

THE WEEKLY AGITATOR.

ISHPEMING, MICHIGAN, DEC. 13.

Monday's snowing. Tuesday it's snowing. Wednesday it's raining. Thursday it's snowing.

We often wondered whether or not it was cruelty to animals, within the meaning of the statutes of the state, to force a dry horse to stand in the street for hours at a time on a snowing and blowing and freezing day, without a stitch of covering, while its owner is playing his piano and tossing his chips beside some soton-keeper's stove.

A sharp ice being sunk on the Lake Superior company's property, just a few feet north of Superior street, about midway between Main and First streets.

The diamond drill working on the Lake Superior company's property near the M., H. & O. depot has already reached a depth of about 500 feet. This is about the most rapid work that has yet been done by a drill in this section.

Pr No. 8 of the Saginaw mine (located about half way between the New Hart and Lovellian mines) is now the scene of considerable stir. The workings are under the eye of Capt. Jno. Pringle, an old and experienced miner.

At the meeting of the school board on Monday of this week, Richard Welsh, aged 55.

"Old Dick" was one of our characters. He came to this place from Newfoundland six or seven years ago, and since his residence here has, until lately, supported himself by doing odd jobs of all kinds for our merchants and others.

At different times he has been in partnership with Miss Williams in the washing business, and with lady Josephine in the scrubbing and calcimining business, and with Parker and others in the fish business; he has been janitor of the city council room, and has done considerable in the M. D. line.

A thrashing as severe as it was unpropitious, which he received from a Choctaw Dutchman about a year ago, destroyed what remained of the old man's health, and about a month ago he was obliged to give up entirely all manner of work, and as a consequence went to the poor house, where he died as above stated.

The officers of the county should inquire particularly into the case of the old man's death, and if it proves to be the result of the thrashing he received, as we honestly think it was, that Dutchman ought to be made to answer for it. In early life Dick was a sailor, and at one time captain of a schooner and owner of her entire cargo.

In a gale the ship went down, and with her cargo and the captain's wife and only child, since which event the old man has wandered from place to place, finding few friends, no rest, no peace. We trust, however, that the last place he wandered to he found many friends, complete rest, complete peace.

L'ANSE. Nary a dissipated young man in town. Our streets are continually thronged with freight teams.

P. Ruppe, of Hancock, said his store here a short visit this week. Maine has fifteen million drunkards. Alfred is authority.

The Ontonagon overland stage company made their first trip Monday. Sam Lloyd is the proprietor.

Prof. W. H. Chase called a meeting at the school house Tuesday evening for the purpose of starting a singing school. He succeeded in getting forty-two students. Meetings will be held twice a week, Wednesday and Fridays.

J. Q. McKernan, Esq., has been authorized to purchase a lot of new books for the township library, which are ordered and will be here for the holidays.

The men employed constructing the Sturgeon river bridge came to town Monday. They inform us that the bridge is completed, and all work suspended on the road, for the season.

On Saturday last two Finlanders engaged in the fish business, left their homes at Portage entry with the intention of hoisting their nets. Not returning the same evening or the following day, and a strong wind arising from the northwest shortly after their departure, their friends became anxious as to their safety and search was commenced Sunday, but nothing could be learned of the missing ones up to Monday morning, when an Indian at the Catholic mission spied a Mackinac boat, floating carelessly on "lay, about a mile from the shore, and on going to it found the dead bodies of the unfortunate fishermen. The boat was half full of water, and lacked one-half mile from the frozen corpse. It is supposed they were caught in a squall, when the boat capsized, and knowing they had met their fate, had lashed themselves to the sides of the boat, thinking that their relatives would find their bodies, as they certainly did.

The fourteenth regular meeting of the L'Anse Literary and Debating club took place at the primary school house Monday evening. The question discussed was "Resolved, that war is more injurious to man than intemperance." Mr. Seifer, leader on the affirmative, and Mr. Bray on the negative, with Capt. John Thomas as judge. The facts and arguments introduced by the speakers on the affirmative were very interesting, and proved that the boys labored hard to look up history, while the sympathetic appeals of Mr. Bray and his assistants on the negative were unusually interesting, and had the desired effect on the mind of the judge, who gave a decision in their favor.

