IVAN MARKOFF PRESENTS ARTISTS

Two Hour Program of Comedy, Songs, Dances Will Be Given.

On Tuesday morning, January 26, at 9:50, Ivan Markoff will bring to the stage at Northern his group of artists to present the Russian Art Theater novelty, "Les Jou-Joux". The two-hour program promises to be filled with joyous comedy, drama, and unique songs and dances. Unusual settings and costumes of riotous color lend much to the effect of the production.

Ivan Markoff and his players have received favorable comments from many of the country's leading newspapers. "An outstanding event in the theater, action, music and color blended with perfect artistry created an unforgettable evening"—Philadelphia Courier.

DELTA SIGMA NU PLEDGES SPONSOR CHRISTMAS PARTY

Members and guests of the Deltas gathered at the Theta House Saturday evening, Dec. 12th, for the Christmas pledge dance. A really holiday spirit prevailed. Christmas trees, colored lights, poinsettias and other decorations made the proper background. Each guest was presented with a charming boutonniere as he entered.

During the dance program, matching suckers determined partners for one number. For another, the girls were given locks of the men's crowning glory and had to match them to the right heads.

Punch was served from a beautifully decorated table. Poinsettias, green paper frills, and red candles gave an inviting look.

Miss Spalding, faculty adviser; Mrs. Lowe and Mrs. Lautner, patronesses, attended the party.

The pledges, hostesses of the evening, are: Harriet Patrick, Hazel Ellison, Pearl Kauola, Eleanor Taylor, Ruth Schrandt, Margaret Miller, and Eileen Labre.

SLIM WILLIAMS, ALASKA 'MUSHER', WILL GIVE TALK

Experiences in Frozen North Are Subject of Next Assembly.

Getting back to school after the Holidays means having an opportunity to once more enjoy the excellent entertainment which is offered us. Slim Williams, world famous Alaskan wolf-dog musher, appears first this season. His program is something different, bringing us authentic information concerning his many thrilling adventures in the north.

Williams is a picturesque and colorful platform figure throughout this country today. His thirty-two years experience in Alaska plus his sense of humor combine to hold his audiences—almost spellbound at times.

Slim first became world-famous when he blazed a 5,600-mile trail with his wolf dogs from Copper Center, Alaska, to Washington, D. C. He did this in order to dramatize the necessity of uniting Alaska and the United States by highway. Approximately 1,800 miles of this "longest dog sled trip in history" was through frozen uncharted wilderness. President Roosevelt became interested and had several interviews with Mr. Williams concerning the proposed highway.

This man who is pioneer, musher, miner, big game hunter, trapper, mail carrier, adventurer, has been enthusiastically received and recommended. We quote from only two of the leading comments:

"The name of Slim Williams may go down in history as one of the great trail blazers of North America."

"Mrs. Roosevelt and Slim became acquainted when she visited the Fair last year, after which she described her meeting with him as the most enjoyable part of her visit."

STUDENTS ENJOY CHRISTMAS TEA

The Student Girls' League and the Men's Union exemplified the Yuletide spirit by giving a Christmas tea party on Tuesday afternoon, December 15, from 4:00 o'clock to 5:30. Two long tables were placed in the hall to provide room for the many students and faculty who were present to partake of the coffee and doughnuts that were served. Music and song were provided during the tea by Vera Senob, soloist, and Ruth Harris and Florence Shutey, duet, who sang Christmas carols from the top balcony, accompanied by the string group. This informal party was appreciated by everyone.

These activities were made successful by the efforts of Helen Eklund, president of the Girls' League, and Paul Olsen, president of the Men's Union, and the cooperation of the members of the two organizations.

Returning Students Find Many Changes Made During The Christmas Holidays

PIERCE PUPILS GIVE OPERETTA

Nearly every seat in the college auditorium was occupied when the pupils of the John D. Pierce School presented their Christmas play, "The Magic Christmas Bell", under the direction of Miss Margaret Rarik.

There were over two hundred costumes which were practically all made in the home economics department under the supervision of Miss Helen Bosard and Miss Emily Hunting.

