TWO BILLION IS NEEDED TO KEEP NEUTRAL

PRESIDENT TO ASK CONGRESS FOR 275 MILLION

Washington, Oct. 31 (AP)—President Roosevelt estimated today that it would cost $275,000,000 to safeguard and enforce American neutrality during the first 10 months of the European war.

He told reporters that this sum would be asked of congress as a deficiency appropriation in January. This strengthened the belief of some officials that the total national defense appropriation for the next session would exceed $2,000,000,000.

The extra $275,000,000, Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference, is needed chiefly to pay for increases in the armed forces ordered September 8 when he proclaimed a limited national emergency. The expense covers maintenance of the Atlantic coast neutrality patrol and the mass training of troops ordered by the war department.

Fighting Forces Increased A short time before the president spoke, Chairman Shepard (D-Tex) of the senate military affairs committee predicted the expanding army would require $1,000,000,000 next year, and Chairman Scrugham (D-Nev) said the house naval appropriations subcommittee expected the navy budget would approach this sum.

In another defense development announced that the first new aerial fighting unit to be formed since congress approved a $300,000,000 air corps expansion in April would be sent to Puerto Rico in November to reinforce defenses of that Caribbean outpost. It is the 27th reconnaissance squadron of 28 officers, 225 enlisted men and 9 planes.

Mr. Roosevelt said the $275,000,000 deficiency was for extra expenses and would be spent before the end of the fiscal year. He explained that the deficiency appropriation would finance increases of about 100,000 ordered in the army, navy, marine corps and justice department and for recommissioning more than 50 long-Idle World war destroyers to reinforce the neutrality patrol.

The sum, he said, was lower than his original estimate of $300,000,000.

Hinting at additional further defense proposals, he said means of training the army must be increased, and that additional facilities for the navy were needed on the west coast. He mentioned specifically Puget Sound, San Francisco and Southern California.

Grants To Widows And Orphans Cut To Balance Budget

Lansing, Oct. 31 (AP)—Budget Director Gus T. Hartman won Governor Dickinson's approval tonight of a $2,000,000 reduction in the program of the state social security division.

The plan, Hartman said, will all but wipe out the division's prospective deficit without "fund-juggling" and will remove the need for a special session of the legislature to vote additional relief funds.

The reduction will bring the average grant for a family receiving aid to dependent children to $34. Dr. Philip Callahan, head of the social security division, explained. The level in Michigan is now $37.50, and some welfare statisticians have held that even that allowance is "dangerously" low according to subsistence standards.

Hartman, however, said his plan would enable mothers to help themselves, encouraging them to seek employment by permitting them to retain their wages in addition to the grants. At present, earnings are deducted in computing the grants.

Above Other States As proposed, the budget director said, Michigan's allowance will be well above the average grant of 40 other states, which is $31.16. At the same time it will be low enough to enable the social service division to absorb, after January 1, the cost of mothers' pensions now borne by the counties.

Hartman said an average allowance of $34 would reduce the deficit for the current year to approximately $44,000. A lenient policy in districts where living costs are high will be practical, he said, expressing the belief that communities elsewhere would compensate for a deficiency as great as $250,000.

Governor Dickinson welcomed the plan, and halted the judges' offer of mothers to find employment. He said the state should seek not only to balance its budget, but to avoid the building up of "permanent" dependent classes by placing a premium on unemployment.

Dr. Callahan said he would transmit the recommendations to the social welfare commission, which had sought permission to transfer welfare funds to dependent children accounts in order to maintain the current level of grants and make available the greatest amount of federal aid. Hartman vetoed the commission's proposal, declaring such "juggling" of funds would be improper.

ARCHERS START HUNTING TODAY

Special Bow and Arrow Season Opens; About 500 Licenses Out

Lansing, Oct. 31 (AP)—The deer hunting season opens tomorrow, but wait—only for those who hunt with bow and arrow.

It may seem strange, considering that only eight deer were killed last fall with bow and arrow, but the state conservation department expects at least twice as many sportsmen to take part in attempts this year to bring down a buck with a flying, steel-tipped arrow.

Last year, the department reported, 227 bow and arrow licenses were issued, but this year the estimate runs between 400 and 500. The department would not be surprised if it were more than that.

This year, for the first time, deer may be killed with the ancient Indian type of arrow, that is, the so-called "deer country," that is, north of the usual Bay City-Muskegon line. Leelanau county is always excepted. Prior to this, archers were allowed to hunt deer in only two counties.

The season will run through Nov. 14, when the rifle season on deer will open. Hunters may not obtain a license for both types of hunting.

The raccoon hunting season also opens tomorrow and continues through Dec. 15.

VIENNA ORDERS ALL JEWS OUT Embargo Repealists Win First Skirmish In House

Washington, Oct. 31 (AP)—Advocates of repealing the arms embargo won the first skirmish over neutrality legislation in the house today when the chamber agreed to send the measure to a conference committee to adjust differences between the senate and house versions.

The vote, which effectively prevented the embargo bloc from offering amendments from the floor was taken amid angry cries of "city slicker tactics!" administration men replied that the procedure was normal.

There was no roll call on the question, but administration leaders jubilantly hailed a previous roll call, on which they mustered an unexpectedly high majority of 60 votes, as indicating a safe margin for repeal of the embargo when the final test comes.

The roll call was on question of ending debate on the procedure to be adopted for considering the bill. The result in effect, defeated a Republican attempt to open up the legislation for house amendments. The vote was 237 to 177.

Opponents of repeal—most bitterly controverted issue of the neutrality fight—had pleaded bitingly and vainly for an opportunity to bring the senate bill before the house for any amendments it might see fit to adopt, or to send it to the foreign affairs committee to be amended.

The senate measure repeals the existing embargo on arms and ammunition. The house bill, approved last session, embargoes "lethal" weapons—such as death dealing gases, guns and ammunition—but permits the sale to belligerents of other implements of war such as airplanes and oil.

Today's action does not deprive opponents of repeal of an opportunity to vote on the question of what instructions, if any, the house should give the conferees who will represent it in negotiations with senators. It is this question of instructing the conferees which is expected to occupy the house for the next two days. No time limit, however, has been fixed for debating the question.

WESTERN FRONT BIG GUNS HEARD Long-Range Artillery Used By Nazis for First Time

Paris, Oct. 31 (AP)—The French reported "marked activity" with a series of land skirmishes between French and German forces and brisk artillery duels in which the Germans were said to have used long-range heavy artillery for the first time in the war.

A general staff communique said both sides engaged in raids and ambushes in the Lorraine sector between the Moselle and Saar rivers on a section extending from the Luxembourg border to Sarreguimines.

The high command also reported that "in the course of many flights" yesterday one bi-motored Nazi reconnaissance plane was downed in French territory and two fell out of control in German lines on the Saar front. The report said all French planes returned safely.

Military commentators said that during the second day of renewed activity at least one French village, six miles behind an unidentified area of the front, was battered by German long-range guns.

These sources said French gunners, who previously had shelled the Stiefried positions with their 155's, replied to the enemy.

The day's activities, however, were said to appear to be no more than localized or preliminary attempts to test each other's strength.

Prison Is Barred From Making Candy Michigan Varnish On City Of Flint

Lansing, Oct. 31 (AP)—Attorney General Thomas Read declared in an opinion today that state prisons may not manufacture candy for sale to inmates at prison "canteens."

Read informed William H. Burke of Jackson, manager of state prison industries, that since prisoners buy the candy from canteens with their own money and since prison funds are not used to purchase the candy, a 1935 ban on the manufacture of products for sale in the open market applied. Burke had planned to install a candy factory in the state reformatory at Ionia.

PRO-GERMANS ARE REMOVED BY MUSSOLINI

FASCIST LEADERSHIP OVERHAULED; ARMY CHIEFS OUSTED

Rome, Oct. 31 (AP)—Premier Mussolini in a sweeping overhauling of the Fascist leadership today removed three military chiefs who had conducted staff talks with German officers and two cabinet members popularly regarded as pro-German.

The shuffling of military chiefs, army leaders, and cabinet ministers, however, was regarded in foreign circles as primarily designed to reinforce the Fascist regime at home with the international aspect incidental to domestic factors.

Whether there was any deliberate thought of shelving those in the government who had been looked on as pro-German could not be ascertained.

People Pleased But all three replaced chiefs of staff—Gen. Alberto Pariani of the army, General Giuseppe Valle of the airforce and Lieut. Gen. Luigi Russo, of the blackshirt militia—had conferred with their German counterparts after signing of the Italian-German military alliance last May—an alliance which no longer is mentioned in Italy.

The two cabinet members considered as having pro-German sympathies and affected by the shakeup were Lieut. Gen. Achille Starace, secretary of the Fascist party, and Dino Alfieri, minister of popular culture (propaganda). Transfer to other posts removed them from the cabinet.

The shakeup was expected to please the Italian people. There have been widespread reports of popular dissatisfaction with the pro-German tendencies of some of the lesser Fascist leaders.

Mussolini gave evidence that he was moving with popular sentiment when in a speech three days ago he said Fascism only wanted to go forward "with the people and for the people."

Son-In-Law Ranks High With the changes, some foreign observers considered Mussolini had established a middle-of-the-road cabinet. His son-in-law, Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, and Minister of Justice Count Dino Grandi remained as perhaps the outstanding figures next to Il Duce.

At the end of this game of bureaucratic musical chairs, several incumbents were left without new posts. Conspicuous among them was General Pariani, who was succeeded by Marshal Rudolf Graziani as chief of staff and by General Ubaldo Soddu as under-secretary of war.

Also left without post was General Valle, who was under-secretary of aeronautics as well as aviation chief of staff. He was replaced by Gen. Francesco Pricolo, considered one of Italy's best air officers.

Old Indian Burial Ground Excavated At St. Joseph, Mich.

St. Joseph, Mich., Oct. 31 (AP)—Authorities on Indian lore today believed workmen excavating a basement here had discovered an ancient Indian burial ground.

Two human skeletons were uncovered today and, like a skeleton found last Friday, were buried with heads toward the southwest. No implements or relics were found in the graves.

Norwegian Gunboat Escorts Nazi Crew And City Of Flint

Bergen, Norway, Oct. 31 (AP)—The American freighter City of Flint, in command of a German prize crew, was feeling her way southward along the North Norwegian coast tonight followed by a Norwegian man-of-war.

The prize ship, on her way from the Soviet port of Murmansk to a haven in Germany, was sighted off Lodingen light this morning flying a German flag.

Shipping circles gave the German prize crew an even chance to escape British detection on her blockade-dodging voyage along the rugged Norwegian coast.

Appearance of the City of Flint off Lodingen on the inland route down one of the world's most broken coasts was taken as an indication the German prize crew had requested and obtained permission to move in Norwegian territorial waters.

The Norwegian naval watch-dog was believed to be the 1,170-ton destroyer Slepner, which followed the captured American vessel out of Tromsøe waters yesterday. The Norwegian boat was said to be nearby, not as an escort vessel, but to guard and protect Norwegian interests and to see that the City of Flint complied with rules laid down for her passage through Norwegian territorial waters.

It was understood if there was any violation of the rules, the vessel would be halted and both ship and crew interned.

(Reports reaching Copenhagen from Tromsøe said the City of Flint was in Tromsøe waters three hours yesterday and took on fresh meat and water from a motor launch which cruised slowly along side. The City of Flint as a prize ship did not enter the harbor. Some Tromsøe residents believed German cargo boats were conveying the prize ship since no other followed by short intervals.)

Observers believed the City of Flint would follow the Scandinavian coast until she reached the Baltic, where an adequate German escort might see her into port, with Hamburg considered a likely objective.

IDEA RIDICULED ON THIRD TERM

West Coast Promotion Story Is Invention, President Claims

Washington, Oct. 31 (AP)—President Roosevelt today branded as somebody's invention any idea that a proposed conference on the west coast might be intended to promote a third term for the new deal.

The chief executive was questioned at his press conference about the statement made yesterday by John L. Lewis that two administration officials were organizing a meeting of western "progressive leaders" in January for the secret purpose of starting a third term boom.

Mr. Roosevelt said all he knew about the matter was that there had been talk last August of a non-political parley on the west coast for discussion of such matters as liberal government, social welfare, old age pensions and agricultural problems.

Earlier in the day, one of the officials accused by Lewis of organizing the conference to promote a third term said that his advice had been asked concerning the proposed meeting but that it was not his project.

Marshall E. Dimock, second assistant secretary of the labor department, told reporters that both he and Norman M. Littell, assistant to Attorney General Murphy, had been asked for advice but that "it is not our conference and we are not the people to talk about it."

Iron River Logging Job Takes 4 Years Iron River, Mich., Oct. 31 (AP)—Logging operations which will keep 150 to 200 local men busy for four years, were begun this week by the C. M. Arthur Gustafson, general superintendent, said the tract will be logged selectively and logs hauled 30 miles by truck to the company's sawmill at Phelps, Wis.

FINNS WARNED NOT TO SPURN SOVIET TERMS

RESTORING POLAND LOST CAUSE, SAYS MOLOTOFF

By WITT HANCOCK Moscow, Oct. 31 (AP)—Premier Molotov today chided President Roosevelt for lending Finland the "moral support" of the United States, in effect warned the Finns to come to terms, and notified the world that Russia is drawing closer to Germany and Japan, partners in the anti-commintern pact.