A debtor of renown stood up on August's bar: There was lack of time, thinking, there was silent thoughts of war. But hisorators stood around him as he poured beer away. And bent with playing glasses to hear what he might say. The bold debater faltered, as he took his colleague's hand. And he said: "I never loved another question: if I do then I'll be a—d!"

At the meeting of the common council of the village of L'Anse, held in the fire engine house, Dec. 4th, 1879, at 7:30 o'clock p. m. there were present J. Q. McKernan, president, Robert Trotter, Thos. Dechane, Martin Veitch and August Menge, trustees. The meeting was called to order by the president. Moved and carried that A. Menge act as recorder pro tem. The minutes of the previous meeting were then read and approved, after which the following bills were presented and allowed:

Clapp & Jones, rubber for hose.....$5.20 Martin Veitch, for wood.....1.50 M. Giffen, for arena.....1.00 Jas. Jones, board of prisoners.....2.00 T. W. H. Hendrick, justice fees.....1.00 Jacob Hoelstrom, ton.....1.00

Moved and carried that the amount of bond to be given by liquor dealers be fixed at $2,000. The bond of Martin Messner, principal, Michael Giffen and Chas. Blankenhorn, sureties, of two thousand dollars, as dealer in spirits and fermented liquors, was approved. Moved and carried that J. Q. McKernan be appointed to confer with the marshal, sheriff and justice of the peace for board of prisoners and arresting drunken Indians. Moved and seconded that the bond of the marshal be deemed sufficient for the present. The office of recorder being declared vacant, Patrick Brennan was elected to fill vacancy. There being no other business a motion to adjourn was carried.

NEGATIVE. The skating rink opens to-night. Drop in and give the boys a benefit. Did you ask Sena? We did!—He says he thinks he can get A. to send for a "singer." Try him Andrew.

The new saloon opened by Thomas McKenna on Thanksgiving day, is one of the neatest in the city.

Work on the new depot is being pushed in good, old-fashioned style, about thirty or forty men being employed upon it. A number of workmen arrived from the railroad shops at Marquette Monday to put a sheet iron covering over the roof, which they are now engaged in doing. When finished it will be the largest and handsomest depot in Upper Michigan.

Flyan & Bennett, the plucky young proprietors of the skating rink, have everything in readiness for a grand opening, which is to take place this evening. The boys have had a sensible thing in offering for sale weekly and monthly tickets as well as season tickets, and we are of the opinion that they are taking hold in the proper way to get their money back on the enterprise. St. Patrick's cornet band will be in attendance at the rink this evening to discourse sweet music, and a good time is assured. Don't fail to attend.

MICHIGANNE. Get your skates in readiness. It is rumored that cheap-bank, of Ishpeeming, is to open soon in Nick Simon's building.

The Rev. Mr. Bray, the Methodist minister of Marquette, held services in Odd Fellow's hall last Sunday evening, and presided to a large congregation.

N. McLeod, of Negaunee, stayed in town over Monday. Norman is a welcome visitor.

That long looked for barber has come at last, and has opened a shop in Matt. Krier's building.

William B. Wallace, has been appointed deputy town clerk, in place of S. Kinney, who will shortly remove from here.

Joe Stone, of the firm of Woodard & Stone, Watertown, Wis., was in town Tuesday, stocking the candy dealers for the holidays.

An immense amount of freight is being daily received at our depot, all of which goes to show that business is brisk at Michigan.

