CLASS OF 1938 INVADES NORTHERN

UNUSUAL HITS FOR NORTHERN'S LYCEUM COURSE

Numbers to Interest Every Student on Year's Program.

Northern presents a varied lyceum program for this school year. As was the case last year, the lyceum numbers will be given during the assembly periods. The exact dates for some of the numbers have not yet been arranged; otherwise the program is as follows:

RALPH SOCKMAN will appear first, some time in October. Dr. Sockman is a well-known New York pastor, author, and radio speaker. He is generally considered to be one of the present day leaders of thought. His speeches and articles have been widely quoted and his radio lectures and sermons create an interest which brings him recognition from all parts of the country. Dr. Sockman's lecture is sure to be a valuable as well as entertaining start for the work of the opening term.

The LITTLE PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA comes as the second lyceum number on November fifth. This organization is composed of a group of artists who have held prominent positions in the leading European and American symphony orchestras. They are under the leadership of Mr. George H. Shapiro and have received enthusiastic receptions wherever they have appeared. The audiences of the Little Philharmonic Orchestra may look forward to hearing the great symphonic works inspiringly performed by this unique combination.

The EUREKA SINGERS will round out the musical entertainment for November. The exact date for their appearance has not yet been set. This company of jubilee singers consists of eight people, who render a typical negro program. The Eureka Jubilee Singers form an extraordinary combination of voices. Each member is a fine soloist. They are considered to give the most authentic interpretation of negro spirituals and plantation melodies that can be found anywhere. Generally, the first half of their program is given in costume.

THE SLAVIANSKY RUSSIAN CHORUS appears during the week of February 18th, 1935. This is a well known group, founded in 1858 who have appeared in all the civilized countries on the globe. The chorus will appear in Russian costume and will offer folk dances as well as folk songs of Russia. The director, Mme. Margarita Slaviansky is the daughter of the founder of the chorus, Dimitri Agnoff. He found and placed on written record the Song of the Volga Boatman which is now well known. The chorus came to the United States from the far East, having given hundreds of concerts throughout the Orient. Mme. Slaviansky, daughter of the director, and grand-daughter of the founder of the chorus, appears as a soprano soloist.

ROBERT WOOD, a brilliant American Cartoonist-Entertainer, appears on March 5th, 1935. He sketches with lightning rapidity in color; he changes his pictures by the use of unusual lighting effects, and keeps up the interest with entertaining stories. His is an original and unique program, which is appreciated by children as well as grown-ups. Much of the program is humorous and light, but there are also serious drawings, which with their special lighting effects, are of great beauty.

HARRY "GATTLING GUN" FOGLEMAN will appear at some time during the year, the date being announced later. He is a very forceful and dynamic speaker. His lectures deal with problems of business, salesmanship, and personality. He has been called "a man who has trained more salesmen and delivered more talks in more business organizations than any other man in America."

PRESIDENT PEARCE WELCOMES FRESHMEN

August 31, 1934.

To Each and Every Student at Northern:

I wish to extend to you a most cordial welcome. Northern is here to serve the state through serving you your best interests. You are here to gain an education that will serve your personal interests and develop in you effective and wholesome leadership.

"The best part of a plenty of time is the first part of it."

In order that you may profit most from your stay in college, you should seek in the very beginning to establish yourself in the most favorable surroundings possible. See that your living conditions are agreeable and healthful; that you and your roommate and other associates are cooperatively helpful; that you are properly enrolled and that you have proper study arrangements.

You are not just taking courses—you are educating yourself. Northern's faculty is capable and effective. You will profit much from personal acquaintances and friendships with individual members of the staff. Many students attending Northern are to be the nation's leaders of the tomorrow. You should establish friendship with such students as will contribute to your personal development and not just gather to yourself a "bunch of pals."

Above all, set up a program so combining recreation, work, and study that will give you a daily consciousness that you are growing into an educated person. Your times are calling you just as importantly as war times ever called youth. It is, therefore, your patriotic duty to excel, to develop those qualities of body, mind, and spirit that will best serve your age.

I wish for you all a most successful stay at Northern and pledge you my best service to that end.

Very loyally yours,

Webster H. Pearce,
President.

NORTHERN'S NEW MUSIC DIRECTOR

Roy A. Williams, of Cisco, Illinois, has been engaged to succeed Conway Peters as head of the music department of the Northern State Teachers college. He was associate professor of violin and theory at the University of Arizona from 1929 to 1933 and during the past year has been part time teacher in the University Experimental School, of the University of Iowa while working toward his Ph. D. degree.