In an exhaustive report on Russia's new foreign policy, the premier and foreign commissar told more than 1,100 deputies attending the extraordinary joint session of the Soviet council that the United States' move to repeal its arms embargo would "intensely aggravate and protract" the European war.

Allies Denounced Salient points in Molotov's 85-minute speech: 1. Struck at President Roosevelt for "interfering" in Russia's negotiations with Finland "in contradiction of the United States' policy of neutrality."

2. Declared Russia was unable to understand Finland's refusal of a mutual assistance pact similar to those which made the Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania virtual protectorates.

3. Denounced Great Britain and France for carrying on the war with Germany for the purpose, he said, of safeguarding their colonial possessions.

4. Said "there can be no question of restoring Poland" and that it was "absurd to continue the present war" for such a cause.

5. Asserted that German and Russian relations are being placed on an increasingly stable and friendly basis.

6. Announced trade negotiations would be opened with Japan and opened the door for a move by Tokyo toward stronger cooperation—possibly a non-aggression pact.

7. Gave no hint of any possible Soviet aims in the Balkans but said Turkey, which refused a pact with Russia and signed one with Britain and France, must take note of the offer of cooperation to Japan.

Stalin Gets Ovation By her pact with Britain and France, he said, Turkey had moved into the "orbit of war" and he would not hazard a guess whether Turkey would come to regret it.

Russia's dictator, Joseph Stalin, was given a tremendous ovation when he seated himself along with other Soviet leaders in front of the chairman's rostrum of the modern hall built behind the picturesque Kremlin.

Touching on President Roosevelt's plea on Oct. 11 for Finland, Molotov said near the end of his address: "One finds it hard to reconcile that with the American policy of neutrality."

"In a message to Comrade Kalinin, chairman of the presidium of the supreme Soviet, Mr. Roosevelt expressed the hope that friendly and peaceful relations between the U. S. S. R. and Finland would be preserved and developed.

GERMAN TROOPS INVADE FRANCE

Berlin Reports Scout Party Bringing Back War Booty

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER
 Berlin, Oct. 31 (AP)—D.N.B. official German news agency, late today published a report describing how German scouting troops invaded two hastily-evacuated French villages lying before the Maginot line and returned with war booty.

However, military experts authorized to give information said the report did not come from the high command.

The experts would not even admit that the report was the first evidence of Germans crossing into French territory, saying that at the French-German frontier it often was difficult to know exactly where the boundary line runs, with the result that inequitable scouting units often get on the other fellow's ground.

(A French high command communique on October 16 said German troops had penetrated momentarily to the French frontier post of Apach.)

Soon after inquiries by correspondents began to pour in, D.N.B. advised that the report concerned "an event which occurred some time ago at the western front."

However, a report of the same occurrence, dated October 31, was front-paged by early editions of tomorrow's Voelkischer Beobachter, central organ of the Nazi party.

west were urged on him earlier in the day by Representatives Havenner (D-Calif.) and Welch (R-Calif.). Mr. Roosevelt told reporters he had given them kind words.

In this connection Mr. Roosevelt said that for years he had been trying to prevail upon steel companies to build a plant on the west coast and added that since the development of the electric furnace this appeared to be economical.

Senator Sheppard expressed the opinion in an interview that congress would provide the $1,000,000,000 that he estimated would be needed for the army.

He said the program already authorized by congress provided for the purchase of additional anti-aircraft guns and predicted that funds to carry out this authorization would be included in the appropriations.

Last summer, before the European war broke out, the army's enlisted men numbered about 165,000 and the national guard's force about 190,000. Since then, due partly to congressional appropriations and partly to executive orders by the president, recruiting has been undertaken to bring the army strength to 227,000 and the guard's to 235,000. It is expected generally that Mr. Roosevelt will propose next session that the army be brought up to the full peace-time strength previously authorized by congress—280,000—and that the guard be increased further to 320,000. This would provide a total force of 600,000.

between the Soviet Union and Finland, who has long ago obtained both freedom and political independence from the Soviet Union.

Doesn't Want Islands
 Of the negotiations with Finland, he said that the Soviets had urged Finland to agree to a pact similar to those recently concluded with Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania, which gave Russia extensive rights to station troops, warships and planes on the soil of her Baltic neighbors.

Molotov said Russia "did not insist" on her position when Finland objected. He disclosed that Finnish-Soviet negotiations now have turned to matters concerning the protection of Leningrad, Russia's western metropolis.

After Finland's rejection of the proposed mutual assistance pact, Molotov said, negotiations were proceeding on Finnish cession of "several dozen kilometers" of soil on the Isthmus of Karelia, north of Leningrad, the lease of a small section of Finnish territory near the entrance to the Gulf of Finland for a Russian naval base, and the exchange of some islands in the Gulf of Finland.

He declared Russia has no designs on the strategic Aaland islands and was not preparing demands on any other northern nations.

Dr. Juho Kuusi Paasikivi, head of Finland's delegation to Russia, is expected here tomorrow for his third visit since Russia and Finland began negotiations.

War Aims "Camouflaged"
 An indication of what Russia expected was given when Molotov said "it should be clear that, granted good will, the Finnish government will meet our proposals, which are minimal ones and which—far from militating against the national and state interests of Finland—will enhance her security and form a broad basis for further extensive development of the political and economic relations between our countries."

Referring to the war between Germany "and the Anglo-French bloc," he said the ruling circles of Britain and France have been "lately attempting to depict themselves as champions of the democratic rights of nations against Hitlerism and the British government has announced that its aim in the war with Germany is nothing more nor less than the destruction of Hitlerism."

"It is not only senseless but criminal to wage such a war x x x camouflaged as a fight for 'democracy.'"

Japanese Pact Hinted

Molotov turned to Japan and declared the agreement concluded in Moscow on Sept. 15 "liquidated" the Russian-Japanese conflict on the Mongolian-Manchoukuo border and was the first step toward improvement of relations between the two nations.

He said the next step would be formation of a joint frontier commission to examine disputed portions of the border.

"In addition, the possibility has been established of starting Soviet-Japanese trade negotiations," he said.

In negotiations between the Soviet and the Japanese, observers pointed out, questions of fishing rights, and coal and concessions were considered of primary importance.

Molotov's report was unanimously approved by the delegates, among whom were several from one-time Polish territories now added to the Soviet Union.

Wilhelm Julian Larson, 35, of Ford River Switch, died at 10:55 last night at the home of his mother, Mrs. Jennie Larson, 637 North 20th street, after an illness of a week with pneumonia.

Mr. Larson, who was employed in the I. Stephenson Co. flooring mill at Wells, was born April 24, 1904, at Chicago. He had lived at Ford River Switch for five years, previous to that making his home in Escanaba. He was a member of the Salem Evangelical Lutheran church.

Surviving are his widow, the former Esther Wunder of this city, a son, Carlton Julian, age 5, and his mother.

The body was taken to the Anderson funeral home and arrangements for the last rites will be completed today.

Hallowe'en Brings Little Trouble To Officials Of City

Up to early this morning Hallowe'en hadn't brought much trouble to city officials who were prepared for the worst, although they hoped for the best.

It meant that Chief Michael F. Ettenhofer put in a few extra hours last night at the police station, but the police had only three calls about offending Hallowe'eners up to midnight, and none of them was serious.

There was one false fire alarm, at 11:15 o'clock from box 21, at Second avenue north and Twelfth street.

"Football Follies" and Other Shows Keep Crowd Happy

With senior students guarding the fire alarm buttons everything went off smoothly last night at the seventeenth annual Escanaba high school Hallowe'en Carnival, which brought out a crowd of 1,200 persons. Most of them were high and grade school students, but a liberal number of adults attended, too.

The party was timed to last until 11 o'clock and after that most of the merrymakers went on home to bed and police had a fairly quiet evening.

30 Sideshows
 The school was a riot of color and incongruity with Hallowe'en decorations and hundreds of youngsters in Hallowe'en costumes and masks.

Thirty sideshows presented by home rooms and other organizations kept the crowd entertained during the early part of the evening and at 10 o'clock came the awarding of costume prizes, followed by the climax of the program, an "Exhibition Concert by the Henpecked Singing School," presented by the high school Maak and Wig club. Misses Helen Snyder and Bernadette Vernon, faculty sponsors of the club, were in charge of the program which continued for nearly an hour.

Costume prizes went to Daniel Hirn for the funniest, to Warren Cleary for the most original and to four girls who tied for the prettiest, Annette Anderson, Joan L'Heureux, Mary Vinette and Mary Hutt.

Perhaps the most incongruous of all the sights at the carnival was that of a group of huskies of the football team parading in the "Football Follies" all prettied up in fancy, brief costumes, with hairy legs showing.

Miss Menominee Wins
 For this show, which drew one of the largest crowds of all, Roy Cress acted as master of ceremonies and Merle Pfothenauer, team captain, paraded as Miss Menominee; Ray Pepin as Miss Stambaugh; Bob Barron as Miss Man-tique; Jim Davidson as Miss Moo; Leonard Fedrow as Miss Iron Mountain; Roy Arbour as Miss Gladstone; and Bob Shallman as Miss Escanaba.

Miss Menominee won the Follies beauty contest. All the boys kicked their heels in a grand finale to the tune of "Upper Michigan Girl," a number arranged especially for the occasion.

Among other sideshows that drew well was "Curiosity Corners" presented by home room 204, which featured a bottle concert under direction of Bill Kerry and a two-man tin pan band, operated by Charles Sherlock and John Pappajohn.

Other attractions included the "Dogpatch Revue," "Mickey Mouse Movies," "Chamber of Dr. F. Manchu," "Minstrel Show," "Screwball Scrimmage," "Spectral Spree," "Shoot the Duck," "House of Terrors," "Bazooka Band" and others.

It was all over at 11 o'clock except for the two boys from each home room whose part in making the carnival possible was to sweep up after the show so that classes could go ahead on schedule this morning.

Husband Questioned In Stabbing Of Wife At St. Clair Shores

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Oct. 31 (AP)—Herbert C. Patterson, 48-year-old automotive designing engineer, today retraced for police his movements of last Thursday, when his wife, Farrell, was found stabbed to death in their St. Clair Shores home.

Patterson, who rested several hours after a 15-hour conference with state police and Prosecutor Ivan A. Johnston that ended at 7 a. m. today, gave the officers an accounting of the time between the hour he arose and his arrival at the Highland Park laboratory where he is employed.

Patterson said he left his home at 7:40 a. m. Dr. LeMoine Snyder, medico-legal director of the state police, has tentatively set the time of the playing at between 9 and 9:30 a. m.

Prosecutor Johnston said tonight the taking of voluntary statements from Patterson had been halted until statements already given could be transcribed and studied. The prosecutor indicated he expected no further development before morning unless one of the investigators should come upon some new angle of the case.

Meanwhile a report was awaited on analysis of several articles sent to the state police crime detection laboratory in East Lansing.

Dr. Snyder said he had tested the victim's blood and typed and classified it. The prosecutor stated that stains on the upholstery of Patterson's automobile and the spot in a crease of a newly polished shoe had been analyzed as blood.

Patterson admitted incompatibility with his wife in the last year, the prosecutor said.

Milk House Tipped; Prankster Is Shot By Farmer At Caro

Caro, Mich., Oct. 31 (AP)—Shot in the head while celebrating Hallowe'en with a group of neighborhood children, Francis Diegel, 12, was in a serious condition tonight.

Sheriff George F. Jeffrey of Tuscola county said that Andrew Haight, 24, had fired the shot and was being held in the county jail to await the outcome of the boy's injury. The sheriff said that in a statement to Prosecutor Timothy C. Quinn, Haight had said he fired a shotgun after his milk house had been overturned by pranksters. He said that he thought he had fired over the heads of the fleeing boys but saw one fall and ran to pick him up. He took the boy to Dr. H. A. Barbour at Mayville, who had him taken to St. Luke's hospital at Saginaw.

Attendees at the hospital said the boy had suffered a skull fracture.

Seat In Exchange Sells For $60,000
 New York, Oct. 31 (AP)—Arrangements were made today for transfer of a seat in the New York stock exchange at $60,000, a decline of $2,000 from the preceding sale. Highest price for the year thus far was $70,000 on March 2 and the low $51,000 on April 11.

Surgeon Stricken During Operation, Nurse Finishes Job

Buffalo, Okla., Oct. 31 (AP)—A 29-year old nurse completed an appendectomy today after the operating surgeon was stricken with apoplexy.

Dr. E. F. Camp, collapsed just as he had finished the major part of the surgery upon Eddie Huenegard, two-year-old son of a Selman, Okla., farmer. The child was suffering from a ruptured appendix and double pneumonia.

Mrs. William Finely, attending nurse, promptly stepped in and sewed up the incision. Aiding her was Dr. Camp's wife, Kathleen, who serves as operating room assistant at her husband's small hospital.

Dr. Camp's condition was reported slightly improved but still serious tonight. The boy was reported "fair."

Detroit Executive, W. Hanway, Found Shot In Old Church

Bel Air, Md., Oct. 31 (AP)—In old Rock Spring church alongside the cemetery where members of the Hanway family lie buried, a man identified by state police as William C. Hanway, Detroit corporation executive, was found shot to death today.

Dr. J. H. Ramsey, Hartford county medical examiner, said he had committed suicide. A .38 shot-gun was found beside the body.

