JENKINS ANNOUNCES PLANS TO RUN FOR RE-ELECTION AS ONTONAGON COUNTY PROSECUTING ATTORNEY

J. B. "Jim" Jenkins recently announced his plans to run for re-election as Ontonagon County Prosecuting Attorney. Jenkins, his wife Wilma and their four children have resided in Rockland since January, 1973. "Although the Prosecutor's Office is supposedly part-time," Jenkins said, "I have spent the greater part of my time since coming here exclusively on public matters."

"At election time, challengers need only make promises; incumbents must also account to the voters. I believe I can make a good accounting. I'm proud of having saved this County $30,000 in civil damages after the County had advised to pay it. Other matters I'm proud of are preventing WUPPDR from steamrolling a 'land-use plan' through this county; playing a part in preventing the U.S. Forest Service from spraying 2-4-5T without following proper procedures; my advice to the Board of Commissioners, finally upheld in Circuit Court, that they could choose whether or not a special election be held on the Sanguine/Seafarer issue; obtaining experienced Assistant Prosecutors to help reduce the District Court backlog, at a cost to the County of only board, room and mileage and in vigorous presentation of cases in court since I came here, and much much else," said Jenkins.

"There is one issue raised by my opponent to which I must respond as directly as I can," Jenkins said, adding, "I am astounded that my opponent would say the Prosecuting Attorney must do all he can to develop cooperation and respect between his department and police agencies. His job is to see to it that he does justice; that he applies the law equally and fairly to all; and, that he do all he can to assure that the person and property of all citizens are protected. That means he must make hard decisions without concern for his private interests or practice or future re-election. That means the Prosecuting Attorney must give individuals and county officials and employees advice they may not want to hear, and which make him no friends. If he does his job, cooperation and respect should follow, and I believe it has."

Jenkins added, "The Sheriff and I have had serious disagreements. Most we have resolved. A major remaining one awaits Governor Milliken's decision. The facts out of which that disagreement arose, even if I am right in believing happened because of his illness, could not be ignored. Of course, there was tension between us; yet, we and our departments have continued to work together, and well, I believe."

HERBICIDE USE REPORT FOR OTTAWA NOW COMPLETED

M. K. Lauritsen, Supervisor of the Ottawa National Forest, states that an Environmental Analysis Report has been completed by U.S. Forest Service personnel for proposed application of the herbicide 2,4-D for the release of 526 acres of red pine and white spruce plantations.

Lauritsen said the 12 areas which are located in Gogebic, Houghton, and Ontonagon Counties vary in size from 12 acres to 100 acres. The purpose is to remove vegetation of lesser value that is threatening the survival and growth of the planted trees. The herbicide 2,4-D will be applied by helicopter in late July or early August.

The Analysis deals with the environmental considerations related to the removal of undesired vegetation and determines the need for an Environmental Impact Statement. The determination has been made that the Environmental Analysis Report adequately evaluates the proposal and an Environmental Impact Statement is not needed, Lauritsen added.

The Analysis is available at the Forest Supervisor's Office in Ironwood during regular office hours of 7:45 until 11:45 a.m. and 12:30 until 4:30 p.m. It is also available at Ranger District headquarters located at Kenton, Ontonagon and Watersmeet.

PROJECT SEAFARER OPPOSED BY STATE REPRESENTATIVE CANDIDATE

(Crystal Falls) - Chuck Wicker, Democratic candidate for State Representative in the 110th District, came out against the Navy's project Seafarer and criticized the incumbents in Lansing for their unclear stand on the issue.

Wicker was speaking at the annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula Citizens Concerned About Sanguine/Seafarer in Crystal Falls.

Wicker told the members at the meeting, "People in the Upper Peninsula have shown they do not want Project Seafarer."

"As a state representative, I would do everything in my power to make sure the officials in Lansing, especially the Governor, realize the strong opposition to the project. The Governor should be convinced to keep Project Seafarer out of the Upper Peninsula."

