THEATRE BEGINS THIRD YEAR HERE

Noted Actors Select "The First Mrs. Fraser" For Next Production

Beginning its third season, the Marquette Summer Theatre last week presented "Arms and the Man" by George Bernard Shaw, directed by Joe Callaway, in the Gravenet high school Louis G. Kaufman auditorium.

Founded three years ago as a non-profit organization by Joe A. Callaway, noted actor, the summer theatre has provided Marquette audiences with exceptionally fine stage entertainment. Its plays have been of the highest standard and the acting abilities of those taking part is unquestionably excellent.

Lovely stage settings have also been featured and this year a pit orchestra under the direction of Martin M. Johnston, music supervisor of the Marquette public schools, has been engaged to provide music before the play and to entertain between the acts.

Appearing with the company this year are:

William Thornton, star of stage, radio and television. He is the youngest player to have appeared successfully in roles of Shakespeare's great characters.

Eleanor Naylor Caughron, who has made frequent appearances over the National Broadcasting System during the past season.

William Cope, who has also been active in radio work.

Arthur Davison, who has been appearing in a New York engagement.

Jackson Woolley, Globe theatre player.

Maxine McCormick, who has been seen recently in New York in several revivals.

Thursday and Friday of this week the players will present "The First Mrs. Fraser", which will feature Ellis Baker.

FACULTY GIVES TEA FOR PUPILS

Last Wednesday, July 5, the Northern faculty gave a tea for the students between the hours of 3:00 p. m. and 5:30 p. m.

Tea, coffee, and cookies were served, and from all reports every one attending had a most enjoyable time renewing acquaintances and chatting with their fellow classmates.

The table was decorated in the traditional green and gold, and the Northern school colors, and the cookies were most attractive, being cut in the forms of "N" and "S". Miss Ethel Carley, dean of women, received the guests.

The college will sponsor another tea for the students on Thursday, July 20, in the recreation rooms.

JEROLD FREDERIC, YOUNG PIANIST, OPENS SCHEDULE

Thrills Audience With Brilliant Technique And Contrasts

The first of a series of summer afternoon programs was held Wednesday, July 5th, presenting Jerold Frederic, famed American pianist.

The recital was characterized by the brilliant contrasts in his musical selections, musical tone and the brilliant technique put forth. Understanding on the program was his own composition "Incident", Beethoven's "Adagio" from Moonlight Sonata, and Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody, the latter bringing forth thunderous applause from the audience.

Following is the program in the order given:

- "Adagio" from Moonlight Sonata.....Beethoven
- Waltz in E Flat.....Chopin
- Nocturne in F Minor.....Chopin
- Polonaise in A Flat.....Paderewski
- "Incident".....Frederic
- Flight of the Bumble Bee.....Rimsky Korsakoff
- Chante de la Voyageur.....Paderewski
- Hungarian Rhapsody.....Liszt

This program marked the second appearance of Mr. Frederic on Northern's stage, and the listeners with unanimity expressed a desire for more outstanding programs of this type.

TWO-REEL FILM SHOWN STUDENTS

An interesting two reel film, "From Ore to Stoves", was shown to the students at 10:45 Wednesday, July 5th, in the auditorium.

The film depicted iron in its various aspects from its formation, mining, to its utilization in the manufacturing of stoves.

Two one reel films also were shown—"Beats of the Great Lakes", dealing with ore boats, the loading and unloading of ore, and the "Locks at Sault Ste. Marie", showing locks and the boats going through them.

These films were especially interesting to students from Upper Peninsula who have never seen the direct utilization of iron ore.

Students Under Direction Of Forest Roberts Give Program, July 26

The Dramatic Production class will present a number of one-act plays under the direction of Forest A. Roberts on Assembly Program on Wednesday, July 26.

As yet neither the plays nor the casts may be announced, but it is certain that, whatever the play chosen, they will be highly entertaining and representative of collegiate ability. The cast of the plays is customarily chosen from the members of the class, each member being given a chance to act in at least one play.

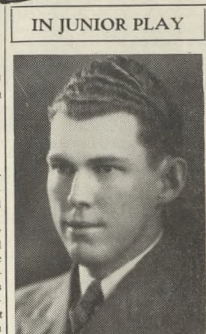

TEACHING STAFF SUPPLEMENTED

To Northern State's faculty there have been added several visiting teachers for the summer session. Mr. Lawrence DeGraaf, Professor of English at Hope College, and Mr. Allen Miserer, instructor at Michigan State Normal College, are both in the English department. Another guest English instructor is Mrs. Mary H. Wright, who is head of the English department at McKendree College, Lebanon, Illinois.