In Detroit, officials of the Freight Trailer Truck company said Hanway resigned yesterday as treasurer of the firm and left the city, leaving no word as to his destination. He had been ill for some time and recently underwent an operation. A son, W. C. Hanway, Jr., is with the Fargo truck division of Chrysler Corp. in Chicago.

A number of Hanway's relatives, including Charles J. Michael of Bel Air—three miles from the church—live in Hartford county, Baltimore or Washington. None knew he had left Detroit. Michael identified the body.

Hanway's father, mother and sister all are buried in the cemetery, only a short distance from the old Hanway home.

Justice Department Tangles With Dies

Washington, Oct. 31 (AP)—A star witness of the Dies committee was in the hands of police tonight in connection with a New Orleans killing, while Rep. Dies (D-Tex.) angrily lashed out with charges that the department of justice was trying to discredit his committee's evidence.

William C. McCuiston, former seafaring Communist who came here to pin the Communist label on various maritime union leaders, was led away by a police lieutenant at the conclusion of a stormy committee session in which Dies pounded the table and charged that Henry Schweinhaut, assistant attorney general in charge of civil liberties, had gone out of his jurisdiction to have the man taken.

"The whole thing not only smells to high heaven but it stinks," said Rep. Starnes (D-Ala.), another committee member. "Details surrounding this procedure are not only sordid, but contemptible."

Starnes seemingly was tossing back words used recently by President Roosevelt, who accused the Dies committee of employing "sordid procedure."

Dies declared that Schweinhaut had telephoned the Washington police department to inquire if they had heard whether New Orleans police wanted the witness in connection with the slaying of Philip Carey, an official of the CIO's national maritime union, on Sept. 17.

The justice department issued a statement asserting that "neither Mr. Schweinhaut nor anyone else" in the department had requested McCuiston's arrest. It explained that Schweinhaut had telephoned the chief of detectives to inquire whether McCuiston was wanted in New Orleans and was informed that he was.

Joseph Curran, who is president of the union and whom McCuiston denounced as a red during a hearing yesterday, had previously tipped the New Orleans police that McCuiston could be found here.

By formal resolution, the committee requested the police to take McCuiston to the civil liberties section of the justice department so that he might tell about "various alleged attempts to intimidate him, to deprive him of his civil rights, by the national maritime union and the communists."

The police said McCuiston would be given that opportunity tomorrow. At today's hearing McCuiston had testified that after he ceased to be a Communist party member several years ago, he was warned to "go down the line" for the party, leave the waterfront, or become a "floater"—waterfront term for a dead man.

Peru Fliers Forced Down By Tank Leak Are Safe On Island

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Oct. 31 (AP)—Forced down by the loss of 220 gallons of gasoline while little more than 700 miles from their goal, two Peruvian aviators attempting a non-stop flight from New York to Lima, Peru, were safe tonight on an island 80 miles southwest of Guayaquil.

First word of the brother fliers, Commander Humberto Gal'Lino, of the Peruvian navy, and Captain Victor Gal'Lino, of the Peruvian army, was carried by a peasant to a telegraph office at Posorja, 20 miles from their landing place on a beach at Salinas de Punta Arenas on Puna island.

The plane was not damaged in landing.

Commander Gal'Lino in a message to authorities said the gasoline was lost through a leaky tank. He reported they flew 26 hours and five minutes after leaving New York Sunday afternoon. A tug was dispatched from Guayaquil with 200 gallons of gasoline for the plane in the event a take-off was possible.

'Brother Rat' Movie Sweethearts Wed

Hollywood, Oct. 31 (AP)—Jane Wyman, 24, and Ronald Reagan, 26, announced their engagement today, culmination of a romance which started when they played movie roles as sweethearts. They said they will marry after next Jan. 1. They were cast as sweethearts a year ago in "Brother Rat."

MATERIALS TAX LEVY RESCINDED

Contractors Fear They Would Lose Money On Government Jobs

Lansing, Oct. 31 (AP)—The state board of tax administration today rescinded an order which, beginning tomorrow, would have extended the three percent sales levy to materials bought by contractors for use on governmental construction projects.

Representatives of a dozen organizations of contractors appeared at a public hearing to protest the decision. The board agreed not to impose the ruling until it could receive further information from a committee of contractors headed by Henry Reniger of Lansing as to how seriously their business would be affected.

Contractors argued that federal, state and municipal governments—specifically exempt from sales tax payments—would purchase their own supplies if the new ruling were imposed, contracting only for labor. This, they contended, would make a serious dent in their earnings.

Officials of the sales tax division have estimated that the plan to extend the tax to materials used on government projects would yield $1,000,000 a year in revenue. It has been described as an attempt to plug a "loophole" in administration of the tax act.

George E. Runyeon, deputy sales tax director, said books of suppliers showed greater sales of materials for public use than records of public projects indicated.

St. Nicholas Woman Is Struck By Truck

Mrs. Rose Vandermussen of St. Nicholas was taken to St. Francis hospital, Escanaba, yesterday afternoon suffering of injuries sustained. It was reported, when she was struck by a truck while she was walking along a road near Perkins Monday night.

Her back was bruised and muscles were believed torn, but hospital attaches said it appeared there were no broken bones.

The accident was not reported to the sheriff's office.

Misunderstood Wife Drowns In Bathtub

Detroit, Oct. 31 (AP)—Locking herself in the bathroom from two of her children, Mrs. Sarah Silverman, 37, drowned in the bathtub today. Police term the death as suicide and said Mrs. Silverman had left a note to her husband, Sam, in which she asserted she was "misunderstood."

The Guards' Chapel, Wellington Barracks, London, contains about 1100 memorials.

DEATH CLAIMS MICHAEL EARLY

Was Employed as Watchman at Bichler Quarry At Groos

Michael Early, 67, long-time resident of Escanaba, died suddenly of a heart attack Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, at Groos. Mr. Early, who was employed as watchman for Bichler Brothers, collapsed without warning, and died within a few minutes.

He was born at St. James, Mich., and came to Escanaba when a youth, making his home here continuously until his death.

He worked for many years as a lumberman, and following the loss of a leg, in a lumbering accident, he became a cigar maker. He later was employed as switch tender for the Chicago and North Western railway, and for the past ten years, had been a watchman for Bichler Brothers at Groos.

He was unmarried, and his only survivors are nieces and nephews in Escanaba and Chicago.

The body was taken to the Allou Funeral Home to be prepared for burial and is remaining there in state. Services will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's church, the Very Rev. Fr. Thomas A. Kennedy officiating, and burial will be made in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Electric Power Parley At Houghton Nov. 9

Houghton—Only ten days remain before the Upper Peninsula Electric Power conference opens a three-day session at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology on Thursday, November 9.

On the program are thirteen technical talks by as many expert engineers, movies describing electrical equipment, group discussions, laboratory and lecture demonstrations, and a dinner during which short talks will be presented.

Included among the chairmen of the various special sessions are Professors George W. Swenson, H. R. Reed, and F. W. Cartland of Michigan Tech, and Messrs. L. B. LeVesconte of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, R. E. Burmeister of the Duncan Electric company, and C. G. Miller of the Weston Instrument company.

An attendance of more than 100 persons is expected.

The 1930 conference, second in the series of such meetings, is held to bring together representatives of power companies and municipalities—chiefly of the upper peninsula, and Michigan Tech faculty members and students, for the purpose of exchanging ideas pertaining to the electrical profession.

The first conference, held at Michigan Tech in October, 1937, proved so popular that it was decided to make the session a periodic event.

This year, as in 1937, the conference will be held under the chairmanship of Professor Swenson of the Tech department of electrical engineering.

Professor Swenson will be assisted by an advisory committee consisting of Albert Hoyle of Iron Mountain, Wisconsin-Michigan Power company; Hugo Lillquist, superintendent of the Escanaba Light company; John Ralph of the Houghton County Electric Light company; and Charles Retaillic, superintendent of the light department of the City of Marquette. These men, together with J. W. Perry of the bureau of government, University of Michigan, also comprised the advisory board of the 1937 conference.

Michigan In Washington

Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

Now that the neutrality debate has shifted from the Senate to the House, our Michigan representatives who have been hibernating or back home politicking, have joined the Old Faithfuls on the floor.

The House debate is far different from the Senate debate which ended in a 63 to 30 vote for repeal. Senators can talk as long as they can stand to listen to themselves, but the House members are limited by the Rules Committee. So talks are shorter and promise to be louder and funnier.

Of course, House members could have made speeches during the past month of senate debate—as did Congressman Albert J. Engel, of Muskegon—but they could not talk directly to the bill not then in final Senate form. Besides what is the fun when the galleries are empty and only a handful keep up the pretense that the House is in session?

It is not as easy to predict how Michigan's 17 congressmen in the House will vote as it was in the Senate where Arthur H. Vandenberg made what is generally recognized as the best speech for keeping the arms embargo and Senator Prentiss M. Brown's plea for repeal will long be remembered for its stinging reprimand to Col. Lindbergh.

The majority of our congressmen themselves believe that the vote will line up the Republicans against the administration-Senate approved bill, with not more than one or possibly two exceptions. The only doubtfuls mentioned, on the Republican side, are Carl E. Napes, of Grand Rapids, dean of the delegation, and Clarence J. McLeod, who represents a Detroit district partly blue-stocking and partly foreign born. On the Democratic side, the not-so-sure voters for repeal are still Dr. Rudolph Tenerowicz and Louis A. Rabaut, both of Detroit.

Of course, no one knows what changes the House may manage to put into the bill, but certainly the heart, the arms embargo repeal, will not be changed. As Congressman Paul Shafer, Battle Creek Republican says, "Many of us could go along with the improved Senate bill—except for the all-important arms embargo provision."

Sober-thinking Earl C. Michener, Adrian Republican, praises high the Senate debate. It's full airing of the issue has adequately informed the public, says Michener, who thanks the abundance of debate for a better bill, free of credit privileges and Presidential discretionary power provisions.

But more importantly, he says, the Senators were put on the spot and forced flatly to state they would not vote for war.

The late evening vote on the Neutrality bill in the Senate prevented Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg catching the afternoon plane to Michigan, where he had hoped to attend President Ruthven's 10th anniversary dinner at the University of Michigan. If he had caught the plane, he could have chatted with his friendly enemy Attorney General Frank Murphy, also headed for Ann Arbor.

No other Washington dignitaries were especially invited—even Senator Prentiss M. Brown or Congressman Earl C. Michener who represents the Ann Arbor area in the House.

Senator Brown, however, was hoping for an early vote just as ardently as Senator Vandenberg, for he had planned with Mrs. Brown to drive all night, if necessary, to make the Michigan-Yale game on Saturday.

Grand Marais

Return From Trip

Grand Marais, Mich.—The ten agricultural students and instructor, Superintendent L. Keith Cheney, who made the trip to the Upper Peninsula Potato Show at Iron Mountain returned Thursday night. After competing in the judging and grading contests in the forenoon, the group made a sightseeing tour which included the water pump of the Chapin mine, the largest in the world, which has a capacity of 3000 gallons per minute from a depth of 1500 feet. The group also went up the Pine Mountain Drive and saw the world's longest ski slide. The trip over was made by way of Manistiquette and Escanaba and the return trip by way of Ishpeming and Marquette. Returns from the contests will be announced later by Mr. George Gilbert, assistant superintendent of Public Instruction of Marquette, who was in charge.

Hallowe'en Party

A Hallowe'en party was held at the high school gymnasium Friday night for the students of Junior and Senior high, sponsored by the student council and their advisor, Principal C. B. Walsh. Entertainment for the evening consisted of various games on the stage, and dancing in the auditorium with music provided by the public address system. A number of the records used were provided by James McDonald Jr. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

The following committees had charge of the evening's activities: Refreshments—Ruth Newberg and Ina Mattson; games—William Roberts; music—Lester Radcliff; Junior Carpenter, Harold Bailey; clean-up—James Martin, Harold Bailey, William Abrahamson; serving—June Morrison, Edith Propst, Gladys Gray, and Ina Mattson; decoration—Harold Capitol office building by a Capitol Sen. A ruling forbids more than five to stampee a senator—but Senator Brown told the police to let them all come in at once. The cop agreed but stood guard. Brown gave them all the time and consideration they asked—and they gave him the fireworks. They interrupted each other, even once in awhile the senator. Only three of the 37 bothered to visit Senator Vandenberg since he was committed to their cause to keep the embargo.

Congressman Earl C. Michener, Veteran member of the House Judiciary committee, has been named by Speaker Bankhead on the special committee set up to arrange a fitting ceremony for the 150th anniversary of the Supreme Court.

Special guests for the evening included the recreational leaders and wives, Mr. and Mrs. Sayre Ostrander Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas, and Irene Manilla.

Club to Meet

The Grand Marais Women's club will meet in the Community church Thursday evening, November 2, at 8. Mrs. Philip Carpenter of McMillan will be the guest speaker.

ADDITIONAL RABIES ANGLES

By Buell Patterson

There are indications that pressure will be put on the Government to take a hand in the rabies situation. The Department of Agriculture, through its Licensing of vaccines, has power to act and demands are increasing that it put a stop to the distribution of anti-rabies vaccine. This is a reason for veterinarians to act first.