The newcomer has a background of fine musical training and experience.

He is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music of Boston, Mass., and received his bachelor of science degree in music at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

After the completion of the work for his M. M. degree at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, Cincinnati, O., he received his M. A. degree at the State University of Iowa, Iowa City, in 1929. In addition he studied the violin in Paris, France.

Mr. Williams has had extensive teaching experience, having taught violin at the Whitman College conservatory, Walla Walla, Washington; violin and theory at Illinois Wesleyan university, Bloomington, Ill.; at Miami University, and at the University of Arizona. In all these positions he was also director of orchestra and band.

Mr. Williams is a violinist of exceptional ability, and confesses to having been a bicycle racer in his youth. Thus the faculty has more athletic competition to offer to the men students.

JOB PLACEMENT IS PROCEEDING AT RAPID PACE

Ninety Graduates are Placed During Summer.

The Northern Placement Bureau, under the direction of Dean H. D. Lee, has made a fine record this year in the placement of '34 graduates and alumni. The placement list published below is not complete for this year; the figures are announced as of September 10. Some positions are still "on the fire," while others have been filled but not yet reported. The complete list will be assembled November 1, 1934. Below are the 1934 placements:

Upper Peninsula Students Throng Halls of Northern On Freshman Day

MEN STUDENTS FROLIC TUESDAY

Faculty Party for All Men Students.

On Tuesday evening, September 25th, the men faculty of Northern will entertain all the men students at the annual faculty-men's get-together. Be sure to hold this date open. Admission is free to all men students, for the faculty will dig into their pockets and provide for the entertainment. The evening will begin at five-thirty with music by the band, singing and cheers, until six o'clock, when the supper march will begin. An ample supper will be served.

The meal will be followed by entertainment of various sorts. There will be dancing and singing numbers, games and contests of various kinds, boxing and wrestling matches, and a faculty-student ball game to end the evening.

L. O. GANT

F. E. R. A. WORK AT NORTHERN

Fifty-nine Students on FERA Jobs.

Mr. Gant has been parcelling out the coveted F.E.R.A. jobs around the school. This year the work will be paid for at the rate of thirty cents per hour, and the average salaries paid will be fifteen dollars per month. Fifty-nine students can be accommodated, which is twelve per cent of the student body as of October 1933. Twenty-three men and thirty-six women students will be given F.E.R.A. employment.

Last year these students dug out the roadway in front of the school, and effected many changes in the campus at the rear of the school. They cleaned, painted, and calcimined most of the building. The women students did a great deal of clerical work in the various offices and libraries.

Counted with the other opportunities for employment about the school and in the city of Marquette, the F.E.R.A. offers opportunity for self-help to a large number of Northerners.

NORTHERN GRADS HOLD REUNION

M. E. A. Banquet Held at Escanaba.

Northern's graduates, attending the M. E. A. Convention in Escanaba, are invited to the annual reunion and banquet. The Northern banquet will take place in the Bohemian Lutheran Church on Thursday, October fourth, at 5:45 P. M. As usual, there will be a good meal followed by a peppy and interesting program, which will be completed in time to allow the banqueters to attend the evening sessions of the M. E. A. program. Arrangements for the program have not been com-

Frosh Meet Advisers and Learn Northern Customs.

Yesterday a class of freshmen estimated at close to one hundred fifty strolled through Northern's halls, inspecting its alma mater to be from the locker rooms in the basement to the art department high up on the third floor. Today the upper classmen will register, but yesterday the frosh had the building to themselves.

A mass assembly was held in the auditorium early yesterday morning. There the speakers acquainted the yearlings with Northern's curriculum and the specific rooms in which they could obtain information concerning prospective courses. At different periods during the afternoon, groups of frosh gathered in the main library on the first floor, where Miss Lydia Olson, chief librarian, instructed them in the etiquette of library use.

An entirely new feature of Freshman Day was inaugurated last night, when the freshies cavorted at a huge get-together in the gymnasium. The highlight of the party was the screening of pictures taken during the events of Rush Days in years past. A program of dancing aided the yearlings in getting acquainted.

Sophomores, juniors, and seniors have returned from all sections of the peninsula and reported at Northern when registration doors swung open at eight o'clock this morning. About noon the hubbub will be at its height with the bantering of second hand texts and the renewal of old acquaintanceships. If the fall enrollment is as large as expected, registration will continue until late in the day.