The loveliness of the costumes was cleverly enhanced by good lighting effects; especially was this true of the Nativity tableau. For the lighting effects and scenery we find that we are indebted to Miss Florence Ward and Mr. Earl Ferns.

The most striking characteristic, however, of the entire operetta, was the ease with which all the performers acted their parts. The dance ensembles, especially, were very well trained, and Miss Marion Ayres, who was largely responsible for that training, is certainly to be complimented.

We must also remember that the success of a program of this type depends to a large extent on the accompanying music. The college instrumental ensemble did a fine piece of work in providing this.

YULE CONCERT WINS APPLAUSE

Northern Music Groups Give Impressive Christmas Program.

Hundreds of townsfolk and students wended their way to the annual Christmas concert given in the Northern State Teachers College auditorium Sunday afternoon, December 13, at 3:30. The auditorium was filled to capacity to witness the biggest musical event of the year. The musical program was under the direction of Dr. Roy Williams.

As the guests approached the main entrance they were greeted by heralds in festive array, playing Christmas carols. The heralds were Walter Davis, Curtis Gianville, Frank Mihve, Paul Nelson, John Viola, Melvin Warren. The foyer and stairways leading to the auditorium were decked in the holiday green of fir trees, lit by multi-colored lamps, a picture of the Nativity, with evergreen, decorated the wall at the top of the stairs. As the listeners came into the auditorium a carol ensemble, composed of strings and flutes, played old Christmas favorites. At both sides of the stage stood an illuminated tree, and in back of the dais upon which the choir sat were two illuminated trees. Creamy candles on graceful candelabra balanced both sides of the stage.

Before the choral numbers the college symphony orchestra gave a beautiful rendition of:

- The Young Prince and Princess from the Scheherazade Suite.
- Rimsky—Korsakoff
- from the Surprise Symphony
- Haydn
- Angelus—No. 3 of the Scenes Pittoresques..... Massenet
- The loveliest feature of the concert was the candlelight procession of the chorists. The women wore white choir gowns. Each chorister held a lighted candle. From the back of the darkened auditorium the procession wound its way in two parallel lines down the center aisles to the stage singing "Silent Night."
- After the Christmas Concert, December 13, Dr. and Mrs. Roy Williams entertained at a tea in the recreation rooms for the members of the choir and orchestra. A mock fireplace gave a holiday appearance to the reception room. The students presented the Williamses with a sandwich toaster. Miss Grace Spalding and Mrs. Webster H. Pearce poured.

Enrollment Will Be Simplified in the Newly Expanded Office.

Now that the Christmas holiday festivities are but memories, the students of Northern are turning their thoughts to the problems of the new term and the new year. Enrollment day has rolled around again, bringing its usual scurry and bustle. The students are busy renewing old acquaintances and welcoming the new students. The holiday greenery which enhanced the halls and foyer before the holidays has been removed, and a somber studious aspect has taken its place.

Remarkable changes have been effected during our two-week absence. The assembly-room stage has received a new coat of varnish as have many of the classrooms. The general office has been remodeled. Registrar Gant now issues orders from a new glass-enclosed office within the general office building over which so much of Northern's affairs are conducted has been extended to twice its former length, thus greatly facilitating the enrollment day situation.

Opposite the general office the school management has installed a picture gallery. This gallery will also be somewhat in the nature of a museum. Relics reminiscent of Northern's progress through the years will be displayed here. Especially interesting among these treasures is the pen with which the governor of Michigan signed the bill which gave life and existence to Northern. Part of this glass-enclosed gallery will be President Pearce's private bulletin board.

He told of placements made since last June. Eight of ten were in the Lower Peninsula. He pointed out the excellent opportunity for Freshman men interested in teaching Industrial Arts since there are only two enrolled.

Mr. Ferns read several statements by a group of graduate students prophesying the future of Industrial Arts in 1960.

The officers of the Club elected at the previous meeting are Orvo Maki, president; Alfred Wilson, vice-president, and Floyd Wallace, secretary-treasurer.

