NEW EMBARGO ASKED ON JAP WAR SUPPLIES

'MORAL' BAN CERTAIN TO BE EFFECTIVE, CAPITAL THINKS

BY ANDRUE BERDING Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—The state department is giving serious consideration to invoking a "moral embargo" to prevent the shipment of raw materials to Japan...

While there has been no comment from Hull, Acting Secretary Sumner Welles gave a cordial reception to Schwelienbach's proposal...

Ignored By One Firm It is known that several officials of the state department favor such action. They believe that a "moral embargo" on the shipment of raw materials generally to Japan could be made as effective as it has been with regard to airplanes—practically complete.

The state department feeling toward the "moral embargo" was made clear in the last monthly report of arms exports. That report pointed out that the "embargo" on airplanes had just been ignored by one company, which it mentioned by name.

Action Not Illegal The importance of the report's reference to the matter was that it was made solely because of the sale to Japan of just one airplane. And that airplane was not a powerful bomber or a flashing pursuit plane.

The inference is that the state department is determined that the "moral embargo" shall be 100 per cent effective. Now the "moral embargo" is extra-legal. Secretary Hull had no congressional authority for making the appeal he did to American airplane manufacturers.

Don't Look for These Boys on a Dark Night

Here are the five toughest men in the United States, head a list of 10 most-wanted "public enemies" made public by P. E. Foxworth, FBI agent at New York City. They are: Charlie Chapman, Texas bank robber who escaped from Texas penitentiary in July, 1937; Theodore Cole of Guthrie, Okla., who escaped from Alcatraz where he was serving on a kidnapping charge; Ralph Roe of Tulsa, Okla., another Alcatraz fugitive and bank bandit; Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, ex-New York industrial racketeer sought by District Attorney Tom Dewey; and Joseph Paul Cretzer, Pacific coast bandit with a 12-year record.

ANNUAL TURKEY DAY MOVED UP

Roosevelt Will Change Date From Nov. 30 to Nov. 23

Campobello Island, New Brunswick, Aug. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt is going to move Thanksgiving day up a week this year he said at a press conference today at his mother's summer home.

For the last six years, he explained, a great many people have been complaining that there is too long an interval between the Labor day holiday early in September and Thanksgiving day toward the end of November, and that the time is too short between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

This sounds silly, he said. But he added that stores, working people and retailers had proposed that Thanksgiving be changed from the usual last Thursday in November. This year Thanksgiving would normally fall on November 30, and Mr. Roosevelt has decided to issue a proclamation setting aside November 23 as Thanksgiving Day.

He recalled that in the early days of the republic a day in October was marked down for Thanksgiving and that it was not until after the war that the last Thursday in November was selected for observance.

Two Ionia Trustees Walk Away At Barn

Ionia, Mich., Aug. 14 (AP)—Two trustees who walked away from a dairy barn late this afternoon were sought tonight by guards at the Michigan reformatory at Ionia.

The hunted men are Theodore Szymanski, 19, and Casimir Margulski, 22.

Szymanski was sentenced from Bay City in April, 1938, to a term of from one-and-one-half to 15 years for breaking and entering. He was due for parole in 1940.

Margulski was sentenced in July, 1938, from Detroit to a three to five year term for breaking and entering and would have become eligible for parole one year from today.

HUDSON CUTS PRICES Detroit, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Hudson Motorcar company announced price reductions today on its 1940 models. It said the Hudson six coupe would be listed at $25 lower than last year's similar model and the four-door Hudson six sedan at a reduction of $43.

ENGINEER DROPS DEAD Windsor, Ont., Aug. 14 (AP)—George S. Moe, 47, veteran Michigan Central engineer, was found dead of a heart attack beside his locomotive in the round house here today.

American Woman Slapped By Japs

Tientsin, China, Aug. 15 (Tuesday) (AP)—A 60-year-old American woman, Mrs. F. M. Richard, was reported today to have been slapped and detained by Japanese sentries at barriers to blockaded British concession.

The incident was said by reliable sources to have occurred late Monday as Mrs. Richard attempted to bring vegetables and fruit into the concession for the cannery business she operates and in which she does the work herself.

One report said a sentry held the woman while a Japanese officer slapped her.

HERBERT P. ORR DIES IN CRASH

Killing of Former Caro Senator and Wife Investigated

Vassar, Mich., Aug. 14 (AP)—A collision at a county road-trunk line highway intersection killed former State Senator Herbert P. Orr of Caro and his wife Helen today, and Prosecutor Timothy C. Quinn said tonight no inquest would be held unless family members request one.

The accident occurred when Orr, driving to Detroit to attend a convention of the National Fraternal Congress, drove from a county road onto Highway M-46. His automobile and a loaded gravel truck driven by Theodore Rugenstein, of Linwood, collided. Mr. and Mrs. Orr were dead when taken from the wreckage.

Orr was born in Caro September 16, 1882. He was graduated from the University of Michigan law school in 1906 and practiced at Caro until 1909, when he became an actuary for the state insurance department.

He lived in Detroit from 1916 to 1919 and worked as attorney for the Greener Life Insurance society, which he headed at the time of his death. He returned to Caro in 1920, but went to Lansing six years later to serve as deputy state insurance commissioner. He was elected state senator from the Twentieth district in 1930 and re-elected in 1932. Later he served two terms by appointment on the state crime commission.

Student Aviators Collide Over Ohio River; One Killed

Parkersburg, W. Va., Aug. 14 (AP)—While officials watched 1,500 feet below, two planes piloted by students collided today over the Ohio river. Merne Bowers, 23, die and tool coner worker, fell to his death in the stream while Robert Kraft, of Wheeling, pulled his ship out of a spin and landed near Belpro, O., hurting his shoulder.

E. A. Goff, Jr., Pittsburgh, civil aeronautics inspector, and Clarence McElroy, chief pilot at the airport, watched the collision.

K. OF C. LEADER DIES Marquette, Mich., Aug. 14 (AP)—Funeral services will be held at 9:15 a. m. Wednesday for Lane J. Horrihan, president of the Horrihan Oil Co., who died Sunday in St. Paul, Minn., where he was taken ten days ago with a ruptured appendix. He was president of the Upper Peninsula Association of Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus and a director of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau.

PRISON CLERK DIES Jackson, Mich., Aug. 14 (AP)—James Nyjpes, employed at the record office of the state prison of Southern Michigan for the past nine years, died today at the age of 63. He was a former policeman and street railway employe in Battle Creek and a World War veteran.

CLIPPER PLANE IS TOMB OF 14

Brazilian Air Tragedy Takes Lives of Six Americans

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 14 (AP)—Salvagers today lifted from Guanabara Bay the shattered cabin of a Pan American "baby Clipper" which yesterday became the tomb of 14 persons, including six Americans, in one of Brazil's worst air tragedies.

The crumpled wreckage of the airliner was towed to the Rio de Janeiro airport where Brazilian and Pan American officials joined in a search for a clue to the cause of the accident.

Remains of 11 of the victims, including that of Dr. James Harvey Rogers of Yale university, eminent economist and one-time adviser of President Roosevelt, lay in a morgue while divers sought to recover the bodies of the three other victims.

The plane, coming down yesterday afternoon preparatory to landing at the end of a flight from Miami, Fla., slanted sharply, struck a crane on a drydock in the harbor and crashed.

Two persons aboard the Clipper survived. Besides Dr. Rogers, the American victims included Henri May Eddy, Gainesville, Fla., acting librarian at the University of Florida; Robert Landman of New York and the three crewmen, Capt. A. G. Person of Miami, pilot; Capt. George King, Miami, copilot; Russell Jenkins, radio operator; and Julio Trujillo, steward.

The survivors were Oswaldo Hirth, German engineer, whose leg was broken; and Mario Lyra, a Brazilian, who escaped with cuts and bruises and a broken rib.

Girl, 12, Is Trapped In Flaming Wreck

Flint, Mich., Aug. 14 (AP)—Twelve-year-old Wilma May Anderson died in the flames of an automobile wreck today when she was trapped in the rear seat.

Police said a car driven by Anthony Pump of Detroit struck the rear of a machine carrying Wilma May and several companions and the gasoline tank exploded.

Other occupants, including three children, leaped to safety or were carried out. Mrs. Vera Clemens, 20, suffered critical burns. Others also were burned, and Pump's left hand was mangled.

Two Lapeer Men Who Swapped Wives And Livestock Held On Morals Charge

Lapeer, Mich., Aug. 14 (AP)—The domestic lives of George Davis and Clarence June, who traded wives and divided their children, rolled on today apparently unruffled by a court appearance to answer charges of lewd and lascivious cohabitation.

The four returned to their homes in the sand hills of western Lapeer county and resumed life as they had for two months prior to today's appearance in court.

Mrs. Edith June with George Davis and Mrs. Mildred Davis with Clarence June.

All stood mute when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Albert H. Perkins on the blanket charge of lewd and lascivious cohabitation. Their counsel, Kenneth Smith, demanded an examination and the four were released for appearance Aug. 23.

LEAGUE ENVOY MAY MEDIATE DANZIG PEACE

NAZIS HOPE TO GET CITY WITHOUT BLOODSHED

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER Berlin, Aug. 14 (AP)—Prof. Carl J. Burckhardt, League of Nations commissioner for Danzig, emerged tonight as a possible mediator of the German-Polish dispute over the Baltic Free City.

Burckhardt, a Swiss professor, who has returned to Danzig after a conference with Adolf Hitler at Berchtesgaden, was unofficially reported in Berlin to be preparing to go to London to discuss with Lord Halifax, British foreign secretary, a plan for a peaceful settlement.

(The British foreign office said it had no information concerning Burckhardt's plans.)

Italy Agreeable (In Rome Italians outside the government reported that Italy and Germany were agreeable to holding a conference with France and Britain for settlement of the German claim to Danzig.)

German hopes tended in the direction that Burckhardt's conversations with German, British and Polish officials would result in a solution by which Germany could take over the Free City without bloodshed and gain a strip of land through the Polish Corridor to East Prussia.

Informed political circles here expressed the belief that Hitler, Foreign Minister Joseph Beck of Poland and Albert Forster, Nazi leader in Danzig, had accepted such a plan as a basis for discussion.

Following his visit to Hitler, Burckhardt conferred in Danzig with Forster and the Polish diplomatic representative, Marian Chodacki.

Hitler Wants No War Official Germany declined to affirm or deny that Burckhardt had been charged with a highly important mission to London.

In press and party circles, however, one heard that Hitler's next step "will depend upon what Burckhardt brings back with him in the next few days from his talks with Halifax."

Informed German circles professed to discern the following:

1. The fuerer does not want a war over Danzig and will accept a solution that will satisfy German honor.

2. Polish Foreign Minister Beck realizes Poland's precarious position in the event of war and is therefore ready for a compromise.

3. England, which has guaranteed Poland's independence, even now is not ready to fight and will therefore support a peaceful solution.

4. The possibility of an honorable compromise is admitted if Hitler unconditionally gets Danzig, a German-speaking city, and a strip of Pomerania large enough to insure direct communication between East Prussia and Germany proper.

Professor Well Qualified Burckhardt was said in diplomatic quarters to enjoy the confidence of both the German and Polish governments and to be particularly well qualified as a mediator.

At the same time all German comment indicated that if mediation should fail, Germany was (Continued on Page Two)

BRAMPTON MAN KILLED BY BULL

Francis Leveque Gored Fatally While Alone In His Barnyard

Francis Leveque, 59, was gored to death by a bull at his Brampton farm about 6:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

There were no witnesses to the tragedy. Leveque left the home to let some cows go into the pasture. When he failed to return in due time, his sister, Delia, went out to investigate, and discovered his badly mangled body in the barnyard.

Mr. Leveque was born in Egg Harbor, Wis., March 18, 1880, but had resided at Brampton for about forty years. He is survived by a brother, George, Brampton; and two sisters, Delia Leveque, Brampton, and Mrs. Chester Bennett, Rapid River.

Coroner O. S. Hult was called to investigate the accident. The body was taken to the Boyce Undertaking Parlors to be prepared for burial, and will be taken to the George Leveque home 10:30 o'clock this morning. Funeral services will be held Wednesday, with burial in the Perkins cemetery.

STATE WELFARE STAFF REDUCED

Chairman Gries Says Cutting Will Save $4,900 Monthly

Lansing, Aug. 14 (AP)—The social welfare commission took the first step toward in cutting administrative costs today by lopping 15 employes from the state payroll.

Walter F. Gries, of Ishpeming, commission chairman, said the reduction in personnel would mean a savings of $4,900 monthly in salaries and expenses.

The board, meeting in closed session, deferred discussion of all other problems, including reorganization, to take up the question of personnel.

Gries said the board had reviewed 41 positions and still had some 500 more to study, a task which may take several days. He said some who were dismissed, however, "may" be transferred.

It was understood a personnel report prepared by Mrs. Genevieve Patten of the budget office served as a guide for the board in the dismissals. The report, aside from recommending a reduction in personnel, is said to favor creation of a single unit system of administration.

The Michigan Association of County Supervisors are opposed to an integrated plan and favor the distribution of state and federal funds by separate agencies.

Delegations from Wayne and Jackson counties are to appear before the commission tomorrow to make requests for additional relief funds.

Sunken Submarine Squalus Is Towed To Shallow Water

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 14 (AP)—Navy men took every advantage today of the comparatively few good diving hours offered by an unruly ocean to prepaations for lifting the sunken submarine Squalus on Wednesday or Thursday from a hitherto uncharted mudbank to shallower water—the second operation in a carefully laid out salvage plan.