Classes will begin as scheduled Wednesday morning.

The faculty will initiate the social calendar Friday evening, when the annual reception for students will be staged in the gymnasium. The entire college student-body is on the invitation list. Dancing will be in order from eight-thirty until eleven-thirty. There will be no admission charge.

Additional social affairs to take place on ensuing Friday nights have been scheduled, and the entire list will be published in the next issue of the News.

Saturday will find the Olive and Gold gridiron squats journeying to Superior, where they will play the season opener against one of the strongest eleven in Wisconsin, Columbus on the sport page contain a full account of the pre-season training camp and a complete fall schedule.

Men of Northern will gobble pasties, swallow apples, and dunk doughnuts in the college gym next Tuesday evening. The occasion will be the fall men's get-together, sponsored by the male members of the faculty and the Men's Union, an organization of which every man enrolled at Northern is a member.

FACULTY GIVES FIRST PARTY

On Friday evening, Sept. 21, at 8:30, the faculty of Northern holds a reception and dance for all the students of Northern. This is the first chance for the student body to meet socially and become acquainted with faculty members as well as with their fellow students.

Admission is free and there will be entertainment and refreshments, so none should miss it.

pleated, but the dinner menu can be given at this time. There will be:

- Tomato juice cocktail
- Carrots and peas
- Roast beef and brown gravy
- Mashed potatoes
- Rolls—Pickles—Jelly
- Ice cream and cake
- Coffee

Author Plays Teachers
 For Creating "Hurdles"

Wasn't it a wonderful summer. Yes, sir, all three days. And remember the night that we slept with only three woolen blankets covering us? What heat!

One day we searched for rod and reel, and, having found them, started gaily toward the favorite brook, only to have a torrent of rain descend from skies that for three weeks had been as dry as a Methodist preacher. The fish didn't bite, but the flies did.

The fly ointment was the vilest smelling grease we had ever smeared on our faces, until we went swimming one afternoon and, finding Lake Superior registering 58°, went to sleep on the sand. Then we came home and had grandmother spread a home made concoction thickly over our tomato red countenances.

And, of course, there was the day we looked for a job.

Twice a week we opened letters from the girl friend, and read between the lines. Didn't we, "Hail"; I mean, Mello; I mean, Ray.

Yes, sir, it certainly was a great vacation, but we're glad to return to a place where we have nothing to worry over, nothing to bother about. Just sit back and rest.

And now a word to the kiddies. Gather around closely, children, for here beginneth your instructions at Northern. The eight o'clock class Wednesday morning begins promptly at 8:05. If you live north of Park street set the alarm for eight o'clock, north of Hewitt avenue for 7:55, north of Ridge for 7:45. All freshmen living south of Ridge should arise at six and stand on the street corner until eight. If a street car has not passed during that time—you are probably on the wrong corner.

Just remember the old maxim: Early to bed, early to rise, Keeps you from telling the deans lies.

Upon approaching the campus, you must remember that you are a student at Northern, not Vassar, and flip away your Twenty Grand. And while we are talking of flips, we might say that there are a few of them in the upper classes. Just mind the advice of one who found that coffee wasn't the only thing that was fresh when dated.

Frosh are warned not to study on the lawn. The janitor in charge of cutting the grass fears that serious accidents may occur when he is doing his work, since the color of the freshies is remarkably similar to that of the turf.

Assemblies are held in the auditorium, not in the glass den across the newly paved street. You do not have to pay for the white slips you get at assemblies; for those you get at the Inn you must. That is unless you give them the slip.

If any of you Frosh girls drive cars, remember that one good turn deserves another.

And all that noise breaking from the Theta fraternity house next Monday will be the brothers' standing vote of confidence for Frank Oleksy. The tall muscled warrior was elected steward last spring and since then he has been worth more than his weight in gold to the fraternity boys, for it was Frank who kept the fraternity house open all summer. Three meals a day were served and rooms were rented for one night or more. Not less than five were slept there every night and one evening Frank tucked in twenty-six. Now the credit side of the ledger is overbalancing the opposite sheet, and are the Thetas glad? Ask them.

