 to $3,500 will be saved by closing the Gastra.

EARTH TREMORS

The Escanaba-Manistique earth tremors may safely be attributed to caving and shifting of subterranean geological strata. Escanaba and Manistique are both on the very edges of a tremendous geological fault as proven by the state of Michigan's magnetic survey and diamond drill work east and west of Escanaba.

This fault runs in a north and south direction, while magnetic formations cross it in a west and east direction. These magnetic attractions pull a dead 90 to 100 miles south of Hylas, Mich., 54 miles west of Escanaba, 41 miles west of Escanaba and an attraction from Escanaba going east to Manistique, apparently east of Manistique.

Diamond drill cut the dead 90 Hylas magnetic miles on 80 foot burden. Diamond cut the 54 mile west of Escanaba magnetic under a 500 foot overburden. A diamond drill cut the Bay de Noc township magnetic under a 1,065 foot overburden. The diamond bit shows that where the magnetic attractions are highest or lowest the magnetic lies closer to or deeper down from the surface.

The Michigan Geological Survey failed to pick up any magnetic attractions whatsoever east of Escanaba due to their being sunk under a 1,065 foot overburden. The Escanaba diamond drill cutting magnetic at 500 feet—here the Bay de Noc drill cut the same magnetic at 1,065 feet proves that all Bay de Noc township foundations fell away or sunk 556 feet to a deeper level. There was no diamond drill work done east of Bay de Noc township to prove as to how far east this geological fault extends.

On the other hand, reliable information has it that there are no magnetic attractions west of Manistique. Such being the case, the east-west distance of this fault can safely be attended at lying between Escanaba on the western and Manistique on the eastern break of this fault. Escanaba and Manistique both experiencing the same tremors would bear out the above mentioned extent of this fault also.

The diamond drill proves beyond all possible doubt that prehistoric times territory east of Escanaba sunk as the bottom would fall out of a tub a full 565 feet. A district which caved in 565 feet can still sink or shift enough for Escanaba and Manistique to feel earth tremors.

Michigan In Washington

By Esther Van Wagoner Tutty
The wallop given the Lending bill in the House was packed largely by the most genial chap in the Michigan Republican delegation, Jesse P. Wolcott, of Port Huron, ranking minority member of the House Banking and Currency committee.

His strategy was simple and direct. First, he fought the bill tooth and nail in the committee, with the aid of another Michigan Congressman, Fred L. Crawford, of Saginaw, who had a pocketful of statistics to contribute, until he lined up an unanimous minority report against the bill. Not content that just the committee members participate in the floor debate, he urged that all Republicans be fully acquainted with not only the Lending bill, but the Housing bill, also involving millions. So a special get together of Republicans was called and Wolcott was teacher.

Then the Port Huron Republican became eager for a test vote on "the rule" to see just who the economy-minded Democrats were who could be depended upon to vote with the Republicans. Nothing to lose—if the vote on the rule to consider the bill passed, the minority leaders would know how much more strength was needed. If the vote on the rule was defeated—what a quick dramatic finale to a pet New Deal bill.

He was right—and fame for a few days is now his. He was backed by Carl E. Mays, Grand Rapids' dean of the delegation, ranking member of the Republicans on the Rules committee who had charge of the time. His picture is making front pages, too.

The Michigan Democrats were conspicuously absent. Usually they cast a solid vote for the administration, but this time the only help Roosevelt got was a vote from Dr. Rudolph Tenerowicz, Rabaut is on his way to the Inter-Parliamentary council in Norway, Congressman Hook, Lesinski, and Dingell were out of the city. They had arranged, however, pairs with absent Republicans.

Realistically, Fred Crawford says the credit for the defeat of this bill should not be given to any Republican, but to the Democratic administration. It was interesting to note that many of these were members of the Appropriations committee.

Just the same, Jesse P. Wolcott because of his success with this and other bills originating out of his Banking and Currency committee has gained enough political stature to be mentioned more often as a possible successor to Senator Vandenberg, if he should be a Presidential candidate.

To be the ranking Republican member of the House Banking and Currency committee, these days is a limelight spot formerly enjoyed by the powerful Ways and Means committee. So much money legislation—the Home Loan Bank, the Curtailment of monetary powers of the President, the Federal Housing—is so controversial in an atmosphere charged with attacks on spending that it makes headlines.

So we find serious studious Fred Crawford, a comparatively new member on the committee, planning to linger on in the Washington heat to review all the banking legislation since March 1933 looking forward to prospective banking legislation when Congress reconvenes.

And what Crawford digs up over at the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation he will generously hand out to his colleagues, who seek him constantly for "facts."

What President Roosevelt needs is to talk to Mark Haines, publisher of the Sturgis Journal—so says Carl E. Hoffman, Allegan Republican in an extension of remarks in the Congressional Record.

Now the good people of Sturgis may not like Hoffman calling their community "the sticks" but they will enjoy Hoffman's lively suggestion that such publishers of Mid-West home dailies would make better presidential advisers than the present "self-seeking, ambitious, impractical yes-boys."

MRS. F. MEAD PASSES AWAY

Pioneer Resident of Escanaba Dies In California

Word was received yesterday that Mrs. Frank D. Mead, pioneer resident of Escanaba, who had lived in Pasadena, Calif., since 1912, died yesterday at noon (coast time) in that city.

Mrs. Mead was born in October, 1855, at Ann Arbor, Mich., and was married there in 1884 to Frank D. Mead, prominent local lawyer at that time, after which she and her husband came to live in Escanaba.

A daughter, Helen, died in 1908 at the age of 23, and Mr. Mead died in 1914. Mrs. Mead's son, Myrick, a graduate of the University of Michigan law school, took over his father's law practice for a year after his death, and the son died after a short illness, in 1915.

Mrs. Mead lived in Escanaba for four years after the death of her son, and then moved to Pasadena, where she resided until the time of her death.

Surviving her are four nieces and one nephew, children of her sister.

In the years she lived in Escanaba, Mrs. Mead was an earnest and faithful worker in the Episcopal church and both she and Mr. Mead were extremely interested in the advancement of the city. There are no known relatives now living in Escanaba, but Mrs. Mead will be remembered by friends who knew her in the years that she lived here.

Fascists Condemn Nick Carter Books - And Noted Writers

Rome, Italy, Aug. 4 (AP)—The works of many famous writers, including many Jews, and such books as the Nick Carter series, "Life and Adventures of Buffalo Bill" and Ludwig's "Lincoln" are on a list condemned officially today as unsuited to the Fascist spirit.

Booksellers and librarians received today the list which included books that have been seized and destroyed and others of which the sale has been forbidden.

The condemned authors included Casanova, Balzac, Bocaccio, Rabelais, Voltaire, Poe, Edgar Wallace, Thomas Mann, Arnold Zweig, Emil Ludwig, H. G. Wells, Franz Werfel, Robert Graves, Machiavelli, Jacob Wassermann, Agatha Christie, George Sande, Axel Munthe and Arthur Schnitzler.

Muskegon Bleachers Collapse, 23 Injured

Muskegon, Mich., Aug. 4 (AP)—Bleachers at a Muskegon Heights Factory's softball field collapsed during a game tonight, throwing 250 persons to the ground and injuring 23 seriously enough that they were taken to hospital.

Three Muskegon residents were reported hurt seriously. They are Bonnie Lee Hoehenstein, 5; Mildred Vitex, 25, and Earl Stockil, 22.

A crowd of about 2,000, sitting in bleachers erected two weeks ago at the Norge corporation's diamond, were watching a game between the Norge Majors and the Detroit Linnets.

The stands collapsed during the fifth inning. A broadcaster who was describing the game appealed for ambulances. Other radio listeners started for the scene and police estimated that a crowd of 7,000 had gathered.

Muskegon Heights police and the ball players helped free the injured persons from the scramble of broken planks.

The game was resumed later, Detroit winning 3 to 1.

from mailing lists to be furnished by Tydings, to rally support.

During last year's senator primary campaign, in which he defeated the New Deal candidate, Rep. David J. Lewis, by some 65,000 votes, Tydings consistently denied he was a "new dealer" or an "old dealer," asserting he preferred instead to be "known as a square dealer."

Tydings served on the Mexican border in 1916, re-enlisted in the ranks at the start of the World war and emerged as a lieutenant-colonel of machine gunners. He served in both houses of Maryland's legislature, was elected to congress in 1923, and to the senate in 1926.

No Heir To Throne; Netherlands Royal Baby Is A Daughter

Amsterdam, Aug. 5 (Friday) (AP)—Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands presented the House of Orange with another daughter early today.

The child was born at 1:09 a. m. (7:09 p. m., EST Friday) at Soestdyk palace.

There had been high hopes among Netherlanders that the baby would be the first male heir to the throne of the little kingdom in almost a century.

Princess Beatrix, the first child of the 30-year-old Juliana and 23-year-old German Prince Bernhard, was a year old last Jan. 31.

The hour was such that the general public, long anticipating the event, was not aware of the birth of the baby.

The announcement was made briefly by ticker services to newspapers. At 7 a. m. the news will be broken to the public by a salute of 51 guns—signifying the birth of a girl. A 101-gun salute would have been fired for a boy.