The vessel was raised 80 feet from its muddy berth on the ocean floor last Saturday and towed slowly shoreward to within 400 yards of the goal set for the first lift before it grounded.

As the preliminaries to the second lift were hurried 14 miles off this port, workers at Portsmouth navy yard prepared for tomorrow's launching of the submersible Sea-wolf, similar in design and size to the unlucky Squalus.

Ceremonies Quiet The usual gay launching ceremonies were abandoned because of the Squalus disaster. Officers said only naval officials and a few invited friends would see Mrs. Edward C. Kalbfus, wife of the president of the Naval War Academy, send the newest of the nation's undersea boats down the ways at 11:45 a. m. (EST).

At the salvage scene divers worked today on reinking the Squalus' bow pontoons. The next steps were the sinking of the three stern drums, then an inspection of the work and again the order to "blow and tow."

The first diver down today, Lieut. J. K. Morrison, found the Squalus' bow 15 feet lower than her stern and resting in eight feet of mud. The submarine was listed about eight degrees to port but Lieut. Morrison said she was in good condition for salvage work.

The Squalus sank into 240 feet of water on May 23 and in the ensuing 40 hours 33 of her crew of 59 were rescued. It was hoped the second lift would raise her another 80 feet and move her four or five miles into shallower water, preparatory to a third lift, which navy men hoped would surface the craft and her cargo of 26 dead.

MISSING NAHMA MAN NOT FOUND

Menominee Bloodhounds Aid In Hunt, Trail Lost Again

A three day search conducted under the direction of the Delta county sheriff's department up until last night had failed to reveal the whereabouts of John Summers, 74 year old Nahma man, who left his home at 8 o'clock on Friday morning and has not been heard of since.

Three bloodhounds were used in the search Sunday in which the Delta county officers were aided by members of the Menominee county sheriff's department and 50 C. C. G.'s. Although the dogs picked up the scent of the missing man several times during the day they were unable to keep it.

Yesterday Sheriff William Miron was assisted by 100 C. C. G.'s, but an all day search failed to reveal any trace of the missing man. It is planned to redouble the searching force and renew the hunt early this morning the sheriff said last night.

Summers was traced two or three miles out on the old road to Isabella from Nahma, and it is believed he may have been picked up by a motorist. Anyone who has seen the missing man is asked to get in touch with the sheriff's department. Mr. Summers is short, of chunky build, and was wearing a blue overcoat, dark pants, and white hat with a black band when last seen.

Ionia Free Fair Expects 300,000

Ionia, Mich., Aug. 14 (AP)—A prediction that 300,000 persons would attend the twenty-fifth annual Ionia Free Fair which opened a one week stand today was voiced by Howard C. Lawrence, president of the fair association.

The advance sale of grandstand seats is 40 per cent above the total for 1938, Lawrence said.

The fair will be highlighted by Governor's Day Wednesday when Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) and Governor Luren Dickinson will speak.

MASS MURDER IS BLAMED TO SHIFTED RAIL

STREAMLINER PILES UP IN NEVADA, 96 INJURED

Reno, Nev., Aug. 14 (AP)—Deaths mounted to 23 today in the wreck of the crack streamliner train "City of San Francisco" as police pushed a general roundup of suspicious railroad yard characters in quest of the mass murderer blamed for last Saturday's tragedy.

Two men were questioned in jails of two states as rescue crews found the bodies of two women and a man in the train's twisted wreckage.

Injured Total 96 Albert Johnson, Chicago, at first reported by the Southern Pacific company to have perished in the wreck, was found tonight to be alive, though seriously injured, in an Elko, Nev., hospital. One other man died in Elko hospital of injuries. He was Sam Wall, of the cook's crew, from Alameda, Calif.

Latest victims recovered from the wreckage were Mrs. Henry P. Vaux of Port Ledge, Rosemont, Pa., and her daughter, Miss Susan M. Vaux. Their bodies were found late today. Earlier in the day the body of Harry Specht, second cook from Oakland, was recovered from the wreckage.

Southern Pacific company, which operates the "City of San Francisco" jointly with the Union Pacific and the Chicago North-western railroads, reduced the list of injured to 96 after interviewing many of the 149 persons who were aboard the $2,000,000 train when it was hurled into a rocky Nevada canyon by a rail which authorities said was deliberately misplaced.

Suspect Has Alibi Chief of Police Andy M. Welliver asserted he probably would release Bob La Ducur tomorrow. Federal, local and railroad police spend all day questioning him.

Welliver said the man was arrested because he answered the description of an "earless man" whose strange action made him one of the main objectives of the search.

The police chief reported T. J. McLaughlin, federal bureau of investigation agent, had established that La Ducur was at Pyramid Lake, Nev., Saturday night and Sunday morning and could not have participated in the wreck. He said the man apparently was riding a freight train from Portland, Ore., to Fernley, Nev., but was left behind at Pyramid Lake when the freight pulled out while he was getting a drink of water.

"He had breakfast with members of the Southern Pacific morning crew there Sunday morning according to members of the crew," Welliver said.

Five men were taken from an eastbound freight train at Salt Lake City. Four were released, but one was held for further questioning. From Ogden, Utah, to Oakland, Calif., police watched railway yards for the "earless man" and for a railroad man who raved against the company the day before the wreck.

Chief Welliver said the earless man had been reported "acting suspiciously at Fernley" and had inquired yesterday morning at a Fernley garage. "Has anything happened?"

Under one of the cars, company officials said, wreck crews found the twentieth victim. Of the known dead nine were passengers, four women. Seven of the railway employes killed were negroes.

The victims were hurled screaming to their death after the swaying dining car caught in the superstructure of a 60-foot steel bridge over Humboldt river and pulled the train and the bridge into the ravine.

The whole train was set to rock (Continued on Page Two)

WM. MORRISON DIES MONDAY

Well Known Isabella Man Succumbs to Car Accident Injuries

William Morrison, 63, well known Isabella man who was injured in an automobile accident late Saturday afternoon, died at the Nahma hospital at ten o'clock on Monday night, according to word received here.

Information received by the sheriff's department in investigating the accident Saturday was that Morrison, driving a truck, was struck by an automobile owned by Theodore Smith of Midland and driven by Irving W. LaBrie of Midland as he emerged from a side road a mile west of Isabella onto highway US-2. State Troopers James Smith of St. Ignace and John Roberts of Lansing, who were patrolling that section of the highway at the time made the report.

applies to the board for an export license, the board must grant it, and that's that.

This is not to say that Secretary Hull's action was illegal. If it were we would have heard about it at the last session of congress. It was a spontaneous action of the executive which congress by its silence has, in effect, approved.

Bombings Not Stopped

But, extra-legal or not, the "moral embargo" has had an astonishing success. It sufficed for the state department to call attention to a prospective shipment of airplane propellers to Japan by one large company to induce that firm to cancel its contract. There has been just one failure to abide by the embargo, in the case of the autogiro, whereas previously American manufacturers had been doing an airplane business with Japan that ran into many millions of dollars annually.

Consequently some officials feel the success of the "moral embargo" on airplanes gives justification for their belief that it would have an equal result if broadened to include raw materials.

However, the observation immediately arises that the success of the "moral embargo" thus far has been only on this side of the Pacific. It has not stopped, nor apparently lessened, Japanese aerial bombings in China. Since it was imposed 14 months ago the United States has been forced to protest repeatedly against the bombing of American properties in China.

Newberry, Aug. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. William Lathrop of Escanaba, Mich., and their guest, Miss Mable McInnis of Idaho, were in the Newberry Clinic Saturday suffering from cuts and bruises as the result of an accident which occurred Friday afternoon on US-2, five miles west of Engadine near a new railroad bridge.

Ludington Street To Be Clear For Big Legion Parade

Efforts will be made to keep Ludington street free of traffic and parked cars during the American Legion state convention parade on Monday from 10 a. m. until noon. Cooperation of the police department has been assured, and local residents are requested to do their shopping early, so that the street may be cleared for spectators.

Eliminating automobile from the parade route will be attempted as a safety measure, and also as a convenience to the 30,000 persons expected to be in line on the sidewalks for the convention parade. Intersections will be kept open, however, as another safety measure in case of fire.

Local business places, with the exception of those selling meals and refreshments, are planning to close during the two hours of the parade, so that all employees may have an opportunity to see the big Legion spectacle.

JUSTICES HAVE BUSY MORNING

Eleven Cases Heard In Local Courts; Game Violators Fined

Munising, Aug. 14.—Eleven cases were heard in justice courts in Munising on Monday morning. Mrs. Mary Kozob, 49, of Munising, was given five days in the Alger county jail for driving an automobile without a driver's license in a case heard before Justice Walters. Mrs. Kozob was driving a car owned by Sulo Rautanen of Eben and went into the ditch on M-94 west of Van Meer early on Sunday morning. Rautanen received head injuries in the accident. He was brought into justice court and charged with permitting an unlicensed operator to drive his car. He was ordered to pay a fine of $5 and court costs of $5.05. He had not paid as yet this morning.

ing after it lost the support of an outside rail as it rounded a turn traveling 60 miles an hour. The rail had been moved four inches inward. To do this it was necessary to pull 44 spikes from 22 ties, remove the supporting angle bars, move the 30 foot rail, weighing 1,690 pounds, and spike it down again.

Girl Is Heroine

Railway officials calculated it would take two strong men more than half an hour. The rail was moved in a four hour interval between two trains—moved carefully so as not to disturb a block signal electric cable lying between the tracks which would have warned Engineer E. F. Hecox.

Thirteen of the 17 cars were derailed, and six crashed into the river canyon. In those were the scenes of the greatest horror. Those passengers still able to move began rescuing and applying emergency aid to the more seriously injured. The injured were laid on mattresses, pulled from the sleeping cars, while rescuers worked under the faltering light of fires built with wooden parts from the wreckage.

Heroine of the wreck was Thelma Ristvedt of Chicago, attractive stewardess and nurse who, although injured, gave aid until she collapsed into unconsciousness.

Dr. E. A. Betts, Pennsylvania State college professor, was credited with saving many lives by applying some 30 tourniquets to the injured.

Bridge In Shreds

"Never have I seen a more courageous display of nerve and coolness," he said, "than by the other passengers. Every friend I had on the train was killed instantly."

By dawn several hundred Nevadans arrived and relieved the injured passengers who were aiding their more seriously hurt companions.

They had been summoned by Engineer Hecox, who ran and stumbled a mile down the tracks to the nearest telephone to summon aid. He returned with the Harney section crew to join rescuers.

"Many of the victims were literally torn to pieces with hands, feet or arms cut off and their bodies otherwise mutilated," said A. C. Mungler, Omaha attorney.

"It was an incredible sight to see that big train piled up like matchwood. The steel bridge across which the engine jolted was literally torn to shreds."

On his way to the scene President William M. Jeffers of the Union Pacific termed it "murderous sabotage" and said a nationwide hunt would be continued until the perpetrators were found.

A coroner's jury yesterday concurred with railway officials that a rail deliberately "misplaced by a person or persons unknown" caused the wreck.

President A. D. McDonald of the Southern Pacific and other high officials of the company were at the scene directing the investigation and repair operations.

It will be three or four days before the road will be usable. Meanwhile trains were being routed over Western Pacific tracks.

WHITE SOX WIN UNDER LIGHTS

Johnny Rigney Pitches Three-Hitter For 5-2 Decision

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox made their home debut under lights tonight in an artistic as well as financial success with a 5 to 2 victory over the St. Louis Browns, moving back into third place behind the three-hit pitching of Johnny Rigney.

An estimated 30,000 saw the game, first night contest in the history of major league baseball in Chicago.

Johnny Rigney was the hero of the game, yielding not a single hit until the sixth inning and striking out 10 batters while his mates were slugging three Browns hurriers for 13 hits.

The Sox broke the ice with a single run in the second, added another in the fourth and fifth and then sewed up the decision in the seventh with two tallies.

Rigney, in registering his 10th victory of the season, would have had a shutout had it not been for Luke Appling's error in the seventh on a double play ball that should have retired the side. After his miscue the Browns scored their two runs.

In a pre-game ceremony the newly-installed lighting system was turned on by Charles A. Comiskey, the second, son of the late J. Louis Comiskey and grandson of Charles A., the "Old Roman," who founded the White Sox.

Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis and William Harridge, president of the American League, were among those who witnessed the inaugural contest, which gave the Chicagoans sole possession of third place. They are now a half game ahead of Cleveland in fourth place.

DECISION NEAR IN CHURCH CASE

Attorney General Will See Prosecutor at Marquette

Lansing, Aug. 14 (AP)—Attorney General Thomas Reed said today he would confer here Friday with Prosecutor John D. Voelker of Marquette county to determine whether there is sufficient evidence of a $109,000 shortage in funds of the Episcopal diocese of northern Michigan to justify prosecution.

Assistant Attorney General Robert A. Burns of Wakefield has been assisting Voelker in an investigation of the shortage.

"We have now got to a place," Voelker must be made as to whether or not there is sufficient evidence to prosecute any living person for a criminal offense in this jurisdiction. I feel the entire matter has reached such proportions that I should not attempt to make the decision alone."

Bishop Henry St. George Tucker, presiding bishop of the Episcopal church in America, recently released a statement made by the Right Rev. Hayward S. Ablewhite, in which the latter blamed shrinkage, embezzlement by a former treasurer of the diocese and injudicious investments for the shortage.

WE, THE WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

Mrs. Lucille Jentzen could meet a pioneer woman face to face and never give an inch. She has done some pioneering herself.

