JAP SLAPPING OF AMERICAN WOMAN BARED

FULL REPORT SENT TO WASHINGTON ON INCIDENT

Tientsin, Aug. 15 (AP)—The United States consulate was reported to have sent Washington a full report today on the slapping of a 59-year-old American widow by a Japanese sentry after finding a Japanese explanation unsatisfactory.

It was understood the report followed upon a visit by Japanese Vice-Consul W. Nishida to the consulate to attempt adjustment of the incident. It involved Mrs. Mary Frances Richard, who was slapped and detained for an hour yesterday when she sought to enter the Japanese-blockaded French concession.

"Arrogance" Alleged

The Japanese consulate said the differences arose because of language difficulties and Mrs. Richard's alleged "arrogance" when she was called upon to produce identification papers.

Mrs. Richard, a native of San Francisco who has been a resident of China 34 years, said the slapping occurred when she tried to enter the concession with vegetables and fruit "prohibited" in the blockaded area.

She was carrying the produce into the foreign area for use in her small canning business which she operates to supplant her income as a teacher of English.

Her account follows: The sentry ignored her identification card issued by the American consulate and ordered her into a shed where another Japanese ordered her to dump her basket.

She was about to comply when she saw a Chinese in front of her removing his trousers while undergoing search by the Japanese. Thereupon she turned and dumped the vegetables and fruit in another place.

This apparently angered the sentry; an argument ensued and the Japanese slapped her hard with his open palm.

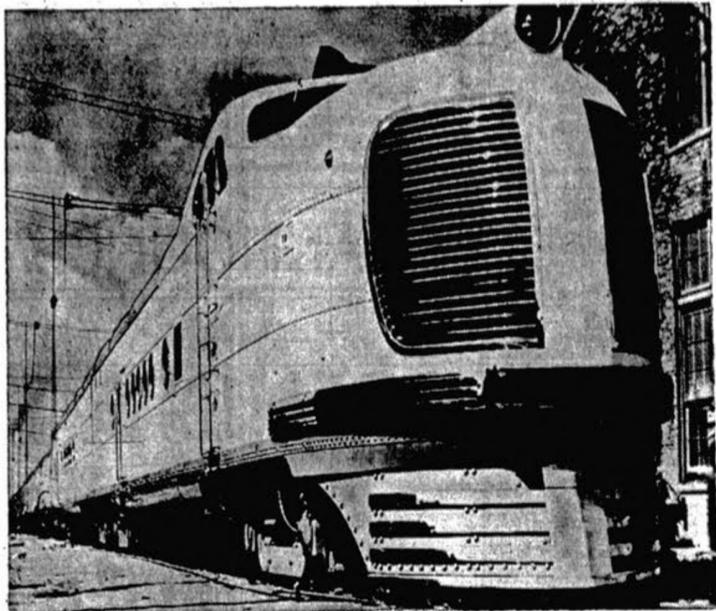

Sentry Keeps Pumpkin

Mrs. Richard, who held a personal card from Nishida requesting that the sentries extend her courtesy, said the vice-consul appeared later, apologized and offered to take her home in his car, but that she declined.

She said that Nishida accused her of being "very angry" and that she retorted: "Young man, I'm not angry but humiliated and insulted. I only want justice."

Mrs. Richard said the sentry kept one pumpkin, but returned her other vegetables. She added that unless she could obtain a special pass she would be unable to continue her business because the high price of fruits and vegetables inside the concession would make impossible profitable operation. Among her specialties are jams and jellies for which she is widely known among foreigners in Tientsin.

Death Rides Chicago Streamliner

The Southern Pacific Railroad's crack 17-car streamliner, City of San Francisco, left, above, was completely wrecked, at least 23 people were killed and scores of others injured when the train, rocketing along at a 90-mile clip struck a moved rail on the Humboldt River Bridge near Carlin, Nevada. Carlin, shown on map at right, is 200 miles east of Reno.

STRAITS BRIDGE IS GIVEN BOOST

Taft Highway Group Is Invited to Support Mackinac Project

Jackson, Mich., Aug. 15 (AP)—Deputy State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy invited the Taft Highway association tonight to throw its weight behind a project to construct a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac in the event surveys now under way indicate the project is feasible.

"If a physical structure is found to be practical, our next step will be to interest the federal government in giving financial assistance that we may go ahead with the project," Kennedy said. "I know that we can count on the wholehearted and effective support of this association as we push ahead with this great enterprise."

Kennedy, who also is chairman of the Mackinac Straits Bridge Authority, said a growth in across-the-straits traffic from 10,000 vehicles in 1927 to 274,000 in 1937 indicated a need for further accommodations. He said surveys now under way would be completed by spring to permit a decision at that time on the practicability of the project.

The deputy commissioner praised the association as "a powerful link in the chain of friendship which binds Canada and the United States together," and wishes the organization well in its plans to provide "a magnificent super-highway" from the Florida coast into Canada.

R. E. Olds of Lansing, Mich., was elected president of the association today.

Train Wreck Maniac Killer Of 23 Hunted

Reno, Nev., Aug. 15 (AP)—Federal officers today took over investigation of the wreck of the streamliner train "City of San Francisco," and direction of the search for the maniac who, trainmen say, deliberately derailed the train, killing 23 people and injuring 109.

The search was spurred by clues toward the identity of the man, or men, who moved a rail and thus hurled the 17-car train into a Nevada canyon Saturday night.

"We have some definite evidence," said A. D. McDonald, president of the Southern Pacific company, who took charge of the railway's investigation, "but it is of such a nature that we do not feel free to divulge it at this time."

An unrevealed number of men were picked up in railway yards and "hobo jungles," and were questioned as the search spread over Nevada, Utah and California.

Officers were divided in their opinion as to whether the crime was the work of one or two men. McDonald sided with those who believed it was the work of a lone mad man—"a man with a diseased brain—possibly one with a grudge against some individual on the train, satisfying that grudge without regard for the lives that might be snuffed out."

"A man would be a fool to take another into his confidence in a thing like this," he continued. "A confederate would, sooner or later, be bound to squeal."

Authorities asked to see an amateur motion picture of the wreck scene, in hope of uncovering new clues. Sheriff C. A. Harper of Elko, Nevada, telegraphed San Francisco that the federal bureau of investigation was interested in the film which John Rowberry, Elko theatre owner, took of the wrecked train Sunday morning. Rowberry had sent the film to San Francisco to be processed.

The Southern Pacific, which operated the train jointly with the Union Pacific and the Chicago and North Western, reported today 37 of the injured were still in hospitals, most of them in Elko. These included Albert Johnson of Chicago who was reported dead yesterday. Doctors described his condition today as critical.

There were 194 persons aboard the train when it crashed into Humboldt river 250 miles east of Reno.

SAFER HOLIDAY TRAFFIC URGED

Accident Prevention To Be Stressed Over Labor Day

Lansing, Aug. 15 (AP)—The state police and highway departments cooperated today in an automobile accident prevention program for the Labor Day holiday.

The two agencies said a similar program was successful over the Fourth of July holiday, when 12 persons were killed in auto accidents, compared with 31 over the Fourth week-end last year.

State Police Commissioner Oscar G. Olander said none of his troopers would be permitted a leave of absence from September 1 through September 4. Road patrols will be concentrated in heavily traveled areas.

The highway department ordered a survey of trunk line roads to locate hazards that might be removed, and a re-inspection of traffic signals and road markings. Construction projects will be closed over the holiday, unpaved roads will be dust-proofed.

Commissioner Olander advised motorists to start now to observe new traffic regulations that will become effective September 23. After that date it will be a misdemeanor punishable by a jail sentence for a motorist to cross the center line of a four-lane highway to drive in the middle lane of a three-lane route except when passing, or for a peostriar to walk to his right along a highway.

State Aid Is Sent To Rural Schools
Lansing, Aug. 15 (AP)—The department of public instruction today began the distribution of state aid allocations totaling $228,000 to 138 rural agricultural school districts.

The distribution represented the balance of a $315,000 appropriation.

Two Escapers Slug Mt. Clemens Sentry
Mt. Clemens, Mich., Aug. 15 (AP)—Two prisoners slugged a sentry and escaped from the Selbridge Field guard house tonight. One carried an army pistol. Corp. J. G. Marshall said the two were Frank L. Huguley, and Dale Hayner, both 19.

UTILITIES TAKEN BY GOVERNMENT

Purchase in Tennessee Valley Costs U. S. $78,425,095

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—Governmental authorities today paid $78,425,095 for electric power properties in Tennessee in the greatest transfer of utilities from private to public ownership in the history of the United States.

The money payment, in a ceremony participated in by more than 200 representatives of the federal government, municipalities, cooperative power companies, banks and private utilities, made Tennessee the first "public power" state in the nation.

The properties purchased were those of the Tennessee Electric Power company, a subsidiary of Commonwealth & Southern Corp. Wendell L. Willkie, president of Commonwealth, immediately commented: "This transaction has demonstrated that no business, however well run, can endure against the competition of the federal government." He declared his company had been "forced" to sell because it could not compete with "subsidized government competition."

The purchase of the properties ended five years of political, economic and propaganda battling between proponents of public and private ownership in the valley of the Tennessee river.

Ionia's Free Fair Has Governor's Day
Ionia, Mich., Aug. 15 (AP)—Led by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), and Governor Luren Dickinson, political luminaries of Michigan will gather here tomorrow to aid in celebration of "Governor's Day" at the twenty-fifth annual Ionia Free Fair.

The day was established by the late Fred W. Green of Ionia when he was chief executive of the state.

Hatch Found Open On Sunken Squalus
Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 15 (AP)—A hatch on the after battery compartment of the submarine Squalus was found open by a diver shortly before navy salvage officers decided tonight pontoons used in raising the $4,000,000 submersible must be readjusted.

Just before work on the submarine stopped for the night, Rear Admiral Cyrus W. Cole wirelessed the information from the salvage flagship Falcon to the navy yard.

Captain Richard F. Edwards, who returned to the navy yard tonight, said the salvage officers were at a loss to explain the open hatch. He added, however, that leakage of air into the compartment might have built up enough pressure to force open the hatch when the bow shot to the surface on the unsuccessful attempt to raise the Squalus last July 13.

Divers made a preliminary inspection of the open hatch tonight but deferred a thorough check until tomorrow. Officials said another lift might be attempted Thursday unless more difficulties are encountered.

KILLED BY TRAIN
Lansing, Aug. 15 (AP)—Ed Selvig, 52, was killed today when he was struck by a Pere Marquette freight train as he was walking along the railroad tracks.

EARLY TURKEY DAY HEADACHE FOR GRID MEN

PRESIDENT'S CHANGE STIRS FOOTBALL REBELLION

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—A gridiron rebellion grew today with a pile-up of protests from rock-ribbed traditionalists against President Roosevelt's plan to change the day of Thanksgiving this year from Nov. 30 to Nov. 23.