Wicker then pointed out, "Our current representatives in Lansing have failed to do this. I question if they are truly representing the people on this issue. It is obvious they are not using the power and influence they have to keep Seafarer out, or maybe they really don't have this power they brag about."

Chuck Wicker is challenging incumbent Rusty Hellman for the Democratic nomination for State Representative in the August 3 primary.

COST OF FOOD STAMPS TO INCREASE

Social Security recipients who also qualify for food stamps may find they will have to pay more for their food stamps beginning in July when a 6.4 percent hike in Social Security benefits takes effect.

Because the cost of food stamps depends on the amount of net income household income, the boost in Social Security may also increase the amount a family must pay for food stamps.

However, the increase in the Social Security check will not affect the cost of stamps for those households who received less than $391 from Social Security before July.

For any household whose total increase in income amounts to less than $25 a month, a U.S. Department of Agriculture regulations permit delaying the adjustment in the cost of stamps until the next certification or until other changes occur which make the total more than $25.

The $25 limit applies to the total benefits of all household members.

U P FEDERATION OF LANDOWNERS, INC. OBJECT TO UNITED NATIONS STAND ON PRIVATE OWNERSHIP OF LAND

Gladwin Hill, correspondent for the New York Times reported on June 12th that "the United Nations Conference on Human Settlement endorsed a call for sharp restriction on private ownership of land."

"The delegates asked that land be managed as a public resource rather than as a profit generating commodity," according to Hill. The conference also concluded that land should not be controlled by individuals and called private ownership of land a "major obstacle in the planning and implementation of development schemes."

Carla Hills, who represented the United States and is also Secretary of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, concurred with proposals. The U.S. delegation said that "the land management proposals were not inconsistent with established national practices in the United States."

"The U.P. Federation of Landowners recently became aware of these developments," according to manager Emil Groth, "and we feel that every citizen should know about it. Up here in the U.P. we have a lot of land use planning going on that is directed from Department of Housing and Urban Development. While on the one hand they endorse local planning with public participation, on the other hand they endorse policies that take away, essentially, the right to own land and use it."

"A recent issue of the U.S. Landowner reported that a bill (SB3075) has been introduced in Congress that would put all land under federal and regional bureaucrats since it would cut off federal funds for required land use projects - if local governments do not submit to more and more controls. Landowner's tax dollars are used to pay for these controls that take away their rights."

The U. N. conference was held at Vancouver, British Columbia for two weeks and was attended by 4500 delegates. In other discussions "urban renewal was recognized by many participants, including the U.S., as largely a failure. The Arab-Israeli issue also created controversy."

Persons wishing information on the Upper Peninsula Federation of Landowners, Inc. may contact the manager, Emil Groth, at P.O. Box 35 in Lake Linden, Michigan, 49945.

COUNTY PROSECUTING ATTORNEY URGES GOVERNOR'S ATTENTION TO SHERIFF INVESTIGATION

In a letter dated June 28, 1976, Ontonagon County Prosecuting Attorney James Jenkins requested immediate attention be given the matter of the investigation of allegations against the County Sheriff's Department brought by the County Board of Commissioners almost six months ago. The letter to the Governor follows.

Dear Governor Milliken:

I am advised that the Attorney General's office has delivered to you a report relative to Sheriff Powelson. According to the news media the Attorney General's Office has no knowledge of when you may act upon it.

I am asking that you act immediately to relieve a situation that has gone on almost 6 months to your knowledge and has become untenable for Sheriff Department personnel.

You should know that our jail has had 2 escapes this year; one on April 2, 1976, and one last night, the 27th of June. The Sheriff was the jail officer on duty when the first occurred on April 2, 1976, and Robert Allaire, Jr., a man who figures in the report delivered to you, was on duty last night when the second occurred. I consider the most recent escapee, Patrick Dupie, dangerous. He has served prison time and is presently, or was, awaiting trial on 3rd degree criminal sexual conduct charges; two additional identical charge reports are in my files awaiting disposition.