Fourteen years ago this born-and-bred New Yorker walked out from behind the counter of a delicatessen, made the down payment on a house and 165 rocky acres — optimistically called a farm.

Today she's sitting pretty. The New Jersey farm, vastly improved, is hers. On it she has a herd of 200 very special sheep—the kind whose hides go into expensive Persian lamb coats. Her daughter—eight when the mother turned pioneer—has been sent through an exclusive college.

And Mrs. Jentzen, at an age when most business women start dyeing their hair in an effort to meet younger competition, hasn't a single fear for the future.

NO JOB IS TOO HARD FOR HER

Until you feel her muscle, impressive as a college football player's, it's hard to believe her story. "I do everything myself, even to dynamiting boulders from the fields. I painted the outside of my 12-room house when it needed painting, put a new roof on it when the old one began to leak, laid a hardwood floor in the kitchen. I've built both wire and stone fences.

"I raise all the feed for my sheep. Right now I'm cutting alfalfa. Once a year I go to the fur market and sell my pelts—pelts that I've skinned myself.

"Between times, I turn an honest dollar any way I can. I sell about 40 quarts of milk a day. Occasionally I take a calf or ram down to the stockyards.

"In the winter I make comforters, using wool from my own sheep, wool that I have sheared, washed and brushed myself. In the winter, too, I rent the farm to hunters. Whenever I get a

WHITE SOX WIN UNDER LIGHTS

Johnny Rigney Pitches Three-Hitter For 5-2 Decision

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox made their home debut under lights tonight in an artistic as well as financial success with a 5 to 2 victory over the St. Louis Browns, moving back into third place behind the three-hit pitching of Johnny Rigney.

An estimated 30,000 saw the game, first night contest in the history of major league baseball in Chicago.

Johnny Rigney was the hero of the game, yielding not a single hit until the sixth inning and striking out 10 batters while his mates were slugging three Browns hurriers for 13 hits.

The Sox broke the ice with a single run in the second, added another in the fourth and fifth and then sewed up the decision in the seventh with two tallies.

Rigney, in registering his 10th victory of the season, would have had a shutout had it not been for Luke Appling's error in the seventh on a double play ball that should have retired the side. After his miscue the Browns scored their two runs.

Highland Twilight Loop Plays Tonight

Daily Double Pays One Man $10,772.42

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Washington Park Jockey club paid $10,772.40 on a daily double ticket today—largest in the history of American racing—to Claude E. Elkins, who spurns the experts in favor of his own handicapping.

Elkins, a 40-year-old bowling alley and billiard parlor operator at Little Anna, Ill., wired in his selections from his home town, but it wasn't a shot in the dark.

He said he had his own good reasons for naming Joy Bet and Merry Caroline as winners of the first and second races at Washington. He was the only bettor having the winning daily double ticket.

Joy Bet, owned by Mrs. Milton Rieser of Louisville, Ky., and trained by her husband, paid $131.40 to win, $244.00 to place and $31.80 to show. Merry Caroline, running for Paul Kelley, paid $20.00, $9.00 and $5.00 both races were six furlongs. Joy Bet running the distance in 1:14 and Merry Caroline in 1:15.

Elkins' winning choice was wired in by H. E. Davis of Anna, who said several of his friends sent their selections to the track in a single wire to save telegraph tolls.

"Although I signed the wire, Elkins' bet was his own alone and no one else's," Davis said. "I understand the check from the track will come in my name. If it does, I'll sign it right over to Elkins. I'm glad he rung the bells, he's a good boy."

Elkins said the most he ever won before was a third share of a $600 ticket.

"I thought some of the boys were kidding me," he said, "when I heard the daily double winner. I felt sort of cold and sticky all over. No, I don't plan any sort of celebration. I guess I'll just bank the money."

"I had been watching the workouts of those two horses for some time and I thought maybe this was just the spot for them to win. So I just decided to take a chance on them and win a big pot of nothing."

He is married and has one son, 14 years old.

The highest previous daily double payoff was on March 15, 1935, at Tropical Park when Wanoah and Arakay paid $7,205.40.

DORAZIO LOSES TO BILLY CONN

Referee Stops Fight As Crowd Jeers; Pitt Boy Seen As Comer

Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (AP)—Young Billy Conn, the light-heavyweight champion, charged up into the heavyweight division tonight to stop Gus Dorazio, rugged Philadelphia campaigner, in the eighth round of a ten round bout before a crowd of 12,000 fans in Shibe Park. Conn weighed 173 1/2 and Dorazio 156 1/2.

Referee Leo Hauck stopped the one-sided contest after one minute and 52 seconds of the eighth had elapsed. Dorazio, half blind from a badly cut left eye, was all but hanging on at the finish.

The verdict was greeted by jeers from a portion of the crowd. Dorazio and his handlers protested the decision, insisting Gus was not badly damaged and able to continue.

Promoters estimated the crowd paid slightly more than $21,000 to see Conn in his first start since he won the light heavyweight crown from Melio Bettina in New York just a month ago.

The Pittsburgher who already is being touted as a possible contender for heavyweight honors a year or two hence was far ahead on points when Hauck stepped in and halted tonight's proceedings.

The Associated Press score card gave Conn six rounds, including the abbreviated eighth, Dorazio one and called one even.

Dorazio's eye was bleeding so profusely in the seventh that a physician notified the Philadelphia's seconds he would order the fight stopped unless the bleeding was halted. A couple of left hand smacks early in the eighth started the crimson flowing afresh and Hauck intervened.

Conn out-boxed and out-jabbed Dorazio throughout. In the second, Gus charged in with a series of lusty rights to win the round and again in the fifth held Conn on even terms, but in the other heats the Pittsburgh youngster was clearly the superior.

The stout hearted Dorazio seemed able to take everything Conn had to offer and had it not been for his damaged eye he probably would have stayed the distance.

Conn's clever footwork prevented the harder hitting Dorazio to get set to throw his "Sunday punches."

In the sixth and seventh, his face covered with blood, Dorazio tired badly and Conn jabbed his features at will with his left and pointed Gus' body with his right.

The fight will be Conn's last before he makes his first defense of his newly won light-heavyweight crown against Bettina in Pittsburgh late next month. He will return home immediately to begin training.

City Tournament Enters Last Leg

The city tennis tournament moves into its last rounds today, with finals 4 men's singles and 4 women's doubles and 4 men's doubles matches scheduled.

In men's doubles yesterday, Henkin and Coan defeated Johnson and Erickson in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4, while Henkin, whose absence had delayed the playing of the final rounds in men's competition, defeated Fitzharris in the singles semi-finals, 6-3, 8-6, 6-4.

Men's singles finals will be played today at 2 p. m. with Harry Henkin and Jack Reynolds clashing for the title.

Doubles semi-finals in the men's division will be played at 4 p. m. with Henkin and Coan meeting Lewis and Reynolds, and at 6 p. m. the winners of that match will play the Bud Harvey-

RALPH GULDAHL TAKES $2,500

Viking Wins Three-Way Playoff With Shute and Sarazen

BY JOHN CAMPBELL

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14 (AP)—Displaying the steady nerve of his Viking forefathers, big Ralph Guldhall came back today with a sparkling par 70 to win the $2,500 first prize in the $10,000 Dapper Dan golf tournament in a three-way 18-hole playoff with Denny Shute, of Huntington, W. Va., and chunky Gene Sarazen, of East Brookfield, Conn.

The husky Texan, who now calls Madison, N. J., home, finished four strokes ahead of Shute, who took the $1,500 second prize, and five better than Sarazen's $75, which won the gentleman farmer $1,000.

A sensational recovery from the sand near the 291-yard eighth green provided the winning "break" and more than made up for the six-foot putt Guldhall missed yesterday on the 18th green to cause the three-way tie of 187 for the 72 holes.

The trio split one-half the receipts today from a crowd estimated by officials at 7,000 in addition to the prize money.

Going to the eighth Guldhall's 25 was one stroke lower than his two opponents, but his tee shot plunked into the sand. He dug in firmly, then blasted into the cup for an eagle two.

That shot was the clincher but the stout-hearted West Virginian wouldn't say die. At the turn Guldhall's 34 was two below Shute, three below Sarazen.

Shute lost another stroke on the tenth, with a bogey 5, but picked up two strokes on the eleventh with a birdie two, and tied with Guldhall on the twelfth with a bogey five.

Meanwhile the winner took one of his two three-putt greens on the 12th, then parred 13, 14 and 15 and ran down a 30-footer on the 16th for a birdie three. Shute lost another stroke with his five on the 13th while Sarazen, who had gained a stroke on the 12th with a four, dropped one on each of the next three holes to Guldhall.

Guldhall and Sarazen finished with 3-3-5 while Shute faltered with 4-4-5.

WATER SAFETY COURSE OPENS

Red Cross Instructor Conducts Classes In This City

W. A. Hausknecht of St. Louis, life saving instructor of the American Red Cross, is conducting classes in water safety at the local beach this week.

The course, which is designed to train local leaders in water safety work, was begun yesterday with instruction of non-swimmers. Today will be devoted to teaching of advanced strokes and skills of the veteran swimmers while tomorrow will include small craft safety and rescue work. Swimming rescue work will be carried on Thursday with examinations and practice and teaching of swimming methods on Friday.

Among those taking the course this year are Naomi Vinette, Mrs. Monica Beach, Ken Thompson and Alfred Carron, the latter chairman of the Menominee chapter of Red Cross. Fritz Frederickson, local life guard, recently passed the national course and has been conducting lessons locally.

Obituary

MRS. ELSIE HOULE
Funeral services for Mrs. Elsie Houle, which were very largely attended, were conducted at a solemn requiem high mass Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Anne's church. Rev. Fr. Joseph E. Guertin was celebrant of the mass; Rev. Fr. Beauchene of Stephenson, deacon; and Rev. Fr. Joseph Schaul, of Gladstone, sub-deacon. Present in the sanctuary also were Rev. Fr. Mathias LaViolette of Holy Family parish, and Rev. Fr. Lester C. Bourgeois, assistant pastor of St. Anne's.

The senior choir of the church, Miss Lucille DeGrand, organist, sang the music of the requiem. At the Offertory, Robert Moreau sang "Pie Jesu," and as the body was being removed from the church, he sang "O Meritum Passionis."

Members of St. Anne's Altar society attended the services in a body. Honorary pallbearers, representing the various societies of which Mrs. Houle was a member, were: St. Anne's Altar Society, Mrs. Alice Constantineau, Mrs. Adele LaBranche, Mrs. Joseph Beauchamp, Mrs. Eliza Charbonneau; Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, Mrs. Alphonse Pillion, Mrs. Rose Nerbonne, Mrs. Frank Trudell, Miss Amelia Gauthier; Third Order of St. Francis, Mrs. Elsie McGee, Mrs. Eva Rousseau, Mrs. George Houle and Miss Agnes Burton. Active pallbearers, all grandsons of Mrs. Houle, were Reynold, Donald, Robert and Alphonse Houle and Gerold and William St. Jacques.

Burial was made in the family lot in St. Anne's cemetery. Out of town relatives and friends at the services were Sister Speciosa and Sister Catherine of Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Houle and Gladys, Irving, Ray, Reynold, Donald and Robert of

Parole From Ionia Admits Car Theft; May Be Returned

Newberry, Mich., Aug. 14.—Vere Wells, 23, of Newberry, who was paroled last year from Ionia, after serving one year for car theft, confessed to Trooper Arno Maki, of Newberry state police, over the week-end that he stole the automobile belonging to Coral Edgar, last week-end.

Trooper Maki said that Wells said Saturday night at 10:30 he went to get a girl friend and take her to a dance, but she wasn't at home. Then, after drinking until 2:30 a. m. he stated that he got into Edgar's car, crossed the ignition wires and drove away. He drove to Brimley where a deputy noticed the youth, and notified police of Sault Ste. Marie, who in turn notified the Newberry state police.

Wells, a former watchman for the Robbins Flooming company, was paroled last year from Ionia prison after serving one year, of a 1 to 5 year term on car theft in Kalkaska county.

NEWBERRY BRIEFS

GARDEN CLUB EXHIBIT FRIDAY

Annual Showing Will Be Held In Biology Room of Junior High

The annual vegetable show of Escanaba 4-H garden clubs will be held Friday morning, August 18, under the direction of Henry Wylie, Smith Hughes instructor and E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent, in the biology room of the Escanaba junior high school.

Entries should have exhibits consisting of at least four of the following different kinds of vegetables from their gardens: six carrots, beets, tomatoes, or onions; two heads of cabbage, some Swiss chard, one quart box of string beans or one quart box of peas in the pod. All exhibits must be in place by 10 o'clock Friday morning.

D. L. Clanahan, crops extension specialist of Marquette, will judge the exhibits. Each exhibit must be accompanied by a report and story and no exhibitor will be eligible for prize money whose report and story are not brought in with the exhibits. The work will be judged on a basis of one-third inspection, one-third report and story and one-third exhibit.

The state 4-H fair fund will give prizes again this year for local 4-H shows, awards being made to the winners of first, second and third places in each class.

Each exhibitor whose entries are good enough to qualify but not to finish in one of the first three places will be given a merit award. The best 4-H garden club exhibit will make its owner Escanaba City Garden club champion for 1939.

Due to the fact that there will be no upper peninsula state fair this year, all club members bringing vegetables to the show should plan to take them home as soon as the judging is completed, which will not be later than three o'clock Friday afternoon.

GAME VIOLATORS JAILED
Iron Mountain—Five Dickinson county men, pleading guilty in Justice J. R. Hayes' court at Channing to violation of the conservation laws, are serving terms in the Dickinson county jail.