Many in authority and businessmen, favored the president's precedent-smashing idea—to help business—but the football people were both amazed and flabbergasted over what to do with games scheduled for Nov. 30.

Two Thanksgivings
There may be two Thanksgivings this year.

Tradition-bound New England was largely shocked.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) led the opposition in Washington with a statement that the president's announcement was "a complete surprise because there had been no intimation of it in Mrs. Roosevelt's column."

Heartily approving the president's announcement was Low Hahn, general manager of the National Retail Dry Goods association, who on Aug. 4 addressed a communication to Secretary of Commerce Hopkins urging an earlier Thanksgiving as "good for business."

His organization represents some 5,700 department, specialty and dry goods stores, which were estimated to do well over $500,000,000—or around 15 per cent of the yearly total—in the peak shopping season from Turkey Day to Christmas.

Hahn said the president's move would have an "assuring effect" upon manufacturers and distributors of consumer goods.

"With a 4-week shopping period before Christmas instead of three," he said, "the prospects for a strong advance in business activities during the rest of 1939 are considerably enhanced."

PLANE BREAKS IN FOUR PARTS

Two of Four-Man Crew Badly Hurt; Motor Failure Blamed

San Jose, Costa Rica, Aug. 15 (AP)—A United States army plane was broken into four parts and two of its four-man crew were seriously injured today when a motor failed and caused the ship to crash into the Pacific ocean near Parrita, 60 miles south of Puntarenas.

The bi-motor plane was one of six enroute from Panama to San Antonio, Tex.

Lieutenant Frank Smith, and Second Lieutenant Jack E. Merrill, who had two broken ribs and other hurts, were the most seriously injured. They were taken to a hospital at Parrita by a rescue plane.

Lieutenant Leon W. Gray and Sergeant Edward Payesky, the other two members of the crew, were only slightly hurt. A plane brought them to San Jose.

Col. Francis M. Brady said motor failure caused the accident.

Messengers of Bank Robbed Of $70,000

Long Beach, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—Under the menacing snouts of two machine guns, two bank messengers were robbed of $70,000 in a swiftly-executed holdup today by five bandits who then escaped despite an elaborate plan of apprehension which had been waiting six years for just such an event.

From the main street of this summer resort town, where the robbery occurred virtually on the steps of the postoffice, the bandits sped presumably across one of three bridges connecting the island with the Long Island mainland—and disappeared.

By land, sea and air, police, directed by wireless, pressed their search unavailingly during the day, carrying out a plan of operation similar to that of the army's famous "M" day preparations.

Within seconds of the robbery's completion, radio cars, the top of each bearing a large numeral, sped to pre-appointed positions; Nassau county patrol boats and with a second machine gun. A fifth drove the car away.

All Border Traffic To Poland Cut Off

Warsaw, Aug. 16 (Wednesday) (AP)—The Polish telegraph agency reported today closed all border traffic along that part of their 51-mile frontier facing the Polish district of Rybnik.

The agency added that all telephone communication between this German district and Poland had been cut off.

No reason for this action was given although the impression in Polish circles is that it is a move to provide secrecy for German fortifications of troop movements in this area.

SOPHIE TUCKER UNION SOOTHED

Federation of Actors Reinstated In Good Graces of AFL

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 15 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor's executive council ruled tonight that Sophie Tucker's American Federation of Actors had been too cruelly punished when the Associated Actors and Artists of America turned it out into the cold.

The executive council called on the AAAA to reinstate the union and ordered the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, which had adopted the orphaned body, to withdraw the charter it gave the AFA.

The AFL lifted all suspensions issued by the various local and parent unions until questions involved can be solved by a joint committee of ten selected from the AAAA, Actors Equity, Chorus Equity, Radio Artists, Screen Actors and the AFL.

"This decision," said William Green, AFL president, "has been submitted to the AAAA, the AFA and the IATSE and we assume it will be accepted by all parties."

"This controversy was dumped in our laps as an extra-ordinary affair and it will be the purpose of the American Federation of Labor to have this decision carried into effect."

Interlochen Group Representing State At New York's Fair

BY JOHN SELBY (Associated Press Arts Editor)

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—The only symphonic orchestra the world's fair has seen since the music project there blew up a month and a half ago arrived from Michigan this afternoon in an 11-car special train.

Three hundred youngsters, half of whom play in the internationally-famous symphony of the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich., were on the train. They come from nearly every state and a few foreign countries, and they will play a schedule at the fair that would break the back of any adult symphony.

The 300 young players include also a large band, a choir, and five other organizations of varying size, ranging from a string quartet to an accordion ensemble.

These willing blue-uniformed young musicians will be heard in 16 programs in the five days of their stay—which ends Sunday.

A pair of "geniuses" came along. One is the 9-year-old Lorin Maazel, who conducts symphonies from memory and confounds his elders at every appearance. He will be heard Friday and Sunday with the orchestra.

The other is Seymour Lipkin, a pianist of first ability whose head barely reaches the hips of the average adult. Seymour arrived with a stack of music under one arm and a chinker-check board under the other.

Lorin is a Californian; Seymour comes from Detroit.

Now in its twelfth season, the National Music Camp is probably the first musical group of its sort in history to be sent as an official emissary of an American state to a world's fair.

Corrigan And Bride Guests Of Ford Co.
Detroit, Aug. 15 (AP)—Douglas Corrigan, the trans-Atlantic flier and his bride of four weeks were guests of Henry Ford today.

The couple arrived from Baltimore on a route near Wheeling, W. Va., when a piece of the exhaust pipe on Corrigan's 12-year-old plane blew off.

Today's visit was on invitation by Ford, who told Corrigan to "come back and look around when you have more time" when Corrigan passed through the city after his flight to Ireland.

NATIONS HIDE OBJECTIVE OF DANZIG TALKS

POLAND SUSPICIOUS OF ACTIVITY OF NAZI ENVOY

(By The Associated Press)

A silence, which many observers regarded as ominous, hung over the foreign offices of Europe Tuesday night and in Berlin there were indications almost immediate action might be forthcoming in the German-Polish dispute over Danzig.

Amid continued rumors of peace plans and exchanges of mysterious messages between capitals, trained observers thought they saw a parallel to the days preceding Munich.

Silence Significant
One of the most portentous signs in Berlin was the silence in government quarters where there usually is much to be said until something definite is afoot.

Other signs noted in Berlin included: Massing of German soldiers all along the Polish frontier; Demands by the German press for "speedy" settlement of the Danzig question; warnings to England, France and Poland to be reasonable "before it is too late"; the unexpected return from Italy to Berlin yesterday of Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels; the hasty return to Rome from Salzburg, Germany, on Sunday of the Italian foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano; prohibiting of German fishermen to go to their fishing grounds in the Baltic; desertion of German beaches on the Baltic; and the reported distribution of booklets to German soldiers telling them how to ask for essential needs in the Polish language.

Armed Forces Even
It was rumored that Count Ciano's quick departure for Italy after his conference with Fuehrer Adolf Hitler and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop might have been to synchronize the axis plans.

Meanwhile, Europe remained an armed camp. A military writer for Reuters, British news agency, estimated Europe's men under arms exclusive of naval and air forces, at 8,500,000. He concluded there appeared to be a "fairly even balance" between the land forces of the Rome-Berlin axis and the British-French front and Associated powers.

The part in the Danzig question to be played by unassuming Dr. Carl J. Burckhardt, high commissioner of the League of Nations in Danzig, still remained a question.

He has conferred with Fuehrer Hitler and Nazi leader Albert Forster at Danzig, but today he called some reports of his activities fantastic.

Warsaw Unmoved
There were rumors in Geneva that the high commissioner was being put forward by Germany as the "Lord Runciman" of the Danzig dispute. A year ago Lord Runciman, of London, went to Prague to negotiate with the Czechoslovak government and the Sudeten German minority.

Apparently knocking down any suggestion Poland might be willing to deal through a third party, Polish circles said "it can only be reiterated that Poland is prepared to negotiate only directly and on the basis of the principles enunciated by Foreign Minister Beck in his speech to the Sejm."

At that time Beck told the British parliament that Danzig must remain free, with its economic ties

Boy, 10, Lives Alone On Ecuador Island

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Aug. 15 (AP)—The commander of the Ecuadorian cruiser "President Alfaro" radioed here today that he had found a 10-year-old boy living alone on one of the lonely Galapagos islands far off the coast of Ecuador.

The boy's name was given as Jose Perez. The captain said the youngster told him he came to the islands three years ago with a family, but ran away into the interior because of ill treatment.

He had been living on seaweed, plants and roots. He will return to Guayaquil on the cruiser.

Floreana Island, where the boy was found, is near the old convict Isle of Charles, where Dr. Ruediger Ritter, self-exiled German philosopher and raw food faddist, died in 1934 under mysterious circumstances.

Found dead on the island about the same time were Alfred, Rudolph Lorenz of Paris and Trygve Nagrud, a sailor—companions of the self-styled Empress of the Galapagos, Baroness Eloise Bonaparte de Wagner Webborn. The empress mysteriously vanished from the islands with another male companion, Robert Phillipson.

SECURITY WAGE RAISED BY WPA

New Schedule Increases Average $2.50 Monthly for 2,194,911

Washington, Aug. 15. (AP)—Commissioner F. C. Harrington announced today a new schedule of monthly security wages for WPA project workers which, he said, would raise the national average about $2.50 a month for approximately 2,194,911 persons.

This, he added, would mean that the old average of $53 a month would be stepped up to about $55.50. The new wages become effective Sept. 1.

In general, Harrington said, the new schedule would mean a substantial increase in WPA wages in southern states. In northern states present scales will be retained with some exceptions, which include comparatively minor reductions in most instances.

Revision of the WPA wage schedule was required by the new relief act, which provides that the rates in different sections shall vary no more than does the cost of living.

Although the act provides that no substantial change shall be made in the national average WPA wage, Harrington said the $2.50-a-month increase was considered permissible under terms of the statute. WPA officials said the act did not define the word "substantial."

As an example of the changes, the commissioner said that the new rate for skilled labor in New York City would be $89.70 compared with an old rate of $92.30, whereas in Birmingham, Ala., the new rate would be $89.30, compared with the old $71.50.

Man Buried Alive In Hartland Caves

Hartland, Mich., Aug. 15. (AP)—A 24-year-old youth was buried alive and another worker was injured seriously today in a cave-in of a section of highway under construction near here.

The dead youth was Ariel Albright, of Hartland township. He was trapped under eight feet of dirt when a fill-in on US-23, being rerouted between Brighton and Flint, collapsed.

Wells Eager, 34, of Osceola township, was taken to Mellus hospital, Brighton. His injuries were not determined immediately.

Workers labored nearly an hour before the body of Albright could be recovered.

Albright's death was the third in the family in the last month. In July, two brothers lost their lives in a double drowning near here.