Group Discussion

THE present struggle between democratic ideas and dictatorship transcends all other world problems," said M. L. Wilson in the opening address of the nineteenth National Rural Life Forum which discussed Education for Democracy.

Perhaps the best way to keep democracy is to practice it; to try it is the best way to find out if it really works. Education by group discussion is the modern way of training for democratic processes.

John W. Studebaker, Commissioner of Education, gives the following five characteristics of effective group discussion organization:

First, that the group discussion is a technique of teaching people to discuss and think, as contrasted with listening and memorizing.

Second, that the discussion idea should be popularized through the public schools.

Third, that local leaders must be trained in the technique of good group discussion. Good discussion can not come without organization and effort.

Fourth, that demonstration is the best way of teaching proper group discussion methods.

Fifth, that the discussion groups must supply themselves with unbiased facts from independent sources.

This idea of group discussion is a definite step toward achieving the true democracy that America almost forgot in her century of scramble for a place under the sun. Those clubs already organized will be the source of leadership for new groups as group discussion gathers momentum.

Join A Club

SOME of our Northern folks do not seem to be aware of the several clubs and societies that are being sponsored throughout the school year purely for their entertainment and benefit. They are undoubtedly those who yield to the natural inclination of following the path of least resistance or are they those who so easily impose the "same old thing" element as the proper conception of these functions or "just aren't interested."

Maybe it's the schoolwork—your other engagements or the distance from school that keeps the average enrollment of some of our clubs so low, but surely there are many more that can spare at least a few evenings a term for these occasions.

The true value of club meetings and programs should not be determined by the immediate returns in the form of pleasure. Rather, first of all, we should be fascinated by "belonging to a club" and get into the "young student enthusiasm." They often turn out to be of great potentialities for developing in students fine characteristics, service, teamwork and college and, later, teacher consciousness. Besides being such a constructive vital force to an individual who has been able to catch the visions of these potentialities and for whom the future holds richer possibilities we may create in and among us the good neighbor spirit.

The sooner we discover that practical experience besides theory makes a good teacher, just that soon should we take part in these activities and give our initiative, talent, and personality a chance to display and strengthen their wares.

The advisers and officers of the several clubs are looking forward to a Winter term of much activity and enjoyment, so what say—"Do we, or do we not, get-together more?"

Resolutions

STUDENTS, alumni, and faculty undoubtedly start the year with a long list of resolutions and a clean slate. The Northern News joins the throng of resolvers with the firm intention of achieving these following aims:

First, to report all the school and alumni news clearly, concisely, and accurately.

Second, to welcome contributions from club, sorority, and fraternity, scribes, students and alumni.

Third, to pursue a constructive editorial policy representing Northern as a constructive, progressive school.

Fourth, to add a bit of spice to college life.

CO-ED CLERKS
ENJOY HOLIDAYS

Whew! I'm dead tired and still the crowds come. My feet feel as if they will soon come through my shoulders. That Mrs. Cooper just came in and bought her annual supply of toys for her nephews; those boys must run about $200 worth of toys. I sold her that fifty dollar doll house, too. I can't imagine who she bought that for; it was awfully nice, though. Say, a funny thing happened this morning. A very quaint old lady came in and asked to see baby dolls. She didn't look as if she had very much money, so I showed her that little Barbara Lee doll at $3.50, and she took it. I like to talk to old people, and so I asked her if it was for her grand child, and she answered, "No, it is for the person who looks as though she needed it most." I must have looked at her terribly funny, 'cause she explained, "You see, I haven't any . . . a doll." Things like that make me feel kind of funny inside. Guess I'll go to lunch.

I hate to think of all the returns the day after tomorrow. They'll be coming in saying that little Johnny got two horses. So they would like to change it for a shirt in the other department. Oh me! They got rushed in the lingerie department a little while ago, so Mr. St. John called me over there. What do you know? I waited on a swell-looking young man that wanted to buy some slippers and nightgowns and steeps. All to match. I had the time of my life. The funny part of it was that he didn't quite know her size and had to look all over the department so he could find somebody just about her height and build. You know, some men have come in with a little book that seems to hold all miscellaneous information; they just read down the list and say, "Waist—26 in., hips—36 in., height—5 ft. 4 in., bust—34 in." That's the way I like to get the information; then you know where you are at.

