PHIL LA POINTE TO BE GRAND MARSHALL OF WHITE PINE'S PARADE

The Carp Lake Township Bicentennial Committee is proud to present Philip La Pointe as Grand Marshall of the parade to be held on July 5th in White Pine.

Phil, 58, who resides with his wife Margaret at 44 Maple Street, White Pine, comes from a family of five brothers and two sisters. His sisters now live in California while the brothers are located in various parts of Michigan. The family's original home is the Baraga area where Phil attended public schools. The La-Pointe's reared nine children - five boys and four girls, the oldest is 35 and the youngest 23.

Phil is 50% native American, originating from the Wisconsin band of the Chippewa tribe. His great-grandmother and husband Edward Less operated the Silver City Trading Post in the mid-1800's. She passed away in Silver City in 1922.

Phil enlisted in the U.S. Army Air Corps and served 43 months as cook and mess sergeant; he was discharged as a T/4. From the service, he went to work for the Ford Motor Company in L'Anse for six years and then to Cleveland Cliffs Company for one year. Twenty-two years ago, as of June 30th, Phil came to work for the White Pine Copper Company where he has held a variety of jobs. His experience includes most phases of underground and supervisory work. He recently was assigned to Security.

Phil LaPointe's public service work includes positions as past Commander of the American Legion Post 462, recent past Commander of the VFW Post 4359, alternate committee man to the 12th District American Legion in 1974 and 1975. He has also been a member of the White Pine Fire Department for twelve years. He is presently chairman of the Ontonagon County Department of Veterans Affairs and Chairman of the Ontonagon County Veterans Trust Fund Committee.

For rest and relaxation, Phil's hobby is fishing.

Truly a patriot and beloved citizen of our community, we are honored to have Phil La Pointe as this Bicentennial Year's Grand Marshall.

WHITE PINE FIREMEN "HARD WORKERS" FOR BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

A heavy work schedule is planned by the men of the White Pine Fire Department the weekend of July 3rd. It's all in the nature of preparation for Carp Lake Township's Bicentennial Celebration on July 5, 1976.

Besides work on the Fire Hall and set up for Bingo Games these gallant men will decorate Main Street. Lido Paoli announced on behalf of the Firemen's Association that flags and bunting will be installed on lamp posts during the weekend.

Also scheduled is polishing and preparation of the fire engines which the Firemen will ride in the parade. Because these community-minded gentlemen also belong to other organizations you will see Firemen setting up stands and even shooting off fireworks!

AVOIDANCE OF ABUSES OF PRIVILEGES UNDER SOCIAL SERVICES GETS LEGAL BOOST

Efforts by Michigan Department of Social Services workers to curb abuse or exploitation of aged, blind and disabled persons now have legal underpinning.

Public Act 136, given immediate effect by the Legislature and signed May 27th by Governor Milliken, clarifies Social Services' responsibility to "provide protective services for adults who are in danger of exploitation, abandonment, cruelty or abuse by children, guardians, custodians or others."

DSS officials say that although abuse and neglect is generally linked in the public mind with children, thousands of adults may face similar danger.

Now that the needed legislation has been passed, the Department of Social Services will begin drafting rules and procedures for carrying out the legal mandate.

Those rules must answer a number of questions: What legal services will be needed to translate the new law into reality, and how will those services be obtained? Should the state mandate the establishment of a public guardianship office in every county? Should persons who report cases of suspected abuse or exploitation be protected from prosecution, as provided in similar cases affecting children?

As a first step toward meeting these and other issues, the Michigan Department of Social Services is asking each county Social Services office to look at community resources and determine what particular approaches will work and what community agencies should be involved.

In addition, DSS Basic Adult Services workers around the state will be introduced to the new law during a series of two-day training sessions slated to get underway this month.

REGULAR MEETING OF WHITE PINE BOOSTER CLUB HELD ON JUNE 11

The regular monthly meeting of the White Pine Booster Club was held on Thursday, June 11, 1976. Present were W. Helakoski, J. Bley Jr., Rod Repaal, E. Helakoski, R. McNabb, V. Calhoun, C. Bergman and J. Giuliano.