Paul Dean Failure, Dropped By Cards

St. Louis, Aug. 15. (AP)—Paul Dean's attempt to make a comeback for the St. Louis Cardinals ended in failure tonight.

The National League club announced the pitcher had been released outright to Columbus of the American Association, a Cardinal farm.

Dean, younger brother of Dizzy Dean of the Chicago Cubs, turned up with a sore arm in 1936 after pitching brilliantly for the Cardinals. He won two games in the 1934 World Series.

Sent to the minors in 1937, he returned near the end of last season, but never regained his effectiveness against major league batters. He pitched only 43 innings this year and had a record of no victory and one defeat.

Ship Signals SOS, Aground In Sulu Sea

Manila, Aug. 16. (Wednesday) (AP)—The Inter-Island steamship Negros, after sending out an SOS early today saying she was aground on Siquijor Island in the Sulu sea and taking water in No. 1 hold, messaged later she was in no danger.

The steamship Cebu left Cebu to take off the Negros' passengers. The government boat Pathfinder also started from Cebu for Amisan Point, where the Negros struck.

The number aboard the Negros was not reported here.

Houghton, Mich., Aug. 15. (AP)—Marcus S. McKay, about 40, of Mass., was electrocuted this evening while at work on an Ontonagon rural electrification association power line near Chassell. He was a former resident of Iron River. Coroner E. J. Schumacher of Houghton, who investigated the death, said no inquest would be held.

Counties Allotted $662,100 For Relief

Lansing, Aug. 15. (AP)—The social welfare commission, adhering to a policy of keeping within its budget, today allotted $662,100 to counties to finance September relief.

The allocations were approximately $10,000 above August grants.

Thirty counties, including all but two in the Upper Peninsula, were given increases, while the appropriations of 35 other counties were trimmed.

Diplomatic Pouch Smuggling Stopped

Washington, Aug. 15. (AP)—Misuse of the French diplomatic pouch to bring films into the United States duty-free was declared a closed incident today by Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, after he had received a note of regrets from the French ambassador, Count De Saint-Quentin.

The ambassador gave assurances that no French official "deliberately facilitated the use of the diplomatic pouch," that the French government began an investigation "immediately the matter was brought to its attention by the embassy last March," and that his government "has taken all measures necessary to correct the irregularities."

The note said the French government's investigation had "established that there may have been ignorance of the American regulations or lack of surveillance on the part of certain French officials who handled the shipment."

"I express to you my regret on this account," the ambassador continued, "but I am pleased to be able to give you assurance that not one of the officials in question deliberately facilitated the use of the diplomatic pouch by an American business man in order to permit him to defraud the federal customs."

Baseball Blacklist Takes Poffenberger

Brooklyn, Aug. 15. (AP)—At the request of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Elwood Cleatus (Boots) Poffenberger has been declared ineligible by Commissioner K. M. Landis and placed on the blacklist of organized baseball.

The eccentric pitcher, whose many escapades have formed a bizarre part of current baseball folklore, deserted the Dodgers in Cincinnati on May 23, and after being ordered to report to Montreal, failed to do so.

He cost the Brooklyn team $25,000 this spring.

The 24-year-old Williamsport, Md., righthander, was with Detroit last season, winning six and losing seven. He had an earned run average of 4.82.

The Brooklyn club had an opportunity to sell Poffenberger and recoup some of the loss in purchasing him from Detroit, but officials said they felt his conduct was detrimental to the best interests of baseball and asked Landis for the ruling.

Lightning Touses, Newest In Hair-Dos

Baltimore, Aug. 15. (AP)—Wind-blown hair-dos are easy stuff—Mrs. Virginia Rivas could tell her friends today that her coiffure was toused by lightning.

The bolt traveled down the Rivas' radio aerial to strike Mrs. Rivas in her home. Bobby pins in her just-marcelled hair were scattered several yards around. She was uninjured save for a resultant tooth-ache.

BLOOD DONORS ON K. OF C. LIST

Expansion of Squires Is Urged to Meet Red Menace

Seattle, Aug. 15. (AP)—Establishment of groups of blood transfusion donors within more than 200 Knights of Columbus councils, as a humanitarian enterprise, was reported to the national convention of the Catholic fraternity here today by Dr. Edward W. Fahey, St. Paul, Minn., supreme physician of the lodge.

Dr. Fahey's report said "these groups are functioning 100 percent. They are to be congratulated on this humanitarian work."

Supreme Knight Martin H. Carmody of Grand Rapids, Mich., in his annual message, noted "great possibilities and a very present need for a definitely Catholic and patriotic youth meeting, appears clear from the proceedings of various youth's conventions of the past few years, and needs no supporting proofs to those who followed the proceedings of the recent American Youth Congress held in New York City July 1-5."

He said "so clearly were the Communists and their allied forces in control of this assemblage that the representatives of 23 patriotic youth organizations felt compelled to leave the meeting."

Carmody urged expansion of the Knights of Columbus' junior order, the Columbian Squires, "to meet this menace," because "nowhere else are the teachings of communism being so vigorously presented as to the American youth."

Oil Companies Sued For $2,700,000 By Detroit Distributor

Detroit, Aug. 15. (AP)—Five major oil companies were named defendants in a $2,700,000 damage suit filed in federal court today by counsel for Charles E. Austin, Inc., independent oil distributors of Detroit.

The suit, charging conspiracy to destroy competition, named as defendants the Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., the Sun Oil Co., the Shell Oil Co., the Pure Oil Co., and the Hickok Oil Corp.

Piled under provisions of the Sherman anti-trust act, the suit alleges that the companies entered into a conspiracy to operate Puritan Stations, Inc., as an independent company to destroy competition by the Austin organization.

The complaint alleges that Puritan stations is a dummy company owned and operated by the defendants. The Puritan company, it is alleged, opened stations near Austin establishments and sold gasoline below cost.

The first electric locomotive made its trial trip April 29, 1915, at a speed of 19 miles an hour.

Craig, president of the American Retail Federation, said advancement of the date would "logically help in the effort to advance the national income."

Records show, he added, that retail stores do a greater amount of business in years when Thanksgiving falls four full shopping weeks ahead of Christmas.

But from the angry tone of authorities most vehemently opposed to the proposed change it appeared there might be a dual Thanksgiving this year, with some states gorging on Turkey, cranberries and football on Nov. 23 and the old guard having theirs a week later, which would be just another Thursday to "new dealers."

Up to Governors

The state department in Washington pointed out that the governors of the individual states have more say about Thanksgiving than the president because his proclamation is valid only in territories and the District of Columbia and among federal employees.

College football managers saw their finely drawn schedules upset by the president's announcement and expressed resentment in some cases, and a desire to switch dates as best they could in others.

The change would not only affect schedules themselves but the conditioning plans of the coaches, who would find big games scrambled out of the order originally planned. One estimated that his Nov. 30 game would play to a crowd half as large as anticipated for Thanksgiving Day.

The business manager of the University of Arkansas, worrying over his Nov. 30 game with Tulsa university, said, "maybe we can get the governors of Arkansas and Oklahoma to proclaim Nov. 30 Thanksgiving down here anyway."

New England Shocked

This was typical of the dozens of colleges all over the nation which have their games of ripest tradition on Thanksgiving Day as a climax to the season with all the "old grad" and homecoming trimmings.

New Hampshire's Senator Bridges, who suggested in his Washington statement that the president "abolish winter," was something of a keynoter, as well, for the New England states, where the whole business began in Pilgrim days at Plymouth, Mass. There, as the school books say, they celebrated a bountiful crop by stuffing on the best cuisine available.

Governors Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Aiken of Vermont and Barrows of Maine, Republicans all, indicated they either would not go along with the "new deal" Thanksgiving at all; or as Salton-

Thrilling Rescue On Bay de Noquet Brought To Light

Details of a thrilling marine rescue which occurred on the upper reaches of Big Bay de Noquet Sunday afternoon were revealed for the first time in Escanaba last night.

While sailing homeward about 5 p. m. after a trip to Nahma, Sid Shank and Joe Shipman, local yachting enthusiasts, noticed a white flag being waved frantically from a boat as it in distress, and they finally made out an S. O. S. signal. Thinking this meant Shipman or Shank, the boatmen both hastened toward the distressed mariner and noted that the signal was a shirt, identified by its "tell-tale grey."

The shipmate in distress proved to be the director of a well-known local escort service, whose boat had gone haywire and who feared that he would have to spend the night on the angry, dangerous waters of the bay. The S. & S. sailors immediately organized a marine escort service, and towed the disabled craft to port, allowing the signaler to put his shirt back on again.

Many natives of Brazil are said to drink 10 to 20 cups of coffee a day.

CITY TRAFFIC FATALITIES HIGH

Police Report Reveals Death Rate In City for Fiscal Year

Further proof that Escanaba motorists cannot be too cautious during the unusual heavy traffic which will be caused by the state Legion convention here this week-end is furnished by the annual report of the police department for the fiscal year recently ended. The report reveals that there were 375 automobile accidents in Escanaba during the past year, 29 of them being mishaps in which people received injuries and 35 being the total number injured.

In addition to the number injured, five persons were killed as the result of automobile accidents. Four of these fatalities have occurred since the first of the current year and May has been the high month with three deaths recorded. May was the high month also for injuries received from automobile accidents, with nine being recorded, and April was next in line with four.

At this rate, according to statistics compiled by the police department, the number of accidents per hundred thousand population would be 2,582, the number of injury accidents 199.7 per hundred thousand and the number of deaths 34.4.

A comparison of these figures with those of metropolitan centers and also cities the size of Escanaba show that the local death rate resulting from automobile accidents is far in excess of the average.

The rate in Milwaukee, which is nationally known for its safety record during the first six months of 1939 was only 8.7. According to a report published in this month's issue of the Public Safety magazine, St. Louis had the best record for cities of over 500,000 population with a rate of 8.2, New York had an average of only 9.7, while Los Angeles, which had the poorest record for cities in this group had an average of 31.6, which is lower than the Escanaba rate.

In the group including cities with a population of from ten to 25 thousand, 82 cities had a perfect record for the first half of this year. Iron Mountain, the only upper peninsula city competing in the safety contest sponsored by the magazine had one fatal accident for a percentage of 16.4. According to a list of 166 cities included in this class, Escanaba with its present rating would rank in the 155th position.

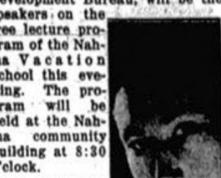

The local report shows that there were 180 crimes committed during the past fiscal year including 6 burglaries, one robbery, two statutory offenses, 10 acts of larceny in which the value was over $50 and 45 in which the value was less than $50.

There were 86 arrests made for traffic violations. A total of 16 automobiles were stolen during the year and all of them were recovered. In connection with this the police department wishes to warn residents to be particularly careful not to leave keys in their cars during the convention, pointing out that when a driver does this it is practically an invitation for someone to take the car.