I went back to my little toy shop and found a rather young man there, picking up every toy and pondering over it. After awhile he asked me if I thought a pink Teddy bear, or a furry kitty, would be the nicest for a Christmas present. I asked him how old a child it was intended for. "It's a very young baby," he said. "I thought maybe a pink fur for a bear. We're hoping—" Well, I had the pink Teddy bear wrapped up for him; guess I'm gettin' soft.

Tomorrow is the big day of the year for some people, but not for working girls. All we can do is get a good day's sleep. Everybody's going to have turkey and all the stuffing, but I'll be happy with a good bowl of one of Heinz's 57 Varieties. I'm glad today is just about over 'cause I've got writers' cramps and am worn to a frazzle.

ALUMNI NOTES

Miss Lucille Eva Kroppe, of Ironwood, and Kenneth James MacFarlane of Bessemer, were married Nov. 26, in Ironwood. The bride has been secretary to Judge George O. Driscoll for a number of years. Mr. MacFarlane attended the Northern State Teachers College for several years. He is now sheriff-elect of Gogebic county.

At the Hancock high school, a new department for eighth grade students has been opened under the direction of Isaac Snell, Northern graduate. This is the Household Arts department, where instruction will be given in the fundamentals of electrical work, sheet metal and cold iron work. Apparatus for the course was installed in a section of the Industrial Arts department and the classes began work before the holidays.

Miss Evelyn Bertrand, of Marquette, was married to Carl Hyatt Wilson, of St. Louis, Missouri, Dec. 14, in Waukegan. Miss Bertrand is a Northern graduate and a member of the Delta Sigma Nu sorority. She has been teaching for the last few years in Iron Mountain.

Miss Minnie Willmert and Carl A. Stolpe, of Marquette, were married Dec. 25, in Atlanta, Illinois. Mr. Stolpe is a Northern graduate and he is now teaching in the commercial department of the Plymouth high school.

Miss Ruth Chamberlain, of East Lansing, was married to Melvin Rae Campbell, of Marquette, Saturday, December 26, in Doctor L. W. Howe's cottage at Lakeswood, the Rt. Rev. H. S. Ablewhite officiating.

The bride received her bachelor of arts degree from the Michigan State College. For the past year and a half she has been field representative for the Michigan Children's Aid Society. The groom received his bachelor

HARVEY HOUSE

My first New Year's Resolution: I resolve not to waste the valuable space in my column by further reference to Sea and Saw.
At least Northern doesn't have to worry about the formation of fascist or other shirt-organizations. Not enough males possess the required part of the uniform.

Let me select your epitaph for you. Here are two that have been used: "Forgive my Dust," and "Pardon me for Not Rising."

I propose a slogan for Norway's travel bureau: "Watch the fiords go by."

And here's a definition that makes everything very clear: "Summer is something you try to get your rooms as warm as in winter, only you can't." I won't mention where I picked that up.

Says one shining Northern Light: "It's a depression; my parents are working my way through college. People with no place to go are always in a frightful hurry to get there. That's probably why I always bump into so many people in the corridor."

Have you heard of the bewildered colored man who said: "If George Washington was such an honest man, why do they close all the banks on his birthday?"

I was so-o-o embarrassed. At a social gathering the other night I carried around a tray with coffee, sugar, and cream. After offering about a dozen people some coffee (all of them refusing) the thirteenth accepted. I picked up the coffee pot, and it was empty.

We have a grand moving picture critic in our student body. After seeing "Three Men on a Horse," Gwen Bryce is waiting eagerly to see "Three Men in a Hearse."

The bells must be nervous these days. You never can tell when they'll go off—oh, well, one excuse for being late is as good as another.

Do you remember the Freshman who counted every window pane in the college buildings? Results—inaccurate! Victim—disgruntled!

"O! that this too solid flesh would melt!"—Shakespearean quotation—fell mournfully from the lips of a Northern co-ed.