ARMORY APPROVED

Lions Club Dinner

Trenay, Mich.—The Munsling Lion's Club gave a chicken dinner at Horb's Place here in Trenay on Tuesday evening, for their fellow Lions, business men and their wives.

Sixty-five plates were served. The place cards were movie stars and famous characters. Each guest was presented with a menu and then proceeded to find his place at the table, until all were placed. The toastmaster introduced the following speakers and entertainers: C. R. Little gave the welcome address. Several request selections were sang by our local "Bing Crosby", Mr. Omar Viau. The invocation was given by the Rev. Father Scherlinger, who also gave a short address.

The object of the dinner was closer cooperation by all Alger county citizens, so all addresses were based on that subject.

Mr. Carl Wittler was called on for some of his very popular stories. Other speakers were King Lion, Mr. Schafer, Mr. W. Button, Mr. Robert Sloan and Mr. B. L. Gregg.

After the dinner, there was dancing in the ball room.

the federal government to contribute $10 for the first $5 a state contributed to a monthly old age assistance grant, and to match, dollar for dollar, the state's contribution in excess of $5.

It was obvious that many members had already decided the rest of the session was not worth staying around for. Senate officials said 22 senators had left town. A house quorum call showed considerably more than a hundred members not answering their names.

These circumstances gave the harassed administration leadership a new worry. Seventeen of the 22 absent senators were Democrats. The figures pointed to an anti-administration majority in case a controversy should arise.

HOW MICHIGAN VOTED
Washington, Aug. 4 (AP)—The vote of the Michigan delegation today—in the house roll call refusing to consider the administration's housing bill:

Democrats for consideration: Tenerowicz.

Dog Quarantines May Be Extended To Check Rabies

Lansing, Aug. 4 (AP)—P. F. Hoffmaster, state conservation director, warned today that dog quarantines, which expire October 1, might be extended if local law enforcement agencies do not cooperate to check an outbreak of rabies.

Health and conservation officials have attributed three deaths to rabies since January 1.

Hoffmaster said that in most counties the quarantines had met with only partial success because of lack of enforcement and pointed out that the state veterinarian's office had reported 331 cases of rabies in animals this year as compared to 358 in 1938.

The conservation director said three-month quarantines would be lifted in nine counties by October 1, opening of the fall bird hunting season. Counties and date quarantines will be lifted are: Kent, August 22; Ionia and Ottawa, August 29; Sanilac and Ingham, August 31; Berrien, September 23; Livingston, September 10, and Saginaw and Huron, October 1.

Olander To Inspect Posts In Peninsula

East Lansing, Aug. 4 (AP)—State Police Commissioner Oscar G. Olander will leave by plane tomorrow for an inspection tour of Upper Peninsula posts and a study of highway patrol and communications service in that area.

His itinerary: Aug. 5, St. Ignace; Aug. 6, Newberry; Aug. 7, Manistiquette; Aug. 8, Iron Mountain; Aug. 9, Wakefield; Aug. 10, L'Anse; Aug. 11 and 12, Marquette.

Kemp's Appointment Approved In Senate

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—The senate confirmed today the appointment of Edward Gearing Kemp, of Michigan, as the assistant to the attorney general.

Kemp becomes chief assistant to his longtime friend and political associate, Attorney General Murphy.

Joseph Keenan, who served in the same place under former Attorney General Cummings, acted as a White House contact man at the capital and presidential adviser.

MOTOR QUEEN CROWNED

Flint, Mich., Aug. 4 (AP)—Miss Bernice Henthorn, 21-year-old stenographer at the AC Spark Plug company, was crowned queen of Flint's annual motor festival tonight and proclaimed a year of peace and prosperity in the automotive industry here.

GARNER SAYS GOODBYE
Washington, Aug. 4 (AP)—Vice President Garner attended his last cabinet meeting today before the adjournment of congress.

He said goodbye to the president and cabinet members and on the White House steps wished reporters a "pleasant summer."

Lorraine Krause Called By Death

Lorraine Jane Krause, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Krause of Ford River, died at 1:30 o'clock Friday morning at St. Francis hospital. Surviving the baby, in addition to the parents, are her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Krause, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wander, Sr., of Ford River.

The body was taken to the Boyce Funeral Home to be prepared for burial. Services were held Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at Ford River cemetery where burial was made, Rev. L. G. Lehmann of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, Hyde, officiating at the rites.

Interest Rate Cut On Loans Of HOLC To Aid Borrowers

Washington, Aug. 4 (AP)—The Home Owners Loan Corporation, which has on its books about $2,400,000,000 in loans made to distressed home-owners, today cut its interest rate on much of this money from 5 to 4 1/2 per cent.

At the same time, congress sent to the White House a bill prolonging the amortization period on HOLC loans from 15 to 20 years.

The double action followed persistent efforts in congress and out for better terms for the HOLC borrowers. On Monday, the federal housing administration announced a cut, from 5 to 4 1/2 per cent, in interest rates on small home mortgages insured by it.

John H. Fahy, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, said the HOLC reduction would save borrowers and estimated total of $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 a year. HOLC officials said the cut would apply to more than 800,000 borrowers.

In whitening down the rate, the corporation passed on to home owners interest savings made as the result of the corporation's recent $900,000,000 refunding operation.

Great Lakes Shore Free For Bathers; Can't Be Blocked

Lansing, Aug. 4 (AP)—The attorney general's department held today that owners of frontage on the Great Lakes may not prevent the public from bathing in front of their property.

S. G. Fontana, deputy conservation director, asked the opinion, saying that the management of a hotel on Lake Huron had fenced off the water front before the hotel in order to keep the public from bathing with patrons.

The attorney general's opinion said:

1. Riparian owners have no right to fence off any portion of Great Lakes for their exclusive use.

2. Riparian owners on the Great Lakes have no right to the exclusive use of the shallow water in front of their property.

3. The public may walk or bathe in such shallow portions along Great Lakes beaches if they can gain access thereto without trespassing on the private property. (A riparian owner's land extends only to the water's edge.)

4. The public has no right to use a private dock even though it gains access to the water alongside without trespass.

During the first 10 months of 1938, the world consumed 168,000,000 pounds of nickel in all forms.

Rock Boys Nabbed For Dynamiting Of Stream For Fish

Two 16-year old Rock boys were arrested Thursday by Conservation Officers Bernard Stephansky and Willard Schwartz on a charge of dynamiting the Days river in the St. Nicholas section.

Because their being juveniles, they will be arraigned before Probate Judge Frank J. Mileski upon the latter's return to the city. The offense was committed on August 1, and officers found that more than fifty trout had been killed by the dynamite charge.

The boys told the officers that an adult person had given them the idea for taking fish through the use of dynamite.

Hot Dog! Star Shoots the Works at Coney

Down from the gilded heights of Hollywood where screen immortals enjoy much rarer pleasures came movie queen Norma Shearer, and, of all things, went to New York's nickel seaside resort, Coney Island. Photo show her doing Coney brown. Right, she shoots corks at cigarette pack targets, while tennis star Frank Shields looks doubtful and an unnamed cop looks frankly skeptical. Left, in a delicate stary-eyed manner, she nibbles at that piece de resistance of the populace, a hot dog, as Shields dresses another in mustard and the same cop studies life.

Taft's Hat in Ring

SENATOR ROBERT A. TAIT of Ohio has publicly announced that he would be willing to accept the Republican nomination for president in 1940.

The Ohio senator, son of the late President and Chief Justice William Howard Taft, coupled his announcement with a criticism of the New Deal and declared that President Roosevelt would be the weakest candidate the Democrats could choose as public opinion is against a breaking of the third term tradition.

The Gallup polls still show Thomas E. Dewey of New York running way ahead of Taft and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg in the public's favor for the presidency.

City Has Equipment

MISUNDERSTANDING concerning the life saving equipment in the possession of the city has been cleared up with the lengthy statement made by City Manager George E. Bean to the city council at its meeting Thursday evening.

The mechanical respiration equipment, known as the pulmotor, is not recommended by the U. S. Bureau of Mines for the resuscitation of drowning persons.

After every drowning, there is always much talk about either the inefficiency of the equipment used or the firemen, who have been in charge of its operation.

The inhalator equipment, however, has been responsible for the saving of at least a dozen lives, but because of the nature of the cases no publicity was given to the rescues.

The above is offered in the spirit of fairness to those who have performed their duties to the best of their ability, and oftentimes have been criticized for developments that have been beyond their control.

The average person unthinkingly jumps to the answer: The distributors are making too much profit.

But that isn't the answer, according to the fund's research experts. They found "little evidence that general high profits are being made in the field of distribution considered as a whole."

But for every outstanding success and profit-maker among distributive firms, they found many which barely break even, and some which run at a loss even in good years.

The new law was designed to stop such obviously improper practices as giving over to a campaign manager lists of names and addresses of WPA relief workers, as happened in the Barkley campaign last fall.

It will prevent the discharge of WPA employees because of their known opposition to this or that candidate. It will make it illegal for any superior to ask for contributions from an inferior federal employee, or to accept them.

