

HOUSE VOTES REPEAL OF EMBARGO

STATE ENTERS CHRYSLER-CIO LABOR TANGLE

MEDIATION BOARD ADMITTED AFTER REBUFF

Lansing, Nov. 2 (AP)—Michigan's labor mediation board won a voice today in negotiations to end the dispute that has tied up production at Chrysler's main Dodge plant for four weeks, spreading until an estimated 100,000 are idle.

Corporation officials turned a cold shoulder, however, on proposals that the peace parley be moved to the board's hearing room in Lansing. It was the second time they had rebuffed the agency which the 1939 legislature created.

Invited by Governor Dickinson himself invited spokesmen for the corporation, headed by President K. T. Keller, and officers of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) led by President R. J. Thomas to utilize the services of the board. More than twenty men representing the opposing forces in the conflict heard the governor's plea, along with James F. Dewey, federal conciliator who has been assisting in negotiations in Detroit.

The 80-year-old governor admonished the disputants that theirs was "more than an ordinary responsibility." In view of the serious problems created by the interruption of Chrysler operations and consequent widespread unemployment. He urged the application of the Golden Rule, and declared:

"If you will deal with each other with this one thought in mind it won't be long before you will come together."

Hivals Air Views The governor set stent while Keller, Thomas and others related the history of the current dispute and aired their views on the controversy. Corporation officials attributed the stoppage of production to a slow-down strike which Keller characterized as a "new and insidious method of striking a plant, perhaps even more vicious than the sit-down."

Union spokesmen denied a strike had been authorized, although Richard T. Frankenstein, who directs organization work in the Chrysler corporation, said a vote showed 90 per cent of the Dodge employees were ready to lay down their tools. They asserted that the stoppage was due to a lockout by the corporation in a deliberate campaign to "break" the union's strength.

After an hour and a half of charges and counter-charges, Dickinson broke in.

Counsel Embarrased "Will you accept the services of our state mediation board?" he asked. "I ask this because you are not coming together. Instead you are getting farther apart."

Thomas accepted readily on the union's behalf. Nicholas Kelley, general counsel for the corporation, expressed embarrassment at being asked to choose between authorities of the state and of "Uncle Sam."

"We don't believe these negotiations (conducted by Dewey in Detroit until the state's second attempt to intervene) have come to

Officials Squabble In Stabbing Inquest At St. Clair Shores

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Nov. 2 (AP)—Circuit Judge Neil E. Reid, acting on the petition of Coroner Roy J. Kaul in the jurisdiction fight over the projected inquest into the stabbing death of Mrs. Herbert C. Patterson, ordered Prosecutor Ivan A. Johnston tonight to show cause tomorrow why the coroner should not preside.

The Macomb county prosecutor, one of the chief investigators in the mysterious week-old St. Clair Shores kitchen slaying, had declared Coroner Kaul would not preside over the inquest because he later probably would be called as a witness. The coroner petitioned circuit court tonight for an injunction against the inquest.

While the show cause order was technically not an injunction, it would have that effect, at least temporarily, since Prosecutor Johnston had intended to open the inquest tomorrow morning.

The show cause order requires him to appear before Judge Reid at 8:45 a. m., or 15 minutes before he had planned to start the inquest. Johnston had assigned Justice of the Peace Frank E. Jeannette of Mt. Clemens to preside.

Kaul said that in addition to an injunction to halt the proceedings he would ask also for a grand jury investigation "into this and other matters of public concern."

The coroner contended that he was the first to have jurisdiction in the case and that if his testimony was necessary a temporary presiding officer could take over briefly.

Prosecutor Complains Mrs. Patterson was slain with a knife. Her partially clad body was found in the kitchen of her home. Her wrists were slashed and she had been stabbed several times in the chest and back.

Since the intensive investigation reached an apparent stalemate today the prosecutor said that all the police agencies involved had decided upon an inquest. He accused Kaul of "quibbling over such a unimportant matter as to who is to preside" at a time when all other officials were "working night and day in an effort to solve this regrettable crime."

Earlier Johnston charged that "the case was handled in a most unusual manner, inasmuch as the prosecutor was not notified until four hours after the finding of the body" at the Patterson home in suburban St. Clair Shores.

George A. Francis, attorney for Kaul, retorted that "Mr. Kaul feels that his character, reputation and integrity are at stake in view of the bungling accusations leveled at him by the prosecutor, and is forced to take action to protect himself."

Kaul's attorney added: He feels that the prosecutor's procedure was most unusual in that he (Kaul) has not been called to the prosecutor's office nor asked about the case since the time of the slaying."

SOVIET-FINISH TALKS DELAYED

Russia Wants to Trade Land to Protect Leningrad Moscow, Nov. 2 (AP)—Reopening of Finnish-Russian negotiations on further extension of Russian power to the west was delayed tonight while the newly-arrived Finnish delegation watched the supreme Soviet unanimously approve the admission of western White Russia, formerly a part of Poland, to the Soviet Union.

Most foreign observers agreed the attendance of the Finns at the joint session of parliament augured well for the possibility of a peaceful settlement of the Finnish-Russian problem.

Finland's five-man delegation, headed by Dr. Jaho Kuusi Paasikivi, arrived this morning for the third in the series of talks precipitated by the westward drive of Russian influence.

The negotiations were seen as entering a decisive phase following the public outline Tuesday of Russia's aims by Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov.

ROME TO BALK SOVIET MARCH INTO BALKANS

GREEK AGREEMENT GIVES WARNING TO MOSCOW

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press Staff Writer Greek-Italian collaboration to "preserve peace" in the Mediterranean serves fresh notice of Rome's determination to balk a Russian advance into the Balkans.

What appears in the making is a Greek-Italian non-aggression pact. Its effect, however, could be its name as much as did the non-aggression pact between the Russians and Germans, who subsequently partitioned Poland.

Berlin Not Pleased Although wholly independent of the Turkish-British-French mutual assistance pact, aimed at keeping war out of the Mediterranean, the projected Italo-Greek agreement, in effect, complements it. It presents a further obstacle to Soviet diplomatic adventuring in the Balkans under the cloak of the Russo-German "peace" partnership.

There can be no doubt that it represents a warning to Moscow, and indirectly to Berlin, that Russian armed action in the Balkans might be met by Italian resistance.

It is quite clear that this Athens-Rome deal is the first definite step toward the creation of an Italian-fostered neutrality bloc in the Balkans. And that it is a welcome development in London and Paris is just about as certain as that it is very displeasing to Berlin.

Allies Encouraged What Premier Mussolini would do in view of German fraternizing with his arch foe, Soviet Russia, has been a matter of speculation from the hour that the Russo-German pact was announced.

One certain result was to insure that Italy would not intervene in Germany's struggle with Britain and France unless Italian interests were directly jeopardized. Now comes a hint that Rome regards them as jeopardized by Russia's attempted penetration into the Balkans and is moving definitely to checkmate that threat.

For Berlin, the Greek-Italian deal raises the question of where Italy may wind up in the war alignment if, with or without the encouragement of Berlin, Russia presses her Balkan penetration to the point of using force.

That is the underlying and significant aspect of the Athens-Rome pact, whatever its undisclosed details. It is at least a step toward Italian cooperation with the allies in the Mediterranean in order to protect Italy's own interests.

Sea Lanes Protected The Turkish-British-French pact opened an eastern sea route for an allied flank attack on Germany via the Dardanelles, in case the war were carried in that direction by Russia or Germany.

Italy's complete alienation from Germany would have been even more important military possibilities.

Italy's over-running of Albania opened for her a possible land route to the Balkans which her new peace commitments with Greece tend to improve vastly.

Greece would stand on the flank of such an Italian move, and her friendship is vitally important from an Italian point of view if there is any possibility of the war spreading to the Balkans.

Had such a development come before, not after the Nazi-Soviet rapprochement, it would have caused great dismay in London and Paris. As it is, allied strategists unquestionably are speculating as to whether a possible new avenue of attack in the east may not be opening.

Italy obviously has begun to move in a positive, rather than a negative, way in reaction to the Russo-German entanglement. How far she will move toward becoming a potential ally, instead of foe, of the Franco-British allies remains to be seen; but her action has further eased the allied fears of a war in the Mediterranean that might threaten vital French and British sea lanes there.

Neutrality Act Muzzles U. S. Shipping

Under provisions of the neutrality bill, about to become a law, American vessels may not sail in combat areas shown on map, cannot carry passengers or goods to ports in this area. President is empowered to proclaim, as he has indicated he would, that American citizens travel on belligerent ships in war waters at their own risk. Title to all goods shipped to combatants must be transferred before these items leave American shores.

Dies Witness Says Reds Rule Over U. S. Shipping

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—Aroused by testimony that Soviet Russia has a strangle hold on American sea shipping through Communist control of the National Maritime Union, the Dies committee decided today to press a hunt for an alleged Soviet secret police agent who was described as "a power behind the scenes."

Chairman Dies (D-Tex.), disclosed that the committee had been endeavoring to subpoena Mink and directed Rhea Whitley, committee counsel, to ask the justice department to aid it.

From McCulliston and Frederick C. Phillips of New York, also a seaman, the committee received testimony that Communists had control of the NMU, though they said that relatively few of the members were Communists.

FURNACES CALL FOR MORE COAL

Tonnage Doubles 1938; Mills At Capacity; New Unit Is Lit

Cleveland, Nov. 2 (AP)—To feed steel's hungry blast furnaces, Lake Superior iron ore in October was shipped down to lower Great Lakes ports at the greatest rate since August, 1937, the Lake Superior Iron Ore association reported today.

October's 9,201,249 tons—largest for any October except 1926's 9,327,774—brought the season's total to 39,593,570 tons, more than double last year's comparable period.

Busy Ohio steel mills, meanwhile, looked to their production to make certain of virtual capacity output. At Warren, Republic Steel Corp. lights tomorrow what its engineers say is the world's largest furnace, 160 1/2 feet tall and capable of producing more than 1,200 tons of pig iron a day.

Republic's October blast furnace production at Youngstown broke previous marks; its open hearth production came close.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. broke production records in its Campbell (O.) open hearth plant and October hot strip mill output was within a few hundred tons of the record. Its coke production and blooming mill rolling at Campbell also broke all records.

American Steel & Wire U. S. Steel subsidiary, using one battery of its Cleveland coke works since 1937, has all four going at capacity.

LAKE DIVERSION INCREASE ASKED

Illinois Waterway Flow Claimed Insufficient to Clear Sewage Peoria, Ill., Nov. 2 (AP)—Attorney General John E. Cassidy said tonight he had been authorized by Governor Henry Horner to petition the United States supreme court for an increased diversion of water from Lake Michigan to the Illinois waterway.

