Decision On Yule Event Faces NBPA

Preliminary planning for a children's parade on Halloween night and a decision as to whether or not to sponsor a Christmas Carnival again this year will be the two principal items on the agenda of the September meeting of the Negaunee Business and Professional Association, slated to be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at the Jack on Park recreation lodge.

The Halloween parade, which is held in connection with events most provided for grade and high school children at the Negaunee High School and Central Grade School, was sponsored last year for the first time by the Business and Professional Association and proved such a success that it was decided by the board of directors at a meeting this week to repeat the event again this year. Activities at the two school buildings will be held following the parade. The committees to handle the parade and details will be appointed by President Lester Cory Tuesday night.

Members of the NBPA will be asked also to make a decision as to whether or not the Association should sponsor a Yule Carnival this year. The first event of this kind held two years ago was an outstanding success, but last year not all of the merchants participated, with the result that some members felt the affair should be discontinued. In the event members approve the project again this year they will be asked to decide whether to permit all merchants to participate or to limit it to those who have enthusiastically in the NBPA.

As is always the case in a venture of this kind there are some wintines to be ironed out and they are starting earlier this year than in this fall in order that we will have ample time to take care of any difficulties which may arise. President Cory said yesterday.

Plans for Chest Drive Will Be Made Sept. 22

Plans for the 1949 Community Chest drive in Negaunee will be made at an organization meeting of the Chest Council scheduled to be held at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, Sept. 22, in the board of education office. Henry Beoby, Jr., secretary, announced Wednesday night in addition to setting the date for the 1949 drive, the budget will be established at that time. It is important that participating agencies have their reports and requests submitted in advance of the meeting. Beoby emphasized.

Last year a budget of $6,850 was established based on the requests of the following 11 participating agencies: Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Fire Dept., Youth, Boycott Health Camp, St. Paul's milk bank, Youth Center, Women's Club and Michigan Children's Aid Society, Holy Family and Georgetown and Goodwill Farms. New officers who were recently elected will be installed at the meeting. They include: Paul W. Goodhand, president, and Glenn K. Kelly, vice-president. Goodhand succeeds L. C. Moore and Kelly replaces Alfred Wausberg.

NURSE INDISPENSABLE HERE

With thousands of children and adults in hospital today as the result of current widespread polio epidemic, and with its many precursors in the epidemic alone, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has launched a Public Health Emergency Drive to provide immediate funds for patient care. John P. McManara, president of the Marquette county chapter, announced Wednesday.

McManara pointed out that it is estimated the price tag on the 1949 epidemic will be so enormous that $14,000,000 must be raised to meet the need. The epidemic, however, is not new, particularly in the Upper Peninsula but has been in the lower peninsula in Michigan county with a few cases in India, recently, but the center president stressed there is no telling where it may strike next.

During 1948, when there were 27,968 cases in the country, the highest number since the "revival" of 1916, the National Foundation and its chapters sent $17,000,000 to March of Dimes funds to provide epidemic services, McManara revealed. With every major case this year, it looks as though it may cost $25,000,000 in 1949 to pay for that part of general hospital care which families cannot pay themselves, he stated.

Attendance at three summer sessions of the school is necessary for graduation, and additional extension work is required. In addition to the University of Wisconsin faculty, the teaching staff at the school includes outstanding local men from various educational sessions of the nation's banking field. This summer's school has been in attendance since August 21, a total of 199 bankers and 28 states enrolled. Besides the classes, there are 265 members in the class of 1950 and 243 in the class of 1951.

The University of Wisconsin School of Commerce conducts the Wisconsin School of Banking, which is sponsored by the state banker's associations of the Central States Conference.

Enrollment Figures Show Slight Gain

Negaunee public school enrollment figures for the first two days of school show an increase this fall in comparison with 1948, preliminary reports released this week by Dr. Carl G. Vance Hiney and Bruce McNeilson show.