These are the things the new law was drafted to accomplish. These are the things it should stop. Talk about the law's power to disfranchise and to curb the right to free speech is nonsense and the tribution, the answer does lie just where it lies in any other situation of the kind—in greater efficiency to produce the same result, or in demanding less results. We want service with our buying. We want quick and frequent delivery; we want return privileges; we want accessible locations; we want credit without limit.

All these things must be paid for. And probably no great reduction can be made in the cost of distributing goods without reducing some of the luxury-type facilities to which we Americans have long been accustomed all of which means jobs for somebody.

Don't Toss Matches Away

THE country has been reasonably fortunate thus far this summer about forest and brush fires. There haven't been many, even though great sections of the eastern part of the country have been hard hit by droughts.

That's luck. Now is the time to be careful. The youngest Boy Scout learns not to throw matches about or leave fires burning. But many of his elders do not have the wit to remember the same thing when it comes to their cigaret-butts or cigar-stumps.

Almost all costly and dangerous forest and brush fires are caused by carelessness. Going on a vacation? Don't be the cause of such a fire! Try to remember the merest elementary rules of safety and good sense.

Don't throw matches. Don't leave a fire unguarded, or leave it behind you without thoroughly putting it out. Watch those cigaret-butts. For the season for forest fires is coming to its peak.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN Washington, D. C.—The occupation and annexation by Germany in March, 1939, of Czechoslovakia, with the exception of the extreme eastern edge of the republic known as Carpatho-Ruthenia, has greatly increased Germany's economic hold on the countries of southeastern Europe.

This increase in German economic influence to a point virtually approaching domination of that region's foreign trade follows upon the equally important expansion of German influence in 1938 through the incorporation into Germany of the Republic of Austria in March and the so-called Sudeten districts of Czechoslovakia in October.

Ever since Germany embarked on a policy of economic expansion and national aggrandizement in 1933, the German share in southeastern Europe's export and import trade has risen from year to year, although not without temporary setbacks.

After 1933, an expanding Germany was in urgent need of southeastern Europe's farm products and raw materials, while the countries constituting that region welcomed the opportunity to dispose of their surpluses at a time when world trade had risen only slightly and there was little chance of significantly increasing traffic with other countries.

Nevertheless there were hitches, disputes, and temporary difficulties attending this trade conducted largely on a barter basis. Germany drove hard bargains with the countries of southeastern Europe, forced goods upon them which they did not need, or had large clearing balances piled up in their favor.

In general, the countries involved seem to have found the expansion of reciprocal trade fairly profitable; and, although Germany may have gained relatively much more, in an economic sense it was not bad business for the other countries either, although attended by certain handicaps.

Since the farmers in these countries had to be paid for their wheat, corn, and other products, and whether Germany delivered goods for immediate consumption or for long-time investment schemes, domestic financing had to step into the breach.

Moreover, under the policy of equalizing balances of payments as between Germany and each of the other trading countries, traditional heavy excesses of imports by Hungary and Yugoslavia from Germany were almost eliminated in 1933 and 1934, and were reversed into export surpluses facing Germany in subsequent years.

There was a temporary slack in trade between Germany and southeastern Europe in 1936-37 when world trade expanded, commodity prices soared, and Danubian products were once more salable in western Europe in larger volume.

Through a well-planned regional trade policy, followed by territorial expansion, the German share in southeastern Europe's trade was almost trebled during the ten-year period 1929-1938. The Danubian countries have become vitally dependent upon Germany as a buyer of their surpluses and as a source of needed imports.

The president now indicates that he realizes this, though he formerly offered objections to its passage on quite similar grounds. The president acted sensibly in signing the bill, even though some of its provisions are admittedly sweeping. He makes the observation that "the great mass of Americans like fair play and insist on it" and that they will not stand for "any gag act."

Q. How many of our World War soldiers were illiterate? M. L. McG. A. During the World War, of 1,552,256 men who were given the psychological test, 24.9 per cent could not read and write English well enough to understand a newspaper and write a letter.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN Washington—An adjourning Congress is like a sailor on a spree—noisy, truculent, unmanageable. It satisfies no one except possibly the gallery fans and sightseers who jam the great domed Capitol to see the riotous show.

This is harvest time for the Capitol guides, who lead goggle-eyed flocks of visitors up and down the marble corridors—a mother from Butte with a babe in arms, a boy scout troop from Fond du Lac, a bride and groom, oldsters, youngsters, city folks and farm folks.

With mouths agape and craning necks, they listen to the machine-gun patter of the guides, the chaotic clatter of the wrangling Senators and Congressmen, and the banging of the gavels of the presiding officers who vainly try to keep order among the squalling members.

The guides reel off a routine travelogue that they have memorized. It is chiefly historical and steps on no toes, past or present. But if they could talk off the record and tell what is going on under the Dome, then their flocks really would be peep-eyed. Here's a sample of the comment if The Merry-Go-Round were the guide on a Capitol tour: —DELIRIUM TREMENS—

"This, ladies and gentlemen, is the great rotunda of the Capitol. It is 98 feet, 8 inches in diameter, and rises more than 183 feet to the central dome. The paintings and sculpture arrayed before you once caused Mark Twain to exclaim, 'What delirium tremens of art!' and Senator Charles Sumner to complain on the Senate floor that the rule to bar bad art from the Capitol had been 'too often forgotten'.

"You are now standing on the very spot where stood the King and Queen of England, on Congressman Sol Bloom's private carpet. It was here also that Congressman Nat Patton of Texas addressed them as 'Cousin George' and 'Cousin Elizabeth.' To those who know Nat Patton intimately, that was not surprising. He is very relation-conscious, having three relatives on the federal payroll.

"Now we enter Statuary Hall, which served as the Representatives' Chamber until 1857. For seven years thereafter the hall was empty, except for 'cobwebs, apple cores, and hucksters' carts. One Congressman complained about the state of the place, saying 'I look around to see where the venerable John Quincy Adams scribbled in his seat, and I see a huckster selling ginger bread; I look to see where Clay sat, and I find a woman selling oranges and root beer.'

"Now, folks, we pass the very spot where Congressman Martin Dies of Texas once stood when he took up a collection for 'the wife of the Unknown Soldier,' Martin, by the way, is about to resume his un-Americanism investigation. He has been out romping about the country making speeches about what a great man he is, but now that Congress is winding up, he will return to start up his show without competition from the main circus.

—SOUP TO NUTS— "On the left, folks, is the private office of Speaker Bankhead, one of the squarest shooters. He is one Democratic leader who hasn't double-crossed the President. Take a peek inside, folks. See that thermos bottle on the table? It contains hot soup, brought by Mrs. Bankhead every noon for her husband's lunch.

"Directly above is the office of the famous—or infamous, depends on how you look at it—Rules Committee, one of the most important bodies in Congress. It was created some 30 years ago as a result of George Norris' historic fight against the boss rule of Joe Cannon. But now the committee has made itself boss by usurping power it was never intended to have.

"And here, ladies and gentlemen, is the Rules Committee room. That chair is the one occupied by Gene Cox, the little Georgian, who believes that 25 cents an hour is too much to pay textile workers, but who draws down for himself and relatives a grand total of $27,600 a year from the government payroll—more than any other federal officer except the President.

"Now we go to the other wing of the Capitol, friends, pausing on the way to look in at the House restaurant. Some of those Congressman you see enjoying beer and sandwiches at the far table are the very ones who were engaged in the same pleasant recreation at the time of the vote on the arms embargo amendment to the Neutrality bill. Had they been on the job the amendment would have been defeated.

COALS FOR SOULS There's a heap of joy and comfort in a little open fire. A little open fire out in the wood, When the evening's closin' round you and a melancholy found you, A golden melancholy boding good.

There's a heap of sorrow leaves you and goes upward with the smoke. Goes curlin' upward when the blazin' stars, There's somethin' in the cracklin' starts the gloom and glum a-packin'. Seems to poultice-out the soreness in tired hearts.

There's a heap of cherry friendship in the faces of the fire, In the radiant, laughin' faces in the coals, Their eyes are full of dreamin' and the very kind of beamin' That puts a mellow feelin' in tired souls.

It trades you happiness for trouble, does that little open fire, That little open fire out in the wood, And you'll find yourself a-walkin' in this as you go walkin'. "That little open fire had a heap of good."

Program Complete For Dedication Ceremonies At St. Joseph's Church

The solemn dedication and blessing of the beautiful new St. Joseph church, gift of the late William Bonifas, to his parish, and the conferring upon Mrs. Bonifas of the Cross Pro Ecclesia et Pontifice, will be conducted by the Most Rev. Joseph C. Plagens, Bishop of Marquette, on Sunday, at 10:30 o'clock.

The ceremonies of the blessing and solemn dedication will be followed immediately by a Pontifical High Mass, of which Bishop Plagens will be celebrant.

Following the Pontifical High Mass, the ceremonies of presentation of the high honor, accorded by the late Pope Plus XI, to Mrs. Bonifas, will take place.

The events of the day will close with a dinner for members of the clergy, and guests, which will be served at the Delta Hotel.