The Treasurer reported a checkbook balance of $1,073.61. Certificates of deposit are $3,000.00. The bill for the Athletic Banquet amounted to $567.00 total - ticket sales were $215.00 - net bill to be paid was $352.00. R. Repaal submitted Babe Ruth and Little League bills. R. McNabb thanked the Konteka for a fine banquet.

C. Bergman recommended all those qualified, be given financial assistance to attend the Athletic Camps of their choice. The Booster Club accepted the recommendations.

R. Repaal and W. Helakoski discussed the poor playing condition of the Babe Ruth field and asked for financial aid from the Booster Club for improvements. A discussion followed and a motion was made by E. Helakoski that nothing definite be done until a firm price and time schedule is received from Reath Nurseries and the matter discussed with the School Board. Seconded by C. Bergman. Motion passed.

A discussion was held regarding the possibility of changing the format of next year's Athletic Banquet. A final decision was put off until next fall.

This was the final meeting for the summer. The next meeting will be September 9th at 6:30 p.m. at the Konteka.

NEW PART-TIME PASTOR APPOINTED TO ONTONAGON METHODIST CHURCHES

The Rev. Mrs. Myra Lee Sparks of Ontonagon has been appointed as a part-time Local Pastor by Bishop Dwight E. Loder to the Ontonagon County Ecumenical Larger Parish.

The appointment was announced during the recent sessions of the Detroit Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church meeting at Adrian College. She began her duties on the 16th of June.

Rev. Sparks is a graduate of Michigan State University and has a Master's degree in Special Education from Eastern Michigan University. She began her studies for the ministry in 1971 and is now enrolled in the fourth year of the Course of Study which requires attendance at a four-week Seminar at Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary, Evanston, Illinois, each summer.

Rev. Sparks is also the newly-elected Marquette District Education Chairperson; in which capacity she is available to work with United Methodist Churches of the Upper Peninsula on their education program.

Rev. Sparks is the wife of Wayne E. Sparks, who with the Rev. Roger F. Gedcke of White Pine are the full-time pastors of the Larger Parish. The Ontonagon County Ecumenical Larger Parish is comprised of the Bergland, Ewen, Greenland, Ontonagon, Rockland St. Paul's, and White Pine Community United Methodist Churches and the First Presbyterian Church of Trout Creek.

Churches of the Larger Parish are arranging appropriate welcomes to their newest pastor, Myra Lee Sparks, as she comes to their pulpits.

ENVIRONMENTAL BRIEFS - "Organic Training Farm Leads To Rural Renaissance" (Reprint From Organic Gardening & Farming Magazine) ... The poor, the uneducated and the economically desperate learn natural farming methods to help them stay on the land. . .

An unassuming 650-acre farm in rural Anson County, North Carolina, carries an importance far beyond its size. It is the home of the Frank P. Graham Experimental Farm and Training Center, and it's unique among the 2,800,000 farms remaining in the United States (the lowest number since record-keeping began in 1910.)

While the farm produces a delicious variety of vegetable crops, its primary product is people. The purpose is to restore some measure of dignity to the lives of those millions of poverty-stricken rural Americans who are under unrelenting pressure to flee the countryside.

508 acres of abandoned farmland were bought in 1972 by the Rural Advancement Fund of the National Sharecroppers Fund, Inc. An additional 144 acres of land were bought in 1975. A complex of fields, work buildings and dormitories was quickly developed, and today it stands as the only facility in the country, public or private, offering a free training program to disadvantaged rural people who want to make a go of it on the land, or to urban people who want to return to the land.

Poor black and white farmers, Chicano migrants and day laborers learn how to farm without using expensive chemical fertilizers, insecticides and herbicides. This emphasis on natural farming isn't a faddish cashing-in on the current popularity of organic foods, but a hard-headed, conservative commitment to time-tested techniques that offer an alternative to rural despair. The Center's beans, squash, tomatoes, yams, peas, watermelons, lettuce and cucumbers stock the farm's own larder, and bring profits from demanding markets.

While the trainees have been learning by producing in the fields, they are being taught other skills such as carpentry, masonry, welding, bookkeeping and equipment repair so that they can supplement farm incomes by mastering trades needed in their communities. They are also taught how to organize and manage rural cooperatives.