The critics have it that the test of a real comedian rests in whether you laugh at him before he opens his mouth.

Northern men in attendance at social evenings ask, "Where, oh where are those gay old co-eds?"

FORUM MEMBERS HAVE YULE PARTY

Miss Gwen Bryce entertained the Forum Debating Society at a Christmas party, Friday, December 11, at her home, 424 E. Michigan street.

After a brief business meeting the program was turned over to the chairman, Mary Jane Manthel. Joyce Barnett told the girls about some of the interesting Christmas customs of foreign lands. Miss Manthel read a Christmas story by Christopher Morley. Christmas poems were recited by Gwen Bryce. Following the program the girls grouped around the piano and sang carols.

The climax of the evening arrived with Grace Roberts, as Santa Claus, who distributed gifts to the members. The presents, all toys or games of some sort, were afterwards given to the Michigan children's clinic.

of arts degree at the Northern State Teachers college, where he was a member of the Alpha Delta fraternity. He is now associated in business with his father.

Matthew Bennett (A.B. '33), Marquette, who is a senior in the medical school at the University of Michigan, has been elected to the national honor society, Alpha Omega Alpha. He had one of the first five scholastic standings in his class. Mr. Bennett is a graduate of the Graverath high school and of Northern, where he was an honor student.

Miss Pearl E. Peterson (B.S. '36), Negaunee, was married to Eugene Fossie (A.B. '35), Ironwood, on November 30, 1935, in South Bend, Indiana. Both are graduates of Northern, where during the past year the bride was president of the Tau Pi Nu sorority. The groom is teaching in Lorain, Ohio, where the couple are living.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Jacobson, Marquette, a son, James Albert, on November 16. Mrs. Jacobson is the former Leona Eymen (L. '26, B.S. '30), Marquette.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Tuch (Evelyn A. Dubois, (L. '27) of Marquette are the parents of a daughter, Mary Alice, born November 7, 1936.

CAGERS FACE GRUELLING WEEK-END

Northerners Leave Home For Engagements With Northland and Ironwood

Hedgcock Polishes Offense, Kraemer Quintet Presents Biggest Obstacle.

Back from the holiday lay-off and with a week of practice in the interim behind them, Hedgcock's basketballers are practically ready for the week-end trip that will take them west to Ashland on Friday night for a contest with Northland and back to Ironwood on Saturday for an engagement with Jack Kraemer's perennially tough Jaysees.

The St. Norbert's contest before the Christmas exodus proved that the Northerners possess a surprising offensive, and while it cannot be said truthfully that they outdid anyone's fondest expectations, they did display an attack which has all the signs of the best Hedgcock teams. The skipper says that he doesn't need a defense if he can develop a powerful, high scoring fast break, a statement that contains a great deal more sense than its face value would indicate. Right now, it appears that "Hedge" is on the right track and only the results of the week-end can verify our predictions.

Northland, as usual, is an unknown quantity, and Ironwood, as usual, is expected to turn up with a topnotch quint. The Green Devils' record is not over impressive right now, although they were successful in gaging Michigan Tech by a 35-29 margin earlier in the season. The Gogebic Rangers are also hiding defeats at the hands of several of the western junior colleges including Duluth and Virginia.

Northland plays a return match here on the following Friday, Jan. 15.

PIERCE MEETS ST. IGNACE JAN. 8

The J. D. Pierce basketball team meets St. Ignace on Friday, January 8, in the College gymnasium. St. Ignace presents an unknown quantity. Very little is known about her here on the northern side of the peninsula. She may be a dark horse, but Coach Thoren isn't taking any chances. Two practices daily has been the bill for the Piercemen during the holidays.

This contest will be the fourth scheduled game for the training school boys. After losing the first one to a snappy alumni crew by a scant margin of only four points they came back with a bang to defeat, first Gwin, then National Mine, the latter losing by a score of 47 to 17. These last two games indicate that the team has come a long ways since the first encounter with the alumni and reports from the holiday practice sessions point to a successful campaign.