The plight of dog breeders who find their normal markets taken away through rabies scares is not so easy of solution. The mere talk of rabies frightens many people to the point where they do not look at the situation logically. They do not take into account that rabies is not a disease of pure-bred dogs. That, of course, is not because the pure-bred is immune.

He is not. But rabies can only be spread through a bite and the pure-bred dog is ordinarily kept under control. The person who pays a good price for a dog does not simply let him run loose to fend for himself.

Persons who buy a good dog, from those kennels which guarantee the health of the animals they sell, have virtually no chance of being brought in contact with rabies.

Temperature Hits 99 In Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Oct. 30 (AP)—An official maximum of 99 degrees contributed today to Los Angeles' hottest October on record as unseasonable heat stifled much of the California coastal region.

This month's mean temperature so far is 71.4 inches. Closest approach to this in weather bureau record is the 71-degree mean of Oct. 1918. Last month was also Los Angeles' hottest September.

As a matter of fact the whole rabies business has been terribly overdone, thanks to the rabies racketeers. The disease does exist, but it is nowhere near so prevalent as some persons would have us believe. Furthermore, in both dogs and humans there is a very high degree of natural immunity.

Only a percentage—many who have studied the disease believe the percentage decidedly small—of persons or dogs bitten by a rabid dog can contract the disease.

In some places the swing of the pendulum has resulted in the raising of restrictions that have been in force. In New Jersey, which early this year provided a good example of rabies hysteria, the quarantine is being lifted. The State Department removed the quarantine in five counties.

It is not correct to imply that the action of New Jersey officials in imposing the quarantine was hysterical. It was precautionary and simply required that dogs should not be allowed to run at large. The hysteria was supplied either by well-meaning persons who knew little about the disease, or by those who, from selfish motives wished to see vaccination extended.

Persons who buy a good dog, from those kennels which guarantee the health of the animals they sell, have virtually no chance of being brought in contact with rabies.

Here and There

ONE of the Upper Peninsula's most active boosters for aviation is H. P. Westervelt, who is president of the Menominee chapter of the National Aeronautics association. Westervelt spends considerable time in attending conferences on aviation matters in various parts of the country. He personally made the arrangements for the Upper Peninsula Air Tour Tour held this fall, and just last week he attended a N. A. A. conference in Chicago. He reports that the conference went on record as requesting Congress to appropriate an additional $5,000,000 for extension of air mail service and also $25,000,000 for the construction and maintenance of airports under a federal aid program. Principal objective of the efforts of Mr. Westervelt and other air-minded citizens of the Upper Peninsula is the projection of air mail service northward from Milwaukee to Menominee, Escanaba and Marquette.

Germany's stupidity in the last World War in committing acts that aroused resentment against her in this country is being reenacted in the handling of the City of Flint affair. The Nazis already have more ships than they can use under the British blockade program. The seizure cannot be viewed as a warning to American ships not to engage in contraband trade for Congress is now more likely than ever to pass a cash-and-carry law. The material gain from the seizure of the City of Flint will not compensate Germany for the loss of good will that will be suffered.

The bad effects of the stifling of foreign commerce during times of war are being felt locally in the German government's holding up of a cargo of sulphite destined from Esthonia to the Escanaba Paper company at Groos. The last World War brought American industries a flood of orders that caused them to greatly expand their plants, but when the conflict was over the manufacturers found themselves with much idle machinery. War-time prosperity is never lasting and it always causes severe dislocations of the economic system from which the country and its people suffer for years afterward. It is no wonder that the National Manufacturers association were quick recently to announce to the public that its members are not eager for war profits and would much prefer the normal trade they enjoy when the world is at peace.

The lurid crime magazines, no doubt, will pounce upon the exciting escapades of Indiana's flying Lochinvar, who shot a flying instructor to death recently while flying over Missouri, as hot copy for their readers. The unusual incident has all the elements of reader interest that these publications are anxious to have. Incidentally, the slaying in mid-air recalls the tragic death of Len Koenecke, former Escanaba baseball player, who engaged in a quarrel with an airplane pilot. Intending to knock the major league player unconscious so that he could bring his plane down safely, the pilot struck him with a wrench, the blow causing his death.

Ambitious plans for the holiday shopping season were made by Escanaba merchants, joined for concerted action as members of the retail division of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce. Special editions of the Escanaba Daily Press will be issued to advertise the merchandise bargains over Escanaba's large trade territory. Escanaba's development as a busy shopping center has been largely due to the cooperative sales campaign launched under the leadership of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Cooperating with the efforts to make the Escanaba shopping district more attractive, the city administration is going ahead with plans to brighten up Ludington street. Illumination will be increased by one-third through the installation of new lighting equipment. In addition to enhancing the appearance of the thoroughfare, the better lighting program also is expected to justify the additional expense involved through the promotion of traffic safety.

Reforming a City

THE federal government's campaign to free Kansas City completely from any vestige of the Tom Pendergast machine goes on with results that must be gratifying to every citizen of the middle western metropolis. Both federal and county grand juries have worked incessantly to clean up the loose ends since the Big Boss himself was packed off to the penitentiary last May. The federal jury has just retired after a fruitful session.

Besides Pendergast, three of the top-ranking men in the old machine have been sentenced to jail terms, and indictments against several more have been returned. Dozens of minor figures, gamblers, narcotic peddlers and vice leaders, have been sentenced or driven from the city. Former City Manager H. F. McElroy died just as the federal grand jury was looking into his income tax accounts.

Not only Kansas City but all of America breathes a sigh of vast relief every time the disintegrated political machine of corruption is given another blow. Crooked political bosses are a threat to the very core of democracy. Their kind has no place among a people whose basic philosophy rejects the concept of dictatorship in any form—national or local.

Congress Sees a Movie

THERE was consternation in Washington the other day when congressmen and newspaper correspondents got around to realizing the full import of a current film ("Mr. Smith Goes to Washington") portraying the capital scene. It dawned upon both groups that they were being laughed at with loud guffaws and that their dignity had been ruffled.

Some congressmen were especially indignant—and said so in condescending language. The hero of the piece, they said, was a wee bit wild. Perhaps they forgot the late lamented Huey P. Long and Marion Zioncheck. Furthermore, the congressmen thought, the hero was inordinately dumb. No one, they said, could be named to their august body if he were as naive as Hollywood's conception of a senator. On that point alone, thousands of citizens can be found who would be willing to put up a stiff debate.

Housing Again

ATTY.-GEN. FRANK MURPHY has again called attention to the housing problem in this country. At a time when building costs are high, any proposals to alleviate poor housing among low-income groups are worthy of appraisal.

Murphy suggests that the inability of the building industry to meet the needs of low-income groups may be partly attributed to the existence of "bidding rings" among less scrupulous contractors and obstruction tactics of a few union leaders. If either charge is true, certainly it is time for action.

"It goes without saying," the attorney-general explains, "that this is not intended either as an attack on the union's basic right of collective bargaining or on business."

Most union leaders, certainly, do not care to impede legitimate construction in any way. Neither do most contractors countenance unlawful collusion. Both groups will want to hear more of this investigation. Both will insist on prompt prosecution if the charges are proven true.

THE HIGH PRICE OF MILK

As the result of an investigation by Fortune Magazine, the $3,500,000,000-a-year milk industry in the United States is faced with statistical data tending to prove that milk prices could be reduced as much as 4 cents a quart in most cities and still produce a reasonable profit for farmer and distributor. The importance of the study is not that of raising new questions, but rather of re-emphasizing and supporting long-standing conclusions dairy experts to the effect that milk distributing systems are costly relics of horse-and-buggy days.

That the milk enigma is not one of those incurable ills of the time is currently found in the practice of modernized methods where the law allows retailing of milk at the lower price levels obtained through sound business organizations. Fortune's contention is that certain economic adjustments of no violent character, if made by milk distributors, could effect a reduction in milk prices, say from 12 1/2 cents a quart to 9 or 10 cents, without lowering farm income. And its figures show the 1938 milk price index at 91, compared with a cost-of-living index at 83, food at 78.9, clothing 82.3, and rent 69.5.

Some pertinent question are: Why are stores in some cities compelled by law to sell milk at the same price as delivered milk when they would gladly charge 1 to 2 cents a quart less? Why is it that one large chain store, which claims to be able to reduce its milk price by four cents and still make a profit, is forced by law to maintain price levels in keeping with other distributing systems? Why does the law in some States insist that milk sold in paper containers must cost one cent more a quart than in bottles even though milk-container dealers say their production costs are on a par with glass bottles?

Milk prices appear to be gauged almost wholly upon costs of doorstep delivery, a service millions of consumers are unable to afford. As one of the Nation's basic industries, the milk industry affects the living economy of the entire Nation. Yet it still falls far short of its potential value to the Nation in employment, consumption and productivity, largely due to high prices. Federal supervision has already been required to assure to farmers a fair share of the consumer's dollar. But there is yet opportunity for private enterprise to prove that it can check its own failures without further prodding from Uncle Sam.

Washington, D. C. — Although Italy lays claim to some of the oldest cities in the world, it now is the proud possessor of one of the youngest. This city of only a few months is Carbonia, Sardinia. Indeed it is a town of only a few thousand inhabitants, but its importance to the industrial life of Italy gives it a commanding attention one of the least known islands of the world.

Carbonia is Italy's newest and best coal bin, and it is for this reason that the new village is important. A recently discovered coal mine gave rise to the thriving village, and the mine's 60,000 tons of coal gives promise of a larger output, while the made-to-order village to house workers already contains a city hall, hospital, and theatre. The town's recently erected house of worship is dedicated to the Roman Bishop, San Ponziano, who, exiled to Sardinia more than 1600 years ago, was forced to work in mines then operating there.

Coal mines discovered nearly 2000 years ago in the locality of Carbonia were worked to what was considered exhaustion. However, in recent years Italy has been hard pressed for many natural resources, coal being one of these. Geologists under instructions from Premier Mussolini have been delving into the possibilities of all old mining centers. Their find of a mine at Carbonia has been not only the means of building a city, but has heartened industrial Italy.

Sardinia is an Italian possession in the Mediterranean Sea. It is about 160 miles in length and 28 miles wide, with a population of approximately 1,000,000. From the name of this island the familiar word sardine came into use on the North American continent. Few sardines, however, come to these shores from that little-known part of the world.

Mineral deposits of iron, copper, and silver attracted Phoenician colonists to Sardinia long before the birth of Christ. Later the Romans came and made this island on the Mediterranean granaries that fed the Empire's armies and citizenry.

The age of Sardinia is not known, but it is believed that a race of people lived there before the Phoenicians. Prehistoric monuments indicate that a civilization lived on the island probably during the Bronze Age, for on the area are several thousand towers still standing, built by a people whose architecture cannot be identified.

Sardinia's geographic location along the path of Mediterranean exploration and conquest gave it an inevitable role in the continuous drama of war and exploitation that followed. The Byzantines captured it from the Romans and held it until the tenth century. In this period the Saracens took possession but were later driven out by the Pisans. Old churches there show strong influence of these people. The Pisans surrendered to Genoa, and then to James II of Aragon. The capital was surrendered in 1708 to the English, but in the War of Spanish Succession the island was granted to Austria in 1713 under the Peace of Utrecht. In 1720 it passed to the Duke of Savoy, who took the title of king. Sardinia was united politically with Piedmont from 1848 until 1861, when Victor Emmanuel II became King of United Italy.

STRATEGIC LOCATION

The strategic location of Sardinia brings it more and more into the spotlight of European affairs. About 125 miles west of the nearest point of Italy, it is one of the stepping-stones between Africa and Europe. It is only seven and one-half miles south of Corsica, and not much more than a hundred miles north of Tunisia, both of which French possessions have been lately in news headlines as Italian objectives.

Generally mountainous, Sardinia turns a granite back on the mother country to the east. In the west are volcanic uplands. The island has few rivers of consequence, and these shrivel in dry seasons and swell to torrents with prolonged rains. More extreme than on the mainland, the climate is known for its hot, dry summers and harsh, wet winters. Italy has never considered Sardinia a valuable asset, but since the island is now producing coal, and has other mineral possibilities which are being explored; it is being looked upon by Mussolini with just pride.

Both man and beast of Sardinia are small in stature. Unusually small are the small donkeys, as well as native Sardinian cattle. The very character of the islanders, stern and uncompromising, is often laid to their harsh, rocky surroundings, which have served as a wall not only against outside influences, but against the transfer of language and customs from one side of the island to the other. The language used is made up of five or six dialects. It is a mixture of Latin, Spanish, and Italian, with traces of other languages. Italian, however, is the predominant tongue and is taught in the public schools.

But despite a stern disposition, the Sards are generous, hospitable, and honorable. Politeness is carried almost to extreme. Hospitality is akin to a religious duty, and to refuse a cup of coffee or other beverage when visiting in a home is considered an act of discourtesy.

Q What is the origin of the term "pin money"? L. R. M.
A. After the invention of pins, and while they were still very scarce and valuable, the maker was permitted to sell them in open shop only on two days of each year—January 1 and 2. It was then that the court ladies flocked to buy them, having been first provided with money for the purpose by the men of their families. This money came to be known as "pin money." NEA Service Staff Correspondent Short takes: A Massachusetts women's club has protested the showing of pictures in which any divorced actor or actress is featured. Imagine never seeing anything but animated cartoons!