Mr. Clyde Kohn is filling a vacancy in the Geography department for the summer. Mr. Kohn received his A. B. degree from Northern State in 1935. He is now working on his doctor's degree at the University of Michigan.

Mr. Francis Robinson, an instructor at Central State Teachers College, is teaching history. Mr. Wilbur Pierpont, who taught here last summer, is in the Economics department.

Catherine Van Buren, Negro Soloist, Gelbert To Appear

Opening the summer lyceum course last Wednesday, Jerold Frederic presented a delightful program of piano music in the college auditorium, thrilling the large audience attending.

On Friday, July 14, at 9:50, the Coffer-Miller players will enact the hilarious three-act comedy "So To Bed", in which Samuel Pops, diarist and secretary to His Majesty's navy under the "Grand monarch" Charles II and his devoted but ever watchful wife, are recreated. The Coffer-Miller players, featuring Martha Miller and Jess Coffer, appeared in the college auditorium March 29, 1939 when they were enthusiastically received for their presentation of the three-act comedy "King's Dilemma." One of the outstanding things about their plays is that very little scenery is used. Instead, the play, the costumes, and the acting are stressed.

Without a doubt there are a great many students and townspeople who will be glad to hear that the college has engaged the negro soprano, Catherine Van Buren, for a concert on Monday, July 17, at 9:50. Miss Van Buren gave a recital here last October 17 and those attending were impressed with the natural loveliness of her voice, which was used in convincing genuineness of deep interpretive insight. Petite and graceful in manner, Miss Van Buren has a rich melodic voice of exquisite beauty and rare tonal purity.

Northern's Dramatic Production class, under the direction of Forest A. Roberts, will present a number of one-act plays at the assembly on Wednesday, July 26, at 9:50.

Concluding the lyceum schedule will be a lecture by Dr. John Gelbert, noted German-American author, foreign news correspondent, war pilot, physician and lecturer, on Wednesday, August 2, at 9:50.

PROFS SPONSOR ANNUAL SOCIAL

Faculty Reception Held In Gymnasium On Registration Day

On Monday, June 26, the faculty sponsored its annual Faculty Reception in the College gymnasium under the supervision of the Faculty Social Committee.

Having an original turn of mind, the faculty transformed the girls' lobby to the gym and the north end of the gym into a reception room, by an effective use of picket fences, flowers and furniture. The south end of the gym was used for dancing, music being provided by the Collegians.

The receiving line consisted of President and Mrs. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. Dorr of the graduate school, Miss McCarter, Mr. H. Lee, and Mr. Clyde Kohn.

It was unfortunate that a greater number of students didn't appear to take advantage of the opportunity to really meet and converse with our excellent faculty. With the faculty men assisting, lunch of ice-cream and wafers was served.

THE NORTHERN COLLEGE NEWS

EDITORIALS

Advantages of Northern

ONCE again Northern has a large enrollment for its summer session. It seems that more and more students are when drawing up their plans for attending some school during the summer, considering the many advantages that Northern provides.

Without a doubt, the average temperature for the summer months for Marquette is below that of any other city in Michigan where there is a teacher training institution. This was well demonstrated during the last week when the lower peninsula practically baked, while up here it was cool most of the time, only one or two days being what one could call hot.

Also, Marquette is the recreational center of the upper peninsula and hence the student has easy access to facilities for swimming, golfing, tennis, shuffleboard, boating, fishing, hiking, sight-seeing and camping.

During six weeks of the summer, the Marquette Summer Theatre presents dramatic productions of an exceptionally high standard. There are not many cities in Michigan or, in fact, in the United States where such excellent theatrical work is being done. This entertainment is available to the students at a very low cost, so that anyone desiring this type of education will be able to do so.

Then too, the college provides a fine lyceum schedule during the term, and an all-school social program is arranged by the college social committee.

Marquette maintains a city band that offers concerts on Sunday afternoons and Wednesday evenings.

In an educational way, Northern offers in addition to the regular college work, a graduate school course conducted by the University of Michigan for which residence credit is available.