I have been working for about three years to encourage improvement in our Sheriff's Department. I believe progress in staff has been made. We now have some good, competent deputies who have training or experience to be and are well qualified. Properly directed, I am sure our Sheriff's Department will amply serve its function; service to people and law enforcement. It is disheartening, and embarrassing, for these officers, and for me, to work under the conditions here. Those conditions are, I believe, directly responsible for the low esteem in which our officers, collectively, are held. I believe those conditions are directly responsible for citizens in our county, disgusted by the lack of leadership in the Sheriff's Department, being misled and engaging in conduct for which they now face trials for resisting arrest, obstructing police officers, or disorderly persons.

On February 3, 1976, I forwarded the Ontonagon County Board's request to you. This matter has been before State Officers for almost six months. Won't you please move quickly, now that you have the Attorney General's report?

Yours truly,

J. B. Jenkins, Prosecuting Attorney

4-H TRIP REPORT BY LEADER MAKI

Thirty-nine happy, excited, but tired 4-H youth and their chaperones returned Sunday morning from Exploration Days in Lansing at the M.S.U. Gogebic, Ontonagon, Houghton and Baraga county youths joined together for the trip.

We chaperones and parents of these youths are very proud of them, and take this opportunity to tell you a little bit of their experience.

On Wednesday morning at 5:00 the Gogebic County kids boarded the bus which then proceeded to pick up the Ontonagon, Houghton and Baraga County kids. At 10:45 a.m., three miles out of L'Anse, the driver braked for some railroad tracks and nothing happened. A broken brake line. These 39 4-H club members and their chaperones then spent 8 1/2 hours in L'Anse just killing time, until a new bus was found to continue the trip. These 39 youths each deserve a blue ribbon for their conduct at this time.

We arrived in Lansing at 5:00 a.m. Thursday morning. Some slept for 3 hours and some not at all. Action learning classes began that afternoon. I wonder if the instructors thought we were a bunch of Zombies. We were tired! But after a good night's sleep Thursday we perked up and had wonderful learning and fun experiences.

4,700 4-H youths from Michigan were on the M.S.U. campus where they participated in Action learning. In Vet Science they watched an autopsy performed on a horse, an operation on a cow and learned how to take the Equine pulse. All participants in the Horse for the Handicapped participated in actually working the horses and were awarded patches designating them as volunteers in any Horse for Handicapped in the state. Arts and Crafts students painted beautiful plaques on wood, some made different types of candles, and some learned sand painting which proved to be very fascinating. A few youths participated in drama classes. One assisted the basketball instructor. These are examples of the 150 different learning options the 4-H'ers had to choose from. Entertainment opportunities for free time included, a Capitol Tour, Chuck Grant's Horse Capades, a Planetarium Show, Bicentennial Travel Film, a Sing Along, a Pop Dance, a Record Hop, swimming, ice skating, bowling, billiards, tennis, volleyball, squash, handball, softball, and the library.

On Friday evening we were entertained by the Salute to America Singers. Thirty-five 4-H Club members from Missouri who sang the past 200-year history of the United States. They have performed all over the United States and will travel behind the Iron Curtain to perform in October.

On Saturday all the 4-H clubs from Michigan got together and held a country fair type of affair called SALUTE. This chaperone got tears in her eyes, (and so did other chaperones) when she saw the beautiful work and cooperation displayed by the youth of Michigan. There was a Grand Ole Oprey, a Show Boat, and Dress Review stage where 4-H talent from throughout the state performed all day. There were action exhibits by the participants of the Exploration Day options. There were at least 50 booths, with every imaginable hand-crafted item possible, made by 4-H'ers, for sale. There was a demonstration of Horse for the Handicapped, a Dressage Show, a parade of horses and antique wagons, and automobiles. An Auction sale and an Old Country Store were part of the SALUTE. A Dulcimer Club entertained people all day with their unique instruments, a fabulous Bar-B-Que of beef sandwiches, baked beans, potato salad, brownies, apples, carrots, celery, pickles, and beverages were served on the grounds. At 3 o'clock the Doc Severance show entertained the people in the stadium. This SALUTE was open to the public and was attended by thousands of people.