An actor from Down Under came to Hollywood and soon managed to crash a producer's office to get a job. "How long you been here from Australia?" asked the executive suspiciously. The applicant said about two weeks.

"Outside experience?—Broadway or London, may be?" No, confessed the actor, this was his first trip away from home. "You're a phony!—Get out!" yelled the producer. "Trying to tell me you are only two weeks here from Australia when already you speak as good English as me!"

Lynn Overman was complaining about the hardships of an actor's life. "Just in my last picture," he said, "there was a big fight and a flood and a hurricane. I sure earned my salary on that one. Why, my double is still in the hospital!"

An snooter on the Sonja Henie set looked into the skater's dressing room and saw her in the arms of Robert Cummings. If he'd stuck around, though, he would have heard Director Irving Cummings say, "That's no good, Bob; it doesn't look as if you mean it."

At Metro, Spencer Tracy and Hedy Lamarr are still busy with the many new scenes for "I Take This Woman," the picture that once was shelved. Tracy thinks it ought to be titled, "I Retake This Woman."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—To the general public, war developments and the neutrality battle in Congress have combined to blackout the group of important municipal elections next Tuesday. But not to party leaders, who are watching them with intense interest as significant indicators of the political winds.

Attention is chiefly focused on three elections in three key sections of the country—the East, Midwest, and Pacific Coast. Each is a contest of a liberal Democrat against an entrenched Republican regime.

In the East the battleground is rock-ribbed Republican Philadelphia, where Judge Robert E. Lambertson, hand-picked candidate of Joseph Pew, oil-millionaire boss of the local GOP, is opposed by Democratic City Controller Robert C. White on a reform platform backed by some independent Republicans. Many years of machine rule have bankrupted the city—last year it had to hook its municipal gas plant to raise operating funds—and White is demanding a new deal in local affairs.

The major Midwest contest is in Detroit, between Republican Mayor Richard Reading and Edward J. Jefferies, a new young Democratic crusader. Thirty-six years old, son of a prominent Democrat who sat on the State bench for 39 years, Jefferies led Reading by better than 5-to-2 in a non-partisan primary early last month. Jefferies is personable and dynamic, and is being groomed by state Democratic chiefs to go after Senator Arthur Vandenberg's scalp next year.

The important West Coast fight is in San Francisco, where veteran Mayor Rossi is being challenged by Representative Frank Havenner, one-time water power crusader, one-time secretary to Senator Hiram Johnson, and staunch New Dealer. Havenner has the backing of all labor factions plus reform elements.

—NO NUT—

For several days William Farish, president of giant Standard Oil of New Jersey, had listened to independent producers and retailers tell the monopoly committee about their difficulties with the big oil corporations.

After one particularly hot session, Farish remarked to SEC Commissioner Leon Henderson, "When you going to stop putting those nut witnesses on the stand?"

"Nuts?" grinned Henderson. "Some of them may have been nuts but one of them wasn't."

"Why not?" demanded Farish. "Because he's got $2,000,000. And, Mr. Farish, you wouldn't call anyone who can make that much money a nut, would you?"

—"MOUNTAIN JUSTICE"—

The openly hostile House committee investigating the National Labor Relations Board has held no public hearings as yet, but already it has given the agency a taste of the "mountain justice" it can expect when the proceedings do get under way.

One of the first things Edmund J. Toland, general counsel of the committee, did was to seize the files and records of the union of NLRB employees. An independent organization, the union made no complaint, although it has nothing to do with the affairs of the Board. But after a month had rolled by and its papers and books still were unreturned, union officials found themselves in an embarrassing situation.

They couldn't pay bills, act on grievances by members, or transact any other routine business. Toland had their files and flatly refused either to release them or allow them to be photostated.

Finally, in an effort to obtain a few dollars for some pressing accounts, George Koplow, union treasurer, asked to be allowed to draw a $15 check. After some wrangling, W. J. Shagnessy, one of Toland's assistants, agreed provided Koplow signed the following paper:

"I, George Koplow, having been granted permission to make out a check for $15 for petty cash disbursements as treasurer of the National Labor Relations Board union, do hereby agree to furnish a full accounting of same within two weeks of date. Said permission is granted by W. J. Shagnessy, investigator-attorney of the committee, to whom said accounting is to be made."

This obvious attempt to harass the union was too much for Robert Condon, union president, who accompanied Koplow. He indignantly rejected the demand and threatened to carry the matter to friendly Congressmen. At this Toland hastily back-tracked, returning the union's records after photostating them.

Note—Prior to his appointment as committee counsel, Toland represented a number of big corporations in anti-union cases before the NLRB. He also was attorney for several labor-detective outfits.

HOLDING A SEAT
Craning your neck.
Straining your eyes.
Scanning the stands.
Searching the skies!
Turning and twisting.
You stand and sit.
Over and over.
You hanker to quit.
But "Never!" you cry.
"No such defeat!"
With your life and a lunch
You are holding a seat!
You don't dare to leave.
You can't walk around.
Already ten people
Have gazed you and frowned—
Five hundred more
Will demand that chair.
But you hold your ground
With your fists and a prayer.
And SHE don't ever come
Till the very last seat.
When with life and lunch
You are holding a seat!

Hermansville

Potato Raisers Win Hermansville, Mich.—The Hermansville high school students who have raised potatoes continue on their winning ways in the 4-H potato contests in the county. Ted Thompson won first place in the county contest last week with Clarence Ryberg, Ronald Ryberg and Wallace Juneau all of Hermansville place right behind him. Last year Clarence Ryberg won first place in a national contest in the 4-H club class.

In connection with the potato raising many of the high school students attended the potato show last week held in Iron Mountain. The students who attended the potato show were Snorre Holle, Ted Thompson, Douglas Reid, William Allen, Walter Peterson, Ernest Faulterback, Elmer Faulterback, John St. Juliana, John Beadon, Ernest Stockero, Wallace Brunelle, Angelo Rtuini, John Minarick, Ronald Ryberg, Wallace Juneau, and Robert Nelson. The students were accompanied by Mr. Spaulding, the local Smith-Hughes teacher, and Mr. Hugh Mac Eachers.

Personal The Girl Scout troop committee met Friday afternoon at the home of the Scout Master. Mrs. Gotherd Logman, to plan a program for the coming year.

The Royal Neighbor entertainment committee for the month of November met Thursday afternoon at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Rudolph Pegoraro.

Miss Edith Lafave has left the hospital and is now convalescing at the home of her mother in Escanaba. Miss Lafave recently underwent an appendectomy. Mrs. J. W. Kieimola is teaching in her place.

Messrs. G. H. Earle and S. E. Earle are in Ann Arbor this week attending a lumber meeting. They also witnessed the Yale-Michigan game on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Swanson and children spent the week-end with Mrs. Swanson's sisters and their families in Manistique. They were accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Alice Morrison, who has been visiting here for some time. She will remain in Manistique for the winter.

The Scout Troop of Hermansville will continue its work this year under the leadership of Mrs. Gotherd Logman. She succeeds Miss Isabel Jezewski who is now in Milwaukee.

A forest fire was discovered last week near Falthorn.

George Gilbert, State School Inspector from Marquette, visited the local school Friday.

J. W. Kieimola and H. Mac Eachers attended the U. of M. Extension Class at Iron Mountain Friday evening.

C-C Program of Work To Be Outlined Soon

The next phase in the "Keep Escanaba Ahead" campaign will be the development of the future program of work of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, and members and all interested citizens are cordially invited to send in their suggestions concerning civic betterment projects that might be undertaken, Hubert H. Shepeck, C. of C. president, said yesterday. Mr. Shepeck expressed the appreciation of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce to all those who gave of their time and efforts to make the "Keep Escanaba Ahead" drive a success. At the meeting of the board of directors and sales division majors at the Sherman hotel yesterday noon, it was announced that 164 new members of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce has been signed up, and that there are good prospects of securing from 12 to 15 additional during the next few days.

John P. Norton, chairman of the work program committee, announced at the luncheon meeting that a general forum meeting would be held in the near future. A general discussion of the community's needs will be held at this typical "town meeting". All interested persons will be invited to attend and submit their suggestions for making a bigger and better Escanaba.

C. Gust Peterson, chairman of the retail division of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, announced that much enthusiasm was shown at the meeting of merchants held Monday to plan the holiday sales drive. He reported that Escanaba merchants are very optimistic about the future.

As soon as the new membership roster is completed, dates for the next Chamber of Commerce election will be set. Six new directors are to be elected.

U. P. Fishermen Seek Net Loans

St. Ignace, Mich. (P)—The commercial fishermen of St. Ignace, who lost virtually all their equipment beneath the grinding ice floes of this region last February, awaited today the arrival of an examiner of the Disaster Loan Corporation, of Minneapolis, to arrange for approximately $30,000 in loans.

The fishermen petitioned for the loans from the federal agency after having discussed their problem with U. S. Senator Prentiss Brown and Rep. Fred Bradley. The movement was started by A. R. Hightstone and Captain Nels Nelson, of St. Ignace.

The abnormal ice conditions last winter destroyed nets and other commercial fishing equipment both here and at Manistique and Escanaba.

The Cards Willard Bellmore was the leading scorer with 8 points, Howard Savard pace the losers making all of his teams ten points. Rabey paced the Eagles to a 28-8 win over the Beavers making 18 points while Maul made 7 points for the losers. In the final game the C.A.C. defeated the Bears 23-17 with Minarick making 8 points for the winners and Juneau and Earle led the losers with five points apiece.

Personal Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Goodreau were Sunday guests at the Pat Grenier home. The Goodreau family are former residents of Hermansville and now reside in Escanaba.

Jack Boodreau of Lake Linden spent Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Arthur Richards. He was accompanied by another daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schmetz, and their two daughters, Delores and Elaine, and Mr. Ray Bodeau. Mr. Boodreau is eighty-seven years old and in moderately good health.

Leroy Florians spent the All Saints day holiday at the home of his mother, Mrs. Herman Dusterhoff. Leroy is attending St. Norberts college in DePere, Wisconsin.

Mr. Robinson, athletic director of Stephenson high school visited in Hermansville on Monday night. Fred Vascolani attended the St. Norberts college homecoming held Saturday in DePere in connection with the St. Norbert-Gustavus Adolphus football game.

LUMBER CUT LESS IN 1938

Figures Show Decrease of 16.7 Per Cent As Compared With 1937

Washington, Oct. 31 (P)—A decrease of 16.7 per cent in lumber cut in the United States in 1938 compared with 1937 was reported today by the bureau of the census.

Preliminary figures on reduction, Director William L. Austin of the bureau said, showed the total cut for 1938 amounted to 21,646,271,000 feet, board measure.

Of the total, 18,292,823,000 feet were in soft wood and 3,353,448,000 hardwood lumber sawed.

The bureau's report also showed production of 583,777,000 laths and 6,319,236 squares of shingles. A "square" is 800 shingles.

Production in Wisconsin totaled 371,770,000 feet sawed in 489 reporting mills. Of this total, 161,880,000 feet were in soft wood, and 209,890,000 in hardwood. The state's lath production was 16,547,000 and its mills also turned out 37,905 squares of shingles.

In Michigan, production totaled 306,841,000 feet, including 91,144,000 of soft wood and 215,697,000 of hardwood; 7,962,000 laths and 14,802 squares of shingles.

Mice Family Nests Among Dollar Bills

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 30 (P)—Workmen re-modeling the home of Walker Inman found a family of mice literally "in the money" in one of the walls.

The rodents were snugly bedded down in a nest of much-chewed dollar bills. The currency was of the old, large size and Inman has no idea when or how the mice got their expensive bedding.

Michigan Has Big Salt Reserve Yet

Lansing—If the salt that underlies the most of the southern peninsula of Michigan—some 22,000 square miles of it—were piled on the surface it would cover the entire peninsula to a depth of more than 500 feet. There is more than 3,000 cubic miles of it and at current rate of use there is enough to supply the United States for 3,000,000 years or the entire world for 1,000,000 years.

These estimates of Michigan's salt reserve have been made by O. F. Poindexter of the geological survey division of the Michigan department of conservation from the records of the thousands of oil wells drilled in the state. The salt beds, each 10 to 300 feet thick and occurring one above another with layers of limestone or dolomite between, are reached 1,000 feet below ground at Detroit, 5,000 feet down in central Michigan and 3,000 feet down on the Lake Michigan shore. Only wells in extreme southern and southwestern Michigan have failed to discover salt.

Michigan has been for years the leading salt producing state of the nation and its production now supplies 25 percent of the national demand for salt for table and industrial uses.

Ballet Caravan Opens Concert League Season Here Tonight

28 Persons In Dance Troupe at Auditorium

"Billy the Kid", an American Saga; "City Portrait", "Charade", "Pocahontas" and "Filling Station" are some of the ballets carried in the repertory of the American Ballet Caravan which will be seen at William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium here tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

The All-American dance company presents themes familiar to Americans but novel and unique, as they are set in dance form. Here are subjects that the Smiths and Joneses know about. Here are no obscure legends or fairy tales of the ogre and the prin-

Colorful Dancers Present Program

Ballet Caravan, a company of 28 persons, will present the first in a series of four concerts given by the Community League at the William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium in the junior high school tonight.

Merhoff Quartet and Ruth Pryor Here Thursday

The Merhoff Quartet with Ruth Pryor, ballerina, will come to the senior high school Thursday to present a program of music and dancing.