Hiney revealed that the number of students in attendance at the Central Grade School during the first two days of school was 674, which is an increase of 24 over a year ago. McNeilson said that the figure is not final. At present, he may have a slightly higher enrollment than last year, but still may have additional increases. Hiney said that the school should obtain a final figure only Friday, he said.

Enrollment in the high school at the close of the second day totaled 230, according to Principal Bruce Nelson. This figure, Nelson stated, is an increase of 13 over the number in attendance during the first two days of school. The total enrollment and senior high enrollment is 500, an increase of 21 over the corresponding year ago. The enrollment by grades in the junior and senior high as compared with last year's is as follows:

Attendance at three summer sessions of the school is necessary for graduation, and additional extension work is required. Thirty nine members of the Class of 1929 were present at the reunion held recently in observance of the 20th anniversary of their graduation from Negaunee High School. A luncheon was served in the North recreation building to the members and a dinner.

The representation at the reunion of the Class of 1929 was the largest in school class membership which included 72 attendees at the time of graduation.

Class president, Mrs. E. J. Hildebrand, was in charge of the program, which included the reading of the class roll, the presentation of the class history and the presentation of gifts to the following members: Margaret Bailey for the long journey, Ivan Huston, the husband's family, Mr. and Mrs. Selma, Mrs. J. J. Hildebrand, the class clerk; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hampton, couple having the youngest child; Mrs. J. J. Hildebrand and Mrs. and Mrs. Edna B. Hildebrand.

A telegram of congratulations was read at the dinner from the class of 1929 who were unable to attend. Plans were made to hold a 25th anniversary reunion. Plans for the 25th anniversary of the class were discussed in the dining room, where the remainder of the evening was spent in dining.

SPOTLIGHT

April's Prophets Are Without Honor

By GRANLAND RICE

BASSBALL'S 1946 stretch is now only a few furlongs away. And the next one can be a record full of juice.

Caddy enough conditions in the two leagues have been somewhat reversed since last April. At this time the Red Sox and Indians were to make the American league race. The Dodgers, Cardinals, Braves, Pirates and possibly the Giants were to churn the farm in the National.

Granland Rice

As the case is today only the Cardinals and Dodgers appear to have anything to say about the coming stretch in the National.

In the National League, the Yankees, Red Sox and Tigers may all be jumped together through September in the American. This American league September stretch may be one of the best many years, even close to the 1948 scramble.

Past results have shown us what can happen when these stretch runs in the two leagues start. The Pirates twice have had a seven game lead shot from under them in former years. In 1934, the Giants led six of their last seven games to give the Cards the pennant by two games. Dixie Dean was the spearhead of the St. Louis team. The White Sox put on a straight rally in September as far back as 1906. The Cubs picked up 13 consecutive game struts a few years ago to blot out the Pirates. There have been many number of head shots to pieces in late August or September.

On copy paper the Red Sox still look to be the strongest team in baseball with the upsurge of Parnell, Mohrhardt and Hickey, looked by the power of Williams, Don Dilligallo, Stephens, Deery, Pecky and others. The Yankees, Indians and Tigers are now well teamed, with Red Kuffler's herd men carrying the more effective pitching in the National. The Trunks, Hefschman, Houstonman, and Gray, Dartmouth's Hoffe has done a fine job with the squad he opened with. For that matter so has Casey Stengel. From now on everything depends on how the stretch run is handled. Both Yankees and Indians still recall the 11-game deficit. Joe Mc-Carthy and his Red Sox wiped out last summer and fall. And certainly McCarthy has never quit in his belief the Red Sox will win.

The Yankees were the most consistent of the team until early August, when Red Sox, Indians, Trunks and Athletics were involved in winning sports and dizzy downward spirals that looked to be head-on collisions.

There has been more in and out, up and down, good and bad baseball played in the American League than anyone has seen for many months. And a good part of it has revolved around erratic pitching.