After SALUTE our youths ate supper in the cafeteria, checked out, and headed for the stadium for clean-up detail. Everyone pitched in and did a marvelous job. We then boarded our bus and 9 p.m. and headed for home.

I, as a chaperone, am extremely proud of these youths for their attitude, cooperation, and conduct. So come on kids out there, join the 4-H and don't miss out on experiences like this!

STURGEON RIVER WILDERNESS STUDY AREA REOPENED TO VEHICLES

According to M. K. Lauritsen, Supervisor of the Ottawa National Forest, many of the roads within the Sturgeon River Wilderness Study Area that were closed to vehicles in April of 1975 have been reopened for public use.

Prior to making the decision to modify the earlier closure of the 13,200 acre area to vehicles, an Environmental Analysis Report was prepared. It considered the effect renewed vehicle use would have on the physical appearance and quality of the area as well as potential environmental impacts. The Analysis was, said Lauritsen, limited to 19 roads upon which public use patterns were established prior to the passage of Public Law 93-622. The 1975 law designated the area located in Houghton and Baraga Counties as a potential addition to the Nation's Wilderness Preservation System.

As a result of the Analysis, it was decided to open 17 of the closed roads for winter use by snowmobiles and 12 for year-round use by all kinds of vehicles. The roads initially closed had a total length of approximately 16 miles. Of this total, 13 miles will be reopened for winter use and 6 miles for year-long use.

Maps which show the roads in question are available in the offices of the Forest Supervisor in Ironwood, the Ontonagon District Ranger in Ontonagon, and the Kenton District Ranger in Kenton. In addition, Lauritsen indicated that maps would be posted in several places around the perimeter of the Study Area which is located approximately 10 miles northeast of Kenton, Michigan. Lauritsen further indicated that persons having questions about which roads are open or closed and about the process that was used to arrive at the decision to reopen some roads should feel free to visit either his office or one of the District Rangers listed above.

ROAD CONTRACTS AWARDED BY OTTAWA

The award of two road contracts was announced today by Forest Supervisor M. K. Lauritsen of the Ottawa National Forest.

Barry Construction Company of Lake Wilson, Minnesota, was awarded a contract for construction of 2.72 miles of Forest Road #386 known as the Sucker Creek road, as well as 2.86 miles of Forest Road #343 known as the Golden Lake Road. The two contracts amounted to $180,930.

The Golden Lake Road is located 12 miles northwest of Iron River and Sucker Creek Road is located 8.5 miles northwest of Watersmeet. Contracts are awarded to the lowest bidder meeting all bid specifications and bonding requirements.

LAKE TROUT ASSESSMENT CONDUCTED

During the week of June 6, 1976 commercial fisherman Jim Wiita conducted a netting survey of lake trout stocks in the Ontonagon area in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. The purpose of the project was to assess the status of the lake trout population including abundance and the effectiveness of the sea lamprey control program.

Nets were set at Fourteen Mile Point, one mile east and one mile west of the Ontonagon River mouth and at Union Bay. Their catch was 128 lake trout ranging from 12 to 31 inches total length, 186 suckers, 2 smelt, 4 burbot and 7 whitefish. Although the catch per unit of effort of lake trout was low, when compared to other areas in Lake Superior, the increase in native trout from 3% of the catch in the last netting assessment in 1970 to 22% in this year, was encouraging. This increase in native fish compares well with that being reported by cooperative sport fishermen creel census in the Ontonagon area.

