

CIVIL SERVICE GETS APPROVAL

Council Gives Unanimous Vote on 1st Reading of Ordinance

The city council last night passed, on first reading, a civil service ordinance to govern city employees, sanctioned a plan for new lights on Stephenson avenue, and considered meat sales regulation and a request from the National Guard for an advance of $2,000 to aid establishment of a unit here.

The civil service ordinance will be up for final passage at the next council meeting and will become effective as soon as possible thereafter, although specific provisions as to the effective date have not yet been made.

The ordinance creates a "civil service department", consisting of a civil service commission and a personnel officer. Under present plans City Manager George E. Bean will act as personnel officer, although allowance is made for appointment later, if this is considered advisable.

The commission will include three persons who shall be chosen by the city council from a list of nine candidates. These candidates will be nominated by a committee of three, including one representative of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, one representative of the Escanaba Trades and Labor Council and one member to be chosen by the city manager from the public school staff.

The commissioners will serve six year terms, except that in inaugurating the commission, one shall be named for two years, one for four years and another for six years, with one commissioner to be named every two years. Thus, it was explained, each city council will have opportunity to name one member to the commission.

Present city employees who have served for six months or more are not required to take examinations to hold their places, but those who have been serving less than six months will be considered on a trial basis. In the same manner that any new employee hired under the new ordinance shall serve a six months probationary period. Such present employees may count time already served against their total of six months probation.

All city employees will be under civil service except: (1) All officers elected by the people, (2) All boards and commissions appointed by the mayor or city manager with the confirmation of the city council, (3) Election officials, (4) The city manager, city clerk, city assessor, and other department directors, (5) Other employments excepted by the city charter and administrative code and employments made exempt by statute.

Among other things the civil service commission is given power to prepare, recommend and administer a classification plan covering all positions to which the ordinance applies; to prepare, recommend and after adoption by the city council, to administer a compensation plan covering all classes of civil service positions; to administer tests to determine qualifications of applicants; to certify names of persons eligible for appointments.

Powers and duties of the commission include adoption of rules for the regulation of civil service matters; hearing of appeals of employees who are suspended, reduced in pay, demoted or discharged from the service and making findings thereon which shall be binding and final on supervising and appointing officers. Also it may hear appeals of aggrieved parties concerning any action taken by the personnel officer.

Rules for administration of the civil service shall be prepared by the personnel officer and submitted to the commission for adoption, rejection or amendment, which may be effected at any regular meeting by a majority vote of the commission. Adoption, amendment or repeal of a rule by the commission thereafter shall be done only in writing of the proposed action at a previous meeting and shall be entered in the minutes, with final action to be delayed five days to allow posting and publication of the proposal.

Rules and amendments adopted by the commission shall be submitted to the city council, which shall within four weeks approve or disapprove such rules. Or in the event the council does not act in such time, the action of the commission will govern.

The ordinance provides that vacancies shall be filled by promotions within the departments. The commission is to establish its own code with regard to suspensions, reductions, demotions and discharges, and any time within 10 days after action on such matter, the employee may appear in writing to the commission for investigation and review of the case.

Within two weeks, the commission must hold a public hearing and within five days after the hearing the commission shall either sustain the appointing authority or reinstate the employee.

"The decision of the civil service commission in such matters shall be binding and final," says the ordinance.

"Also the ordinance states, 'Every employee of the city shall fulfill to the best of his abilities, the duties of his office or position and shall prove himself in his behavior worthy of the esteem which his position requires.'"

The document provides for 10 days sick leave per year and two weeks vacation with pay. The sick leave shall be cumulative up to 52 days.

The ordinance was passed unanimously on motion of Council

High Financiers Named In $155,000,000 Waste

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Powerful figures in finance were named today in a federal court suit against the General Motors corporation and 34 officers and directors which alleged $155,000,000 had been "misappropriated, wasted and squandered."

The stockholders' suit, brought by Charles E. Singer, holder of 1,400 shares of General Motors common, asserted the alleged waste had resulted from bonuses and stock deals between 1930 and 1935.

Among the defendants named were Julius S. Morgan, Jr., John J. Raskob, Owen D. Young, William S. Knudsen, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., Charles F. Kettering and Irene DuPont.

Singer asked that the defendants be enjoined temporarily from continuing the alleged acts and claimed that a loss of 2,152,000 shares of General Motors common stock had resulted from operations of General Motors Shares, Inc., successor to an affiliate known as Motors Management Corporation, which involved establishment of bonus award funds. The stock involved, he claimed, had a value in excess of the amount indicated.

The complaint claimed that under an agreement dated March 12, 1930, the directors of General Motors organized, or caused to be organized, the Management Corporation with an authorized common stock of 50,000 shares and a capitalization of $10,500,000.

Senior executives of General Motors, the complaint continued, acquired $8,800 shares of common stock for $2,850,000, and for each share of Management Corporation stock held, were allocated "two

EVIL OLD MEN HONOR GARNER

Dallas, Texas, Editors Check Six-Guns and Recount 'Sins'

Dallas, Nov. 16 (AP)—Members of the Texas Editorial Association checked their knuckle-dusters and six-guns outside tonight and recounted their own "sins" at an "evil old men's dinner" held in honor of Vice President Garner.

The editors, all Texas journalists 20 years or longer, dug into their pasts for events enabling them to call themselves "evil as the vice president."

The speakers' table was adorned with signs of racketeers and outside the door pretty Betty Phillips of Dallas relieved the editors of their artillery and brass knuckles.

One group toasted the vice president's portrait with milk.

Lewis Bailey, Dallas editor who presided, related the dinner was in honor of a man whose evil had found him out, but who had been able to down it and win a wide circle of admirers.

The dinner, held in connection with the association's convention, was inspired by a remark made by John L. Lewis, CIO president, several weeks ago in which he referred to Garner as a "poker playing, whisky drinking, evil old man."

Jackson Prison Break Safeguards Outlined

Better pay for guards in all Michigan penal institutions and a standard uniform also were recommended.

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 16 (AP)—The state corrections commission recommended today the installation at southern Michigan prison of various electric devices which would make the escape of prisoners more difficult.

These devices would include a photo-electric beam alarm system for the roof of cell blocks, a tear gas system for the main gate, and an electric eye gun detector for use at the main gate. This equipment would cost $11,900.

Warden Harry Jackson of southern Michigan prison reported that a barrier was now being constructed around the No. 1 guard tower, key point in the sensational Nov. 5 break in which six convicts were involved and inspector of guards Fred Boucher was slain.

A continuation of the school for guards at southern Michigan prison was recommended.

The commission commended Deputy Warden Glenn Carpenter and his inmate chauffeur, Rollie Ward, for their service at the time of the Nov. 5 break. Ward drove the official's car to the main gate in time for use in quick pursuit of the convicts. All were captured.

Guards Harry Glarr and Duncan Gillis were commended for firing on the prisoners during the break, and guards Charles Westrip and Richard Renour were praised for their part in the recapture.

Electric eye devices, machine guns and tear gas equipment were recommended for the state branch prison at Marquette. Leslie P. Keegan, Bay City member of the commission, observed that this was the third time in five years that additional safety devices had been recommended for the Marquette institution, but had not been forthcoming for lack of funds.

Warden Marvin L. Coon of the Marquette prison said that institution needed $12,000 for safety devices. He reported that a guard cage had been constructed to prevent a recurrence of the type of break experienced there a few weeks ago. Coon pointed out that his budget had been reduced this year while the prison population was growing from 735 to 756.

Kefauver said he favored an $1,800 minimum for guards.

Warden Jackson said the southern Michigan prison population was increasing at the rate of 73 persons per month and that by next July 1 it appeared likely he would have 6,059 prisoners with a budget based on a prison population of 5,200. There are only 16 vacant cells, he said.

Jackson declared that prison guard personnel was below what it should be in number. Forty five men were graduated today from the guard school.

A resolution on the death of Inspector Boucher was adopted.

The commission adjourned at 5 p. m. without discussing the fate of Warden Coon of Marquette. Critics have sought his removal because of the break at his prison last month. The commission selected no date for its next meeting.

Graduates of the prison guard school went through a drill on the prison grounds and received their diplomas in exercises closing the commission session. Commission members and the warden inspected the guard school and Warden Coon and Jackson, among others, gave brief talks.

Of the 45 graduates, 22 will go into service as probationary guards tomorrow at the southern Michigan prison and 15 will be placed in similar posts at Ionia reformatory. The remaining seven will start as probationary guards at Marquette Monday.

Warden Jackson announced he would move the parole board hearing room from the prison rotunda to the first floor of the service building, with protective bars to be installed. At Marquette, the four convicts in the September escape, and recapture, had invaded a parole meeting and seized members of the group for hostages.

Four hunters were lost Wednesday in Chippewa and Mackinac counties but found their way out of the woods safely within a few hours.

bach (Washington) and Minton (Indiana).

Others mentioned included Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson, (New York), Senator Wagner (New York), Donald R. Richberg, Judges Samuel Rosenman and Ferdinand Pecora (New York), Dean Landis of the Harvard law school, President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago, and Dean Lloyd K. Garrison of the University of Wisconsin law school.

Good Story Teller

Justice Butler, born 73 years ago in a Minnesota log cabin, died in a hospital here at 4:14 a. m., after a three-month struggle against a bladder ailment. He had served on the court since 1922, when he was appointed by President Harding, and participated in many of its momentous decisions.

A big man, with a round ruddy face, thin fuzzy hair and piercing blue eyes, he was much esteemed for his good humor and penchant for genial story telling. He loved to play golf.

His death brought from his old adversary, President Roosevelt, a formal statement of regret and a personal note to Mrs. Butler saying he had always regarded the justice as a "personal friend" and adding that: "His undoubtedly great ability, his complete frankness in the expression of his philosophy and his honest convictions commanded my respect, and, in common with his many friends, I sincerely regret his untimely passing."

Leaves Six Children

When the supreme court met at noon, Chief Justice Hughes solemnly announced Butler's death and the court, in respect, adjourned until next Wednesday.

"Trained in the exacting school of a most active professional practice," Hughes said, "Pierce Butler brought to this court not only his learning in the law but a rich store of practical experience. His fidelity, his courage and forthrightness, which were his outstanding characteristics, made him a worthy warrior for his convictions, and he served the court with great ability and indefatigable industry, and an unwavering loyalty to its traditions and to his lofty conceptions of its function in preserving our constitutional heritage."

Attorney General Murphy issued a statement saying the nation had "lost in Justice Butler one who served with ability and faithfulness." Butler, he said, "took his stand on the grave issues of our times with a rugged integrity and unwavering obedience to his conception of the right."

HITLER AIMS OFFENSIVE AT GREAT BRITAIN

Time Not Specified

Certainly there was lacking any hint of a German major offensive to make good the threat. Yet the challenge raised a new question of just how, when and where German leadership plans to set about so ambitious a task as destruction of British world influence.

The Berlin authority quoted three no light on that. He said Germany would attack only when "military judgment chose the time" and not be "goaded into it by foreign propaganda."

Such an assertion revises speculation over a persistent report that there is a wide difference of opinion in the Nazi high command, not only as to when and where to attack the Franco-British allies in the west; but as to whether there should be such an attack at all. That rumor circulates at a time when both allied and neutral observers are wondering why Germany has let her initial advantage of immediate readiness for the conflict, particularly in the air, slip away. It comes through seemingly unimpeachable neutral sources.

Army Unenthusiastic

What it says, in effect, is that the high army command in Germany stood ready to guarantee nothing in the west beyond its ability to hold the Siegfried line against French or Franco-British attack while the Polish partition adventure was carried through. Conservative German soldiers of experience are reported to have turned thumbs down on any major attack in the west, even after Poland had been wiped off the world map by the Russo-German deal.

