

PEACE OR WAR? GERMANY TO DECIDE

EMBARGO MAY BE DECLARED BY ROOSEVELT

PRESIDENT BOUND TO STOP ARMS SHIPMENTS

BY ANDRUE BERDING Washington, Aug. 28 (AP)—In case Europe goes to war and the neutrality act is invoked, President Roosevelt will be bound to clamp an embargo on the shipment to belligerents of a specific list of arms.

The neutrality act gives the president the right to issue his own list of the arms, ammunition and implements of war whose export will be prohibited. But the act also states he must include in this list the weapons contained in his proclamation of April 10, 1938.

That proclamation was issued by virtue of the neutrality act of 1935 which empowered the president to do so. The president can add to it but he cannot subtract from it.

In Six Categories The 1936 proclamation contains six categories of weapons of war, starting with rifles and working up to flame-throwers.

The first category includes rifles and carbines using ammunition in excess of calibre .22, and barrels for such weapons; machine guns, automatic rifles and pistols; guns, howitzers and mortars; ammunition filled and unfilled projectiles; grenades, bombs, torpedoes and mines, filled or unfilled, and tanks.

Category two embraces warships of all kinds, including aircraft carriers and submarines.

Category three includes military airplanes, assembled or dismantled, and gun mount, bomb racks, torpedo carriers and release mechanisms.

Category four covers revolvers and automatic pistols and their ammunition.

Category five applies to civil aircraft, airplane parts and engines.

Category six includes flame-throwers, mustard gas and other poisonous gases.

Raw Materials Barred Since that proclamation was issued, the national munitions control board, which was set up by the neutrality act, has issued a much longer list. A wide variety of explosives is added.

The president may add still more articles to the list he will issue as he proclaims the neutrality act, or he may cut down the list already issued by the control board. Perhaps new technical developments that may come to light during the first few weeks of the war will suggest additions.

However, the president is expressly forbidden by the neutrality act to include any raw materials in his list or any articles not of the same general character as those enumerated in his 1936 proclamation, that is articles of a definitely warlike nature. But it may be that chemical discoveries will transform seemingly in-

Read Gives Ruling On Delta County's Sanatorium Funds

Lansing, Aug. 28. (AP)—Attorney General Thomas Read held in a formal opinion today that Delta county could not be compelled to expend for welfare purposes either the income from its tuberculosis sanatorium maintenance fund, or the fund itself.

The opinion was requested by Prosecutor William J. Miller, of Escanaba, who reported that the state social welfare commission had ordered the county to tap the fund to finance relief activities.

The fund was established when Dickinson county contributed an amount equal to one-third of the cost of establishing the joint Delta-Menominee county sanatorium, in order to acquire part ownership.

Delta county used its share of the Dickinson county contribution to create a maintenance fund, and Read held that because it replaced money that had been raised by tax for a specific purpose, it could not legally be diverted to other purposes.

SQUALUS HITS BOTTOM AGAIN

Rises to Surface, Then Drops Back; Work Nears Completion

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 28 (AP)—For the second time in three months the bow of the ill-fated submarine Squalus thrust itself above the surface of the Atlantic in a wild smother of foam today, but once again the craft and her 26 dead settled back to the bottom.

Within a hair's breadth of completing probably the most remarkable salvage job in naval history, the crew that has labored above the Squalus since May 23 left the bow of the craft embedded in a mud bank tonight.

Long before nightfall, Rear Admiral C. W. Cole, in charge of operations, postponed another lifting effort until tomorrow at least.

Task Not Hopeless The task of the salvage experts was nowhere near as desperate as when the bow of the once-flooded craft last shot to the surface on July 13, breaking away from her lighting chains, only to plunge back to a 240-foot depth in a tangle of lifting gear.

Today's lift, which brought both the bow and stern of the $4,000,000 craft to or near the surface at different times, left the Squalus in 90 feet of water about two miles from the Isles of Shoals. If successful, the projected hoist and tow would have landed the submarine in drydock at Portsmouth tonight, and placed her "crew" close to a hero's burial.

Instead, the bow rose at 9:44 a. m. (EST) in the same kind of foam fountain that has typified all previous lifts, but after 25 feet of the craft had thrust above the surface, showing a sharp list, it sank within half a minute and only a continuing burst of air bubbles marked the spot.

Water Is Churned Forty-five minutes later, the two pontoons attached to the stern burst into the air, apparently spouting muddy water.

As they settled back, holding the partially flooded stern just below the surface, the water was so churned that for a hundred yards around the normally deep blue Atlantic was turned a livid green.

Hour after hour the salvage ship Falcon pumped air into the bow, but only occasional bursts of bubbles came up as a reward.

Finally at 2:15 p. m., Admiral Cole decided to sink the stern back to the bottom, and only the cluster of buoys holding the score of hose lines could be seen on the surface at sunset.

Growers Don't Like Michigan's Law On Apple Advertising

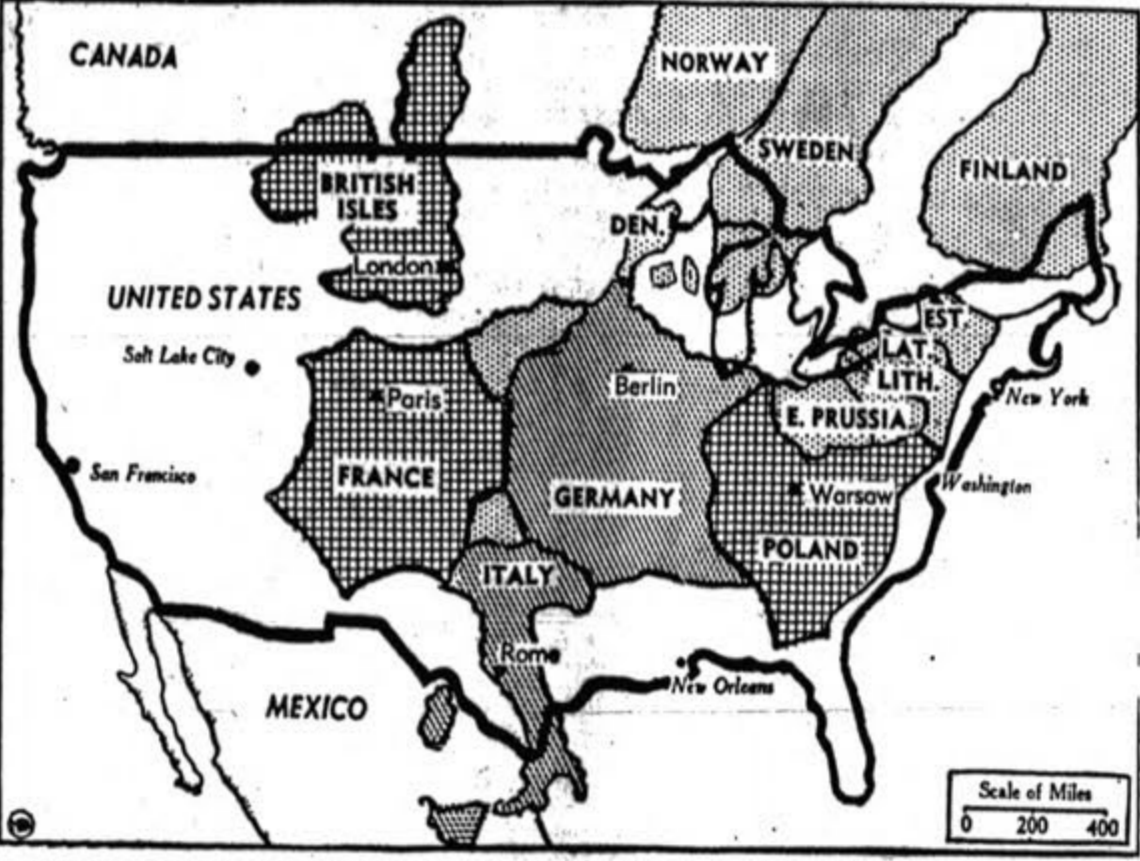

Benton Harbor, Mich., Aug. 28 (AP)—Apple growers indicated today they would circulate petitions asking for revocation of the state apple advertising act.

Some growers said the act, which requires the placing of tax stamps on shipments of apples, is unconstitutional. Funds derived from the tax are used to advertise Michigan apples.

Michigan Escaper Sentenced In Iowa

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 28 (AP)—Jesse Weaver, 24, who police said escaped from the Michigan state reformatory at Ionia, was sentenced to 25 years in Iowa state prison today for a lowa state holdup here July 7 which netted $120. Weaver was apprehended Friday at Ottumwa, Ia.

Theater of Threatened War Could Nestle in U. S.

The area of Europe which would be immediately affected should war break out is shown above, placed on a map of the United States drawn to the same scale. It demonstrates how vulnerable each nation would be to air attacks by its enemies. The distance from Berlin to Danzig for instance, is roughly the same as that from Omaha to Chicago. From Paris to Warsaw is 1650 miles, about the same as that from New York City to central Kansas.

England, France Ready To Help Poland Fight

London, Aug. 29 (Tuesday) (AP)—Great Britain's "showdown" message to Adolf Hitler was said authoritatively today to contain a flat warning that German threat to Polish independence would find Great Britain and France "fighting from the first day on the side of Poland."

Strictest silence was maintained about other angles of the communication handed the German chancellor in Berlin last night by the British Ambassador Neville Henderson. Its general tone was described in usually reliable quarters, however, as aimed at putting a definite end to European uncertainties—preferably by negotiation but by war if Hitler should choose that course.

The communication, which was in reply to one received from Hitler last Saturday, also was believed in circles close to the government to have restated British policy in terms which left Hitler these choices:

1. Agree to negotiate the German-Polish dispute in a peaceful atmosphere and in a manner giving assurance that Poland's independence would be respected both in any settlement and afterwards.

2. Enter also into negotiations with Great Britain and other powers for a general political and economic settlement which would restore normal conditions to Europe, allow nations large and small to live in peace, and insure Germany a reasonable "living wage" for her people.

3. Postpone any decision on his claims against Poland for return of Danzig and the Polish corridor to Germany.

4. Or face the combined forces of Great Britain, France and Poland if he attempts to settle these claims by force.

What Hitler's choice would be, no one pretended to know. But the swift tempo of Britain's military preparations showed she was preparing for the worst.

GLIDERS AWAIT SHIFT IN WIND

Pilots Kept Grounded At Frankfort; Ferry Radio Is Help

Frankfort, Mich., Aug. 28 (AP)—The weather man was top man at the American open soaring meet today. Adverse winds kept the glider pilots off the dunes and confined activities to the airport and the inland soaring site.

But Vic Sandok, barograph man for the meet and in charge of the weather maps, consulted his isotherms and isobars and concocted a prediction for tomorrow that brought joy to the hearts of the pilots. According to present indications a storm front should reach Frankfort Tuesday morning and the storm fronts ordinarily are followed by west and northwest winds which should mean that all of the pilots will have a chance to pile up a lot of hours in the air over the dunes.

Stan Corcoran and Ted Bellak of Frankfort, and Harland McHenry of Sarge, Pa., will be on deck at dawn to make a try for distance.

Special radio equipment was loaned by the Ann Arbor railroad carriers so that the soaring headquarters may keep in touch with the air line weather stations throughout the night and have detailed information on hand when the pilots are ready to start.

About ninety flights were made from two locations today but weak thermals did not allow duration flights.

Mrs. Purdy, Laurium, Named New Deputy To Auditor General

Lansing, Aug. 28 (AP)—Auditor General Vernon J. Brown appointed Mrs. Mayne Jewell Purdy, formerly of Laurium, today to succeed Gus T. Hartman as his deputy. Hartman has been appointed as state budget director.

Mrs. Purdy has been with the auditor general division since 1922, first as a clerk, later as a secretary and head of the information and disbursements department. She has continued in the job through succeeding administrations.