The study also indicated that the stocking of lake trout in the Ontonagon area does not appear to be increasing the population of fish off the study area but rather off areas to both the east (North Portage Entry) and west (Black River Harbor into Wisconsin waters). The populations of lake trout to both the east and west have increased markedly since 1970 from plants made in the Ontonagon area, but the Ontonagon population has remained relatively static.

Lamprey activity was found to be low on the fish sampled off the study area but was relatively intense in the population of trout off North Portage Entry. The source of the lamprey production remains in doubt.

Anyone interested in further details is invited to contact Asa Wright, Box 190, Marquette, Michigan.

NEW CHILD PROTECTION ACT RESULTS IN RISING NUMBER OF CASES REPORTED

A boy with bruises and a broken arm is brought to the hospital, and the father eventually admits he beat the child.

A social worker learns that some children are left alone over the weekend in the home of a family friend with no food or fuel.

It may be hard to realize, but these are actual cases which have occurred in Michigan. The Michigan Department of Social Services estimates that some 3,500 to 4,000 cases of child abuse will probably be reported in 1976. In the area of child neglect, over 18,000 cases were reported to authorities in 1975.

Neglect can take many forms, such as leaving children unsupervised, not taking care of their medical needs, not feeding them, or not taking care of their need for education. While abused children tend to be very young, neglect tends to occur at any age.

Why this rising number of abuse and neglect cases? "Better reporting," the experts say. Laws affecting reporting of abuse cases have only been on the books since 1965, and during this time the number of cases reported has constantly risen as people become more aware of the problem and their responsibilities.

What should you do if you suspect a child is abused or neglected?

Beginning on June 28, 1976, you can reach a Protective Services Social Worker for Ontonagon County 24 hours a day, seven days a week, by telephoning to Area Code 906 667-0444, (8 to 5 weekdays) or 906 6679581 (nights, weekends or holidays). The operator you'll reach will take your message and notify the Social Worker who is on call.

According to John LaSota, Acting Director, Ontonagon Department of Social Services, this expanded service for Child Protection is a result of new legislation called Michigan's Child Protection Act which now extends "around the clock" Protective Services to physically abused and neglected children in every county in the State. Until now, only a limited number of counties provided such service. In order to provide 24-hour service in the sparsely populated counties of Northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula, the Michigan Department of Social Services has organized so-called "hub counties". "Hub counties" will serve both their county and some adjacent smaller counties. Gogebic is such a county with Ontonagon assigned as one of its responsibilities.

The Department of Social Services Protective Services Workers investigate complaints. With social work service, more families can be helped to correct the abuse or neglect situation, and for most referrals this is all that is required. The aim of Protective Services is to help the child and his family solve problems.

Legal action is taken only if necessary and in practice legal action involves only about 10% of the cases investigated. The court can dismiss the case or can declare the children temporary wards of the court and order them placed in a foster home, or returned to their home under the supervision of Social Services or the court.

Dave Webber is the Protective Service Worker for Ontonagon county. If you have any questions about Protective Services in Ontonagon county, you can contact Mr. Webber, Protective Services worker, Gogebic Department of Social Services, 210 N. Moore St., Bessemer. During work hours phone 667-9711.

TICKS NO MINOR IRRITANT, THEIR BITE CAN BE FATAL

(Reprint From 'Cooperative Builder' Superior, Wisconsin - June 24, 1976)

It's that time again. Across the land, dogs and their owners are renewing acquaintances with an old enemy, the wood tick.

But the times, they are a-changin', as meteorologists and folk singers keep asserting, and ticks apparently have noticed it. With milder weather, the eight-legged parasites now show up earlier in the spring and stay active later in the fall. And they are spreading: Ticks have been reported as far north as Nova Scotia.

Ticks rank second only to mosquitoes in spreading disease, scientists report. But a tick must remain on its victim from two to five hours in order to cause infection.

Anyone who has been out in the woods or fields, hiking, camping, picnicking or working should check his body for ticks as soon as possible, the National Geographic Society warns. And if the family dog was along, check it too.