There has been much to indicate to neutral diplomats personally familiar with the situation in Berlin just prior to the Nazi march into Poland that the dubious partnership with Soviet Russia was repugnant to that conservative army opinion. It raised grave fears in soldier minds, now substantially confirmed, that it would jeopardize the Rome-Berlin axis and nullify the military alliance clause of that German-Italian compact.

If this version of the split between Nazi diplomats and army leaders over policy is correct, it would do more to explain the strange lethargy into which the war has fallen than any other theory yet advanced. It means that there is continuing tension between the Nazi foreign office and the Nazi general staff which must be perplexing Fuehrer Hitler's inner councils increasingly.

Politicians Do Talking

About all that can be made of it at this distance is a conclusion that at least an important wing of Germany's military opinion believes that the only victory possible to Germany is a negative one. Nazi soldiers have stoutly maintained that they could hold the west wall. Talk of "bloodbath" air attack on the allies and "complots" came wholly from Nazi political figures, including the Fuehrer himself and Von Ribbentrop, his foreign minister.

It seems possible that the Nazi general staff is challenging Von Ribbentrop to make good his reputed boast that Poland could be gobbled without serious fighting in the west. The new smash-Britain slogan sounds a good deal like foreign office whistling in the dark to keep German public spirits buoyed despite another peace offensive repulse, and a widening breach between Berlin and Rome.

Gerald Has Fright, But Recovers Fast; Skeleton's Bedmate

Gerald McDonald, 419 South Ninth street, a truck driver, underwent a test of nerves the other day that should qualify him for the most grueling of driving assignments. He showed that he is not very nervous, but admitted that a smoke and someone to talk to helped overcome a bad situation.

When the L & L Trucking company here removed the contents of the abandoned Laing hospital a few days ago, most of the odds and ends of beds and furniture were disposed of. But there was a human skeleton among the remains that no one seemed to want.

So the skeleton was hung up by a string along the store room wall of the trucking terminal. Grover Lewis, head of the concern, fearing that some driver, arriving early in the morning and in the dark might take fright at the sight, gave instructions that the skeleton should be taken down and covered up.

There was a quilted furniture pad handy so someone laid the skeleton down along a wall, and threw the pad over it.

Gerald was on the job at three o'clock that morning, but it was very foggy and he decided to have a nap while the fog lifted. Yes, he pulled the furniture pad over him to keep warm. And of course, he nudged the skeleton and it felt cold and Gerald's eyes bulged out when he discovered his bedmate.

But he was disconcerted only temporarily.

"I just looked at it closer to see what it was," he said. "Another driver came in about that time and we sat down and had a cigarette together. I pulled out my regular run to Green Bay at 4 o'clock, though, even if it was still pretty foggy."

Gerald did not run off the road enroute.

The skeleton is still hanging on the wall if anyone can think of a good use for it.

NO VENISON IN TRAILERS

Lansing, Nov. 16 (AP)—Attorney General Thomas Reid held today that butchered venison may not be transported in a trailer.

A trailer dweller, Vera Davis, of Alton, raised the question. While it is legal to keep venison in the home, Reid declared, "when that home or residence gets onto wheels and starts moving on the highways of the state it takes on the properties of a conveyance." The law is specific, he said, in forbidding the transportation of portions of venison.

man Carl Johnson, seconded by Harold Gasman, Councilman Carl Richter was not present.

The council authorized expenditure of $215 for installation of new lights, like those on Ludington street, along Stephenson avenue from Ludington street to the Chicago and North Western railway, with an extra light near Third avenue north, a dangerous intersection. Because of a decreased wage use under this plan, Manager Bean said, the $215 investment will be saved annually, and the street will be better lighted than if old fixtures taken from Ludington street were installed.

There was no dissent on the vote.

Action with regard to inspection of meat being sold in the city direct from farmer to consumer was delayed for investigation. Suggestions were made that the city should establish its own slaughter house or at least require city supervision of the slaughter of all animals sold for meat in Escanaba.

Henry F. Newkirk, sanitarian of the county health office, called attention to the absence of regulations.

Council members expressed themselves strongly in favor of helping to establish the National Guard unit here, but balked at a request from the organization to advance $2,000 to be repaid in installments. The banking business, the council held, is for some one else.

Harold Gasman and the city manager, however, were delegated to try to work out a satisfactory solution, so that the unit may obtain an armory here, probably in one of the Fairground buildings.

A request of the Boy Scouts for a $200 donation was held over and the council passed a motion to place special assessments due in 1938 on the tax rolls for this year, in deference to those assessed.

A resolution was passed providing for hearings on pavement proposals for Third avenue south between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets and on Sixth avenue south between Eleventh and Twelfth streets.

NYA AVIATION SCHOOL OPENS

Ground Training Course Is Established At Ironwood

Chester J. Ross, U. P. NYA director, has announced that aviation ground training is underway at the NYA Resident Training Project, Ironwood Homesteads, Ironwood. The Ironwood Center is one of 10 designated locations in Michigan where the N.Y.A. is sponsoring aviation mechanics training units, in cooperation with the Civil Aeronautics Authority. Training units will open at Houghton, Marquette and Iron Mountain in the near future.

Col. Myron A. Sine is in charge of the ground training at Ironwood and assumed duties on November 1. Considerable preliminary testing of the 60 students already enrolled in the course will be conducted before actual class-work begins.

Col. Sine is exceptionally well qualified to teach all phases of aviation. He served with the U. S. Army Air Corps Reserve for 20 years, and possesses membership to a flying club organized in 1912 by the Wright Brothers, inventors of the airplane. He has devoted 8 years to instructing aviation mechanics and flying, and possesses the following ratings: all U. S. Army Air Corps ratings, the C.A.A. Commercial Pilot License, 1-2S-3S, the C. A. A. Flight Instruction Rating and the Airplane and Engine Maintenance License.

It is expected that the first fifty weeks of instruction will be devoted entirely to theory, text work, and demonstration. All recommendations of the Civil Aeronautics Authority will be followed in conducting the course, and it will be possible for youths who pass these standards and continue into the secondary course of shop practice to take the test for the Airplane and Engine Maintenance License.

In addition to the aviation ground course offered at the Ironwood Resident Training Project, instruction in sheet metal, auto mechanics, lathe operation, carpentry and plumbing is available under the supervision of teachers hired by the WPA Division of Education and the NYA. Eighty youths from practically all counties of the U. P. are now enrolled.

Youth of the U. P. between the ages of 18 and 24 who are eligible for NYA certification and wish further information on these training units should contact their local NYA office or MSES office.

MICHIGAN and Wisconsin are witnessing a sample of the difficulties that arise when the various states set up trade barriers with the mistaken notion of protecting their home industries.

Wisconsin has been forcing Michigan truckers to purchase dual licenses to operate in the Badger state, but when the Michigan department of state recently decided to make Wisconsin truckers do likewise...

This particular incident recalls the many difficulties that have been caused between the various states in recent years because of the setting up of trade barriers.

Questions for Manistique

MANISTIQUE folks are talking over a couple of problems which have been coming to a head for some time and bid fair to be surmounted soon.

One of them is the prospective establishment of a Chamber of Commerce in that city, which has been without an organization of the kind for some time.

Few Upper Peninsula cities entertain more tourist visitors than Manistique does, but it is commonly remarked that not sufficient numbers of the many thousands who make the around Lake Michigan tour...

The second problem which must be solved is the matter of better markings on the roads leading to the east and west shores of Indian Lake.

The Hiawatha forest probably has more inland lakes than the Ottawa and the Marquette forests together can show, and a trip out beyond Indian Lake to the greenwoods is a revelation of fine sandy beaches, good forest roads, wild life, and growing resorts.

St. Lawrence Waterway Up Again

SPEAKING in the House of Representatives at Washington a few days ago, Congressman Wm. A. Pittenger of Minnesota called attention to the fact that Canada has advocated a willingness to resume formal diplomatic conversations with the State Department at Washington on the subject of the deep waterway to the sea project.

"A press dispatch indicates that Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario is adopting a friendly attitude and that he is more favorable to the St. Lawrence Waterway treaty which will lead up to the sailing of large ocean-going vessels from the Atlantic to the Great Lakes," said the Congressman.

The deep waterway question has been laid on the shelf for some time, and Premier Hepburn had a good deal to do with putting it there. His sudden change of front may be attributed to new plans formulated by the British for the establishment of huge arsenals and munition plants in Canada, where they will be comparatively safe from the ravages of European warfare.

If these plans are carried out, Canada is likely to become a much stronger competitor of the United States in the markets of the world, not only in munitions, but in many other lines.

The Forest Service was assigned to the task of removing the debris and marketing the merchantable timber. The latest development has been the signing of a $14,400,000 contract for the purchase of 600,000,000 board feet of the salvaged timber by a cooperative group of lumber wholesalers.

Prominently identified with the New England salvage operations are two former Upper Peninsula residents. They are Leslie Bean, former supervisor of the Hiawatha National Forest at Munising, and E. Glen Amon, former county agent supervisor and in recent years in charge of CCC work for the Forest Service in the Lake States region.

Good Salvage Job

MUCH publicity has been given in recent weeks to the job of salvaging about three billion feet of timber which was blown down in New England forests when a hurricane swept over that region in the fall of 1938.

Reports from New England indicate that the Forest Service has done a good job. This was to be expected for it is a well-trained organization, which for many years has given scientific study to forest practices and knows how to get results.

READY FOR SNOW (Milwaukee Journal)

Reports from upper Wisconsin counties say that the highway crews are ready for snow. Snow fence posts have been placed and miles of snow fences soon will be stretched across the land.

That's good preparatory work, but there ought to be no reason for it, least of all in upper Wisconsin.

Upper Wisconsin of course is planting many miles of "living snow fences." For this good work responsible officials deserve acclaim. But the state needs of this kind of road protection. It especially needs more of it in the north, because it there still can buy needed wide rights-of-way at reasonable prices.

Living snow fences require room. The rights-of-way must be wide enough not only for the road, but for trees and shrubs by the sides of the road. And these cannot be mere thin lines of hardwoods or even of conifers. They ought to be considerable thickets, made up of several rows of mixed conifers and low growing shrubs.

In the north such planting probably must be a public job, since there are many miles of roads for comparatively few landowners. In southern Wisconsin the plantings well might be undertaken by private landowners. If numbers of them did it, they might protect considerable stretches of roads important to them and now too often drifted over.

London — The elfin figure of brown-skinned, bespectacled Mahatma Gandhi is casting its formidable shadow across embattled Britain today.

Whether this powerful mystical little man and his India Congress, now embarked upon another passive resistance campaign, can seriously cripple India's military cooperation with England, is a new problem to beget sorely tried British statesmen.

It is pointed out here that most of the war-like, soldier races of India are not in sympathy with Gandhi's aims. Neither are the semi-independent rulers of the native states, who promptly offered both men and money in support of the King-Emperor upon the outbreak of war.

But the current crisis, resulting from the Congress' protest against Britain's refusal to consider constitutional reforms for India until after the end of the European war, illustrates anew how difficult is the problem of dealing with this far-off land and its 350,000,000 people of conflicting races and religions.

In the first few days after Britain went into the war against Germany, it had appeared as if it had back of it a unanimous India. Then some of the responsible leaders took second thoughts. Gandhi, spiritual and political leader of a vast portion of India, made a swift about-face.

At the first he seemed ready to back England's cause. Then he and others, representing the India Congress, propounded questions. They did not like the sending of Indian troops to Singapore, Egypt and Aden as outlying defenses for India. They did not like Britain's classing India as one of the belligerents against Germany without consulting Indians. Finally, while denouncing the Nazi invasion of Poland, they asked the Viceroy of India this question:

"Britain says it is fighting for democracy. What democracy are you willing to concede to the people of India? —OTHER PARTIES MAKE PROTESTS—

The grievance was that the act, ultimately providing for a government which would virtually make India a self-ruling dominion, had in part been suspended during the present war.