About sixty students have enrolled in the graduate school, and are thus taking advantage of the opportunity to continue their work without having to leave the upper peninsula.

Throughout the summer term the John D. Pierce school grades from the kindergarten through the eighth are in session, providing a chance for taking practice teaching.

Thus we feel that Northern State is an ideal school to attend for a summer session.

Home Administration House

FIVE Northern State women students, under the guidance of their adviser, Miss Adah Hess, of the Home Economics department, are conducting a home administration House during the summer term.

Training is given in managing a home, cooking, housekeeping, and entertaining. Sometime during the six weeks the girls will entertain guests for formal dinner, and at a low-cost meal. Opportunity is given the girls of learning costs and prices, keeping track of expenses, and to receive practice in marketing, cooking, serving meals and cleaning the house.

Not only is training of this sort, which is required by the Smith-Hughes law, highly educational, but is of great practical value. It definitely prepares the girls for their life work and thus will enable them to be a much happier and more efficient homemaker.

Worldliness

Somewhere from the pages of worth comes an old quotation: "And God stepped out on space And he looked around and said, 'I am lonely—' 'I'll make me a world.'"

And into the world he put "that great number of things" of which childhood poet was sure would "make us all as happy as kings." But God was lonely still—and so he created man—and then sat back relaxed.

"God was in his heaven, all was right with the world." Yet, the rightness was but an illusion. Men have never learned to live in harmony with each other, respecting the inherent right of the other man's soul to be free. We have infringed on man's right to self-development by imposing on him the use of an artificial, stereotyped, standard of living. We mark a man for what he HAS, not for what he IS. Few of us will believe that success lies not so much in the achievement as in the aspiration.

We have placed ourselves upon a pedestal shouting our worth, our ideas, our pride.

We look for culture as though it might be bought over a counter—to be taken at will. We have put a price upon it. We have exploited the world's goods as though culture, as though success, as though happiness itself were but to be sought as ends in themselves.

God's creation set up was an idealistic one for man's beginning. Had man sought happiness or culture according to his ability to use them in the business of living better and helping others live, there would have been no need for false standards by which to achieve them. They would have come naturally. Man would have used his neighbor as a friend, not as a stepping stone. Man would have used the world's goods not to achieve the properties of materialism, but to develop the spiritual qualities which make man feel more comfortable in his own presence. And so—all of these

FACULTY FACTS

News and views of our faculty seems rather pertinent at present when vacationing professors return and other new professors take us in hand.

Mr. DeGraaf of the English department feels the only difference between summer term students and regular students is that when you say "Good morning" to the regular student, he will answer. A summer student puts it in his notebook. (Now, Mr. DeGraaf!)

Mr. Miserez, also of the English department, said, "Marquette is like home. The students here are brighter nor duller than usual—but, oh, I shall sift them!" (He will, too!)

Mrs. Wright of McKendree College, Illinois, is head of the English department for the summer. Work, climate and sight-seeing are making the business of living thrive for her. (Boundless possibilities, we'd say.)

Mr. Pierpont of Ann Arbor is spending a second summer in the Sociology department. Mr. Pierpont contends that he'd rather be rained to death in the Upper Peninsula than baked to death in the Lower Peninsula. (That's sense, we'd say.)

Mr. Robinson, of the History department, critic teacher of History at Mr. Pleasant High School, is enjoying the "beautiful land of Hiawatha." "Great town," he said. (And—he means it.)

Mr. Kohn, of the Geography department, is well known by many of us. Said Mr. Kohn, "To be back at Northern reminds me of the return of the prodigal son to a well remembered household." (We like that, Mr. Kohn.) He refused to speculate on the weather—certain that even a geographer can do little but talk about it.

Miss Marlan F. Adams, summer librarian come from Allenton, is here in the U. P. for the first time. She is a firm believer in that "Life begins in the Upper Peninsula". Miss Adams commented on the "good library facilities". (We agree.)

Dr. C. Clucas is back for the Summer term after a Spring term vacation. Dr. Clucas spent eight weeks at Columbia University and the Teachers College attending lectures. He was fortunate to hear Thorndyke on Psychology, Muzey on History, Mort on Education, Randall in Philosophy.