Dressmakers are so busy and orders are coming in so fast, that they have scarcely room enough to hold them all. This is a sad state of affairs, indeed.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. Five drops cover a square as large as the hand. One dose cures common colds. The bottle has cured head-aches. Fifty cents' worth has cured an old-standing cough. It positively cures catarrhs, asthma and emphysema. Fifty cents' worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity loosens back of 8 years' standing. It cures swollen neck and other tumors, rheumatism, neuralgia, contraction of the muscles, stiff joints, neuralgic dyspepsia, and pain and soreness in any part, no matter where it may be, one from what part it may arise, it always does you good. 25 cents' worth has cured bad sides of chronic and bloody dysentery. One teaspoonful cures colic in 15 minutes. It will cure any case of piles that is possible to cure. 6 or 8 applications are warranted to cure any case of excoriated nipples or infantile breast. For tumors, if applied often and bound up there is never the slightest discoloration of the skin. It stops the pain of a burn as soon as applied, and is a positive cure for chilblains, frost-bite, bed-sores, corns, and wounds of every description on any part or member. Price, 25 cents and $1.00. THE WEEKLY AGITATOR.

CITY AND COUNTY.

Taps in good skating rink weather.

The picture lottery man has sought warmer climes.

The Willam concert troupe are working this night.

Thursday night the mercury fell to 8 degrees below zero.

The November term of circuit court adjourned Saturday last.

The minutes of the D. T. A. will be found in another column.

The first case of "frozen death" has occurred. Read our L'Cause correspondence.

Those wishing New Year's cards can order from a fine list of samples now in this office.

The Chicago novelty store is running branches at Champlin, Michigamme and Republic.

Our hardware men, and clothing dealers, have now begun their year-long praying for cold weather.

The Nelson house was opened on a small scale Tuesday, and now accommodates eight or ten regular boarders.

MACALISTER, the wharrior, departed for the copper country Monday, his pockets being well filled with Ishpingmee liquor.

STEELE & CURTIS are now manufacturing a new brand of cigars, called "The Pride of Ishpingmee," and which, as a cigar, deserves the name.

A. LIDBERG, the photographer artist on First street, is making copies of a large number of communications, and doing it in good style at that.

MR. W. H. ROOD, we are sorry to inform our readers, has not yet recovered sufficiently to attend to his duties, but it is hoped he soon will.

SINCE the closing of the Little Barnum, the other hotels have been overcrowding with travelers, and considerable difficulty is experienced in finding a place for all.

For something extra in the way of invitations, ball programmes, wedding stationery, etc., just drop into the Astoria office. We have something to show you.

Ten thousand dollars in gold will be paid out by the mines in this neighborhood next pay day.

The "cash" is now in the vault of D. F. Wadsworth & Co.'s bank.

We learn that Mr. Milhon is to take charge of the Nelson house and mill building. If this be true it will be properly conducted. Mr. Milhon thoroughly understands such business.

What say, Joseph, are you married? They do say! how the happy event occurred at Green Bay on Thursday evening, but we haven't seen any of the wedding cards yet, nor any of the cigars, either.

CHILD'S Art Gallery is fast nearing completion. The front windows are in, the carpenter work about finished, and everything will be in readiness for the taking of photographs.

Still our circulation grows steadily larger, good words continue to cheer us on our way, and before 1880 has faded away we expect to be able to boast a large circulation as any paper on the Upper peninsula.

PEDESTALISM has been a very different thing during the week, as the sidewalks are covered with ice, occasioned by the rain of Monday evening. Several falls have occurred, but no broken bones are yet reported.

JOHNS FREDLIND has just received another invoice of the products of western and central Iowa, in the shape of Indian corn, wheat, grass seeds, etc. He also received a sample of the soil upon which they were grown.

DEEDS.—On Tuesday last, Wm. Quinlan, of the Cleveland mine, aged 45 years. The St. Patrick's society, of which he was deceased was a member, attended the funeral in a body on Thursday. He leaves a wife and six children in impetuous circumstances.

OS Wednesday last Mr. T. Norton was made happy by the receipt of a valuable horse, a present from his father, Wm. W. Norton, Wis. He may be said soon take his Christmas presents a couple weeks in advance as not, so long as they assume such a tangible form.

The business of J. Mallanby, Esq., has been increased to such an extent that he found it necessary to procure another delivery horse, which arrived here Wednesday last. The horse, which is a beauty, was purchased for him at Watertown, Wis. by Mr. Ames, of that place.