Brown said he felt she had "earned promotion as a faithful employee, who passed her civil service examination with flying colors." He said he felt there was no one in the department who knew more about it than Mrs. Purdy.

BRITISH DRAW FUEHRER INTO WORD BATTLE

BERLIN NOTE PAVES WAY FOR DELAY IN SHOWDOWN

BY TAYLOR HENRY Paris, Aug. 28 (AP)—Diplomatic circles considered tonight that Britain's new note to Germany might have paved the way for long negotiations for settlement of the European crisis.

After reading the text of the reply which the British rushed to Berlin, French circles said that only a "lightning stroke" by Hitler against Poland would keep the crisis from dragging out perhaps for weeks.

The British note, they indicated, was designed to maneuver Hitler into a technical and legal argument over his position as outlined to Premier Chamberlain in personal messages.

Paris in War Trim The note was described by a French diplomat who saw it as being so "technical" that a lengthy and detailed German reply would be necessary.

While diplomats continued efforts to find a solution, Paris put itself in fighting trim to resist attack from the air.

Hundreds of thousands of persons joined those who already had gone to the country. Railroad stations were jammed with families sitting forlornly on suitcases and boxes containing cherished possessions.

While France waited there was no change in her position. After Hitler's rejection of Daladier's suggestion that Germany negotiate directly with Poland if he wanted peace, French sources said:

"Hitler must back down now or we fight."

In diplomatic circles it was reported that the London note, stripped of diplomatic wordage, stated practically the same position as that of France as far as Hitler's demands for return of Danzig and the Polish corridor are concerned.

Burns His Bridges A slight ray of hope held out in these circles was that Britain was believed to have indicated a way for discussing opening of raw material markets to Germany if not return of colonies provided Hitler withdrew from his present position.

However, the same foreign diplomatic observer said that they gained the impression in Paris as well as in London that the chances of any such withdrawal had been considerably lessened by Hitler's publication of his letter to Daladier last night.

It was pointed out that Daladier by not making public Hitler's first formal demands for the corridor in addition to Danzig had left Hitler an opportunity to change his tactics.

Hitler by taking the initiative himself, diplomats said, apparently indicated he felt strong enough in his position to cut most of his bridges.

Two Peninsula Men Escape From Prison Camp At Marquette

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 28 (AP)—Prison officers continued tonight to search for Eric Karlo, 22, of Atlantic Mine, and John L. Jacobson, of Calumet, who escaped last night or early today from the honor camp, south of the Marquette branch prison. Karlo was serving a term for driving away an automobile and Jacobson for breaking and entering. Jacobson would have been eligible for parole in November.

The escape was the first from the camp since it was opened.

Inquiry In Detroit Police 'Grafts' To Start Wednesday

Detroit, Aug. 28 (AP)—Advices from Washington indicated today the grand jury investigation into alleged police connivance with gamblers would begin Wednesday with Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson hearing the first testimony.

Judge Ferguson and Special Prosecutor Chester P. Gilman conferred in Washington today with Attorney General Murphy, but their consultations were kept secret. They were reported to have gone to Washington in an effort to enlist the aid of federal investigators.

Government Tells Nazi Women When To Buy New Dress

Berlin, Aug. 28 (AP)—The new German rationing law places no restriction on the amount of clothing a German woman may possess, but she must be almost down to the extremity of "not having a single thing to wear" before she may buy something new.

A woman in Germany, under the present regulations, may not buy anything new if she has: Two dresses. Three sets of underwear. Two nightshirts or pajamas. Two petticoats. Six pairs of stockings. Six handkerchiefs.

Men have to get along with two suits and three shirts. But what might be more embarrassing to them is the fact that they are permitted only one stick of shaving soap for five months.

Two pair of shoes will suffice for both men and women.

Men however are favored by the government in that they are permitted to possess two pair of winter gloves whereas a woman has to get along with one pair.

SCHAFFER MAN HURT IN CRASH

Henry Bouchard Injured; Baseball Players In Accident

Henry Bouchard of Schaffer was critically injured and three Escanaba youths, Richard Lequin, Lawrence Greiner and Mark Valind, are patients in St. Francis hospital as a result of accidents which occurred Sunday morning and evening on Highways M-69 and US-2.

Bouchard, who was still unconscious yesterday afternoon and is suffering from a severe skull fracture, was injured at 2:50 Sunday morning when his car, which he had parked in the middle of the road on Highway M-69 between Schaffer and Danforth was struck by a car driven by Henry Seymour, also of Schaffer.

He was accompanied by Thomas Seymour, of Schaffer, who had been sleeping in the back seat of the car. They stopped the car at Ten Mile Creek to put water in the radiator and had parked on the highway according to information obtained by the sheriff's department.

As Bouchard was in the act of pouring the water in the radiator, the car driven by Henry Seymour, who was accompanied by Louis Guindon and George Hallfrisch, also of Schaffer, crashed into the rear of the Bouchard car due to poor visibility because of fog.

As the result of the impact of the collision, Bouchard was thrown about 15 feet to the side of the road and his car knocked over to the west side of the highway. Seymour's car following the crash landed in a ditch on the east side of the highway, but none of the occupants were injured. Bouchard was rushed to St. Francis hospital by Robert Bruce.

Escanaba Youths Injured The three Escanaba youths were injured when the car in which they were riding while returning from a baseball game overturned near Days River. Three other occupants of the car were only shaken up. The accident happened about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Two other accidents were reported to the sheriff's department over the week-end. One person was injured and three other occupants of the car escaped injury, when an automobile in which Erland Hill, Francis Conway, Jacob Annala and Paul Koski, all of Neegaunee, were riding, turned over on Highway M-35 near Beaver.

Driving towards Beaver the driver of the automobile lost control.

Japanese Good-Will Plane Held At Nome

Fairbanks, Alaska, Aug. 28 (AP)—Airport officials were advised late today the Japanese around-the-world good-will plane would be held at Nome at least overnight because of unfavorable weather.

The twin - motored monoplane, with seven aboard, arrived at Nome yesterday. It was to have been flown to Whitehorse, Yukon territory, today but there were low-lying clouds and murky atmosphere both here and at Whitehorse.

London, Aug. 28 (AP)—Great Britain offered Adolf Hitler late tonight peaceful negotiation of the German-Polish dispute in a manner that would protect Poland's independence—or the alternative of war.

A note containing these principles was handed the German chancellor by Britain's Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson who flew direct to Berlin from a British cabinet meeting. In an hour and twenty minutes' talk with the fuhrer, Henderson was said to have amplified the note verbally.

Door Not Closed Information in Berlin was that neither Hitler nor Henderson "banged the door" on further discussions at their meeting.

While strictest secrecy was maintained over the actual contents of the British note, it was said authoritatively in London that one thing it contained was a firm warning that a German threat to Polish independence would find Britain and France "fighting from the first day on the side of Poland."

Nazi political circles said Hitler would "not budge" from his demands for the Free City of Danzig and the Polish Corridor "and if the others want peace they will have to bring it."

At the same time, Hitler was represented as willing to have some friend, such as Premier Mussolini, mediate in the quarrel which has resulted in placing an estimated ten million men—the number killed in the World war—under arms.

Censorship In France "The only way negotiation is possible is for Britain and France to put pressure on Poland to cede Danzig and the Corridor," these German sources said.

Paris diplomatic quarters envisaged protracted diplomatic exchanges over the issue of peace or war unless Hitler's reply to the British message should be some "brutal act."

NOTED EDITOR TO SPEAK HERE

Women's Clubs Will Hear Acheson of Reader's Digest Staff

Dr. Barclay Acheson, an associate editor of the Reader's Digest will be one of the principal speakers during the twenty-second annual convention of the Upper Peninsula District of the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs which will be held in Escanaba and Gladstone in September.

Dr. Acheson will contrast the boasts of the dictators with the accomplishments of the democracies in an address entitled "Freedom, the Mental Climate for Progress."

As Director-General of Overseas work for the Near East Foundation, Dr. Acheson has first hand acquaintance with European conditions gained through ten years of close study in the field.

Now as associate editor of the Reader's Digest he stands at the crossroads of current thought, a constant student of world affairs.

Has Traveled Extensively Before the World War, he was appointed to the Faculty of the American University in Beirut, Syria.

During the crucial months of July and August, 1914, he was in Switzerland, France and England watching the mobilization of troops and the attendant political turmoil.

After the war, Dr. Acheson cooperated with the Refugee Settlement Commission of the League of Nations, in his capacity as Director General of Near East Relief, an American organization that rescued, hospitalized and trained 132,000 Armenian, Greek, Assyrian, Arabic, and Jewish orphans, distributed some $110,000,000 in relief funds, and fed over 2,000,000 starving people in the Near East.

Dr. Acheson was born in Canada and educated in the United States. He has been decorated by foreign governments and given honorary degrees by the educational institutions of America.

Will Discuss Progress The theme of his address will be that the history of mankind has been one of progress. This progress has not been uniform but sometimes rapid and at other times well nigh stagnant.

The acceleration has taken place during periods and in places where liberty prevailed. The stagnation, the retrogression, has occurred in times of oppression, of despotism, under such dictators and tyrants as Germany, Italy and Russia have today.

The progress of America in the past 100 years, in social justice, in science and in material well-being has been greater than any the world has ever known.

Dr. Acheson is scheduled to address the convention on Friday, September fifteenth in the William Bonifas Memorial auditorium.

The public has the privilege of hearing Dr. Acheson's address by paying a nominal admission fee. Members of the Escanaba Women's Club and the Gladstone Child Welfare Club will be admitted without charge.

Recent raw materials into means of deadly warfare. Congress could always vote an amendment to the act authorizing additions to or subtractions from the list.

Contraband List Grows Whatever list the president proclaims, one thing is certain—it will not agree one hundred per cent with the contraband lists that will be published by the belligerents.

History, particularly in the World War, indicates that nations begin a war with short contraband lists and gradually augment them to embrace practically every article of export.

Such was the case with Great Britain. She began the war with a contraband list limited pretty well to war materials, then expanded it to include raw materials capable of transformation into war materials and finally ended up by including food-stuffs and hundreds of articles that normally would be destined solely for the civilian population.

On the ground that the German government had assumed control over all foodstuffs, and the presumption was that imports of foods would be consigned to the army.

Despite the neutrality act, it is generally felt that the United States may face in a new war many of the problems of neutrality it faced in the last. It may be that American ships carrying war materials to belligerents will be stopped by warships and their cargoes confiscated.

The United States would have a difficult time making an argument about it because the government of President Wilson acquiesced in a lengthy contraband list after the United States entered the World War, in which most raw materials were included.

But we may see once again the seemingly endless exchange of notes between the United States and Great Britain on the subject of contraband.

"Bested the first day" said Smith, who was arrested today.

Communication

DEFENSE OF CCC

Dear Editor: I wish to answer the communication which was published in your paper, dated Saturday, Aug. 19, 1939.

I speak of the letter published under the head "Campers Molested."

The unwarranted attack upon the Civilian Conservation Corps, was both ridiculous and unfair in its entirety! The writer in his desire for publicity seemed to ignore the facts of this case.

First I wish to correct the gentleman upon the distance from the camping grounds to the camp. It was exactly three quarters of a mile. Then also the author of the communication "Campers Molested" in his anxiety to present a vivid picture allowed himself to engage in a bit of melodrama.

The young girls did not muster their courage and then dash wildly to the CCC camp. To the contrary they wandered up the road singing songs and in all appearance in a jovial mood.

Upon their arrival at camp they were cordially received as was stated in the communication. Their request for lodging in the mess hall until morning was granted.

The night guard also went to the park and investigated but to no avail. The chaperon, a young woman in charge, made no request to see the persons in authority, which you must agree was the logical step.