The flow was reduced by a supreme court order last January 1 to 1,500 cubic feet per second and since then cities along the waterway have complained that the flow is insufficient to dispose of sewage dumped in the river.

Fire Traps Mother And Four Children In Kentucky Home

Catlettsburg, Ky., Nov. 2 (AP)—A mother and her four children died tonight in a fire which trapped them in a bedroom.

Assistant Fire Chief John Burns listed the victims as Mrs. Earl Vaughn, 28, and the children, Sheila, 2, Letha, 3, Billy, 5, and George Vaughn, 8.

Search for U-Boat Victim Halted In Pan-American Zone

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—The British freighter Coulmore, which had seemed to be a victim of a submarine attack within the American "neutrality zone," was reported safe today and authorities here called off a search for her.

Coastguard headquarters was advised by the cutter Bibb early today that a Canadian radio station at Camperdown had been informed the Coulmore was safe.

Later in the day the cutter Chelan received similar advices from the United States ship American Trader.

The coast guard and navy, however, did not abandon the search until still further confirmation was received at mid-afternoon.

The freighter, carrying a cargo for England, left Philadelphia October 28. In the black hours of yesterday morning, while heavy seas were running, shore stations picked up a message purporting to have been sent by the Coulmore from a position about 680 miles east of New York.

Distress Call Heard Instead of the conventional "SOS" call, ship now use a special war-time distress code—a prolonged series of the letter "S." Officials here explained such a signal can mean either that a submarine has been sighted or the ship itself attacked.

The position given in the message supposed to have been sent from the Coulmore was just inside the neutrality zone established at a conference of Pan-American nations.

Diplomats here, however, were reserving any opinion until a complete report was obtained from the Coulmore. It was pointed out that the Pan-American agreement prohibited belligerent acts—such as sinkings or seizures—within the zone but did not bar belligerent vessels from sailing into the zone.

At Boston, Captain W. W. Kuhne of the American export liner Exambion, which was in the vicinity of the Coulmore, asserted that "the whole thing sounds fishy." He said that visibility was "almost zero, heavy seas were running and no submarine could have operated successfully" under such conditions.

TIGHTER DRINK RULES WANTED

Earlier Closing, Ban On Tavern Dances Asked By W. C. T. U.

Flint, Mich., Nov. 2 (AP)—Church workers were told today of new restrictions being contemplated by the state liquor control commission for drink-and-dance resorts.

Chairman Orrin A. DeMass of the commission said a bill was being prepared for the next legislature requiring dance floors of 400 square feet, double the present requirement.

Unless proprietors, increased the dance-floor space, the proposed new law will stop dancing in 1,907 establishments, De Mass said. He addressed the joint convention of the Michigan Council of Churches and Christian Education and the Michigan Council of Church Women.

Mrs. Grant M. Hudson of Lansing, corresponding secretary of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Michigan, said the W. C. T. U. seeks the issuance of fewer liquor licenses and laws prohibiting radio and billboard liquor advertising.

The W. C. T. U. also asks, she said, earlier beer garden closing hours, a ban on dancing places where liquor is sold, and a law forbidding liquor sales within 400 feet of schools and churches.

Mr. Hudson also said the W. C. T. U. was asking revival of a pre-prohibition law under which a wife, mother, or other close relative could be given authority to forbid sale of liquor to an habitual drunkard.

BAN ON ARMS SALES LIFTED BY CONGRESS

MUCH-ARGUED BILL TO BECOME LAW IN FEW DAYS

By Richard L. Turner Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—The house voted today to repeal the embargo on arms shipments to the belligerents of Europe, approving as did the senate last week, the administration's policy of "cash and carry" sales.

The 243 to 181 decision left the vociferously argued neutrality bill just short of becoming law. The remaining stages of the legislative process, regarded generally as mere formalities, were expected to take no more than a day or so, with the bill becoming effective early next week at the very latest.

War Goods Waiting The result of the action of today, taken in a crowded chamber tense with excitement, was to open America's vast supplies to the nations engaged in the European conflict. On dozens of eastern seaboard jetties, goods falling into the instruments of war category and particularly airplanes, sorely wanted by the Franco-British allies, have been stacked up for days awaiting the action of congress.

Today's vote meant that soon they would be released for shipment. But, before they can leave this country, title must pass to the belligerent governments purchasing them. Since the bill also forbids loans or credits of any character to the governments at war, it also requires that they pay cash.

Germany Not Barred Moreover, it requires that the purchasers furnish non-American ships for the dangerous process of transporting their purchases across the submarine-infested North Atlantic. It forbids American ships to enter belligerent ports in the European area or to sail through "combat areas," still to be demarcated by President Roosevelt. Under it, too, American citizens are forbidden to travel on belligerent vessels.

In actual operation, all conceded, the bill means that the Franco-British allies will have access to the arsenal and granary of America, to the almost virtual exclusion of Germany. This is true because the British fleet holds control of the seas.

However, some argued that it was possible for Germany to receive American supplies through her diplomatic allies, Russia and Italy. The law permits shipment of war-goods or any other mater-

COUNCIL ARGUES WATER PROJECT

Gasman Unburdens Self Against Proposed Project

An old argument was reopened at a meeting of the city council last night when Council H. W. Gasman released a fire of criticism against plans for a new city waterworks.

Waterworks discussion was not on the program. Mr. Gasman began as George E. Bean, city manager asked for approval of an extensive report he had prepared covering operation of city utilities since 1922.

All his arguments were met by the city manager, backed by Mayor Peter D. Logan and others.

Mr. Bean stated that in his own opinion, this project was of first consideration and therefore had been placed at the top of the list as most important.

Mr. Gasman cast strong doubt as to the value of a report of a city committee appointed by the council and whose report was made to the council before the vote to go ahead with the water plant was given.

He stated that from one to five injunctions are to be served against the project. "I know that the objectors to the plan have not been given half a chance to express their opposition," the councilman charged.

Ask for Council Vote

Also, the councilman charged, the waterworks plans are being carried through now toward submission for approval by the government as a WPA project without proper authority from the council.

But when the manager suggested that if he were acting in opposition to council order, or if the council had changed its mind, then the council should vote their present sentiments, no move was made.

The manager maintained that he believed he was acting fully under authority as granted by the council in presenting the waterworks project in four units.

He said that if the project can get approval now, it and its companion project, a drainage system for the southwest portion of the city, will enable the city to put 200 men to work this winter.

This would mean, the manager said, an added income of $9,600 a month which 200 idle men are not getting now.

Gallagher Gets Word

The manager emphasized also that not only would the job put men to work, but the city would be getting a much needed, improvement that would be useful for many years to come.

The first phase of the work is technically designated as "preparation of site" for the new plant, and would involve principally the building of a new dock near the Ludington street and Second street intersection, site of the proposed plant.

Finally Councilman Charles Gallagher got a word in and moved for acceptance of the report. Carl Johnson seconded and Mr. Gasman and all the other councilmen voted "yes."

The Gasman argument remained unsettled, but the council went on to less touchy subjects. There was no opposition to approving a committee suggested by the city manager for work toward revaluation of real property in the city.

Tax Group Named

Following a survey by a WPA project over several months, this citizens committee, working with council and board of review members, will have the task of setting a base for valuation of all city property, as a means toward equalizing tax assessments.

First the committee is expected to establish unit values for platted areas, then to determine proper costs for acreage and finally to determine costs for buildings.

Next Thursday night was set tentatively for the first meeting of the group which includes George McEwen and Cheever Backbee for real estate interests; Bert Young and John S. Back, for insurance; William Schmidt and William Warmington, banks, and Sam Mills and A. M. Arntzen, contractors.

On the board of review are Clyde Barnes, Charles Priestler, Mayor Peter N. Logan, Ralph

Thumbprints Used On State Checks

Lansing, Nov. 2 (AP)—State Treasurer Miller Dunckel today adopted the state police's anti-forgery plan by requiring a thumb print to be placed on any checks presented to his department for payment by persons unknown to state cashiers.

Import Concessions Menace To Copper Areas, Says Bradley

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—Before consummating a proposed reciprocal trade agreement with Chile, the state department should consider the "serious effect" concessions on imports of copper and beans would have on Michigan, Representative Bradley (R-Mich.) said here.

He inserted in the congressional record letters he received from Walter F. Gries, chairman of the Michigan social welfare commission, warning against the "possible deleterious effects on the state's employment situation."

In his letters, Gries asserted that opening of United States ports to foreign copper would mean the closing of many domestic mines, placing an "intolerable burden" on relief agencies which he said are unable to meet present demands.

He also opposed consideration of concessions in tariff on dried beans in the face of an already "large carryover" of the domestic production.

Big Parts Concern Builds At Holland; Will Employ 1,000

Holland, Mich., Nov. 2 (AP)—Formation of a half-million-dollar organization for the manufacture of aircraft and automobile parts, employing 1,000 workers within two years, was announced today by E. P. Stephan, secretary-manager of the Holland Chamber of Commerce.

Stephan said the organization would be known as Holland Precision Parts and that it would build a plant here. The organization, he said, has purchased approximately 20 acres and will start construction on its first unit, about 65,000 square feet, within ten days.

Operations should begin within 30 days with 100 persons employed, he said. Expansion will follow with 1,000 workers on the rolls in two years, he said.

GASOLINE PRICE CUT

Detroit, Nov. 2 (AP)—Most of the 2,500 filling stations in the Detroit area were selling regular grade gasoline today at prices ranging from 95 to 98 cents for seven gallons, a general reduction of two cents a gallon. The cut followed a reduction by distributors for major oil companies.

NEW GAS STOVE FEATURES

New gas ranges are so scientifically designed that failure in cooking due to uncertain stove performance is practically impossible. Improvements important to cooking efficiency featured by one manufacturer are visual time and temperature guides, glass oven door with interior oven light so that at a glance the housewife can see if the food is baking to her satisfaction, and wide working space directly over the oven dividing the four top burners. Liberal storage spaces for pans and pots are under and on each side of the oven.

A petition for installing a sewer line to run to the north side of the 2400 block Ludington street, was laid over for further consideration and a proposed civil service ordinance was presented and held for consideration at the next meeting.

A proposal made at the council meeting two weeks ago to place the question of city contributions to civic and other "worthy" causes on the ballot next spring was not acted on. Suggested ballot wordings submitted by Mr. Bean were placed on file.

BAN ON ARMS SALES LIFTED BY CONGRESS

Two Sides Heard

From these facts, the embargo bloc argued during nearly two months of debate that repeal would be an unneutral act since it favored France and Great Britain. It was likely to lead, they argued, to American involvement in the war.

Proponents of the bill argued that the measure was necessary to true neutrality since it gave "equality of opportunity" to both sides. Speaker Bankhead said in today's debate that in view of recent developments no one could say that the British blockade would not be smashed by German submarines and aircraft.