While the Thetas are busy hand-clapping and backslapping, the Alpha Deltas will be mourning the loss of Bill Wright. Bill has joined the army. He left Saturday for Detroit where he is to be installed in the army band. Now the Deltas will have to look elsewhere for a comedian when they are skedaddled to provide entertainment at the Men's Get-Togethers. By the way, Bill directed the players that took the Rush Day comic prizes the last three years.

Prospective teachers will find more instructive than usual the book, "How to Read Books," by Llewellyn Jones, which may now be obtained in the school library. This is the second volume on the why and wherefore of reading to be added to the library collection in as many months. The other volume is "Making the Most of Modern Books," which was reviewed in this column a few issues ago.

The author of the latest book, however, attacks the problems of scanning from an entirely different angle than did the author of the latter volume. Llewellyn Jones accuses teachers of creating a "psychological hurdle" which the average person must leap before he can bring himself to read books which instructors have unwisely associated with texts. He states that such undesirable associations are part of the causes for America's ranking "twelfth among civilized nations in its addition to the printed book as a form of property."

Jones doubts that there are different "kinds" of literature and attempts to bring the opinion of the reader to his theory by citing concrete examples.

A reader, according to the writer, must develop an aesthetic sense, by which he sees not the rugged, bare details of an author's interpretation, but rather sees the interpretation as a whole.

In twenty pages packed with information which a distinctive style nearly shouts from each page, Mr. Jones rates various novels and gives criteria for judging good novels. Farther on in the volume he discusses poetry and how it ought to be read.

Descending from the skies of theoretical methods of reading to mere concrete discussions, the author advises the book enthusiast on which to buy and which not to buy.

Once the reader has picked up this book he finds it extremely difficult to put it down. It is full, from the front cover to the back cover, with knowledge which every Northernite will find entirely worthwhile.

Teachers and a Crisis
 Part of the (present) crisis points directly to the educators and to teachers colleges. The educator is uneducated. There is no course in school administration, or mental measurement, or educational philosophy, now in existence, that will give him the vision that he is intuitively seeking. They do not acquaint him with cultural events or inform him of those facts and values upon which real education must depend. What do students in education learn of the cultural contributions of Eddington, Jeans, Planck, Child, Coghill, Lorka, Ritter, Sharp, Jennings, Northrup, Haldane, Huxley, Koffka, Köhler, Wertheimer, Lewin, Spengler, Smuts, Martin, Adams, Frank, Cosgrove, Niebuhr, Chase? Here are physicists, biologists, neurologists, physiologists, psychologists, philosophers, historians, clergymen, and critics of our economic and social order—all contemporary writers—saying essentially the same things in different vocabularies referring to different problems in human life. They are all at work painting a new picture of the world and human nature, a new conception of the social order and a new ethics. . . .

This new conception of nature demands a new conception of education and an altogether different type of teacher training. . . . It points the way out of the present crisis. It repudiates, unqualifiedly, a mechanistic conception of nature, of evolution, growth, and learning. It repudiates the theory that complex things are built up from simple things, that wholes are derived from their parts; it repudiates a mechanistic physics, biology, psychology, a mechanistic conception of the economic and social order, a mechanistic conception of the educative process.

It demands the opposite conception of the learning process than has been entertained, except by those thinkers and teachers of the past whose intuitive understanding of human nature compelled them to follow their common sense rather than the theories of their day.

This is the reason why nineteenth-century psychology and education, still prevailing, do not yield methods that provide the growing mind with that unity of knowledge which it craves, and makes it useful, nor does it furnish the growing mind with that social insight upon which the integrity of the social order rests. The secret of democracy is cooperation, yet childhood and youth are taught under a scientific philosophy of competition, the philosophy of a mechanistic order.

Freshman Awards

FRESHMEN who are athletically inclined are urged to try out for the football and basketball squads. The freshman teams at Northern play several regularly scheduled games. It is customary to award annual sweaters to such athletes as qualify. The awards are made upon recommendation of the coach and approval by the Athletic Committee. The sweaters are presented to the qualifying athletes either at a banquet, attended by all of the men faculty, or during an assembly program. The presentation is made during the spring term to the qualifying athletes whose grades warrant their remaining in school until that time.

Freshmen are permitted to compete in Varsity baseball and track athletics except during their first term at Northern. Thus it is possible for a student to win a Varsity sweater while he is still a freshman. Freshmen taking part in Varsity baseball and track are permitted to compete only against other upper peninsula schools.

Freshmen are permitted to compete in intercollegiate debating. Every year since debating was begun at Northern there have been freshmen who won the Varsity award in debate. The award is a large felt N plaque which may be sewed onto a sweater or jersey.