The National League

The Cardinals are even now an old team, largely products of 1941 and 1942, and by next year they will be over the hill. I can't see any other team coming along to fill in the gap, not even the once-challenging Phillies.

The Cardinals or some other club had better catch the Dodgers this summer or it will probably be too late for some years to come. Burt Shostrom's young pitching staff and young team is just picking up the seasoning and experience demanded and by 1956 will outclass the National league, Cardinals included.

The downfall of the Braves and the Pirates has been one of the jolting factors in the older circuit. Those who know Billy Southworth and have known him for years can't understand a group of ballplayers backing up under his leadership.

SHORT STORY A MISUNDERSTANDING

By Richard H. Wilkinson

"I'LL NEVER FORGET the spectacle of Joe Abbott and Count Obeid fighting. Thinking of it, I am more apt to shudder than smile. Though it certainly had amusing aspects.

You see, Joe was not an American. And he wasn't used to the way they did things in Luanda.

Anyway, when Joe and I stopped off at Cabildas on our ocean cruise, we were much pleased with the place.

That night we had dinner at the Plaza and it was there that we first saw Kaseides. She was sitting alone in a booth, and when she caught Joe staring at her beauty, she nodded and smiled at him.

Instinctively I knew, when I saw the tall dark man come through the door, that Joe was in for trouble. And I was right. The tall dark man strode toward the booth and there was something about him that caused my blood to creep. I stood up but was by no means quick enough. The stranger had grabbed Joe by the coat front, jerked him to his feet and slapped his face.

After a while a messenger came in and handed me a note. I read it and looked sorry at Joe. "Now you've done it. That was Count

Obeid and that was his girl you introduced."

"Introduced!" said Joe.

"And he wants to fight a duel with you. He realizes our boat will be first thing in the morning, so in order to accommodate us he'll let you fight on the deck at dawn. He will do you the honor of permitting you to choose your own weapons."

Joe shook his head and tried to grasp it. "This punk—the dope who introduced my law—wants to fight a duel? You mean like they do in Salsador's books?" And I can choose my own weapons? Joe went on. He stood up. "Come on."

I followed him out quite dazed. Joe was lost in stopping him again, yet ready for any emergency. We went to the Plaza. The count and his girl were, of course, gone. Joe made inquiries, wrote down an address and beckoned me to follow. A land deposited us before a pretentious looking house of white adobe. A servant admitted us and showed us to the dining room.

"You're giving me the honor of choosing my own weapons?" "Joe, I'll take them, and he knotted up his fists and held them under the count's eyes. "You're a honor as a gentleman you can't refuse. Also, who will take dawn?"

WRAT followed was pitiful. He trooped into the back yard, Joe and the count took off their coats and prepared for fighting. Joe stepped in and delivered a quick one-two on the nobleman's chin. Blood appeared on his mouth. He swung wildly. Joe set him back on his heels. The count came in again and Joe knocked him down. He got up and came back for more.

"Listen, old horse," he said, "you're as dumb about the customs here as America as I am. I can't understand you here. Only I didn't have the time to fight you over our way—and you, well, by gosh, there were damned few Americans can take it the way you have. And right here, now, I rise to remark you have my apology, and I'll tell that damn so, too, if you'll tell me where she lives."

Well, the count only caught on to about one-third of what Joe meant and primed and offered his hand.

Ten minutes later the three of us sat around a fire in Kaseides' living room, laughing and talking and drinking punch and telling each other that it was too bad there wasn't a perfect understanding about customs of different countries, and agreed that if such were the case every one would be happier.

Only 'Mystic Magic' for Juicy, Tender Meats
Is Proper Procedure in Preparing Them for Use

By Lynn Chambers

Have your Meat Tender, Delicious, Juicy
(See Recipes Below)

THERE DOES SEEM to be a magical quality about meats which are cooked by juice, tender perfection. However, it's not a mystic magic which all aspire to and few achieve, if there is a secret it is available to all.