National Sharecroppers Fund Executive Director Jim Pierce, who pioneered the development of the Center, says, "For too many years USDA's conventional wisdom has been that poor, small farmers are expendable, that nothing can really be done to make marginal operations pay, and that the future belongs to agribusiness. Well, we have seen the future, and it isn't working.

Food is losing flavor, the land is losing people, and the country is losing the production of hundreds of thousands of small farms that have ceased to exist.

"Farm numbers have been steadily declining since 1936. We lost another 14,000 last year. Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz says that by 1980 we will have a million fewer farmers in this country. That means a million food producers turned into food consumers in a time of world famine. If conventional wisdom says that this is good for Americans and the other four billion people in the world, then we say unconventional wisdom is in order.

An Oklahoman who is part Cherokee Indian, Pierce grew up on a hardscrabble farm during the Depression. Then, for a quarter of a century, he helped to organize workers in southern industry. He saw the pattern repeated time and time again, of people squeezed off farms into menial factory and mill jobs, of land laid waste by poor farming practices.

"We offer a total approach to rural problems here: how to farm most economically and productively on a small holding; how low-income farmers can link up with others like themselves to form cooperatives which are the best single hope they have. We teach how co-ops can hold their own in the tough, tricky world of marketing," Pierce says.

When the R.A.F. bought the Anson County property, the land was overgrown and the soil exhausted from decades of cotton sharecropping. It's the only kind of land that many poor farmers ever get their hands on. In the middle of it was a symbol of the past, a 100-year-old tumbledown sharecropper's shack.

Charles Dixon, the Center's farm manager who had previously organized a farmers' cooperative in Virginia, needed help clearing and leveling the wasted acres. One day, a local man by the name of Bennie Gaddy came by to see what all the activity was about in the fields surrounding the shack.

"I treasured that house," says Gaddy, 26. "It held a lot of memories for me because that's where my grandmother lived, a widow with 10 children, while she farmed cotton behind a mule. I used to pick for her when I was a little boy. When Charles Dixon told me what was going on, what they planned to do, I was amazed. I'd quit farming because I couldn't support my family and was working in a textile mill. But I didn't want that. I wanted to farm. So I stayed on at the Center."

The shack stayed, too. The walls will be mended with planking from old barns, the sagging, galvanized roof refurbished, and the field mice nesting in an ancient cast-iron cookstove will have to relocate.

Dixon and Gaddy felled trees, pulled stumps, cleared brush and started what would become massive compost heaps. They plowed into the ground a "home-brewed" fertilizer mix of feather meal, seaweed, ground granite, bone meal, tankage and other soil-conditioners. By the spring of 1973, land that had been written off as finished had a new lease on life—fields of beans, potatoes, lettuce and beets moved visiting local farmers to cautious words of country praise.

Before trainees could come in, the physical plant had to be completed. Within a year, all the basic structures were built. The main building exemplifies the character of the Center. Sprawling like a brown brick ranch house, it is attractive, homey and practical. Housed in it are Center offices, dormitories, kitchen, a 50-seat dining room and recreation room. The dorm which can accommodate 32 persons, is divided into rooms with bunk-bed space for 6 or 8, with individual bureaus and curtained windows. Each unit has its own handsome tiled bathroom with showers powerful enough to blast off the most stubborn field dirt. The accommodations are better than many poor rural people have ever known, and they get across a subtle message: the Center respects the trainees no matter what their origin, and treats them as people of merit.

One of the Center instructors, who came off a small farm to earn a degree in agriculture, explains the Center's respect for better farming: "What we put into the fertilizer is determined by soil analysis. When the trainees return to their home communities, they can get the same kind of analysis free from the Agricultural Extension Service. Depending on the soil, we'll use more of one thing, less of something else. But no chemicals. And we've yet to use any pesticides on a crop here. We plant a winter cover crop of rye, clover and cowpeas, which puts nitrogen back into the soil naturally. Last year, trainees even milled seed from their own rye grass."