On the other hand, the All-India Muslim League criticized the British government's proposed self-rule for India, because they alleged it fixed Hindu domination over the 75,000,000 Moslems.

Then came a telegram from representatives of the Liberal party, the Hindu Mahasabha, the Democratic Swarajya party, and the depressed classes, often called the "untouchables," in which they scouted the idea that the India Congress could talk for all Hindus. They pointed out that Gandhi, Vallabhai Patel and Pandit Nehru had all at first backed England in her war, but were now "bargaining."

This led Gandhi to declare: "The India of Congress conception cannot be a partner with Germany."

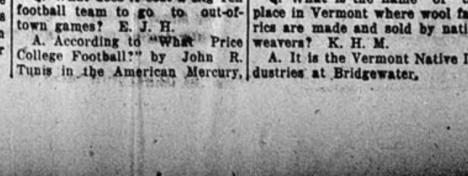

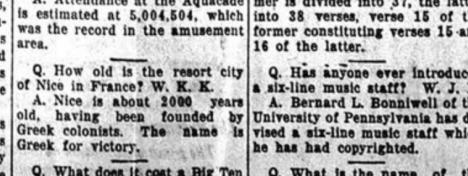

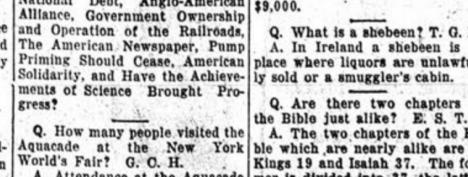

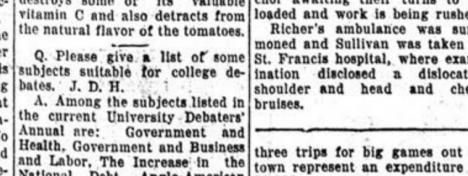

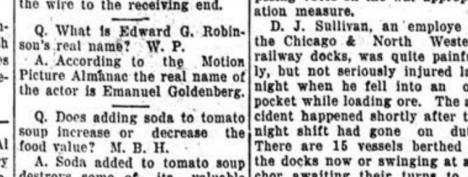

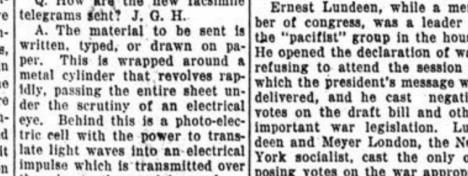

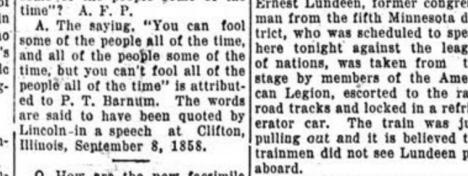

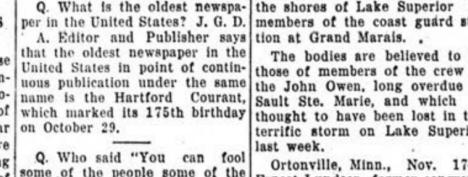

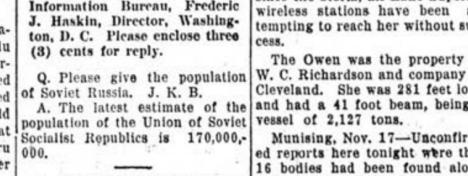

Lord Zetland, Secretary of State for India, just the other day made a clever move which will do much to checkmate the India Congress. He announced that Indians, Anglo-Indians and Burmans, who are in Great Britain at present, will be on the same footing as British subjects of pure European descent as regards voluntary enlistment in the army, navy or air force and will also be on an equal footing when it comes to getting commissions based on soldierly merits.

It has always been galling to young Indians, studying in the various British schools and colleges, to find themselves barred from the British armed forces purely on the grounds of race.

leave from Alcatraz of its first citizen, Al Capone. He makes the front pages every day. And in this O'Hare killing, connections are laid bare that are astounding. A judge in the racket division of the municipal court was the business partner of O'Hare in a real estate venture. This same judge dismissed 2,331 gambling cases during his first four months on that bench. He convicted only 13 and later vacated the judgments in six of these. No wonder a Chicago grand jury said it could get no help from the regular law enforcement agencies.

Once let the gamblers and the race track racketeers into a community and their threads run through the civic body like the cords of a cancer.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—The Admirals may not like it, but the Navy is in for some rigorous overhauling at the next session of Congress. Already Congressman Vinson of Georgia, chairman of the House Naval Affairs Committee, has introduced a bill aimed to cut out the rivalry between the Bureau of Engineering and the Bureau of Construction and Repair. It was the bungling of these bureaus which resulted in the top-heavy construction of the new destroyers.

Most people don't realize it, but the organization of the Navy today is a fearful structure based upon the Naval Bill of 1842. One feature of this organization is a serio-comic division of responsibility for construction and design, which may be hard on the taxpayer, but serves as a perfect alibi for the Admirals in case of defective ships.

ADMIRALS HATE RESEARCH—Real scandal in the Navy, however, is not the defective destroyers, but the ossified intellects of certain officers who are responsible for hamstringing any attempts at naval research.

During the 1938 session of Congress, the House included in the naval appropriation bill $15,000,000 for experimentation and research, but when it got to the Senate the Admirals ruled it out. It is not often that any government department refuses a virtual gift of $15,000,000. But the Admirals were quite firm about it.

"The Navy sees no reason why there should be any authority incorporated in this bill for use of the money as provided in the House bill," they told the Senate Naval Affairs Committee.

ADMIRALS DISLIKE CIVILIANS—The only navy man who publicly opposed the Admirals on this was Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, former commandant of the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J. Shortly after his testimony, Rosendahl was detailed to sea duty.

A vigorous plea for more naval research also came from Lester P. Barlow, developer of the high-powered aerial bomb, who said: "Successful military technicians in civilian life have received such rotten treatment from naval bureaucrats in the past that they hesitate to offer their inventions for patriotic uses. The result is that naval military research is almost stultified."

But at the next session of Congress legislation will be renewed providing more naval research—whether the Admirals like it or not.

Note—The Admirals did not say so, but one reason they opposed the 1938 naval research appropriation was because it was to be conducted under civilian direction, not by Annapolis graduates.

HOOVER'S HOME—Herbert Hoover's 8 Street home in Washington has been rented by the French war supplies mission, which seems to knock on the head the idea, once toyed with by the Hoovers, of coming back into the thick of politics in the Capital.

The French mission will use the ground floor for offices, and reside upstairs. The house formerly was rented by Secretary of War Woodring, who was given a sudden eviction notice by the Hoovers.

When the Hoovers read in the newspapers that the Woodrings had been given such short notice, Mrs. Hoover wrote to Mrs. Woodring apologizing, and explaining that she had intended coming back to Washington to engage in Girl Scout work.

Political pundits, however, remembered Mr. Hoover's desire to vindicate himself, also his behind-the-scenes move to head European refugee work. With the re-entrance of the Hoover house, however, the Hoovers apparently will not come back to Washington.

Note—The Hoover home is on the same street with Woodrow Wilson's, ex-Senator Reed's of Pennsylvania, ex-Under Secretary of State Castle's, and other ex's.

AIR MONOPOLY—New Dealer's won't admit it, but while one branch of their administration is tracking down monopolies in the Justice Department, another branch in the Civil Aeronautics Authority is fostering a monopoly of the most modern vehicle of transportation—transatlantic transportation.

The CAA hearings on a new transatlantic air route, requested by American Export Airlines, has developed into a farce. CAA attorneys have bogged the question down with technicalities and apparently tried to steer away from the main issue, namely whether Pan American Airways shall be given a monopoly of all air routes outside the U.S.A.

The CAA attorney, Sam Gates, even took the initiative in moving to set aside American Export's petition for an air route to Italy, on the ground that it had not received landing privileges there.

Real fact is that no company can receive landing privileges in foreign countries until the State Department chooses to request them, which makes the State Department and the Government the absolute dictator of the monopoly.

Note—Originally founded on Mellon and Whitney money, Pan American Airways has played close to both Democratic and Republican administrations.

Results in (the) election generally confirm that the trend toward conservatism and sound government which became apparent one year ago still continues to mount.

—John M. Hamilton, chairman, Republican National committee.

We have been able to mobilize more soldiers in our overseas possessions during the past few weeks than during the entire war in 1914-18, despite serene success-drafs.

New York Column

BY GEORGE ROSS

New York—Luise Rainer, wistful, large-eyed, is roaming Manhattan again. She is just back from Europe and unaccustomed as yet to a nation where an "air raid" only means the tossing of a pigskin, not a bomb. She had heard about the raids in Switzerland.

"But," she says in her soft, almost misty-like manner, "I had no idea what these raids were like. Almost, we were inclined to laugh at them. But they are no laughing matter when you get to London. The hotel clerks there see that you are equipped with a gas-mask. And when you look at it, and the strained, frightened faces of people who wear them, then you know it is no joke."

"I did a lot of traveling in Europe—Switzerland, Holland, Italy, France and England. In London, I did a play, "Behold the Bridegroom" by Jacques Deval. We opened in April and had a satisfactory run through the summer. It was a very light piece and I had fun doing it.

"But now that Europe tip-toes on the edge of madness, I can't go comedies any longer. They seem so trivial, a pathetic whistling past a row of crosses. I'm glad other people in the theater don't feel the way I do. There would be no laughter and no fun, and that, too, would be tragic."

Luise Rainer will tell you that the star system is all wrong. Who can legitimately be called a star? she asks, mentioning Duse, Adolphe, and Bernhardt.

Miss Rainer came here from Vienna, a young, eager actress who had done nice things there, Hollywood promised her stardom and gave it to her, in all its gaudy, spectacular trimmings.

She was simple and unaffected because she was frightened to death. So the consensus was that she was putting on a very shrewd routine, acting even before she encountered a camera. She thinks no one performer should over-shadow a vehicle. The Group Theater on Broadway is her idea of theatrical acumen and rightness. Each part is as rich as the next and the success of the play depends upon their sum total.

"America is young and vibrant," she says. "But it wants Shakespeare and Rembrandt and Bach. When a man writes a good play, he is 'another Shakespeare.' Or a painter is 'another Rembrandt.' It is all so disheartening and confusing to a young artist who only wishes to do the best he can."

Monied and relaxed, Luise Rainer won't be in professional harness until she sees or hears about something she likes. And then she very likely will become the same promising and brilliant actress she was when she landed here.

Results in (the) election generally confirm that the trend toward conservatism and sound government which became apparent one year ago still continues to mount.

—John M. Hamilton, chairman, Republican National committee.

We have been able to mobilize more soldiers in our overseas possessions during the past few weeks than during the entire war in 1914-18, despite serene success-drafs.

LABRANCHE MAN RESCUES CHILD

Falls In Burning Cabin, Tosses Baby Through Fiery Doorway

Menominee — Kenneth Lutes, 44, painfully burned and homeless, is happy today in his bed at St. Joseph's hospital because he was successful in saving the life of his one-and-a-half-year-old daughter, Janet, at 4 o'clock this morning when the Lutes' one-room house was destroyed by fire.

Lutes is employed at a jobber's camp five and a half miles north of LaBranche in Spalding township, where Mr. and Mrs. Lutes and their two children lived.

"My wife woke up at 4 o'clock this morning and woke me up. The wall behind the heater was blazing," Lutes said from his hospital bed.

"I yelled for my wife to get out of the house and grabbed my little boy, he was born in August, and carried him out. Then I ran back in after Janet.