It is no secret that you should have a good cut of meat with which to start. If you want to have a delicious cut to set on the table. But once you have a good cut, do cook it properly instead of roasting it. This latter statement may sound a bit far-fetched, but every day there are thousands of women who slide up to a great deal of trouble finding a perfect roast, then cook it like a pot roast which is practically stewing it. Then, too, there are other thousands who lose pounds of meat by using old-fashioned methods such as high temperature for "broiling" the meat. This is not necessary because meat cooked at constant low temperature will brown enough to be attractive to the most discerning eye, and will not shrink and lose juice as well as waste meat.

If you have a covered roaster, resolve right now to discard the cover and roast in a rack for a roast. A true roast is not, at any point during roasting, cooked with a cover. It should sit on a stand, flat side up, at low to moderate temperature in the oven, to roast perfectly.

How long should a roast be cooked? The most accurate way of determining this is to insert a meat thermometer into the meat as you place it in the oven, and when the temperature has reached its proper point the roast is done. This is not a thermometer through the center, an deep into the meat as possible. You may figure out the time to roast by pounds, but this is not nearly so accurate, especially if you are cooking roast beef to medium rare.

WHEN PROPERLY PREPARED a corned beef can be a real delicacy. The meat is muscular, and needs to be cooked long and slowly for real tenderness, without which it is not a delicacy by any manner of means. Here's a novel way to prepare it:

Glazed Corned Beef - 6-7 pounds corned beef
1 cup ketchup
1 1/2 cups canned fruit juice
1 cup brown sugar
10 whole cloves
Spiced preserves

Wash corned beef under running water to remove all traces of brine. Cover with cold water and bring to a boil. Drain and replace water. Simmer slowly in a covered kettle for 4 1/2 to 5 hours or until meat can be pierced easily with a fork. Add more water if necessary.

Drain meat and place on a rack in a roaster. Pour fruit juice over roast and sprinkle with brown sugar. Stick with cloves. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) for 3 1/2 hours. Serve, garnished with a spiced preserve.

WARD AS IT MAY BE for you to try roasting meat at low and constant temperature. If it is followed other ways in the past, do give it a try. You'll never go back to the old way because the roasts are so much more delicious and juicy. Besides, who doesn't want to get all the edible meat possible for their money?

The tender lamb liver takes of creole style when it's brailed with some chopped tripe or canned tomatoes, green pepper and a dash of curry powder. Add some crumbs for a crumbly favor.

Pre-cooked sweetbreads may be roasted in butter with mushroom caps and served on top of braised triangles of bread with a strip of bacon for an exciting luncheon dish.

To pre-cook beans and sweet-breads, soak in cold water to cover for 1 hour. Then remove membranes. Simmer in water which has been added 1 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon lemon juice or vinegar for 15 minutes. Drain and cool in cold water to rinse.

Braint, after pre-cooking, make a delicious fish when dipped in seasoned flour, then browned in fat and served with creamy scrambled eggs.

Hearts need a lot of long slow cooking to make them tender. Sweet hearts are especially good when filled with goose stuffing, then braised.

To shorten the cooking time for heart, cut it in cubes and cook in hot fat. Then boil into tomato sauce used for spaghetti and bake the whole casserole for 30 minutes.

What's a good way to serve liver, liver hearts? Churn them up with sautéed cooked rice or noodles that is put together with tomato sauce into which has been folded sour cream.

Tripe, after being pre-cooked and marinated may also be ground and shaped into patties. Fry these in bacon and bake until done.
Serve sliced tongue over a bed of cooked noodles swimming in rich tomato-green pepper sauce. If you want plenty of compliments serve plain fish.
Delicious way for sweetbreads: Wrap a piece of bacon around each sweetbread and broil until browned in crisp.
Extend the beef with kidneys when you making meat pie. This you'll have that always popular steak and kidney pie.