They are Tom Schindler, age 22, 606 Norway street, and Louis Wiegale, 44, 1002 East Margaret street, both of Iron Mountain; Joseph Dumas, 23, of 428 Hemlock street, and George Mortl, 33, 107

Sterling street, both of Breitung, and Harry "Happy" Vermillion, age 45, of Channing.

All five were arrested by Walter Neims, conservation enforcement officer at Channing, and George Helgen, fire warden.

Schindler, Wiegale, Dumas and Mortl were arrested shortly before midnight, August 9, on the Sacola truck trail, east of Sacola, while attempting to headlight deer, according to the charge.

Projects Delayed

CONGESTION in the Washington headquarters of the WPA administration, apparently caused by the change-over to new regulations, has resulted in the delay of Escanaba's important beach and paving projects.

The beach project was to have been resumed yesterday, but now probably will be delayed for two weeks. Delays on the beach project are to be regretted for because of its magnitude it is a long-range program to extend over a period of 10 years or more, and a minimum loss of time is desirable.

In these modern times, it is the nature of the American people to be impatient, and to many Escanaba citizens it may seem that little progress is being made on the waterfront. However, consideration must be given to the fact that the yacht basin is well along and already is serving the needs of local and visiting yachtsmen.

Attention is now being turned toward the development of the bathing beach, lagoon and playground area adjoining the basin. This new phase of the program is also very important, and the city administration is reported to be hopeful of having a new beach, although not fully developed, available for public use next year. It will be recalled that Chicago's outer drive and other waterfront development also took years to create. The attainment of worthwhile objectives usually requires considerable time.

Lining Up for Garner

FRIENDS of Vice President John Garner were much cheered Saturday by the announcement from Rep. Sam Rayburn, majority floor leader, that he favored the Texan for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940.

Since Rayburn steered much important New Deal legislation through the house, much significance is attached to his teaming up with the old-time Democrats, who are booming Garner for the presidency. For some time now, public opinion polls have shown the vice president to be far ahead of other often mentioned White House possibilities.

That there is developing a sharp cleavage between New Dealers and old-line Democrats is revealed in the manner the factions within the party are marshalling their forces. The Young Democratic club of America, at its annual convention in Pittsburgh, went on record as favoring the New Deal program and urged that only liberals be nominated for the 1940 contest with the Republicans. Resolutions adopted by the Young Democrats also criticized, without mentioning names, those leaders within the party who have been attacking the New Deal.

The situation augurs that there will be an energetic scramble by the two factions to line up delegates for the Democratic national convention next summer.

Wildlife Laboratory

CONSERVATIONISTS will view with satisfaction the decision of the state conservation commission to establish a wildlife experiment station in the Cusno game refuge near Munising.

A few years ago, the Wolverine Conservation association started a campaign either a federal or state station for carrying on studies of wildlife. The idea was also enthusiastically supported by the members of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's association.

The state conservation department has been carrying on deer feeding experiments for some time at the Cusno refuge. Studies of moose and other wildlife also have been made on a moderate scale.

The department now plans with the authority given by the conservation commission to expand its research work, and is something that will be greatly appreciated for it has long been felt that there is a real need for such facilities.

Safeguarding U. S. Lifeline

IT is good to learn that the construction of the third set of locks of the Panama Canal is to begin at once.

More and more it is apparent that the Canal Zone is the jugular vein of the United States. In any "new Munich" that might be attempted in South America, the Canal is vital. In any quick shift of naval force from east to west, or west to east, the Canal is vital. No pains ought to be spared to make it secure. A new military road—into Panama, new airfields, new complements of troops, and other defense measures are to be provided as fast as possible.

When the Panama Canal was opened in 1914, it was not only a wonder of the modern world, but its facilities were considered ample. Today even those marvelous locks, which operate with such precision, are barely big enough. The great British battleship Hood, passing through the Canal, overhung the edges of the locks, and even knocked off a few lamp-posts in making the transit. Bigger ships are to come.

So purely from the standpoint of facilities, the new locks will be a good thing. But there is another aspect. In this day of undeclared wars, it is generally presumed that the first notice the United States would have of a war on it by any other country would come in the form of an attack without warning on the Canal. This could come either by air, or by the blowing up in the locks of a foreign ship making the transit. Either, if luckily carried out, might block the Canal for many months.

The new locks, when completed, will be understood to be for the use of U. S. naval vessels in general, with such exceptions as the military authorities might make. In time of crisis, none but U. S. naval ships would probably be allowed in them at all. That would eliminate the chance of blowing up a vessel and blocking them. Of course the new locks, while close enough to the old ones to be protected by many of the same aerial defenses, would be far enough off to require two very lucky attacks to close the Canal rather than one. Every country in the two Americas may feel safer when this job is done.

But in addition, the Nicaraguan plan has not been abandoned. A commission of eight experts is one way to that country to survey a moderate-draft canal and parallel highway system for that country. This survey results from recent conversations between President Somoza and President Roosevelt at the White House.

This would not be, at least immediately, a deep-draft canal that would handle the largest vessels, but it might handle the largest vessels, but it might handle some shallow-draft transit at comparatively small expense, and the beginning of what might later be made into a second Isthmian waterway.

All the American nations, and especially, of course, the United States, thus show that they are alert to the problem of hemisphere defense, and that they do not propose to neglect them while the world continues in its present jittery condition.

HOPELESS (Grand Rapids Press)

William Brownrigg, Warren M. Huff and Kenneth C. Pennebaker formed the chief executive staff which built the Michigan merit system in 1937 and 1938. They were devoted, conscientious and qualified experts who realized that administration was at least half the law. Under their direction the state was given a civil service system that measured up with the best in the country. Probably no state ever had the advantage of such an excellent group of administrators.

But when it became apparent that the spoliemen were prepared to cripple the system that had been established Director Brownrigg went to Washington. Mr. Huff, who succeeded him, soon resigned to follow his former chief to the national capital.

Mr. Pennebaker, however, remained on, hoping some semblance of civil service, some remnant of the merit plan, might be preserved from the wreckage that the ripper act left in its wake. Despite the reactionary course of the legislature he believed there might be some salvage.

How Mr. Pennebaker has resigned to accept the opportunity that has been presented him to build a new civil service structure in Minnesota. He is leaving Michigan, however, not merely because of a slightly higher financial inducement, but because he views the situation here as "hopeless." He declares he is unable to do here "the type of job I wanted to do."

Director Pennebaker had believed that even the remains of civil service left by the ripper act might have been held together to form a "respectable merit system." But he failed to reckon with the completeness of the sabotage that the legislature planned. He failed to recognize that in tearing down the civil service system the spoliemen in Lansing had not neglected to insure against its revival by setting up a starvation appropriation.

The Pennebaker resignation therefore completes what the legislature set out to accomplish. Brownrigg, Huff and Pennebaker, the "godfathers" of the real merit system in Michigan, have been driven out. The last of the group which gave so freely of its time and energy in the establishment of genuine civil service in 1937 has now departed. Virtually nothing is left of the excellently equipped and highly devoted organization which was set up to afford this state a civil service system second to none.

Reaction, political spitework and shameless spoliemanism have had their way. The citizens of Michigan have been deprived of almost the last vestige of a decent and workable merit plan. This is the record that the Michigan legislature has to stand on. It is the record that Gov. Dickinson approved when he affixed his signature to the ripper act.

A $13,000,000,000 CONGRESS (Christian Science Monitor)

Many not-so-ancient Americans can remember the protest that went up against the first "billion-dollar Congress." Yet the Congress which finally disintegrated on Saturday and is being hailed for stopping the spending-lending program, spent $13,200,000,000.

Considering the total results of this session that amount stands out. It must temper the satisfaction of citizens over the belated disposition to save. It must be a constant reminder of the need for continued efforts to bring American government down to a sound fiscal basis. The most spectacular feature of the session was the sharp defeat of the President's spend-lead program. It is politically important. And it gives some assurance to business. But a $13,000,000,000 Congress is hardly the conventional basis for a business boom.

Those who believe that the New Deal is the Nation's major trouble will be encouraged. For it would be difficult to say exactly what remains of the Fourth New Deal today. Certainly the President's political power has received a decisive setback. Whatever danger there has been of

World Affairs Reviewed

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—Favorable comment on Switzerland's unchanged position in European affairs has been frequent in recent months. For centuries the country has served as the balance wheel of Europe, and its continued course of peace and independence, when other countries have fallen victims to the demands of dictators, marks Switzerland as an example of true democracy.

The ideals that form the backbone of American independence are similar to those which Switzerland has fostered since 1291, when the men of the Valley of Uri formed an everlasting league for the purpose of self-defense against anyone who should attack or trouble them. This federation idea was a revised version of the ancient Greek state, and since then has been copied not only by the United States, but also by Canada, South Africa, Australia and the former German republic.

In the years that followed the league's formation, the forest cantons—or states—progressed from three to eight, and each century found the Swiss league more and more independent of the neighboring nations which had sought to keep the country under vassalage. It was during the years when the cantons were fighting off the dominance of Austria that the national hero, William Tell, was supposed to have lived. Of course, there is no record of William Tell, and even in Switzerland it is generally agreed that no such person ever existed; that the hero is but a legend. However, this legend of a boatman's refusing to bow to an Austrian governor's hat, but instead sending an arrow through it, so symbolizes the Swiss people that the legend is repeated as a cherished fact.

That any small federation should have been able to keep its ideals and independence through the troublous centuries, when European empires were in the making, is remarkable enough; but that the twenty-two small states of this federation should be comprised of people who differ from each other in languages, religions, social instincts, physical attributes, and even in climatic reactions, is still more remarkable. Nationally the inhabitants of the Swiss republic are probably the most fiercely patriotic people on earth, yet each state is more jealous of its governmental rights than are the States of this country.

An unfamiliar tongue is not considered an obstacle in Switzerland. Thirty-five German dialects are spoken under the Swiss flag, sixteen French, half as many Italian, and five dialects of the strange and archaic tongue Romansch—survivals of classic Latin used by invading Roman legions twenty centuries ago. No country with a like population—about four and one-half million—has such a variety of languages. Switzerland is the one European country not dominated by a single race, uniting the Gallic people of France and Italy with the Teutonic strain from Germany.

A SYMBOLIC NATION

It was Bismarck who, paraphrasing Metternich's famous sneer at Italy and said that Switzerland is a geographical expression. Like all other epigrams, the Iron Chancellor's phrase leaves out far more than it includes. It is about as true and untrue as it would be of England, because the sea has played much the same role in the development of English freedom as have the mountains in the strengthening of Swiss liberty. The larger truth would be to say that Switzerland is a symbolic nation—one whose history stamps her as a country of popular freedom and lasting independence. In size Switzerland is decidedly small, but her form of government is universally acknowledged as a model of democracy.

Switzerland is comprised of about 14,945 square miles, and consists of a plateau lying between two mountain ranges stretching from southeast to southwest. These three sections—the Jura, the plateau, and the high Alpine region—occupy respectively, one-sixth, two-sixths, and three-sixths of the total area. In spite of the small range, the mountain distributions in the climate of different sections.

While other nations cluttered up their histories with wars and revolutions, Switzerland began piling up a world record of conferences. Geneva is now foremost in this activity as headquarters of the League of Nations, the International Labor Office, and the International Red Cross—whose flag is a symbol of mercy to the whole world, and is Switzerland's flag in reverse. That Switzerland was chosen as the home of the League of Nations is another tribute to the diplomacy and patriotism of the little republic.

A third-term campaign is markedly lessened—unless there is a war. A rebuff has been administered to Labor's political power. And Congress has decided to see how the country gets along without the annual pump-priming which New Dealers have said was necessary.

Normally these things would all be encouraging to the conservative sections of the community. They would be expected to improve confidence and promote the flow of private investment. We expect them to have that effect. But we do not feel that the record of this Congress justifies great optimism either for the economic stability of the United States or for thorough-going solution of major problems.

Congress recaptured the power of the purse, but pressure blocs pull strings. For instance the $119,000,000 items for crop loans restored at the last minute added to an all-time high for subsidies to farm interests. The Legislature effectively rebelled against overweening Executive power, but made little constructive use of its own. It left foreign policy in a muddled and hazardous state. The unemployment situation with its continued drain on national finances for relief was not tackled basically. And the progress toward national bankruptcy was continued at a faster clip than ever before in peace time.

Q. Who wrote the famous play called "The Passing of the Third Floor Back"? T. S. B. A. It was the work of Jerome K. Jerome, English author and playwright.

New York Column

BY GEORGE ROSS

New York—More and more celebrities are being besieged for their signatures these days as they leave such Manhattan night-eries as La Conga and the Stork Club, so autograph collecting must be on the upswing.

I asked Mary Benjamin about this and she said yes. Miss Benjamin, who is virtually the dean of American autograph collectors and sellers, with offices on Madison Avenue, said the depression had hit the autograph market rather hard the last few years but that trading was getting rather brisk again.

When I brought up the subject of people standing around a restaurant and stopping traffic hoping to get a look at Ann Sheridan or James Cagney and possibly their signatures, Miss Benjamin just sniffed. It seems such signature collectors are the small fry of the autograph collecting brotherhood and that the prestige, as well as the money, doesn't particularly lie in this direction; it lies in the literary and historical field.

COUNTRY TEEMS WITH COLLECTORS Collectors, real collectors, don't just buy signatures—they buy signatures on letters and documents of historical value. Thus, a typewritten letter done by a secretary and signed by President Roosevelt is worth about $5.00 but one written by the President himself brings $15.00 to $20.00. No one knows how many autograph collectors there are in this country, but a conservative estimate would be 50,000 with a couple of million tacked on to allow for the small fry.