Another interesting phase of Dr. Clucas' vacation was his visit to the New York World's Fair. A bit of good news is that a 75-cent admission ticket takes one in—and—as most of the worth while things are free—it is an excellent opportunity to see a lot for a little. General Motors, Ford, and Glass Inc. had interesting displays. State and foreign displays were also outstanding.

That "something about a uniform" may have inspired Dr. Clucas as he viewed the fleet in New York. And, although Casey was not behind the bat, he attended a big league game. And, like all true Northern people—he was "Glad to get back."

things which were to make us all as happy as Kings have but made us lonely seekers in a shaken world. If we could but see the desirability of living always for self-development in the pursuit of spiritual happiness, man could live with himself with never a twinge of conscience about God's illusion or his own security.

ALUMNI NOTES

June wedding bells indicate the consistent friendship of Cupid and Northern's alumni:

Miss Helen Ann Cayen (L. 1934) was married this June to John E. Olson of Chicago. Miss Cayen had been in charge of the Sight Saving program in the Escanaba system.

Miss Laina Thompson (A. B. 1936) was married to Otto W. Kolhonen of Houghton. Miss Thompson taught in Central Lake.

Miss Margaret Koepf (A. B. 1923) was married to Reginald Cain of Iron Mountain. Miss Koepf was an instructor in the Froebel school.

Honor vies with Cupid: Wallace J. Finch (A. B. 1934) resigned as educational director at the Michigan School for Deaf. He will become principal of the Alexander Graham Bell School for Deaf in Cleveland this fall.

Robert A. Jefferson (A. B. 1935) will accept a position as principal at Reed City high school this fall.

Miss Sarah Ludden (A. B. 1927) head of the Tuscola County Normal School at Caro, Michigan, was awarded an honorary degree of Master of Education this June at Michigan State Normal College for outstanding work in rural education.

Soli, Northey, LaCasse, Wehmann Receive Coaching Jobs

Another year has come to a close in the world of sports at Northern, and we take you over a review of Northern's graduating lettermen. In the year of 1935-'36 we find the following "Wildcats" starting out "to do or die" for Northern:

James Soli, who captained the track and basketball teams during his senior year, and earned numerals in football, basketball, and track as a freshman. Then fate took a hand in the football career of Jim and he was forced to stay out of that competition during his sophomore year. From here on Jim was forced to favor his injured knee, and during his senior year the knee was injured again, preventing Jim from qualifying for an award in football. However, Soli showed the true courage of his Viking ancestry and during his four years at Northern he earned three varsity awards in track, three in basketball, and one in football.

Wayne "Stretch" Aho, the lanky basketball player who proved to be one of Coach Hedgecock's mainstays on the basketball court. Stretch's great burst of scoring against the House of David will be remembered for a long time by the fans who attended the game. Aho earned his numerals in basketball and track, and three varsity awards in basketball.

Fred Bernhardt, 165 lbs. of fighting football ability. One of the best football centers at Northern since the days of Allen Ronberg. The graduation of Fred leaves a big hole to fill in the center of Northern's line. Bernhardt completed his collegiate career with numerals and three varsity awards in football.

Glenn Hunter—a mainstay at guard position in the Northern line for four years. Hunter's toughness was proved in no small manner as he performed at left guard. But Glenn is just one of those boys that can't be cracked. Hunter proved versatile, being a member of the track and basketball squads for four years. Besides a wife, Hunter has earned numerals in football and basketball and three varsity awards in football.

Elmer "Lash" LaCasse. "Small but mighty", is an expression that must have been coined to fit "Lash". LaCasse spent four years on the track squad, won his numerals in football and basketball and went on to win three varsity football awards at end, and a varsity award in basketball in his junior year. "Lash's" big moments came in a basketball game against Michigan Normal; just ask "Lash" about it.

Robert Northey had his ups and downs in his athletic career. But Bob is a scholar as well as an athlete, and an "A" in a course pleases him as much as an "N" in football. But don't get me wrong, Northey is an athlete of no mean ability and during his freshman and sophomore years proved to be the fastest track man in school. Northey was awarded letters in basketball for four years; in football during his sophomore and senior years, and in track as a freshman and sophomore.

George Trebilcock, who failed to go out for sports during his freshman year, despite the fact that he had starred as a High School basketball player. Trebilcock was induced to go out for basketball during his sophomore year. However, "Marge" failed to win an award until his senior year.