When the house approached the crucial decision today the parliamentary situation was this: The chamber had received from the senate a bill embodying the administration's plan to repeal the existing law's embargo on arms shipments to warring powers and substitute the "cash and carry" plan.

Fight Over Quickly

The house, which passed last session a bill containing an embargo on "lethal weapons" but not on airplanes, had decided earlier this week to refer the whole subject to a senate-house conference to iron out the differences.

But today, the chamber had to decide the vital question of what instructions it should give its conferees. Rep. Shanley (D-Conn.) put in a motion to order them to demand an arms embargo.

The senate-house conferees will meet tomorrow morning. Everyone expects them to approve a bill closely following the senate measure. The next step, expected to be taken tomorrow or Saturday, is for the senate and house to ratify the conference report finally. Then the measure goes to President Roosevelt for his signature.

Filibuster Possible

Administration leaders expected to have the bill ready for the president by Saturday night and then to adjourn the special session of congress. The only possible hitch in their plans was the chance that an extended debate might break out again in the senate.

There was still a chance—admittedly slender—of a filibuster against the conference report.

Before today's big vote the house rejected, 228 to 196, a motion to tighten the bill's restrictions against loans or credits to belligerent nations.

Cayman Islands Hit By Tropical Storm; Four Vessels Lost

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 2 (AP)—A tropical storm which lashed Grand and Little Cayman Islands yesterday was reported today to have caused the loss of four schooners and other property damage estimated at $18,000.

The fate of the crews remained unknown as residents of the islands, 175 miles west of here, surveyed the storm damage.

One death and heavy property damage was reported here from the tall end of the storm which struck Montego Bay, tourist resort center on Jamaica's north-west coast.

Stearns, Ludington Lumberman, Is Dead

Ludington, Mich., Nov. 2 (AP)—The death of Robert L. Stearns, 68-year-old Ludington industrialist, author and artist, at Tucson, Ariz., today was reported to friends and relatives here.

Stearns, member of a famous Michigan lumbering family, inherited a coal and timber empire from his father, Justice S. Stearns. The properties are located in Michigan, Kentucky and the Far West.

Survivors include the widow, a daughter, Mrs. Paulina S. Grable of Port Orford, Ore., and two sons, Robert L., of Stearns, Ky., and Freeman R., of Ludington.

Red Demands Bring New Crisis

Scale of Miles 0 100 200 300

Public announcement of Russian territorial demands against Finland by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov increased Baltic tension and brought a near-break in negotiations between the two nations.

Recalling that King George of England had presented President Roosevelt with a copy of the King James Bible, he said that other British "missionaries" used to give the "same good book" to the "simple natives of Africa."

By a vote of 245 to 179, the chamber thrust aside a motion by Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) to embargo shipments of arms and ammunition while permitting the export of "instruments of war," such as airplanes.

In three hours' debate which preceded the voting today, the house epitomized every argument that has been offered for and against the bill in two months of excited discussion throughout the nation.

As always when important decisions are about to be made, the members stuck to their seats, or wandered about the cloak rooms and rear aisle of the chamber smoking, arguing and telling stories.

The chair maintained order with the greatest of difficulty at times, so excited or just plain noisily inattentive, did the membership become.

One man to whom it listened in an electric hush was the majority leader Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex.), who asserted that the bill as passed by the senate forbids "the things x x that got this country into the war 22 years ago."

The question before the house, he continued, was whether it should agree to the senate bill. Should the house insist upon retaining the arms embargo, the legislation would fail, he warned, because the senate would insist upon repealing it and the issue would be at a deadlock.

"What's the picture if we have no legislation at all?" he asked. "We have reckless American citizens traveling on belligerent ships. We have reckless American shipowners sending ships through danger zones with American cargoes and American sailors."

"I tremble to contemplate what might be the reaction in this country to the sinking of our ships and the destruction of American lives."

Britain Denounced

When he finished, Rayburn received such an ovation as the house seldom hears. Shouts and "rebel yells" from the Democratic side mingled with more than prefatory hand clapping from the Republicans.

BIG RACE NEWS EMPIRE DOOMED

Telephone and Telegraph Rentals to Annenberg Ordered Cut Off

Chicago, Nov. 2 (AP)—The nationwide racing news empire dominated by M. L. Annenberg was menaced tonight by a federal-state move designed to sever its life lines.

U. S. District Attorney William J. Campbell and State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney of Cook county (Chicago) sent letters to the American Telephone and Telegraph, Western Union and Illinois Bell Telephone companies demanding that they "immediately" stop renting wire facilities to the Annenberg Horse Race Information Service.

An A. T. & T. spokesman in New York said the company would discontinue its service to the Nationwide News Service, an Annenberg organization, one week from today.

A. H. Mellinger, president of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, notified the prosecutors he had given notice to Annenberg, Nationwide News Service and Illinois Nationwide News Service that their contracts would be severed at noon next Monday.

He added that his company could not act as a policing agency, but would take proper action if authorities notified it of other clients who were using telephone service for illegal purposes in respect to bookmaking and gambling.

Former University Athletic Director, Charles Baird Ill

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 2 (AP)—Charles A. Baird, athletic director of the University of Michigan from 1898 to 1909 and a retired Kansas City banker, was reported seriously ill from a heart ailment at University hospital today.

Baird, who is 65, was instrumental in bringing Fielding H. Yost to Michigan as football coach in 1901. A University of Michigan alumnus, Baird provided the university with funds for a carillon several years ago.

SKATING RINKS BEING PLANNED

Ludington Park Area Is Improved For New Season

With a six inch layer of earth added to the surface of the Ludington park ice skating rink area, the city prepared for the opening of the new season in December, Beverly Butts, recreation director, announced yesterday.

The surface of the site, on "filled" land had sunk six inches since last winter and the earth was added to bring the level up to last year's and to smooth out rough spots. The dirt was hauled from WPA street building projects.

There will be no South Fifteenth street rink this year, Mr. Butts said, but a new one will be added at the city playground at South Nineteenth street and Sixth avenue south.

Still another skating rink and a hockey rink will be operated at the playground opposite the state fairgrounds and an effort will be made again this year to have an indoor rink in one of the fair buildings, a project that was a success in its first season last year.

Couple Whose Age Totals 140 Years Asks For License

Albert LaCarter, 69, of Stanwood, Michigan, has a trucking business which brings him through Escanaba quite often. Last summer he chanced to meet Mrs. Ellen Laughry, 71, of 1312 Ludington street, who has been living with her son, Orville Welland, restaurant proprietor.

Mr. LaCarter returned on another trip the next week-end and he called again on Mrs. Laughry and before long it became a habit. Well, yesterday they appeared together at the county clerk's office and applied for a marriage license, and thereby tied for the distinction of being the oldest couple to apply this year for the nuptial privilege.

They tied with Henry Harris, 75, of Green Bay, and the former Mrs. Adeline Turou, 65, of Engsign, whose ages also added up to 140 years and who applied on October 3.

Mr. Harris and Mrs. Turou obtained a waiver of the five day marriage law, and Mr. LaCarter and Mrs. Laughry were in the mood to do the same, but then decided to wait and tentatively set the date for next Wednesday at St. Patrick's church. They will go to Stanwood to live in a home that Mr. LaCarter has ready.

It will be his second wedding and her third, her former husbands having died. She is the mother of Mr. Welland here and a daughter in California, while Mr. LaCarter has three daughters in Chicago and a son in Ann Arbor. "Why not get married?" Mr. LaCarter said. "We're in love and we're lonely. We'll have a lot of fun together."

Bergdoll's Mother Claims $300,000 In Confiscated Estate

Philadelphia, Oct. 31 (AP)—Grover C. Bergdoll's mother laid claim today to the entire $300,000 in confiscated property the government plans to return to the World War draft dodger.

A suit in behalf of Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll was filed in federal court by another son, Charles A. Baun, of Pala, Calif., who changed his name years ago because of embarrassment over the activities of Bergdoll. He is trustee of the mother's estate.

The suit claims part of the money is due the mother in repayment of loans advanced to Grover while he was living in Germany as a fugitive.

Sewage Gas Will Run New Generator

Treatment of sewage at the Escanaba sewage disposal plant creates natural gases that have heretofore been largely wasted. The equipment pictured here has just been installed to use this gas in generating power by which more sewage will be treated and more gas created to be burned again in power creation. The idea is not entirely new, but the Escanaba installation is one of the few of its kind in this part of the country. ### M'DONALD WILL SPEAK TONIGHT

MUCC Chief Will Address Employers of Labor at City Hall

Harry A. McDonald, chairman of the Michigan unemployment compensation commission, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of local business men and employers this evening.

McDonald will come from Detroit to address the meeting to be held under the joint sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce, local service clubs and business and employer associations. The meeting will be held at the City Council Chambers at 7:30 o'clock.

The commission chairman, it is expected, will discuss phases of unemployment compensation and closer cooperation with business men and employers of Escanaba and surrounding communities.

McDonald speaks on the problems of the business man with the authority of one who knows those problems. He is the first employer subject to the law itself ever to be appointed to the unemployment compensation commission.

Reduced Expenses

In his first six months as chairman of the commission, McDonald reduced the administrative expenses by more than half a million dollars a year and instituted a campaign to administer job insurance in Michigan as an "insurance business, not a charitable enterprise."

The influence of the 45-year-old chairman of Michigan's youngest and perhaps most important governmental unit on the commission has been recognized by non-partisan federal officials as being responsible to a large degree for increased efficiency and economy in the handling of Michigan's job insurance system since January 1.

McDonald brings to governmental administration virtually a life-time of business experience in general fields.

Born on a farm near Cherokee, Iowa, in 1894, he was educated in the rural schools and later, in 1911, in preparatory school and college at Cedar Falls, Iowa. He was graduated from the University of Chicago in 1917 with a bachelor of philosophy degree.

Served in Navy

During the World War, McDonald enlisted in the navy at Great Lakes, Ill., and at the end of the war was mustered out of the service at Cleveland, where he entered into the dairy business—remaining until he moved to Detroit in 1923 to take a position in the sales department of the Arctic Dairy Products Co.

Subsequently he was made president and manager of the company in 1926. Five years later, in 1931, he was made president of the Arctic Dairy Products, as well as the Arctic Dairy Products.

He continued in those capacities until 1933, when he formed McDonald, Moore and Hayes in Detroit. In February, 1934, he formed the McDonald Creamery company and is at the present time president of both these firms.

His first governmental position came from Governor Brucker, who appointed him to a place on the State Fair Board. He remained a member of the board during the administration of Governor Comstock, who reappointed him.

Appointed By Fitzgerald

In January, of 1939 he was appointed chairman of the unemployment compensation commission by the late Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald and has since taken a very active part in the administration of commission affairs.