At the top of the Chirography market, Miss Benjamin says, William Shakespeare is "tops." He left only two or three signatures and these belong to museums and libraries. So if an authentic Shakespeare should appear on the market today bidding would probably start from $1,000,000. But Shakespeare is an exception for almost any other signature falls within the modest pocket range.

POLITICIANS NOT REGARDED HIGHLY The most widely sought after signature in this country is George Washington's, whose Autograph Letter Signed brings from $50 up. Next most popular is Lincoln, whose letters bring an average price of $15, with a corresponding upward jump if the letter has a real historical value. The most valuable American signatures are those of two men whom the average citizen has never heard of—Thomas Lynch, Jr., and Button Guinness, both signers of the Declaration of Independence. Lynch died young, leaving only one full signed letter, now the property of the New York Public Library and worth about $100,000. Just his signature alone brings $1,000. And not far behind is Button Guinness whose few letters command $500.

Cheapest of all autographs in the historical field are politicians'. They write too many letters and never say much when they do. The average U. S. Cabinet member might bring $1.00. President's are in a separate class but even at that one can get a complete set of Presidential letters from Miss Benjamin for $1,000—from Washington to Roosevelt.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—Several weeks ago The Washington Merry-Go-Round observed that Representative Eugene Cox of Georgia, leading foe of the anti-sweatshop Wage-Hour Act, was King of congressional nepotists, drawing for himself and six members of his family a total of $27,600 in government salaries. This was an error. Cox is not the King but the Emperor of nepotists.

Although he has excoriated the New Deal, he and his relatives have made a thriving business of it. New information discloses that the $27,600 previously reported is only about half of what Cox & Co. are pocketing this year. Their government income exceeds by several times the salary of any other federal official, with the exception of the President of the United States.

It is nearly four times greater than the salary of Vice President Garner, nearly three times that of Chief Justice Hughes, and more than five times the pay of the commanding officers of the Army and Navy.

The Cox gravy list as uncovered to date is as follows:

Lamar Cox, son, counsel of the Electric Home and Farm Authority	$ 4,800
Ode E. Cox, brother, assistant disbursing clerk of the House	3,900
Charles M. Cox, nephew, administrative officer, north-central division of the AAA	3,800
Mrs. Jim Lou Cox Hoggard, sister postmistress of Camilla, Ga., Cox's home town	2,400
Mrs. J. Chaney Robinson, sister, Cox's secretary	3,380
Robin Cox, nephew, clerk in the docket section of the Securities and Exchange	1,740
Robert E. Cox, nephew, clerk in Library of Congress	1,620
J. Chaney Robinson, brother-in-law, assistant in House document room	1,860
W. Elliott Dunwoody, Jr., son-in-law, chief architect on two U. S. Housing Authority projects in Macon, Ga., which will net him and two associates fees amounting to $69,000. If split three ways Dunwoody's share will be not less than	23,000
Cox's own congressional pay, aside from mileage and other perquisites	10,000
Total	$56,850

Note: Martha Hoggard, niece, was dropped by Cox from his congressional payroll as an $1,800 clerk on July 1.

OLD TIMER The phone jangled on the desk of general Joe Mulcahy, new press chief of the Justice Department. "New York calling," said the operator.

The call was from a New York newspaper inquiring about a tip on a spy case. "We've got to get the information right away," insisted the editor, "our deadline is 3 o'clock this afternoon."

"Okay, I'll do my best," promised Mulcahy. "But—say—isn't your paper a morning sheet? Don't tell me you have a 3 P. M. deadline?"

"Sure we do—for our first edition."

"I get it," chuckled Mulcahy, a veteran newsmen, "that's the mail edition for Alaska."

—BUYING FRANCO— Real lowdown on the State Department $13,750,000 loan to Franco is that it was a slush fund to buy off the Spanish dictator on behalf of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation and the National City Bank.

In other words, the "New Deal" State Department, like the Harding-Coolidge-Hoover State Department, was playing the game of big business.

The story goes back to the sudden recognition of Franco last spring, a fast one pulled by the State Department while Roosevelt was in Warm Springs. The excuse given by them at the time was that Franco had promised to return the property of the I. T. and T., which supplies Spain with its entire telephone system. The property has been in the hands of Germans.

Although the State Department boys boasted of this concession from Franco, weeks passed and Franco didn't produce. Colonel Sothenes Behn, head of I. T. and T., cooled his heels on the Spanish border. Franco would not let him in, and German technicians continued to run the I. T. and T. property. National City Bank officials also were unable to return to their branch banks in Spain.

Weeks slipped into months and still Colonel Behn got nowhere. So the State Department boys adopted new tactics. They decided to buy off Franco, and held out bait to him in the form of an Export-Import Bank credit for L. S. cotton.

Jeane Jones didn't like the idea of the loan, Henry Morgenthau fought it tooth and nail. Henry Wallace, who is trying to sell cotton, wasn't keen about it. The State Department argued that it would not only help American interests, but help Franco stabilize his war-torn country.

NEW EVIDENCE IN CHURCH CASE

Former Dean Clarke Seeks Affidavit to Prosecutor

Evidence on which to base an embezzlement charge against the Rt. Rev. Hayward S. Ablewhite, former bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Northern Michigan, may be developed this week when John D. Voelker, Marquette county prosecuting attorney, and Robert A. Burns, assistant state attorney general, confer with the Rev. Maurice Clarke, of Camden, S. C., former dean of St. Paul's cathedral in Marquette, it was stated Saturday by Mr. Burns.

The Rev. Mr. Clarke, dean of St. Paul's from May, 1930, until January, 1936, is scheduled to arrive Friday or Saturday and is coming here after furnishing the prosecutors with an affidavit in which he asserts that in 1933 Bishop Ablewhite and other trustees of the Episcopal fund from which $69,000 is missing, attempted unsuccessfully to get an accounting from the late A. E. Miller, secretary-treasurer of the fund and diocesan chancellor, who is alleged to have used the money largely in stock market speculation.

Reported Fund Intact In 1935 The affidavit asserts further that Bishop Ablewhite, when Miller refused to give an accounting, overruled an attempt of the 1935 diocesan convention to obtain an audit by convention vote and told the convention that an audit had been made and that the fund was intact.

It was reported here shortly after Bishop Ablewhite's resignation that the accounting firm which made an audit at the request of the bishop, who was president of the board of trustees, reported to the bishop that records of the fund appeared to be in order, but that Mr. Miller, after several requests by the auditor, had failed to produce the securities.

The auditor was unwilling to certify as to the condition of the fund until the securities were produced and so stated in his written report to the bishop. That part of the auditor's report was not presented to the trustees, however, it was said. The bishop is said to have sent the auditor a personal check to cover the latter's bill for services rendered.

According to the Clarke affidavit, Bishop Ablewhite, after telling the 1935 convention that an audit had been made and that all was well, told members of the convention informally, later, that a formal audit had not been made, but that it would be made by the late Fred J. Schultze, a friend of Miller and an officer at St. Paul's parish.

Clarke's Resignation Recalled Entrance of the Rev. Mr. Clarke into the church case with evidence which the prosecutors say may link Bishop Ablewhite with the Miller embezzlement recalls circumstances under which Clarke resigned as dean of St. Paul's cathedral in 1935. Clarke, it is known here and in other parishes of the diocese, suspected in 1933, if not before, that something was wrong with the church funds.

When he raised the question and suggested a checkup, however, he became unpopular with the late A. E. Miller, who was senior vestryman of St. Paul's parish, was instrumental in forcing the dean's resignation.

Clarke had many friends in the parish who sympathized with him when he declared, at a stormy parish meeting, that he was being persecuted and that his salary was being reduced as part of the effort to oust him. Because of Miller's influence on the vestry and because Bishop Ablewhite made no move in Clarke's defense, the dean's resignation was accepted. Bishop Ablewhite, in his statement to the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, presiding bishop of the Episcopal church in Amer-

American Cowboy Songs Discussed At Rotary Meeting

Dr. E. C. Beck, head of the English department of the Mt. Pleasant Teachers college, for the past ten days has been living in the open hunting for the songs of the blueberry pickers and any refugee verse from the Upper Peninsula lumberjacks, gave the Escanaba Rotarians a sample of his cowboy collection at the Delta hotel yesterday noon.

Dr. Beck, however, began by leading the Escanaba folk song, "Red Iron Ore," and having the Rotarians sing the chorus of "Derry Down, Down, Down, Derry Down."

Then he began talking of the cow country and the cow waddies he has visited from Sault Ste. Marie, to Regina, Canada. He divided the songs into two particular groups: saddle songs and roundup songs. The saddle song have a rhythm governed by saddle movement. Then he sang, "Whoopee-ti-yi-ho," "Off to the Railroad Corral" (Colorado), and "The Bold Vaquero" (Texas) to illustrate.

With an interlude of stories gathered on the Pecos about that Paul Bunyan of the prairies, Pecos Bill, he talked of the roundup or mess wagon songs, the ones sung around the campfires at night. The most famous of these, Home on the Range, he traced to its beginnings, "The Dying Cowboy," as sung by a Montana cowboy, and "I'd Like to Be in Texas," as produced by a Texas vaquero, ended the program.

Three Escape Injury When Car Is Forced Off County Highway

Three people escaped serious injury in an automobile accident which occurred on county road A off highway M-69 at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when a car driven by James McNally was crowded off the road by another automobile which failed to stop.

The accident was reported to the Delta county sheriff's department by McNally yesterday morning. According to his report he met an automobile on county road A and the car stayed directly in the center of the road forcing McNally to go into the ditch to avoid a collision.

The front end of the McNally car was badly smashed. Riding with him at the time of the accident were John and Ernest Gugen.

Two cars were damaged in an accident which happened at 8:15 Sunday night on Lake Shore Drive when a car driven by Ray Hermans was hit by one driven by Webster Marble, of Gladstone, as Hermans was turning into the Henry Dahms property.

Hermans attempted to make a left turn just at the time that Marble started to pass him. No occupants in either vehicle were injured, but the right front fender and bumper on the Marble car and left rear fender, tail light and bumper on Hermans' car were smashed.

The number of individual sugar growers in Puerto Rico has nearly doubled in the last five years, although total sugar production has decreased more than 20 per cent because of Federal crop control.

CARE NEEDED DURING MEET

Chief Warns of Traffic Problems During Convention

With the decorating of business establishments on Ludington street with banners and flags yesterday, Escanaba began in earnest its preparation to entertain members of the American Legion at their state convention, which opens here Saturday.

As a part of that preparation Chief of Police Michael Eitenhofer, the man in charge of the department that will be responsible for public safety, devoted himself to the task of preparing to protect residents from any mishaps during the four day meeting.

"Slow driving, cautious driving and the cooperation of everyone is necessary if we are to prevent any traffic fatalities," he said, "and I cannot, I am sure, emphasize these points too strongly."

In addition to the large number of delegates from all Legion posts in the state, it is expected that the convention will attract thousands of visitors from all sections of the peninsula. It will be a case of all roads leading to Escanaba and with the unusual heavy amount of traffic automobile drivers cannot be too careful.

"I would suggest that Escanaba residents avoid driving their cars as much as possible during the convention, particularly in going to and from the various parades that will be held, as it will

Perkins Resident Leaves For Visit In Native Germany

Perkins, Aug. 14.—William Gudwer, who operates the Riverside Dairy here, left Saturday with Joseph Jacke of Escanaba for Germany, where he will visit for about two months and a half.

He will visit at the Fair in New York before sailing on August 17. He will sail on the Hamburg-American liner Deutschland and will visit Belgium, Switzerland, Germany, Denmark and Alsace-Lorraine. While in Germany, he will visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Gudwer at Busen, a health resort where he was born. Gudwer has been a resident of this country for 10 years. He has two brothers in the United States and two brothers and three sisters in Germany.

Howard Jackson, 16, who lives at 604 Owensia avenue, Highland Park, Ill., suffered a broken hip yesterday when he was struck by a car driven by Earl W. Loveland, of Milwaukee on highway U. S. 2 and 41 near the entrance to Pioneer Trail park.

Jackson, who has been a guest of the Wicklund family residing near Pioneer Trail park, was standing on the side of the highway with Dick Van De Waghe and John LaBrie. A truck owned by Jessie Owens and driven by Clarence Willette passed the boys and as it did the wind caused the hat of a passenger in the truck to blow out the window.

The hat rolled out in the center of the highway and Jackson ran out to pick it up. He did not see the Loveland car, which was following the truck and stepped directly into the path of the automobile. Although Loveland tried to avoid hitting him he was struck by the fender.

An ambulance was called and he was rushed to St. Francis hospital, where an examination revealed that he had a broken hip.

Patricia A. Jones, Marquette, Bride In Home Wedding

A Marquette wedding of interest here is that of Miss Patricia Ann Jones, daughter of Elmer W. Jones, and Edward Jewellyn Pearce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Pearce, which took place Saturday afternoon, August 15.

An account of the ceremony, in the Marquette Mining Journal is as follows: "Miss Patricia Ann Jones, daughter of Elmer W. Jones, 315 East Prospect street, was married to Edward Jewellyn Pearce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Pearce, 615 Spruce street, at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon in St. Paul's Episcopal church, with the Rev. John G. Carlton officiating.

"Miss Gertrude Jones, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The best man was Robert J. Pearce, brother of the groom. Ushers were Lincoln B. Frazier, Munro L. Tibbets, Wayne A. Sykes and Frank J. Russell, Jr.