About 13,000,000 acres of land have been ruined by wind and water erosion in the United States.

DeVries, Newton On Nahma Lecture Pogram Tonight

Peter DeVries, Chicago, associate editor of Poetry magazine, and Stanley D. Newton, publicity director of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, will be the speakers on the free lecture program of the Nahma Vacation School this evening.

Mr. DeVries is a graduate of Calvin college at Grand Rapids. After doing some newspaper work, he went in for free lance writing. His fiction and verse have appeared in Esquire, Coronet, New Yorker and Short Story magazine. During the past couple years, he also has been serving on the staff of Poetry magazine.

Mr. Newton will speak tonight on the topic, "Poets and Poems". Mr. Newton was engaged in newspaper publishing in Sault Ste. Marie for many years, and has been handling publicity for the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau the past decade. He is an authority on the history of the Upper Peninsula, and has written a book and many magazine and newspaper articles concerning this region. Mr. Newton is attending the Nahma Vacation School and is gathering material there for publicity stories to be released by the Development Bureau.

At this rate, according to statistics compiled by the police department, the number of accidents per hundred thousand population would be 2,582, the number of injury accidents 199.7 per hundred thousand and the number of deaths 34.4.

CARE NEEDED, SAYS OFFICER

County Health Unit Warns of Danger During Fly Season

With the present increase in the activity of house-flies and other carriers of contamination which will reach the peak of their life-cycle between now and September, strict standards of sanitation and cleanliness are urged by H. F. Newkirk, sanitarian with the county health department, in order to prevent the spread of any possible outbreak of dysentery and diarrhea, the dangers of which are very definite at present.

There have been only a few scattered cases reported so far this summer, but unless preventive measures are enforced from now on, there is danger of another outbreak such as took place last year, during which three or four children died, according to Mr. Newkirk.

Parents are warned to be especially rigid in their protection against flies and other insect pests. Close relationships within families in which outbreaks of the ailments have occurred is likewise warned against, as the maladies are highly contagious. Especial care is to be taken in the case of children in their contacts with play-mates who have been exposed to unsanitary conditions.

In many cases last year, in which dysentery and other associated ailments were the cause of death, it was found that the water supply was safe, but that flies were not excluded and that children in homes in the neighborhood of the residents of the family which was first affected were allowed to play with the children of that family, causing a rapid spread through the district.

As a step toward the prevention of the ailments, with their attendant dangers, it is required that all householders provide or have provided, connections with the sewer main, or, as an alternative measure when absolutely necessary, outhouses constructed by plans which are approved and specified in building diagrams released by the county health department and through the city department to persons securing building permits for the type of buildings which require such provisions.

It is further asked that dysentery shall be immediately reported as a communicable disease to the county health officer, as is provided by state law. It is classed in this respect with small pox, chicken pox, measles, etc.

In answer to the objections to sanitary building and installation as in the requirements mentioned above, Mr. Newkirk says that the economic cost of illness will in the long run far overbalance any objections which might be entered. In the present fly season, it is particularly necessary and advisable that steps be taken at once in locations which do not have complete facilities.

is capital of the world's greatest industrial nation—but has no industries. It is capital of the world's greatest democracy—and its people have no vote.

So Washington, it seems, is American—not America. Nowhere in Washington can you cut deep enough to get a cross-section of American life; nor can you find out, save at second hand, what the country is thinking, doing, how it is shaping under the insistent hammering of this modern world.

All of which means that it is well to look elsewhere, occasionally, to follow the American scene. It adds to the interest in the tour now being made by Bruce Catton, Escanaba Daily Press and NEA Service correspondent, to sample the real America behind the Washington front. His daily stories are as enlightening as his regular contributions from Washington.

Favors Dry State

SPEAKING at a district meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union at Ogden Center, Governor Dickinson declared he would "like to see Michigan dry" and exhorted temperance and religious groups to organize to secure stricter enforcement of the liquor laws.

The governor had been an active leader in the Anti-Saloon League in Michigan for many years prior to the coming of prohibition. Like the rest of the dries, however, he laid down his cudgels during the prohibition era, believing that the enactment of a dry law would take care of the situation.

Prohibition was accepted by the American people back in those days when the country was still afflicted with world war hysteria. But now times have changed. Folks are inclined to feel that drinking is a personal matter, and it is doubtful whether prohibition will return for many years, at least.

However, the liquor problem still remains in America. There still are the tragedies that are attendant to excessive drinking of intoxicating liquor. Each day, these unfortunate experiences visit various homes throughout the land, and in these homes there may be a tendency to blame the liquor traffic.

Criticism is already being heard of disreputable liquor establishments, where minors are permitted to loiter and other violations of the law are committed. Although prohibition is far away, the dry reformers will find in these dives good arguments for securing stricter regulation of the liquor traffic. Very likely if some of these evil conditions continue to exist there will be a gradual taking away of the privileges that the legitimate liquor business now enjoys.

COPIING OUR CASTOFF (Grand Rapids Press)

While progressive forces have been suffering serious setbacks in Michigan it is noteworthy that some other states are forging ahead to the goals from which this one is retreating. Ironically enough the civil service study undertaken in Michigan three years ago has been the basis for merit systems in several commonwealths which have made use of this survey while the spoolmen here were relegating it to the ashcan.

Attention has been drawn to this contrast between Michigan and more progressive states by the resignation of Kenneth Pennebaker as civil service director to take a similar post in Minnesota—a position he acquired, by the way, through a competitive civil service test, which indicates that the new Minnesota merit plan is starting from the top down.

A bulletin of the Council of State Governments reveals that Minnesota has embraced progress to an even greater extent than the adoption of the merit system in its state government. On Aug. 1 a modernization program went into effect which together with civil service is designed to make more effective the executive direction, fiscal control and personnel management of the state.

Under the modernization plan a department of administration has been created, headed by a commissioner who is to be essentially a "state manager." This commissioner is named by the governor with the consent of the senate and is ex-officio budget director and state purchasing agent and responsible for the custody and maintenance of state property, buildings and grounds. He also supervises the conduct of various service enterprises such as central stores, duplicating and mailing rooms and the printing and distribution of state documents and reports.

The new act also provides for financial control for state departments and local governments with the auditor general, elected by the people, as the central accounting officer. He is to prepare quarterly and annual statements showing the exact financial condition of the state and each of its agencies and he is to see that they have uniform accounting systems.

A public examiner, new financial officer appointed by the governor, is to make an annual audit and make recommendations for improvement in the management of the state's business. All state taxes, furthermore, are to be collected and administered under one department of taxation, headed by a single commissioner. A new social security department is set up under a board of three.

The state's new civil service act covers almost all state employees except school teachers, elective officials and a few other groups.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY LIVINGSTON HARTLEY Author, "Our Maginot Line"

The curtain of secrecy drawn over the Brenner Pass by the sudden expulsion of foreigners and the rumors that Germany is to be given an outlet on the Mediterranean at Trieste are the more significant because they follow the recent solidification of the Berlin-Rome Axis. Transformation of the Axis into a military alliance has changed fundamentally the status of Italy in Europe. It has not only burnt those bridges of retreat which London and Paris had undergone such sacrifices to keep open. It has also, because Italian power is so inferior to German, reduced Rome to a diplomatic satellite of Berlin.

The Axis has been essentially an instrument of blackmail, which has enabled Hitler and Mussolini, to gain far more by partnership than they could have gained separately. But blackmail is a dangerous game which is liable, in the end, to force its prospective victims into concerted resistance. When this result develops, as it has since March, further success in aggression may require the use instead of the threat of military force.

But co-operation with Germany in war is a very different outlook for Italy than co-operation in blackmail during peace. For however a European conflict might result, it appears destined to lead the Italian people into disaster.

The destruction of war, in the first place, must hit Italy far harder than Germany. Its long, narrow peninsula is exceedingly vulnerable to the superior naval power that Britain and France wield in the Mediterranean. Its vital industrial centers, Turin and Milan, are only a few minutes' flight from France, whereas French industrial centers lie far from the Alps. And, because Italy is far the weaker of the Fascist partners, it must expect concentrated military opposition of the Western democracies.

This expectation is reinforced by strategic factors. With the powerful German Army behind its formidable western defenses, a direct French assault upon the Rhineland would be costly and difficult. But the French Army is far superior to the Italian, and the topography of the Alpine passes is far more favorable to France than to Italy. The flat plains of Lombardy, if they can be invaded, offer France the best field to engage the army of the Reich and thus relieve German pressure on Poland or the Balkans.

Political considerations likewise suggest concentration on Italy. Since the Reich is so difficult to invade, it can best be defeated by pressure on the "home front." Naval blockade would apply this pressure slowly, but the defeat of Italy would exert it rapidly.

So Italy must expect to suffer far more than its ally if it joins that ally in war. Defeat would be disastrous, entailing presumably the loss of all Italy's overseas fruits of past aggression. What might we expect its prospects to be if the Axis Powers should be victorious?

These might be glittering temporarily, bringing to fruition the dream of "Mare Nostrum." It Duce might be saluted for a number of years by subject peoples around the Mediterranean. But how long would a vastly more powerful Germany, dominant in most of Europe, refrain from extending its authority south of the Brenner?

Mussolini appears now to have condemned his formerly light-hearted people to a fate they do not deserve. When the anti-aggression front was built up, the interests of the Italian people demanded more, not less, freedom of action in relation to the Reich. Then was the time to accept, with minor but real profit, the olive branch so patiently held out by London, and adopt a neutral position between the Reich and the Entente Powers. Had Mussolini done this, the Reich would have been far less likely to embark upon war, and if war had come, Italy could again have declared neutrality and later joined the winning side.

Italian newspapers refute this view with the contention that Mussolini can restrain Hitler better as a pure ally than as an uncertain partner. But this accords neither with diplomatic precedents nor with common sense. No advice from an already committed ally can hold back an aggressive dictator as effectively as could the threat that a possible ally would not march with him.

Whether the Italian people can escape from the dire position into which their Duce has led them depends now upon the success of the anti-aggression policy of the democracies they have been taught to regard as enemies.

THE "STARCH" OF STEEL (Philadelphia Evening Public Ledger)

Development of a process to work Cuban deposits of manganese profitably may prove of vital importance to the United States in case this country were involved in a major war. Manganese, the "starch" of steel, is a strategic mineral the lack of which might seriously impede any American war effort.

High-grade manganese is not found in this country, and the mining of it has been considered of little use so long as supplies can be obtained from Russia, India, the Gold Coast of Africa and Brazil are also possible sources.

But the significance of the development in Cuba lies in the fact that manganese from that country might supply the needs of the United States thus making the nation independent of foreign deposits.