His greatest interest at the present time, according to John Blekkola, field supervisor for the commission, who helped to arrange tonight's meeting, is to see that job insurance is administered fairly and equitably to the best interests of everyone concerned.

"One of the principal reasons for Mr. McDonald's trip to the upper peninsula," Blekkola said, "is to hear the problems of our business men and workers and to attempt to work out some formula whereby those problems may be eased."

War and Income Taxes

MODERN war and income tax are synonymous terms. The American experience of income tax has been relatively slight and brief, although one would not think so to hear the fulminations of the small percentage of the population subject to these imposts. It is necessary to go to England to realize what an income tax really means.

Great Britain entered the World War August 4, 1914. By 1915 her income tax had risen to 41 cents in the pound. The 1916 budget made the rate 75 cents. In 1917, when the United States entered, it stood at $1.25 out of every $5 of income. By 1919, the peak year of World War British taxes, the rate was $1.50.

Meantime, in America, the income tax was raised at the entry into the war in 1917. But it was only 30 cents in $5 as compared with the British $1.50 when the Armistice came in 1918 and the very next year the rate was dropped to only 20 cents in $5. This was the normal rate which applied on the lowest taxable incomes and, of course, the exemptions were very much higher than those of Britain. The rates graduated upward on the larger incomes in both countries.

After the Armistice Great Britain, too, reduced her income tax rates. In 1923 the rate was back to $1.25 and in 1926 it reached its lowest post-war point, only $1 out of every $5 of income. In the same year the American income tax rate on the low class incomes was but 7 1/2 cents out of $5 of income and the high bracket rates also had been reduced.

The British rate stayed at $1 until 1930 and then serious depression made it necessary to raise more revenue. Britain was suffering from hard times just as the United States was. She had millions of people on the dole just as the United States has millions on relief. By 1931 the British rate was up to $1.12 and by 1932 to $1.25. There it remained until 1934. Then there was a substantial revival of business and employment increased so materially that the dole expense was greatly curtailed. The income tax rate fell to only $1.12 in 1935.

But the European cauldron started to boil. Hitler began his rise to power and the shadow of aggression hung so heavily over Europe that Britain thought it well to rearm. She embarked upon her program of preparedness but it was done at enormous cost. By 1938 the income tax rate was up to $1.40. This seemed heavy, especially, as the tax fell on people of low incomes. An English youth, boy or girl, working as shopgirl, stenographer, office boy, or in some such capacity, was liable. Yet what had been experienced was as nothing to what was coming. Today in Great Britain the income tax rate is just under $1.90 out of every $5 of income. Persons of higher incomes must pay much more. Rich men must pay almost their entire incomes, in percentage terms. Next years, if the war endures, it is possible the rates may go up again; indeed it is probable.

So those who are eager for war might do well to study these figures and remember that war and income taxes are synonymous terms.

Logging on Increase

WOODS employment in the Upper Peninsula will be much more plentiful this coming winter than it has been for several seasons, according to present indications.

All the long-established lumbering companies are either operating their own camps or have made contracts with jobbers to get out considerable timber. A number of new timber operations also are getting under way in the peninsula this season.

The C. M. Christensen Lumber company of Phelps, Wis., has started logging on a 3,000 acre tract in Iron county, and expects to furnish employment to about two hundred men in the camps. Other companies are expected to furnish jobs to about four hundred additional workmen in that county.

Reports from the Iron ranges indicate that the mines will be operating full blast after the end-of-the-shippping season. It looks like a busy winter for the Upper Peninsula.

Will Show Trends

IN case you've forgotten, Nov. 7 is election day. In most states, it will be practically the same as any other Tuesday. It will be the usual spectacle of an electorate in the doldrums the year before a presidential election.

Voters in California and Ohio, however, are anything but apathetic. Both states have old-age pension referenda, and political ammunition from both sides has kept voters aware of the issue. In New York, practical politicians want to legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse races and let the state take its share of the swag.

Conservatism in California and Ohio are frankly worried. The mere fact that enough favorable interest was aroused by the pension advocates to get the question

World Affairs Reviewed

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—One of the elements in the world situation which had a part in the events leading up to the current war in Europe was Chancellor Hitler's demand for the early return of the colonies taken from Germany under the Treaty of Versailles. This demand was much debated and created a considerable discussion of the worth of colonies to the controlling power. It was asserted and with no little justice that Germany never learned the art of colonizing, never had and probably never would be successful in that sphere.

Aside from that purely German aspect, it often has been asserted that no power, not even Great Britain or Spain, the most successful colonizers since Roman days, ever got out of its colonies as much as it had cost to acquire and then retain them. That is an assertion which can be supported with a good deal of verisimilitude. Statisticians can marshal figures to show that it cost Great Britain far more in men and treasure to conquer India and to hold it than the Indian trade has produced. However, statisticians do not always take into consideration certain intangibles for which there is no measure.

The League of Nations recently has issued a world trade review which has special interest in showing how in the last ten years there has been a remarkable growth in trade between major powers and their colonial possessions or politically associated nations. This study may be important as answering some of the old arguments. It may be more valuable as showing how a politically integrated group in the world today tends to isolate itself and keep its trade to itself. At least the developments have a great deal of interest at a time when interferences to trade through war make trade seem more important than ever.

The United States is scarcely a colonial power. It has not been the policy of this country to attempt to plant its people in far places and exploit distant lands. The Nation's home grounds have furnished a sufficiently large sphere of operations. However, the United States does have a colonial possession, so far as world definitions go, in the Philippine Islands.

TRENDS OF THE COLONIES

Ten years ago the Philippines accounted for 2.9 per cent of the total import trade of the United States. Now these islands account for 4.8 per cent of that trade. Ten years ago they accounted for 1.6 per cent of export trade of the Nation and now the figure is 2.8 per cent. The percentage of total trade is small as to both imports and exports but the increase in a single decade is notable.

The British Empire constitutes the greatest family of nations under one political domination in the world today. To be sure the Dominion of Canada, the Commonwealth of Australia and the Union of South Africa have their own governments with their own diplomatic position in the world, but they yet remain within the British Empire. They have their own parliaments but are considered British subjects. There are some Crown colonies remaining and some divisions under various semi-detached forms of government, but in trade the entire group is considered together.

Ten years ago 30.2 per cent of the United Kingdom's import trade came from the Empire. Today that has grown to 41.9 per cent. Ten years ago the Empire trade accounted for 44.4 per cent of the whole trade of the United Kingdom and now for 49.9 per cent. The percentage increases are not as great as those registered for the American trade with the Philippines but the volume is significant.

France never was a notable success as a colonizing country although she has made several efforts in that direction. She lost her enormous colonies in America and she lost India but she still has substantial possessions in Africa and in the East. Ten years ago 12 per cent of her total import trade was from these colonies and this has grown to 27.1 per cent. Ten years ago 18.8 per cent of her export trade went to her colonies and now this is 27.5 per cent.

Italy, in some respects the successor of Rome, perhaps the greatest of all colonizers, had not been very successful in planting and keeping colonies in recent years but did have her African possessions. The colonial urge attacked Mussolini and he acquired Ethiopia at a cost which, it is said, cannot be paid for two generations. The effect of that expansion is shown dramatically in these new trade figures. Ten years ago only one half of one per cent of Italy's import trade came from her colonies. Today it has reached 1.8 per cent. A decade ago 2.1 per cent of Italy's export trade went to her possessions. Today it stands at 23.3 per cent.

Belgium's great overseas possession is the Congo, a vast undeveloped region. Ten years ago 3.9 per cent of her import trade came from there and now this figure stands at 8.2 per cent. On the export side there has been little change. A decade ago exports to the Congo amounted to 2.6 per cent of Belgium's total export trade and now have declined to 1.9 per cent.

Testing the water levels in Lakes Superior, Huron, Erie and Michigan for the benefit of the great masses. This water must be retained at its level not alone for navigation, but for the general health of abutting property owners on these lakes, no matter where they are located. When the water is down, debris is piled upon the shores, and then comes typhoid fever.

How fine it would be if the Chicago Tribune some day would wake up and serve the public, instead of special interests. Of course Col. McCormick wouldn't be himself if he didn't have a cartoonist apply the words "government dictation".

Prisoners in a middle western county jail are taking to embroidery. Probably just something to keep them out of trouble.

Officers of the Escanaba Iron Range Exploration company were made jubilant yesterday by an official announcement as a fact of what for a week has been a mere rumor—that iron has been found in the drilling operations that have been in progress for several weeks.

The showing made proves what has been contended—that the iron formation in the Menominee range extends into a portion of Delta county.

At a depth of between 500 and 600 feet a formation bearing a low grade ore was found. That is what is known among experts as the "Negaunee" formation. It is understood to be the plan to continue drilling in this same hole to establish the thickness of the formation.

The discovery was made on land owned by Louis Schemmel about five miles from Escanaba. The land has been leased to the Exploration company.

It is known now that there is some ore in the belt being explored, but it is of low grade and unless it can be found of a quality which runs from 40 to 45 percent, then it is not worth mining, no matter how great a quantity may exist. This, at least, is the opinion of some of the men interested in the venture.

Erick Hendrickson, employed at the North Western Tie plant, was injured yesterday when he footing on the dock gave way, permitting him to plunge into the water with a part of a pile of ties on top of him. The water was deep and he was not seriously injured. He was taken to his home, 1408 Ludington street, and his physician stated last night that he will be able to return to work in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Viau of Bark River entertained a party of friends Friday at a Halloween party Friday night. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Mulvaney, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGovern, Mr. and Mrs. Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dugener, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Barney McGovern, Mr. and Mrs. Beaudoin of Escanaba; Mrs. Otto Mattson, Kipling; Mr. and Mrs. Duford, Schaffer; Mrs. Reno, Montreal; T. Shine five cents, vaudeville free.

The drollest bootblack of Manhattan is not the shoe-shine man in the high hat and cutaway near the Supreme Court Building, but a handsome lad who piles his craft near Shubert Alley in the theatrical belt. He doesn't merely give his customers a shine, but throws in a complete vaudeville routine. He tells jokes in and out of dialect, sings the popular ditties, recites his homespun limericks, quotes whose passages from the Broadway hits and offers his own prognosis of the world situation, with suggestions for its cure.

I asked him if he repeated the act for all his clients. "Sure," he replied, "you see, I have hopes that one of these days a Broadway producer will sit on this stool and will recognize my talent. I want to get on the stage. Since they won't give me an audition at their offices, I let them come to me."

And he is pretty suave. He has polish.

Once the authority of God is denied, then civil authority tends to assume absolute autonomy, which belongs exclusively to the Supreme Maker.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—Paul McNutt will be the last man to talk about it, but he and Francis Sayre, High Commissioner to the Philippines, put across a neat double-play to prevent Secretary Ickes from really running the Philippines.