"The altar of the church was covered with white flowers. A row of tall baskets, containing white phlox and hydrangeas, extended forward from each side of the altar. The organ also was decorated with baskets of Shasta daisies.

"The bride wore a gown of white marquisette with a train, short puff sleeves and pleating on the yoke and skirt. She wore a finger-tip veil, held by a coronet of pleated marquisette and carried a shower bouquet of white and delicate pink roses.

"The maid of honor also wore a gown of white marquisette, which had a full, floor length skirt, a snug bodice and short puff sleeves. She carried a bouquet and wore a tiara of garden flowers.

"The groom's mother wore a gown of felle blue chiffon with a matching turban. She wore a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

"After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father, the couple receiving guests from 3:30 to 5:30 before a fireplace decorated with an arch of evergreen. Garden flowers were used throughout the house.

"Miss Mary Pierce presided in the dining room. Assisting her were the Misses Betty Bayliss, Jean Hansen and Zanne Coate. The table was centered with a bowl of white flowers and balanced on each end by crystal candle sticks with white candles. The wedding cake also was white.

"Those who assisted with the reception were Mrs. Harvard Jean, Mrs. W. Douglas McIntosh, Mrs. B. J. Nancarrow and Mrs. Lincoln B. Frazier, who poured, and the Misses Mary and Julia Koch, who had charge of the punch.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Miron, 420 South 12th street, at St. Francis hospital, on Monday, August 14.

FOLDING FAN

For traveling ease in hot weather, it might be pleasant to take along a small folding electric fan that blows its cooling breath equally well when hung from a hook on the wall or standing on a nearby table. It's so compact, when folded, that it takes surprisingly little luggage space, and its bright chrome plating resists tarnish and rust and is easy to clean.

Newly Ordained Priest Is Celebrating His First Mass Here This Morning

Amid the pomp and ceremony characteristic of the occasion, Rev. Fr. Fabian Jolicoeur will celebrate his first Holy Mass at St. Anne's church in this city at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Father Fabian is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Jolicoeur, Route One, Gladstone. He was ordained to the priesthood by the Most Rev. P. Rhode, Bishop of Green Bay. The ordination took place at West DePere, Wis.

Father Fabian is the first member of Holy Family parish, Flat Rock, to be ordained to the priesthood. His parents were the first couple to be married in Holy Family church which was destroyed by fire about two years ago. The young priest received his early education at the Escanaba township school and St. Joseph high school from which he graduated in 1936. He matriculated at St. Norbert college in 1932, receiving his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1936. He did post-graduate work at the University of Wisconsin. He has been a member of the staff of the language department at St. Norbert since September, 1936.

Officers of Mass Assisting Father Fabian in the celebration of his first mass will be: Rev. Fr. M. H. LaViolette, Assisting Priest; Rev. Fr. Francis Geynet, Deacon; Rev. Fr. Joseph E. Guertin, Sub-deacon; Rev. Fr. Lester Bourgeois, Master of Ceremonies; Rev. Fr. George LaForest will preach the sermon. As his little bride, Father Fabian will have his young sister, Lorraine Jolicoeur. She will be attended by Jerome Besson and Charles Lancour as pages, and Winifred Lancour and Marlene Klug as flower girls.

A procession will form at St. Anne's rectory with a guard of honor of Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus: A. D. Richer, William Finnegan, Charles Ford and C. Gallagher. The guard of honor will be followed by the following altar boys: Crucifer Robert Beaudoin; Acolytes, Robert Dufresne and Gerald Seymour; Tharifer, Leo Beauchamp; Book bearer, Ralph DeGrand; Torchbearers, John LaCombe, William Vachon, Joseph Charlebois, Kenneth Dufresne, Donald LaCombe and Donald Wilson.

Music of Mass Music for the mass, which will be sung by the choir, is as follows: Processional, March Romaine Proper of the Mass, Gregorian Mass in Honor of Our Lady of Pompeii, Eduardo Marzo

Cheyenne, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, where they attended the Golden Gate Exposition, and Hollywood, and on their return, spent some time at Boulder Dam, the Grand Canyon and also visited with friends in Rocky Ford, Colo.

PINEAPPLE STUFFING A little crushed or diced pineapple is a good addition to the savory stuffing used for roasts.

COTTERILLS GIVE PROGRAM

Norway-The Cotterill sisters of Iron Mountain, prominent and talented musicians, entertained a fair-sized audience in the Norway city auditorium last evening at a program entitled "Melodies You Love to Hear." It was arranged in observance of the sixtieth anniversary of the Norway Methodist church, being celebrated this week.

Preceding the program, the Rev. Howard Snell, pastor of the church, spoke briefly about the celebration and then introduced the entertainers, the Misses Bess, Alice and Florence. The program, presented in an informal manner, was excellent.

FINAL CONCERT ON WEDNESDAY

Municipal Band Plays In Rose Park to End Season

The final regular concert of the season by the Escanaba municipal band will be played in Rose Park Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

The band still has some appearances to make, however, including marching in the Legion parade and other functions.

Director Frank Karas has arranged an interesting program for Wednesday evening, with several popular songs being interspersed among the following numbers:

Colonel Lindberg March: Lucky Lindy—by Carl Mader.

Overture: Sunny Spain—K. L. King.

Waltz: Russian Lullaby—I. Berlin.

A Song: Trees—O. Rasbach.

Selection: Faust—Ch. Gounod.

Fox Trot: The Toymaker's Dream—E. Golden.

A Description: Hunting Scene Buclossi.

Selection: In Dear Old Scotland—E. Ascher.

National Anthem—Key.

Moving Thanksgiving Would Be Headache For Grid Schedules

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt's plan to move Thanksgiving Day ahead a week provided a headache tonight for football schedule-makers.

If he goes ahead with his idea of proclaiming November 23 as "turkey day" they will find their climatic classics relegated to a mere late Thursday in November.

So far as many a traditional big game is concerned the Roosevelt plan might kick up more clamor than a hot halfback running the wrong way.

All over the country, football games arranged well in advance are booked for November 30—"Thanksgiving," the schedule makers trusted. In the East there are Fordham-New York U. in their annual "Battle of the Bronx," Cornell-Pennsylvania and some others of equal drawing power.

To move them back to the proposed new Thanksgiving date, November 23, might mean playing two games in three days or even three within seven days in the event there were engagements on the preceding and following Saturdays.

If the "Thanksgiving" games remain scheduled for that bleak November 30 when even the turkey hash will have vanished and the prospective customers will have returned to work, some of the games may be played in comparative privacy.

Pilot Of Orioles Will Join Phillies

Baltimore, Aug. 14 (AP)—Jack Ogden, vice president and general manager of the International League Baltimore Orioles, was released from his contract tonight to become assistant to President Gerald P. Nugent of the National League Philadelphia club.

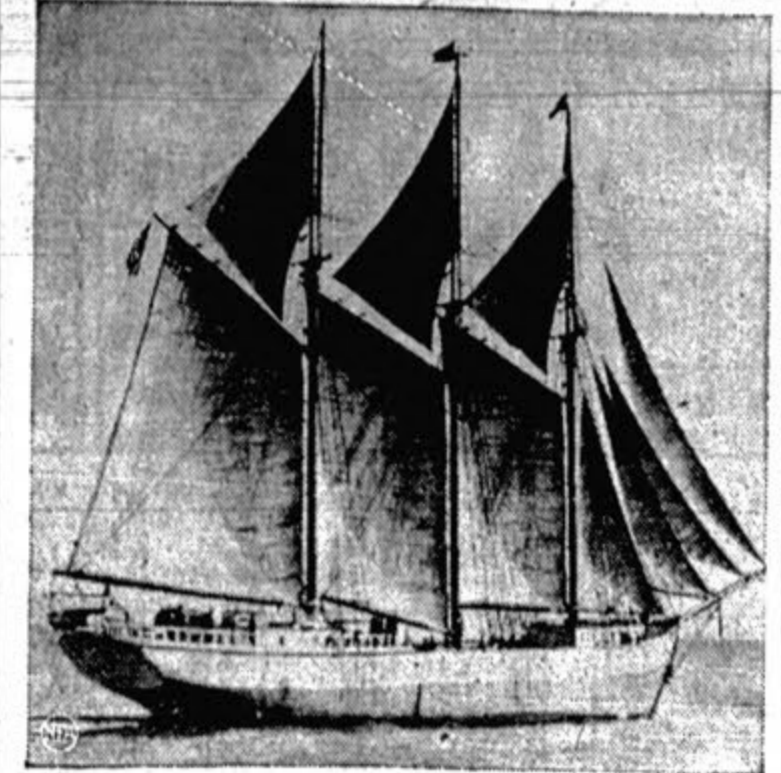

The one-time major league pitcher will be in charge of rebuilding the club through minor league tieups and working agreements.

Although his five-year contract had two years to run, the board of directors agreed to release Ogden effective January 1.

"I'm very much pleased at the big opportunity," said Ogden, who pitched his way from Baltimore into the major league Cincinnati Reds, St. Louis Browns, St. Louis Cardinals, Rochester and back to Baltimore in 1933. "My job will be to dig up ball players for them."

Jesse Lanthicum, sport editor of the Baltimore Sun, said tonight it had been reported Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Orioles, would be succeeded next year by Alphonse Thomas, Oriole coach.

Local Flier Sights Missing Scout Ship

Lieut. Walter Arntzen of this city, flying with Lieut. Harold Skelly, American Airlines pilot, sighted the Oliver Perry, Boy Scout training ship, about 20 miles northeast of Sturgeon Bay Sunday afternoon following an extensive aerial and water search for the ship which had been missing three days.

When sighted, the ship already had been located by the coast guard cutter Nanesmond out of Two Rivers, Wisconsin. When the fliers returned to their base here, they wired to headquarters at Chicago, notifying them of the discovery of the missing ship.

The Oliver H. Perry, schooner formerly known as the J. T. Wins, was carrying 43 persons aboard, a majority of whom were Sea Scouts from Chicago. Others included a licensed captain, mate, seaman and chef.

The ship was grounded off the Straits of Mackinac but was eased off with the assistance of coast guard surf boats. It left there Thursday and was unreported late Saturday night. Several coast guard cutters and three reserve army planes were dispatched on the search and two planes used Escanaba as their base of operations. They were in charge of Lieut. Herbert Horton of the U. S. Army base at Chicago. Included in the party in addition to Lieut. Horton and Lieut. Skelly, who was a former student of Arntzen, were Sergts. James H. Braun and O. C. Lind of Chicago.

The schooner Perry had been becalmed and, after being stocked with three days' provisions, proceeded under its own power to the conclusion of its trip.

Prof. Ham Will Sing Here Friday, Aug. 18

Escanabas will have an excellent opportunity to enjoy a musical and humorous program of dynamic quality when Prof. Samuel C. Ham of Iowa Wesleyan college, who is vacationing at his summer home on Misery Bay, presents one of his rare personal appearances in a musical role here Friday, Aug. 18, accompanied by Freeman Empson, well-known Gladstone pianist.

Professor Ham, who has given several programs here in the past, is head of the music department at Iowa Wesleyan and has instructed at that school for seven years. Head of the voice department of DePauw University for several years, he also was dean of vocal music at Simpson college, Indianola, Ia., for some six or seven years.

With Boston Opera Co. He has sung professionally with the Boston Light Opera Co., the Chicago Festival Quartette and with many outstanding oratorio groups which were on tour throughout the United States. He was leader of the fellowship program at the Lake Geneva National Youth Conference during the Chicago World's Fair.

Born in Crystal Falls, where his parents still reside, Prof. Ham has served his vacations for some fifteen or twenty years at the island he owns in Misery Bay.

In his early days a free-lance cartoonist, lecturer and traveler, he served during the World War with the Air Corps, and was a reporter and cartoonist for the Plane News, a publication of the Service. He also wrote for a French newspaper at that time. After the Armistice he toured for some time in France with his own company of entertainers.

Impersonation Remarkable Prof. Ham has been enthusiastically received by audiences wherever he has sung, and has delighted listeners with his vivid impersonations and humorous sketches.

"He Never Tried a Medicine Like It"

Declared Mr. Schroeder: KruGon Met His Greatest Expectations; Back Pains Yield Easily; Sleeps Well Now

"KruGon was a real blessing to me," said Mr. Gus Schroeder, 1227 Prairie Ave., Beloit, Wisconsin. "For years frequent bladder action had caused me worry and distress. I was up many times every night and my sleep and rest were so badly broken I was constantly tired and worn-out. I endured such awful pains in my back I could hardly straighten-up at times. These poisonous impurities would not be properly eliminated and try as I did I could get nothing to help me. I tried medicine after medicine and it was very discouraging with each complete failure for relief. Then one day I learned of KruGon and was persuaded to give it a fair trial."

"Never have I taken a medicine before that was able to do its work so thoroughly and efficiently as KruGon has in my case," continued Mr. Schroeder. "As soon as I was getting proper elimination of clogged toxic poisons my health worries were solved. Those back pains have left me, my rest and sleep is no longer disturbed by night risings. I rise each morning rested and refreshed after a good night's sleep and am ready for the days work ahead. It is wonderful the change KruGon brought me with such ease and accuracy."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.

Recreation Circus Set For Thursday

The third annual recreation circus will be held in Ludington Park this Thursday, August 17, beginning at 7:00 p. m.

There will be a program of music, clowns, acrobatics, strong man acts, bicycle polo match, dancing, novelty numbers, and a special skit based on the "Old woman who lived in a shoe, who had so many children she didn't know what to do."

