Girls! Do you enjoy hiking? If you do, come out at 6:30 every Saturday morning. The girls' hiking club, under the leadership of Miss Gray, inaugurated its program last Saturday by taking an eight-mile hike on the Big Bay road. The problems now before the girls are to climb Sugar Loaf and Mount Mesnard. The program will be continued throughout the year, with winter sports starting as soon as possible. All girls and faculty members are invited. Come one, come all! A good time is assured.

Donald Walsworth, who attended Northern last year, is with us for a visit. We are glad to see him. Mr. Walsworth is now assistant manager of the Kresge Store at Appleton, Wisconsin.

With the members (alumni and active) and Miss Griswold, faculty advisor, seated in a semi-circle about the glowing fireplace at Evergreen Inn, six girls were pledged to the Phi Kappa Nu Sorority Sunday morning, October 14. Those who assisted were the Misses Alice Bam, president; Ethel Rosemarie and Viola Penegore. The pledging took place after a waffle breakfast at 8 o'clock. Returning to town, the members and pledges attended the 11 o'clock church services in a body. Alumni guests were the Misses Cecilia Papin, Gladys Sandstrom, Betty Kerr, and Susanne Jose. Phi Kappa Nu are proud to welcome their new pledges—the Misses Helen Veyette, Mabel Smith, Helen Arlett, Dorothy Wetton, Ruth Lazon, Lucille Robinson.

The Theta Omicron Rho Fraternity held a "stag" party October 5. The feature of the program was a "get acquainted" stunt. After each member and guest had given his name around town, every one was given the opportunity to see how many faces and names he could remember. Then after every one had enjoyed himself fully in the various novel games and stunts, he was given the privilege of using his voice in group singing. A buffet lunch, in the cheerful atmosphere of the fireplace, followed by the old stand-by, "Good-night Ladies," sent all homeward in good spirits.

The Forum Debating Society started the year with a bang. Officers elected to guide the debaters through the coming term are, Kathleen Shingler, president; Alice Halsted, vice president; Elsie Lehto, secretary; Marion Palmer, purse bearer. A tea was given, at which cocoa was served, to welcome the new members. The new members were Jaunito Buzzo, Fritzsch Schanfar, Helen Evans, and Tynne Pannanen. The girls are looking forward to a series of debates with the Minervan and Sofad debating societies. There is a little room for any girl interested in debating and a cordial invitation is extended.

The Tau Pi Nus were hostesses to twenty-five guests on Thursday afternoon, October 11, at the third of a series of informal entertainments held in the Domestic Science Room. There were games played, stories told, pasties eaten, candied apples mutilated, until it was time to disband. Miss Bosart, sorority's brand new advisor, delighted her "charges" with tales of some amazing escapades. Mrs. Whitaker, patroness to the sorority, also added charm to the occasion by telling some of her amusing experiences. All in all, the party was a success.

The spirit of Columbus prevailed at the Cegmer Seg social evening, October 12. As one came in, the good ship "Santa Maria" was beheld, decorated according to Columbus' sight of land. Red, white, and blue banners, Indian wigwam and trees, all added to complete the historic atmosphere. The Northern Collegians orchestra sent tantalizing tunes from the deck of "Santa Maria," and it ably repaid the large number of people who had braved the inclement weather to be there. During the grand march favors in the form of red, white, and blue canes and "snapping" roses were handed to the dancers, and soon there was a bewildering array of colors of all descriptions. "Gee, I had a good time!" seemed to be the byword when everybody reluctantly departed from this jolly atmosphere into the cold rain outside.

The Alpha Deltas opened the year with two new officers presiding: George Howlett in the president's station, and Allen Good assisting as vice president. Howard Chubb is again taking care of the money, and Percy Chubb is secretary. The house officers are all being held by new men. Jimmy McNamara is house officer, all being held by in the kitchen as steward, and Charles Robert Cobb reigns supreme in the basement as janitor.

Immediately after the men's get-together at school, the first smoker of the year was held. Joe LeVigne and Beale were drumming the ivories, while Bud Hogan was hot on the banjo. In an atmosphere clouded with smoke, and vibrating with jazz, cards were played, and singing was in order, and how they sang! Everyone had a good time, and we don't mean perhaps.

The men have traveled on various occasions, "en masse," to the Wicker Shop, where plenty of noise was made, plenty of sodas consumed, and a rousing good time had by everyone. The Alpha Deltas owe an apology to the ladies that they have kept awake nights—as well as to the freshmen, who certainly should have had an explanation of the "whys and wherefores," of a college man walking up and down the streets of the town, bedecked in pajamas and bathrobe, and carrying a base-ball bat. Then again he was seen walking around with a book in his hand, asking men for something, and leaving the ladies out of the secret entirely—that is, all except a couple of nurses at St. Luke's Hospital who claim that they enjoyed "it" immensely. One of them said, "we tried to offer him a number of other things, but he was reluctant to accept." (Wonder what they were?)

Monday morning again brought forth this same man, dressed as no man has ever been dressed before or probably ever will be again, carrying three grips, a paddle, bowing low, humbly bending the knee, and saying "Sir" to a certain group of serious faced gentlemen. At noon hour he stood in front of the Alpha Delta house, a sign on his heaving chest, a tin cup in one hand, and a clanging alarm clock in the other.

Monday afternoon this same man was seen in ordinary clothes, but with enough rouge, lipstick, and powder to supply a Northern State flapper for days. Then, who says "vanity is a woman?" Then he stood between classes, powdering, rouging—maker of flaming lips he was, still sadly bending one knee and proclaiming the mournful, "Sir." That poor child was a pledge to the Alpha Delta Fraternity.

Larry: "I like Robert's course in Shakespeare. He brings things home to you that you never saw before."
 Harry: "Huh! I've a terrier pup as good as that."
 Duke Walsworth: "Gee, at Michigan it costs a fellow $75 for one prom."
 George Howlett: "You wouldn't catch me spending $75 on one party."
 E. Palmer: "Say, kid! I'll bet you spent $75 on one certain party already."

John D. Pierce School

The John D. Pierce School musical organizations are well under way. The band and orchestra have been meeting regularly with about thirty members in each organization. The Girls' Glee Club has organized with twenty-eight candidates thus far. Through a number of very capable musicians have left through graduation, recruits are quite numerous and a reasonably good season may be expected in music.

Under the direction of Coach Hurst, an intra-mural sports program has been prepared for the John D. Pierce High School. A system of points for first, second, third and fourth places in each event has been arranged and the class winning the highest number of points in the year's competition is to have its name engraved on an intra-mural trophy to be provided. The events include football, speed ball, basketball, track, baseball, and tennis for girls and boys, singles and doubles. Thus far in football, the seniors have been most successful, winning both of their games, first against the Juniors and second against the sophomores. The sophomores defeated the freshmen, so they rank second in football to date.

Two pupils of the John D. Pierce School brought considerable credit to themselves in connection with the Marquette County Fair, with Dorothy Jensen competing in the spelling contest, winning second place, and Alfred Erickson with an unusual exhibit entered in the class of Domestic Art and Curios winning first place. Alfred Erickson's exhibit consisted of four articles, the first being a merry-go-round which was hand carved, being only 13 inches high and 20 inches in diameter, provided with seats and twelve horses that move up and down when the merry-go-round is running. The second article was a ferris wheel which was 20 inches high with a wheel two feet in diameter. The third piece was a chair-plane 20 inches in diameter and 16 inches high. The last article was a model of Henry Hudson's boat, the Half Moon. Alfred's exhibit won first prize in his class at both the Marquette County Fair and the Upper Peninsula Fair held at Escanaba.