Soon after the arrival of the young ladies at camp a car passing by was stopped by the night guard. The occupants, two ladies and two gentlemen, were questioned. These gentlemen were wearing light shirts and it would have been extremely foolish and unwise to have taken one of these "Dead or Alive!"

The Flowing Well Park is a public camping and picnic ground and there were other occupants there that particular evening who had a perfect right to be there. The reason for their being there is personal and questioning by anyone at that time of night would have been resented.

If the culprit had an automobile, which was highly probable because of the parks remoteness, there are roads going in all directions by which he could have made an escape.

Bearing in mind that roads are County and Forestry roads by which cars pass by at all times of the night. Stopping one of these cars and forcing an even questioning because of a resemblance (a lantern and white shirt) to the man so meagerly described might lead to unpleasant complications.

Then coming the woods with two hundred men in the dead of night would have been both useless and futile. Taking everything into consideration, both mentioned facts above and the fact that the young men of the Civilian Conservation Corps are equipped for conservation and are lacking in equipment for an efficient man hunt in the wee hours of the morning.

If the young men and officials were aware of this incident they would, in spite of these obstacles have been too glad to volunteer their services; that is if they had been so requested and informed.

He speaks of high commissions he previously held—if this is an example of his ability then no wonder he doesn't still hold them. He states campers have a right to feel they are entitled to some protection when entering into a National Park and a State camping site.

To this we agree but a person with foresight would have made arrangements so it would have been known that girls of that age would be camping there. Then steps for protection from prowlers and animals such as bears, which are abundant in the vicinity of the park, would have been taken.

Mothers and fathers, when your children are placed in a similar position make sure that steps for their protection are made by individuals in charge. Failure to do this may cause by far more serious results and consequences.

Contraband List Grows Whatever list the president proclaims, one thing is certain—it will not agree one hundred per cent with the contraband lists that will be published by the belligerents.

History, particularly in the World War, indicates that nations begin a war with short contraband lists and gradually augment them to embrace practically every article of export.

War-Created Poland Torn Apart 4 Times

(By The Associated Press)

For the fourth time since the 19th century, when she emerged as a nation torn from the blank of the tottering Moravian empire, Poland today faced the threat of a partition.

The Free City of Danzig is a sore point between Germany and Poland, but it is only a symbol of the friction.

Poland nearly a thousand years ago was much larger than today, but the trouble is that the new Poland, created by the treaty of Versailles in 1919, contains what formerly was part of Germany. Adolf Hitler wants back all of former Germany.

The population of Poland today is 34,000,000 and the country covers 165,000 square miles.

Governed by League Poland today is a composite. Two-thirds of the land was taken from old Russia and nearly one-third from Germany and the former Austria-Hungary.

A small slice came from Czechoslovakia in last year's partition of that country.

In order to give Poland access to the Baltic Sea, a block of German land, mainly the former provinces of Posen and Pomerania were included with Danzig as a port. Danzig remained under the League of Nations, which still theoretically governs it.

Germany gained control of Danzig and the Poles built nearby the new seaport of Gdynia. Friction over that and the German demand for return of former German territory constantly envenomed the two neighbors.

Germany was split in two by this "Polish corridor" to the Baltic, but had special transport rights on the railroad connecting the two parts. Eventually Hitler pressed for a settlement. On April 28 in a speech he denounced the Polish-German non-aggression pact and demanded immediately a strip of truly German land across the Polish corridor to make Germany again a unit.

He said the next time the price would be higher. Hitler's present demands are that "next time" and the price is higher—Germany.

Arrested By Officers The second mishap occurred at 9:40 Saturday at Wells on the road known as Electric Row in front of the Alfonso Gardner residence, when a car driven by Nelson of Flat Rock collided with one driven by Leonard Beauchamp of Escanaba.

Nelson was driving on the wrong side of the road and after striking the Beauchamp car he continued down the highway for about 80 feet and then went off in the brush for 60 feet before bringing his car to a stop.

He was arrested by officers of the sheriff's department who investigated the accident, on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Nelson was arraigned in justice court yesterday morning and entered a plea of guilty. He was fined $50 and costs by Judge Henry Ranguette.

French mobilization was hastened so that approximately 3,000,000 men were under arms throughout the empire.

France also suspended commercial air service with Rome, Turin, Milan, Geneva and Zurich. Stockholm planes made their last trips today.

Evacuation Rehearsed In England more than 1,000,000 school children in London went through what was called a "rehearsal" evacuation. Some significance was attached to the fact that they were required to take a change of clothes and gas masks to the schools.

Britain enforced sweeping regulations, closing military areas, putting new regulation on public utilities and restricting civil liberties.

The British admiralty, which assumed control of merchant shipping Sunday, advised commercial vessels to stay out of the Mediterranean and Baltic seas, banned use of wireless, and restricted night lighting aboard ships in the tidal waters of the United Kingdom.

The big German liner Europa, enroute home from the United States, suddenly cancelled her customary calls at Southampton, Eng., and Cherbourg, France, and sailed straight on for Germany.

Warsaw reported German observation balloons were aloft over the German-Polish frontier, and new incidents were reported along the border.

Foodstuffs Rationed The Netherlands mobilized 400,000 troops and increased its bank rate from two to three per cent.

In Germany the new food rationing system began and housewives, with their food cards, rushed to buy all they could of materials not yet limited.

Premier Daladier conferred at the war ministry with Polish Ambassador Jules Lukasiewicz, and persons close to the premier said he would send another message to Hitler in an effort to preserve peace. It would not alter France's firm stand in Poland's behalf, they said.

The British parliament was summoned into emergency session tomorrow to hear Prime Minister Chamberlain's statement on the week-end exchanges with Germany's chancellor.

While the nature of the British note was closely guarded, a person who saw a copy of the note delivered to Paris described it as "technical and juridical" and calling for a full reply from Hitler.

Fascists in Rome said that Premier Mussolini was willing to mediate the conflict over Poland, but the Italian press warned that the Italian press warned that there was at the moment "no bright hope" and the "increase" of a negotiated settlement.

Poland pinned her hopes that war might be averted on the possibility of mediation through a disinterested third party and prepared for a few more hours of these waiting for the decisions in London and Berlin.

Dickinson Says His Actions Will Overshadow Words

Lansing, Aug. 28 (AP)—Governor Dickinson received reports today that a large gambling house is operating openly in Macomb county in defiance of his order.

"My action will speak louder than my words," he said. Previously he had threatened to remove any short or prosecutor he considered a tax in enforcement of the anti-gambling laws. Asked today whether he contemplated removal actions or an order to the state police similar to that which recently sent most of its mobile man-power into the field in statewide raids against slot machine operators, Dickinson said he "might do both" but that he would not commit himself before acting.

"I may be criticized for not issuing a lot of statements," Dickinson said, "but my actions will have to speak for themselves."

He pointed out that he had a letter last week from Sheriff Robert C. Havel, of Macomb county, declaring the laws were being enforced and that he needed no help from the state.

Prices Restored By Oil Producers

Austin, Tex., Aug. 28 (AP)—Another company moved tonight to restore its posted price for crude as leaders of the beleaguered oil industry headed here for two important meetings centering upon the expiring mid-continent production shutdown.

Arkansas—One of the six states that halted the flow of oil in an effort to bolster the collapsing crude price structure two weeks ago—decided today to reopen its flush fields. However, Chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the interstate oil compact commission, declared he would advocate a 15-day extension of the shut-in.

The Shell Oil Co. late today announced it would reestablish its former crude price effective Sept. 1, adding in a statement the belief "the statistical position of the industry has already improved and is expected to improve sufficiently by the end of the shutdown period to justify the higher prices."

PLAN TWO DAY U. P. AIR TOUR

Will Be Held As Part of National Air Safety Week

Arrangements have been practically concluded by H. P. Westervelt, of Menominee, for a two day air tour of the upper peninsula in the early part of September in connection with the observance of National Air Safety Week.

Harold Gosner has been selected to represent Escanaba on the committee making arrangements for the air show. Thus far only tentative arrangements for the tour have been made and the definite dates for it will be announced later.

It is expected that all upper peninsula pilots and planes will participate in the flight and Escanaba will be represented by pilots Wallie Arntzen and Ralph Olson and any others who may be here at the time.

The flight is scheduled to start at Iron Mountain with stops being made at Marquette, Manistique and Escanaba enroute to Menominee, where the tour will close.

It has not been decided as yet which one of these cities will be selected for an over night stop but it is planned to have the aviators gather here for lunch on the second day of the tour.

John Block Dies Marquette—John H. Block, 70, who retired last April after 55 years of railroad service, 51 of which were spent in Marquette, died early Saturday morning in his apartment at the Northland hotel. His death was caused by cancer and he had been in poor health for a long time. Last spring when he went to the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn., he closed his home at 348 East Hewitt avenue and had resided in the Northland since his return from Rochester.

For 43 years Mr. Block served the L. S. & I. as train dispatcher. He was chief dispatcher for 15 years, retiring from that position of his own accord. He was with the Marquette, Houghton and Ontonagon railroad and the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic for 12 years before his employment with the L. S. & I.

New Trial Ordered In Setterlund Case

Circuit Judge Frank A. Bell has granted a new trial in the case of Edward Setterlund against Roy T. Starrin for recovery of damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained in an automobile accident. The case was heard during the July, 1939, term of court at Escanaba, and a verdict was returned by the jury in favor of the plaintiff in the amount of $2,140.

Attorneys for the plaintiff made a motion for a new trial, on the ground that the amount of the verdict was inadequate under the testimony in the case. The motion was granted by the court, the reason given being that the amount awarded to the plaintiff was not enough to compensate him for damages sustained.

Limbs Pained and Swelled So Badly

Severe Suffering Caused Nervousness, Loss of Sleep and Rest; Pleasued With Krugon's Mild, Effective Action

"I had always enjoyed good health until four years ago," said Mr. Herman Finup, 620 West Grand Ave., Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin, "but all that was unnecessary had I known of Krugon."

My body had accumulated so much poison through poor elimination that I began to have attacks of aches and pains all through my body. Those pains settled in my hands and knees especially and then my legs would swell too and become so painful. This suffering has been so severe I could not sleep at night or eat the rest I required. To add to my misery I began to have trouble with my digestion which continually grew worse. Then Krugon was recommended to me and I began a treatment.

"My regret today is that I did not know of Krugon four years sooner," continued Mr. Finup. "Krugon went right to work on my case, gave me proper elimination and then I was soon showing rapid improvement. Those awful aches and pains over my body have been relieved and I sleep good throughout the night without the least disturbance now. My digestion is so much better and my general health has been helped in many ways. I was wise in giving Krugon a trial... it has meant so much to me."

COACHES TALK AT LIONS CLUB

Gridiron Prospects for Coming Season Are Discussed

Carl Kant, George Ruwitch and James Rouman, new coaches at the St. Joseph's and Escanaba high schools, and Tommy Hughtitt, former University of Michigan quarterback and well known football official were guests of honor at the weekly meeting of the Escanaba Lions club held last night at the Delta hotel.

The meeting was in the nature of a pre-gridiron banquet and the new coaches discussed briefly the gridiron prospects for the coming season, while Hughtitt related some of his football experiences and commented on Escanaba football spirit and sportsmanship.

Kant outlined plans for the athletic program, which he expects to put into effect at St. Joseph's high school during the coming year and discussed the football schedule which his team will undertake this fall, one of the toughest attempted by any Class C school in the upper peninsula.

Rouman, the new basketball coach at Escanaba high school, expressed his views on the coming basketball season, although he stated he has not decided what type of play his team will use owing to the fact that he has not had an opportunity to see his men practice.

George Ruwitch, who is succeeding Carl Nordberg as head football coach at Escanaba high school, commented briefly on the material on hand this fall and the Eskymos gridiron prospects during the coming season in which they will meet practically all of the outstanding football teams in the peninsula.