Mt. Clemens—A jury tonight awarded Henry Ford six cents in his libel suit against the Chicago Tribune for calling him an anarchist. A. J. Murphy, for Mr. Ford said: "The important issue has been determined favorably to the plaintiff. He has been vindicated. Money damages were subordinate." Weymouth Kirkland, for the Tribune said: "We consider it a victory for the reason Attorney Lucking in closing for Mr. Ford stated nothing less than substantial damages should be awarded.

"Go to work tonight if you feel like it." That was the sentiment which prevailed at a meeting of railway shopmen held at the city hall last night, and as a result some of the men who had previously been working on the night shift, went to their homes, changed clothing and made their appearance at the shops ready to resume where they left off nearly two weeks ago.

Mayor Chaffield and Chief of Police Tolan, in commenting on the suspension of work by the local shopmen and ore dock workers yesterday took occasion to remark about the absolute orderliness of the men. It was a peculiar "strike" they thought. Not a sign of disorder appeared; there was no boisterous conduct, not an extra officer had to be put on the force and not an arrest was made as a result of the two weeks of idleness on the part of the men.

Corporal Harold Rushton, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Rushton, arrived yesterday from Camp Sherman where he was discharged from the service after serving overseas for 15 months. He was with the First Artillery Corps and participated in five major operations and was in active service on eight different fronts.

Preparations are virtually complete for the opening of the fine new grocery store of the Babcock Mercantile company at 313 Ludington street on Saturday morning. Yesterday a large line of crisp new goods was placed on the shelves and other stock is to arrive today. The interior of the room has been thoroughly remodeled and it will be one of the most conveniently arranged groceries in the city.

During the course of the last long and bloody war Logan remained idle in his cabin, an advocate for peace. Such was my love of the whites that my countrymen pointed out as they passed and said: 'Logan is the friend of white men.' I had last spring in cold blood, and unprovoked, murdered all the relatives of Logan, not sparing even my women and children. There runs not a drop of my blood in any living creature. This called on me for revenge. I have sought and killed many. I have fully glutted my vengeance. For my country I rejoice at the beams of peace. But do not harbour the thought that man is the joy of fear. Logan never felt fear. He will not turn on his heel to save his life. Who is there to mourn for Logan? Not one."

Q. How tall does a boy have to be to enter the United States Air Corps? M. M.

A. The minimum height requirement for enlistment in the United States Army Air Corps is 5 feet, 4 inches.

New York—Roy Post, inventor of the Lie Detector, received considerable publicity the other day when he tested his device on the aeronautical employees of the Wright plant in Paterson, N. J. But the accounts of the Lie Detector's success didn't carry this side:

The question Post put to employees before the Lie Detector went to work on them was, "Are you a member of a secret organization?" The tell-tale gadget could find no Munchausens among the lot until one employee was confronted with the routine query. He said "no." The indicator on the Lie Detector shot up.

The fellow who said he didn't belong to a secret organization took the inventor of the Lie Detector aside. He withdrew a badge from his pocket which identified him as a member of the FBI—that secret body which is headed by J. Edgar Hoover.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—One of the strangest but most persistent rumors regarding the Chicago grand jury investigation of Moe Anenberg, famous newspaper and racing news publisher, was to the effect that Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, close friend of the President, had intervened on Anenberg's behalf.

Behind the rumor was the fact that Anenberg once equipped a baseball team connected with a Catholic school in which Cardinal Mundelein is interested.

The Cardinal heard this rumor, and when he was in Washington to call on President Roosevelt a short time ago, he dropped a quiet remark which indicated exactly where he stood.

After lunching at the White House, Mundelein visited with Attorney General Frank Murphy at the office of a mutual friend. Among other things, Murphy remarked to him:

"I want to tell Your Eminence what a fine boy we have in Bill Campbell and what a great job he is doing in the Anenberg case. We are certainly lucky to have him with us."

Murphy was referring to William J. Campbell, the young U. S. Attorney in Chicago who later indicted Anenberg, and who is a protegee of Mundelein's. The Cardinal said nothing about Campbell; instead he asked: "May I make a comment regarding that case?"

"Certainly," replied the Attorney General.

"I want to tell you that any move that you make to clean up the city of Chicago and make it a better place to live in is one of the finest things you can do, and will always have my blessing and support."

—YOUNG DEMOCRATS' COMMITTEE—

That Pittsburgh resolution of the Young Democrats, slapping party Senators and Congressmen for voting against Roosevelt measures, was a lot tougher in its original form than as it finally emerged from the resolutions committee.

This committee, chaired by Barry Bingham, liberal young Louisville publisher, was overwhelmingly New Deal. But among the 31 members was a bloc of six Garner conservatives, consisting of Price Daniel, head of the Texas Young Democrats and leader of the dissenters; Howard Lee of Arkansas; Walter Domach of Wisconsin; Harold Garly of New York; N. Heywood Clarkson, Jr., of South Carolina; and Gordon Gray of North Carolina.

Although heavily outnumbered, the Garnerites put up a determined scrap against some of the strongly pro-Administration resolutions. All protested devotion to the President, but they didn't want the convention to put it in writing. They particularly objected to one statement deploring that a few Democratic Congressmen had found affinity with reactionary Republicans to be tempting.

The committee voted to report the resolution with the protested language, whereupon Daniel threatened to take the issue to the convention floor. Eugene Casey, Maryland farmer and canny author of the resolution, met this challenge with a counter-manuever. He offered to delete the statement if the Garnerites would join in a unanimous report on all the resolutions.

They agreed. The New Dealers dropped the few disputed words and got both the resolutions and the harmony they wanted.

Note—Joe Brady, Alabama delegate, at the first meeting of the committee objected to mentioning Roosevelt by name in the resolutions, but when jumped by Casey backed down and at the final meeting voted with the New Dealers.

—MERRY-GO-ROUND—

A stenographer at the Young Democrats convention, typing the resolutions that were adopted, wrote "expiring" instead of "inspiring leadership of President Roosevelt," and "the privileged youth of the slums" instead of "the underprivileged youth" . . . MRS. GORDON BAILEY

Mrs. Gordon L. Bailey, of Birmingham, Mich., national president of the Eight of Forty, honor society of the American Legion Auxiliary, who will be here for the department convalescence of the organization, during the state Auxiliary convention, also is serving as department junior activities chairman. Mrs. Bailey is a past department treasurer.

La Boutique des Huit Chapeaux et Quarante Femmes, the honor society of the American Legion Auxiliary, commonly known as the Eight of Forty, was established at an executive board meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary at national headquarters, Indianapolis, Ind., in the year 1922, giving definite assignments and christened the "Honor Society." Also, at its inception, Eight of Forty was given the slogan of Fun, Fellowship and Service, the latter to be particularly concerned with child welfare. Membership is limited to Auxiliary members who have earned the right through at least three years of service to the parent organization.

During the first ten years of its existence the child welfare work was scattered over many fields of endeavor and resulted in much duplication of effort. Then, in November, 1932, at a meeting of the American Legion's National Child Welfare Division, also held in Indianapolis, a definite assignment for concentrated activity was given Eight of Forty—that of juvenile tuberculosis prevention work, and since that time Eight of Forty has featured this as their major activity in child welfare.

Welfare Activities In addition to local work, such as Mantoux skin tests, care of underprivileged children, the national organization has given generously from their funds to carry on this work. A complete ward of eight beds has been endowed and completed at the National Jewish hospital of Denver, Colo., for tubercular crippled children. This hospital both non-sectarian and non-denominational cares for hundreds of life's unfortunate children from all over the nation and is entirely charitable. Another hospital project is that of the American Legion hospital for crippled children located in St. Petersburg, Florida.

A mandate of the Los Angeles convention of the organization was that of formulating scholarship awards, one to go to a veteran's orphan in each of the five major areas of the United States. The scholarships will be awarded upon the broad basis of higher education of children past the age of 16 and will not oblige youths to attend college, but may be used to enter business school or to further education in a specified trade. Personnel of this committee is in the process of formation and has representation of able leaders from each of the areas in which the awards will be given.

Prominent Leader Leadership of the Honor Society of the American Legion Auxiliary for the year 1938-1939 was placed in able and experienced hands by the delegates of the Los Angeles Marche, when they elected Thelma E. Bailey as leader for the ensuing year.

She has filled virtually every office in her local and state organ of the Auxiliary and the Eight of Forty and in addition to this is considered an outstanding figure in Michigan's civic and patriotic organizations. Throughout the state she is well known for her work as county director of the American Red Cross, county chairman of the NRA, state chairman of the Association of American University Women and of the Tuberculosis Association. Child welfare, the major project of the organization, has been to her a definite life interest and for the past five years she has been state chairman of the Youth Activity committee of the American Legion Auxiliary and is a member of the Michigan Juvenile Delinquency Council. She is listed in the 1935 edition of "Who's Who in Michigan."

On The RECORD

By Dorothy Thompson

The President and the Summer

The Challenge to the Opposition. The Congressional victory over the pending bill may prove to be Punic so far as more than temporary business revival is concerned. The President has predicted that it will be; he has suggested that business and employment will suffer as a result.

Two things come to mind apropos this remark. One is that, whereas the recent Congress certainly turned down some Administration measures, the power of the administrative agencies and of certain Congressional committees, notably the temporary national economic committee, to harass the business world continues. The amount of energy, nerves, and money being spent by the industries of this country to prepare material for governmental investigations and to defend themselves before investigators, and the effect of some of these investigations upon the efficiency of the companies and upon the temper of their executives cannot be computed.

A subpoena by the T. N. E. C. means the turning upside down of the executive and bookkeeping departments of whole industries, to the economic benefit of neither wage earners nor stockholders, but only for the financial benefit of lawyers and public relations counsel. It means in every single case stacks of the letters. For today the business executive, be he, like Ophelia, as pure as ice and as chaste as snow, does not escape calumny.

The business leader is never completely sure what the law—or some administrative decree—allows him to do, nor how his case before one of these hearings will be presented to the public through the press.

In these hearings there are no rules of evidence, such as obtain in courts, and anything at all can be dragged in, relevant or not, including the personal politics of the man under fire, who is much less protected in his personal and private opinions than is a W. P. A. worker under the Hatch bill.

In his dispatch from Washington last Friday Mr. Arthur Krock revealed most illuminatingly the contents of a specific subpoena—the one issued to the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company. If any trade union in the country ever received such a subpoena, such a howl would go up from organized labor as the nation has never known, and we would have the Civil Liberties Union fulminating in the public press.

This is only to say that the methods, the procedures and the spirit in which agencies are administered are quite as important as the laws under which they operate and have enormous repercussions upon the economy. The sense of not being trusted paralyzes initiative. The fear of doing something that may be interpreted as wrong—according to very arbitrary interpretations—results in a preference for doing as little as possible. This is glaringly apparent under all super-bureaucratic regimes, such as Soviet Russia, where initiative is continually paralyzed by fear of a purge.

Thus, if the Administration wants to make its evil prophecies come true and then blame Congressional action for the calamity, it still has the power to do so.

But the opposition, also, can contribute to fulfilling the worst apprehensions.