MR. Wm. TREMPER, who has been connected with the Lake Superior office for many years, has gone to the Menominee range district. He is one of the best miners in the country, and thoroughly understanding either hard or soft mining, and will be a valuable acquisition to any mining company with whom he may engage.

HOMES.—Ed. R. Hall and Gil Hodgkins, of the home of the afternoon, have purchased, in northwestern Illinois, 45 as the horses as ever brought to the Lake Superior country. The horses are of the best quality, and are now on exhibition for sale at Hodgkins' store.

THE two men, Dougherty and McGee, who were arrested for stealing a horse belonging to Myers, Wright & Co. some time since, were released from jail a few HEMATITE.

Jealousy, old man, jealousy.

Who ever saw a turkey shoot?

A prominent stockholder—the treasurer.

The AGITATOR is a later, not a vine, and is raised right here.

It is an opportunity to take Superior dog changes with the weather.

Where now are those managers turned over to the stockholders?

In Ishpingme. Merchandise is a bigger man than Gen. Grant.

Who ever heard of cruelty to a dog? The man must be going crazy.

There is no place like home—especially if you live with your mother-in-law.

The atmosphere is filled with broken shells, and the purr of the dog.

A butcher ought to write a very loving letter, as he knows all about tender loins.

We thought that my wife would result in just such a local. A pretty transparent deal.

Now are the dear girls laboring energetically manufacturing No. 4 Kippers No. 4 Kippers.

We have yet to hear of an instance where a hand was taken off by being caught in a respary ring.

The boarders now sit around the office stove and strive energetically to see who can tell the most lies.

That was a sad case of shooting in Chicago, but the fellow recovered about forty years ago.

A Kansas editor woke up one night and found two rattlesnakes in the bed. They probably were his.

Now is the time to repair Christmas stockings. If there is anything that Santa Claus does not like is a dirty pair of socks.

Now, ye editors, get slow, or you will feel the weight of the right arm of the nation, which we have never seen.

There is a light in the window for those brother. A boy says when he puts in a pane of glass, and it is a pretty hard way.

Chinese now wash a shirt without removing it from a man's back. This will do away with the washing machine.

Don't be bullied. We are the only paper in the county or the peninsula for the time being. We live in Ishpingme. Call and inquire on the clear quip.

The nonpareil is that the reason why the Upper Peninsula is so healthy is because we have so few fences upon which to plaster patent medicine advertisements.

A young man paraded the streets of this city, Thursday night, attired in feminine apparel. He was wearing a dress and a pair of shoes.

We could set up another matter for all the papers in the county or the peninsula for the time being. If we purchased in Chicago by the yard, and set up a party hand saw.

There is hollow sound in the old oil tin. For more coal than plenty of room. Advise your attorney to get a divorce.

"There's not an ounce of the boom." Stanley has just discovered a new tribe of giant porcupine and past leather boots. A new missionary work will be begun.

THE WEEKLY AGITATOR.

frances, and then there is trouble again. Miss Anderson does not find it necessary to use any aids. The natural buoyancy of youth and strict attention to business has made her perfect in the art of falling, without any of the adjuncts of the costume. Again in the matter of weeping, Miss Anderson holds over all of them. Many actresses in those emotional plays are compelled to wear an onion in their bosoms in order to bring even a scumble tear to those unaccustomed to weeping. The onion scheme has its advantages, but it is mighty tough on the stage lover, who is given a benefit other than his contracts calls for. And then another disadvantage is the constant liability of the onion to roll out upon the falls stage when the actress prose upon the floor, which would embarrass any but a most hardened actress, and cause the audience to look for a peck of potatoes or a mess of turnips to follow. But Miss Anderson does not need any onion to assist her to weep. By a simple touch of the wrist she can cause natural tears to flow from her beautiful eyes, most copiously, and sufficient for any ordinary emergency. It is said that Mary has never been in love, and knows nothing of that holy passion except what she has been told. If such is the case she has had the best teacher in the world, for her love-making is the most perfect ever seen upon any stage. If we have said enough to show that we consider Mary Anderson the best on the stage in our awkward way, then that is all right. That is what we started out to do.—Peck's Sun.