The program included also two vocal solos by Miss Elizabeth Miller, instructor in music in the Monroe high school. She was accompanied by Bill Clark.

The next meeting of the Lions club will be held on Monday night, September 11, at which time a dinner party and dance celebrating the fifth anniversary of the formation of the organization will be held at the Chicken Shack.

Right to Work Meet Asks End of Layoffs

The Upper Peninsula Right to Work Conference, sponsored by the Michigan Worker's Alliance, convened Sunday morning in the North Star Hall here with the singing of "America". State Alliance President Wayne Adams gave the opening remarks.

Mayor Logan of Escanaba welcomed the delegates to the city and assured them that he as mayor of Escanaba would do everything in his power to furnish WPA jobs for the able-bodied unemployed and adequate relief in the City of Escanaba.

Delta County Prosecuting Attorney William J. Miller, called upon the delegates to recognize their political enemies, and said that it is necessary at this time for all sections of the common people to unite for the renomination and re-election of President Roosevelt.

Ingram Assails "Coalition" The key-note speaker of the conference was Frank Ingram, executive secretary of the Michigan Workers Alliance. Mr. Ingram assailed "the treachery of the Vandenberg-Garner coalition in violating the will of the majority of the people by plotting to throw a million WPA workers out of jobs and destroy the WPA program."

He also charged "the Vandenberg-Garner political blood-brothers in Michigan, the Dickinson-McPherson-Comstock coalition," with responsibility for the starvation relief policy being pursued in the state. He pointed out that this policy benefits no one but the big corporations and Wall street bankers who are "trying to evade their just share of taxation."

He said, "This group of reactionaries, while talking about economy and keeping politics out of relief, have increased salaries in the governor's office from $5,000 to $7,500 a year and are packing the state payrolls with high-priced, incompetent political stooges, while removing experienced, efficient personnel. They cry that we must balance the budget and cease government borrowing. To this we agree, but we say that the way to balance the budget and cease borrowing is by the American and Christian method of placing taxation upon the rich and powerful corporations and not by the un-American and un-Christian method of throwing people out of jobs and denying relief, betraying the old people, sabotaging education, destroying civil service and abandoning crippled children."

Proposes Mass Action Mr. Ingram proposed an immediate program of mass action by the people in the communities to turn the tables on the "reactionaries," and a long-term program of rehabilitation and recovery for the Upper Peninsula through reforestation, building of roads and highways, resettlement, vocational training for the youth, and making the Upper Peninsula the most inviting winter and summer resort area in America, stating that it could become a second Switzerland in the United States because of its great natural endowments.

He pointed out that "the Workers Alliance speaks for the largest single section of the population in the Upper Peninsula because of the high percentage of unemployed who may no longer depend on private industry."

He said, "The big corporations will not undertake this program of rehabilitation because it does not mean bonuses, profits and dividends for them, but does mean dividends to the common people in jobs and security. We must have local officials here in the Upper Peninsula who will demand that the state and federal governments through their greater taxing power shall tax back some of the thousands of millions of dollars of wealth that have been drained out of the mines and forests in the Upper Peninsula and return it to the Upper Peninsula to make this program possible and to once again give the people of the Upper Peninsula the right to work. In this way we will restore the private property rights of the common people in homes, farms, automobiles, radios, washing machines—those things the people need in their private lives for happiness."

Mr. Ingram asserted that "the Workers Alliance program for the opportunity for the youth, jobs for all able-bodied workers thrown out by private industry, and security for our senior citizens is an American program for American people and is based upon the Constitutional guarantees of the United States Constitution."

Alliance for Progressives He declared that "It is no answer for the reactionaries to cry that we get orders from Moscow, for that offers no solution to the people's problems." He stated that the Workers Alliance is controlled by no political party, but rather supports all progressives regardless of political label, while striving for the defeat of all reactionaries, regardless of political label. He concluded his remarks by calling for a plan to coordinate the work in the Upper Peninsula and raising the slogan to "Organize the unorganized, work for the unity of all labor and progressive groups, in order to prepare for victory in 1940."

The afternoon session was opened with a speech by Mr. Charles Gallagher, representing the Escanaba Trades and Labor Council, who commended the Workers Alliance for its work and called for the unity of all labor and progressive organizations when he said, "We must all unite in the 1940 elections and make sure that our future is protected. We must have a liberal government to protect the interests of the people."

Steering Committee Picked The conference elected the following steering committee: Nat. Wald, of Detroit, of the state executive board of the Workers Alliance, chairman; Wallace Slocum, of Flint; Elizabeth Ingram, Lansing; Frank Ingram, state secretary, of Lansing; Wayne Adams, state president, of Flint; John Spiegel, of Toivola; Harold Hoffman, Wakefield; Julius Carlson, Escanaba; Alex Walker, Manistique; Joseph LeMere, Brampton; Ray Anderson, Escanaba; Emil Kallioinen, Toivola. The credentials committee consisted of Leonard Somero, Calumet; Raymond Tavrola, Toivola; John Crandall, Brampton; and Ed Gray, Cooks.

Following Mr. Gallagher's address the conference, all delegates and visitors, attended one of three sub-sessions: WPA, led by state executive board member Harold Hoffman of Wakefield, Gogebic county, Mich.; Relief, led by John Spiegel, state executive board member of Toivola, Mich., Ontonagon county; and Organization and Finance, headed by state executive board member Alex Walker of Manistique, Schoolcraft county.

Resolutions Adopted Among resolutions adopted by the conference as presented by the Michigan executive committee of the Worker's Alliance which met Friday and Saturday were the following: Call for end of WPA layoffs, 100,000 more jobs, 10,000 for the U. P.; ask rehabilitation, reforestation, low-cost housing, roads and highways, resettlement, and expanded NYA to provide vocational training for youth in the U. P.; plan for circulating petitions through peninsula for public hearing on living costs to revise U. P. WPA wages upward.

Also, ask special session of legislature and twelve millions more for relief this year; plan mobilization of laid-off WPA workers to demand immediate adequate relief and recertification for WPA work; demand that city, county officials and state legislators join with conference in demanding additional state relief funds.

Plan Coordinating Group Plans were made for a U. P. coordinating committee having one Workers Alliance representative from each county in addition to state executive board members in U. P. who will guide the work. It was also provided that representatives from other labor and progressive organizations will be invited to sit on the committee.

In a meeting of the committee immediately after the conference, John Spiegel, state executive board member from Toivola, Ontonagon county, was elected chairman and Harold Hoffman, SEB member from Wakefield, was elected secretary.

A goal of $1000 for an organizing campaign fund for the U. P. Workers Alliance and a special organization among women on WPA projects and housewives was planned.

Also, Ingram reported, the conference, by special resolution, "wholeheartedly endorsed the plan of the Workers Alliance of America for nation-wide job hunts on Sept. 11 to expose the "fraudulent cries of the reactionaries" that jobs are available.

Plans were made at the close of the gathering for an intensified campaign for new clubs and members. Speeches were made by State Representative Legg and Mr. Iverson of Iron Mountain.

L. F. Cligh, who was in charge of the program, spoke briefly upon the need of greater organization and brought the meeting to a close with a movement for greater determination to put the plan into law at the earliest possible moment.

A rally was held by the Hardwood club Saturday night, which was attended by 150 people. Several new members were added to the club roster.

Dr. Crabb will spend the next month in the upper peninsula in the interest of the Townsend Plan and will speak at Marquette at a rally to be held Labor Day at the fair grounds. Mr. Crabb will be in charge of the next meeting of the Escanaba club also which will be held Sept. 8. The first meeting of the Bark River club was held last night at which time the work of organization was completed.

TOWNSEND CLUB RALLY SUCCESS

Capacity Crowd Present At Meeting Held Sunday

Approximately 4,500 Townsend club members and supporters, representing all sections of the eleven and twelfth congressional districts of Michigan, gathered at the fairgrounds Sunday for what officers of the organization termed "one of the most successful rallies ever held in this part of the state."

The visiting throng was welcomed by Mayor Peter Logan of Escanaba. In addition to residents of Michigan, representatives were in attendance from several other states including some from as far west as California.

Following the pledge of allegiance to the Flag the crowd sang "America" accompanied by the band. Various forms of entertainment, which was well received, were furnished by local talent. In a softball game the Escanaba Midways defeated White Birch 7 to 1.

The principal speaker on the program was Dr. F. Don Crabb, representative from the national office, who spoke in place of Roy Webb of Illinois, who was unable to attend. An address upon loyalty was given by Fred Payne, a representative of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who has been with the organization since its early inception and has made numerous speaking tours throughout the Midwest in its behalf.

Labor Day Parade Committee Offers Prizes For Floats

Wickman Describes Seeing Eye Course At Kiwanis Meeting

Experiences encountered at the Seeing Eye school at Morristown, N. J., were told in an interesting manner by Sam R. Wickman at the meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Sherman hotel yesterday noon.

Mr. Wickman described his feelings during the airplane trips between Chicago and Camden, N. J., and Newark, and explained the methods used at the Morristown institution in training dogs to serve as guides for blind persons.

He said there are 450 Seeing Eye dogs in 44 states of the Union at the present time, and there are four, including his own, in Michigan.

Mr. Wickman said the dogs are trained to stop at each curbing and highway crossing, and they wait for the master's command to go ahead before proceeding. He said that the dog's sight is about eight times stronger than that of a human being, and the animal also has much better hearing ability.

The next meeting of the Kiwanis club will be Tuesday noon.

Escanaba Men On Committee List

John A. MacDonald and Arthur M. Gilbert have been appointed as members of the program committee for the fourth annual upper peninsula conference on social welfare which will be held at McNair hall in Houghton and the auditorium of the Hancock high school on September 1 and 2.

Other members of the committee announced yesterday include Walter M. Berry, Iron Mountain, chairman; Miss Elva Morse, Marquette; Chester Ross, Marquette; Leslie Goddard, Lake Linden; William Mountain, Ishpeming; John MacLellan, Lansing; Harold G. Webster, Detroit; Herman W. Tahn, Houghton; Miss Harriett Koglin, Marquette; Wheelock P. Chamberlain, Marquette and Wilbur H. McNamara, Ironwood.

Other committees that have been appointed to carry on the work of preparing for the meeting are the following: exhibits, housing, social, recreation, publicity, conference arrangements, and Boy Scouts.

ROTARY HEARS GESSNER, FOLLO

Background of European War Trouble Given By Two Speakers

Two informative talks on the present European crisis were heard by Rotarians at yesterday's weekly meeting. The first speech was given by Harold Gessner on the background of the German situation and the second by Charles Follo pertaining to events that have occurred since the Munich conference.

Both speakers agreed that if the present crisis results in armed conflict the cause of the war would be economic. Gessner pointed out that past history has shown that the port of Danzig is most important as an outlet to the Baltic sea through which all trade from Central Europe must pass. If Danzig is closed to Central Europe then it must necessarily play in the hands of Germany. If the port can be kept open for use by all European countries then Hitler will have to withdraw his demands to bring Danzig under rule of the Reich.

Follo, in his talk on events since the Munich conference, stated that Germany, with each new demand, has said she would make no further advances for more European territory. This promise was made when Hitler marched into Austria and annexed that state and again when Czechoslovakia was taken over by the Germans. The promise that if Germany is given Danzig is that Germany will cease her European land aggression, but many students of international politics disbelieve that Hitler is sincere in these promises and that if the Allied powers meet German demands during this crisis she will make demands to retain some of the territory lost in the Versailles treaty.

Discuss Soviet Pact The biggest news of the crisis, the speaker said, was the announcement that Germany and Russia signed a non-aggression pact. Both countries have spread a hate-campaign in the past six years and apparently were bitter enemies until the late pact was signed and made public. Following this announcement was the significant political fact that Japan's cabinet resigned. A new cabinet is being formed and one that will probably place in power a group that is more friendly to both Russia and Germany than the one that was overthrown.