NORTHERN ROLLS OVER WISCONSIN QUINTET 55-36

Olive and Gold Grab Early Lead and Maintains Pace.

Opening the intercollegiate basketball season with a bang, a fast passing Northern team downed St. Norbert's to the tune of 55 to 36.

Forging into an early lead, the Saints being held at the short end of an 11 to 1 count before six minutes of the game had elapsed, the Northern team continued to pile up the score, not once relinquishing the lead.

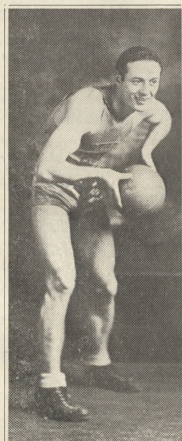

Villemure opened the scoring on a long tally from center, followed by Aho's goal on a pass from Koski, and Capt. Gleason's ringer from the tip off circle. Slightly brought the crowd to its feet when he looped in a beautiful one hand shot from the side lines just before the horn ended the first canto.

The second half was a repetition of the first, except for a little more roughness, Captain Gleason being lost on fouls, as was Kant, lengthy St. Norbert's center, and McNulty, guard.

Displaying an excellent defense, and a fast accurate passing offense, the Hedgcock crew can be picked to go places this season.

Aho and Northey led the Northern scoring with 11 points apiece, and Spychalla headed the Saints with 12. Between halves Wayne Nelmark and Ero Wittala entertained with a clever caveman stunt, sending the

A toast to the two gallant gorillas who dared to introduce the art of Siamese boxing to Northern audiences between halves of the St. Norbert's game. Such a brutal, savage, inhuman sport will probably cause much adverse criticism, but there is always a silver lining. Mr. Roberts' classes undoubtedly found more than one noteworthy suggestion for facial expression or distortion, and all those from the said classes who failed to witness this unusual contest, should have cause for much regret. Beyond question the grinning was accordant with the best accepted house-haunting standards. Karloff, look to your laurels!

Already there's been a good deal of banter that's developed into high tempered dispute and vehement discussion over the relative assets and deficiencies of this year's Frosh quint as compared with Coach Hurst's 1936 all-conquering power machine. There apparently has been no dearth of material in the last two days and consequently there's been plenty of space for debate. We refuse to do any vigorous pro or con campaigning on the ground of prejudice, but we contend, until proven otherwise, that there is no present-day Frosh who can match the many and varied abilities of one Bob Kemp, and let us add, we doubt very much if it will be proven otherwise.

We had previously anticipated that Coach Hedgcock would turn on the steam during the holidays in order to bring his basketballers to the peak for their winter term debut away from home this week-end, but the skipper went us one better and put his product on the market before the holidays began. Not a finished product—not yet—but one so vastly improved that even "Hedge" smiled after the Olive whipped St. Norbert's. And when "Hedge" smiles, and ventures a favorable comment, well—you supply the conclusion.

Snatches and patches from here, there and everywhere: A note of crowd into fits of laughter. Nice work boys; we would like to see more of you. Summary:

favor in St. Norbert's defeat of Tech on the Houghton floor, especially after the result the following night. Scores are usually valueless, but the chances of a twin victory over ye whiskered foe look bright. The Engineers have never beaten a Hedgcock five on the local floor. The Sherman lads play a nine game basket sked, and three before the holidays, but the copper country is a rich fan's paradise and the Huskies' hockey schedule reflects it. An interested spectator at the Northern-St. Norbert's match was C. C. Watson, who apparently just can't get enough basketball into his system, Paradox—and for future reference, we note Virginia Junior 33, Ironwood Junior 30. And the most annihilated team of the week was Adrian which had 128 points scored upon it, in two successive nights, while only managing to garner 19 itself. The candle is burning brilliantly at both ends and there's nitro-glycerin, T. N. T., and what not in the center. The explosion takes place in the N. S. T. C. gymnasium on January 27, when the Marquette civil war between Pierce and Baraga is renewed.