Rainbow Loop Finals Set For Sunday

With its Hainbow league playoff series standing at one game apiece the Negaunee Flyers will travel to Owino Sunday afternoon to meet the Modol Tenure in the third and deciding game in the series for the loop championship.

The site of the final contest will be decided by the flip of a coin. Gwin calling the turn correctly after the Modol Tenure must overcome the series 100 feet afternoon.

Manager Sam Ford will undoubtedly state his title hopes on the veteran Tommy Richards, who twisted the Flyers into the championship series by turning back Dorrie and then defeating Gwin here Sunday afternoon. With the chips down, Ford feels the experience Richards had gained in several hotbedd complaints will prove beneficial to the Rover's title hopes. Should Gwin treat the veteran roughly, Ford will call on either of his two younger hurlers, Corvex or Neely, for relief.

With Trombley having enjoyed little success in his three appearances on the mound against Negaunee, it is expected that Gwin will start Ayyete, who turned in a beautiful game against the Flyers on Labor Day. Making his first start of the year against the Rock nine, Ayyete limited the Negaunee club to two hits, both doubles, and sent 14 of the Flyers back to the bench via the strikout route.

The Flyers opened the title series here Sunday with a 3-1 win with the aid of Jupiter Pluvius, the game being called in the ninth inning on account of rain with Gwin runners on second and third and two men out. The Mod-

As an organization meeting of the Classic league, Hank Boerig, Boui Chaffey sponsor, was named as league proxy with Rocky Larson as vice-president and Ollie Symons as the record keeper and collector of returns.

Gordon Richards was selected as chief mogul of the Viga league with Adolph Kaupila as his chief assistant and James Lomperio an secretary-treasurer.

A total of 14 teams applied for admission in the Women's league, but it was necessary to restrict the number of entries to 12 teams in order to complete the weekly schedule on one night. Ruby Hooper's Towers had already pushed across one entry in the final lining, but the game returned back to the score at the end of the eighth inning. Negaunee tallied two runs in the second frame and added one more in the sixth while Gwin scored its lone marker in the eighth.

Gwin scored up the second game to all intents and purposes, in the fourth inning when Ayyete gave his club a one run lead which proved an insurance counter in a circuit smash. The Modol Tenure added an insurance counter in the same frame on a walk to Soyung, pass to Erickson and Hutchcraft single which scored Soyung and then scored one more in the seventh.

Big Things, Small Measure
PHILADELPHIA.—Some of the "biggest things" to be achieved in engineering in the next few years will be measured in millions of an inch.

Dr. Hasken Styr, research director for SKF Industries, makes that prediction in giving this year's college engineering graduates a career tip. Gauges that measure accurately down to a millionth of an inch are needed more and more by virtually every type of industry today, he said, because today's mass-production techniques demand equipment that can make fast and accurate checks on the precise machining of thousands of mass-produced parts so they can fit where they are supposed to without individual cutting and fitting.

"New and better gauging equipment is in greater demand than ever," said the SKF scientist. He noted that 40 years ago measurements of one ten-thousandth of an inch were considered the ultimate in perfection, whereas now it's possible to determine them to within a few millionths of an inch.

New Philippine Code Will Abolish Divorce For Any Reasons

MANILA, P. I.—This island government is stamping out divorce. Sometimes in 1850 local laws forbade divorce on any grounds.

The new Philippine code, enacted at a recent session of the congress, will become effective one year after its publication.

Even under existing laws, divorce in the Philippines is extremely difficult. It is now granted infidly on the part of the wife or husband—and the guilty spouse must be imprisoned before the divorce may be granted.

The new code allows legal separation both of body and property, but neither spouse may remarry. The new code also provides for legal separation when one spouse tries to kill the other.

Foreign divorces obtained by couples married in the Philippines are not recognized by Philippine courts.

Dr. Jorge Jacobo, former associate justice of the supreme court and for 17 years dean of the University of the Philippines law college, called the abolition of divorce here a "unconquered step." He was chairman of the code commission which prepared the new compilation of civil law for enactment.