Giving the City of Danzig to Germany, not only gives her control of the shipping port but also of the Vistula river that would permit Germany a stronger strangle hold on the commerce passing through this little country.

Another important fact in the present situation is that Mussolini and Italy have kept aloof of the issue. At first Italy sided with Germany but today she is making aggressive moves for European peace. What course she will follow is still a matter of political speculation on the part of European statesmen, the speaker said.

Next week's meeting has been postponed from the regular Monday date to Tuesday at the regular time when John Luecke, former U. S. congressman from this district, will tell the club of his experiences since becoming mediator in the labor department.

numbers. Less irritable than the horse, he is more capable of performing work in the hands of a poor horseman. Whether or not all these claims may be substantiated, it is a fact that the mule is well established as a work animal in those sections where climate conditions are severe, suitable feed often lacking, and horsemanship not a prevailing art.

Big Spring Attracts

ATTENDANCE at Kitchi-tiki-pi, the famous Big Spring near Manistique, was more than 50,000 persons during the current season to date, approximately two thousand more than last year's registration.

Kitchi-tiki-pi has become a nationally famous as the well known springs in Florida and elsewhere. The publicizing of Big Spring was started a number of years ago by John I. Bellaire, Manistique merchant, who has been never too busy to tell either stranger or native about the marvels of this natural attraction.

The Upper Peninsula has many other attractions, which await only well-planned exploitation programs to make them powerful magnets for bringing tourists to this vacationland.

SMEARING COON

The continued service of Marvin Coon in the office of warden of the Marquette prison has been a sore trial to those who would like to see him make way for a Republican appointee.

It is dispiriting to the extent of his effort. It was greater, it appears, than it should, in light of his then civil service status, have been, but its effect on the vote was negligible.

However this may be, a Democratic warden who came to power in a Democratic administration is fair game in a Republican administration that has gone in for spoils politics in a big way.

Those who seek to bring him down are not to be censured as long as they play the game fairly. This, as far as this newspaper knows, Republicans in the peninsula who would like to see a change have done.

They have credited Coon with giving the prison a good administration and with being a man of character and ability, urging his replacement on the score that he was offensively partisan in the campaign of 1939.

But we are now in the eighth month of the Fitzgerald-Dickinson administration, and Coon is still warden. Respectable effort to ease him out of office has now been supplemented by a smear attack in which spite and venom are clearly evident.

It is embodied in its current manifestation in an article in the Michigan Times, a political publication whose home is in Grand Rapids. The character of its article is sufficiently indicated by the hearing, "Lavery in prison management affirmed by liberties allowed convict killer."

There are two columns of it, in which Coon is charged with practically every offense under the calendar except dishonesty.

Coon, with good sense, refuses to answer the charges. They are not made by a responsible person. The care with which the "staff correspondent" investigated the matters with which he purports to deal is illustrated by this paragraph: "Democratic politicians say that if Warden Coon loses his position he is likely to be appointed postmaster at Marquette. The present postmaster is not considered very active politically." Postmaster Courtney was, it may be noted, confirmed for another four year term before the adjournment of congress. At no time was there any serious opposition to his reappointment.

It is only fair to record, in light of the character of the attack now made on him, that Coon enjoys the confidence of the community in which he has served both as a man and as an official. Apparently, also, as he is still in office, he enjoys the confidence of at least a majority of the prison commission, which thought highly enough of him to make him a few months ago interim administrator of the Jackson prison.

There may be bits of truth in the Michigan Times article, but its tone is vicious and unfair. Its appearance is an excellent example of unworthy practice in publication.

RAYBURN BACKS GARNER

(Detroit News)

Maury Mäverick—New Dealer defeated for Congress in 1938, now Mayor of San Antonio—appears at this distance to be the only Texan known outside the State who isn't an enthusiastic Garner-for-President man. After Garner's endorsement by Rep. Sam Rayburn, leader of the House Democrats, the Texas line-up of Democratic leaders for the Vice-President be-

World Affairs Reviewed

By NMA Service

Two vast peoples, 170,000,000 Russians and 80,000,000 Germans, have, after years of mutual name-calling, been drawn together apparently into political and economic understanding.

The Hitler revolution of 1933 and the Communist revolution of late 1917 were based on ideas about as divergent as possible. Their announced goals were far apart. They were mutually antagonistic.

Yet strange parallels have arisen, and in many practical aspects there are marked similarities.

The Bolshevik revolution sought world socialist revolution, transfer in all countries of means of production and management to the workers.

The Communist party, as self-appointed representatives of the proletariat, first sought to rule until class lines should dissolve, political government more or less disappear, and actual management of economic life and affairs be placed with the masses of productive workers.

Foundation of the German revolution was in nationalistic racial consciousness of a world destiny of Germans as such. Under a single leader who should be obeyed without question, the "purified" German race was to march a military road to its expanded destiny.

Discipline was to be extended alike to worker and private owner of productive property.

—RUSSIA SIDETRACKS IMMEDIATE AIM—

Russia, forced by circumstance to abandon its immediate aim of world revolution, compromised on "socialism in one country." This resulted in nationalism, militarism, and an effort at self-containment not unlike that in Germany.

At the same time, German expansionist tendencies produced an effort to extend Nazism to other countries similar to the Russian efforts to promote the world revolution.

In each country control fell to a single party, which, with "violent purges," has "liquidated" opposition.

In each country there is permitted only a single legal party. The Russians assert faith in eventual democracy, while Germany, in any parliamentary sense, rejects it.

Each is a planned economy, with all economic decisions and vital administration, including foreign trade, centered in a government bureau. Each, faced with shortages of food and supplies from time to time, has had to ration them out by government regulation.

Besides the summary "purging" of leaders who became out of favor with the ruling clique, each has arrested and placed in confinement thousands of "racetrack" people who failed to support the regime with sufficient fervor. Both have suppressed the churches whenever they appeared to be exerting any influence on the political or economic regime.

—THE STATE COMES FIRST—

In each, the average citizen is a "child of the state" in a sense unknown in the western world.

In each, the citizen reads in the papers, hears over the radio, and sees on stage and screen exactly what the government wishes him to, and nothing else.

Press, radio and theater are regarded as organs by which the government moulds public opinion, and not as avenues of expression for individual views. Education is similarly controlled in both, and confined to the views of the controlling regime.

The workman's job is subject to considerable control in both cases, though in Germany the trade unions have been broken up and a government-controlled "Labor Front" substituted, while in Russia the unions remain to speak for the workman in his job, though usually in subdued tones.

In neither country are strikes tolerated. In both, there is pressure on workers to take assigned jobs in any place on prescribed conditions. Both have virtually eliminated unemployment.

Recreation in both countries has largely become a state function. The worker's annual vacation is usually arranged by the state as a reward for faithful or outstanding service, and comes to him prescribed, but free of cost.

In Russia women have been encouraged to be independent, and to hold jobs. In Germany, they have generally been relegated to the home.

comes virtually a solid front of Garner boosters.

First facts in accounting for Rayburn's action lie in the proportions of Garner's support in Texas and in the close association of the two men in Congress for 25 years.

Rayburn's endorsement nevertheless, particularly his cordiality in stamping Garner as a "great liberal Democrat," complicates the outlook for President Roosevelt if Garner is among the Democratic Presidential candidates who are to be on his black list. Rayburn was the Roosevelt choice for the House leadership post. In the stormy session just ended, a general verdict in Washington credited him with having ably and sincerely served under difficult conditions as the President's spokesman in the House.

Rayburn will be in the same key position when Congress reconvenes next year, just before the Presidential nominations. Rayburn's course faces the President with more troubles, when the time comes, in obtaining, without running himself, nominations and a platform from the Democratic National Convention which meet the New Deal definitions of liberalism. The President hasn't as yet joined the rest of the New Deal in backing Garner out openly. Maybe, in the light of such a statement as Rayburn's, he will not do so later.

Answers To Questions

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Escanaba Daily Press Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

A. The Ten Commandments are found in the Book of Exodus, chapter 20, verses 1 to 17.

Q. How long has sulphur been used as a medicine or a disinfectant? T. R. G.

A. Homer describes how Odysseus, after slaying the suitors for his wife's hand, cleansed the air of evil and purified his house by burning sulphur. About 50 A. D. Pliny wrote that there were four kinds of sulphur and indicated 14 medicinal virtues of this substance.

Q. Is it possible to see the wind? G. M.

A. The Weather Bureau says that to see the wind, hold any flat, smooth surface having a straight edge (a straight-backed hand saw is excellent for this purpose) against the wind, but inclined to the vertical, with the straight edge upmost and leaning with the wind, then sight along this straight upper edge towards a white object. If the wind is moderately strong one will see it pouring over the straight edge like water over a dam. This phenomenon is owing to irregular densities in the air which in turn cause irregular refractions of the transmitted light.

Q. At what speed do battleships travel? J. Z.

Q. How much did P. T. Barnum pay Jenny Lind for her concert? D. R. M.

Q. Was Voltaire an atheist? A. He attacked orthodoxy, rather than Christianity, and a careful study of his writings does not warrant the broad application of atheist to his name.

Q. Does the Constitution state that the President has to be a citizen of the United States?

A. Article II, Section 1, Clause 5 of the Constitution contains the expression "citizen of the United States" in describing the qualifications for the President.

New York Column

New York—Lorin Maazel, 9 years old, curly-haired, blue-eyed and four feet tall—is the town's musical wonder.

An unbeliever throng at the World's Fair rubbed its eyes the other night, watching this self-proclaimed shaver from California wave his tiny arms authoritatively over fifty high school musicians playing the Marche Slave.

No score rested in front of the chubby little Toscanini. All the notes were in his head and you would have felt that the slightest dissonance from the flute sector surely must have caught his ear.

Richmond, Va.—Strict economy and saving as a weapon against profiteers was urged by Secretary of the Treasury Glass in an address today to the Virginia senate. He said he was putting into effect the policy of his predecessor, Mr. McAdoo, who declared we should use every effort to win the war, even though we wore patched trousers.

"Mine are not patched," he added, "but they are old enough to be. I expect to wear this suit five years longer, if it will stand it."

Fifteen automobiles will leave Escanaba this afternoon to cover a radius of 25 miles putting up posters advertising the Northern State Fair beginning here Sept. 23. The services of the drivers and cars have been donated and it is the purpose to make every crossroads and community where there are a few people to become interested.

Official notice that men are again being enlisted for overseas service has been received by Recruiter I. Blackwell at the Escanaba army station. Men with previous service records may enlist for one year. Other men are taken for the full term.

All arrangements have been completed for the Swin-Ler Klub dancing party to be given this evening at the Clark hall. Dancing will be from 9 o'clock until 12, with the Johnson orchestra playing.

This is the second of the popular Swin-Ler club dances this season and judging from the large attendance at the first party a large crowd will turn out for the affair tonight.

Earba Chase, 20, Wells, and Catherine Urhausen, 17, of Escanaba, were granted a marriage license at the court house yesterday.

citizen of the United States? A. Article II, Section 1, Clause 5 of the Constitution contains the expression "citizen of the United States" in describing the qualifications for the President.

Q. Who were the Lake Poets? A. Wordsworth, Coleridge, and Southey were so named by the Edinburgh Review because they chose to live in the lake district of Cumberland and Westmoreland.

Q. What is ambergris? J.D.S. A. It is a fatty, waxlike secretion, found in the intestines of the sperm whale and used in perfume. Ambergris is never found in healthy whales; it is supposed to be a secretion of intestines that have become diseased. Sometimes it is excreted by the whales and floats on the water, or is cast on the seashore in lumps. Large quantities are also taken from the intestines of dead whales. When inside the whale, it has a disagreeable odor, but on exposure to air it acquires a sweet, earthy fragrance.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—One undercover development that played a very important role in convincing Washington authorities of the extreme gravity of the European crisis was the flood of foreign buying of U. S. stocks and bonds.