"By that time the whole house was on fire—it was all flames, just like walking into a furnace. I grabbed Janet, wrapped a blanket around her and started for the door. It was only about 15 feet to the door but I fell before I got there and when I fell I threw Janet out through the door.

"I got up and ran out on myself, my undershirt nearly burned off. It was all the clothes I had on," Lutes said, a grin breaking through his blackened face.

When the Lutes' one-room frame house burned, it burned everything the Lutes owned—household furnishings, food and clothing.

Child Uninjured

Lutes has worked in Menominee county several years, was employed north of LaBranche at a jobber's camp owned by Axel Gustafson of Carney, Gustafson and William Swark of the camp brought Lutes to St. Joseph's hospital where he was entered at 9 o'clock this morning.

The night was cold and Lutes said that he got up about 3:30 a. m. to build up the fire in the heating stove and then went back to bed. The stove must have overheated and started the wall blazing behind it, Lutes said. Mrs. Lutes and the children are being cared for at the camp.

"The little girl just got her finger burned a bit. She was not hurt when I tossed her out," Lutes said.

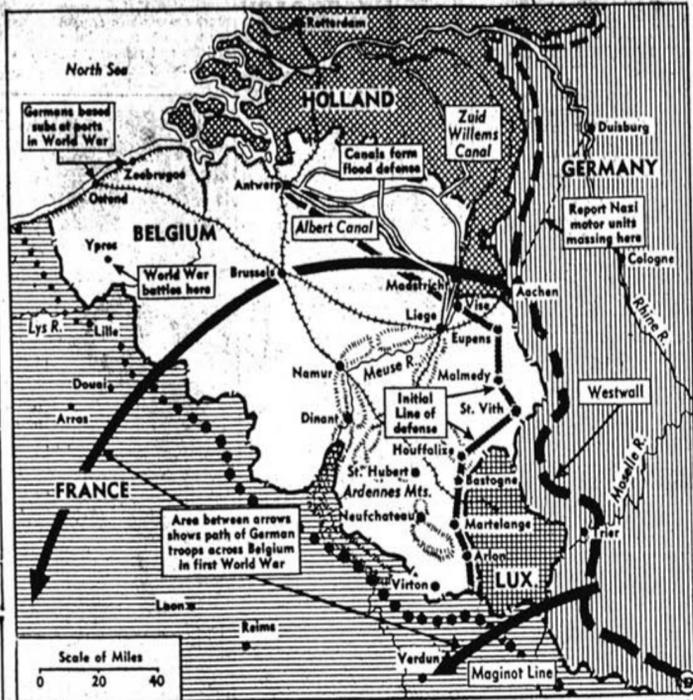

Condition Not Serious

Physicians at St. Joseph's hospital said that Lutes' burns are not deep and that barring infection, his hands will be all right. His face, neck, hands and back were burned.

"I've had bad luck all fall," Lutes said. "First I cut my right foot with an axe, a bad gash that kept me laid up for quite a while. Now this had to happen."

The Lutes were married three years ago this fall. Mrs. Lutes is the former Rose Klekamp, daughter of Mrs. Rose Klekamp of Wisconsin.

German Invasion Again Threatens Belgium

SEVERAL DEER ROAM STREETS

Startled By Hunters In Woods, Animals Take to City Walks

While hundreds of hunters from Escanaba and all over the state were tramping the woods yesterday in search of deer, residents in the vicinity of Lake Shore Drive and Fourteenth street had several running around their yards.

One was a small deer, probably a yearling, it's general course was southeasterly toward the lake, which it entered near Eighth street and Lake Shore Drive, and thereby shook off a pack of dogs that had gathered in its wake.

Policemen were informed of the deer when it became caught in a chicken wire fence at the Mrs. Adeline Gidland residence, 608 South Twelfth street at 7:40 o'clock yesterday morning. Police rushed to the scene, but the deer had freed itself and continued toward the water. It was last seen plunging into the weeds along the shore.

The Harry Ryans of 412 South Fifteenth street, are not among the thousands of hunters in the Upper Peninsula woods this season, but they were closer to venison Thursday morning than many of the red-coated "trekkers." A large buck, probably frightened by shots, ran into the city limits about 8:30 o'clock, leaped over the Ryan back fence, and then jumped over a side fence, disappearing down the block.

Roy Gunnville, who lives near the athletic field, reports that two deer ran into his yard yesterday morning, and then escaped into the woods, chased by Gunnville's dog.

Meanwhile many hunters reported success. Leo Vassau of Flint, who is visiting at the Harry Ryan home, dropped an eight point buck on the opening day of season.

Lee Cooper, Ludington street, brought in a large, 13 point prize yesterday. He killed it near Cornell.

Record-Breaking Trade During December Seen; Railway Boom Arrives

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Park, Mass.—Business continues to gain momentum. This week it is at a new 1939 high. Furthermore, the peak has not yet been reached. With a record-breaking Christmas trade, December should see the highest level of business activity since the boom days of a decade ago! Hidden in this welter of good news is a real story—the story of how the railroads have again cheated the grave-diggers.

For years, economists have forecast that if the railroads could get back half the traffic they lost between 1929 and 1934, the industry could be rescued. Five years slipped by, however, and people lost hope. Yet, in the short space of four months, the long-awaited traffic boom was finally arrived. Carloadings were dropping along at 550,000 per week at the end of July. Today they are above 800,000—closer to the million mark of 1929 than to the half-million mark of 1934. This front-page story has been overlooked in the mass of phony news from Europe, false rumors from Washington, and the "Ham-and-Eggs" ballyhoo from California.

Big Buyers and Employers

The railroad renaissance is real news, however. On the fortunes of the railroad industry depend the livelihood, not only of a few people or a few industries or of a few towns, but the prosperity of hundreds of industries, thousands of communities, and millions of jobholders. The railroads are among the nation's biggest buyers of goods. Each year they purchase millions of dollars worth of iron and steel, copper and coal, lumber and paint. They give jobs to 1,000,000 people directly and 5,000,000 indirectly.

The carriers are our biggest single taxpayers. Their stocks and bonds are owned by more Main Streeters than those of any other industry. More institutions exist on the income from railroad bonds than on any other type of security. The railroad business is entwined and interwoven throughout the entire business fabric of the continent. There can be no real prosperity in America without the railroads sharing!

Aiding Business Boom

They are now participating fully in the present upswing. They have given out thousands of jobs to take care of their increased business. The sensational jump in volume of traffic this Fall has taxed their freight car and locomotive facilities. As a result, more orders for equipment have been shoved through in the past two months than in the entire year 1938. Millions of dollars are being spent on rail replacements, dressing up depots, repairing present rolling stock, and improving road-beds.

The vertical upswing in railroad earnings does not mean, however, that the railroads have suddenly become healthy and robust. The industry has simply been crossed off the danger list and is now convalescing. There are still many individual roads which are facing major operations. As a whole, however, the industry is temporarily in the black. That means that it is paying its bills and its taxes and is earning the interest on its bonds for the first time in months.

Traffic vs. Prices

Railroad traffic today is higher than it has been in any Fall since 1930—higher even than in 1936-7. Here is a comparison of carloadings for the mid-November week for each year since 1929. To show how sour investors are on the industry, I am giving the average price of 30 leading railroad stocks on the same date for each of these years:

Year	Loadings	Price
1929	805,000	$31.30
1930	637,000	21.80
1931	690,000	33.40
1932	785,000	60.10
1933	628,000	36.20
1934	588,000	35.30
1935	578,000	39.90
1936	537,000	24.10
1937	690,000	61.50
1938	881,000	99.00
1929	1,050,000	127.80

Note that today, based on traffic volume, railroad stocks are cheaper than at any time in the past decade, and that means at any time in history. Carloadings are slightly higher than in 1936 at this time, while rail stocks are 50 per cent lower! The same is true of bonds. Ten $1000 bonds—one each of the ten most important bankrupt railroads—can be bought for a total of $1000 today. These same ten bonds would have cost $35000 in 1937. Yet the railroad picture is much brighter today than it was then!

Doubts Fair Treatment

Most investors are convinced that the railroads' basic problems are still with them: Competition, labor, taxes, and politics. I am sure that the railroads will never again experience the prosperity they enjoyed in the 1920's. Yet, through efficient management and a fair level of general business, two-thirds of the mileage could earn enough to pay big taxes, good wages, interest on bonds, and small dividends — if government and labor give them half a chance. Developments in connection with the Old Colony Railroad in Massachusetts make me doubt this, however.

With the type of political leadership we have now, with the public's unfair attitude toward private property, with our shortsighted labor leadership, I would not advise anyone to put railroad securities in the baby's bank. On the other hand, I believe that two-thirds of all railroad securities are today under-valued on the basis of current traffic and earnings. Investors should hold their rail securities for a market rise and then clean out the rotten ones. Meatwhie, manufacturers, jobbers, and salesmen should find railroad purchasing agents in a buying mood. Moreover, some people now out of work should find jobs with the roads themselves or with their suppliers.

MANY ATTEND RITES

Iron River—Iron River and the medical fraternity of three counties paid tribute, when the funeral was held yesterday, to Dr. E. M. Libby, who died as a result of injuries in an automobile accident near Iron Mountain.

Brief rites were conducted in the home on Adams street by the Rev. Fr. George Dingfelder, pastor of St. Agnes' church, as hundreds stood outside waiting to join the long procession to Rest Haven cemetery, where burial was made. Father Dingfelder also conducted a short service at the grave.

The funeral was one of the largest ever held in the city, and floral offerings were numerous.

During the service a trio, composed of Thor Lieung, of Escanaba, violinist; Mrs. J. B. Davidson, of Crystal Falls, cellist; and Mrs. Guy M. Cox, pianist, played Bach's "Ave Maria." Proceeding to Mr. Lieung played two of Dr. Libby's favorite selections, "The Swan" and "Reverie." A lover of music, Dr. Libby often called upon friends to gather at his home to play ensemble numbers.

AUTO ACCIDENT AT CARBONDALE

Green Bay Man Critically Injured; Escanaba Car Involved

Menominee — Robert Stewart Rowe, 28, of Green Bay, was critically injured at 6 a. m. Wednesday on US-41 near Carbondale in a collision involving four cars. The accident occurred during a heavy fog that was freezing on windshields. No other persons were injured.

Rowe suffered a fractured right arm and internal injuries, physicians at St. Joseph's hospital reported. Driving a new wrecker owned by the Main Street Auto Sales of Green Bay, Rowe, who resides at 717 Cherry street in this city, halted to pull a wrecked car from an accident scene. He was injured when a fourth car, driven by Mrs. Wilber Lied of 1105 Stephenson avenue, struck one of the damaged cars, pinning him against the rear end of the wrecker.

Follows Minor Accident

The first accident occurred only a few moments before Rowe drove up with the wrecker, which he was to deliver in Escanaba.

A car driven by Stanley J. Rovinsky, 42, steamboat inspector for the federal government at Duluth, and a light truck driven by Mrs. Mike Elias, 26, of 809 Pierce avenue, Marinette, collided first, one and a half miles south of Carbondale. Mrs. Elias was driving to Escanaba, where she is a nurse in St. Francis hospital.

Rovinsky, former Menominee resident, was here for a vacation and was driving north to go deer hunting when the accident occurred. Officers reported that both cars were going north, that Rovinsky's car hit the rear of the truck driven by Mrs. Elias. The cars were not badly damaged.

Halted to Give Aid

Rovinsky drove his car off the highway, but the Elias truck was left on the highway.

Rowe drove up from the south a moment later, drove around in front of the Elias truck and got out to hook a towing chain between the wrecker and the Elias truck.