Radio Around The Clock

BY C. E. BUTTERFIELD
Associated Press Radio Editor
Time is Central Standard

New York, August 4—Americans at work will prostrate the news cameraman in action when next it comes to WABC-CBS at 5 p. m. Saturday. What's more, the program will go underground to do the telling, for the action part of the broadcast is to come from below the East River in New York, where the movie man will be taking shots of work on the Queens-Midtown tunnel.

Instead of going off last week as intended after the conclusion of his commercial contract, Prof. Quiz is quizzing right ahead on WABC-CBS at 6:30. Thus he will perform as a network sustainer until his fall schedule brings around another sponsor.

The Merry Maccs, pushed to the front by Fred Allen and His Town Hall, are going the WABC-CBS Hit Parade at 7. They replace the Raymond Scott quintet.

Activities of the club in Vermont will be detailed when the Farm and Home hour presents the Monthly Four-H club program on WJZ-NBC at 10:30 a. m.

Skimming through some other items: WEA-FNBC 9 a. m., Young People's concert by the Chautauque symphony orchestra; WABC-CBS 9:30 a. m., Muriel Kerr, young Canadian pianist, in the concert hall; WABC-CBS 12 noon, De Paul university "bull session"; "What do you mean, Americanism?" WJZ-NBC 2 p. m. First act of Verdi's opera "Aida" from Rome; CBS-CHAIN 3:30, Bryan Field tell those who tune in about the running of the Saratoga Handicap, WABC-CBS 5:45, from Paris, French opinion by three citizens, interviews.

Tea for Guest
Mrs. A. J. Carlton entertained at an informal tea of charming appointments Friday afternoon for her niece, Miss Mary Anderson of Ann Arbor, who is her guest. Garden flowers were effectively arranged in the decorative theme. A musical program was an enjoyable feature of the afternoon.

Bake Sale Today
Job's Daughters will hold a bake sale this morning at Bonfeld's store, starting at 10 o'clock.

MODERN RADIOS
The modern radio is not obvious—rather it is a gracefully designed piece of furniture which serves some other purpose as well. You may select the wood and the period which harmonize best with the other furniture in the room. You will find lovely models camouflaged as pedestal, drum or end tables, dainty consoles or graceful lowboys. Even if you are not yet ready to discard your old radio for one of the newer types, it is quite simple and inexpensive to have it blocked in a built-in wall cabinet or bookcase and painted to match the wood-work.

Boned Girdle Smart Trim Of Printed Frock

BY MARIAN MARTIN

All the "newy" style features of the coming season are displayed attractively in this Mariani Martin frock, Pattern 9131. The sash-girdle, cleverly boned to a high point in front, makes a grand diaphragm "holder-inner", while in back the ties are arranged to look like an old-fashioned, new-fashioned bustle. Use a plain belt if you prefer. You'll like the attractive yoke, with the unstitched darts. See the graceful line of the short sleeve version, tucked into soft folds. Use gay flowers or clips for trim. Make a low-necked, sheer style for now; and save the pattern for a dark dress with a high-neck to start off the fall season.

Pattern 9131 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 29 inch fabric.

Send FIFTY CENTS in coin for this MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.

Misses' always calls for an inventory of your wardrobe to see if it doesn't need replenishing. Something cool and crisp for days that are hot and nights that are sultry! MARIAN MARTIN will bring you dozens of one-piece designs for sport play and formal midsummer wear in our NEW PATTERN BOOK. There are pages and pages of fashioning for femininity of all ages. The book is $2.00 cents but when ordered with a pattern the price for both is twenty-five cents.

LOOKING OVER NEW YORK

By Lucius Beebe

BY LUCIUS BEEBE

The impassioned vogue for cowboy songs, some aspects of which have been chronicled from time to time, that has overcome the Manhattan scene, seems to coin a phrase to know no bounds. What with the fancy dress of Trigger Jack Kriender and Deadshot Paul Whitman, the town is assuming some of the aspects and most of the noise of rodeo week in Cheyenne, and nobody will be at all surprised if, when his restaurant reopens in the fall, Gene of the Colony greets his guests in a thousand-dollar shirt, brassbound pants and silver Mexican spurs. The eastward course of empire has made the town nothing more than a suburb of Laramie. The latest manifestation of frontier frolic has appeared, of all places, at Montauk Point out at the tip of Long Island, where a posse of gat-toofed entrepreneurs have instituted a sort of perpetual rodeo on the site of America's first real cattle country where, back in 1660 a number of East Hampton folk purchased the land from the Indians for cattle grazing. Using the historic "Third House," half way between Frank Montauk Manor and the Light, as its ranch house, rebuilt this spring by Bill Bell and Harold Govier, the Deep Hollow Guest and Cattle Ranch has all summer been the scene of such whoopings and shootings as to make Rogers Stables in Palm Spring or even the Jackhammer Cafe in Indio, Calif. (this department's dream saloon), seems pacific by comparison.

A number of honest-to-goodness cowboys from the deepest South-west were imported for the purpose of guiding week-end guests in the cattle drive and about a hundred cattle, some of them reputed to be valuable beasts, are around the premises. There is a veritable Deadwood coach (built of course in Concord, N. H.), which meets the Long Island trains, there are chuck parties and corral full of mean cayuses for them as can ride without showing mayhag between saddle and body. The idea of a dude ranch with a salter-squirt of the dudes was waltzed up by Frances Gardiner, a direct descendant of the Gardiner's Island fathers of three centuries since) who would rather spend her time in fur pants and an Amos Carter Stetson than in the Montauk Club or the elegant gambling halls of the vicinities.

The house itself accommodates forty guests and has been jammed with amateur horse intimidators every week-end since it opened. There is skeet shooting by food-fights at night, whisky drinking at all times, and the regulars include Peter Arno, James Montgomery Flagg, Messmore Kendall and other social professionals of note and name.

Third House was built in 1806 and in the old days, when horse thieving was a reality on Long Island, it marked the last stop for drovers of large cattle herds which came from far as Patchogue and stopped at First, Second and finally, Third House as the cattle grazed their way toward the Point itself. In 1895 Third House attained further celebrity as the headquarters of the Roosevelt Rough Riders on their return from Cuba. Mr. Bell is anxious not to pollute his genuine cowboys with effete eastern influences, and there is a standing ban on bridge. Guests who want to play stud poker, rondo-coolo or fark bank can indulge their tastes in moderation.

In her recent and highly perceptive column about Manhattan's current generation of men-about-town, Dorothy Kilgallen noted that almost to a man they were gainfully employed and either earned their own livings or supplemented private incomes by some occupation or other. Although this is probably nearer true today than ever before, it is not an entirely new manifestation along the Gotham boulevards and many oldtimers will recall that a substantial proportion of the glamour boys of Edwardian times were not above being on the payroll of champagne and automobile firms or those of Broadway producers.

Diamond Jim Brady, who corresponded, at least in the matter of approximate physical dimensions, to the rotund Eddie Reeves of today, was a high-pressure salesman of railroad equipment; George Kessler and Manny Chappell, the top-notch wine salesmen of the Jopster palace era, were the lineal antecedents of Fred Wildman and the glittering Jack Kriender; John Drew, Maurice Barrymore and Wilton Lackay have contemporary counterparts in Franchot Tone and Fredric March; Charles Dana Gibson's drawings were as popular in their time as those of the wicked Peter Arno of today; Vernon Castle was the Paul Draper of his time, Reginald De Koven was a predecessor of Cole Porter, and Clyde Fitch of the trans-Atlantic commuter, Noel Coward. There were, of course, more Berry Walls, Ned Centers, Center Hitchcocks and Harry Lehms who were merely ornamental, social or witty for a living in the mustache cup age than in the more necessary present when a Frank Rediker or Julian Gerrard, Jr., is a sort of de luxe curiosity.

Super-added to the New York scene, too, is a certain group of glamour boys whose members we all, police included, are certain work for their living, but whose precise business or profession doesn't seem to be available for the record. There was the self-styled "Egyptian" who haunted El

CAST OF CHARACTERS LINDA STORM—Fell in love with her best friend's fiancé. MARCIA KING—Navy girl, loved a flyer. JIMMY COOPER—Naval flying instructor at Pensacola. GEORGE CAMERON—Linda's fiancé.

Yesterday: Linda packs hurriedly for her trip home. The first plane she can get leaves from Mobile, 150 miles away. Jimmy is to drive her there. Linda is afraid of what may happen in the three hours alone with him.

CHAPTER VIII

The car hummed over the road. Jimmy's eyes were intent, his hands on the wheel very sure. The needle of the speedometer hovered at 55, went to 60.

Linda did not notice what they were passing. All she saw was his profile, so inexpressibly dear, so unutterably important to her even though two weeks ago she had never seen it at all. The way his lips were curved and sensitive, the way his cheek was lean and hard. Why had George's face never affected her this way? It was only a face.

"You and your dad are very close, aren't you?" Jimmy ventured at last. "If it—it'll help you to talk, I wish you would."

"There's not much to say," she answered. "I—I guess it goes too deep."