THEY PARTED FRIENDS.—An agent with a wall-map of four states to sell entered a Jefferson avenue clothing house the other day in search of a customer, and not a word was said until he had unrolled his map and spread it out over a counter piled up with clothing. Then he said: "A complete map of Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, and the price is only twelve shillings."

"Would you like to pay an overcoat?" asked the dealer as his eyes left the map to scan the man.

"I guess not, but I want to sell this map. It shows every county in the four states—every railroad—every river—every county-seat. No business house should be without one."

"I can sell you a pair of pants with two hind pockets for shust what you pay for a vest in New York with no strap on der back!" remarked the clothier as he began to handle the goods.

"This map shows even the smallest villages. Here where my finger rests is Detroit. Down this way you go to Columbus, and from thence to Cincinnati, where Deacon Richard Smith can always be found at 7 o'clock in the morning. Do you want to go Chicago? Then follow my finger and I will leave you in front of the Grand Pacific."

"Here is a second-hand coat with a grease spot on one tail dot I can sell you for three dollars, and I tell you nobody else puts prices down to der top notch like I does. You try him on."

"Do you have business in Indianapolis?" continued the agent. "Here is the route to take. Do you want to go Marquette next summer? Behold the direction and distance. I wouldn't be without one of these maps for a hundred dollar bill."

"And I wouldn't be without it coat with dis grease-spot on der tail for a two hoomed collar pill!"

"Don't you want a map?" "Don't you want a coat?" "What do I want of that coat when I have no use for it?"

"What do I want of dot map when I up stairs live here?" "But don't you want an idea of the state you live in? Which way is Grand Rapids from here?"

"Which way is der front door from here?" demanded the clothier as he drew himself up.

"Then I can't sell you this map?" "Then I can't sell you dot coat?" "Shake," said the map man as he started to go.

The clothier shook. The agent wanted one word more, standing with his hand on the latch he said: "When you find out the way to Cleveland please let me know."

"When you finds der way to Shickson let me know," was the answer, and they separated never to meet again.—Free Press.

IN THE COATS OF A SERPENT.—One of the most intrepid wild beast tapers in Europe, Karoly, a Magyar of colossal stature and extraordinary physical strength, has recently fallen a victim to a dread contingency of his perilous profession. He was in the city, and a crowded audience in Madrid the other day one of his most sensational feats, which consisted in allowing a huge boa constrictor, over 20 feet in length, to enfold his body in its tremendous coils, when suddenly a piercing cry escaped him, which was greeted by the public with a round of applause, under the supposition that its utterance constituted a part of the performance. It proved, however, to be the outcome of a strong man's death agony. The gigantic snake had tightened its coils, and crushed Karoly's life out of him with one terrific squeeze. As his head fell back and his eyes became fixed in a glassy stare, the plaudits died away and were succeeded by a stillness and utter consternation. The snake and its lifeless victim awaited for a second or two of inexplicable horror, and then toppled over on the boards of the stage, but the box did not in the least relax its grip upon the corpse, which remained for more than an hour imprisoned in its hideous thrallhold, nobody daring to approach the little monster, of whose powers such appalling proof had been given. At length it occurred to one of Karoly's attendants to place a bowl of milk in a cage within sight of the mighty serpent, which slowly unwound itself from the dead body, and glided into the den, irresistibly tempted thereby by its favorite dainty. A post-mortem examination showed no fewer than 87 fractures of his bones caused by the serpent's coil. His death must have been almost instantaneous, as the spine was disarticulated in several places.

A FEW weeks since some miners discovered a very singular curiosity in the mountains near Bonanza City, Idaho—nothing less than the mammoth head and horns of a mountain ram grown into a pine tree. The skull was found firmly imbedded in the growing pine, the trunk of the latter being some eighteen inches in diameter, with the horns protruding and one in its natural curve re-entering the wood eight inches. Mr. Fred Meyer of the Challis and Bonanza stage line has heard of the "god" had the tree felled and the section containing the ram's head neatly sawed off. Mr Meyer has expressed the unique specimen to Messrs. L. Kimball, General Passenger and Ticket Agent of the Union Pacific, in whose office it is now on public exhibition.