The athletic Varsity award is a large block N sewed upon a sweater or a jersey. For second year competition in football or basketball the award is a gold football or basketball watch fob. The second year debate award is a gold and green enamel pin.

"A Good Job"

Attention is called to the article on the first page of the News that deals with the 1934 record of the appointment office. Although the record is still incomplete the editors felt that the appointment of 120 graduates and alumni to teaching positions so far this year would be of great interest to all students at Northern. It shows that a large proportion of the '34 graduates have been placed in teaching positions. But this is not all of the story. There are many graduates who did not care for teaching positions. Some are pursuing graduate or professional work at various universities. One of these, Lawrence Hebbard, is attending the University of Michigan on a scholarship from Northern.

Some '34 graduates have gone into other kinds of work, including at least three women graduates who married after their graduation. Some positions have not yet been definitely settled. Other prospective teachers have been sent out to apply for positions and have failed to report. The list will be larger by November first, when the final report is made.

The placement situation was complicated this year by the fact that there was a considerable body of alumni who had not been placed. The published list shows that appointments have been secured for a large number of these also. The appointment office wishes to emphasize the fact that it is ready at all times to give its services to any Northern graduate. A graduate should keep his record up to date in that office, and efforts will be made to secure positions or promotions for such people at all times, no matter when they graduated.

Just a tip to freshmen, as well as to all other students. The class record is not the only thing that secures appointments for prospective teachers. A great majority of the people who were placed had some activity besides their class records to speak for them. Everything that the student does during his stay at Northern has some influence on his chances for placement. The classroom work is rarely the sole activity of a good teacher. To be qualified to handle the extra-curricular activities of a school calls for experience in those activities.

Northern maintains practically every activity that can be found in Michigan schools. The student can receive experience in any field that pleases him. A good prospective teacher is one who is interested in all the extra-curricular activities of Northern, and who becomes expert at some of them. A partial list of the activities that a student may participate in merely by making the effort of coming out for them is: football, basketball, track, baseball, debate, drama, departmental club work, fraternities and sororities, social organizations, journalism, glee club, band, and orchestra, gymnasium work, dancing, etc. There are many unclassified activities such as class organization, art, the class rush, boy and girl scout work, etc.

The freshmen have clean slates. The upper classmen have unfilled slates. The crowded student activities during the year will fill their those slates with records that will be scrutinized in the future by superintendents and schoolboards anxious to find people who can do a "job of work" in the world. The record of the appointment office shows that a niche will be found for those who have fitted themselves for as many worthwhile activities as possible. "Take your marks—"

GRDDERS MEET SUPERIOR SATURDAY

Hurst Has Been Coaching Small But Fast Squad In Pre-Season Training Camp

Several Veterans are Ineligible, or Will Not Be In School.

Coach Hurst, beginning his first season as varsity football coach at Northern, has a small but fast and smooth working squad this year. At present eighteen men are working out daily, although some of last year's veterans have not yet reported. The team began practice on Monday of last week, going through two stiff work-outs every day. The squad is staying at the Tri Mu Fraternity house on College Avenue.

Cummings, Pearce, and Walther are veterans who will play in the backfield, with Wittala, Cazzanigi, and Brigan also fighting for positions. Finnegan will again hold down the center position. In the line: Fagan, Richards, Mattson, Ranquette, Johnson, Bomaster, Wright, Northy, Hoffman, Tuuri, and Perrine have been playing a good brand of football.

Northern faces one of the most difficult schedules in years. The first game will be played Friday night of this week against the strong Superior, Wis., Teachers, at Superior. There will be four home games this year. The schedule is as follows:

- Sept. 21 Superior, there
- Sept. 29 Oshkosh, here
- Oct. 6 Psi-lant, there
- Oct. 13 Mich. Tech, here
- Oct. 20 Northland, here
- Oct. 27 Mich. Tech, there
- Nov. 3 Ironwood Jr. College, here

FOOTBALL COACH

VICTOR HURST

From the Bleachers

By Brotherton

Good morning, scholars:
Why, hello, Jim—thought you weren't coming back. What kind of a summer did you have? Fine! Where is Elmer? Not coming back? Say, that's tough—and with only one year left, too! Say, you don't happen to have a second hand Contemporary Lit. book I can buy, do you? Well, there's my number. I'll see you later . . . Everybody is happy, we suppose, and now that the Tigers are on their way to a pennant . . . let's be different this year. Everybody study their lessons for the first day—nobody to the show tonight. Oh yeah!