Rocky Mountain spotted fever, the principal disease transmitted by ticks, is rarely fatal, though sufferers are afflicted with fever, rash on their wrists and ankles, headaches, backaches and fatigue.

Paralysis resulting from tick bites is more hazardous. While it is relatively infrequent, several hundred such cases have been diagnosed in the United States in the past decade.

There are no precise figures, but it is estimated that at least 12% of the patients died because the source of their illness was not recognized in time.

Yet physicians have known that ticks can kill since the malady first was described in Australia in 1824 by Capt. William Hovell. The first tick-bite fatalities were reported in North America in 1912.

Ticks are blood-sucking arthropods, related to spiders. The parasite buries its head in a victim's skin and injects a glue to cement a firm grip, as well as a chemical that prevents the blood from coagulating while it gorges itself.

From a day to a week after being bitten, the victim may become irritable and restless, or feel a numbness of the arms, legs, throat, lips or face.

Paralysis can follow, usually starting in the legs. Untreated, it will spread and become fatal. If the offending tick is found and removed however, the victim recovers within a few days.

Yanking a tick off the skin will leave the head embedded and its venom in place. Unless the head is dislodged, it will continue to spread its poison. Ticks should be removed with a slow steady pull. Or they can be dabbed with rubbing alcohol, lighter fluid or petroleum jelly to make them loosen their grip.

People sometimes touch a tick with a hot match to make it let go. But one researcher advises against using a lighted cigarette, noting this method "serves more to burn the individual than it does to remove the tick."

If a dog picks up several ticks, experts advise that it be treated by a veterinarian.

VACATION TIME? CHECK INSURANCE!

If you and the family are driving to a vacation spot, be certain that your automobile insurance is acceptable in the states through which you'll be traveling. Many auto policies include out-of-state endorsements in the basic coverage. If yours does not, you can arrange for this special endorsement to cover your travels.

Small camping trailers are generally covered for liability under the terms of your family automobile policy. To protect against physical damage to your camper, you must arrange for special coverages.

Large campers may or may not be covered for liability under your auto policy. It's best to check with your insurance agent. The best kind of coverage for any kind of towed vehicle is an all-risk floater policy.

Motor homes must be insured separately, as they are individual vehicles.

Boats, like trailers, are covered depending on size. Small crafts are usually insured for liability through your homeowners policy. To be certain of the coverage on your boat, check with your insurance agent. Physical damage coverage also depends on the individual boat.

When renting vehicles, your family auto policy covers you and your passengers. Most rental agencies, however, will insist that you pay a small fee for their insurance coverages.

Most Blue Cross-Blue Shield plans will cover your medical expenses anywhere. The same applies with most commercial health and accident insurance plans. Medicare, however, does not apply abroad, so you should arrange supplemental coverage for your foreign sojourns.

If you are taken sick while you are away from home, your medical insurance may not start paying the bills immediately. When you pay your medical bills, remember to keep all receipts.

Before you leave home, remember to cancel your newspaper and milk delivery services. Ask a neighbor to pick up your mail or have the post office hold it for you. And notify the police of your plans so that they will periodically check your home while you're away.

Also, make sure your automobile is ready for the rigors of sustained highway driving.

Tires are especially critical for highway safety. Soft tires build up excessive heat and can suffer internal damage, while an overinflated tire can bruise easily, causing external damage. Both conditions can cause unsafe steering and irregular wear and reduce the life of the tread.

Proper inflation also helps to save gas. Underinflated tires cause more rolling resistance, making engines use more fuel.

Tires with less than 1/16-inch of tread depth in two or more grooves are unsafe.

And before leaving home, remember to prepare yourself too. Make sure you check a road map to know exactly where you are going and how you plan to get there. Familiarize yourself with the names of exits and junctions where you will have to make route changes. And, most of all, remember to have a safe and enjoyable vacation.