"I lost my folks when I was 15," he told her slowly. "I think I know what you're going through."

"Fifteen! Oh, I'm so sorry."

"I missed a great deal. Marcia's father and mine were life-long friends. He—he sort of adopted me, afterward. I was in prep school, and then at the Academy. And always there was the Kings' home to go back to—"

She realized, suddenly, that he was explaining. Explaining about Marcia. They had been thrown together so much. She seemed to hear Marcia's voice again. "I've loved him since I was knee high."

Queer, that it was that same element of propinquity, of long acquaintance, which had drawn her to George.

"My—my fiancé—has been a friend of Daddy's a long time, too," she was saying. "He likes the same things Daddy does. They have long arguments over what did or didn't happen in ancient Rome. They discuss Caesar's campaigns, and the meaning of obscure passages in the Aeneid."

They were talking around the important point, she knew. Remembering the words she had flung at him last night, she went on. "They're both—both bitterly opposed to big navies and armaments and all that. They think the common people of the country don't want them. They think all that leads to war."

"The Services are very cliquish and headstrong," he admitted. "No use saying we don't take the Morocco and La Conga two seasons ago and was indisputably well upholstered in the walled until his sudden disappearance from the scene, which was nicely timed to coincide with an investigation into the local narcotics trade by federal agents.

He managed to be seen with a number of night life celebrities and was well known as a lens house (local usage for a character who tries to insinuate himself into photographers' shots where he is not wanted), but the Egyptian Consul never seemed to have heard of him.

There was the glitter lad who was always around (and who is still calculating today) during the season which saw so many hold-ups of night club patrons and whom nobody quite dared call a spotter, but who was not really popular with the better waiter captains and doormen. And there were the two cafe regulars whom the police finally did toss in the pokeny after a spectacular series of Long Island gem lifting in the smartest country houses. The glamour boys embrace a remarkable variety of professions.

AROUND THE TOWN: A number of members of the Century Club are holding a gala dinner to celebrate the defeat of the Battery bridge project, which aroused so much indignation among many New Yorkers. To match the Pennys's all-coach, de luxe over-night flyer on the New York-Chicago run, called the Trail Blazer, the New York Central is putting in service a rival train of the same class—the Pacemaker. Old patrons and travelers familiar with the premises of Locke-Ober's celebrated restaurant in Boston's Winter Place, where hundreds of Harvard students have gloried and drunk deep, will learn with sorrow that Nick Stuhl, its venerable manager, is thinking of retiring next year. To France. Nick was the friend of many of the vanished great: the elder Mr. Morgan, Mrs. Jack Gardner, Thomas W. Lawson, Caruso, Theodore Roosevelt and Eben Jordan. Staid and conservative Brooks Brothers are actually stocking white suede evening pumps to go with summer dinner jackets. Big changes in the decor at El Morocco may be expected in the fall, but all rumors to the contrary notwithstanding, it will not more its geographic location. John Perona is staying in town all summer supervising the redecorating job. At Jones Beach they are wise-cracking about the fellow who wanted two pairs of pants with his coat of tan.

It is mathematically possible for a pair of rabbits to have 30,000 descendants within two years.

(Copyright, 1939, New York Tribune, Inc.)

attitude that war is inevitable." "But that's a defeatist attitude. That brings it so much closer—just admitting that it must come! The color rose in her cheeks. "If you could see Quenville, see all those young boys learning the finer things. Learning the arts of peace—how to be doctors and lawyers, and scientists. Realizing what a war would do to their lives—"

"But just by having us on hand, they're safer than they would be if they didn't have us," Jimmy said. "Say we're a necessary evil." His eyebrow quirked. Did he think her childish? "Without the armed forces, Linda, this country wouldn't be in the strong position it is in to talk peace. To enforce peace."

"But you can't enforce peace! Just the word enforce!" "Do you think all the nations of the world are apt to scuttle their battleships and dismember their fighting planes? Now he was actually smiling. "It seems to me they tried that once."

She felt the sense of their argument slipping away from her. Her head ached. "I guess it doesn't matter what I think," she said wearily. "It doesn't matter what a hundred million other small, unimportant men and women in the country think. We're not in the saddle. The handful who are, are running us. Oh, where are we now? How far have we gone? I wish we were in Mobile!"

Jimmy glanced at his wrist watch. "We've lots of time. The plane doesn't leave until 10:35 tonight."

Ten-thirty-five. It wasn't even dark yet.

"Would you like to stop and get some coffee?" There was a snatching emptiness inside her, she realized. "That would be fine," she told him gratefully.

But, even across the little table in the roadside luncheon, the ghost of Marcia stood between them. Three hours she had given herself. She had more. Much more. But always and forever, there would be Marcia.

They were riding again. "A funny name, Turpentine Still," she murmured drowsily, after a long time, as a sign swam into her vision.

He didn't answer. Linda closed her eyes. She never knew how long she had slept, but when she awoke, all warm and refreshed, her head was on his shoulder. She sat up swiftly, a blush prickling under her fair skin.

His eyes smiled at her, wordlessly. The steady driving continued. Now it was twilight. There was a bridge, looming ahead. "We're going over Mobile Bay."

"You mustn't stay with me until the plane comes," she said in sudden panic. "Dump me at the airport. I'll be all right."

"Do you think I'm anxious to be rid of you, Linda?" He was trying to sound light. Her eyes dropped.

"Marcia will be anxious about you. And there's the party—"

"Listen, Linda." All at once his tone had changed, and a bunch of muscles at his jaw were taut. "Let's cut out this pretending. We haven't much longer. Sooner or later we'll have to talk this out, and I—I've got to do it now!"

"No," she said faintly. "No, Jimmy. You'll be sorry. You don't mean it. You can't. . . . I do mean it. And you'll see it. A thing like this doesn't happen more than once in a lifetime to a man and a woman. It's happened to us. We didn't go looking for it. It just burst—like a bomb in our faces."

"Bomb!" she choked. "Oh, stop! Stop!"

2 FIRE GUARDS ARE ASSIGNED

Forest Service Office Gets Groundkeeper and Stenographer

Two additional fire guards, a stenographer and a groundkeeper have been added to the staff of the U. S. forest service headquarters here, all four being assigned under the ERA as temporary employees.

Judson Urey of Steuben has been assigned as fire guard at the Steuben tower. He is employed largely in pre-suppression work, being used in tower site improvement work. However, in case of fire, he is used as initial action man, being sent to fires which can be handled alone and to pick up needed men in case of larger fires.

Herb Poupore of Cooks is stationed at Cooks Hill as fire guard and is employed mainly as a contact man for berry pickers and key men in the fire suppression organization. From the Cooks Hill, he is able to spot many areas not reached by the lower in that district. His duties also will include picking up crews in case of fires.

Clayton St. John is employed at the local headquarters of the forest service, being used on ground improvement and warehouse duty.

Miss Evelyn Davenport has been assigned to the local headquarters as stenographer, starting Monday. She has been employed at the state police barracks.

Local DAV Sends Stone For Part Of New Monument

Manistique Chapter No. 26 of the DAV will be represented among the various veteran organizations on a monument to be erected at the Michigan state fairgrounds at Detroit.

Henry A. Gardner, commander of the local chapter, has announced that a stone, weighing 500 pounds has been sent to Detroit through the courtesy of A. J. Cayla, superintendent of the Inland Lime and Stone company. The stone will be one of many used in the construction of the monument.

The name of the local chapter will be inscribed on the face of the stone.

Obituary

WILLIAM SALTER Funeral services for William Salter, aged resident who passed away Thursday morning, will be held at the Morton funeral home Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. Otto Steen officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

However, some of the conferees indicated today that the whole deadlock would be broken shortly.

BECKER MEETS WITH BEAUVAIS

Try to Untangle "Red Tape" Surrounding WPA Projects

C. P. Becker of St. Ignace, WPA area engineer, was in Manistique yesterday conferring with City Manager P. H. Beauvais concerning several projects being planned in the near future by the city.

Included in the projects under consideration are the lake front park development and several street openings.

Because of recent changes in the WPA rules and regulations, city officials have been experiencing difficulty in making up projects acceptable to WPA officials. The regulations have been changing so rapidly and are so complex that, by the time specifications have been drawn up on a project, the rules governing it have been changed and it must be redrawn. With each succeeding change of procedure, reports have become more voluminous.

At present, there are no WPA projects in operation in the city of Manistique.

HEAT-PROVED KOOLMOTOR MOTOR OIL

is "Health Insurance" for Your Engine!

Your engine gives better service, keeps in better "health" when it's supplied with a durable, dependable oil. KOOLMOTOR, the perfect Pennsylvania motor oil, is all lubrication...every drop goes to work, cooling as it lubricates. It also is HEAT-PROVED—subjected to greater heat in the refinery than it ever will have to meet as a lubricant in your engine. This means greater durability, hence greater economy! Consider the "health" of your engine and get a fresh helping of HEAT-PROVED KOOLMOTOR oil today.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

PROTECTION FOR YOUR DOG'S EARS. These are the days when the flies are most troublesome to a dog's ears. Flies are a nuisance to dogs at any time and will bite almost any exposed portion of their bodies where the hair is short but the ears have always been the most vulnerable spot where the flies delight to do their biting.