The instructor is a tall, serious young man not given to enthusiasm. Asked about the commitment of the trainees he teaches and the future of the Center, he replies: "Everyone out here is looking for something. Some are idealists who like the notion of natural farming but don't like to get their hands dirty. So the first thing we do is burst some bubbles and set realistic goals, because vegetable farming involves a lot of hard, consistent labor. I'm not much of an idealist myself, but I hope the Center prospers. They're looking for answers to problems that most people only talk about. Well, they're well past sitting and talking about it. They're getting their hands dirty and working up a sweat and as much will come out of it as the people will put into it."

One of those people is 26-year-old James McCoy who studies both farming and welding. McCoy is married, with one child and another on the way. He had gone the old route from farm to textile mill, then reversed that dead-end path back to a small farm near the Center, that had been in his family. By fall, 1974, costs were about to squeeze him out again. "Then one day Charles Dixon came by our church," McCoy says, "and he explained the set-up here. It was one of the most interesting things I'd ever heard of, particularly the vocational training that went along with the natural farming. I wanted to learn machine repair, and this was my chance.

"I've seen this place progressing every minute since I came. Now, you take my type of farming on a small place; I don't want to get rich. I just want to make a living. I couldn't do it before, but now I can. The differences will be in knowing how to fertilize without depending on chemicals, how to get the most production out of a small area, important things like that. I just wish this Center had happened 25 years ago. You see, my old man just loved farming. But there were 7 to feed in the family, children getting bigger, demand getting bigger. So he had to quit the farm and go on the public works. And I saw how bad it was for a man to walk away from something he loved."

C. R. (Roc) Johnson, Center training director, likes the mixture of attitudes and ideas that different trainees bring with them. Johnson is a big man with a nice balance of authority and amiability. When a bumper tomato crop threatened to rot on the vines for lack of pickers, he worked along with the trainees. And when work in the fields goes past the supper hour, and kitchen help have gone home, Roc Johnson turns short-order cook. The Center is that kind of place.

"In 1974, we had observers come in from England, France, Ghana, Israel, China, Norway and Japan, along with most of the 50 states," Environmental Briefs . . . Continued Next Page

Johnson says. The North Carolina Comprehensive Education and Training Program has contracted for us to train state residents, and they looked us over pretty good before deciding we could provide something nobody else was offering. And look, here's what the Charlotte Observer - one of the country's best newspapers - had to say in an editorial dated August 22, 1974: "...it is not unrealistic to think that out of the Graham Center's 500 tired acres in Anson County a rural renaissance may flow."

At night under a Carolina harvest moon above the grading shed, two young men pack sweet potatoes into boxes for market. One is white with an Indian headband holding back his hair. The other is black, his Afro high and thick. Together they had plowed the fields, fertilized them naturally, planted the potatoes, and brought in the harvest. Now they were scribbling prices on the boxes before they loaded them into the truck waiting to head for the market. Each had come to the Center out of poverty, and one day they would go back home, no longer poor in skills or hope.

PARADE ROUTE FOR WHITE PINE'S "5TH" CELEBRATION FINALIZED

The Bicentennial Committee of Carp Lake Township has finalized the parade route for the celebration being held in White Pine on July 5th, 1976.

Parade participants will mobilize in the White Pine High School parking lot by 10:30. The drivers and passengers of floats and other vehicles attending the official Flag Raising and Ecumenical Service should have their vehicles in the lot by 10:00 a.m. This does not include children taking part in the parade.

Bill Born will assemble and start the parade at 10:30 a.m. from the High School parking lot and the parade will proceed down Balsam Street to Elm Street and turn right. It will then go down Elm Street to Maple and again turn right on Hemlock Street. It is at this point (known as Paolis' corner) that the children will join in the parade. Children are asked to be in position by 10:30 a.m. The parade will then proceed down Hemlock Street to Main Street, right on Main Street to the Hospital parking lot for dispersal.

The parade will pass the judges' reviewing stand at the Totem Pole. Four prize categories have been set being private, organizational, commercial and kiddies. The first three groups will have a first prize of $100, and a second prize of $50, in each - for a total of $450, in prizes. The kiddies will be judged separately - there being six first prizes of $5.00 each; six second prizes of $3.00 each and six third prizes of $2.00 each. In addition, every child in the parade will receive fifty cents. In past years the children put on interesting and pleasing displays. These ran from clever motorized miniature floats to tiny ones in costume. A number of mounted entries are also expected as the popularity of horseback riding has increased in the area the past few years. Floats from other communities are welcome to participate and will be eligible for prizes.