FIFTEEN GAME SKED FINALLY IS COMPLETED

The men of Northern have returned from the annual Christmas sojourn to their respective firesides and the local court again resounds with the thump and swish of basketballs.

Two scalps, those of Alumni and St. Norbert's, were seized last term and the squad is looking forward to a tough schedule. When bigger and better ball teams are made, Northern will play 'em. To prove this adage, Coach C. B. Hedgcock has completed the following schedule:

Friday, Jan. 8—Northland, there.
Saturday, Jan. 9—Ironwood, there.
Friday, Jan. 15—Northland, here.
Friday, Jan. 22—M. C. M. and Frosh, here.
Saturday, Jan. 23—St. Norbert's, there.
Friday, Jan. 29—Central Frosh vs. Marquette, here.
Friday, Feb. 5—M. C. M. and Frosh, there.
Friday, Feb. 12—Ironwood, here.
Monday, Feb. 15—Central, there.
Wednesday, Feb. 17—Wayne, there.
Thursday, Feb. 18—Ypsi, there.
Friday, Feb. 26—Jordan, here.
Saturday, Mar. 6—Jordan, there.
The customary big week downstate is the season's highlight for the team but the home fans sit twiddling their thumbs and awaiting the return of the squad from Ashland and Ironwood so that they may witness action once more.

YE EDITOR TAKES A NEEDED REST

Here is what happens when our editor gets very little mail:

A special from Marquette in one of our callies informs this morning, "Northern State Teachers College has closed for the Christmas holidays." What joys, jobs, delights and anxieties this matter-of-fact sentence contains—if you're not already bored to death. Bow-legged mailmen bring loads of Christmas cards but a card from N. S. T. C. packs the biggest kick. Christmas cards are everywhere, but if this card has it, whew!

Do you sort of take winter for granted? Her frosty, starry nights, jet blue sky and twinkling lights, make those vaporous puffs of breath come just a little faster. Miles from town, hiking, I saw a perfect young pine as colorful as a girl in summer dress, a contrast to the blaze of color that greets the Christmas shopper. The quiet of outdoors in winter, the shimmering tree by a crackling fire, the holiday throngs, and last but not least that Yuletide trek to church are all undeniable refreshments in the grind of "getting" educated." But enough of Christmas reminiscences.

Ever play checkers and wonder about that next move? That is easier than pondering what to print and what not, what to say to elect contributors into foregoing their reluctance. Last week's mail made me curious about a certain M. J., but to print it would encroach on See and Saw territory. Another asked whether he was protected by the MMJ junior police patrol or if they were just pledges. Did they cop your fancy? (Huntonian answer.)

Perhaps preparing for last minute term finals plus class assignments made contributions on that subject nil; that was for lack of time and not of ideas. At any rate, thank you for the gems of 1936 and may 1937 bring more and better ones. The girls of leaping 1936, luckily, were no different from those of other years. Shall we males don army pants, smoke pipes, and drink sweet nothings out the blue here?

Resolving that though Northern may be in the backwoods she needn't

See and Saw

We can't decide whether we should disillusion our fellow Northers and tell 'em there isn't any Santa Claus or not. But we know 'cause we set up and waited for him . . . and he did come? . . . well, we didn't notice him if he did . . . and we think there isn't any.

And now we're so full of turkey, candy, and Xmas spirit (no final "s" on the last word either) that we just haven't the heart to tell of our fellow students' misdeeds. We've even made New Year's resolutions . . .

We resolve:

(a) To convince all sceptics that we do not employ stoges . . . when better dirt is dug, we'll dig it . . .

(b) To never look on the second page of this paper for fear we'll see HARVEY HOUSE.

(c) To never print anything about anyone that might hurt his feelings.

(d) To acquire some naive air.

(e) To forget that we know the answers.

(f) To stay in Saturday nights and do our homework.

(g) To inform any new students that we're really sheep in wolves' clothing.

(h) To keep FORD HASKINS away from big black cigars.

(i) To find out if the TRI MU'S cards is this term.

(j) To ask WILBUR SCHENK if his Xmas eve was as gay as it started out to be?

(k) To admire MARY LOU MORSE'S St. Norbert Romeo . . .