Under the new reorganization plan, Roosevelt concentrated insular affairs under the Interior Department, transferring the Philippines from the War Department to Interior, which already handles Puerto Rico, Hawaii and the Virgin Islands.

But newly appointed High Commissioner Sayre did not seem to like this. He came down to the Interior Department and demanded a large area of office space—which he did not get. Also it was quite apparent that Ickes, when put in charge of the Philippines, would really run the Philippines, and Sayre did not like this either.

So High Commissioner Sayre got together with ex-High Commissioner McNutt and drafted a letter for the President's signature by which the Philippines virtually were taken out of Ickes' hands. The letter instructed Sayre to report direct to the President.

Then they got Roosevelt to sign the letter, partly by giving the impression that Frank Murphy, also an ex-High Commissioner to the Philippines, had approved it.

Murphy, however, had not. And the other day, after Cabinet meeting, he stopped Ickes, who has become one of his best friends, and said he had just learned of the letter.

"I'm absolutely against the idea," he told his Cabinet colleague.

However, it was too late. The Philippines, though nominally under Ickes, have been eulchered out from under him.

—VANDENBERG'S HOME TOWN—

One of the Administration's most effective weapons in the House neutrality battle was supplied by the home town of Senator Arthur Vandenberg, leading defender of the arms embargo.

It consists of a full-page advertisement in The Grand Rapids Herald, of which Vandenberg once was editor and publisher, vigorously calling on Congress to repeal the arms embargo in order to preserve the peace of the country. The ad was paid for and signed by 76 of the principal businessmen of the city.

Among the first names on the list was that of John Wood Blodgett, multi-millionaire philanthropist and treasurer of the Vandenberg-for-President Club.

—CAPITAL CHAFF—

Susan B. Anthony, relative of the famous suffragist, is working with other descendants of the American Revolution to investigate "The Un-American Activities" of the Dies Committee. Justice Department agents are keeping an eye on the manner in which Ned Rightor, attorney for Mayor Maestri of New Orleans, seems to get advance tips on what is going to happen in the U. S. District Attorney's office in New Orleans.

—AFL WORRY—

Behind that mysterious conference between Attorney General Murphy and leaders of the American Federation of Labor was a great secret AFL fear.

They had suddenly realized that the Justice Department's attack upon monopoly in the building industry might nullify one of their principal weapons in fighting the CIO—jurisdictional strikes and boycotts.

The AFL has used these tactics with telling effect in various sections, particularly the Pacific Northwest, where Dave Beck, regional teamster boss, forced the lumber industry to a virtual standstill by refusing to handle timber cut or milled by CIO members.

When Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, hard-hitting head of the Anti-Trust Division, launched the building industry cleanup, the AFL generalissimo expected it to be a routine affair aimed at contractors and manufacturers. When Arnold made it known that he also was going after racketeering, they still were undisturbed.

In fact, AFL President Green, long foe of labor racketeering, privately approved Arnold's plan. But when the first flurry of grand jury indictments disclosed that boycotts and jurisdictional strikes were to be placed in the same category with pre-filing and other monopolistic operations, AFL bosses hit the ceiling.

At a stormy Executive Council meeting, Dan Tobin, teamster president, scathingly raved into Green. There has been bitter feeling between the two for years and Tobin poured it on hot and heavy. In the end, it was decided to send a delegation of building trade leaders to Murphy to demand that he call off Arnold.

Murphy assured them the clean-up was "not directed against labor," but beyond this he refused to go. He has said nothing to Arnold about soft-pedaling and Arnold is continuing to let the chips fall where they may. To the ex-Yale professor, a law violator is illegal whether on the part of labor or business.

MY SELF AND ME
That is my self up ahead of me there,
And this is me back here —
My self is going in debt for me —
With abandonment and cheer;
Merrily, merrily signing new notes,
Deeper and deeper he goes,
He never comes back and confers with me
On what the outfit owns;
Before I have this one debt paid,
He makes two more for me.
And should I get two whittled down,
He'll favor me then with three;
And though I stays away back here
I gain no worldly pal;
My money is spent before it is made,
And I'm living behind my self.

HEALTH DEPT' GIVES REPORT

Chickenpox and Scarlet Fever Prevalent, Says Dr. Tonney

The Delta county health department yesterday issued a summary of disease prevalence and important health activities for the month of October.

Dr. Fred O. Tonney, the new director, stated that there has been a flare-up of chickenpox among the children amounting to seventeen reported cases, with a few scattering cases of scarlet fever, totalling six cases. Five new cases of tuberculosis were discovered by the field nurses, and one dog bite with its attendant danger of hydrophobia was reported. A case of tetanus or lockjaw, an unusual disease at this time of year, was reported by a prominent physician of Gladstone.

Illustrating the health importance of checking contagion on milk farms, Dr. Tonney cited a case of scarlet fever on a dairy farm recently visited by the sanitary engineer of the department. Arriving at the farm the day the report was received, he found that the milk cans were being washed in the farm kitchen by the housewife who was also taking care of the patient. The danger of transfer of the germs from the patient through the fingers of the attendant to the milk cans and thence to the milk was explained and complete cooperation obtained in eliminating this danger. It was arranged to have all cans washed at the farm of a relative across the road and for all persons connected with milk operations to live away from the premises during the quarantine.

Another such instance was the case of a boy found to have tuberculosis in a foreign family on a dairy farm in which the antagonistic attitude of the parents and their difficulty in understanding English seemed to preclude the possibility of cooperation. In this case, the engineer contacted the creamery purchasing milk from this farm and the supply was immediately shut off. Later, the public health nurses following the boy's case secured clinical and X-ray examinations for all members of the family and it was found that the mother was an advanced case of tuberculosis. She had evidently infected her son.

"These are typical instances of the danger of spreading disease through raw milk," said Dr. Tonney. "Pasteurization at the creamery would eliminate most of it, but the sale of raw milk as it comes from the farms calls for extra care and vigilance on the part of the health department and in fact all along the line."

STORIES IN STAMPS

Arabian Oil Rights Go To American Companies

SAUDI ARABIA'S oil, one of the richest prizes in the Near East, will not go to European bidders. Carefully avoiding involvement in Europe's war, Ibn Saud, ruler of this 25-year-old desert nation, has granted important oil concessions to American companies.

Oil is opening up a new era for Saudi Arabia. Lack of water has left much of the 800,000 square miles of the kingdom unexplored and unproductive. Dates are the principal export.

The western section of the country centers around Mecca, holy city of Mohammedans. Many thriving cities are located in this well-developed area. Ibn Saud rules from a desert capital, Riyadh, 500 miles inland.

Postal recognition of George Gerstwin, American composer, is being sought. Gerstwin was not included in the five Americans designated for the musician's group of the forthcoming Famous Americans set.

Exclusive NEA Portrait of Rarely Photographed Family

C-C ELECTIONS BEING PLANNED

Primary On November 9; Final Balloting on November 14

Plans are now being made for the annual elections of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, Secretary Harold P. Lindsay announced yesterday.

The primary election for the nomination of 12 candidates will be held Thursday, Nov. 9, and the final election will be Tuesday, Nov. 14. Five directors will be elected for two-year terms and one for one year to fill the unexpired term of J. F. Hart, resigned. Gust Asp, member of the board of directors, who succeeded J. F. Bentz when the latter resigned, will be eligible for reelection.

The following retiring members of the board are ineligible for reelection: E. G. Bennett, James E. Frost, Joel Lee and H. H. Shepeck. Holdover members are: Joseph Charlebois, Leslie French, John A. Lemmer and John P. Norton.

Twelve-year-old Ruth Treblow, of Philadelphia, is giving up ice cream and movies and saving money from lunches to help poor children evacuated from London. Recently she sent King George a dollar for this purpose, and when the Minister of Health wrote that it had been used to buy clothing for a little girl, she announced she would ask her schoolmates to form a club to send more money.

National Apple Week Observed By Food Stores

This is National Apple Week, and Escanaba food stores are joining in the campaign to "keep the doctor away" by displaying fine assortments of Michigan apples.

The Michigan fruit market, it is held in many quarters, has not been as important in the consumer market as it could be because growers have not paid sufficient attention to standardizing and improving their pack.

This year, Michigan growers have joined in a well-advertised merchandising campaign. Promotional efforts are being directed toward creating a consumer demand for Michigan apples over the entire Middle West region.

TWO ARE NAMED FOR FIRE JOBS

Jackson and Monson Are Chosen After Jackson Protests

Alvar J. Jackson, 911 Washington avenue, and Milton Monson, 214 South Eighteenth street, last night were named to fill the two vacancies on the Escanaba fire department.

Mr. Jackson, who rated highest in the civil service examination which 53 aspirants took, formerly had been notified, on the basis of the city physician's report, that he did not qualify for the position because of a heart condition, but he presented a written statement yesterday from a University of Michigan medical professor, stating that "in my opinion his heart is well within normal limits and there is no reason why he should not engage in physical activity of any type."

The statement was signed by Frank N. Wilson, M. D., professor of medicine at the state university. The city physician here, in failing to recommend appointment of Mr. Jackson, had stated that he had a "moderate irritable heart."

Candidates for the second position were Mr. Monson and Ronald Van Enkevort, son of a city policeman, with the decision being made on the basis of the doctor's report rating Monson as an "A" class candidate for the place, and Van Enkevort, "B plus." The physician recommended Monson as a "first class candidate for fireman."

Monson is six feet tall, and weighs 192 pounds, which is considerably more height and weight than possessed by the other two candidates involved. Jackson is five feet, nine and a half inches tall and weighs 148 pounds.

The new men will take their position in the next few days and will be on a trial basis for six months. George E. Bean, city manager, said.

Recently a Boeing YB-17A (Flying Fortress) flew at an average speed of 259 miles an hour with a payload of 11,023 pounds to set a new speed record.

Employment Rises In Escanaba Area

Statistics released from the local office of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission revealed a steady trend in re-employment in this area. During the week ending October 21, there were only 80 benefit checks issued for a total value of $320. This is a negative 14.7% decrease under the previous week's issuance. To date, $169,164 has been issued in Delta County in Unemployment Compensation benefits.

The Manistique office also continued to show a slight decrease. During the above week, 13 checks were issued for a total value of $144, which is 36.5% decrease from the previous week.

Also furthering the indication that men are going back to work every day is the fact that the logging industry is beginning to feel a shortage of piecomakers and sawyers. All men interested in doing woodwork are asked to contact the local office of the Michigan State Employment Service, as many openings are available throughout Delta County and the nearby vicinity.

Hotel Rooms Are Damaged By 'Short'

A short circuit in a vacuum cleaner wire while a maid was cleaning a room on the second floor in the west wing of the Ludington hotel is believed to have caused a fire discovered at 10:10 o'clock yesterday morning.