It so happens that the rejection of the deficit spending philosophy and the lessening of the threat of future government competition with business occurred in an economic phase which Secretary Hanes, apparently forgetful of the President's warning, has since described as the beginning of a real forward movement.

The opposition should take warning not to emulate the President's tactics of attributing current and subsequent events to the fulfillment or the frustration of legislative acts. The devotees of the confidence school of thought, to which unfortunately a majority of the Republican platform planners apparently belong, may be confirmed by the action of this Congress and by more favorable business conditions, in faith that the tide has turned and that recovery will go from strength to strength by mere negativism so far as government is concerned.

If the opposition gambles its own and the country's future on such wishful thinking, the President's prophecy is likely to be fulfilled. Basic changes have occurred in the American temper in the last six years, and even more basic changes have occurred and go on occurring in the world we live in. The New Deal has realized those changes and sought to adapt the policy of the nation to them. It—and any other conceivable government—was, and would have been, and will be hampered, in making an intelligent, systematic, consistent program, by inherent difficulties in our constitutional system, which need the candid consideration of thoughtful citizens.

The New Deal has also been hampered by its own confusion, inconsistency, animus, impetuosity and sloth. But if the opposition contents itself with attacking New Deal platitudes with old saw platitudes that belong to a no-longer existing epoch it will disappoint millions who, drifting away from the New Deal, are nevertheless still looking for a constructive program in the domestic and international sphere.

Clearly, a return to laissez-faire

SERIAL STORY

Murder on the Boardwalk

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CHRISTINE THORENSEN—came to visit her cousin, found a mystery.
BILL WARDLEY—had a reason for watching Christine.
GEORGE WILMETT—employed Christine as a Boardwalk artist.
CHANDRA—looked into the future—and into the past.

Yesterday: When Christine arrives in Surf City to visit her Cousin Emma, there is no one to meet her. Christine calls her cousin's home, is told service has been discontinued. The telephone operator adds, mysteriously, "If there's any trouble, you're to call Main 2070."

CHAPTER II

"I was to tell you to get a room at the Crestview, and—" Abruptly the agitated voice at the other end of the line broke off. When the girl spoke again, it was with the studied impersonality of the regimented operator: "I am sorry. Your party does not answer."
For a moment Christine sat, stunned, trying to grasp the entirety of the dilemma in which she found herself. She did not even try to understand the amazing conversation she had just finished.

She could go to the hotel, of course—but in the present state of her finances, any hotel bill assumed the dimensions of a national debt. . . . Or she might just sit here for the rest of the night. But in that event, how was she to get rid of that officious young man?

As she had expected, he was waiting inexorably when she went back to the platform.

"Well?" he demanded.
"Well," Christine told him, catching at the first phrases fated to her tongue. "It seems that as the result of an unexpected domestic upheaval, my cousin had no one to send to meet me. So I'm to go to a nice, quiet hotel for the night."
"A nice, quiet hotel in Surf City?" he grinned. "Have you one in mind?"

Scrabbled about in her memory, Christine pulled out a name. . . . "Crestview," the telephone girl had said. And Christine definitely recalled Cousin Emma's remarking once, "If there is a respectable hotel in Surf City, I suppose it's the Crestview."
"Oh, the Crestview, I suppose," Christine said casually.

"The Crestview, hm?" He looked at her with new interest. "Well, there's nothing like camping on the battlefield if you have Amalgamated shares to vote tomorrow."
"Battlefield?" Christine echoed. "I hear there's likely to be a right gory little war over that merger between Amalgamated and National at the stockholders' meeting. . . . But forget it. It's not my war anyhow. . . . Well, shall we start? I'll drive you over. My car's out there."
"Thanks, but I'm taking a taxi," he shrugged.

"May I call one for you, or does your rugged individualism run to calling your own cabs?"
At that moment a taxi rolled into a berth at the end of the platform, and laughing a little, economic and monetary policies is impossible in the world as at present constituted, and promises even less success in the future than, on the record, it produced in the closing phase of the great depression.

What we need if we are to continue to maintain the American democratic Republic is not the rescinding of laws regulating industry but the rationalization of the laws and their administration. What we need is not the withdrawal of government from the economic field but the integration of government activities with the private economy on a balanced and rational system whereby, under just and reasonable rules, each complements, supports and assists the other.

The economies of all Democratic nations are today mixed economies, of laissez-faire and government planning, and the task of statesmanship for our country is to work out and apply the concerted policies and the synchronized measures which will enable us to get the best of both systems rather than what we now have—an inchoate and frustrated confusion that leads to a combination of the worst of both systems.

This is a hard thing to do. It takes brains and character, the willingness to make sacrifices all around and an enormous portion of disinterestedness. But failure to reach such a synthesis is responsible for what we most deplore in the world at present: the collapse of democratic systems. Either we shall find it, or our democracy will go, too.

We, like the rest of the world, are living in dangerous times, when rapid institutional changes in the internal society are aggravated by the incalculable load of risks inherent in international tensions.

The novelties and complexities of the problem call for the finest articulation and co-ordination of that deliberate sense of the community to which the founders of the nation successively appealed in the most critical former years of our history—years no more critical than these. The function of the opposition, therefore, must be more than to oppose and to counsel retreat. It must be to construct. The opposition needs a program, written with wide-open courageous eyes. It needs a program more than it needs a Presidential candidate.

they hurried toward it. While the driver was stowing Christine's bags away, the young man began almost diffidently, "Of course, I'm taking a chance of your shouting for the police, but the Crestview runs into money. . . . What I mean is—well, I know that young girls don't carry a lot around, especially when they're visiting relatives. If you—it would only be a loan—"
Christine thought, "It's strange but I never felt this way about a man before—as if I'd known him forever—as if borrowing from him would be perfectly right and natural."

Aloud she said, "I'm really all right. But thank you, Mr. . . ." "The fellows," he told her, "call me 'Bill' . . . I wish you would, Miss Talbert."
"But my name isn't Talbert. It's Thorenson—Christine Thorenson."

Once in her luxurious quarters at the Crestview, Christine emptied the contents of her purse on the bed and counted anxiously. When she had told the bare-headed young man that she was "all right," she had been guilty of a brush overstatement. After she had bought her railway ticket, she had had left a thin sheaf of bills which she optimistically expected to stretch into pin-money and modest tips to Cousin Emma's household.

Now, after the extravagance of a night at the most "respectable" hotel in Surf City, she would barely have enough for a return ticket to New York—and no prospects to speak of after she got back.
"Oh, well," Christine told herself. "Cousin Emma must have made some arrangement for me. I'll hear from her tomorrow."
She took a bath in the luxurious tub, put on her best satin nightgown, and fell into a dreamless sleep.

When the sunlight awoke her early next morning, her immediate interest was only in breakfast—lots of it.
She dressed carefully, selecting her green linen with the orange and black Balkan embroidery, which was perfect with the copper of her hair, and the open-toed pumps she had picked up for almost nothing at a little New York shop.

On her way through the hotel lobby it occurred to her that there must be a message from Cousin Emma, and stopped at the desk. . . . But there was no message for Miss Thorenson.

Christine thought a little forlornly as she went down the Boardwalk, scrutinizing the menus posted in the windows of the cheaper restaurants. "I'll think of something—after I've had a good, strong cup of coffee."
But even after two cups—neither of them too good—in a small cafe reeking of fried potatoes, the only idea that occurred to Christine was that she was practically broke, and stranded alone in one of the most expensive, most heartless pleasure resorts in the country.

As often happened when she was deeply absorbed, she reached for a pencil—found one a waitress had left on the table, and the only drawing surface at hand, the back of a menu card—and began to sketch.
Rousing from her abstraction, Christine compared her sketch with the original, the fat, insufferably self-satisfied looking proprietor of the cafe; she was frowning over the finishing touches when a voice said, "Excuse me, but that is really excellent!"

Startled, Christine turned. A plump, neat little man—bald except for a tuft of hair well back on a shiny pink scalp—was peering down at her sketch through astigmatic lenses.
He might have been any small-town business man, or a teacher or clergyman on vacation. . . . Christine decided against the clergyman. After all, this was Surf City.

When Christine looked up, he gave a funny duck of a bow and coughed apologetically. Because he looked so like he was afraid of offending her, and because Christine was a friendly young woman, she gave him her best smile and said "Thank you."
"I suppose," he asked, "that you are employed somewhere as an artist?"

"I wish I were," Christine replied from her heart.
"Then," he asked, "you might consider an offer?"
"Just try making me one," Christine thought.

"You see," he went on, "I have a concession that isn't paying. I should be grateful if you could help me."
"Should you mind," Christine asked, clasping her fingers to keep them from shaking, "explaining what you want?"
"I need some one to do portraits—very much like that, but in color. You'd just stand in a studio near the Boardwalk and draw passers-by at so much each. A fast worker like you should easily make $5 a day. . . . That is," he hesitated anxiously—"you'd probably have to pretty some of the customers up a little."
"For $5," Christine told him, "I'm entirely willing to make them all look like movie stars—especially if it will contribute to the self-esteem of the great American public. When do we start?"

Christine had no way of knowing that with her impulsive acceptance of what seemed unbelievable good luck, she plunged into the most tragic events of her life.

WPA PROJECT IS REVIEWED

Beauvais Takes Plans to Lansing for Official Examination

City Manager P. H. Beauvais went to Lansing Monday with the city's WPA project for the construction of Lakeside park. The project previously had been approved by examining authorities of the Works Progress Administration at Marquette.

The project is most extensive, providing for the construction of a tennis court, softball diamond, roadways through the park and a seawall. All of the sawdust and old slabs dumped into the waterfront in past years will be removed and trees will be planted in the park.

The project will provide work for a number of WPA men during the winter months. The job is expected to take about six months for completion.

After the proposal is approved by WPA officials in Lansing, the project must be submitted to Washington for final approval. It is hoped by city officials that construction can begin within a month.

GIRL DOES STUNTS

Sault Ste. Marie — A young woman with a penchant for walking bridge railings and freighting dumdummed onlookers is being sought by Chief of Police Matt H. Mitchell, who wants to ask her "just what is the big idea?"

From time to time police have received complaints that some young woman is walking the Ashmun street bridge railing, and with just as much nonchalance as though she were tripping down a sidewalk. Police answer the calls, and when they arrive at the scene the young woman is gone.

The young woman vaults to the railing at one end of the bridge and strolls the full length, jumping off to the sidewalk at the other end. Police were called again this morning, but the young woman got away. She did, however, frighten a woman who was walking across the bridge with a baby carriage.

Property Owners Have Until Sept. 26 to Pay

The deadline for payment of summer taxes, ordinarily August 15, has been extended to Sept. 16, and a month of grace granted to many Gladstone property owners through the informal action of the city commission this week.

The idea of repairing the old city hall building and making such changes as necessary to use it for a farmer market was dropped for this year because of the cost which would be involved.