The day the President made his peace appeal to Hitler and President Moscicki of Poland, a large portion of the 1,300,000 shares traded on the New York Stock Exchange were European orders. The unexpected firm tone of the market throughout the crisis is attributed by Wall street and SEC authorities largely to foreign buying.

How much money has been invested on this side in the past ten days is not definitely known, but experts estimate it to run into tens of millions of dollars.

Most of the orders have come from London and Amsterdam, with Paris and Brussels also sending a heavy volume. The buying has been chiefly in utility and industrial securities, with chemicals, textiles and aviation stocks favored.

Note—Whether the stock exchanges are closed in the event of war depends entirely on what happens in the market. If there is heavy liquidation and a price crash appears imminent, it has been secretly decided that the SEC will immediately order a shutdown. If there is no panic the exchanges will not be disturbed.

—CODE CABLES—

How heavy is the volume of the State Department's confidential cables is indicated by the glow of flames flickering at night on the fourth floor of the old State Department building.

On occasion the flames have been such as to alarm late-working clerks, especially because this floor contains the vital Code Section and some of the most important messages received from U. S. Ambassadors.

Explanation of the flames is the practice of code workers to destroy all work sheets, etc., at the end of the day. This is to prevent possible leaks to anyone who might search wastepaper baskets. The practice started when the late Frank B. Kellogg was Secretary of State, when the Mexican Government came into possession of secret State Department documents.

Ordinarily the burning of these papers is a trivial matter which takes place in a large open fireplace, and is noticed by no one. The fact that the flames now attract attention indicates the increased volume of confidential dispatches arriving from Europe and Asia.

—STATE DEPARTMENT GHOSTS—

The tense situation in Europe is playing hob with the nerves of late-working clerks and officials of the State Department, several of whom have been scared out of their wits by the sudden appearance of a grotesque black and red object bobbing about and leering in the window.

The ensuing shrieks have brought members of the guard, who patiently explain it is nothing but a bunch of gas-filled toy balloons, attached to a string, with which a solemn colored laborer parades about the building at dusk, scaring off pigeons and starlings that roost among the many nooks and crannies of the rambling old building.

The clerks, however, have had their revenge. Several times the "Balloon Barrage" has been "shot down" by well directed paper clips, propelled by husky government rubber bands, and fired from the windows of the building.

—TOUGH JOHN—

O. John Rogge, forthright young Assistant Attorney General in Louisiana, may be a good Democrat, but certain other Democrats don't think so. They are having a tough time making him listen to political expediency.

The other day one of them, Freeman W. Burford of the East Texas Refining Company, called Rogge on the long distance telephone from Dallas. Burford had been indicted in connection with a hot oil deal which also involved ex-Governor Leche of Louisiana, but had refused to go from Texas to Louisiana to surrender, and Federal Judge Davidson of Texas had up held him.

So, calling Rogge in New Orleans, Burford said:

"I want you to know, Mr. Rogge, that I'm a good Democrat. I'm for Roosevelt for a third term, and just the other day I helped the Young Democrats in their move for a third term. You and I have a lot of things in common, so let's talk this thing over. I believe I can help you on this case."

"I'll be glad to talk to you," replied Rogge, "but first it's up to you to come in here and surrender."

Burford talked at great length—30 minutes worth of long distance tolls—but Rogge's reply was: "It's up to you to come in and surrender. If not, you're a traveling man, Mr. Burford, and we're bound to pick you up the minute you set your foot outside of Texas."

And that was that. Third term or no third term, Burford has to make up his mind whether to surrender.

VACATION

To ride a cool veranda,
Astride a rocking chair,
Inhaling lemon soda
And sipping fragrant air;
To calculate on nothing
More tiring than a nap,
To come blame near declining
The food they have on tap,
Two weeks of pillowed comfort,
Then wire for two weeks more,
In hopes the boss can manage
Without you on the floor;
But resting gets so tiring!
And snoring grows so dumb,
So Monday you'll be smiling
At the customers that come.

Escanaba Residents Are Aboard Bremen

Two residents of Escanaba, Mrs. Clement Bissell and Mrs. Ruby Stoll, are among the 1,700 American passengers on board the liner Bremen which is expected to dock at New York after completing a passage from Germany this morning.

The vessel was originally supposed to dock yesterday but no word was received from it as the result of the order from German officials cutting lines of communication.

The failure of the boat to dock when scheduled aroused considerable speculation in this country. Officials of the German steamship line stated that the vessel was held up because of weather conditions, but weather reports failed to reveal any conditions which would interfere with the boat docking on time.

Officers of the steamship line assured the New York newspapermen yesterday that the boat would land some time this morning.

On The RECORD

By Dorothy Thompson

IN THE CARDS
This column has twice reviewed—once the German edition and once the English—Hermann Rauchning's book, "The Revolution of Nihilism." Rauchning, former president of the Danzig Senate foretold the German-Russian rapprochement months ago. The following is a quotation from his book:

"The conclusion of an alliance with Soviet Russia has always held in reserve as a resource in extreme emergency."

"The dividing lines between the various dictatorial ideologies are, in any case, very indefinite, no more than a matter of convenience of interpretation. In the spring of 1937, before the huge crop of executions in the Russian Army, a number of provincial German newspapers were surprisingly busy with Russian events, which were being interpreted as revealing a new development of Nationalism in the Bolshevik State, and its purging of Jewish elements and of doctrinaire revolutionists."

"There were full accounts of Stalinist anti-Semitism, and much was made of the alleged emergence of the authoritarian idea of a new Teutonicism, together with a new Nationalism. I do not know whether this was a kite flown by the Propaganda Ministry or a gamble by other groups. But nobody who has had any insight into the elasticity of the unscrupulous power-policy of the Nazi regime will have any doubt that a right-about turn in foreign policy would not be a matter of the slightest difficulty either for the Propaganda Ministry or for any of the masters of the completely muzzled German nation."

"The continuation of a Russian policy was by no means unpopular along the National Socialist leaders. Apart from Rosenoers, there were few prominent members of the party who would not have preferred a Russian to the Polish pact. I had several discussions with Koch, of East Prussia, one of Gregor Strasser's men, a keen supporter of a Russian policy. The party never, indeed, cut off all connection with Russia."

"The Bolshevik leaders defended the strange plan of any association between the Soviet Union and Germany in discussing it with members of their party by arguing that it could only benefit the proletariat if capitalist militarist Germany built up the indispensable armaments industry for the Soviet Union. But in 1933 any close alliance with Russia for aims of price was only to be had at the price of a 'second,' a Socialist revolution in Germany. I assume that Hitler recognized this, and that he considered that the time was not ripe for that revolution. Undoubtedly there are important military groups which would not shrink from it. For many of the younger generation of Nationalists there is no longer anything alarming about that perspective."

"Hitler's aversion to an alliance with the Soviet Union is due, however, clearly to another consideration—that if the Nationalist Socialist methods of domination are, perhaps, the equal of the Bolshevik methods, they are in no way superior to them. A German-Russian alliance would certainly bring the danger of the conversion of a National Socialist into a Bolshevik hegemony. As yet Hitler has found no opponent who could stand up to his political methods. This gives him the sense he personally needs of absolute superiority. Soviet Russia would be as dangerous a partner as it is an enemy; it would be a partner immune to the wiles of National Socialism, as the bourgeois world is not."

"Hitler was compelled by the political intrigues of the early years to trim his sails, until he had full possession of power and could venture on a revolutionary course in internal politics. Now, with the Wehrwirtschaft and autarkie (military economics and self sufficiency), the economic system and the social order have been largely approximately to the Bolshevik system and there are no difficulties left in the way of alliance with the Soviet Union. That alliance is the great revolutionary coup in foreign policy at which controlling elements in the National Socialist leadership have long been aiming."

"But such an alliance with Russia, at a critical moment like that of September, 1938, would in any case have meant the proclamation of the second, the Socialist, revolution, which Hitler, in spite of his declaration in 1934 that the revolution was over, still holds in reserve. (Everybody who heard the secret interpretation of the events of June 30, 1934, is aware that he does so.)"

"This alliance may be also brought about by difficulties in the internal political and economic situation, or simply by a slowing-down-of-the-revolutionary development essential to the maintenance of National Socialism in power. The decision to offer this alliance has been closer, and will be closer in the future, than is suspected either in Germany or abroad. The decision is the easier since it is that favored by the military experts, who are not alive to the wider issues involved, just as they were not at the time of the 'combination' of 1923. (Mr. Rauchning refers to the conservative alliance with Nationalism in internal politics which

● SERIAL STORY

Murder on the Boardwalk

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CHRISTINE THORENSEN—came to visit her cousin, found a mystery.
BILL YARDLEY—had a reason for watching Christine.
GEORGE WILMET—employed Christine as a Boardwalk artist.
CHANDRA—looked into the future—and into the past.

Yesterday: After agreeing to meet the mysterious "Luella" at 9, Christine keeps her appointment with Mr. Wilmet. Bill has been taken to police headquarters after his keys were found to fit Mrs. Talbert's car. His story sounds very thin.

CHAPTER XIII
Christine spent the rest of the morning in the last place where she thought curiosity seekers would look for the "Boardwalk Mystery Girl"—the public library—with her too-well-publicized face buried in a newspaper, her mind still worrying about the story Mr. Wilmet had told her, her eyes impatiently watching the clock.

At 12:30 she was to meet Bill for lunch—that is, if Bill were still "in circulation."
When she reached the restaurant, the worst of her fears were realized. As soon as she asked for Bill, a waiter led her to a table.

"Mr. Yardley has sent word that we are to serve you at once, Miss," he told her. "And he sent this note for you."
"Sorry," the note said. "Can't make it. Please leave reply with Louis, the waiter who will hand you this—and who is as safe as a church—saying where I can find you about 9 this evening."

Christine let the lunch Bill had ordered cool while she composed a reply which sketched an outline of her plan for the evening without betraying the confidence of "Luella." At the end she added, as a possible line of communication, "Am dining at Decker's with Mr. Wilmet."

Mr. Wilmet insisted on Christine's ordering the dinner, sitting back without even glancing at the menu, although he must have known that Decker's prices were appalling. The service was leisurely—and Mr. Wilmet, too, was leisurely—and tiresome—with a long account of his persecutions by the police and press.

He insisted on taking a wheel chair back down the Boardwalk. It was a closed chair with sun-glass windows. Christine, who hated being shut in, fumed as it inched along under the guidance of a decrepit old darkey. . . . Suppose she should be late!

When, a little short of the Paris Shop, she insisted on saying "Good night," Mr. Wilmet's face clouded with concern.
"I really don't think you ought to be alone on the Boardwalk," he objected, "after what's just happened. Hadn't I better—ah—see you to your destination? Of course"—he laughed nervously—"I'm not exactly a fighting man, but I might help in case of trouble."

"Thanks," Christine said impatiently. "There won't be any trouble. I'm spending the evening with a girl I've known for years." She was about to look back, but when she looked back, he was going dejectedly into a tobacco shop.

Christine had no difficulty in identifying the girl, who stood before the shop window as if rapt by a pair of silver sandals. When Christine paused and removed her sunglasses, the girl glanced up with a flicker of recognition, returned for a moment to her inspection of the sandals, and then strolled off along the Boardwalk. Presently Christine followed, sauntering as the other girl did.

At the top of a flight of stairs leading to the street below, the girl glanced back before she descended. She walked on a block, turned into a side street, unlocked a door, and went in, leaving the door ajar.
For the first time Christine hesitated. After all, what did she know of this girl except that it was her voice which had first sounded that ominous note of danger which had run like a motif through the last 24 hours?
Then her curiosity got the better of her, and she passed through the door.

brought Hitler into power.)