Fire damage was light, firemen reported, but the fire fighters had to tear away portions of wall and floor in three rooms, two on the second and one on the third, in order to trace down the flames. Insulation was burned from wires up through the third floor.

Color Etching Lecture Topic at Club Meeting

One of the very outstanding programs of the year's calendar of the Escanaba Woman's club was the address given Thursday afternoon at Westminster Hall...

Patience is a most necessary virtue in this craft, he said, describing how often it has required eleven weeks to complete one etching...

The artist does not seek "paint quality" in his colored plates, as most of his predecessors have, but rather develops the line idea of etching with color as an enriching factor.

There is no justification in acquiring a picture, where there is no personal admiration, or no reaction from the beauty of the there, Mr. Pescheret told his audience.

Exhibit of Etchings The educational and interesting lecture was followed by an exhibit of a number of the artist's own beautiful etchings...

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Victor Powers, who was chairman of the afternoon. Other members of the committee were Mrs. R. H. Banks, Mrs. O. V. Thatcher and Mrs. C. W. Stoll.

STORIES IN STAMPS.

"Love at First Sight" Conquered Washington

IN the character of George Washington, two traits are outstanding: his devotion to duty and his calm deliberation in making important decisions. But love made him abandon both.

Washington, a dashing young colonel, was carrying dispatches to Williamsburg one day in May, 1758, when he met Major Chamberlayne, an old friend. The major insisted Washington should stop for dinner, but the young officer refused. His dispatches were urgent.

The major was not to be put off, and mentioned that he had a most charming guest, Mrs. Martha Custis. Washington stayed for dinner, and remained until late the following morning, his dispatches forgotten, his heart completely won by the beautiful young widow of a wealthy Virginia planter.

A month later he visited Mrs. Custis at her home, obtained her promise to marry him. The marriage took place on Jan. 6, 1758.

The marriage of Martha Custis and George Washington was a happy one. In the dark days of the Revolution she was often by his side in army camps and after his selection as the first President she was an able and gracious first lady.

M-J-B WHY?

"I'm thinking how nice it'd be to have a customer once in a while when I get a brilliant idea..."

1 "I'll do a little sleuthing at Michael's place," I say to myself. (Michael runs the "Highway Inn" half a mile up the road.) "For one thing, I'll find out why most folks pass up my place in favor of his."

2 I tell the wife what's on my mind and she thinks it's a swell idea. "I'll disguise myself so my own mother wouldn't know me," I say. That evening Molly drags out the old makeup kit I used years ago in vaudeville and I go to work on my face.

3 "What'll it be, Mister?" says the waiter when I stumble into the "Highway Inn" an hour later. "What's good?" I ask him, counting the customers. "Everything's good," he says. "The coffee, especially, 'someone pipes up." "And I'll tell you why, Mister," says the waiter. "It's the brand we use—M-J-B. The customers won't have any other." I order a cup and sure one sip I know what's wrong with my place. I've been using the wrong coffee.

WILL HELP PAY FOR POWER LINE

City Votes to Split With Club on Material Costs

The Gladstone city commission in special session Wednesday evening voted to split with the Gladstone Ski club on the cost of materials necessary for construction of an electric power line into the sports park at Days River.

It is proposed to set up the project as a supplement to the present golf course project and the estimated cost of materials which includes poles, cross arms and supports to be used on the property is set at $315.

Considerable discussion in which the need for economy in city matters was voiced by several commissioners marked the session. Then Wm. S. Skellenger, president of the Ski club, announced the club would pay half the material cost if the city would finance the rest.

A motion to approve payment of materials in the amount of $157.50 for the project was offered by Commissioner Joseph A. LaFramboise and seconded by Commissioner Ole Peterson and was adopted unanimously.

With the sponsor's contribution assured, City Manager A. F. Radandt will now set up the project and make immediate application at the Marquette WPA office. It is hoped that the project will be speeded and final approval from Washington will be forthcoming in about 6 weeks.

Labor on the line construction is estimated at $585 and the project would provide employment to about 15 men. The major part and cost of the project would be borne by the Upper Michigan Power and Light company who will construct a 3-phase line from the highway to the park, a distance of about 2 1/2 miles.

General Booth Is Retiring

General Evangeline Booth... "absolute, though benevolent dictator"

BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Service Staff Writer

New York — On November 1, one of the world's dictators will retire from office. The absolute, though benevolent, dictator whose military uniform is topped by a demure bonnet—is Evangeline Booth, General of the Salvation Army since 1934.

People used to thinking of the Salvation Army in terms of a little group singing under a street light—or a number to be called when old clothes pile up in the closet—may not know the power and the authority that have been General Booth's for the last five years.

Though the office of General is elective, every other office in the organization is appointive. And since the Salvation Army works under military organization, the General has complete authority over 152 local institutions and 35,000 fully paid officers who direct the Army's work in 18,000 centers all over the world.

BECAME "DICTATOR"

When Evangeline Booth took on this tremendous responsibility she was 68 years old. But she was no "old lady."

Unless you can call old a woman whose favorite pastime is riding—not behind a chauffeur—but on a horse, and who is still able to do a perfect jackknife dive from the high board.

Though she has reverently been christened "The White Angel" by her followers, Evangeline Booth has always been first and foremost an A-number-1 executive. She is the first to admit her down-to-earth ability to accomplish miracles by using her head, saying: "Angels are very beautiful in their own land, but they are too good for earth. They fly too high."

MEETING HELD BY MACCABEES

Manistique Hive Given Banner for Their Achievement

Supreme Commander E. W. Thompson, Detroit, and State Commander J. B. Baker, also of Detroit, and their wives were honored guests at the meeting of the Cloverland Association of Lady Maccabees here Wednesday at the Odd Fellows hall.

Manistique was awarded the banner for having sold the greatest volume of insurance and Escanaba won the prize for the largest attendance.

Three charter members, Mrs. Asher Fox, of Manistique; Mrs. Remus, of Monominee; and Mrs. Eaton of Gladstone, and Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Thompson, wives of the honored guests, were presented with gifts.

The Iron Mountain ladies, attired in white formal gowns, did the initiatory work, escorted by the Mary C. Watt Guards, of Manistique. The initiates were Edith Litter, Winnifred Ekblad, Millicent Baker, and Loretta Eakley. The latter two were advanced from the Junior to the senior by Anne Peasley, of Manistique, was elected lieutenant commander and Mrs. Henry Gillingham, of Manistique was selected sentinel.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Dewey are the parents of a son born Sunday at the Shaw hospital.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

It's about time for the mothers of married sons or daughters to begin the Christmas Campaign. It begins by a "Of course you're planning to spend Christmas with us" invitation. Then if there is no definite and quick "Yes, indeed," the real campaign gets underway.

If the couple stayed in their own home last year or visited the other partner's relatives, that is mentioned.

If a plea of "We can't afford to take the trip" is given, then Mother says, "Of course you can" and clinches the point with "You just bought a new car. If you can afford that, you certainly can afford to come home." The new car is probably just why the couple can't afford it.

It would not do at all to say, "Since we have a home or our own, I think it would be fun for us to have Christmas there." That would hurt Mother's feelings.

It certainly wouldn't do for them to mention the open house they have planned, or the party they hate to miss. That would sound like pure selfishness.

No, they have to visit one set of parents or the other. Or face hurt feelings for months to come.

STOCKING SERVICE

Women spend a fair-sized percentage of their clothes allowance on silk stockings. To be sure that you spend no more than is absolutely necessary it's important to select the right size and weight. For usual street wear a three-thread hose is most satisfactory, four-thread for heavier wear and two-thread for evening. Select the leg size and length correct for your build. It's economical, too, to buy no less than three pair of the same color and weight at a time and to wash hose after each wearing in mild suds, rinsing and drying carefully.

The scheduled airlines of the United States carried 170,913 revenue passengers during July, 1939, a 55 per cent increase over July, 1938.

Sabotage Suspect

Joseph Demers, Jr., Free on $500 bail, Joseph Demers, Jr., above, is charged with sabotage at Newport torpedo station. His hearing is set for Oct. 10 before a U. S. commissioner. He was a civilian worker at the station.

BECAME "DICTATOR"

When Evangeline Booth took on this tremendous responsibility she was 68 years old. But she was no "old lady."

Unless you can call old a woman whose favorite pastime is riding—not behind a chauffeur—but on a horse, and who is still able to do a perfect jackknife dive from the high board.

Though she has reverently been christened "The White Angel" by her followers, Evangeline Booth has always been first and foremost an A-number-1 executive. She is the first to admit her down-to-earth ability to accomplish miracles by using her head, saying: "Angels are very beautiful in their own land, but they are too good for earth. They fly too high."

Hallowe'en Program

Newberry, Mich.—The Newberry children enjoyed a Hallowe'en celebration which was sponsored by the Newberry Lions club with the cooperation of Newberry state police. A program of fun was held at the high school gymnasium. The street program began at 7 p. m. marching down the Newberry avenue, circled around several blocks, then returned to the high school. "Tiny" Jack Mahar, again enacted the role of parade leader and master of ceremonies for the evening.

Persons

The condition of Neil Larson, of Sault Ste. Marie, who was hurt badly in an automobile accident near here, was reported slightly better Wednesday at the Newberry hospital.

The Newberry State hospital's new employees residence is near completion. No announcement has been made as to whether any of the new state buildings will be occupied this winter, but it is believed that by next spring the state will begin transferring patients from lower Michigan institutions to the new buildings here.

Avoid Cathartics For Appendicitis, Surgeons Advise

BY DR. E. J. BRENNER
Director Schoolcraft-Alger Health Unit

The cause of acute appendicitis is still unknown and the death rate is higher than that of 15 years ago. Over 20,000 people die of acute appendicitis each year in the United States, the majority of these deaths occurring in patients in the prime of life.

There are three causes of death in acute appendicitis. The first is a cathartic taken usually at the onset of the pain. The second allowing the appendix to rupture before calling a physician, and the third is delayed hospitalization.

A vigorous campaign has been conducted by surgeons in the United States, attempting to teach people not to give a cathartic in the presence of acute abdominal pain, because almost every death in acute appendicitis has been caused directly by the purge. The cathartic stirs up the gastrointestinal tract and helps spread an active inflammation over the abdomen, giving rise to peritonitis. It almost invariably makes a case of appendicitis much worse and threatens seriously the life of the person who accepts such advice.

Medical men have known for a long time that purging was accompanied by a serious result if the appendix was inflamed, yet it has been extremely difficult to prevent the self-medication of this type.

Since the pain in acute appendicitis usually begins in the upper abdomen and not over the site of the appendix, a self diagnosis is quite often wrong. Therefore in any case of acute abdominal pain a physician's help and advice should be sought so that the responsibility of the case is not left with the family or patient, but with the physician.