While he was between the Elias truck and the wrecker, a car driven by Mrs. Lied coming from the south, hit the rear of the Elias truck, pushing it ahead and crushing Rowe against the rear of the wrecker. Deputy Sheriff John Reindl, who investigated the accident, said Mrs. Lied told him she was driving about 15 miles an hour. Mrs. Lied is not being held.

Three Cars Damaged

Another motorist arriving at the accident scene took Rowe to the hospital in his car. Officers did not learn the name of the motorist.

The Elias, Rovinsky and Lied cars were damaged. The wrecker was not damaged.

Mr. Rovinsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Rovinsky of 1308 Spies avenue, came to Menominee to go deer hunting. He will be here for about two weeks.

Marquette — Approximately 30 members of Richard M. Jopling Post, American Legion, Marquette, are expected to attend the 1940 mid-winter conference of upper peninsula American Legion posts to be held in Manistiquic, Marquette, 19-21, inclusive. Gabe E. Moreau, post commander, said yesterday. The Manistiquic group reports that over 500 delegates will be present.

Raymond J. Kelly, of Detroit, newly elected national Legion commander, has been invited to attend. This alone would make the meeting especially significant. All state officers of the Legion and Auxiliary will conclude their annual visit to upper peninsula posts by attending the mid-winter conference.

PROMOTES WINTER SPORTS

Calumet—M. C. Toll, of Milwaukee, traveling passenger agent for the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, visited in Calumet today on a tour of the Upper Peninsula to get a report on possible and proposed winter sports activities in the district.

Mr. Toll met with officers of the Calumet Chamber of Commerce today and enjoyed a visit to Copper Harbor, a ride over the Broadway Mountain drive and a visit at Eagle Harbor and other points along the way. Though favorably impressed Mr. Toll made no statement as the purpose of this trip, he said, was merely to make a report for the winter sports booklet published by the Milwaukee Road.

His visit calls to attention the need for promoting winter sports in this area and of the Calumet Chamber of Commerce's efforts in seeking to promote this phase of recreation.

Thermometer Tips

Upper Regions But Is Behind Record

The thermometer continued its upward trend yesterday and got up into the sixties but still fell a few points short of the record for the month of November.

Yesterday's maximum reading was 63 degrees which, while though unusually warm for the month of November, was still six degrees below the record set in 1924. It did surpass last year's high of 61, however.

Although yesterday's mark was not a new record, only once in the history of the local weather station has that mark been exceeded for so late in the month. That was 66 degrees on November 26, 1914.

City Repairs Roofs Damaged By Storm

City workmen will be finished this weekend with roof repairs on five city buildings, made necessary by last month's severe hail storm.

Worst damaged was the roof of the blacksmith shop on North Eighth avenue, where workmen are finishing the placing of an entire new roof, at a cost for material of $125. The roof of the filtration plant at the waterworks also is being repaired and patching jobs have been done at the light plant, at the garage and on the city's storehouse on Stephenson avenue.

MINE DISMANTLED

Iron River—The Forbes mine in Mineral Hills, once the bustling mineral property which kept the heads of fifty families at work, is idle today, abandoned to the deep caves of ground which are about to engulf the shaft.

Only two men are still on the payroll, Alvin Guscat, chief clerk, and Earl James, motor vehicle operator.

James has been busy for two weeks driving truckloads of machinery, tools, and other mine equipment to Ishpeming and Negaunee where the North Range Mining company operates the Blueberry and Mary Charlotte mines.

A deep cave of ground covering several blocks lies southeast of the Forbes shaft.

The Brazilian bellbird is a white bird about the size of a pigeon. It derives its name from the sound it makes—like a hammer on an anvil.

Highlights of the program will be a quiz period conducted by Leon Tolversen of the Production Credit Corporation of St. Paul, brief reports from the directors and the election of several members to the board of directors.

B. D. Kuhn, Menominee county agent, and Gottfried S. Johnson, Director of the Farm Credit Administration at St. Paul will deliver short talks during the afternoon meeting.

Refreshments will be served during the noon hour and the members and their friends will be guests of the local association.

NEWS ANALYSIS IS NECESSARY

Propaganda Alertness Is Urged at Session of Institute

Ann Arbor — Extraordinary alertness in reading news reports of current international events was urged upon delegates in the closing session of the tenth annual Parent Education Institute held at the University of Michigan last week.

This suggestion came from a panel of newspapermen and educators assembled to discuss propaganda before the 1,217 parents, and educators attending this year's Institute. The need for such alertness was expressed in the final address of the meeting by Jay Allen, former war correspondent and roving reporter for the Chicago Tribune and the London News Chronicle.

The propaganda of the new war is not the propaganda of the last World War, Mr. Allen asserted. If we are to avoid its effects, he pointed out, we must take great pains to study and understand it. We now understand how the propaganda of the last war operated, he said, but we did not know until ten years after the war was over.

The Nazi and Fascist acquisitions of the last few years, except in the case of Poland, Mr. Allen declared, have not been made by conquest at all, but by propaganda — created "appeasement" which dates back to 1931. This "appeasement," he asserted, has been effective at the expense of French, British, and American democracy and has exploited "honest isolationist and neutrality sentiment."

The basic pattern of "appeasement" is still going on, Mr. Allen said. He described a new "propaganda drift" which pictures communism as the major enemy.

On the same program, Barclay Acheson, associate editor of Reader's Digest, described the American people as "the best informed public in the world," but urged the development of the critical faculties of this public in choosing its reading.

ing its reading. Arthur Stace, managing editor of the Ann Arbor News, another member of the panel, said that newspapers and press associations are considering the use of more interpretative articles and summary reports of world news.

Crab Orchard

KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY

Michigan in Washington

By Esther Van Wagoner Tutty
 Republican Senator Vandenberg and Democratic Senator Brown, seldom on the same side of any issue, find themselves in accord in protecting the copper interests of Michigan against the threat of an unfavorable new trade agreement with Chile.

Chile with its rich copper ore beds and cheap labor seeks new markets to replace those lost by war. Our excise tax of 4 cents a pound keeps Chilean and other foreign copper out of the United States. Hearings before the Executive Committee for Reciprocal Information open on November 27.

Senator Vandenberg has confined his plea to a reminder to the State Department that "there is nothing in the Reciprocal Trade Treaty Law which permits the President and the State Department to reduce excise taxes by executive order."

Senator Brown says "It would be a grave misfortune" and stresses that "it would have a direct effect on the relief problem in the State of Michigan."

The opening of our ports to foreign copper definitely means the closing of many mines in this country, predicts Brown, reminding the State Department that these American mining companies are employers of 100 per cent American labor and consumers of domestic merchandise.

Asserting that the closing of copper mines would place an added burden on the relief agencies of the copper mining states, even now unable to meet present demands, he said it would have a particularly disastrous effect on the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

"Copper is an indispensable commodity in peace as well as in war, and the copper mining industry, which is already handicapped by leaner ore bodies and the high cost of labor, should not be further jeopardized," says Senator Brown, who comes from the copper-producing part of Michigan.

The four Michigan companies, which produced 57,669 tons of copper last year, have joined with other domestic producers in filing a strong protest brief with the State Department.

The companies are: Calumet and Hecla Consolidated Copper Co., of Calumet; Copper Range Company, of Painesdale; Isle Royale Copper Co., of Houghton; and the Quincy Mining Company of Hancock.

Briefly, they stress that competition with Chilean copper would close their mines; that the wage scale of miners would drop; that no new capital would be interested in American copper properties; that in case of war America would need her domestic copper; that the most favored nation clauses mean concessions to other copper countries as well as Chile.

One of the strange aspects of the problem facing the State Department in its search for a trade bargain beneficial to both Chile and the United States, is that the copper mines and production in Chile are under American control. Therefore, argue the U. S. Copper people, a reduction in the copper import tax would not improve Chilean purchasing power for our products.

Another odd thing is that the United States has never collected any revenue from the 4 cent tax—because no copper is imported into this country. The only benefit, it is said, has been indirect in the decrease of relief burdens through protection against foreign "dumping".

Just as the senators forget their parties to join in the protection of the copper industry of Michigan, so do the representatives from the Upper Peninsula copper mining area. Democrat Frank E. Hook, of Ironwood, and Republican Fred Bradley, of Rogers City, have both filed briefs with the State Department urging that no concessions be made to Chile.

Neutrality issue is dead on Capitol Hill, but it is still alive in the office of Senator Prentiss M. Brown where an enlarged staff is tackling the job of answering some 100,000 letters.

Because the sentiment of the bulk of his mail was contrary to his vote Brown's answer was not easy. But none could resent his statement—"Repeal or no repeal we stay out. I assure you of my own firm and unchangeable determination to do everything possible to the best of my ability to

U. P. Will Exhibit At Outdoor Shows

Marquette, Mich. — Geo. E. Bishop, Secretary-Manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, has announced that the organization is arranging for space in three outdoor life shows to be held in the larger cities of the midwest in the spring of 1940.

The following events will be covered, with the State of Michigan and three Lower Peninsula tourist and resort associations cooperating: Detroit News Travel Show, at Convention Hall on and Mrs. William Hruska, daughter Mary Jo, Milwaukee, Mrs. J. W. Meyer, Chicago.

Woodward avenue; the Chicago Daily News annual Travel Show in the Stevens Hotel, Chicago; and the Daily Inquirer's annual Outdoor and Travel Show, Netherlands Plaza Hotel, Cincinnati.

The state and the four tourist organizations may also take space in the Boat and Sports Show, Navy Pier, Chicago. However, legislation for approval of space is pending.

Bureau members and advertisers will be allotted space in the various booths without charge, for the distribution of local literature and for making contacts with prospective summer visitors, said Mr. Bishop. They can send representatives at their own expense to serve as workers in the booths, or if unable to do this, their shipments of literature will be passed out at no cost to them.

"The bureau has followed this plan for years and the results have been very good," Mr. Bishop stated. "The shows afford an excellent opportunity to meet face to face with thousands of persons who are thinking about a summer vacation, and who are ready to make up their minds about a definite summer objective."

DR. MORRISON CRITICAL
 Menominee—The condition of Dr. Howard R. Morrison of 313 Ogden avenue, who suffered a spinal injury on November 3 when his car left the road on Highway US-2 near Newberry, was reported critical today in St. Joseph's hospital.

Suggestions On '39 Thanksgiving Gobbler In Order

BY LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER
AP Feature Service Writer
Turkeys have gone streamlined—not for style but for greater economy and utility.
Tailor-made strains of the American feast bird, developed by scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, provide a maximum of meat and a minimum of bone. These turkeys are also especially suited in size and shape to the moderate-sized family possessing modern refrigeration and cooking equipment.

Young tom turkeys—usually the most plentiful on the market—start at about 14 pounds. Hens are smaller but the supply is more limited.
Hen turkeys have more light meat and a little more fat, but if a large turkey is your preference do not be afraid to select a tom, provided you buy from a reliable dealer.

The wise homemaker buys a turkey large enough to suit her needs. A 10 pound fowl is considered sufficient for a family of six. This allows for seconds and leftovers—cold sliced, escalloped, creamed—the best of all.
For an average serving buy 2-3 pound per person but for a generous portion purchase a pound

GLAZED APPLES
(Garnish for Turkey)
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons water
1-3 cup granulated sugar
1-3 cup pure New Orleans molasses
Wash thoroughly and core apples. Heat butter, water, sugar, and molasses together over a low flame in a frying pan, until well-blended. Dip apples in syrup and heat until the surface of the fruit becomes glazed. Glaze six apples.

per portion. Decide soon on your turkey needs, then promptly place your order.

Turkeys of good quality have a coating of fat under a clear, yellow healthy-looking skin. The fowl should be plump, have few pin feathers and no blemishes. Steer away from those scrawny fowls with a blue tinge showing through the skin. They probably will be tough and tasteless.