The circus is one of the highlights of the summer recreation program under the supervision of the department of parks and recreation and is directed for the third consecutive year by Mrs. Bernice Anderson, WPA playground director, assisted by other WPA playground, art, and special activities leaders. Clarence Moreau will be the announcer.

The performers have been gathered from talent found on the various playgrounds and have

INSURANCE SYSTEM

BEHIND THE SCENES

By Bruce Catton

Washington—If you like to dip into the future and look for portents and marvels, you ought to devote a little speculative attention to the Department of Agriculture's famous food stamp plan.

Here may be the biggest thing that the New Deal has turned loose yet. It is just beginning to pick up steam, and it has all the earmarks of being a self-accelerator. The Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation, which invented it, may yet find itself in the position of a man who has a bear by the tail.

Consider, for instance, the figures from Rochester, N. Y., where the plan got its first tryout. They apparently prove that somehow this plan creates an extra dollar's worth of food-buying power—out of thin air, maybe—for every government dollar that is put into it.

UP GOES SALES RECORD

Total grocery sales in the Rochester stores patronized by the stamp users rose 12 per cent during the period under study—yet the blue stamps, in themselves, only accounted for half of that increase.

Evidently, the mere fact that the plan was in operation somehow created an increased demand for foodstuffs.

Now go on from there. The 800-odd Rochester relief families which have been using the stamps like the idea—as why wouldn't they, when it adds 50 per cent to their buying power?—grocers like it, as they would naturally like anything that hikes business by 12 per cent.

The farmers like it, because—apparently, on the basis of these early figures—it does twice as much to stimulate the buying of food as did the old direct-sales-and-distribution system of disposing of farm surpluses. And the Rochester merchants who have been getting this business have been spending more money on advertising, on store fixtures, and the like.

The FSCC is beginning to get a rise out of the bankers. The banks handle the food stamps, and draw cards in the plan that way; furthermore, they are likely to react favorably to anything which stimulates business among their commercial depositors. And the FSCC is beginning to get inquiries from bankers asking how about all of this, anyway, and is it as good as it looks?

Now a scheme which does all of those things is easy to start—and, once started, is likely to be mortally hard to stop.

NO EXPERIMENT NOW

The food stamp plan was an experiment three months ago. Now it is getting out of the experimental stage and being readied for 50 or 100 cities. You are hardly being overly-imaginative if you begin figuring that sooner or later it might be expanded to apply to all of the relievers in the United States.

But that is only the half of it. About the first of September, FSCC is starting a new experiment. It is going to make the blue stamps available to people in the low-income brackets who are not on relief at all. This is due to happen in Shawnee, Okla., and that experiment will be about as much worth watching as anything that will happen in the United States this summer.

Officials of the FSCC are frank to say that they don't know where the whole business is going. Will it eventually take in all the relievers, plus all the low-income wage earners? If so, how many hundreds of millions will it cost, and where will the money come from? They don't know and they won't even try to guess.

The one obvious fact is that they have hold of something big, which might easily turn out to be many, many times bigger than anyone dreamed when the experiment was first started.

The schooner "Fannie E. Weston," abandoned in 1891, still was afloat in 1934, and had drifted 7000 miles of the Atlantic ocean.

SERIAL STORY

Murder on the Boardwalk

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER I
As the train pulled into the Surf City station, Christine Thorenson was almost sure that the bareheaded young man across the aisle was on the point of offering to take her bags.

During the ride down the coast she had been aware that his eyes frequently strayed in her direction. . . . Pleasantly aware, for Christine liked the appearance of the young man so much that she did not even mind his wearing glasses. She liked his broad shoulders, his bronzed skin, and the sunburned look of his hair, as if he never wore a hat. Christine, who habitually went bareheaded, cherished a naive belief that all people who disliked hats were inherently honest and safe to know.

But even if the bareheaded young man were Sir Galahad in person, she could not be explaining strange young men to Cousin Emma at the depot. Cousin Emma did not belong to a school that welcomes chance acquaintances. And a great deal depended on this visit at Cousin Emma's pleasant shore house in exclusive Beachmont, a few miles south of the Boardwalk from Surf City.

If Cousin Emma should suggest a loan to cover the last year at art school, life would be much less complicated.

A year ago, Christine would indignantly have repudiated the idea of borrowing money. That was because, until the advertising firm for which she had been working during intervals of her life classes had folded up, she had never realized just how hard jobs were to find.

At any rate, the young man did not offer to take her bags. When Christine looked about the depot platform for Cousin Emma's plain, severely tailored figure, it was nowhere in sight. "She's probably sent Jasper to meet me," Christine thought.

But Jasper, Cousin Emma's butler—the punctilious kind of butler Cousin Emma would have—was nowhere in sight. No one on the platform seemed to be expecting her. Everyone seemed to be hurrying off, except, perhaps, one man who lingered by the newspaper stand, his face buried in a paper, and—

A voice said at Christine's side, "I suppose someone will be here to meet you?"

Christine turned to find the bareheaded young man standing beside her. He was older than she had supposed—30 or 32, perhaps—and his voice was pleasant. "Oh, yes!" Christine said, with just the right smile to suggest amused surprise that he should imagine anything else.

Yet even as she spoke, she knew her first quail of uneasiness. . . . Suppose the message she had sent telling Cousin Emma when she was coming had not been delivered? But the invitation had sounded, as Cousin Emma's invitations always did, like a royal summons; and Cousin Emma was not used to having her commands disregarded. Telegram or not, Cousin Emma would expect her.

The young man continued to stand there. "I only thought"—he went on—"it is late—hadn't I better wait till your friends come?"

"Why?" Christine found herself disarmed by the straightforward way he spoke, as if he had known each other for years. "Thank you, but someone will be here any minute now."

Then she saw an unobtrusive-looking, spectacled person in a neat gray suit come from an entrance and move toward her. It wasn't Jasper; but possibly Cousin Emma had a new butler.

As the man came up to her, Christine asked on a swift impulse, "I wonder if you're looking for somebody? I thought perhaps Mrs. Talbert sent you to meet me. I'm her cousin, Miss—"

The man halted. "If there is anything I can do—" he began; but the bareheaded young man cut in: "Are you, or are you not, here to meet this young lady?"

"As it happens, no." The man's smile was faintly amused. "I am taking a train."

He strolled off, his glance barely grazing Christine; but she had a feeling that his apparently incurious eyes had not missed a detail. As he crossed the platform and boarded a train which seemed about to pull out, Christine, who was used to conducting her own affairs, turned hotly upon the young man.

"Sorry," he said. "But do you usually run around telling your affairs to strangers? Surf City isn't the safest place for that sort of thing. In case you don't know, this town is a resort for shady characters of every variety—racket touts, prize-ring followers, confidence men—not to speak of honest-to-goodness mugs from the underworld. . . . And now you're wondering how you can be sure I'm not planning to grab your purse, myself. You can't. But you really do need someone to look after you."

Because Christine could not guess how absurdly young she looked, she was furious. "If you will excuse me," she said with that dignity she could muster. "I think I will call my cousin's house."

Cousin Emma's telephone was on a rural exchange. Christine had to call long distance.

"Beachmont 1246," she directed. "I want to speak to Mrs. Emma Talbert."

She waited—interminably. It seemed to her. At length the operator spoke: "Please excuse the delay. I'm new at this exchange; but here's the other girl. She'll talk to you."

A second voice asked, "Who is calling Mrs. Talbert, please?"

"This is Mrs. Talbert's cousin—Miss Thorenson," Christine answered, surprised by the question.

"Oh! . . . Well, the other operator didn't know. Miss Thorenson, but Mrs. Talbert's service has been discontinued."

"Discontinued?" Christine gasped. "When?"

"Two days ago."

"But—there must be some mistake. I was to visit her."

"There's no mistake. Mrs. Talbert has closed her house. We had notice two days ago."

"Do you know where she is?"

"I am sorry. I cannot tell you that."

Christine, who realized that in talking this much the girl had exceeded her authority, said, "Thank you," and was about to hang up when the operator called, "Wait a minute! . . . I was to tell you, she went on hastily in a lowered tone, "if you called the house while I was on duty, that in case—someone doesn't get in touch with you at once."

"Someone?" Christine interrupted blankly. "Who? . . . Are you quite sure?"

"Please don't talk—" the girl's voice was tense and hurried. "Just listen. . . . If anyone is listening, this may cost me my job."

Christine, who knew only too well what it meant to lose your job, said swiftly, "I'm listening."

"I am to tell you," the girl hurried on, "that if there's any trouble—you're to call Main 2079 any time before 5 p. m. Ask for Lucille, and—"

"Trouble? . . . Who is Lucille?"

"Please! Write it down!"

Something in the frightened urgency of the other girl's voice sent a little chill down Christine's back.

"I am writing it," she said. "Main 2079. . . . Go on."

Independent Football Circuit May Be Formed

ESCANABA WILL PARTICIPATE

Leo Brunelle Calls for Candidates to Meet Wednesday Night

Escanaba will be represented by an independent football team this fall and is likely to participate in a six or eight team league, plans for which will be formulated at a meeting at Manistique within a few days.

Leo Brunelle, former Jordan college and St. Joseph high school coach, yesterday issued a call for candidates for the local team to meet at the old brewery field on Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. Members of Escanaba and St. Joseph high school football teams of the past four years are extended a special invitation although the positions are all open to anyone interested. It is hoped that all young men interested in the independent game will be present at the first practice at which time preliminary drills will be held.

Brunelle has rented the uniforms and equipment of Jordan college, which went out of existence this spring, and the team will be well outfitted. An organization has been formed to operate the local club with officers as follows: President, Jimmy Frenn; vice president, Hazen Hengesh; secretary, Leo Brunelle; and treasurer, E. V. Rudness.

Several cities interested in the near future to help finance the first game, which will be against Manistique on the local field. Other games have been booked for later in the year.

Several cities already have evinced interest in joining the circuit, among them being Manistique, Sault Ste. Marie and Menominee and Marquette. Among other teams to be contacted will be Stambaugh, Newberry and Ispeping and Marquette. No definite date has been set as yet for the Manistique meeting but it is expected to be within a few days. At that time, it is planned to draw up a constitution and other regulations for the operation of the league.

Prospects for a winning team in Escanaba are very good. Much promising material has been developed by the local schools in the past four or five years and not many boys have gone away to college. The team is being organized principally for those boys who wish to continue playing football after high school and who are not able to finance a college education.

Those interested should report to Coach Brunelle at the old brewery diamond Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Rock, Mich., Aug. 14—The Rock Spartans put on a five run rally in the eighth inning here Sunday to defeat Perronville, 12-7, in the nightcap of a doubleheader after dropping the first game by a score of 13-4.

Both games were heavy hitting, wild affairs with plenty of errors to make pitchers' support somewhat unsteady at times. In the first game, E. Motto, Perronville ace, buried another victory, allowing the locals but six hits and winning handily, although the game was an interesting affair until the seventh inning when Perronville drove across four runs. They added five more in the eighth.

The second game was pretty much a repetition of the first with Perronville having a lead

REDSKINS SPLIT WITH MUNISING

Gladstone Wins Nightcap After Dropping First Game

Gladstone, Mich. — The Gladstone Redskins and Munising Lions split a double diamond bill here Sunday afternoon, Munising winning the opener 10-5, while Gladstone won the nightcap, 5-4.

Vern Ward had little support in the first, his teammates making eight bobbles behind him, and giving the Lions an easy victory. Slim Mastadge hurried the second allowing only six hits and had good support. The Redskins got to Fink in the 6th and after 4 runs had scored he was relieved by Bogren whose first pitch was wild and allowed Cannon to score the winning run.

Hermansville Tips Carney-Bagley, 11-7

Carney, Mich., Aug. 14—Hermansville got off to a slow start here Sunday before slipping into high gear in the last four innings and defeating Carney-Bagley by a score of 11-7.

The locals scored once in the second and, after the visitors had knotted the count in the first half of the fifth, scored four more to take a 5-1 lead. Hermansville, however, scored once in the sixth and pushed across five runs in the seventh to take command.

Carney-Bagley tied the score with a brace of runs in the eighth but Hermansville won the game in the tenth frame with a four run spurge. The line score: Hermansville 09 011 500 4—11 13 5 Carney-Bagley 010 040 020 0—7 8 3 Rabey, Maves and Polazzo; Gunville, Anderson and Knutsen.

TRENNARY TIPS BARK RIVER 9

Two Heavy Innings Is Enough for Win By Score of 12-2

Bark River, Mich., Aug. 14—Heavy scoring in the third and fourth innings gave Trennary an easy 12-2 victory over Bark River in a Delta-Menominee league game here Sunday.

The visitors touched Steinhauer, local hurler, heavily in the third frame, scoring six runs and adding four more in the fourth to run up a 10-0 advantage. The locals scored single runs in the fourth and seventh. Trennary added two more for good measure in the last inning.

Willard Quarfoot, Trennary hurler, was in good form, allowing 10 well scattered hits, Trennary got 13 bingles off two local pitchers.

ROWE RESCUES BENGALS, 10-3

Cleveland Takes First Game, 8-4, Four Runs In Tenth Inning

Detroit, Aug. 14 (AP)—A diligent Schoolboy Rowe rescued the Detroit Tigers from their first losing streak in a month today by hurling a 10 to 3 victory over the Cleveland Indians in the second game of a doubleheader today after the visitors snatched the opener, 8 to 4, in ten innings. Loss of the first game stretched Detroit's streak of defeats to three in a row after two successive batterings from the St. Louis Browns, but the Schoolboy, industriously trying to come back to his old greatness, mastered Oscar Vitt's Braves in the nightcap.