SACRIFICE FLY NETS LONE RUN

Chicago Pitcher Gives Only Four Safeties; No Free Passes

Chicago, Aug. 4 (AP)—Claude Passeau shaded Lou Fette in a pitchers' battle today, giving the Chicago Cubs a 1 to 0 victory over the Boston Bees in their series opener.

Passeau yielded only four hits and gave no walks in chalking up his ninth mound decision. Three times during the game Passeau was warned against using the illegal spitball by the umpires after Boston batters had complained.

The game's only run came in the third inning when Stan Hack walked, went to third on Billy Herman's single and scored on Augie Galan's sacrifice fly. It was the Cub's sixth win in their last eight games.

How About the Reds?

Even Yankees Fall For Good Pitchers

BY WHITNEY MARTIN
New York, Aug. 4 (AP)—A private impression is growing that when, or maybe it still should be if, the Yankees meet the Cincinnati Reds in the world series this fall the McCarthys will be anything but the sure things they have been rated in recent years.

The idea is based on the suspicion that the New York club has an Achilles' heel, and that faced by good pitching it is just another ball club trying to get along. And the Reds' pitching staff isn't exactly tossing quarts this season.

The recent series with Detroit, in which the Tigers took two out of three, added to the impression that, while the Yanks might tee off a little better than any other team when the opposing hurlers are tossing home run balls, a clever pitcher can make them look like Mother Hubbard.

The manner in which Schoolboy Rowe made Joe DiMaggio and his teammates beat a path back and forth from the bench to the plate was a caution. Bill Dickey got hold of one for a home run, and DiMaggio got a loud feul which missed being good for the circuit by a few feet, but otherwise the Schoolboy was the teacher, and the Yanks didn't know the answers.

Rowe hasn't been setting the league afire this year, but at day he was a master. His change of pace left the batters often looking very silly indeed as they poked too soon or too late at a ball.

In one inning three New Yorkers went down on strikes as the tall, gangling Schoolboy, his long jaw wagging almost continually in futile protest against the plate umpire's decisions, nipped the corners with that stuttering delivery.

That game was not an isolated example of how a good pitcher can silence the Yankee bats. The New Yorkers looked at some pretty fair chuking when they met the Red Sox not so long ago, and the Red Sox took five straight.

Naturally, the argument is that the Yankees have managed to win

HOMERS CAN'T STOP YANKEES

Cleveland Batters Get Three Circuit Clouts But Lose 5 to 4

New York, Aug. 4 (AP)—It takes more than home runs to beat the world champion Yankees. Three Cleveland batters hit round trippers today but their blows were no match for the assortment of 12 hits New York put together in a 5 to 4 triumph over the Tribe.

Oral Hildebrand and Maris Russo limited the Indians to five hits, which included a home run by Hal Trosky with one on in the first, another by Ordell Hale in the second and one by Jeff Heath in the seventh to account for all Cleveland's runs.

Errors, which cost the Indians a game at Boston yesterday when they made six, figured in the setback today. In the first inning Red Rolfe walked, moved to third on Charley Keller's single and scored when Bruce Campbell muffed Joe DiMaggio's sacrifice fly.

In the fifth Hildebrand singled, Frank Crosatti doubled and Hildebrand scored when Rolfe Hemesley dropped the throw to the plate. Keller came to bat with two out and hit a home run.

Slurs At Medwick All Taken Back As Cards Win In 13th

St. Louis, Aug. 4 (AP)—Everyone in St. Louis takes back everything he's ever said about Joe Medwick.

The fighting gentleman from Carteret, N. J., back in good graces after a temperamental run in with Manager Ray Blades, batted the St. Louis Cardinals to a thrilling 9 to 8 victory over Philadelphia in 13 innings today.

Medwick got four hits in the drawn-out battle, including three doubles, one of them tying the score in the ninth and another driving in Stuart Martin with the winning run. Martin had singled and gone to second on Enos Slaughter's sacrifice.

Marble And Jacobs Tangle In Finals

East Hampton, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP)—Alice Marble of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Calif., both of whom have held every important championship in women's tennis, will meet tomorrow in the final round of the annual Midstate club invitation tournament.

Miss Marble gained the title round today with a 6-3, 6-1 triumph over Dorothy Workman of Los Angeles, but Miss Jacobs met sterner stuff in the person of Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Brookline, Mass., whom she finally defeated, 8-6, 5-7, 6-3.

Miss Marble and Mrs. Fabyan entered the final round of the doubles when they defeated Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, New York, and Mme. Sylvia Henrotin of France, 6-2, 6-1. The other final round pair are Mme. Rene Mathieu of France and Miss Jacobs, who defeated Dorothy May, Bundy of Santa Monica and Miss Workman, 6-1, 6-4.

"WORLD SERIES" SKEET TOURNAMENT
By Jimmy Robinson
The sixth annual National Skeet tournament, the "world series" of skeet will be staged at San Francisco, California, August 8-13. Skeet followers from all parts of the nation will follow this shoot of shoots with more interest than ever this year.

Skeet, the fastest growing sport in America today, has a membership of approximately 100,000 gunners and their records of 1939 indicate that more world's records will be broken at this favorite outdoor sport at this year's meet.

Several weeks ago at the big Lordship shoot at Bridgeport, Conn., we watched Alex Kerr of Beverly Hills, California, mow down 296 out of 300 mixed targets to set a new world's record. Alex broke 100 straight in the All-Gauge event, 98 out of 100 in the 410 bore contest, and 98 out of 100 in the 20 gauge competition. Experts said that this record would stand for some time. Maybe for years.

A week or two later, Don Sperry, Flint, Michigan, the big star at the Detroit National Skeet tournament two years ago, came up with 299 out of a possible 300 to win the All-around Championship at

Fly Lost In Sun; Senators Nip Sox 6-5 In 10 Innings

Washington, Aug. 4 (AP)—Washington won its fifth straight game today, beating the White Sox, 6 to 5, in 10 innings on a fly ball that Chicago's outfielders lost in the sun.

Trailing 4 to 3 in the ninth, the Sox tied it up when Ollie Bejma singled Larry Rosenthal home. Charlie Gelbert drove out a triple to start the Senator tenth. Chicago's outfield moved in close. Jimmy Bloodworth lifted a weak fly into left center, which Rip Radcliff and Hank Steinbacher lost in the sun and Gelbert raced home.

All-Star Coach Poll Will Close Tonight

Chicago, Aug. 4 (AP)—The nationwide poll to select a staff of coaches to handle the college all-stars in their annual game with the pro football champions closes tomorrow night with Elmer Layden of Notre Dame still far ahead in the race for the head coaching job.

The leaders:
Middle West (exclusive of Big Ten)—Layden, 2,737,256; Bill Jones, Nebraska, 259,793.
Big Ten—Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin, 1,257,455; Mal Edward, Purdue, 1,166,357.

Indian Shortstop Raps Rotten Deal

New York, Aug. 4 (AP)—Shortstop Jimmy (Skeeter) Webb expressed dissatisfaction today over the deal that sends him to Buffalo on option and brings the International League club's keystone combination, Lou Boudreau and Ray Mack, to Cleveland.

Webb said he hadn't made up his mind yet whether he will report to the Bisons, and accused the Cleveland front office of ingratitude and a "rotten deal."

"I signed with Cleveland when six other major league clubs were after me," said Webb, "mainly because the Indians had some friends in my home town of Meridian, Miss. I played game after game this season when my knee was so sore that I knew I was jeopardizing my entire future—and the gratitude the club showed is a rotten deal like this."

TWO ESCANABA GOLFERS LOSE

Bob Ferries Continues Undefeated In Event At Marquette

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 4 (AP)—Robert Ferries, of Houghton, low medalist in Thursday's qualifying round of the twenty-eighth annual tournament of the Upper Peninsula Golf association being held here and at Ishpeming, continued undefeated today.

With him, seeking a place for the championship playoff tomorrow afternoon are Gordon Opalka, of Sault Ste. Marie, Frank Hruska of Monominee, and Rugg Lindstrom, of Ashland, Wis.

In the semi-finals tomorrow morning Ferries, who defeated Phil Jacobs of Sault Ste. Marie and Len Olson of Ishpeming, both 2 and 1, will meet Hruska, runner-up to Harry Hogan, of Escanaba, 1938 champion who was eliminated in his first match this morning.

Hruska defeated Phil Colasanti, Sault Ste. Marie, 3 and 2, and R. Smith, of Escanaba, one up, to win his way to the semi-finals. Opalka played steady golf to cut down the 1938 champion on the 19th hole after the match was evened at the end of the second round on the Wawanoin course at Ishpeming. The Sox man then went on to defeat Ray Larson, of Ishpeming, 2 up.

Browns Come From Behind And Defeat Athletics, 3 and 1

Philadelphia, Aug. 4 (AP)—Bill Trotter outpitched Bob Joyce today as the St. Louis Browns came from behind to beat the Athletics, 3 and 1.