It's best to get the fowl ready for the oven the day before. Carefully remove all pinfeathers with sterilized tweezers or a sharp knife. Slice off the fine hairs by turning over a low flame. Be careful not to scorch. Scrub well inside and out with cold water and a stiff brush. Rinse in cold water. Wipe very dry, both inside and out. Water left inside might make the stuffing soggy.

Select your favorite stuffing recipe. Prepare plenty, for extra stuffing can be baked in a casserole to supply the demands of the family feast.

Spinkle salt inside the turkey and lightly add the stuffing. Packing in solidly will make it soggy. Sew up the cavities or hold in place with small skewers. Press the wings and legs close to the body and tie with cord, or use long metal skewers. Never let the cord cross the breast of the fowl for it might mar the appearance. Rub the turkey all over with salt mixed with butter. If there is little fat on the breast, as is sometimes the case with large toms, peg on thin slices of salt pork.

Set the turkey, breast side down, on a rack in a large roaster. At the start, roast uncovered, without any water in the pan, allowing about 20 minutes per pound for fowl weighing 8 to 12 pounds. Larger birds need about 15 minutes per pound. Keep the oven temperature from slow to moderate and if the turkey browns the first hour, lower the heat.
Baste every 20 minutes with 1/2 cup butter mixed with 1 1/2 cups of boiling water. After the third basting use the drippings in the pan. Turn the fowl over the last half of the roasting, taking care not to bruise or break the skin. Better use 2 long-handled spoons. A fork might pierce the flesh, letting out some of the good juices.

The exact amount of roasting time cannot always be determined but better allow extra time as under-done turkey is not palatable. To test whether the fowl is done run a long skewer into the breast next to one thigh. If the juice is not red, the turkey is ready for the carving.

M·J·B WHY?

"Thank goodness I went to cooking school..."

MAKE THIS TEST YOURSELF

FOR FRESHNESS Open a can of M·J·B. Smell its wonderful fragrance preserved by M·J·B's vacuum pack.

FOR AROMA Pour a cup and breathe the appetizing rich coffee aroma. It's proof of M·J·B's Richer Roast.

FOR FLAVOR Now taste a cup of M·J·B, made at any strength. Enjoy its delicious, extra rich flavor.

M·J·B's RICHER ROAST gives you RICHER FLAVOR

1 I'll never forget that day—me all in white walking up the aisle (scared to death I'd trip) and Jerry waiting there at the altar, looking as nervous as I felt. Inevitably, I dreamed that a little problem like cooking would ever enter our lives.

2 But our first breakfast after the honeymoon, I realized there is more to marriage than love. Jerry was very nice about it, but he only took one sip of the coffee (usually he drinks two cups), and when he kissed me goodbye he looked kind of thoughtful.

3 I can take a hint. I went to cooking school. The first thing the teacher told us was this: "The most important part of a meal is the coffee. If that's good, men will put up with burnt biscuits occasionally." She held up a can of M·J·B. "This is the coffee men like," she said. "It's a Richer Roast. It gives you a full, rich flavor so matter what strength you make it."

4 Well, thank goodness I went to cooking school and found out about M·J·B. Jerry fairly laps it up, and goes around telling all his friends that I'm the best little cook in the world.

Aided by Architecture Second, the native population occupying a large part of Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, and Utah developed a style of architecture which called for the use of large ceiling beams supported by masonry walls, and rooms built side by side and in tiers above each other.

This advancement in architecture, coupled with dry climate and the fact that many of the dwellings were built under protecting cliffs provided by nature, has resulted in the preservation of large quantities of the architectural wood which, in wetter climates, would have disintegrated to dust years ago.

But plausible as these conclusions seem, there are those who believe that science may yet reveal a more exact date when man first inhabited this continent, and that tree rings form only a step in that direction.

WE, the WOMEN BY RUTH MILLETT

No matter what day we celebrate Thanksgiving, counting up our blessings is going to be an easy job for us American women this year.

Without going into any individual blessings—we can pile up quite a list of things to be thankful for.

We are thankful that we are going to picture shows and football games with our men—instead of writing "cheering" letters to them.

We are thankful that the only reason we have for pulling down our shades at night is a snoopy neighbor.

We are thankful that our children are with us, and that there is no bitter significance to their nightly prayers.

We are thankful that we—and not our government—are planning our meals.

THANKS FOR THESE, TOO We are thankful that a cellar is a place where Dad goes to fire the furnace.

We are thankful that our biggest clothes problem is whether or not to fall for the corset—not what is the most practical costume for an air raid shelter.

We are thankful that Thanksgiving will bring our sons, brothers and nephews home from their colleges.

We are thankful that we—our ancestors—had the good sense to choose to be Americans.

We women are just plain thankful. Unlike other butterflies, monarchs go south when winter comes. They return in the spring, flying hundreds of miles, only to lay their eggs and die.

STEELS BUOYED UP BY BIDDERS

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES table with columns for Net change, Previous day, Month ago, Year ago, 1939 high, 1938 high, 1938 low, and 1937 low.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Led by steels, the stock market plodded into rallying territory today with gains of fractions to more than 2 points.

The trend was slightly lower at the start, but bidding began to come into pivotal issues near the second hour, with volume picking up a bit on the upward reversal.

Rails, merchandising, motors, rubbers, air transports and specialties joined the procession and, despite profit taking at the last, most closed not far from the tops of the session.

With frequent slow-downs during the proceedings, the turnover for the day amounted to 282,690 shares against 634,950 yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended with a net advance of .5 of a point at 52.1, the best day's uptick for this composite since October 17.

Brokerage quarters attributed the right-about party to the fact that traders seemingly were beginning to pay a little more attention to the steady flow of optimistic domestic economic developments and less to the European war.

While many traders continued to stand aside because of fears of a stable letdown in the business curve in coming months, thoughts of a boost in taxes by the next congress and the possibility of growing labor disputes as corporate earnings mount, there was a notable reluctance of shareholders to get holdings.

Steels, first to step out in front, were buoyed by evidence of sustained production and expanded purchasing in this field. Prospects of a quick settlement of the 42-day old Chrysler labor stalemate aided the motors. Tire shares were benefited by estimates October rubber consumption hit the highest mark on record.

Merchandise stocks responded to reports of climbing retail activities. Propping the rally was a less than seasonal decline in last week's freight loadings and estimates September revenues have surpassed in only three months of recent years.

Tax worries eased to some extent on the assertion of Undersecretary of the Treasury Hanes that the administration had formulated no program for next year and was keeping an open mind on this subject.

The official also saw few chances of any serious business recession, although suggesting a probable slowing of the upswing early in 1940.

Bonds did better all around and commodities improved after early lull. Wheat at Chicago was unchanged to up 5-8 of a cent a bushel and corn advanced 3-8 to 5-8. Cotton gained 45 to 70 cents a bale. Foreign markets were without particular trend.

Lifted fractions to more than a point in the curb were Electric Bond & Share, Lockheed, American Gas & Electric and Col's American. American Cyanamid "B" fell back a bit. Turnover of 149,000 shares compared with 150,000 Wednesday.

WAR STORIES IN STAMPS

Hitler's 'Lightning War' Succeeds in First Test NEVER before has the world seen a war waged and won with the speed of the Nazi conquest of Poland. In the short span of three weeks, a nation of 34,000,000 was defeated, its armies of 2,000,000 men scattered. This was "Blitzkrieg"—lightning war. Whereas former wars have been "wars of position," this 1939-model conflict is a "war of movement" of airplanes, tanks, mobile artillery and infantry transported in armored trucks. Speed is its keynote.

Swift bombing planes heralded the advance of tanks and armored cars, which penetrated, at times, 30 miles in advance of infantry and artillery. While these slower units "mopped up," the advance guard went on, before Polish forces had time to reorganize defenses. For the first time in actual warfare, parachute corps of infantrymen were dropped behind enemy lines by transport planes.

Just how "Blitzkrieg" will work on the Western Front, or in territory less flat than that of Poland remains to be seen. It is evident that heavy rains might have slowed the German drive considerably.

BOND MARKET AVERAGES table with columns for Net change, Previous day, Month ago, Year ago, 1939 high, 1938 high, 1938 low, and 1937 low.

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Buyers entered the bond market late today and sent prices higher throughout the list.

The quiet upward move was a surprise ending to an otherwise dull day which saw prices sag in the first four hours.

The orders boosted the Associated Press average of 10 industrial bonds to 101.1, its highest point since September 23, 1937, when it reached 101.4.

Rail, utility, foreign, low-yield and U. S. government issues gained equally well although not reaching new average highs.

The advance in the foreign list was especially strong with Latin American, Belgian and Canadian issues leading in gains running as high as three points.

U. S. governments pushed upward as much as 15-32 point. Transactions totalled $7,535,500, face value, compared with $7,581,300 yesterday.

Stonington

Has Narrow Escape Stonington, Mich.—The bluff along the road in Stonington, Mich., proved fatal to the life of Albert Nelson recently.

Nelson was driving along the road near the lake when he saw a dog and was going to turn off slightly to avoid hitting him, when the car plunged over the bluff. Nelson jumped and was not slightly hurt. The car was completely demolished. The accident occurred near the old sawmill location. The bluff is just a few feet from the road and there is no fence at this particular spot which makes it all the more dangerous. The bluff is approximately fifty feet high.

X-Ray Clinic for School Pupils to Be Held Monday

The Michigan Tuberculosis Association will conduct an X-ray clinic for schoolcraft county on Monday, November 20, at the Manistique Court House, at 9:00 a. m. according to Dr. E. J. Brenner, director of the Alger-Schoolcraft health department.

Since tuberculosis is such a very communicable disease, the association attempts to help locate early cases by means of X-ray clinics. It stresses the importance of tuberculin testing and X-raying persons who have come in contact with active tuberculosis—for it is only by contact that the disease is spread.

By means of the tuberculin test and X-ray, tuberculous infection may be discovered before the usual symptoms of coughing, tiredness, and loss of weight appears. When such characteristics are present, much serious harm will already have been done to the patient himself and to his associates.

AIRMAIL RUN TO EUROPE GOES ON

Trans-Atlantic Service Not Disrupted By Foreign War

Trans-Atlantic airmail service is being continued by the United States postal department, despite the European war, Postmaster Frank Gierke announced yesterday.

The service of the Imperial Airways, operated by the British, has been cancelled because of the war and service on the North Atlantic route has been suspended because of weather conditions.

However, this country still operates two trips weekly from New York to Europe. When the trip which formerly operated over the northern route was suspended because of the ice and weather conditions, the operation was transferred to the southern route, maintaining the same frequency as previously. The only difference is that both trips now operate over the southern routes from New York to Lisbon, Portugal.

Lisbon, Portugal has been designated as a temporary terminus, in lieu of Marseilles, France.

Eskymo Cagers Work Out With Coach Rouman

5 LETTERMEN ARE ON SQUAD

Lack of Height Bothers New Coach; Schedule Is Announced

Five lettermen are among the 15 candidates for the varsity basketball squad at Escanaba high school working out under the direction of Coach Jim Rouman at the senior high school gymnasium this week in preparation for the opening game of the season on December 8 with Marquette.

Only one of the five, Bobby Barron, can be considered a regular from last year, the other four having seen occasional action.

Very decided lack of height will characterize the Escanaba team this year, only one or two boys being able to top the desired six foot mark.

Use Fast Break
"It appears," said Coach Rouman last night, "that we shall have to use the fast break this year because of the lack of height. Most of the boys appear to be fast and fairly good ball handlers, which will compensate something for their lack in size. If they are smart, they'll win a few ball games, but if they aren't, we may be in for plenty of trouble from most of our opponents. Having had but two days of practice, it is folly to try and name any team.

As yet as far as I'm concerned, all positions on the team are open. The boys are going to have to work hard for their positions this year."