Every member of the group is a star in his own right and together they make an outstanding touring musical company. Walter Merhoff, manager and master of ceremonies, is an exceptional young baritone who has appeared with the Chicago Civic Opera company as well on National radio programs and personal concerts.

Louis Kristian, dramatic tenor, is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and has continued his musical education at the American Conservatory in Chicago under the personal direction of John C. Wilcox. Before going to Chicago, Mr. Kristian was soloist with the Minneapolis Symphony.

Ella Steele, soprano, has not only enjoyed a successful career as a concert singer both in Chicago and on tour but has achieved a splendid reputation as a teacher of voice. Miss Steele is a graduate of Howard college and of metropolitan schools in Chicago.

Gudrun Thorsen, contralto, started her musical career as a pianist. While studying under a scholarship for piano, her teacher heard her sing and decided that her great possibilities lay in the field of voice. Miss Thorsen has appeared in Gilbert and Sullivan revivals in Chicago, and starred in Evelyn Everest Freer's "The Pied Piper" and has made several successful concert tours.

Ruth Pryor, one of the best known American born and trained dancers of today, began dancing at the four and at eleven had already been a concert and stage success. She was selected as Premiere Ballerina for the Chicago Civic Opera company, where she starred for several seasons. Miss Pryor is also in great demand as a teacher of ballet.

The program will consist of such numbers as Spanish Dance by Moskowski; Shortin' Bread by Wolfe; Three Blind Mice with audience participation; Blue Danube Waltz by Strauss.

This is the third number in the

Phil Westbrook Is President Of Hiawatha Club

Phil Westbrook of this city, senior in the college of literature, science and the arts at the University of Michigan, has been chosen president of the Hiawatha club of the university, which, at present, has a membership of sixty men, upper peninsula students at the university, and which is launching, for the fifth consecutive year, its program to bring together upper peninsula students and to strengthen ties between the peninsula and the university.

Other officers are Wesley Olds of Ishpeming, vice president; William Jackson of Iron Mountain, secretary; and Don Counihan of Iron River, treasurer.

Although organized by and for men students, the club's program will bring together upper peninsula women at two "mixer" dances, and they are welcomed at the club's speaking programs.

During the year the Hiawathans will hear Dr. Luther Purdom, director of the bureau of occupational information and vocational guidance, speak on "Occupational Possibilities in the Upper Peninsula," and Professor Robert Craig speak on the University of Michigan forestry camp in the upper peninsula. A third speaker will be Professor John H. Muskens.

Other activities will include star parties, a hayride, and a skating party. A Christmas get-together with the alumni also is in the offing.

Feeling of Fraternity "Many people at the university have commented on the unusual feeling of fraternity which seems to be present at all relationships between students from the upper peninsula," according to Westbrook.

"This interest in each other which is evidenced by fellows from up there explains why we think all peninsula students will be interested in the Hiawatha club program."

Westbrook sees in the club an effective way to publicize the university to graduates of upper peninsula high schools. Last spring, he said, the club carried on "missionary" work in several schools, with encouraging results.

If Your Child Has A NASTY COLD

Rub chest, throat, and back thoroughly with Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. Then spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warm cloth. Right away VapoRub goes to work to relieve the misery.

VapoRub brings double relief because of its double action. It acts both as a stimulating poultice and a medicated vapor. Its poultice action penetrates the surface skin; its soothing vapors are breathed direct to irritated air passages. Try it. You'll find that often by morning most of the misery of the cold is gone.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING INFORMATION

Errors in advertisements should be reported immediately. The Daily Press will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion.

All ads are restricted to their proper classification and to the regular Daily Press style of type. The publishers reserve the right to edit or reject any classified advertising copy.

Advertising ordered for irregular insertions takes the one time rate. No ad is taken for less than a week of three lines. Count six average words to the line. An average word contains six letters.

Accounts unpaid after 20 days will not be granted further credit. The Daily Press office within six days from the first day of invoice each rate is due in advance.

Ads ordered for three or six times and stopped before expiration will be charged for only the number of times the ad appeared and adjustment made at the rate.

The Daily Press makes an earnest effort to keep its advertising columns free of deceptive and dishonest announcements. Readers are requested to report unsatisfactory dealings with any advertiser in these columns.

PLEASE DO NOT ask for information on blind ads. The Daily Press will not disclose the identity of any box number or give any information not contained in the ad itself. A flat charge of 10c will be made for each box number located.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

MARKET ENDS MONTH IN RED

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES Table with columns for Net change, Tuesday, Previous day, Month ago, Year ago, 1939 high, 1938 high, 1937 high, 1936 high.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, Oct. 31 (AP)—The stock market today closed the books of October with a blotch of red ink and, on the average, finished the month about where it started.

Strong buying in aircrafts at the day's opening gave the list an initial bullish tinge, but this was short-lived. Aside from a handful of specialties, leading issues refused to follow the aviation and around noon, a selling wave knocked down steels, motors and other groups fractions to more than two points.

Offerings soon dried up, however, and dealings moved at a slow jog throughout the remainder of the proceedings. Several aircrafts, which cancelled their gains on the mid-way slide, recovered for fractional net advances at the close.

Wall Street appeared to be as much confused as ever over European happenings. Some thought the shakeup of Mussolini's cabinet was helpful to the allies, but others, though, saw a "smoke screen" in the shift.

A little late support followed the speech of Russian Premier Molotov in which Britain and France were accused of seeking new excuses for war.

Aircrafts had the benefit of the $3 dividend by Douglas and Curtiss-Wright ended with a net plus margin, the latter established a new 1939 top.

The third quarter figures of U. S. Steel, released after the close, were better than had been looked for in some circles, but "Big Steel" was off 1 1/2 at 74 1/2 when the final gong sounded. For the period the company showed 47 cents a share profit on the common against a net loss of $5,847,791 in same 1938 months and a net of 37 cents a share in the June quarter of the current year. Bethlehem dipped 1 7/8 at 89.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .5 of a point on the day at 52.6. A month ago the composite stood at 52.3. Transfers for the five hours totalled 1,011,582 shares compared with 638,870 yesterday.

A. M. Byers was an isolated strong spot at a new year's high. Loew's and Sears Roebuck held modest improvement.

On the losing side were Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Santa Fe, Du Pont, General Electric, Westinghouse, Anaconda, U. S. Gypsum, Montgomery Ward, American Sugar Refining and Eastman Kodak.

In the curb, fractions to more than 2 were sliced off Jones & Laughlin, American Cyanamid "B," Electric Bond & Share and Bell Aircraft. Majestic Radio dropped 5-16 in its return to trading after the temporary suspension coincident with reorganization action. Turnover of 183,000 shares compared with 154,000 Monday.

DAY'S MARKETS IN BRIEF

New York, Oct. 31 (AP)—Stocks: Heavy; early aircraft rally faded. Bonds: Mixed; South American loans climb. Foreign Exchange: Steady; belga rallies further. Cotton: Lower; easier securities attract selling. Sugar: Easy; commission house and trade offerings. Metals: Quiet; export demand for copper slackens. Wool Tops: Soft; commission house and Boston pressure. Chicago: Wheat: Higher. Corn: Higher. Cattle: Weak to steady. Hogs: Mostly 5 to 10 up; top $7.00.

Detroit, Oct. 30 (AP)—The D&C Navigation Company announced today it would operate its overnight steamer service between Detroit and Cleveland this fall as long as weather permits. This is the first time since 1936, the announcement said, that freight as a passenger volume has justified extending the season later than Nov. 1.

WITCH-HUNTING IN MODERN SALEM If the Communist party is, as this column firmly believes it to be, an instrument for furthering the foreign policy of the Soviet government, and an instrument for that purpose alone, then the Congress of the United States should deal with this issue. It should decide whether it is a legitimate political party and should have the privileges of a legitimate political party. But as long as it is a legal organization, it is unjust and unfair to persecute its members for the mere fact of their membership. It is extremely dangerous to begin holding people guilty of and punishing them for things which they have a legal right to do. In fact it is a very Nazi-like and a very Communist-like procedure.

New York, Oct. 31 (AP)—United States government issues continued buoyant today, some showing gains as great as 25-32 of a point. Among corporate loans, the rails were lower, with industrials and utilities about unchanged.

Fractions to 1 or more down in the rail division were New York Central 5s at 65 1/2, Nickel Plate 4 1/2s at 59 1/8 and Missouri-Kansas-Texas 5s of '62 at 22 3/4.

Bonds of Central Railroad of New Jersey, which road applied Monday for reorganization, moved in both directions. The 5s of '87 on sale of 26 bonds closed at 19, off 1, while the 4s of '87 on sale of 26 bonds ending at 16, up 7-8.

Higher in the corporate division were Pacific Gas 3 3/4s at 108 3/4, Pacific Telephone 3 3/4s of '66 "B" at 106, Shell Union 2 1/2s at 94 3/4 and Texas Corp. 3 1/2s at 107 3/4.

Lower were Armour 4s of '55 at 98 3/4, International Telephone 5s at 101 1/8, American & Foreign Power 5s at 59 1/2 and Columbia Gas 5s of '61 at 103 5/8.

Transactions totalled $7,174,400, face value, compared with $5,772,325 Monday.

SERIAL STORY

JOAN OF ARKANSAS

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD

CAST OF CHARACTERS JOAN JOHNSON—a mysterious, coed, glamor girl of the Tech campus. KEITH RHODES—Tech's star halfback, headed for All-America honors. DAN WEBBER—the blocking back who clears Keith's way; a steady, industrious student.

Yesterday, Joan offers little explanation of her quick trip. Keith is peeved over her failure to call him. She goes riding with him and he perks to tell her: "Joan, I love you."

CHAPTER XVIII Joan felt her heart race at his words. It was something she had wanted to hear from him... something she was confident he would say sooner or later. And here was the moment.

She buried her face against his chest for a long moment. Her thoughts raced along with her heart, and racing, they became confused, jumbled, conflicting.

It was the moment she had been waiting for but she didn't know how to meet it. After all the suddenly she had given the idea it still wasn't sure.

Finally, "Keith—I must be honest with you. I did want you to tell me that. And it wasn't out of selfish, conceited motives. I didn't want you to feed my ego. But now... oh, Keith, I don't know what to say."

"Afraid you'll hurt me by giving the wrong answer?" "No, Keith. I just want to be sure. I can't tell you I do love you... but I can't tell you I don't."

He kissed her again, tenderly. "You're the loveliest fence-sitter I've ever seen."

But late that night the answer came to her. The suddenness of it made her sit bolt upright. From out across the still campus came the clear, mellow chimes from Haddon Tower, tolling 2 o'clock.

She propped herself against the back of the bed and stared out the window at the opposite end of the room. The moon danced on the branches of the trees swaying gently in the wind. A street lamp flickered fitfully, trying desperately to compete with the moon but failing miserably.

Everything was so clear now. Everything. She saw it all. If she were in love with Keith she would have known it tonight. She would have known it when he confessed his love for her.

That's what she had been waiting for, wasn't it? That his she had wanted to hear him say. So, then... why hadn't the spark registered?

Maybe it would rekindle. But one thing she was sure of—she wasn't in love with him now. It was a relief to know that much at least. Before the chimes struck the quarter-hour she had dropped off to sleep.

Keith wasn't in class Monday. "What's the matter with Prince Charming?" Joan asked Dan, nodding toward the empty seat. "Overseas again?"

He gave a short affirmative nod. "Yep... the guy's impossible. And I'm warning you... he shook a finger at her. "I'm not going to kill a solid evening cramming with him before finals. You're welcome to the job... exclusively."

"Grimaced. "Thanks. How'll the poor kid get through if he doesn't toss him a life-line?" "For three years."

"I've been tossing that guy a life-line on the football field. Can you blame me if I get just a little fed up. Keith's a nice boy, but—"

He left the sentence unfinished. It didn't need finishing, she thought. The word "but" sufficed.

Keith called that night and asked if he could come over tomorrow. She told him she had too much to do. After all, she had been gone for three days. Later, upstairs, she realized she didn't

Michigan Closes In On Tennessee In Grid Poll

FIVE UNBEATEN TEAMS ON TOP

Cornell Close Third; Notre Dame Drops to 4th Place

New York, Oct. 31 (AP)—The field is starting to close in on Tennessee's powerhouse in the fight for the nation's football honors, and apparently it's the scheduler's fault.

Although the Vols received 67 of the 128 first-place votes cast in the Associated Press' third weekly poll of the season, and compiled a total of 1,120 points to lead the pack, they had no such overwhelming majority as put them on top a week ago.

Both Michigan, which climbed into second place, and Cornell, whose victory over Ohio State boosted it from seventh to third, were a lot closer to the Vols than the runner-up and "show" teams of last week. Tennessee, like the rest of the top five outfits in the poll, is undefeated, but the Vols have played only one major game in their five outings—whipping Alabama.

Wolverines Gaining

Michigan, receiving 20 first place votes and a total of 1,005 points, has four straight victories to its credit, and Cornell, with 18 first-place selections and 923 points, has rolled over Syracuse, Princeton, Penn State and Ohio State. Notre Dame, which has won five in a row, two by one-point margins, dropped from second to fourth in the latest rankings, with 855 points, followed by the last of the "unbeaten," Texas A. & M., with 714 points.

