YCC PROGRAM IN FULL SWING ON THE OTTAWA

The Ottawa National Forest's Youth Conservation Corps Program has moved into full swing on the Bergland Ranger District. "Boy, am I tired," said one youth after a hot, dry day on the job. "We've been spreading seed and lime, mulching with hay, and laying rock in ditch lines to help cut down on erosion."

Ranger Murphy noted, "You can tell by their conversation it's more than just a job--mulching, riprap, descue, tons per acre, pH." This tells you they're involved in soils work, and learning a good deal about it.

"Soil is so basic to managing our natural resources that it's important to these young people to get a feel for it early in their training," said Murphy. Soils-related projects these YCC'ers have been working on involved in one case, a rock bed placed in a rather steep ditch line to reduce erosion and stabilize the banks. In another, exposed soils were limed, and if necessary fertilized, then seeded with grass seed mixtures and mulched with hay. This work was done along Forest Road 468, a road built a year ago for the removal of forest products and for the administration and management of other resources.

It is not enough that the enrollees learned "how," but "how much," and "why." They had to determine the best seed mixture that would grow under the conditions present. This includes available light, soil type, steepness, and moisture. Then, if possible, what other benefits could be derived--such as for wildlife. They had to then determine quantities such as percentage of various seeds to make up the right mixture, pounds of seed lime and fertilizer per 1000 square feet, and bales of hay for mulch.

"This work will be around for a long time for these young folks to look back on and for the public to see," said Gary Curcio, a YCC group leader at Bergland. "It isn't just dirt to them anymore. It's soil, and we can't live without it."

Enrollees reporting every morning to the Bergland Ranger District are Gloria Simons, Tony Gasparac, Rick Blom, Mark Bushaw--all from White Pine, and Sharon Franke, Cheryl Bailey, Gayla Salmi and David Tahtinen from Bergland.

PUBLIC HEARINGS ON LEGISLATION SET FOR MICHIGAN TECH THIS FRIDAY

The Public Utilities Committee of the Michigan House of Representatives, chaired by Representative Gerrit Hasper (D-Muskegon), scheduled a public hearing at Michigan Tech University in Houghton at 9:00 a.m. on Friday, July 23, 1976. Testimony will be taken on a package of five bills introduced by Rep. Tom Anderson (D-Southgate), Hasper announced.

These bills, House Bills 6362-6366, would exempt new "electricity generating facilities" built after January 1, 1977, from regulation by the Public Service Commission, and would allow such utilities to compete with existing utilities for customers. "The free flow of power," Hasper declared, "like the free flow of commerce, should not be impeded by artificial barriers such as those created by the Michigan Public Service Commission. I am a great believer in the private enterprise system. I am reluctant to see the state get into the generation of power as suggested by the Governor's Special Advisory Committee on Electric Power Alternatives, and I believe Representative Anderson's bills, if enacted, would have a great potential for providing economic generation of power for Michigan by the private sector."

This revolutionary legislation would allow

"electricity generating utilities," exempt from Public Service Commission regulation, to produce or generate electricity, to build their own transmission facilities, and to negotiate contracts with consumers for the sale of such electricity. It would also require a public utility under the regulation of the Public Service Commission to deliver such electricity by contract if the public utilities have facilities and equipment available. In addition, public utilities would also be allowed to establish "electricity generating utilities" which would operate within the private enterprise system without PSC regulation.

In addition to the introduction of competition into the previously monopolistic utility business, this legislation would initiate an automatic revenue formula to provide for utility rate increases without a decision by the Public Service Commission. A formula, under this legislation, would be developed by the PSC on the basis of a six-month study of a "benchmark group" of electric utilities according to criteria specified in House Bill 6362. This formula will be applied to provide for automatic rate adjustments, to be reviewed annually by the Public Service Commission.

This legislation is innovative; it is controversial; and I believe it could mean more economical power for the State of Michigan," stated Chairman Hasper. "The Committee invites and welcomes testimony from all concerned persons who may be for or against the introduction of competitive private generation of electricity in the State of Michigan."

The hearing will be held in Room 103 of the Electric Energy Resources Center of Michigan Technological University from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon on July 23, 1976.

A second public hearing on this series of bills will be held in Detroit at the City-County Building, 13th Floor Auditorium, 2 Woodward Avenue, beginning at 9:00 a.m. on Friday, September 17, Hasper added.