Rouman plans to carry several underclassmen on the squad and give them every opportunity to develop. At present, he has the following juniors working out: McDonald, Don Pfothenauer, Feller, Craik, Peterson, Goymerac, Corbett and Sattem. Three sophomores, Gauthier, Bliss and Shomin, also survived the cut. Two other sophomores may be added later, Rouman said.

Rouman Won Honors
Rouman is starting his first year as head basketball coach at the local institution and his experience should stand him in good stead. He starred in high school at Gladstone, being captain of the cage team under Eldon Kell in his senior year. At Albion college, Rouman was one of the few nine letter men in the history of the school. He starred in basketball under Dr. E. F. Voltmer, former University of Iowa star who employed the fast break system. In one game in his freshman year, Rouman scored 18 points against Michigan State and the Spartans tried to get him to change schools but he chose to remain at Albion. He was named guard on the All MIAA conference for two years in a row.

The Eskymos will play a 12-game schedule this year with the three opening games on the local court. Starting with Marquette, they are Kingsford and Iron Mountain. In the last game they travel to Ishpeming. Two games are scheduled with Kingsford, Iron Mountain, Ishpeming, Gladstone and Menominee and single games with Marquette, Manistique and Sault Ste. Marie.

The revised schedule follows:
Dec. 5—Marquette.
December 12—Kingsford.
Dec. 15—Iron Mountain.
Dec. 22—At Ishpeming.
Jan. 9—At Gladstone.
Jan. 19—At Menominee.
Jan. 25—Ishpeming.
Feb. 2—At Soo.
Feb. 9—At Iron Mountain.
Feb. 16—Menominee.
Feb. 23—Manistique.
Feb. 27—Gladstone.
March 1—At Kingsford.

Louis Draws Small House In Milwaukee

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 16 (AP)—Frankie Cullura, Montreal featherweight, won a 10-round decision tonight over Leon Erfatt of Italy, in the headline bout supporting the exhibition appearance by Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion.

Louis, who appearance drew only a $3,000 house, boxed two rounds each with Clarence Brown of Chicago and George Nicholson of Detroit, a Louis sparring partner.

Bureau To Hold Winter Meeting

Marquette, Mich.—The annual mid-winter meeting of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau's executive and other committees and directors will be held here February 14, 1940, it was announced this week.

The meeting will be preceded by the presentation of a land use program February 13, in which representatives of the forestry departments of Michigan University and Michigan State College will take part. The land utilization report issued by authority of the last session of Congress at Washington will be one of the matters for discussion.

"Hold the first day" said Jones. Now you try a Fur Sale Ad.

Starts Practice

Escanaba high school basketball players began working out this week under the direction of their new coach, Jim Rouman, former Gladstone high school and Albion college star. Rouman already has cut his squad to 16 players. The team will move to the junior high school next week.

JOB AT TACKLE WON BY KARAS

Escanaba Man Is Chosen On Starting Lineup At Michigan State

BY JACK I. GREEN
East Lansing, Nov. 16 (AP)—Two sophomore linemen, battling to knock veterans from their "assured" positions, today were nominated by Coach Charley Bachman to start Michigan State's game Saturday against Indiana.

The successful rebels were Frank Karas, of Escanaba, who won the starting right tackle position, and Lewis Smiley, of Ferrisburgh, who will start at left end.

Smiley found himself promoted both by his stand-out play against Santa Clara and Syracuse and the injury which befell Bruce Blackburn on the west coast. George Gargett, the veteran right tackle, was moved to the other side of the line, replacing Alex Ketsko.

Coach Bachman called up Helge Pearson, a senior end from Norway, to fill the replacement lists for left end. Pearson was sent to the reserve squad early in the season.

Big Ten Briefs About Football

Lafayette (AP)—After spending most of the week on its running attack, Purdue's football team turned to forward passing practice Thursday. Mike Byelens, Jack Brown and Lou Brock tossed the ball for nearly an hour.

Anderson (AP)—Coach Eddie Anderson barred newsmen and other spectators from the last half of the University of Iowa football practice Thursday—the climaxing drill before the game with Minnesota here Saturday. Before the ban, the Hawkeyes made an impressive showing in the way they stopped Gopher passing and running plays as demonstrated by reserves.

Chicago (AP)—Chicago polished its offensive for the Oberlin game with a dummy scrimmage against the freshmen Thursday. Lou Letts handled the passing assignment while Johnny Davenport and Bob Wasson took charge of the running attack.

Champaign (AP)—Illinois ended its heavy drills for the Ohio State game with a long dummy session on pass offense and defense Thursday. Trainer Crane Horner announced that Wes Martin, regular right guard injured in the Wisconsin game, would not make the trip to Columbus.

Ten-Round Decision Cinch For Ambers

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 16 (AP)—Lou Ambers, 135 1/2, Herkimer, N. Y., demonstrated to between 4,000 and 5,000 Hartford fans tonight how a world's lightweight champion looks in action, winning an easy 10-round decision from Jimmy Vaughn, 116, of Cleveland, in a non-title bout.

Ambers was reported to have gone into the fight over the protest of Mike Jacobs who is promoting the "Herkimer Hurricane's" welterweight title bid against Henry Armstrong in New York, December 1.

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKBLINGER

NO WONDER Carl Nordberg's team hasn't been winning this year. . . Carl is all mixed up. . . at least, it would seem that way from this line in a story in the Saginaw News about the team: "Nordberg said his line played well, singling out Dave McIntyre, fullback, and Bob Thompson, left halfback, for special mention. . . perhaps he has some new kind of an offense with backs in the line. . . seriously, though, things are beginning to look up for Saginaw, according to the News. . . Carl's team held the powerful Flint Northern team to 14 points last Saturday, the lowest score they have run up all season. . . it is quite obvious that Carl is building for next year. . . one of his stars is Tony Bahalis, a sophomore. . . on two fifths of the fingers on our trusty right (or left) hand. . . can count the number of sophomores who were regulars on Nordberg's teams all during his Escanaba regime. . . Saginaw ends the season against Pontiac and its traditional city rivals, Arthur Hill. . . neither team has shown too much success this year and Carl's boys are beginning to look tough.

Deposited one hundred years ago, $15 has grown to be $4,000, a bank reports—that shows what can be done if you have patience—and $15.

THREE U. P. BOYS were awarded foreign numerals at Alma. . . they were Stan Abrahamson of Escanaba and Jack Tait and Neil Lyyski of Newberry. . . Tait, we are told, spent several years in the Navy where he beat out All-American Buzz Borles for the all-star team. . . he was named captain for all games at Alma this year. . . Abrahamson will be playing independent ball with a strong industrial team this winter. . . to Jim Rouman and his sidekick, the Gladstone editor, George Mathison, we offer belated congratulations. . . their alma mater, Albion, of which there is none greater, won the MIAA grid championship this year. . . by the way, another former Albion chappie from Gladstone, Harry Kircher, has been assigned to the army air corps and is starting his training at Tulsa, Oklahoma. . . later he will be transferred to Randolph and Kelly fields.

Critics say congress will be to blame if floods come in 1940—it has a thumb in everything but the dice.

CONN TO PLACE TITLE ON LINE

Pittsburgh Adonis Takes On Gus Lesnevich At Madison Garden

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Billy Conn, the Pittsburgh Adonis, lays his light-heavyweight title on the line for the second time in four months tomorrow night in a 16-round fight with Gus Lesnevich of Clifton, N. J., in Madison Square Garden.

Conn won the crown from Mello Bettina in a close Garden fight last July. A month later the Irishman invaded the heavy-weight ranks against Gus Dorazio at Philadelphia and less than two months ago made his first title defense against Bettina in Pittsburgh. Conn won both contests.

Lesnevich, a rugged fellow, is the New York state athletic commission's No. 1 contender. Also he is the man Conn must defeat before Billy is recognized as the 175-pound champion by the National Boxing Association.

The N. B. A. title has been vacant since John Henry Lewis abandoned it some months ago because of impaired vision and the association was indicated it will declare tomorrow night's victor king-pin of the light heavies.

Betting is brisk with Conn a favorite at 5-13. Promoter Mike Jacobs of the 20th Century Sporting Club, predicts a sell-out gate around $50,000.

Fight men attribute the better than two-to-one odds against Lesnevich to the fact that the Jersey contender has been idle since he was knocked out by Clark last July. Until spilled by Lesnevich, the Detroit negro had been an outstanding contender.

Fred Hensberry, Australian middleweight champion, makes his debut in the United States in the eight-round semi-final against Georgia Abrams, the fighting cartoonist of Washington. The sensational knockout artist, Patrick Edward Comiskey, appears in one of the six round prelims against Murray Kanner, Washington heavyweight.

Kearns Books Pace For Title Battles

Detroit, Nov. 16 (AP)—Promoter Jack Kearns announced tonight he had signed George Pace of Cleveland, who recently succeeded Sixto Escobar of Puerto Rico as bantamweight champion, to defend his title against any of three contenders.

The three, Kearns said, are Lou Salica of New York, K. O. Morgan of Detroit, and Tony O'Leary of the west coast. The bout, Kearns said, will be staged on or before Jan. 12 in the city which will "give us the best offer."

It would be Pace's first defense of the title since the National Boxing Association bestowed it upon him after Escobar relinquished the crown on the claim he couldn't make the weight.

RIVALRY STARTS CAGE DRILLS

Menominee and Marinette Prepare for Basketball Season

Marinette, Nov. 16—Stowing away football togs Monday following their annual Armistice Day battle which wound up in a scoreless tie, Marinette and Menominee high school athletes have turned to the coming basketball season as drills got underway in full swing yesterday at both schools.

A 15-game schedule will be played by Coach Harry Anderle's Marines during the 1939-40 campaign, while a 14-game slate has been lined up for the Maroons.

Opening against Peshtigo at the Bulldogs' gymnasium November 23, the Marines will then face East Green Bay December 2 in their first home start of the season. Two game series will be played with these two teams along with Niagara, Menominee, Lourdes and St. Joseph's of Escanaba, Oconto, Iron Mountain and Kingsford will be met in single engagements.

Open Against Irish
The Maroon squad will renew rivalry with Lourdes in their opening tilt on their home court December 1 and will play Kingsford on the following week in their first out-of-town game. Two games will be played with Lourdes, Kingsford, Manistique, Marinette, Escanaba and Marquette, while Oconto and Iron Mountain will be faced once.

Eight of the 14 cagers receiving letters at the conclusion of last year's campaign will be back seeking starting positions on this season's Marinette team.

They are Warren Benoit and Don Bonin, who are likely candidates for the center posts, Bill Dufrene, Bob Boucho and Merritt Bauman, forwards, and Ed Albright, Harry Delorme and John Bauman, guard prospects. As all of the emblem winners were members of the football squad, the majority of them are not expected to be out for practice until the latter part of the week.

Five Lettermen Back
At Menominee Coach Barney McCann will have five lettermen around whom he is expected to build this season's edition. They are Lionel Bushy, Bob Cadieu, Jack Reffing, Harold Hansen, Jack Raboin. Others expected to make strong bids for positions include Don Laduron, who saw action last year, and Roy Schmidt, Dooley and Howard Smith.

Lourdes, the third Twin City high represented on the cage court, is now entering its second week of drills under Coach Joe Roland.

The Irish mentor has four lettermen on his squad, namely Jack Peters, Bob Egner, Bill Liegeois and Bob Schultz. The first game of the season will be played November 24 against Peshtigo at the Marinette high school gymnasium.

As last year, all three Marinette and Menominee schools will face each other in two game series with the championship of the Twin cities depending upon the outcome.