Just how our gridiron warriors will fare in their coming campaign we can't tell. Enthusiastically these men have worked together, during spring practice and during the training camp period. Rather mysteriously they have "stuck close" to the heels of Coach Hurst, giving us the impression that the football field was occupied only by "Hurst and his Shadow-men." Thus, comes our suggestion that the Olive and Gold squad be known as Northern's own "Shadow-men"—They may win or lose—you never know what a shadow will do.

Coach Hurst—as the football season begins—let us extend our sincere hope for your success, and for the success of the men you will guide in making football history for the Olive and Gold.

Ask Heads To Post Sorority, Frat Notices

In the absence of a society editor, sorority and fraternity presidents are asked to post notices of teas, luncheons, meetings, or what-have-you, on the foyer bulletin board by Wednesday of next week. Address them to "News Society Editor", and they will be printed in the next issue of the paper.

PARKER RESIGNS ADVISORSHIP OF COLLEGE NEWS

Was With Paper for 18 Years. Meyland Is Successor.

Declaring that he has never been a journalist and has no ambitions to be one, Earle M. Parker, head of Northern's Latin department, has relinquished his advisership of the News, a position which he has held for approximately eighteen years. He is being succeeded by Gunther C. Meyland, a member of the English department.

The first publication ever put out by Northerners was launched by Mr. Parker way back in 1914. Under the title of the Quill, this predecessor of the News appeared monthly and contained articles both by students and faculty members. Parker, as editor, was assisted by a corps of student aides. Not only was the

EARLE M. PARKER

Quill a predecessor of this paper, but might also be called an ancestor of the Kawabagum, for the last issue of each spring term was the feature issue of the year and contained a resume of the year's activities.

During 1918 and 1919, when he became principal of the training school, Parker quitted the Quill. The publication was assumed at that time by Miss Doris King, a graduate of Northern who had returned to teach in the English division. Meanwhile the J. D. Pierce principal was having the high school students publish a Midget Quill.

Upon his return to the college faculty, Mr. Parker again took over the Quill, and some years later changed its purely literary type to a journalistic set-up. From that inauspicious beginning the News has developed to the bi-weekly it is at present. Mr. Parker has resigned from the advisership in order to devote more time to his many other school duties.

Mr. Meyland, the new adviser, comes into the work fully equipped

SOUNDS CALL FOR FRESHIES

COACH C. B. HEDGCOCK

FRESH ELEVEN PREPARES FOR SEASON OPENER

Coach Charles Hedgcock Issued Call for Candidates Yesterday.

Mr. C. B. Hedgcock, Director of Athletics, is handling the Fresh Football Squad this fall. The Freshmen play their first game on September 29th against Marquette High School. The game is a curtain raiser for the Northern-Oshkosh game to be played here on that date. Coach Hedgcock issues his first call for the Fresh squad below:

I should like to extend a most cordial welcome to Freshman men who are interested in playing football. With or without experience a great deal of satisfactory enjoyment may be derived from this experience by those who like the more rugged sports.

Uniforms will be given out Monday afternoon immediately after your last meeting with departmental advisers.

Since we meet Marquette High on September 29th it is necessary that we lose no time in getting started.

Regular practice will occur from 3:00 to 4:30 P.M.

Sincerely,
C. B. Hedgcock,
Director of Athletics.

COPIES OF NEWS ON FOYER TABLE TWICE A MONTH

Urges Students to Co-operate With Staff In Publishing Paper.

Six more issues of the News will be published this term. Dates when it will be circulated are September 18, October 2, October 10, October 30, November 13, and November 27. The News appears on the foyer table every other Tuesday morning and, through an arrangement with the general office, is able to be given free of charge to every student. Students are warned, however, not to take more than one copy, for only enough to supply students and subscribers are printed.

At all times the News will gratefully accept student contributions of news value, for the staff is most desirous of covering school occurrences from all angles.

For his new position. During six of the seven summer terms he has been at Northern, he has handled the News, and is thereby well acquainted with the make-up of the paper.

JOURNALISTS TO MEET ON FRIDAY

Every student interested in journalistic work is urged to be present at a short meeting of the News staff, to be held in Professor Meyland's class room, number 207, Friday afternoon at four o'clock. No matter who you are, what you are, or where you are from, come up for the meeting and hear how you may join the News staff.