Payment of $75 for the first month's alley cleaning was approved as was the graveling of the south hill to improve the incline for auto traffic. Complaints have been received as to the condition of the surface of the road leading up the bluff at this point.

Allows Only 2 Hits But Loses Ball Game

Bernard Olson allowed only 2 hits and struck out 21 but poor support allowed the Owls to nose the Badgers, 8-7, in a ten-inning tilt Monday and as a result the Owls came closer to winning the second half season title in the WPA midget league.

The Badgers led 6-4 until the 8th when the Owls tied up a run a piece in the 9th and then the Owls pushed across the winning run in the 10th. The Badgers got men on 2nd and 3rd in the 10th but were unable to get them across the platter.

Owls ----- 000 400 021 1-8
Badgers ----- 102 300 001 0-7

WATER HEATING RATE ADOPTED

Action Expected to Boost Electricity Use in City

In order to induce Gladstone residents to heat water by electricity, thereby boosting the current consumption here, a rate of 1 1/2 cents per KWH for current used during the off-peak for this purpose was approved by the city commission Monday night.

If sufficient use can be promoted to boost the total consumption the cost per KWH to the city will be proportionately lower with resultant additional profit for the city.

The rate is only for use on off-peak periods. This, City Manager A. F. Raddant declares, would mean that in the summer time consumers could use the service about 22 hours of each 24 and about 20 hours out of each 24 in the winter months.

Evening is the time when the peak load is highest. Special meters and a time clock would be used in connection so that it would be impossible to use the water heater during the period when the load was highest.

Yachting Parties Are Being Resumed

Sailing parties and outings at Maywood, which have proven so popular this summer, are to be resumed tonight.

Those attending will enjoy a sail about the bay and the boats will then put in at Maywood where dancing will be enjoyed and lunch served.

The first boats will leave the harbor at the foot of Tenth street at 6:30 o'clock and the last boat will leave at 8 o'clock. No boats will make more than one trip tonight.

Allows Only 2 Hits But Loses Ball Game

Bernard Olson allowed only 2 hits and struck out 21 but poor support allowed the Owls to nose the Badgers, 8-7, in a ten-inning tilt Monday and as a result the Owls came closer to winning the second half season title in the WPA midget league.

The Badgers led 6-4 until the 8th when the Owls tied up a run a piece in the 9th and then the Owls pushed across the winning run in the 10th. The Badgers got men on 2nd and 3rd in the 10th but were unable to get them across the platter.

Score by innings:
Owls ----- 000 400 021 1-8
Badgers ----- 102 300 001 0-7
Batteries: Owls, Morin and McNair; Badgers, Olson and Lundin.

URGE AID FOR RETIRED WPA'S

Commission Acts to Get Help for Workers Layed Off

A resolution adopted by the city commission in regular meeting Monday night deplored the present economic status of WPA workers released under new rulings and urges the Michigan Emergency Relief commission to take action to take over the load.

A group of released workers with Pete Mineau as spokesman appeared before the commission. Mineau explained the situation to the body and urged commissioners to recommend prompt measures be taken to remedy the present plight of the men.

Copies of the resolution are being sent by City Manager A. F. Raddant to Mrs. Frederica Rogers, and Walter Gries of the State Department of Social Welfare, to Gov. Luren Dickinson, Abner Larned, state WPA administrator and to Cong. Fred Bradley and Senator Prentiss Brown.

The resolution: "Whereas, it has been called to the attention of the city commission that a relief crisis is at hand with reference to the laying off of WPA employes which must be met promptly;

"Now, therefore, be it Resolved, that the city manager communicate at once with the Michigan Emergency Relief commission and advise such commission that 54 men have been laid off and that this number will be increased to 200 by the end of this month; and that the current checks of those laid off will be exhausted by the payment of current bills, leaving them without immediate means of support, the city having no funds available for such purposes; and that there is no chance of employment in private industry in this vicinity and that it is generally impossible for them to obtain any credit locally;

"Be it further resolved, that prompt action is necessary to arrange for the Emergency Relief commission to take over these men immediately as they are released from WPA in order to prevent actual want in their families."

KANT ORDERS FIRST SESSION

New Coach Will Give Out Equipment on Friday at Brewery Field

Between 35 and 40 candidates for the St. Joseph high school football team are expected to report at the high school Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock to receive equipment and hold opening drills. Coach Carl Kant announced yesterday.

Kant makes his debut as a coach in Escanaba this year, coming here after teaching a year at Powers. He was one of the finest all-around athletes in the history of St. Norbert college at DePere, Wis., starring in football and basketball. His home is at Clintonville, Wis.

Following issuance of equipment, the gridlers will be taken to the practice field near the old brewery and put through limbering-up exercises. Light work undoubtedly will be the plan of action for the rest of the week, conditioning being an important factor in the success of any football team.

Has Many Veterans

When Coach Kant lines up his squad Friday, he is expected to find about 12 or 13 veteran lettermen on hand as a nucleus for this year's team, including one veteran for each position. He will have Gray and Klotz at full, Young and O'Donnell, halves, E. Hira at quarter, J. Baker and F. Hira, ends, Pouliot and Perron, tackles, Ryan and Viau, guards, and Loeffler and Bonifas, centers.

E. Hira and Pouliot, regulars two years ago, are back in the fold after being away from the game for a year. Missing from last year's team when the boys line up will be Langenfeld, Ashland, Leisner, L. Baker, Trotter and L. Klotz.

The tentative eight game schedule will be unchanged, be as follows: Sept. 9, at Sault Ste. Marie; Sept. 12, at Iron Mountain; Sept. 23, at Menominee; Oct. 7, at Stephenson; Oct. 14, Manistiquet; Oct. 21, Crystal Falls here; October 28, at Gladstone, and Nov. 4, at Munising.

U. P. SOFTBALL DRAWINGS MADE

Event At Negaunee This Week End Attracts 37 Teams

Negaunee, Mich., Aug. 15. (AP)—With representatives of about half of the 37 teams on hand to witness the proceedings, officials of the Michigan Softball association and county groups tonight completed the drawings for places in the upper peninsula district softball tournament, which will be held here for two days beginning Saturday.

Fifteen teams in Class A, 11 in Class B and 11 in Class C will square off on the city's four diamonds, over the week-end for district honors and the chance to represent the upper peninsula at the state finals.

The drawings were made by George Zorn, U. P. softball commissioner; Municipal Judge John Siegel, commissioner in Marquette; S. V. Hytinen, president of the Marquette Softball association, and Clarence T. Bullock, Marquette recreation director and manager of the recent sub-district tournament held in Marquette.

Chet Olson Defends His Tennis Title In Marquette Tourney

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 15. (AP)—Play will open tomorrow morning on the Northern State Teachers college courts here in Marquette's first upper peninsula open tennis tournament, with Chester Olson, Lansing city champion, seeded No. 1 in the starting field of 27.

Seeded No. 2 is Fred Hauser, who lost the Lansing title to Olson in five sets this year. Others in the seeded six, in the order ranked, are Raymond Wise, No. 2 in St. Louis, Mo., circles; Gardenor Larned, 16-year-old Chicagoan who is a member of the western junior Davis Cup team; D. D. Freeborn, St. Joseph, Mo., ace and Dudley Merzlik, of Iron Mountain, upper peninsula junior champion.

Olson starts off in the first match of the day against Robert De Temple, of Menominee. All seeded players will see action tomorrow except Larned, who meets the winner of Wednesday's match between Robert Lovell, of Hubbard, and Walter Bietlin, of Ishpeming, on Thursday morning.

RUWITCH CALLS OUT CANDIDATES

First Practice Tuesday; Seven Lettermen Expected Back

Opening practice for candidates for the Escanaba high school varsity football team will be held at the athletic field on Tuesday afternoon, August 22, at 2 o'clock. George Ruwitech, new head coach, announced yesterday.

Delay in opening date of practice is due to the fact that the American Legion will be using the athletic field for drum and bugle corps competition.

Losses 18 Lettermen

George Ruwitech, who succeeds Carl Nordberg, new head coach at Saginaw Eastern, has issued an invitation for all boys interested in varsity competition to report at the fieldhouse next Tuesday afternoon at which time uniforms will be issued.

Ruwitech faces a tough task in his first year as head varsity coach, finding 18 of last year's 25 lettermen missing, including all but one lineman and two regular backs. He will have to rebuild the line completely and find a reliable quarterback and hard hitting fullback.

Among the lettermen expected to be back in the fold will be Capt. Merle Pfothenauer, left halfback, and Hobby Barron and Vern Anderson, who alternated at right half; Roy Cress and Leonard Fedrow, ends; Ray Popin, guard; and Wilbur Leonard, tackle. It is possible that Barron may be moved to quarter back and Popin to tackle, although nothing definite can be expected before the opening game.

Four Home Games

Members of last year's powerful team missing this year are Nilson, Henry, Andrews, Bender, Bennett, Cox, Ferguson, Hanson, Meunier, Olsen, Shank, Swanson, Thatcher, Farrell, Kaufman, Moran, Nicholson and Peltier.

An attractive eight game schedule has been arranged for this year with the opening game on the local field on September 16 with Manistique furnishing the opposition and the closing game the traditional Armistice Day game with Gladstone here. Other home games are the Norway tilt on September 30 and Menominee on October 7. Games away from home will include Stambaugh on September 23, Soo October 14, Iron Mountain October 21 and Marquette, November 4.

BENGALS WHIP INDIANS, 12-3

Newsom Grants 3 Hits and McCoy Drives Home Six Runs

Detroit, Aug. 15. (AP)—Old-timer Buck Newsom, allowing three hits, and Rookie Benny McCoy, driving home six runs, collaborated today to whip the Cleveland Indians, 12 to 3, and give Detroit the series, two games to one.

Notching his 14th victory of the season, Newsom hurled brilliantly. With the help of star catches in the outfield by Barney McCosky and Earl Averill, the veteran right-hander retired the side in order in seven innings.

Cleveland's three runs were the result of Hal Trosky's 16th homer, his second in two days, in the second inning, and Ken Keltner's 11th four-bagger, also the second in two days, with one on in the eighth.

Spills Monopolized

McCoy doubled home two runs in the third, tripled in three in the sixth and scored another with a sacrifice fly in the seventh.

All in all, Young McCoy and Newsom monopolized the major spoils of the day, a happy one for the Tigers since it gave them their seventh series triumph in the last eight sets.

The youngster and the veteran collected five of the 11 Tigers' hits. They topped it off by fashioning a run together in the seventh with Newsom tripling into center for his second hit and coming in on McCoy's fly to left.

Detroit went to work on Russ Dobson, Indian right-hander, in the third after Newsom walked with one out. McCosky singled and McCoy doubled to left to score them both. Averill and Rudy York walked, and when Boudreau fumbled Pevly Higgins' grounder, McCoy trotted home.