"A German-Russian alliance means simply the confluence of two streams which run toward the same sea, the sea of world revolution. National Socialism will submit to Gleichschaltung with the Bolshevik world revolution, or will subject that revolution to Gleichschaltung with itself; it amounts either way to much the same thing. It will be no ordinary coalition between two powers for normal practical purposes. Germany and Russia, if they come together, will radically transform the world. That alliance is Hitler's great coming stroke."

This much would appear to be certain—from Herr Rauchning's analysis. Hitler's approach to Moscow is a long contemplated measure. Its revolutionary implications are fully as important as its military menace.

There is not yet an alliance between the red and brown revolutions. But mutual benevolence may be the beginning of one.

"THE REVOLUTION OF NIHILISM." Warning to the West, will be published on Aug. 28th by the Alliance Book Corporation, New York, N. Y.

She found herself in a poorly lighted, inhospitable hall, from which a stairway ascended into darkness behind. Christine wondered if she were mistaken in thinking that something moved in the shadows of that stairway.

The girl who called herself "Luella" was waiting.
"Come in here, please, Miss Thorensen," she said abruptly, and opened the door upon a lighted room.

Christine stood amazed at the contrast between the bleak ugliness of the hall and the quiet good taste and comfort of that room. The room was pleasantly lighted; a soft Oriental rug covered the floor; two of the walls were lined with books; and there were comfortable chairs. It was a room, somehow to inspire confidence. Yet Christine felt no confidence now, even in herself.

Before she could speak, a man she had not seen at first got up from a desk that stood in a sheltered alcove. Chandra!

"I am sorry about all this mystery, Miss Thorensen," he said in a well-remembered voice. "But it seemed necessary."
Christine thought angrily. "Of course. I was right in the beginning."

He had shed every trace of the Oriental mystic. From his unobtrusive appearance and the quiet precision with which he spoke and moved, one might easily think that I was in the domain of a well-trained major domo. For Christine realized that she had seen those tawny-brown eyes not just once, but twice before.

"Yes," he anticipated her as she tried to reconstruct that brief encounter on the station platform, "you have seen me before. . . . The first time you may not recall. You thought your cousin might have sent me—that disguise was a good one. I did not expect you to remember."
"It was your eyes, not your clothes, that I noticed. . . . You said you were taking a train." Christine said thoughtfully. "Yes—I see."

"And of course," he said dryly, "it will confirm your worst suspicions when I admit that I dropped off the other side of that train before it pulled out, and that I was in the taxicab behind yours when you got out at your hotel. . . . And I was not the only one following you, Miss Thorensen."

Christine broke out angrily. "I was crazy to come here. I guessed from the beginning that this girl was one of your spies."
"I suppose that it's no use to expect you to believe that I am really trying to be honest with you," the clairvoyant went on quietly. "But it is quite true that I was asked to keep an eye on your movements by someone whom your cousin had expected to meet you, but who was—unable to do so. I agreed to do it because"—he broke off as if searching for words that might hold her attention—"because I know that I am—partly responsible for Mrs. Talbert's death."

"Are you sure that you have deceived the police," Christine gasped, "that you didn't trick me into coming here and—"
"I said," he interrupted with a faint smile, "partly responsible. . . . You see, Miss Thorensen, people come here for such a variety of reasons. They want, for instance, to be told how to find things they have lost; where their husbands are spending their evenings; whether they will get the jobs they want; whether that pain that worries them is what they fear it is; whether the time is right to invest their money. . . . There are some questions you cannot answer directly if you are honest. . . . You try, if you are wise, not to complicate family troubles or to give advice involving large sums of money. . . . There are other questions you must not answer fully. Those are the questions involving life and death."

"This is very interesting," Christine interrupted impatiently. "But why does it concern me—or my cousin's death?"
"Because Mrs. Talbert's case, Miss Thorensen, was one of the 'must-nots.' Partly on that account—and partly because there were—circumstances I did not entirely understand, I did not warn your cousin of her danger."

NEW BUS INSTALLED
Marquette—Air conditioned, streamlined and including every up-to-date convenience and improvement, the new "Clipper" bus of the Northland line at Ishpeming, operated by W. J. Billing, and which has been added to the Iron Mountain-Marquette run, is attracting considerable attention.

The interior was designed by Billing, who for some time has been working on a seating arrangement and other conveniences which would be best adapted to the service. The bus provides a direct connection with the Milwaukee road's Chippewa train and Marquette.

Southbound, the bus leaves Marquette at 12 noon; Negaunee at 12:30, and Ishpeming at 12:40 and arrives at Iron Mountain at 2:50 p. m., making connections here with the Chippewa.

Northbound the unit leaves Iron Mountain at 7:20 p. m., arrives at Ishpeming at 9:50; Negaunee at 10 and Marquette at 10:40.

Even if a salad is well seasoned throughout, a final fling of salt and paprika just before serving, will improve it.

MARINES PLAN FOR '39 SEASON

Football Supper Held At Legion Cottage Saturday

Plans for the inland Marines 1939 football season were outlined at a football supper at the Legion Cottage Saturday evening.

The team, which began practice sessions Monday, will open its season at Escanaba on Sunday, Sept. 10, and will make its home debut with the Soo Bears on Sept. 17.

Manager Paul Vizona reported prospects for the season are especially bright, with virtually all of last year's squad back.

New equipment has been purchased for the Marines and team officials report the local squad will be one of the classiest appearing teams in the peninsula.

Speakers at the football supper Saturday included Dan Harrington, who was toastmaster; Manager Vezina, A. W. Heitman, assistant superintendent at the inland plant, and Oscar Wassberg.

At least an eight game schedule will be arranged for the Marines, Vizona reported. Plans for the formation of an upper peninsula league are still under negotiation but have not been completed.

Following the supper and speaking program, E. O. Brault showed a series of movie films which proved very interesting.

Treasurer Gives Final Tax Warning

Munising, Aug. 28.—The last-minute warning was issued here today to those who have tax installments falling due on or before August 31.

I. J. LaFave, Alger county treasurer, pointed out today that only three more days remain for the payment of the taxes. A fifth tenth on 1932 and prior years and a third tenth on 1933, 1934 and 1935 taxes must be paid before August 31, 1939, under the provisions of two moratoriums.

Taxpayers were urged to come as early as possible; bring their last year's installment receipt; at all events know the technical description of their property, owners' name, street number and general locations are not sufficient to locate their account. The technical description is the lot and block number, or the section, town and range. Be prepared to

New Traffic Law

Pedestrian Has Responsibility

Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of ten articles, prepared by the Michigan State Police, high-spotting Michigan's new traffic law which becomes effective Sept. 20. Important changes have been made in customary driving habits. Greater safety—and fewer traffic arrests—will result from a close study of these articles.

Michigan's new traffic regulations impose a definite responsibility on the pedestrian in its traffic safety provisions. The law governs his movement the same as it governs movement of vehicular traffic.

Pedestrians may cross a street or highway on the green light. If the yellow or amber light is showing they should not attempt to cross because there is insufficient time. They should not enter the intersection on the red light. However, if they do, they must not interfere with traffic.

If "walk" signals are in use, pedestrians should cross intersections on the "walk" signal. If a "wait" signal is in place, no pedestrian shall start across the street while such signal is showing.

It is especially important, the Michigan State Police point out, that pedestrians observe traffic signals so as not to interfere with vehicular traffic and to thus better insure their own safety.

3 Short Change Artists Sought

Newberry, Mich.—State police in the eastern section of the upper peninsula, were on the lookout today, for three "short change artists," who were believed headed for either Manistique or Munising, after victimizing Walter Saunders, Dollerville storekeeper, of five dollars last Thursday afternoon.

Saunders states that, only one of the three men entered his store first, buying one package of cigarettes with a ten dollar bill. The second man, bought a package of cigarettes with a five dollar bill. Then the third man began an argument with the first two men, over money they owed him. These first two men then asked Saunders to change their bills into larger bills. Several minutes of confusing talk and exchanging of money followed after the argument was over, the men left the store.

The State police of Newberry say that this was an old gag, and thus fooled the storekeeper.

Saunders' uncertain description of the automobile, "a dirty gray car," made apprehension of these men very slim.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Jacobson of Marquette, were guests Thursday of Sergeant and Mrs. William Irish.

Checkup Is Made On Highway Signs

Munising, Aug. 28.—A survey of advertising signs located on state trunk lines is being made by the Alger county road commission at the request of the state highway department. Descriptions of each sign, location and the number of feet away from the center of the road is checked. When the survey is completed, if owners do not have permission for the erection of signs they will be notified that the signs must be removed within 30 days.

Signs will remain close to the highway in some instances because the sign is located on private land. The highway department has the right-of-way extending 200 feet from the center line of the road, but in some places have the right-of-way only 33 feet from the center line.

The elimination of signs from the road is a part of the state's beautification program.

Will Inspect Division

Houghton.—The annual inspection of the Fifteenth division, Hancock Naval Reserves, by a federal board of navy officers will be held at the armory Thursday, September 21, it is announced by Lieut. Com. J. B. Coon.

This year's board, the same as that of the previous year, consists of Commander W. L. Taylor, Capt. H. B. Riebe and Lieut. Com. N. B. Van Bergen, who are completing an inspection tour of fleet divisions of the United States.

According to Lieut. Com. Coon the division, which has been drilling the past few weeks in preparation for the inspection, will not receive its final rating year on this inspection alone. Other factors that will count are cruising attendance, drill attendance and the manner in which cruise work has been done.

Last year the Fifteenth division ranked 17th in efficiency among the 150 divisions of the United States and first among divisions of the large Ninth Naval district. The division has always received a high rating bracket among divisions of the United States. In 1934 it ranked first among the 150 divisions.

BENGALS HELD TO FOUR HITS

DiMaggio Hits 2 Homers, Drives In 8 Runs For New York

Detroit, Aug. 28 (AP)—The New York Yankees advanced today from the "murderers' row" to the "slaughterhouse squad" stage. They hit the helpless Tigers with everything in the book and piled up an 18 to 2 victory to stretch their current winning streak to ten straight.

Joe DiMaggio kept his hand in by walloping a homer with the bases loaded and another with two mates aboard. Charley Keller also clouted a round-tripper, with one on. Meantime, young Marius Russo, southpaw rookie, stopped the Tigers cold with four hits for his fourth victory this year against three setbacks.

Every member of the Yankee starting lineup hit safely at least once in the 18-hit attack. All but Joe Gordon drove in at least one run—DiMaggio sending eight across. And all but Babe Dahlgren and Russo scored at least one run. Altogether, it was a fair afternoon.

18 Games Ahead

This victory left the Yanks 13 games in front of the American league pack, since the second place Boston Red Sox also won their game.

From the first inning on, when Keller clubbed his sixth homer of the year, there was nothing to it but a Yankee hit parade. DiMaggio's homer, with "standing room only" on the bases, headed a five-run third inning, which sent Tommy Bridges, the Detroit starting pitcher, to the showers with his fifth defeat of the season against 16 victories.

Bradley Gives Talk

Sault Ste. Marie.—Congressman Fred Bradley said here Friday that he would support a bill supporting a neutrality bill designed to keep the United States completely "isolated" in case of a war in Europe.

He considers a special session of congress "inevitable" if war breaks out, but added that he had confidence that the present international eruption would be healed by diplomacy.

Congress should enact a bill of neutrality forbidding any American intercourse with warring foreign nations, and should prevent any commerce whatsoever between the United States and fighting countries, Mr. Bradley declared.

He said that he had "high hopes" for the passage of the Straits of Mackinac bridge bill in the house of representatives next fall, and that he expected a report in the near future on plans for the construction of a coast guard air base on the Great Lakes.

Catches Huge Trout

Marquette.—Speaking of "beginner's luck," here is a true fish story that will make many an angler shake his head in self-pity.