The rest of the top ten is made up of five unbeaten but tied outfits—Oklahoma, Southern California, Tulane, North Carolina and Nebraska.

Four of the first ten teams—Tennessee, Notre Dame, Southern California and Nebraska—are going to have their hands full this Saturday staying up there. The Vols tangle with Louisiana State, which has won five games in a row since dropping its opener to Mississippi. Notre Dame meets up with Army, and, although the Cadets are a weaker-than-usual West Point outfit this season, they always manage to make it hot for the Irish. Southern California faces unbeaten and untied Oregon State, which wound up in 11th place in this week's poll, and Nebraska tries to stop Missouri's three-game winning streak.

Buckeyes Out

The only team to drop out of the first ten this week was Ohio State, by its loss to Cornell. In the Buckeyes' place, North Carolina moved up to the select set.

The standings of the teams (points figured on basis of 10-9-8-7-6, etc., for first, second, third, fourth, etc., place votes):

Team	Votes	Points
Tennessee	67	1,120
Michigan	20	1,005
Cornell	18	923
Notre Dame	12	855
Texas A. & M.	6	714
Oklahoma	2	605
South. California	1	598
Tulane	1	419
North Carolina	1	314
Nebraska	1	180

The second ten: 11th, Oregon State, 76 points; 12th, Duke, 46; 13th, Duquesne, 44; 14th, Ohio State, 25; 15th, Kentucky, 22; 16th, Southern Methodist, 21; 17th, New York University, 20; 18th, Louisiana State, 17; 19th, Clemson, 16; 20, the between Alabama and U. C. L. A., 14 each.

The others: Santa Clara, 12; Minnesota 6; Holy Cross 3; Dartmouth 2.

Hayward Bowler Downs 9 1/2 Pins

Rice Lake, Wis., Oct. 31 (AP)—You bowlers who break down and weep when you get nine pins on those "pocket" hits, imagine the plight of Max Johnson of Hayward, who got nine and a half pins in a bowling match here.

In a special match between Hayward and Rice Lake teams, Johnson cleared nine pins off the alley on his first ball, along with the upper half of the number five pin. He had to shoot again to erase the rest of the five pin off the alley.

Rice Lake won the match, 2707 to 2386.

ST. JOE CLOSSES WITH MUNISING

Fifth Victory In Row Is Sought By Parochial Crew Saturday

Five games in a row is the aim of St. Joseph gridders this week as they prepare for their final game of the season at Munising Saturday in the annual battle for the Little Brown Jug.

Coach Carl Kant's gridders came out of the hard Gladstone battle in comparatively good shape physically and in top-notch shape mentally. They realize that the fortunes were pretty much with them in their victory and only hope they'll hold out until after the Munising game.

In the last four games, the Parochials have displayed a high-powered offense which has chalked up 81 points, largely through the individual efforts of Joe Young, fleet right halfback, who scored 57 of the points. He scored all 32 points against Manistique and repeated by chalking up all of the Parochials' 19 points against Gladstone.

While Young has been doing a major share of the carrying offensively, the whole team has been functioning very well defensively. After the first three games in which they more or less took it on the nose from Soo, Menominee and Iron Mountain, the Parochial defense started shutting down on opposing ball carriers and Gladstone's score last Saturday was the first in four games to be scored against Kant's crew.

Munising has always been tough for the locals to crack and this year should be no exception. So it is with an air of determination that the Parochials will take the field next Saturday. They want to bring back the Little Brown Jug, they want their fifth victory in the row, and they want to close the season with a victory.

Badminton Gaining In Popularity

Badminton, one of the fastest athletic sports in existence, is rapidly gaining in popularity in Escanaba, being played at the senior high school every week. Players, reading clockwise and starting at upper left, are: Miss Beverly Lindsey, Don Trotter, John Banks and Leo Coan.

MARINES WILL BE TOUGH FOE

Eskymos Working Hard; Pfothenauer's Knee Not Strong Yet

Refreshed after a week's vacation during which they nursed injuries, Escanaba high school gridders are practicing diligently this week in preparation for their expected knock-down and drag-out affair with Marinette Saturday.

Coach George Ruwitch is working this week with an eye toward speeding up the offensive charge of both the line and backfield and with toughening up the line to withstand the onslaught of the hard driving Marine backs. The Eskymo mentor came away from the Marinette-LaCrosse game with great respect for Coach Harry Anderle's charges. He reported the Marines have a hard driving running attack and a defense that is well designed to take care of the Escanaba ground attack.

Merle's Knee Weak

Ruwitch has been working long hours this week with Stuart Peterson, blond junior, to have him ready for action should Merle Pfothenauer's bum knee go bad on him again. The hard driving Eskymo captain still is favoring the knee injury and may not see much service against Marinette. While he is not up to Pfothenauer's running, Peterson is a long distance punter and a good passer and undoubtedly will see much action Saturday.

Another boy likely to see plenty of service Saturday will be Leonard Fedrow, husky reserve end, who has shown up well in recent games. Fedrow, a senior, has been handicapped this season with an eye injury but will have along fast of late. He will share the flank duties with Nick Goymerac.

The rest of the line probably will have Cress, Pepin, VanEffen, Davidson, Arbour and Leonard white Barron, Don Pfothenauer and Bob Craig will round out the backfield.

Big Ten Briefs About Football

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Iowa City, (AP)—Big Jim Walker, navy tackle from Indianapolis, Ind., practiced with the University of Iowa football squad on Tuesday for the first time since he injured a knee more than three weeks ago and there were indications he would be able to play against Purdue Saturday. Practice was light, with several others on the squad still nursing injuries from the Wisconsin game.

Columbus, (AP)—Ohio State's Buckeyes went through another intensive pass defense session on Tuesday as Coach Francis Schmidt pressed for a lineup to hold Indiana in check in an important Big Ten game here Saturday. Special attention was given to the territory five to 10 yards over the scrimmage line, such as Cornell concentrated on in beating the Bucks. Defense against second-stringers using Indiana formations for ground plays also was practiced on the basis of last week's mistakes.

Madison, (AP)—Coach Harry Stuhlrehrer Tuesday nominated Al Lorenz, junior end from Oak Park, Ill., as captain of the Wisconsin football team for its game against Illinois a week from Saturday. It was the first time this year a junior had been selected as captain of the team. During light workout Stuhlrehrer shifted Gordon Gile, junior end, to the left tackle post.

Bloomington, (AP)—Indiana's football squad drilled on tackling and pass defense Tuesday, then worked on its attack for the Ohio State game at Columbus Saturday. Gene White, sophomore guard who kicked the winning point in the Hoosiers' 7-to-6 victory over Illinois, suffered a side injury and was replaced by Mike Buchianeri.

Lafayette, (AP)—Purdue's football team returned from the Pacific coast Tuesday and was let off with a light drill for Saturday's homecoming game with Iowa. Stiff practice sessions are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday.

Champaign, (AP)—The Illinois varsity, sent through a long defensive scrimmage, had no trouble breaking up Michigan plays as executed by a freshman eleven Tuesday. Coach Bob Zuppke closed the drill with a dummy scrimmage in which the Illini used new plays designed for the homecoming game here Saturday with Michigan. Joe Turek, guard, and Chuck Purvis, halfback, rested injured knees. Ralph Hathaway, center, and Tom Riggs, tackle, took light workouts to loosen up some bruises acquired in Saturday's game with Northwestern.

Evanston, (AP)—John Haman, star center, was selected to captain the Northwestern team in Saturday's game with Minnesota. Haman reached stardom two years ago in the Minnesota game. Coach Lynn Waldorf was pleased with the improved showings of the Northwestern line.

Lansing—Light frosts bring the longest seasons of fall coloration in Michigan trees, the forestry division of the department of conservation reported today in reply to inquiries about the brilliant reds and yellows already brightening the landscape.

Leaves may begin to take on their fall hues before the first frosts and without the aid of frost. While heavy frosts speed the changes that produce the coloration they also make the leaves fall more quickly, shortening the color season. For the longest possible color season foresters recommend light frosts only.

Philadelphia, Oct. 31 (AP)—Connie Mack, 76-year-old manager of the Athletics, said today his whole team—with the exception of Catcher Frankie Hayes and Outfielder Bob Johnson—is "on the auction blocks."

Preparing for the annual meeting of major and minor league owners at Cincinnati in December, Mack said with the two exceptions "I will trade any player if we can gain young, enthusiastic players who, though not necessarily stars, possess a bright future."

Chicago (AP)—Chicago's Maroons scored two touchdowns against their "promising" freshmen squad Tuesday, but Jay Berwanger, playing with the frosh, almost carried the play away from the varsity—and the Maroon fullback with him. Bob Howard, attempting to tackle the former All American, suffered a broken tooth and had to leave the game. Chicago plays Virginia Saturday.

IRISH ON SPOT AGAINST ARMY

Boys Somewhat Battered and Layden Worries Over Let-Down

BY EARL HILLIGAN
South Bend, Ind., Oct. 31 (AP)—Army will be in a strategic spot to hang a knockout punch on a battered, somewhat tired Notre Dame football team next Saturday in New York.

No one knows this better than Coach Elmer Layden. Off the seasonal records, the West Point eleven doesn't shape up as a match for a team undefeated in five games and holding a chance for an undefeated year. But the fact that a comparison of scores makes the Irish the choice to win has the Notre Dame mentor worried no end.

"Recalling some of the games Notre Dame has had with Army, I'm convinced that the so-called underdog in this game should be made the favorite," Layden said today. "We have to point for this game every year. Army always seems to play its best game against us—and its a cinch they'll come to Saturday's game the strongest they've been this season."

Team Has Spirit

Should the Irish suffer a let-down Army could win—and Notre Dame right now is a long way from being at top strength. The Irish, after five battles in which they have scored only 15 more points than the opposition, could stand an open date.

"It's been tough going," Layden said. "The boys are pretty well battered up and at least five regulars need a rest. But we'll probably have to use them against Army."

For spirit, alertness and determination, Layden rates this Irish team the equal to any Notre Dame team he has coached. The Irish have had to produce those qualities in big doses, principally because Bob Saggau, the only Irish triple threat back, has been handicapped by a leg injury suffered in the opener with Purdue.

But Notre Dame has come up with enough "oomph" to rise above every obstacle. When the line played poorly the backs were "hot"—and vice versa. When placements from the field were needed to win—the kicks split the uprights.

In five games Army defeated little Furman, Centre and Ursinus, tied Columbia and lost to Yale, but Coach Bill Wood says the West Pointers will be "improved" against Notre Dame. Layden won't insist on Wood putting that in writing—he'll take Bill's word for it.

Canzoneri Returns To Big Time Boxing

New York, Oct. 31 (AP)—Old Tony Canzoneri bounces back on the boxing big time tomorrow night in a ten-round welterweight fight with young Al Davis, hard-hitting pride of New York's Brownsville section.

It will be Canzoneri's first appearance in Madison Square Garden, scene of many of his greatest triumphs, since he began his comeback campaign 18 months ago.

Canzoneri's record since returning to the wars is 16 wins, four defeats and two draws in 22 fights. While Tony's hundreds of admirers are hoping he'll upset Davis, the youngster is a 5-11 choice. Betting is light.

Marines Conclude Season On Sunday Oppose Neuberry

Manistique, Mich.—Their game with the Soo Bears last Sunday called off because of inclement weather, the Manistique Inland Marines will conclude their 1939 schedule here next Sunday with the Neuberry Sportsmen providing the opposition.

The Marines have won six games to date, winning from Escanaba twice, Marinette-Menominee All Stars twice, Soo and Neuberry once each. They have not been defeated this season.

SITUATION PARALLEL

Sports Editor,
Escanaba, Mich.

Dear Sir: I will remember the 1919 Marinette-Escanaba football game just 20 years ago. Marinette was state champion that year while Escanaba went into the game undefeated and unscored on with 150 points to their credit.

This year, Marinette has 140 points to its credit, the same as Escanaba. The situation is identical to that of 1919.

Eskymos of 1939, judge for yourself. The final score of that game 20 years ago was: Marinette 34; Escanaba 6. We had no alibis because Marinette had a wonderful team then as it has this year.

We members of that 1919 team are wishing this year's Eskymos good luck and expect them to settle an old score for us.

PASS DEFENSE WORK POLISHED

Harmon's Turned Ankle Brings More Worry for Crisler

BY GEORGE A. STAUTER
Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 31 (AP)—Coach Fritz Crisler overhauled Michigan's pass defense today as preparations opened for a Western conference engagement with Illinois.

Inability to cope with enemy passes has been the one weakness of the Wolverines to date and Crisler said he intends to correct it before another week has passed.

Today, the first practice session of the week for most of the squad members, found the reserves pitching passes against the first and second-string backfields in a defensive scrimmage.

In the four games so far this season, three touchdowns have been scored on passes against the Wolverines. Yale completed eight out of 12 aerials in an 87-yard march to the goal line last Saturday while Michigan State and Iowa, in earlier games, each scored once through the air.

Crisler said he expected the Illini, whom the Wolverines play Saturday at Champaign in their third Big Ten encounter of the season, to take to the air for their major gains.

Scout Wally Weber reported Illinois moved down the field against Northwestern last week on passes thrown by halfback Charley Purvis, only to be halted near the goal line by the timer's gun ending the game.

For the second time within a week Crisler and his aides were given some anxious moments when Tom Harmon, sensational junior halfback, twisted his ankle by stepping into a hole on the practice field during signal drill.