It was a source of much surprise yesterday upon the part of dozens of visitors at the Union Pacific headquarters as to how the horns became thus fastened and how many years this sort of sheep rot had been impelled in the lonely mountains of Idaho. Some are of the opinion that the animal, in search of food, was caught in the forks of the tree scores of years ago when it was a mere sapling, and unable to extricate itself, there died the tree gradually growing over the skull. Such instances in the case of deer are very common, but most have ever been chronicled, or at least not reported, in which the wonderfully muscular mountain man has met such fate. Another theory is that some Indian or old-time employe of the great fur companies received a straight away hit from the ram, and in a fit of revenge hung his ramskin up to recall the incident of the unfortunate affair and indulge in remorse, but forgot to take him down. Another is that one of those terrific battles in which the mountain rams often indulge each other this one was dogged by his antagonist at a very critical period and a forked sapling received the onslaught, never after giving up its embrace. Still another is that it is a practical illustration of the theory of protoplasm. Certain it is that the ram got in a bad fix, is dead and is one of the most valuable and curious specimens ever sent to Mr. Kimball's office.

CHAZED BY THE JACKSON DISASTER.—Colwell, the ex-yardmaster, through whose mismanagement the great accident resulted, on Friday appeared in the yard at the direction of a state of high nervous excitement and in a hurried and incoherent way began to open and close switches, at the same time yelling to the yardmen to hasten the trains out of the way as the express was coming. He finally seemed to imagine that a collision had occurred and cried: "There they lie! Don't you see those dead women?" Officer M. U. Rowman was sent for but before he arrived Colwell was taken to his home. On the occasion of the recent visit to this city of N. D. Root, train dispatcher at Michigan City, with whom Colwell is acquainted, the latter assured him that since the terrible disaster he was unable to get any refreshing sleep. He said the instant he lost consciousness he could hear the noise of railroad trains; then they would burst upon his sight as they sped madly toward each other; the signal whistles for switch and brake would next startle him and instantly, with a terrible crash, the locomotives would strike, when he would awaken in a tremor of fright.—Jackson Patriot.

A SINGULAR SUIT.—The Denver News of Tuesday says a man named Michael Hanagan has entered suit in the District Court in this district for $1,000 damages against the South Park Railroad company. The burden of Hanagan's complaint arises from the alleged neglect of the railroad company in forwarding the body of his wife who died in Leadville, Gen. S. E. Browne, who represents the plaintiff in this case, states that Hanagan went to Leadville, accompanied by his wife, some two months ago. About the middle of October Mrs. Hanagan was taken sick and died. Her husband had the remains enclosed in a neat coffin and bought two tickets, intending to accompany the remains to this city. By some mistake, the body was left at Weston, and Hanagan, who was on the train, was kept in ignorance of the fact until the train reached Denver. He then had the corpse sent forward and it arrived the next day. The day following Mr. Hanagan left for Chicago with the remains, after instructing counsel to bring suit for damages. The suit was instituted some days ago, and service filed on the defendants last week. Yesterday the South Park Railroad company filed an answer, admitting that the body had been left at Weston, but denying that it had been received by the company under any agreement to forward it to this city. The company deny all the other charges made in the complaint, and close by denying that the plaintiff was damaged to the extent of $1,000 by the delay. The Hon. B. M. Hughes represents the South Park Railroad company in the suit.

ACCORDING to the World, "to bounce" is to raise the arm of indignation and the foot of indignity against any person, and therewith violently to expel him from a place wherein he would have remained into a place where he did not want to be. The bounce is, primarily, an act of physical overfulness accompanied by a root idea that the person bounced will come up with a thump and a hollow sound which may indicate the complete termination of the bounce and the substrivity or its object.