ANNUAL "SENIOR CITIZENS" PICNIC THIS SATURDAY AT ADVENTURE MOUNTAIN

Beginning at 10:00 a.m. with registration and coffee and do-nuts, the Annual Senior Citizens Picnic will kick off at the Adventure Mt. Recreation Area at Greenland. The day will be filled with fun events and some very interesting guest speakers and highlighted by the crowning of this year's King and Queen.

From 11:00 to 11:30 the Sacred Heart Singers will entertain. Following guest speakers will address the assembly. Among those slated to speak are Congressman Philip Ruppe, State Rep. Russell Hellman, Arthur Puotinen, Dean-Suomi College, Ronald Kivi, Director-Offices of Services to the Aging, Lansing, Kathryn Kurnkoski, Director-Area Agency On Aging-U.P., Levi Etelamaki, Director-Title VII, Adelia Kolinski, Director-Nutrition Program-Gogebic & Ontonagon Counties, and Daniel Piper, Chairman-Ontonagon County Board. The Welcome will be given by Mrs. June Lipinski, Director-Services to the Aging-Ontonagon County. Master of Ceremonies for the day will be Dan Ojala, Chairman-Ontonagon County Commission on Aging. Honorary Guests will be the members of the Ontonagon County Commission on Aging Board.

A delicious picnic lunch will be served at 1:00 to 2:30 consisting of B-B-Q's, hot dogs, potato chips, ice cream, pop, coffee, milk and beer. A donation of $1.00 will cover all food served. At 2:30 entertainment by Art Moilanen with his accordian and guitar will begin and continue until 5:00. As mentioned earlier the highlight of the day will be the coronation of the 1976 Senior Citizen King and Queen.

RENOWNED SCULPTOR'S WORKS TO EXHIBIT AT MINERAL RIVER PLAZA

Frederick Aman, a northern Wisconsin sculptor specializing in wildlife sculptures cast in bronze, will hold a one-man show at the Mineral River Plaza, White Pine, on August 5 and 6.

During recent months Mr. Aman has exhibited his work in the Wustum Museum of Fine Art in Racine, Wisconsin; at Nicolet College in Rhineland, Wisconsin; and at the Lee LeBlanc Wildlife Art Gallery in Minocqua, Wisconsin.

Fred Aman, originally from Chicago, has lived in northern Wisconsin for over 25 years. He practiced taxidermy near Land O' Lakes for many years, gaining fame nation-wide for his talent in this exacting business.

Since recently turning to full-time sculpturing, he has created works in bronze, stone, porcelain and wood. Aman is one of the few sculptors who takes his project from the design stage through to the final product. He uses the "lost wax" process in his bronzes including the founding in his own shop. All of his bronze pieces are limited editions making them collector's items and enhances their value.

Each of the wood animals are sculptured from a single piece of wood. None of the extremities are glued to the main body. This distinguishes them as wood sculpture rather than "wood carving."

The exhibit of Fred Aman's works will be shown in the lobby of the Citizens State Bank in the Plaza. Hours and more specifics concerning the show will be given in an upcoming issue.

(From One Of Our Ontonagon Readers Comes The Following Poem - Poet Unknown)

THE WORLD today is looking for:
 Men who are not for sale;
 Men who are honest;
 Men with consciences as steady as the needle to the pole;
 Men who will stand for the right if the heavens totter and the earth reels;
 Men who can tell the truth and look the world right in the eye;
 Men who neither brag nor run;
 Men in whom the courage of everlasting life runs still, deep, and strong;
 Men who know their message and tell it;
 Men who know their place and fill it;
 Men who know their business and attend to it;
 Men who are not too lazy to work, nor too proud to be poor;
 Men who are willing to eat what they have earned and wear what they have paid for;
 Men who are not ashamed to say "No" with emphasis and who are not ashamed to say "I can't afford it."
 GOD is looking for men. He wants those who can unite together around a common faith--who can join hands in a common task--and who have come to the kingdom for such a time as this.

FRIENDS OF GOTHAM
FOR PROSECUTING ATTORNEY

EXPERIENCED
- Roy Gotham has worked as an attorney exclusively in Ontonagon County since he was admitted to the State Bar of Michigan in 1973. He regularly appears in our Courts, and has the ability to properly represent the people in criminal prosecutions and the County in legal matters.

DEDICATED
- Effective Court work requires preparation, and Roy Gotham is determined to devote himself to the proper preparation of cases, as he has in his past trial work. We should demand nothing less from the County's legal representative.