Munising, Nov. 16—The second area boxing meet will be held here in the Legion County club on Saturday. Sessions will begin at 7 o'clock in the afternoon and at 7 o'clock in the evening. The meet will be to determine the best boxers among recent enrollees in the camps. A tournament held a short time ago decided top-notchers among those who had been enrolled in the camps for some time. Camps participating in the meet are Cusino, AuTrain, Evelyn, Escanaba, Wells, Morman Greek and Cooks. Dr. Nabbe, of Camp AuTrain, Clifford Liberty, Camp AuTrain educational director, and Ole Olson, Camp Evelyn educational director, will assist in the arrangements for the matches. "Ronnie" Is Bashful When Asked About His Cagers

Norway, Nov. 6—Indications that Norway high school will be represented by a rangy and veteran basketball squad this season were visible in the Viking quarters as 60 candidates, including six lettermen from last year's class C district champions, reported to Coach Allen Ronberg at the opening of drills this week.

Although Coach Ronberg, somewhat oddly, was reluctant to make any championship predictions for his squad, it is obvious that the Norway crew will make a strong bid for Menominee Range conference honors, as well as in defending the class C district title. Three of the returning lettermen are regulars and the other three have seen enough action to make them well-seasoned.

Back from last season's group of 10 lettermen are Bobby Asp, forward; Phil Roggeman, guard; Albert Albert, center; Pete Hamlin, forward; Kenneth Faul, forward and Art Casanova, center. Simon, another award winner, although in school, has not reported. Albert Dapor, George Debernard and Mark O'Donnell were lost by graduation.

Plenty of Height
In another group of candidates Coach Ronberg has Frank Jansonovic, Dick Olson, William Donovan, Robert Coombs, Roy Albert, Joe Lori, Art Alessandr, Bill Engibous, George Nordstrom, Robert DeBaker, Jack Bergstrom, Wallace Rigotti, Louis Caviani, Clarence Juliani, Robert Menghen, George Ralston, Willard Pearson and David Bast.

There'll be plenty of height on the Viking squad. Hamlin touches the six-foot-three mark and Roggeman and Casanova measure off at an even six feet. Albert is a good size boy and Asp and Faul are considerably smaller. Frank Jansonovic is the most promising of the new-comers. Talented and the faster man on the squad, he may work his way into the starting lineup.

At present Ronberg, aided by assistant Coach Arne Johnson, is drilling the candidates in three divisions. By next week, Ronberg expects to take over the varsity crew of about 12 and the remainder of the squad will be assigned to Johnson.

Coach Goes Conservative
In the past, Ronberg hasn't been a bit bashful about telling the range what he has on the ball—but this season he has gone conservative. His only prediction today was, "It looks as if we might be better than last year—but time will tell."

Norway's only home game before the holidays is with the Stambaugh Vikings, December 22. The Vikings open the season away from home, December 5, with Crystal Falls, potentially the most powerful crew in the range.

Last year Norway won eight of its regular season games and lost six. After sweeping the district tournament with three wins, the Vikings were eliminated in the regional opener with a record of 11 wins and seven losses for the season.

The schedule follows:
Dec. 5—Crystal Falls, there.
Dec. 19—Niagara, there.
Dec. 23—Stambaugh, here.
Jan. 12—Iron River, there.
Jan. 16—Iron Mountain, there.
Jan. 19—Kingsford, here.
Jan. 24—Vulcan, there.
Jan. 30—Crystal Falls, here.
Feb. 2—Kingsford, there.
Feb. 6—Iron Mountain, here.
Feb. 14—Vulcan, here.
Feb. 20—Iron River, here.
Feb. 23—Stambaugh, there.
Feb. 27—Niagara, here.

Bloomington (AP)—Indiana university's football team took a bit of practice Thursday that should be invaluable to the boys who hold down the bench in the Hoosiers' game with Michigan State at East Lansing Saturday. Coach Bo McMillin took his squad to a movie in Indianapolis. After two hours of intensive sitting the 36 players boarded a northbound train. They will practice tomorrow in the Michigan State stadium.

QUAKERS NEXT FOR MICHIGAN

Weary Wolverines Roll Eastward With 125 Piece Band

BY GEORGE A. STAUTER
Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 16 (AP)—Michigan's war-weary football warriors rolled eastward tonight for an intercollegiate match with Pennsylvania's in-and-out eleven at Philadelphia Saturday.

Thirty six players, including all the injured but End Ed Fruittig, left at 7 p. m. aboard a special train. Accompanying them was the 125 piece student band.

Before entraining Coach Fritz Criesler sent his squad through a long drill in which the Wolverines rehearsed offensive plays, checked their defense for possible weak spots, and worked on passing and punting.

Successful defeats at the hands of Illinois and Minnesota have left their mark on the Michigan gridlers, but coaches and players alike feel they have an even chance against the big Penn team which also has dropped its last two games.

A victory over the Quakers, an opponent off and on since 1899, would give the Wolverines some needed confidence for the season finale with Ohio State here Nov. 25.

There still was some question whether Forest Evashevski, varsity quarterback, would see much action. Criesler indicated he probably would again start Sophomore Bob Ingalls at the post.

Ingalls, considered an excellent defensive player, has had an extra week to study the signal-calling duties, but he lacks Evashevski's ability to find weak spots in opposing lines.

Joe Rogers, Royal Oak sophomore, will take over Fruittig's place at left end. Otherwise, the line-up will remain unchanged.

Penn and Michigan have identical season records with four victories and two defeats each. Both have met a common opponent, Yale, the Wolverines trimming the Elis, 27 to 7, and the Quakers winning, 6 to 0.

Penn, however, has its best team in three years, including a host of good backs and a big rugged line averaging better than 200 pounds. Michigan can match it in backfield power but appears weaker at some line positions.

BY BILL BONI
New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Tom Harmon's last two games for Michigan this season, against Pennsylvania at Philadelphia Saturday and against Ohio State the following week, will give Michigan a chance to get back in the running for the Heisman memorial trophy. The trophy is awarded each December by New York's Downtown Athletic Club to the outstanding football player of the year.

The first 100 ballots that came in showed four men leading in the race. They are Harmon, Iowa's Nile Kinnick, Paul Christman of Missouri, and George Cafego, Tennessee's all-around star.

Kinnick will lead the rejuvenated Hawkeyes against Minnesota Saturday and Christman will be out there pitching for the Tigers against unbeaten Oklahoma in one of Saturday's "naturals." Catego was hurt in last week's "breather" with the Citadel. In the mid-west they say the absence of Blocking Back Forest Evashevski hobbled Harmon seriously in his last two starts. But Evashevski is expected to be ready for Penn, which sounds like bad news for the red and blue.

Ken Kavanaugh, Louisiana State's great pass-catcher, is criticized in some quarters for defensive weaknesses. They say too much ground is gained around his end. But one of this corner's southern scouts reports this is due in large measure to the fact that, on defense, Coach Bernie Moore drops his towering wingman back to guard against enemy aerials. Since one man hardly can be expected to handle that job and play a crashing end at the same time, that may explain the gains.

In addition to the Heisman trophy pool, there's another going on for selection of the leading team in the east. Winner of this race gets the Lambert memorial trophy, on which Pittsburgh and Carnegie Tech have had a monopoly the last few years. This fall there's another Pittsburgh team in the race, unbeaten and untied Duquesne, which is giving Cornell a stiff battle in the ballots.

CLANCEY RUNS FOR GOVERNOR

Former Escanaba Attorney Engages in Politics In Florida

Atty. J. H. Clancey, Panama City, Fla., a former resident of Escanaba, has announced his candidacy for the governorship of Florida, and is now making a speaking tour of that state.

Clancey was prosecuting attorney of Delta county about twenty-five years ago. His wife is the former Gertrude Selden, member of a pioneer Escanaba family. Clancey moved to Detroit from Escanaba, and later went to Florida. He visited here for several days last summer.

The Panama City News-Herald recently published the following editorial with regard to Clancey's candidacy:

"The entry of J. H. Clancey into the Florida gubernatorial race will provide color to that contest to say the least."

"The same battling language which kept him on the Redpath chautauqua platform year after year, besides lecture tours, will be a drawing card to crowds of voters throughout Florida."

"Clancey's principal topic for discussion on chautauqua and lecture platforms was law reform, and for points advocated in that connection received favorable editorial comment in such newspapers of national note as the Cincinnati Enquirer, Chicago American, Milwaukee Journal, Detroit News, Detroit Free Press, New York Telegram, San Francisco Bulletin, St. Louis Star, Washington Star, Louisville Times, and others."

"But of late years he has been taking an increasing interest in the bonded indebtedness into which a large portion of Florida counties became immersed during the 'boom.'"

"He believes that the people of Florida—even the very counties and cities most involved—are ill informed about the situation that confronts them, and that every recourse at their command has not been used to find a way out."

"In that we agree with him."

"If his campaign does nothing more than to bring a deplorable situation to the attention of more people, then it will have been worth while."

NO WHITE ELEPHANT

Sault Ste. Marie—John Kniskern, member of the advisory board of the Sophia Pullar Community Building, told the Kiwanis club Tuesday noon at the luncheon program at the Hotel Ojibway, that the building, far from being the white elephant that some are predicting, will be a source of pride to the citizens of Sault Ste. Marie.

Mr. Kniskern made it clear that he expects the building to finance itself, even though the maintenance expenses run to $10,000 or more annually, and that many initial expenses of equipment have been deemed necessary, running into thousands of dollars.

The jolly ideas produced by the fruitful brains of press agents are sometimes enough to bowl you over. Virginia Denslow of Lakeland, Fla., is the fair bowler.

WILL WAR HANDICAP DOG FANCIERS?

By C. E. Harblson

Wars in Europe no longer are a serious handicap to American pure-bred dog fanciers. This statement could not have been made prior to the last war but the past twenty-five years has seen a greatly changed situation.

When the original World War started the United States was dependent upon foreign blood lines in practically all of the breeds, which were at the time recognized by the American Kennel Club. The result of this was that a majority of American breeders had to mark time until the end of hostilities.

In some breeds the wait for representative dogs from abroad was even larger, for the food shortage in Central Europe had seriously depleted the breeding stock at leading French, Belgian and German kennels. Dogs could not be fed while human beings starved.

Today the United States is in a dominant position due to the great number of worthwhile importations made during the past decade and a half. During the boom days these specimens were brought to America principally for show purposes, but since the depression the emphasis has been upon their value for breeding.

How well American breeders have utilized the foreign-bred stock is seen in the continued success of American-bred dogs in the show rings. During the first six months of 1938, when there were 104 all-breed shows held under the AKC rules, at sixty-six of the exhibitions the best in show prize went to an American-bred.

Dogs bred in the British Isles triumphed at nineteen shows; German-bred accounted for seventeen wins; and two best in show honors went to Canadian-bred dogs.

The American Kennel Club long has encouraged the breeding of better specimens of pure-bred dogs, and it has supplied added incentive during the last five years by offering special awards for outstanding American-breds.

There can be no doubt that world war affects every walk of life and the dog fanciers along with others but during the current unpleasantness American breeders find themselves in a much more fortunate condition than when the last hostilities were wrecking Europe. Our dogs stand out with the best at present and should be able to hold their high standing.

SHOPLIFTERS WARNED

Sault Ste. Marie — The arrest Tuesday afternoon of a Sault, Ont. school girl for shoplifting in a Sault, Mich. store brought a stern warning today from Judge Benjamin J. Jacobs to would-be shoplifters that he will deal with such cases severely.

"Each year around the holiday season, Sault stores suffer from an epidemic of shoplifting, and although a number of the 'hauls' are negligible, the annual loss through such thefts would undoubtedly be astounding. This court will prosecute shop lifting cases to the full extent of the law," warned Judge Jacobs.

Human freaks are more common in Hungary than anywhere else in Europe. That country supplies five for every one from the rest of the continent.