Roy Wehmann, a footballer DeLuxe devoting all of his athletic interests to football. Roy played

Yours truly has started out his initial column, and incidentally stepping into this column means stepping into the "shoes" of former sports editor Bob Maigetter, who has a shoe size all of his own when it comes to "slinging" printers' ink. So if any of the summer sports followers of Northern have any "coot-n" to donate to help fill the shoes left by "la Maig" it will be greatly appreciated.

Apparently the only Northern athlete who has no let-up is Pug Vetori, who has burnt up the track to get in shape for his two fist-cutting affairs which were to take place on the 4th. Incidentally, "Vet" was supposed to fight in both Ishpeming and Manistique.

While still on the topic of leather pushing we might remind you of Joe Louie's recent technical K.O. of Tony Galento. Think of it—$114,237.87 for a little jabbing. A little tip to the boys at the Tri Mu house: why not capitalize on your jabbing. Just goes to show that a good jabber is better than a hooker.

Well it had to happen. The highly touted Owls, A. C. leaders of the continental league, were defeated by the Tri Mu Ramblers by a score of 6 to 2. Incidentally, this not only marked their first defeat of the year, but it was the first time they had been scored on. It's a good lesson, Owls; never hall with your chin.

Since Northern's leads are filled with "has-beens" in both faculty and student body, don't you think it would be a good idea to get together and organize a little softball team, and meet the Tri Mu's? How about it, Mr. Crane, or has public speaking 201 taken up all of your time?

By the way, Mr. Crane, is the object of taking the course a means of giving your Soo gridders a little more heck next fall? Evidently they haven't quite made out what you have been trying to get across this past judging from previous records. Understand, Mr. Crane, this is just in fun; your humble columnist is not trying to throw any mud.

Incidentally, I had the opportunity to meet two promising Northern varsity gridders in next fall's campaign. Met Frank Hartman, who is still vacationing and hasn't got down to the serious subject of work. And Walter Berge, who has a job with the highway department.

Getting back into the sport in season we find the New York Yankees way out in front again. It looks like the Yankees to repeat in the American league. But taking a peek into the National League, it's still anyone's pennant. But remember to keep your eyes on the Cubs.

Took a jaunt over to the pool the other day to see "Jack" Spigarelli in action. "Jack" claims he is really mastering the art of swimming and life-saving, but speaking confidentially, if you want to commit suicide just jump in and yell for help when he is around.

Here goes for a little lead at the "Grease Monkeys" up at Tech. We are just issuing a little warning—be guard and during his senior year received a serious ankle injury. Wehmann won awards for four years in football under the banner of the Olive and Gold.

Just a little reply to the "brilliant" Tech writer who mentioned the fact that we had better get a "new roll", referring, of course, to our paper. Well, judging from your reason—that the "Load" was getting heavy and was hard to hold back, we would say that your "Load" must be getting heavy because it is very evident that you are full of "Load."

VARIED SPORTS SKED OFFERED THIS SUMMER

This summer the college offers a varied sports program which includes tennis, badminton, and swimming.

There are two regular swimming classes which include a class for girls under the supervision of Coach Hedgecock, which is held at 10:50. And the class for boys which is held at 3:45 under the supervision of Coach Hurst. Classes are held at the pool at Presque Isle when weather permits. However, instruction is carried on in the gymnasium if inclement weather necessitates it. Two text books are being used: "Red Cross Life-Saving" and "Life-Saving and Water Safety."

At 2:50 every afternoon the gym is the setting of an action packed game of badminton. Coach Hurst has ten enrolled in the course and invites students who haven't seen the game played before or who want to see plenty of fast action to drop in to the gym at 2:50.

Tennis completes the list on the sports program. There are two classes in tennis, one at 9:50 and the other at 3:45. The tennis classes afford those who haven't had a chance to learn and also those who want to perfect their game, to do so.

In order to get into these classes a student must have signed up for the course on registration day.

Hurst Attends Red Cross Aquatic School

During the ten day recess period between the end of the Spring term and Summer term Coach Hurst attended the aquatic school for a ten day session at Hastings, Michigan.

These schools are held all over the country each summer for the purpose of qualifying lay instructors in swimming and life-saving.

Hurst holds an examiner's certificate, and has the authority to examine and pass any individual in both Senior and Junior life-saving courses. Coach Hurst is also the chairman of this chapter of the Aquatic School of Examiners.