RESPONSIVE
- Roy Gotham will enforce the law according to the duty of a Prosecuting Attorney for the protection of personal and property rights, but would not impose the law upon us as a matter of his own sheer will. He is not aloof; he gets along well with people of all ages and positions. He is part of the Ontonagon County community and responsive to its people.

What do you do in home on wheels? — fun ideas for vacationing kids

"Remember the summer I caught six fish from that tiny lake in Idaho, and we ate all of them for dinner?"

"Remember that mountain we climbed in Colorado? We were so tired we could hardly climb back down."

"Remember the lumberjack in Washington last summer who told us all about evergreen trees?"

Memories — undoubtedly, one of the sweetest results of a family vacation. For children, a carefree family vacation can supply a school year's worth of stories and show-and-tell sessions.

Hit the road

"Tens of thousands of those carefree vacations now involve the use of recreational vehicles, and increasing numbers of Americans are learning that each year," says George Bemis, advertising director for Jayco, Inc., recreational vehicle manufacturers based in Middlebury, Ind.

The advantages of such a vacation are legion, Bemis says. "RVs permit great flexibility and freedom from train, bus or plane schedules; you can get off the 'beaten track' — and stay for a day, a week or however long you like; you don't have to worry about keeping luggage to a minimum, which can be a special boon when traveling with an infant; and, of course, RV traveling is far less expensive than staying in motels and eating in restaurants."

A few tips

To get the most out of your vacation, both for yourselves and the children, the Jayco executive gives a few tips to smooth the way:

"Give each child his own duffel bag to pack. Limit the contents to T-shirts, jeans, socks and underwear for five days, sweat shirt, tennis shoes, pajamas and two swimsuits. The packed duffel bags can double as backrests or pillows. In your RV closet, hang one good outfit for each family member in case you decide to have dinner some evening in a 'dress-up' restaurant.

Playing by ear

"In planning your travel route, decide in advance only on your destination or turn-around point. Because you're traveling in your own hotel you have the freedom to 'play it by ear' en route to your destionation and back.

"Pack the supplies needed for each child to indulge his favorite hobby. For the family bookworm, three or four inexpensive books are in order. You might include a new notebook and a supply of sharpened pencils or ball point pens so he can keep a diary of the trip," Bemis adds.

A child who likes to paint might enjoy a new set of washable paints, brushes, and drawing paper. Besides painting pictures of the sights he has seen, he could paint smooth stones for paperweights.

Take pictures!

An older child could be appointed official trip photographer. Equip him with a simple camera and a supply of film — the pocket-size cameras are inexpensive and more than worth the price when you think in terms of memories the pictures will evoke.

"Do seek out campgrounds and parks that have ranger programs or playground facilities. When you stop at a campsite, get directions to the nearest hospital and drugstore in the event of emergency," Bemis stresses.

"If anyone in the family regularly requires prescription drugs, be sure to pack enough for the length of the vacation, and lock all drugs in a metal box. Those who have extra eyeglasses should pack them; otherwise, ask your optometrist for a copy of the prescription in case the glasses are broken.

Relax

"At the campsite, take a half an hour or so to stretch and look around before setting up. Everyone should help, whether that involves lifting the top of your camping trailer or just raising the shades and opening the windows of your travel trailer or fifth-wheel coach," Bemis suggests.

"Introduce yourselves to nearby campers. You'll meet some fascinating people who share your interests, and campgrounds generally abound with new friends for your children.

Free-wheeling

"A firm but easy-going attitude and an openness to new experiences will make your family vacation in a recreational vehicle a delight — and your memories of it will be as special as your children's," the Jayco official concludes.

While the legislature did not include such fee increases in the $32.6 million DNR budget, it did link the allocation of money to such increases.

If the two bills which raise the fees pass, the money resulting from the hike would be used to pay for park programs. If they don't pass, general fund money would be used.

A legislative aide said it is likely that state park fees will be increased when the legislature returns in September.

"We understand the need to raise fees because revenue is way off," said Doug Reece, an aide to the House Conservation & Recreation Committee, referring to the gap between revenue and cost. But he said changing fees at state forest campgrounds is a "whole new can of worms."

The rustic campgrounds in state forests usually contain only rugged camp sites, pit toilets and a pump, and have been free to campers. The bill before the Conservation and Recreation Committee would institute a $5 yearly fee.