In their efforts to reduce the death rate from appendicitis, surgeons have found that unless the appendix is removed early in the course of the disease, the condition has to be allowed to progress until abscess formation occurs in the appendix, at which time it is safe to operate.

Sometimes the abscess is already formed when the patient is admitted to the hospital. Delayed hospitalization in the hope of avoiding the expense and risk of operation has resulted in an increased number of deaths.

Appendicitis is not strictly limited to a single age group, although much more common in the years between 14 and 40. When the disease is correctly diagnosed in its early stages and its progress carefully observed by the physician, the mortality rate is extremely low. The deaths therefore are largely preventable.

It is reported by automotive engineers that the average horsepower of the automobile engine has increased 300 per cent over 1920's cars.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Army-Notre Dame To Pull 75,000 Sellout Crowd

YANK STADIUM HAS 'NATURAL' Irish Bruised Up; Cadets Are Strongest of This Season

BY BILL BONI
New York, Nov. 2. (AP)—The "people's choice" in football games will be played again at the Yankee Stadium Saturday afternoon and, while you can find few true believers in Army's chances of stopping Notre Dame, there will be the full complement of 75,000 or more addicts in the triple-tiered stands.

It's always that way for Army and Notre Dame, even when there appears to be no adequate reason for the customers to single out this game above all others.

Last upset in 1931
This season, for instance, Army has been beaten by Yale and tied Columbia in its last two games, and looked bad even in winning its openers from Furman and Centre. Notre Dame, on the other hand, has won successive victories over five major rivals—Purdue, Georgia Tech, Southern Methodist, Navy and Carnegie Tech.

In addition, Army hasn't beaten the Irish since 1931.
Yet even on that basis the game, 26th of a series that started in 1913 with Gus Dorais and Knute Rockne combining to shock West Point with their passes, was a sellout far in advance. The two schools disposed of all their tickets two weeks ago, and the few that got into scalpers' hands already are bringing $6.60 and $8.80 for a surface value of $4.40, and should be worth even more tomorrow.

In the last few days, though, a few factors have arisen to make this renewal of a truly "glamorous" rivalry far more attractive. Notre Dame, for one thing, came out of its one-point defeat of Carnegie Tech with three of its front-line operatives considerably below their physical par and a number of others showing bumps and bruises. Bill Kerr, regular right end who scored the touchdowns that beat Carnegie the last two years, and tackle Tom Gallagher are on the shelf, and Tad Harvey, the other tackle, may have to stay there with them.

Yearlings in Lineup
Meanwhile Army is surprisingly confident that its lineup for Saturday's game will be the strongest it's had on the field this fall. Six sophomores, or yearlings in West Point terminology, will be in there, three in the backfield (Jerome Maupin, Johnny Hatch and Bob Evans) and three in the line (guards Ray Murphy and Jim Rooney and tackle Ted Michel).

The West Point spirit also is something exceptional this week. There has been the usual display of "beat Notre Dame" banners all over the military academy, but there has been unusual fervor among the members of the cadet corps and unusual drive in the football squad's practice sessions. The Army-Irish duel serves as the week's No. 1 inter-sectional attraction on a program made up chiefly of conference and intra-sectional games. The other principal inter-sectional pairings are Fordham vs. Rice at New York, unbeaten-untied Duquesne vs. Marquette at Pittsburgh, Syracuse vs. Michigan State, Boston College vs. Auburn, Detroit vs. Villanova, Virginia vs. St. Louis, and Washington U. of St. Louis vs. Washington and Lee.

SPILLING the DOPE

DEADENED into a state of total insensibility by sitting through two hours of ballet, we have no illusions that there will be anything of interest in this chamber of horrors this morning... we're like the guy with the next morning hangerover who said: "I must have had a wonderful time last night, I feel so lousy this morning."... Ignorance is bliss, they say... and we are inclined to believe it... We were totally ignorant of the finer points of the toe party... but we had a blissful sleep, interrupted only by the dull cettete of snorer two rows back who were doing the "Funeral at March"... now we know those fans felt at the recent Michigan-Chicago football game... they never knew what the score was... neither did we.

SPARTANS OFF FOR SYRACUSE

Four Good Men Left Behind; Pearce May Start

BY JACK I. GREEN
East Lansing, Nov. 2. (AP)—Michigan State college entrained 36 football players tonight for its third invasion of the Syracuse gridiron camp and for a Saturday encounter which may prove to be the key to the future for both teams.

After a week of scrimmageless practice, the Spartans were nearer their full strength than they have been for any game since their first game this fall. Nonetheless, they left behind at least four good men with injuries: Ron Ailing, center; Roman Kaman, fullback; Ed Pogor and Paul Griffith, guards.

Coach Charley Bachman designated a tentative starting lineup of: Bruce Blackburn and Mike Kinek, ends; Alex Ketzko and Les Bruckner, tackles; Lyle Rockefeller and Bill Rupp, guards; Bill Batchelor, center; Bob Sherman, quarterback; Buck Crosthwaite and Bill Kennedy, halfbacks, and Jack Amon, fullback.

There was some indication, however, that little Eddie Pearce, sole regular back left from last season, might start in place of Kennedy. Pearce has missed three games because of an ankle injury and is still limping.

The squad leaving tonight consisted of: Ends—Bruce Blackburn, Bob Friedlund, Kinek, Stanley McRae, Howard Pound and Lewis Smiley.

Tackles—Bruckner, Fred Carter, George Garrett, George Handler, Frank Karas, Ketzko and Ted Smolinski.
Guards—Ed Abo, George Danclou, Walter Kutchesin, Harold Miller, Rockefeller and Rupp.
Centers—Batchelor, Bill Charitos and Don Robart.
Quarterbacks—Willie Davis, Sherman, Don Rossi and Herman Kiewick.
Halfbacks—Crosthwaite, Wy Davis, Jerry Drake, Kennedy, Pearce, Fred Quigley and Mike Sheel.
Fullbacks—Amon, Paul Derriekson and Earl Stevens.

Munising Set To Swipe Jug From St. Joe

Munising, Nov. 2.—Munising high school griders, who outlasted Gravenat of Marquette to win by a 6-0 score in mid-October, are now preparing for their season finale—the "brown jug" battle with St. Joseph's, of Escanaba, a game in which the Mathers will be slight underdogs on the somewhat questionable basis of comparative scores. The game will be played here Saturday.

To St. Joe, the problem is to defend possession of the coveted bit of crockery, symbolic of football supremacy, between the two schools. To the Mathers, the job on hand is to bring the crockery back home, and in so doing enhance a season record which stands at two victories, three defeats and a scoreless tie.

Three On Cripple List
The Saturday tilt will be the seventeenth in the jug series since it was put on the block in 1923. It has changed hands five times, but the irksome part of the whole thing, as far as the Mathers are concerned, is that the Escanaba Catholic team has had possession of it since 1931.

None too cheering is the news that Stanley Ryzana, fullback, Belfry, center, and John Parker, tackle, are on the cripple list and not expected to play against St. Joe. Ryzana and Parker are two of five Munising griders who will be in Mather uniforms for the last time.

Have Their Work Cut Out
Others are Ben Montclair, flashy left halfback, Charles Ames, tackle, and Charles Olsen, end. Montclair is the lad who made a hit with Marquette fans when Munising played Gravenat. He has worlds of drive and is a spark-plug.

HARMON STILL LEADS SCORERS

Northwestern Halfback Gains; Kinnick Nears Peak In Passing

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 2.—With leaders idle or engaged in non-conference games, outstanding threats developed in all departments of individual play in Big Ten games last week.

Don Clawson emerged as Northwestern's point-getter and added a touch-down and conversion against Illinois to give him a three-game total of 19 points, placing him second in Conference scoring ahead of Iowa's Erwin Prasse, with 18 points. Both remain far behind the pace setter, Michigan's Tom Harmon, who has 45 points in two games, and who was engaged in an inter-sectional contest Saturday.

Harmon's standing as the Conference's leading ground gainer was challenged in Saturday's games as Paul Soper of Northwestern and George Paskvan of Wisconsin boosted their records. Harmon's revised record in two games shows a gain of 239 yards in 25 attempts and Soper last week broke loose for 153 yards to come within four yards of the leader, showing a total of 235 yards in 32 attempts.

Lowie's Niile, halfback Nile Kinnick, rolled on last week with the promise of a hot stretch duel between him and Hurling Hal Hursh of Indiana for passing honors, and with exceptional figures, Kinnick completed seven passes for 125 yards against Wisconsin last week, and ran his three-game total to 354 yards. Hursh, who did not play last week, has completed 26 of 46 passes in three games for a total of 394 yards.

Favored receivers of Kinnick and Hursh lead the Conference in pass receptions. Harold Zimmer of Indiana has received five Hursh aerials for 137 yards and Prasse has taken five passes for 117 yards.

Big Leaguer 4 Years, Bob Feller Is Now 21

BY L. E. SKEELLEY
Van Meter, Ia., Nov. 2. (AP)—Bob Feller reaches man's estate tomorrow but the Iowa farm boy has been doing a man's work for the Cleveland Indians since he was 17.

Baseball's most publicized youngster who returned from the major leagues to get his high school diploma will be 21 years old tomorrow.

The event will create little, if any, change in the routine of the Feller family's farm life near here. Mrs. William Feller, the proud, attractive mother of the pitching star, said she hasn't planned a birthday celebration because Bob may not be back from an eastern trip.

She said, however, he would return by Sunday when the Feller family will have a dinner with relatives at the Roy Manders farm home near Adel.

To Van Meter folk Bob is the same popular youngster who left three years ago to blaze his fastball to major league records.

It's the consensus here that Bob's exploits as a youth are only that which rank him with baseball's pitching immortals.

Here are a few of the Feller achievements before he became a man:
1936—When 17 he struck out 17 Philadelphia hitters to tie the major league single game strike-out record. He won five games and lost three.
1937—Although hampered by a sore arm part of the season he won nine and lost seven. Twice struck out 12 Yankees.
1938—Established major league record by fanning 18 Detroit batters, but lost the game, 4 to 1. Won 17 games and lost 11.
1939—Became the American League hero in the All-Star game by allowing only one hit in three and two-thirds innings. After relieving Tommy Bridges, who had loaded the bases, Feller forced Arky Vaughan to hit into a double play before 62,000 fans.
Fanned 246 batters during the season, largest number since Walter Johnson whiffed 303 in 1912. Won 24 and lost nine. Not bad going for a kid.

He said he had discussed the matter with Rowe at the close of the season. Rowe will be given every opportunity to prove himself, Zeller declared. Rowe won 10 and lost 12 in 1939.
Zeller disclosed that in the spring of 1937 the Tigers refused to trade Rowe for Charley (Red) Ruffing, ace of the world champion New York Yankees. Rowe finished the 1937 season with Beaumont in the Texas league and Ruffing continued to be all but unbeatable.