(l) To keep our fingers crossed . . . MARY and STEVE are back together again.

(m) To remind RAY PEARCE that the girl he takes to a dance is probably more bored than he is . . .

. . . and in spite of any opposing resolutions you'd still better behave! SEE AND SAW.

be backward, the staff of 1937 swings into action. Certainly hope I'll not have rival columns running away from me like the unfortunate Firar Simms who found himself crashing through the Spanish night on the back of Baludo instead of Lopez Sanchez's donkey.

DR. LINK OFFERS PERSONALITY TEST

All college students know what their I. Q. is, and in a few years students, no doubt, will take tests to find out their P. Q. or personality quotient. Henry Link, Ph. D., director of the Psychological Services Center, New York City, has made up a personality test. After four years he and his associates have developed an objective test of 200 items.

Personality was once regarded as an "undefinable something." Personality really means the extent we are able to interest and influence others. In business and in social relationships a good mind and character is handicapped unless coupled with an effective personality. Dr. Link believes personality can be developed principally by acquiring new skills.

Certain interesting facts on personality were found by Dr. Link who has tested 2000 high school students. Children who had to work for their spending money ranked higher than those who received allowances. Those who did many things they didn't like to do ranked higher than those who did what they wanted, when and how they pleased. The test also showed that the children who took part in competitive games had a higher P. Q. than those who play casually.

Children with a low P. Q. are often tired and don't feel like doing anything. They interrupt conversations, and criticize others. They are usually the children for whom much has been done.

Recently psychologists have given tests to 100,000 people on intelligence tests and intelligence tests of these people showed that there was no relationship between the amount of general intelligence and personality. Dr. Link found similar results. With the years personalities of some people improve, but the personalities of those who acquired more book-knowledge usually deteriorated. Truly this is an educational problem and individual happiness is dependent on the solution.

SANTA VISITED PHI KAPPA NU'S AT ANNUAL PARTY

Members of Phi Kappa Nu sorority, of the Northern State Teachers college, assembled in the recreation room, Saturday evening, for the annual Christmas dinner and party.

The packages in gay wrappers were piled on the mantel of the fireplace with its decorations of lighted candles, above which was suspended the sorority insignia.

The tables, arranged to form a T, were bright with Christmas colors. Large single poinsettias laid flat on the tables, alternated at intervals the length of the board, with small branches of evergreen and green candles in crystal holders. Places at the tables were designated by holly-berried red cards, each with its tiny bit of evergreen.

THETAS SPONSOR CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Theta Omicron Rho fraternity held its annual informal Christmas dance December 16, from 9:00 to 1:00 o'clock. The house was decorated with attractive colored lights and boughs of pine.

During the evening punch and wafers were served from the "bar" in the chapter room. As a climax, Dominic Leonardelli as Santa Claus, assisted by the very able Douglas Edwards, presented each Theta and his guest with a gift.

FACULTY FACTS

Many of the faculty members decided in favor of celebrating the Christmas holidays in Marquette this year. Several, however, spent their vacations with friends and relatives.

Mademoiselle Archambeault spent her holidays with relatives in Joliet, Illinois. Miss Ethel Griswold visited at Cedar Springs, Iowa; Miss Lucille Payne, Bridgton, Indiana; Miss Flora Loubert, Duluth, Minn.; Miss M. Ayres, Kalamazoo; Miss Josephine Long, Fowler, Michigan; Miss Olive Soles, Kent City; Miss Rarick, Hays, Kansas; Miss Helen Bosard, West LaFayette, Ind.; Miss Emily Hunting, Kresno, Iowa; Miss Ethel Carey, Saginaw, Michigan; Miss Grace Spalding, Chicago; Miss Ruth Craig, Chicago and Traverse City.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee have left for a month's trip, during which they will visit friends in Iowa, Chicago and Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts spent their vacation in Chicago where they saw several new plays. Mr. and Mrs. Cleas visited relatives in Ohio. Mr. Wiggins took a trip downstate and while there went through the sanatorium at Battle Creek.