AVOID HERBICIDE INJURY TO YOUR DESIRABLE PLANTS

East Lansing - George T. Homeowner used a hand-pumped sprayer to put weedkiller on the thistles that had grown up along his back fence. Then he swished it out with water and used the same sprayer to apply an insecticide on his tomato and pepper plants.

Two days later, George went to the local greenhouse to buy new tomato and pepper plants.

"George found out the hard way that weedkillers don't kill just weeds," says Al Putnam, Extension herbicide specialist at Michigan State University. "Weedkillers -- herbicides -- kill plants. Careless use of herbicides often results in damage to plants other than the intended target."

Using sprayers for more than one purpose is one way to get herbicides on desirable plants. Another is to use a herbicide on a windy day. Drift from sprayers can travel a long way on a breeze to injure vegetables, flowers and landscape plants, Putnam warns.

A separate sprayer for herbicides is a good investment. Keep it locked up with your weed-killing chemicals and label it "Herbicides Only" to be certain it doesn't get used on vegetables or other desirable plants.

"Avoid damaging your ornamentals -- or your neighbor's prize roses -- by spraying herbicides only on a calm day. Early morning and evening around sundown are usually the quietest times," Putnam observes. Spray carefully, using no more of the chemical than is needed; following label directions.

"If you must use a sprayer for more than one kind of chemical, clean it thoroughly," Putnam advises. "Water-soluble chemicals can be removed with repeated rinses of water. Be sure to empty the rinse water on an area where there is no danger of contaminating ground water or injuring crops. Do not dump the rinse water down a storm drain."

A strong solution of detergent or washing soda left in the sprayer for 24 hours and sprayed through it before and after the soak should remove more stubborn chemical salts, he adds.

Oil-soluble chemicals are very difficult to remove from a sprayer. "Cleaning requires using kerosene or fuel oil or a solution of household ammonia and water; and this results in the problem of how to properly dispose of the cleaning material," Putnam says. "If you use an oil-soluble herbicide, your best bet is to have a separate sprayer for it."

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION UNIT OF DNR SET UP

The Department of Natural Resources will establish a new environmental protection unit under an executive order signed by Gov. William Milliken recently.

The order permits the DNR to place all divisions with environmental protection mandates - air and water quality and resource recovery - under the Bureau of Environmental Protection. Currently they are separate entities.

The order, effective Sept. 1, ends the DNR's two-branch organizational structure, which separates resource management from environmental protection functions. It permits uniting those two arms into a more centralized organization.

Included in the restructured department will be a DNR Bureau of Land and Water Management. It will permit the department to focus more on the problems of land use and water management, Milliken said. The plan was recommended by DNR Director Howard Tanner.

Under the plan, the various commissions in the DNR would lose their enforcement functions to the central staff. But they would retain responsibility for setting standards, issuing orders and adopting rules. Tanner would be authorized to appoint executive secretaries to the commissions, with the consent of the commission members.

HIGHER PARK FEES LIKELY NEXT YEAR PENDING LEGISLATION

Michigan outdoors enthusiasts will make it through the summer without paying a higher fee at state parks and campgrounds -- but it may cost them more when they return next year.

The new state budget links money for the Department of Natural Resources to two bills now before the legislature which would raise the fees at state parks and establish fees for the first time at state forest campgrounds.

Gov. William Milliken called for a fee increase in his budget proposals as part of a "user pays" approach to recreational resources. But the legislature enacted the $3.42 billion general fund budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 without providing a fee increase.

Milliken urged lawmakers to raise the daily state park fee from $1 to $2, and the annual vehicle "sticker" price from $5 to $7.

"COOPERATIVE EXTENSION SERVICE"

By: Georgia Ayotte, 4-H Program Assistant

The month of June was a busy one for many Ontonagon County 4-H members.