CAMPGROUND RULES STATED FOR THE OTTAWA

According to Ottawa National Forest Supervisor M. K. Lauritsen, National Forest campgrounds can be occupied only on a first-come, first-served basis. While most persons respect this rule, there are incidents -- especially during the long 4th of July weekend -- where an individual will enter a campground two or three days early and leave a camper, tent, or other equipment occupying a site with no one present in order to hold a campsite. The rule is that a campsite must be occupied the first night and paid for, and under no circumstances can a campsite be "saved" for friends. Also, camping equipment cannot be left unattended for more than 24 hours without permission of a Forest Officer.

Violation of these rules in National Forest campgrounds requires that the individual will be issued a violation notice which would result in a minimum $10-$20 fine.

Bulletin boards at all National Forest campgrounds display the "Regulations Governing the Occupancy and Use of National Forest Recreation Sites and Areas." Information is also available at the Supervisor's Office in Ironwood or any of the Ranger District headquarters located at Bergland, Bessemer, Iron River, Kenton, Ontonagon and Watersmeet.

LAKE SUPERIOR SPORTSMEN HOLD REGULAR TRAP SHOOT AT CLUB

At the Thursday evening (June 17) trap shoot at the club trap range, located two miles east of Silver City, the largest number of shooters to date this year were out. About twenty-five gunners tried their skill at hitting the flying clay birds. Although the scores were not as impressive as the previous week when a couple of hot shots were getting 24 & 25's, there still were quite a few shooters in the 20's bracket.

The club has recently organized five teams that will compete against each other for a trophy to be awarded at the end of the season. Currently, team 5 is in first place - only one bird in front of the next two teams.

These are all three-man teams so as to leave plenty of space for open shooting every Thursday evening beginning at 6:30.

Everyone is invited to shoot, whether a member or not.

OPENING CEREMONY AT WHITE PINE BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION INCLUDES ECUMENICAL SERVICE

A memorable and soul-stirring ceremony will start the day's activities on Monday, July 5, 1976. Carp Lake Township's Bicentennial Celebration is to begin promptly at 10 a.m. at the Helakoski Memorial in White Pine.

The ceremony is to begin with the traditional raising of the flag, attended by a bugler followed by the singing of the National Anthem by the audience. A band will accompany the singing.

An Ecumenical Service will follow with members of the Clergy first reading the Declaration of Independence followed by a talk entitled "Religion's Place in Our Bicentennial." The crowd will then sing "America, the Beautiful." A prayer will be offered in closing.

The official color guard will be composed of members of the American Legion, V.F.W., Boys Scouts and Girl Scouts. Besides flags of the United States and Organization flags, the State of Michigan flag will be present denoting the dual citizenship status of every American.

The ceremony is guaranteed to bring a lump to the throat and tears to the eyes as the affair is witnessed. Everyone present will have recall of those events in their personal life significant in the history of our United States.

Your presence and total commitment is urged and cordially invited.

FINAL MEETING TONIGHT FOR CARP LAKE TOWNSHIP BICENTENNIAL HEADS

The final meeting of the Carp Lake Township Bicentennial Committee will be held tonight, Wednesday, June 30, 1976 at 7:30 p.m. at the Konteka. Last minute details will be worked on. Money for Booster Buttons sold to date should be turned in at this time.

NEW AMERICAN LEGION BALL FIELD

TO ALL LEGION POST 462 MEMBERS

Part of Carp Lake Township's Bicentennial Celebration will be taking place at the new American Legion ball field. Mario Caramella, Secretary for the American Legion Association, states that this year begins the formation of a Slow Pitch Association. Four teams have already organized, one being an old-timer's team, and two women's teams, and one regular men's team (18 and over). A 24-team tournament is to start on Saturday, July 3, 1976, with final-day play-offs scheduled for Monday, July 5th. Trophies for first and second place will be given as well as $800. in prize money for places 1 through 8. The finals on Monday are to be coordinated with other activities in order that team members can take part in opening ceremonies and the parade. There will also be a break in the evening so that ball players can be present for the Booster Button Drawing to be held about 5:00 p.m. at the High School football field.