Trainer Ray Roberts said he did not believe the injury would keep the star, who leads the nation's scorers with 73 points, on the sidelines. A week ago Harmon turned the ankle in a similar workout.

Illinois plays, including Coach Bob Zuppke's "blackout" defensive formations, will go on display tomorrow, the last stiff drill before the squad entrains Friday morning.

PIMLICO TRACK IS SOUPY MUD

Chaledon, Cravat and Kayak II Don't Mind Sloppy Going

BY MASON BRUNSON
Baltimore, Oct. 31 (AP)—A steady rain reduced the Maryland Jockey club's track to a soupy slush today and indications were that the three horses entered in the Pimlico Special would find the going sloppy tomorrow in the "race of the year."

The three "specialists"—W. L. Brann's Maryland-bred Chaledon, T. B. Martin's Kentucky-bred Cravat and C. S. Howard's Argentine-bred Kayak II—were formally entered this morning after getting the feel of the track.

All are mudders of renown and they didn't seem to mind the wet, cold weather. They were full of ginger and were pronounced all the best of shape for the $10,000 winner-take-all, weight for age race over a mile and three-sixteenths.

Lou Schaefer, who conditions Chaledon, the three-year-old champion, was the first to enter his horse at the racing secretary's office. Trainer Walter Burrows entered Cravat next and finally Trainer Tom Smith appeared and dropped Kayak's name in the box.

Cravat got the No. 1 spot in the draw for post positions conducted by Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Jockey club president, and A. G. Weston, honorary steward. Chaledon got the No. 2 position and Kayak, the third.

Post time for the race will be 3:15 p. m. (EST). It will go as scheduled even if only one horse goes to the post and a walkover occurs. The jockeys will be Eddie Arcaro for Chaledon, Basil James for Cravat and George Woolf for Kayak.

The owner of the winner will receive the entire purse of $10,000 and the Maryland Jockey club gold cup. The trainer of the winner will get $1,500 and a piece of plate.

The Pimlico Special is an invitation affair visualized by Vanderbilt as equivalent to a national championship contest. War Admiral won the first special in 1937 but lost last year to Seabiscuit.

MOSEY'S ENTRY HIGH FOR MONTH

Dairy Herd Improvement Association Figures Are Announced

Emil L. Moser won high production honors for October in the Delta County Dairy Herd Improvement association, with one mature cow producing 1,686 pounds of milk and 62.4 pounds of butterfat.

The milk quantity was surpassed by Clarence Sundquist's entry which produced 1,829 pounds of milk with a three percent butterfat rating, which brought 54.9 pounds of butterfat for the month. Both of these cows are grade Holsteins, five years old or more.

In butterfat tests, Fred Holm, with two grade Jersey entries, one under three years old and the other under five years old, won honors with a 5.4 percent rating for each.

Highest rating cows in the various classes, with their owners, were listed as follows:

Under three years old—Fred Holm, grade Jersey, 784 pounds of milk, 5.4 percent test and 42.3 pounds of butterfat; Rudolph Dahlberg, grade Holstein, 1,370 pounds of milk, 3.3 percent test and 45.2 pounds of butterfat.

Under four years old—Andrew Sundberg, two grade Jerseys, giving 1,014 and 890 pounds of milk, showing tests of 5.2 and 4.6 and producing 52.7 and 40.9 pounds of butterfat.

Under five years old—Fred Holm and Nels Johnson, with grade Jersey and purebred Guernsey entries respectively, giving 868 and 1,089 pounds of milk and testing 5.4 and 4.5 percent and producing 46.8 and 49 pounds of butterfat.

Other owners of cows with 40 pounds of butterfat records for October are: Edwin Bergman, six cows, giving from 1,001 to 1,395 pounds of milk and 40 to 49.2 pounds of butterfat; Clarence Sundquist, five cows, from 1,011 to 1,829 pounds of milk and 40.1 to 54.9 pounds of butterfat; Fred Holm, five cows, from 636 to 825 pounds of milk and 45.8 to 51.2 pounds of butterfat; Andrew Sundberg, three cows, from 856 to 1,014 pounds of milk and 40.3 to 52.7 pounds of butterfat; August Proberg, one cow, 1,008 pounds of milk and 50.4 pounds of butterfat; Ferdinand Sundberg, three cows, 719 to 1,190 pounds of milk and 40.3 to 45.2 pounds of butterfat.

Cleeman Land and Lumber company, one cow, 1,182 pounds of milk and 41.4 pounds of butterfat; Frank Barron, three cows, 809 to 964 and 40.5 to 46.5; Nels Johnson, two cows, 924 to 1,089 and 46.2 to 49; Emil L. Moser, two cows, 1,457 to 1,986 and 45.2 to 62.4; Alfred Groos, one cow, 1,337 and 40.1; Julius Van Damme, one cow, 1,380 and 51.1; Henry Vermote, three cows, 1,194 to 1,531 and 40.8 to 50.5; Rudolph Dahlberg, four cows, 1,370 to 1,469 pounds of milk and 45.2 to 52.9 pounds of butterfat.

Giant Snow Cruiser Runs Afoul of Pine Run Creek

This 70,000-pound, 60-foot snow cruiser was built to withstand hazardous travel over Antarctic wastes during Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's forthcoming expedition, but, speeding through Ohio, it tripped over a bridge and tumbled into Pine Run Creek, near Lima. Above, crew inspects the bogged-down ice buggy, finds no serious damage.

ENGINE TO USE SEWAGE GASSES

Unusual Plan Soon To Be Put In Operation In Plant Here

Installation of a new 25 kilowatt motor generator which will utilize gas resulting from sewage treatment processes, is almost finished at the Escanaba sewage treatment plant. The new equipment is expected to be in operation by the first of next week.

This is one of the few installations of its kind in this part of the country and represents a fine point of economy in that the gas generated by sewage treatment is used again to treat more sewage and thereby create more gas.

The new equipment costs $2,100 but in a single year it will save the city $1,000, according to Manager George E. Bean. The new engine is replacing an outworn and smaller engine which was used to operate one of the plant's blowers.

Formerly a little more than 50 per cent of the sewage gas has been utilized in heating a gas boiler and in furnishing power for operating blowers directly.

The new arrangement will use this gas for heating the building, for manufacturing power to run machinery and for operating a drying system for the "digester" of the sewage process.

An average of about 12,000 cubic feet of gas is manufactured daily at the plant and later this may reach 15,000 cubic feet. At present, this means about 400,000 cubic feet a month, or almost 10 per cent of the output of the city gas utility, which makes about 45,000,000 cubic feet a month.

The engine itself is installed, but attachments for the control panel are needed before it can be put in operation.

John Norgard, plant superintendent, and Hugo Lillquist, head of the city electrical department, are in charge of the work.

WILL SURVEY ROUTE

Negaunee—Mayor Leslie Richards has received word from Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, that Benjamin Sparks, of Escanaba, state engineer and assistant to Mr. Van Wagoner in the upper peninsula, will come to Negaunee the latter part of this week to make a survey of the condition of M-35 between Negaunee and Gwinn.

No assurance was given that anything would be done to improve the road, but the survey department may have definite information and be prepared to include the route in its program for repair as soon as that is possible.

Mayor Richards and another representative of the city will make the trip with Mr. Sparks. Improvements on M-35 have been sought for some time and have been endorsed by civic bodies in Negaunee, Ishpeming, Palmer and Gwinn.

Country Doctor Freezes Cancer Victim

An army of hopeless cancer victims is calling on Dr. V. D. Cunningham, country doctor of Pryor, Okla., for help since he adapted a freezer from an icebox to use the "hibernating sleep" method of treating the disease. His home-made apparatus, circulating refrigerant through hose coil to reduce temperature of 86 degrees, here is used on Mrs. Homer Stout, 46.

CHILDREN'S AID FUNDS RUN OUT

No Crippled, Afflicted Cases To Be Handled for 30 Days

Funds for treatment and hospitalization of afflicted and crippled children, under the jurisdiction of the probate court, are exhausted and no more cases can be taken care of for at least 30 days, Probate Judge Frank Mileski announced yesterday.

The demand for this type of aid has been very heavy in the last few months, Judge Mileski said, and at the same time the funds allowed for such work have been curtailed sharply. Fifteen cases of treatment and hospitalization have been handled in the last month through the probate office and funds for November are used.

Regardless of the nature of the need, Judge Mileski emphasized, it is impossible for the probate office to give aid until more money is forthcoming from the state.

Also, a new order has just been received from the Michigan Crippled Children's commission, which says that for tonsil and adenoid removals, hernia and other kindred surgical treatment, no claims will be allowed by the commission—unless special permission is first obtained from the commission and written approval is filed with the billing.

DENTAL SOCIETY PETITION LOSES

Advertising Law Goes On Ballot In 1940 for Referendum

Lansing, Oct. 31 (AP)—Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr today refused the petition of the Michigan State Dental Society for an injunction to restrain the secretary of state from submitting the 1939 "dental advertising law" to a referendum in 1940.

The effect of the decision is to suspend operation of the law until 1940.

The law restricted advertising by dentists.

The dental society and several practicing dentists had challenged the validity of referendum petitions filed with Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly and asked that he be restrained from canvassing the petitions to determine whether they were in proper form.

"The rule seems to be generally recognized that an injunction ought not to be granted against administrative officers barring them from proceeding with the performance of a legal duty on the ground that an erroneous decision may be reached," Judge Carr said.

"After consideration of the matter, I am impressed that equity may not properly interfere to prevent defendant from performing the duty imposed on him by the constitution of the state. As before noted, if such duty is not performed properly the remedy of mandamus is available."

Postmistress Sees Large Xmas Volume

Probably few have begun to take Christmas shopping problems seriously yet, but Mrs. Regina Cleary, Escanaba postmistress, placed her order for Christmas stamps yesterday and is preparing for a rush of business in December five times the normal monthly volume.

Mrs. Cleary shied at quoting figures, but she revealed that despite the fact that October business was off slightly as compared with business a year ago, she anticipated a healthy pick-up for November and December, with Christmas mailing to be as heavy or heavier than usual.

The point of that is, of course, that if she's right, Escanaba merchants may take heart.

FORMER MANAGER VISITS
Sault Ste. Marie—Vast physical improvement in the city of which he once was manager is seen by Wilder Rich, back in the Sault today after 20 years absence, and still claiming it is one of the best cities in the United States.

"I am proud to see that the Sault is literally out of debt, one of the few municipalities to be found in this condition in the United States today, and that Henry Sherman has adhered to the "pay as you go" policy, which we fought so hard to adopt 20 years ago," said Mr. Rich, who stopped in the Sault for a brief visit enroute from Ironwood, where he has been conducting an electric rate investigation for his company.

Mr. Rich, one-time city manager of Ironwood, and now affiliated with Campbell-Phelps and company, Inc., a New York bonding firm, as municipal consultant in administration and finance, refunding programs and utilities financing, has been in that city for the last 10 days conducting a preliminary investigation preparatory to a possible purchase by Ironwood of the utility which serves that city with electrical power and lighting.

There has been not one cent of money expended by Ironwood taxpayers for the preliminary investigation of rates by his company asserts Mr. Rich.

NSTU ALUMNI ELECT
Marquette—Napoleon J. Martin, superintendent of the Baraga county schools, was named president of the newly formed alumni association of the Northern State Teachers college at a meeting held in the auditorium following the Northern-Michigan Tech football game Saturday afternoon.

Rollin Thoren and Mrs. Dorothy Wright Harrison, of Marquette, were named first and second vice-presidents, respectively; W. H. Treloar, of Ishpeming, is third vice-president; John P. McNamara, of Negaunee, was named fourth vice-president, and John Hogan, of Marquette, secretary-treasurer.

It was the unanimous opinion of those present that for the first year at least that a strong representation of Marquette alumni be on the official personnel because of their closer contact with the school. Because it is expected that the secretaryship will eventually be more of an executive position, it was felt this should go to Marquette.

THE GREENS A HOLLYWOOD

Crystal Falls—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Green, of Crystal Falls, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Correll at their home in Hollywood Hills, near Hollywood, were entertained Friday night by Mr. and Mrs. Correll at a dinner and theatre party at the Earl Carroll Theatre, Hollywood. Mr. Correll is "Andy" of the team of Amos and Andy.

Mr. and Mrs. Green visited the San Francisco Fair before going to Los Angeles. They are returning home this week, and will stop at Grand Canyon and at Columbus, Mo., where they will visit their daughter, Elizabeth, a student at Stephen's College for Women.

SENT TO ASYLUM

Marquette—Edith Dauterman, 17-year old Wausaukee girl, charged with the attempted hammer murder of 2-year-old Robert Lindsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lindsay, 1902 Mary Street, was ordered committed to the Northern Hospital for the Insane at Winnebago "until such time that Northern hospital officials pronounce her recovered from her insanity, at which time she will be turned over to the jurisdiction of this court for trial."

The commitment was ordered by County Judge William F. Haase late this afternoon in the presence of the accused, District Attorney Norman B. Langill, and Arthur Rose, defense counsel.

Entered into the record this afternoon was a statement written by Miss Dauterman at the request of District Attorney Langill and a sanity report issued by Harry Yudin, of this city, former psychiatrist at the Marquette, Mich. branch prison, made at the request of counsel for the defend-