Joe Glenn's Texas league single tied the score in the sixth, 1-1. In the eighth Harold Clift drove a home run into the left field stands to put the Browns ahead. They added an unearned tally in the ninth on Glenn's long sacrifice fly after successive errors by Bill Nagel and Skeeter Newsome and an intentional walk to Myril Hoag had filled the bases.

Score by innings: St. Louis—000 001 011—3 10 0
Philadelphia 100 000 000—1 7 2
Trotter and Glenn; Joyce and Hayes.

Davis Cup Outlook Grows No Brighter

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP)—America's unhappy Davis cup outlook grew no brighter today as Bobby Riggs of Chicago entered the final round of the 49th annual Meadow Club invitation tournament with a hollow 4-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2 victory over Bob Kamrath of Austin. Riggs' opponent tomorrow, will be Sidney Wood, who was equally unimpressive in defeating Ernest Sutter of New Orleans, 6-2, 6-2, 7-5.

If Bobby, the present Wimbledon champion, prevails over Wood, 1931 Wimbledon champion, it will give him the third leg on the $1,000 challenge bowl, and permanent possession. When the two met last year, the No. 2 singles post on the Davis cup team hung in the balance, but the veteran Wood has admitted he is out of the running this time. Riggs beat Wood in straight sets in 1938.

The doubles team of Don McNeill and Frankie Parker gained the final round, but rain interrupted the match of Riggs and Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., who trailed Bill and Chester Murphy of Chicago, 11-13, 4-2. McNeill and Parker defeated Frank Guernsey, Jr., of Orlando, Fla., and Russell Bobbitt of Atlanta, 6-2, 6-7, 7-9, 6-4, 6-2.

Chicago, Aug. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Patricia Dean, Dizzy Dean's wife, underwent a major abdominal operation today at Illinois Masonic hospital and came through in "good condition."

BENGALS WIND UP AT BOSTON

Powerful Red Sox Are Opponents For Three Game Week-End

Boston, Aug. 4 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers will wind up their eastern tour this week-end in three games with the powerful Boston Red Sox.

A single game is scheduled for tomorrow and a doubleheader for Sunday. The game originally scheduled for today was moved to Sunday to make the holiday twin bill.

Both Boston and Detroit are entering this series rated as "hot" clubs. The Tigers have not lost a series on this trip and for the first-time this season the club has displayed consistent punch and unity.

The Red Sox team has moved forward at a steady gait despite uncertain pitching. Terrific power has enabled the club to offset its pitching and outslug the opposition. Jimmy Foss and Ted Williams are the big Boston sluggers but such clubbers as Manager Joe Cronin, Bobby Doerr, Joe Vosmik, Jim Tabor and Doc Cramer give opposing pitchers no opportunities to rest.

A successful series in Boston while Cleveland is playing the league leading Yankees might lift the Tigers into the first division. New York won the first game with Cleveland today and Detroit moved into a virtual fourth place tie with the Indians although due to a difference in the total number of games played Cleveland has a microscopic fractional advantage.

Two Pitchers Wild, And Pirates Edge Out Giants, 3 to 2

Pittsburgh, Aug. 4 (AP)—Wildness by two New York Giant pitchers enabled the Pittsburgh Pirates to capture their series opener today, 3 to 2 in 11 innings. Mel Ott gave the Giants a two-run lead in the first inning by hitting his 30th homer of the season behind Harry Danning's double. But in the seventh Harry Gumbert weakened to give a single and two walks, the second coming with the bases loaded, and the tying run crossed on a double play.

Then in the 11th Cliff Melton filled the bases on a single and two walks and Fern Bell singled home the winning run. Score by innings: New York—000 000 000—2 7 1
Pittsburgh—000 000 200 01—3 9 1
Gumbert, Melton, Lyons and Danning; Bauers, Sewell and Berres, Mueller.

LEADERS DOWN 1 TO 3 POINTS

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES table with columns for Net change, D.I.S., D.S., D.S. D.I.S., Friday, Previous day, etc.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER New York, Aug. 4 (AP)—Profit taking in the stock market, which got under way in the latter part of the preceding session, picked up momentum today and leading issues tumbled 1 to around 3 points.

Steels, motors, rubbers, mail orders, aircraft and specialties were in the forefront of the declines. Rails, utilities and some copper held losses to relatively small amounts. Extreme setbacks were reduced in many cases at the close.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off a full point at 49.4, largest drop in this composite since June 29. Transfers totaled 900,820 shares against 1,007,267 the day before.

A number of reasons were advanced for the disappointing performance. Chief among these was that speculative chart followers had turned pessimistic because of the inability of the industrial average to penetrate convincingly the July peak. Once or twice this composite had edged through, but it almost immediately fell back.

Business news was still a sustaining influence and Wall Street continued highly cheerful over the defeat of the administration's lending-spending program in congress. At the same time, there was some question in the minds of analysts as to whether certain industries might be affected, at least temporarily.

The warning of British Foreign Secretary Halifax that the next few weeks or months might prove critical for Europe, and the growing rift between Great Britain and Japan, were said to have inspired some shareholders to step aside. Principal share losers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, A. American Smelting, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Philip Morris, Johns-Manville and U. S. Gypsum.

Expectations the General Motors strike would be settled and working schedules resumed Monday added the motors for a time, but they eventually gave ground with the rest. A substantial decrease in this week's automobile output was attributed partly to halting of work in preparation for new 1940 models.

Off fractions to more than a point in the curb were Newmont Mining, Northern States Power "A," Electric Bond & Share, Humble Oil, United Gas and American Gas & Electric. Turnover of 159,000 shares compared with 217,000 Thursday.

STORIES IN STAMPS

34 Countries Issue World's Fair Stamps

ALTHOUGH they may never see it the Trylon and Perisphere, philatelists the world over are enjoying the New York World's Fair. Thirty-four countries have issued, or plan to issue, stamps honoring the "World of Tomorrow."

Shown above is one of the Dominican Republic's issue of five values. Other countries issuing World's Fair commemoratives include: United States, one; Ecuador, 11; France, one; Algeria, five; other French colonies (23 colonies), two each; Iceland, three; Mexico, four; Russia, two; and Rumania, two. Turkey will soon release a series of six, and Brazil has announced a series of four.

Japan's new national park series of eight stamps are on sale at Japan Hall at the World's Fair. The stamps are issued in two blocks of four each.

One of the outstanding stamp displays of the Fair is that of the current issues of the British Colonies, shown in Colonial Hall of the British Empire Pavilion.

PROFIT SELLING FELT BY BONDS

BOND MARKET AVERAGES

Table of Bond Market Averages showing Net change, D.S., D.S. D.I.S., Friday, etc.

New York, Aug. 4 (AP)—Profit selling in the bond market was felt in all categories of bonds.

Closing losses in corporate bonds from fractions to around 2 points. U. S. governments coasted down for final losses of 1-32 to 1-16.

A dip of 4 of a point in the Associated Press average of ten representative low yield corporate bonds was viewed by some dealers as reflecting willingness of institutional holders to reduce commitments now that demand for business loans is showing definite expansion.

Cited in this connection was the weekly statement of the federal reserve system recording a further decline of nearly $35,000,000 in open market portfolio and a new rise in business loans.

Pressure on the general run of rails and utilities, which had been leaders in the July upturn, was attributed to profit selling to even accounts over the week-end.

Down 1 to 2 points at the close were Western Union 6s of '60 at 72 1/2, Northern Pacific 4s at 69 1/2, New York Central 5s at 66 5/8, Delaware & Hudson refunding 4s at 59 1-8 and International Telephone 5s at 65.

Japanese and Italian obligations were on the loss side while various South American improved fractionally.

Transactions totaled $5,190,000, face value, against $6,180,000 on Thursday.

BISHOP STANDS BY ABLEWHITE

Episcopal Church Head Issues Statement On Marquette Case

Chicago, Aug. 4 (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Henry St. John Tucker of New York, presiding Episcopal bishop in the United States, has issued a statement expressing his faith in the Rt. Rev. Hayward S. Ablewhite, who resigned as bishop of northern Michigan after a diocesan committee reported a shortage in church funds.

A civil suit seeking recovery of from $75,000 to $90,000 is pending at Marquette, Mich., against the former bishop and trustees of the funds.

Bishop Tucker's statement was furnished to the Chicago Tribune and published in today's editions. It said:

"It has been brought to my attention reports have been circulated to the effect that Bishop Ablewhite had appropriated for his own use the proceeds of the sale of securities held in the Bishop G. Mott Williams missionary fund x x x.

"I am glad to state that the evidence that has been brought to my attention in my opinion, shows conclusively that the securities were handed over to one in whom Bishop Ablewhite had utmost confidence for appraisal and investment.

"And further, the evidence in my hands shows that it was impossible that any of the proceeds of the sale of those securities could have been given over to Bishop Ablewhite for his own use, but that the whole amount was either lost or retained by the one to whom Bishop Ablewhite entrusted the securities.