Mrs. Henry Warth, who lives at Lakewood, had never been lake trout trolling in her life until Saturday. On this momentous day she decided to take a whirl at this much-talked-of sport of deep sea trolling, went out in a boat to White Rocks and within a short time caught a trout weighing 22½ pounds, a prize in any waters. Happy and thrilled, Mrs. Warth starting fishing again—this time having the pleasure of hooking into and landing a nine and one-half pounder.

With Mrs. Warth were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gray, of Toledo, Ohio. Mr. Gray landed a six and one-half pounder.

Horse Races Planned

Iron Mountain—From 12 to 14 horses will be entered in the three harness-racing events scheduled Saturday afternoon, September 2, at the 1939 Dickinson county fair, in addition to the heavy draught-team pulling contest, it was stated this morning by A. J. Lonsdorf, county agricultural agent.

Almost the entire entry list at the Marquette county fair this week—one of the most successful in the history of the exposition—this time having the pleasure of the Dickinson county fair, including horses from Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

There will be three harness events, a 2:16, a pacing or trotting race, a handicap run and a race for three-year-olds, Begg Agnoll, of Negaunee, will be starter, and Ernest Munns, of Crystal Falls, timer.

New York—Pete Noonan, former major and coast league catcher, is a hotel detective here.

SOFTBALL MEET PLANNED SOON

Tri-County Tournament Will Be Held Here September 10

The Second Annual Tri-County softball tournament will begin in Escanaba Sunday, September 10th with the semi-finals and finals scheduled on the 17th. Any teams from Delta, Schoolcraft, or Dickinson counties are eligible to participate.

The Escanaba Softball Association will furnish balls, umpires, and twelve individual ball charms to the winning team. Runner up will receive a team trophy. In order to help defray the costs of the tournament, each team is required to pay a dollar and a half entry fee. Entries are to be sent to Bevier Butts, 115 North Eighth street, Escanaba, Michigan and close Tuesday, September 5th. Drawings will be held at the above address at 8:30 Tuesday night.

Last year's tournament was very successful with twenty-four teams participating. This year's American League Tavern team playing for Kalamazoo Stoves won the tournament defeating the Eskys, another local team, by one run. This year's tournament includes Dickinson instead of Menominee county as there seems to be very little interest in softball in Menominee.

Entry blanks are available at the City Recreation Office.

LYONS' CHOICE

Chicago—Ted Lyons, veteran of 17 years in the majors, says Harry Hellmann, former Detroit batting star, was a better right-handed hitter than Joe DiMaggio.

FROM THE RANKS

Edinborough—Hamilton McInally, Scotland's amateur golf champion, is a laborer in an arm factory.

Girls' Softball Tourney Planned For Sept. 10th

The First Annual Girls' Softball Tournament will be held in Escanaba Sunday, September 10th under the sponsorship of the Escanaba Softball Association and the Department of Parks and Recreation. Balls and umpires will be furnished and the winning team will receive twelve individual ball charms as trophies. Runner up will receive a softball team trophy.

As the season is late and tournament officials require that not more than three games be played in one day, the field will be limited to eight teams. In order to help defray the cost of the tournament, a two dollar entry fee will be charged each team. The first eight teams to register with the proper fee in the office of Bevier Butts, Recreation Office, 115 North Eighth Street, Escanaba, will be permitted to participate. Any team in the Upper Peninsula is eligible to compete, but in the event that there are too many entries, the number of teams from each city will be limited. Entry blanks are available at the City Recreation Office.

SCORE IN NINTH NIPS ATHLETICS

Rigney Makes It Nine Straight; White Sox Win 5 to 4

Chicago, Aug. 28 (AP)—John Duncan Rigney won his ninth straight game tonight when he limited the Philadelphia Athletics to seven hits as the Chicago White Sox scored in the ninth inning to win, 5 to 4.

A crowd of 15,000 saw the game. It was the smallest night turnout since the Sox turned on the lights a few weeks ago.

Walker's single produced the decisive run after Jackie Hayes and Mike Kreevich had walked in the last inning.

The victory gave Rigney, who struck out eight men, his 12th decision of the season and enabled the winners to gain a full game on Cleveland in the battle for third place.

The Sox got away to a three-run lead in the second inning, but the A's cut one tally off this margin in the fifth. Chicago added one in the sixth, but the A's broke loose with three runs in the seventh to tie the score.

Score by innings:
Philadelphia 000 010 300—4
Chicago 030 001 001—5

LOSING STREAK ENDS AS BROWNS DEFEAT WASHINGTON, 12 TO 2

St. Louis, Aug. 28. (AP)—When the St. Louis Browns do jump over the traces they don't monkey around about it.

Behind the four-hit pitching of Bill Trotter, they trimmed the Washington Senators, 12 to 2, today to break their latest losing streak at eight games straight.

Cecil Travis homered in the fourth to drive in both Washington runs. Don Heffner, Brownie second baseman, hit his first circuit blow of the season with one on in the seventh.

Mel Ott Helps Cause With 2-Run Clout In Fourth

New York, Aug. 28. (AP)—Master Melvin Ott and young Bill Lohrman combined today to give the Giants a 3 to 1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds, but despite the defeat the Rhinelanders maintained their five-game lead at the head of the National league pennant parade.

Ott's single in the first inning drove in one run, and his 27th homer of the campaign, in the fourth, sent the other two Giant tallies across. Lohrman, meantime, held the Reds to seven hits and blanked them until the ninth when three singles and a fly pushed their only run across.

Homer By Williams Paces Red Sox To 6-5 Win On Indians

Cleveland, Aug. 28 (AP)—Ted Williams hit one of Mel Harder's three-two pitches over the right field wall today at League park and gave Boston a 6-5 win over Cleveland. The homer, Williams' 20th of the season, came in the eighth with Jim Vosmik, who had walked, and Jimmy Foxx, who had singled, on base.

Up to that time the Indians seemed on their way to their eighth straight victory, and Harder enroute to his seventh straight. In the seventh Hal Trosky had hit his 22nd homer, with Ben Chapman at bat. That headed Eddon Auker for the showers, but he was the official winner.

Tour Aboard Reserve Vessel Is Interesting

For those of us who fume and sputter about the difficulty of keeping a flat-bottomed rowboat ship-shape for a summer's fishing, a trip aboard a naval vessel, such as the Great Lakes training ship, U. S. S. Dubuque, which was in port here over the week-end would be a revelation and a permanent muzzle on petty complaints.

A cook's tour of the Dubuque Saturday in which a Daily Press reporter was conducted and instructed by Seaman 1st Class Joseph M. Jakubecki and Signalman 3rd Class Mike Smith left that particular "landlubber" with the thought that the more you learn the more you know—about how little you know.

Fore and aft and amidst the information tour wended its way, and climbed from the depths of the boiler room with its 150-degree average temperature to the signal bridge on which a maze of controls makes the uninitiated wonder.

The Dubuque, to begin with, was originally a river gunboat, commissioned for foreign service, and saw action from the Yangtze river in China to the streams of South America. Built in 1904 and commissioned in 1905, she was turned over to the Michigan naval reserve district in 1922, and has been commanded ever since that time by Captain Richard Thornton Brohead, an officer wise in nautical ways and popular with his command, according to our guides.

Naval reserves enlist for four years of training, it was explained, and cruise for fourteen days every summer, continuing their drills on shore at weekly intervals during the rest of the year. Some of them aboard the Dubuque had been in the service only a few months, while others, notably the petty officers, had been enlisted for from 18 to 20 years.

The young men are being prepared for the destroyer service, and it was said that the reserves form the nucleus for three destroyer crews, the full complement of these ships being 120 men. On their cruises, the reserves take work in organization, gunnery and seamanship.

During the past week, our guides explained, the fleet of five reserve vessels has been engaged in firing practice. As only four 4-inch guns are allowed in the fleet by agreement with Canada, while the practice is in session, men from the other ships are transferred to the Wilmette and Wilmington, which have the real guns. The other vessels, including the Dubuque, have only dummy guns, with their mechanism unfit for actual firing, but valuable in loading and aiming drills.

Officers' Volunteer

Reserve officers, as well as enlisted men, have other pursuits which they carry on during most of the year, volunteering their services and serving without obligation during cruise and training periods. Among the officers aboard the Dubuque who contributed information during the press "inspection" were Executive Officer O. C. Grattan and Lieut. Nicholas J. Wagner, who was serving as officer of the deck. A regular navy officer, Commander P. K. Fischer, U. S. N., is serving as an instructor aboard the Dubuque at present.

For the information of those who sigh for "the life of a sailor," it might be well to list some of the things of which the often-envied "life" is made up.

Reveille aboard the cruisers is 5:30 a. m. As a first operation every morning, the reserves carry out the navy's tradition for shining decks and wetting down, sands and swabs them until they are sufficiently clean and "ship-shape" to pass the eye of the watchful officer of the watch.

"Swabs," it may be added, are brooms in every-day language, but are of heavier construction than the average kitchen variety. Swabs are also classed as "cleaning gear," which is only one of the countless kinds of gear aboard the Dubuque, since all supplies are known as gear. Many a housewife might be shocked if she were to hear her best silver knife, fork and spoon set referred to as "chow gear," but that is just what it is in nautical parlance.

Landlubber Branded

Among other earmarks of the typical landlubber is his lamentable ignorance of such terms, according to Guides Smith and Jakubecki. The individual who claims that the "door" was slammed in his face is all wet, they say, for he should have termed it a hatch, "if he wanted to keep up with his seamanship."

What is—Is Not
A stairway, they explained is known as a "hatch" or a ladder. "A clock is a "chronometer;" a bed is no longer a bed, but if you must snooze, you do so in a "hammock," which you hang from numbered hooks in the ceiling wherever you find a vacant spot; a propeller is, as many of us have already heard, a "screw;" a "striker" is not a capitalist's night mare, but rather a man

"pursuing a rate," or seeking promotion; instead of going from right to left, you away from "starboard" to "port" when the seas run high; a hospital is a "sick bay."

And that landlubbers are not the only one troubled by lack of information—upon certain facts of the nautical dictionary is indicated by the initiation which is given most "boats" when they embark on their first cruise. "Boots," Seaman Jakubecki translated, are new men who have not yet learned their way around.

Unfortunate boots are sent on many weird errands during their first weeks. For instance, those who search for "two bits" and are punished on not coming back with them, are in reality looking for "bits," which are projections on the deck to which mooring lines are made fast upon docking.

Where's Charlie Noble?
The elusive "Charlie Noble," for whom many new men have looked vainly for days is nothing more or less impressive than the little chimney on the galley, or kitchen stove. And when told to sit in the "eyes of the ship," the new boys are being requested to sit in the bows, where the armor plating meets, although most of them do not know that simple fact at first and are justly punished for their ignorance.

"Kangaroo court," which is an informal affair among the sailors which metes out instant and equally informal punishment to offenders, is the fate of those unfortunate who miss catching the "mail buoys" which are reported by obliging radio men to the conspirators who let the boats down over the side with grappling irons to snag them as the boat passes.

That "mail buoys" are impossible was explained by the guides. Boots don't stop to think, they said, that no buoy in which mail is set afloat will stay in any position where it could be easily found again when the ship for which it is intended comes by. And so the boots, all unknowing, suffer for their "sins," and remember their lessons well, to visit them next cruise upon new "boats."

Columns could be written about the rest of the trip through the Dubuque and the explanations by our obliging guides, but space is limited and the reader is urged to take a trip aboard himself next time to learn some of the ways of the sea.

Fair Sets Record

Marquette.—Ideal weather and a crowd estimated at nearly 5,000 persons provided an altogether satisfactory closing day Saturday for Marquette county's 55th annual fair and Milton C. Spencer, its secretary-manager, said he was certain the official figures would show that total attendance for the week exceeded last year's figures, despite the fact that the opening day crowd last Wednesday was cut to small proportions because of rain.