The new code provides, however, that the wife's consent is necessary before any sale of conjugal property is made by the husband.

TELEIODE

Road Deaths On Uptrend

CHICAGO.—A car full of teenage boys recently drove through a red traffic light in a suburb near here and rammed their automobile at breakneck speed into the machine of an elderly couple. The innocent couple was killed instantly and all of the boys were seriously injured—some perhaps for life.

This accident typifies a new form of mass murder and self-destruction on the highways known as "teleiodes."

Teleiodes is a violent death caused by an automobile driver under 25 years of age, usually the result of recklessness or immature judgment. Last year, teleiodes figures soared to 7,500 killed and an estimated 275,000 injured. This shocking total represents 10 times more fatalities than our army forces suffered at Iwo Jima and cost the nation $60 million dollars in cash.

Can anything be done to reduce this slaughter? Scores of insurance agencies, automobile associations and other organizations are throwing their weight into the teleiodes problem.

Three-Way Problem

James S. Kemper, chairman of the Lumbermen mutual casualty company and a pioneer in highway safety, believes the present death and accident rate can be cut only by changing the frivolous and irresponsible attitude of youth.

"The teleiodes problem must be attacked in three ways," Kemper says. "First, youngsters must be taught the techniques of safe driving, preferably in school. Second, traffic rules must be enforced and strict license requirements established. The third approach—and most important—is to let parents should not only teach good driving but set an example themselves."

Kemper points out that any teenage boy who sees his parents driving 20 miles an hour in a dormie zone and getting by with it—can almost invariably be expected to drive 20 miles an hour under the same conditions from natural vitality and enthusiasm.

According to statistics, a car in the hands of a teenager is about twice as dangerous as a car driven by a mature adult. The 16-20 age group is involved in five times as many accidents as the 40-50 group; and statistics show that in five times as many accidents as the 40-50 group.

High school instruction in safe driving has proved highly effective in reducing teleiodes. Unfortunately, only 600 out of 20,000 U. S. high schools offer this course. The American automobile association is prepared to lend staff educators who teach teen high-school teachers in safe driving.

In addition to pouring out tons of safety literature and advertising each year, Lumbermen hopes to set up a school for Northwestern university's traffic institute. This company also sponsors a nationwide contest among college newspapers last fall.

The National Safety Council is directing much of its highway material toward teenagers. These organizations and many others are all eager to help solve this serious problem.

FIRST AID TO THE AILING HOUSE

By Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: Is there anything I could put on my aluminum outdoor clothes line so that black smudges can be kept off the clothes? Even after thorough wiping it is possible to rub "black" off the line.

ANSWER: After thorough cleaning, rinsing and drying, give the line a coat of good spar varnish. To get an even coat, saturate a piece of cheesecloth with the varnish and wipe it on the wire. Since there will be a great deal of friction, the varnish gradually will wear off, and the treatment must be repeated. Instead of all this fussing, why not use a good cord clothesline, to be taken down and put away when not in use?

First American Railroad

The first road of rails in the United States is said to have been a short inclined track used as early as 1793 to convey brick and other clay products from kilns on Beacon Hill, Boston, to a street below. In 1825, John Whiteley built a short railway at the same location. The rails were of wood.

Practically all of the best athletes north of the Straits left for the high school gridiron, with the exception of Escanaba, where the hosts of a function suddenly refused to go along with a night football program. In Northern Michigan are at a definite disadvantage in the late season, due principally to lack of adequate playing talent. The majority of Lower Peninsula entries are sponsored by industrial or other organizations able to offer them employment to players and their routers are sufficed not only with an abundance of leading strength, but a surplus of material at other positions as well.

Hoping to at least equal that present this week the initial Frodo year ago and are in the process of rebuilding. Both the Maroons 1939 season, in tonight's games,