"Moreover, reports have been circulated to the effect that Bishop Ablewhite was implicated in some way in the defalcation of the Episcopal fund. All the evidence that has come to me shows conclusively that the defalcation of the securities took place before Bishop Ablewhite had come into the diocese and that the only part of the Episcopal fund with which the bishop had any connection was the proceeds of the sale of certain steel securities amounting to $12,884.10 that the late treasurer handed over to Bishop Ablewhite at the time the treasurer had confessed that he had absconded with the rest of the fund with the exception of a William G. Mather note of $21,000, which still remains in the hands of the trustees of the Episcopal fund."

The province of Alberta, Canada, has an area of 255,285 square miles, and a population of 780,000.

Local Bike Owners Most Have Licenses

Local police emphasize the fact that all bicycle owners must obtain licenses for their machines at once if they have not already done so. Any persons found riding bicycles without licenses and proper equipment, including lights, bell or horn and good brakes, or riding in such a way as to violate the ordinances regulating the safe use of bicycles will have their bikes confiscated if they are under 16 and if over that age, will be prosecuted under the ordinances as well.

The ordinance at present provides a fine of not over $25 and a jail sentence of not over ten days, or both, at the discretion of the proper court in cases of violations of the regulations by persons 15 and over.

Case of Mistaken Identity

They say everyone has a look-alike and in the case of Philip Caruso, right, that saying sadly proved correct. For when Morris Gottlieb, left, robbed Eugene Scamillelino of $1200 last December, it was Philip Caruso that was sentenced in April to a 10-to-20-year stretch in Sing Sing. Gottlieb, a brother-in-appearance, was picked up by New York City police recently and not only admitted several robberies but confessed the holdup for which Caruso is now serving time.

Tourists Still Coming To U.P., Survey Shows

Despite high-powered competition from not one but two "super-colossal," ultra-modern world's fairs, tourists still come to the Upper Peninsula in ever increasing numbers according to all checks made on the tourist trade during the months of June and July.

From Menominee, gateway from Wisconsin and Illinois and all states south comes word that this year's tourist traffic has topped last year's registrations at the state tourist lodge in Menominee by 871 cars and 624 persons.

How Many Came?
Total registrations to date for 1939 are 5,182 cars and 16,537 persons, compared with 4,811 cars and 15,913 persons for a like period in 1938.

From July 23 to 28, inclusive, there were 659 cars and 2,158 persons registered at the lodge, an increase over a similar period in 1938, according to H. E. Bruemmer, manager of the Menominee tourist headquarters.

The trend at Escanaba, from a check made at tourist cabins, hotels, and tourist parks throughout the city, seems to be in the same direction, with a large increase in July as compared with June as well. A report for the month of June stated that 126 people from 9 states visited the Escanaba tourist park; during July, more than two and one-half times that number had registered at the local park, the total count being 230 persons representing 11 states and 2 provinces of Canada.

Where From, Brother?
The increase in Canadian visitors is attested by hotels and tourist cabins as well. Fifteen states have been represented in registrations checked throughout the city, including Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Indiana, South Dakota, Ohio, New Jersey, Washington, Florida, California, Kansas, Iowa, South Carolina, and Georgia, while four Canadian provinces, Ontario, Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan have been the heaviest senders from the Dominion.

Lower Michigan has been the most represented of areas outside of this territory, while Wisconsin, Minnesota and Illinois have sent large numbers also.

Most hotel registrations have been for overnight stops only, with very few staying for longer periods except on business or social calls. At the cabin camps, somewhat the same situation holds true, with most parties staying for either one or two nights before going on.

The tourist park also follows this general trend, with 65 to 117 parties registered for overnight, 40 for one-week stays, and 12 for from 4 to 2 day stopovers. With the increase in traffic, due to the fact that more summer vacations are coming at this particular time, the flow has been faster and has moved through to points higher in the peninsula rather than stopping over here for any length of time.

Seen the Falls Yet?
Few of the persons who stopped at the tourist park seemed to have intentions of "making" the New York or San Francisco expositions, while tourist cabins and hotels reported that although there were a considerable number going to the New York fair and somewhat fewer to California, the count did not reveal any rush on the part of the touring traffic.

Also indicative of the increase of summer vacation traffic is the rapidly growing number of tents and trailers seen among the tourists and campers who drop by. Forty-one "houses on wheels" and 37 tents have registered in the past month. Also used for sleeping quarters by travelers were 17 cars, 2 motorcycles, 1 truck and 1 bicycle. Yes, these tourists can do anything just to "see America first."

"Just Common Folks"
That Michigan's tourist trade is of the great "middle-class" if anything in transportation means anything, is shown by the fact that motordom's "all three" outnumbered twelve other common makes of automobiles 73 to 45 among July's registrations at the local tourist park. More adventurous souls among those who stopped were the couple who were making their tour on motorcycles and the pair who were content to give up all mechanical power and depended upon bicycles to get around on.

Although a dwindling in the trailer trade in the U. P. has been pointed to by some tourists, one gentleman who travels by trailer all year around on his job and has done so for five years, asserted his opinion that there are more trailers on the road than ever, particularly in Michigan. He suggests as a reason for the temporary shortage the fact that many trailers have joined the thousands of "tin-can" tourists at the Traverse City national convention of their order.

"Climate, Fish or Publicity?"
And why do they come? One big reason is that they have heard about the fishing and come to this part of the country expecting to meet up with something "bigger and uglier" in the way of finny game, say several local authorities on tourists and their motives.

One party, at least, having announced his intention to stay overnight, decided suddenly to remain the rest of the week. When the host looked at him somewhat questionably, he said with a sigh, stretching to his utmost: "Gosh, the air is wonderful here!"

And then again, it might be advertising, for by the general consensus, there have been more new visitors than repeaters thus far in the season, so whether by

Rainfall Reduces Fire Hazards In Newberry District

Newberry, Mich.—The danger of forest fires was reduced in many portions of the eastern part of the upper peninsula last Wednesday because of a heavy rainfall.

No serious fires have been reported in the Luce county vicinity but the forests have been tinder dry after twenty rainless days. The conservation officers have been hoping for rain for the past two weeks.

Only three fires have been thus far reported, one muck fire, which was at the Hulbert farm, on the east outskirts of Newberry.

The two forest fires reported were at Santown, east of Manistique Lake, which burned through 40 acres of cedar slash. The other forest fire reported was near Betsy Lake, about 45 miles north of Newberry, which burned 50 acres of marsh brush.

The conservation officers of Newberry urge all people to be very careful with camp fires, cigarettes and matches.

NEWBERRY LOCALS
Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ulbeck recently married couples, were honored at the Finnish Lutheran church by members of the Luther League last Monday.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Melvin William Bigelow, 61, of Rexton, who died at his home after a short illness. Services were read by the Rev. John Lewin of Newberry in the Rexton community hall. Burial took place in the Caffey cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pelletier are the parents of a son, born last Monday, July 31, at the Newberry clinic.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stewart are the parents of a daughter, born last Friday, July 28, at the Newberry clinic.

tourist grapevine or by what they have read in the papers, the American public is coming by all signs, increasingly to think of the Upper Peninsula when summer vacations roll around.

BEACH PROJECT GETS APPROVAL

Local Heads Agree to Take Additional Expense

Word has been received from Washington WPA headquarters by local authorities that if the Escanaba city government will agree to shoulder the additional cost of the local beach project created by the change from the $7 to $6 per man per month allowance of federal funds for all projects, the local job will be approved and will receive government money and can, therefore, continue operations as soon as necessary arrangements are made. It has been indicated locally that this proposition will be agreed to and work will start again by August 14 or as soon thereafter as possible.

City Engineer A. V. Aronson said Thursday that pouring of concrete on the 20 1/2 block summer paving project which started here last Monday will begin this coming Monday. The projected paving includes surfacing on North 18th and 16th street, South 19th, and two blocks on Sixth avenue south.

A local sewer job was also approved three weeks ago and it is hoped that both projects will be completed by the end of the summer without too many delays.

It is also stated that water meters are being installed at all city cemeteries, as the local water department is making a check on use of the water supply.

Hospital

Dorothy DeGrand, 1921 Fifth avenue south, submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis, at St. Francis hospital.

John Corriveau, Wilson, is a surgical patient.

Charles Prokos, 1010 Second avenue south, Elaine Vanlerbergh, Gladstone, Route One, Verna Benoit, Bark River, Route 2, P. J. Baker of Gladstone, and Lorraine Nadeau, 1412 Lake Shore Drive, had operations for removal of tonsils.

Patients dismissed are Mrs. Anna Starrine, Mrs. Joseph Courter and baby, Robert Gossweiler, Mrs. Axel E. Anderson, Doris Wellman, Mrs. William King and baby, Michael Degan, Edmond Moreau and Mrs. Mary Barr.

Mr. Business Man..

Why Don't You Have Your Printing Done in a Union Shop?

Members of the Escanaba Typographical Union are being paid fair and liberal wages. Printing done in a UNION SHOP may appear a bit higher but the wages we earn is being spent with you and helping to build up the community. It takes years of training to become a Union Printer who can carry out the art of GOOD PRINTING. If YOUR printing is done in a Union Shop you can be assured it is being done under the best of working conditions and fair wages. You support your lodge. Why not support an institution that employs Union Labor.
