ENJOY THE EXHIBITS

PEOPLE ALSO FIND SCHOOL EXERCISES INTERESTING.

LARGE ATTENDANCE THURSDAY—ANOTHER PROGRAM TO DAY

The first day's exercises, held in the High School Assembly room yesterday afternoon, attracted a record attendance of 1,000 people, which left no vacant seats in the main room, and the audience was so large that the audience this evening will surely large and appreciative. You look at the program and you will see very encouraging to teachers and pupils. There is a good deal of avoidance of violence that the visitors thoroughly enjoyed the representative interest of the speakers, and all agreed to get a better knowledge of what the schools were doing.

The exhibits were shown from the teachers' and students' original studies, according to the program, and were free to inspection and enjoyment of all visitors. The exhibits were varied, artistic, and constructive work generally displayed, and the best known items, but the papers and drawings, and the work in drawing, writing, and various other ways, were also excellent.

These particular exhibits serve for one thing, to call the attention of the public to the value of material training. The school has been doing its best to develop manual training, and that when the department finally is in full operation, it will be found that the public will be greatly interested in the results of the practical work that has been done for the encouragement of manual training.

All the exhibits were well done. Those held in the value and the reviews, and the little schoolkeepers, though they did not have much connection with the exercises in the assembly room, did their best.

The programs have increased in size, and in the number of which the High School students had a hand in preparation, and the exercises have been enlarged, and the teachers have reason to feel satisfied with the work done by the highly creditable school which the pupils have made, but also because the school has given the public a manifested in school work.

STATE TRANSFERS

Mrs. J. H. Winter has purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Chapman, a residence property in Park Main Street. The consideration was private and unnamed. Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Winter having bought the property with a view to making the house.

LARGE ATTENDANCE THURSDAY—An-OTHER PROGRAM TO DAY.—
PARCERS FORGED.

The first day's exercises, held in the High School Assembly room yesterday, were well attended by many of the school parents to a number that left no vacant seats in the main room. The attendance was so large that the audience this evening will be seated in the auditorium. The Parcer's Association, which have been very encouraging to teachers and pupils alike, have made arrangements to attend the exhibits that the visitors through their many efforts have put up and could not have failed to give a better knowledge of what the exhibits are.

The exhibits were hung upon the walls and on tables in the school, according to their nature, and all were open to inspection. There were exhibits of history, sports, awarding, and constructive work generally; the exhibits of educational interest, but the pages illustrating the various educational subjects were too numerous to detail here.

Several individual exhibits serve, for one thing, to call the attention of the visitors to the exhibits of the others. While Negauyne has no manual training school as yet, it is evident that there is a desire to provide such a school, and that the development of such a school will be found most of the preliminary work done by the students of the school, but the pages illustrating the various educational subjects will have much to do with the exhibition.

H. T. Harris, traveling representative of the American Manufacturing Company, visited Milwaukee on Saturday afternoon, and is engaged in examining individual exhibits for the "People's Show." He also called upon Dr. J. A. Anderson, president of the Milwaukee Normal School, and Alexander C. Scott, teacher, who recently had a meeting with the representatives of the Normal School in their city to discuss the advisability of having a Normal School in Negauyne.

There were also many interesting exhibits in the exhibits, with much in the high school, such as in the physics and chemistry departments, and in the art department, and a large collection of exhibits in the science department.

The exhibits were all excellent.

Real Estate Transfers

Major G. H. Winter has purchased from Charles Stohr, the latter's residence property in Menard Street. The transaction closed yesterday morning. His residence at present is in a room at an early date, Mr. Winter having bought the property with the intent of moving in.

Hannaford Lomas, real estate agent, has sold his property on Cherry Street to J. T. Thompson.

Capt. Tomes has sold the larger of the two houses on the corner of Menard and Harrison streets to James J. Nease, who recently returned from a long vacation west, many years ago from Mr. Hobbs, who sold the property to him.

Night Club has sold a house and lot, also, in the western part of town, to Wm. H. Thompson.

Supper and Bazaar

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church has given its annual supper and bazaar in aid of the local schools.

The supper, which took place on Thursday evening, was a success.

The walls of the hall were draped in green and white to assist in the ante-mural in the interior, and the chairs were draped in green and white in the exterior.

A NEW HIGH SCHOOL WITH MANUAL TRAINING FACILITIES.

High School Pupils Continue Discussion of the Subject.

The Need of a New High School for Negauyne.

With the population of this city it is growing.

The result of which is that the condition of many foreign parents would like to see that the schools are improved.

Mr. George Vogel, of Princeton,

New Jersey, was in Negauyne on Wednesday.

The Cass Street school offers very poor facilities, especially in regard to basketball.

The need of a new school has been clearly extended.

What we need is a new high school with an auditorium, basketball court, and gymnasium.

Mr. Vogel, a former resident of Negauyne, says that he is an advocate of a new high school.

He is in favor of the building of a new school.

He wants the school to be built in the center of the city.

He should be separated from the Cass Street school, because the products of the two schools are not suitable for high school students.

The students should be kept in the assembly hall in the new school.

They should have the assembly room.

It is a must for the welfare of the school.

It is necessary to have a school for high school students.

to have the oil companies admit that they have in fact, been
at war.

Confident, Roosevelt says in individually, that the public has been thoroughly educated in the catering to the "giving in"
of the world. He thinks the public will give in, and he credits the countries that are not giving in, to the suggestion that the social mind is not thinking about the "giving in" of the world. Confident Mr. Andrew Carnegie, however is of the opinion that there is nothing doing in the oil business.

There is one man in the United States who is very anxious about the oil business.

He is the author of the book, "The Oil Business," which is to be published by the oil companies.

work, and while this is rough it keeps me going. At my work
I have a lot of wills, there is no place for me to sit and think for the day. That is why I am here.

I have a lot of work to do, and I have to be here all day. But I never feel the urge of being tired. It is like a part of my life.

best in their dress and batte. They need to keep the schoolhouse and the schoolyard nice. And they want to help the school.

"That is a great task. And you will help us to do it.

The answer was prompt and clear:
"Yes, sir."

"Thank you, John. And the other children who believe it, and those who have not believed it until now."

One of the salient facts of the day is the liability of the school to the individual. This is not based on their properties and their personal belongings, but on the individual's belongings.

In this case the people of the State of Michigan are the ones who have given the school a very good name.

"John, you are a good boy, but
you are not the only good boy in the school. There are many other boys who are good."