Let's have a show of patriotism, strength, and unity at White Pine's Bicentennial Celebration. Come on out and march in the parade. Marchers should report to the High School at 10:20 a.m. on the 5th. If the colonists (our first veterans) had watched from the curb in 1776 we would not be having a 200th birthday.

BOOSTER BUTTON PRIZES

The White Pine Bicentennial Celebration will feature a Drawing in conjunction with the sale of Booster Buttons. Prizes to be awarded during the "Anything Goes" event on July 5th are:
A 10-Speed Bicycle
A $100.00 Savings Bond

FIRE PLUG POP ART TO BE JUDGED AT WHITE PINE

Elmer Niemela, President of the Carp Lake Township Volunteer Firemen's Association announced that the firemen will judge the painting of fire hydrants in the community. A large number of the "plugs" have been decorated in recent weeks by residents of the community, adding to the color and spirit of the upcoming Bicentennial Celebration on the 5th of July.

The decision was made after a work bee held in the fire hall resulted in a painted floor and a very pleasing decorating job on the front doors. The effort brought out latent artistic talents not known before - and, the best of these have been appointed judges for the "fire plug" contest. If you wish to enter in this fire hydrant decorating competition, call Elmer Niemela and register your hydrant. Judging will take place on Sunday, July 4th and the judges will be Chief Byron Gougeon, Bud Broemer and Jim Vollmer.

A LEGIONNAIRES PRAYER

Let us pray that strength and courage abundant be given to all who work for a world of reason and understanding, that the good that lies in every man's heart may day by day be magnified, that men will come to see more clearly not that which divides them - but that which unites them - that each hour may bring us closer to a final victory, not of nation over nation, but of man over his own evils and weaknesses - that the true spirit of Christianity - its joy, its beauty, its hope, and above all its abiding faith - may live among us - that the blessings of peace be ours - the peace to build and grow, to live in harmony and sympathy with others, and to plan for the future with confidence.

FREEDOM IS - BICENTENNIAL SPECIAL BY LUTHERAN TV - TO BE BROADCAST

Tell anyone about a new television show that's billed as a "Bicentennial Special", and you'll probably be greeted with some indifference. But add the fact that the show is paid for by children; that it uses the talents of some of today's top stars; that it is the fourth prime-time special from a religious organization; and that it is highly entertaining. . . and the indifference will change into great interest.

The program that incorporates all these unusual attributes is "Freedom Is," produced by Lutheran Television, the communications arm of the International Lutheran Laymen's League and the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod. Lutheran Television also receives credit for "This Is the Life", television's longest running half-hour weekly syndicated dramatic series and winner of a 1974 Emmy Award.

"Our Synod was determined not to pass up the opportunity presented by America's Bicentennial," commented Rev. McHone, Pastor of St. Paul and Trinity Lutheran Churches. "Frankly however, the budget was just not there." According to Rev. McHone, Lutheran Television enlisted the support of the children of the Missouri Synod school system, the strongest Protestant parochial school system in the U.S. The children came through with over $150,000 enabling Lutheran Television to carry a message of freedom to families in America.

"Freedom Is" represents the fourth venture for Lutheran Television into the prime-time arena. Previous shows - "Christmas Is", "Easter Is", and "The City That Forgot About Christmas" - have consistently pulled enthusiastic audiences and high ratings. It all began with "Christmas Is" in 1970. This past Christmas was the strongest mail response yet received for the two yuletide specials. Over 250,000 letters poured in requesting a Bicentennial calendar offered at the end of the show. Well over a million letters have been received since 1970.

"Freedom Is" goes one step beyond the ordinary 'founding of our country' approach," commented Pastor McHone. "It demonstrates growth of freedom in our country over the years. The ever-popular heroes of Lutheran TV's previous specials, Benji and Waldo are taken back to the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The issue of slavery becomes dominant in Congress. But with the British anchored in the harbor and an urgent decision to be made, the slavery issue is put aside. The relationship between Benji and his new-found friend Jason, a slave, helps focus in on the real issue of freedom.