Rowe, helped ably by the rookie rhythm boys, Barney McCoy and Benny McCoy, allowed nine hits but pitched seven straight scoreless innings and walked only one man. The Indians got a run in the first and were blanked until the ninth. Hudlin Pounded McCoy with Rowe on base from a walk, homered into the upper right field pavilion in the third inning, and Rowe himself singled home two runs in a seventh, six-run Tiger attack in the fourth which drove Hudlin from the mound.

Relieving Johnny Allen in the eighth, Al Milnar saved the first game for Cleveland. He held the Tigers safe while the Indians thumped over four runs in the tenth capped by Ken Keltner's homer with one on. Hal Trosky hit his 15th homer of the year with one on in the Cleveland fourth. McCoy with Rowe on base from a walk, homered into the upper right field pavilion in the third inning, and Rowe himself singled home two runs in a seventh, six-run Tiger attack in the fourth which drove Hudlin from the mound.

Breaks Go Wrong Cleveland lacked on another in the sixth on Boudreau's single, Campbell's double, and Chapman's sacrifice fly, and made it 4 to 2 in the eighth on singles by Chapman and Heath and the pair's double steal. A stirring rally followed from the Tigers in their half. York doubled and reached third on a wild pitch. Higgins walked, and York scored as Fox was forcing pitch; Tebbetts singled to center, and on a double steal Rolly Hensley hurled the ball into left field to permit Fox to score.

Tebbetts ran to third on the error, and with Charley Gehring batting for Croucher and Milnar on the mound, a fly ball grabbed into left field. Heath strobed it and Tebbetts crossed the plate standing up. The umpires ruled, however, that he left before the catch and it was a double play instead of a likely winning run. The Indians, retired in order in the ninth, put the game on ice in short order in the tenth. A single by Boudreau, sacrifice by Campbell, walk to Chapman and Trosky's single scored the first run.

Keltner Slams Homer Up to that double steal trick again, the Indians collected a second run, by Chapman, on Tebbetts' error. Keltner then slammed his homer into the upper deck of the left field stands, Trosky crossing the plate ahead of him. In their half the Tigers died in order. EAGLES NOSED BY MANISTIQUE

Cardinals Trim Local League Leaders By 1-0 Margin

The Escanaba Eagles, though still three full games ahead of the pack in the Rainbow league, lost a 1-0 heartbreaker to Manistique here yesterday to stretch their slump into three games in the last three starts. The muffing of an easy catch in the sixth frame spelled the end of the locals' hopes, as they failed to convert any of their six hits into scores.

Boyle and Thorin, rookie second and first basemen, respectively, both showed up well, according to the Eagles' manager, Carlson, Escanaba catcher, was the only one of the locals to get more than a single hit, taking two to his credit, while neither team got anything for extra bases. Arrangements are under way for several outside games, and an effort will be made to bring a full blooded Indian team here, if possible, during the Legion convention.

CUBS SHUT OUT CARDINALS, 4-0

French Holds St. Louis to 4 Hits; Nicholson Hits Home Run

St. Louis, Aug. 14 (AP)—Left handed Larry French abruptly halted—at least temporarily—the St. Louis Cardinals' upward march toward the league leading Cincinnati Reds today, holding them to four hits as the Chicago Cubs won the first of a 2-game series, 4 to 0. The defeat dropped St. Louis seven games back of Cincinnati which was idle this afternoon but plays Pittsburgh tonight.

Stan Hack's two bagger in the fourth drove in two runs and Bill Nicholson's home run in the fifth accounted for another. The first run in the third, came on Joe Medwick's error. The St. Louis left fielder let Billy Herman's single roll through his legs and Hack, who had gone from first to third on the blow, reached home. Two of the Cardinals' four singles came in the fourth but no runner got past second in this or any other inning. After Martin's safety in the fifth, French pitched no-hit ball the rest of the way.

NEGANEUE DRAWINGS SCHEDULED TONIGHT

Drawings for the Upper Peninsula diamondball tournament are scheduled for tonight at 8 o'clock at Negaunee.

JUNIOR HARD BALL LEAGUE

The Eskymos defeated the Wells Cubs Monday 19 to 8. The teams played an even game for 6 innings, but from then on the Eskymos had it all their own way.

There will be no games Tuesday. Wednesday the North Side Cavaliers will play the Eskymos. Arrangements are under way for several outside games, and an effort will be made to bring a full blooded Indian team here, if possible, during the Legion convention.

PAYCHEK ON SHELF FOR ABOUT A MONTH

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP)—John J. Paychek, Chicago heavyweight contender, will be on the pugilistic shelf for at least a month. X-ray examination disclosed today that he fought Maurice Strickland 10 rounds in Des Moines, Ia., last Tuesday night with a chipped bone in his left thumb. The injury occurred in training. His thumb will be in a cast for 10 days.

NORTHERN WIS-MICH LEAGUE

Sunday's Scores: Crystal Falls 9; Negaunee 0 (forfeit). South Range 6-4; Escanaba 4-2. Ford Twins 4; Niagara 3. Despite the old theory about the "busy bee," wasps are said to be far more intelligent and active than bees.

URGE SPECIAL CLEANING UP

Local People Asked to Help Beautify City for Convention

The amount of house-painting and improvement that has been carried on lately by Escanaba home-owners proves that the people of Escanaba are trying to make a good impression on visitors," said Harold Lindsay, general chairman for the state American Legion convention, yesterday.

An appeal is made to local people to clean and trim up the community for the Legion convention visitors. It is also suggested that as many American flags and as much bunting as possible be displayed in home and lawn decorations.

"We want to seem and be as friendly and hospitable as possible," declared Mr. Lindsay.

The city will help in the clean-up campaign, according to word received from City Manager Geo. E. Bean. Trucks will be placed in service to haul away debris, Mr. Bean said yesterday. Citizens are urged to cut tall grass in vacant lots and to pile it up; city trucks will call for it and haul it away if word is sent to the city service department, phone number 1974. It is also asked that all persons who have rooms and cars to place at the disposal of visitors notify the convention committees as soon as possible so that they may complete their arrangements.

"Backwoods University" Opens Doors At Nahma

Nahma's "Backwoods University" for writers, photographers and artists opened its doors on Sunday.

Registration of incoming students was commenced on Sunday and was still continuing late yesterday. The first students to register were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tetzlaff of Rhinelander, Wis.

Among the others enrolled are: Mrs. Torval E. Strom, Escanaba; Mrs. Mary Ripley, Sault Ste. Marie; Dr. J. E. Witters, Nahma; Eugenia Schor and Angela Basile, Chicago; Marion Strahl, Beatrice Peterson and Mrs. T. A. Hoffmeyer, Escanaba; J. B. Pfau, Duluth, Minn.; Prof. Frank Fisher, Houghton; Dr. Igloo, Big Rapids; Mrs. Igloo, Big Rapids; Stanley Newton, Sault Ste. Marie; Mrs. E. J. McMartin, Escanaba; Bernice Zander, Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.; Mrs. Nicky Traverse, Escanaba; Mrs. Margaret Muldoon, Chicago; Mrs. Martha Cool, Manistiquic; Winifred Jackson, June Rosenglen, Mrs. O. M. Hull, Mary Gladstone; Frances A. Palmer, Chicago; Lyle Hutton, Powers; Elsie and Clara Karas, Escanaba; Mrs. W. W. Farmer, Torre Haute; John Olds Jr., Sault Ste. Marie; John Lapin, Mt. Pleasant; V. K. Tharp, Green Bay, Wis.; Lucille Ralston, Grand Rapids; Mabel Harris, Gladstone; Jean Chapelle, Sacramento, Calif.; Martha Christ, Chicago; Catherine Himes, Joliet, Ill.; George A. Goss, Munising; Kathleen Wilson, Munising; George Rintamaki, Newberry; Vera Wulbert, Chicago; and Betty Richardson, Detroit.

Mrs. Donahay speaks Mrs. Mary Dickerson Donahay, Chicago, who is teaching juvenile fiction at the Nahma Vacation School, opened the free lecture series at the Nahma community building auditorium Sunday evening.

Mrs. Donahay gave a highly interesting and entertaining account of her early day experiences in newspaper work in New York and Cleveland. She told of the excitement aroused in the office of the New York Journal, where she worked, when the battleship Maine was sunk, and charged that Hearst yellow journalism was the chief cause of America's declaration of war against Spain.

She closed with an interesting recital of her experiences while covering the auction at a wild animal circus.

Four reels of sound movies, dealing with wildlife, scenery and fishing in Michigan, were shown by Robert McLaughlin, Marquette, member of the educational staff of the state conservation department.

Lumberjack Songs Dr. E. C. Beck, head of the English department of Central State Teachers College, Mt. Pleasant, appeared on the lecture program last evening. His topic was "Songs of the Northwoods."

"Hiawatha never came into Michigan at all," Dr. Beck declared in his talk. "He was an Indian statesman from the Finger Lakes region of New York, who travelled the trails into Ohio, but never got as far north as Michigan. Longfellow used the poetic name of Hiawatha to tell the Ojibway stories of Nanobozho."

Paul Bunyan stories are still growing as illustrated by the recent tale of how Michigan happens to have a thumb, L. F. Beck said. He believes that Paul Bunyan began in Wisconsin, or possibly in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

Dr. Beck sang four lumberjack songs, "Jam on Gerry's Rocks", "Wild Mustard River", "Flat River Girl" and "On Meesh-o-gan". He also recited the following "Banks of the Pamanaw", "Religion in Camp", "Old Pete Bateese" and "A Gude Falter".

The audience was also entertained with instrumental numbers by the Misses Eleanor Sharpsteen, Elsie and Clara Karas of Escanaba.

Lions Club Attends About seventy-five members of the Escanaba Lions club and their ladies held their regular weekly meeting at the Nahma boarding house last evening. During the afternoon, they enjoyed golf and bridge, and in the evening attended the lecture program.

Regular classes started at 8:15 a. m. Monday, and are being held on an hourly schedule. Only students who pay the weekly tuition fee are privileged to attend the regular classes. The general public is invited to the free lectures in the evenings, however.

Frank Gruber, Hollywood, Calif., western and detective story writer, who was scheduled to conduct one of the short story classes, was unable to come to Nahma because of a request from his publisher to complete work on his new novel within the next few weeks. The mystery story phase of this fiction course, however, will be handled by Frank Bunce, New Orleans, formerly of Marinette, Wis., who during the last few years has been getting stories published regularly in Saturday Evening Post, Colliers, Liberty and other high class magazines.

Sham Fire Filmed Wallace Kirkland assigned his photography class yesterday to take pictures of the sham fire at the backwoods school. The Nahma fire department responded to the alarm and sprinkled water upon the roof of the F. W. Good high school building. Daily stunts to give the camera students actual practice in photo-journalism are planned. Kirkland took pictures of the bears who visit the garbage dump at the Mormon Creek CCC camp Sunday evening.

Bernard Tobin, superintendent of the Nahma township schools, is serving as principal of the vacation school.

SYRIANS TO ORGANIZE Iron Mountain—More than 200 Syrians—all natives of the town of Hama, Mount Lebanon, in Syria, and all related by blood or marriage—were arriving here today for the first gathering of the kind ever held, and to effect a permanent organization which will meet annually hereafter. It was stated by committeemen in charge. It will be a two-day gathering, concluding tomorrow night at the Eagles hall, on Grand Boulevard.

J. N. Jacobs, pioneer resident of Crystal Falls and one of the first Syrians to arrive in this district, is general chairman, assisted by Sam Jacobs, of Iron Mountain, likewise a resident in the Iron-Dickinson county district for many years and equally well known.

"Rented the first day" said Smith. Try a For Rent Ad today.

Sings at Nahma

Earl A. Cousineau, graduate of Illinois Wesleyan university, Bloomington, and music director of the Arcola, Ill., public schools, will sing at the Nahma community building auditorium before the free lecture by Wallace Kirkland at 8:30 o'clock this evening. Mr. Cousineau is a former resident of Nahma. Mrs. J. A. Witters will play the piano accompaniment.

State-Wide Drive On Rabies Advised

Lansing, Aug. 11. (P)—Dr. H. Allen Moyer, state health commissioner, said today an effective state-wide program for control of rabies is "imperative."

He said protection for persons bitten by rapid animals costing the state $200,000 annually in addition to large losses suffered by owners of livestock and valuable dogs.

The commissioner reported 5,439 persons have received vaccine injections for rabies in the last year and said 298 others have been bitten by dogs in the last two months.

Positive evidence of rabies was found in 784 of 1,310 animals examined by the department.

ALUMNI CLUBS MEET AUG. 19

Logging Train Trip Into Big Timber Planned On Saturday

Upper Peninsula alumni of the University of Michigan will hold their annual summer conference at Nahma Saturday, Aug. 19.

The group will attend a luncheon at the Nahma boarding house at noon, and immediately afterward most of them will board the Nahma and Northern railway logging train for a five-hour trip 25 miles northward into the big virgin timber. Discussion of alumni affairs will be held aboard the train's passenger coach.

T. Hawling Tapping, Ann Arbor, alumni secretary of the University of Michigan, will attend the meeting.

Students and faculty members of the Nahma Vacation School also will take the logging train trip. In order to accommodate the school group, special seats will be installed in the gondola cars used on the train.

The train will return about 6 p. m. Members of the alumni clubs will attend the lecture program in the Nahma community building in the evening. Ormal I. Sprungman, camera editor of Sports Afield, will show colored movies of Alaska.

The Dominion of Canada, during 1937, produced 3 1/2 times as much standard newspaper as the United States, or 73.7 per cent of the total North American production of 4,943,000 tons.