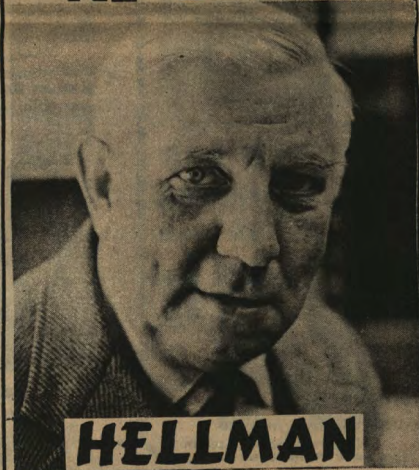

Activity Days - a leisure learning experience for 5th, 6th, and 7th-grade youth - was held at Bay Cliff Health Camp the first week of June. Daryl Sue Popke, Bruce Crossing, along with 25 teens from the U.P., attended two days of intensive counselor training prior to the delegates' arrival. On Wednesday, 180 delegates from all over the U.P. (14 from our county) arrived for three days of learning experiences in Small Animal Care, Fun Fishing, Pottery, Indian Beadwork, Soap and Wood Carving, Wild Plant Identification, Painting and Drawing, Rifle, Archery, Snorkeling, Canoeing, Swimming, Macrame, and Nature Crafts. Campfires, Vesper Services, skits, relays and ballgames, along with the learning options, kept the kids, counselors and staff busy from early morning to late at night!

On June 15th and 16th, Ned Fors, Jay Store and Daryl Sue Popke, along with teens from Baraga and Houghton counties, attended Tri-County Camp Counselor Training at Adventure Mountain Ski Chalet in Greenland. The teens started at 10:00 a.m. on Tuesday morning in sessions on: What Is A Camp Counselor?; How Does It Feel To Be A Camper?; How Do I Feel Away From Home For The First Time?; Flag Raising and Lowering Ceremonies, Vesper Ceremonies, as well as participating in nature crafts.

Tri-County 4-H Camp was held at Nesbit Lake near Sidnaw. Two sessions of three days each gave 200 campers and 20 counselors opportunities to explore the area in nature hikes, use nature's resources in crafts; swim, boat, canoe, make puppets, participate in skits, and meet new friends.

4-H members, ages 7 through 17, plus 4-H leaders and staff members from Ontonagon, Baraga and Houghton Counties shared in fun-filled camping activities for the six days.

'My dog has fleas' — a sour tune for Rover

By Dr. Bruce S. Ott, Director of Research and Development, Lambert Kay

Fleas infest most of America's 60 million dogs and cats each year, despite baths, collars, and other devices—simple or sophisticated. Fleas and ticks can pose health problems for pets. For example fleas carry the dog tapeworm; ticks can carry Rocky Mountain spotted fever, a threat to humans, too.

The worst problem, however, is the most obvious: fleas bite. And flea bites can make man and dog miserable. Many dogs develop an allergy to flea bites which leads to severe itching, scratching, self-mutilation, and "summer hot spots," moist eczema.

The flea is a wingless brown insect that's barely visible to the naked eye.

A prodigious jumper, the flea has little trouble "hitching rides" on animal or human hosts.

The pest stays long enough for a blood meal; the female then lays eggs, either on the animal or in its living quarters. A good flea collar, such as the Lambert Kay "Victory 120" collar, is indispensable in the fight against these parasites.

Flea collars don't control fleas and ticks that may already be breeding in the home. A full-systems approach should be taken, both indoors and in the pet's immediate environment, with indoor foggers, dips, and sprays.

For more information on flea and tick control, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to "Flea Freedom," Lambert Kay, P.O. Box 418, Cranbury, N.J. 08512.

CHOOSING THE RIGHT FLEA AND TICK CONTROL SYSTEM: Fleas and ticks pose a perennial health problem to pets. A complete line of flea and tick control products such as dips, powders, sprays and shampoos available from Lambert Kay now supplies the kind of protection a flea collar alone can't. From this line an effective flea and tick control "system" may be designed.

14 woods fires, all started by children playing with matches, have occurred in the White Pine area since the first of the month. It is assumed that the fires have been accidental due to the tinder-dry conditions of the area.

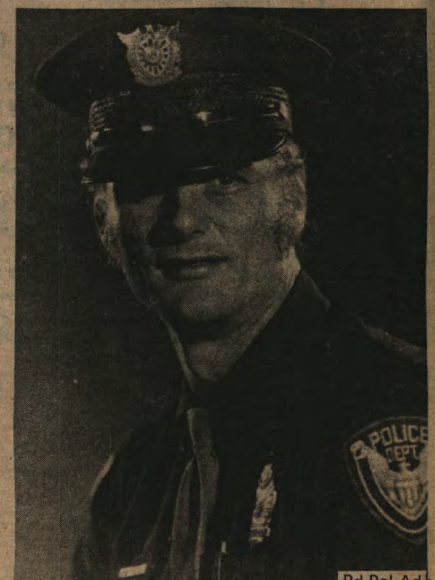

A reminder that parents are still liable for the actions of their children in causing these fires -- irregardless of the conditions.