"Freedom Is" stars Jonathan Winters, Richard Roundtree, Edward Asner, Joseph Cotten, and Dan Dailey. The music was written by Grammy-winner Jimmie Haskell.

"Freedom Is" premieres this July 4th on WLUC, Channel 6, at 6:00 p.m. While it is being hailed as a Bicentennial special, the show no doubt will be back in future years as a well-deserved "Summer Classic."

At the end of the show, Benji explains, "I'm helping freedom grow." This becomes the message to be carried into homes around the country on an attractively designed T-shirt decal being offered free of charge by Lutheran Television. The decal allows children to show that they want to be a part of improving human relations around the world. As Rev. McHone puts it, "This show not only entertains but also points out that - although we've come a long way - we still have a long way to go. It will take everyone pulling together to get there." As long as there are shows like "Freedom Is" and organizations like Lutheran Television, America is On The Way!!

Other broadcast dates for the show will be: July 3, WFRV (5) Green Bay, 6:30 p.m.; July 20, WSAU (7) Wausau, 6:30 p.m.; and on the same channel the following afternoon at 3:30 p.m. Watch!!

OUTDOOR REPORT: Jim Magnuson, MDNR
One problem that always appears at this time of the year is the number of "orphan" fawns and other new-born animals that get picked up by well-meaning people because they look like they have been abandoned by their mother. A few of these "woods babies" are such orphans because their mother was a highway-kill victim, but most are not. Any time a person happens to spot a young animal in the woods or just off a roadway in the bushes but can't see an adult animal of the same species near by, leave it alone because the mother is at hand even if you don't see her. If you young is actually an orphan, you will know because the carcass of the adult will be close enough to be seen.

In either case, don't pick up the young animal and bring it home. Contact the nearest D.N.R. office or Conservation Officer and give them a location of where the animal was sighted. These calls will be checked out and, if they are in need of help, they will get it. In almost all cases, however, the mother will have rejoined her young long before a check is made. Deer fawns are more apt to be seen and are very appealing at that age, but other young animals are also treated this way.

Our weather picture of the past week was more normal than it has been for some time. Some rain, mostly thundershowers, fell in sufficient quantities so as to bring back the green to the grass and ferns, as well as other vegetation, that had become quite brown during the dry spell of previous weeks. The Baraga Field Station recorded 2.33 inches of rain for the month of June to date, which is below our normal 4 to 6 inches. Practically all of this fell in the period of June 13 through June 18th, so it had a noticeable effect on the vegetation. Stream levels also improved, but a lot of the rain was absorbed by the dry ground before it could run into the streams.

Although the situation created by the dry weather of past weeks was improved considerably by the rain, fishing on the inland streams and lakes did not pick up as much as had been expected. Some success by brook trout fishermen was reported for the larger creeks and streams, particularly in spring holes and at the juncture of two streams which increased the water levels there. Pest insects also were a factor in the limited activity along the streams. Bug populations are dropping, but are still quite noticeable.

Fishing activity on the inland lakes is on the increase as tourists and summer people move into this area. Fishing success by the earlier arrivals did not improve as much as did the activity. Most of the inland lakes that are fished quite heavily did produce some fair success for walleye, perch, bass, and other warm-water species, but it was a case of being at the right place at the right time. Most walleye success was found in the late evening or very early hours of the day. Quite a wide variety of lures and baits are being used at this time, with the hope of finding the right one to improve success. Because of only a few reports for the past week on the inland lake fishing being very definite, it is hard to pick out any particular place where the fish were being taken.

The lake trout fishing on Lake Superior showed a marked difference between the west and east ends of the district. Fishing out from Black River Harbor and Little Girls Point was rated as very good, even though there were some days when the weather was too rough for most boats to go out. The larger charter boats were not bothered by the rough winds and waves, however. Best success is still being found by trolling just below the surface of the water and over water about 200 feet deep. Most of the catch is lake trout, but a good number of rainbow trout and coho salmon are being taken on the same tackle.

Keweenaw Bay and Huron Bay lake trout fishing was fair most of the week, but most trips on both bays were cut short about mid-afternoon as the winds picked up. A few limit catches were mentioned, but size ranges were between 3 and 9 pounds. Very few coho or other trout have been taken lately in either bay.