The Tigers were quiet until the sixth and then they poured it on for seven runs on five hits and two errors. A walk to Fox, Boudreau's miss on Birdie Tobbetts' grounder, and Frank Croucher's single scored the first run.

Four wide ones to McCosky filled the bases, and McCoy drove the ball against the wall in left to clear them. Averill scored McCoy with a single and counted himself when Mickey Heath messed up York's double.

DEAN'S RELIEF SHOW PATHETIC

Hartnett Ties Up Tilt In Ninth But Cards Nose Ahead, 7-6

St. Louis, Aug. 15. (AP)—The 13,000 fans in Sportsman's Park today—nearly 8,000 of them women there for ladies day—saw a little bit of everything that could happen in a ball game as the St. Louis Cardinals nosed out the Chicago Cubs, 7 to 6, in 10 innings.

They even got a glimpse of Dizzy Dean, once a Cardinal and now a Cub, but his brief appearance was pathetic. He ambled in from the bullpen to pitch the tenth and a rookie pitcher, Bob Bowman, singled in the winning run before Dean could retire a batter.

To start the Cardinal tenth Terry Moore singled, his third hit in five times up. It was Terry Moore day at the park and friends had given him many gifts before the contest started. Glen Russell fielded Don Gutteridge's bunt and tried to catch the fleet Moore at second but his toss went into center field, Moore reached third and Gutteridge went on to second. Then came Bowman's game winning hit.

Manager Gabby Hartnett of Chicago in the role of a pinch hitter sent the game into extra innings with his ninth inning single after two were out. His hot grounder past Stuart Martin drove in Augie Galan from second.

STATE CHAMPS HERE SATURDAY

Escanaba Eagles Resolve to "Come Back" In Legion Game

A flashy, colored baseball team which numbers among the victims of its terrific clouting the highly touted House of David and Ethiopian Clowns and has striven 19 consecutive victories in its trail will be seen by local fans Saturday when the Muskegon Heights squad, state colored champions, battle the Escanaba Eagles in a game under the auspices of the American Legion.

Four of the Muskegon Heights sluggers have an imposing record of 50 home runs among them in their winning stretch.

Among their stars here will be Booker Hazley, Home Run Scotty, Catcher Anderson and Kiggus, plenty other boys who can dish out plenty of thrills with their skill at the game.

The Eagles, top-ranking team in the Rainbow League, have recently gone into a losing streak of three games after winning ten straight. According to all signs and percentages, including pledges and solemn vows from the players, something is bound to happen next time they step onto a baseball diamond. With their past record as fine as it is, they have plenty of basis for such expectations.

GARDEN'S BAND TO HELP CIRCUS

Gladstone and Cornell Performers Also On Program Thursday

An all star cast from Escanaba appearing in the Third Annual Recreation Circus to be held at Ludington Park Thursday night beginning at 7 p. m. will be supplemented by a sparkling array of talent from neighboring communities who have volunteered their service in order to make this circus bigger and better than ever before.

The Garden band under the direction of Charles Johnson will give music in the parade and during the big show. There are approximately twenty-five in the band and they are all in uniform. Other music will be furnished by a Tambourita band from Gladstone and a clown band, both under the direction of Herman Groless. An expert baton twirler, also from Gladstone, will do some fancy work with the stick.

From Cornell will come a trio of crooners who have been trained by Joe Bussineau who also is sending "Rambling Jim" the singing cowboy who will sing while Jim Holt of Escanaba performs.

A troupe of clowns captained by Joe Poulin will keep the Escanaba clowns on their toes in order to get half of the laughs.

Mrs. Bernice Anderson, director of the circus is sending out the last call for the Indians who are to appear for practice this morning at Ludington Park. So far, the band of warriors scheduled to appear have been doing more lurking than practicing and Mrs. Anderson announces that unless they all come for practice this morning that she will not include them in the program. Except for the Indians, all of the other performers have been working hard and the next day should polish them up for the big show Thursday night.

In his new capacity, he will have charge of the central repair shop where all machinery and vehicles used by the CCC in the district are repaired. A similar shop for Upper Peninsula national forests is maintained at Watersmeet.

Beadle came to the Upper Peninsula forests in 1935 from the Ottawa and served as acting ranger at Raco for some time. Because of ill health, he was unable to continue his field work and in 1937 was transferred to the local headquarters, serving as clerk here since that time.

High School Youths "Scamp" Over U.S.A.

"Yes, that's where we've been," said a girl lounging in one of the seats of a somewhat travel-worn blue school bus which was pulled up at a local filling station yesterday.

A "Scamping" expedition, as it was explained to us, is made up of School-Travel-Camping and is SWELL FUN!

According to the description of the Martins, it includes as well, "Days of visitation to historic shrines, natural grandeur of the great West, camping in the National Parks, visiting the people on plantations, in industry, in Pueblos, on ranches; satisfying the natural urge of adolescent youth to 'go places' and see things, under assistance of experienced leadership."

All of which, it may be said, also adds up to "Swell fun!"

The plan, although promoted by Mr. Martin, is, according to him, planned and organized largely by the participating youths. The group, which includes fourteen students of the Reading and Wyomissing high schools, prepare their own meals and are independent of hotels and restaurants.

Mr. Martin, member of the faculty of the Wyomissing school, has been in youth work for twenty years, including the direction of a native teachers' training school in West Africa. In that experience he and Mrs. Martin did extensive field work relative to establishing science courses and learning the customs of the people. He collected most of the wild animals of the west coast of Africa. Miss Dowland, according to the Martins, is an accomplished seasoned camper.

The Scampers have conducted their treks, paid for by the participants themselves (at the time they reached Escanaba, the cost of the trip was $115, according to one of the girls) for the past three years. In 1937 they covered the New England states and Quebec. The next year, as in 1939, they went farther from home and covered a good part of the United States.

Trans-Continental Route Their itinerary this year includes "Wyomissing - Reading; Harrisburg, Pa.; Shenandoah Valley, across Tennessee, Alabama to the Gulf at Mobile; westward via New Orleans, through Louisiana to Shreveport, across Texas to Carlsbad Caverns, N. M., to El Paso and Juarez, Mexico; northward to Santa Fe and Taos, N. M., to Grand Canyon and Painted Desert, Petrified Forest, and Boulder Dam; California via Las Vegas and Death Valley to Los Angeles; Sequoia and Yosemite following days at Hollywood, Long Beach; to the World's Fair at San Francisco; up the coast to Seattle; east to Glacier, and then to Yellowstone; a week at Rosebud Ranch, Kirby, Mont.; east again via Bad Lands, across Minnesota and up to Duluth; across Wisconsin and Michigan to Sault Ste. Marie; then down to Detroit, east through Ontario to Niagara Falls, and back to Reading-Wyomissing, Pa.

The group has already been nine weeks on the road and camping in their various stop-overs.

"This," says Mr. Martin, "is a Youth Movement for American Youth."

Mr. Martin, we agree.

FIRST LEGION MEET RECALLED

E. L. Moersch Was Delegate to St. Louis Caucus

It has been twenty years since the first caucus was held in St. Louis for the purpose of forming a veterans' organization composed of soldiers who had fought in the World war, but Ed I. Moersch, Escanaba's delegate to the convention still recalls the highlights of that meeting which led to the formation of the American Legion.

In addition to himself, Mr. Moersch recalls that there were one or two other delegates from the upper peninsula at the first caucus, which was attended by from four to five hundred veterans.

The meeting was attended by a large number of disabled veterans, a number of the delegates appearing on crutches, while others needed the assistance of canes to get around. The period of the meeting was a time when many disabled stood in need of, and lacked hospitalization and care and there was a great interest in the meeting by these veterans.

The general caucus was held on May 8, 9 and 10, of 1919 and Lieutenant Colonel Theodore Roosevelt Jr., who had been instrumental in beginning the movement for an organization was immediately elected permanent chairman.

The election of Roosevelt was accompanied with wild acclaim, the Escanaba delegate recalls, but he resigned immediately stating that he did not think he merited the honor given him and Henry D. Lindsey, of Texas, was then elected chairman.

The caucus then proceeded to an exposition of the aims of the group and a tentative constitution was adopted and the machinery created to provide for permanent organization.

Out of this preliminary meeting grew the national organization as it is known today. The American Legion was chartered September 16, 1919, by an act of Congress and the charter convention was held in November of the same year in Minneapolis.

Kirkland Speaks On Nahma School Lecture Program

"Do the things you want to do when you want to do them."

That is the essence of Wallace Kirkland's "philosophy of life" as revealed in his entertaining and interesting talk on "Adventuring in Living" at the Nahma Vacation School lecture program last evening.

The Life photographer said that for the last ten years he has pursued his interests, done things he has wanted to do, and has found that it has opened up new avenues of opportunity for him as he has gone along on his way.

He explained that he has usually attained his objective by committing himself to some plans by telling his friends about them.

The most pathetic picture in life, he continued, is the person whose main interest in life is the accumulation of money, and after making his fortune does not know what to do with it. Too many folks never achieve their desire because of fear and lack of self-confidence, he added.

Kirkland said he developed a liking for photography several years ago and decided to make a living at this profession. Since he has been working for Life and other magazines, his assignments have taken him to various parts of the North and South American continents. He told of many interesting experiences and the enjoyment he has derived from doing the work he likes to do. He warned, however, that in "doing the things one wants to do," usually requires much hard work.

Cousineau Makes Hit Earl Cousinsneau, music director of the Arcola, Ill., public school, was accorded a fine ovation by the audience of three hundred people when he sang several numbers preceding the lecture. By popular request, he will appear on the lecture series at a later date. Mrs. J. E. Witters, furnished the held in November of the same year in Minneapolis.

Special Bands Are Booked Every Day For Legion Rally

Escanaba high school band, with their specialty entertainers, will have the honor of opening the state American Legion convention and Upper Peninsula Legion convention at Escanaba Saturday.

The high school band will be the official band for Saturday, 40 and 8 day; Marinette and Menominee bands will pep up the street festivities Sunday, and the Escanaba Municipal band will take the spotlight Monday.

Saturday night will be given over entirely to the fun-making of the 40 and 8, high jinks organization within the Legion. There will be a parade, wreck, and a big ball at the Elks temple afterward.

Box-cars, designed for 40 men and 8 horses, from which the organization gets its name, will be much in evidence during the 40 and 8 parade Saturday night. Several locomotives and boxcars will be entered from the Upper Peninsula, in addition to those from downstate. One original French boxcar will come all the way from Detroit, carrying 25 men inside for the trip to the peninsula.

Rice and dried beans, purchased almost entirely from the United States mainland, constitute about one fourth of all the food consumed by that island's 1,800,000 people.

They are the men who deserve the credit for services performed and facilities maintained. Naturally, they realize that it's just "good business" for them to please you in every way they can. It's "good business" for you, too—because their work contributes so much to your own safety and comfort on the road.