"It would have been a good trade for us," Zeller said, "but at that time we couldn't see it. How are you going to know those things in advance?"
Rowe is eight years younger than Ruffing.
Zeller said Ralph (Red) Kress would continue with the Tigers as a coach and utility player.

Minneapolis, (AP)—The Minnesota football squad was drilled Thursday on defense against Northwestern passing plays. Special attention also was given to place kicking from the 30 yard line with Joe Mernik and John Bartelt doing the booting.

MUNISING CAGE PRACTICE OPENS

Only Two Regulars Left; First Game Booked for Dec. 1

Munising, Nov. 2.—Munising's high school hoop ace Wednesday opened their practice sessions for the 1939-40 basketball season. Over forty candidates turned out for the opening get-together but the squad will be trimmed as the season nears.

Emil W. Peterson, former Mather coach, is handling the team until the football season is concluded when Coach Robert Villemure will take over. The Orange and Black have one encounter left on the 1939 football schedule, the Saturday tilt with the St. Joe Griders of Escanaba.

The Mathers will have only two regular players to build their squad upon this year, Ben Montclair and Paul Nadeau, both of whom saw considerable service in the games last season.

Independent Squad Formed At Munising
Munising, Nov. 2.—Munising basketball fans will get another opportunity to see independent basketball here this season and the Lew's squad, who last year were one of the better fives in the upper peninsula, will be sponsored by Harry's Super Service of Munising.

The squad will be managed by Frank Fleming, in competition for berth on the team this year are: Gamelin, Pangborn, Anderson, Villemure, Malone, Johnson and Flemming of last year's Lew's quintet, Perron of Iron Mountain and Olen of Gwinn, as well as other local high school stars.

Teams interested in booking games are asked to write Frank Fleming, Munising, Michigan.

Lafayette, (AP)—Flood lights were turned on before the end of a long Purdue football "drill" Thursday. Coach Mal Edward sent the squad through every detail of its defense for the homecoming game here Saturday against Iowa.

Sunday, their many supporters know that they have what it takes to make a champion.
Records of the teams this season give the Bears a considerable edge in point scoring but the Packers have the advantage in the win and lost columns.

PACKERS PLAY CHICAGO AGAIN

Battle Royale Expected When Old Rivals Tangle Sunday

Green Bay, Wis., Nov. 2.—The Green Bay Packers meet the Chicago Bears Sunday at Wrigley field in Chicago in a game which will decide for most fans whether the 1939 Packer eleven is worthy of ranking alongside the four other teams from Green Bay which in the past won the title of world champion professional football team.

Regardless of its effect on the final outcome of the 1939 National Pro league standings—and it will be the stiffest test the Packers have faced or will face all season. George Halas' Bears have lost two games in a row, to New York and Detroit. To lose three in a row would be something unheard of in Chicago Bear history for many a year. It would break Halas' heart and would relegate a supposedly all-conquering Chicago eleven to the depths of the standings.

Then too the Bears took a very definite licking at Green Bay earlier in the season, 21 to 15, a fact which the Bears have been emphasizing in practice all week. If the Packers come through this

The Detroit club recently offered to look for a minor league manager for Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe but he preferred to take his chances as a big league pitcher again next spring, it was disclosed today.

HOSPITAL PLAN IS SUCCESSFUL

St. Francis One of Four U. P. Institutions Cooperating

Enrollment in the Michigan Society of Group Hospitalization, of which St. Francis hospital, of this city, is a member, has passed the 50,000 mark, John R. Masnik of Detroit, society director, reports in a communication received this week.

Organized last spring, the society has grown rapidly. It offers a state-wide non-profit hospital service plan to employed persons and their families at low monthly rates. The communication stated that one out of every hundred persons in the state is now protected by this plan.

Four Others in U. P.
The majority of subscribers, at present, are residents of the Detroit area, but the demand has been so great that already district offices have been opened in Flint, Saginaw, Pontiac, Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo and will be established soon in Lansing, Muskegon and Marquette.

Four hundred business organizations are cooperating with the society to make the service available to their employees throughout the state. Among them are gas and oil companies and several insurance companies.

In addition to the Escanaba hospital, others in the upper peninsula, member of the society, are St. Luke's and St. Mary's at Marquette; Grandview at Ironwood, and Chippewa County War Memorial hospital in Sault Ste. Marie.

More than 1,100 individuals have been hospitalized under the plan during the past six months. Although the majority have received care at participating hospitals in the state, others were protected while hospitalized in Europe, British West Indies, Canada and all sections of the United States.

Many Benefits
Under the plan a single subscriber is entitled to 21 days of hospitalization a year for as little as two cents a day. Each member of an entire family, including husband, wife and all children from one to 19 years of age, is entitled to 21 days of hospitalization a year for only five cents a day.

Benefits include: room, meals, and dietary service, use of the operating room as often as necessary, anesthesia when administered by a salaried employee of the hospital, general nursing care, all ordinary drugs and dressings and routine clinical laboratory service. In addition, maternity care, including use of the delivery room and care for the mother and infant, is furnished after the subscriber has been enrolled for 12 consecutive months.

The society offers the only plan in the state that is approved by the Michigan Hospital association, Michigan State Medical society, Michigan State Nurses association, American Hospital association and American College of Surgeons. The plan is operated by non-profit hospitals of the state.

Assembly Program Enjoyed At E. H. S.

Devoting the first part of the program to selections from the better-known operas, the Merhoff quartet was exceptionally well-received at the Senior high school lyceum program yesterday morning.

The first numbers were excerpts from "Carmen" by Bizet and a Spanish dance by Ruth Pryor. Following this Walter Merhoff sang "Shortnin' Bread" and then "Three Blind Mice" with audience participation. "The Toreador Song" was then sung by Walter Merhoff, Ella Steele, and Louis Kristian. Miss Pryor then danced a Strauss Waltz followed by several numbers by the quartet. Their program ended with the

Coast Guard Rescues Deer

Vilho Olli, Grand Marais young man who was recently transferred from the United States coast guard at Grand Marais to a coast guard station at Charlotte, New York, had the unusual experience soon after occupying his new position of rescuing two buck deer from the water. The two deer, one a six point buck and the other an eight pointer, were swimming straight north toward Canada and rapidly becoming mere pin points on the water's surface. The coast guard was summoned and a picket boat pursued the deer overtaking them a mile and a half from shore. The deer was lassoed, feet tied, and pulled aboard, and later loaded on the coast guard truck and released in the woods. The picture above shows Vilho in the act of pulling one in after lassoing it. Both still and moving pictures were taken and a New York paper printed a picture and carried an account of the affair.

Munising Youth Visits Many Places In Navy

Munising—It's nice to see the world, but Anthony Pawlowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pawlowski of Foster's Addition, Munising, is glad to get back once in a while and visit his parents. Anthony is serving his third year in the United States Navy and during the time he has been with the government forces he has seen quite a bit of foreign territory. He has been visiting here for several weeks.

Anthony enlisted in the navy in November, 1936, and has spent most of the time since aboard the U. S. S. Tennessee, one of the largest battleships in the U. S. Navy. On enlistment he was sent to the Great Lakes Training Station in Chicago for five months. There he was given his land training in marching, drilling with heavy and light artillery and with infantry. From there he was sent to the Pacific coast where he boarded the U. S. S. Tennessee. The Tennessee is one of the "big five" in the United States Navy and is 624 feet long. It carries a crew of 1,000 men and 150 officers. The full crew in time of war would number 1,500.

Home port of the ship is Long Beach, Calif. From there Anthony has sailed for Hawaii, Panama, Porto Rico, Haiti and New York. The ship this year sailed from its home port through the Panama Canal and spent three weeks anchored in New York harbor. There the "gobs" had the opportunity to see many of the sights of New York and the World's Fair. Anthony stated that wherever the ship docks the crew has the opportunity to take sight-seeing trips.

Youths enlisting in the navy are apprentice seamen. From that Anthony has risen through fireman, third class, second class, and first class to the rank of machinist's mate, second class, and is stationed with the engineer's force.

He questioned the veracity of the statement that "sailors have a girl in every port" but the Munising youth hedged the answer. "I wouldn't say that," he said. "I'd say that they have friends in every port. I guess I'll be going along. I've got a date tonight."

"Blue Danube Waltz" sung by the quartet and danced by Miss Pryor. The student audience was very enthusiastic over the performance and called for several encores. The group was introduced by Annette Anderson, chairman of the Capella choir.

Punishment Fitted To Crime As Boys Pay For Their Fun

The boys had their fun Halloween night and a lot of folks without modern plumbing conveniences found themselves somewhat embarrassed the next morning, but Sheriff William E. Miron and his deputies are busy these days seeing that the boys right the wrongs they did.

Deputy Paul Creten spent yesterday in the Rock vicinity, rounding up the pranksters and seeing that they restored the property they overturned. Deputies were about the same business Wednesday and there is still some work to be done.

Residents of the vicinities of Pine Ridge, with a casualty list of six; Nahma, with nearly a dozen; Rock, with half a dozen; Wells and Perkins with about eight each, suffered the most. There were other offenses about the county with the total reaching the vicinity of 50, Sheriff Miron reported.

In some instances, the offenders were recognized at the time of their mischief and others are being traced down by the officers

HUNTERS URGED TO BE CAREFUL

CCC Enrollees Endangered While Working In Woods

An appeal to deer and bear hunters to be careful while hunting in the vicinity of CCC camps during the coming season, Nov. 15 to 30, was issued yesterday by Lieut. W. C. Peffer, commander of the Mormon Creek camp.

Commander Peffer stated that he fears for the safety of the 200 enrollees of his camp, who will be working in the area where a group of bears have been an attraction for many tourists during the past several months. He said that it would be quite futile for hunters to try to hunt bears in that area now, however, for the bears have gone into hibernation for the winter. Not a single bear was shot in the vicinity of the Mormon Creek camp last season.

Tourists from all states of the Union, Mexico, Canada and even Hawaii, were attracted by the bears at Mormon Creek last summer. CCC enrollees provided a sightseeing station in the vicinity of the garbage dump, which was visited daily by the animals while foraging for food.

Thief Repents And Returns Stolen $25

The police yesterday were scratching their heads over the case of the big hearted thief who reportedly took $46 from a purse in the home of the Alfred Uplands, 1222 Stephenson avenue, then slunk back to the house a little later and left $25 in the mail box.

The purse, Mrs. Upland told police, was on the dining room table, when the thief entered the back door and snatched the money, leaving through the basement and leaving undisturbed. The Uplands were upstairs at the time.

Patrolman John Sullivan investigated and notified school officials and store keepers of the neighborhood to look out for stray bills in the hands of youngsters. The Uplands said it was too dark at the time of the mailbox return for them to identify the man who left the money, although they saw him leave it and run.