Library Notes

The following volumes have recently been added to our library:

Baldwin, H. R.
Nutrition and health.
Contains suggestions for teaching nutrition in the schools.

Brooks, A. M.
Architecture and the allied arts.

Brooks, C. S.
The tragedy of Josephine Maria, and other plays.

A collection of one-act plays, with small casts and simple settings, in the intimate style of the author whose entertaining stage directions make the plays enjoyable for reading aloud.

Calverton, V. F.
The liberation of American literature.

American literature as an outcome of that culture which arises from the division of American society into economic classes. An outstanding book.

Clark, Barrett.
Maxwell Anderson, the man and his plays.

This pamphlet gives interesting facts regarding the dramatist, and also discusses the plays he has written, their place in dramatic literature and as an expression of the author's ideals.

Chesterton, G. K.
Chaucer.

Recaptures the atmosphere of the civilization of England in the time of Chaucer, and comments on the man and his work.

Daugherty, C. R.
Labor problems in American industry.

Significant factors in industrial relations, general phases of labor disharmony, and attempts at adjustment.

Graham, F. D.
Audel's handy book of practical electricity.

Hunter, Lucretia.
The girl today, the woman tomorrow.

"The purpose of this book is to help the girl of high school age learn and apply the principles which govern her social acceptability."—Foreword.

MARRIAGES

Beaulieu, Ora, '26, of Newberry, and Mr. George Tilden Webb, Jr., of Glen Ferris, West Virginia, were married August 2, 1934, in Newberry. Mrs. Webb taught in the Detroit public schools and for the past several years has been teaching a kindergarten at Sault Ste. Marie. Mr. Webb is a civil engineer, and is associated with the Union Carbide company at Glen Ferris, West Virginia, where they are making their home.

Nicholls, Catherine E., '32, B. S. '33, of Newberry, and Mr. Arthur A. Neu, were married, July 28, at Florence, Wisconsin. Mrs. Neu has been teaching in the Newberry schools during the past year. They are making their home in Newberry, where Mr. Neu is an instructor of music in the schools. He is a graduate of Northwestern University.

Richards, Robert K., A. B. '29, of Marquette, and Miss Ruth E. Sandborn, '28, of Escanaba, were married in Fond du Lac on June 30, 1934. Mrs. Richards has been teaching in the Escanaba high school during the past year, and for several years taught in Petoskey. Mr. Richards is principal of the high school in Baraga, where they will reside.

BIRTHS

Hauserman, A. John, yrs. '30-'33, and Mrs. Hauserman, of Negaunee, are the parents of a daughter, Margaret Ann, born in Ishpeming, April 18, 1934.

DEATHS

Rublein, Ernest J., yrs. '32-'34, and Richard F. Bowers, were burned to death near Newberry on August 15, 1934, when the coupe in which they were riding struck a CCC truck and caught fire. Both young men had been employed at the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company's chemical plant and were returning to Marquette after vacationing in Ohio. Mr. Rublein was a resident of Marquette and attended Northern State Teachers College for the past several years. He had also taken work at Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton. His host of friends will regret his untimely death.

SCIENCE MENTOR

Rollin Thoren, of Negaunee, who is to be on the J. D. P. faculty.

NORTHERN GRAD
ON J. D. P. FACULTY

Rollin Thoren Will Fill
Vacancy Left By Miss
Vlasnik.

Rollin Thoren, who, many students will recall, graduated from Northern in 1933, has been appointed to the position of science instructor in the John D. Pierce training school. He is to fill the vacancy left by Miss Molly Vlasnik, who sailed for Poland last spring, presumably on her way to the altar.

Negaunee is the home town that claims Mr. Thoren. He was educated in the public schools there and, upon his graduation from high school, entered Northern in the fall of 1928. His life at Northern was a varied one, for he not only took a keen interest in his studies, as is evidenced by his honor record, but also entered wholeheartedly into extra-curricular activities. Thoren had a liking for basketball, and was one of the shining stars on the Olive and Gold lineup for the three years it is possible for students to be members of the court squad.

Athletics, however, was only a side interest, for Mr. Thoren majored in chemistry. Upon being graduated from Northern as one of the highest in his class, he was granted the annual one-year scholarship to the University of Michigan. During that year, last year, he continued his work in chemistry and now has not only an A. B., but also a master of arts degree.
